Eat Less Fat And Lose Fat

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 17-year-old daughter is 5 feet 2 and weighs 136 pounds. She is very solidly built. She is the only member of the family who is overweight.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can a woman's body suffer from the cessation of the injection of sperm following the death of her husband, especially when that injection has been frequent? If so, is there medication that can assist in providing the nourishment that possible came from the sperm?

DEAR READER — There seems to be a national kick on cutting down on carbohydrates. It is often a misguided effort. The most calories in most American diets are from fat — not carbohydrates.

DEAR READER — No. A woman derives no nourishment benefits from sperm cells. There have been some research studies that have suggested that semen contains some chemicals that protect against infection or improve body defenses.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, April 22, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 22, 1981
The very same areas which denied you gains previously are the ones which could prove beneficial this coming year. Don't give up on that for which you've worked hard and long.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally you're not too receptive to changing or altering conditions, but today you are able to adapt yourself to the unexpected. Find out more of what lies ahead of you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The type of companions you choose to pal around with today will have a great influence on your attitude. Select optimistic buddies.
CANCER (June 23-July 22) You won't be content today to fritter your time away on unproductive pursuits. Busy yourself with that which will give you a real sense of accomplishment.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to devote some time today to games or sports in which you enjoy participating. A break from mundane routines will do you a world of good.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day to entertain at your place persons to whom you feel socially indebted. Get on the phone and generate an impromptu get-together.

WIN AT BRIDGE

by Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag
The Cavendish Club rubber bridge game allows simple conventions only. It does not exactly follow American Contract Bridge League theories there. Thus, negative and responsive doubles and Jacoby transfers are allowed. When JTB is played it is kept simple and the general practice is to use four suit transfers with the two-spade response showing clubs and the three-club response showing diamonds.
Here we see computer expert and life master Ron Blau and industrialist Milton Petrie using the transfer bid to get to a cinch diamond slam with South the declarer.
North's three-club response was the diamond transfer and South's three-diamond rebid automatic. North's three-spade call suggested slam possibilities and South's four-club bid accepted the idea of a slam.
North's jump to five diamonds showed good diamonds and in spite of having the minimum 16 high-card points, Blau sitting South went on to six. He liked his four good trumps and nice control cards.
Ron won the spade in his hand, drew trumps and lost the club finesse. Later, he discarded one of dummy's hearts on his long club and wrapped up his 12 tricks.
Note that a heart lead would beat a diamond slam played by North and that the way the cards lie, six trump would fall one trick short. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

White House: Soviet Threat Justifies Saudi Plane Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan decided over Israeli protests to sell five sophisticated radar planes to Saudi Arabia because of the "serious deterioration" of Middle East security caused largely by the Soviet Union.

That reasoning was at the heart of the administration's explanation of the sale announced Tuesday. Reagan is well aware of the opposition, but does not agree the deal poses a threat to Israel, his spokesman said.

The sale is necessary because of "the serious deterioration of security conditions in the Middle East and the Persian Gulf region and the growing threat to our friends there from the Soviets and other pressures," acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes said.

Opposition was quick in developing. "It's a serious mistake which will enflame the Middle East, rather than stabilize it, and I will do all that I can to defeat it," said Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass.

Chairman Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on the Middle East called the sale "a mistake" and predicted it faces "certain defeat" in the Senate.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., a longtime supporter of Israel, said the planes "do not meet legitimate Saudi defensive needs. They are offensive weapons that can easily be used to threaten the security of Israel, our closest ally in the Middle East."

But Sen. Charlie Percy, R-III., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the administration "consulted closely" with the Senate on the question and added his panel will "try to develop a consensus in support of an arms package for Saudi Arabia which will help secure Western defense interests in the Persian Gulf."

The administration did not say when the proposal would be sent to Capitol Hill. Opponents would need majorities in both houses to kill the deal.

Officials indicated one reason for delaying the official notification is the administration does not want to distract attention from its much-ballyhooed economic program. There also is work to be done to muster the required support for the arms package.

Along with five advanced warning radar aircraft known as AWACS, the deal includes conformal fuel tanks, AIM-9L air-to-air missiles and air refueling capability for 62 F-15 jet fighters ticketed for Saudi Arabia next year.

The sale of the enhanced F-15 equipment for defensive uses was announced March 6.

The AWACS — the world's most expensive aircraft at a nearly $127 million each — would not be in Saudi hands until 1985 "at the earliest," Speakes said.

The thrust of Israeli opposition to the AWACS deal centers on the aircraft's ability to chart military traffic in the air space over Israel. This theoretically would negate a pre-emptive strike by the Israelis if they feel threatened by their Arab neighbors.

That contention is disputed by the administration.

Chemists To Probe 'Toxic' Waste Site

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A five-month effort by Sanford city officials to get proof that the waste chemicals stored at a two-acre field in the city are a hazard to area residents and the environment is finally paying off. Ten chemists under contract with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and officials of the State Department of Environmental Regulation will be at the site off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane, beginning at 5 a.m., Thursday to take samples from the 3,270 drums of waste chemicals for analysis.

While the labels on many of the drums indicate the waste chemicals contain carcinogens and are flammable, chemical analysis is necessary to prove the city and DER's court case against City Chemicals Co. Inc., operator of the site.

DER and the city have been trying to convince the circuit court at Sanford that the chemical company should set a schedule for the immediate removal of the waste.

Len Kozlov, DER district enforcement officer, said today the chemists out of Atlanta are bringing with them three vans of equipment for the taking of samples. The EPA will turn over to DER the samples for testing in the DER Tallahassee laboratories.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the city will comply with a request from the federal and state agencies by providing two police officers, firefighters and a fire truck at the site while the samples are being taken.

Mayor Moore said the city file on the storage site collected since city officials discovered the operation in early November is at least two inches thick with memos, reports on telephone calls to state and federal officials, and copies of letters demanding assistance to have the drums removed.

Kozlov said the samples are to be taken in the early morning hours when the drums are cool to lessen the hazards.

He said the chemists who will take the samples will be dressed in protective gear. "Because of the hazardous nature of the chemicals, DER is neither equipped nor trained to take the samples itself," Kozlov said.

"All we know about the chemicals at this point is what is on the labels on the drums," he said.

Kozlov said this sampling effort is the first undertaken by the EPA under a law designed to control the storage of chemical wastes, which went into effect in November. "EPA is trail-blazing in Sanford," Kozlov said.

Observing the work will be Dr. Robert Patton, DER's head chemist," Kozlov said.

City Engineer Mack LaZenby, after a citizen had complained, discovered the stored chemical waste on property leased to the Orlando-based chemical company on Nov. 12.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles inspected the site, called in DER and EPA and began a series of pleas for help and filed complaints that neither the state nor the federal agencies were assisting the city to get the chemicals removed. A state fire marshal after an inspection in late November declared the area to be a fire hazard.

The city and DER received a temporary court order against City Chemical requiring the firm to fence in the site and to segregate flammable chemicals. The order also required removal of leaking drums from the site.

But the court case has been in limbo since that time until arrangements could be made for the chemical analysis.

County Offers To Raid 'Bugged' Courtroom

'A Judge Shouldn't Be Doing That Kind Of Thing'

He didn't mean to be nasty, but dadgumit, Seminole County Judge Alan Dickey was really bugged.

If the county commission was going to force he and the other two county judges to continue to use that "dump" — Courtroom D in the courthouse annex on E. First Street — all right. But for crying out loud, do something about the bugs!

Things had gotten to the point that the crawly little critters were disrupting court and turning judges into exterminators.

In making a plea Tuesday before commissioners to either renovate

Courtroom D or find the county judges other court space, Dickey told this story:

On Monday, "I had to kill a bug crawling across the bench. It was a 'sarosme-looking creature. I don't know what kind it was." It obviously wasn't a cockroach. "Those things are so big they carry off my law books." Monday's bench bug was bookless.

Anyway, "this bug is crawling across my bench and a guy is standing there in front of me pleading guilty to speeding, staring at this bug." Dickey paused to mimic the defendant, giving his best impression of bug-eyed incredulity. "Everybody in the courtroom was looking at this bug.

"So, I had to tear off a piece of paper and . . ." his arm came down in a swooping motion . . . "WHAP!" smashing the insect all over center stage.

"Now, a judge shouldn't be doing that kind of thing in a courtroom," Dickey said. Well, maybe it wasn't so bad after all. "At least it woke everybody up."

Commissioners said they would study Dickey's request, and promised to have the courtroom sprayed for vermin.

In the meantime, commissioner Sandra Glenn, tongue-tied in chief, offered to equip D with a can of Raid.

Dickey didn't laugh. And while he didn't say it, one suspected he would like to have told Mrs. Glenn to "bug off." — BRITT SMITH

2 Women Jailed In Plot To Murder Psychic

By BRIT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

At first, he dismissed them as mere coincidences: the mysterious ailment, the drinks that made him ill, his wife's seemingly innocent queries about the condition of his heart.

But then, things turned nasty and 63-year-old psychic William J. Herman of Cassadaga became convinced his wife was trying to kill him. She did little to hide the fact. Herman said she threatened him with a butcher knife, and attempted to get him to buy more life insurance.

The apparent plot ended unsuccessfully Tuesday morning when Peggy J. Herman, 36, of 200 S. Marion St., was arrested and charged with solicitation to commit first degree murder. A second woman, Mercedes E.

Guerra, 30, of 875 Derbyshire Road, Daytona Beach, was charged with being an accessory to the same charge.

Mrs. Herman, a licensed medium, was being held this morning at the Volusia County Jail under $25,000 bond; Mrs. Guerra, $10,000 bond.

During the arrests, investigators confiscated a box of oatmeal suspected of being laced with narcotics or poison. The oatmeal was sent to the regional crime lab in Sanford for analysis. The alleged scheme to kill Herman was foiled when an informant tipped police. Volusia County sheriff's deputies along with narcotics officers, posing as murderers-for-hire, taped conversations with Mrs. Herman in which she said she wanted to have her husband knocked off in order to collect insurance money.

Agent Dave Hudson said Mrs. Herman at one point directed the undercover men to make her spouse's death look like a drug- or robbery-related homicide.

Herman, a former professional wrestler, said he suspected his wife of trying "to do me in" for the past two years, but could do nothing about it because he had no proof. He considered divorce, but felt suspicion wasn't sufficient cause.

Herman said his doubts grew stronger after his wife and Mrs. Guerra became friends. There were the drinks which caused him to get sick, then the insurance man showed up on his doorstep claiming Mrs. Herman wanted him insured for a year.

Several times, he recalled, his wife threatened him with a butcher knife, but he refused to press charges.

Last June, Herman said he was hospitalized with an unknown malady which doctors tried unsuccessfully for two weeks to diagnose. He still doesn't know what made him ill.

He apparently suspected his wife because shortly after being released from the hospital, he wrote her out of his will.

On Monday, Herman said, he passed out while walking down the sidewalk in Apopka. That night, his wife asked him about his heart.

Herman met his wife in 1973 and married her a year later, but not with a great deal of enthusiasm.

"I told her I didn't want to get married," he said. "I told her I was too old. She said she would look after me until I died.

"I didn't know she was going to help me along."

Catholics Riot In Londonderry; IRA Hunger Striker Nears Death

RELFEST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Catholic youths in Londonderry hurled acid bombs at British troops in violent protests against Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's "arrogant" refusal to intercede to save dying IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands.

The Provisional IRA proclaimed a day of mourning today for the funerals in Londonderry of two youths run down by a British army vehicle during rioting over Sands' fast.

The Rev. Jimmy Doherty told mourners a "particular examination" was needed into the deaths of Jim Brown, 18, and James English, 19, killed during riots Sunday.

"Justice must not only be done, but must be seen to be done especially when people whose occupation it is to uphold the law seem to want only to destroy the law," Doherty said. "The circumstances surrounding the death of Jim Brown include confusion, bitterness and misunderstanding."

"Crime is crime is crime," Mrs. Thatcher said during an official visit in Riyadh Saudi Arabia, on Tuesday in rejecting political status for Irish Republican Army prisoners — Saudi's key demand for ending his 53-day hunger strike.

"There can be no question of political status for someone who is serving a sentence for crime," Mrs. Thatcher said. "I hope anyone on hunger strike for his own sake will think fit to come off hunger strike. But that is a matter for him."

About 500 angry rioters rampaged through the streets of Londonderry after Mrs. Thatcher refused to meet with three Republic of Ireland politicians seeking to save Sands, who was reported near death in Maze Prison.

At least three police were struck by acid bombs — milk bottles filled with sulfuric acid — but none were seriously injured in the street battles Tuesday.

Catholic youths from Londonderry's Backside district burned two post office vans and hurled stones, acid bombs, and Molotov cocktails at police and British soldiers. No arrests were reported.

In Dublin, the National H-Block Committee that supports Sands attacked Mrs. Thatcher's "arrogant dismissal" and urged Irish Prime Minister Charles Haugherty to sever diplomatic relations with Britain if it refused to discuss the hunger strike.

The clash of wills between Mrs. Thatcher and Sands raised the threat of fresh violence in Northern Ireland.

Sands, 27, elected to the British Parliament April 9 while serving a 14-year-sentence for weapons offenses, told visiting members of his family he would not quit his fast. He was reported nearly blind and going deaf.

"It is not my habit or custom to meet members of parliament from a foreign country to talk about a citizen of the United Kingdom (residing in the United Kingdom)," Mrs. Thatcher said at a news conference in Riyadh.

An H-Block Committee spokesman in Belfast said Sands told his family he would not end the fast unless the government met the status demands made by him and three fellow convicts who joined the hunger strike.

Sands, considered the commander of IRA inmates at the Maze, also wants prisoners to be allowed to wear their own clothes and not do prison work.

Jailed For Lewd Behavior

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The president of an anti-sex education organization was in the Hillsborough County Jail without bond today, charged with sexual battery of a 17-year-old boy and lewd and lascivious behavior involving an 8-year-old girl.

Police revealed Tuesday that Jack Gregorio, 46, had been arrested Monday evening when he returned home from work.

Spokesman Johnny Barker said the alleged offenses occurred between September and April. No other information was provided in an attempt to protect the identity of the children.

Sanford's Tim Raines enjoyed the best day of his young Major League career Tuesday with four steals and four hits as Montreal flogged Philadelphia 10-3. See Page 9A for details.

Rubbed The Wrong Way In More Ways Than One

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Marine Maj. Wayne E. Rollings put his backside on the line for the United States — rubbing it raw in the process of breaking the Soviet situp record.

Rollings, 40, said Tuesday when he read about a Russian record of 26,500 situps it made him so mad he did 40,000 situps in 16 hours — a new world record.

Rollings, a wiry, 5-9, 160-pounder, said: "The worst part about it was my backside. It was rubbed raw."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Solidarity Warns It Wants 1971 Strike Leader To Stay

WARSAW (UPI)—Solidarity today said an exiled organizer of the 1970 strikes that toppled the government of Wladyslaw Gomułka had returned to Poland illegally and warned it would use "all means of protest" to defend his right of stay.

The return of Edmund Baluka, a leader in the 1970 strikes in Szczecin protesting food prices, came as the government announced a stringent new rationing plan that covered almost all basic foods and said its new Solidarity partner approved the tough step.

"Baluka has the full right to stay in Poland, to have a job at Szczecin shipyard and to move freely around the country," a Solidarity statement said.

"In case his security is infringed, all means of protest in accordance with the charter of Solidarity will be applied," the statement said. This would include the threat of strike.

The 1970 strikes in Gdanek, Szczecin, and Gdynia led to the fall of Prime Minister Gomułka and planted the seeds of the Solidarity independent labor movement.

Beirut Airport Shelled

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Christian Phalangist gunners peppered the runway and terminal of Beirut's airport with artillery, closing the facility and severing the battered nation's link to the outside world.

Lebanese authorities anxious to reopen the airport, located in an area controlled by Syrian peace-keeping forces and Palestinian guerrillas, worked through the night to arrange a cease-fire today without success.

Syrian peace-keepers, ensconced in predominantly Moslem West Beirut, and Christian militiamen and Lebanese regulars on the eastern side, traded heavy artillery and machinegun fire Tuesday.

Poles Near Full Rationing

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Poland, bolstered by a vote of confidence from Moscow, announced a stringent rationing plan to cover almost all basic foods and said its new partner Solidarity approved the tough step.

The plan to ration butter, flour and rice and a Polish staple, Kaasha, was announced as Soviet Ambassador Boris Aristov expressed confidence in Poland's Communist rulers to solve their own problems at celebrations making the 36th anniversary of a Soviet-Poland friendship treaty.

"The Soviet people are convinced that the Polish nation...will be able to solve the complicated tasks and assure the pulling of the country out from crisis," Aristov said.

An original rationing plan announced earlier this month was withdrawn only hours after it was publicized, and the government's official spokesman said the announcement was premature.

Hitler No, Goebbels Yes

HEIDELBERG, West Germany (UPI)—The West German government's plans to ban Adolf Hitler's book "Mein Kampf" are not deterring a state theater from dramatizing a novel in which his infamous propaganda minister praised the fuhrer's influence.

The play, based on Joseph Goebbels' novel "Michael — A German Destiny," tells of a youth who learned how to cope with life after meeting Hitler and will be staged by the Stadttheater next month, the municipal theater announced Tuesday.

"Goebbels wrote the novel in his youth and it is largely autobiographical," a spokesman for the theater said. "It is an interesting psychological study of a person captivated by Hitler as so many of his generation were."

The announcement came the same day the government said it was drawing up wide-ranging anti-Nazi legislation that would ban "Mein Kampf," the book in which Hitler outlined his theory of a German master race.

Dollar Dips, Gold Jumps

LONDON (UPI)—The U. S. dollar was hit by lower Eurodollar deposit rates and opened down on European money markets today. Gold climbed by as much as $11.

An ounce of gold cost $492.50 in Zurich, up $11, and in London the precious metal traded at $492.75, against $484.50 Tuesday.

Sanford Man Found Guilty Of Threatening President

A 25-year-old Sanford man faces up to five years in prison after being found guilty Tuesday in U. S. District Court, Orlando, of mailing a death threat to Ronald Reagan while he was president-elect.

A 12-member jury deliberated for about an hour and 15 minutes before convicting Bobby Dean Wilson, alias Gerald Steffan, of threatening the life of the president.

Judge George Young scheduled sentencing for next Tuesday. Wilson could receive up to five years in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

Wilson, address unknown, was accused of making several death threats in a rambling, three-page letter mailed to Reagan on Jan. 6 while Wilson was a prisoner in the Seminole County Jail.

The blood-spattered letter had the word "kill" scrawled in blood at the top of the page and was signed with Wilson's name and a bloody thumbprint.

Experts testified during the trial that the blood smears on the letter matched Wilson's blood type. Wilson's handwriting and that in the letter also matched.

Included in the letter were several pictures, two of them of Reagan with holes punched in his forehead, one of a murdered man inside a car.

Wilson did not testify during the two-day trial, but through his attorney indicated that he did not mail the letter. And even if he had, the defense claimed the letter contained no real death threats, but rather political ramblings, idle talk and comments made in jest.

At the time he mailed the letter, Wilson was awaiting trial on charges of burglary, auto theft, and possession of a controlled substance. He pleaded guilty to the burglary charge on Dec. 8 and was sentenced to three years in prison.

He is presently being held in the Orange County Jail without bond.

RATHER RUDE AWAKENING

Beatrice Roberts, 45, of 2230 Church St. in the Midway section east of Sanford, was asleep in her home about 3:30 a.m. Thursday morning when she was awakened by a brick crashing through her bedroom window. Roberts, who was not hurt, told sheriff's deputies she has no idea who might have thrown the brick.

MAN JAILED FOR ASSAULT

A 40-year-old Osteen man was in the Seminole County Jail today charged with aggravated assault after he threatened to shoot the manager of a local bar.

Arrested was Michael Brent Roberts. He was being held under $5,250 bond.

The charge stemmed from an incident at Cooper's Pub, 2605 Park Drive, Sanford, about 2:15 a.m. today when Roberts allegedly pointed a .22-caliber revolver at the bar manager, Edward L. Bussard, 20, and threatened to shoot him.

Sanford police officer Margo Young said when she arrived on the scene, she saw Roberts trying to hide the gun under the seat of his car. When she picked the pistol up, it was cocked, Young said.

Longwood Sets Clean-Up Days

The City of Longwood has set April 24 and 25 as the dates for the annual Spring Clean-up in the city.

City Administrator David Chacey told the City Commission items not normally picked up by refuse collectors, such as broken down appliances, will be hauled off by city crews on call if left at the curb. Residents must call city hall in advance to request the service.

Chacey said the clean-up was extended to Saturday this year by the request of many residents, necessitating overtime pay for six city employees, but he said the money is in the budget to cover the added expense.

In other business Monday night the commission approved a site plan for the Longwood Business Center show-warehouse on Sanland Springs Drive across from Mingo Trail.

Permit requests from Mrs. J.T. Horton of 661 Palmetto St. to park her husband's fuel delivery semi-tractor trailer behind the front building line on their property and Kim Bradford Turner, to park a semi-tractor at 138 Lemon Lane, Longwood Groves, were tabled for a week to give the commissioners more time to look into the situation and any precedent they may be setting.

Robert Daves of Longwood pointed out that Horton had been parking his truck on the property for six years. Chacey said there had been no complaints on the vehicles.

It was announced City Recreation Director Tina Anderson has resigned effective May 8 because she is moving to Waycross, Ga. Chacey is seeking a replacement for her position.

Freed Sailors Back On Their Ship At Guantanamo

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Four U.S. Navy seamen, seized by a Cuban patrol boat when they strayed into Cuban waters while pleasure boating, are back on their ship at Guantanamo Naval Base.

"They all looked good, rested, relaxed. The medical checkup showed they were in good condition," said Lt. (j.g.) Chuch Bourquardes of the Boca Chica Naval Air Station, where the men stopped between the flight from Havana and the trip back to Guantanamo, the U.S. Navy base on the southern coast of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"They were only on the ground about 10 minutes. They only had time for a Coke," he said.

Senate Turns To Drugs And Youth Crime

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Senate today unanimously approved a "truth in drugs" bill to outlaw bogus narcotics sales and then voted to protect drug-detecting dogs.

"I guess you'd call this the truth in drugs bill," said Sen. Malcolm Beard, D-Tampa. "What's happening is these drug pushers are selling pills that contain caffeine, which is not a controlled substance, as amphetamine — which is a controlled substance."

"Kids take one or two or three of these, and each one is the equivalent of three cups of coffee," he said. "Then when they get the real thing, amphetamines, they take the same number of pills and overdose."

The bill (SB 31) would authorize the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to obtain injunctions against sale of pseudo-amphetamines and other fake drugs.

The Senate also voted to make it a felony to kill a police dog. Sen. Dan Jenkins, D-Jacksonville, said his city has two dogs worth $50,000 each at its airport, searching for drugs.

"This is a very simple bill — if you vote against this, you don't like dogs," said Jenkins. "In some cities, the narcotics people are putting out contracts on dogs."

He said existing law allows only a $25 cruelly fine for killing a dog. Jenkins said police dogs need better protection than household pets because of their value and risks of their work.

The bill (SB 234) was sent to the House in a unanimous vote.

The Senate also voted unanimously to exempt Super Bowl tickets from the state sales tax. Sen. Dick Anderson, D-Miami, a former Miami Dolphin player, said Miami and Tampa are making bids to the National Football League for returning the NFL championship game to Florida, but that all other states in the running have the sales tax exemption to offer.

The House, which met Monday and Tuesday, had no floor session set today, but a subcommittee killed a bill that would have made English the official language of the state.

The bill (HB 278) failed on a 5-3 vote by the House Efficiency and Effectiveness Subcommittee of Governmental Operations.

Among the crime bills set for Senate debate today were measures to make the Parole and Probation Commission seek advice of sentencing judges before freeing prison inmates, to set uniform parole guidelines, defining "switchblade" in the concealed weapons statute and setting penalties for selling pseudo-narcotics.

Other Senate bills would stiffen penalties for pimping and living off the earnings of prostitutes, as well as providing longer terms for women convicted as repeat offenders under the prostitution law, and tightening the definition of "fencing" in the stolen property law.

After the Senate adjourns, its criminal justice committee is scheduled to finish hearings on juvenile code revisions. The committee began the hearings last Wednesday with judges, prosecutors and police officials complaining that juvenile law now gives too much authority to social workers and counselors — rather than punishing juvenile offenders.

The committee has two bills by Sens. Malcolm Beard, D-Tampa, and Edgar Dunn, D-Daytona Beach, to take control of the juvenile system away from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and vest more authority in the police and prosecution agencies.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved its version of a $9 billion spending plan Tuesday. Senate President W.D. Childers, D-Pensacola, has set the record spending bill for a floor vote Friday.

The budget is $603 million less than Gov. Bob Graham recommended and does not include the 6.5-cent hike in gasoline taxes or business taxes Graham proposed. The budget does not provide for $100 million in interstate highway spending Graham requested, nor the $100 million he wanted for replacing the Sunshine Skyway Bridge in Tampa Bay.

The committee approved only half the $110 million Graham requested in new law enforcement funds. The $3.5 billion education budget was $60.2 million below Graham's recommendation for the schools.

The House Energy Committee approved a bill (HB 817) to exempt Tallahassee's city utility company from Florida's power line siting law, expediting construction of a 230-kilovolt line to Bainbridge, Ga., for connection to the Georgia Power Co. power grid. The city plans to start construction by Oct. 1, hoping to hold down electricity rates by mass purchases of power produced by coal-fired generators — rather than the much more costly oil-powered plants in Florida.

A House Health and Rehabilitative Services subcommittee approved a "workfare" bill requiring able-bodied welfare recipients between the ages of 18 and 60 to take jobs. Mothers of small children would only be required to work if they had adequate daycare facilities, under the bill (HB 455) by Rep. Tom Woodruff, R-St. Petersburg.

Orr Speaks At Tampa Development Conference

Horace Orr, president of the Seminole Economic Employment Development Corp. (SEEDCO), was guest speaker today at a conference on community development corporations held in Tampa.

The two-day conference, which began Tuesday, was attended by more than 100 persons. Some 15 state and national experts discussed the special corporations in line with recent state legislation providing up to $5 million in loans and grants to eligible groups in the state.

The conference was sponsored by the Florida Department of Veteran and Community Affairs. Currently there are only two existing community development corporations in the state — the one in Sanford and another in Pensacola.

Senator Hatch Peddles President's Plan In Seminole

U.S. Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, will be in Seminole County Friday selling President Reagan's slimmed down budget and proposed income tax reduction package.

The 7:30 a.m. breakfast meeting will be held at Lord Dick Richards of the Republican National Committee and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, will be guest speaker at the breakfast meeting of the South Seminole Rotary Club.

The meeting will be held at Lord Chumley's Pub, Altamonte Springs.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A fierce cold front gripped northeastern states today, shriveling delicate flowers and fruit blossoms, and thunderstorms spread across the Mississippi Valley into the Northern Plains region. In Texas and Louisiana, fierce winds and thunderstorms roared through the region Tuesday, causing some property damage but apparently no injuries. Flood watches were posted today for most of the Gulf Coast states. Temperatures in the 20s and 30s shriveled fruit blossoms and withered flowers in the Northeast. Freeze warnings were posted for eastern West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

Self-Help Housing Program Scheduled

An introductory meeting is planned for 7:30 p.m., Thursday for the proposed self-help housing organization for Seminole County, tentatively named Seminole Self-Reliant Housing Inc. in the auditorium of the County Agricultural Center, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

The center is located to the east of Seminole Community College off Highway 17-92, next to the Public Safety Building.

She Jones, who previously worked with Homes in Partnership, Inc., an Apopka-based self-help housing group, and is currently executive director of Lake Community Action, Inc. will present a slide show on "Questions and Answers on Self-Help Housing." She will also be available to answer questions and describe the first two years of operation of the Lake County self-help housing program.

"Housing is a pressing need in Seminole County, particularly for many low income families," said Chris Holden, president of Resources for Human Needs. "Technical assistance grant funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration, as well as housing loans for individual participants, are available. The proposed organization will assist eligible participants by purchasing building sites, assisting with their applications for home loans and supervising the construction process."

The meeting is open to all persons interested in self-help housing. For transportation or further information call Treasa Kaye at 322-8963, Rick Anderson at 323-4330 Ext. 184 or Holden at 322-8146.

Seminar On Drugs And Alcohol

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and Stromberg-Carlson Corporation, in cooperation with the Seminole County Task Force on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, will hold a seminar-luncheon 10 a.m. Thursday at Stromberg-Carlson in Lake Mary. The seminar concerns the Management-Employee Assistance Program, a cost-efficient method of dealing with deteriorating job performance.

Like anyone else, a funeral director has to make ends meet. He has facilities to maintain, cars to buy, salaries to provide and, of course, taxes to pay.

This means he must have a strong business sense. He must keep expenses within reason so as to keep his prices within every family's means. As we do.

NATION IN BRIEF

Atlanta Killer Not Changing To Adults

ATLANTA (UPI) — The killer stalking Atlanta's black neighborhoods has not switched to adult quarry although the last three victims were over 21, a source close to investigation says.

Until March 30, the oldest victims had been 16. Then two retarded 21-year-olds were killed, and the latest victim, Michael Cameron McIntosh, 23, was slow-witted. All were quite small — McIntosh was 5-feet-5 and 120 pounds.

"They're about the same size as the children," the source said Tuesday. "The only thing is that they're a little older. They've just been at the wrong place at the right time."

McIntosh, whose name was added Tuesday to the official police task force list of 25 murdered young blacks, was never reported missing. Darron Glass, 10, is still missing.

Catholic Survey Results

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three-fourths of young Catholics do not believe the pope is infallible and more than 90 percent reject the church's anti-birth control stand, a survey shows.

The sampling of 4,000 U.S. and Canadian Catholics between the ages of 14 and 30 also found only 17 percent feel premarital sexual relations are wrong, Dr. William C. McCready reported Tuesday at the 78th annual meeting of the National Catholic Education Association.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Gov. Graham Signs Second Death Warrant

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham Tuesday signed a second death warrant for convicted triple-murderer David Leroy Washington, who had won a short-lived federal stay of an earlier execution date.

Washington, who confessed to a series of three murders over a 12-day period in Dade County, was scheduled for execution at 7 a.m. May 5.

Graham had previously signed a death warrant March 13 for Washington's execution April 3, but U.S. District Judge Clyde Atkins in Miami stayed the execution pending an appeal for Washington. Nearly two weeks after the original electrocution date passed, Atkins denied the appeal and dissolved his stay.

Last Escapee Capture

STARKE, (UPI) — The last of five men who escaped from the Florida State Prison in a barrage of gunfire Tuesday was recaptured today at Baldwin, more than 30 miles north of the prison.

Dennis M. Pickle, 30, was spotted at a truck stop on I-10 near Baldwin by police officer R.W. Keane and arrested a few minutes later by Keane and police Sgt. Joel Hodges.

Hodges said Keane saw a man fitting Pickle's description in the truck stop at about 4:30 a.m. and called for Hodges to come and help.

Strikers Want Severance Pay

MIAMI (UPI) — Negotiations are continuing with about 198 Hondurans who are stubbornly demanding $5,000 severance pay, before they'll leave two cruise ships they used to work aboard.

The Honduran crewmembers, fired Tuesday because of a sit-down strike they staged, refuse to abandon ship to be sent home to Honduras until they get the severance pay.

The 198 crewmembers are among 270 who staged a sit-down over the weekend in protest of the firing of two countrymen — and cancelled the ship's scheduled departures Sunday on Caribbean cruises for 2,300 passengers.

Inquiry Begins Today

Hollywood Cocaine Connection

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A congressional inquiry into the "Hollywood cocaine connection" has celebrities running for cover despite assurances investigators won't ask people to name names. Some fear a blacklist reminiscent of the McCarthy era.

"We are tired of people always starting their investigations with Hollywood just because it is prominent and will generate publicity," said Kim Felner.

A spokeswoman for the Screen Actors Guild.

"We know alcohol and drug abuse exist in our industry," she said, "but in no greater proportion than in the rest of society."

The House Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control scheduled hearings today and Thursday — the first in a series examining drug abuse in the entertainment industry.

Two celebrities scheduled to testify —

Cathy Lee Crosby and Grant Tinker — backed out this week, saying they feared the hearings would lead to a blacklist similar to the one that evolved after the McCarthy hearings in the 1950s.

Miss Crosby said through a spokeswoman she decided not to join the hearings because she feared the probe would be an investigation of "who's taking drugs in Hollywood."

Hoffman Begins Prison Term

NEW YORK (UPI) — A prankster to the end, former Yippee leader Abbie Hoffman went to prison toting a book with a hacksaw blade as a bookmark.

Hoffman surrendered Tuesday to begin serving a one-three year jail term at the Ossining Correctional Facility — formerly known as Sing Sing — for selling $36,000 worth of cocaine to undercover agents.

City Will Bill For Longwood Utility

An agreement being drawn between Longwood Utilities Inc. and the city of Longwood will benefit both the company's customers and the city, according to City Administrator David Chacey.

Longwood Utilities Inc. originally requested the city handle its sewer billing along with the city's water bills for 50 cents each, but the commissioners made a counter proposal of 75 cents each.

Chacey told the commission Monday night that Howard B. Lefkowitz, vice president of Florida Residential Communities Inc., owner of Longwood Utilities Inc., had agreed to 75 cents, but for only up to 1,200 customers. After that it could be reduced to 50 cents and still provide the city with the same amount ($7,200 a year based on the 800 customers the privately owned utility now has).

According to Chacey, the only additional expense to the city will be the cost of reprogramming the computer and Longwood Utilities has agreed to pay this.

Chacey said the arrangement would mean a savings to the Longwood Utilities Inc. sewer customers, who would then only have to mail one envelope with one check to pay their water and sewer bills. The city will collect the money for Longwood Utilities.

The city attorney has been asked to draw up an agreement for the commission's approval.

The commission also gave final approval to an ordinance geographically realigning the city's commission districts. Chacey said the districts had been made as even as possible based on the number of houses in each district.

He pointed out that although District 1 is now low compared to the other four, an anticipated growth in that area would offset the difference by the next election.

Bus Use To SCC More Than Expected

Bus service to Seminole Community College (SCC) from both the Sanford and south county areas is being used by many more people than anticipated, county planner Laura Firtel said today.

The service instituted by county commissioners last September links Sanford to the college and to the south county areas, providing a regular schedule of buses five days a week. Ms. Firtel said the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority (OSOTA) earlier estimated "less than 10 riders per day" would use the buses. In March, however, 50 students daily were taking the bus either to or from the school.

Use of the buses became more popular as the months went by, Ms. Firtel said.

Ridership in December averaged 14 per day. By January, it had increased to 33 and by February 47 students daily were using the service.

Ms. Firtel said with the college going to a four-day week beginning in May, it is expected that ridership will fall off for the summer.

"We will probably have a slower summer," she said, adding that use of the buses is expected to pick up again in September with beginning of the fall semester.

She said OSOTA representatives were at the school during class registration to let students know that the service is available. In addition bus schedules have been posted at various spots on campus to bring the availability of service to the students' attention.

The bus service is provided through the transportation authority. Seminole pays the authority a monthly subsidy fee, totaling about $200,000 annually. Ms. Firtel said as ridership increases the subsidy will decrease correspondingly.

She said no increase in operating costs were incurred because of the new scheduling. Ms. Firtel said essentially the same service was continued in the north and south sections of the county.

Linking the two services provided a more efficient operation, she said. — DONNA ESTES

3 Cliff-Edge Campers Plunge To Their Deaths

WOODSTOCK, New Brunswick (UPI) — Three university students — one an American — camped inches from an 80-foot cliff, got up during the night and plunged one by one to sudden death on the rocks below.

"He just went too close to the edge and fell over," Sgt. Frank Jory of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said of Nels Anderson, the 22-year-old Greenbelt, Md., student who apparently was the first to fall.

"We have no idea how it happened," Jory said. "It was dark, and there were trees shading the area."

Police ruled out foul play in the deaths either Sunday night or Monday morning of Anderson; Janet Mary Lynn Taylor, 19, and Paul Frederick Graham, 19, both of Quebec.

Jory said initial investigation indicated the three, whose bodies were found the following morning on the rocks beneath 80-foot-high Hay's Falls, died separately as they stumbled about the dark, wooded area.

A group of University of New Brunswick students on an Easter break from classes in Fredericton had hiked up the Maliseet Indian trail, which leads to the top of Hay's Falls, 11 miles south of Woodstock. Woodstock is 110 miles northeast of Bangor, Maine.

With blankets and sleeping bags, they set up a makeshift camp only inches from the edge of the cliff. Some time during the night, Anderson apparently got up and blundered off the edge.

A short time later, Graham and Ralph Sanford, 18, of New Brunswick, went looking for Anderson. During the search, Graham also wandered too near the cliff and vanished into the darkness.

Jory said Sanford, one of two students to survive, reported Graham "was with him, then he wasn't."

Miss Taylor, who had been asleep in a sleeping bag, then awoke. She slipped out of the bag, Jory said, and "fell over into thin air — we don't know how yet."

Jory said Miss Taylor had gone to sleep "with her head being about 1 to 1 1/2 feet from the precipice. We think she stepped out right into space."

Moral Majority Victory?

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Republican Mark Sijlander, a 29-year-old state legislator who received a perfect rating from the Moral Majority, rolled to an easy victory in a special election to fill the 4th District congressional seat of Budget Director David Stockman.

Grand New Federalism

When land grant colleges were established under an act of Congress more than a century ago, there were strings attached to the gift of public lands for education. The state could build and run the colleges, but the federal government would dictate the kind of subject to be taught.

The country has been arguing ever since about the strings attached to federal aid. The federal tie to land grant colleges was a mere thread compared to what was to come — the thickly plaited ropes binding our states and local communities to Washington under the myriad federal spending programs put in place during the last 50 years.

President Reagan is determined to start cutting the ties. The current debate in Congress about his economic program is turning on issues of tax cuts, federal deficits, inflation and economic growth, but the shadow cast on the wall is of a grand design for a "new federalism."

Recently, Mrs. Reagan announced the appointment of a Federalism Advisory Committee as a "first step in helping me restore a proper constitutional relationship between the federal, state and local governments." Headed by Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, the committee will spend the next 18 months trying to refine the policies only suggested in the budget proposals Mr. Reagan sent to Congress earlier this year.

The administration wants to replace many categorical aid programs with block grants for specified purposes, giving state and local governments the freedom to spend federal funds without the rules and guidelines that go with categorical aid. Inasmuch as the amount of the grants also would be reduced, Mr. Reagan would be combining his attack on runaway federal deficits as a cause of inflation with the goal of reducing the power that the federal bureaucracy now exercises over state and local affairs.

Giving power back to the states has been a theme of Mr. Reagan throughout his political career. He is not the first president to speak of a "new federalism." Richard Nixon used the term to describe his own efforts in that direction — efforts largely thwarted by Congress that were reluctant to part with federal prerogatives. Jimmy Carter campaigned against the Washington bureaucracy, but left it undisturbed.

Mr. Reagan has come to the presidency with an unmistakable mandate to lift the burden of over-regulation and bureaucratic excess which has burdened America in the last generation. His "new federalism" is not just old Republican conservatism dressed up in rhetoric for the 1980s. Even Democrats are finding it hard to deny that the federal establishment is becoming an albatross on the nation's shoulders.

The independent Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations last year issued an 11-volume study of modern federalism — how the division of responsibility between federal and state governments set forth in the Constitution is actually faring. It concluded that years of tinkering with the system have produced a "bewildering maze" that is undermining public confidence in government at all levels.

Federal authority has intruded into nearly all of the nation's domestic affairs, said the commission. The trend is for Washington's influence to become "more pervasive, more intrusive, more unmanageable, more ineffective, more costly, and above all more unaccountable."

That's not the Reagan administration talking — but a commission of federal, state and local officials from both parties familiar with the inner workings of a governmental system that is becoming unworkable. Mr. Reagan's "new federalism" has a constituency too broad for Congress to ignore.

The Humane Society of Seminole County in its monthly newsletter has a warning for animal lovers who are also jogging enthusiasts.

"Joggers can injure their dogs by taking them along," the newsletter says. "Do not assume your dog is in good enough shape to run long distances. Instead, start the dog out slowly."

It also notifies that the "Bunny Bill", prohibiting the use of live animals in the training of racing greyhounds, failed to pass the legislature by one vote last year. A similar bill, filed during the current session has been referred to the Regulated Industries Committee in the House and to the Agriculture and Commerce Committee in the Senate.

"We don't know the outcome at this time, but it may still help if you contact your state representatives and urge passage of this bill," the publication advises.

"Did you know that rabbits and cats and other small animals are often used in this training?"

the newsletter asks.

The Humane Society is asking for volunteers to do the following: legislative correspondence, shelter work to provide foster homes for pets; transport injured, assist with recreation and exercise for shelter dogs, assist with fund raising, recruit new members and newsletter sponsors, help with animal bathing and grooming at shelter and to run errands.

Those who can help with any of these needs are asked to contact the shelter at 323-8685 Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Teachers take note: The Florida Chamber of Commerce is supporting the abolition of tenure for teachers.

Tenure is the status granted after a trial period to teachers protecting them from summary dismissal.

The chamber reports that: efforts are under way in both Houses of the Florida Legislature to change the tenure system for public education teachers.

A committee has been appointed in the Senate to look into the matter. In the House of Representatives, the Statutory Oversight Subcommittee of Education K-12, has been working on a draft of new legislation.

Despite a prediction from Lewis Cox, new executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority, that SHAs annual subsidy payment from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will be cut by 15 percent this summer, authority chairman Edward Blackshear maintains an optimistic attitude. "Once you've been around the horn a few times," Blackshear said, "you find out things are not as bad as they have been painted. It doesn't appear to me that such drastic action or change can happen. I hope for the best."

ROBERT WALTERS

Papers Show AT&T Arrogance

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ronney Harlow is a law-abiding middle-aged Chicago businessman who isn't especially threatening to most people — but the world's largest corporation classifies him as "dangerous to us."

What could Harlow, a modestly successful entrepreneur, possibly do to intimidate the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which last year earned more than $8 billion in profits and boasts of $110 billion in assets?

That's explained in an October 1972 AT&T internal memo that characterizes Harlow as a threat because he sought "to improve his economic situation" by attempting to compete — on a very limited scale — with the telecommunications giant.

Although 8½ years old, the memo became public only recently, when it was introduced by Justice Department prosecutors as evidence during the trial of the federal government's massive antitrust civil suit against AT&T.

That trial, now in its second month in U.S. District Court here, has been the stage for an especially revealing portrayal of a supercilious corporation that arrogantly believes it has the right to virtually monopolize the marketing of telephone service and equipment throughout the country.

The government alleges that AT&T has for decades illegally used its market dominance and economic power to thwart competition from other companies seeking to provide long-distance service or sell telephone equipment.

The telephone company denies all of those allegations, but the testimony and evidence produced to document Harlow's experience typify the embarrassing disclosures to which AT&T has been subjected during the trial.

Harlow is board chairman of Private Telecommunications Inc., a firm that sells equipment to those who have discovered the long-term economies of purchasing their telephones rather than renting them indefinitely from AT&T subsidiaries.

"How can a company of my size," asks Harlow, "threaten a corporation that makes $3 million in profits, after taxes, every hour of every working day during the year?"

The answer to that rhetorical question is contained in the memo, which said that Harlow was "dangerous to us" not only because he wanted to make a fair profit selling telephone equipment, "which he can only do at our expense," but also because he was determined to take his case against AT&T to the public through "personal appearances in public forums and... statements to the press and the (regulatory) commission."

Evidence that Harlow's case is not an isolated instance came in the form of another document produced by the government during the current trial. It is a massive eight-volume AT&T study of "Interbusiness Relations" completed in late 1973.

Authorized by AT&T's Executive Policy Committee, the study involved interviews with the company's upper- and middle-management executives to assess their views on the tactics being used against competitors. "Most managers interviewed by the (study) team felt that the only corporate strategy in this area now is to delay and minimize the loss of our monopoly position."

JEFFREY HART

The Art Of Survival

Historically, the Democratic Party has been on the ropes often enough, but it has also exhibited remarkable instincts for survival. Not for nothing is it the oldest political party in the Western world. And recently it tossed a generation of liberal rhetoric into the wastebasket and staked out a position on the budget marginally to the left of Reagan's, but designed to appeal to a middle class constituency of families making between $20,000 and $50,000 per year.

In the Senate Budget Committee a week ago, three conservative Republicans joined nine Democrats to stall the president's program by a 12 to 8 vote. The three conservatives, William L. Armstrong of Colorado, Steven Symms of Idaho, and Charles Grassley of Idaho, voted against the Reagan program because they did not believe the president's projection that the program would balance the federal budget by 1984. Though the three voted for the "right," the practical effect of their vote was to stall the Reagan program and shift the initiative to the Democrats, who can now be expected to come forward with their own program in the Senate.

The shape of that Democratic program became clear in the House, where the Democrats have a majority on the House Budget Committee. They passed a program which would have been unthinkable for the Democrats as recently as two years ago, agreeing with about three-quarters of the Reagan budget cuts, but eliminating enough to be able to claim to be "more liberal" than Reagan.

A couple of years back, Speaker Tip O'Neill, the silver fox of conventional liberalism, would have stopped all of this dead in its tracks. We would have had endless diatribes from O'Neill's liberal troops on the old, the young, the poor, the black, the lame, the halt and the blind. But a few days ago, the venerable Speaker was much subdued, and deliberately let younger Democrats, more in tune with today's mood, carry the ball.

"We're in a different world than five or ten years ago," said Democrat Richard Gephardt of Missouri, a leader in shifting the Democrats rightward on economics. "And the Democratic Party is now trying to address itself to that new world."

One thing meant by Gephardt's term "new world," clearly, is that widespread recognition exists in the country that we must shift to a sharply renewed emphasis on productivity. And, additionally, that a lot of Great Society social and regulatory legislation is responsible for our lagging productivity. And that, because of inflation, taxes are becoming confiscatory. Rather quickly, this year, the Democratic Party is trying to adjust itself to those facts.

Of course, for House Democrats, it is a matter of survival. They noticed what happened to the big Senate liberals in the last election. They know that they all face elections in 1982. As Dr. Johnson observed, the imminence of execution wonderfully focuses the mind.

In many ways it is exciting to see the Democrats changing and reformulating. This is the party, after all, that has accommodated slavers and Ku-Kluxers, Irish immigrants and Western farmers, Catholics and Anti-Catholics, Jews, blacks, labor. It has been for and against protectionism, for and against cheap money, for and against internationalism, for and against the Vietnam War.

The Democrats have run through history like an excellent broken-field runner, and here they are again, trying to get the political ball back and go over to the attack. Never underestimate them.

DICK WEST

Masochism Or Beating The System?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Someone I know who works for a tax preparation service told me this year's deadline crush was one of the most chaotic ever. Long lines. Short tempers. Phones ringing off the wall. Typical April 15 bedlam.

A recurring mystery of our society is why so many taxpayers wait until the final day to fill out their 1040s. Usually it is clear as early as March 21 that April 15 is going to arrive on schedule. So why compound the grief and anguish by postponing the inevitable until it becomes a hectic race against the clock?

My talks with tax consultants who deal with these poor souls indicate that procrastination often is a classic case of brother-in-lawism.

Although precise percentages have never been computed, it can be estimated that 69.2 percent of the taxpayers in America have know-it-all brothers-in-law.

The typical taxpayer, herein referred to as the victim, attends a family gathering in late January. He mentions that his W-2 form has arrived and that any day now he will be making an appointment with a tax service for assistance in preparing his return. Enter the brother-in-law.

"Hey, man, you wanna know how to avoid all that hassle? Wait till the last day to fill out your return. By that time, the crowds are all gone. You won't even need an appointment. Just walk right in and there will be half a dozen tax preparers sitting around doing nothing. They'll jump at the chance to help you figure out how much you owe. Might even give you a discount for coming in at a time when business is so light."

I don't have the exact figures, but the Internal Revenue Service expected about $5.7 million returns to be filed this year. This means, by the best available estimates, that more than 65 million taxpayers were advised by their brothers-in-law to wait until the last day to file.

Let's say as a conservative guess that 30 million needed help in filling out their returns. It obviously wouldn't take nearly that number to create congestion of April 15.

If only 13 percent of the taxpayers who have wise guy brothers-in-law heeded the advice, there would be about 3.9 million filers looking for assistance a few hours before the filing deadline.

No wonder tax service offices were jammed beyond capacity.

Much of the April 15 turmoil could be avoided if the IRS gave a little more thought to the instruction booklets it sends out. Were those instructions made truly serviceable, the first one would read: "Beware of brothers-in-law who claim to know how to beat the system."

Meanwhile, try to look at the bright side. If you took your brother-in-law's advice about when to file your return, just be glad you didn't also accept his advice on how to fill it out.

Labor Secretary Balked At Mafia Probe

WASHINGTON — Labor Secretary Ray Donovan was the last of President Reagan's Cabinet appointees to be confirmed. His confirmation hearing was held up to give the FBI time to investigate charges that Donovan and his New Jersey firm, the Schiavone Construction Co., had ties to the Mafia.

Donovan was outraged at the allegations, and told the Senate Labor Committee so in unmistakable terms. "I look forward to the time when as secretary of labor I can do all within my power to stamp out the sort of activities which have been wrongly attributed to me and my company," he swore.

He now has the power to help the committee with its investigation of the very mobster-Teamster connections which had been attributed to him. Specifically, Chairman Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, wanted information from Labor Department files that might help his committee determine whether the Mafia has a pipeline into the teamsters Union.

Yet Donovan refused to turn over the requested material to the committee, forcing Hatch to subpoena it. This was a strange attitude for Donovan to take with the senator who not only oversees the Labor Department but is a staunch supporter of the Reagan administration. Hatch should be the last person Donovan would want to antagonize by reneging on a sworn pledge and stonewalling on a Mafia investigation.

Donovan is a tough talker who made his way to the top rungs of the economic ladder on his own undeniable ability. One of 12 children of an oil company payroll clerk, he is very Irish and very New Jersey.

His background includes such odd jobs as making shampoo and loading Ballantine beer onto delivery trucks. He took over the Schiavone Construction Co. in 1959 when it was doing $200,000 worth of business a year, and guided it to the point where business increased to $150 million.

Yet he was confirmed too fast to please some FBI officials who thought his background should have been scrutinized more closely. The charge that Donovan had Mob connections was made by Ralph Picardo, a tested informant who has helped the FBI get convictions of Mafia hoods in New Jersey.

Picardo claimed to have received payoffs from Donovan personally on several occasions — a claim that was never substantiated by the FBI and therefore was shrugged off by the Senate committee.

But the FBI heard the same tale from other underworld sources; one reported that Picardo had picked up payments from Donovan for the late mobster Sal Briguglio. The latter was a notorious member of the Vito Genovese crime family.

This part of the FBI report was withheld from the public. One statement in the purged report quotes an underworld informant as reporting that "Picardo was a bagman for Sal Briguglio and made pickups from Ray Donovan."

According to this informant, Briguglio wound up in the slammer, and for a while former Teaster officials Fred Gurino "Picked up money from Donovan." The Furino followed Briguglio to jail and "a Vic Alleri acted as bagman." The FBI informant added that "Briguglio was 'thick' with Donovan." The information didn't reach the bureau, incidentally, until two days before its report was handed over to the Senate.

Still another FBI source, Pat Kelly, claimed that Donovan's construction company had ties to the Genovese crime family, my associate Tony Capaccio has learned. Joe Adonis Jr., the son of a Mafia godfather, told Kelly that he had the right of "first refusal" on deals with Donovan's company.

In an aside, Kelly told G-men that Adonis provided a pocketful of quarters during one meal so that the restaurant jukebox could play continuous background music from "The Godfather."

Footnote: These suppressed statements, though they confirm Picardo's charge, do not constitute real proof that Donovan had Mob ties. A spokesman for the labor secretary refused comment on the allegations contained in the unpublished part of the FBI report. He merely referred to Donovan's public statement that he has never met Picardo or Briguglio.

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Former CBS News Manager

Says Rather Won't Last

BOSTON (UPI) — Former CBS news manager Arnold Zenker believes CBS "Evening News" anchorman Dan Rather won't last more than a year and a half as Walter Cronkite's replacement.

Zenker, former CBS manager of news programming, filled in for Cronkite for about 10 days in 1967 when the retired anchorman honored a strike by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

Zenker, 41, who now runs a business to help corporations prepare for hard-line questions presented by the news media, said an anchor has "got to be older than Rather is" to hold top ratings for the CBS "Evening News."

He predicted Charles Kuralt eventually will replace Rather. Kuralt, 46, was pulled off his traditional "On the Road" job last year to do a morning news spot competing with NBC's "Today Show" and ABC's "Good Morning America."

Zenker said Cronkite, holder of the title "most trusted man in America," was paid for his "charisma to force people to watch" the news, and for his image as a "father figure."

Zenker said Rather, 49, does not look old enough to pull off the same kind of ratings Cronkite did. Although Kuralt actually is younger than Rather, Zenker predicted the balding television personality "will be the CBS 'Evening News' anchorman" in 12 to 18 months.

Nancy Furious

WASHINGTON (UPI) — According to a report in Newsweek magazine, Nancy Reagan was outraged when a student columnist wrote in the University of Pennsylvania newspaper that he hoped the president would die of his gunshot wounds.

So upset was the first lady that she "promptly called Attorney General William French Smith, an old family friend, to inquire whether" the student "could be punished," the news magazine said.

Newsweek said Smith told Mrs. Reagan the 23-year-old student, Dominic Manno, had not broken any laws by what he wrote.

Water Use Ban Imposed For Casselberry

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Dried water pumps and inadequate restoration tanks have forced Mayor Owen Sheppard and Casselberry utility officials to restrict outside water use during "peak" periods until the "dry season is over."

At the regular Monday night city council meeting, Sheppard announced to council members that he was officially imposing a moratorium (legal restriction) on using water during the times specified by the city's water experts as "high usage" periods.

The ban outlaws the outside use — such as washing cars, filling swimming pools, and sprinkling lawns — of water Monday through Friday between the hours of 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. and 24 hours on Saturday and Sunday, effective immediately.

Ed Keuling, the city's utility director, notified Sheppard of the depleted water supply after 8.7 million gallons of water were pumped on Sunday, a quantity that came dangerously close to the department's 9 million gallon per day limit.

"We have been forced to restrict the use of excess water in Casselberry until further notice. The climate is unusually dry. And our water shortage has been compounded by water pumps that have gone dry," said Sheppard.

He explained that these hours were specified because more water is used during these periods "when people are home from work."

"Since people have more time on the weekends to wash the car or water the lawn, we get an extra burden on the pumps Saturdays and Sundays," Keuling said.

"When the pumps have to get out great amounts of water like last Sunday, then overall water pressure in the system gets low," explained Keuling.

According to Keuling, low water pressure creates potential deficits for the fire department since water hydrants use high pressure to pump water.

City officials fear that the fire department might need an ample supply of water for fire-fighting in the coming weeks — a supply that may not be available.

Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher has availed additional car patrols to enforce the water ban. Karcher explained that police cars will be equipped during restricted hours with loud speakers as they ride through city neighborhoods.

Violators will be warned about breaking the ban said Sheppard, but fines of up to $300 could be imposed for ignoring it.

Sheppard, as Casselberry's executive administrator, is empowered to declare a moratorium if he perceives any urgency that may endanger the lives of city residents.

Automakers Plead UAW Concessions

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. automakers, confronted with a warning Japan wants to know their revival plans before it decides on car export reductions, are pressing an urgent appeal to their workers for contract concessions.

Ford Motor Co. President Donald E. Petersen told a Los Angeles audience the company is willing to consider profit-sharing and enhanced job security in exchange for more competitive labor costs.

It was the latest in a long string of highly visible appeals from Ford and General Motors Corp. management for contract concessions along the lines of those granted by the United Auto Workers union to Chrysler Corp. earlier this year.

Petersen's announcement Tuesday was delivered on the same day Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige warned domestic automakers the Japanese government wants to know what self-help steps they plan to take before Japan decides whether to heed calls for reductions in car exports to the United States.

Petersen said U.S. automakers must plan the right products, make the necessary capital investments in the United States, increase productivity dramatically, build high-quality vehicles and spearhead technological innovation.

"If they help us come to grips with the labor cost problem, we can establish ways for employees to benefit in good times from the corporation's profits, whether that is profit-sharing or some other program," he said.

"And those who make contributions to improved productivity must be assured they are not simply working themselves out of a job," he said.

Officials Cleared In 'Billy' Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Billy Carter says a watchdog report clearing government officials, including brother Jimmy, of impeding an investigation of his dealing with Libya "kind of closes the book" on the affair.

The report, made public Tuesday, concludes no government officials or employees engaged in illegal conduct with regard to the Justice Department probe.

Reached in Haleyville, Ala., Billy

Carter told United Press International, "I think it's a good report. They didn't find anything wrong. It turned out the way I was hoping it would turn out."

The report by Michael E. Shaheen Jr., head of the Office of Professional Responsibility, which investigates any hint of wrongdoing in the Justice Department, said government agencies "functioned properly and were not subjected to any improper pressures."

But it says, "Although we remain of the opinion that he (Billy Carter) lied to government agents investigating his Foreign Agents Registration Act responsibilities, the decision to initiate criminal prosecution in such cases is made within the criminal division."

A department spokesman said, "We will examine the material developed by Mr. Shaheen in the course of his investigation and reach a conclusion whether it warrants further action by the criminal division."

Bond Scores Reagan Administration

ATLANTA (UPI) — State Sen. Julian Bond accused the Reagan administration Tuesday of reviving "sordid and violent tendencies" prevalent in the civil rights clashes of two decades ago.

"The new breed of Bull Connors may wear three-piece suits and carry calculators instead of cattle prods, but they share an equal contempt for the honest aspirations of millions of people," and the extremism encourages others to terrorize law-abiding citizens from Mobile to El Salvador," Bond said.

He told a news conference that the Institute of Southern Studies, a research and educational organization in Durham, N.C., that he heads, would launch a drive for "people's movement of black and white citizens" to combat racial injustice and militarism.

Bond said the Reagan White House had "spread a message of fear and selfishness, replaced human rights with mineral rights, and given license to the most despicable, sordid and violent tendencies from the dark side" of the past.

He said such techniques of the civil rights movement of the 1960s as marches and picketing would be part of the institute's campaign but it would also include litigation, education and "any and all things required to promote a point of view."

Personal Rebates?

BELLEVUE, Ohio (UPI) — In an autoworker George Keller's opinion, the best way to cure the ailing auto industry is with a rebate program — so he started his own.

Keller, who has worked at the Ford Motor Co. plant in nearby Sandusky for 15 years, said he will give $100 of his own money today to enable a customer to buy a new Ford Escort. The beneficiary will be James Bryan of Willard.

Bryan was "tickled pink" when he learned Monday he would be getting the money, said Joe Caranta, a salesman for Paul Hite Ford, Inc.

"I'm tired of hearing what the government is going to do to help the automakers," Kellor said. "Self help is the best medicine."

He suggested that the union use some of its strike fund money for its own auto buyer rebate program.

Prescribed Reading

By MEDCO
It seems only natural, in a column entitled "Prescribed Reading" to touch upon the subject of reading matter "aid," in this instance, "Talking Books" in particular. Although administered by the state commissions for the blind, Talking Books can literally become "prescribed reading" for persons with illness or injury which does not permit them to hold a book or turn its pages. A physician can actually write a prescription for Talking Books ... therefore, Prescribed Reading. Talking Books are tape recordings of all types of reading matter. Subject matter ranges from current best sellers, mysteries, science fiction, classics and children's books to weekly publications such as major newspapers. Talking Books is financed through the Library of Congress which provides catalogues, tape players and tapes, postage free, both ways. Sanford Crime Lab Funding Hits Senate

First phase money for the ultimate construction of a new state crime laboratory in Sanford has been included in the appropriations bill in the Florida Senate.

Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, said from Tallahassee that the appropriations committee of the Senate has included $440,000 in the budget for planning the new facility.

Vogt said the staff estimate of $240,000 for the planning stage was increased by $200,000 after he questioned whether the amount would be sufficient in view of rapidly accelerating construction costs.

"All the money might not be spent for the planning, but the additional funding provides flexibility," Vogt said. He said an additional $5 million is to be included in the budget next year for land acquisition and construction of the facility.

"If the sum goes into both the Senate's and the House of Representatives' appropriations bill, we've got it made," Vogt said, referring to a statement by State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, last week that he is 99 percent sure of gaining approval from the House for the project.

"This is a high visibility item in a high visibility subject," Vogt said. Vogt also noted that the Sanford Crime Lab is the most important laboratory in the state system.

The Sanford facility is located at the Sanford Airport.—DONNA ESTES

1980 Compared To 1972

Changing Values Among High School Seniors

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

Values and attitudes among the nation's high school seniors changed between 1972 and 1980. Here's how:

—“Working to correct social and economic inequalities” was cited as “very important” by only 13 percent in 1980, compared to 27 percent in 1972.

—“Having lots of money” was rated “very important” by 31 percent in 1980, up from 19 percent in 1972.

—“Living close to parents or relatives” was rated as “very important” by 14 percent in 1980, up from 8 percent in 1972.

These figures are from studies involving a national sampling that included 58,000 youths. The investigation was ordered by the federal government's National Center for Education Statistics and carried out by the National Opinion Research Center of Chicago.

The survey results are contained in a newest report “High School and Beyond” — described as the second major effort in the center's “longitudinal studies program.” The first was the National Longitudinal Study of the High School Class of 1972.

Despite the above differences, one general conclusion in the report was that high school seniors haven't really changed much overall, comparing the class of '72 and the class of '80.

For example, “being successful at work” ranked at the top of a list of life goals for seniors in both 1980 and 1972 — rated “very important” by 88 percent in 1980 and 84 percent in 1972.

Marie D. Eldridge, NCES administrator, told why the studies were done.

“The coupling of the 1980 findings with those from our 1972 longitudinal study provides insights into the changing focus of the nation's high school students,” she said. “It highlights factors that are important in re-examining education policy at the federal, state and local levels.”

Other survey results concerning the 1980 seniors:

—They received generally better grades than those in 1972, but indicated they spent less time on homework. About 30 percent took remedial English; the same proportion took remedial math.

—Male students continue to take more mathematics and science than female students.

—Slightly over one-third of the 1980 seniors in public high schools and 70 percent in private high schools were enrolled in academic programs.

—Nearly three-fourths of the 1980 seniors in public and one-tenth in private high school's took a vocational program to prepare them for an occupation after high school.

—A little more than four-tenths of 1980 seniors and nearly seven-tenths in private high schools rated the “effective discipline” at their school as “good” or “excellent.” As to fairness of discipline, 36 percent of public and 47 percent of private school seniors rated it as “good” or “excellent” at their school.

—About three-fifths of the seniors had full- or part-time jobs for pay. Most of their jobs required little or no training. On the average, seniors who were employed worked about 21 hours per week, earning $3.18 per hour.

—Almost 7 of 10 of the 1980 high school seniors reported a willingness to work while in school for less than $3.10 an hour (then the federal minimum wage). About 4 of 10 of the employed seniors earned less than the minimum wage.

—About four-fifths of all '80 seniors planned to continue education beyond high school. Nineteen percent planned to attend vocational, trade or business school; 15 percent college for less than four years; 26 percent four- or five-year college degree; 11 percent master's degree; 9 percent a Ph.D. or M.D.

—Expectations for a four-year or higher degree varied among racial and ethnic groups. The breakdown: Asian Americans 78 percent; blacks 48 percent; whites 46 percent; hispanics 38 percent; native Americans 32 percent.

—About three-fourths of all seniors who planned to attend college during the year they graduated from high school expected to use some form of financial aid. A breakdown by socio-economic groups: high socioeconomic 82 percent; middle 76 percent; low 67 percent.

—Of the 1980 high school seniors planning to attend college, the most popular choice of major fields was business, 22 percent. Engineering, 10 percent, was second most popular. In 1972, business was second most popular, 13 percent; engineering, sixth, 5 percent.

The most popular choice in 1972 was social science, 17 percent. In 1980, only 8 percent picked social science.

Data on women showed them planning to enter traditionally male fields in increasing numbers. For example, females selecting engineering as first career choice increased from 2 percent in 1972 to 15 percent in 1980.

Senior women who planned to obtain a master's or higher degree did not intend to have their first child until the median age of 26.6 years.

Those not planning education beyond high school intended to have their first child at a median age of 23.2 years.

Women going into engineering went from 2 percent in 1972 to 15 percent in 1980.

The number of high school seniors rating as very important staying close to one's parents nearly doubled since 1972

School Bail-Out Plan Faces Veto

BOSTON (UPI) — The City Council has approved a plan to bail out the nearly bankrupt Boston school system, but the proposal faces a likely veto from Mayor Kevin H. White because it contains a recall provision for elected officials.

The city council was working against today's court-ordered deadline to arrive at a financial solution to keep open the nation's oldest public school system serving 64,000 students.

“That's it. The party's over,” councilman Raymond L. Flynn said after the recall vote Tuesday night. “The courts will take over our schools. White is never going to sign this.”

White had no immediate comment on the council action, which besides the provision giving voters the right to recall elected officials also included moves to restrict the mayor's fiscal power. Under the plan a council-approved comptroller would be appointed to monitor the city auditor, a mayoral appointee.

In another development linked to the city's fiscal crisis, about 100 South Boston residents upset over the layoff of one fire company and the closing of a district police station broke into the station Tuesday night, vowing to occupy it until police and fire cuts are restored.

Rancher Jailed For Torturing Mexican Aliens

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Saying vigilante justice is gone forever, a federal judge sentenced rancher Patrick Hanigan to three years in prison for torturing illegal aliens from Mexico.

“The days of the old West are gone,” said U.S. District Judge Richard Bilby in sentencing Hanigan.

A coalition of Mexican-American and civil rights groups complained the penalty was not strong enough. The 27-year-old rancher from Douglas, Ariz., could have received a $10,000 fine and 20 years' imprisonment on each of three counts.

Defense attorney Alex Gaynes said the conviction would be appealed.

The case, stemming from the robbery of $37 and clothing from three job-seeking Mexican farm workers, dated back 4½ years. Hanigan and his brother, Thomas, 23, had been tried three times — once on state charges; twice in federal court.

Thomas Hanigan, facing narcotics charges related to the seizure last week of at least $250,000 worth of marijuana near the family ranch, was acquitted in the alien abuse case. Separate federal juries at Phoenix last Feb. 23 found Thomas innocent but convicted his brother Patrick of interfering with interstate commerce by means of robbery.

The Hanigans were charged under an obscure interstate commerce provision in a precedent-setting case to establish human rights protection for illegal aliens.

Patrick Hanigan wanted to teach “wetbacks” a lesson for burglarizing a trailer, his ex-wife Pamela testified. Manuel Garcia-Loya, Bernabe Herrera-Mata and Eleazar Ruelas-Zavala told of being bound with ropes, threatened with hanging, burned on the feet with a heated metal rod and terrorized with shotgun blasts.

Bilby acknowledged the sentence was lenient but said Patrick Hanigan probably couldn't afford a fine after 4½ years of legal defense costs.

“Nevertheless, this is a serious matter, more serious ... because Patrick took the law into his own hands. The days of the old West are gone.”

Antonio Bustamante, coordinator of the Washington, D.C.-based National Coalition on the Hanigan Case, said the sentence leaves his group feeling “very, very betrayed by the legal system” although he conceded it was a “moment of victory for the Chicano community.”

Patrick Hanigan remains free on $10,000 bond pending appeal. Bilby rejected a request to double the bond by A. Bates Butler III, U.S. attorney for Arizona.

Drivers High On Pot Face Urinalysis

By TOM HILLSTROM
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Drivers suspected of being high on marijuana or other illicit drugs would have to submit to a urinalysis or face suspension of their license under a bill approved by a House committee.

The measure (PCB 1), unanimously passed by the House Criminal Justice Committee Monday, also would make a blood test mandatory for motorists thought to be intoxicated on drugs if they were involved with an accident causing a death or serious injury. The bill would not go into effect until Apr. 1, 1982, giving the Legislature one more shot at revising it before it actually became law.

In the meantime, the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services would appoint a five-member panel of toxicologists to determine what levels of ingestion constitute legal intoxication for marijuana and various other controlled substances.

The committee balked at lowering the unlawful blood alcohol level from .10 to .08, deciding that the panel of experts should study that issue, too.

Under the bill, a driver suspected of being high on a controlled substance would be required to submit to urinalysis at the request of a police officer or have his or her driver's license automatically suspended for at least three months.

The officer would need probable cause to demand the test and it would have to be in connection with a lawful arrest.

A blood test would be mandatory — even if "reasonable force" were required to draw a specimen — if the driver were involved in an accident that led to death or serious injury. Similarly there would be "implied consent" for a blood test if the driver were admitted to a hospital.

Because of its potential cost, the bill is expected to be pulled for study by the Appropriations Committee before full House consideration.

Also passed by the committee were:

— A bill (HB 134) designed to stem the increase in drug robberies by making it a third-degree felony to enter a drug store carrying a firearm;

— A measure (HB 109) giving farmers the same right to detain suspected thieves that merchants, citrus growers and building contractors now have;

— A bill (HB 227) prohibiting judges from accepting a plea-bargained sentence of less than three years if the crime involved a gun;

— A bill (PCB 22) aimed at helping to clean up the Miami waterfront by barring convicted felons from holding union office at least until their civil rights are restored after serving time;

— And a measure (CS-HB 140) intended to help undercover narcotics detectives build their cases by making it a crime for a purported drug dealer to sell phony illicit drugs such as capsules of caffeine for supposed barbiturates.

A Criminal Justice subcommittee killed a bill (HB 276) that would have prohibited judges from imposing the death penalty unless the sentencing jury was unanimous in recommending it. Current law requires only that the judge give "great weight" to the jury's majority opinion.

Sugar Still Reigns Supreme In Fidel Castro's Cuba

By DANIEL DROSDOFF
HAVANA (UPI) — Despite revolutionary changes sweeping Cuba in the past two decades, an old autocrat still reigns firmly: king sugar.

When the crop is good and international prices solid, Cubans eat better, sleep better and play more — because they have more international currency to pay the growing cost of oil needed for industrial growth, and there are more goods in the state-run markets.

Conversely, when production and prices lag, Cubans expect belt-tightening, fewer ration coupons, and less recreation.

There is also at those times more economic pressure to emigrate — a choice made by 125,000 Cubans who left for the United States last year following an economic recession.

Times are better this year.

The stabilization of international sugar prices at 17 cents a pound, up from 9 cents two years ago, and a record tobacco crop had their effect immediately in neighborhood shops and stores.

Tobacco is Cuba's second most important product. Last year's crop, estimated by private Western sources at 6.8 million tons, was hit by disease, and a substantial increase is predicted in 1981. The coffee ration has been tripled from six months ago, to three ounces every 15 days. The cigar ration has been doubled, from two to four per month. Now eight packs of cigarettes are available a month rather than six.

Cuban officials say they want to end rationing of clothing by the end of next year. Many rationed goods are also available on an official "free" market, but at much higher prices.

"There has been a lot of improvement in the economy this year," said Orlando Fundora, chief of the Department of Revolutionary Orientation, Cuba's ideology and propaganda agency.

Cubans don't take chances with their sugar crop, whose three-month harvest ends in late April. Radio stations and newspapers keep a daily count of cane cutting, and a poor day in the fields can lead to a front page article in the Communist Party official newspaper, Granma, demanding more muscle behind the machete.

Every year Cuba's champion cane cutter is declared a "hero of the revolution."

When Fidel Castro launched his rural guerrilla war in 1956, he got support from Cuba's army of unemployed sugar hands who were idle nine months of the year and went into debt when not working.

His government, still dependent on sugar as Cuba's main industry, has decided to push mechanization of the harvest to free field hands for other work.

A Soviet-financed factory has produced 1,100 harvester combines in three years and is straining to roll out the machines in Holguin Province at a rate of 600 vehicles per year.

"We are going to make the machete obsolete," said Jorge Gallardo, the factory director.

Cuban officials estimate anywhere from 40 percent to 60 percent of sugar harvesting is done by machine, and their goal is to eliminate human cane cutting entirely.

"The plan is to replant sugar that is now grown on hilly regions to low, flat areas where the machines will be more efficient," Gallardo said.

The harvester combines have Soviet engines, but most of the other parts are manufactured in Cuba.

The vehicles' efficiency is expected to increase as Cubans get more experience in building them.

"We are permanently modifying the machines to improve them," Gallardo said.

Jailed Drug Smugglers: Stiff Penalties

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The first eight of 22 convicted drug smugglers have been handed the stiffest sentences ever given to smugglers in the Keys — five to 15 years.

U.S. Judge James Lawrence King sentenced Key West lobster fisherman Jose Garcia Monzon, 44, to 15 years in prison and a $50,000 fine. Monzon also was arrested in a 1976 marijuana smuggling operation but later acquitted. "The court is convinced the defendant is involved in the marijuana business," King said.

Domingo Galvan, who was the first Cuban-American to announce that Castro had opened the Mariel Harbor to the Freedom Flotilla when he returned to Stock Island from Cuba on March 21, 1980 — was sentenced to five years in prison.

Galvan, 44, a nurse at Key West's DePoo Hospital, had gone to Cuba to get his brother Sergio, 40.

Sergio Galvan, married for 18 years and the father of two, had no previous criminal record. Prosecutors had asked for 10 years in prison for Sergio, King gave him 13 years and fined him $10,000.

King said, "Although Mr. Galvan has only been in the United States approximately one year ... he has accumulated assets of about $58,000. He states that he has received substantial loans from family members that are not named or otherwise identified. That indicates to me that he has been involved in marijuana smuggling."

Antonio "Tony" Hernandez, 50, was sentenced to five years in prison and slapped with a $10,000 fine after King determined most of his assets were earned honestly.

Hernandez is the uncle of Monroe County Commissioner Jerry Hernandez and brother of former Key West Police Chief Eugene Hernandez.

Sentenced to five years each by King were Francisco "Frank" Hernandez, 58; Antonio Sanchez, 54, of Key West; Juan Venegas, 29, of Stock Island and Angel Cruz, 29 of Miami.

Freed Drug Smugglers: Out Of Prison

RICHMOND (UPI) — Attorney General Marshall Coleman said he will appeal to the state Supreme Court the early release of three convicted marijuana smugglers, involved in what police called one of the biggest drug rings in Virginia.

The men, convicted last year in Cumberland County, were among eight out-of-state suspects brought to trial. The three men served a year or less of sentences ranging from 10 years to 25 years before defense attorneys asked Cumberland Circuit Judge John R. Snoddy to release them early.

Snoddy said the three got good-conduct reports from prison authorities, but Coleman criticized Snoddy for releasing the men.

"By keeping the disposition of these cases under his control for a year, the judge unduly inhibited the finality of the law," Coleman said. "The three convicted men were sent to prison and should serve their sentences."

Authorities said they did not know the whereabouts of the three, who police said were part of one of the biggest drug smuggling operations ever uncovered in Virginia.

Police said 25 tons of marijuana, estimated to be worth $10 million, were brought ashore in Surry County in late 1978. About half the cargo was seized in a police raid in Cumberland County a few days later. Police also seized more drugs and nearly $2 million in five suitcases in a Henrico County motel.

Few officials were aware of the judge's actions, including Fairfax County Commonwealth's Attorney Robert F. Horan Jr., a special prosecutor in the case. "That was a major operation and if these people don't serve long terms, I am surprised. I am astounded," he said.

Today's New World Of TV

Cable Television Strong And Growing

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — I have been covering news about television since before there was television. In those 30 years

"I don't know which I'm more paranoid about, the increase in crime, or cable TV!"

or so, I must have written 20 stories about the various experimental forms of pay-TV which were all going to revolutionize the business.

Now, it seems, the long-predicted revolution may finally be close at hand. Cable TV — and Pay-TV and Subscription TV — is here, and every day brings more convincing news that it has become a formidable force in entertainment.

Item: The Wall Street Journal reports that the Cable News Network "has exceeded many expectations — both commercially and journalistically."

Item: Premiering currently is the Alpha Repertory Television Service (ARTS), which brags that it is "the first nightly cable television service devoted to the performing and visual arts." In its first week, ARTS will have programs with Anne Baxter, Pierre Salinger and Olivia De Havilland, taking us to, respectively, Paris, Vienna and Paris again.

Item: But there is another cable service in the same area. Bravo calls itself "cable television's first and only performing arts service" and offers concerts by the Cleveland Orchestra and the Baltimore Symphony and ballets and opera excerpts.

Item: CBS — one of the big three of "Free" TV — is jumping into the cable pond. They have established a CBS Cable Division, and its aims are to compete with all the other suppliers of entertainment to cable subscribers.

Item: The International Paper Company is going to produce a 28-minute video-tape version of its annual report to show on cable, figuring it gets its message across better in this form than with the old traditional brochure.

Perhaps the most active of cable concerns is Warner Amex Satellite Entertainment Company, which offers several different sorts of specialized entertainment to cable subscribers. They have all-movie channels, an all-children's-show channel, and, in development, are all-games channels, a shopping channel, an all-talk-show channel, an all-music channel.

Other cable concerns offer all-sports channels and all-Spanish-language channels and all-news channels and other highly specialized channels, with dozens of more in the offing.

Cable television began as a means of bringing television to areas that could not get it any other way. Cable operators soon realized that they had a gold mine — if there were ways to add a pay-TV adjunct to the existing cable in the home.

The actual cable that enters the home of a subscriber is physically able to bring 54 channels with it. By use of converters, this can be doubled, so it is possible for a homeowner, in areas so equipped, to receive 108 channels.

"With all these channels available," says John Schneider, president of Warner Amex, "we need a different kind of TV."

Homeowners have to understand that just because they are on the cable, they do not necessarily get all these other goodies. There is a charge for the cable, which brings them a basic cable package that includes whatever the company that has the franchise in the particular area chooses to include.

Over and above that, the homeowner must subscribe to all the other services he or she wants — such as Home Box Office (HBO) or Showtime or SelecTV or Theta's Z Channel.

HBO says it has six million subscribers now. It is estimated that nearly a quarter of all American homes have cable, and, of those, 40 percent have a pay-TV service, too. More and more, homeowners are buying two or more services, to avail themselves of all the extra programming available.

This is having a noticeable impact. Already, networks have revised downward the ratings they consider important. A 30 share used to be the measure of success, but, with the available audience shrinking as they tune in to cable systems, they now consider a 27 share sufficient to be considered a hit.

Schneider says he has been "flabbergasted" by the response from the public to appeals by Warner Amex and its competitors to buy more than one pay-TV service.

'MOTHER' AND CHILD

A stuffed toy animal has become a surrogate mother of Perriann, a spectacled langur who is the first female of her threatened species to have been born in this country in more than a year. Veterinarians and other staffers at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo have raised Perriann since she was rejected by her real mother.

Chiles Suggests Radar, Satellites, IRS Fight Drug Smuggling

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Sen. Lawton Chiles wants the federal government to use its satellite and radar intelligence gathering systems in the fight against drug smuggling, and the Internal Revenue Service against major crime figures getting rich from drug traffic.

The Florida Democrat said military officials have taken the position they cannot use the sophisticated systems in such a way because of a federal law prohibiting the military from serving as civilian police.

"That's ridiculous," Chiles told a Tampa service club luncheon Monday.

"We're already spending the money on the radar and satellites for national defense," he said. "Certainly we ought to be able to use that information to stop a foreign invasion of drugs. That's national defense, too."

"We're also trying to get the Internal Revenue Service back into going after major crime figures," Chiles said.

Noting that mobster Al Capone was finally taken out of circulation years ago on income tax evasion convictions, Chiles said the IRS has the ability to trace money back to the crime lords, despite the large number of people they place between themselves and the actual crime.

"I want them to trace all the money the hoodlums have," Chiles said. "That way, we can break open the organized crime and drug smuggling rackets right at the top."

Chiles said proposals to allow the use of the intelligence gathering systems and increased use of the IRS, are among a package of bills he and other members of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee are working on.

Another measure would call for spraying of herbicides on drug crops in foreign countries.

Chiles said 70 percent of the drugs coming into the country come through Florida, with most of the marijuana from Colombia.

He said officials in Colombia at one time indicated they would cooperate in a spraying program, but said he didn't know what position that country might take now.

Chiles also said the country must do something about its immigration situation and said one way would be to crack down on the employment of illegal aliens.

He said the word has gone out to people in other countries that it's all right to come to the United States illegally, that they can get job and probably never be caught, and if they are caught, can tie up deportation hearings for years.

"Unless we can do something about finding out who is entitled to hold a job in this country, we're never going to do anything about this problem," he said.

PLANING IN PLAINS

Former President Jimmy Carter is keeping busy in retirement by writing his memoirs and building a table for his Plains home. His woodworking equipment was a farewell gift from his White House staff.

To take the heat off your bills this summer and conserve Florida's energy, here's what you can do right now.

The mercury's not the only thing that climbs in the summer time. Your electric bill does, too. In addition, this summer you'll also be feeling the effects of a higher fuel adjustment charge.

So it's important that you start preparing now. Here are some of the ways. Your air conditioner uses more electricity during summer than any of your other appliances. So, it's important to check out the system and service it if necessary. Clean or change the filter. If you're planning on replacing your air conditioner, make certain you choose one with a high efficiency rating.

There are other measures you can take right now to take the heat off. Like installing sufficient attic insulation (we recommend R-19). Weatherstripping doors and windows. Applying solar film to those windows exposed to direct sunlight. And installing ceiling fans to help improve air flow.

You'll find other important energy saving tips at your local Florida Power and Light Company office. Just call or stop by.

RAINES RUNS WILD

Tim Steals 4 Bases, Slams 4 Hits, Drives In 2 Runs

Tim Raines Left

Herald Sports Editor
When the phone jingled at 2316 Airport Blvd. Tuesday night, Florence Raines had a suspicion who it might be.

The caller was from Montreal, Canada. He had some pretty good news.

I told him I already knew about it," said Florence Wednesday morning. "I heard about it on the six o'clock news."

The news was, that Florence's son — Tim Raines of the Montreal Expos — had just enjoyed his best day in professional baseball.

It was a day that would be the highlight of a career for many ball players.

The former Sanford swifty lashed four hits, stole four bases, drove in two runs and slapped

Raines four stolen bases were of seven by the speedy Expos, which tied a team record. Tim's four swipes also tied the team record held by teammate Rodney Scott.

He leads the NL in steals with 10. His four hits in five at bats improved his season's average to a whopping .444.

That ranks second in the National League behind the Reds' Dave Collins who is ahead at .487.

"I'm really proud of him," said Mama Florence. "I just told him to keep it up."

Raines had his big day despite freezing temperatures. "It's real cold up here, said Raines. "It's in the 20's."

Raines' one-man-show along with a two-run home run by Gary Carter helped the Expos to their seventh victory in nine outings. They are perched a half-game ahead of St. Louis in the NL East.

Malone, Surprising Toney 'Forces' Behind Houston, 76ers' Victories

By United Press International
You could have predicted Moses Malone would be the driving force behind the Houston Rockets' victory over Kansas City in the opening game of the Western Conference finals, but who would have thought rookie Andrew Toney would be the star for Philadelphia?

Toney, who didn't even start for the 76ers, scored 26 points and hit two free throws with two seconds left to lift Philadelphia to a 105-104 triumph over the Boston Celtics.

Malone scored 19 of his game-high 29 points in the second half to give Houston a 97-78 triumph over the Kings in the Western Conference best-of-seven final. Game 2 of both series is set for tonight with Philadelphia at Boston and Houston at Kansas City.

"I was just trying to stay loose and all I was thinking about was making those two free throws," said Toney. "This year has been a learning experience for me and I knew the pressure was on me."

The Sixers trailed, 104-103, with four seconds to play when Bobby Jones inbounded the ball from midcourt to Toney in the right corner. The rookie was fouled by Cedric Maxwell on a drive to the basket and calmly dropped the pressure foul shot. "It was a good call — and a dumb play," said Maxwell. "We didn't need a foul, it was better to have them shoot from the field than from the line. I tried to cut him off but he was just that much quicker."

The Sixers, behind nine of Toney's points and six points by Jones, had erupted for a 19-4 spurt early in the fourth quarter to take a 97-87 lead.

Julius Erving added 25 points and Jones finished with 17 for the 76ers. Nate Archibald scored 20 for Boston and Robert Parish added 17.

The Celtics, who repeated their 1980 playoff scenario with Philadelphia by dropping the first game at home, made just 18-of-30 free throws in the game.

Malone scored his 19 second-half points in a span of 18 minutes and left the game for good with 6:01 remaining and the Rockets ahead, 84-69. Malone hit 11-of-17 shots from the field and added 12 rebounds in another dominating effort.

"Moses Malone gets the least amount of publicity of any great player that's ever played the game," said Houston Coach Del Harris. "People seem to be realizing what kind of player he is now — but that's only because he's playing in their living rooms (on television during the playoffs)."

Robert Reid added 19, Mike Dunleavy 13 and Allen Leavell 10 for Houston.

Dunleavy hit a 3-point basket 35 seconds into the second half to move Houston from a 3-point halftime edge to a 47-41 advantage. Malone then collected a dunk, a rebound, a blocked shot and a steal in the next 3 1/2 minutes to help the Rockets open up a 53-43 lead.

Malone added 12 of Houston's 14 points during the final five minutes of the period to keep the Rockets in front, 66-60. The Kings remained within six at 73-67 as late as 2:25 into the final period. But the Rockets then went on a 13-2 spree, getting four points apiece from Reid and Leavell to take an 86-69 lead with 5:35 remaining en route to their sixth road victory of the playoff season.

Scott Wedman scored 19 and Reggie King 16 to pace Kansas City.

The game also marked the return to the Kansas City lineup of point guard Phil Ford, who had been absent since shattering an eye orbit in a game against Golden State Feb. 22. But Ford was limited to just five points.

Beal Blasts Raiders To Division Title; Play Host To Indian River For 2 Today

Former Mainland Standout Tony Beal ripped three hits including a home run to pace Seminole Community College past St. Johns 7-5 Tuesday at Palatka.

The victory improved the Raiders to 23-15 and clinched the Division II championship with a 12-3 record. All 12 victories have been in a row. Today, the Raiders host Indian River with a double-header which began at 1 p.m.

Center fielder Beal drove in two runs with his three hits and was joined in the long ball category by sophomore Mike Ripa.

Freshman Flash Bob Parker also banged out two hits to keep his average over .400.

Wynn Wallops Flagship; Atlantic Crushes Krayola 11-3

Behind the pitching and hitting of Alex Wynn, Jack Prosser Ford upset Flagship Bank 12-6 Tuesday for the first win of the Sanford Little American League season. Atlantic Bank topped Krayola College 11-3 to remain in first place, while Seminole Petroleum moved into sole possession of second place with a 10-6 win over Triple I.I.I. Trucking.

Three games are scheduled for today in the Sanford Little National League. In 5 p.m. games, First Federal plays Clem Leonard Shell at Fort Mellon Park, while Sunniland Corporation meets the Railroaders at Westside Field. Cardinal Industries plays Sanford D.A.V. at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

In Sanford Junior League games today at Chase Park, Masters Cove Apartments plays Rotary at 5 p.m., while Elks battles Knights of Columbus at 7 p.m.

Flagship Bank took the early lead with four runs in the top of the second, but Jack Prosser Ford tied the game with four in the bottom of the same frame.

Flagship scored its final two runs in the top of the third before Jack Prosser moved into the lead with six runs in the bottom of the third. A home run by Gregg Pond and a triple by Wynn were the big hits of the inning.

Jack Prosser Ford added a pair of insurance runs in the fourth, but they weren't needed.

Wynn, who struck out 11 while limiting Flagship to seven hits, also was the offensive star of the game, drilling two triples and a single in four trips to the plate.

Pond was two for three for the winners and John West slapped a triple. Gerald Morris had a double and single for the losers, while Johnny Wright homered and Darris Littles tripled.

Atlantic Bank and Seminole Petroleum were both out-hit, but still managed to win.

Triple I.I.I. Trucking led until Seminole Petroleum scored three runs in the top of the third. The Truckers tied the score at 3-3 with two runs in the bottom of the third, but Seminole Petroleum took the lead for good when it scored four runs in the fourth.

Patrick Williams was the winning pitcher and also paced his team at the plate with a home run and single. Tommy Mitchell slapped two singles and Mat Hines added a double.

Mike Edwards was three for three with a home run for Triple I.I.I. and boosted his league-leading batting average to .842 Keith Denton and Juan Newkirk each slammed a double and single.

Bennett's 4 Hits Whip Lake Brantley

Seminole's girls softball team pushed a cross four runs in the top of the eighth inning to outlast Lake Brantley 7-3 Tuesday at Lake Brantley.

Brenda Cotton initiated the big inning by reaching on an error by the shortstop.

Pitcher Dee Hogan forced Cotton at second, but Junior Johnnie Bennett laced a single — her fourth hit of the game — to keep the rally alive.

Cindy Pendarvis then singled to score Hogan for a 4-3 Tribe edge. The ball eluded the short fielder allowing Bennett and Pendarvis to move up.

Versatile Tony Hardy then topped a "swinging bunt" down the third base line on which Bennett scored and Hardy beat out for a base hit.

Jackie Link followed with a walk and Catcher Theresa Behrens blasted a single to chase home the final two runs of the inning.

For Behrens, it was her second hit of the game. Pendarvis also had two hits and Hogan whacked a triple.

Bennett followed Hogan's fourth inning three-bagger with a double of her own to plate the first Seminole run after Lake Brantley had built a 3-0 advantage.

After the three spot in the third, however, Hogan and her mates shut down the Pats' attack.

Pendarvis, a second baseman, turned in the key defensive play of the day in the bottom of the seventh.

She batted a bad-hop grounder into the air, snatched the floating ball and threw to first all in one motion.

"I couldn't believe she made the play," said an astonished Beth Corso, Tribe coach. "Cindy threw the ball while she was still in the air."

Seminole's record is 10-8 overall and 8-5 in the Five Star.

They close the regular season with single games Thursday against Lake Howell and Friday against conference leader Apopka.

Both games are at Ft. Mellon Park and begin at 4 p.m.

Horner, Braves Rout Cincinnati

By United Press International

Bob Horner at this point last season had compiled a .059 batting average in 34 at-bats with no homers or RBI and had committed six errors.

This season he has trimmed his weight and made just one error, but still got off to a horrendous start — hitting .182 with no homers or RBI, until Tuesday night.

Then, against the Cincinnati Reds, Horner delivered a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning and capped a seven-run ninth with a tremendous three-run homer to power the Braves to a 10-1 triumph.

"I'm a notoriously slow starter and I wasn't worried about it," said Horner, who had gone 6-for-33 over the first nine games of the season. "... What was worrying me was the fact we were all flat at the same time. The only one who was hitting was Claudell Washington (3-for-3 Tuesday).

"The homer came on a fastball in on me and I knew it was long gone. It felt good."

The win gave the Braves a 5-5 record. Last year, they were 1-9 and 8½ games out of first place.

"That bust-out in the ninth inning was a key thing for us," said Braves' Manager Bobby Cox. "We needed it. I feel that things are going to be great for us now that we've started hitting the way I know we can."

Starter Tommy Boggs added two run-scoring singles in the Braves' 12-hit attack and allowed seven hits over eight innings to improve his record to 1-1. After the first two Reds reached base in the ninth, Hick Camp came on and allowed Dan Driessen's run-scoring groundout.

In other games, Houston edged Los Angeles, 1-0, Montreal blasted Philadelphia, 10-3, St. Louis clobbered Chicago, 8-0, and San Diego beat San Francisco, 3-1.

In the American League, it was Boston 10, Texas 4; Milwaukee 6, Toronto 2; New York 2, Detroit 0; Cleveland 4, Kansas City 1; Chicago 2, Baltimore 1; Seattle 3, California 0; and Oakland 4, Minnesota 3, in 10 innings.

Expos 10, Phillies 3

Rookie Tim Lincecum collected two doubles, two singles, a pair of RBI and four stolen bases to pace the Expos. Montreal wound up with seven stolen bases — equalling a club record and Lincecum equaled a club mark for stolen bases in one game.

Cardinals 8, Cubs 0

Tom Herr drove in three runs with a triple and single and Andy Rincon pitched a five-hitter for his first major-league shutout as the Cardinals handed Chicago its eighth consecutive loss.

Astros 1, Dodgers 0

Bob Knepper pitched a three-hitter and scored the only run of the game on Cesar Cedeno's third-inning single to help the Astros snap a four-game losing streak against Los Angeles.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Ozzie Smith doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and rookie Chris Welsh and Gary Lucas combined on a four-hitter to pace the Padres. It was the first major-league victory for Welsh, who went the first seven innings before giving way to Lucas.

Royals 'Wait(s)' Too Long, Lose 4-1; Armas 10th Inning Single Keys A's Win

By United Press International

So far this season, the Kansas City Royals have been looking up at things instead of down at the rest of the American League West, after winning just two of their first eight games.

"It's tough when you have to tell the same story every night, but that's the way it is right now," Royals' Manager Jim Frey said after Rick Waits and the Cleveland Indians defeated Kansas City, 4-1, Tuesday night.

Frey held a team meeting following the loss and tried to get his 2-6 Royals to play baseball the way he knows they can.

"I just told them they are the American League champions and everybody knows they are. And then I told them to relax and not to try to do too much as individuals."

Cleveland got good pitching from Waits, who scattered seven hits for his second win of the season, and timely hitting from Bo Diaz, whose RBI double keyed a three-run Cleveland ninth.

Waits, 2-0, pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the first by getting Willie Alkens to ground out. He walked one and struck out three.

"We thought we had Waits on the ropes when we had the bases loaded in the first," Frey said, "but I guess we just didn't get the breaks."

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday, Boston trounced Texas, 10-4, Milwaukee beat Toronto, 6-2, New York nipped Detroit, 2-0, Chicago defeated Baltimore, 2-1, Seattle shut out California, 3-0, and Oakland took 10 innings to defeat Minnesota, 4-3.

In the National League, it was Montreal 10, Philadelphia 3; St. Louis 8, Chicago 0; Atlanta 10, Cincinnati 1; Houston 1, Los Angeles 0; and San Diego 3, San Francisco 1.

Red Sox 10, Rangers 4

Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs and Carney Lansford, the AL's leading hitter, went 3-for-4 to highlight a 15-hit attack for the Red Sox.

Brewers 6, Blue Jays 2

Ben Oglivie belted a three-run homer and went 3-for-4 to power the Brewers past the Blue Jays.

Moose Haas, 1-0, scattered nine hits in registering the Brewers' first complete game of the season.

Yankees 2, Tigers 0

Doug Bird, making a rare start, scattered four hits over six innings and Detroit third baseman Mick Kelleher's first inning error paved the way for the game's only runs.

White Sox 2, Orioles 1

Tony Bernazard's bases loaded bloop single, his fourth hit of the game, scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning to lift the White Sox.

Mariners 3, Angels 0

Floyd Bannister pitched a two-hitter and retired the final 20 batters he faced to lead Seattle. The only hits for the Angels were Rod Carew's infield single in the first inning and a single by Butch Hobson in the third.

A's 4, Twins 3

Tony Armas stroked a bases loaded single with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning to spark Oakland to its 13th win in 14 games.

Yellow Jackets Sting Greyhounds 5-2

Leesburg continued to rough up Five Star Conference opponents as the Yellow Jackets stung Lyman 5-2 Tuesday at Lyman.

It was the Greyhounds 16th setback against eight victories. Just last week the Yellow Jackets nipped Lake Brantley.

After spotting the visitors a 1-0 first inning lead, Lyman tied the game in the fourth on consecutive singles by Catcher Brent Smartt and Sophomore Tom Perkins.

Junior Rick Humphrey, though, struck out leaving runners at second and third.

Leesburg bunched three runs in the fifth to take a 4-2 edge, but Wood again delivered to pull the 'Hounds within 4-2.

Junior John Reich ripped a triple

Merit Family Expands.

Five years ago, MERIT started a whole new era in low tar smoking by delivering taste way out of proportion to tar.

Now the MERIT era surges ahead with MERIT ULTRA LIGHTS. A milder MERIT that's going to set a new taste standard for ultra low tar smoking.

MERIT and MERIT ULTRA LIGHTS. They're changing the future of smoking—today.

Cook Of The Week: C.J. 'Kit' Carson

He Stresses, 'Use Imagination'

By JANE AKERS
Herald Correspondent

"If you don't know how to cook, the best learning process is to try and experiment," says C.J. "Kit" Carson, "Don't be afraid to try something new."

Kit Carson likes to cook, and learned how to cook at an early age. His grandfather owned a restaurant in Philadelphia and as a child, he helped wait on tables and eventually learned to cook.

"My mother was a good cook," says Kit, "She never measured anything, a handful-of-flour and a pinch-of-salt type of cook."

Kit feels that you must use your imagination in order to be a good cook. "I think you also have to like to eat in order to be a good cook. You learn about taste and use of spices and herbs."

When one cooks and experiments he develops a feel for how much salt or what is lacking in order to make a dish taste great. This process takes time, imagination and patience.

Kit cooks a lot at home. He lives with his wife, Faye, and step-daughter, Carmel, at 117 West Coleman Circle in Sanford. After retirement, five years ago, he owns and operates Carson's Lawn Service.

Kit gets home early and starts dinner for the family. "When Faye comes in from work it becomes a joint project," admits Kit.

Recently Kit was involved with the Sanford Sharing Center barbecue where he helped to cook chicken for this fund-raising event.

The second Sunday of each month, Kit is at Grace United Methodist Church at 7 a.m. He puts on the coffee and helps fix a breakfast of bacon, eggs, grits and rolls for 20 to 25 Methodist men.

Kit's hobbies are his wife, family, fishing, being nice to people and television. "I like to watch Chef Tell," admits Kit. "I sometimes can't understand him, but what makes him so unique is he experiments and uses his imagination."

"I can't say it enough," smiles Kit, "Use your imagination, try and experiment. Be sure to make notes while cooking and trying new ideas."

This is the time of year for barbecues and Kit Carson certainly knows how to put on one. When you come to one of Kit's outdoor treats, you are in for some fun and a lot of good home-cooked food. Kit makes his own drinks and Bar-B-Que sauce.

After a lot of imagination, trying and experimenting, Kit has perfected the following for your family and friends to try and enjoy."

COOLERS FOR A CROWD
1 46 oz can pineapple juice
1 46 oz can pineapple-grapefruit juice
1 6 oz can lemonade concentrate
1 6 oz can water
1 quart ginger ale
1 pint vodka
2 or 3 dashes of green food color

Mix all ingredients and put in freezer overnight. Should not freeze hard, just slushy. Serve right from freezer. Taste before it gets slushy to see if it is sweet enough for you. If not, sugar can be added.

ANOTHER COOLER
1 large can frozen orange juice
1 can (48 oz) pineapple juice
1 can (6 oz) frozen lemonade
1 quart water
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon almond extract
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Mix all of the above. Add 1 quart gingerale. Cool in refrigerator. Serve.

VERY GOOD CHIP DIP
2 cans (or cups) diced shrimp
1 can tomato soup (undiluted)
3 small packages cream cheese
1 cup finely chopped celery

C.J. "Kit" Carson checks meat.

1/2 cup finely chopped green onions
1 cup mayonnaise
1 1/2 envelopes plain gelatin
Boil soup, mix in cheese, let cool. Mix gelatin with 1/2 cup boiling water. Mix all ingredients together, put in plastic container with cover. Refrigerate at least four hours before using.

ANOTHER GOOD CHIP DIP
Sauté one package chicken livers in vegetable oil, butter or margarine (do not over cook). Let cool, mash with table fork. Blend to taste, horseradish and mayonnaise. Add to chicken livers to form smooth dipable mix.

HOME MADE BAR-B-QUE SAUCE
1 quart vegetable oil (good grade)

4 eggs
5 tablespoons poultry seasoning
8 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper

Beat eggs well, combine balance of ingredients, continue to beat until well blended.

BAR-B-QUE RIBS AND CHICKEN
2 lb lean pork ribs, sectioned
1 frying chicken
8 oz Bar-B-Que sauce

Use smoker type grill with cover. Have charcoal bricks hot (grey). Do not use excessive amount of bricks, fire should not be too hot. Wash chicken pieces and salt lightly. Place on grill, skin side down. Cook approximately 1/2 hour. Turn. Coat chicken with sauce. Cook approximately another 1/2 hour. Test for doneness by twisting leg in socket. Leg bone should separate. Then chicken is done. Ribs should be cooked about same time as chicken. Do not eat under-cooked.

ROASTED CORN COB ON THE

Select 12 ears young corn. Soak in a bucket of cold water containing a handful of hickory chips, for an hour. Have charcoal bricks "grey" hot in outdoor grill. Place ears along side of charcoal bricks, not directly on top of coals. Cook for 15 minutes. Turn complete half turn, cook on other side 15 minutes. Remove from grill (how hot your grill is will determine how long to cook). Peel husk from corn. Use a well buttered slice of bread to butter your corn serving at once while hot.

BAKED BEANS

1 28 oz can B & M baked beans
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 lb. lean bacon (cut in 1/2" strips)

Fry bacon, drain excess oil off. Mix all above ingredients, bake in 300 degree oven for one hour. Serves 6.

COLE SLAW

1 medium size head cabbage
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 large carrot
1 teaspoon dry chives
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon celery seeds
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup liquid from dill pickles
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Remove outer leaves from cabbage. Cut head in two. Remove cores from two halves. Shave heads in thin strips with sharp knife. Mix all ingredients with cabbage. Let stand for at least one hour in refrigerator.

Search Is On For Outstanding Mom

With Mother's Day fast approaching, The Herald is embarking on a search for that outstanding Mom.

So, we're turning to our readers for some help. If you know of a woman who, in your opinion, is deserving of mention as an outstanding mother, let us know.

We'll accept until noon, Thursday, April 30, letters submitted by readers, about one to one-and-a-half pages of standard size sheets, telling briefly why a particular woman in our area is deserving of such recognition. We'll take it from there.

Readers should mail their selection to: OURSELVES Editor, Doris Dietrich, The Evening Herald, 300 French Ave., Sanford, Fla. 32771.

MRS. SAMMIE O. ROGERS

Vivian E. Mitchell Bride Of S.O. Rogers

Vivian Elnora Mitchell and Sammie Oral Rogers were married April 4 in a 3 p.m. double ring ceremony on the beach at New Smyrna Beach.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester of New Smyrna. Born in Osteen she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lucille Anderson of Osteen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Ruby Dale Anderson was the bridesmaid. Andre L. Anderson was the flower girl.

Following a reception at the beach, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Busch Gardens, Tampa and other points. They are making their home in Jacksonville where the bridegroom is in the United States Navy and the bride is employed by a credit bureau there.

"I'm thrilled about the place. But I won't go back."

Backdoor Trots Has Many Causes

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have been having diarrhea for a couple of years. When I'm nervous or upset it seems to act up more. For a year now, I've been on a diet a friend gave me. I take wheat germ, bran and honey mix once a day with vitamins. Is there any diet or information of any kind you have that I may follow up on? Do you have a list of diet foods I could eat or a diet sheet I could follow?

list I gave you of foods to eliminate. But see your doctor. Remember that diarrhea is a symptom, not a diagnosis.

DEAR READER - If celiac sprue is a cause of your diarrhea, the wheat germ and bran could make it definitely worse. Sprue is an allergic-type reaction to gluten found in all cereals - including wheat - except corn and rice.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you discuss the effects of sugar on the digestive system? I have a problem with spastic colitis and I love sweets. I do eat nutritious meals, brush my teeth afterwards and do not worry about my weight. I have the idea that we would all be better off with little or no sweets except for fresh or dried fruit. Someone told me recently that I need sugar and that it is absorbed in the bloodstream before it ever gets to the intestine. "If this is true then it would not affect colitis.

The point is that you can't treat a person's diarrhea properly without knowing what causes it. Some people have diarrhea because they can't tolerate milk or any foods that contain milk products. In fact, if a complete examination fails to provide any reason for diarrhea then it is sometimes useful to temporarily try a diet that eliminates all milk and foods containing milk products, all cereals except rice and corn (including foods that contain cereals such as cream soups, even ice cream and cold cuts), coffee, tea and spices.

DEAR READER - Sugar, honey and other sweets are digested and absorbed in the small intestine, mostly within the first few feet after they are emptied out of the stomach. So in a normal person, no sugar or other sweets should reach the colon or even the distal part of the small intestine. You are right. They will not affect the colon.

The various causes of diarrhea and the approach to the problem are discussed in greater detail in The Health Letter number 13-6, What You Need to Know About Diarrhea. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. A frequently neglected cause is the excess use of alcohol. The elimination of alcoholic drinks should be added to the

The problem is that they contain no bulk and the colon needs bulk. If you are providing enough bulk from the rest of your diet that is not a consideration. Concentrated sweets can also cause rebound low blood sugar levels in the few people who have reactive low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) problems. Otherwise, the main difficulty with sweets is what they don't provide, not because of anything harmful in them.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 23, 1981
There's a possibility that you will take on greater responsibilities and duties this coming year. Accept that which is handed you cheerfully, because the rewards will be commensurate.

matters top priority today. It's to your advantage to attend to them now. Delays could lessen their benefits.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Strain and tensions can be avoided in important relationships today by being cooperative, not demanding. Give a little now and you'll get a lot later.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Utilize your hunches today along with your common sense in business or commercial situations. Properly used, your logic and intuition spell profit. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24, Nov. 22) Possibilities for adding to your resources could come through several channels today. The largest return might be from someone you shared with in the past.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're very capable today in dealing with difficult persons or situations, you're able to understand that which they find objectionable and smooth things over.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be optimistic today, but also be prepared to work hard so that you can make your dreams a reality. Mere wishful thinking isn't enough.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your ambitions can be fulfilled today, but it may require a little extra push. You must operate at full throttle in order to get what you want.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The key to success today is to try to do things which will benefit others as much as they'll benefit you. Put their needs on a par with yours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Persons in your charge today won't have any doubts as to who is the boss, yet they'll respect you for the just way you handle conflict and complications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are seeking advice today about a matter which concerns you, go to more than one source for counsel. Diverse opinions may be needed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Give financial and business

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're likely to be luckier than usual today in career and financial matters. You'll have to root around a bit, however, to uncover opportunities.

WIN AT BRIDGE

ment bridge at all in the last seven or eight years. He does play regularly in the Cavendish Club bridge game where he tends to overbid and then play the dummy so as to make up for the overbidding.

His jump to three hearts wasn't really an overbid. It was just a hand which really called for the impossible bid of two and a half hearts. With the conservative call of two and the slightly optimistic jump to three, Phil bid three as expected and North took him to game.

West opened the king of spades and shifted to the queen of trumps after receiving the discouraging deuce of spades from East.

This gave Phil an excellent chance to throw game and rubber away. If he took that first trump he was going to lose his contract regardless of what line of play he tried.

However, Phil simply ducked that first trump and his contract was in the bag.

MIX AND MATCH FOR TASTEFUL FARE

Serve a tasty, attractive Company Platter Salad.

Mix and match simple ingredients with sprightly seasonings for colorful menus. The results can be delicious, tasteful fare. Try versatile dry beans for soups and cool salads. The 12 major varieties of dry beans vary in color and flavor, but most can be used interchangeably. They combine well with a wide variety of foods and seasonings, and add their own special flavor.

Canned fruit cocktail and canned cling peaches provide color and flavor to desserts, salads and entree platters year-round. Like dry beans, they can be mixed and matched with various foods and seasonings for simple, yet delicious, eating.

Fruit cocktail provides the crowning touch to spectacular Fruit and Cream Pie — the final to a simple soup and salad supper. The soup is a smooth puree of beans and canned corn. The pie is a smooth puree of peaches and vanilla ice cream, topped with whipped cream and hot pepper sauce.

Colorful cling peach halves highlight Company Salad Platter, a pleasing combination of crisp lettuce and a new variation of three bean salad which is marinated in a piquant dressing made with the reserved peach syrup. Serve the salad platter with a variety of cheeses and breads.

FRUIT AND CREAM PIE

1 can (17 oz.) fruit cocktail
 1 1/2 tablespoons rum or 1 tablespoon rum extract
 1 1/2 tablespoon brandy extract
 4 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1 cup sugar
 1 1/4 cups crisp chocolate cookie crumbs (15 2 1/2-inch cookies)
 1/4 cup chopped almonds
 1 1/2 quarts vanilla ice cream
 1/4 cup chocolate sauce
 Whipped cream (optional)
 Drain fruit cocktail; sprinkle with rum and brandy. Set aside. Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. With electric mixer, beat egg whites and cream of tartar until frothy. Slowly add sugar; beat until very stiff and meringue forms glossy peaks. Gently fold in cookie crumbs and nuts. Spread over bottom and just to rim of sides of buttered 9 or 10-inch pie plate. Make bottom of shell about 1/4-inch thick and sides about 1-inch thick. Bake in preheated oven about 30 minutes. Cool on rack away from drafts. (Meringue shell may fall or crack in center.) Fill cooled shell with scoops of ice cream. Spoon fruit cocktail between ice cream balls. Drizzle with chocolate sauce; serve immediately. Top each serving with dollop of whipped cream. Makes 6-8 servings.

Freezing Tip: Both made-ahead and leftover pie may be frozen. If freezing for 1 or 2 hours, covering pie is unnecessary. If freezing for longer periods, pie may be wrapped in aluminum foil, sealed and frozen. Thaw at room temperature 10 to 15 minutes before serving.

SUPPER SALAD

1 head iceberg lettuce
 1 1/2 cups (about 3/4 lb.) cubed cooked beef
 1/2 small red onion, chopped
 1/2 cup oil
 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
 1-3 cup sliced ripe olives
 1/2 large tomato, cut into wedges
 Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill in plastic bag or plastic crisper. Layer beef and onion in shallow glass dish. Combine oil, vinegar and seasonings; mix well. Pour over beef and onion. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Cut lettuce into 1-inch chunks. Place in large salad bowl. Drain marinade from beef and onion; reserve. Add beef and onion to lettuce; toss gently. Add mushrooms, olives and tomato to marinade and mix to coat. Spoon over lettuce and toss again. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHILLED BEAN SOUP

1-2-3 cups drained, cooked or canned navy or great northern beans
 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of potato soup
 1 cup half-and-half
 2 tablespoons dry white wine
 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 1/4 teaspoon bottled hot pepper sauce
 2 or 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
 Combine beans and potato soup; puree in processor, blender or sieve. Stir in remaining ingredients except parsley. Chill thoroughly. Serve in small bowls; garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Soup may thicken when chilled. Thin with additional half-and-half if necessary.

COMPANY SALAD PLATTER

1 can (29 oz.) cling peach halves
 1-2-3 cups drained, cooked or canned great northern, dry large lima or navy beans
 1-2-3 cups drained, cooked or canned kidney beans or small red beans
 1-2-3 cups drained, cooked or canned cut green beans
 1/2 cup pitted ripe olives, drained
 2 tablespoons each chopped parsley and onion
 Sweet-Sour Dressing

1/2 cup each celery and cucumber, 3/4-inch pieces
 Iceberg lettuce, sliced 3/4-inch thick
 Drain peach halves; reserve syrup for dressing. Combine beans, olives, parsley and onion; toss with dressing. Marinate at least 6 hours in refrigerator. Add celery and cucumber; toss gently. Drain bean mixture; reserve dressing. Arrange bean salad, peach halves and lettuce on platter. Pass reserved dressing. Serve with a variety of cheeses and breads. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Sweet-Sour Dressing: Combine 1-3 cup each reserved peach syrup, catsup and oil, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon each vinegar and Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 small clove minced garlic; mix thoroughly. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

A luscious mixture including fruit cocktail tops Fruit and Cream Pie. Versatile dry beans form base of chilled Bean Soup.

Potpourri

ORANGE GLAZED HAM

- 3 oranges, peeled, sectioned, chopped (2 cups)
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 teaspoons finely shredded orange rind
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 1 (4 to 5 pound) fully cooked boneless ham
- Whole cloves

In 2-quart saucepan, stir together oranges, corn syrup, sugar, orange juice, orange rind and dry mustard. Stirring frequently, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 30 minutes. Let stand at room temperature. Trim fat on ham if necessary; score and stud with cloves. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour (15 to 20 minutes per pound). Pour 1 cup of glaze mixture over ham; cook 10 minutes longer. Heat and serve remaining glaze as sauce for ham. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 to 10 servings.

SHRIMP DELICIOUS FISH SPREAD

- 1/2 pound cooked flaked sea trout or other flaked fish
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) cream of shrimp soup, undiluted
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon horseradish
- Crackers

Combine soup and cream cheese in 1-quart mixing bowl. Beat with electric mixer until smooth. Stir in fish, parsley, salt, and horseradish; chill overnight. Serve with crackers. Makes 3 cups spread.

ROCK SHRIMP CHEESE DREAMS

- 1/2 pound cooked, peeled, deveined rock shrimp tails
- 2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
- 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 12 slices buttered white bread

Chop rock shrimp. Combine all ingredients except bread. Spread 6 slices bread with approximately one-third cup mixture per slice. Cover with remaining 6 slices bread. Cut each sandwich diagonally into 4 triangles. Makes 24 hors d'oeuvres.

KIDNEY BEAN AND BISCUIT CASSEROLE

- 2 cans (16-ounces each) red kidney beans
- 1 pound ground beef
- 4 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 can (8-ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup prepared biscuit mix
- One-third cup milk

In a large skillet, brown beef; remove and set aside. Add bacon and cook until crisp; remove from skillet; crumble and add to beef. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Add onion, green pepper, celery and garlic to skillet and saute until tender. Drain beans reserving 1 cup liquid (or add enough water to liquid to equal 1 cup.) Combine beans, reserved liquid, beef, vegetables, tomato sauce, chili powder, mustard and salt; mix well. Spoon into a shallow 2-quart casserole. Mix biscuit mix and milk just until moistened. Spoon onto casserole making six biscuits. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 40 minutes or until biscuits are golden brown. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6-8 servings.

PARMESAN POTATO STICKS

- 2 pounds russet potatoes
 - 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
 - 1/2 cup each fine dry bread crumbs and grated Parmesan cheese
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon each garlic powder and pepper
- Peel potatoes; cut lengthwise into quarters. Cut each quarter into 3 strips. Roll in melted butter, then in mixture of crumbs, cheese, salt, garlic powder and pepper. Place in single layer in shallow baking dish. Pour any remaining butter over potatoes. Bake at 400 degrees F. 30 to 35 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Makes 6 servings.

HOT DOG CASSEROLE

- Mashed potatoes (enough for 4 servings)
 - 1/2 cup sweet pickle relish
 - 3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
 - 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 - 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
 - 4 to 6 frankfurters
- Heat oven to 350 degrees. Prepare mashed potatoes as directed on package for 4 servings. Stir in pickle relish, mayonnaise, onion and mustard. Pour into ungreased 1-quart round casserole. Cut each frankfurter lengthwise into halves; cut each half crosswise into halves. Insert frankfurter pieces around edge of mashed potatoes. Bake until potatoes are light brown, 25 to 30 minutes. 4 servings.

DATE 'N BANANA BREAD

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
 - 1 cup enriched corn meal
 - 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1 cup chopped dates
 - 1 cup mashed ripe banana
 - 3 eggs, beaten
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1-3rd cup vegetable oil
- Combine flour, corn meal, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and soda; stir in dates. Combine banana, eggs, milk and oil; add to flour mixture, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes. Remove from pan; cool completely on wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

COCONUT-CARROT LOAF

- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 1/4 cups sugar
 - 3 teaspoons baking soda
 - 3 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 3 eggs, beaten
 - 1 cup oil
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 cups shredded carrots
 - 1 1/2 cups (about) angel flake coconut
 - 1/2 cup raisins
- Mix flour with sugar, baking soda, cinnamon and salt. Add eggs, oil and vanilla to flour mixture; blend well. Stir in carrots, coconut and raisins, and pour into well-greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 deg. for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cool before slicing.

Taco Salad is topped with meat mixture, tomato, onion, avocado slices and broken taco or tostado shells.

Plan A Mexican Fiesta On May 5

On May 5 in 1862, the Mexican army turned back French invaders. Since then, Cinco de Mayo has been one of Mexico's national holidays with "fiestas" in cities and towns throughout the country.

The day usually starts with fireworks. Then everyone gathers at the "town square" for the activities — parades, mariachi bands, dancing and little stalls that sell bright paper flowers, balloons and delicious snacks.

Food always plays an important role in Mexican celebrations. Why not use Cinco de Mayo as an occasion for your own Mexican party? Use colorful decorations and, to add atmosphere, a mariachi record.

TACO SALAD

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 envelope (1 1/2 oz.) taco seasoning mix
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 medium head lettuce, torn in bite-size pieces (4 cups)
- 1/2 cup sliced black olives
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 large tomato, cut in wedges
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced and separated in rings
- Avocado slices
- Coarsely crushed taco or tostado shells
- taco sauce
- Brown ground beef. Drain fat. Stir in seasoning mix and water. Heat to boiling; reduce heat and simmer uncovered, 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. In a salad bowl, combine lettuce, olives and cheese; toss well. Top with meat mixture, tomato, onion, avocado slices and broken taco or tostado shells. Serve with taco sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER ENCHILADAS

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
 - 1 package (1 1/2 oz.) taco seasoning mix
 - 1 can (12 oz.) tomato paste
 - 1 cup water
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 12 flour tortillas, 8-inch
 - 1 jar (8 oz.) pasteurized process cheese spread
 - 1 can (4 oz.) chopped green chilies
- Brown ground beef in large skillet. Drain well. Stir in seasoning mix, tomato paste, water, onion and salt. Simmer for 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until liquid is reduced. Preheat oven to 350-degrees F. Spoon 2 to 3 tablespoons meat mixture on each tortilla. Roll tightly and place in a 13x9-inch baking dish. Spread cheese over top of enchiladas. Sprinkle with green chilies. Top with remaining meat mixture. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes. Remove with spatula and serve immediately. Makes 12 enchiladas.
- MICROCOOK on full power for 10 to 12 minutes or until heated through. Turn once during cooking time.

Tuna combines with pasta for a no-hassle main dish.

Coordinate Meals From Convenient 'Separates'

It's been panicsville at the office. On the way home, you spot a new take-out food emporium. You decide to save time and treat yourself (who better?). A little sustenance... Something very, very delicious. Waiting your turn — it seems forever — you idly check out price tags decorating the fancy edibles. You go into shock. Just as your "next" is called, you notice a well-heeled associate in line behind you. You stammer out an order for a quarter-pound Octopus Salad Primavera. The Primavera is extra. So's the container. You have to walk home. The worst part is you don't even eat octopus. Know you are not alone. Others, even food pros, are experiencing the same time-and-money crunch. Who isn't? And, as a result, a group of tuna-loving experts have come up with a nifty idea sparked by the concept of put-together wardrobes from fashion separates.

They worked out a repertoire of three different, ad-lib main dishes you can quickly put together with six basic food "separates" — canned, frozen, packaged and fresh staples — tuna, onion and garlic, frozen Italian-style vegetables, cooked pasta, and mild cheese. Two of the dishes call for the addition of one extra ingredient. Here's the recipe scenario: The first dish, No-Hassle Tuna and Pasta, call for stir-frying the tuna and vegetables, and sprinkling them with the grated cheese. The tuna stir-fry is served over cooked pasta. The second dish, Creative Tuna Soup, calls for adding a couple of cups of broth (vegetable or chicken) to the tuna, veggies and pasta, and then, heating together. At serving time, the soup is topped with a sprinkling of the grated cheese. Third dish, Tuna Casserole Espresso, calls for sauteing the tuna and vegetables, layering the tuna mixture with the cooked pasta and grated cheese in a casserole dish, and spooning the store-bought marinara sauce over the whole thing. It emerges from the oven as a colorful, Italian-style casserole with overtones of lasagne.

CREATIVE TUNA SOUP

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen Italian style vegetables in sauce, thawed
- 1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna, drained
- 2½ cups chicken broth
- 1 cup cooked pasta
- ¾ cup shredded Monterey Jack Cheese
- In large saucepan melt butter; saute onion and garlic until tender. Add vegetables, tuna and broth. Bring to a boil; reduce heat, simmer 5 minutes. Add pasta and heat through. Serve sprinkled with cheese. Yield: 4 servings.

NO-HASSLE TUNA AND PASTA

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen Italian style vegetables in sauce, thawed
- ¼ cup water
- 1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna, drained
- 1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese, divided
- 4 cups cooked pasta (bow ties)
- In large skillet melt butter; saute onion and garlic until tender. Add vegetables, water, tuna and ½ cup cheese; stir-fry until all ingredients are heated through. Serve over hot pasta. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup cheese. Yield: 4 servings.

TUNA ESPRESSO CASSEOLE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen Italian style vegetables in sauce, thawed
- 1 cup (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna, drained
- 1 cup pasta
- 1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese, divided
- 1 cup prepared spaghetti sauce
- In medium saucepan melt butter; saute onion and garlic until tender. Add vegetables and tuna; mix well. In a 2-quart casserole arrange pasta; sprinkle with ¼ cup cheese. Spoon tuna mixture over pasta and top with spaghetti sauce. Sprinkle with remaining ¾ cup cheese. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven about 20 minutes, until heated through. Yield: 4 servings.

It's easy to stuff an artichoke

Artichokes Get Tuna Stuffing

If you've never stuffed an artichoke, performing this culinary trick can be amazingly simple. And the result is not only remarkably appetizing but it presents an elegant, impressive appearance. Artichokes come in three basic sizes: The large ones are approximately 3½ inches in diameter; the medium, 3 inches; and the small, 2 inches. Large and medium sizes are best for stuffing, small for stews and marinating. The following stuffed artichoke recipe will make an attractive luncheon entree.

ARTICHOKE TUNA ROYALE

- 4 medium artichokes
- ½ cup cooked elbow macaroni
- 1 can (6½ ounces) chunk light tuna
- ½ cup chopped bell pepper
- One-third cup chopped scallions
- One-third cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon dill weed
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice
- Dash Tabasco
- Slice off spiky upper third of each artichoke and trim stem end so artichokes will sit flat. Strip off any small outer leaves. With sharp knife or kitchen shears, trim tip of each remaining leaf. Place artichokes in deep saucepan and simmer in 2-3 inches lightly salted water 30 to 45 minutes, depending on size. Lift out cooked artichokes. Drain. Gently spread leaves apart and remove thistle portion from center with spoon. Mix thoroughly tuna, macaroni and balance of ingredients. Chill and spoon mixture in center of each artichoke, piling to heaping height. Spoon balance, if any, between spread leaves. Makes 4 servings.

Spring Heralds Arrival Of Outdoor Entertaining

This season, spend less time at the charcoal fire by adding to your barbecue repertoire these delightful cold pasta combinations featuring an extraordinary apple — Cape Granny Smith.

Prepared in advance and served buffet style, these original dishes can help spare you the time that's better spent with guests.

Offering a lively mix of taste and texture, the crackling snap of summer's freshest apple combines easily with macaroni to create dishes that are flavorful as well as filling.

Summer Solstice Salad is one example of an imaginative twist to a classic recipe. Shell macaroni and the tangy apples are the stars of the show with a supporting cast of chopped celery, raisins and walnuts. Since a cinnamon spiked vinaigrette sauce serves as a perky condiment, this salad makes an excellent centerpiece to weekend backyard barbecues.

You can surprise guests with something beyond an ordinary macaroni salad. Granny's Green Valley Salad makes a simple dish a complete party-time meal. Elbow macaroni, chopped apples, grapes and green peppers bring out a crunchy combination of fruit and vegetable. By adding chopped chicken or tuna with a pinch of Dijon mustard, you have the option of offering this satisfying treat as a side-dish or as the main meal.

Cape Granny Smith Apples have glossy green skins and are available only from early May to August. Careful handling and rigid quality controls help ensure their firmness, freedom from bruises and skin imperfections.

SUMMER SOLSTICE SALAD

2 1/2 cups cooked, shell-style macaroni
2 Granny Smith apples, cored and diced (2 1/2 cups)
2-3 cup diagonally sliced celery
1-3 cup broken walnuts
1-3 cup raisins
1-3 cup creamy Italian salad dressing
In large bowl combine all ingredients; mix well. Cover. Chill until ready to serve. Yield: 4 servings (1 1/2 cup servings).

GREEN VALLEY SALAD

2 medium-size Granny Smith apples, cored, and cut in 1/2-

inch cubes
2 cups cooked, shredded chicken
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 green pepper, cut in julienne strips
1 cup green grapes, halved
In large bowl combine apples, chicken, macaroni and green pepper. Toss well with Piquant Dressing. Chill. Stir in grapes just before serving.

PIQUANT DRESSING

1/2 cup mayonnaise or yogurt
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 gablespoons Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon fresh, minced dill or 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
In small bowl combine, mayonnaise, vinegar, mustard, dill, salt, and pepper; mix well. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Summer Solstice Salad is a splendid, edible centerpiece.

Take a turkey frank, surround it with imagination, and come up with a tasty treat that's sure to please all ages, all the time.

Frankly, My Dear, Turkey Has Gone To The Dogs

Who's fixing supper tonight, and what's their favorite way for preparing turkey franks?

With 52 percent of the wives and mothers in the working force, dinner chores are often delegated to family members.

Turn them loose with turkey franks and their imagination, and enjoy good eating. Try these ideas for high protein, low calorie turkey franks, then make up some of your own.

TURKEY CHEESE DOGS

Slit a pocket lengthwise in 10 turkey franks. Stuff a strip of cheese in each pocket. Wrap cheese-stuffed turkey frank with bacon slice, securing ends with toothpicks. Broil 4-5 inches from heat, turning frequently, for 5 minutes, or until bacon is crisp. May be served in buns. Makes 10 servings.

SOUP WITH TURKEY FRANK COINS

Prepare a 10-1/2 ounce can of your favorite soup — bean with bacon, split pea, golden mushroom, cream of potato, etc. — in a saucepan as directed on can. Cut 5-6 turkey franks into 1/4 inch slices, add to soup and heat until steaming, stirring often. Makes 4 servings.

GREAT BEGINNINGS

For a simple-to-fix appetizer, cut turkey franks on the diagonal into four or five pieces. Add to heated mixture of 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon soy sauce and 1 tablespoon honey in large skillet. Heat, stirring frequently, until ready to serve. Serve with round toothpicks. One pound turkey franks makes 40-50 appetizer bites.

Or use bottled barbecue sauce to cook the turkey franks.

TURKEY FRANK TACOS

Prepare 1 envelope taco seasoning mix and cook as directed on package. Add 1 package turkey franks cut into 1/2-inch chunks and heat for 5 minutes. Spoon taco mixture into taco shells. Serve with shredded lettuce, chopped onion, diced tomato, grated cheese, avocado slices and sour cream. Makes 10 tacos.

POCKET YOUR TURKEY FRANKS

Slice 10 turkey franks into 1/4-inch slices. Brown in skillet in 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine with 1/4 cup chopped onion and 1/4 cup chopped green pepper. Stir in 1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch mixed with 1/4 cup vinegar. Cook until mixture is thick and bubbly. Spoon into warm pita bread. Makes 10 pita sandwiches.

Celery: Delightful To Dieters

Raw celery is a dieter's delight and it is also looked upon kindly by dentists, because of its cleansing, fibrous qualities. Celery is a delectable cooked vegetable, too, and combines nicely with poultry, fish or veal in stir-fried recipes, or in casseroles. It adds flavor and crunchiness.

These are dishes to put together in the morning, if you wish, and refrigerate for cooking later.

CELERY ORLANDO

1 stalk (bunch) Florida celery
3 tablespoons oil
1-3 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, broken up
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
Trim stem end of celery. Separate stalk into ribs; cut into 1/4-inch thick diagonal slices (makes about 6 cups); set aside. In a large sauce pot, heat oil until hot. Add onion and garlic; saute for 3 minutes. Add reserved celery along with remaining ingredients. Bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until celery is crisp-tender, about 15 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 portions.

CELERY CHEESE CASSEROLE

2 cups diced Florida celery
3 cups grated Cheddar cheese

4 cups diced fresh bread cubes (5 slices)
3 eggs, lightly beaten
2 cups milk
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon powdered mustard
Pinch ground black pepper
Cook celery in boiling salted water until almost tender, about 7 minutes. Drain and set aside to cool. In a greased 2-quart casserole, layer 1-3 each of the cheese and bread cubes and 1/2 of the celery; repeat twice more ending with bread cubes. In a medium bowl, mix eggs, milk, salt, thyme, mustard and black pepper. Pour over top. Let stand for 1 hour. Preheat oven to 350-degrees. Bake, uncovered in a pan of hot water until firm, about 1 hour and 15 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 portions.

STIR-FRIED CELERY AND TURKEY

1 stalk (bunch) Florida celery
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Pinch ground black pepper
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
3 tablespoons salad oil
2 cups diced cooked turkey
1 cup chopped nuts

Stir-fry, bake or saute celery for menu interest.

Trim stem end from celery; remove leaves (use in soups, stews, salads, etc.). Separate stalk into ribs; slice on the diagonal into 1-inch pieces (makes about 6 cups). Mix cornstarch with sugar, ginger, garlic powder, salt and black pepper. Blend in chicken broth; set aside. In a large skillet or wok, heat oil until hot. Add celery; stir-fry until barely crisp-tender, about 7 minutes. Add turkey; stir-fry 1 minute. Stir in nuts and reserved chicken broth mixture. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens, about 1 minute. Serve immediately over steamed rice, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 portions.

DESSERTS

Hot Citrus Cup A Bit Of India

A quickie dessert comes out of a jar from the refrigerated section of your supermarket.

This is a hot citrus cup that has as its base orange and grapefruit sections already prepared for you. To these add the combination of chutney, curry, powdered ginger and nutmeg and you have a bit of the old India dining we see in late-late movies.

Although this is a dessert, you may serve it as an appetizer or as a side dish to go with curried lamb or chicken.

Try it with your first barbecue of the season. You'll be surprised how well it goes with simple American outdoor treats. And even more important, it's a time-saver since there is no cutting and trimming of fruit involved.

HOT CITRUS CUP

- 1 32-ounce jar chilled fruit salad
- 1 cup chutney
- 1 teaspoon curry
- 1 teaspoon powdered ginger
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar

Preheat broiler. Drain the fruit salad (save the juice in an empty jar for a refreshing drink or another recipe) and divide it among 6 scallop shells or custard cups, or place in an 8-inch pan. Chop the chutney until it is rather fine. Scrape the chutney into a mixing bowl and stir in the curry, ginger, nutmeg and vinegar. Distribute the chutney topping over the top of the fruits and broil for about 3 minutes or until the fruit is heated through and the topping is hot and bubbly. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY ICE

- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 quart fresh strawberries
- 1/2 cup lime juice

In 2-quart saucepan, bring corn syrup and water to boil over medium heat. Boil 10 minutes. Stir in orange juice and brown sugar until dissolved. Place berries and lime juice in blender container; cover. Blend on medium speed 30 seconds or until smooth. Add corn syrup mixture. Cover; blend on low speed 30 seconds or until well mixed. Pour into 8-by-8-by-2-inch baking pan. Freeze several hours or until almost firm. Turn into large mixing bowl. With mixer at low speed, beat until smooth but not melted. Pour into baking pan. Cover; freeze about 4 hours or until firm. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 1/4-quarts.

JELLY ROLL

- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 1/2 cups tart jelly

Grease 15 1/4-by-10 1/4-by-1-inch jelly roll pan. Generously sprinkle a cloth with sifted confectioners' sugar. Line bottom of pan with waxed paper and grease again. In large bowl with mixer at medium speed, beat together eggs, baking powder and salt. Gradually add sugar. Add corn syrup, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating until mixture is thick and light in color. Beat in vanilla. Fold in cake flour. Pour batter into prepared pan.

Bake in 375-degree oven about 15 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Immediately turn onto prepared cloth. Remove waxed paper. Roll up in cloth, starting at narrow end. Cool 15 minutes. Unroll and spread cake with jelly to with 1/4-inch of edges. Roll up cake; wrap cloth around roll. Cool completely on wire rack. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 to 12 servings.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM PIE

- 1 1/2 cups cold milk
- 1 cup (1/2 pt.) chocolate ice cream, softened
- 1 package (8-serving size) chocolate flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Thoroughly blend milk and ice cream in a bowl. Add pie filling mix. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at low speed of electric mixer until blended, about 1 minute. Pour immediately into pie shell. Chill until set, about 3 hours. Garnish with Coffee Whipped Topping and chocolate curls, if desired.

Coffee Whipped Topping: Combine 1/2 cup cold milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon instant quality coffee, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla and 1 envelope whipped topping mix in deep narrow-bottom bowl. Whip with rotary beater or at high speed of electric mixer until topping peaks. Continue whipping until topping is light, fluffy, and fully whipped, about 2 minutes longer. Makes about 2 cups.

PERFECT HOT TEA

- Use a teapot, preheating it by rinsing it out with hot water.
- Bring freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil.
- Put 1 teaspoonful of tea or 1 teabag per cup of water (about 8 ounces) in the warmed teapot.
- Pour the boiling water over the tea and let stand for 3 to 5 minutes.
- Remove teabags or strain before serving with milk (not cream) or lemon slices and sugar if desired.

Bowlegged Teen Wants Straight Answer

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen my problem mentioned in your column. I'm bowlegged. I am 18 and not a bad-looking guy, but there's a separation of about five inches between my knees when I stand up straight.

I am so self-conscious about this that I'm afraid to ask a girl for a date. My parents tell me not to worry about it, but I can't help feeling inferior and deformed. I even went to a doctor and asked him if something could be done, and he just laughed at me.

Abby, do you know of any bone specialist who could break my legs and reset them? Or maybe put my legs in braces to straighten them out? Or am I too old for that? I would do just about anything to have straight legs like other guys.

Please don't tell me to thank God that I can walk. (Everybody tells me that.) I am praying that you won't let me down.

BOWLEGGED AND MISERABLE
 DEAR BOWLEGGED: You have a problem that is far more serious than bowed legs. It's the way you perceive yourself. Please see a psychologist or psychiatrist. He (or she) will not laugh at you. Your thinking, not your legs, needs straightening out. In the meantime, consider this "prayer": "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

DEAR ABBY: How does a person get a letter to you? Our newspaper never prints your address. Also, do I have to sign my name in order to be answered in your column?

WONDERING HONG KING
DEAR WONDERING:
 Write to ABBY, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. And you need not sign your name. Because column space is limited, obviously every letter will not appear in print.

DEAR ABBY: I loved your answer to the Minneapolis man who was embarrassed by the loud laughter of his ladyfriend whenever they went to a comedy. (You said, "Hearty explosive laughter is characteristic of an uninhibited, outgoing personality — a healthy plus.")

For 25 years, my sister-in-law told me to "hold it down" every time I laughed in public. Even when others around us were laughing more loudly than I, I was told to "tone down" or "be quiet." (Sometimes she wasn't that polite.) It put a damper on my spirits and spoiled my fun, so as much as I like this sister-in-law, I have quit going places with her.

I can't help how I laugh. People have told me I sound like Phyllis Diller. Well, I take that as a compliment, as she seems to be a lady who enjoys life to the fullest and isn't afraid to be herself.

LOVES TO LAUGH IN NORWALK

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago I had a partial laryngectomy, which left me with only 10 percent of one vocal chord. As a result of this, my voice, especially on the phone, sounds like something between a croak and a whisper.

I'm fed up, angry and often enraged when I make a telephone call and the person who answers the phone impatiently asks me to speak up, or worse yet, accuses me of trying to be "funny" or making an obscene phone call.

Please publish this letter, Abby. There are many others with speech impediments who need the understanding of thoughtful strangers who jump to the wrong conclusion when they hear us on the phone.

MR. CROAKER
DEAR MR. CROAKER:
 You could save yourself much hurt and anger if you were to begin every phone conversation with, "Hello. I hope you can understand me. I've had throat surgery and it's sometimes difficult to understand me, so please be patient."

 Try it. I'll bet it works.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Toxic Waste Dumped On Altamonte

Sanford Chemical Samples Taken

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency chemists early today took samples of 30 drums of chemical waste for analysis from the chemical waste storage facility in Sanford operated by City Chemicals Co. Inc.

The analyses to be completed within 10 days, will be used by the State Department of Environmental Regulation and the city of Sanford in its lawsuit against the Orlando based firm. The suit seeks removal of the 3,270 drums of waste stored since early November at a two-acre field off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane.

Meanwhile, Altamonte Springs authorities were supervising this morning the removal of 329 drums of chemical waste from a sanitary landfill site in that South Seminole city. Those drums also belong to City Chemicals. City Manager Jeff Etchberger said the 55-gallon drums of waste were discovered by city officials after a tip from a citizen Wednesday.

Fifty of the drums were removed Wednesday, he said, and the remaining 329 were being loaded into an 18-wheel tractor truck for removal this morning "presumably" to the firm's Forsythe Road facility in Orlando.

Etchberger said through cooperation of Seminole County and the DER, the waste was ordered removed as soon as it was discovered. The DER also ordered the company, Etchberger said, to remove six inches of top soil from the privately operated Pyle sanitary landfill on Douglas Road along with the drums of chemicals.

Etchberger said while some of the drums were neatly stacked at the landfill, many had been dumped off trucks with their contents spilled on the ground.

At the same time, Goldenrod Fire Department officers in Orange County were conducting a fire inspection at the company's Forsythe Road plant. Arthur Greer and Ken Howard, officers of the firm, were not available for comment.

The EPA chemists and DER officials Wednesday marked off 30 drums at the Sanford facility for testing. Alex Senkevich, DER district manager, and Len Kozlov, enforcement officer, said a manifest of the drums' purported contents provided by City Chemicals was used in selecting the drums to be tested.

A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency chemist attired in protective clothing and wearing a gas mask and oxygen tanks, brings out of the City Chemicals Co. Inc. waste chemical storage compound a sample of waste stored there.

Bob Patton, chief DER chemist, said in this fashion the state agency can determine whether the manifests accurately reflect what is stored at the site.

Asked whether the chemicals found in Altamonte could have been taken there from the Sanford site prior to the testing, Patton said it is impossible to say.

"It's difficult to determine what has been moved and what hasn't," Patton said. He added that a requirement is needed which would give a specific identification to each drum of chemical waste from its place of origin until it is finally disposed of. Patton said results of the analyses of the waste will be available in about 10 days.

"It's obvious the paper labels are not the answer," he said, noting many labels have fallen off the containers.

Although a state law governs the disposal of chemical wastes, regulations to enforce the law have not as yet been written.

Ten EPA chemists with three vanloads of equipment began preparing for the testing at 5:30 a.m. today. Actual sample-taking began at 7 a.m.

The chemists were attired in protective gowns, rubber boots and rubber gloves. They wore gas masks and carried tanks of oxygen on their backs.

After 15-20 minutes within the chemical waste compound teams of two chemists were relieved by other two-member teams. As each team completed its work, the team went through a decontamination process, involving a series of scrubs of boots, gloves and equipment.

At the Altamonte Springs site, Jim Stringer, a mechanic employed by the Pyle firm, said the drums of chemical waste were apparently brought into the Altamonte landfill Monday or Tuesday. Stringer said City Chemicals in the past dumped empty drums at the landfill. He said the firm had been warned that only drums which had been punctured and were empty could be left at the Pyle landfill.

"We told them we wouldn't take drums with anything in them," Stringer said. "Some of the drums were thrown out on the ground any which way," Stringer said. Pyle was not available for comment.

Etchberger said most likely City Chemicals was trying to reduce its inventory at the Forsythe Road plant prior to today's fire inspection.

Etchberger said when the City Chemicals leased truck left the Altamonte Springs landfill Wednesday with 50 drums of chemical waste, a city official followed as it traveled west on State Road 436.

"Who knows where barrels may be in that part of the county," Etchberger said. He noted the truck should have proceeded eastbound if it were going to the Forsythe Road plant. "When the driver saw the city car following, he turned and proceeded in the right direction," Etchberger said.

Etchberger said Altamonte is doing the policing function as the chemicals are being removed from that city.

"We are following the trucks to the next jurisdiction and letting that jurisdiction know that the trucks are headed in their direction." He said the Pyle landfill is licensed to operate in the city.

Nice Guys Don't

Always Finish Last

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Bobby, a rat named for the good-natured brother of J.R. on the "Dallas" TV show won the feature race in the annual Run for the Rodents Wednesday.

The Run for the Rodents annually features the pick of the laboratory rats at Spalding College.

Bobby, like his race competitors, a hooded black and white Norway rat, received the top prize of a cup of fruit-flavored cereal after winning the Spalding Downs - Dallas Derby race.

His victory seem to prove nice guys don't always finish last.

Doctors Testify Life Begins At Conception; 'Pro-Choice' Groups Want Their Say, Too

By WESLEY G. PIPPETT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several doctors who maintain life begins with conception are ready to testify at a Senate hearing that many advocates of liberal abortion laws complain is stacked against them.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers is holding hearings today and Friday to gather scientific evidence on a bill that would legally define life as starting with conception.

"Pro-choice" advocates — who insist a woman has a right to decide whether she wants an abortion — complain they have been refused an opportunity to testify.

The bill could nullify the 1973 Supreme Court ruling that made abortion legal and recognize the rights of an unborn fetus.

Among today's scheduled witnesses were Drs. Jerome Lejeune of the Medical College of Paris and Watson Bowes, director of obstetrics at the University of Colorado.

Both maintain a fetus is a living human being.

Similar testimony was expected from Drs. Hymie Gordon of the Mayo Clinic, Michelle Matthews-Roth of Harvard and Jasper Williams of Williams Clinic in Chicago.

Rhonda Copelon, a lawyer for the Center for Constitutional Rights and a proponent of abortion rights, said Wednesday "a majority, if not all," of the witnesses are anti-abortionists.

"The hearings ... are a sham," she told a news conference.

The bill under consideration is sponsored by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. The measure has become a key legislative goal of anti-abortionists this year, replacing a long-sought constitutional amendment banning abortions.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists complained it was given unacceptable conditions when it asked to testify.

It said President-elect George M. Ryan Jr. was given permission to speak as an individual but not on behalf of the Major Defeat For Abortion?

BOSTON (UPI) — In a stinging defeat for the pro-abortion movement, a new law went into effect today requiring unwed teen-agers to gain the consent of their parents or a judge before obtaining abortions in Massachusetts.

The controversial law requiring girls under 18 to get consent from both parents or a Superior Court magistrate became effective at midnight Wednesday despite 11th-hour attempts to block its implementation.

The state Supreme Court, meeting in a special session, heard two hours of testimony by attorneys for abortion advocate William Baird and the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts who were seeking a preliminary injunction.

college, and that his testimony must be confined to strict definitions that "ignore the many medical, legal and ethical concerns held by the college."

The American Civil Liberties Union and the Coalition of Labor Union Women also alleged the subcommittee refused their requests to testify.

The five justices then met for an hour behind closed doors before adjourning without a decision. There was no indication when the deliberations would resume.

"Well, that's it," said Baird. "This is a tragic day. The whole country is watching, and the justices just go home."

He said no other state has such a statute in effect and called the justice's inaction "grossly irresponsible."

"They have left thousands of young people waiting on the hook," he said.

Both Baird, who operates abortion clinics in Boston and Hempstead and Hauppauge, N.Y., and Planned Parenthood maintained that the Massachusetts Minors Law passed last year by the state.

Bus Driver Contract Talks Are Under Way

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

Herald Staff Writer
Representatives of the county school bus drivers' union and Seminole County School officials met Wednesday in preliminary contract talks that "went well," according to school sources.

Seminole County School board Negotiator Ernest Cowley who also directs non-instructional personnel, met with Seminole Education Association (SEA) spokesman Bill Moore in a 45-minute contract amendment presentation for school bus drivers.

"At present, we have a three-year contract with the drivers that expires June 30, 1983. These minor contract negotiations are provided for on a year to year basis," says Cowley.

"The union is allowed to open three areas for amending and the board can open two," Cowley added.

Bill Moore of the SEA asked school officials to look at areas in the contract dealing with employment conditions, fringe benefits, and compensation (Salary).

According to major terms presented to officials Wednesday, the drivers want a 20 percent increase in pay; medical benefits extended to include vision care, whereby the board would pay for eyeglasses and check-ups and a tenure clause which would employ them on a continuing basis.

"Employment on a continuing basis may cause us a few problems in negotiations," said Cowley.

Inflation Drops To 7.5%, Lowest Since Last Summer

By DENIS G. GULINO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leveling off of gasoline and oil prices helped bring down the annual rate of inflation to 7.5 percent in March, the lowest level since last summer, the government reported today.

The latest reading of the Consumer Price Index means Social Security payments will climb by 11.2 percent starting in July for 36 million recipients.

Slower gasoline and oil price rises helped offset rising food and clothing prices to produce a 0.6 percent hike in the index for the month, seasonally adjusted. In February, it went up 1 percent.

The Labor Department, using unpublished seasonally adjusted index

figures, calculated the annual rate of consumer price inflation at 7.5 percent. That is the lowest since July, when plummeting mortgage interest rates brought overall price inflation down to a 1 percent annual level, after revision. February's annualized inflation rate was 12.1 percent.

The unadjusted figure — the peg not only for Social Security payment increases but also for many private contract cost of living adjustments — showed the Consumer Price Index for March reaching 265.1. That means goods costing consumers $100 in 1967 now cost $265.10.

The Labor Department said gasoline prices took a big jump in March, but by much less than in January or February, as the effects of President Reagan's early decontrol of domestic oil prices began to fade. The decline promised even more dramatic improvement for the next month, April, when energy inflation is expected to be much less pronounced. Had gasoline and oil prices stayed flat in March, price increases for all other consumer goods would have gone up only 4.9 percent, at an annual rate, a sign of moderating price pressure throughout the economy.

Both transportation and housing indexes reflected the good news of energy price moderation index in March, showing their smallest increases in seven months.

Food and beverage prices, which grew by 0.3 in February, accelerated slightly in March, up 0.4 percent.

The increase in Social Security payments means the average check of $377 will climb in July to about $374.00. The 11.2 percent raise in payments is less than the 14.3 percent raise made last year at this time, but more than 1979's increase of 9.9 percent.

The maximum Social Security benefit for a single worker retiring this year is $677 a month. That payment now goes up to $752.90 beginning in July.

The March rise in consumer prices compares with a 1 percent rise in February, 0.7 percent in January, 1.1 percent in December and 1 percent for each of the previous three months, all seasonally adjusted.

With today's announcement having a major bearing on Social Security benefits, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said Wednesday he opposes "the whole theory of indexing" — tying wages and government benefits to inflation through cost-of-living increases.

"If we indexed everything who would care about inflation?" he asked.

"To the extent we can eliminate indexing we will," Regan promised in remarks to about 50 construction industry lobbyists. But he added Social Security benefits would, by law, continue to be annually adjusted.

He questioned whether the CPI was the right peg on which to hang the increases. "The Consumer Price Index is a very imprecise gauge and does not really reflect what's actually happening to the economy or to a person," he said. Another index, "not as inflationary as the CPI," should be used, he said.

Regan also sharply criticized the Federal Reserve for not controlling the money supply more precisely, contributing to inflation. "We think we've caught their attention," he said of the Fed after comparing its money supply control to a golfer who can't keep his drives on the fairway.
