Ben Fairless, Former Head Of U.S. Steel, Dies

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI)—Benjamin F. Fairless, who began a business career selling newspapers when he was five and rose to head the world's largest steel-making firm, died Monday at his home here.

The 71-year-old retired board chairman of U. S. Steel Corp. had been a patient in West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh from early November until late last month. His ailment was diagnosed as pleurisy.

On Dec. 20 he was granted a final divorce decree from his second wife, the former Mrs. Hazel Hatfield Sproul of Huntington, W. Va. The couple was married in 1944.

Fairless' son, Blaine, is married to the daughter of his father's second wife. Four grandchildren also survive. The first Mrs. Fairless, the former Jane Blanche Trubey, died in 1942 after a marriage of 42 years.

Funeral services have been scheduled tentatively for 12:30 p.m. Thursday at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral in downtown Pittsburgh. Burial will be at St. Michael's of the Valley Cemetery at Ligonier, Pa.

The son of a coal miner, Fairless exemplified the American success story in the Horatio Alger tradition. He was born in Pigeon Run, near Canton, Ohio, May 3, 1890. He was one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. David D. Williams.

Mrs. Williams suffered an accident which drained the family funds and Benjamin was sent to live with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fairless of Justus, Ohio.

He was adopted legally and began his schooling in Justus. He earned his first pay selling the Cleveland Penny Press in Justus. Needing money for college tuition, Fairless began teaching school when he was 17. He matriculated at Wooster College and played semi-pro baseball between semesters and on weekends. He transferred to Ohio Northern University where he earned a degree in civil engineering.

Fairless was supervising a Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad construction gang in 1913 when he learned "Cosey's Army" was gathering for a march on Washington to demand jobs. Curious, he boarded a trolley at Massillon, Ohio, to see the army assemble. The ride more than settled his curiosity — it launched him into a steel career after he noted construction of a new steel plant at Massillon. He landed a job as engineer with the Central Steel Co. of Massillon.

Advancing rapidly, Fairless was appointed president and general manager of Central Alloy Steel in 1928 when he was 38. Seven years later he became president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. He was named director and president of U. S. Steel in 1937 and 15 years later was named board chairman.

Some Dogs Have All The Luck: Not Butch!

LONDON (UPI) — "Butch" the boxer, who underwent psychiatric treatment to stop him from biting other dogs, has been condemned to die for nipping a poodle and its owner.

The 6-year-old confirmed dog-hater got every break in the book from British authorities, including 18 months of psychiatric treatment. But Butch's string ran out when a court ordered the dog put to sleep.

Mrs. Gamble vowed she would fight to save Butch. "He has a lovely nature," she said. "He never bothers human beings. It is just that he dislikes other dogs."

A spokesman for the Canine Defense League said: "We shall make a fight for the dog's life. He can be cured."

When Butch was first brought to the attention of the authorities for repeatedly taking nips out of fellow canines, the case was found to be so unusual that Butch got the "couch" treatment. From Mrs. Gamble, the psychiatrist learned that when Butch was only a puppy he had been attacked by a large dog. This puppyhood trauma had made Butch a confirmed dog-hater.

Early in 1960, Butch was sent to the Canine Defense League's training center at Hampton to un-

400 Prisoners Stage Giant Riot; Damage Over $1 Million

MONTREAL (UPI) — Officials at Bordeaux today were surveying the damage caused by about 400 prisoners who rioted for five hours Monday night.

The rioters, most of them awaiting trial at the provincially operated jail on the north end of Montreal Island, were brought under control after police firing automatic rifles and firemen using water hoses stormed the star-shaped gray-stoned building.

At least three prisoners and one fireman were injured. The riot was described as the worst at the prison since 1952. In that year prisoners caused property damage in excess of $1 million.

Acting Gov. Lt. Col. Leon Lambert told United Press International late Monday night it would be at least a day or two before any estimate of damage could be arrived at.

The riot, the seventh at the jail in the past 18 months, started as a New Year's Day roast beef dinner was being served about 4:30 p.m.

A prison official, describing what happened, said: "Suddenly the prisoners began throwing their plates into the corridors, setting fire to their beds and smashing everything in sight."

The riot was finally brought under control about 8:30 p.m. when firemen turned high-powered water hoses on the prisoners. The rioters gradually retreated into their wrecked cells when police fired more than 100 rounds of ammunition over the heads of the approaching firemen.

Washington (UPI) — Allen W. Dulles said Sunday night the differences between Russia and Red China "run very deep" but the West cannot count on an open split between the two Communist powers.

Gainesville Adds 20,000 Residents

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The city of Gainesville added 20,000 new residents and 17 square miles of land area today as an annexation bill passed by the 1961 legislature went into effect.

The annexed area lay in a ring around the city. The municipal airport was included.

VOL. 53 United Press Leased Wire Established 1908 WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1962 SANFORD, FLORIDA NO. 558

By LARRY VERSHEL.

All last week City Manager W. E. Knowles has been telling the press: "Make sure you bring your camera to the City Commission meeting Tuesday." It seems Pete had a surprise for the fourth estate but apparently it fizzled out. After a careful investigation, we discovered that the city had purchased a 20 month old chimp and Pete had prepared to bring him to the meeting. Oh, well, to make a long story short, the chimp bit someone yesterday and was confined.

O yes, Pete isn't telling who he bit.

Beautification project of 1961—Sid Richard's rock garden on Park Ave.

There's no doubt that the city plans to concentrate on a sewage treatment plant and hold up action of water improvements.

Mystery of 1961—In which warehouse did Richard put the downtown clock?

Zoning Director Robert Brown tells us that a three-man committee of J. H. Van Hoy, County Engineer Carlton Bliss and himself is currently working on rearranging courthouse offices and moving the county agent's office out of the courthouse.

Brown says the final report will be ready in about a month and that the special committee report on courthouse needs is being used as the basis for the study.

Showman of 1961—City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham who fished out a $100 bill from his pocket last week, put it on the table and told the rest of the board to match it to give the chamber extra money.

Dog revenue in the city is way down under the previous year, according to the latest audit. Last year only $288 was collected as compared to $463 the previous year. "No one wants the job of taking care of the dogs," says City Manager W. E. Knowles. The commission Tuesday night asked Knowles to come up with some recommendations possibly of paying someone a little more money to handle the dogs. Earl Higginbotham suggested: "Pay 'em on a commission rate."

How come Harold Johnson hasn't got his county attorney's name plate yet in the commission chambers?

County Commissioner Vernon Dunn was a visitor at the City Commission meeting Tuesday night. "Just free lancing," said Curly. "Misery loves company," said Al Wilson.

Oops, forgot to mention yesterday that Bill Hemphill and Scott Burns were named to the membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Al Lormann said today that the city would file an injunction against the county to stop work on SR 434. Citizens protesting all those ditches.

Working for several months on a surprise service for the town, Longwood's volunteer firemen finally are okayed to let the cut out of the bag. Chief Claude Layo reported today that approval of a permit to operate a two-way short wave radio system connecting all city departments was received Tuesday.

Completion Of Major Highway Jobs In '62 Seen

County Engineer Carlton Bliss reported today that the road department hopes to accomplish the major projects included in the massive five-year road rebuilding program during this year.

Bliss said that work will start this year on rebuilding two miles of the Pineway Bypass south of the Naval Air Station and the rebuilding of one and three-quarters of W. Lake Branley Road.

Both projects are expected to cost $40,000.

Other major construction this year will be the rebuilding of Dodd Rd. bridge and the Smith Canal Bridge. Cost of these two projects has been estimated at $20,000.

Recordings Rise Sharply In County

The recording of instruments in Seminole County has tripled over a 10-year period and a sharp increase is expected for the next decade, Clerk Arthur Beckwith Jr., reported this morning.

Beckwith said 17,986 instruments were recorded in 1961 while in 1951 only 5,531 were recorded. This is an increase of over 325 percent for the 10 year period, Beckwith said.

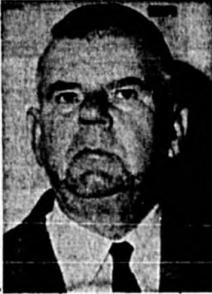

Oviedo Selects Fire House Site

Oviedo's new fire house will be built on property adjacent to the Town Hall and the architecture will conform to the Town Hall. This was decided Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Town Council.

Sanford's F. Wade Tye was designated as the architect for the fire house after he had presented preliminary plans for the structure.

A two man committee of Councilmen W. R. Clontz and T. L. Lingo was appointed to work out the final details of the fire house and work with the architect in getting them ready for actual construction.

The young Negro couple who lost two children when their home burned to the ground New Year's Day are desperately in need of help from the people of Sanford. Besides their children's lives, everything else that they had was lost in the fire. They escaped only Bids on the $25,000 Sanford street resurfacing program will be opened Thursday afternoon at City Hall, City Manager W. E. Knowles said today.

The bid opening will be held in the commission chambers at 2 p.m.

Six projects have been included in the resurfacing program for the 1961-62 year.

They are 24th St. from French Ave. to Park; Myrtle from 24th to 25th St.; Sanford Ave. from First St. to Fifth St.; First St. from the railroad to 20th St. and Palmto from Seventh to 20th St.

Knowles said that $25,350.20 has been set aside in the budget for this improvement program.

Oviedo Swears In Mayor And Council

The mayor and council of Oviedo were sworn in Tuesday night at the first meeting of the year and also the first since the election in December.

Sworn to two-year terms were Mayor M. L. Gary and Councilmen B. F. Ward and T. L. Lingo Jr.

Sworn in for one year terms were Ben Jones, W. R. Clontz and W. H. Martin.

Councilman Ward was elected president of the council succeeding Young Harris, who did not run for re-election to the council. Councilman Clontz was re-elected vice president.

All members of the council were re-elected unopposed except Lingo, who was elected for the first time, but who also was unopposed.

Following the swearing in ceremony Mayor Gary reappointed George Kelsey as police chief and Mrs. Dorothy Courier as town clerk.

Hodges Calls For Legal Ruling On Swofford's Move

Mayor Lawrence Swofford's veto of the new zoning ordinance for the town of Altamonte Springs in a special meeting of the new council Tuesday night brought a request from Councilman Jeff Hodges that Attorney Joe Davis prepare a written opinion on the legality of the new mayor's action.

Hodges was chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission which worked most of last year preparing the controversial ordinance finally passed in special session of the old council last Friday night. Backing him in the request was Frank Gerhardt, new councilman for Ward Two.

Swofford, in a prepared statement, said that it was regrettable to have to veto an ordinance. However, he explained that he was doing so because he felt the people who objected to the zoning plan were not given due consideration. He contended that the ordinance had not been properly advertised or posted and said that some parts of it prohibit the use of property and that additional legislation is needed before certain parts could become operative.

He based his power of veto on Section 24 of the Town Charter which permits such action within five days of the original passing. "I'll never recognize this ordinance unless I'm advised through litigation that I must reverse my position. This is the most controversial ordinance ever adopted in Altamonte Springs and probably the first one ever to be vetoed and I say it is vetoed," he concluded.

Swofford's appointment of Grady Hall as Altamonte Police Chief and acting Fire Chief also came under question since applications for the police job were bypassed at the special meeting which dispensed with routine order of business including reading of correspondence.

Rod W. Tetrault asked that his application be read and also made of the Dec. 12 date. The application of James Watt also was read as was a letter of explanation from Tracy Sullivan, former police chief, stating that his original resignation was to have been effective at the Jan. 8 regularly scheduled meeting when, as a rule, the new council takes over. His only reason for resigning was to give the new mayor an opportunity to make his own appointments, the letter stated, pointing out that ordinarily it would not have been opened or read until the regular meeting.

A protest also was heard from Dick Young, former fire chief, who said that he had not resigned and was surprised to read it in the papers. He asked for a public retraction from Swofford who told him, "I'll retract no statement which I did not make!"

Swofford advised the volunteer firemen through John Morrison, assistant chief, that they were to continue operations as usual but did it definitely clear that the equipment is to stay within the city limits until the council makes arrangements for outside coverage.

Mayor Swofford also made some of the routine committee appointments at Tuesday night's meeting.

Revenue Certificates For $400,000 Job Authorized

The reorganized City Commission, under the leadership of newly-elected Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps, Tuesday night authorized Fiscal Agent Loomis Leady to proceed with arrangements for the issuance of revenue certificates to finance a $400,000 sewage treatment plant.

Indications are that the city would have to borrow only some $200,000 to construct the plant with the city getting an "outright grant" of $150,000 from the federal government to build the facility.

City Manager W. E. Knowles emphasized that this was a grant and not "any kind of loan."

Preparation for fiscal arrangements include determination of costs, rate studies and adjustments and preparation of a bond ordinance.

Knowles also told the board that the commission would be "pleasantly surprised" as he felt the plant would cost under $400,000.

The discussion of the sewage treatment plant was the first order of business of the new year.

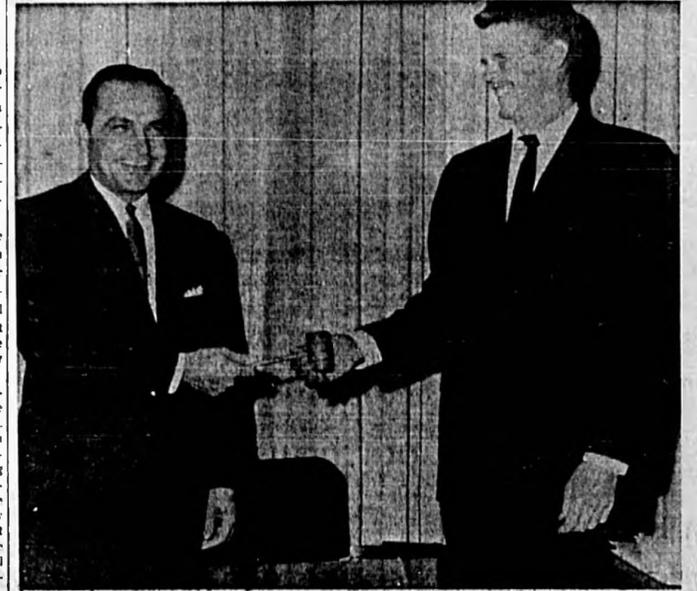

Prior to this, Crapps was unanimously elected mayor and promised to the "utmost to uphold the dignity of the job."

Crapps succeeded Joe Baker as mayor.

In other business, the board denied a request from photographer Henry Jameson for a waiver of the city occupational license.

Tabled action on the condemnation ordinance.

Set Jan. 22 for a public hearing on the new zoning ordinance.

Third Cold Wave Of Week Holds Florida In Grip

By United Press International
Florida's third cold wave in a week put tourists to flight and threatened crops today but chinook winds banished polar air from most other parts of the nation except the Northeast.

Sections from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic had a new veneer of snow. Fog shrouded much of the corn belt. Heavy rain pelted the Pacific Northwest.

The arctic air mass dropped temperatures into the 20s in northern Florida and near freezing along the state's normally balmy Gulf Coast today, threatening citrus and truck garden crops.

The Florida Citrus Commission held an emergency meeting Tuesday but decided against embargoing shipments of frost-killed fruit because damage from the first two cold fronts since Christmas was light.

Michigan dug out from under six inches of new snow. Maryland measured seven inches Tuesday. The same storm dropped four inches of snow on Long Island and three inches at Nantucket, Mass.

Warm winds blowing off the Rockies raised temperatures to the 50s and 60s in the great plains. Denver had a high of 61 degrees and the temperature climbed to 68 at Rapid City, S. D.

Fog lifted in the Northwest after closing the Spokane, Wash. airport for 60 hours. Rain moved into the area and Seattle measured .83 of an inch.

At Raton, N. M., rescuers planned another search today for a 13-year-old boy missing on a hiking trip since last Thursday. One of his three companions survived the ordeal on a snowy mesa.

In Atlanta, the Communicable Disease Center identified respiratory ailments which have struck in California, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona, Missouri and Florida recently as type B influenza virus.

Under the citrus code, the commission can order an embargo up to two weeks in duration to keep cold-damaged fruit off the market.

It also has the power to set standards for such fruit used by producers of frozen orange concentrates. And it can use the unwholesome fruit law to keep the fruit out of chilled orange juice and single strength canned orange juice.

Reds Blamed For Portugal's Revolt

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — The Portuguese government today blamed the unsuccessful New Year's Day revolt on the country's outlawed Communist party. Well-informed circles said the uprising was the first step in a Red plan to overthrow the regime of Prime Minister Antonio Salazar.

A communique issued by the army said the attack by 40 or 50 rebels on the army barracks at Beja in southeastern Portugal "was an act planned and carried out by the Communist party as part of a general strategy, the details of which the authorities are now unravelling."

NY Mayor Warns Bus Line

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner told the nation's largest private bus line to settle a new contract with a striking transit union today or face the loss of many of its franchised routes.

The Wagner ultimatum to Fifth Avenue Coach Lines to approve an already-set pattern of wages and benefits for the Transport Workers Union (TWU), plus a city aid offer to meet the cost, was made Tuesday in the second day of a strike affecting 1.5 million daily riders in New York and suburban Westchester County.

At the same time TWU president Michael Quill issued a veiled hint he might call a walkout against the New York City Transit Authority, whose subways and buses carry millions of riders daily.

Accusing the authority of adding hundreds of extra subway cars and buses to service strike-hit riders, and of "coercing" employees to work overtime, Quill warned the authority:

"Unless you cease and desist from these strike-breaking activities, we will take such action as necessary to bring this nonsense to an abrupt halt."

Quill called a meeting of Local 100's executive board for tonight to discuss action.

Transit Authority Commissioner Joseph O'Grady denied extra trains or buses were put on, saying regular schedules were sufficient to handle riders from the struck private bus lines.

The transit authority and five other private bus lines in the city reached agreement with the TWU last week. However, Fifth Avenue Coach and two subsidiaries in the city and Westchester County argued they could not afford to pay the 28-cent-hourly wage package approved by the other private bus lines.

TB Assn. Asks Help With Seals

Thousands of reminder folders have been mailed out by the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. asking for support of the Christmas Seal drive, Mrs. Lorraine Graham, exec. secretary, said today.

In conjunction, Dr. Hawley H. Sells of Tampa, president of the Assn., has said that "Tuberculosis remains an important public health problem."

Figures show that the number of new, previously-undiagnosed tuberculosis cases reported in Florida as of Nov. 15, last year, totaled 1,618 as compared to only 1,313 cases discovered in 1960.

"In addition," Sells said, "the number of patients hospitalized in the state's three TB hospitals has remained consistently higher in 1961 than in 1960, despite the shortened period of hospitalization."

"You can see that the support of the public is still needed to care for these TB victims, who must be hospitalized, with the consequent loss to the family for long periods of time," said Mrs. Graham.

She urged those who have not sent in their contributions to mail them now.

A NEW STAMP, in honor of the nursing profession, has been issued by the United States Post Office. Mrs. Mary Delyns, Supervisor of Nurses at Seminole Memorial Hospital purchases some of the stamps to be used on hospital correspondence, from Postmaster Guy Allen. The stamp depicts a student nurse lighting a candle, to indicate the light of comfort and service performed by nurses the world over. (Herald Photo)

J. Henry Lee, Former Resident, Dies In Tampa

J. Henry Lee, 63, a former resident of Sanford, died of a heart attack Sunday, at a hospital in Tampa.

Lee was born in Sanford on Sept. 26, 1898, and made his home here until he moved to Tampa 25 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lois Lee and two daughters, Miss Janice Lee of Tampa, and Mrs. Thomas Shaw of Columbia, Tenn. and two grandchildren, Lynn and Thomas Jr., also of Columbia.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Ira Southard of Sanford, and two brothers, Charles of Tampa and John, of Beaumont, Tex.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today at the Garden Chapel of the Duval Funeral Home in Tampa, with burial in the Garden of Memories Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Southard and other members of the family attended the services.

Former Shop Owner Sought By Sister

Anyone who has any information as to the whereabouts of Elwood Hayes, a 61-year-old man who formerly ran a shop called Hayes Electric Service at 107 N. Oak Ave. before 1947, is asked to contact Mrs. Margaret Waltham, 606 W. 5th St., Wilmington 1, Delaware.

Mrs. Waltham is Hayes' sister and she has not seen him in 27 years. Recently she wrote to the Chamber of Commerce here asking for contact with him.

Hayes was found to have lived in Orange City with his wife, Julia, until about 1950, when he apparently moved to St. Petersburg. Sometime in the last ten years, he returned to Sanford for a while and lived at the Welaka Apts., according to A. R. Key. Key could not remember the exact dates.

Mrs. Waltham, Hayes' sister, was known to him as Daisy May Hayes, (her maiden name).

No further information on Hayes is available at this time.

Many other vessels were missing, and 30 crewmen from the five boats known to have been sunk also were missing and presumed drowned. Five fishermen were rescued.

12 Tribesmen Killed In Congo Outbreak

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI)—Twelve Bashi tribesmen were killed and "many" were wounded in a weekend outbreak of local election violence in Kivu Province, it was announced today.

A UN spokesman said the trouble began New Year's Eve when men of the Bashi tribe clashed over the election of a local chief at the town of Kabare.

The fighting continued until a UN patrol of Malayan and Congolese troops restored order on New Year's Day.

It was reported here that a Russian plane carrying doctors and medical supplies to the Congo was held up in Cairo pending clearance to fly over the Sudan.

This would be the first Russian aid to the Congo since Maj. Gen. Joseph Mohini expelled Soviet diplomats from Leopoldville in September 1960.

South Now Nation's Major Forest Area

ATLANTA (UPI)—The South has emerged as the nation's major forest land and is now growing trees faster than they are being cut, industry experts said today.

This is a reversal from the picture of 30 years ago when the South was being rapidly denuded of its trees. The revolution has changed Dixie color scheme from erosion red to forest green and has brought a multi-billion dollar industry to the region.

Statistics of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association show what has happened. In 1933, the 12 Southern states had 120 billion cubic feet of timber standing. In the next 25 years, 147 billion feet were harvested. But by 1960 the timber resources had increased to 131 billion feet—a 9 per cent increase over what was standing 25 years ago.

More than 23 million cords of pulpwood alone, valued at $471 million, were cut in the South last year.

Today, paper mills dot the South, producing newsprint and other paper products for Southern consumption that formerly had to be shipped from Canada and other distant points.

Southern newspaper publishers played an important role in this development, subscribing the stock that built the first newsprint mill in the Southeast, the Coosa River Newsprint Co. at Coosa Pines, Ala., south of Birmingham.

The successful venture inspired other firms to move into Southern timberlands and today most of the newsprint and much of the other paper products used in the South come from Dixie mills.

The replacement value of 69 primary pulp and paper mills in the South is estimated by industry statisticians at about $3.5 billion. These mills provide employment in plants and in the woods for 63,000 workers who earn $428 million a year.

Conservation, a patient sales campaign and a Georgia chemist have been largely responsible for the transformation of Southern woodlands.

The chemist, Dr. Charles W. Herty, set out to prove that Southern pine trees could be turned into high quality newsprint.

A successful run through a printing press in 1933 dispelled the idea that Dixie pines had so much resin they were good only for house building and naval stores.

It took the sales campaign, however, to build the forest products industry to its present strength.

In the early days of the reforestation program, foresters would persuade land owners with property adjoining highways to plant an acre or so in pines. The tree farms would be marked with signs giving the planting date to show how fast pines grow. The idea caught on fast.

Individual land owners have 74 per cent of the forest land in the South and the pulp mills obtain 80 per cent of their supply from that source.

Aside from extensive state and federal tree planting programs, the pulp and paper industry accounted for the planting of 386,427,621 forest tree seedlings this year. Approximately 62 per cent of them were produced in 39 industry-operated nurseries in the South.

H. J. Malsberger, a former Florida state forester who is general manager of the pulpwood conservation association, rates forest protection, scientific conservation measures and proper cutting as the most important factors in helping mother nature with natural reforestation.

"She does a better job than man can ever do—she just needs help," Malsberger said.

Rapid Telephone Growth Predicted

A report just out shows that the number of telephones in the world has almost doubled since 1931 and that in the Sanford area, the number of telephones has more than tripled over the same 10 year period.

Southern Bell Telephone Co. here predicts an even faster rate of growth over the next ten years, Manager Robert W. Shedd said today.

There are 138,230,700 telephones within the reach of Bell Telephone customers or 81.6 percent of all the telephones in the world, it was revealed.

The new edition of "The World's Telephones," just out, shows 141,700,000 telephones were in use in the world at the beginning of 1961. The United States has 77,500,000 of the world's phones, or more than 40 phones per 100 persons. Russia has about two telephones for every 100 persons.

Hatters Nip Transylvania

DELAND (UPI)—Accuracy at the free throw line paid off for the Stetson basketball team in a 70-56 win over Transylvania College of Louisville, Ky., Tuesday night.

The Hatters, outshot from the field by 30 goals to 24, made up for it by sinking 23 free throws out of 27 against nine out of 15 for the Kentuckians. Stetson, ahead at the half by 31-23, saw the lead shrink to only 68-57 with 31 seconds left, but Joel Hancock bailed them out with two free throws that offset a last-second goal by Transylvania's Jack Lucas.

Big Job Ahead

It is unlikely that many people will mourn the passing of old 1961. As years go, it was a grim one, but just about run of the mill. That is not to say it was uneventful.

Seminole County residents witnessed and took part in a variety of events. We saw the start of the long-awaited W. First St. project; the Committee of 100 reorganized into the Sanford-Seminole Development Co. to boost industry for the area; work started on a new hospital wing.

The year had its proper share of international crises, domestic problems, memorable sports events, scientific advances, laughter and sorrow—perhaps more of some things and less of others. But on the whole, we are glad to be off with the old and on with the new.

We are fleckle, we humans. Only 12 months ago we were welcoming the new year of 1961 with high hopes and great expectations. Now, it is 1962 which is the magic symbol of our desires and dreams.

We know that in the coming year we will have to make do and revise and compromise and eventually accept what we get from 1962. But being human, we cannot begin it with anything less than the biggest dreams or aim at anything less than complete successes.

That is why we celebrate the New Year.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Your personality is not fixed and unchangeable. You can alter it if you wish. Although shy, timid introverts suffer untold agonies when they attempt sales work, they can become very successful if they will persevere and follow my advice to Andrew.

CASE L-403: Andrew W., aged 24 presents a common problem in salesmanship.

"Dr. Crane, I'm the problem of person who likes to crawl into his shell," he began. "Although I am a shy introvert, circumstances have compelled me to take a position for which I think I am unsuited."

"It is a job selling encyclopedias from house to house. I literally tremble whenever I think about it, but I am determined that nobody shall know I tremble."

"After doors have been slammed in my face a few times, I feel that I shall never have the nerve to try again, but I know I must."

"Dr. Crane, is there something wrong with me, or is this the typical reaction of introverts in a sales job? And is there anything I can do to gain courage and confidence?"

DON'T BE A REDONIST
It is a pleasure to find a person like Andrew who makes himself perform desirable tasks which he fears. Too many people in this age want to remain at the kindergarten level of emotional development and do only what they like, which was the philosophy of the Hedonists.

Just because they blush or tremble in a public speaking situation, they refuse to teach a Sunday School class or preside at their lodge meeting.

Because they like rich foods, they refuse to diet and regain the romantic figures which would more securely hold their husband's love.

Because they dislike geometry or English or Latin or some other school subject, they will not study it.

Such reactions are typical of children. Youngsters invariably try to avoid things which they don't like. Adults are supposed to lay aside such childishness and do what is right, regardless of their emotions.

CAMOUFLAGED OPPORTUNITY

The doorway to opportunity is usually hidden behind these tasks which we dislike. That is one reason why so few people find it! They refuse to work, to drive themselves onward despite trembling knees and cold sweat, until they overcome the hated task, and thus uncover the hidden doorway to fame or success.

Previously I have told you the difference between cowards and brave men. The coward is afraid. The courageous person is simply afraid of being afraid, so he makes himself perform the dreaded task, anyway.

What if your heart pounds, and you feel panicky? What if your knees are rattling like castanets, or your hands shake so you cannot hold your music or speech outline?

So have mine and everybody's when we first began speaking or selling or applying for a job. But those who win the laurels of life just keep going on, anyway.

You may feel as if you'll die, but you won't. Grit your teeth and plow right through your terrifying situation. Then do it a second time and a third.

HOW TO BE FOIBED
In psychology we have the Law of Negative Adaptation. It means simply that terrifying things will ultimately lose their power to frighten us if we keep on contacting them. For we grow relatively immune after a time.

The failures in life are people who simply quit too soon! Every time you take a new step upward on the ladder of success, you will shed lots of cold sweat and feel nervous. If you don't, it means you aren't climbing, but are simply marking time.

"FOLLOW THAT CAR!"

Henry McLemore

Due to the great amount of research that goes into these columns, and not because of advancing years as some have been mean enough to hint, I have had to take up the wearing of glasses.

It is the most expensive hobby I have ever followed, this wearing of glasses. I wish I had taken up yachting, or jade collecting, or big game hunting. Any of those would have been much cheaper. I have lost or broken so many pairs that my optician has suggested that I join a Spectacle-of-the-Month Club, thereby assuring myself of a nice, new pair at least once a month. But that would offer no remedy. If I lost only a pair a month, I wouldn't even be mentioning the matter.

The truth is, I lose or break so many that I'm afraid that the supply of tortoiseshell is going to run out, and I do hate to go into steel rims. I figure I'm using up about an average-sized family of tortoiseshells a week, and while I don't know the exact tortoise population of this country I do know that I must be making an awful dent in it. I certainly don't want it engraved on my tombstone that I was the man responsible for eliminating the tortoise from this country.

Please don't try to tell me how to keep from losing or breaking glasses. I have tried every known method, as well as many that aren't known. I have even gone so far, in trying not to lose my glasses, as to give up wearing them, with the result that in my semi-blindness I knock them off the mantelpiece and step on them. I have tried gluing them on, and tying them on with stout string, but invariably they manage to get off and disappear into a spot equally as mysterious as that valley where sailing elephants are supposed to go to die, never to be seen again.

The texture of the lenses of my glasses is different from the lenses of other people's glasses. It must be. Other people can drop their glasses and often nothing happens. Not only do mine break when I drop them on a soft rug, even, but they are very apt to shatter if I sit in a good breeze. I wish President Kennedy would give me a pair of that bullet-proof glass from the limousine he uses. I'd have a pair of glasses made out of it even if I had to squint to read sky writing.

When some thief stole my last pair of glasses yesterday, Mary said that enough was enough, and before I knew what was happening she had marched me into the ten-cent store and stopped me in front of the counter where they sell eye-glasses.

I never felt like a bigger fool than when standing there trying on glasses, but she wouldn't let me get away and kept thrusting pair after pair into my hands.

"Somebody must wear these glasses," she said, "and there is no reason why you can't."

They are pretty fascinating glasses, at that. All they do is magnify, and some of them must have been cut from the Palomar telescope because all the people who go past look about the size of the figures in Macy's parade. I have on a pair now, and this typewriter looks to be about the size of a pipe organ. I wouldn't be surprised if instead of the sentences I am trying to write I get "The Bells of St. Mary's" or "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Just what these ten-cent store glasses will eventually do to my eyes, I have no idea. So far, they have only crossed them and caused them to change from their usual deep blue to polka dot. But look at the money I'm saving.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The United States finds itself in another box over Indonesia's renewed talk about taking West Irian (western New Guinea) away from The Netherlands by force. Aid has been given to both countries and the desire is to continue good relations with both.

Far more aid has been given to The Netherlands than to its former Indonesian colony, which became independent in 1949. Total aid to the Dutch has amounted to $2.4 billion economic and $1.25 billion military. Practically all of the military aid has been for strengthening NATO defenses and little if any has been moved to western New Guinea, which is the last Dutch holding in the Southwest Pacific.

In contrast, the United States has provided $562 million in economic assistance to Indonesia and only $4 million in military aid.

The latter was authorized in 1952 for small arms and transport equipment to strengthen internal security forces when the new government was threatened by Communists.

But what bothers the United States now is that it has sold undisclosed millions of dollars' worth of military equipment to Indonesia under a 1958 open-end contract still in force. And these arms might be used in an attack on western New Guinea.

There is a provision in the agreement that none of these arms are to be used for aggression against another country. But there is no way in which an inspection can be made to prevent misuse of American arms.

And there is no punitive provision in the contract by which the U. S. might take action after misuse. The most that could be done would be to cut off future sales.

In April 1959, it was disclosed that the U. S. had sold Indonesia 15 B-25 bombers, 21 F-51 fighters, 15 commercial F-51s and 10 L30-B cargo transports. There have been no further breakdowns on deliveries, nor on the value of total purchases.

U. S. military aid officials report that most of the sales have been for small arms, trucks and other transport, communications equipment, spare parts and repair equipment. But even this material could be used in a limited war.

Communist bloc economic aid to Indonesia is estimated at $60 million, $350 million of which came from Russia. Additionally Indonesia is believed to have bought on credit about $60 million worth of arms. It includes Russian jet fighters and bombers, several destroyer escort vessels, submarines and landing craft.

Indonesia has claimed to have 500,000 men in its armed forces, but the number may not be many more than 300,000, including an air force of 10,000 and a navy of perhaps 15,000 men. Forces not needed for internal security in the 3,000-mile-long archipelago might not be more than 10,000.

Defending primitive, mountain-and-jungle western New Guinea, the Dutch have about 3,000 army, navy and air force personnel, with perhaps 50 modern planes and limited naval craft.

But it is conceivable that even this small force could clobber any invasion attempt over the long distances involved.

The southern 1,000-mile coastline of western New Guinea is 200 miles from the closest Indonesian islands of Ceram and the Moluccas. They in turn are 500 miles from the Celebes and 1,200 to 1,500 miles from Indonesia's main naval and supply base at Surabaya on the eastern end of Java.

To conduct an amphibious military invasion over such distances takes sophisticated military planning, plenty of transport and lots of supplies.

President Sukarno's strategy may therefore continue to be an attempt to take western New Guinea by making a lot of noise about it, without an actual invasion.

In addition to 2,000 Indonesians trained in the U.S. under technical assistance programs, an undisclosed number of Indonesian military officers and technicians have been trained here.

25th & PARK

THIS CATCH OF 20 SHAD was brought in during the weekend by two visitors here from Palatka, E. B. O'Hara, left, and F. J. Stokes, who caught them in the early morning hours. Variable weather resulted in spotty fishing the past few days, but shad appeared to be running in goodly numbers and roe were increasing.

The way has been cleared for placement of a new public boat launching ramp and parking area in Mullet Lake Park.

The county commission authorized signing of an easement involving one and two tenths acres of county land at Mullet Lake to the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission so that the ramp can be built. The commission already had approved the idea.

Addition of this ramp and car parking area is one result of the recommendations of the Seminole County Sportsman's Assn. which were passed on to the new St. Johns River Valley Advisory Committee.

The proper development of park areas in Seminole County has lagged far in the background of official thinking and action for so long that this step is a real good sign.

It's a cinch that the improvements at Mullet Lake will get a lot of use.

Speaking of public facilities, Miami has a new fishing pier designed for youngsters who ordinarily might have to tag along with parents and take a back seat when the big ones are biting.

The pier is at Dinner Key and extends 70 feet out into Biscayne Bay. It bears this sign: "No adults allowed unless accompanied by children."

Excelling, Mrs. Mops To Go For Broke At SOKC Feature

Two greyhounds who appear to have an overwhelming desire to win meet tonight in the featured ninth race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. They are Orville Moses Excelling and Tom Sweeney's Mrs. Mops.

Excelling took three feature races in a row and finished second, missing victory by only a neck, when she tried for her fourth straight main event triumph.

Tonight Mrs. Mops, who is usually in front at the first turn, will try for her fourth straight win. It will be her sixth in a row if two schooling events are considered. She registered her first in Grades C, B, and in a Grade A daylight feature.

Rounding out the field for the top race of the midweek program will be Topsy Dixie, Upstager, Dinah's Mickey, Big Calhoun, Barnacle Bob and Sabana.

Three distance events over the long 3/8-mile course add spice to the ten-race card. Easter Token, winner of the Derby last March, goes in the evening's nightcap trying for her first win of the season. Four entries in this contest have already triumphed in distance tests. They are Mary's Darling, Ginger Nug, Hiking and Neighbor Girl.

Buffaloes

MIAMI (UPI) — The Colorado football team, 25-7 losers to Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day, should have gone after the Bayou Bengals with fishing poles. The Golden Buffaloes took to the sea like so many alibis Tuesday to rout LSU in the second annual Orange Bowl Fishing Tournament. The final score was 21-10 in fish and 154-46 in pounds.

Dietzel Expected To Sign Army Pact This Week

WEST POINT, N. Y. — Paul Dietzel is expected to sign as head football coach at Army this week with a five-year contract calling for $20,000 a year.

The announcement will be made Thursday, allowing time for the 38-year-old former West Point aide to make an amicable break with Louisiana State, where his $18,800 contract has four more years to run.

Army's athletic board has been unable to conceal the fact that Dietzel, one of the nation's most successful young coaches, is its No. 1 choice. Dietzel, on the other hand, has shown interest in the fresh, new challenge offered at West Point.

Col. Emory S. Adams Jr., director of Athletics at Army said, "we hope to have an announcement this week."

He refused to say, however, that Dietzel had been signed, saying that "the whole thing is still in a negotiating stage." He admitted Dietzel had been contacted.

Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, said Dietzel had not asked for release of his contract. "I expect to be talking to Paul late today or tomorrow," Corbett said. "If he wants out of his contract, certainly he would mention it to me."

The matter then would be laid before the LSU board of supervisors, some members of which are said to be threatening to go to court to make Dietzel fulfill his contract.

This is seldom done. Normally when a coach wants to accept a contract elsewhere he is given the green light on the theory that he might turn into a disgruntled employe if forced to stay.

After LSU crushed Colorado, 25-7, in the Orange Bowl at Miami Monday, Dietzel acknowledged that he had been contacted by Army and was giving the matter serious consideration. He called the athletic setup at West Point "wonderful."

Paul Mikler's Oviedo Lions dropped their number seven game 50-36 to the Oak Ridge Pioneers Tuesday night with Jim DeShazo and John Courier taking scoring honors for the Lions to round their season tally off with a (2-6) record. John Courier and Jim DeShazo tied for scoring honors for the Oviedo team both dropping in four field goals for an eight point total.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We would like your opinion on a subject that has caused a lot of discussion around our office. One of the men who works here claims that in the 29 years he has been married he has never had a fight with his wife. He says she has never argued with him, questioned him or disagreed with him. Furthermore, he claims he has never heard her raise her voice. IS this possible? CANT BELIEVE IT

DEAR CANT: It's possible, but most unlikely. Perhaps there is something wrong with his hearing.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is a very mature eleven-year-old. About a week ago she started wearing an identification bracelet a boy at school gave her. In her crowd it means she is "going steady."

This afternoon I got a phone call from the boy's mother. (I have never met her.) She said she was terribly upset to learn that her son had given my daughter his I.D. bracelet and wanted my daughter to return it. She said the bracelet was a "good" one, and a birthday gift, and she didn't want anything to happen to it. I told her that my daughter did not STEAL it. It was given to her and, furthermore, I didn't run my daughter's life and I hung up on her. Did I do right? SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: You should be. No eleven-year-old is old enough to "run her own life." Tell your daughter to return the bracelet, and the sooner the better.

DEAR ABBY: My grandfather, who has been ill for quite some time, is expected to die at any moment. Is it necessary to have my grandmother's relatives to the funeral? If they do attend, is it necessary to have them sit in the pews reserved for relatives?

They are such rough and ignorant people it would embarrass us to have them sitting with the relatives of my grandfather. In other words, the whole family is ashamed of them. However, we will do what is right. JUST WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: A funeral is not a "party" that one attends by invitation only. Your grandmother's relatives have a right to attend, and to sit in the pews reserved for relatives.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVED AND LOST": Your letter reminds me of an old Chinese story: "One tear met another tear floating down the river. The first tear said, 'I am the tear of a woman who lost her lover.' The other tear said, 'I am the tear of the woman who got him.'"

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

There are some things a woman just can't resist. Among them are:

A bargain. A "half-price" tag will stop a woman in her tracks every time. She may not buy the article marked down—but she is powerless to stop and examine it.

A yen to rearrange furniture. When this urge strikes a woman she just can't resist until she has shoved furniture around, at least long enough to convince herself that it looked better the way it was.

A chance to offer advice. Rare is the woman who can bring herself to say "I don't know" when asked to give advice on any subject. A woman may not be able to solve her own problems but other women's problems are always a snap for her.

A salesman who is smart enough to let her do most of the talking and smooth enough to know just how to flatter her for her good taste, her discerning eye, her appreciation of "the best."

The impulse to tell at least one other woman the latest bit of gossip that has come her way. Even the woman who prides herself on never gossiping has at least one friend she feels justified in sharing gossip with because she knows what she tells her "won't go any further."

The need to have the last word in an argument. That is why the most exasperating husband in the world is the one who has his say, and then stalks out of the house before his wife can get in that important last word.

The plea that she is the only person who can do a certain job the way it should be done. This is why women take on more outside activities than they have time for. Someone is always smart enough to come up with the irrefutable argument, "But there's no one else who can do the job half as well as you could."

Men—there is good advice for the years in Ruth Millet's booklet, "Happier Wives (Hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

A rubber bridge game at the Arizona Club in Phoenix brought out one of the best plays of 1961.

North and South arrived at a reasonable six-diamond contract after an excellent bidding sequence. I don't intend to get into a discussion of the merit of any slam bid, especially of six no-trump as opposed to six diamonds.

Anyway, South was in six diamonds. Dummy's queen of spades held the first trick and the deuce of diamonds was led from dummy. Now, see if you can figure out how South, a very good player, managed to go down.

The answer to the problem is that George Richardson, who sat East, played the jack of diamonds on the deuce.

West took his ace of trumps and led another spade. South won, led the three of diamonds, noted the fall of the five spot from West, thought a while, and played dummy's eight of trump! Bingo!

George's play of the jack had paid off. It is interesting to note that he risked absolutely nothing when he made it. There was no combination of cards that would make his jack good for purposes of beating the slam.

Highlights

7:30-8 p. m. (ABC) Profile Of An Astronaut. This is the very timely story of Marine Lt. Col. John Hershel Glenn, the astronaut chosen to be the first American to orbit the earth. Colonel Glenn's life is traced from his boyhood, through his education and military career and into his career as a space pioneer. ABC Science Editor Jules Bergman gets Glenn's own views on his projected trip and its effect on the future of men in space.

7:30-8:30 p. m. (NBC) Wagon Train—"The Martin Onyx Story." When a prairie town is threatened by outlaws, the citizens hire a gunman whose name is revered as a legendary hero. Guest star Jack Warden plays the difficult role of a man who borrows the hero's name and must act accordingly, although he is actually a cowardly pretender.

8:30-9 p. m. (NBC) The Joey Bishop Show—"Taming Of The Brat." What could have been a sock plot fiasco after the first ten minutes or so. As part of a publicity stunt, Joey Barnes (Joey Bishop) hides a child movie star (Flip Mark) in his home and Joey's facial dismy is humorous to behold as the kid stars to upset household routine. But they overplay the "spoiled brat" bit and the laughs become fewer and fewer. Regular stars Warren Berlinger, Marie Thomas and Madge Blake are as appealing as the kid is not.

8:30-9:30 p. m. (CBS) Checkmate. "A Funny Thing Happened To Me On The Way To The Game." A rather long title for such a short plot. This one stars Jack Benny in his first dramatic role, although he is cast as a comedian who's a target for murder on three different occasions. The checkmate trio (Doug McClure, Anthony George and Sebastian Cabot) works against time to discover the mysterious assailant because Benny insists on heading a New Year's Day parade as grand marshal, making himself a perfect target. Benny's isn't a dramatically demanding role, but he does very well with it. Spoiling the suspense somewhat is the fact that it's hardly likely that Benny, even in a dramatic role, will be killed, much as his protectors make it appear that he might be.

9-10 p. m. (NBC) The Perry Como Show. Lorne Green and Dan Blocker, stars of the "Bonanza" series, are tonight's guests, with Greens doing a poignant recital from Washington's farewell to his troops. Kaye Ballard's "On The Boardwalk" and Sandy Stewart's "Adelaide's Lament" (from "Guys and Dolls") are among the better musical offerings. Tonight's state of the week is New Jersey.

TV Time Previews

9:30-10 p. m. (CBS) The Dick Van Dyke Show. Some good laughs don't quite obviate the fact that this plot is loosely contrived to make no particular point. Skirting a "Birds and the Bees" explanation, Rob (Dick Van Dyke) answers his son's (Larry Mathews) query as to his origin by reliving the anxious months attendant his birth. In flashback, we see Rob as a frantically nervous x p c s a n s father, going berserk in his attempt to get his wife (Mary Tyler Moore) to the hospital. A good bit is played by Ann Morgan, as a neighbor.

Christmas tree center of the western United States is said to be Shelton, Wash., which city ships some two million trees annually.

Jacksonville Brothers Co-Chairmen Of 1962 Heart Fund Campaign

JACKSONVILLE — Announcement was made today by Dr. Mason Romaine III, Jacksonville, President of the Florida Heart Association, that J. E. Davis, Chairman of the Board and A. D. Davis, President of Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., have been appointed Co-Chairmen of the 1962 Heart Fund Campaign of the Florida Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association.

The Davis brothers, assuming leadership of the campaign which reaches its peak during February, have long been among the most prominent business, civic and social leaders in Florida.

As operators of a chain of 540 super food stores in eleven Southeastern states, the Davises have business and personal connections in every part of the state that will lend prestige to the Heart Fund, already one of the most successful health campaigns in the state.

Speaking for the brothers, J. E. Davis said, "The immensity of the heart disease problem is a matter of grave concern to every citizen of Florida. Not only do more people die of heart disease than all other causes combined, but the economic losses are staggering when so many of our leading citizens are incapacitated during the most productive years of their lives. The Heart Association, with its program of research, education and community service, has been the leader in arousing public interest in this staggering problem. We hope that every citizen of Florida will keep these facts in mind in February when determining the size of his share in our battle against mankind's greatest health menace."

Last year's Heart Fund produced a total of $425,300 from all sources except bequests. The Davis brothers are confident that the 1962 campaign will bring a total of $700,000 or more.

Long active in civic, cultural and community affairs on state and national levels as well as in Jacksonville, the Davis brothers recently underwrote a much-needed addition to St. Luke's Hospital in Jacksonville. Both have served many times and in many areas on committees for fund raising and other worthy activities.

J. E. Davis is on the Board of Directors of the Barnett National Bank, is Chairman of the Board of Directors of American Heritage Insurance Company, and has been active in improvements in production and merchandising of agricultural products, particularly Florida-grown foods. During World War II, he was Officer in Charge of the Quartermaster Market Center in New York, serving perishables to the European, North African and Mediterranean Theaters of Operation. He holds the Legion of Merit.

A. D. Davis is a former Chairman of the Florida Council for Industry and Commerce, a Director of the Atlantic National Bank, Jacksonville, and Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. Currently a member of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Food Chains, he is a former Chairman of the group.

Kennedy 'Grasps Thistle Firmly' In Meeting Congo Policy Critics

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Grasp the thistle firmly is advice to be taken only by a courageous man, such as President Kennedy.

The President grasped the thistle firmly when he ordered an all-out oratorical attack on the challengers of his policy of supporting the United Nations in its Congo adventure.

He grasped firmly again with announcement that Congress would be asked to okay purchase by the United States of up to $100 million of United Nations bonds. The money would help bail the UN out of approaching bankruptcy.

The Kennedy administration has invited an angry dispute in and out of Congress and probably will get it. The United Nations will be in the middle. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon heads up the Republican opposition to U. S.-UN policy in the Congo. He is not alone.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Carl T. Rowan came out slugging last week in a speech defending that policy and denouncing its opponents. Rowan said a Belgian propagandist in New York had spread around $140,000 for the circulation of myths and misinformation about the United Nations in the Congo and in the secessionist province, Katanga.

"Spread around" were Rowan's words. The meaning is not precise nor is the implication precise that there was money spread around in such manner as to be disgraceful to the receiver as well as to the dispenser.

Bearing in mind that Nixon has made the Congo issue his own, one paragraph from Rowan's speech is especially notable for its unqualified language. Rowan said of the sources of opposition to U. S.-UN Congo policy:

"In the United States we have a conglomeration of archconservatives; people who oppose the income tax; avowed defenders of racial segregation; opponents of fluoridation of water; those who want to destroy the Supreme Court, largely because of its ruling on school segregation, and so forth."

Those are hot words. They are likely to fire up the debate when Congress considers Kennedy's request for authority to buy UN bonds. The President has confronted the Congress with a vote of confidence in the United Nations. That is a firm grasping of a prickly thistle, if ever there was.

So closely is United States foreign policy tied to the United Nations that congressional refusal to bail out the United Nations is almost inconceivable. It could happen, however, because the practice of the United Nations is low, low, low in the United States.

There was Goa. The UN Security Council refused to challenge Indian aggression against Goa to the delight of the UN assembly's Afro-Asian bloc. This caused Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, to say:

"If the United Nations emphasis is taken off the first duty of the United Nations' peace-making and security, and laid on . . . the eradication of colonialism, then the United Nations . . . would sow the seeds of its own destruction."

Downtown Shopping Mall Project Fizzles Out

Property Owner's Refusal Blamed

A multi-million dollar project to revitalize portions of the downtown area into a shopping mall have fizzled out, the Herald learned today.

The ultimate scope of the project would have spread from First St. to Lake Monroe and would have included free parking spaces for more than 150 cars.

Prominent business people have worked quietly for many months to bring the project into realization. Five of the property owners agreed to form a corporation but one refused to go along with the project.

The project would have included tearing down many old buildings along First St. and putting up modern structures.

Each of the willing property owners received a letter this week, as well as city officials who were vitally interested in the project, telling them of the failure to complete the program.

The letter states in part that "after months of exploring all possible methods to develop the WASHINGTON (UPI)—Communist nations have pumped $60-$100 million worth of military hardware into Cuba, enabling Fidel Castro to build the Western Hemisphere's second biggest army, according to the State Department.

Castro Executes Rebel Leader

HAVANA (UPI)—The government press today reported the execution "several days ago" of a counter-revolutionary leader convicted of killing three civilian militiamen. It was the first execution to be announced in 1962.

According to an official release, Margarito Lanza Flores, alias "Thorndyke" and "Chico," was the leader of an anti-Castro band operating in the northeastern part of Las Villas Province.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES marked the installation Wednesday at the Shrine Club of new Kiwanis Club president, W. E. Kirchhoff, (right), as he is handed the gavel by his predecessor, James Grant. Installation activities were directed by Lt. Gov. Warren H. Edwards of Orlando. Installed along with Kirchhoff were first vice president George Andrew Speer, and second vice president, Adm. (ret.) Robert Jackson. New directors are Edwin Shinholser, Peter Bukur, Ed Lane, James Barnett, J. C. Davla and M. R. Strickland. Treasurers are B. B. Crumley and N. V. Farnier and secretary, Ralph Smith.

Atlas 'Kinks' Being Fixed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Scientists working to put a U. S. astronaut into orbit this month were expected today to iron out rocket troubles which have pushed the shot at least one week deeper into the calendar.

The difficulty cropped up "almost overnight" during a routine check of the Atlas booster rocket fuel tanks, and forced the $400 million Mercury program to give up plans for sending astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. on the orbital voyage on Jan. 16.

Story In Herald Locates Relative

It pays to advertise!
Hardly had Wednesday's copy of the Sanford Herald hit the streets before the local C. of C. had a phone call from a Mrs. H. T. Brown, sister-in-law of Elwood Hayes, who is being sought by his sister in Delaware. Mrs. Brown gave Hayes' present address in Sarasota.

The news story which appeared in the Herald asked whether anyone knew the whereabouts of this man, who once ran an electrical shop here, over ten years ago.

Mrs. Margaret Wallman of Wilmington, Del., his sister, has not seen her brother in 27 years and all efforts to locate him through conventional channels had run into a stone wall when he moved away from Sanford.

Mrs. Georgia Hall, secretary at the Chamber of Commerce says she is posting an airmail letter to Mrs. Wallman today to inform her that "the lost has been found."

Death Toll Mounts In Algerian Strife

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Bitter violence between European and Moslem factions raged through Algeria on the fourth day of the new year today, bringing a mounting toll of dead and injured.

At least 40 were killed and 75 wounded Wednesday alone, according to official sources.

The latest attacks were centered mainly in Algiers and Oran. Three persons were reported killed in Oran, including a European terrorist shot by police. Most of them Moslems, police said.

In Algiers, there were three gun attacks and one grenade attack.

Police sources said almost all the Oran violence was caused by young European terrorist bands attacking Moslems.

Bryant To Propose New State College

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant told a Pensacola audience Wednesday that he will recommend that planning for a new four-year college here begin "within a matter of days."

Bryant said he will ask the Legislature for immediate release of the $50,000 planning funds appropriated by the 1961 Legislature.

Dr. Donk S. Campbell, president emeritus of Florida State University, has agreed to take the job of executive director of the Quality Education Committee created by the 1961 Legislature, Bryant announced. The committee is charged with the job of making a top-to-bottom study of Florida public schools with an eye to improving them.

The chief executive, in a major address winding up "Governor Bryant Day" here, reiterated his theme that Florida needs no new taxes.

Care For Mentally Ill Held Lacking

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The number of mentally ill in Florida outnumbers the beds available for their care by five to one, a state health official said Wednesday.

Dr. Wayne Yeager, director of the Mental Health Bureau, told a legislative delegation headed by Sen. W. C. Herrell of Miami Springs that at least 80,000 Floridians need mental care, but the state has only 10,000 beds for them.

Florida Nipped Again; New Cold Blast For North

By United Press International
Frost nipped Florida again early today and a new cold wave threatened the Northern border states.

But Wednesday pretty hostesses donned bathing suits at a tourist station near Tallahassee to prove that it was warm "as always" in the Sunshine State, but Wednesday's early morning temperatures were below freezing as far south as Miami.

Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida denied state chamber of commerce reports that tourists were fleeing the state in search of warmth.

The temperatures dropped to 27 degrees Wednesday near Miami and farm fields were frosted white. Water from lawn sprinklers turned to ice in Miami's suburbs.

Miami's low temperature of 38 Wednesday set a record for the date, as did Miami Beach's 46-degree reading.

Florida's frost warning service said there was little damage to citrus crops from the cold but vegetable crops such as beans, cucumbers and tomatoes were nipped again. The cold caused fog blamed for a 19-car accident near Miami.

Gusty winds scattered rain from coastal areas of the Pacific northwest to Idaho and Montana mountains.

Light snow fell in a bolt from northern Minnesota to New England early today. There were snow-ers in East Texas.

Cold wave warnings were up today for the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire as a result of a polar air mass which dropped temperatures as much as 30 below zero in parts of Canada.

Bombing Attempt

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Mansur Faloulan, 36, was arrested Wednesday night on charges of attempting to bomb the home of Rep. William J. Green, (D-Pa.), who is a power in Pennsylvania politics.

Architect is John Burton while the Carroll Daniel Construction Co. built the modern facility.

Leroy Robb, vice president of the Carroll Daniel firm gave a special pat on the back to work superintendent T. A. Champion who worked "so hard to make the job a success."

This was Champion's first job in the Sanford area and he had been with the firm for three years.

The Herald is running a special section on the fronton in today's edition.

Other sub-contractors were: Bradford Concrete Service, Inc., Clark Construction Co., Inc., Imperial Decorators, Lee Brothers, Lundquist Foam Products, Perma Stress, Inc., Gator Lumber, Carpet Fashions Of Orlando, H. C. Buchanan Concrete, Evans Roofing, McRaney, R. M. Wilkins.

Bulletin

PALM BEACH (UPI) — The White House announced today it is sending a foreign aid mission to the Dominican Republic to discuss possible U.S. aid to the island nation.

By LARRY VERSHEL

(A few short ones . . . and some sure bets for the new year.)

The construction of a new Osteen Bridge is dead for 1962 . . . That's the word from Max Brewer, fifth district road board member.

J. C. Hutchison will be re-elected chairman of the County Commission next Tuesday morning.

City Manager W. E. Knowles has been asked to "devote some time" on helping firm up a new franchise directive . . . Bill Lefler has also been contacted.

County Commissioner Vernon Dunn will seek re-election in the District 4 race this year . . . So will Ted Williams from District 2.

More than 900 auto license tags for 1962 were sold Tuesday, the first day they were available.

It sure would be nice to have a tag office in South Semolee.

The City still has received no word from the post office department on possible lease of the present postal facility.

Gordon Frederick will change his mind and seek another term in the legislature . . . Al Lormann will run against him.

The Jaycees are planning an extensive membership drive starting around the 15th of the month to go hand-in-hand with Jaycee week.

A move will be made by the Merchants division of the Chamber to revitalize the downtown section . . . and watch for the City Commission to give them a big boost.

Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps will sign over 200 proclamations this year and have his picture on the front page shaking hands with somebody about 20 times.

Three names were inadvertently left off the Junior High School Honor Roll, which was printed last week. From Mr. Joiner's eighth grade, Connie Colvin, Linda Conn and Nora Butler also made the honor roll. Apologies and congratulations, girls. Keep up the good work.

The County Agent's office will be moved to the stockade at the County home property despite talk about an agricultural center.

City Manager W. E. Knowles will once again ask that the commission put in the budget money for a city hall parking lot and once again it will be stricken out.

How is the Palms being heated on these cold winter days?

The board of directors of Legion Fair Assn. will be special guests at the 40 and 8 dinner Tuesday, Jan. 9, at 7 p. m. at the Legion Hall on Hwy. 17-92. Joel S. Field president of the Fair Assn., announced today.
