Focus: Aging buildings Anonymous letter slows county's plan for new complex

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD - Monday, Seminole County commissioners will resume their quest to select an architect to design the new $9 million Public Safety Complex at Five Points, a $1 million prize.

The interviews follow an unusual set of events on May, 10 which resulted in an aborted vote that day. The events began in April with an annonymous letter received by the county in mid-April, blasting one of the two firms. County staff investigated the allegations and found them - $11 million replacement of the County Services without meril. They ended with a split commission, delaying the decision.

Monday, commissioners will interview representatives of both firms. They are not scheduled to decide which will design their $9 million complex at that time.

The Public Safety Complex will be the first of what may be a $78 million building program to upgrade or replace aging county buildings. Au expansion of the courthouse is expected to cost nearly $40 million. Also included is the possible Building.

Although consultants and court officials agreed the expansion of the cramped courthouse was the top priority, commissioners balked at the pricetag last summer and decided to target a new administrative center for the Sheriff's Office and Public Safety Division. The facility merger would eliminate the need for two communications centers and give growing sheriff's staff needed offices. The county solicited 221 firms for the GBee Building, Page 5A

SANFORD - New fees on dry cleaners to pay pollution cleanup costs, improved security for automated teller machines and a tax cut for jat alat frontons became law Thursday

Gov. Lawton Chiles allowed the bills to take effect without his signature.

The dry-cleaning legislation would impose a 1.5 percent tax on the monthly gross receipts of dry cleaners and a $5 fee on every gailon of a cleaning solvent. The new fees are effective Oct. 1.

The 1.5 percent tax does not apply to com-operated laundries.

Attempts made to contact management at nine dry cleaning establishments in the Sanford and Lake Mary areas this morning were unsuccessful. Spokesmen at state corporate offices of several local chain dry cleaning establishments refused to comment on the new law

Two injured in drive-by shooting

By NICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Sanford police are investigating a drive-by shooting last night. Two men are being sought in connection with the incident

According to police Commander Dennis Whit-mire, three Lake Mary men were apparently driving to Lake Monroe Terrace in Sanford at 8:44 last night, to meet with a female. "Near 5th Street and Olive Avenue," Whitmire said, "two black males reportedly drove up in another car and began firing shots at them."

One bullet reportedly penetrated the left rearquarter panel of the car and struck Alberto Rodriguez, 17, of Lake Mary, who was a back-seat passenger. Rodriguez was hit by the bullet in the upper part of his left leg.

Whitmire said the bullet apparently continued into the rear of the front seat, and struck Hector J. Santiago, also of Lake Mary, in the upper back.

"Two additional bullets hit the car," Whitmire said, "but they apparently didn't cause any injuries to the people inside.

The three reportedly fled from the area, but their vehicle became disabled near Lake Mary Boulevard and Rinchart Road, a short distance Within minutes, both Sanford and Lake Mary police had converged on the scene. Rodriguez was taken to South Seminole Hospital for treatment of his bullet wounds. Whitmire said he did not immediately know where Santiago was taken for treatment.

The driver of the vehicle was identified as Edgar Maldonado, but Whitmire said very little other information is known about the trio as of this morning.

Lake Mary commissioners debate length of terms

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - Should commissioners serve two-year or three-year terms in office? Should citizens have the opportunity to make that decision through a referendum?

The questions were brought up in ordinance form near the end of a five-hour long Lake Mary City Commission meeting last night. At the very beginning of discussion however, Mayor Lowry Rockett explained that the immediate aim was to "fill in the blanks" on the ordinance which had not been previously clarified.

"We need to establish how this would operate," Rockett said. "I would prefer having the three year terms with the mayor and two commissioners running for election one year, the other two commissioners the next year, then one full year without any elections."

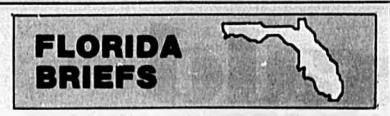

He continued, "If we can make some type of decision on when the elections would be held, we could have this inserted into the wording of the ordinance and bring it back at the next meeting for approval."

The ordinance calls for a change in the city charter, which requires approval through a vote of the electorate.

"I think the three year term is good," said See Terms, Page 5A

Commisioners vote to hire lifeguards

YULEE - Commissioners have voted to hire lifeguards at American Beach, where five people drowned on Memorial Day, in time for the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

In a 5-0 vote, Nassau County commissioners Thursday approved three lifeguards for the beach on Amelia Island beginning July 2. The vote came during a special meeting called after the drownings of three women, a man and an 11-year-old boy Monday.

Recreation Director Leon Shimer said officials had considered the move for about a year but the "Nassau County situation speeded up the decision-making process."

The Red Cross has offered to help train volunteers to help patrol the shore.

It will cost about $30,000 to keep lifeguards on duty throughout the summer, and commissioners agreed to use money from the Tourist Development Council to pay for the program. The county dropped its paid lifeguards in 1990 due to budget cuts.

Agents seize cocaine from Haitian boat

MIAMI -- Federal agents say they have seized 209 pounds of cocaine from the same Haitlan boat that brought 172 pounds of cocaine to Florida six months ago.

The 175-foot bulk cargo ship Monique arrived off the Miami coast Sunday from Port-au-Prince. On Tuesday, it docked further up the Miami River, where it was boarded later in the day.

Customs Service and Coast Guard officers searched the boat and found the drugs in a hidden compartment.

Agents dug through 4 inches of manure, hoisted a steel-plated floor panel and proceeded behind false walls before finding the compartment. Customs officials said Thursday,

None of the eight crew members of the Belize-registered boat have been arrested.

On Dec. 17, Customs seized 172 pounds from the vessel. This was the first time the boat had returned to the United States aince then.

Theater gives civilians the Blue Angels

PENSACOLA - Visitors will get a pilot's-eye view of what it's like to fly a Blue Angels let in a new theater with a six-story movie screen at the National Museum of Naval Aviation.

Officials broke ground Wednesday at Pensacola Naval Air Station for a $6 million, 41,000-square-foot museum addition that will include the 503-seat, theater.

A construction contract was signed last week after a five-year fund-raising campaign, and work is expected to be completed by spring 1996.

The McDonnell Douglas Corp. and Northrop Corp., the manufacturer and designer of the F/A-18 Hornet Jets flown by the Blue Angels, have agreed to put up $3.5 million to produce a large-format film featuring the Pensacola-based flight demonstration squadron.

The museum is still looking for donors to help it purchase about $3 million in sound and projection equipment for the theater.

Tobacco liability cut from agenda

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's controversial new tobacco liability law has been cut from the list of issues Gov. Lawton Chiles wants inwmakers to work on in next week's special session on health care reform.

The law would make changes in the legal rules to make it easier for the state to successfully sue the tobacco industry for, some of the hundreds of millions of tax dollars spent to care for sick smokers on Medicald.

Crawford: NAFTA, Mexico to blame for Florida's tomato woes

By Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's tomato farmers say the last season was their worst ever. and the state is blaming the North American Free Trade Agreement for the growers' WOCS.

Mexican tomatoes have captured a llon's share of this country's tomato market eversince NAFTA took effect in January, Florida Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford said in a letter to U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Cantor.

Mexican tomato exports to the United States jumped by 25 percent this year, while Florida shipments to other states fell by 12 percent, Crawford wrote in the letter sent to Kantor this week.

Crawford said he wants Washington to deliver "a quick and firm response" to help

Crawford contended that Mexican growers flooded the U.S. market by selling tomatoes for less than it costs to grow them - a violation of the treaty.

In contrast, not one of Flocida's farmers made a profit from mid-January to mid-May, Crawford wrote. Florida growers are accustomed to supplying three-fourths of the nation's tomatoes in the winter season and making more than $786 million per year.

"It's a bloodbath," said Wayne Hawkins. executive vice president of the Florida Tomato Exchange.

"This is the worst year ever," said John-Thomas, who has grown tomatoes in Palm-Beach County for 30 years and is one of the nation's largest growers. "(Mexicans) have flooded us and completely destroyed our market.'

Crawford has demanded a meeting with Kantor to discuss the problem.

But by late Thursday, Kantor had made no plans to meet with Crawford, and Kantor's office was referring questions to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Business lobbyists have warned the law, which has attracted national publicity, covers far more products than tobacco.

Although Chiles has said he thinks the law is limited to tobacco, he also said he would be willing to open up the special session to measures that would clarify the issue.

However, no proposals to limit the law have surfaced, Chiles' spokesman Ron Sachs said Thursday after the formal list of issues for the special session was released.

But Chiles doesn't have the final word: The Legislature can add issues to the agenda by a two-thirds vote in both the House and the Senate.

The special session is scheduled to start at noon Tuesday and run through 5 p.m. June 13. The top issue is health care reform.

Chiles has also directed lawmakers to consider legislation that would strengthen the laws against abuse of the elderly and transfer some aging programs from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to the Department of Elderly Affairs.

Also on the list is a direction to take another look at revamping child abuse laws to spell out in state law parents' right to spank. The governor last week vetoed legislation that would do that because of concerns the bill would prevent prosecution of bona fide abuse.

Lawsuit over abortion clinic law

From Staff and Wire Reports

the second received of ORLANDO - Myrna Cheffer and Judy Madsen could go to jall under a new federal law for trying to persuade people not to have abortions. They would rather not.

Cheffer and Madsen filed a civil rights lawsuit Thursday against U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno and the federal government, demanding that the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act be declared unconstitutional. It became law May 26, stemming from an injunction by retired Seminole County Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor.

Congress adopted the law after hearing evidence about the increase in violence outside abortion clinics, including bombings, arson and the killing of a doctor in Pensacola.

Suspect in tion.

The women's lawyer. Matthew Staver, says the law violates the rights of freedom of speech and assembly, and its penalties are too harsh.

"If the First Amendment doesn't protect that type of speech, then it protects no one," he said, adding that the measure is redundant because laws against violence already exist.

Cheffer, of Longwood, and Judy Madsen. of Orlando, have participated in sidewalk counseling outside abortion clinics in Orlando and Melbourne for years. They hand out pamphlets and talk to people in hopes of discouraging them from going through with abortions.

In the suit, the women admit that the people they approach sometimes feel intim-women maintain they cause no bodily harm.

"I do not grab anyone and forcefully make them listen to me," said Cheffer, a Catholic. Cheffer and Madsen said they have not practiced their form of counseling since the legislation was enacted, and their suit says they will not.

Under the law, anti-abortion protestors who infimidate or cause "reasonable apprehension of bodily harm" in those trying to enter abortion clinics could be fined up to $25,000. Repeat violators can be Jailed for up to 10 years.

The wording is so vague. Staver argues. that a person can claim to be intimidated by just about any action - even something as harmless as holding a picture of an aborted

 Rocky Lane Smith, 23, of Deltona, was stopped by Sanford police at 11th Street and Park Avenue Tuesday. He was charged with driving with a suspended license.

• Thallas Jerome Inman, 21, 1215 Randolph Street, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police at 3rd Street and Palmetto Avenue early Wednesday. Police said when the vehicle stopped, the passenger fled from the area on foot. Police reported the driver, identified as inman, altempted to strike an officer and also attempted to fice from the area as the officer tried to handcuff him. He was apprehended and charged with battery on a law enforcement officer, resisting arrest with violence, and driving with a suspended/revoked license. Police later determined he was also wanted on warrants for failure to pay a fine, and violation of probation on a previous conviction of sale of cocaine.

His wife. 31-year-old Lisa Myers, an afternoon news anchor for WESH Channel 2 television, was injured slightly, but was treated and released at a local hospital.

Police were questioning a street merchant and a laborer in connection with the 1 a.m. attack at the seaside Bell Mall guest house near the town of Runaway Bay, some 65 miles north of Kingston on Jamaica's northern const.

Although nothing was stolen from the couple, police said the motive for the attack was robbery.

Police said three men forced their way into the Orlando couple's bedroom. Jamaican television reported that the assailants shot Rayham in the neck. stabbed him all over his body and slit his throat.

Staff at WESH, where Myers worked as the afternoon news anchor, said they were stunned by the news. "There's a great amount of sorrow because Lee and Lisa were both so well liked and respected by everybody," said Tom Hirsch, an assignment editor at the NBC uffiliate for Orlando, Daytona Beach and Melbourne. "They are two of the kindest and most caring people you would ever know."

The Jamaica Tourist Board flew in members of Myers' family to help her.

Artists should use a different canvas

The drawing of graffiti on the walls of the nearly deserted Sanford Plaza shopping center on U.S. Highway 17.92 in South Sanford is, without a doubt, completely uncalled for.

It is up to Sanford police to arrest the people responsible for these drawings. Their subsequent punishment will be up to the courts.

Looking at it from another perspective: What a waste this is.

Some of the drawings are obscene, but some show a remarkable talent. The skeleton seen on the front page of Wednesday's Sanford Herald and several other drawings are very well done. We doubt many people are that skilled in drawing on the side of a building with only a spray can of paint.

This is one of the biggest wastes of talent we have seen in a long time. What a shame it is that these people cannot put their skills to use for their own profit as well as to help others.

Recently, a number of students from Seminole Community College were called downtown by Sanford Main Street, and asked to make drawings of some of the city's more historic buildings

Main Street's Kay Bartholomew commented, "We want some drawings which will help us remember architectural styles and structure designs, so we'll have it in the future.'

Certainly those who did the graffiti at Sanford Plaza could have become involved in doing such work. There are a number of businesses that use the skills of artists in making plans and drawings. or designing some future concepts.

Spending time with spray cans at the Sanford Plaza was a foolish gesture. Whatever these people hoped to gain by racist, sexist or neo-nazi drawings will be useless because of the sheer stupidity of the prank.

JACK ANDERSON All of Nixon's tapes should be released

Although his friends and enemies have now paid their final respects. American taxpayers may still not be done paying for the mistakes of Richard M. Nixon.

According to a 1992 court ruling that still stands, the government must compensate Nixon for holding on to the 3,000 plus hours of tapes Nixon recorded while occupying the White House, Upon Nixon's forced resignaiton in 1974. Congress instructed the National Archives to take control of the tapes.

which it has ever since. But American taxpayers could soon end up paying more than a million dollars to the Nixon estate, which the late president wanted donated to his favorite charity - his presidential muscum.

The ruling captures the absurdity of Nixon's dogged. 20-year battle to re build his shattered reputation through American the courts. He filed taxpayers may his first suit to prestill not be done vent the tapes' public paying for the release - citing the mistakes of right to privacy -Richard M. two months after Nixon. leaving office. Nixon Was beside himself with the possibility, as he put it at the time, that the tapes would be played at "cocktail parties and in comedy acts." The last and latest suit to block release was filed less than two weeks before his death. The Supreme Court has listened. Of all those tapes, only 63 hours have been made public through selective releases in 1974, 1091 and 1993 - all having to do with Watergate. According to the National Archives, at least another 137 hours of tapes deal with some aspect of Watergate. As several writers have pointed out, there's already enough in the public record to put a damper on the reverence accorded Nixon since his passing. In one tape, Nixon scems gleeful at the suggestion of recruiting "eight thugs" from the Teamsters Union to beat up peace protesters in Washington. "They've got guys who will go in and knock their heads off," Nixon says. "Sure." Nixon lackey H.R. Haldeman adds. "Beat the -- out of some of these people. The work continues at the National Archives, separating what is deemed to be private and what is releasable to the public. One confidential report we've seen detailing a closed-door meeting by the Nixon Review Board - lends insight into just how touchy the process has become. The Board was judging the possibility of releasing 105 papers to the public. But Board members were split on these documents, identified by the memo, and which historians and writers would love to get their hands on: A transcript of a telephone conversation between Nixon's loyal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, and Clare Boothe Luce suggesting that Republican women should let editors of newspapers know that they were tired of reading about Watergate. -- A 1973 memo from George Bush, then chairman of the Republican National Committee, to Nixon's chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. about a sequest for a meeting to set up a policy on patronage jobs. - A memo indicating that the Defense Department had briefed Nixon on the military status of Ed Cox three weeks before Cox married first daughter Tricia Nixon. If release of the White House tapes means scholars will look even more unkindly at Nixon's legacy, so what? Surely there would also be snippets in there that would add to his character, not detract. In either cuse, the tapes should be released to allow historians to gain a more complete picture of the real Nixon. At the very least, privatizing the Nixon legacy should not come at the expense of the American taxpayers.

sentenced for this situation, Sanford will have lost some potential artists, and those arrested may have lost a future career. It's sad.

LETTER

County politics

At the May meeting of the Republican Executive Committee, county commission candidate Randy Morris was allowed to speak for a few minutes at the end of the meeting. What spewed from Mr. Morris' mouth was far from the common level of mudslinging that we have, unfortunately, come to expect from some candidates these days. In particular, Mr. Morris attacked his opponent, a high school principal, for guzzling from the public trough because he did not quit his job as a principal when appointed to serve the citizens of Seminole County as a commissioner.

At the end of the meeting I asked Mr. Morris and his campaign manager, commissioner Darryl McLain, if either of them had quit their jobs when elected to public office. Both acted shocked that anyone would expect them to do that. They both said that the high school principal was abusing the taxpayers by taking "government" money - that both of his jobs were on the "government dole." When asked if either of them had or planned to turn down the commissioner's pay since both had referred to the principal as having been on the public "dole" as both a high school principal and as a county commissioner, both acted shocked that I couldn't see that the rules were made just for them and not for all.

In this election year, we keep hearing about the need to get back to family values, to rediscover morality and ethics. The principal has devoted more years to teaching those qualities to our children than Mr. Morris and Mr. McLain have been out of diapers.

For those two gentlemen to refer to teaching our children as being on the government "dole" ... well it makes me glad that Mr. McLain didn't get elected to the school board ... and makes me hope that Mr. Morris will slither back under a rock.

The failure of Mr. McLain and Mr. Morris to differentiate between the honorable profession of leaching and being on a government "dole" destroys any credibility they might have in representing the citizens (which by the way. Includes children) of Seminole County.

I hope the rest of the candidates for the county commission take note - teaching is not a government job - taking the taxpayers' money for serving as an elected official is. Mr. McLain and Mr. Morris should lead by example ... not throw rocks from inside their own glass house.

Editor's note: Randy Morris says he is serving as his own campaign manager. Commissioner Daryl McLain is a supporter.

DONNA BRITT

Young woman talks about rape

WASHINGTON - Every time the young woman talks about "the rapes" - she never calls them anything distancing like the "sex" or the "abuse" - she stares at her hands.

They are the only ordinary thing about her. Slim-fingered, with unpolished nails, her hands like those of a million high school seniors. Everything else about the girl. 18, is movie-star beautiful.

But her flat voice reminds you that however admiring or envious we may be of such beauty. it is irrelevant when it comes to rape. An equal opportunity deflator, rape can reduce the most extraordinary woman to cheapness in her own CYCS.

"I would have been nicer to myself if (the rapes) hadn't happened." she tells her hands. "They happened so many times, I can't even count."

There's no counting how many girls and hoys are like her - survivors of sordid family dramas whose masks, beautiful and plain, hide secrets no one could guess. I met her at one of several Washington-area public-school writing classes whose students I asked to write short. personal essays.

Hers arrived with "TEACHERS PLEASE DON'T READ," scrawled across the top and a page-long description of "my childhood nightmare" - a series of rapes by her stepfather that she'd discussed only with her family and boyfriend.

She agreed to be interviewed, on the condition of anonymity, because she thought telling her story "could change a life." Some other girl who's been raped could read about her, she said, "and think that if I could survive this, they could too."

The rapes started in 1982, the year the girl and her baby brother were brought by their mother to suburban Washington from El Salvador. They barely knew the mother who'd left them as toddlers with their grandmother while she worked in the United States. They knew even less about her new husband.

The girl was 7.

The first time, my mom was at work - just me, my brother and him were at home." The family was living with three other relatives, all immigrants, in a one-bedroom apartment. Her mother, who was working two jobs, told the children to "get used to" their new stepfather. says the girl. At the same time, "we also had to get used to a new mom ... new language, new environment, new kids."

She tried. Despite the language barrier, her marks in second grade were good, and she made friends.

She was trying on this night, too. Sitting sleepily on her stepfather's lap in the kitchen, she remembers half-hearing him say he was taking her to bed. Then "after telling me how pretty I was, what a good girl I was," he started hugging her "real hard, and touching my breasts, even though I didn't have no breasts. ... I told him to stop."

When she screamed, he told her to shut up or he would kill her. Then the girl's stepfather took two long-sleeved shirts and tied her. The rape "seemed like forever...I thought I was going to die.'

It went on for more than a year, months spent avoiding her stepfather whenever possible - hiding in the bushes near her house, spending extended hours with friendly neighbors. But she couldn't tell. "He always threatened that he'd kill me. ... He had already done something that really hurt me. And the look on his face ...

One Sunday after church she blurted the truth to a neighbor, who told her family. Her aunt. the girl recalls, was furious.

But her mother she says, listened to her story, "then went in her room and went to sleep. She went to work the next day like it never happened."

So it was her aunt who took her to the hospital, protected her and, who - months later, when the girl's mother still hadn't acted - told the police.

"To this date," the girl says, "my mother has never asked me if I was OK, when or how it happened, how do you feel. ...We have never talked about it ...

Eventually, the man who raped her was sent to jall. Today he is divorced from her mother and she has no idea of his whereabouts, which frightens her.

"I don't really blame her...it must have been hard," she says of the mother she still lives with, and loves, despite a decade of waiting for some acknowledgment of her abuse.

"I would just like for her to ask me what happened," she says. "I've never stopped walling for her ... to say she's sorry.

And there's one more thing, she says, looking up from her hands. "I would ask her if she loved him more than me."

An equal opportunity deflator, rape can reduce the most extraordinary woman to cheapness in her own eyes. 関

Committee participants were Deputy County Manager Sharon Goode Laisure: Central Services Director Cindy Wright: Tom Ticconi, manager of the Facilities Maintenance Division: Frank Van Pelt, county engineering project manager: Undersheriff Steve Harriett; and Barbara O'Hara, sheriff's budget specialist.

Following the interviews, the committee ranked Architects Design Group first, largely due to their experience in designing public safety buildings. Some ADG projects included the Broward County Emergency Operations Center, Palm Beach County EOC, St. Lucie County EOC and City of Holly Hill Emergency Communications Center.

An unusual investigation into the allegations was made. Laisure said she usually places little weight on anonymous letlers, but when commissioners began questioning it, County Manager Rob Rabun felt II should be considered. "Usually, unless somebody signs a letter and is willing to put their name with It, we don't put a lot of credibility to it," said Laisure. "But because of the the interest in the project, we thought it best to go ahead and check it out."

The investigation, completed in two weeks," found little credence to the allegations, FHP District Capt.+ M.W. Sanders wrote the project will be completed on time and the only delay was due to lack of state funding. While the letter claimed there were two turnovers of ADG project managers, Sanders wrote there was only one change and that occurred before construction began.

Other allegations of fiscal instability and client unhappiness were discounted, said Laisure. The only finding was there was a $6,000 judgement against the company over a debt claim, she said.

"Three years of time would be much more helpful in getting strictly personal. Judging from things done which have to go through lengthy processes," he added.

Commissioner Shella Sawyer however, disagreed, Sawyer had served on the Charter Revision Committee responsible for many changes in the city charter, but not regarding terms of office.

"We have a United States Congress elected for two year terms," she said, "and they certainly have much more work and stress than we do. I don't see any problem with two year terms for our city commission-CL2

She suggested that during Charter Review studies, the committee had determined that the general public wanted shorter terms to keep better control over the city officials. "If they were in opposition to what some commissioner said or did.

Der Welde "passed the gavel" to Warren, allowing him to recommend the Spillis Candela. Henley supported the vote, but Commissioner Daryl McLain none was taken. A lengthy discussion followed. ADG attorney Ken Wright said the letter

Sawyer said she would vote against three-year terms, but in favor of putting the matter on

"I hate running for re-election every two years," said Commissioner George Duryea. "I would like three years, but it would be what the people have said in the past, they want the two-year terms."

Duryea said, "With the shorter terms, if they don't like what I'm doing, they can vote me out in Just two years.

Duryea said he preferred to leave the terms as they are now. He didn't even want the matter to be place on the ballot.

gave the allegations little credit.

When the commissioners could not musicr another vote. they decided to hold off until they could visit facilities designed by the firms. The five commissioners toured buildings last week.

Duryea and Sawyer indicated that while they voted to put it on the ballot, they planned to vote against the lengthening.

Neither Duryea nor Sawyer will be up re-election to their commission seats this year. Mayor Rockett and commissioners Gary Brender and David Mealor are nearing the end of their present terms.

Another matter presented at the commission meeting pertained to when a newly elected commissioner would be sworn into office. City Manager John Litton said the matter was basically a house-cleaning matter of wording.

Duryca suggested it be tabled until the next meeting. "If we don't approve putting the change of term lengths on this year's ballot," he said, "maybe we won't want to have any other items on the ballot either, so let's not make a decision until our next meeting.

Duryca's suggestion was accepted, and both matters are now planned for the next commission meeting, on June 16.

U.S. prepares economic sanctions

WASHINGTON — The United States is conferring with South Korea and Japan to prepare U.N. economic sanctions against North Korea after inspectors found the country erased vital evidence about its nuclear weapons capability.

"We are focused on sanctions as the logical next step." Assistant Secretary of State Robert L. Gallucci said Thursday. "There are a lot of different kinds of sanctions that could stop a lot of activities."

South Korea and Japan, as neighbors of communist North Korea, are uneasy about cracking down on the Pyongyang government, which already has declared that sanctions would be considered an act of war.

Scheme ripe for abuse?

WASHINGTON — The federal government's latest high-tech effort to fight crime is making some people wonder just who the bad guys are.

The Clinton administration says it wants to make it easier for law enforcement officials to eavesdrop on all kinds of communications, including faxes and computer mail. Critics say such a scheme is ripe for abuse.

Under one proposal, manufacturers would be urged to voluntarily install a state-of-the art computer chip that could scramble telephone or computer communications. The chip, created by government engineers, is called the clipper chip.

The government would hold a set of electronic keys to unlock scrambled communications. The keys would be made available to law enforcement officials upon receiving court permission to tap into communications.

Failing grade reinstated

STANFORD. Calif. — Stanford University is reinstating the failing grade it eliminated in 1970 during the do-your-own-thing period on many American campuses.

The faculty didn't exactly bring back the F. but voted overwhelmingly Thursday to award an NP, or No Pass, and put the mark on students' records.

Ever since it dropped the F 24 years ago. Stanford has awarded an NC, or No Credit, for failure but did not record it on transcripts sent to other schools.

Professors also passed several other measures to tighten Stanford's grading and academic deadline policies, which are among the most liberal in effect at the nation's most prestigious universities. The vote on the package was 37-3.

Women learn how to get elected

NEW HAVEN. Conn. — Women have gathered at Yale University to learn what men for generations have imparted to one another on the golf course, in smoke-filled rooms and over steak-and-martini lunches: how to get elected.

Many of the women enrolled in the Women's Campaign School said they want to learn how to level the political playing field between men and women.

"I do play golf, but not to the extent that men do." said Democrat Linda Calandra, 42, a city councilwoman from Fresno. Calif. "Women raise money differently. We're not tied into those kinds of business contacts. We're used to reining in a household budget, not asking people for $1,000 checks."

Forty women of different party affiliations and political viewpoints attended the inaugural class Thursday. Most are political novices hoping to win that first election. One is in the mitiat of a campaign. Some have run for office and lost. A few are already in office and alming for higher office.

Clinton commemorates D-Day

By TERENCE HUNT AP White House Correspondent

NETTUNO, Italy — President Clinton today honored the thousands of Americans killed in the allied campaign to liberate Italy a half century ago, taking a solitary walk among bone-white headstones.

In the first major commemorative event of his European trip to mark D-Day, Clinton flew by helicopter to the Sicily-Rome American Cemetery in Nettuno, a trip of about 40 miles.

The cemetery is the final resting place for 7.862 Americans who died in 1943 and 1944 during force fighting in the mud and mountains and freezing weather of the Italian campaign.

More than a thousand U.S. veterans attended the ceremony, including four members of Congress: Sens. Rob Dole, R-Kan.: Daniel mouye, D-Hawaii: Claiborne Pell, D-R.L.; and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C.

Both Dole and Inouye were wounded in Italy. Dole's right shoulder was shattered by German machine-gun fire, and house lost his right arm to a grenade.

Clinton walked by himself among the rows and rows of simple white crosses and Stars of David. At one cross, he reached down and righted a small American flag that had toppled.

Stopping at the marker of the grave of Ophelia Tiley, an American Red cross worker killed on March 25, 1944. Clinton was greeted by a 73-year old nurse who served in World War II, June Wandry of Portage, Mich. She was wearing the same brown uniform she wore a half century ago. Speaking with reporters, she broshed aside the controversy over Clinton's struggle to avoid the draft during the Vietnani War. "He's my president and 1 respect the office of the president." she said. "Each to his own. You have to look into your own heart and see what you can forgive."

John Bender, 71, of Aberdeen, Md., was wounded by a mortar shell and spent 2½ years in the hospital. "It bothers me a little, his actions during the war. He grew up, Maybe he's changed. I bope so, anyway," he said.

The American dead arc from three allied landings in flaty: Sicily on July 10, 1943; Salerno on Sept. 9, 1943; and Anzio – adjacent to the cemetery – on January 22, 1944.

The Italian campaign led to the liberation of Rome 50 years ago on Sunday — just two days before the allied invasion of Normandy, France.

"We must resolve never to forget such hallowed words as Anzio, Nettuno, Salerno, Normandy," the president told a crowd of thousands in Rome on Thursday, "These names speak of the sacrifices of our parents and the freedom of their children and grandchildren."

The roster for today's solemn ceremony included retired Gen. John Vessey, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who won a battlefield commission at Anzio; Medal of Honor winner John J. Tominac: and Silver Star recipient John Shirley.

Clinton also was accompanied by Italian

President Oscar Luigi Scalfaro and Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi. Standing alongside Clinton on Thursday. Berlusconi pledged there would be no return to "a period we consider to be completely burled in the past, and having been condemned by history."

That was a veiled reference to the fact that two years after the United States entered World War II, Italy was still alled with Nazi Germany.

The visit provided no escape from foreign policy problems for Clinton. In Rome, he received word that international inspectors had concluded they no longer could certify the status of North Korea's nuclear program. The White House said the United States would ask the U.N. Security Council to impose sanctions on the communist North.

Clinton said he knew his foreign policy leadership skills would be on the line in dealing with North Korea. "I think they're on the line every day." he said, "and they're always under challenge. This is a difficult time."

Rome was the first Nazi-held capital to fall during the war, on June 4, 1944. After ninemonths of fighting up the Italian peninsula. Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, the Fifth Army commander, led his troops into the city and to Campidoglio Square, ancient symbol of Rome's Imperial power.

Two days later, news of the invasion of Normandy exploded around the world "Those SOBs — can't they even let us have the headlines for one day," Clark grambled.

Addrews. 13, who says his provess for spelling gives him an edge with teachers back home in Knoxville, captured the 67th National Spelling Bee on Thursday after two days of grueling competition among 238 of the country's best young spellers.

Twice before he made it to the national competition and finished no better than 14th. But this time he went all the way conquering such words as "dyskinesia." (characterized by involuntary motions), "proboseis" (snout) and "natad" (nymph).

Andrews won the title by correctly spelling "antediluvian" (or ancient), in the 15th round.

Elvis' death records under review

MEMPHIS. Tenn. — The state has ordered a review of Elvis Presley's medical records that could establish whether drugs played a role in his death, as some suspect.

Presley's death certificate lists the cause of death as heart disease, but there has long been speculation that abuse of prescription drugs hastened his death at age 42.

The Shelby County Commission requested the review. Diane Denton, a spokeswoman for the state Health Department, said Thursday she hoped the review by an out-of-state doctor would be finished in a few months.

Vasco Smith, a member of the Shelby County Commission, said the primary purpose of the review is to examine the practices of the city medical examiner, Jerry Francisco,

If misinformation was knowingly including on Presley's death certificate, other decisions by Francisco could be reviewed. Smith said.

Rodney King hopes ordeal is over

SANTA ANA. Calif. - Rodney King says he hopes his courtroom ordeals are over and never wants to see the video of his beating again.

"It's a sick sight to look at." King said Thursday in a news conference outside his attorney's office. A day earlier, the federal jury that previously ordered the city of Los Angeles to pay King $3.8 million in compensatory damages refused to make six officers involved in his beating pay him millions more in punitive damages.

The Los Angeles jury found that former Sgt. Stacey Koon and former Officer Laurence Powell acted with malice or disregard of King's rights during the 1991 beating but shouldn't have to pay damages. And the jury said the four other defendants didn't violate King's rights.

King's lawyer. Milton Grimes, said he may appeal on the basis of juror misconduct. "We're still looking for justice," he said.

Explosion demolishes apartment house

SAN FRANCISCO — An explosion demolished a three-story building in the city's Tenderloin district, hurling glass, bricks and clothing the length of a block. One person was killed and at least four injured.

The blast Thursday night may have been caused by a natural gas leak, Fire Chief Joe Medina said.

A body was discovered under the rubble on the sidewalk in front of the building, whose owner said was empty at the time. An elderly woman lived there: the commercial space on the ground floor was vacant.

Residents were evacuated from the entire block, and nine other buildings were damaged. Medina said.

The explosion sent a huge fireball into the sky. The blaze was brought under control within an hour.

Only one wall was left standing. Clothes were blown onto lamp posts and telephone wires.

Magic pass on Krystkowiak

ORLANDO - The 'Orlando Magic decided Thursday to skip the option year Larry Krystkowiak's contract, making the veteran forward an unrestricted free agent.

The eight-year pro was out from late November to late February with a sprained right foot. He appeared in 34 games, started 11 and averaged 5.1 points and 3.6 rebounds.

"It's unfortunate that due to his injuries we were not able to experience his full impact on this team," said John Gabriel, the team's vice president for basketball operations.

AROUND THE STATE

Dolphins sign Bowens

DAVIE - The Mianti Dolphins on Thursday signed their first-round draft pick Tim Bowens to a four-year contract reportedly worth more than $3 million.

Bowens, 21, a 6-4. 336-pound defensive tackle, overcame a poverty-ridden childhood and a bizarre accident to reach the professional ranks. Prior to his senior prep season, Bowens lost three toes on his left foot as a result of a lawn mower accident.

The Dolphins admittedly took a risk when they selected the inexperienced Bowens (20th overall), a one-year starter at Mississippi.

He was named to the All-Southeastern Conference team after anchoring the nation's top defense with 53 tackles, including 47 solo. six sacks, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and one interception.

Heat stay with Loughery

MIAMI - Miamt Heat coach Kevin Loughery will keep his job and get a raise after weeks of speculation the team would dump him.

Loughery agreed to a multi-year contract extension last Sunday, team management announced Thursday.

"I think it's been a long process. We had several meetings, several discussions from both sides," Loughery said, adding he was often frustrated by the process and had occasional doubts that he would be back next season.

Speculation that the team would fire him began after a disappointing loss to Atlanta in the first round of the playoffs.

Marlins lose Hernandez

MIAMI - The Florida Marlins said Thursday they will place relief pitcher Jeremy Hernandez on the 60-day emergency disabled list after discovering a herniated disc in his neck.

He will undergo surgery Monday at Holy Cross dospital in Fort Lunderdale and is out for the

Baseball America tabs Varitek player of the year

By TOM VINT AP Sports Writer

OMAHA. Neb. - Georgia Tech catcher Jason Varitek was selected college player of the year on Thursday by Baseball America.

The 6-foot-2, 215-pound senior switch-hitter hit .432 with 81 RBIs and 15 home runs to help the Yellow Jackets qualify for their first College World Series. The NCAA Division 1 national championship series begins Friday in Omaha.

He was one of three Georgia Tech players pleked for the first-team All America by the "It's a great honor for me," said Varitek, a 1991 graduate of Lake Brantley High School. 'It's hard for me to believe that I won when I look at my own team and see the seasons Nomar Garciaparra and Jay Payton had." Garciaparra and Paytoa also were first-team

All America picks:

Garelaparra was selected as the shortstop with his 437 batting average, while Payton, an outfielder, batted .442 with 100 RBIs.

Varitek also was the 14th pick overall Thursday in the amateur draft. He said he was surprised that the Mariners chose him because. no one from Scattle had contacted him.

"They're a young club and I'll have to work my way up to contribute," said Varitek, who was drafted by the Minnesota Twins in the first round last year but opted to return to Georgia Tech for his senior year.

He said he planned to get some rest and concentrate on the College World Series. Georgia Tech plays Cal State Fullerton in the opening game.

"I'm just pretty relieved right now," Varitek said. "The distractions can create their own problems for you if you let them."

Rams reaping rewards

Lake Mary has 15 sign athletic scholarships

Marlins draft SS-QB Booty

FORT LAUDERDALE - The Marlins landed the booty they sought when Florida selected shortstop Josh Booty with the fifth pick of baseball's amateur draft Thursday.

Booty, a stellar-fielding shortstop cut in the mold of Cal Ripken, hit 12 home runs for 36 RBI and had a .429 batting average his senior year.

On Jan. 9. Booty committed to play baseball and football for Louisiana State University, but he said during a Thursday conference call that pro baseball is his first love.

Booty, a 6-foot-3, 215-pounder, was also an All-American quarterback for Evangel High, where he set national records in touchdown passes (128) and passing yards (11,700 yards) as a four-year starter.

GREENVILLE, S.C. - The Jacksonville Suns scored early and never looked back in a 3-0 win over the Greenville Braves in Southern League action on a soggy Thursday night.

The Suns put their first run across in the second inning when Lipso Nava doubled and then scored on a single by Fredi McNair. A 42-minute rain delay apparently doused any fire in Greenville's bats as they were held scoreless. One bright spot for the Braves was Kevin O'Connor, who went 1-4 to extend his hitting streak to 11 games.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Unbelievable. That's the only way to describe the offensive show that was put in the third game in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Thursday Night Spring Slowplitch Softball League at Chase Park.

Brian Jones turned in easily the top individual offensive performance of the year as Touchdown Pubhanded Roinco/Florida Sport Wear its first loss of the scason, 23-21, in 12 innings.

Jones blasted a bases-loaded triple in the top of the 12th inning to break a 19-19 tie and cap an effort where he went 7-for-8 with five runs scored and seven RBL

The two teams combined for 60 hits (33 by Roinco/Florida Sport Wear in a losing cause): 14 players had at least three hits each, seven with four or more: and Touchdown Pub had to score two runs in the top of the seventh inning to tle the score at 16-16 after the regulation seven innings.

Both teams scored three runs in the 10th inning to keep the game going.

In the other games, M.A. Erectors pulled into a tie for

Rallies mark shootouts at Pinehurst

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Two things were evident as the Sanford Recreation Thursday Men's Spring Slowpitch Softball League at Pinchurst Park opened the second half of the season: it's a good to be the home team and there's no such thing as a safe lead.

The night started harmlessly enough as Beer:30 took a 6-0 lead after two finnings and was up 8-0 after four innings. The co-league leaders could not put Briar Corporation away, however, and had to settle for the 8-0 whitewash.

The relatively cold offense of the normally high-scoring Beer:30 squad was an omen of the strangeness that lay ahead.

In the second game, Mobilite took a 3-0 lead into the fourth inning only to have The Utter Guys plate four runs in the bottom of the fourth. Mobilite fied the game in the lifth, but The Utter Guys took the lead back with a run in the sixth.

Mobilite looked like it might pull off the win when it came up with two runs in the top of the seventh. inning, but the Utter Guys rallied again with two runs of their own to win 7-6.

Then things really got odd.

The Wayne Densch Budmen looked like they would hang on to a share of the lead easily as they raced to a 11-2 lead in the top of the fifth inning. But suddenly the game turned into a 80-minute marathon as Ryder-MLS started a comeback with a seven-run fifth inning and capped the upset with two runs in the bottom of the seventh to win 14-13.

Boys and Girls Club pageant set

"Eleganza" in conjunction with the Boys and Girls Club of West Sanford and the Westside Community Association will be hosting the first annual Jr. Mr. and Ms Boys and Girls Club pageant on July 2, 7 p.m. at the Boys and Girls Club.

The purpose of the pageant is to help build the self-confidence of children 10 to 13 years old through participation in competiton and children 6 to 13 years old through active participation (dance segment).

A panel of judges will select a male and female winner, and first and second runner up based on the following criteria: granduer, question and response, general apperance and talent. A "Most Dedicated" participant will also be chosen along with "Congeniality."

To help better prepare for the upcoming pageant, Eleganza will be holding formality training seminars on June 4, 11, 18 and 25, from 9 to 11 a.m. Students will learn how to observe and evaluate their own behavior as it relates to others, help them to clarify social expectations, and expose them to guidicines which can enable them to meet with valid social expectations. It is stressed that all participants sign up for these seminars.

Applications can be picked up at the Boys and Girls Club. All participants must be a member. For more information, contact Joyce Riggins at 321-4379 or Cheryl Knight at 328-8370. The pageant is sponsored by the Sanford Housing Authority.

Plan in advance for elder care Make best use of resources available, know rules

One of the difficult tasks of caregiving is planning for the future. It is a difficult subject to talk about and one that we put off until another time. All too often the day arrives when mirsing home care is necessary and if the proper financial and legal plans have not been made, a family's resources can drastically be depleted.

The cost of medical treatment and nursing home care can be devastating to a family when long-term illness or disability strikes. To protect and make the best use of available resources it is necessary to start planning well in advance. Each situation is different and may require the help of a professional, whether it be a banker, lawyer, or financial planner, but there are some general things to consider.

• Be sure you are receiving the full income you are entitled to from pensions. social security, or other sources.

• On the other hand, be sure you are not paying unnecessary expenses.

 Check your insurance portfolio for duplication, especially in health insurance policies. Many older people fall into the trap of being "insurance poor" only to find that Medicare and a Medicare supplement (Medigap) is often adequate for medical expenses. Additional policies may pay very little toward these expenses.

Check life insurance policies to see if they waive premium payments in the case of total disability.

· Review saecia and sources of income. Can you rely on them over the long-term? Be wary of any scheme for using your assets to make guick income.

If long-term care becomes necessary. private resources are often depleted.

Long-term care insurance can be a way to privately insure against some of the cost of this care. Be cautious incomparing benefits and costs. Ask the following questions. Does it cover care in any licensed facility?

• Does it cover some aspects of long-term care at home? Which aspects?

• What are the time and dollar limits? Does it provide inflation protection?

Does it exclude coverage for "preexisting conditions"?

• What is the coverage for Alzheimer's disease or other "psychiatric conditions"?

Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida - Friday, June 3, 1994 - 38

• Is the policy renewable? · How does the cost compare with other similar policies?

Medicaid is often the answer when funds run low. Check with Social Services so you know the rules before you have spent down farther than necessary.

• Be aware that an assessment of assets is made as of the first of the month the person enters a nursing home. If the person is married, assets of both spouses are considered. The home along with adjoining land and car are exempt.

• If there is a spouse living outside the nursing home, they are entitled to mini-mum assets of $20,000 or a total of one half of the assets up to $68,700 in 1992.

 When the nursing home resident's resources are down to $2,000 they are eligible for Medicaid. An irrevocable burial trust can be purchased as part of the spend down

• In order to protect assets, they must be transferred to the beneficiaries more than 30 months prior to nursing home entry. This emphasizes the need for long range planning.

• Financial planning for long-term care can be a frustrating task, but one well worth the effort for surviving family members.

Common traits define behavior

DEAR MARY: I've heard it said that we are attracted to the same type of person over and over again, even when we can't get along with them. I'm really an example of that. I was married to a man for 20 years who turned out to be just like my father, a womanizing alcoholic. What's so odd is that I remember being so proud of the fact that I was sure he was exactly the opposite of my father when I met and married him. I've been divorced now for five years, and I'm in another relationship. Again, at first I was sure this guy was different - he doesn't even drink. But now, three years into the relationship. I see the same kinds of things that were true for my father and ex-husband - unable to get really close to me, wants to make other people responsible for his behavior, thinks he's entitled to some kind of special consideration in every situation. to name a few examples. Maybe this is just the way men are, but I swear I know some who don't act like this. is it possible that no value.

"I don't know how I'm going to get through today. I can't bear to even think about tomorrow!"

How often we are anxious about the events of the day and those of the future. The Bible advises us in Matthew 6:34 ... "Therefore, do not be anxious about tomorrow ... let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day." "That sounds reassuring," you might say, "but how can I make these words truly an integral part of my daily life?"

Make God an integral part of your life through weekly worship and daily prayer and meditation. "But seek first His Kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things shall be yours as well" (Matthew 6:33). Thus, your faith grows as your anxiety diminishes.

Worship this Sabbath. The span of God's love lifts you up, defying all obstacles, and delivers you safely to your goal.

IN BRIEF

Cummings to visit St. James

SANFORD - Hishop Frank C. Cummings of the 11th Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will celebrate Holy Communion at Historic St. James A.M.E. Church, 819 Cypress Ave., on Sunday, June 5, at 11 a.m.

Bishop and Mrs. Cummings along with a delegation of ministers and laymen have recently returned from visiting the overseas districts in Cape Town, Johannesburg, Sawziland and Zimbabwe. Lay ministry leads service

Bishop Frank C. Cummings

SANFORD - Christ United Methodist Church, 408 Tucker Dr., announces a Lay Ministries Program for Sunday, June 5. during the Annual Florida Conference. The service will be led entirely by the laity. In the 11 a.m. Worship Serivce, Michael E. Korgan will deliver the sermon titled "Christianity: Hobby or Occupation?" Robert Bruce will serve as Liturgist.

Rev. Shea retires after 26 years

By SUSAN WENNER Herald Correspondent

SANFORD - Working for the Lord doesn't pay much but the retirement benefits are out of this world, was a little-poem once seen in passing.

The Rev. Darwin Shea, minister of the Upsala Community Presbyterian Church for the past 26 years would agree wholeheartedly. Shea retired from his position with the church on May 29.

"I set a goal of retiring at 75 years old." he said. "I turned 75 this month. I'd like to travel a lot and see all my grandchildren." Shea and his wife of 51 years, Jeanne, have five children, Darlene, Darwin Jr., Valerie, Daniel and Roger. They also have 13 grandchildren, with number 14 on the way.

The former Casselberry residents have lived in the Longwood area since 1965. Shea has pastored churches from as far away as New York state, New Hampshire, and Alabama

"I think starting was a real challenge," Shea said about the beginnings of Upsala Church. "We had 15 people. We then outgrew the building. We had people sitting in the center aisle and a sound pipe for those in the back rooms. That's when we built the new church. We now average about 150. "I think anyone considering becoming a minister should get a good solid biblical background," he said. "It's a demanding profession but a rewarding profession."

To parents that aspire for their children to minister to others. Shea said he leaves this advice.

"To parents that aspire for their children to minister to others," he said "If parents could impress on their young men or women the importance of the infinistry, that would be helpful. They should be there for those in need.

"Our church has been a real wonderful experience, everyone that comes here says they've never seen such love among the people," he said. "Jesus said if you love one another all men will know that you are my disciples. There's too much hate in the world. We need that love."

He concluded with his opinions on dealing with erring members and his favorite stories and scriptures in the Bible.

"I don't think we ever place enough emphasis on prayer," Shea said. "The Prodigal son is one of my favorite stories in the Bible. The son that was left behind was jealous. That's no position for Christians to take today. We need to help restore people to God and welcome them back.

My favorite scripture is Romans 8:1. It says, "there is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus."

First Baptist Church Youth Choir Promise to perform on Sunday.

Youth activities abound at FBC The children will stud sough,

SANFORD - The Youth Choir of First Baptist Church, Park Avenue, will be presenting the munical/drama "The Great Artrageous Adventure" on Sunday, June 5, at 7 p.m. The choir consists of 45 plus members, ranging in ages from 12 to 18

At first it may seem a bit strange for a youth musical to be set in an art museum, but in a recent national survey, American teenagers reported "checking out" art museums to be very close to the top of the list of "cool

LIFE AFTER DEATH

Do you have a fear of death or grieve for a loved one? Transfiguration medium, Vern Overlee, will be bringing proof that only your physical body dies - the true you lives on in a better world enjoying a perfect way of life.

Missionary Baptist Church, Airport Boulevard, Sanford, dressed for the occasion of the Annual African American Victory Day on Sunday in celebration of their heritage and service to the Lord. The Angelic Mass Choir of Titusville thrilled the hearts of the congregation and guests with Gospel selections and solos. Judges were asked to choose the best dressed during the Victory Parade, the decision was made that all of the kings and queens of the parade were the best and each received a round of applause for their contributions.

DEAR DR. GOTT: How do you view "Worst Pills, Best Pills"? | suffer from arthritis, heart problems and dlabetes. When reading about my medications. the book indicates that certain drugs should be taken with extreme caution.

DEAR READER: Like any reference manual. "Worst Pills, Best Pills" (1988, Public Citizen Inc., $12 paperback) should be used as a guide -- not as a bible. Many people are quite correct to be concerned about their medicines, both singly and in interaction. For these patients, 'Worst Pills, Best Pills" can provide really useful information; I encourage my own patients to read the book and use it as a resource to ask me questions.

However, I don't advise patients to take as gospel everything they read in that (or any other) book. For one thing, some drugs are necessary, despite their dangers. For another, reference books deal with general. theoretical information, not with specific patients and their problems. So, before chucking your med-icine out, use "Worst Pills, Best Pills" to formulate questions about the drugs you are taking. Then meet with your doctor to review your concerns. In short, use the book AND your doctor to sort out and clarify issues.

To give you more information. I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long. self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title. DEAR DR. GOTT: A retina institute in Florida has indicated through studies that the use of an aspirin a day greatly increases your chance of blindness due to macular degeneration. If this is true, it seems to me it

TERIDGE

By Phillip Alder

One major change in bridge in recent years has been the swing trick. toward pressurizing the opponents. In the old days, when no one bid without rock-solid values, there were many uncontested auctions. Nowadays, with wild pre-empts and weak jump overcalls rampant, these are rare. It follows that if adventurous non-vulnerable opponents fail to take easy opportunities to enter your auction, you may anticipate favorable suit splits. However, it is also important to keep your opponents under pressure during the play of the cards. Force them to play - or guess -- well, either to make their contract or to defeat yours. Today's deal is a good example. Playing in three no-trump. you have eight top tricks: one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and one club. Given the heart lead, you don't have would be publicized by all physicians.

DEAR READER: I agree. However, I do not believe that this finding is necessarily valid. One aspirin a day, an extremely low dose, has been shown to protect against second heart attacks and second strokes. In fact, aspirin therapy is now considered mandatory for most patients who have had heart attacks or

The weakest play is to take a first-round finesse of dummy's queen. It is better to cash dummy's ace before crossing to hand and leading toward dummy's queen. But the best practical play is to lead a low club from the dummy at trick see your cards. Copyright1994. NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

ROBOTMAN[®]

True, against a robot sitting East you will be none the wiser. because he will play low without a flicker, even from kingdoubleton. But if a human sitting East plays low smoothly, he probably doesn't have the king. Thinking you have the jack, he will at least consider winning with the king. And if he has king-doubleton, usually he will win the trick.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY June 4, 1994

In the year ahead, a number of unexpected changes could be in the offing. If you don't let shifting conditions knock you off balance, you might be able to turn them into advantageous developments. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Your luck has its limitations today, so don't press it to a breaking point. You could earn substantial returns, but you might not win them. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically

Try to be consistent in your thinking today. Once you make up your mind about something, don't suddenly implement chang, s at the last minute.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you are planning to make this an active day in the fresh air and sunshine, don't overtax yourself physically. Tomorrow, if you have to contend with aching muscles, you'll regret it. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do not be blase or indifferent about the possessions of others today, because if something is marred, scratched or lost, you may be the person who is held accountable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a delicate balance that must be maintained at home today, or else friction might come charging in and shove harmony out. Don't be the culprit who opens the door.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your powers of concentration might not be as awesome as usual today, especially when performing critical tasks. Have someone you trust check your work for mistakes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't be too hasty about grabbing the check today if you're out with friends who have a tendency to sit on their purses rather than open them. Be sure they pay their fair share.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

19) Try not to let your restlessness or dissatisfaction contaminate your household today. If something is disturbing you. work it out in private.

AGUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Impulses and inclinations may need monitoring today, or else they might impel you to do something you later realize wasn't too bright. Be disciplined, PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful of the extent of your involvements today, so that you do not incur some type of financial loss through a friend or a group who makes the commitment for you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your desire to express your independence is admirable, but don't go to extremes today in order to make your point. What you do could hurt your image. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Hiding from your present responsibilities or merely sweeping them under the rug will not give you the peace of mind you're seeking today. Be dutyconscious.
