Men's Super Slow Pitch champs enter national tourney play today

SANFORD - The local media got an early look at what to expect Wednesday afternoon as Team TPS stars Doug Kissane and John Mello put on a hitting show at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium.

The pair took turns hitting home run after home run far over the leftfield wall and into Zinn Beck Field to oohs and aahs of those in attendance.

The duo were in town to promote the 1998 ASA (Amateur Softball Association) Men's Super Slow Pitch National Championships that will feature the top 10 teams in the country in a double-elimination event on Rinker-Stenstrom Field this weekend.

Both men were impressed with the condition of the refurbished stadium.

"We don't usually play in big stadiums," said Kissane.

"And the infields are usually all skin (dirt)," added Mello.

"But this outfield is beautiful," continued Kissane. "It's one of the best I've ever played on."

The tournament will kick off this evening with opening ceremonies at 6. The first two games will follow with Xtreme/Worth from Little Rock, Arkansas taking on Light-house/Worth (with superstars Wendell Rickard, Carl Rose and Ricky Huggins) from Stone Mountain, Georgia at 6:30 p.m. and Chase/Worth from Wilmington, North Carolina playing Planet Softball from Lexington.

Case of judges' endorsements by GOP goes to court

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Circuit Judge Gene Stephenson decided Wednesday that the court required more time than he had first allotted to hear the arguments for and against the Seminole County Republicans being able to endorse judicial candidates.

As a result the opposing parties are scheduled to continue their pleadings late this afternoon after a brief beginning on Wednesday.

Attorney Ken Wright, the chairman of the Republican Executive Committee that intends to make an endorsement on Aug. 20, said the law that does not permit judicial endorsements is unconstitutional and unenforceable.

Winter Springs attorney Michael Jones represents six individual members of the same Executive Committee who do not agree with the party's reasoning and have filed for an injunction to stop the process.

Judicial candidates are not allowed by law to have any party affiliation nor accept campaign money from any party. They are not allowed to discuss policies and preferences as politicians do. There are strict penalties for those who step over the line - including removal from office.

"What this is all about is that we are trying to educate the public about the people who are running for these important positions," said Jim Stelling, the GOP Executive Committee leader. "It is time they knew who is who."

DAYTONA BEACH - Daytona Beach International Airport has hired Steve Cooke, the former executive director of Orlando Sanford Airport, as part of its effort to increase business.

Cooke will start his job Wednesday as the airport's director of air service marketing and community affairs at a salary of $60,000, said airport spokesman David Byron. Of the 60 candidates, who applied for the job, Byron said Cooke was not only familiar with the area but also the most qualified because of his experience at Sanford's airport.

"Steve had a lot of success in Sanford in developing its charter service and we want to develop that area here," Byron said. Please See Cooke, Page 3A

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Former Seminole County Manager Ron Rabun is negotiating a contract to become manager of Richland, a Southcentral Washington city of 35,000. He expects to begin the job on Sept. 28.

Rabun will replace Joe King, who was dismissed from the job in April. King made $98,000 a year, which is the range that Rabun is expected to receive.

Prior to landing the Washington job, Rabun was one of the finalists in the chase for the Sanford city manager's job. That position was awarded last month to Tony Vanderworp, who left a high management post at the county.

Richland officials, sources say, were looking for a good salesman type with clear focus. Please See Rabun, Page 3A

County supports land use changes in Wekiva River Protection Area

By Shari Brodie
HERALD FEATURE EDITOR

SANFORD - Despite what Chairman Randy Morris characterized as compelling testimony, the county commission approved the land use amendment and rezoning of Astor Farms, in a 4 to 1 vote.

Eleven people spoke in opposition of one of the four amendments and rezonings scheduled for Tuesday night's public hearings. At least a dozen more registered written statements against the change, which would allow the building of up to 345 homes in the rural northwest section of the county.

The county commissioners were scheduled to hear public input on three other land use changes and rezonings which are to be transmitted to the Florida Department of Community Affairs. Two were passed by a 5-0 vote and the third was continued to the Sept. 22 commission meeting because the county's planning and zoning commission had failed to take action on the zoning portion of the request for change in a development planned adjacent to Heathrow.

The Astor Farms amendment was the largest in area of the four, involving 130 acres. The land is owned by Dan Pelham, former Sanford Middle School principal and his wife, Rebecca.

The Pelhams inherited the property which had been farmed for more than 50 years. Because small-scale farms are no longer profitable in Florida, the Pelhams wanted to sell the property for development.

Attorney Hugh Harling, representing the applicants told the commission he had met with several of the homeowners, and the builder, Allan Keene, had promised to preserve as many trees as possible, build no residential streets along the perimeter, install low level lighting within the development, add additional landscaping within the open areas, and distribute habitat and pollution abatement educational material to every new homeowner.

Responding to the builders promise of educational material, Howard King said he appreciated the inclusion of the backyard habitat information, but "when backyard habitat is proposed, real habitat is being destroyed."

Partially located in the Wekiva River Protection Area and adjacent to county conservation lands, homeowners in the area opposed the land use change, claiming that habitat for threatened Florida species, such as the black bear will be destroyed. IN BRIEF

LPA meeting

LAKE MARY - The City of Lake Mary Local Planning Agency (LPA) will meet tonight, Aug. 13, in the east wing conference room of city hall. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., and is open to the public.

Items on the agenda include a previously tabled review of the city's response to the Department of Community Affairs.

Memorial barbecue

SANFORD/CASSELBERRY - A Memorial Benefit Ride and Barbecue will be held Sunday, Aug. 16, at the old Kmart plaza, U.S. Highway 17-92 just south of State Road 436 in Casselberry.

Sign up is from 9 a.m. until 10:40 a.m., with the run, involving cars, trucks, vans and bikes to leave promptly at 11 a.m., rain or shine. Registration is $5 with proceeds in honor of Seminole County sheriff's deputy Eugene A. Gregory who was killed in the line of duty in Geneva, on July 8th.

Beginning in Casselberry, the run will end at Fort Mellon park in Sanford, where the barbecue meal will be served at 12 noon.

For additional information phone (pager) 643-4437 or 332-8672.

SCOPA meeting

SANFORD - The Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) will hold its August meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 18, beginning at 4 p.m. in the Administration Building at the Port of Sanford.

Items on the agenda include reports from the attorney and administrator, as well as a budget hearing and appointment of a nominating committee.

Workshop offered

SANFORD - The Children's Home Society will conduct a free workshop for members of the community. Topics to be discussed include how to exchange thoughts and ideas effectively and how to express true feelings easily.

Corine Wilson, director of "I'm Somebody" a family communication and education center, will facilitate the workshop, on August 19 from 2 until 4 p.m., at the Salvation Army, 700 W. 24th Street, Sanford.

For additional information, phone 328-3990.

Books for sale

LAKE MARY - Seminole County Better Living for Seniors, is now selling the "99 Entertainment Books." The books are $30 each, and offer hundreds of coupons for restaurants, entertainment, travel, and other activities.

According to Brenda Drinnan, the fund raiser is to assist Better Living for Seniors in the mission toward continuing the services needed for elderly residents.

For additional information, phone Brenda Drinnan at 333-8877, ext. 109.

Quality exchange

OVIEDO - The Central Florida Quality Exchange, sponsored by the University of Central Florida Center for Quality and Central Florida Manufacturing Technology Center, will meet on Friday, Aug. 21 from 8:30 until 10 a.m. The topic for this month's Exchange will focus on Providing Quality Customer Service. The presenter will be Carolyn Fennell, Director of Public Affairs, Greater Orlando Aviation Authority, Orlando International Airport.

The Exchange will be held at the University of Central Florida's Center for Quality, Research Park and Alafaya Trail, 12424 Research Parkway, suite 225.

The Exchange is an open forum for sharing lessons learned and accomplishments in quality and performance improvement processes. There is no cost to attend.

For additional information contact Dr. Jan Terrell at (407) 275-4330 or Dr. Claudia Follet at (407) 632-111, ext. 64316.

These roads will not be forsaken, or forgotten

The renaming of County Road 46A (West 25th Street) to H.E. Thomas Jr. Parkway may start a good trend.

Roads should have some personality. We've had more than a fill of Main Street, Elm, Oak and Church.

Orange County has perhaps the best road of all: Lot-a-Fun-Avenue. It's so much fun that pranksters have run off with a number of the signs. It's a pain to those who live on the street but they've protested a name change.

Chickee Court in Lake Mary sounds neat, so does M & M Lane in Orange City. There are two Miracles - Miracle Road in Chuluota and Miracle Lane in Pierson. Pasatiempo Point in Lake Mary is a good one. How many residents can spell it and what happens to the mail?

Radio Avenue in Sanford sounds like a nice place to be stationed, and Secretariat Place in Chuluota a nice place to train Kentucky Derby winners.

Honoring Seminole County Deputy Sheriff Thomas with a major thoroughfare is well appreciated by Sheriff Don Ealinger.

We expect one day folks will be renaming Seminole Boulevard to Larry Lane and Mellonville Avenue to Randy Road. Add a Whitley Way and Kerry Court and Velma Vista. No one would lose their way on these streets. Yeah, we forgot to mention Brady Boulevard.

Swing left

Today is National Left-handers Day, and millions of southpaws are having a blast. The last three guys who ran for president were lefties. Marilyn Monroe was a lefty and so was Einstein. This ought to tell you how important lefties are. There are left-handed clocks and scissors on the market and a left-handed magazine that is read from back to the front. Left-handed baseball pitchers are usually flaky characters. Bill Lee was one of the flakiest. He once claimed that he sprinkled marijuana on his pancakes. The ever stuffy Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was confused not amused.

TODAY IS...
RUSS WHITE

No Castro ho

Fidel Castro and Don Ho have something more in common than living on islands. They were both born on Aug. 13. Fuzzy Fidel is 72 today and Bubby Don is 68. One is left-handed and likes cigars, the other is a right-hander who likes pineapples. Both are kind of scary. Neither has ever been in Casselberry. Singer Don Fogelberg is 46 today, and M. Joyceless Elders, the former Surgeon General in the Clinton administration, is 65. Some believe the president ran her out because she knew too much about sex. Actress Quinn Cummings is 31 today. She's celebrating by smoking a cigar and listening to Do Ho.

Rear window

If he had lived, Alfred Hitchcock would be 99 today, and millions of his fans would have been having a party. The master of suspense was born in London on Aug. 13, 1899. He made movies that few will forget. Many are still chilled by "Psycho" and a sequel is in the works. Hitch also had a memorable TV show. He died in 1980.

She Jane, we wrong

Thank you, Susan Doble, for reminding us Jane Wyatt was once married to Ronald Reagan. Susan is our sunshine of the day.

A & Q

The answer to Wednesday's quiz: the Montana Cowboy Foot Gathering begins this week in Lewistown, Mont. Rhythmic cowboys!

Today's teaser: So you know that comic David Letterman is from Indianapolis. Now, guess which president of the United States is from there, also. Don't dog it.

Work hike will help to clean the trail to the trail

Last Sunday, now an every Sunday ritual for me, I decided to bike on the Cross-Seminole trail. Having attempted to in-line skate my way along the route before, I failed miserably after barely three-tenths of a mile into my trek. My feet appreciated walking only slightly more at the time. I am active by nature, but could not grasp the concept that so many had as they whoosh passed me gliding on the smooth, black trail's surface.

This time, biking made my trip more enjoyable. I cycled my way to the Howell Creek Trestle admiring Florida's vanishing nature, but was surprised that there were not more areas along the trail to collect the empty water bottles and the liquid fuel people buy at the local food mart. However, this Saturday, Aug. 15, the public is invited to join the Central Florida Trailblazers in their monthly work hike on the connecting trail from the Little Big Econ State Forest to the Cross-Seminole Trail here in Oviedo. Everyone will meet at 8:30 a.m. at the Oviedo Shopping Center located at the intersection of County Road 426 and State Roads 434 and 419 in downtown Oviedo.

For those who have not had the opportunity to see what a wonderful outdoor activity this is for Seminole County, this would be an excellent opportunity to meet others that actively enjoy the Florida outdoors and all the trail has to

Airport board approves budget

By Nick Pfelzau
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Sanford Airport Authority approved its fiscal 1998/99 budget Tuesday morning. The authority's Finance Director Susan Flowers explained that the overall operating budget is approximately $4 million, but by the time all of the capital items such as grants and other incomes are added, it is a $29 million dollar budget.

The budget will now go to the Sanford City Commission for final approval, at the August 24th commission meeting. Monday afternoon, the authority and city commission held a joint work session to discuss the airport's budget. Steve Coover, interim executive director, and members of the authority fielded questions by city commissioners regarding various aspects of the budget.

One of the complaints was the amount of money allocated for legal fees for the authority. According to the operating budget, the item listed under Legal Services shows $75,000 allocated for the 1997/98 budget, but an increase to $170,000 for the proposed budget.

"These legal fees are just too much," said City Commissioner Whitey Eckstein. "Do you really have that much legal work?"

Authority member Lon Howell responded, "We attended an airport seminar recently in San Francisco, and we heard that, not just us, but everywhere, attorney fees at airports are generally one of the biggest expenses."

In addition to serving as interim director, Coover is also legal counsel for the Airport Authority.

In response to a question regarding the lengthy process of seeking a permanent executive director, Coover said that the six names suggested for consideration, had been trimmed to five due to one person withdrawing his name. He said the five are expected to be trimmed to possibly three at an August 21st meeting.

Response from members of the city commission suggested the search might be improved if personal interviews get under way with the top selection, rather than continue to pare the numbers.

Coover said the search group presently expects a new director will be determined and would probably start in September.

On another matter, while no specific details were revealed, it was indicated that new development or improvements at the Orlando-Sanford Airport might come from military operations, with Navy Reserve and Marine Corps Reserve both expressing interest in setting up operations at the facility.

Driving under the influence

Bonnie Ann Steiner, 37, of 150 Cedar Lake, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police Sunday at 18th Street and French Avenue when officers said she appeared to have been in an accident. An officer retraced her vehicle and discovered a sign post and tree had been struck on the Sanford Marina. She was subsequently arrested on charges of driving under the influence, damage to property, reckless driving, and leaving the scene of an accident involving damage.

John H. Marriot, 43, of 1901 W. First Street, Sanford, was stopped by deputies at Sanford Avenue and Wylie Street Tuesday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, and operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license.

Garold James Buckner, 308 Bahia Circle, Longwood, was arrested Monday as the result of a traffic stop by Altamonte Springs police on E. Altamonte Drive. He was charged with driving under the influence.

Eric Richard Waltenbaugh, 33, of 2752 Beardall Avenue, Sanford, was arrested at a traffic stop Monday by sheriff's deputies at SR-46 and Brisson Avenue. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving with a suspended/revoked license (habitual).

Christian G. Lins, 22, of 308 Rachelle Avenue, Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police at a convenience store in the 100 block of N. French Avenue Monday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving.

David Lee Navickas, 48, of Casselberry, was stopped by Lake Mary Police at Country Club Road and Lake Mary boulevard Wednesday morning. He was charged with driving under the influence.

Alcohol possession

Jose L. Candelario Jr., 23, and Gilberto S. Trevino, 18, both of Altamonte Springs, were arrested by Altamonte Springs police Tuesday. Officers with the Ready Response Team investigated four persons believed to be underage, loitering in the 500 block of Palm Springs Drive, possibly drinking beer.

Candelario was subsequently charged with giving/possession of alcohol to a person under 21, and possession of under 20 grams of cannabis. Trevino was charged with possession of alcohol by a person under 21 years of age.

Astor

Florida Department of Environmental Protection all voiced their opposition to the project.

After the last speaker, the district commissioner, Daryl McLain, said, "I've heard nothing that would change my mind at this time," and made a motion to approve the amendment and rezoning. The motion was seconded by Dick Van Der Weide.

In discussion, Commissioner Grant Maloy said, "I sympathize with the property owner in trying to do the best for their property."

Chairman Morris said he didn't concur with the environmental evidence presented and felt the buffering offered by the developer was sufficient.

Commissioner Win Adams cast the lone dissenting vote. On Wednesday he said he voted the way he did because, "It broke into the Wekiva River Protection Area. I think the long term economic benefit to Seminole County is to protect those wilderness areas."

In the audience, the Pelhams were congratulated for a "well-deserved victory," but Faith Jones, one of the homeowners who led the charge against the development said Wednesday, "We're certainly going to be interested in seeing what DCA is going to say."

DCA, the Florida department which regulates growth, will have to find the land use amendment in compliance with Seminole County's comprehensive plan. The homeowners will have the opportunity to respond after DCA makes its determination.

Jones said she will be at the Wekiva Small Area Study community meeting tonight. "We're still very concerned about the density," she said. Because Astor Farms is partially located within the WRPA, the homeowners are concerned that the densities proposed will set precedents for "leap frog development". The study is being held to "establish planning strategies to guide future activities and protect rural character as defined by the Wekiva River Protection Act". Jones and the homeowners had hoped the decision on Astor Farms could wait until after the results of the small area study were compiled.

The small area study convenes in the commission chambers in the County Services Building at 7 p.m.

said. "That was the very reason he was selected."

In the newly created position, Cooke also will market domestic services and initiate community outreach programs with local travel agencies and organizations. In addition, he will be involved in developing the airport's surrounding property into aviation related business, Byron said.

"He'll have his finger in most everything here," he said. "He'll be a major player."

The 1,800-acre airport complex handles two flights a day for its domestic carriers -- Delta and Continental -- and hundreds for its general aviation facility -- Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. This year, the airport and its 68 employees expect about 800,000 passenger departures and arrivals, Byron said.

The DBIA is currently expanding its international terminal, however its sole international carrier ceased operations last year. The airport, which has been in existence since 1929, completed a new domestic terminal in 1992. Unlike Sanford's airport, which reports to the city council, the Daytona airport reports to the Volusia County Council.

During his nine years with the Sanford Airport Authority, Cooke had been praised for his efforts in overseeing the airport's dramatic growth, particularly with charter carriers. Passenger counts exceeded one million during peak season.

He resigned unexpectedly in April after a vote of no confidence by Airport Authority board members, when they decided not to renew his contract. Since last year, Cooke's actions regarding growth and environmental issues had been questioned by the board and Sanford Mayor Larry Dale. At times, Cooke's management philosophy did not mesh with that of the city's.

"I know we didn't see eye to eye but I wish him the best, as I would to anyone, in his new position," said Dale. "I don't have an ax to grind." Cooke was unavailable for comment.

"What happens is that a day or two before the voting takes place, there are hundreds of calls from voters who say they need more information of the judges," Wright said.

Leave a good thing alone is the cry from those with opposing views and those who suspect the Seminole GOP is itching for a chance to support two-term incumbent John Sloop, who is opposed by former prosecutor and assistant state attorney Jeanne Sloop.

Gold has notified the GOP she isn't interested in the endorsement, and Sloop maintains he has no connection to the party. Both say they are aware of the existing laws and do not want to break them.

Attorney Harry Jacobs says the GOP is trying to throw the weight of the party behind Sloop, and that they are flagrantly breaking the law. Jacobs wrote a letter to members of the Executive party but Stelling said he made a number of serious errors. He and other Republicans say it is clear that Jacobs is a Democrat who is backing Gold.

The injunction to stop the GOP from endorsing is from its own members not from an opposing party or group. This is because there isn't much of an opposing party to mount resistance. The Democratic party has lost many members to the Republicans, and is desperately seeking new leaders. There are still some 60,000 registered Democrats with no one to support.

Tourney

Kentucky at 8:30 p.m. (see complete schedule in Sports, Page 2B).

Other teams in the tournament are Team TPS (Louisville, Kentucky), Reece/Sports World (Lebanon, Tennessee), Steele's (Brook Park, Ohio), Backstop (Aurora, Indiana), Sunbelt (Centerville, Georgia) and Sierra (Reno, Nevada).
The tournament will continue starting at 8 a.m. on Friday and Saturday with games all day (last game set to start at 9 p.m.) and then wrap up with two or three games (depending on the number of losses by teams involved) starting at 9 a.m. on Sunday.
Kissane, a 6-foot-5, 255-pound outfielder who now calls Naples home, is considered one of the top up-and-coming players in the country who many think will become one of the best ever.

Anyone who attended last year's finals at the stadium may remember that Kissane was the player that hit a one-out, two-run home run over the 385-foot sign in left-center in the bottom of the seventh inning that gave Ritch's Superior a 30-29 victory over Shen Valley for the World Series championship.

Mello, 6-foot-2, 225-pounds, is from Johnston, Rhode Island and widely considered the best shortstop in the game. He has exceptional power and has a cannon for an arm on defense.

Kissane and Mello were on opposite sides of the field last year, as Mello was a member of the Shen Valley team that suffered back-to-back losses to Kissane and Ritch's Superior.

After the season the top five players from those two teams were put on the newly formed super team, Team TPS.

Tournament passes are available for $20 per person or individual season tickets can be purchased for $5. All children under 12 years of age will be admitted free of charge to all games.

Various food, beverage and souvenir vendors will also be on hand.

For additional information about the tournament or tickets, contact Kim Soenowaki of the Sanford Recreation Department at (407) 330-5697, extension 5795.

Burg

Pontiac minivan, parked at Burg's residence was checked. "When we tracked it down," said Beary, "we found it had been reported stolen through Orange County." Beary said Burg allegedly owned the vehicle, reported it stolen, and was compensated for the loss by his insurance carrier.

Burg came to political prominence in 1996 when he ran for a Lake Mary commission seat, opposing David Meador in the mayoral election. Burg is also well-known for his elaborate holiday displays inside and outside his Timucuan home.

In addition to the warrant arrests, Lake Mary police charged Burg with false report of the commission of a crime and attaching tag not assigned to vehicle.

Now is the time to do something about metal bats

SANFORD - It's time to make a change. Sometimes change is hard. Sometimes people don't want to do something so obviously correct that it makes too much sense.

It's time to go back to wood. Before someone gets hurt. Actually, someone has already gotten hurt. The issue is aluminum, or titanium bats. Sure, they can hit a softball or a baseball a lot farther, but they are becoming a danger to every pitcher from the major leagues down to high school softball.

Anyone who saw Seminole pitcher Maria Duval take a line drive to the face last spring knows what can happen.

Winter Springs pitcher Aimee Nettles also had a liner off her face during summer ball.

Fortunately, both are okay and expected to play next year.

Any devotee of ESPN has seen repeated shots of Baltimore Oriole Mike Mussina and Houston Astro Billy Wagner getting their heads in the way of line drives.

And those shots were with wooden bats. Imagine what Mark McWire could do to someone with a titanium stick.

There are also reasons to switch to wood that go beyond a potential maiming. First of all, there's not a high school pitcher in his right mind who will throw inside.

With a wooden bat, an inside pitch is one to fight off, not one to send deep to the opposite field. It's also the main reason more high school and college games end up with ridiculous scores like 20-15 than 2-1.

It also hampers players looking to make it out of high school into the professional ranks. Players like Clyde Williams and Chris Lauruma, recent Seminole grads, along with several other players from Seminole County, as well as all over America, struggle when they get to the professional ranks where many of them are required to hit with wooden bats for the first time.

After speaking to most of the players drafted in the past several years, most of them have said they've worked with wooden bats, but, in three years of covering Seminole County baseball and several more elsewhere, I've yet to see a player take a wooden bat into an actual game situation.

Is there that much of a difference?

Yes, there is. The inside pitch becomes hittable. Power stats are inflated because a lot of homers off titanium or aluminum are simple fly balls with wood.

And let's get back to the danger factor. Someday, someone is going to get seriously hurt. Duval and Nettles were lucky.

Eventually a ball is going to come off the bat so hard that we have something beyond missing the rest of a season.

A major aluminum bat company is currently suing the NCAA for restriction of trade, stating that the NCAA is trying to place a limit on the amount of force a bat can place on a ball.

It gets too complicated for anyone but a physicist to understand, but the company, Easton, is saying that its bats should be as powerful as they can be.

But anyone who saw Duval's eye the day after her surgery should be able to see that either the pitcher's mound is too close or that something regarding the aluminum bats needs to be done.

Today's hitters - baseball and softball players - are bigger and stronger.

They don't need the advantages of an aluminum bat.

Go back to wood before somebody gets hurt.

Last Second Shot: Did you know the Lake Mary girls' basketball team open its 1998-99 season against Boon?

That makes it an opener between the two best teams in the state of Florida as well as two nationally-ranked teams.

Predators fall a win short

SAC quartet leads Central Florida team to second in AAU national tournament

By Jeff Berlnicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

NORFOLK, VA. - Pitching been described through the ages as 85-percent of the game and, lately, a lost art.

For the Predators, a Central Florida AAU baseball team, it was everything.

The Predators, made up of several players from Oviedo and Lake Howell high schools as well as from surrounding counties and states, battled back from a tough first round at the AAU national tournament all the way to the national championship game before falling, 10-2, to the East Cobb Astros from Georgia last weekend in Norfolk, Va.

For the Predators, it was the fourth straight year they've traveled to Virginia under coach John Lubrano whose son, Paul, is a major contributor on the team.

"We did really well," John Lubrano said. "That's the most competitive we've ever been."

The Predators were down only 3-0 going into the fourth inning of the championship game before the flood gates opened and Cobb ran away. Still, after fifth and two 12th-place finishes in the past three years, it had to be considered a success for the Predators.

"We just made a bunch of silly mistakes in the final," John Lubrano said. "Usually, we get there because of outstanding pitching. It was our most talented pitching staff in four years. That's what helps us so much nationally."

All four Seminole County players made an impact. First baseman Roberto Santana and second baseman Chris Gane play for the renowned Lake Howell program and Paul Lubrano and Justin Holmes are key members of the Oviedo Lions.

Lubrano pitched three strong games, including one of the best games of the tournament, before taking the ball for the championship game on only three days of rest.

His two-hitter against a team from Houston was a highlight of the tournament. With deep losses in the Oviedo pitching staff next spring, Lubrano should become one of the dominant forces in the county.

Gane batted over .300 for the tournament and slugged a homer. He's got a solid glove and was one of the major reasons for the improvement on the Lake Howell pitching staff this spring.

Santana can hit, but he is another strong gloveman at first. He saves errors.

"Santana was so consistent for us," John Lubrano said. "He made some spectacular plays for us, especially in the semi-finals."

Holmes rounds out the Seminole County contingent. He did a little bit of everything and was a key man out of the bullpen.

"Justin was the backbone of our infield," John Lubrano said.

The rest of the squad was made up of players from all over Central Florida as well as Gainesville and Alabama. They've played together at various age levels through the past few years and finally reached their best finish last week.

The Predators actually went into the tournament at a disadvantage compared to everyone else. Most of the 43-team field consisted of players who were together year-round. For the Predators, John Lubrano said, his team always worked around high school schedules and American Legion ball.

Despite the disadvantage, the Predators reached inside when they needed to. They finished the first round of play at Norfolk with a 1-2 record, but advanced to the second round on the basis of runs scored.

In the next round, the Predators were 2-1 and, again, found a way to advance.

That's when they got hot. In the quarter-final game, they pounded the New Jersey Orioles, 11-2 behind 10 strikeouts from Nick Slack of Dalton High.

The semi-final game went extra innings, but Bobby Wynn of Gainesville went the route in a 5-1 win. Wynn sports a 91-mile per hour fastball and Colonial High's Nolan Gormann blasted a 450-homer to push the Predators into the final.

Colonial's Dennis Cavilla and Paul Lubrano earned all-tournament honors.

The Predators also proved that pitching is the most important thing in baseball.

"Pitching was the key," John Lubrano said. "I believed in this team because of that, but baseball is baseball and it humbles you."

The best softball team ever?

By Russ Smith
HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Is Team USA the best softball team ever assembled?
On paper it probably is, but that only counts on paper, the team still has to prove it on the field.

Wednesday afternoon at Historic Sanford Municipal Stadium one of the top players from Team USA, Doug Shannon, and John Mabe, got in a lesson on hitting fundamentals that had the Florida Coy crowd eating and talking.

The pair of experts were in town to promote the City of Sanford and the Seminole Place and Tournament, Page 2B.

Tournament

County Convention and Visitor's Bureau sponsored ASA National Men's Super Slow Pitch Softball Tournament that will get underway this evening.

Ten teams from across the country will compete for the second leg of the Grand Slam of major slow pitch softball on Rinker-Stromtorf Field at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Waterbury, Connecticut-based Nitch's Superior came out of the Looser's Bracket to beat Shen Valley 31-18 and 30-20 (with the two teams combining for 30 home runs on the regulation baseball field) to win their second straight ASA championship.

Kleane, a 6-foot-5, 255-pound outfielder who now calls Florida home, ended up being the star of the championship game, hitting a one-out, two-run home run in the bottom of the seventh inning over the 300-foot sign to give Nitch's the 30-20 triumph. Kleane also had another home run and a double in the finale.

Nitch's Superior second baseman DeWayne Nevitt (who was walked to get to Kleane) was named the tournament Most Valuable Player after going 24-for-36 (.667) with a tournament high 20 home runs, 28 runs scored and 37 RBI.

Mello, a 6-foot-2, 235-pounder, is generally regarded as the best shortstop in slow pitch softball. He was a member of Shen Valley (along with current TPS teammate Rusty Bumgardner, a 6-foot-6, 270-pound second baseman, who hit 208 home runs and was the Supreme Softball 1997 Player of the Year) last year, but now calls Kleane and Nevitt teammates on the newly formed team.

When asked if this is the best team ever Kleane said, "We should be playing a lot better, there is a lot of talent on this team."

Team TPS was formed after last year's Grand Slam with the top five players of Nitch's Superior and Shen Valley, along with one of the top players from Lighthouse making up the squad.

The team boasts five players who hit better than 170 home runs last year and has a tremendous defense headed by Mello and pitcher's Phil Jobe (from Miami) and veteran Rick Weiterman, who has played on 32 National Championship winning teams.

But Kleane also said that breaking up Shen and Nitch's also allowed some other top players to go to other teams and make them that much stronger.

One game earlier this season in Portland, Oregon showed how awesome Team TPS can be.

Playing its only game of the day, Team TPS scored a record 69 runs...in one inning and also hit a record 31 home runs during the frame.

"It (the inning) got very ugly," said Kleane. "We scored 45 runs without making an out."

The game ended with TPS scoring 64 runs in three innings, still short of the record 122 runs that Shen Valley scored in a four inning game in 1997.

The team, play its first game at 10 a.m. on Friday, finished the 1998 regular season campaign with a 56-19 record and hit 1,215 home runs (better than 17 per game), even though many of the games were declared over after the team batted in only three innings.

Team TPS has a charitable program this year, "Home Runs for the Heart", hitting home runs in memory of Dirk "The Blaster" Androff, quite possibly the top player in the country at the time, who passed away from a heart ailment last fall, just two weeks after his 38th birthday.

For every home run the team hits, it makes a $1 donation to the American Heart Association.

Rand Robin portion of the tournament will be against Hartselle, Alabama at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Making up the National Division is the host team from Odessa, Rayman, Puerto Rico, Charleston, South Carolina and Cherryville, North Carolina.

Should Sanford win the American Division they would play the National Division winner at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

If Post 53 finishes as the American Division runner-up, they would play the National Division Winner at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

The Championship Game would be at 7 p.m. on Monday.

If Sanford repeats as champion the team will not return home, but head directly to Nevada for the World Series last next week.

Back in April we discussed the circumstances under which filing for bankruptcy is advantageous, the circumstances under which it is not, and we briefly discussed the three main types of bankruptcy proceedings available. In addition to taking these into consideration it is helpful for a debtor to have a basic understanding of what filing for bankruptcy can and cannot accomplish.

First of all, filing for bankruptcy may make it possible for a debtor to eliminate the legal obligation to pay most or all of his or her debts. This is called a "discharge" of debts and is generally the main goal of a debtor when he or she files for bankruptcy. In addition to possible discharge of debts, filing for bankruptcy may: 1) Stop foreclosure on a debtor's house or mobile home and allow the debtor an opportunity to catch up on missed payments; 2) Prevent repossession of a car or other property, or force the creditor to return property even after it has been repossessed; 3) Stop wage garnishment, debt collection harassment, and similar creditor actions to collect a debt; 4) Restore or prevent termination of utility service; and 5) Allow a debtor to challenge the claims of creditors who have committed fraud or who are otherwise trying to collect more than you really owe.

PEOPLE'S LAW

MANNY ACEVEDO

Filing for bankruptcy may accomplish a number of things that allow a debtor some breathing time and an opportunity for the debtor to get back on his or her feet. However, filing for bankruptcy cannot cure every financial problem. Filing for bankruptcy will usually not eliminate debts owed to secured creditors. Secured creditors are those creditors that have taken a mortgage or other lien on property as collateral for the loan. Common examples are car loans and home mortgages.

A debtor can force secured creditors to take payments over time in the bankruptcy process and bankruptcy can eliminate a debtor's obligation to pay any additional money if the property is taken, but a debtor generally cannot keep the collateral unless he or she continues to pay the debt. Additionally, filing for bankruptcy usually will not discharge the types of debt singled out by bankruptcy law for special treatment. These types of debt include child support, alimony and certain other debts related to divorce (under certain circumstances), some student loans, court restitution orders, criminal fines, and some taxes.

Furthermore, filing for bankruptcy will not protect co-signers on your debts. When a relative or friend has co-signed a loan for a debtor and the debtor discharges the loan in bankruptcy, the co-signer may still have to repay all or part of the loan. Lastly, filing for bankruptcy will not discharge debts that arise after bankruptcy has been filed.

Without a doubt filing for bankruptcy can accomplish a great number of things whose goal is to afford the debtor a fresh start. This fresh start translates into a lot less stress for the debtor and his or her family. However, as noted above, filing for bankruptcy cannot cure every financial problem. Therefore in deciding whether to proceed in bankruptcy a debtor should consider his or her circumstances, as noted back in April, and what filing is likely to accomplish. In the coming weeks we will be discussing other aspects of bankruptcy law.

Presents overwhelm children

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three children, all under the age of 12. My problem concerns my father, who on every occasion with the gifts they buy my children. I know of no one else who spends so much on gifts for my kids as my father does on birthdays and Christmas. My mother-in-law buys gifts for all three on each of the children's birthdays as the other two "aunt" feel bad.

I never used to purchase clothes because they buy so many. I still buy gifts for the kids, but I simply couldn't maintain what they receive from their grandparents. My mother-in-law has been giving gifts before they finish, and that they have difficulty remembering everything they received. Don't misunderstand; I'm very grateful, but I find their generosity almost overwhelming. I have asked them to not buy, but I only receive protests between us.

My parents also buy my kids' birthday clothes. Consequently, about three years ago, they stopped giving the children any gifts at all. When I asked my mother why, she told me she couldn't compete with the other grandparents. Abby, my parents are loving grandparents, but they don't have the kind of money my father-in-law has. My husband thinks my parents are terrible for not giving gifts. He thinks he should stop too, but my mother says why bother when the children are so overwhelmed they don't know what gift came from which family member.

So far, the children haven't questioned why only one side of their family gives them gifts, but I know they will one day. I want them to be able to appreciate the gifts they receive, but I fear that they will grow up spoiled. How should I handle this?

GENUINELY CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Since you cannot limit the number of gifts your father gives your children, limit the number they can open at one time. Assume your parents don't know that it is inappropriate to give you a quantity of gifts. If you are the recipient of a large quantity of gifts, you may have to decide a portion of the children's gifts to be given to your children. If you wish to be more generous, you will be working against the other grandparents. The importance of giving to those who are less fortunate.

DEAR ABBY: The reader survey on last page's "Truth in the English language" column led me to write that I am a born and bred Southerner. And my Southerness did have a wonderful bearing on my view on which side of the road we drive on.

The reader who shared with a link about driving right and left with me said that the children have two different ways: one from North Carolina and one from Florida. A parent has to know. A small, one-way street. The two lanes are different. Our pet is a little cat. Our other pet is a Shetland pony. We are a family of four and two dogs. We have a very nice home and a large other house in the same town.

I used to be on and on for a month of Southerness, but I don't want to be Southern. Abby, I tell you the truth and it's not a lie - the South is a truly wonderful place!
