and Powell conferred. At last they agreed to let Leonard bat with the count at three balls and two strikes. Leonard flied out to Alexander. Hudson closed the next two men up and the game was over.

Hudson pitched good ball, permitting 10 hits but scattering them effectively. Donnelly and Walker, who relieved him in the sixth inning, permitted seven singles.

Sanford began its scoring in the first inning by getting one run. Again in the fifth they marked up three runs. They added another in the seventh and two more in the ninth.

Daytona Beach scored once in the first, twice in the fifth, and in the eighth chalked up their final run of the evening.

Leading the Sanford clubmen at the plate were Dale Alexander and Hillis Layne with three hits each. Lynn got two doubles and a single for his share. And Alexander collected a pair of singles and a triple. Babe, Stefani, and Elliott got a pair of safeties; apiece to head the Daytona slugger.

Tonight the third game of the series will be played here with Cleo Jeter on the mound for the Lookouts. Wild Bill Colone will probably do the tossing for the Islanders.

The Neutrality Act

Again illustrating the rapidity with which events are moving now that this "lightning war" has broken out in Europe, President Roosevelt, only ten days after Britain's declaration, issues a call for a special session of Congress to convene on the 21st of this month for the purpose of revising the so-called Neutrality Act.

As the act now stands, it is unlawful for the United States to sell munitions of war to warring nations. It is not unlawful to sell munitions to Japan, long at war with China, because within the terms of the act, Japan is not a warring nation. England and France are. Therefore under the act we cannot sell them munitions, though we may sell them the raw materials out of which munitions are made.

Furthermore, we may sell them these raw materials for delivery in our own ships on a credit basis. If there is any basis whatever for the assumption that the sale of munitions has anything at all to do with our getting into war, it would seem that the sale of raw materials, shipped in our own ships which might be sunk by submarines, would be just as hazardous.

It is contended that we have a perfect right to sell our own munitions to any country we choose, and that to refuse to sell them to Britain and France which sorely need them, is an unneutral act in itself, tending to help Germany win the war.

It does not seem unneutral to President Roosevelt to place all shipments to belligerent nations on a "cash and carry" basis with no discrimination as to whether they are munitions or raw materials. If the British send their ships over here to buy our planes and pay for them and carry them back to England, why shouldn't we sell them, particularly if we would do the same thing for Germany under the same circumstances?

Of course it is recognized that Germany very likely would find it impossible to send ships to America for the purchase of anything, and even if she did, she would not have the necessary cash with which to pay for them.

It may further be argued too that if this country supplies Britain and France with all the munitions and supplies they need, they will whip Germany without the assistance of American soldiers; whereas, if for any reason whatever, we fail to supply them, Germany may very likely win, a not very pleasant prospect for the United States, unless we do actively enter the war at a later date with men as well as materials.

The Submarine Menace

Reports indicating that German submarines are lurking off New York harbor, the Panama Canal, and in parts of the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea, ready to sink the first belligerent or neutral ship which strikes their fancy, give rise to considerable speculation as to just what the proper procedure should be in the event ships are sunk in American waters.

Of course we might adopt the Wilsonian policy of writing notes to the German government but since this method proved so ineffectual last time, either in preventing the sinking of ships, or keeping us out of war, we doubt it will be tried again.

Personally we are at a loss for any opinion as to exactly what our government should do under such circumstances but we are inclined to believe that modern problems require modern methods for solution.

Our government might secretly issue an order to all naval commanders instructing them to sink on sight any submarine found within 500 miles of our shore line.

Further instructions would be secretly issued by our government for the naval commander who sank the submarine to deny immediately that he had sunk it, or that he had even seen a submarine within 48 hours of the sinking.

If worst came to worst and it should be proved that a large oil spot were found on the water, we could apologize. But in any event we should make sure that the submarine was sunk before the apology was issued.

That would be the way the Nazis would handle the situation.

JUST AS in the case of the arts, so in the case of business there are persons gifted with rare talents which they may apply for the benefit of others.

It is not the profits which attract the entrepreneur, for how can we explain his tireless efforts and ceaseless endeavors which continue long after financial success has been achieved?

Many a capitalist—as we sometimes call the entrepreneur—accumulates enough wealth to give up his business activities to enjoy a life of luxury and leisure.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By RUSSELL KAY

I think that all the newspaper folks who were members of the Press party visiting the New York World's Fair for "Florida Week" ceremonies will agree that the highlight of the trip was a night flight over Manhattan and the Fair.

As guests of Eddie Rickenbacker we were taken from our hotel, the Marlborough, Broadway, and in private motor cars to the Newark airport where we boarded Eastern Air Lines "Florida Flyer."

The trip from the hotel to the airport, via the Lincoln tunnel and over velvet super-highways which for a distance skirted the river to afford a magnificent view of the Manhattan skyline, was itself a thrill, but nothing to compare with the actual flight.

For some of our party it was a "first flight" and they were a bit nervous as they took their seats and were immediately strapped in by the attendant who cautioned them not to smoke until after the take-off.

Taxiing down the field, the giant ship turned for the take-off, the motors roared as they warmed up, and then before anyone knew it we were off the ground to look down on a sight which, once seen, could never be forgotten.

Leaving Newark we glided directly over the Statue of Liberty while greater New York in a blaze of glory lay stretched below, a veritable fairland of light and color.

The history and lower Manhattan with its stately group of towering buildings were easily identified while midtown, Times Square, Rockefeller Center and the Empire State Building, all a blaze of light, were recognized.

As we cruised along I realized that no one has really seen New York in a manner to realize and appreciate its size and grandeur until they have viewed it as we did, from the air by night.

And the amazing wonder of modern aviation was illustrated as we brought home to us as we sat here in comfortable reclining seats, surrounded by every luxury and convenience, with attentive flight stewards ever alert to insure our comfort and enjoyment.

Any fears that we may have felt prior to the take-off quickly vanished as we progressed through space, for the roar of the mighty motors, only faintly audible within the cosy cabin, were steady and rhythmic and our pilot and co-pilot, young men, confident, steady of hand and keen of eye, handled the great ship with the ease you or I would exercise in handling a car for the Fall.

Flying about 180 miles an hour at an altitude of 2,000 feet we crossed the harbor, followed Manhattan uptown to turn east across the river and make for the Fall grounds which would be distinguished in the distance some ten miles away as a masterpiece of modern illumination.

Folks just don't know their newspaper men! They have funny ideas about their local editors.

You can't measure a newspaper man by an ordinary yardstick. He doesn't sell stuff by the yard and he doesn't offer you a bargain in terms of dollars and cents.

An editor is a funny human being. In an hour he may be helping a pastor solve problems for his flock and helping a saloon keeper try to keep within the written law.

And your own tragic moments—these are commonplace to your editor. He has them every week. Not yours, but someone's. He helps you across the worst of your affliction today and helps another tomorrow.

There are few who deliberately classify the home town newspaper as their pet aversion. They may have their own peevishness against him but they won't offend on air. He has been friend to many and somebody will stick up for him.

He hurts you now and then when you have something you want him to print and he changes it to conform to the style he has set for his paper. You don't realize that what you admire about his paper is that style he is so zealous to maintain. You couldn't unless you, also, were trained in newspaper editing. It is something you have to learn by experience.

And when you get your stuff in that kind of a newspaper—who cares? A real newspaper man who has it in his blood is liable to wake up in the middle of the night, seek the nearest typewriter and dash off what is on his mind.

These are just a few thoughts for newspaper readers to entertain and use in evaluating what they read. If the newspaper man, editor or reporter, says so, they can bank on some investigation having been made before the OK was given to the statement.

Anyway, don't measure your editor with the same yardstick you use on the street corner gossip. The gossip isn't called upon to prove his words.

The area of Germany (including Austria, Bohemia and Moravia) is approximately the same as that of Texas.

WE, THE WOMEN By RUTH MILLETT

Smoke and social smokers are not all women. If you live in a city you've met again and again the "Social Firmans" who are ready to climb the social ladder as long as he can get into his tail-coat.

He's young and nice enough looking. He went to the right college, because he knew at 18 that going to the right school is important.

He isn't overly intelligent or bright, but he's a S. F. But while his mind isn't good enough to carry him up the ladder, it's good enough to let him know who are the "right people."

He does not marry early. He's waiting around for the right girl—one who has money, family, looks. (He could do without the looks.) Unfortunately these girls are much rarer than the S. F.'s.

His clothes are tweedy, and if he can't live at a good address (the usually can't) he tries to make his way of living "smarting" in his talk. When he entertains, he does it at the best place—even if he has to economize for months afterward.

He is impressed by names, money, position—and usually by snootiness. He reasons that if a person is snooty enough he must be worth knowing.

He identifies himself with the wealthy. Never has he admitted to himself that he is nothing more or less than a $40-a-week clerk, and that the logical girl for him to marry is the girl at the next desk who would know how to get along on his salary.

Maybe it's just as well—for the girl at the next desk has her eye on a young man who didn't go to the right school, has never met the right people, and has a too hold on the success ladder instead of the social ladder.

Here's a meal in a hurry! Bake biscuit dough in a loaf pan. While it's hot, split it carefully, fill with a thick layer of creamed peas, and hard-cooked eggs. Replace the top and cover with more of the creamed mixture. Garnish with thin slices of sour or dill pickles.

Inspect the refrigerator daily and wipe up any spilled foods as soon as possible, otherwise bacteria may develop that could easily contaminate the rest of the food. This care is especially important in warm weather.

Church Circle Meets At Mrs. Byrd's Home

The Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. T. Bradford Byrd on Golden Lake with Mrs. Claude Herndon, chairman, Mrs. Byrd, G. E. McKay, Mrs. Ross Adams, Mrs. H. Shultz and Mrs. A. D. Zachary as hostesses.

Mrs. Roy Tillis, president of the class, presided over the meeting which opened with the class song, a prayer and the devotional.

After all business matters were discussed, a white elephant sale was enjoyed with T. Bradford Byrd helping to dispose of the articles for which a nice sum was realized.

Guests were then invited into the dining room where sandwiches and punch were served by Mrs. H. B. Odham Jr. and Mrs. Kinchen Powers from the dining room table which was overlaid with a linen cloth.

Present in addition to the hostesses were: Mrs. J. L. Clark, Miss Loula Evans, Mrs. H. A. Swanson, Mrs. G. E. White, Mrs. C. F. Branam, Mrs. J. E. Preston, Miss Helen Ward, Mrs. E. H. Duncan, Mrs. H. Florida Retains High Position In Producing Citrus

State Grew Nearly Half Of Total Of 122,500,000 Boxes

LAKELAND, Sept. 14. — Despite tremendous increases in production, particularly in Texas grapefruit, in the last few years, Florida continues to hold a dominating position in the citrus industry of the United States, growing nearly one-half of the 122,500,000 boxes produced in this country during the 1938-39 season.

This is shown by the annual citrus summary of the federal-state market news service, compiled by H. F. Wilson, which will be ready for distribution in a few days.

It was the second year more than 100,000,000 boxes of citrus had been produced in the United States; the summary shows, with 102,484,000 boxes in the 1937-38 season and 122,498,000 boxes for the season just closed.

Florida's production of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines amounted to 57,600,000 boxes, compared with 41,900,000 in 1937-38, an increase of more than 16,000,000 boxes. California had a slight decrease in production of both oranges and grapefruit, but Texas jumped ahead substantially in grapefruit. Other citrus states produced about the same amount as a year ago. Florida kept pace with the increase in national production of oranges, the five-year average production from 1934-35-1938 in the annual citrus report showing a gain from 9,977,000 boxes to 22,740,000 boxes, while total U. S. production for the same period rose from 29,809,000 to 64,114,000. Grapefruit production in Florida lagged somewhat behind national figures, due principally to large Texas gains. National production of grapefruit increased from 7,623,000 to 22,029,000 boxes, or about 400 percent. Florida's grapefruit production increased from 7,977,000 to 16,560,000 boxes during the same period, or only 200 percent. Texas accounts for this national gain to a large extent, the five-year average tabulation showing that state rising from 81,000 boxes to 2,818,000 boxes, or 400 times as much.

Movement of Florida's crop last season produced many new records, including amount of fruit shipped, length of season and shipments during single weeks. The peak week last season came on Dec. 17, when 4,818 cars went to market, nearly 1,000 more than the same week a year before. Three thousand cars a week was a common occurrence during the 1938-39 season, with three weeks in December showing that much or more. Starting with the first week in January there were 13 consecutive weeks when the total movement exceeded 3,000 cars.

Through August 19, the summary shows 107,710 cars of Florida citrus went to market, the first time it has gone over the 100,000-car mark. During the 1937-38 season, 80,287 cars were shipped. Other citrus states produced about the same amount the longest period in history. While past seasons show scattering shipments in late summer, this year there was a heavy movement in June, which continued through July when nearly 1,000,000 boxes were shipped. August shipments also were relatively large, with an occasional car still being shipped early in September.

Commercial canner output broke all records during the season, the citrus report shows, accounting for 1,187,544 boxes of oranges and 8,481,953 boxes of grapefruit through the week of Aug. 26. The federal government's surplus commodity program was responsible for diverting 2,445,680 boxes of citrus from commercial channels, including 1,747,224 boxes of grapefruit and 41,855 boxes of oranges diverted by the grower to take advantage of government purchase program amounting to 739,451 boxes of grapefruit for canning and 908,222 boxes of grapefruit for fresh fruit shipment. In addition, the government purchased 299,577 boxes of oranges for fresh fruit use.

figures 10,000 more cars sold this year than the average of these former seasons. California prices also were lower, or a decrease of 50c from a year ago. Total sales of California oranges on the auctions were 17,157 cars averaging $2.82 per box compared with 15,549 cars in 1937-38 which sold for an average of $3.12.

"During the seven-year period prior to 1938-39," the summary continues, "the number of cars of Florida grapefruit ranged mostly from 8,000 to 10,000 cars. In comparing the volume of grapefruit on the auctions with oranges, one should keep in mind that an increasing volume of grapefruit is expanding rapidly with resultant competition particularly in the middle west. The annual citrus summary contains all tables previously utilized and several new ones which it was felt would be of interest to the Florida industry. Tables of distribution, weekly auction prices on the various markets, and many other statistical tabulations are included. Daily reports by the federal-state market news service will be resumed as soon as movement of fruit from the new crop warrants, Mr. Wilson said.

Wicked Steer Chokes Five Hogs To Death
BISHOP, Tex., Sept. 14. — (P) — Whether it was with malice aforethought, Rancher N. A. Pearson has no way of knowing, but here is what his steer did to five hogs:
The hogs were in the habit of feeding at a grain box with a lid on it.
When the steer found a hog feeding, he would climb on the lid and choke the hog to death. Five times he did this, until all five hogs were dead.
Then, unmolested by hogs, he ate feed.

British Commission Heads For U. S. To Buy Canned Foods

LAKELAND, Sept. 14.—With a British commission headed for the United States to set up headquarters for purchasing canned foodstuffs during the war period, Florida canners and other industry leaders are taking preliminary steps to have canned Florida citrus placed on the essential list of products which the commission will buy for the military and civilian groups of the United Kingdom.

Man Has Right To Get Drunk, So What?

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A man may have an "inalienable right" to get drunk but a police judge also has an "inalienable right" to fine him for it, says Judge Louis A. Buckley.

BALLOON ESCAPES

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A balloon barrage bag of the British type, with a cable trailing, was drifting freely over Denmark yesterday with three Danish planes in pursuit.

The Nizam of Hyderabad, who has $500,000,000 in gold, $2,000,000,000 in jewels, and an income of $50,000,000 a year, is probably the richest man in the world.

The British board of trade issued an order effective Sept. 5 which prohibits the importation, except by license, of luxuries and goods of which there are sufficient supplies in the United Kingdom.

Lines cannot obtain insurance on vessels or cargo, although this situation probably will be corrected as soon as a proper conveyance system has been established.

Florida canners are not particularly worried about this season's exports, as approximately 1,400,000 cases of canned citrus already have moved to the United Kingdom.

Nazi sky warriors somewhere in Poland hurriedly load racks of huge German bombing planes, supposedly for one of many air attacks on Warsaw.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The food commission will meet Monday to determine individual quotas and decide on maximum rations in Denmark next week.

Mt. Rainier Drops To Fourth Place

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Mount Rainier, the granite and glacial shield that dominates western Washington's skyline, isn't shrinking—but it's dropped a notch, from third to fourth place, in the altitude rankings of the nation's highest peaks.

The mountain, which rears its perpetually snow-capped head 14,408 feet above Puget Sound, dropped to fourth place recently when the U. S. Geological Survey re-measured Mount Massive, Colorado, and revised the peak's height at 14,478 feet.

The shift in rankings gave Colorado the nation's second and third highest mountains—Mount Elbert, 14,431 feet and Mount Massive.

Top of peak in the nation—at 14,995 feet—is Mount Whitney, Calif.

Rainier, defied by Indians and referred to as "The Mountain That War God," holds in the crevices of its steep slopes the greatest single peak glacial system in the United States.

In 1897, Rainier was declared the highest mountain in the United States when surveys set its altitude at 14,428. Another survey in 1913, revised the height to 14,408.

NO NEUTRALITY—SMUTS

Daytona Beach Wins First Series Game By 11 To 3

Islanders Collect 21 Hits Off Jeter And Finner In Slugfest

Frank Hudson To Toss Tonight For Lookouts While Joe Shroba Or Donnelly Will Pitch For Islanders

Daytona Beach won their first game of the Shaugnessy playoff finals last night at the Municipal Ball Park in a slugfest that saw them pound two Sanford pitchers for 21 hits to register a 11 to 3 victory. Sanford now has won two games and Daytona Beach one.

The winner will play Albany of the Georgia-Florida league. The Cardinals, who won the league last week, defeated Valdosta in the final playoff last night 7 to 2. It was their fourth straight victory.

Tonight Manager Dale Alexander will throw everything into the contest in Daytona in an effort to run the score 3 games to 1 in favor of Sanford. He announced last night lefty Frank Hudson will toss for the Lookouts. Either Joe Shroba or Donnelly will pitch for the Islanders.

Joe Jeter started on the hill for Sanford but gave way to Joe Finner at the end of the fourth frame after giving up nine hits and four runs. Finner pitched better at the hands of the sluggers from the Island City, giving up 12 hits and seven runs. Wild Bill Colone started for Daytona Beach but was yanked for Larry in the sixth inning after giving five safeties in that frame. Larry held the Lookouts to two safeties thereafter.

Prime to the game, Manager Tommy West presented a check for $50 to Umpire-in-Chief Frank Piers for the fine assessed by League President Henry Gray for his part in disputing Umpire Dick Powell's judgment of the foul.

The Islanders drew first blood by driving across a run in the first frame, adding a second run in the second, another in the third, a fourth marker in the fourth frame and two more in the fifth. They added another in the eighth and capped their scoring efforts with a four run barrage in the ninth.

Behind six runs before they scored, Sanford's heavy artillery broke loose in the ninth when they touched Colone for five hits and three runs. Colone was waved to the showers by Manager West at this point and replaced by Larry who effectively muzzled the big guns of the Lookouts.

Finner opened hostilities in the sixth by singling to right field. Willie Shroba came through with his first hit of the series by singling to right field and an-

Blocking Stressed As Gators Prepare Return To Campus

WELLES, Sept. 14 (AP)—

The 1939 University of Florida football team doesn't block well, it will be because the players haven't had plenty of practice. Coach Josh Cobb and his assistants are devoting a large part of each day's workouts in the Gator camp here to blocking but blocking is not the only thing that will be stressed in the remainder of the season. The drill book includes a number of blocking and tackling drills for the halfbacks and fullbacks. The drill book includes a number of blocking and tackling drills for the halfbacks and fullbacks.

GEORGE CAVENY, an American halfback, is tackled in the third frame of the game.

Two More Players Injured In Gator Camp Struggles

MELANA, Sept. 14 (AP)—

Two more players were injured in the Gator camp here today. One of the players was injured while blocking and the other while tackling. The injuries were reported as serious but the players were said to be participating in practice.
