AUTOMOBILE RACE

Ford Car Wins Out Over The E. M. F. In Endurance Race

Two fast running automobiles entered for a speed contest of 289 miles from Sanford to Tampa and return for a purse of $500. The race started from Sanford at 5:30 o'clock on Monday morning and the route was from Sanford to Orlando, to Kissimmee, then via Haines City, Winter Haven, skirting Bartow to Lakeland, Plant City and Tampa. Five minutes' stop was allowed at Tampa and then the return trip was made.

The contesting parties were Lawson Magruder, formerly of Orlando and now agent for the Ford cars at DeLand, and Harry Beeman, E. M. F. agent at Orlando, between whom there has been much rivalry regarding the respective merits of the automobiles they represent.

After a most exciting race in which both cars broke axles, the Ford won out and came into DeLand winner, making entire trip in 12 hours, 48 minutes.

Donegan for State Senator

The contest for the Democratic nomination to the state senate will be definitely determined next Tuesday, there being only one candidate from each county. As might be expected from the character and standing of the two candidates, the senatorial campaign has been conducted on a high plane, with dignity, good nature and moderation.

It has been the unbroken rule for a generation that the seat of this district in the senate should be alternated between Orange and Osceola counties. Now for the first time in the history of the district the Orange county Senator is a candidate for a third term.

It is the plain duty of the Osceola Democrats to protest against this effort to break the old time honored custom, and there can be no more effective or emphatic protest than to give Osceola's candidate their unanimous support next Tuesday. Now is the time for a solid Donegan vote, and a vote for Donegan will be a vote for Osceola County. There are hundreds of honorable Democrats in Orange county, who believe in justice and fair play, who recognize the unwritten custom, and who will vote for Osceola's candidate as a matter of principle.

From the standpoint of local pride there ought to be no objection to Donegan in Osceola county. In politics no man of strength in leadership can be without enemies, and Donegan undoubtedly has some political enemies, but in a contest of this kind, when a political principle is at stake, and the dignity of Osceola county is threatened by a third term aspirant, all local jealousies and animosities ought to be temporarily laid aside, and political friends and foes should unite in giving Osceola's candidate a patriotic support. Once let Orange county break the old custom and it may be a generation before an Osceola man will be allowed by Orange county to represent this district in the Senate.

Apart from local pride it ought to be a pleasure for the people of Osceola county, regardless of faction and cliques, to support Donegan. He was so young when his family moved to Kissimmee that he may be considered a home product. He was educated in the Osceola High School. From a poor boy he has worked himself up into a position of business prominence. In politics he has always taken an active part, and has held several important offices, which he has administered with ability and credit. His record is a home record, and he has made it among his people. No one can say a word against him, either as an official, or in a business way. He is a large property owner and tax payer. His business interests are all here. He understands the needs of the people, and is in sympathy with their interests. He is a leader in local enterprises and has done more than his part to develop Kissimmee and Osceola County. He is the best type of progressive business man. No one has greater faith in the future growth and grandeur of the Kissimmee Valley than Arthur Donegan, and he has shown his faith by his works.

There is every reason why our people should support him unanimously, and we sincerely hope that on election day our people will prove superior to partizanship and factionalism, that past differences will be forgotten, jealousies laid aside, and that Osceola's candidate will receive the solid endorsement of his home people to which he is clearly entitled by reason of his merit, by reason of local pride, by reason of protest against the third term demand, by reason of the unbroken old custom, and as a matter of political principle.—Kissimmee Journal.

Another New Home

Added to the many new homes now in the course of erection in this city is that of Mrs. Allen Jones, soon to be started on the fine lot recently purchased on Park avenue. Geo. Venable has the contract and will start at once on a building that will grace this already famous avenue of beautiful homes.

Missionary Meeting

The Social Service department of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Claude Herndon. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. M. A. Miot, fourth vice-president of the society, who has charge of the social and local department. The subjects considered were: "The Mountain People and Mountain Schools." Mrs. Miot read an interesting sketch of "The Southern Mountaineer." "How Brevard became a Possibility,"—meaning the school for the Mountain children, located at Brevard, North Carolina, was read by Mrs. J. C. McDaniel, from the Missionary Voice.

Mrs. J. D. Parker read some interesting facts about the "Sue Bennett Memorial School" at London, Ky. The history of two young men, as they passed through the school, was read by Mrs. J. K. Mittinger. The questions and answers of an instructive "Missionary Contest" concealed in "Mock Plum Puddings," was an interesting feature of the program; after which, Mrs. J. K. Mittinger and Mrs. Herndon, sang a duett, followed by a solo by Mrs. Mittinger; which concluded the program. Delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. G. W. Spencer, assisted Mrs. Herndon in entertaining the society.

A Lake Mary Farmer

Rev. J. G. Thrasher, who recently purchased a nice place near Lake Mary has the finest crop of vegetables in that section famed for fine farms. He brought to the Herald office this morning some new potatoes and they were fine products of the field. Mr. Thrasher also has a fine acreage in watermelons and canteloupes and expects to do some work in his own vineyard as well as for the church. Although near the three score and ten years Mr. Thrasher is hale and hearty, and is a good advertisement for Florida climate.

Boat Changes Schedule

Up to and including April 30th, the service on the Clyde St. Johns River Line will be leaving Jacksonville daily except Saturdays and returning leave Sanford daily except Sundays. The steamer Frederick de Bary will be withdrawn after her trip from Jacksonville, April 29th, and commencing Wednesday, May 1st, the service will be performed by the steamer City of Jacksonville, leaving Jacksonville Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 3:30 p. m., and returning leave Sanford Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 10 a. m. Parties in South Florida who patronize this line and enjoy this beautiful trip will do well to make a note of the change in the sailing days from Sanford.

Spend the day Party

Mrs. Samuel Puleston and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher entertained several of their friends at a delightful spend-the-day party Wednesday, at which a delicious five-course luncheon was served, at the home of Mrs. Puleston. After the luncheon the ladies were entertained by their dainty fancy work. The guests who enjoyed the pleasant day were: Mrs. R. S. Keeler, Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mrs. F. J. Gonzalez, Mrs. Rob. Newman, Miss Laura Fish.

Strong Letters of Endorsement

Not by one, but many.—Hon. John C. Jones, State Attorney, has received a great many letters from all portions of the Seventh Judicial Circuit which contain strong expressions of endorsement and approval and were sent to him unsolicited, coming from the heart of the people.

These letters are from Orlando, his home, Sanford, DeLand, Cocoa, Winter Park, Melbourne, St. Cloud, Walton, Fort Pierce, Holly Hill, Daytona, Kissimmee, and the following is a sample of them: Daytona, Fla., March 22, 1912.

Hon. J. C. Jones, Orlando, Fla.: Dear Sir—I am supporting you because money cannot buy you and your record has been clean and upright."

Having been detained upon the duties of the State Attorney in the spring term of Circuit Court Mr. Jones has been unable to make a canvass, but has sent a message to the voters in which he assures them, among other things that he is in the race for State Attorney to the finish and respectfully requests of his friends a full vote upon election day.

Oh! You Blondy!

When the train from Tampa reached Lakeland last night the show girls and their escorts with the Bell Boy Musical Co. tripped into the passenger station and soon thereafter things began to happen. The male members went on to find rooms and while they were gone Ella Galvin was pushed into a waiting automobile by a devoted admirer, a married man of Key West, and rushed to Tampa.

Miss Galvin is the leading lady of the show, and therefore her absence was the signal for great alarm. When her brothers returned and found her gone they at once secured a machine and started racing for Tampa not, however, before they had telephoned ahead to stop the couple. This was accomplished by the Tampa authorities, and the waiting couple were at the police station when the brothers arrived.

Miss Galvin and her escort, who proved to be Russell Bleaker of Key West, were finally induced to separate, and the former returned to Lakeland this morning and will appear this evening at the Heron theatre.—Lakeland Telegram

Book Lovers' Club

Mrs. Henry McLaulin entertained the Book Lovers' Club Thursday afternoon.

The "Game of Nations," a very interesting guessing contest had been prepared by Mrs. McLaulin for the entertainment of her guests. Six of the ladies gave all the answers correctly. It was therefore, decided to have them draw for the prize. Mrs. Charles Polk was the fortunate winner of the prize, a lovely set of silver deposit salt cellars and spoons. Refreshing punch was served during the afternoon. After the contest delicious banana ice cream and wafers were served. Mesdames J. T. Brady, R. L. Peck, J. C. Bennett, C. C. Woodruff, Morton Hopson, W. W. Abemathy, J. A. Harrold, F. T. Williams, Roy Symes, H. B. Connelly, W. T. Deane were specially invited guests to meet and enjoy the afternoon with the club.

Fancy Work Circle

Mrs. H. H. Hill entertained the Fancy Work Circle Wednesday afternoon. The ladies had a delightful afternoon of social pleasure, and fascinating fancy work. A delicious fruit salad, with wafers, olives and chocolate was served. Mrs. Hill's guests were Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. J. J. Purdon, Mrs. Eaterby, Mrs. Hines, Mrs. T. S. Davis, Mrs. W. T. John, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. W. H. Milteer.

Don't Suffer!

"I had been troubled, a little, for nearly 7 years," writes Mrs. L. Fincher, in a letter from Peavy, Ala., "but I was not taken down, until March, when I went to bed and had to have a doctor. He did all he could for me, but I got no better. I hurt all over, and I could not rest. At last, I tried Cardul, and soon I began to improve. Now I am in very good health, and able to do all my housework."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

You may wonder why Cardul is so successful, after other remedies have failed. The answer is that Cardul is successful, because it is composed of scientific ingredients, that act curatively on the womanly system. It is a medicine for women, and for women only. It builds, strengthens, and restores weak and ailing women, to health and happiness.

If you suffer like Mrs. Fincher did, take Cardul. It will surely do for you, what it did for her. At all druggists.

CROMWELL GIBBONS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA

The voters of Florida are called upon to decide many grave questions at the spring primaries. It is my desire that every man shall know exactly where I stand on these issues. I hope to be able to address gatherings in all the principal communities. Those whom I cannot reach personally must be touched through the columns of the local newspapers. Those whom I will meet personally will be in better position to judge for themselves from having read and considered my platform. With this in view, I have prepared a short synopsis of the sixteen cardinal reforms and principles embodied in my platform for publication in every newspaper of the state. I ask the people of Florida to make me their governor as the measure of their approval of my stand on these questions.

PLATFORM

First—Extended and increased powers to the railroad commission which will insure the utmost rights for the shippers and which will guarantee proper and equitable rates.
 Second—The convict lease system of Florida is a brutalizing one. I am governing all corporations and to do business in Florida. I am testing purchasers of securities issued by such corporations.

Sixth—Florida has suffered greatly through the operations of irresponsible land companies. Therefore, favor strict laws governing land and colonization companies in order to protect alike the investor and settlers and the reliable dealer.

Seventh—The drainage of the Everglades by the state on a safe scientific and business basis that will insure a permanent reclamation, and that has been and is being drained and saved for the state, should not be allowed to go into the hands of speculators. If the state is to be responsible for the drainage and reclamation of the swamp and overflowed lands, purchasers of reclaimed lands should be held liable for the same and should not be allowed to speculate with the same.

Eighth—The state should encourage immigration on lands reclaimed from swamps and overflowed lands.

In favor of its abolishment and the placing of the convicts on the public highways of the state. Florida needs more good roads, and I believe that they can be best secured by working our convicts thereon. As the state has no right to profit from the activities of its convicts, the state should labor to maintain the support of a convict as all the state is entitled to. Any profit should be set aside for the benefit of the family of the convict. Because we should punish the criminal is no reason why his family should suffer. On the contrary, they should be protected and supported by the labor of the convict, and thus the state will be relieved of the possibility of the family being a public charge.

Third—To re-establish the rule of the people, and to meet conditions that confront us today, I am in favor of the initiative, referendum and recall.

The initiative means that the people shall, by petition or otherwise, make their desires known to their law-making bodies. The referendum means that all laws passed by law-making bodies shall be referred direct to the people before they become operative. At an election called for that purpose the people can vote for or against laws passed by their representatives and a majority vote for or against a law adopt it or reject it. The recall means that at any election, special or regular, the people may, by ballot, determine whether or not a public servant whose term has not expired is still acceptable to them, and a majority vote for or against him determines whether or not the servant shall stay in office or be recalled.

Fourth—I favor additional laws for the control of trusts.

Fifth—There should be stringent laws territory of inhabitable and unimproved lands distributed throughout the state.

Sixth—The organization of a tax equalization board by which tax of the people shall be equalized, related and made equitable and uniform, and proper care of the property holders.

Fourth—Accountability of campaign election laws of the state. We should provide for a more thorough system of campaign contributions and expenditures and regulation and limit the amount that legal candidates may spend by campaign organizations in state and county.

Fifth—Legislation that will improve and extend our free public school system, providing every opportunity throughout the state for the education of our children.

Twelfth—Continuation of local option and a strict enforcement in every county of the local option law of the state.

Thirteenth—The increased efficiency of the national government and militia of Florida by state and municipal aid.

Fourteenth—Legislation for ending and increasing the power of the national government.

Fifteenth—A conservative and pro-

governing all corporations and to do business in Florida. I am testing purchasers of securities issued by such corporations.

Sixteenth—A conservative and pro-

LAWSON'S PHARMACY

The Small Canning Factory

(By C. K. McQuinn)

One of the many problems that confront the fruit and vegetable growers of our State is the profitable utilization of the surplus fruits and vegetables that are left on hand at seasons when the markets get glutted.

A canning factory outfit should be in every community of the State where fruits and vegetables are grown. These outfits are of all sizes, from the small $5 cannery that can be used on the kitchen stove with a capacity of from three to five hundred cans per day, up to the cannery costing about $100 with a capacity of three to five thousand cans per day.

The cash return from one of these outfits is worth considering. The home grown products are of a higher grade than any that are shipped in, because the home-grown material has not been subjected to a long haul before marketing.

shipping season large amounts of fruit and vegetables are shipped on the chance of getting good prices on a falling market and often do not bring enough money to charges.

Among the truckers and fruit growers of the South, what is known as the "Home Canner" has been used by progressive men for a number of years with pronounced success.

This home canner cannot as yet compete with the factory as a source of large quantities of canned goods. It is in the special line of a high grade product that its possibilities lie.

The expense of running one of these small canneries is that of labor, and supplies of cans, solder, labels, etc. The size of the cannery should be regulated to suit the quantity of material likely to be available in one day.

rates of 500 cans the three pound cans cost just 2 cents and the two pound cans 2 cents each. A bushel of tomatoes will fill 16 three-pound cans and give also three two-pound cans of tomato juice. These three pound cans are worth on the market one dollar a dozen, and two pound cans of juice sell for six making at 50 cents a dozen.

Another crop that lends itself readily to canning is string beans, and while not as profitable as tomatoes, enough money can be made to warrant the grower to can his surplus beans.

Fruits of all kinds, and especially berries, can be profitably canned. A bushel of blackberries will fill sixty two pound cans, which sell readily at eighty cents a dozen. The hundreds of bushels that are allowed to go to waste every year in the State could be turned to a profitable use by means of a home cannery.

The labor for this work need not be of an expert character. The stringing and snapping of beans and cow-peas, the peeling of tomatoes, the coring and slicing of pears, and other work can at least be easily done and quickly learned.

Two years ago Congressman Frank Clark made a speech at Middleburg in which he stated that only two newspapers in this district opposed his renomination to congress.

Mr. Clark and his party to the same effect. We have a number of newspapers in this district and we expect that a large number of them will be represented by such a list.

The Times was the first newspaper in this district to raise its voice against Mr. Clark and let a voice be made the fight alone but there is plenty of help now, two-thirds of the papers in the district are opposing his nomination this year.

Mr. Clark has resided at various times in our counties in Florida, Polk, Duval, Columbia and Alachua, and in each of these counties there are newspapers opposing his nomination, and it never speaks well for a man when his own neighbors turn their backs on him.

We believe there are but four papers in the district supporting Mr. Clark and some one near enough to say that three of these papers and

COUNTS AGAINST CLARK

The record shows that he has been away from Washington more than half the time when matters of importance came to vote.

His party record is bad. He voted with the Republicans on the tariff bill, the Sherwood pension bill. His reckless language and attitude are such as to make him a person to be feared and ashamed of in a character of power or influence.

He declared in his speech on the Everglades matter that he was willing for the people to be humbugged, he declared in his tariff speech that he was willing for the people to be robbed.

Mr. Hilburn is a good man and we have a number of newspapers in this district and we expect that a large number of them will be represented by such a list.

SAM HILBURN'S GOOD RECORD

In considering the candidacy of a man for public office, the voters should acquaint themselves with the record of the aspirant. If his actions in the past have been of a nature calculated to benefit the masses rather than the classes, then he is worthy of support and endorsement. If to the contrary, his public life has been devoted to promoting the interests of the favored few at the expense of the many, then it matters not how loudly he proclaims his love for the "dear pee-pul" and his loyalty to their cause, his utterances should fall upon unhearing, unbelieving ears. Bearing these self-evident truths in mind, we trust that the good democrats of this district will examine closely into the records of the three gentlemen seeking congressional honors, and will then, intelligently and unmistakably, cast their ballots for the man who has ever been and will continue to be a worker for "progressive democracy"---Samuel J. Hilburn of Putnam county.

Ever since entering upon the practice of his chosen profession---the law---in Palatka, Sam Hilburn has been active in the public life of his town and county, and in all the State no community has been served more ably, more honestly, more energetically. In whatever sphere of usefulness he tried, he has been loyal to his people and faithful to the trust reposed in him.

But it is of his career as a legislator that we wish to speak in this article, though limited space makes it impossible to do more than allude lightly upon the more important features of that admirable record, with which we are sure that you are familiar because of the fact that he has spent two seasons of the Florida legislature.

At the profession Mr. Hilburn was a recognized leader of the "progressives" in the House of Representatives, and much of the good legislation enacted there can be traced directly or indirectly to his efforts. He introduced and secured the passage of a bill requiring the advertisement of State lands prior to their sale. Students of political affairs have rightly said that this law was one of the really great acts of that notable session.

By this compelling publicity competition has been invited in the sales of these coveted lands, and the financial benefits accruing therefrom can not be overestimated. Suffice to say that in one sale this act saved the State a quarter of a million dollars.

Mr. Hilburn's record in the House of Representatives was equally notable. He introduced and secured the passage of a bill requiring the advertisement of State lands prior to their sale. Students of political affairs have rightly said that this law was one of the really great acts of that notable session.

ments inaugurated by the "progressives" and in his capacity as chairman of one of the judiciary committees was enabled to render splendid service to the State.

Other good acts might be cited in connection with his career as a lawmaker, and his energy as an official worker in the interests of the people, but space forbids. It would be enough to say that he advocated increasing the powers of the railroad commission, and that he introduced a bill providing for the primary system, improving the public high ways, imposing stringent regulations upon trusts, abolishing the convict lease system, and equalizing the taxes.

RIGHT CHILDHOOD IS MODEST

Well-Bred Youngster Does Not Think That It Knows Everything, Says Ruskin.

The first character of right childhood is that it is modest. A well bred child does not think it can teach its parents, or that it knows every thing. It may think its father and mother know everything perhaps that all grown-up people know every thing; very certainly it is sure that it does not. And it is always asking questions, and wanting to know more. Well, that is the first character of a good and wise man at his work. To know that he knows very little, to perceive that there are many above him wiser than he, and to be always asking questions, wanting to learn, not to teach. No one ever teaches well who wants to teach, or governs well who wants to govern. It is an old saying (Plato's, but I know not if his, first), and as wise as old. Then, the second character of right childhood is to be faithful. Perceiving that its father knows best what is good for it, and having found always, when it has tried its own way against his, that he was right and it was wrong, a noble child trusts him at last wholly, gives him his hand, and will walk blindfold with him if he bids it. And that is the true character of all good men also, as excellent workers or soldiers, or captains.—Ruskin

THINK TOO MUCH OF MONEY

Many Persons Lose Chance of Happy Marriage by Exaggerating the Value of Wealth.

Scores of people lose their chance of being happily married through looking an unnecessary amount of value upon money. They are so anxious to get rich that they neglect to get on with life. They are so anxious to get rich that they neglect to get on with life. They are so anxious to get rich that they neglect to get on with life.

When a man has a wife, and a wife has a husband, there is no looking back. They are not speaking of the past, but for that matter, they are not speaking of the future. They are not speaking of the future, but for that matter, they are not speaking of the future.

To delay marriage until a "favorable" time is to delay it forever. Something is always going to happen.

Better than a diamond is a diamond. And he who has a diamond, let him buy a diamond. Better than a diamond is a diamond.

Why waste time in thinking further of it? What was it? How I wish I could get on for a week without it. How I wish I could get on for a week without it.

In Praise of Courage. Certain virtues are divided from vice by so narrow a line that each of discern very easily to see the difference. Few men can stand when they are from vanity, perseverance, and a burning, economy from nature. The same is true of courage as distinguished from offensiveness. The heroic man must have a vision that merely dream of what he would like to have. The audacious have been found fault with for their bravery in overruling all obstacles—but force is necessary to accomplish any real purpose.—Chicago American

Two Pickeral on One Line. A humble and honest fisherman who set his traps for pickeral on a Maine pond the other day is ready to make affidavit as follows. "I hereby declare on oath that I did catch two pickeral on one hook. The first pickeral swallowed the bait and drew it like it. Apparently he tried to get it up. At any rate he pulled the hook out under his gills and it floated off in the water to be grabbed by a second pickeral. Thus there came up two pickeral, all strung on a line.—Lewiston Journal.

FRANK CLARK FOR CONGRESS

No man in office but what his enemies can bring charges against him that are difficult to refute. No man holds office that does not make mistakes. Frank Clark has made mistake and will continue to do so as will every other mortal man whether he holds office or is a private citizen. If Frank Clark makes mistakes they have not been of the heart. No man can say that he is dishonest and the charges that he is a corporation man come to naught when one realizes that Clark is a poor man—probably the poorest man in the American Congress today. Frank Clark has served the people of his district faithfully and well. He is recognized by his colleagues as one of the brightest in the galaxy of statesmen who go to Washington to represent the people. Under a Republican administration he has accomplished all that is possible, for his district, for his state and for the Democrats of the United States.

Under a Democratic President he can do more than any man that we can send to Washington, because he has the knowledge of a man who has already been a member for two terms, and will not need to acquire it. He has done, and will do, more for Sanford in the next two years than would a new member, and best of all he is more of a Sanford man than either of the esteemed gentlemen who are contesting for the position. Keep the experienced man in this responsible position and one whom you know will get results. Send Clark back to Washington for another term, and give him the position in the first primary.

Do we get that tourist hotel this week or next week?

R. Hudson Burr is too good a man as Railroad Commissioner to attempt to make the race for Congress. Read his record as Railroad Commissioner, and then vote to keep him there.

The Sanford Herald has it that the ship's band on the Titanic played, "God be with You 'Till We Meet Again," as the vessel went down. That would have been a comforting farewell, anyway. Miami Metropolis.

Cromwell Gibbons, candidate for Governor, favors selling the Everglades at once and using the money for schools and good roads. This is a good way to dispose of a very troublesome subject and the Colonel ought to be elected as the one man in Florida who had a bright idea about the Everglades.

Every student of Political Economy in our schools, every man interested in politics, every lady interested in reform should hear Hon. W. J. Bryan's lecture: "The Sign of the Times" at the Star Theatre, Friday night. You may never have another opportunity to hear this great American.

Burr and Hilburn, Congressman Clark's opponents, have devoted a great deal of their time to Alachua county during the past six weeks, while Mr. Clark has been hard at work in other parts of the State. Frank Clark deserves well the hands of the people of Alachua county, and if we mistake not they will stand by him.—Gainesville Sun.

A CHARITY ORGANIZATION

Charity begins at home! The greatest need in Sanford today is a full fledged charity organization with a paid secretary, if possible, who will have a downtown office and be able to look into the merits of every charity case, and, if worthy, grant relief and if unworthy, turn it down. The business men of Sanford and the kind hearted ladies are worked to death every year by the peripatetic professionals who seek the Florida climate for a change of base and new pastures, where the grass is greener, and also the inhabitants thereof.

Along with the professional beggars are the real worthy objects of charity, and they really suffer for the sins of those who beg as a matter of business.

There is only one way to handle all cases of the kind, and the organization of a Charity Association is the solution of the problem.

There is not a merchant in Sanford but what would rather give a stipulated sum each month to Charity through the organization rather than to lose time and patience over the problem. Hundreds of dollars are thrown away every year on so-called charity, and in the end the needy ones suffer. Let the men and the ladies get together on the subject at once, and organize an Association that will look after all charity cases and distribute the money where it will do the most good.

It is the general opinion over the county that Chas. Hand will be the next Sheriff of Orange County. Geo. DeCottes the County Solicitor, Lake and Robinson the Representatives, J. H. Tucker the County Treasurer, and Arthur Donegan the State Senator.

We note that in Sanford there is a lady who darns stockings, clothing, etc., for a living. If Lakeland girls are looking for a remunerative job, this would be one. And then, who knows but what the best darning would win a good looking husband. This darning business has great possibilities.—Lakeland Telegram.

For Oscar Underwood

Hon. W. A. Bankhead of Alabama will address the people of this section at Newlan's corner next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The address will be in the interests of Hon. Oscar Underwood, the nominee of the Florida Democrats at the convention at Baltimore, and his claims for this position will be set forth by Mr. Bankhead. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting. Mr. Bankhead will not take up much of your valuable time, but he has some very important communications to make public, and the voter should take this opportunity of learning first hand the claims of this great southerner for the highest gift in the hands of the people. Next Monday at 4 o'clock at Newlan's corner on Park avenue.

Notice All bills of Miss Mary Hare will be presented to her for payment in the future. 1-tp Geo. B. Ivry, Attorney

Hand Will Be Sheriff

Hon. Chas. M. Hand has returned from the last lap in the race for Sheriff and is highly gratified at the many expressions of support handed him all over Orange county. Mr. Hand has made a clean, dignified campaign and results will show next Tuesday that he has won by a comfortable margin. This race will be a pretty contest and will be watched with much interest. Both Messrs. Kirkwood and Karel will prove strong factors but Hand is conceded to be a sure winner in the first primary and his many friends over the county will elect him on the first ballot. There are but few men who make friends and keep them as well as big hearted Charlie Hand and this happy faculty has been a great factor in his race for Sheriff. Coupled with this disposition is Mr. Hand's well known and recognized ability to attend to the duties of this important office and give the same a business administration. Hand is a success in all that he undertakes and the voter always picks this kind of a man for an important office. While having nothing but the kindest feelings for the other contestants the Herald can only hold out the cold comfort to them that they will be in the minority when the ballots are counted. The people want Charlie Hand for sheriff and Charlie Hand wants the office and such a combination is hard to beat.

Ford is In Town

You always know when B. J. Ford is in the city because you can hear his hearty laugh three blocks away. Ford is a hustler and not only advertises the Clyde Line in his travels but the state of Florida as well.

A Last Word

Appeal is made to your County pride in the matter of choice for State Attorney. Volusia County now has the judgeship and a citizen of the same county is seeking the nomination for State Attorney. One of your best known citizens, Hon. John C. Jones is asking your recognition of his services by re-nomination to that position. There has been no criticism against Mr. Jones as an upright, faithful, able and valued public servant. Mr. Jones is your home candidate and stands upon his record. The verdict throughout the Circuit is "We want no change." He begs your endorsement in a full vote for County pride and Public welfare.

... TO THE ORANGE ... COUNTY DEMOCRATS:

Arthur B. Brown, editor of the Fort Pierce News has made affidavit that a man named Bendle who is a brother of the owner of the Miami Metropolis told him the alien land sharks whom I have denounced as frauds will furnish all the money necessary to defeat me. These land sharks are paying for all the scurrilous, lying literature being circulated against me. Can these aliens who are frauds and who have brought disgrace on the fair name of Florida control our politics?

BOGUS letters purporting to come from responsible persons in other states and declaring that my speech has deterred them from investing in Florida are being circulated.

THESE letters are all written by the "land sharks". They are made out of the "whole cloth." This is a fight on me solely because I am fighting to protect the good name of our people. Next Tuesday you write the verdict.

MY defeat would be hailed with delight by all the thimble-nigging land gamblers and sharks in the land. MY election will serve notice on the world that Florida does not condone fraud; that she does not acquiesce in dishonesty.

PURELY PERSONAL

Mr. N. P. Yowell is spending the day in Jacksonville. He recently bought out the Boston Store in Sanford, and is preparing to give the Celery City the bargain sale of its life. The event will start the first of the month. This is the second store Mr. Yowell has bought in a month, the other being at West Palm Beach.—Reporter-Star.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church will meet next Monday evening, April 29th, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. G. Kennedy, Oak and Ninth, when a full attendance is desired. G. W. Raton and family, who have been living on Laurel avenue, will leave tomorrow for Rochester, N. Y., for the summer. They will return to Sanford next winter. Mr. Raton has been with Chase & Co. for the past season.

Mrs. J. W. Wildman, who attended the B. Y. P. U. and W. M. U. convention held in Daytona last week, reports an excellent meeting and a pleasant stay in that "City by the Sea" where the delegates were delightfully entertained. Auto rides, boat rides and trips to the beach were greatly enjoyed between sessions. Mrs. Wildman will give a report of the convention next Monday night at the missionary meeting at Mrs. Kennedy's.

The civic department of the Welaka Club is very much gratified by the success of its recent benefit and entertainment given at the Imperial. The neat sum of $37.75 was cleared by them, one-third of which will be used for local civic work. The department extends their thanks and appreciation to the mothers of the little folks for their kind interest and cooperation in sending the children to the practices and preparing them for their parts in the pretty play ground scene. Also to Miss Elora Johnson for so successfully training the children. The large attendance and interest manifested by the public is very much appreciated.

W. E. Martin, the tax gatherer and Arthur Butt, the tax assessor were in the city today from the county seat.

The Misses Wilson left today for their home in Cincinnati after spending the winter here, the guests of Mrs. B. W. Herndon.

Hon. Royal C. Dann, railroad commissioner was in the city this morning, in the interest of his candidacy.

Among the prominent visitors to the city on Wednesday were Hon. Frank Clark, Congressman, Col. Cromwell Gibson, candidate for Governor and Leroy Giles, a prominent attorney of Orlando.

The following are guests of Dr. Forster's "Shelter" Sanatorium at Hawk's Park this week: Mrs. Fred'k Vierling and son, St. Louis; Mrs. F. W. Miller, Sanford; Mrs. M. C. Doyle and Miss Doyle, Sanford; Mrs. Mason New Smyrna; Mr. Jim J. Miller and wife, St. Louis; Miss Louise Hoppe, Kansas; Mr. Alex E. Lattimore, Erie, Minn.; Mrs. Richard Griffiths, Ariel, Col.; and Mrs. M. R. Creighton, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Gilbert Ballantyne, Hawk's Park.

O. E. Walker and R. L. Pugh arrived in the city from Topoka yesterday, and will be busy for several weeks digging their large potato crop.

The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church held their regular meeting Friday evening, in the church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church held their regular meeting Monday afternoon, in the church.

The Wednesday Club will meet at the residence of Mrs. Henry Wright at 3 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. W. A. Whitcomb, manager of the East Sanford Land Company, which owns 19,000 acres of land on the Geneva Peninsula, has returned to his home in Bloomington Ill., after a sojourn of ten days in Sanford adjusting matters here relating to the holdings of his company. Before leaving he appointed the Title Bond and Guarantee Company as his local representatives in Sanford.

The baby show at the Imperial is attracting attention of the public and the house is crowded every night.

The county commissioners are having a piece of road half a mile in length cut through from Gertrude avenue direct to Monroe, and the new ferry at the landing there. When completed this road will cut off one mile of very heavy sand road. This route is becoming very popular to automobilists destined to points on the East Coast or south of Sanford, and the officials propose to make their portion of the road as good as it should be.

John Bolly, of Michigan, has purchased the celery farm of Mr. Specs N. Prather on the west side, and has taken charge of the property. Mrs. Bolly arrived last Saturday and is much pleased with Florida and her new home.

Sanford is to have a paid fire department. The city council has ordered live stock and such equipment as is necessary to be purchased at once. In insurance parlance, Sanford is now a third class city in the matter of rates, but the additions to be made to the fire-fighting equipment will place the city in the second class, which will equal a saving of 25 per cent. in insurance rates.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane left today for their home in Cincinnati after spending the winter here.

J. W. Powell has returned to his home in Queens, New York, after spending several weeks here looking after his farming interests.

James Allison returned on Wednesday to Wichita, Kansas, after a week's visit here and Cameron City, where he has a farm.

Miss Alice Whitner left today for Tampa, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Mary Caldwell.

Capt. B. F. Whitner of Chattahoochee has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. S. O. Chase and his son, B. F. Whitner, Jr., for a week or ten days.

Dinner Club

Miss Flora M. Johnson and Miss Annie Lee Caldwell entertained the dinner club Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Dickins. The usual custom was pleasantly varied on this occasion by a progressive dinner party; five small tables accommodating two diners were used at this delicious five course dinner. After each course one of each couple progressed to another table. The rooms and tables were lovely with red verbenas and red candle shades. The menu cards were tied with red ribbons and decorated with little April girls in red dresses and white umbrellas in a shower.

The first course was fruit macedoine, second course, meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, creamed asparagus and bread; third course, shrimp salad, olives, wafers, fourth course, gelatine with whipped cream, chocolate cake and coffee; fifth course, mints and nuts. After the dinner was concluded the members of the club entertained themselves copying and arranging all the recipes they have used in their dinners.

Wednesday Club

The Wednesday Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Wright with a good attendance Wednesday afternoon.

After the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. S. O. Chase, the program for the afternoon was taken up.

"Hendrick Ibsen and his Message" became almost a visible presence in Mrs. Wright's delightful sketch and the delivery of his message of truth, freedom and love, which continues to echo and re-echo and will always down the corridors of time, to all those who will pause to listen. Mrs. Wright charmingly utilized the characters of Ibsen's great play, "The Doll House," to convey an object lesson and more forcibly impress upon her listeners the living power of truth, freedom and love.

The club hoped to have the pleasure of having Mrs. Goodrich with them to read her excellent paper on "Bjorne Bjornson," but she sent the paper to Mrs. Chase to read for her, as she could not be present.

The president appointed Mrs. C. E. Walker, Mrs. L. R. Philips, Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. F. F. Dutton and Miss Mell Whitner the program committee.

After a short discussion of club matters the club adjourned to meet at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Whitner next Wednesday afternoon.

The Half-price Sale is "not in it" with the Boston Bankrupt Sale. May 1st. Lasts Ten days.

Auction Bridge

Mrs. Robt. Newman was the charming hostess at a delightful auction bridge party Thursday afternoon. Lovely cut flowers and nasturtiums made the pretty rooms very attractive. Six tables of bridge were played. The highest score was made by Miss Laura Fish who received the first prize, a pretty crochet hand bag. The prize for progressions, a handsome cut glass vase, was won by Mrs. C. M. Vorce. Mrs. R. J. Holly received the booby prize, a deck of cards. After the interesting games of cards were concluded, delicious strawberry and orange ices were served. Mrs. Newman's guests were Mesdames C. M. Vorce, R. S. Keelor, W. D. Holden, O. W. Brady, C. O. McLaughlin, J. W. Dickins, F. J. Gonzales, Forrest Lake, H. P. Driver, Frank Lane, G. F. Smith, Deane Turner, Paul Keely, Geo. Fox, Jr., O. W. King, S. O. Chase, C. C. Howard, F. L. Miller, R. J. The GLOW of the RUBIES

by FRANCIS PERRY ELLIOTT
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Richard Lightnut, an American with an affected English accent, receives a present from a friend in China.

CHAPTER II—The present proves to be a pair of pajamas. A letter hints of surprises to the wearer.

CHAPTER III—Lightnut dons the pajamas and late at night gets up for a smoke. His servant, Jenkins, comes in and, failing to recognize Lightnut, attempts to put him out. Thinking the servant crazy, Lightnut changes his clothes intending to summon help. When he reappears Jenkins falls on his neck with joy, confirming Lightnut's belief that he is crazy.

CHAPTER IV—Jenkins tells Lightnut of the encounter he had with a hideous Chinaman dressed in pajamas.

CHAPTER V—In a message from his friend, Jack Billings, Lightnut is asked to put up "the kid" for the night on his way home from college. Later Lightnut finds a beautiful girl in black pajamas in his room.

CHAPTER VI—Lightnut is shocked by the girl's drinking, smoking and slangy talk.

CHAPTER VII—She tells him her name is Francis and puzzles him with a story of her love for her sister's room-mate, named Francis. Next morning the girl is missing and Lightnut hurries to the hotel to see her out. He is accosted by a hunky college boy, who calls him "Dicky," but he does not see the girl.

CHAPTER VIII—Jack Billings calls to spend the night with Lightnut. They discover priceless rubies hidden in the buttons of the pajamas.

CHAPTER IX—Billings dons the pajamas and retires.

CHAPTER X—Lightnut later discovers in his apartment a beefy pariah in nut-chop whiskers and wearing pajamas Jenkins calls "the police," who declare the intruder to be a criminal, called "Foxy Grandpa."

CHAPTER XI—The intruder declares he is Lightnut's guest and appeals to the latter in vain.

CHAPTER XII—He is hustled off to jail.

CHAPTER XIII—In the morning Lightnut is awakened by foot pattering sounds and more astounded when he gets a message from the latter, demanding his clothes. Lightnut found for Townsend Billings' home, discovers "Francis," the girl of the pajamas, on the train.

CHAPTER XIV—Lightnut speaks to her and alludes to the night before. She declares indignantly that Lightnut never saw her in black pajamas. At Townsend Billings' home, Lightnut meets a hunky college youth who calls Lightnut as "Dicky." The latter ignores the boy, who then threatens to thrash him for offending Francis. Lightnut takes the next train home.

CHAPTER XV—Billings storms over the outrage of his arrest. He and Lightnut discover mysterious Chinese characters on the pajamas.

CHAPTER XVI—Professor Doonberry is called in to interpret the hieroglyphics.

CHAPTER XVII—He raves over what he calls the last silk of Si Ling Chi.

CHAPTER XVIII—The writing declares that a person wearing the pajamas will take on the semblance of the previous wearer. The professor borrows the pajamas for experiment.

CHAPTER XIX—The next dressed in pajamas is found in the professor's room and is taken home in an automobile with Francis and a woman Lightnut calls "the frump."

CHAPTER XX—Lightnut is angered by "the frump's" slanderous talk about "Francis."

CHAPTER XXI—"Billings" is taken to his room. A servant tells Lightnut that a message has just been received stating that Billings was under arrest in New York for stealing a suit of black pajamas.

CHAPTER XXII—Lightnut receives a letter from Francis asking permission to speak to "Francis."

enough at Cambridge with a thousand-dollar apartment on the "Gold Coast," as you call it—and, by George, you Harvard men have got the right name for it!—but Francis beat that in one term's drain on me for poker losses and—

"Poker?" I moistened my lips. Then I brightened, for perhaps he meant bridge—and that was good form, for there was my Aunt Julia, who lived by it—fact! But his head shook impatiently when I suggested that he meant this.

"Bridge!" he exploded. "Why, Francis doesn't know bridge from casino! Poker, I tell you, and faro—and all the rest. The plucking was done rightly at a certain—er—club, the establishment of a gentleman by the name of McGinty—'Spot' McGinty—ch, you know the place, then?"

I faced him earnestly. "I—er—Judge Billings, do I understand you—that is, it can't be that you are speaking of—er—Francis?" I stammered incredulously. "I mean your Francis—surely you are not!"

"I just am!" His jaw set with a snap. "Just who I'm talking about and nobody else, young man! I mean my Francis—Francis Leslie Billings—who else could I mean?" He almost groaned. "Oh, you don't know Francis!"

Dash it, what they all chorused at me! They seemed pretty positive about it, too, and I was jolly miserable; but looking back now, I somehow think of that moment as being the point where I reached the parting of the what-you-call-'ems. Meantime, her father was studying me a little oddly and smiling.

"I see you don't quite like what I say about Francis," he remarked, puffing complacently.

I looked him straight in the eye. "Frankly, I don't, if you must know," I blurted. Then I screwed my monocle tight and straightened forward. "By Jove, I think you ought to be ashamed of yourself, you know?"

"Wh—what's that?—Lightnut!" He turned a beet color and grasped the arms of his chair.

"Oh, I do." I stood up and he followed. "I think if that poor child had had a little—er—forbearance and kindness—that sort of thing—oh, dash it, I just think you've been infernally harsh always—yes, I do!"

"Well, I'll be—" He swallowed it, neck forward, and stood panting a bit. "Harsh, eh?" he jerked at me. "Um!" He stood there, his feet braced apart, his white brows beetling at the floor. "Harsh!" He cocked his head on one side, thrusting out his heavy underlip. "Then, what a snarl, and a grunt, and oh, he looked black!"

And just then came a quick breath, and I caught a murmur: "I wonder now if, after all, that is true! By George, they say children and—" The mutter trailed off. "Here, here, my boy—sit down," he exclaimed suddenly, and he made me

"I want to thank you, Lightnut," he said impressively. "It may be that you are right. Perhaps the better course would be gently to reason with Francis."

"Oh, Judge, I am sure of it," I urged feelingly.

"Well, well, my boy—we'll see." He patted me on the knee. "I'm going to try your way by George. I'll do it tonight!" His eyes seemed to hold me with a more kindly and personal interest. "Do you know I can't tell you how glad I am that you find so much in Francis to like. Indeed, I am delighted." Still studying me attentively, he musingly reached for a fresh light. "In point of fact, Lightnut, I am free to say I hope the intimacy begun between you two will grow closer. It would be a thundering good thing for Francis and a great comfort to me."

And, by Jove, he smiled at me—a devilish pleasant smile!

So I just leaned forward and made a go:

"Thanks awfully, and—er—by the way—Then I stuck, boggled wildly an instant and went on: "That is to say, this intimacy you know has been too short to justify. I gulped.

"Er, would you be willing to trust And I lost the dashed idea again floundered a bit and took another shy. "Oh, I say, you know, have I your permission to speak to Francis—er—you know?"

"You speak to Francis?"—he just leaped toward me—"Why, my boy!" And he was wringing my arm with one hand while the other clasped my shoulder. "My dear boy—why, Lightnut! By Jove, he almost smiled! You're not joking now, are you?" He peered anxiously into my face. "No, by George, I believe you really mean it!" And he went to pumping like mad. "How awfully good of you—self-sacrificing is the word! Are you quite sure you don't mind?"

"Mind?" By Jove, I think I looked what I felt at such a dashed silly question.

"Well! well! well! My dear young friend!" And oh, he went on in the most disgusting way—why, dash it, you would have thought I was doing him some favor! I guessed, though, that it was the usual custom, but it seemed rum—for I should have thought that in giving your daughter away, you put the thanks up to the other fellow. But Pugsley says the rule varies—quite often varies! Any how, I felt so gratified that I had taken the honorable course and spoken to her father—undertand so many do not at all, you know. As it was, it gave me quite a comfortable glow of pride, and I reflected how much better it always is to follow the wise dictates of your what's-its-name!

"By Jove!" I thought, as I nodded and smiled back, "I wonder what he would say if he knew that Francis and I are already engaged!"

CHAPTER XXIII.

The Family Black Sheep. Presently I got in a word:

"Then, Judge, I have your permission to speak to Francis?"

"Permission?" He lifted his hands and eyes. "You certainly have, my boy—don't I make it clear? Why, I'm simply delighted—and grateful—oh, so grateful to you!"

And, by Jove, he meant it—there was no mistaking his fervency! But it made me feel like a silly ass, you know. Custom or no custom, it just made me a bit nifty to think her father would speak this way. Might be good form, but it appeared rotten taste—lots of things seem that way, dash it! Suggested this to Pugsley once, but he was so devilish shocked couldn't eat his luncheon—wasn't able to fetch a dashed word for four hours!

"Why, Lightnut," he dropped to a chair, leaning forward, with shining eyes, "you can't possibly know what this means just at this time! Why, if you hadn't offered to speak to Francis, it's not likely that any one else ever would!"

"Judge!" I ejaculated, shocked. "Who would want to?" And he grimaced horribly.

"Well, I'll Be—"

"Oh, I say now!" I protested warmly.

"My boy, I tell you I know—you don't!" He lifted his hand eloquently, deflecting the corners of his mouth—oh, such a way! "No, siree, I tell you there's not another living man would dare chance it!" He threw himself backward, puffing his cheeks at me and walloping his eyes frightfully. "In fact, hereabouts—where Francis is known, there have been two men—only just two—who ever had the temerity to do it."

"Oh!" I commented. "Wondered if one of these was the other chap she was engaged to."

He proceeded impressively: "One of these, my dear sir, was our rector—a most charming and venerable old man, now nearly eighty three and partially paralyzed and deaf, lives a sweet patient life all alone, you know with no one in the world to care for him. Well, sir," he stiffened dramatically, leveling one finger at me, "do you think that Francis would even listen to him?"

"Did I? Well, dash it, did I?"

But I tried to mumble something polite. "And then—" he puffed as he relighted his cigar, "there's Jack's chauffeur, you know."

"Eh, Jack's—what's that?" I gripped the arms of my chair.

"Yes," he nodded. "Jack's chauffeur. Oh, I was so disappointed at the result of his effort!" The old gentleman slipped back in his chair with a sigh. "Francis just swore at him, you know!"

"By Jove!" I managed to get out—and yet, somehow, I was devilish pleased about it.

"You see?" And he spread out his hands. "Absolutely no sense of appreciation, you observe, and it had seemed such a splendid chance! You see they had been so intimate—oh, are still for that matter."

I caught my breath. "In—intimate?" I stammered. "You don't mean Francis and this chauffeur?"

"Oh, yes," carelessly, "Scoggins is all right, very superior young man for his position—fond of Francis, you know, and I really think has great influence." He puffed complacently an instant. "Fact is, they are always together when Francis is home"—puff—"motoring, boating, or else off somewhere camping together."

"Wha-at—what's that—not camping?" I looked at him aghast. "Oh, come now, Judge—really you don't mean that, do you—not camping together?"

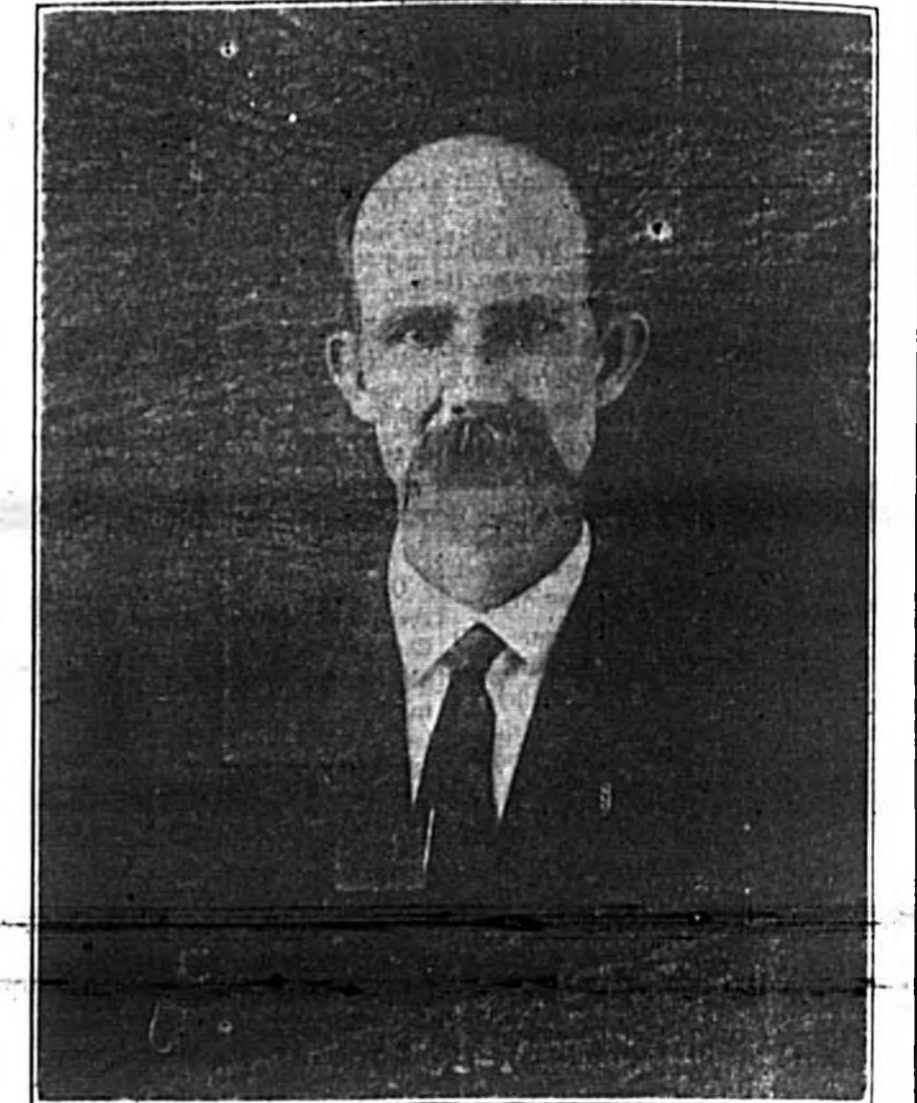

I spoke exultedly, but he just stared at me with an expression of blank surprise.

"Eh? Why, certainly, my dear boy—for weeks at a time—and why not?" His shift manifested some impatience. "Pshaw, Lightnut," he growled, flicking his ash, "what's the odds—why be so particular? I don't mind!" He jammed his hands into his trousers pockets till it seemed he would go through them. "I tell you, I'm glad I'm democratic!"

"Oh!" I uttered, seeing a light. "So that was it! Well, in any case, I knew now that I was a republican, by Jove! Never did know before what I was and it was a devilish relief to find out. Half made up my mind, then and there, I would vote next election—never had, you know; few of our set ever did. Pugsley, for one, held it to be doubtful form."

"Bright, self-made young man," I caught as I came back. By Jove, he was still talking about that beastly chauffeur! "Such fine morals, you know."

J. H. TUCKER FOR COUNTY TREASURER

J. H. TUCKER will be the high man in the first Primary conceded to be the winner for County Treasurer. Mr. Tucker is well and favorably known in this section as he was raised in the East Orange section and has the respect and esteem of the people who have known him from earliest childhood. He has the qualifications of a thorough business man combined with honesty and morality and will fill the office to the glory and satisfaction of his constituency. He is the candidate of the people and will receive a most flattering vote in the Sanford section as elsewhere in the county. Be sure and mark your ballot for

SENATOR LOUIS C. MASSEY

CANDIDATE FOR RE-NOMINATION

Senator MASSEY has taken a leading part in the State Senate ever since he entered that body. The Committees on which he has served are the most important in the Senate. He has been Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary; of the Committee on Finance and Taxation, and on the Committee on Legislative Expenses, besides serving as a member of the Committees on Constitutional Amendments, Education, Appropriation, Fisheries, Militia, Corporations, Railroads, Cables and Telegraphs, and Rules. Consequently, he has obtained a knowledge of State affairs and legislative matters that would naturally be of use to the people of this senatorial district. His record is not attacked in any particular.

WHY MAKE A CHANGE?

"Oh, dash it, yes!" And I think that...
 "That was why I was so sorry he..."
 "You may say as you will but..."

And just then the judge looked suddenly at his watch, muttered something, and hitched up to the table...
 "And, by Jove, it seemed to me he ought to feel embarrassed, for the very reason that this infernal chauffeur..."

"H'm!" coughed the Judge. he was about to say something, but he did not look up. By Jove, how I wished that he were really busy, so I might slip out without danger of offending him!

named a devious neat little wren...
 "Qu'il supprime de vous?"
 "My love, I had just got that far..."

"I'm going to ask you to excuse me, my dear Lightning," came right out frankly like that, you know!
 He stared indeed, no—I see you are not!" he said warmly.

An Appeal for a Square Deal From Leading Citizens of Osceola County.

Kissimmee, Florida, April 8th, 1912.

To the Democrats of Orange County:

We, the undersigned Democrats of Osceola County, desire to submit the following to the consideration of the Democrats of Orange County.

We have the highest personal regard for Senator Louis C. Massey both as a man and as an official.

We also have the kindest feelings for Orange County and its citizenship.

There is no formal agreement (and there can be none) between the Democrats of Orange and Osceola to alternate the Senatorship between the two counties, but there is, and always has been, a custom to alternate the Senatorship, sometimes after one term and sometimes after two consecutive terms. This custom has not yet been broken.

Orange County has the strength to break this time honored custom. Osceola County being too weak numerically to prevent the breach; but might cannot make right.

We appeal to your sense of fair play and to your sense of justice not to break the old custom. We think Osceola is entitled, by right of precedent, to the Senatorship and we earnestly request you to vote for Osceola's candidate, Arthur E. Donegan, who has no opposition from this county.

AN ORANGE EDITORIAL

What the Leavenworth (Kans.) Times Has to Say Anent Florida Oranges.

Oranges—a good thing to start a breakfast with and a nice thing to eat just before retiring, according to the habit of many people, because doctors say they are healthy, because grocers sell them cheap, because the housewives have little trouble working them into any kind of an extra course and because everybody likes them, the orange is one of the best sellers among fruit on the local market.

It probably never has occurred to many people who eat oranges every day that there are more than one variety of oranges or that they do not all come from Florida. While it is true that most of the oranges sold by the grocers here do come from California, it is also a fact that Florida furnishes the middle West, whenever we can get her to do so. The state of Florida sends most of her crop to the Eastern markets and it is only occasionally, as now when the California crop is not up to par, that the markets here get Florida to "come through" with some of her fruit, the best grown in the states.

Oranges from Florida are just like vegetables from there, far better than those from California. For instance, there is the Russet, an orange which is heavy with juice. The skin is very thin and little is lost in peeling.

Some of the Many Varieties. Herman Witt, the grocer, told of a few of the many varieties of oranges which are supplied the house hold here:

From California there are four varieties coming in order—navels, from Southern and Northern California both, those from the former, the highlands, being the finest; then there is the seedling which comes later; then the Mediterranean Sweet which grows near the rivers and the last crop, the Late Valencia which has a seed, but which is very good. In California, there is no time of the year when there is not either a blossom or fruit on the tree, the fruit extending from November, through July.

The Knight and the Golden Russet from Florida are their two best products. Both have seeds, are heavy with juice and deliciously sweet. We were fortunate in getting the Florida products this year, for the first time in years past. This was because of the unusually poor quality of the California fruits. The best grapefruit also comes from Florida, I think, although we get a little from California. However, supplies us with the tangerines, the smaller sized orange and this year with the Kumquat, the very small, round member of the orange family. That is eaten, skin and all. In fact, though it is the best part of it. This year they have even preserved the Kumquat.

The reason for the almost uninterrupted good crops in Florida, Mr Witt thinks is because of the sandy soil being very productive and added to this the warmth which comes to it from the Gulf Stream. Florida, Mr Witt said may be in a position to supply the whole United States with fruit some day when the land is properly tilled. Leavenworth (Kans.) Times

SOME GROWER GLEANINGS

Editorial Comments Clipped From the Florida Grower.

The enforcement of the "green fruit law" lies in the hands of the growers with their ballots. Vote for the man who will enforce and uphold the law, and the law will be enforced.

Make your candidates commit themselves on the questions of vital interest to you, and down the man who won't say where he stands.

To charge or insinuate that the management of the Exchange "got their's" can only be for the purpose of discrediting the organization with those who do not know true conditions. First and last, for one thing or another, Manager W. C. Temple has put out over $50,000 of his private fortune toward advancing the cause of cooperation in Florida. President Eugene H. Helinger personally put up the money to build one of the finest citrus packing houses in the world, and at a time when he must have known that he would have to pay out more money to carry it along. Other gentlemen of means have backed Florida Citrus Exchange notes with their signatures and they have all become tired of trying to help the grower who will not try to help himself. As umbrella holders they have been a success, but they now want the other fellow to help do the holding if there is to be any umbrella to hold.

False Report Corrected
 To the Fair Minded People of the Seventh Judicial Circuit of Florida

Since I have been canvassing for votes for re-appointment to the office of state attorney for the seventh circuit, I find that it has been industriously circulated that I was in Tallahassee during the session of the last legislature, doing all in my power to defeat the re-appointment of Hon. Minor S. Jones as Judge of said circuit. This report is absolutely untrue, as every friend of Judge Jones is compelled to testify.

Beyond putting my name on the judgeship petition for re-appointment to the judgeship, I took no part in the matter, either by letter or personally. The judge's defeat was due entirely to the act of the governor, and this is the whole of it. It has been suggested to me that some secret enemy has circulated this report for the purpose of injuring me with the judge and his friends. This is certainly not a fair deal, as the following facts show.

During the judgeship contention at Tallahassee the news came to us at Orlando, my home town, that Governor Gilchrist would not make Hon. Minor S. Jones judge under any consideration, that the gentleman to whom he had tendered the office has refused it, and the governor was contemplating offering the judgeship to me.

At this juncture a number of my friends urged that application be made for me for the office.

Now, being informed and believing that Judge Jones had retired from the race, this was done, but subsequently learning that he had not retired, but was still in the race, I wrote to the governor the following letter, to wit:

Orlando, Florida, May 18, 1911.
 Hon. Albert W. Gilchrist, Governor of Florida,
 Dear Sir:

Referring to letters of recent date making application for the alleged vacant position of judge of the 7th circuit, I beg to say that said application is predicated solely upon the supposition that Judge Minor S. Jones will not be a factor in the proposition of appointment at all.

If the judge is to be considered at all, pray consider my application withdrawn.

My reason for this position is as follows: A number of my friends in every county of the circuit have for several years been urging me to run against the judge. I told him, however, that I would not do so as long as he was judge, and I prefer to keep my word than to break it for any of these reasons, so if he is a factor in this matter, I am out, but if the judge is absolutely out of the consideration, then as between others I will be free to contest for this high office but whether appointed or not it will not affect my efforts to make the department embracing the office I now hold, an honor and credit to your Excellency's administration. (Signed)

Yours very truly, JOHN C. JONES

You all know the rest, to wit: The judge did not come down and the governor appointed Hon. James W. Perkins, who will make you an able, upright judge. I recommend him to your confidence and respect.

Very truly, JOHN C. JONES

Will Start On New Block

J. L. Miller now has his plans for the new business block to be erected on Magnolia next to the Herald building and the contractor, S. O. Stunholser, expects to start in a few weeks. The building will be a two story brick and contain two stores and apartments over the stores. Mr. Miller will have a first class bakery built in the rear and occupy one of the store rooms for his distributing depot.

Work of Real Forester.
The modern forester undertakes to make orchards profitable. There are orchardists, to be sure, who know very well how to care for their trees and who do care for them; but there are also orchards that are neglected or handled unskillfully. The forester will take a run-down orchard and by intelligent, scientific treatment of the trees, with systematic care, make it produce big and handsome apples in abundance.

Feminine Curiosity.
Little Eleanor's pretty cousin wore a new engagement ring, and the budding woman regarded the ring and the giver alike with reverent eyes. One night when the happy man has been invited to Eleanor's home for dinner, Eleanor, unconsciously gushing, burst forth with: "Oh, Mr. Blank, do please tell me. In all the love stories I've read the men propose so sudden. When it's coming on, does it—does it feel anything like a sneeze?"

That Shining Nose.
At the opera the young man who paid for the seats was engaged for a few tense moments in a study of a stunning woman of middle age who sat in the row in front. Then he turned to the girl at his right, and whispered, "Look at the lady in lavender; what is the matter with her nose?" The girl gave one glance at the shining "nob," then turned to her escort and whispered: "Enameled."

Colds.
Numbers of people are suffering just now from irritating colds in the head. A very simple home remedy which brings almost instant relief is to pour half a pint of boiling water on to a dram of pulverized camphor, and to inhale the vapor for about ten to fifteen minutes. The annoying fits of sneezing, running eyes and heavy feeling in the head will quickly yield to this remedy.

Flat Chest.
The occupation of a bookkeeper tends to bring the head and shoulders forward and cramp the chest. Try to sit more erect and learn to stand tall, and stretch the body to its full height. Many defects of the figure are due to bad postures, but by exercise many defects can be corrected.

Reflection on Cholly.
Cholly (handling his friend's revolver gingerly)—"I suppose now if this should go off while I'm holding it like this it would blow my brains out!" His friend—"No, it wouldn't do that, but it would bore a hole clean through your head."

Never Let Him Forget It.
The man who owes all to his wife is out going to be permitted to forget it this side of the main entrance to the cemetery in which the family lot is situated—Houston Post

Luxury in Cigars.
The Rothschilds smoke the most costly cigars that are made—the Henry Clay Sobranos—which cost $1.50 each. These are wrapped in gold leaf and packed in little inlaid cedar wood cabinets.

No Doubt About One Thing.
"It does not always take brains to make money," observed the father of the college boy as he looked over that young man's expense bill, "but it sure does take money to make brains."

Too Busy for Serious Things.
The growing indifference of the age is appalling; men are too busy with their pleasures, their money-making, their politics, and a thousand things.—Exchange.

Use of the Horse.
Owing to the advancement of science it would be possible to get along without horses now, if it were not for the necessity of having a few of them at the annual horse shows.

All Too Frequent Mistake.
The soul is intended to guide the body in the journey through life; the chief mistake which man makes is that he permits the body to guide the soul.—London Truth.

Real Life.
The mintage of wisdom is to know that rest is rust, and that real life is in love, laughter and work.—Elbert Hubbard.

Only the Belief of Snobs.
The idea that trade is vulgar is one of the silliest ideas that ever came into the brain of man.

Aristocratic Dairy Farmers.
Dairy farming is popular as a genuine source of income to the British aristocrat.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurried Readers

Approximately forty lives were lost in the storm which Sunday swept northward from Childress, Texas over Oklahoma and into portions of Kansas, according to reports. There are other rumors of fatalities but these cannot be verified. The list of injured will number over one hundred.

Mrs. William H. Taft has given the first dollar to a woman's Titanic memorial, which it is proposed shall be erected in Washington to commemorate all who went down with the ship. A committee of one hundred women from all States has been named and no contribution will be accepted from men.

At the last session of the New Jersey legislature a bill was passed by unanimous vote in both houses authorizing the employment of prisoners in road maintenance work. This, we believe, constitutes the first attempt of a Northern State to try out on an extensive scale the system of utilizing its prison labor in public enterprises.

The largest cargo ever carried on one vessel is said to have left Seattle, Wash., on Puget Sound, the other day on the steamship Minnesota for Japan and China. The loading consisted of the following items: 594,389 sacks of flour weighing 14,262 tons, 8,109 bales of cotton, of 2,140 tons weight; 2,599 packages of miscellaneous merchandise, 199 tons, and besides the freight proper there were 1,270 pounds of letter mail, and 22,750 pounds of paper mail, making a total, not counting stores, fuel, etc., of 16,913 tons in weight.

A more searching inquiry into the wireless system employed aboard ocean going ships is planned for today by the senate committee investigating the Titanic disaster. The committee avowed its intention to go into the question at length with a view to framing legislation that will govern the wireless system on vessels leaving American ports.

Paris is quiet today after yesterday's excitement, which ended with the wiping out of the band of automobile bandits who had terrorized this city and section for months past, with murders and robberies. The end of the fight, which had lasted for several hours, came with the destruction by dynamite of the garage at Choussy-le-Roi, six miles south of Paris, by the gendarmes, who had unsuccessfully tried to dialogue Jules Bonnett, leader of the gang, and his lieutenant, Anton Dubois, an anarchist, who had taken refuge in the garage. Dubois was killed in the explosion, which blew out the front wall of the garage. Bonnett surviving his wounds long enough to die in a hospital after being taken.

The torpedo boat destroyers, Preble and Perry, which slipped out of San Diego harbor last night, are under orders to intercept the gun boat Yorktown by wireless and tell her not to stop at any Mexican port for coal or any other purpose, in view of the conditions prevailing in Mexico. It is deemed inadvisable to have any American gunboat stop at any of the coastal cities at this time, when popular feeling is so inflamed in Mexico against citizens of the United States.

Large Alligator Shot

A picnic party, on the motor boat, Verona, owned by C. Kenniston of this city, sighted a large alligator, which was immediately shot by Capt. Allen, also of this city. The alligator measured eight and one-half feet long. The reptile was hoisted in the small boat, and towed to the city dock.

Mr. J. N. Whitner Will Speak

A union service of all the churches is being arranged for at the Star Theatre next Sunday night. The principal address will be by Mr. J. N. Whitner. He will speak on "The Promise of the World in the Men's Movement," an echo of the Hippodrome Meeting in New York City. At the last meeting of the executive committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement it was voted to be the sense of the committee that union meetings of the churches be held in the theatre as often as one Sunday night in each month. The first of these monthly union meetings is being arranged for next Sunday night. Mr. Whitner is full of his subject. Hear him.

GOOD BUILDING RECORD

Over Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars' Worth for Month of April

Sanford's building record for the month of April is worthy of more than a passing notice. The permits issued at the city clerk's office will be $26,987.50 up to date and most of them have been started, and April is not a good month either. There will be more contracts given later on, as one building usually calls for another and several real estate deals are under way and it is predicted that quite a bit of Sanford property will change hands during the summer. Among those contemplated is a mammoth apartment house that will accommodate the tourists that want to come to Sanford next winter.

A brick road to Sanford Heights will accelerate the building of fine homes in that growing suburb and with the erection of a hospital the south side will take a new start. The Sanford Building & Loan Association is constantly building and would do more if the business men of Sanford would take a deeper interest in the Association and invest their money where it will do the most good.

Indications for a substantial building boom for the summer is taking shape and Sanford ought to have no time to take a siesta.

FINE PRICES ON POTATOES

One Car Sells Over Thousand Dollar Mark Here

The Herald has always contended that in "Murphy's" there were good profits. If not a fortune at least good money every year. This season has been an exceptionally good one for potatoes, on account of the scarcity of tubers all over the land and while Florida has more planted to the acre than ever before, the price seems to get better each day. Some elegant returns have already been made by the M. O. Coggins Co. Messrs Pugh & Walker sold one car this week for $1,104.00 f. o. b. Sanford.

The potatoes were the Bliss Triumph and averaged about 70 bushels to the acre. They were shipped to the Chicago market and the buyer states that never before has there been such a demand for potatoes with the chances good for high prices all season.

Suwannee River On Rampage

Live Oak, April 29.—As a result of the great rise of the Suwannee river since Friday forenoon, Dowling Park, seven miles west of here, and the country for three miles surrounding is flooded with water from one to five feet in depth.

A boat house toppled over and floated down over the booms Friday, stripping the piers of the Live Oak, Perry and Gulf railroad bridge, jarring some of the timbers loose and lodging underneath the bridge. Since then several houses have left their foundations and are expected at any time to float away. The entire park is embedded in water five or six feet deep and the river is still rising.

"Nothing in the Paper"

The above expression is called very forcibly to mind just now when unfortunately there is so much in the papers. The subject is taken from a lengthy explanation, read some time ago which gave the opposite side from the readers standpoint. The expression is often heard, and as the article in question stated it is good rather than otherwise, when "there is nothing in the paper, because, as a rule, when there is "something" in the paper it signifies that there has been either a fire, an explosion, an accidental killing, a flood, or some other disaster, which, while of course, it furnishes something to compel the attention of the reader, it must be admitted by those who will stop for a moment—that after all it is a blessing when there is "nothing in the paper." The statement certainly has not been applicable for some time, unfortunately, as there has been so much of late concerning this misfortune or that disaster that each issue of the papers all over the land have had "something" in them. And, to carry out the idea, let us be thankful when the time shall come—and God speed the day—when there will be "nothing in the paper."—Ft. Myers Press.

BRYAN LECTURES HERE

Great Commoner Attracted A Large Crowd To Theatre

TOUCHED NOT ON POLITICS

Came To Sanford To Deliver Lecture And Politics Had No Place In His Topics

The Star Theatre was comfortably filled last Friday night when Hon. W. J. Bryan delivered his famous lecture "The Signs of the Times." Many people did not understand that being a paid lecture Mr. Bryan could not consistently make it a political meeting and several were disappointed that those who really attended to imbibe knowledge were delighted for Mr. Bryan has lost none of his eloquence by age and his inimitable manner of giving statistics, facts, humor and pathos all in the same lecture was as charming as ever. Mr. Bryan made some allusions to politics but always in humorous vein and at no time did he give any hint of his position in present day affairs. Many present had never heard Mr. Bryan and the lecture was a treat especially to the ladies and if woman's suffrage prevailed Bryan would receive a large vote here if he ever becomes a nominee again.

The lecture had been arranged by the Commercial Club and President Lake called the meeting to order and introduced Mayor Spencer, who in a few well chosen words introduced Mr. Bryan. The speaker produced his lecture by referring to the fact that Sanford occupied a prominent place in his memory from the fact that when he was touring the present Mrs. Bryan she was living in Sanford and wrote him at least one letter a day that contained pages upon the lovely scenery.

Launching at once into his subject, he held the audience for almost two hours with a subject full of good ideas and fraught with messages of better things material and spiritual.

His lecture is taken on politics, religion and the affairs of present day people and proves that the world is growing better from first hand knowledge. Mr. Bryan proves his points and his world travels are very interesting demonstrating that a patriotic citizen of America has been honored by the nations of the world. Mr. Bryan spent Saturday morning in the city and was taken over the celery delta and paid a visit to Villa Shorn now the home of C. R. Walker, where Mrs. Bryan was accustomed to spend the winter and from where she would write Mr. Bryan letters until as he expressed it he expected to see Father die on cattle.

Mr. Bryan is touring the state in the interests of Woodrow Wilson, Ex-President and made several speeches in his behalf in several cities. He expects to build a winter home at some point in Florida and will spend a portion of each winter here.

Let Sanford Shippers Stand Pat

TO SANFORD SHIPPERS. We have been handed one of the letters being written to Sanford shippers, in connection with the transportation question from this point. We do not know the purpose of this letter or what it seeks to accomplish in reference to the question in hand. We do know that the shippers of Sanford have received some recognition in the way of improvements of shipping facilities, and if they will only stand "Pat" and together they will receive what they are asking for, ultimately.

The trend of the letter referred to gives the impression that other points along this line have the benefit of an express special on which to transport their products, but as a special favor to the Sanford people they have been given "Box car transportation" on freight trains. It is claimed in this letter that the "Box car transportation" has an advantage over the express special in that it makes connection with outgoing trains in Jacksonville while the express special does not. We do not happen to have first hand knowledge as to the correctness of this claim, which by the way is not made in direct terms, but by way of argument, but it seems incredible that Sanford shippers should believe other points receiving the benefits of the express special would be satisfied with it if their shipments were delayed or injured thereby, for lack of connections at Jacksonville. If connection were not made by this express special they would have a way of securing its making connection, and this would have been done, if necessary Sanford shippers can assist them in doing so.

Let Sanford shippers stand "Pat" and together on this question, and get what they are entitled to in transportation service. DICKINSON & DICKINSON.

SANFORD TRUCK MOVING

Five Cars Daily of Mixed Vegetables Are Going To The East

Sanford, Fla., April 28.—The movement of mixed cars of beans, cukes and squash will aggregate 25 or 30 cars this week. The M. O. Coggins Co. handled 15 cars of potatoes last week, the Florida Vegetable Growers' Association J. H. C. Miles & Co., New York, I. C. Wilkinson & Son, Philadelphia, 2. The potato movement will be about the same as last week quality much improved. Prices are holding firm, $4.45 bbl. f. o. b. The Coggins Co. paid out $12,500 last week for potatoes.

Chase & Co., W. C. Deyo & Bro., New York, represented by C. G. Perry, and H. Zuphry & Co., Chicago, represented by Geo. Hoy, are active in handling mixed cars. Mr. Hoy has recently bought a number of cars of green celery for storage in Chicago. The M. O. Coggins Co. will be a great factor in the tomato deal, commencing May 1. They will handle the Taft Association account, which is estimated at 50 acres. In and around Oviedo, the crop is promising and present indications point to carlots moving May 10. The Coggins people will operate two tomato packing houses at Sanford this season.—Produce News.

TODAY IS THE DAY

First Primary Taking Place and Much Interest Manifested

Today is the day to show your preference for the men who are to save the country and early the automobiles started to deposit the voters at the polls. Any voter can ride today and he may have to walk tomorrow with the defeated candidate. At the two polling places a large but good natured crowd has stood all day looking after the interests of their candidates. The ticket this year is larger than it has ever been before, and the voter is obliged to roll up one end and stuff it in his pocket while he votes the other end. There is bound to be more or less confusion in balloting and many voters will go wrong on the ticket. Tonight the clerks will have their work cut out for them when it comes to counting the ballots and it will likely be early morning before the result is obtained.

Tragedy at White Springs

White Springs, April 28.—Charles H. Hunter, early last night shot and killed R. B. Cates, later barricading himself in a warehouse where he was shot to death by a posse of citizens.

It is alleged that Hunter, kept to the rear door of Cates' front stand at about 8 o'clock where he shot four through the heart, killing him instantly. During the excitement which followed Hunter escaped to a warehouse in the rear of a grocery store and barricaded himself. From a window he shot at a small crowd of men, barely missing C. F. Cone, Jr. A posse headed by Marshal Scarborough quickly surrounded the building.

No one at that time was aware of the identity of the murderer. After several attempts to get him to surrender the posse commenced to fire shooting through the windows. At about 10 o'clock a rush was made and Hunter was found dead, he having been hit by a dozen or more bullets.

It is alleged that Hunter was demented. He leaves a wife and several small children. Cates is survived by a wife. The tragedy caused much excitement throughout this section on account of the fact that both men were well known to a large circle of friends.

Wrongly Interpreted

The good teacher was giving the boys a talk on the subject of the temptations surrounding college life. Warning up to the subject he exclaimed "Why, young men, hell is filled with champagne, cigarettes, chorus girls and midnight suppers." Right here the good man was interrupted by one of the older lads in the rear of the room, who threw up both arms, exclaiming fervently "Oh, death, where is thy sting?"

Carlos J. Monsalve and wife, of New York, have purchased the Adams place on the west side, and will make it their future home. Mr. Monsalve is a Peruvian but has resided in New York long enough to become a good American. He expects to engage in business in Sanford later in the season.

Hon. Braxton Beacham, of Orlando, candidate for Congress wound up his campaign last Saturday night by making a speech here at Newlin's corner, that was well received.

ALL AROUND FLORIDA

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

The Florida Citrus Exchange met in Tampa last week and decided to try and see what could be accomplished in getting support to keep it going. It must have promise of 40 per cent of the state to keep it alive. Another meeting will be held in June to settle the matter of its further existence.

It costs money to be a candidate in a state primary in Florida. Among expense lists filed with the Secretary of State, W. H. Milton for Governor says he has expended to April 23 the sum of $8,943.27, a good deal more than the salary. For Congressman in this district, Frank Clark files $1,109.57, S. J. Hillborn $3,087.95, R. Hudson Burr $2,905.50.

A Kansas editor has just gone home from Florida with a couple of young eligators. It is his purpose to train them to go out on the street and bite delinquent subscribers who refuse to come across.

Bolters from the Republican Convention held at Palatka, Feb. 6, met in Jacksonville, April 23, and elected delegates favorable to Roosevelt.

Fort Pierce has awarded contracts for water, sewerage and light plants and during the next few months there will be activity unusual and the work will afford employment for a great many people.

Apopka's new board of trade has been organized and good work is expected to be the result. Apopka already has a bank, many good business houses, a city park and dozens of new projects are in view.

The negroes, Baxter and White have been convicted of the murder of the Silverstein family in Jacksonville.

Orlando is to have a new Methodist church. The structure will be Doric in style of architecture and will be erected at a cost of $18,000 including furniture and organ.

For Charity Organization

The movement has at last been launched for the organization of the charitable work of the city of Sanford. The Executive Committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement last week appointed a special committee consisting of Messrs Walker, Perkins and Waldron to issue a call to all the organizations and city authorities that are interested in charity work in the city. This call has been sent out as follows:

The Executive Committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement of Sanford, invite you to be represented by delegates at a conference to be held at the Masonic Hall at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 12, 1912, to discuss and, if found advisable to formulate plans for the organization of the various charities of the city.

Among those invited are the civil authorities, the churches, the fraternal and industrial orders, the Sanford Hospital Association, the W. C. T. U., the Women's Clubs, and all other bodies interested in charity work of the city.

For the Executive Committee,

C. R. WALKER, President.
W. J. PERKINS, Secretary.

It is to be hoped that every organization and individual thus invited will send a delegation and that a permanent Charity Organization Society will result from the deliberations of that gathering.

Negro Girl Burned to Death

Mistaking gasoline for kerosene a negro girl in Goldsboro last Saturday poured some on the fire in the stove and the explosion that resulted set fire to her clothing and she was burned so badly that she died on Sunday. The house also caught fire, and was entirely destroyed.

New Mail Boxes

Every corner of the city is now graced by a nice new green mail box that Postmaster Haskins and Uncle Sam have jointly been instrumental in having installed. The boxes are for the convenience of the people who wish to send letters and do not care to walk to the post office.
