NEW YORK—There was a party going on the set of the Phil Silvers show and everyone was out of uniform. Nineteen filmed shows were in the can and a six-week vacation had been declared.

Everyone was feeling pretty loose. Over at the buffet table, Pvt. Doberman was making eyes at the food. Cpl. Henshaw, clutching an empty glass, was trying to negotiate a refill. Pvt. Zimmerman was entertaining an appreciative audience with an impromptu song. "Last night at this time," said Aaron Ruben, director of the CBS-TV series, "what a wonderful bunch to work with. They get along with each other, they work well together. But you know when they offered me this job early last summer, I had real doubts about working with this group."

Big Show To PM

"There I was stepping into the shoes of Nat Hiken—the creator, writer, producer, director of the show. He had decided to pull out and it's no secret there was trepidation all around. Who could follow Hiken? He's the greatest, a genius."

"What's more I had never even directed before. I'm a comedy writer—I've worked for the big ones, Caesar, Berle, Burns and Allen, Sam Levenson, Danny Thomson. But PM thought my background was an advantage. He felt that the kind of guy they needed was one who had appreciation for a script, who knew comedy."

Ruben grabbed a cigarette from one of the crew. He recalled with a shudder the first show he directed for the series. "It was in July and when I stepped out in front of that group it was like plunging into cold water," he said.

"Resistance? No, you couldn't say there was resistance to me. But let's put it this way—these guys had been turning out one of TV's most successful shows for two years and they were out to size me up."

"By the end of the first two weeks I knew I had made it. And later, I learned why I had made it—it was because the guys in this show began to sense that I knew the value of the platoon, that I knew it wasn't just a star show. PM told me that."

PM Tells Show's Fate

"PM is a brilliant performer. He handles everyone around him. He's fantastic. He sets the pace of the show. But what many viewers probably don't appreciate is the balance the other guys add to Phil's performance. And when the guys knew that I saw it, that I wasn't out to smear anybody, we were in."

Ruben looked over at Doberman who was ogling the delicatessen delicacies again. Somebody asked where Phil Silvers was and somebody else said he had gone home, that he had a touch of flu.

"You know the secret word on this show?" asked Ruben. "I'll tell you—wump. We knock off 60 pages of script in 25 minutes. That's quite a clip."

"We had Kay Kendall—a tremendously talented woman—do a show with us and she was absolutely bewildered by our conduct. You see, she had two days before she could fall in with us. And I guess that's my biggest contribution to this show—keeping that tempo."

"Have we succeeded? Is the show as good as Hiken's? Well . . . Two of the platoon members drifted over and said they were bugging out. They clapped Ruben on the back. "My wife says you don't have to worry," said one of them. "She says she thinks we're even better this year than last."

Ruben grinned a grin. A wide one. "I think we're doing pretty well, too," he said.

U. S. Education Picture

By LOUIS CARROLL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Two major obstacles lie in the path of any effort to lighten up U. S. high school curriculum to meet the challenge of Russia's heavy emphasis on science and math.

Educators and public officials agree that these obstacles can be removed only by radically-changed American attitudes.

One roadblock is the insistent desire of many American parents for a wide variety of training courses which, while admittedly desirable, were never apart of formal education.

These include teaching youths to drive safely, to cook and sew, to make social "adjustments," and to develop proficiency in various vocational skills or hobbies.

A High Proposition

Few parents apparently realize how large a proportion of school time is now devoted to such "courses." A recent study in a suburban high school that is widely regarded as one of the nation's best showed only 70 per cent of its teaching time devoted to academic subjects. In many high schools, it is less than 50 per cent.

The other big obstacle to higher education standards is the American belief that every child should be compelled to attend school until he is 16 or 18 years old, regardless of his desire or aptitude for scholastic learning.

Few educators dare to criticize our compulsory education laws publicly. It is like attacking home and mother. But most of them privately assert that U. S. public schools have little choice but to offer a lot of easy electives and "practical arts" courses as long as they are required to go through the motions of giving every child a high school "education."

A Big City Problem

This problem is particularly acute in big cities, where private schools and the flight to the suburbs have drained off many of the brightest students, and have left public high schools with very high percentages of students who have neither the ambition nor ability to study mathematics, science nor any other difficult subject.

Should these children be shunted into vocational training for which they may lack aptitude? Should they be allowed to quit school and hunt for jobs which are often very hard for an adolescent to find? Or should they be turned loose on the streets to swell the juvenile delinquency statistics? Growing for a solution, some city school systems recently have adopted what they call the "multiple-track curriculum plan." This is a device for segregating high school students into several groups

6,000-Year-Old Sea Water In Natural Bottle In Norway

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Incredible as it sounds to scientists (and as it will sound to you), there isn't much doubt that 6,000-year-old sea water is contained in a natural "bottle" in Norway.

Prof. Kaare Strom of the University of Oslo revealed his own desire to be skeptical in inviting scientists of the world to participate in a thorough study of an astonishing phenomenon.

The "bottle" is a portion of Lake Tokke which on the surface and in much of its depths is a fresh water lake strictly. It is a very narrow lake but a very deep one, with a maximum depth of 432 feet.

Once Part of Sea

This lake was once part of the sea. Some 6,000 years ago, the sea receded to its present level which is some 200 feet below the level of the lake. Evidently the sea water which remained behind in that very ancient age of cataclysmic change, still is there.

"It is certainly difficult to admit the possibility of sea water still being left, but the complete analysis leaves no doubt as to the water being sea water," remarked Prof. Strom.

He and his Norwegian colleagues in their intensive investigations, first thought sea water must be bubbling up into the fresh water from salt springs in the lake bottom.

But they disproved this theory when they found that the bottom contained virtually none of the kinds of clay which could store the salty waters of the long-gone sea.

They finally figured that what must have happened was this: When the sea receded, it left the lake cavity filled with sea water. Later when a river formed, it took in one end of the cavity as part of its channel.

Salt Water Cornered

Flow of fresh water cornered salt water in the rest of the cavity. In the down-most, farthest, there was no interchange of salt and fresh-water, nor has there been since. Thus salt water was "bottled" by nature.

Fresh water took over the entire surface, of course, and this, in effect, put a stopper in the bottle. Strom reported that in this portion of the lake there was semi-stagnant water beginning at a depth of 262 feet and extending downward to 432 feet. Beneath this water was the sea water.

According to their learning ability, and giving each group a different program of studies.

President's Recovery Seems To Outpace Doctors' Expectations

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's recovery from a cerebral attack appeared today to have well outpaced the expectations of his doctors.

One week ago the President's physician said his recent illness would "require a period of rest and substantially decreased activity estimated at several weeks."

His schedule Tuesday and today, however, bore no particular resemblance to "rest and substantially decreased activity."

He scheduled a meeting today with Republican House and Senate leaders to go over administration plans for the next Congress.

Later this week, possibly Thursday, he plans to drive to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for a long weekend.

The President's day Tuesday was amazing in its length and occupation in the light of the doctor's statements of only a week ago.

The President devoted most of the morning to the bipartisan conference of Congressional House and Senate leaders. This meeting lasted from 9:05 a. m. to 12:35 p. m. The President left for an hour and 20 minutes but spent this time in his office.

He went to lunch and a midday rest at about 1 p. m. and returned to his office at 2:30 p. m. There he held conferences with Dr. James R. Killian, his special scientific adviser, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. He also dictated to his personal secretary, Mrs. Ann Whitman.

Thus his office day, excluding the hour and a half off for lunch, ran from 6:15 a. m. to 5:20 p. m. This was one week after his physicians were issuing bulletins about his having suffered either a clot or a vascular spasm in one of the small blood vessels of his brain to the point that it had caused some speech impediment.

The speech impediment has disappeared and the White House has decided to discontinue daily medical bulletins as long as the President continues to progress satisfactorily.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerity said bulletins would not be issued unless there was a change in the President's condition.

The White House still had no word on whether the President will go to Paris.

North Atlantic T. "sum- mit" meeting later this month. If he goes in all probability he would have to leave Washington some time around Dec. 16 to arrive in Paris for the opening of the session Dec. 18.

A decision on Paris may not be made until some time next week after the President returns from Gettysburg.

Scheduled Satellite Launching Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, (UP)—Last minute complications of a routine nature delayed the nation's first satellite launching attempt today and bad weather could further upset the timetable.

A storm front, expected to be of only short duration, was moving in on the Cape Canaveral launching site this morning with brisk winds.

The Navy's Vanguard launching team, minutely check — listing every function of the missile that will carry America's baby moon into space, expected to be ready for touching off the carrier rocket around 4 p. m. (est).

By that time, however, a storm with winds up to 25 miles an hour was expected to be whipping the air. The front was expected to pass within an hour or so, leaving the weather suitable for a launching.

Has Top Priority

It was emphasized here and in Washington that no other missile-firing schedules had interfered with the firing of the Vanguard, which had top priority. It is to put a 4-inch satellite in an orbit around the earth.

Herschel Schooley, Defense Department public information chief, said "it is perfectly obvious they are getting a lot of variables" in putting the Vanguard through its pre-flight tests and "they have to doctor the times as they go along."

All troubles found in the intricate mechanism were apparently of a minor nature that needed only adjustments to prepare the missile for a perfect flight.

Winds rose to 18 miles an hour at the missile launching site this morning and visibility this morning was expected to be near zero by the scheduled 4 p. m. launching time.

Pianist Hailed By Local Concert Assn. Members

An appreciative crowd applauded concert pianist Gerson Yessin last night in the first program of the Mutual Concert Association series for this season.

The pianist, who made his debut at the age of seventeen, thrilled the audience with his playing of Chopin's Waltz in C Minor, Fantasy-Impromptu, Nocturne in F Major and Polonaise in A-Flat.

His performance was hailed by the association members as one of the finest ever heard in Sanford.

Debusay's popular Clair de Lune and General Lavine were played by the artist along with Malaguna by Lecuona and Liszt's Tarentella.

George Gerahwin's Rhapsody in Blue and Three Preludes displayed the tonal beauty of his musical class.

The Three Marias: Aminta, Alhambra and Mistralha was played in the top three favorites with a light and lilting touch.

The artist then gave his variations of the "Anversary Waltz," including the way Beethoven Mozart and Chopin might have written it.

Preparations on these missiles in no way interfered with the Vanguard project, however.

Ministerial Assn. To Elect Officers Tomorrow Morning

The First Presbyterian Church will be the scene of the Seminole County Ministerial Association meeting Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

This is the last meeting of the fiscal year and new members will be elected at this time. All members are urged to be present for this important session.

Brown Is Named Board Chairman

Robert S. Brown was named Director of the Seminole County Zoning and Planning Commission by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners yesterday.

The appointment followed the recommendation of the Zoning and Planning Commission.

However, after approving funds for operation of the Planning and Zoning Commission, the Board of Commissioners requested the group to name a Building Inspector as early as practicable.

Col. S. G. Harriman, representing the Planning and Zoning Commission at yesterday's session outlined a $16,500 budget for the fiscal 1957-58. Director's salary was set at $6,000 with a $1,000 travel expense account; Building Inspector's salary was set at $5,000 with travel expense at $1,000; Secretary's salary was set at $2,500 and supplies and stationery at $1,000.

Brown's appointment is effective Dec. 9. The Board of Seminole County Commissioners terminated the service of John Fox as Director effective at midnight Dec. 8.

The Board of Commissioners took exception to Col. Harriman's statement that the Director would take care of inspections until a man for that office is employed and until the program got underway.

Commissioner John Krider asked "Isn't the Building Inspector a key man in the program?"

Col. Harriman explained that "he's not the key but he's very essential. Both men are essential," he said, "but both have different type jobs."

Harriman revealed that the Zoning and Planning Commission has three or four applications for Building Inspector under consideration.

Officials Refuse To Aid In Providing Fire Protection

Seminole County commissioners turned "thumbs down" on a request from the City of Sanford to assist in providing fire protection for the county areas outside of the city limits of Sanford.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles explained in a letter to the Board of County Commissioners that it took nearly $14,000 additional cost to maintain fire protection in the county area.

"There is no authority for the county commission to appropriate funds for such as this," County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr. explained to the commissioners.

He said "it is up to the people to setup a tax district to provide funds for fire protection in the areas outside of city limits."

Commissioner instructed the county's attorney to answer the letter from the City.

9-Year-Old Bags Six Point Buck

He's done it again!

A nine-year-old hunter broke all records with his Thanksgiving day bag of a six point buck.

Young David Pell, hunting on Thanksgiving Day with his uncle, Albert Pell and Joe Masters brought down the buck with his shotgun in the Farmington Hunting Area east of Osteen.

The youngster has proof that he fired the shotgun himself because, as he described it, was "black and blue" on his right shoulder. He used a 12 gauge single shot shotgun.

David said that when he hit the buck the first time he reloaded his shotgun and fired the second shot to stop the six-point deer.

He fired from a stump on which he was standing and brought his deer down about 9:30 Thanksgiving morning.

A hunter passing by on horseback said "I'll trade you my horse and saddle for that deer." Of course, David turned down the offer.

Weight of the buck was 100 pounds.

DAVID PELL, HIS SHOTGUN, and a six point buck he brought down in the Farmington Hunting Area about 9:30 a.m. Thanksgiving. David isn't quite as tall as his shotgun, and the buck is a little bit taller.

Mrs. F. Murray Receives Award

Mrs. Frances Murray of Sanford has been awarded a certificate of merit in the 1957 Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety.

The award was presented at a luncheon given in her honor at Pinecrest Inn yesterday.

A. E. Houck, publications representative of the Shell Oil Co. and T. H. Scobell, Shell Oil Co. representative of DeLand, made the award.

The award presented Mrs. Murray was one of seven in four states.

Attending the luncheon were: Mrs. Velma Mitchell, Anne Mitchell, Sanford Police Chief Roy Williams, Sheriff J. L. Hobby, Capt. Arnold Williams, Sergeant Ben Butler, Harold Heckenbach, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, Mrs. Alice Willink, and Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee.

Mrs. Murray was honored for promoting the organization of a bicycle inspection program in Sanford, a countywide mothers patrol at bus stops, and a boys patrol on school buses. Mrs. Murray is safety chairman of the County Council Parent Teachers Association.

The Carol Lane Awards, named for women's travel director of Shell Oil Co., are the only national awards recognizing the accomplishments of women in traffic safety. They are presented for significant contributions to the preservation of lives through development and direction of an effective traffic program.

Gary Is Re-Elected Mayor By Landslide

Incumbent Mayor M. L. Gary of Ovielo, appeared for the first time in 8 years in yesterday's Ovielo City Election, was elected by a landslide over his opponent Joseph Emmitt Priest.

Mayor Gary received 183 votes to his opponents 5. There were approximately 275 registered voters for the election.

The four incumbent councilmen who ran unopposed were elected. Joe L. Heasley received 171 votes; W. Rex Clovis 174; Karl Daul 176; and J. Y. Harris 174.

B. F. Wheeler Jr. who has served as councilman of Ovielo for a number of years did not seek reelection. His brother-in-law, William H. Martin bought the vacancy and received 169 votes.

Although his name was not on the ballot, Ben F. Ward Jr. received two write-in votes.

Law To Clamp Down On Violators

Sheriff J. L. Hobby of Seminole County, following a three day spree of traffic fatalities, injuries and property damage, issued strict orders to his entire staff of deputy sheriffs to "clamp down on traffic violators."

The Sheriff, yesterday, issued the "stricter" memo to his officers to write tickets on all violations.

"This spree of traffic accidents must stop," the Sheriff said and in order to keep our citizens from killing and hurting themselves "we will be constantly on the watch for every violation."

One man was killed and two injured in a highway crash on State Road 415 at the intersection of Brisson Ave. last Saturday afternoon; another man was killed Monday night at the intersection of Country Club Drive and the Old Lake Mary Road when two cars crashed, one man was injured in the accident. The sheriff also pointed out that two people were injured in a car-train collision in Longwood.

Along with the property damage, the fatalities, the injuries and suffering, Sheriff Hobby said, there is always the danger of hundreds more along the highways and roads of Seminole County.

"All of this must stop," he said, "and we are going to be watching around the clock in order to prevent motorists from running into one another."

Constable J. G. "Slim" Gallo-way, hearing of Sheriff Hobby's order, said "I am going to crack down on traffic violators along with the Sheriff's Department."

County Commission Sticks To Plat Law

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners yesterday "stuck to their plat law" and refused to approve six plats for Seminole County developments.

Commissioners, during the morning session, called for a check on each site by an engineer or contour maps provided, in order to pinpoint drainage.

County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr. advised commissioners "if you're going to have a plat law, abide by it, if not, do away with it."

The discussion developed when developers failed to provide the entire right-of-way for streets along their developed areas when adjacent areas "will probably never be developed."

Commissioner John Krider firmly stated "We will have 50 foot streets or we don't accept them."

The plat law requirements came up again for further discussion in the afternoon session of the board. Commissioner Krider stated

"We've been going along like this ever since I've been on the board... we're already enmeshed in our own laws."

However, County Attorney Cleveland again pointed out that the board of commissioners has never adopted a procedure by which the plat laws might be administered.

Commission Chairman Fred Dyson climaxed the discussion by appointing a committee "to provide a procedure" to which he named Commissioner John Krider as chairman, and as members: Commissioner Homer Little, L. P. Hagan, William Krauzert, Col. S. G. Harriman and County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr.

"We're trapped in our own laws," one commissioner commented. It will be up to this committee to provide a procedure by which plats might be examined, sites checked, and other necessary requirements met by developers before plats are presented to the Board of Commissioners for approval.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"For the month ahead with the news the story of the World."

Proper Sense Of Responsibility Necessary For Gift Of Firearms

The Christmas season is a time for friendly goodwill and pleasant fellowship. Part of the observance is an exchange of special gifts and greetings. It is an excellent opportunity to express our warm affection for members of our families and esteemed friends. For many youngsters it is a good chance to get the things they want. Christmas comes but once a year and children have persuasive methods of suggesting the gifts which they most desire. Some will want their own automobile. Some will want a bicycle. Others will have their heart set on a real gun for Christmas.

There is a historic tradition in America's attitude toward firearms. It represents a priceless freedom won by our forefathers which few other nations enjoy. It is reflected in the memorable stories of the early pioneers in their fight against wild animals, savages, and other hardships associated with the development of our nation. It lives in our history books and our literature. We find it in the movies, in radio, in television, and in active participation by millions of Americans in the shooting sports. Firearms are part and parcel of the precious heritage of our youth.

In early days, the ownership and use of firearms was necessary for survival. Today we do not depend upon them for our daily needs, but shooting continues to be an important segment of our activities. The change in the manner of living in our society, with the ever-increasing availability of leisure time, less focused attention on participation in activities such as hunting and target shooting. As more people avail themselves of these wholesome activities, these forms of recreation become a part of the normal lives of our children.

People Want Clear-Cut News Now

Why is it that some men who occupy high places in government are reluctant to trust people with the truth? This question is prompted by the pointless delay in revealing the "slight chill" suffered by President Eisenhower was in reality a mild stroke.

Even after the true nature of the President's ailment was disclosed, there was confusion as to its seriousness. Reporters were not permitted to interview the consulting physician. They sought in vain to get clear, direct answers to simple questions that were legitimate concern of the American people. The result was a welter of rumors and fears of the sort which the White House

All of our great wars have been fought in the main by citizens armies. Our system of national defense is based on a reasonably small military force and a large civilian reserve. In case of emergency, our young men are called into the Armed Forces and a firearm is placed in their hands. They are expected to use it. So long as this situation exists, our boys will want to own a gun and know how to properly use it. This, too, is normal.

Ownership of firearms by young people creates no problem so long as they have a sense of responsibility and a knowledge of guns. Like the automobile, a gun can be safe or dangerous depending entirely upon how well trained or how poorly trained is the person who handles it. Instruction in safe gun handling now is being given in shooting clubs, schools, and the youth groups throughout America. In most cases it is based on courses established by the National Rifle Association of America. Every parent should see to it that his boy or girl knows about firearms and firearms safety. Sooner or later they will be faced with a request for a real gun for Christmas.

In many homes there is at least one old gun closely associated with family history. It may be a flintlock from the Revolution, a cap-and-ball from the Civil War, or a modern military rifle. On the other hand, it may be merely an old rifle or shotgun which was someone's cherished possession. It is only natural that young people are interested in guns and want to include them among their personal possessions.

If your youngster has a proper sense of responsibility and knowledge of safe gun handling, give him a real gun. It will be for him a cherished possession.

Agriculture News

By CECIL A. TUCKER, II
Just because fall is here, don't put your ornamental plants on a starvation diet. If you want them to give their best for you plan to give them adequate fertilizer at all seasons of the year.

Extension Ornamental Horticulturist E. W. McElwee points out that we fertilize ornamentals to supply them with nutrients—the raw materials they use in their food manufacturing and growth processes. This, in turn, stimulates vegetative growth and flowering during the growing season; root growth during the dormant season and the growing season.

Timing is important in fertilization. Trees should be fertilized in early spring, when growth starts; shrubs in early spring, early summer and late fall, with perhaps another application in late summer if heavy rains follow early summer application; annuals and perennials and bulbs, at time of planting and two or three times during the growing season.

Another important consideration is how to apply the fertilizer. For trees, apply it in punch bar holes 12 inches deep and 18 inches apart, spaced under the entire canopy.

of the tree. Before planting shrubs, annuals, perennials and bulbs, broadcast the fertilizer evenly over the bed area, then work it into the top eight inches of the soil. After planting, water the area, broadcast the fertilizer for shrubs, perennials, and annuals, then water in the fertilizer. Bulbs, on the other hand, may be sidedressed.

For annuals and perennials, on average soils, Dr. McElwee recommends using one to one half pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed or 100 feet of row. Use nitrates as needed in spring and summer.

For shrubs, such as azaleas, camellias, bougainvilleas, hibiscus, gardenias, and crotons, use one to one half pounds of 8-8-8 per 100 square feet of area. Make four applications per year as indicated above.

For bulbs and bougainvillea Dr. McElwee recommends using one to one half pounds of 4-12-12 or 4-8-8 fertilizer per 100 square feet of row. Make one application before planting or per year for bougainvilleas. Sidedress bulbs two or three times during the growing season.

When fertilizing trees, use three pounds of 8-8-8 per inch of tree diameter for small trees—that is, those less than six inches in diameter. For large trees—over six inches—use five pounds per inch of diameter.

For more details or help with special problems or for bulletins on these subjects contact or drop by the county agricultural agent's office in the Court House.

Seminole County ranks 194th in total acreage planted to ornamental nursery stock in 63 Florida counties, according to the 1956-57 season State Plant Board inspection reports. This amounts to over a million plants planted on some 77 acres.

The first public weather service in this country was established in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1800.

Politics Must End At The Russians' Edge

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
We like to think of Florida as up and coming, a leader among the states. We enjoy reading accounts of the state's progress and development.

When someone speaks of Florida as "woolly backward," we immediately question the statement. When I opened a letter today from my friend Thomas Dreier, a member of the State Library Board and read the bald statement "Florida is woefully backward," I didn't like it.

For more years than I can remember Tom has been devoting a good deal of his time and resources to promoting libraries and his letter was to point out to me that Florida ranks 39th among the states as far as library facilities go.

Tom bemoans the fact that so many of our civic leaders show little interest in increasing the mental capacity of our citizens. A library can offer so much in the way of cultural advantage to every citizen and it is unfortunate that so many of us ignore this fact and show little interest in the subject.

Dr. John S. Allen, the very capable and likeable president of the new state university that is to be erected in Tampa, knows that an adequate library must be the heart of the institution.

When Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler started the University of California he said, "Give me a library and I'll build a university around it."

Dr. Allen holds this same view and in a recent press interview he said that the center of the campus, dominating it geographically and ideologically, will be the library, the highest building at the university. Into this building Dr. Allen is pouring his deepest thinking, his greatest academic love. "One of my first appointments will be the director of libraries. We must start immediately acquiring books but I want a building constructed for 250,000 volumes and capable of expansion. The University of Florida has 500,000 books.

"I want enough room for 2,000 seats. We can use the rooms for class work at first until expansion of the library itself is possible but I want the library under one roof for efficient and economical operation. I want open book stacks, easy of access to student," Allen said.

"It must be an exciting place, this library, offering modern facilities such as closed circuit television viewing rooms, music listening and language listening booths, are viewing rooms and projection rooms for documentary films we will keep.

The library building will be the heart of the campus and on its top floor I want a faculty lounge where instructors can go to enjoy a coffee break, to get to know each other better and become a working team," he concluded.

Just as a library is the very heart of a university, so should a library be the throbbing heart of a community, offering its citizens the information and the ideas they need for their mental growth and material success. With the proper public library system the mental capacity of the state will be increased and our citizens become better informed and better able to cope intelligently with the problems of business and everyday life.

Choose Frames Carefully For The Child's Glasses

By NORMAN H. BURNETT, M.D.

YOU have to use a great deal of care when purchasing glasses for your youngsters.

The eye specialist will make sure that the lenses correct the child's visual difficulties, but it's up to you to help him pick out the proper style of frames.

No kidding, children, remember, can be very cruel with their remarks, so you must be certain that the frames of your youngsters' glasses are really attractive and that they're being admired by their playmates instead of ridiculed.

For one thing, don't give a child spectacles that are too large for him for fear that he will outgrow the proper size.

Last A Year
Of course he'll outgrow them in time, just as he outgrows his shoes and clothes. But the many frames of a child's glasses have an average lifetime of about only a year, anyway.

So I think it's very smart to make your child look splendid just to save a few dollars.

Rounder Shapes

Answer: This condition is usually common in children, and generally lens shapes are best for them.

girls. It seems they emphasize the round lines of childhood in a warm feminine way.

For little boys, angular or squared lenses probably are advisable. Even though their faces have not yet developed the angular lines associated with masculinity, such lenses make them look grown-up and attractive.

Pulling Them Off
If your child keeps pulling off his glasses, attach a shoelace to the center of his hair to the temples behind the ears and then knot them at the back of his head.

You can do the same thing with little girls, except that I suggest you use a ribbon, instead of a shoelace, and knot it in a big bow.

Children like to do things by themselves. So you can help boost your youngster's morale by permitting him to select his own glasses frames from among several which you know are well-suited to him.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q: My son is constantly bringing food back up into his mouth and then swallowing it again. What causes this?

Answer: This condition is usually common in children, and generally lens shapes are best for them.

Mills Asserts Tax Cut For People Ruled Out For Now

NEW YORK (UP)—A key congressional Democrat declared today that new economic advances probably have ruled out a tax cut for the American people for the next four or five years and possibly longer.

The assertion came from Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, second-ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee which originates all tax legislation.

A close adviser on tax policy to Speaker Sam Rayburn, Mills played a major role in persuading Democratic leaders to consent to plans for a tax-cutting drive in the last session of Congress.

In a speech prepared for the American Tax Foundation, Mills made two major points:

The $1,500,000,000 budget surplus forecast by the administration in October for the current fiscal year is already disappearing and the government may wind up the year June 30 with a budget deficit.

Spending is running higher and revenue lower than anticipated. The space-age defense program being planned to meet the new Soviet challenge will result in a "prolonged rise" in defense spending. It could be accompanied by a resurgence of inflationary forces that would make it economically dangerous to cut taxes, even if a sizeable budget surplus should develop temporarily, before the full spending impact is felt.

Spinster Daughter Keeps 90-Year-Old Mother Prisoner

CHICAGO (UP)—A 90-year-old widow was held a virtual prisoner by her spinster daughter in an empty nine-apartment building with no light or heat and little food, a probate court hearing has revealed.

The mother, Mrs. Mattie Rice, widow of a Chicago grain broker, weighed only 63 pounds when police broke into the building and rescued her. She said she had only a few sips of milk for five days and begged police for food.

"I've been praying for a year that somebody would rescue me," she told authorities.

The bizarre case came to light Monday when Probate Judge Robert J. Dunne appointed a conservator for the estates of Mrs. Rice and her daughter, Dorothy.

Capt. Fremont Wester of suburban Oak Park police said authorities were summoned by neighbors to the Rice apartment building across the street from the exclusive Oak Park Club, on Nov. 22.

The neighbors said they heard Dorothy shrieking incoherently from a balcony of the just-struc-

News Of Men In Service

AUGSBURG, GERMANY (AHT-NC)—Army Specialist Third Class Leroy Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Route 2, Sanford, Fla., recently participated in a practice parachute jump with the 11th Airborne Divisions 187th Infantry in Germany.

Specialist Taylor, a clerk in the Infantry's Headquarters Company, executed the jump under simulated combat conditions.

Taylor entered the Army in July 1955 and arrived in Europe in March 1956.

He was graduated from Seminole High School in 1953.

Authorities forced their way past Dorothy and found the bedridden Mrs. Rice with her other spinster daughter, Marian, 33, lying dead in bed beside her.

Nester said Marian, who had suffered from epilepsy, apparently died of malnutrition and natural causes.

Dorothy has been committed to the Kankakee state hospital for the insane.

The apartment building, which could have provided the family with a substantial income, had been vacant since 1945 when Dorothy ordered the tenants to leave because she opposed rent control.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Patty Loop is a girl of diversified talents, especially as long as children are involved. Patty, who has one son, is the new den mother of Den 8, Pack 10, as well as the leader of Brownie Troop 205. She has no girls.

Results of both of these endeavors were seen last week in the Seminole Memorial Hospital, where a display of the First Thanksgiving was placed in the waiting room. The scene was made by Brownie and Cub Scouts, each working in their own group. Patty took the best of each for the group in the hospital. The details were perfect, right down to a tiny turkey made of clay, resting on a platter.

Don't forget books for the Pinecrest School Library. Books suitable for children in grades one through five are needed. While cleaning out closets, shelves, etc., for visiting Christmas relatives, think of the school. Living in Florida is wonderful, but since there are no attics most of our possessions are thrown out when we can no longer use them. Don't throw out those books! Call the school and someone will be glad to pick them up. If you do not wish to give them away, perhaps you might lend them during the school year.

Last year the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department put on a chicken barbecue that lingered long in the mind. With the proceeds they bought a good pair of a lovely fire engine that allows Lake Mary residents to sleep in peace. This year the enterprising Lake Mary citizens wish to build a home for their fire truck. So, they are having another barbecue.

Next Saturday night at the Chamber of Commerce, dozens of spicy hot chickens will be baked—along with cole slaw, baked beans, rolls and coffee. The price is reasonable, and the food delicious. Earl Toney and Cotton Brown are doing the honors with the birds. Serving starts at 5 p. m.

Fanchon and Mac McRoberts are back from their vacation in Pinehurst, North Carolina, where fortune smiled on them. It stopped raining when they wanted to play golf and rained when they wanted to sleep or relax. Pretty nice. Guess Earl Higginbotham knows a news story when he sees it—and his idea of news is the sight of Emily and Frank Woodruff having lunch together at one of the drugstores—and Frank paying for it. Earl needs to look around. Seems to me there's a lot of men taking their wives out to lunch every single day. I'll be the first to admit that I wish I were one of them.

While I don't have a lot of news tonight, perhaps I can tackle gently a subject which is being received with a difference of opinion. For years we have all put T. B. Christmas seals on our packages and cards. This year the T. B. Association did not join the United Fund Drive. We are sorry they did not, but they felt they had always done so well with seals that it was not necessary. It is our policy at this newspaper to support the United Fund Drive. We believe in it. However, there is no reason why we cannot put in a word or two for the good deeds done by the T. B. Association. If you intend to use your seals, please send what you can for them.

While I don't have a lot of news tonight, perhaps I can tackle gently a subject which is being received with a difference of opinion. For years we have all put T. B. Christmas seals on our packages and cards. This year the T. B. Association did not join the United Fund Drive. We are sorry they did not, but they felt they had always done so well with seals that it was not necessary. It is our policy at this newspaper to support the United Fund Drive. We believe in it. However, there is no reason why we cannot put in a word or two for the good deeds done by the T. B. Association. If you intend to use your seals, please send what you can for them.

Christmas Bazaar Under Direction Of Mrs. G. Keiter

CASSELBERRY—The annual Christmas Bazaar of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church will open at 12 noon on Saturday, Dec. 7 under direction of Mrs. George Keiter, general chairman.

Booths, offering for sale an assortment of home-baked goods, handmade aprons, doll clothes, fancy towels and many other items will be set up in typical bazaar manner. One of the feature items, in constant demand, according to Mrs. Wayne Smith, one of the chairmen, will be the "daddy-head" pillow. Hand painted, ruffled sets will be shown and one set will be devoted to flowers and plants and one to white elephant items.

The Christian Home Mission Society will serve a ham dinner, beginning at 8 p. m. All proceeds will go into the church building fund.

Mexican Pinata Broken At Birthday Party Given Friday

A Mexican pinata was broken Friday to climax the birthday party given for seven year old Jose Tully by his parents, Cdr. and Mrs. Joseph Tully. The pinata contained a clay pot filled with candy, gum, coins and favors. The boys took turns being blindfolded and swinging at the pinata with a stick in an attempt to break it. This is an old Mexican Christmas custom that has been adopted by other countries for almost any occasion.

Before breaking the pinata, the guests enjoyed games and a raffle. Attending were Collin Wood, Johnny and Jimmy Bent, Mark Hazlett, Tommy Day, Gene Ferguson, Jimmy Robbins and Allen Harkey.

Show Features Color, Fashions

The annual flower show of the Sanford Federated Garden Clubs opened today with all the color and excitement of the Christmas season.

The crystal lobby of the Mayfair Inn is magnificently decorated with brilliant Christmas trees. The ballroom is breathtaking, surrounded as it is with niches holding the efforts of Sanford's most talented arrangers. In the center of the room a huge gilded bird cage holds dozens of colorful, flashing tropical birds from Parrot's Paradise in Ormond Beach.

The fashion show, which was held at 1:00 p. m., followed the theme of the garden show, depicting types of beauties. Mary-Eather's Shop presented the models, with clever commentary by Frank Mebane, manager of the Mayfair Inn.

The models are Garden Club members chosen from each club. Each of them represented one of the classes in the flower arrangement schedule. Mrs. Ernest Mills was chosen as "The Country Girl", and was comfortably casual in a black and white plaid skirt and shirt of cotton. She carried a large black and white bag, and wore silver jewelry.

"Miss Florida of 1957" was Mrs. Joe Baker in a two piece white cotton with a softly pleated skirt and easy shirt. A touch of melon in a crushed cummerbund at the waist added the important touch of color. Mrs. Baker carried a white bag. Her jewelry was of white and pearl.

Mrs. Fred Ganas, "Miss Pixie of 1957", strolled through the lobby wearing a pair of print Bermuda shorts in muted tones. Her casual shirt of tan featured rolled sleeves. She wore a corduroy cap and a happy smile.

Chosen as "Miss Serenely" was Mrs. George Harden, who is indeed endowed with this quality. Mrs. Harden modeled a smoke gray wool jersey sheath, with a boat neckline and black diamond studs. She carried a small black clutch bag.

Glenda Brown Weds Darrell Cattrell

In a candlelight ceremony November 22 at the Naval Air Station Chapel, Miss Glenda Brown became the bride of Darrell L. Cattrell. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown of Sanford. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cattrell of Holton, Kansas.

Chaplain William C. Fuller officiated in the double ring service. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Frances Brown. Mrs. Brown also sang "I Love You Truly", and "Because".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was of white net over silk. The fingertip veil was attached to a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Andrews. She wore white lace and carried a pink bouquet. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Ann Phares, was matron of honor. Her gown was of pink lace, and she carried a white bouquet.

Best man for the groom was Donald G. Hanky. Ushers were Wallace Cress and William Gast. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown chose a blue dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

As the couple left the chapel they were saluted by sideboys, M. W. Nicolson, G. E. Ruetter, M. O. Stephenson, J. E. Shaken, R. S. Wedgeworth, A. E. Castaldi, J. E. Kreshak, F. Bardo, R. A. Pollock, T. Martin, E. B. Compton and W. R. Cress.

A reception followed the ceremony at the V. F. W. Hall in Sanford. Mrs. DeBora Gast served the cake. Mrs. Ruth Cress presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Connie Stevenson kept the guest book.

Audubon Society Hears C. R. Mason

The Seminole Audubon Society met at the Civic Building in Fort Mellon Park, Sanford, Monday evening, for its regular monthly business meeting. The guest speaker, C. Russell Mason, Executive Director of the Florida Audubon Society, gave a colored slide talk on the birds and their natural life in Cuba, Jamaica, and the Isle of Pines.

This tour, known as the Caribbean Tour, is the longest and without a doubt the most interesting of the many tours sponsored by the Florida Audubon Society. Delicious refreshments were served by the Geneva group.

Auxiliaries Plan Christmas Party For Hospital Staff

The Seminole Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and the Medical Auxiliary have joined forces to give a Christmas party for the hospital staff, December 17. The affair will be held at the hospital from 2:00 p. m. until 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. R. M. Blackwelder is chairman of the committee making the arrangements for the party. She will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Feyl, Mrs. A. B. Peterson Sr., Mrs. B. Mathers, Mrs. O. L. Barks, Mrs. W. E. Kirchhoff, Mrs. Charles Park Jr. and Mrs. Gordon Stanley.

Mrs. F. E. Roumillat Sr. president of the Hospital Auxiliary, and Mrs. Charles Park Jr., president of the Medical Auxiliary, will preside between the hours of two and three. Members of the board of trustees will also be present.

Plans were made for the party at a meeting held Monday at the hospital. At this time committee chairmen met with Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. Delyens and Mr. Wier to complete arrangements.

RANFORD GARDEN CLUB
By Mrs. A. W. Epps, Sr.
Rose Circle

Gardening is our most ancient profession. God created the first garden and ordered man to care for it. Since that time gardening, besides being most essential, is one of man's chief delights.

The Bible was our first best garden book. It begins with a garden and ends with a garden. Most of the events of great importance took place in gardens.

Even, "The world to come, Paradise" is an ancient meaning, park or pleasure garden.

There are many plants mentioned in the Bible. Some are hyacinths, violets, cyclamen, lupines, geranium, morning-glory, roses and anemones. Numbers of trees grow in our modern gardens are also spoken of.

God must have loved a garden for it was his first gift to man.

Now in Central Florida, we have our own natural garden of Eden, and it is our duty and privilege to protect and care for it.

Two-thirds of the plants grown in North America are to be found in Florida. Due to our varied soils and climates.

No other country can boast so great a variety in its wild flowers and in no other state are there so many plants of strange habits and remarkable characteristics.

Show me a true lover of nature and you'll show me a person who is never bored.

The chief delight of the plant hunter in Florida, is that on each day, something of interest can be found. Even in December, January and February, our coldest months, the woods are filled with brilliant flowers, berries, many varieties of fern and exquisite grasses, which may be used in flower arrangements.

It has been said, "With enthusiasm and a little knowledge, Paradise can be created."

Be sure to plant for the birds, for what could add more charm to your garden than the brilliance of the Cardinal, the call of the Quail, the cooing of the Dove, or the deep thrilled song of the Mocking Bird? The berry bearing plants and trees should be in every garden.

Have feeding stations and soon you'll have many boarders who loudly complain when neglected. Don't forget the bird bath for drinking and that greatly desired semi-private bath.

Most plants in our gardens will be happier if they're fed at intervals, watered, and well mulched, as nature does in the woods to protect shallow roots from the hot sun. What a joy to go out into your garden and gather flowers for your home, to sit or walk in your garden, alone or with friends and enjoy and share the beauty and perfume.

The joy of sharing your plants with your neighbor or friends, and most of all, the joy of solitary communion with your own soul—the quietness and closeness to nature that lets us understand why God gave Adam such a beautiful garden.

The most backward of all animals, the crayfish has its teeth in its stomach and its liver in its head.

Please Santa, Just Give Plain Mink

By GAY FAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Dear Santa:

I've just gone through a stack of Christmas wish books THAT high. And I think it's only fair to report there are some things a girl can do without.

Like most women, I wouldn't say no to mink, in the form of a coat or stole. But you can skip me when it comes to mink-trimmed clothes pins, mink charms on can openers, mink-covered back scratchers, monogrammed bedroom slippers with mink trim, and foam rubber coasters with mink tails. Chinchilla's a nice furs but I can get along without it in the form of a ski jacket at $350. Preferable, Santa, is a little Chinchilla evening wrap. The price is about the same.

No Dinosaur, Please
I don't want to sound ungrateful but I also can get along without a 12-foot stuffed dinosaur at $395, or dinosaur tracks at $12 to $45.

Go right past my stocking with such exotic goodies as baby bees and broiled sparrows. Just drop off a Smithfield ham.

My apartment is just fine without gimmicky dish and bar towels, novelty ash trays, silver telephones dialer, silver-based pin cushions, swizzle sticks with compass attachment, and household incense sprays in shocking pink cans with gold caps.

I spend enough time dish washing. Don't remind me of this with a bracelet charm of kitchen sink, with diamond drips of water, at $225. And I don't need an inflated gold toothpick at $10 or muff pistols with ivory handles, the pair for $175.

Suggestions for Santa
Frankly, Santa, if you want to make a hit with us girls, I'd offer these suggestions. It's a rare female who couldn't use another pair of white kid gloves—"shorties", unless she's a social gad-about who wears a lot of formal duds. We like books, records and perfume. But selection of perfume is difficult. . . better check in advance on favorite type of fragrance.

Treat us to the luxury of a new handbag, an opulent hostess robe,

Costume jewelry, if your tastes and mine are about the same. Or something real, like that diamond earrings, ring and necklace combination I found in one catalog for $47,550.

If all else fails, how about a gift certificate, a cruise, or round-trip ticket to almost any place. Come to think of it, Santa, what's wrong with money!

Clare B. Luce Gets Cordell Hull Award

NEW YORK (UP)—Clare Boothe Luce, playwright, onetime Congresswoman and former U.S. Ambassador to Italy, was named today as the recipient of the third annual Cordell Hull award for leadership in building U.S. foreign economic policy.

The award, to be presented at a public rally Dec. 10 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is sponsored by the Committee on Foreign Trade Education, Inc. It commemorates former Secretary of State Cordell Hull who in 1934 introduced the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program, designed to expand this country's trade with other nations by the reciprocal reduction of high tariffs and other barriers.

Previous recipients of the award are Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Paul G. Hoffman, former administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration.

ROCKET FISHING
FLEETWOOD, England (UP)—The crewmen of a British trawler reported after a fishing trip today that they caught a rocket—and threw it back. Edward Hood, skipper of the trawler Gula, said the plastic rocket was caught in the nets. He said the rocket's head fell off and displayed wires and mechanism. He said they threw it back because "we did not risk making a close examination."

Teen-Agers Make Or Break Pop Records

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Teen-agers make or break a pop record.

But strangely enough, although TV trots out a bushel of musical shows each week, only one is pitched right at the saddle shoes set—"American Bandstand."

ABC-TV, which launched the show on its network in August (it started as a local TV entry in Philadelphia five years ago.) beams it to 74 of its stations for 30 minutes each afternoon, Monday through Friday. The daytime show has proved so successful that, since October, the network also has staged a half-hour evening version each Monday.

No 'Maggie' Talent
The show's click with teen-agers is based on a simple formula: It shuns the high-priced, highly-publicized "When-You-and-I-were-Young, Maggie" talent that other network musicals offer so often.

Instead, "American Bandstand" zeroes in on the artists the kids are buying—Johnny Mathis, the Everly brothers, the Crickets, many of them names that don't mean much to square elder auditors.

"It's no secret that TV neglects the teen-ager," says Dick Clark, emcee of the show. "Even some radio stations have stopped programming for the kids. The situation exists because so many advertisers think the teen-agers lack buying power."

"But, of course, anybody who knows teen-agers knows that's nonsense. In any family, the teen-ager influences the purchase of the car, the toothpaste, the breakfast cereal that, goes into that family. And he sets the styles for things—in music, in fashion, for example."

Commands Loyal Audience
At 27, the baby-faced Clark commands a pretty loyal audience. One trade weekly ("Variety"), he pointed out, recently called him "the number one hit maker in the nation." Clark returns that loyalty.

"I think it was Mitch Miller who said the teen-ager likes rock 'n' roll because nobody else does," says Clark. "The teen-ager would like to be thought of as belonging to a distinguishable group. He wants an identity of his own."

"He thinks like an adult, but he thinks of different things. He's not concerned too much with making a living as adults are. His concerns are things like the high school football team, music."

"His heroes? Well, in music, Ricky Nelson and Sal Mineo. Elvis Presley is still big. And there's Jerry Lee Lewis and Fats Domino. With the exception of Fats, who is 29, they're all pretty young—the kids can identify with them. They buy Pat Boone, too, but they don't get excited about him. He's sort of solid bread—the Frank Sinatra of this generation."

On the whole, 96 per cent of our kids are well-mannered, well-adjusted people. It's the two per cent who have stirred up all the trouble—something many adults fail to consider. I remember once on my show I read a statement about young people being unfilial, disrespectful. . .

"You know who wrote the statement? Socrates, in 400 B. C. Even then, the older generation was complaining about the kids."

Shirley Jones Is Back In Business

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Morieland's greatest disappearing act features Shirley Jones, the blonde nifty who starred in the biggest movie musicals of all time—"Oklahoma" and "Carousel"—and then vanished as if through a trap door.

Touted for stardom and riches, Shirley's boyish good looks left the public cold. For more than a year after completing "Carousel" (which laid an egg) Shirley was just another one of the Jones girls. A flash in the pan.

She couldn't get a walk-on in a Bowery Boy epic.

Now Shirley's back in business with Pat Boone in a new picture and her career is on the upgrade once again.

How come?
"I've lost my baby fat," Shirley answers frankly.

Apple-Cheeked, Corn Fed
"I used to be apple-cheeked and corn-fed. The milk maid type isn't stylish any more, and I looked as if I'd just left the farm. It's a disadvantage for a girl to appear well-fed these days."

To compete with the Audrey Hepburns and Ann Blythes, Shirley has lost seven pounds. Doesn't sound like much, but she's also managed to rearrange her curves.

Two years ago her measurements were 36-34-35. Now she's slimmed down to a less buxom 34-21-33.

"I was only 19 years old when I made 'Oklahoma,'" she laughed, "and I still had some of that teenage chubbiness. I didn't have much acting experience, either."

Theater, TV Preparation
"Since then I've studied drama and worked in New York theater and TV to help prepare me for the movies."

On the whole, 96 per cent of our kids are well-mannered, well-adjusted people. It's the two per cent who have stirred up all the trouble—something many adults fail to consider. I remember once on my show I read a statement about young people being unfilial, disrespectful. . .

"You know who wrote the statement? Socrates, in 400 B. C. Even then, the older generation was complaining about the kids."

America Ready For Religious Revival: Barnes

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — A top Protestant official said today America is ready for a religious revival, but it hasn't had one yet.

Dr. Roswell P. Barnes, associate general secretary of the National Council of Churches, said Christians have no right to be "complacent" about the "widespread interest in religion that has swelled U.S. church membership to an all-time high of more than 100 million."

Instead of basking in their own statistics, he said, churches should address themselves to the tremendous task of leading their new members beyond a vague "faith in faith" to genuine "obedience to God and acceptance of his proffered salvation through Jesus Christ."

In a major address before 2,000 delegates to the National Council's triennial general assembly, Barnes cited many aspects of national life which prompt "humble reflection on the actual state" of religion in America.

"The incidence of crime has reached a new high, the national divorce rate is a scandal and alcoholism and narcotics addiction have become a widespread menace to health and morals."

Frenzied Fear
On an even deeper level, Barnes said, "the reaction of our nation to the Soviet's recent launching of satellites has been alarmingly revealing."

In "frenzied fear and jealousy" of the Russian scientific achievement, America has come "dangerously" close to throwing overboard its own "standards of value" and adopting the "materialistic" Communist belief that technological progress is the only thing of "fundamental importance."

The Rev. Dr. O. Fredericke Nolde, director of the commission of churches on international affairs told the assembly Monday night that the gravest danger to world peace "lies not in fantastic scientific achievements but in fantastic human reactions."

Russia's reaction to the successful lifting of two space vehicles, he said, was a "boastful offer of a rocket shooting match." America's reaction was "a belittling fear, an unhappy effort to maintain prestige" and a drive for "extremist counter-measures."

"We seem to be acting like spiritual adolescents at a time of scientific maturity," Nolde said.

2,000 New Churches
President Eisenhower sent the assembly a message of greetings by the Rev. Frederick Fox, congregational minister now serving as a speechwriter on the White House staff. Fox said the President hopes that America's churches will "speak up clear and strong" to remind the nation of its moral responsibilities in the recent world situation, and will voice "judgment as well as praise" of national policies.

Other developments at the assembly:
Council leaders reported that the United States must build 2,000 new churches a year for the next 20 years to keep up with population growth. They estimated that 900 million dollars will be spent on church building in 1957 and more than one billion dollars next year.
New York attorney Charles Parlin, a member of the World Council of Churches central committee, said the phenomenal rate at which the world's population is growing confronts all Christian bodies with the question of "reappraising their position on birth control."

COUNTING CARS
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The Florida road department has assured suspicious motorists in Tallahassee that two big radar units which appeared on city streets were counting cars, not checking up on speed. "As far as I know, we are the first state road department in the nation to use radar for counting vehicle flow," said Engineer Mel Conner.

Indians attacked Deerfield, Mass. in 1704 killing 40 settlers and abducting 100.

WILL TRACK U. S. SATELLITE—Workers rush to completion at Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the five radar antennas being erected to track the U. S. test satellite scheduled for launching next month. Each will have a range of 1,000 miles. They are being placed on a 5,000-mile route stretching from Florida to the Ascension Islands.

Committee Formed To Improve Math, Science In School

COMMITTEE 28-3 IWS.
TALLAHASSEE (UP) — Gov. LeRoy Collins reported Monday night that Florida is taking steps to get more high school students interested in the study of science and mathematics.

In his monthly radio report to the people, Collins said a state committee has been formed to seek means of improving high school instruction of science and mathematics and for encouraging more students to consider careers in these fields.

The committee was set up by the Florida Nuclear Development Commission, he said. It resulted from recommendations made at a work conference on nuclear energy held at St. Petersburg last August.

Collins said recent Russian successes with Sputnik has taught his country that more emphasis must be placed on the science teacher.

In our school system to teach scientific subjects in proportion with other subjects," he said, "but the question is whether or not our scientific effort is in keeping with the urgencies and realities of life in the present world situation."

The governor declared that "nuclear reactors are as much a part of education as Shakespeare, and the educated person must know something of each."

The governor also discussed briefly Florida's expanded promotional program to lure new residents, tourists and industries, and again issued a warning to motorists to be careful as the Christmas season approaches.

One-Act Play Night Slated In Oviedo

OVIEDO—The annual One-Act Play Night, formerly known as Stunt Night, which is always looked forward to with much eagerness by the Oviedo citizens, will take place on Wednesday night, Dec. 5, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

This event was to have been earlier but was postponed due to so much flu.

Paul Mikler's seniors will present "The Farmer's Daughter." The eleventh grade, with Miss Kathleen Watt directing, will present "Father Says No." Mrs. Lucy Smith's tenth graders will be right there pitching with "Mama's Getting Married." The ninth graders will be in the between act skits. A good time is promised for all who attend. Get your tickets early and plan to be on hand to join in the fun and the applause for the winners.

Council Authorizes Fire Dept. To Join County Association

At the regular monthly meeting Monday night the Oviedo Town Council authorized the Oviedo Fire Dept. to join the Seminole County Firemen's Association. Councilman W. R. Clout reported that Fire Chief T. L. Lingo recommended that this action be taken.

Municipal election was set for Tuesday, Dec. 3. Mayor Lee Gary, who has served in that capacity for eight years, was the only candidate to have opposition. His opponent, Emmett Priest, is a foreman at Lake Charm Fruit Co. Gary is an independent celery farmer.

Seeking reelection for council seats were Karl Paul, W. R. Clout, Joe I. Beasley, and Young Harris. Completing the ballot was W. H. Martin, a new councilman. B. F. Wheeler did not seek reelection.

City Clerk T. L. Lingo, Sr. announced that 236 citizens are registered to vote. Polls were opened at the City Hall at 8 a. m. and closed at sundown. Officials on duty were Thomas Daniel, T. L. Lingo Sr., and Mrs. Mae King.

Gun Club Will Hold 1st Practice Shoot Tuesday, Dec. 10

The re-organized Seminole Gun Club held a meeting last night at the commission room at City Hall with about 30 attending.

The club which was originally chartered in 1940 has been inactive since and was just recently re-organized.

It was announced that the first practice shoot would be held behind the Sanford Police Station Tuesday, Dec. 10, starting at 3 p. m. Those taking part are asked to bring their own ammunition but the police department will furnish hand guns.

Cdr. V. S. Brewster of the Sanford Naval Air Station was present and announced that in behalf of Captain Arthur the club is invited to have the Herb Parson shooting exhibition in February at the NAS pistol range.

Bill Bush, secretary, said today that anyone in the county over 16 years of age interested in safe shooting as a hobby is invited to join and may do so by contacting him.

Services Are Held Today In Chapel For Chief Dobbins

Memorial services for Chief Floyd E. Dobbins were held in the NAS Station Chapel at 11:45 yesterday. Services were conducted by Father Nilus W. Hobbie, Catholic Chaplain.

Funeral services for Chief Dobbins were held this morning at 10 o'clock in the St. Catherine Church in Sebring. Chief Petty Officers in HATU, shipmates of Chief Dobbins, served as the pallbearers and NAS furnished a firing squad. A large number of personnel from HATU attended Chief Dobbins' funeral.

Kelly Services Held Yesterday

Memorial services for Chief William H. Kelly were held in the NAS Station Chapel at 2 o'clock yesterday. Services were conducted by Chaplain William C. Fuller, Protestant Chaplain.

Funeral services for Chief Kelly were held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Fairchild Funeral Home in Orlando.

Chief Kelly is to be buried at sea from the USS Forrestal.

ARMY IDENTIFIES VICTIMS

AIKEN, S.C. (UP)—Three soldiers who died at a motel here Sunday of carbon monoxide poisoning were identified by Army authorities at Fort Gordon Ga. Monday. They were: Rodney Danderson, 18, of Corpus Christi, Tex.; Norman Robert, 19, San Diego, Calif.; and Edward L. Lloyd, 18, Detroit, Mich.

Big

Anthony, Bob Crumley and George DeMatteo.

Each section featured a high school band. Section seven carried two bands in the unit with Crook's Academy High School Band in the lead and the Apopka Colored High School Band closing the section.

Thirteen bands marched in the parade, all of them dressed in their colorful school uniforms with drum majors and majorette corps dressed in Christmas costumes practicing to martial music for the entertainment of the thousands of children on hand to witness the biggest event of its kind in Sanford.

Early morning showers brought fear, at first, that the parade would be marred by dampness, but as the time for the parade grew near, and as if in respect to Santa Claus and his only brief visit with the children here, the rains pushed back and left streets dry for the two-mile long event.

There were more than 50 floats featured in this afternoon's annual Jaycee - Merchants Association Christmas Parade extravaganza. Schools from all over the county entered floats.

Gay-colored balloons were being said up and down the parade route in order to provide funds for a Christmas Shopping tour for the children of Lutheran Haven in Slavia. Proceeds from the balloon sales go into the fund which is divided among the children and with which Christmas gifts are bought for each other.

The crowds today were bigger than ever before and the parade the longest in the annual event's history.

Climaxing the parade this afternoon was Santa Claus, riding on a brand new float and preceded by a float entered in the parade by the Sanford-Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Santa arrived in time for the parade by a Navy Jet bomber dispatched to the North Pole to bring the Jolly Old Gentlemen here for the visit.

Road Dept. To Get New Machinery

The Seminole County Road Department will have new machinery with which to operate in the near future, according to action taken by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners at yesterday's meeting.

The board approved the advertising for bids on one 4 1/2 yard dragline, one diesel wheel tractor, and one seaman tiller.

Bids will be opened at the first meeting in January.

Two pieces of old equipment will be traded in when the new items are approved for purchase. One seaman tiller and an Allis Chalmers tractor will be traded in on the new equipment.

In other action by the commission an appropriation was approved for $1,000 to the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce. M. L. Naborn Jr., president of the Jaycee organization, requested "the same appropriation be set aside as last year."

Commissioners approved the purchase of a letter opener by the Seminole County Tax Collector's office. John Galloway told the board "I don't see how we have gotten along without it."

Cost of the mechanical letter opener is $219.53. Payment for the machine will come out of excess fees.

Homecoming At Children's Home Termed Successful; New Officers Are Elected

ENTERPRISE—The annual homecoming at the Florida Methodist Children's Home on Thursday was declared a successful one by Rev. Basson Carlton, Superintendent of the Children's Home.

There were more reservations this year than ever before, he said. There were 120 attending, along with their families, by reservation and a number came without reservations.

Homecoming ceremonies began with a worship service at Barnett Memorial Church at 11 a. m. with Rev. Ed Kircher of Oakland Park who was a former pastor here as guest speaker.

Special music by both the junior and senior choirs was provided for the event.

A barbecue dinner was served on the campus of the Florida Methodist Children's Home. Following the dinner a period was set aside for reminiscing and chatting.

The following officers were elected at the annual alumni meeting: Marvin Homer of Jacksonville was named president; Thomas Priddy of Jacksonville was elected as 1st vice president in charge of projects; Paul Hutchins of Starke was named 2nd vice president in charge of membership; Thomas Bruce of Gainesville was elected 3rd vice president; Margaret Kollof Allman, Osteen, was named secretary; Howard Bruce of Sanford, treasurer.

The project for the year will be to furnish transportation for the children of the home to their vacation place at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

Baptists Elect 9 More Deacons

The First Baptist Church recently elected nine additional deacons. They are: Donald Knight, Bennie Austin, Melvin Dekle, W. D. Gunter, L. B. Hoop, W. A. Kratzert, Gene Estridge, Irving Pryor and G. B. Drake.

These will be ordained as deacons on next Sunday evening at the evening service. This brings the total number of active deacons in the First Baptist Church now to forty-two. The deacons of the church will have their next regular monthly meeting on Monday night January 6th at 7 p. m.

Training Classes Held At Church

Christian service training classes are now in progress at the Church of the Nazarene, corner of 2nd St. and Maple Ave.

The text of the course is "Essential Christian Beliefs." Co-instructors of the classes are the Rev. R. H. Spear Jr. and E. W. Duane Fessenden.

The public is invited to attend this course.

Sybil Holcombe Completes Basic Training In WAC's

(AHTNC)—WAC Pvt. Sybil J. Holcombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Holcombe, 1303 W. 20th St., Sanford, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Ala.

Private Holcombe is a 1937 graduate of Seminole High School.

Application Is Made For Permit To Build Bridge

An application has been made to the Department of the Army by the State Road Department for a permit to construct a fixed highway bridge across the St. Johns River about one mile south of Lake Harney in Seminole County.

The proposed concrete bridge would be about 1200 feet long, and would consist of 39 spans. The span over the channel would provide a horizontal clearance of 50 feet between fenders, measured at approximately a right angle to the axis of the river's channel, and a vertical clearance of 25 feet above mean low water. The bridge would have a 23-foot clear roadway with a 3-foot curb on each side.

Plans of this work may be seen at the office of the District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, 573 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville.

There will be no public hearing on the application. However, any protests will be received at the office of the District Engineer on or before Dec. 20.

Books Banned

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—The best-selling novels "Payton Place" and "The Revolt of Mamie Stoverson" were banned Tuesday by the city Board of Review. Both books, written by Grace Metalous and William Bradford Huie, were ruled obscene and unfit for sale here by the board.

NUN BURIED IN UGANDA

KAMPALA, Uganda (UP)—Franciscan nun "Mama Kevin," who died recently in Boston, Mass., has been buried near Kampala in the grounds of the convent she founded. Baganda tribesmen, who loved the gentle nun, raised a fund to bring her body from Boston where she retired after 39 years of work among Uganda Africans.

Oviedo Lions Beat Mount Dora 59-39

The Oviedo Lions defending State Class B Champions won their second basketball victory of the season last night by defeating Mount Dora 59-39.

This was the opening game of the season for the Dorans.

Center 6 foot 4 Carl Fabry led the Oviedo Lions with 22 points. Andy and Mike Duda lent a helping hand to their teammates by busting 11 and 13 points respectively. Ronnie Parker and Edward Woodham led the Golden Hurricanes with 12 and 10 points each.

The Oviedo Lions will play their first home game with St. Cloud Friday night. They hope a large local turnout will be on hand to support the team.

Estridge Elected Worshipful Master Of FGAM Lodge

I. E. Estridge was elected Worshipful Master of the Sanford Lodge 42 FGAM for the year 1958 at a regular Communication held last night at the local Masonic Lodge.

Other officers for the lodge, named in the elections last night, were: Woodrow W. Cash, Senior Warden; Edwin O. Keith, Junior Warden.

L. T. Shoppard was reelected treasurer and Frank L. Miller was reelected as secretary.

Appointive officers will be named later and installed on Dec. 27.

Boosters Urge Fans To Support Game In Cocoa

By JERRY COVINGTON
W. W. Tyre, president of the Seminole Boosters Club, announced that the club will not plan a motorcade in the Cocoa game but would like for all club members and fans to plan to travel with the team for this last regular game of the season.

Tyre would like for all club members to meet and sit in a body at the game. The kickoff time is set for 8 p. m. so it would be advisable to leave around 6 p. m. in order to be seated for the kickoff.

The Boosters also plan a huge motorcade to travel to the Brahmans Bowl game this Saturday night. They plan to decorate all the cars and carry a big crowd with the fighting Seminoles. The club voted at the last meeting to share the expenses of filming the parade. This is just one of the many fine things that they have done throughout the season in making the SEMI football program more successful.

With basketball underway this week, they are planning various things to boost this lagging program. The club is also footing the bill for the schedule posters that will be distributed in the various stores in the community.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FEALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Erwin S. Barrie, a golf nut who was studied 26 years in his ambition to be either a famous painter or golfer, finally has made it both ways by swapping his brassie for a brush and easel.

Barrie's was an unfortunate case for years because he was in the formal position of being a fine artist who represented other artists. Naturally, if he sold his own paintings they probably would have taken it kindly.

But at long last he has hit the jackpot simply because there aren't many good painters who are golfers and not many good golfers who are painters.

Palms Golf Hole
So Barrie has painted 55 famous golf holes he has played and they are in a fair way to becoming collectors' items. Which makes him famous, at long last, as an artist and also as a figure of note in the game of golf.

His works, as example, are in the private collections of such famed golfing figures as President Eisenhower and Bobby Jones. A number of them are on exhibition at Pinehurst, which is among the fabled courses he has painted along with such others as St. Andrews, Augusta, Apawamis, Yale University, Saucon Valley, Sleepy Hollow and Winged Foot.

Three of the golf holes he has painted—the 14th at Pine Valley, the 5th at St. Andrews and the 10th at Augusta—are being reproduced by Spalding this year for their Christmas packages. It is a move which promises to help make Barrie's paintings of golf rank with the boxing masterpieces of George Bellows and the sculling art of Thomas Eakins.

Success At Last
It is rather late recognition, because Barrie is 71. The nice part is that he doesn't look it for the sturdy little man has a shock of steel gray hair, twinkling blue eyes, ruddy cheeks and a young man's spring to his step.

The Yardstick

By JERRY COVINGTON
The fabulous Sanford Seminoles go into their final week of football possessing one of the most outstanding records ever to be compiled by any Sanford team. They have rolled up 1872 yards rushing while the great defense has held nine opponents to 351 yards on the ground. The offense has scored 129 points while the opponents have been held to a scant 24.

Co-Captain Eddie Barbour picked up another TD last week against DeLand to maintain his lead in the scoring department. He now has a total of 54 points. In total yards gained, halfback Johnny Yeackle regained the lead from Barbour with a total of 436 yards for 115 carries. Bob Johnson has made a rapid increase to share second place with Barbour with 415 yards. Johnson has been the leading ground gainer in the last three tilts.

In the passing department, quarterback Cecil Dandridge, has maintained a solid 442 average completing 27 out of 61. Cecil has also maintained a 35.3 yard punting average for the season. Billy Tyre has done well in the extra point department with a .474 average for the year. His kicking has improved steadily since the beginning of the season and it is possible that his toe may be the difference in the last two contests.

In the defensive department the bulk of the tackles are shared by several. Billy Tyre and Dave Stanley are tops and are closely followed by Claude Hittell, Tom Brown, Allan Swaim, and Eddie Barbour.

Mayfair Inn Open To Draw National Attention For City

By JERRY COVINGTON
Starting next Monday, Dec. 9, the eyes of the golfing world will be focused on the beautiful Mayfair course here in Sanford. With all the top golfers in the world participating, newspaper men from every section of the country will be on the spot to give Sanford and the San Francisco Giants wonderful publicity. The word, Sanford, will appear in all the leading newspapers and sports magazines in the United States.

Besides all the scabes and players from every section, there are dozens who follow the circuit just as a baseball fan follows his favorite team.

Orlando's Dave Ragen has committed and Frank Boynton, also of Orlando, will be trying for the big money. This enormous $15,000 tourney has a top prize of $2,000 and with this great feat, it is impossible to say who will take it.

Favorites in the tourney are Doug Ford, second money winner for the year, Frank Stranahan, who has done well here for the last two years, and Sanford's own playing pro, Jay Hebert.

Jap found himself this year on the tour-winning the Bing Crosby Invitational and the Dallas Open. He is a picture swinger and stands a good chance of taking the honors this year. While Jay was on his winning streak, Sanford held national recognition daily in the sports world. A native of Louisiana, Jay carries the name of the Mayfair and Sanford on his golf bag and it is seen throughout the famous clubs of the country. He is a credit to the Giants as well as the city.

With events such as this, or fair city cannot miss. The progress of the Mayfair has been tremendous and this third Annual PGA event brings a great deal of prestige to our town each year. The Giants and Frank Mebane have done a wonderful job and everyone should plan to support this event to the fullest.

Fighting Seminoles Seek Another Win Tomorrow Night In Tilt With Cocoa

By JERRY COVINGTON
Sporting a 7-1-1 record and a bowl invitation, the Fighting Sanford Seminoles travel to Cocoa tomorrow night in an effort to add another impressive win to the already great record. Possessing one of the best defensive records in Central Florida the Seminoles stand as a slight favorite to take the tie.

Coaches Jim Figgitt and Dave Laude have spent time in practice sessions working on the offense in an effort to develop the scoring punch needed to take this last regular contest of the season. Although the Tigers have been up and down this season the coaches are well aware of the fact that they possess the potential to upset an outstanding club such as Sanford.

With much weight resting upon the rock-like defensive line it should mean the difference in these two final contests. Led by Co-Captain Billy Tyre and Senior Claude Hittell, the locals have managed to hold such teams as Melbourne and Apopka this season to a minimum of yardage. Junior ace, Dave Stanley and big Tom Brown have also been great in their defensive efforts.

The offense has come a long way this season and has moved up in recent contests to share the lime-light with the defense. Quarterback Cecil Dandridge will lead his backfield of Barbour, Yeackle, and Johnson, in tomorrow night's contest and they are solid favorites to outplay the Tilt backfield. With Dandridge handling the brain work, Barbour, Yeackle, and Johnson have equally shared the task of gaining yards for the local cause.

The success of this game should be the indication, one way or the other, of what the Seminoles will do against the Bishop Mike Horvath of Orlando. Let's plan to travel tomorrow night when this fine squad of boys invades this east coast team of the OBC. Kickoff time is set for 8:00 P. M. GOOD LUCK SEMINOLES!!!

Dr. Lewi Almost Made 100th Birthday

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The 100th birthday anniversary of one of the prodigious men of our time slipped by Sunday—and it was a shame he couldn't have lived to celebrate it with his customary cigars, scotch, wine, beer, and flavorful talk of high times past. Dr. Maurice J. Lewi almost made it. He lived—and worked, and played—into his 100th year. He had figured that when that century birthday anniversary came around at last, the college which he had founded would throw a luau of a banquet for him. He would have made it, too, except for an accident at his office. He slipped and broke his arm. Three months later, he fell stepping from a taxi and broke the same arm and became bed-ridden. He died last May 27, two weeks after having addressed a dinner by amplified telephone.

His Activity Amazing
His activity was amazing. Until near the end, he presided daily as head of the New York College of Podiatry, which he, an M. D., founded in 1912. A gracious gentleman with clear blue eyes, old-fashioned stand-up collar, cigar a-jangle between two fingers, he rocked in a swivel chair at his rollicked desk and spoke in well-rounded sentences, as if reading from a book.

He was the oldest active practitioner of medicine and education in the United States. Into his 100th year he: lived alone in a hotel, took a bus to work, made speeches, smoked eight cigars a day, ate "everything," had scotches before, and dry chablis during, dinner; played poker and whist three times weekly at the New York Bridge-Whist Club (which he mentioned in 1906), attended meetings of the Albany Society of New York (which he founded in 1903) and—

Most nights just before midnight he arrived at Tony's Italian Kitchen, across the street from his hotel, and hung out there sometimes until closing, mixing cheese, crackers, and scotch highballs with beer cocktails. "My associates know where to find me," he would say.

He bobbed with Editors
Dr. Lewi was a wit of repute. He bobbed with newspaper editors and once wrote editorials, his native Albany, N. Y. He knew just as a sideline to medicine, in six U. S. presidents personally, two of them intimately, and was mentioned in Teddy Roosevelt's autobiography.

When he was eight, he saw Abraham Lincoln in his coffin—"probably the most spiritual thing in my life—I can see that face yet," he told me once, "gaunt... homely... but there was something in it really spiritual, even in death."

To us into Dr. Lewi's achievements and experiences would take a book. He wrote medical treatises, as secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners in 1922 cleaned up New York City of illegal practitioners, attended the post mortem of McKinley's assassin after being a medical witness at the execution, wrote verse, created jokes...

"I hope," he wrote me once, "you will experience the yen at an early date to pay me a social visit." His language had a charm of its own.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE
It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart."

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is left to appreciate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE
Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Many Seek Expense Account Oasis

By FRED DANING
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Many a corporation has sought relief from the heat of taxation by seeking the shade of an expense account oasis.

It remains for our tax collectors to police the oasis and adjust the shade.

In examining expense accounts, the government tries to separate personal and business expenses. It's not easy, especially in the category of "travel and entertainment," otherwise known as "T and E." Some examples:

—An aircraft company in California owns a plane and a yacht. Company officers use the plane for week-end hunting trips. The yacht is used for company-sponsored fishing trips.

—A company assigns a deserving executive to a branch office conveniently located at a resort such as Miami Beach. He spends the winter there. Turns out the branch office is a myth. The vacation isn't.

—A company pays for an executive's country club membership, gives him a home to live in, or pays his athletic club dues.

Diner's Card Absent

Many companies supply their executives with membership cards in the Diner's Club, a post-war master credit plan now serving more than 500,000 members. Tax agents recently discovered four Diner's Club members who met for lunch every day and rotated the check, charging it off to business. This abuse of a legitimate service is what the tax collectors try to stop.

No figures are available on just how much money is deducted each year for "T and E." One study of a medium-size corporation revealed that about one-fourth of 1 per cent of its expenses fell under this category.

According to the Tax Foundation, $8,600,000 individual tax returns were filed in 1956, along with $96,000 corporate tax returns, for a total of $9,400,000. Of this total, 4,300,000 returns were examined by the government and 2,400,000 taxpayers were called in to talk things over.

Whipping Extra Revenue

The government picked up an additional $1,100,000,000 from these audits.

You get some idea of how much money is tied up in "T and E" in a tax agent estimate that about one-half of all people called in to prove deductions have suspicious-looking "T and E" totals. "There must be a business purpose for the expenses you deduct," said this official. "At the same time," he added, "corporations have a wide range of judgment as to what expenses are calculated to advance the business. The government has no right to tell them how to spend their money.

"I doubt if we'll ever reach a satisfactory solution to the problem," he concluded.

The porpoise looks like a skinny, fat pig, but it can travel at speeds up to 30 miles an hour and make right angle turns at high speed.

FOUR MORE FOUR

More than seven million barrels of crude oil are produced daily.

15,000 Jam Streets To See Yule Parade

At least 15,000 people jammed the streets of Sanford yesterday to watch the Jaycee-Merchants Association Christmas Parade. It seemed as if people from every direction waited to see this year's appearance of Santa Claus in Sanford for they came from the north, south, east and west. Yesterday's parade has been acclaimed the finest ever presented in Sanford. With streets lined from the beginning of the parade route to the very end the crowds grew bigger as time for the start of the parade grew near. Many children and adults began arriving downtown as early as 2 o'clock to get good locations from which they could see the parade to an advantage. More than two miles long, the parade took over an hour to move through downtown Sanford and 15 blocks. Children and adults taking part in the first part of the parade were downtown in time to see the last half. Judges were viewing the parade from First Street and Magnolia Avenue where the reviewing stand was located. Every available parking facility on streets off the line of march was jammed with automobiles. Cars were parked for blocks around in every direction from the center of the city. Parade Marshall Herbert Stenstrom started the parade off with a blast from sirens and the first step from the starting point was exactly at 4 p. m. Heading the line of march were Police Chief Roy G. Williams, Florida Highway Patrolman Olan Garrett, Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans, and cars carrying city commissioners, county commissioners and President Clifford McKibbin and Manager John Kridler of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Roborn Jr. and Merchants Association President Frances Roumillat. Assistant Parade Marshalls were in charge of every parade section. There were 13 sections with bands and floats spaced evenly throughout the long pre-Christmas extravaganza. Leading the parade with martial Christmas music was the Seminole High School Band preceded by prancing majorettes dressed as Santa's reindeer with "Rudolph" in the lead. The Sanford Naval Air Station was well represented in yesterday's annual event. The colors were carried by a Marine Corps color guard, followed by Marine Corps and Navy marching units. Floats, this year, drew a tremendous applause from the thousands of adults and children lining the parade route. They were more colorful, more expressive, and certainly far more attractive than they had ever been. Brownie Scouts and Boy Scouts were represented in the parade with marching units. Boy Scouts also furnished the manpower to pull the small floats decorated by the 13 bands taking part in the gigantic Christmas Parade. In addition to the Seminole High School band, majorettes and Pep Club, there were bands representing DeLand High School, Seabreeze of Daytona, Sanford Junior High School, Winter Park High School, Leesburg High School, Lyman High School, Mount Dora High School, Florida Military Academy, and Apopka High School. Also taking part in the parade were bands from Crooms Academy and from the Apopka Colored High School. Up and down the route of the parade, Jaycees sold gay colored balloons. Even before the parade was half over, Balloon Chairman Bob McKee announced that all of the balloons had been sold. Proceeds from the balloon sales will go to a fund which will provide Lutheran Haven children with shopping tour money, when they buy gifts for one another. From every side, yesterday, came praises for the excellence of the annual Jaycee parade. "It's the finest we've ever had" said one mother as she watched the parade come to an end. Children, adults, businessmen and ladies all heaped glowing compliments on the fine appearance of this year's big Christmas Parade event. Winners in the competition between floats had not been announced early this afternoon. However, as a part of today's Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce noon-luncheon meeting, awards will be presented to float winners.

Former Resident Dies In Georgia The Rev. E. C. Cowan, 76, former Sanford resident, died yesterday at his home in Douglasville, Ga. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. E. C. Cowan; nine children, 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. E. C. Cowan Jr. and the late R. T. Cowan of Sanford are two of his sons. E. C. Cowan III, Edna Cowan, and R. T. Cowan of Sanford are grand-children. Funeral services are set for tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Douglasville with T. Cowan Whitley Funeral Home in charge. Burial will be in Atlanta, Ga.

Public Relations Based On Sincerity "Everybody has to be on the team," A. W. "Woody" Webber, District Manager for Southern Bell Telephone Company, told the Sanford Kiwanis Club at its noon meeting yesterday. Speaking on "Public Relations," Webber pointed out that those who deal with the public, whether behind the scenes or those who meet personally the customers, should be trained. "Any employee is considered an expert on his job," he said, "but it is also equally important that we know some of the things about people we deal with. "In any business, our service is good only if the customer thinks it is good," the Telephone Company executive said. "Public relations is based on sincerity," Webber pointed out, "and we make our living making other people do things." Webber explained that it's easy to say "we have a public relations program" and added that "it's work". Some say it is too expensive, others feel that it is too complicated. But Webber emphasized that the "best public relations tool is a smile."

Public Relations Based On Sincerity

Leading off his man-to-man talk about public relations, Webber explained the phenomenal growth in Florida and the percentages of increase in population. "In order for us to capitalize on this influx of people it behooves us to make people want to deal with us. "The best public relations is 90 per cent doing a good job and 10 per cent talking about it," he said. "Let's keep on doing those successful things we have done until we have reached all the people." The heart of any public relations program "is to treat everybody like they were somebody and not like they were just anybody," said Webber. In other words, he said, "Follow the Golden Rule." Webber was introduced by Bob Sheddler, Manager in Sanford for Southern Bell Telephone Company. Visitors at yesterday's Kiwanis club meeting included Jim Borard, Paul B. Wood of DeBary, John Tucker, Southern Bell Telephone Co., Jim Garrett, Judge Vassar Carlton, George Johnson, Gray Brewer, and Ray Mengle of St. Cloud.

16-Year-Old Driver Crashes Into Train At Paola Crossing

A 16-year-old motorist last night crashed into an Atlantic Coast Line freight train at a crossing in Paola at approximately 6:30. Edward Thomas, whose address was given at the scene as Wilson Corner, was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist. He suffered minor bruises, a cut knee and had several front teeth knocked out. Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway who investigated the crash, said that the youth saw the train but his brakes wouldn't hold. The automobile, a 1941 Ford, was a total loss. The ACL freight train, headed east toward Sanford, was struck at about the center of the train. Alton Gunter was conductor for the ACL. No damage was reported to the train. The passing motorist was identified by Constable Galloway as Clifford Harrell of Paola.

Public Meeting Slated Dec. 12 At Civic Assn.

The DeBary Planning Board has arranged for a public meeting to be held in the Civic Association Building at 7:30 p. m. on Dec. 12. The West Volusia Hospital Authority bill was rejected by the voters, so at the special session of the State Legislature, a new Hospital Bill was passed, subject to referendum on Dec. 17. At this meeting called for Dec. 12, Lee Maxwell will explain the New Bill and answer questions. All DeBary voters are urged to attend.

Wednesday Proves Day Of Frustration For U.S. In Space Competition

Flames Destroy Second Floor Of Dwelling

A fire which started just as yesterday afternoon's Christmas Parade got underway destroyed the upper part of a multiple dwelling in the Goldsboro area. The dwelling, at 1304 Williams Ave., was badly burned on the second floor and extensive water damage on the first floor of the house occupied by Jewel Jones. A fire department spokesman said that a defective kerosene cookstove started the blaze which took two hours to completely bring under control. At 3:48 p. m. Tuesday the Sanford Fire Department, answered an alarm at 1324 Mellonville Ave. They found an overheated kerosene heater but no fire damage was reported.

At 4:30 p. m. on Friday, citizens of Sanford and Seminole County will be formally welcomed to the Open House of the General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library at 320 East First St. in Fort Mellon Park. The beautiful building, with its shrubbery arranged by the Sanford Garden Club, is in front of Lake Carola. The latter is named for Mrs. Carola Sanford Dow, the youngest daughter of General Sanford. Chairman Frank Evans has talked with Mrs. Dow by telephone and she states she will not be able to be at the reception on account of illness. She attended the dedication of the building in February. Dr. J. Bernard Root will introduce the library visitors to the receiving line, which is to consist of President and Mrs. Frank Evans, Vice President and Mrs. Randall Chase, Chairman of the Board of Managers General J. C. Hutchinson and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mayor and Mrs. David M. Gatchel, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners Fred A. Dyson and Mrs. Dyson, Secretary B. F. Whittner Jr. and Mrs. Whittner, and Treasurer Robert W. Deane. Hosts and hostesses represent the Board of Managers of the Library, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Woman's Club and the Sanford Garden Club. They consist of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Key, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat Sr., Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leffer Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dawson, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. H. M. Papworth, Attorney Fred R. Wilson, Mrs. Ann Y. Farmer, Mrs. Fred Ganas, and Fred Ensminger.

AFL-CIO Federation Starts 3rd Year Today

By WILLIAM J. EATON United Press Staff Correspondent ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—The AFL-CIO begins its third year today apparently united on throwing out its largest affiliate, the Teamsters Union, on corruption charges. About 1,200 delegates opened the federation's second convention this morning. The vast majority seemed willing to follow AFL-CIO President George Meany's advice to expel the teamsters. Meany said Wednesday he would not advocate expulsion of the 1,500,000-member truck union if James R. Hoffa, major target of AFL-CIO corruption charges, would step aside as president-elect. Hoffa, now on trial on wiretapping charges in New York and defending a Washington court action to void his election has repeatedly refused to resign despite threats of ouster of his union. The convention plans to vote on the teamsters' expulsion Friday afternoon. Three Unions Face Ouster Three other unions — possibly four—were tagged for ouster by the convention. Meany said that two of the unions on the road to reform had taken a turn for the worse. He identified them as the United Textile Workers, with 42,000 members, and the Distillery Workers, with 25,000. The 29-man Executive Council, in an all-day session Wednesday, suspended the Textile Union. Meany charged that two former officers who resigned under fire on corruption charges were still on the payroll as of last week. He referred to Anthony F. Valante and Lloyd Klensert, former president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Merger Still Incomplete Despite the near-united front on corruption, the AFL-CIO was far from merged on the state and local level. AFL and CIO groups in 15 states and hundreds of com-
