High School Foot Ball Team Needs Encouragement

MORE INTEREST TO BE TAKEN

Boys Have Worked Faithfully This Season to Put Up the Real Article

In October the Sanford High School football team played the Duval school team in Jacksonville.

On November 7th they played the DeLand public school team in Sanford and on Thanksgiving Day played Hillsborough High School in Tampa.

The expenses were paid by the Jacksonville and Tampa teams for games in each place.

In Jacksonville our boys were met at the station with automobiles and received every attention visitors could have looked for. More than 300 school children attended the game; the young ladies being dressed in the school colors.

Quite a number of enthusiasts came from DeLand to Sanford for the game on Nov. 7th and witnessed a first class exhibition of amateur football. It was a game that any Sanford citizen should have felt satisfied with.

The game in Tampa was witnessed by a large and very enthusiastic crowd. Our young men speak very highly of the reception given them by the football team and the people of Tampa.

The Duval team is regularly and thoroughly coached by a member of the school faculty, who is a football man, and he has a large school from which to select his material.

The public school team in DeLand is coached and trained by Mr. Fox, who is a Stetson University coach this season.

The Tampa team is coached by a Yale man, and this team has played with and defeated the Sutherland team, which has a football record.

Our Sanford team has put up good strong work every time and has played most excellent ball for young men who have no coach and have not received any encouragement at home.

Quite a good deal has been said about our defeat at Tampa, but our local critics must remember that they have not done anything to support this team and the Sanford team had to play without four of its regular men; made six points in the game and forced Tampa to make four substitutions.

The writer wishes to be plain that he is not averse to baseball—he is an enthusiast, but he wishes to make a comparison. We all go wild and spend our money to hire baseball players; for what? Two reasons, one and first to beat Orlando and second to have entertainment in summer, but we don't give one cent to help our school boys make a creditable showing in sport with other schools in the state, and we ridicule them when defeated; then we go out and get our feelings hurt if anybody says anything about us in comparison with our neighboring cities.

Our young men tried to get a second game with DeLand in DeLand, but the coach would not answer the letter.

The Tampa team will play in Jacksonville on December 6th for the school championship of the state, and if it can be arranged the Tampa team will play in Sanford on December 8th. If this game is arranged it should be largely attended, as it will be the last game of the season.

It should be borne in mind that the supply of material from which to select a high school team is exceedingly limited admirer.

Florida Good All the Time

In glancing over Florida newspapers for one day it will be noticed that fine cucumbers are just coming in around Arcadia; that new sweet corn is being gathered at St. Cloud, that strawberries are ripe in Ocala county and that Kissimmee has demonstrated that she can grow as good celery as Sanford and as many potatoes as Hastings.

At the same time Sanford is taking up the growth of tobacco as a money crop and oranges are being grown right here at home near Pensacola as fine and luscious as any that come from the peninsula of the state.

In fact, all of Florida is good all the time. It is the only spot in America has been eliminated and where spring time comes every month in the year.

The people of Florida are just awakening to the trucking possibilities of the state and this awakening is sure to be followed by a continuous stream of prosperity.—Pensacola Journal.

AOPKA IS PREMATURE

Citizens of That Burg Yell Before They Are Hurt

The board of trade of Apopka resolutely the other evening against coming into the new county that is being agitated by the Sanford agitators. Since Apopka and the rest of west Orange was never counted in the new territory the action of the Apopka board of trade is rather premature and demonstrates that at some future date they expect to break away and set up housekeeping in a county of their own. Following is a copy of their resolutions which they request The Herald to publish:

Apopka, Florida, Dec. 2, 1912.
Resolution introduced at a called meeting of the Apopka board of trade on Friday, Nov. 29th, 1912:

Resolved, That the Apopka board of trade representing the citizens of Apopka, Plymouth, Zellwood and Clarcona, are most emphatically opposed to any division of Orange county that includes any of the above named towns in the proposed new county, and that we are satisfied with the county as it is at present.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to all the boards of trade, and all newspapers in the county, to the board of county commissioners, Representatives and State Senators.

Thanksgiving Dinner

When family reunions and Thanksgiving dinners were being enjoyed throughout the length and breadth of the United States Thursday last, the noble hearted ladies of the Woodmen's Circle remembering that the thirty or more little inmates of the Orphanage at Enterprise could not enjoy family reunions, that in the very nature of things their Thanksgiving dinner would not have the same menu prepared for so many diners in homes of plenty and good cheer—these ladies determined that the orphans should have the very best dinner that they could prepare.

Each member contributed a splendidly cooked article towards a menu that would have graced the table of the most prosperous family anywhere. Nothing was lacking, all the good things which usually go to make up a perfect Thanksgiving dinner were prepared by the Circle and sent to the Orphanage Wednesday afternoon by Capt. Tuttle's boat.

The Captain, wanting to have a share in the beautiful deed took the box over free of charge. How true it is that "He tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

On the same boat was a box of fine oranges, sent to the children at the orphanage by Mrs. J. M. Lord of Clyde, whose motherly heart was big enough to take in the needs of that household of thirty helpless children.

At the instance of the Lend a Hand Club the school children of Sanford were given the opportunity by their teachers to contribute each an apple toward filling a barrel full of the best and finest looking apples that could be found in Sanford, for a Thanksgiving offering to the children at the Orphanage as they had had the opportunity of doing last Thanksgiving. Not only did the children enjoy a bountiful and delicious Thanksgiving dinner, but they had a barrel of apples and a box of oranges too.

The gentlemen of the Woodmen's Circle contributed money and five suits of warm underwear were purchased by the ladies for the older boys at the orphanage.

The appreciation and thanks of the children were conveyed in a letter received by the circle from Miss Louise Stork, superintendent of the orphanage. For that one day at least there were "Showers of Blessing" at that orphan's home.

The Woodmen's Circle and also the people of Sanford generally have been very kind and have done a great many things for the welfare and pleasure of the unfortunate children in the orphanage across the lake.

MANATEE IS WAKING UP

The Celery Growers Will Sell Stuff At Loading Station

WORKING FOR A CASH MARKET

Buyers Are on the Ground Ready to Contract for Celery Crop on Cash Basis

The Herald has started the agitation for an f. o. b. market for the celery and many of the growers favor the plan. The following from Manatee will be interesting:

It begins to look now as if Manatee and Manatee county will have a marketing agency for celery at least.

R. M. Glazier, who is interesting himself very much in the matter, informed the Record that in one day's ride nearly 100 cars of celery had been pledged to the agency. He also informed us that the agency established in Manatee would extend all over the county, and that each grower would have the opportunity of placing his celery with the agency.

C. R. Dorland, sales manager of the Gibson Fruit Co., of Chicago, is here establishing the agency, and is making the rounds with Mr. Glazier and getting in touch with the growers.

The idea of the agency, as the Record states, is to sell the celery f. o. b. Manatee, which, we believe, is the best scheme yet advanced for handling celery or anything else for that matter. Under this system the grower knows exactly what he is going to get for his product and actually gets it before the shipment is made. The Record is not fully informed as to the details and methods used by the Gibson Fruit Co., neither do we care, just so long as the grower gets the cash for his celery before it rolls and the price is somewhere near the market quotations.

Certainly the grower has nothing to lose by encouraging the establishing of this marketing agency. It has proven successful at other points, and why not at Manatee?—Manatee Record.

For Alderman

Owing to the pressure that has been brought to bear upon me and the earnest solicitation of my friends I have consented to become a candidate for the position of alderman of the city of Sanford. Having served the city one term as alderman I can assure the public that if elected the business of the city will receive the same care and attention that was devoted to it during my former term of office.

Respectfully,
S. RUNGE.

Welaka Club Notes

The Welaka Club has closed another month of delightful social functions, which have been much enjoyed by the members and their guests. Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin proving a most delightful hostess. She was assisted during the month by Mesdames Butt, Marks, Chappell, Hurt and the Misses Ward.

Among the pleasant events was the bridge party on Nov. 12th. Six tables of players enjoyed the game, Mrs. G. F. Smith winning the club pin for the month. Delicious ice cream and cake were served at the close of the afternoon's entertainment.

At the musicale on the 19th, a rare treat was given those present. Mrs. Wickenburg of Jacksonville rendered a number of beautiful selections and all were delighted with her lovely voice and gracious manners. Mrs. Richard Maxwell added greatly to the afternoon's entertainment by her interesting and pleasing recitations; and the instrumental solos given by Miss Ward and Mrs. Cecil Butt were listened to with great pleasure. A dainty salad, with wafers, sandwiches and coffee added much to the delightful occasion.

On the evening of the 19th a pleasant company met in the club rooms. Dancing and games were indulged in until a late hour, when coffee and tempting sandwiches were served.

Mrs. McLaughlin entertained the club members informally on the afternoon of the 26th and the Household Economics Committee served an oyster supper during the afternoon and evening, at which a neat little sum was realized.

At the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held in West Palm Beach Nov. 19th to 22nd the Welaka Club was represented by Mrs. J. W. Dickens, president of the club and Mrs. H. L. DeForest as delegates. Both returned greatly impressed with the beauties of West Palm Beach, and bringing with them much enthusiasm which will no doubt stimulate interest among the club members for better work during the coming year.

Prominent Citizens Will Attend Charities Conference at Tampa

On the 7th, 8th and 9th of this month the second annual meeting of the Florida Conference of Charities and Corrections will be held in Tampa, and the official program promises that this will be a most interesting occasion. Alexander Johnson of Indiana, National Secretary of National Conference of Charities and Corrections is to make three addresses, viz: "The Duty of the State to its Abnormal Classes," "The Defectives" and "The Charity Organization Society in Cities and Smaller Towns."

Professor Walker of the State School for the Blind, and Dr. Ralph Green of the State Asylum for the Insane will represent two of Florida's institutions. Frank Jennings of Jacksonville will speak of the Convict Lease System, Marcus Fagg will discuss "Dependent Children in Florida," and Dr. McKelway, Southern Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee will set forth Child Labor Conditions in this state. In addition to these there will be other notable features, one of which deserves especial mention, the address by Rudolph Johnston, Secretary of the Associated Charities of Jacksonville on "The Non-Resident Applicant for Aid"—in common parlance the "Tramp and Bum."

These topics are of every day importance to every community in the state. The people who will bring them before the Tampa conference are all experts in their several lines, and it is by just such gatherings that plans for general social and legislative reform will evolve and become matters of general interest.

The Associated Charities of Sanford will be represented by its president, C. R. Walker, and the Congregational church has voted to send its pastor, Rev. J. D. Langley, as its delegate. Mr. Langley is a man of unusual sense of social obligation, and his congregation felt they could afford to give up one Sunday's services for what he could mean to the wide work in the state.

There will be Sunday school as usual, but no sermon either Sunday morning or evening. Services will be resumed in their usual order on Dec. 15th.

Sanford is the only town of its size in the state that has an Association of Charities to aid its needy systematically and protect its citizens from fraudulent applicants for aid, and it is rather a significant fact that Sanford was the first small town in the state to recognize officially the importance of a Conference of Charities and Corrections. Last year the citizens sent Rev. G. B. Waldron to the conference in Jacksonville. This year the Hon. G. W. Spencer has been named by the council as its representative to the Tampa meeting.

The Everglade Sugar and Land Company, owners of large tracts of land in the Everglades, do not propose to wait the State's movements in draining the Everglades. This company will issue bonds to the amount of $500,000, which amount will be spent in improving its property.

If for any reason whatsoever this condition is not thoroughly carried out in the garment we have sold you, we want to be told of it so that we may make it correct for you, thus serving a double purpose—first, giving you the satisfaction which you deserve for the money you have invested and secondly and more important, retaining your good will and having you as a walking advertisement for the goodness of the garments we sell.

Don't forget that we have the nicest line of Boys' clothing in the city.

UNDER APPLE TREE IN OLD ORCHARD

Trespasser Was Not One of the "Seven Sleepers."

By CATHERINE COOPE.

Joan sped down through the riot of flowers to the foot of the garden path; there, she stopped to catch her breath before continuing on through the hawthorn lanes that led to the fruit orchard. Her wide garden hat had slipped from its nest of spun gold ringlets and her heart beat joyously with the pulse of spring.

She stood for a moment poised under the old ivy-covered arch that admitted her to the delectable and drew in long breaths of delight. The great gnarled trees were weighted with blossoms and the air was heavy with the sweetness of their perfume.

Joan made a swift dart and with the agility of a squirrel climbed into the topmost branches of her favorite tree. There she sighed happily, then laughed at the shower of pink and white petals that her ascent brought down.

"Now I am monarch of all I survey," she told herself gleefully, and settled herself in the secure seat the gardener had made for her.

Because their orchard was only a sixteenth part of the original orchard that had been the pride of the one-time Lambreth estate, it was not walled in, but merely inclosed by hawthorn hedges. Joan regretted that necessity had called for a division of the property, yet she rejoiced that the lot which her grandmother had purchased possessed the most beautiful trees in the entire orchard.

She gazed out over the vista of pink and white, and from her high perch could see the various winding lanes that divided the properties. Suddenly she leaned forward, her eyes focused upon a figure that was moving about among the private gardens.

"He must be trespassing," was Joan's mental comment. "I have never seen him before."

She watched him intently, half out of feminine interest for a masculine person and half because of the peculiar actions of the man. He stood quite still for moments at a time, apparently gazing at the wonder of the orchard, but suddenly he would dart toward a specific tree and make numerous circuits about its base.

Joan began to fear for his sanity and for her own safety. Certainly his actions were not those of an evenly balanced man. She felt reasonably sure that neither an insane nor a sane man would catch sight of her in her bower of thick foliage, but her heart beat rapidly.

"You never can tell," she told herself "what any man is likely to see."

With considerable trepidation she watched the man drawing gradually nearer and nearer to her retreat. Would he or would he not venture within her grandmother's private orchard? Joan felt reasonably sure now that the trespasser was mentally unbalanced.

"He is coming in!" Joan caught a sharp breath and drew up into the branches of her tree. He seemed to catch sight of the great tree the moment he stood within the arch and made straight for it. As he came forward, Joan again drew a quick breath. The man was undoubtedly good to look at and his shoulders were big and broad. He had taken off his cap and the sun shone on a head of thick, red-brown hair. Joan's grandmother had a miniature of a man with just such a head of hair.

The girl in the tree-top sighed, partly because she felt a strong desire to drop twigs down on the good-looking young fellow whose wanderings had brought him into her garden. "But I do not dare," she told herself and realized that her fear of the man had vanished. "I suppose his eyes are brown," Joan decided. She leaned forward cautiously and watched him prowling about the foot of the tree. Suddenly he threw himself down on the wide bench that encircled the tree.

"Discovered!" she heard him mutter, and peered down to see him draw a great knife from his pocket. He brandished it about and the blood in Joan's veins stood still. He opened the evil-looking blade and ran his finger along it. Joan gripped the branches to keep from tumbling headlong out of the tree.

The man was silent for a moment, then he began very calmly to carve his initials in the bark of the tree.

The blood in Joan's veins took up its course and she drew a long breath of relief.

"Rather nervy, however," she commented, forgetting that her grandmother abominated slang.

Evidently the young man had finished his carving for he returned his knife to his pocket and cast a glance about the orchard. Seeing no one about, he threw himself full length on the soft turf and prepared for a nap.

"I certainly hope he is not one of the seven sleepers," Joan thought petulantly, "my left foot is already asleep—Oh-h!" She uttered a half cry and tried to drag her foot from the crutch of the branch into which she had pressed it.

The young man below blinked his eyes in the sunlight, then sat bolt upright. His eyes, blue as the summer sky, gazed up into the branches of the tree as if an apparition had suddenly appeared.

"My foot is caught," cried Joan, accusingly, "and you did it!"

"!" The man's breathless ejaculation brought the color to Joan's cheeks. She frowned.

"Besides," he continued, "you have been trespassing for the last half hour."

A slow smile dawned in the man's eyes, as if he were glad that he had been watched for so long a time. Joan blushed furiously at herself, then retreated behind a mask of light fabrication. "I suppose you were going to take some of the apple blossoms for a wedding or something—so I kept my eye on you," she finished lamely.

"Not both eyes?" he questioned, with a merry look. He was suddenly serious. "But this is not getting your foot out of the branches of my grandfather's tree." He climbed up with a quick movement and placed himself beside her before Joan could gasp indignantly.

"Your grandfather's tree. Indeed! It is my very own grandmother's tree and she did all her courting under it on that very branch," Joan informed the young man's back, "but she didn't marry the man."

He turned about having extricated her ankle from the crutch and gazed back at her.

"In that case," he informed her, "it was your grandmother who jilted my grandfather because he lost all his money and had to sell the Lambreth estate."

"She did no such thing," retorted Joan. "She gazed at his miniature every day in this world." She cast a quick glance at him. "I know now," she exclaimed, "you look exactly like that miniature."

"My grandfather was very handsome," laughed young Lambreth; then growing serious again, he continued: "When he sent me to England he told me very particularly to look for this tree, which he said bore the best apples in the whole orchard, also to look closely to see his initials carved with those of the only girl he ever loved."

"When the estate was cut up into building lots," said Joan, taking up the thread of the story, "my grandmother made a bid for this especial piece because it had that tree on it."

"I have carved my initials on it," said Lambreth, "and they look a bit lonesome." His eyes met her appealingly.

"We will go in now and have tea and a proper introduction from my grandmother, and after that we will discuss whose initials would look well entwined with yours."

"That discussion will be short. Come," he said, "give me your hands—I want to help you down from the apple blossoms."

Original Amen Corner.

The origin of the name "Amen corner" is interesting and throws a pleasant light on English Catholicity of the days before the apostasy of Henry VIII. Each year on the Feast of Corpus Christi the faithful went in procession to St. Paul's cathedral, Mustering in Cheapside, the procession moved toward the cathedral, the clergy chanting the "Our Father" as they passed along the street still called Paternoster row, reaching the "Amen" as they turned the corner known for years as Amen corner.—Ave Maria.

Worth Trying.

Those who live on the mountain have a longer day than those who live in the valley. Sometimes all we need to brighten our day is to rise a little higher.

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourn, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

Warning to Cattle Owners

There are some vicious vagrant cattle about Beck Hammock that are doing much damage, breaking down strongest fences, destroying crops and have several times attacked persons who attempted to drive them out. If the owners of these cattle place any value upon them they had better take care of them at once, for they will be shot. People have a right to protect their property and no one has a right to allow such cattle to run at large.

AT THE IMPERIAL NEXT WEEK

A Number of New and Good Things on Taps

There will be vaudeville all next week at the Imperial Theatre, and if the same standard of excellence is maintained as this week the Imperial patrons will have a really enjoyable week of high class entertainment.

The Ringlings, "The College Boy and the Maid," will present an act Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday that is somewhat different from the average vaudeville stunt. They present a novelty acrobatic performance, both of them taking part in performing clever and difficult contortions which will amuse and startle.

The last half of the week Wallace & Beech will hold the boards. This clever team are said to be the funniest two people who have come to the Imperial this season. Their acts are so varied that nothing in particular will be mentioned about them, only they are positively the biggest laugh provokers to be seen this year.

"The Daughter of the Spy," a special feature picture of intense heart interest and thrilling adventure, a picture full of life and beautiful in theme, one that always holds audiences in great expectancy to the end is booked for Dec. 11th. This picture comes to the Imperial by special arrangements with the producer of the picture and it is expected to be particularly good.

Endorses Capt. Marks

Editor Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.:

I was glad to see your endorsement of my old friend, Capt. Dick Marks, for the office of Register of U. S. Land Office.

I have known Capt. Dick for over thirty years, and I don't think there is a more worthy man in Florida for the position. No two men in the state have done more for Florida than he and his brother. He is well posted on all land matters, having been a surveyor by profession, and actively engaged in the real estate business since 1869 or '70, and further, he has been a staunch Democrat all his life. I hope he will land the job.

Very truly,
HENRY MATTHEWS.

Delivered in the City by carrier $2.00 per year in advance or 20c per month.

Office in Herald Building Telephone No. 148

One of the jokes in county division is the mistaken idea of Orlando people that Representative Lake would oppose county division. It is to laugh.

From reliable information The Herald is of the opinion that the majority of the people living outside of Orlando are in favor of county division and that the opposition is confined to Orlando and a few peanut politicians.

Osceola county started in business with about 700 inhabitants and is now one of the banner counties of the state. So likewise did Lake county. Both doing better, thank you. Splitting off from Orange county seems to be the making of the youngsters.

CUT OUT FEE SYSTEM

From every part of the state comes the rumor that the next Legislature will undoubtedly pass a bill recommending salaries for county officials in stead of the fee system. This relic of the ancient feudal system is receiving hard blows in every part of the state where the county officials are returning part of their salaries to the counties for the good roads and school funds and demonstrates that under the fee system the officials receive money that should go for good roads and the schools. The Herald would like to see the new county have officials on the salary basis.

DIVISION IS MADE

When Bob Holly of the Sanford Herald sets in to carry his point he generally does so, and as Robert has decreed the division of Orange county, with Sanford as the official headquarters of the new county, we are disposed as an outsider without prejudices to consider the question settled, leaving only the mere details to be worked out. We observe that Editor Holly remarks in the last issue of the Sanford Herald: "This part of Orange county expects to divide and no human agency will prevent the division." Under such circumstances the opponents of division might as well organize prayer meetings and invite the aid of a higher power.—Lakeland Telegram.

SPEAKER AND PRESIDENT

Orange county and Osceola county will be prominent in the next Legislature, having a candidate for President of the Senate and one for Speaker in the House.

Hon. Forrest Lake is making a strong race for Speaker of the House and has assurances from every part of the state that he will be the selection of his colleagues.

Hon. Arthur Donegan, our Senator who resides in Kissimmee is being groomed by his many friends for the position of President of the Senate and has high hopes of landing this coveted position and additional honor.

If these two gentlemen succeed in their laudable ambitions this section of the state will be distinctly honored and South Florida will again be recognized as the banner section of Florida.

Orange and Osceola counties are pulling for their favorite sons and all of South Florida will be especially interested in their success.

Certainly no better men could be found for the positions than Donegan and Lake.

THE REAL BOOSTERS

A real live town is known by the number and activity of its real estate men.

All business men advertise in one way or another, but some do more to advance the public interest in their community than others. The merchant—the real live one—is not content alone with drawing the local trade to his door, but he points out the benefits of the town in general to the far-distant possible buyers, and tempts them by promise of benefit along general lines if they will come within his zone of activity.

The mail order man offers no inducement to personal visit, confining himself alone to the merits of his particular offers, and the ease with which he can get them to your door.

"Come and see," is the motto of the man who makes a specialty of selling houses and lands, be they city or country. He is naturally a booster. He must be. To him belongs the difficult task of persuading possible investors that here alone can be found the home investment property desired, beyond what can be possibly found elsewhere. He lives off the advancement and increases in values which he largely creates. He advertises every possible advantage of a community, and paints across the public sky in flaming letters the fact that his is the only real community in which it is worth while to invest.

He is never a knocker. Optimistic above all other men, he creates hope and confidence in a community. He encourages steady advancement, and he never fails to let it be known what his community has done.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS

"Anent the county division proposition, we understand that certain individuals or combination of individuals are promising as a bait to outside country places a few miles of hard roads if they will agree to favor the county division proposition.

Whether this sort of a bid for favor will win or not we do not know. Such things have been known to have been promised before and the promise never materialized, not that it may not be made in the utmost good faith, but in the nature of things no guarantee can be attached, for conditions may arise under which the county commissioners of the county to be could not possibly fulfill the promise given by unauthorized persons.

And then, suppose the country districts take the bait, will they have considered what their proportion of the tax to pay for the bait will be, as well as the additional cost in taxes per capita for all those living in a county whose population and taxable area will be so much less than it now is in Orange county.

If county division in Orange or any where else is desirable it should be based on a much higher motive than a few paltry miles of road as a bait.—Orlando Citizen.

Such an article coming from the learned editor of the Citizen who is also secretary of the Orlando board of trade is pitiful on account of the lack of knowledge displayed. This wise man of the west should know and does know that Orlando has never given the rest of the county a fair deal on the road question and if he would only get out of the county he could see conditions as they exist.

But not caring to get sandspurs on his silk stockings he writes from his sanctum about something that he knows nothing about, Sanford can offer and make good the offer that every section of the new county will have good roads at once. There will be twenty-two miles of brick roads built in the Sanford district at once, regardless of county division. This was voted upon long before county division was broached. These roads will be paid for by the people living in the special road district of Sanford, and not one resident of the new territory that resides beyond the confines of the special road district will be obliged to spend a penny on the brick roads, although they will have the pleasure of riding over them when coming to Sanford. Having the brick roads, and said brick roads needing no repairs for years to come will give all the district outside of the special district the money for good roads and all the money because Sanford will not have any use for it.

Can Orlando offer as much and has Orlando ever offered as much to her country cousins?

Now regarding promises. When the county division was an issue many years ago what did Orlando offer West Orange in the way of a railroad? The right of way was graded near Apopka and stands there today a monument to the infidelity of Orlando. They offered a railroad to that section of the county if the people would vote for Orlando for a county site. The people voted for Orlando, and when Orlando had the county site all the work on the railroad stopped and it has never been resumed and the people of that territory are as far from Orlando and have no good roads over which to drive to Orlando.

Now about Orlando's promises that have been broken time and time again? Sanford makes no promises that cannot be kept. We promise good roads to every part of the new territory and show reasons now why they can and will be built. We are known by our works, and Sanford is known far and wide by her progressive spirit in the matter of good roads. Because we cannot get good roads from the Court House Ring we first made Sanford a special road district to show our good faith in the proposition and then because we never hoped to get anything in the way of equitable taxes and county improvements from Orange county we decided to have our own county, where we know we can have less taxes and more improvements for the money expended.

We ask our sister cities: What has Orlando ever done for your good?

And which city and which section of the county has made good and can make good their promise?

FLING DOWN GAUNTLET

The Commercial Club asked the Orlando Board of Trade to appoint a committee of twenty-five to confer with a like number from Sanford and in a friendly spirit talk over the matter of county division and try to arrive at some amicable understanding regarding the lines, etc. We endeavored to be fair and not rush into the matter at a headlong pace until the idea had been thoroughly discussed. This has been Sanford's idea on all county matters and we has always met the citizens of the county seat half way on all matters of public interest pertaining to the welfare of the county. Before a committee had been sent to any part of the county proselyting in the matter of the new county this conference with Orlando was requested.

The Orlando Board of Trade met the other evening and instead of appointing their committee to meet our committee the members appointed instead a committee to fight county division and immediately dispatched a committee to the country districts—a proceeding that lacks common courtesy and to say the least is conduct unbecoming gentlemen.

The Orlando Board of Trade has not the courtesy to answer our request officially. The only word that Sanford received regarding their action was through the Orlando papers and they stated that the members did not favor meeting Sanford on any ground.

This means that Sanford offered to meet Orlando in a friendly spirit and before the matter had fairly been opened in the county. Their action means that they have no wish to meet us and that they are now busy in the county trying to stir up an unfriendly spirit toward Sanford in the vain endeavor to prevent the division of the county—an attempt that will be frustrated by the people living within the confines of the proposed new county because they like fair play.

Arbitration is recognized by the highest authority in the land as being the gentlemanly way to settle all matters of state and since Orlando has seen fit to ignore our friendly efforts toward a peaceful and unbiased discussion of the county division the gauntlet is thrown down by Orlando. Sanford and this end of Orange county is ignored in this matter by Orlando just as all of our requests have been ignored in the past and just as the requests of the whole county will always be ignored by the RING THAT RULES OR HAS RULED ORANGE COUNTY FOR MANY YEARS.

Sanford purposes to throw off the yoke now and we ask the north half of Orange county to join us. Twenty-five years of Orange county rule has showed you the utter folly of expecting any relief—the utter impossibility of obtaining your rights in the premises and carrying out the high handed policy that has ever dominated the county seat over the county they have refused to meet us half way—a procedure by the way that has only strengthened our determination to have a county of our own and one that will give the inhabitants thereof a square deal.

Sanford has decided the question for herself and every other precinct in the north half will decide likewise when they have investigated the matter fully.

You need have no compunctions about leaving the dear old lady—Mother Orange—and going out to work for the new county. The dear old lady has never given you any of your wages back after you dumped them into her lap and has never made good on the roads question.

Cast your lot with the progressive bunch in this section who have already pledged themselves for $200,000 worth of brick roads that will not cost the other precincts a cent. The road tax in this part of the county will go FOR YOUR ROADS, and not for the county seat.

REMEMBER THAT YOUR TAXES WILL BE LOWER IN THE NEW COUNTY THAN IN DEAR OLD MOTHER ORANGE.

Sanford has already made good on the roads question and in a like manner will make good on every other question.

Orlando has never made good and your county roads today are the best proof of Orlando's infidelity.

It goes without saying that early truck sent north finds a good market. There is only one way to fertilize for early truck, and that is to use a fertilizer that is rich in plant

WOULD RETAIN ART TREASURE

English Antiquarians Up In Arms at Prospect of Loss of Cromwell's Staircase.

London antiquarians are up in arms against a proposal to sell to wealthy Americans the famous carved staircase in what is known as Cromwell's house, Highgate Hill, a fine seventeenth century mansion, presented, according to tradition, by Cromwell to his eldest daughter Bridget.

Cromwell house is a red brick house faced with stone. A boundary stone in the adjoining wall bears the date of 1614, and this is generally accepted as the year of its construction. The house was occupied at one time by General Ireton, Cromwell's son-in-law, and it is suggested that it formed part of the dowry of Cromwell's eldest daughter Bridget.

The whole of the internal ornaments bear evidence of military occupancy. Unfortunately the greater portion of the drawing room ceiling was destroyed by fire nearly a century ago, but some exquisite woodwork has been revealed during recent renovation.

The main staircase, which is the immediate subject of concern, is of handsome proportions, and bears at its various corners beautifully carved figures of soldiers of the commonwealth period. The handrail is of distinctive molding, whilst the balustrades are rich with cleverly executed devices emblematic of warfare. Handsomely carved oak pendants appear at intervals above the staircase.

His Catch.

A man with a fishing pole sat on the river bank near the Atchison waterworks intake. "How many have you caught?" some one asked him. "When I get another I'll have one," he replied.—Kansas City Star.

After It.

Revised Version.

"I suppose that when you left the convention you exclaimed 'I came, I saw, I conquered?'" "Not exactly," replied the delegate who changed his mind. "That is what I was going to say, but I modified it to 'I came, I was seen, I concurred?'"

INVESTMENT ADVICE

WORTH READING AND ACCEPTING

Good advice on investment is rare. Disinterested advice is still rarer. The men here quoted are competent to judge and (upon this subject at least) their opinions are unbiased.

There is no Company, no matter how powerful, but would have been glad to have had them on its Board of Directors. The officers of such a Company would have believed, and rightly, that the unanimous advice of these financiers and statesmen should be followed. Investors, who have, perhaps unconsciously, followed their advice and bought good real estate in the fast growing United States have profited to the extent of many millions of dollars.

JAMES J. HILL

"The people of the United States need to get back to nature. We want to pay more attention to the ground and less to Wall Street."

ANDREW CARNEGIE

"Few large fortunes can now be made except from one source—the rise in the value of real estate. The wise man of today invests his money in Suburban Real Estate."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

"Every person who invests in well selected real estate in a growing section of a prosperous community, adopts the surest and safest method of becoming independent, for real estate is the basis of all wealth."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

"Real estate is the best investment for small savings. More money is made from the rise in real estate values than all others causes combined."

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

"No investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owners as undeveloped realty. There is no such savings bank anywhere."

FOREST PARK IN THE Sunshine City

ST. PETERSBURG

But a few years ago some of the wealthiest men now in this city were blessed with much less of this world's goods, but they had the foresight to purchase St. Petersburg Real Estate, which has, with but little effort on their part, grown in value until now they represent very comfortable fortunes.

True the prices at that time were low, very low, but equally true is it that the prospects were problematical.

The same opportunity exists today as existed at that time, and the prospects are assured, no question about the progress and growth of the city and naturally the increase in realty values follow.

In most parallel cases, and they are happening all over the country, those that do not get in on the ground floor are required to invest more money, but in this instance even that requirement is eliminated.

FOREST PARK

The greatest Sub yet offered near this city, one that appeals to all who take the trouble to investigate A "Make Good" proposition from every standpoint, offers the opportunity to invest, requires little money, easy payments, and will inevitably increase in value in the same degree as St. Petersburg develops. Forest Park is superbly located, only three miles from the postoffice, many improvements that will add materially to the value and desirability of the property will be carried to completion by the company. Fourth street will be paved directly through this property, and to the city, and while we do not definitely promise it, and have not taken it into consideration in making the prices of lots in Forest Park we have every reason to believe that the next suburban street car line will be built to this subdivision.

PRICES AND TERMS

It is our desire, and judging from the many sales that we have made, it will be realized, to sell every lot in this select property by January the first. For the purpose of making a quick clean up on this property we made the prices and terms so that any one can invest without cramping their finances or straining their income, no matter how modest.

ON THE COUNTY DIVISION

Commercial Club Holds An Enthusiastic Meeting

OTHER PRECINCTS REPRESENTED

Sanford's Case Is Presented To State Senator Donegan By Many Of City's Prominent Citizens

There is a predominant feeling in the new territory today that the new county is already made. That the baby is born and her name is Miss Harney, as F. P. Forster aptly remarked at the meeting last night.

The regular meeting of the Commercial Club was held at the regular headquarters in the city hall, but the great enthusiasm displayed in the case and the desire of many of the ladies to be present forced the club to seek a larger room and the High School Auditorium was tendered them. The Sanford Band started the ball rolling by playing several soul stirring airs on First street and then marching to the auditorium followed by the crowd.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Senator Donegan, D. G. Wagner, P. A. Vans Agnew and Col. O'Bryan who had come by auto from Kissimmee arrived at the auditorium and were escorted to a place on the rostrum, surrounded by the members of various committees and visitors from Longwood, Oviedo and other precincts.

President Lake called the meeting to order and asked for a reading of the minutes, following which Secretary Bates read a most comprehensive report and statistics on the taxable values in Orange county, expenditures, etc. and also in the new county of Harney a report carefully compiled by Mr. H. C. Dillrose and a report that will assist the new county materially in obtaining a divorce.

Mayor Spencer followed by giving some interesting data regarding the growth of the city of Sanford.

D. L. Thraasher, C. R. Walker, F. P. Forster and L. R. Phillips also gave interesting facts about the schools and the new section and gave good reasons why a separation should take place now.

The real gems of the evening were the speeches made by E. A. Douglass of Oviedo and W. R. Healy of Longwood. These gentlemen literally brought down the house and kept the audience in rare good humor.

Since Sanford has not started a campaign in the precincts of the new county, awaiting the printing of vital statistics our many friends in those districts hardly know the facts about county division and the talks made by Douglass and Healy were listened to most attentively. They gave the people every assurance that county division would carry, provided the new county could guarantee them good roads and a square deal and the Commercial Club and the entire audience assured them of their good faith by a rising vote for good roads in the new county.

Major Healy brought out one good point by asking the new county to publish a detailed report of all the expenditures, something that is impossible to obtain now in Orange county.

Interpreting the speeches the band rendered some beautiful selections and at the close of the program Senator Donegan was called to the front by President Lake and introduced to the audience. Senator Donegan prefaced his remarks by thanking the people for their loyal support and the invitation of the Commercial Club to meet with them. He said that he was in Sanford as he had been in Orlando, to act as the judge in the case and hear both sides of the question, that coming from another county he would be entirely unbiased and could only render his decision in his official capacity at the session of the Legislature.

The meeting then adjourned and those who were present felt that much had been accomplished toward county division and for the present we will rest our case.

Mayor McKay has issued an order prohibiting vaudeville performances in Tampa on the Sabbath day. The picture shows will be allowed to remain open.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING

Prominent Citizen of Sorrento Accidentally Shot by Boy
Sorrento, Fla., Dec. 7th.

Our town is in mourning and three families prostrated because of an accident in which a most respected fellow citizen, Mr. W. T. Rooks, was shot and killed at an early hour this morning, by the discharge of a gun in the hands of his young grandson, son of Mr. Smith, superintendent of the turpentine works. Mr. Rooks, with his grandson, started long before daylight to drive to the hunting grounds about five miles east of town. They arrived at the old Brantley farm, not now occupied, just as the first whistle of the saw mill was blown, which is at four o'clock. Here they made coffee and ate breakfast, after which they continued on foot into the hammock where they expected to find squirrel. Each carried a double barrel shot gun, that of the boy being of the hammerless pattern. They had not proceeded far when the gun in the hands of the grandson was discharged, the load of bird shot, at short range, entering into the knee of Mr. Rooks practically carrying it away. All of the arteries were severed and death from hemorrhage must have followed in a few minutes, but the boy cannot say how long he remained with his grand parent nor whether the latter was still living when he departed in quest of help. He says his grand parent told him to go and to take a gun to protect himself. Quite likely the urchin was afraid of the half wild cattle or wild animals.

The boy wandered, waded through water up to the waist and, after a long walk arrived, still bearing the heavy gun, at the residence of Mr. Wilcox, a mile and a half east of town. Mr. Wilcox was not at home, but Mr. Blackwell, a brother of Mrs. Wilcox, lost no time in hitching a team and with Johnson, a colored employe, and the boy, drove rapidly to the fatal spot. It is supposed the accident occurred between six and seven and it was near ten when the rescuers reached the body. At that hour the body was cold and rigid.

Mrs. Wilcox at once, upon arrival of the boy, dispatched a messenger to the home of Mr. Lovejoy, a neighbor, to telephone to Sorrento. Mr. Frank Battle, taking Mr. Smith and others, in his automobile motored in that direction to reach the scene of the accident. Others went ~~in~~, but all of these having only vague directions were delayed in finding the body, over which Blackwell and the grandson were standing guard, Johnson having been sent back for help. Not till 3 in the afternoon did the party escorting the body reach the village. Mr. Cooper, justice of the peace held an inquest.

Mr. Rooks was thoroughly reliable in all his dealings and industrious to the limit. He came here from North Carolina six years ago, purchased ten acres in the town plot and engaged in farming. He also did an express transfer business. Since the burning of the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Rooks have kept open house to the travelling public.

He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. W. D. Smith, wife of the superintendent of the turpentine plant, and Mrs. Cowart, wife of J. A. Cowart, a Sorrento merchant. He also has sisters living in North Carolina.

The funeral will be from the Baptist church at 2 o'clock Sunday.

Favors County Division

Major W. R. Healy and wife of Longwood were visitors to the city last Saturday and the Major was cornered in The Herald office on the county division matter. "Put me down as being for county division," said the Major. "I was in the fight before and I will be in the fight again because I believe that this section of the county is getting nothing in the way of improvements and knowing the progressive spirit of Sanford it is a cinch that we will get good roads from the new county and a square deal."

Lend Hand Club

The Lend a Hand Club will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. H. Fernald Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is earnestly desired.

M. D. Taratus of Middleburg, Florida is in the city the guest of his son, George Taratus.

OTHER COUNTIES ARE IN

Division Of Counties Will Be A Live Topic

VOLUSIA WILL BE DIVIDED TOO

Smaller Counties And Better Results Are Asked For By The People In The Interested Sections

Orange county is not alone in the division affair if this will be of any solace to the old girl in her hour of separation. There are people of other counties and many of them that are not satisfied with the ring rule of the large counties and recognize the indisputable fact that a smaller county can get better results for the money spent. Notice the following from the New Smyrna Breeze:

"In the matter of county division but few of the tax payers of the east side of the county have considered what it means to them individually. When it is realized that we pay nearly three-fourths of the road tax of this side of the county and have heretofore only received two-fifths of it to build roads in this part of the county, we can understand why there is a necessity for division. Another thing of even greater importance is that we pay an equal proportion of the school tax. There are three school districts in the county, two on the west side and one on the east side, where the burden of the taxes are collected. It is an undisputed fact that New Smyrna and Daytona and the smaller schools of the east side of the county have never received the same proportion as the DeLand schools of the west side of the county.

If we are in error it is up to the school commissioners of the west side of the county to disprove the fact. If they can do it we will gladly acknowledge our error in these columns.

We are looking for what is coming to us and we cannot depend on the promise of politicians and office seekers to give it to us. The only way is for us to take matters in our own hands and divide the county and spend the taxes as will be of the greatest benefit to us."

Japanese Bazaar

The Welaka Club members are making great preparations for their "Kwan-Koba" which is to be given in the club rooms Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 17 and 18th.

Kwan-Koba is Japanese, meaning bazaar, and the affair is to be Japanese in every respect.

Miss Rachel Gaines, an importer of Japanese goods will be here with a full line of lace, embroidered dress goods, silk kimono, mandarins, fans, and hundreds of other smaller articles, especially useful for gifts and prizes. Miss Gaines needs no introduction to the people of Sanford, as a great many have read of her beautiful line of goods at the Demonstration Fair in Jacksonville a few weeks ago. This will be the most attractive and varied display of things Japanese ever brought to Sanford.

Besides there will be several other equally attractive booths, for needle craft, arts and crafts, hand painted china, candy and refreshments. All the booths presided over by pretty Japanese maids in native costume.

A feature of the Kwan-Koba is the pagoda, the home of the Japanese fortune teller.

The "Flower Shop" will be a novel feature, great pink chrysanthemums to be sold at very low prices, with prizes with each flower.

While the Kwan-Koba is given by members of the Welaka Club it is desired that this be made an exchange for every person in Sanford, and everybody is invited to use the Kwan-Koba for displaying or selling any articles in the lines already mentioned. Articles will be sold at the consignee's own price, the club to receive 15 per cent on all articles sold.

Those wishing to place articles on sale or display, such as painting, china, brass craft, calendars, fancy work or candies will please notify any of the following committee:

- Madge M. Ward, Chm.
- Mrs. Samuel Puleston.
- Mrs. Frank Woodruff.
- Mrs. R. J. Holly.
- Mrs. Robt. Newman.
- Mrs. A. W. Brown.

REMEMBERED THE CONVICTS

Dr. P. Phillips Sent Convicts Big Thanksgiving Feast

There are few people in the world that have larger hearts than Dr. P. Phillips of Orlando, a well known orange grower and shipper. Having plenty of this world's goods has never warped Doc's better nature or made him forget the unfortunates around him.

Knowing that the convicts appreciate a change in the regular bill of fare once in awhile the genial Doctor never forgets them on Thanksgiving Day and this year was no exception to the rule. The gang now working at Geneva ferry received baskets of all kinds of foods and plenty of oranges and had a big feast for the day.

Dr. Phillips is a modest man and never makes public his good deeds but The Herald man gleaned his information from Francis Karel, who has charge of the prisoners on the road work and we pause to pay this tribute to a man who deserves a compliment for his charitable impulses.

Sanford City Improvements

Sanford is paying twenty-two miles with brick. Surely this means that there is money in Florida land. This city has come to the front as a trucking center very rapidly in the last few years, and twenty-two miles of brick paved streets is only one evidence.

All through this section the thriving truck farms are to be seen in the highest state of cultivation. Three crops a year is a reality, and crop failures are almost unknown. Celery is one of the best paying crops in this section, and reaches perfection at Sanford. The buyers from the north make their headquarters there, and thus much annoyance is saved the producers.

Citrus fruits, too, are grown extensively, and there are numerous groves to be seen within a short distance from town.

The whole community has a prosperous air, and with other improvements that will follow close on the heels of the paving, the residents will have good reason to be proud of their city. Jacksonville Bulletin.

The Methodist Conference

The annual conference of the Methodist church for Florida will convene at Tampa next week and our own Rev. Summers will attend. This item expresses nothing but news. The vital question that concerns all of us collectively, irrespective of denomination is that we want Rev. Summers returned to Sanford. He has only been here a short time but in that period has accomplished so much good not only in his own congregation but in the general life of the city that The Herald voices the general sentiment in asking the conference for his return.

Frankly we do not like the Methodist manner of appointing ministers. We become enamored with a good man of the Summers type and about the time he becomes identified with our social, religious and civil life, he attends conference and is called away.

Sanford needs Rev. C. H. Summers and we love him and his family too fondly to give them up and we respectfully petition the Florida conference to return Rev. Summers to us.

A Special Invitation

To the ladies of Sanford and to the Welaka Club, The Lend a Hand Club, the Clover Club, the Helping Hand Society, the Book Circle, the Book Lovers club and to all church societies a cordial invitation is extended by the Wednesday Club to meet their guest, Mrs. W. B. Young, president of the Women's Club of Jacksonville, who will talk to the ladies of Sanford Wednesday afternoon in the Congregational church at 3 o'clock on the biennial meeting of the Federated Clubs of America, which was recently held in San Francisco, California.

At the Star

What would we do without music? Life would be one miserable career. The management of the Star has finally succeeded in getting the famous Trojan Concert Co. for the next three days of this week at a very large expense. This company must not be compared with a vaudeville show as it is high above the standard. Those who want to hear the best singers sing the latest songs come to the Star Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Phillips Manufacturing Company of Orlando will begin within the next few days a modern building for the manufacture of special wood working machines which the company is now turning out, the business having outgrown the present building. The principal machines, or the ones for which the greatest demand has been created, are the morticing and pocket cutting devices which are so largely used in making modern window frames, and speed being one of the greatest elements in profitable manufacturing plants, these machines have come into great demand.

The commissioners of Polk county at their session Tuesday mapped out a plan whereby they will at once begin work on a network of roads between the important towns of the county, and having systematized their plans they propose to have the work completed in two years, or probably a little earlier. At the end of this time Polk county will be able to boast of some of the finest roads in Florida and as they will connect the county's leading towns will be of lasting benefit. The roads will be hard surfaced with Hartow clay.

Members of the Village Improvement Association of New St. Augustine have decided to assume the responsibility of having the principal streets of New Augustine illuminated with incandescent lights, and it is proposed to have the improved lighting service installed at the earliest possible date. The Village Improvement Association, which includes among its members many of the leading women of that town, is doing much good for New Augustine, and has even greater improvements planned for the near future.

Nearly 150 soldiers comprising the 11th and 162nd companies of the United States coast artillery stationed at Fort Dade have been mobilized in the country near St. Petersburg for their annual encampment and war manoeuvring. A number of sham battles are being arranged for next week. On the night prior to breaking camp, a big sham battle will be held, which will attract hundreds of residents and tourists from the city.
