Ringing in new credit union

LAKE MARY - A ribbon-cutting ceremony for Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union's new 81 million state-of-the-art facility located at 501 Cur-rency Cir. is scheduled for 10 a.m., Thursday, Aug. 21. Maurice T. Webber, chairman of Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union's board of directors, and Patricia Coker, president of Bell-Tel. will assist Lake Mary Mayor David Mealor with the ceremony.

The new facility is one of the first completed buildings on the Primers property located in Lake Mary near Interstate-4. It houses a selfcontained ATM and remote-banking klosk vestibule that can be accessed around-the-clock with a magnetic strip card. Members will be able to perform virtually any transaction they y do via a teller or loan officer. Future plans will enable members to link face-to-face, via the klosk, with credit union employees in centralized service areas such as mortgages.

Lake Mary tightens law for drug-free workplace

By INCK PPENAUP Herald Writer Emeritus

LAKE MARY - The City of Lake Mary has had an ordinance in place, as do other cities, specifying a drug-free alcohol-free workplace. The ordinances are required by federal law.

When it first came up for discussion, one commissioner questioned why employees must even be warned against using drugs or alcohol during work hours. The matter was approved however, when it was considered a policy rather than a warning, to give the city legal steps which can be taken in cases where such abuse has been determined.

This past week, on second and final reading, the city commission voted unanimously to add another section to the ordinance.

This addendum calls for random drug testing provisions relating to all employees who have a Commercial Drivers License (CDL). According to a presentation made for the commission decision. this particular policy will apply to all employees driving commercial motor vehicles weighing in excess of 26,001 pounds, with the exception of fire trucks.

According to Finance Director Jackie Boya, the addition to the original ordinance would only affect five employees at the present time. "This was all brought about when the city purchased a See Testing. Page SA Architectural styles and interior design themes vary in each of the three new model homes on display now at the New Southern Home Collection.

Tour of new homes benefits TransLife

Special to the Herald

The New Southern Home Collection, an annual showcase of home-building trends and new design ideas, opened July 26 at Lake Forest in Sanford with three homes in the $700,000 to $900,000 price range on lakefront homesites.

This marks the tenth year the New Southern Home Collec-tion has been sponsored by the Florida Home Builders Association in conjunction with the Southeast Builders Conference. The showcase spotlights the latest trends in building materials, design ideas and luxury amenities.

"The Collection will feature three dramatically different architectural styles and interior design themes by some of the most talented professionals in the home-building industry." said Peggy Templeton. president of NTS-Florida Residential Properties, Inc., which is developing Lake Forest. The public will see some of the most innovative ideas and the latest building materials available at this year's event." The New Southern Home Collection is open Tuesday through Sunday through Aug. 31. Admission is 85 (children under 3 years old are free), with proceeds benefiting Florida Hospital's TransLife Transplant Center.

The three homes have one thing in common .. a magnificent lakefront wooded setting along the 70-acre lake at Lake Forest. "It's one of the most beautiful settings anywhere in Central Florida," said Templeton.

Celebrating its tenth year, the New Southern Home Collection showcases the best and latest in the home-building industry. The event opens in conjunction with the Southeast Builders Conference. an annual convention that attracts industry representatives from 14 states to Orlando.

Lake Forest was exlected as the host community in 1997 for its beauty and lifestyle. The 529-acre community features a 70-acre lake, magnificent entry with manned guardhouse and an allowatom home setting. Lake Forest is located in Seminole County -- take 1-4 to Exit 51, then go west for 3/4 mile. Lake Forest is on the right.

Chung: She doesn't look that old

Doing this column for the first time since my retirement in May, one would think I'd have plenty about which to write. Such is not the case. Today in history saw very little to make one jump up and down with joy. But I'm back at my deak in the Sanford Herald newsroom as a fill-in for just a few days, so I'll give it a try.

Today is the anniversary of Benjamin Harrison's birth in 1833. He has subsequently passed away. Ben was the 23rd president of the United States. He was the grandson of William Henry Harrison, who was the ninth president. No. I have not met either of them personally.

History did not indicate that either of the Harrisons accomplished much other than to say that they served in that capacity. (What will history someday say about Bill Clinton?).

One person I did have the privilege of meeting (just an in-troduction, nothing further), is Edgar A. Guest. He was born in England on this day in 1881, and died in Detroit in 1959. (I met him in early 1950). He was a poet, and one who, while writing in a humerous fashion, often said some mighty astitute things. My favorite is, "It takes a heap of living ... to make a house a home.'

There was a launch from the Cape on this date in 1975. Viking 1, followed by its sister ship Viking 2, (launched Sept. 9), went to Mars. Viking 1 landed on July 20, 1976, followed by Viking 2, and the two sent back high-quality photographs which were to help in determining the atmosphere, weather, and other experiments intended to discover if life exists on the red planet.

Of course that was 21 years ago and we still don't know anything about possible life.

Connie Chung, pre-network days even though we have much more sophisticated equipment touring the planet these days.

Also on August 20, back in 1977. Voyager 2 was lauched at Cape Canaveral. The unmanned spacecraft flew past Jupiter in 1979, went by Saturn in 1981, Uranus in 1986 and beyond Neptune in 1989. (Maybe it should have obtained a Trip-Tic map). It also sent photos back to Earth.

In one of the episodes from Star Trek, video taped a number of years ago. Voyager. identified as "Voyage" (the "R" had been worn off), was located abandoned on a planet billions of light years away by Captain Kirk. That was supposed to be some time in the year 2100.

Overseas, it's Victory Day in Turkey, with a performance scheduled by the longest-continuing military marching band, the Mehtar Band. It's also a national holiday in Hungary, but our sources gave no indication regarding what they are observing.

As for today's birthdays. Constance Yu-Hwa. (we know her on TV as Connie Chung). turns 51. Boxing promoter Don King turns 66, former baseball player Graig Nettles is 53, and musician Isaac Hayes is 55.

That's what today is. Tomorrow appears to be much more interesting, historically.

In parting, keep in mind, there are only 126 days until Christmas.

Employee of the quarter named Dedicated employee retires after 24 years of service

By MARVA HAWKINS Herald Correspondent

Retirement is a bittersweet turning point in life.

Looking forward to the free time that can be spent doing a favorite hobby, vacationing or even just relaxing is turned melancholy when the retirement party is given and the good-byes begin.

Juanita Adams Golden has experienced that feeling first hand.

On Aug. 8. administrators. co-workers and former co-workers gathered at the Sanford Reflections Service Center to honor and say thanks to the retiring Golden. She was leaving the Seminole County Department of Children and Family Services after 24 years of service.

Intrator for the Reflections Center. Karen Hubble, spoke. of the wonderful, dedicated service rendered to the clients and the department throughout the years. Hubble said that her loving, kind ways were ever present as she performed her duties well and as a true professional. In addition to the luncheon in her honor, Golden was also presented with a bouquet of flowers from her supervisor. Glorida Babcock and a gold watch by the entire department. Babcock expressed sad feeling and concerns about losing a dedicated. dependable worker who's sole objective was to give the best service possible to the clients she served. No longer in the hustle, bustle of the working life. Golden can now begin to enjoy all of the things she couldn't get to while she was working. It's never easy to leave friends and colleagues of 24 years, but the sadness turns to content quite quickly.

Part of the reason that Pittman received the honor is because of her genuine interest in her cases.

She consistently volunteers to oversee cases that are no longer on her caseload. Not because she thinks only she can handle it, but because once she takes on a case she has a genuine interest in the people involved. Pittman contunially monitors anyone who has been through her caseload and remains involved in their progress.

Even when she has long since disposed of a case, she communicate her concerns and the observations of the mothers to the new case worker regularly. All of her clients say that it is so helpful to have an extra pair of eyes in the community. Pittman has been employed by the Department of Children and Family Services for over five years and is a prospective investigator in unit 327. Her supervisor is Kay Garner.

Consumers warned about pyramid schemes

Special to the Nersid

TALLAHASSEE ... Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Bob Crawford is urging consumers to avoid being victimized by pyramid schemes that promise casy money.

Pyramid actiones are illegal scams that require a large number of investors to pay money to a few people at the top. As new participants re-cruit additional members, they advance up the pyramid. The idea is to eventually reach the top and profit from payments. made by new participants at the bottom level.

Pyramid achemes differ from multi-level marketing in that profits are made from signing up new recruits, rather than on commissions from the sale of goods or services. The pyramid schemes are illegal because plans that pay commissions for recruiting new investors. eventually collapse when no new investors can be recruited.

"Pyramiding is nothing more than a few winners making their money off a large number of losers." Crawford said. "New members who had hoped to move up the ladder are left out. in the cold."

Crawford's consumer services office regularly receives complaints about pyramid schemes in Florida.

Recently, two men were arrested in Jacksonville and charged with operating an illegal pyramid scheme involving as many as a thousand local members.

New investors would give 82,000 to flie person at the top of their pyramid group and move up to the middle of the pyramid. Authorities say the arrests will save many people. from being cheated. Crawford is urging consumers to report possible illegal pyramid schemes to his office's toll-free hotline -- 1-800 HELP FLA (1-800-435-7252)

unting consumers not to be taken in by display rack opportunities that promise profits.

The warning comes on the heels of Federal Trade Commission (FTC) action against at least six companies--including two in Florida--that sold consumers ownership of carousels for displaying and selling stuffed toys, T-shirts and trinkets bearing the names of wellknown manufacturers, including Disney, Warner Brothers. Coca-Cola and Pepsi. These companies have expressed treat concern about the apparint misuse of their business logos, products and product names.

FTC investigators alleged that some marketers offered products at wholesale prices and actually charged retail prices for drastically outdated merchandise, making promised profite virtually impossible.

The Florida-based companica, Carousel of Toys USA. Inc., of Lake Park, and Toys Unlimited International, Inc., of West Palm Beach, asked for minimum initial investment of between $10,000 and $15,000. They met state busipess opportunity requirements by filing with the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. But a fediral and multi-state investigaion alleges display rack mareters told investors they could arn $40 a day on each rack.

The average income was ac-ually about $1.70 per day. Inestors were also allegedly nisled about which stores rould accept the display racks. the PTC estimates that consumers have lost more than 850 million to these scams during the past two years.

The crackdown on these companies doesn't attent the problem has been solved," Crawford said. "There are already more businesses taking their place under new names. and offering different products. such as sports memorabilia."

Crawford urges consumers who may have been victimized. or want to report a suspicious business opportunity offer, to call the Congumer Services Hotine at 1-800 HELP PLA (1-800-435-7252).

Burning newspapers

Several years ago, an epidemic of stealing and sometimes burning college newspapers took place at a number of college campuses. At Penn State, two feminists were charged with that form of rebuttal. Both had been recently graduated majors in journalism.

A widely publicized theft of the First Amendment rights of a newspaper -- and its readers -- was the confiscation by black students at the University of Pennsylvania of 14.000 copies of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The then-president of the university. Sheldon Hackney, did not take any action against the enraged students.

It was an equal conflict -- Hackney said astonishingly -- between diversity on campus and the newspaper's open expression, Indeed. the only person punished was a university museum officer who had tried to stop a group of students, hands full of stolen papers, from running away. His official offense was "overreaction."

This spring, an angry band of students, ledby blacks, availed themselves of copies of the conservative Cornell Review and burned about 200 of them. What had infuriated the students was a parody: a description, in ebonics language, of course offerings for the Africana Studies and Resource Center.

For example, "Racism in American Society" begins: 'Da white man be evil and he tryin' to keep da brotherman down. We's got Sharpton and Farrakhan, so who da man now, white boy?

Obviously this parody was meant to offend. and it certainly succeeded. But as Virginia Federal District Judge Claud Hilton had said in ruling on a fraternity skit at George Mason University that struck black students there as racist: The First Amendment does not recognize exceptions for bigotry, racism, and religious intolerance, or ideas or matters some may deem trivial, vulgar, or profane."

As a private university, Cornell is not bound by the First Amendment. But so prestigious a university, with free-expression scholars in its law school, might have been expected to tell the revengeful students that the best antidote to had speech is more speech -- not a match. Eventually, Cornell President Hunter

Rawlings issued a statement deploring incivility on all sides. But he displayed particular contempt for the Cornell Review and its parody. He mentioned nothing about penalizing those who had set the newspapers on fire. He did, in passing, come down against "the illegal blocking of public streets."

In reaction to the parody, some 200 Cornell students had stopped access to the intersection at East and University Avenues from 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Said one organizer during the rolly: "Black and Latino students who are not here with us are enemies of our people."

discussion over this specific structure, the Sanford police chief had reported that 35 to 40 percent of all police calls to the Sanford Avenue area were to the 802 and 804 building.

Community Development Director Charles Rowe said the original problems with the building were brought to the commission's attention in August of 1996. "At that time we notified the owner that there were problems," he said, "and ordered the structure be either improved or demoliahed." By February of this year, Rowe said it had been determined that no improvements were going to be made. "So we notified the owner that demolition was to be accomplished. In these cases, if the owner doesn't handle the demolition, the city does it, and places a lien against the property or charges the owner for the work." Rowe said the building owner took it upon himself to hire the demolition contractor, and city crews were not required. Regarding the demolition.

mentor Sen. William Fulbright not only ran as a seg and voted as a seg, but also believed it, say many historians. (And Clinton ultimately awarded him the Medal of Freedom!)

Wallace runs for governor in 1958 as a racial moderate. He is trounced. He then makes his Faustian bargain with segregation. He vows never to be "outniggabed" again. Four years later he wins, and in his inaugural address preaches his adopted faith with a convert's zeal, promising, notoriously, "Segregation now, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever. The F&F portrait of Wallace thereafter remains static: a cynical race-bailing demagogue even as his career shifts to the national stage with presidential runs in 1964. 1968 and 1972. Indeed the 1972 assassination attempt on Wallace is represented as the tragically inevitable climax of a career that fed on violent mass passions. Paralyzed and in constant pain, Wallace finally achieves selfknowledge and grace through suffering in the final scene, begging forgiveness of the congregation at Martin Luther King Jr.'s Dexter Avenue Baptist Church for the pain he caused black Americans. (For the record: Wallace says that's not what he said, nor what he meant.)

But the real Wallace was no political standpatter. By the 1972 primaries he had jettisoned his segregationist rhetoric and expanded his appeal to a broad swath of non-Southern Democrats turned off by disorder in the streets, self-recrimination and retreat in Vietnam, and "pointy-headed" elitism in their party. He ran against liberal judges who turned violent offenders loose on technicalities. against court-ordered school busing to achieve racial balance, and as a national-defense hawk. F&F wrongly regard all this as "code" for racism. In any event, Wallace received as many popular votes in the 1972 primaries as did either Hubert Humphrey or eventual nomince George, McGovern.

Whatever happened to "the Wallace vote"? Later, many of those voters would be called "Reagan Democrats" and would become the awing constituency in American national politics. Are they still? Well, it was Clinton who promised to "end welfare as we know it." And the NAACP is reconsidering busing.

> Lessard commented, "Unfortunately, it wasn't ordered to be torn down because of the crime problem, rather because it had been considered as a dangerous building, a danger to public health.

Rowe said that since February of this year, city crews have demoliahed a total of 12 structures which had been determined unsafe and where there was no clearcut efforts to make Improvements. "We demolished 12." he said, "and caused this one to be demolished for a total

Cook hamburgers thoroughly, agriculture commissioner urges

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE-Florida Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford urges consumers to thoroughly cook hamhurgers to avoid being afflicted with a potentially deadly strain of E. colt bacteria.

"There simply is no substitute for cooking hamburgers until they are well done," Crawford said.

To test whether they have reached an internal temperature of the recommended minimum of 160 degrees, hamburgers should be uniformly brown on the inside and juices should run clear, Crawford said.

The warning to consumers comes in the wake of the recent nationwide recall of 1.2 million pounds of hamburger pattles by the Hudson Food Company of Rogers, Arkansas. The recall followed reports from Colorado that up to 20 people had become ill after reportedly very large and heavy dump truck." she explained.

During the past years, a few other cities around the state have encountered serious problems with accidents involving large equipment, in several instances, city or county owned dump trucks or trash hauling equipment. The governments have been sued for not having adequate control over the drivers of these large vehicles.

Lake Mary is clearly attempting to avoid similar problems.

Prior to approval, the city attorney reviewed the material to ensure that it complied with ex-Isting laws.

All five of the employees affected were also notified of this new requirement and were provided with a copy of the document.

Prior to the operation of any safety-sensitive functions which involve these vehicles, the holder of a CDL will be required to undergo testing (for controlled substance only).

Immediately following an accident involving the vehicle, preferably within two hours, the driver of a vehicle, if deemed to be at fault in any way, will be required to undergo testing for both alcohol and controlled substances.

Drivers refusing to take the test would either be rejected as a new hire, or terminated.

The frozen pattics were shipped to 33 states. including Florida, in June and July. According to Crawford's Food Safety Division, the hamburgers were sold in Florida at Wal-Mart and Sam's Club. All of the recalled product in Florida stores' frozen food cases has either been sent back to its manufacturer or removed from sale by inspectors from Crawford's office. E. colt 0157:117, the strain of the E. coll bacteria associated with the patties, is a particularly dangerous bacteria. It can cause severe abdominal cramps, bloody diarrhea and dehydration. It can be life-threatening to the very young, the elderly and those with compromised immune systems. It is generally associated with contaminated ground beef.

In 1993, four children died in the Northwest. and hundreds of others became violently ill after eating contaminated hamburgers from Jack-In-The-Box restaurants.

Cooking hamburgers thoroughly cannot be overemphasized because E. coli bacteria, if present, are killed when the meat reaches an internal temperature of at least 160 degrees. Crawford said.

Some restaurants no longer will cook hamhurgers "rare", "medium rare" or even "medium" because of the associated risk--a development Crawford aupports.

We're deep in real tomato season

Summer is the season of the REAL tomato: the vine-ripened. right-from-the-garden-or-thefarmer's-market tomato; the sweet, red, juicy tomato that puts the pale, bland, cottony winter tomato to shame.

To take advantage of this natural wonder, all YOU have to do is buy 'em (or grow 'em) and figure out ways to eat 'em. Fortunately, OTHER people have done that for you, with excellent results. Below are 3 great ways to celebrate the real tomatoes in your life. The Tomato with Grilled Portobello Mushrooms and Fresh Mozzarella is the creation of Hillary Gallagher-Webster, a student at the New England Culinary Institute in Montpelier. Vt. It is a great way to showcase a big ripe tomato. and nowhere near as hard to make as it looks.

The Panino Angeli -- simple and delicious -- is from one of the hippest, liveliest cookbooks published this year, Evan Kleiman's 'Angeli Cafe: Pizza, Pasta, Panini."

And the fresh tomato soup -- it tastes, somehow, like liquid sunshine -- is from Matthew Medure, chef/owner of the soon-to-open Matthew's in Jacksonville, Fla. I took a cooking course with Medure once, and this soup was one of several of his recipes that I can't live without.

So bring on the REAL tomatoes, and enjoy some REALLY good cats.

TOMATO WITH GRILLED POR-TOBELLO MUSHROOMS AND FRESH MOZZARELLA I large, meaty tomato 2 medium portobello mushrooms Extra-virgin olive oil Salt and pepper to taste

1/2 cup fresh mozzarella, cut into 1/4-inch dice 1/4 cup chopped arugula. wa-tercress or basil

For dressing: Juice of 1 lemon

1/4 cup champagne vinegar or white wine vinegar

3/4 cup olive oil Salt and pepper to taste For serving: Slices of bread or focaccia

Cut the top off the tomato as if you were about to carve a Jack-o-lantern. With a small, sharp paring knife, cut around the inside of the tomato, leaving a 1/4 inch shell. With a teaspoon, scoop out the loosened pulp and reserve it for the dressing Set aside the tomato shell and its "lid." (See note.)

Stem the mushrooms and remove the dark gills on the underside by scraping them with a spoon. Rinse and pat dry. Lightly brush the mush-rooms with oil, and sprinkle them with salt and pepper. Cook them on a grill or pan fry them with a bit of oil. Remove from heat and cut into 1/4-inch dice.

Mix together the diced mushrooms and mozzarella with a small amount of olive oil (just enough to moisten). Season with salt and pepper. Allow to marinate at least 30 minutes or overnight (the longer the betterl

Chop the reserved tomato pulp and whisk it together with the dressing ingredients ... lemon juice, vinegar and oil. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Drizzle over the mushroom-cheese mixture. (You will have more dressing than you need: reserve it for another use.) Add arugula (or watercress or basil) and toss.

Put the tomato shell on a plate. Fill the tomato with the mushroom-cheese-arugula mixture, allowing some of the atop the mozzarella. (You will

"stuffing" to spill out of the to-mato. Prop the lid against the tomato and serve with a slice of bread or focaccia.

viroucioni electrocorec

Note: If you don't want to go to the trouble of hollowing out the tomato, simply alice it in half and remove the pulp. Proceed with recipe. When ready to serve, chop the flesh of the to-mato and mix it in with the mushroom, cheese and greens.

Yield: I serving ... Recipe developed by Hillary Gallagher-Webster. student. the New England Culinary In-stitute. Montpelier. Vt.

PANINO ANGELI

1 small, firm, shiny eggplant. ends trimmed, peeled and cut into 1/4-inch-thick slices Kosher salt Extra-virgin olive oil Bread or roll of your choice I amail vine-ripened tomato. sliced 2 ounces fresh mozzarella.

drained and cut into thick alices Fresh basil leaves

Freshly ground black pepper. to taste

Lay the eggplant out in one layer on paper towels. Sprinkle generously with salt, and let sit until the bitter juices inside the eggplant bead up on the eggplant's surfaces, about 30 minutes. Pat eggplant dry with clean paper towels, rubbing off the sait as well. (If you can find eggplant that is young. firm and with few seeds, it probably will not need this treatment.)

Heat a charcoal or gas grill or ridged stovetop griddle. or preheat the broiler. Grill or broil the eggplant slices on both sides until tender. brushing the slices with olive oil as they cook to provide flavor and soften the sweet flesh. Assemble the sandwich: Drizzle both slices of bread or roll with your favorite extra-virgin olive oil. Make a layer of tomato slices, then top with mozzarella. Arrange a few slices of the grilled eggplant have too much eggplant, so save it for another use or another sandwich.) Finish with a layer of fresh basil leaves. Add a sprinkle of salt and a grind of black pepper. Place the top slice of bread or top of the roll on the sandwich. Cut in half for casier cating. Yield: 1 serving.

-- Recipe from "Angeli Cafe: Pizza, Pasta, Panini," by Evan Kleiman (William Morrow. 1997).

FRESH TOMATO SOUP 4 pounds ripe tomatoes

Coarse salt (kosher or sea salt) I small bunch fresh basil leaves, shredded

2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, plus more for serving

3 shallots, peeled and minced I cucumber, peeled and seeded and finely chopped I clove garlic, peeled and finely minced 2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar Freshly ground black or pink peppercorns, to taste Chopped basil, parsley or chives, and a bit of extra-virgin olive oil, for garnish

Working over a bowl (to catch the juices), cut the tomatoes into eighths. Put the to-matoes in the bowl and sprin-kle liberally with salt. Add about half the basil leaves. Set aside for 30 minutes to marinate.

Purce tomatoes well with remaining basil, olive oil, shallots. cucumber. garlic and vinegar. Strain through a fine sieve .. the soup will be very silky. (You can use a food processor, but the soup won't be as smooth.)

Season with pepper to taste. Cover and chill, or warm on the stovetop, if desired, Garnish with chopped basil, or paraley or chives and a drizzle of extra-virgin olive oil. Serve. Yield: 6 servings.

Wife's family provokes hurt

DEAR ABBY: I have never writ ten to you before, but I have a problem that I hope you can help me with. I have been married to the the man for a are very happy and have a good life. My problem is my family. They con-stantly use the word "overbursened" when they describe me and intimate that it is my husband's I work full time, which they see as a problem. Quite honestly, I'd prefer to be a stay-at-home mom, but in today's world it takes two paychecks. My family know the sta-tistics, but believe that I'm forced to work because my husband is not a good enough provider. It doesn't help that my sister does not work and they think her husband is wonderful. My husband works full time and helps around the house. I can't have a direct confrontation with my parents because of their declining health. I also realize it will probably be impossible to change their opinion, but I'd like to know how to handie their degrading remarks. HURT IN TULSA

I have never been happier than I have been during the years of our marriage. I can't imagine why you think I am overburdened. you think I am overburdened And it hurts me when you make disparaging remarks about my life and the man I love."

DEAR ABBY: My situation was DEAR ABBY: My situation was similar to that of "Single Dad in San Diego," whose drug-addicted former girlfriend neglected their see. Sadly, a child can be seriously affected by the neglect or emotional abuse of an unhealthy parent. Chil-dron who grow up with a chemically demonstrate the serious of the serious of the serious of the series of the seri dependent parent carry lasting scars into adulthood, resulting in problems with intimacy, low selfesteem, depression, drug or alcohol abuse and more.

Rather than waste time complaining about my wife's behavior and the unfairness of the situation, I put my energies into helping myself and my son. I attended meetings of Al-Anon Family Groups and learned that I didn't have to be a victim, even if I was powerless to change her behavior. Her shame and denial prevented her from acknowledging how her son was being hurt, and she resisted my efforts to get help for him. Fortu-nately, I didn't give up.

I took my son to Alateen, where he received powerful and positive messages about his own self-worth, which helped to counteract the negative messages he was receiving as a result of his mother's instientiveness. I also sought professional counseling for him which dealt with the specific problems that children of chemically dependent or emotion-ally unstable parents face.

It wasn't easy to find an afford-able counselor who was willing to ase a client on weekends (the only time my son was with me), but my persistence paid off. I was able to find someone who was of invaluable help to my son. He has learned to love his mother while disliking the symptome of her illness, and he's Post any son Ton

DEAR ABBY: I am a 62-year-old man who has been diverced for 25 years. I recently retired on a medicat income and would like to travel twice a year to various places.

The problem is when I see an ad or a bargain on travel prices, it is so much per person, double occupancy. I enjoy my solitude and would pre-fer to take these trips alone. Aren't there more options for a single per-son other than singles cruises that don't penalize one for traveling alone? I would appreciate any infor-mation you can provide. TROUBLED TOURIST

It has been a long time since Crooms' Roy A. Allen Gymnasium has hosted anyththing other than recreation or pick-up basketball games, but high achool basketball could return this fall.

Heraid Staff Writer

SANFORD - It's been awhile but. if things go according to plan, Crooms High School will be fielding a basketball team.

The school has not had a basketball program since the late 1970's when the then all-freshman student body was moved to Seminole High School but has made a formal application to the Florida High School Activities Association (FHSAA) to begin playing a Class 2A schedule at Roy Alten Gymnasium as carly as this fall.

Steven Carmichael. former boys varsity assistant at Luke Mary High School and head girls' coach at Lyman High School who will coach the boys' team, said inquiries have already been made with Seminole and Lake Mary high school's about games this fall and the Seminole County School Board has already approved Crooms' bid to begin playing this season.

During Carmichael's six year stint as the head coach at Lyman he led the Greyhounds to a 97-64 record.

Treat Hoffman, already on the staff at Crooms, will coach the girls' team.

Carmichael said the school. with an enrolment of close to 220, has been hosting an open gymnasium for the boys on Monday's, girls on Tuesday's and for both on Thursday's in order to put together a squad.

The big decision will come when the FHSAA decides whether or not to approve Crooms' bid. A formal application is in the process of being filed.

If accepted, the Crooms Panthers could be meeting the Fighting Seminoles and Rams by as early as November.

SUMTER. SOUTH CAROLINA - Not bad for a team that very nearly didn't get out of the Area Tournament.

The Sanford Campbell-Lossing American Legion Post 53 baseball team continued to laugh at climination with a pair of wins on Tuesday to win the Southeastern Regional Tournament at Sumter. South Carolina and carning a spot in this weekend's American Legion World Series in Rapid City, South Dekota.

Post 53 had to win three games in two days in the Area Tournament and pulled out the championship. then was forced to win four games In one day to win the State Championship in Hialeah, which it did.

The 19-and-Under "A" squad. made up of players from Sanford. Lake Mary and Oviedo, opened the Regional with a 5-1 victory over host Sumter, South Carolina last Friday night behind the pitching of former Lake Mary High School star Ryan Mau, who will be a sophomore this season at Flagler College in St. Augustine under former Seminole Community College player David Barnett.

Sanford then came back on Saturday to outacore Alabama 13-5. as Seminole High School's Brad Jenkins came on in the third inning with his team behind and held the Alabama nine to only two hits into the ninth inning, carning the victory.

The locals then ran into a tough pitcher in the Winner's Bracket Itnale on Sunday and dropped a 9-1 decision to Tennessee.

Post 53 bounced back with another tough win over host Bee Post 53, Page 23

Former Lake Mary High School pitcher Ryan Mau (above), now at Flagler College in St. Augustine, and Sanford's Brad Jenkins (right), who is expected to attend Seminole Community College this fall, both went 2-0 on the mound this past weckend and were the winning pitcher's in the doubleheader yesterday as Sanford Campbell-Losaing American Legion Post 53 came out of the Loser's Bracket to win the American Legion Southeastern Regional Tournament in Sumter, South Caroline to earn a spot in this weekend's World Series in Reold City, South Dakota

May did not allow an earned run in the tournament and was selected as the Gatorade Player of the Tournament.

Sumter, 8-7, on Monday with Sanford's Chas Lytle getting the win in relief of starter Aaron Black from Lake Mary.

Sanford then had to wait as Tennessee eliminated Alabama. forcing the local squad to win twice on Tuesday.

Mau was outstanding in his second start of the tournament, carrying a no-hitter into the seventh inning with Post 53 ahead 14-0 and finished with a one-hitter as Sanford won 14-1.

The Post 53 offense was led by Phillip Eubanks (home run, two ine scored). Tim Raine (2-for-2, both being doubles, with a sacrifice, two walks, three runs scored). Jeremy Frost (2for-4, three RBI), Scott Ferreli (1-for-4). Lytie (two runs scored) and Paulo Stiva (3-for-4, two

The tough righthander was awcsome as he left with an 11-1 lead, keyed by back-to-back home runs by Oviedo's Andy Neufeld and Sanford's Clyde 'C3" Williams in the second inning. Oviedo's Kenny Birch then worked two scoreless innings to close out another 14-1 victory.

Pacing the offense were Eubanks (2-for-2 with a double, two runs scored). Neufeld (2for-5, three-run home run, two runs scored), Williams (2-for-5 with a home run, one run scored), Chris Louwsma (2 for 4 with a home run, three runs scored). Frost (double). Ferrell (three hits, two runs scored, four RBI) and Silva (2-for-4, two runs scored).

finished 2-0 for the locals.

"What was probably even more impressive than our offense was the way we shut then down." said Post 53 manager Rod Fergerson. "Because they (Tennessee) had been scoring a lot of runs. The pitcher's were awesome, they threw strikes and stayed ahead of the hitters."

Sanford will open the World Series the Friday night in the premier 8 p.m. game against the South Central winner, probably Topeka, Kansas.

Seminole County should be well represented in the stands as in addition to the perents who were able to follow the team to South Carolina, 24 people were trying to charter a flight out of Sanford late Wednesday night.

Also on the Fergemon's Sanford squad, which was coached Hitt CONTRand Mike Powers, were Troy

Is there help for ocular migraines?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been plagued with ocular migraines for 25 years. While I don't have a bad headache. I do have the visual distur-bances that last for 30 minutes each bances that last for 30 minutes occur time — blind spots, bright lights, and flashing shapes before my eyes. I've asked several physicians, including my ophthalmologist, about this, but I don't get any real answers or sugges-tions. I guess I should feel very fortu-nate that I don't have to go to bed for several days like many sufferers, but several days like many sufferers, but nevertheless, what I have is very bothersome

DEAR READER: Ocular migraines are the equivalent of migraine headaches -- without the pain. As you've discovered, they can be quite troublesome. The treatment is the same as that for classic migraine.

Ask your doctor to prescribe a long acting beta blocker, such as Inderal LA, which acts to prevent the vascular instability that characterizes migraine and migraine equivalents.

If this is not successful, your physician may choose to prescribe Imitres. Available in pill and injectable forms, this relatively new drug is specifically designed to treat migraine phenomena, including the visual manifestations

by T.K. Ryan

By using both drugs — the Inderal every day and the Imitrex when need-ed — you should be able not only to keep your symptoms under control but to prevent them altogether.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Headaches."

DEAR DR. GOTT: Thirty-five years ago, I received a course of six electroshock treatments for depression. I cannot find an answer to my question: What are the long term consequences of this therapy?

DEAR READER: In most instances electroshock treatments helped the depression and did not cause significant side effects. Nonetheless, some patients complained of ongoing forget-fulness, headaches and easy distractibility. Such patients - and their physicians - had to accept these complications, because there was really no other effective therapy for depression. Fortunately, today, electroshock ther apy has been largely supplanted by antidepressant medications including Prozac, Paxil and others.

As you might have guessed, these drugs also have a variety of side effects. However, they are more effec-tive than electroshock treatment and seem to be saler.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 60-year-0 husband was told several years ago that he has severe caronary bischages that caused his heart to contract at only 10 percent of normal. He was not a candidate for surgery because of a number of health problems, including Alzheimer's disease. His behavior recently became unmanageable, and I had to put him in a nursing home. Could the heart problem have caused the Alzheimer's because of deficient oxygen to the brain?

DEAR READER: This is an intriguing possibility, because no one knows the cause of Alzheimer's disease, a progressive form of dementia that typically affects patients in their 60s and 70s. While it's possible that your band's mental problems have been consequence of diminished circution to the brain, I suspect that he has at least two diseases: coronary artery blockage and Alzheimer's, both of which have gravely affected his bealth.

I say this because many Alsheimer's victims have sound vascular systems, and many patients with arterioscierotic heart disease do not suffer from dementia. Therefore, I believe that your husband is the recipient of an unfortunate "double whammy."

Furthermore, medical studies have suggested that Alzheimer's disease probably begins decades before symptoms become apparent and that the dementia is caused by a loss of brain cells - possibly from a genetic factor - that is unrelated to poor circulation

One road, one station By Phillip Alder

Channel 32 of the cable television network in Sao Paulo, Brazil, is dedi-cated 24 hours a day to the state of traffic on the Rodovia Presidente Castelo Branco Highway. It runs out of Sao Paulo toward what the locals call the interior, and regularly has traffic jans 15 miles in length! Today's deal was declared by anoth-er Brazilian Branco, Marcelo. He is one of the eight players to have won the World Open Pairs, Bermuda Bowl and Team Olympiad titles. Here, he was winning the first of these, in 1978, with Gabino Cintra.

A drawback of five-card majors is that occasionally one has to open one club with only three cards in the suit. This "fear" influences players' think-ing more than it should because it happens less than 29 percent of the time. Here, West shied away from the killing club lead, going instead with his longest suit. Declarer won with the spade king and entered dummy with a heart.

heart. Normally, one would play this dia-mond suit by running the jack on the first round. However, that is only cor-rect when dummy is repiete with en-tries. Here, if East had begun with A-Q-x of diamonds, he could win the first or second diamond trick and return a heast or mention dummy's emploine heart, removing dummy's remaining entry while the diamonds were blocked. So, Branco called for the dismond jack (to tempt a cover), but mond jack (to tempt a cover), but when East played low, he put up the king. (East was marked with the ace from his opening bid.) When that held the trick, Branco played a second diamend and wen 11 tricks: four spades, two hearts and five diamends. That was worth 18 out of 19 matchpoints. CHINTLY NEA. Inc.
