

PURPOSE TOLD OF SUIT FILED AGAINST CITY

Action Seeks To Reduce To Judgment Matured Interest Upon Sanford Bonds

The Sanford City Commissioners last night learned that the purpose of the $500,000 suit recently brought against them by the Bondholders' Protective Committee had but one objective: to reduce to judgment matured interest coupons not included in either of the former judgments.

That information was contained in a letter from J. W. Shands, of firm of L'Engle and Shands, Jacksonville, who after expressing regret that the Commissioners had committed the action of the Committee by bringing suit in Federal Court as being contrary to an understanding arrived at in February, yet forth the reasons why the suit did not violate the agreement.

The Commissioners listened to the reading of the letter, ordered that it be acknowledged, and took no action, inasmuch as, City Attorney Fred P. Wilson had already filed an answer to the suit and was preparing to appear in Tampa in its behalf.

Mr. Shands' explanation brought little comment from the Commissioners, other than Commissioner Spoor's statement, corroborated by City Attorney Wilson's remarks, that the agreement had been violated, and Mayor Dumas and Commissioner Johnson's remarks that there was actually little harm in the fact that a new suit had been instituted because its purpose was obvious.

In setting forth the reasons for instituting another suit against the city, Mr. Shands wrote as follows: "As we recall the facts, it was agreed that no suits would be brought except those which were desirable or necessary to give effect to the entire agreement. You will recall that under the agreement it was provided that the city was to appropriate and pay all moneys collected through taxation for debt service on the interest items included in the judgments which the committee holds against the city. There are three of these judgments. The interest items included in the judgments are as follows: In Case No. 2281-T, $103,868.98; in Case No. 2282-T, $123,663.55; in Case No. 2210-T, $147,448 or a total of $374,980.48. A considerable amount has been paid against these judgments. However, the committee is constantly retaining parts of the judgment in connection with these bonds released for use in payment of delinquent taxes and special assessments. Hence, it is probable that before the end of the next fiscal year the city will have paid or procured to be surrendered all of the interest items in the above judgments. To guard against this possibility it is the desire of the committee to reduce to judgment matured interest coupons not included in either of the former judgments. This is the purpose of the suit recently brought in the Federal Court.

Before instituting this suit we brought the matter to the attention of Mayor Dumas and discussed it with him on two different occasions, and on another occasion with Mr. Johnson and with your attorney at his partner, and on July 8 you were advised in writing of the proposed action of the Committee. No suggestion was made that the proposed suit was not in order until after the institution. It is obvious that if you do not continue to pay the tax and debt service only for bonds of interest included in judgments it is necessary for the Committee to have judgments for interest items which have not been paid. We are in view of this because of the fact that the Committee is not a party to the agreement.

The meeting is open to any resident of Sanford, and will be brought to order by Harry Papworth, president of the body, promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Hoover Wage Scale Views Unchanged

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(A.P.)—A White House statement today said no member of the administration has expressed the view that a policy advocating maintenance of wages should be changed. The statement said "No member of the administration has expressed the view or held the view that the policy of the administration in advocating maintenance of wage scales should be changed."

PREMIER RECITES BRITISH VIEW ON BALANCE THEORY

States International Cooperation Is Way To Obtain Security

BERLIN, July 22.—(A.P.)—Great Britain is diametrically opposed to the balance of power theory, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald said today because it is incompatible with disarmament. So long as nations try to maintain national security on a basis of balance of power they will need big armaments, he told a delegation of German newspapermen.

But Great Britain believes in establishing security by international cooperation, a policy in violent contradiction to that of the balance of power. Germany's economic difficulties are largely temporary, Mr. MacDonald said, and to a great extent psychological.

Great Britain's confidence in Germany is "undiminished," Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald declared last night in an address at a dinner at the German chancellery, where he was the guest of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning.

All Departments Find Their Operating Appropriations Cut

TALLAHASSEE, July 22.—(A.P.)—With Florida's 100-day Legislature in its final adjustment, state officials yesterday set about fitting new laws into the system of state government. Florida's 1931 state tax levy officially became a 7-5 millage yesterday as Governor Carlton signed one of the final acts of the Legislature fixing state and county millage. The state levy for 1931 was 14 mills.

In the American League, all kinds of things happened. For instance, the Yanks and White Sox split a double bill.

Other American League games resulted as follows: The Indians finally turned on the Athletics and stopped that team's 13-game winning streak by a 13 to 2 decision.

In the National League here's what happened, briefly: The Cards and Braves split a double bill, the Braves taking the first 3 to 2 in 11 innings.

SANFORD SCORES 9-8 VICTORY IN 10 LONG INNINGS

Winter Park Outfit Is Victim Of Feds' 1st Win In Six Weeks

By E. H. CULLUM.

Fighting an uphill battle all the way, with almost certain defeat staring them in the face, the Sanford Celery Feds finally emerged ahead in the 10th inning, dropping back into a tie in the 9th and putting over the winning run in the tenth, for the first victory in the season.

The Sanford team got off to a very bad start in the very first inning, Winter Park putting over five counters in this frame, enough to win most any old ball game.

Winter Park put over one more run in the third on a double by Peel, and a single by Overstreet. After the third inning, Strickland, who was on the mound for the Feds, tightened down and did not allow a hit until the ninth inning.

After putting up such a wonderful defense during the entire game, not an error chalked up against the Sanford boys during the entire time, the Feds led down in the first half of the ninth, allowing two runs to come in to tie the score.

SMITH IS WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE IN ST. PAUL OPEN

Strokes Difficult Lay-out Ten Under Par; Cooper In 2nd Place

By PAUL NICKELSON

Associated Press Sports Writer KELLER CLUB, ST. PAUL, Minn., July 27.—(A.P.)—Horton Smith finally overtook his notorious jinx yesterday by capturing the $10,000 St. Paul open golf championship with a rousing 72-hole total of 278, 10 strokes under par for the championship Keller Club layout.

Starved for a golfing conquest since he blazed a triumphant trail through the big Winter tournaments of 1929-30, the erstwhile "Joplin Ghost" now registered out of Detroit, came back with mighty rounds of 69-69-67-73 to breeze home with the title and $2,500 prize money by a three-stroke margin over the defending champion, "Lighthouse Harry" Cooper of Chicago.

Trailing Smith by six shots in a deadlock for third place were George Von Elm, golf's big business man, and Walter Hagen, another roller of first dimensions who is making a stirring comeback. Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., who topped the par breaking field at 36 holes by two shots over Smith and Von Elm, couldn't keep up his pace and fell into fifth place with a 285 total.

Johny Goodman of Omaha led the amateurs with 72-73-72-70, beating out Harrison "Jimmy" Johnston of St. Paul, 1929 national amateur champion, who got a 66 on his second round, by three strokes.

Tax Collections For Osceola Disclosed

KISSIMEE.—Osceola county has collected between 60 and 70 percent of the 1930 taxes as compared with an approximate 84 percent collection for the corresponding period last year, said C. L. Sandy, tax collector recently.

The Putnam Lumber Co. Diamond Ball team of DeLand will engage the Sanford Diamond ball team in a game here tonight. E. H. Cullum says he does not know just what kind of a team DeLand will have here; however, he believes the Sanford boys will be more than their match. The new uniforms have arrived and will be used in the first game tonight.

As Sanford could do nothing in their half of the 9th, the game went into the tenth with the score still knotted. Strickland made short work of the Parker batters in this inning, only three batters facing him.

Al Rogers was the star at bat, getting four hits out of six times up; he also played a sensational game in the field.

An unfortunate accident happened in the second inning of the game when Morris, right fielder for Winter Park caught one of Strickland's fast balls on his right forearm, breaking the small bone. This will, of course, keep Morris out of the game for some time to come.

Illegal Interest Rates

Recent investigations conducted from the office of the county solicitor in Dade county reveal that it has been rather a common practice in recent years for certain agencies to make loans in small amounts to people in more or less impoverished circumstances at exorbitant and illegal rates of interest. Annual interest rates in some cases, the solicitor's report declares, run as high as 240 percent, and result in a debtor repaying the entire amount of his small loan many times before he is actually relieved of the indebtedness.

Local Group Named As Fertilizer Agent

Officials of the Gulf Fertilizer Co., of Tampa this morning announced the appointment of the Zachary-Venour Co., as their local agent, with J. E. Henderson as field representative.

The advantage of this arrangement, which goes into effect at once, are said to be that local growers and farmers will have available in Sanford at all times ample supplies of fertilizers and other Gulf products, a time-saving convenience which it is expected will be appreciated by those interested.

Among the materials which the Zachary-Venour Co. will handle is Carbosol, a new product, formulated, patented and manufactured solely by the Gulf Fertilizer Co., and known as a synthetic substitute for hardwood ashes. Soils where an excess of acidity is indicated, are said to be especially suited for treatment by Carbosol.

Sales tax proposals in various forms were laid before the legislators. These suggestions ranged from a tax on selected commodities to a graduated gross retail sales tax and a two percent stamp tax on all sales. The general sales tax was estimated to raise $20,000,000 annually. All were killed or left to die on the calendar.

Creation of a state tax commission and a state purchasing agency, both measures endorsed by the Carlton administration, precipitated battles in both the House and Senate. The measures were killed.

A proposal for a constitutional amendment to make possible the levy of a state income tax was made at the regular session but was not advanced to final consideration.

Another suggestion killed by a Senate committee was that a constitutional convention be called to revise the state constitution with reference to tax collection laws.

A resolution requesting Congress to call for alteration of the prohibition laws, died on the Senate calendar at adjournment. It never was considered after being introduced.

The Senate twice passed a bill calling for an increase of two cents a gallon in gasoline taxation, but the measure never reached a final vote in the House.

The one-cent increase was a compromise agreement between the two branches in an effort to end the second special session.

The House passed, but the Senate killed, a bill to tax cigarettes.

A joint House committee which reported the state needed $4,233,000 revenue, above that provided at the regular and first special sessions if the state ad valorem tax was to be eliminated. The three revenue bills passed just before adjournment at the second session made possible a reduction of about eight mills, legislators said. The 1930 tax levy was 14 mills.

eration and approval, so as to avoid waste of time at Washington, the subject-matter to which we drew your attention by correspondence, under date of February 10th, 1931.— Navigation Improvement and Flood Control for Seminole and Volusia Counties, by means of a Canal from Salt Lake to the Indian River, a project sought by our people for the past fifty years. We are therefore pleased to present to you herewith certain outstanding facts concerning the navigation improvement of the St. Johns River from Sanford south to Salt Lake, and then westerly to the Indian River, by Canal over the right of way originally surveyed, established and approved by the U. S. District Engineers, and by such navigation improvement control floodwaters now affecting thousands of acres of improved farm lands running from Jacksonville south to Lake Washington.

"1. The carrying out of this project was originally attempted by the establishment of what is known as the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District, the financing of which was to be provided for by taxation upon Brevard and Seminole Counties. Legislative enactments were put through, and tax levies authorized, but due to the fact that the authorization for the levy was made immediately after the breaking of the Florida boom, nothing was accomplished. Opposition to the tax levy brought out the fact that the benefits resulting from a deeper channel from Sanford to Salt Lake and the cutting of a Canal through wood benefit property from Jacksonville to Lake Washington, and therefore saddling this expense upon the Counties of Brevard and Seminole was unjust.

"2. The benefits to be derived from the deepening of the channel from Sanford to Salt Lake and the cutting through of the Canal are as follows: A. It would open up an interior waterway from Jacksonville to the Indian River, permitting both freight and passenger boats, and pleasure yachts, inland transportation by water from Jacksonville to Miami. B. It would give a flood control which would prevent the overflowing of thousands of acres of cultivated lands and citrus groves which every year are subject to the floodwaters of the St. Johns River, and as a flood control measure, would benefit every acre of land, industrial property and improved farm property adjoining the river, from Sanford to Jacksonville to Lake Washington. C. We present to you that, as the navigation of the St. Johns River is now handled, we have simply an in and out navigation project, freight boats plying back and forth between Jacksonville and Sanford, whereas, with the deepening of the channel from Sanford to Salt Lake, and the cutting through of the Canal, navigation could flow from Jacksonville to the sea at Miami. D. Figures compiled show that the monthly freight tonnage South is about 4,000 tons, and about 3,000 tons going North. The tonnage is constantly increasing, and showing a rather remarkable increase in river transportation since having the cooperation of the U. S. Engineering Department in keeping the channel open and free from congestion and hyacinths and other obstructions, and we believe beyond question a doubt, that with the extension of this navigation outlet through to Miami, it could be increased by a thousand percent. E. We think the flood control phase of the undertaking should not be overlooked. This section at times produces fifty percent of all the winter-grown CABBAGE reaching the markets of the United States, as well as thousands of cars of mixed vegetables, and we believe that the interests of the Country are involved, as well as are the interests of those engaged in farm pursuits and industrial and commercial projects established within the overflow districts of the St. Johns River, and as such, we believe the undertaking is one that deserves the consideration of the Country at large, as well as of Florida. F. We would like to point out, that whatever uncontrolled floodwaters wipe out any big producing section of these United States, causing misery, pestilence and loss, and a certain amount of production, the Country at large is just as much affected, although indirectly, as are those living within the immediate bounds of these floodwaters. G. A Committee representing our Chamber of Commerce would like to arrange for you for a personal interview in Jacksonville, before you make a decision in the matter, because your personal opinion on our petition will undoubtedly govern the actions of our representatives in Washington. We know that the people of Jacksonville, Palatka, Deland, Winter Park and Orlando, and in fact, the people of all the counties in which these cities are located, will support our petition requesting federal aid for bringing about direct navigation from Jacksonville to Miami by inland waterway—but kindly appreciate the fact that through navigation will give flood control and prevent what you yourself witnessed last summer. H. M. PAPWORTH, President."

"If your Board of Engineers would give some consideration to this project, it would be greatly appreciated by hundreds of thousands of people who suffer yearly damage because of there being no flood control for the St. Johns River, and if you would permit us to send a Committee to Washington, with photographs of the floods last summer—which floods Col. Frazer personally witnessed—we should be more than pleased to send such Committee and present the facts and photographs. Very truly yours, H. M. Papworth, President."

Third Man In 24 Hours Takes Job As Head Of Chile

and about 55 years old. The belief prevailed yesterday that former President Ibanez was on his way to Paris.

After turbulent crowds in the streets of Santiago had demanded the president's life Sunday night, he left La Moneda palace at about 4 A. M. in an automobile. He was followed by four cars of friends and drove to La Hacienda el Sauce, near Los Andes. There he boarded a train that took him to Argentina.

Pedro Blanquar, who delayed taking the post of minister of finance until yesterday, found it impossible to formulate a new financial plan immediately. He was expected to put forth a plan similar to those made recently when he was premier for eight days.

Shortly after Senor Esteban Montero assumed the vice presidency, the chamber called a special session and passed a resolution declaring former President Ibanez destitute of any rights of power and the post of the president vacant.

This action was formally ratified by the Senate. It was construed to mean that elections would be held in 60 days, as provided for by the constitution, and that Esteban Montero would continue in control in the meantime. The Senate also passed a resolution providing for general amnesty for political prisoners and those in exile and providing for the public sale of the government newspaper La Nacion.

Orderly crowds filled the downtown streets last night, cheering for Esteban Montero and Blanquar.

A new cabinet was formed shortly after Vice President Esteban Montero took the oath of office. The cabinet was sworn in immediately and the new government began functioning.

NEW YORK, July 23. —(A.P.)—Financial markets received the news of the overthrow of the Ibanez government in Chile calmly yesterday, although Wall Street followed the developments intently, as American investments in Chile exceed $700,000,000 and are the largest for any South American country save Argentina.

A change in the Chilean government had appeared imminent for several days, and the financial situation there had been largely discounted in the acceptance of Chilean bonds which preceded the actual fall of the old government. A moratorium of external debts was declared on July 18, to last until Aug. 1, at least.

There were further declines in several of the Chilean government and Chilean mortgage bank bonds ranging from $10 to $20 per bond of $1000 par value, but only two issues dropped to their recent lows, and one of the issues of government 6 per cent bonds actually advanced $20 per $1000 bond.

Of the United States' $700,000,000 investment in Chile, less than half or roughly $300,000,000, is represented in bonds in the hands of American investors. The remainder is in the form of direct investments.

Stocks of companies with investments there, however, responded more favorably than anticipated to the change in government. Anaconda Copper stock moved 62 cents a share higher in the stock exchange.

State Officials Begin To Adjust Into New Laws

office expenditures.

Some officials frankly expressed doubt of their ability to continue present departmental functions with the reduced funds. Most of them learned the provision of the appropriations bill for the first time today as the full bill in its completed form was not read in either house of the Legislature before adjournment yesterday.

Officials who got salary reductions were the governor, supreme court justices, the hotel commissioner, the motor vehicle commissioner, the chairman of the state road department, the shell fish commissioner, the game and fresh water fish commissioner, the state forester, the commissioner and the director of welfare, circuit judges, state attorneys, chief clerks in many departments and others. Cabinet officers were not cut.

Conferences kept the governor busy most of the day but he signed a number of legislative acts of the second special session. He still had 76 House bills and 25 Senate bills awaiting his attention. He has 10 days in which to act on the measures.

Few legislators remained in the capitol yesterday. Senate and House clerks worked to complete all files of the record-breaking assembly. Crews of employees worked to put executive chamber and committee rooms in order.

Many state departments prepared to move back into capitol quarters vacated four months ago to make room for the Legislature.

New construction and alteration work aggregating approximately $250,000 announced recently at Palm Beach and Olympha Beach.

Lindberghs Leave For Maine Before Continuing Flight tempting.

After Captain Child had welcomed them to the station, he offered to have the plane moored, but Lindbergh expressed desire to see it done personally, and he and Mrs. Lindbergh taxied in to an hour siding in the mooring.

He said they would not carry more than 350 gallons of gasoline, despite the 536-gallon capacity of the plane, and would cruise slowly all the way to lower gasoline consumption. He expected to spend at least one night at each of the stopping places across Canada and Siberia.

Lindbergh was asked the distance of their longest water hop. He replied that he believed about 200 miles.

A curious item in the Lindbergh luggage was a machete, a heavy-bladed, slightly curved sword, such as is used for cutting sugar cane in the tropics. Asked to explain his object in taking such an implement, he said: "We expect to get pretty fat south, possibly in the tropics. It may be useful."

The machete can be used with cutting motion like a sickle for cutting underbrush.

Colonel Lindbergh's only weapon beside the machete was a .38 calibre pistol.
