ENGLISH KING INTERESTED IN NAVAL ACCORD

George V Confers With MacDonald On Eve Of His Departure To U.S. To Visit Hoover

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(INS)—For the first time in history, a British king will speak to the nations of the world at an important international conference through the medium of a premier elected from the ranks of British labor when the five naval powers meet in London in January for a conversation on disarmament.

That King George is more than mildly interested in the disarmament negotiations now being carried on between Britain and the United States was made obvious today with the revelation that King George and Ramsay MacDonald has been summoned by the sovereign to Sandringham Castle to discuss matters of immediate international interest.

The king is understood to have wanted from Premier MacDonald a first hand report of the recent reparations proceedings at the Hague, and, in addition, a complete round-up of the latest American disarmament negotiations.

Premier MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, Isabel, returned to Sandringham yesterday. They remained overnight with the King and Queen Mary, and were to return to London some time today.

News of the King's conference with his premier gave assurance that the sovereign has now so completely recovered from his recent succession of illnesses that he is mentally and physically capable of resuming an active part in considering affairs of state.

In spite of the fact that King George has always been looked upon by his parliamentary representatives as an absentee monarch, his opinion on subjects of vital importance to the empire are invariably given a serious consideration.

The Dispatch carried today King George himself made some suggestions to Premier MacDonald. The King's voice will be heard through the prime minister in his conversations with the American statesmen and at the January disarmament conference.

CLEARING HOUSE PLANS PROGRESS FOR SALE TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Solution To Marketing Problem Is Believed To Be Near At Hand

According to veteran growers and shippers of the Sanford district, the Florida Celery Clearing House, which is now being formed, will accomplish a great deal in stabilizing markets.

Under the policy followed by the celery industry in past years, it has been almost impossible to prevent "flooding" certain markets, with consequent low prices on prices. With the new centralized and grower-controlled clearing house, such conditions will be eliminated, it was declared.

"As I understand it," said H. J. Lehman, prominent local grower and one of the leaders in the movement, "no more celery will be shipped into any market than that market can really take care of. The clearing house idea is an adaptation of the old law of supply and demand. If we were to give a city too much celery, low prices would result. If we demand just a bit ahead of the supply, profitable prices are virtually assured."

"And right there is where the national advertising will come in—keeping the demand constantly growing. If the growers of the State will realize that this clearing house idea, with the national advertising feature attached, means more money in their pockets I am sure they will not be slow to rally to the support of the movement."

Copy Of Old State Newspaper Shown By George W. Gray

A yellow, weather-worn copy of a 46-year-old Florida newspaper published in Jacksonville, was exhibited today by County Traffic Officer George W. Gray as an interesting study of earlier Florida journalism. The paper, the Florida Dispatch, was published weekly by a particular issue was of June, 1883.

The paper carried the announcement of its consolidation with the Florida Herald, making the Florida Dispatch paper in the South. Features of the combined paper, the management listed a serial story and the latest telegraphic, allegical and state news.

The Dispatch carried 16 pages and was of magazine size. Its purpose was summed up in a line under the headline on front page, being as follows: "Devoted to the agricultural, manufacturing and industrial interests of Florida and the South."

Under the caption of "Peen to Peaches," the paper carries the following paragraph from the Sanford Journal: "The specimens of the Peen-to-Peach, kindly sent us by Mrs. George Davis, grown in the Sylvan Lake settlement, were delicious. Those being the first we have ever seen, we are not prepared to speak of their comparative merits. This, however, we do know, that these specimens far excel our preconceived ideas of the fruit, and that it is worthy of great attention from our people."

Editorial captions included "Evergreen Millet," "Ancient Classics For English Readers," "Agricultural Schools in Europe," "Dynamite—Something about It," and "Work for June."

YOUTH KILLS FATHER WHO CHOKED HIS WIFE

WOBURN, Mass., Sept. 18.—(INS)—"I have just shot my father." Walking up to patrolman Arthur A. Fay today George S. McGourty, 20, calmly made that statement. Enroute to police headquarters he surrendered a pistol with which he said he had fired two bullets into his father's body as the elder McGourty, 56, stationary engineer, was alleged to have been choking his wife during a drunken and jealous rage.

"I don't care if I die as long as I have protected my mother," young McGourty told police, as he was locked up charged with murder. At the McGourty home police found the father lying on the threshold between the living room and kitchen. His wife was seated dead in a chair nearby. The elder McGourty, without regaining consciousness, died at Choate Memorial Hospital.

BLAST IS PROBED

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Investigation was under way here today to determine the cause of a premature dynamite explosion at the Reese Iron Company's mine near here late yesterday, which cost the lives of two miners. Bob Griffin, 19, and Tom Pitway, 21, were killed by the blast.

New Law Regulating Milk Industry In Florida Will Go Into Effect October 1

Sanford dairymen, along with other Florida milk dealers, are making preparations to comply with the provisions of a new state law, passed at the last session of the legislature and effective Oct. 1.

The purpose of the act, defined in one of its provisions, is to "secure to the people of Florida the assurance that milk sold or offered for sale to the public is produced under sanitary conditions and is wholesome and fit for human consumption, and is being offered to the public under its correct designation as to grade and quality and as to source of production."

Fixing the standards for marketable milk and cream, the act says milk shall contain not less than 8.50 percent butter fat, and that cream shall contain not less than 18 percent milk fat and not more than 2 percent of solid fat. The act also sets standards for lactic acid. Sour cream for buttermaking purposes may have an acidity test of not lower than 3 percent.

Dealers must obtain state licenses from the secretary of agriculture, and all applications must state under oath that milk shall be produced from healthy herds and under proper sanitary conditions.

Every dairyman, whether selling milk produced in Florida or other states, must label the containers to advise the consumers of the nature and kind of milk or cream, the place in which the milk is produced must also be indicated.

The act goes further and provides that milk and cream, when sold in bottles or other receptacles to dealers for resale, must label the bottles to show the grade under which the milk is sold and the source of production, indicating the name of the state or county. The product cannot be offered for sale until examination by a Board of Health representative or has met with the requirements of local regulations.

The law does not apply to ownership of five cows or less. It will be unlawful for any milk to be repackaged and the mixing of imported milk with domestic milk is also prohibited.

The provisions of the law are to be enforced by the State Board of Health and by local health officers. The Health Board is empowered to employ inspectors and the commissioner of agriculture may revoke licenses for infractions of the act. The law further provides a fine of not more than $5,000 or a prison term of not more than 12 months for violations.

SEVERE QUIZ IS BEGUN INTO MOB VIOLENCE

Carolina Governor In Positive Demand For Law And Order Throughout State

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 18.—(INS)—At the direction of Governor Max Gardner, District Solicitor L. S. Spruill of Lenoir, today began a four-day investigation into the latest anti-communistic flogging which came yesterday when a band of fanatical vigilantes severely whipped C. G. Tesser, 26-year-old union organizer.

Spruill will be aided in his investigation by authorities of Cleveland county where the R. H. Moore youth was seized from his home by officers of Cherokee county in South Carolina where the flogging was applied and by the attorney of the international labor defense who plan to import secret service operatives in order to bring the terrorists to justice.

This latest outbreak in the textile war came while the speech of Governor Gardner in which he said that "law and order will reign supreme in North Carolina" was still ringing in the ears of the state.

The legal complications growing out of the Gastonia "class war" were accentuated today by preparation of numerous civil suits for damages.

All previous court procedure growing out of the mass hysteria which followed the communistic invasion of the North Carolina textile belt has been thrashed out in the criminal courts.

Thirty men and women, including 13 capital-indicted murderers are now being held for trial as a result of a multiplicity of mob murders, kidnappings, terrorism and floggings. Ten others have collapsed within the past week.

Today the international labor defense drew up suits against Mecklenburg county officers who arrested eight communists on charges of assembling fire-arms for a Gastonia "red" meeting.

Three days after their arrest, when the scheduled date of the Gastonia gathering had elapsed, the suits were filed. The suits were filed by Tom P. Johnson, chief counsel of the I. L. D., announced he would sue $10,000 for each of the defendants for false arrest.

The American Civil Liberties Union announced that it will bring forth another batch of civil actions, directed toward all individuals and organizations responsible for the recent outrages perpetrated against the national textile workers' union.

PEACOCK GETS PREPARED FOR HARD GRILLING

Youthful Slayer Has Looks Of Being Greatly Worried As Trial Goes Forward

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Earle Peacock, latest of America's way of infamous murder-labor defense to reach the front pages in a big way, was standing himself today for the hour when he will take the stand in his own defense to tell his version of why he killed his "mad cap" bride, of 20, Dorothy Heitzelman Peacock.

Already with the trial just getting under way, the 22-year-old defendant who looks like a high school boy, is showing signs of breaking down and the strain of his ordeal. He seems nervous and repressed, sitting tense in his chair for long periods as if his nerves are taut and bearing a breaking point. Once he wept.

Young Peacock hasn't the poise of Dr. James H. Smith; the personal appeal of Velma West; the calmness of Richard Lusk and Nathan Leopold; the self-reliance and defiance of Ruth Snyder; the resignation of Hall Gray; the dignity of the Bull-Mills defendants nor the dynamic court room personality of George R. Raus.

None of these greatly publicized defendants seem to be apprehensive of their fate as does this dark visaged youth with the amber hair, underling chin, glossy black hair and rather repellent personality. He is up against it, he knows it. He watches every move in court like a hawk. His eyes keenly to each new situation that arises.

He had an opportunity today to get a fresh grip upon himself, for there was no session of court this morning. He was adjourned by Justice Arthur S. Tompkins until tomorrow. The judge decided he needed a holiday and took it. Peacock spent the day in jail, reading a Bible that has been given him by a Salvation Army official.

Peacock reacts quickly to everything that transpires in the courtroom. He winced when the district attorney branded him as a deliberate murderer. His face lighted up with hope when his own lawyer told the jury that "Earle Peacock is the first man in the world who would willingly kill the woman he loved so devoutly and tried so hard to cherish and protect."

This trial is a serious matter to Earle Peacock. The toll, dignified albeit genial judge, who has a proclivity for making humorous remarks, has failed utterly to draw a laugh from the defendant. Frequently the spectators and jurors have broken into laughter over some of the sallies of the judge, but not once has Peacock "been in the joke."

He just can't. For, somewhere in the back of his head, is that dreadful vision of the electric chair. No intent is he in watching the process of the trial that he has little time to give to his mother, Mrs. Catherine Peacock, who sits just behind him in the prisoner's dock in drab habiliments, a typical housewife.

Each morning when her son is brought into court shackled to a deputy sheriff, she leans over and kisses him as he takes his seat.

Doctor And His Wife Brave Jungles Armed Only With Powder Puff, Surgical Kit

Armed only with lipstick and powder puff and a surgical kit, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer Dickey have penetrated the jungle of South America in search of the lost man.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(INS)—The exploring Dickeyes were in New York today making plans for another expedition next Spring into the land of headhunters and Indian savagery.

While Dr. Dickey was born in Highland Falls, N. Y., he has spent only 24 months of the last 30 years away from South America. Mrs. Dickey, a New York girl, met the surgeon-adventurer four years ago in Ecuador where her father owns the railroad. Mrs. Dickey eagerly shares the dangers of the jungle with her husband.

"My wife was the first white woman to cross the Andes from Ecuador to Brazil by the new path we discovered," the doctor declared proudly. "She traveled 400 miles on foot and 2,000 miles by boat and mule."

A beauty specialist in the River Orinoco, once he got within 300 miles of it which he believes to be somewhere in the Parima Mountains between Peru and Brazil, the Dickeyes on their last expedition have been five times across the Andes and explored the full length of the Amazon. He has discovered unknown tribes of headhunters who were wounded by poisoned arrows and once was tortured by Andoke Indians.

"I have had little trouble," he said modestly. "I always go un-armed and find my surgical kit to be the greatest passport."

"I find lipstick and powderpuffs my greatest passport," Mrs. Dickey said. "I bring a supply of them from the five-and-ten-cent store and give them as presents to the native Indians. If the tribe appears timid, Mrs. Dickey will hang her gifts on a tree for them."

The Dickeyes do not use cosmetics in the wilds except when I wish to be recognized with the Indians," she said. "Then I make crosses on my cheeks with a lip-stick."

She said the natives showed more curiosity about her than antagonism. They would stand around her gazing at her knickers. Then they would take off her hat and gloves and examine them for hours, she said.

The Dickeyes believe firmly in evolution.

"Monkeys are undoubtedly human," said Mrs. Dickey.

"I have seen monkeys express grief, jealousy and other emotions of human beings," said Dr. Dickey. "Monkeys are just like babies."

The Dickeyes on their last expedition trip brought back several monkeys (Saja Jui) and strange birds (Cochine in the Bronx Zoo. "Mrs. Dickey sleep with the birds to keep them warm," laughed the doctor.

GOTHAM BANKS UNITE TO FORM HUGE MERGER

City National Combine With Corn Exchange Places New Institution At Head Of List

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(INS)—The National City Bank of New York and the Corn Exchange Bank will consolidate to form the biggest American banking institution. Directors of both institutions formally approved the merger today.

Stocks of both banks went skyrocketing in the unlisted market when the directors made known the basis of consolidation, which will be five shares of Corn Exchange for each share of National City.

The battle of the financial giants for supremacy in the banking fields in the last two years has brought together nearly a dozen of the well known banks in a series of consolidations, placing first one institution at the top and then one of its rivals.

When the Guaranty Trust Company and the National Bank of Commerce entered their forces earlier in the year, making a $2,000,000,000 institution it was thought that this bank held first place in banking resources, but a check-up of National City's resources prove it to be in second place. The National City has now clinched its right to the title of absorbing the powerful Corn Exchange bank, one of the largest and most influential state-chartered banks in the city. The corn exchange was a pioneer in extending branches in outlying sections of the city and the consolidation will give the National City Bank a total of more than 100 branches in Greater New York.

According to the last financial statements published by these banks, National City had resources of $2,062,000,000 and Corn Exchange of $2,346,600,000. Though this is the largest amount of financial resources under one banking control in America, it is slightly below the giant banks of England.

GRAY HAIRS ARE BECOMING FAD IN PARIS WITH MEN

Beauty Expert States Both Sexes Are Favoring New Fashion

By Ruth Jane Williams
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 18.—The gentlemen who so recently preferred blondes are now throwing their own hair over gray tweedcoats. Bliver threads among the gold are rapidly gaining favor and even an anxious silver is being preferred to real gold.

A beauty specialist in hair and hair dressing is responsible for making public the new fad of dyeing away of blonds and brunettes. He is M. Edouard Lemaire, famous creator of false hair for theatrical and fashionable private use.

For the first time the private users are becoming some individual clients. The latter also demand the new style of gray hair.

"For the past few weeks the smartest ladies have been demanding gray hair," says this gilder of the city. "They wanted their hair dyed, but I couldn't do that. So they are buying wigs."

Beautiful glossy, black hair is now being covered with frigid, icy, curly tangles. Grandmotherly tresses of iron gray are replacing sun-kissed colored locks. And the men!

The worthy Lemaire is over-coming by the new demand made by the men. He can understand the trail set going in for anything from negro wool to shaving curls, in the way of hair. But for his own business to get gray haired over night because of a change of style is nothing less than a capillary sensation.

For men are going in for fancy streaks of gray, fraying at the temples in an conservative. They must have an eccentric land of gray running through the otherwise raven black hair.

Unseasonal Rains Bring End To Fires Raging Over West

SANTA PAULA, Cal. Sept. 18.—(INS)—Steady unseasonal rains falling for the last 24 hours today had brought the great forest and brush fires of Southern California under control.

Fire fighters working along the 10 mile front where the flames have been raging were reported today to have the fires well under control in the entire area. Volunteers were quitting the region today, leaving only a handful of men to fight the low blazes which remain.

The first September rain in seven years checked the fire on the outskirts of Ventura as it was advancing on the oil fields. The fire took a toll of one dead, eight injured and an estimated $1,000,000 property damage.

Pan-American Plane Has Crash In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Three members of the crew of a giant amphibian plane belonging to the Pan American Airways, were injured, only one seriously, when the ship crashed in taking off here today.

R. L. Falrous, radio operator, received a broken arm and possibly internal injuries. The other two men, Leo Terlesky pilot, and Robert Hively, co-pilot, were only bruised. The plane, which was leaving with airmail for the canal zone, crashed a few feet from the ground. Cause of the accident was not made public. The ship was badly damaged.

LINDY ARRIVES AT MIAMI UNCONCERNED OVER STORM REPORT

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Completing their trip from Roosevelt Field, New York, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrive here at 8:35 o'clock this afternoon.

The famous Colonel landed his ship nicely at the airport of the Pan American Airways, and shortly afterwards announced that he would leave at 8:30 o'clock in the morning for Havana, on the first leg of his flight inaugurating passenger service to several Central American cities.

Lindbergh did not comment to newspaper men on reports from an unofficial source that a hurricane was forming along his path. However, it was understood that the Colonel believed the weather disturbance would move too slowly to block his path, that he would be past the danger zone before it could develop.

The Lindberghs broke their trip from Roosevelt Field twice, once at Washington yesterday morning and again at Charleston, S. C., where they spent the night as the guest of Rear Admiral McCully of the Charleston Naval Yard.

Ford Spurns Request Of Heflin On Shoals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(INS)—Henry Ford has "no plans at this time where the power at Muscle Shoals could be utilized," his secretary wrote Senator Heflin, Democrat of Alabama today.

The letter stated "other interests were in a better position to develop the power site, and it was beyond the question for the motor magnate to renew his offer to buy the shoals. Heflin asked Ford earlier in the month to make another bid for the power and nitrate plant in Alabama.

REBUTTAL TESTIMONY TO BE RESUMED TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Deputy District Attorney Costello today was to resume rebuttal testimony in the murder trial of Mrs. Leta Stetter Pantaego, wife of Alexander Pantaego, wealthy theatrical man. Suddenly reviving his case after five physicians had stated they believed Pantaego's death due to improper use of anesthetic, the defense enabled the prosecution to begin rebuttal.

One witness, Mrs. Minnie Maxwell, contradicted testimony of an important defense witness. Mrs. Maxwell said that the defense witness was "plain drunk" following the crash between the Pantaego car and that driven by Rosemota. Eight other witnesses were to testify for the prosecution today and tomorrow. Deputy District Attorney Costello announced he would probably complete rebuttal by Friday night.

GETS FIVE YEAR SENTENCE

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—(INS)—Mrs. Anna Staples, proprietor of an illegal baby farm in Roxbury was sentenced to five years at Plymouth reformatory after a jury found her guilty of manslaughter in the death of five-year-old Fitzpatrick who was beaten to death by her farm.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

EASTMAN, Ga., Sept. 18.—(INS)—Tom Davis, 29, was held here today charged with murder following the shooting to death of Ashley Wright, 40, late yesterday. Davis surrendered following the killing.

TO INSPECT SING SING

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(INS)—Sir Thomas Lipton, British tea magnate and yachtsman, will make an inspection tour of Sing Sing prison sometime this week, prison officials announce today.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—(INS) Moore has sued again. Moore has sued again. Moore has sued again. Moore has sued again. Moore has sued again.

the dirigible is ahead of the plan for the Atlantic crossing, but I believe that this supremacy is merely temporary.

Wanted On Graf "It was a matter to wait the outcome of the Zeppelin world tour before saying too much but I believe that this supremacy is merely temporary."

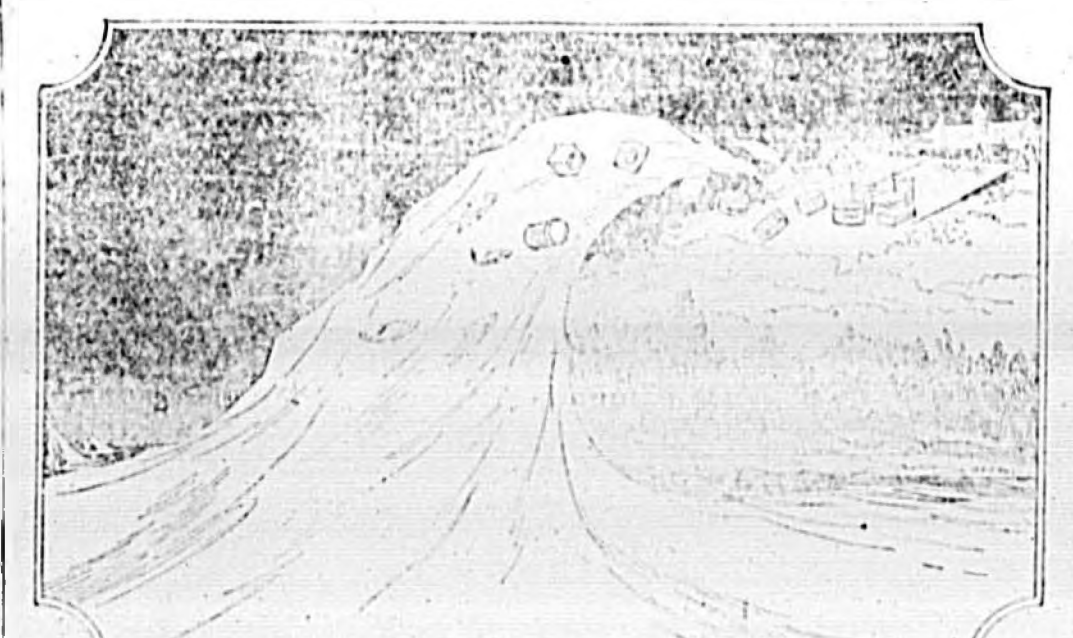

"I do not believe in the future of the Zeppelin," says the Frenchman, who is now one of France's largest airplane manufacturers. "I believe in the future of the airplane."

"I am working in close harmony with an American company," says Robert Armstrong, "and I believe that they are making the plane. We have eventually to have an aerial navy of five hundred planes. It is not necessary to have to land on each one. It can be kept in many a depot."
