Former Oviedo High School football star Jason Watts was sentenced in a Kentucky circuit court to 10 years in jail for an alcohol-related accident that killed two friends in November.

Watts, 22, received two consecutive five-year sentences for reckless homicide in the deaths of University of Kentucky football player Arthur Steinmetz and Eastern Ken-tucky University student Christopher Scott Brock, ac-cording to the Pulaski County circuit court.

Steinmetz and Brock were killed Nov. 15 at about 7 a.m. when Watts lost control of his 1985 Chevrolet truck on a rural state road 60 miles outside Lexington. The three men were thrown from the truck and were not wearing scat belts, investigators said.

Pulaski County attorney Fred Neikirk said that a blood sample taken from Watts showed he had a blood-alcohol level of .15. In Kentucky, the legal limit is .10. Watts still faces a DUI charge in district court.

Watts was originally charged with second degree manslaughter and drunken driving.

Following the accident of Nov. 15, Watts underwent surgery at the University of Kentucky Medical Center to clean treat lacerations to his right forearm. Watts was the start-Please see Watts, Page 3A

LAKE MARY - Lake Mary commissioners city on Thursday voted unanimously to enact an emergency ordinance limiting water use fol-lowing a weekend shortage which forced the city to in-terconnect to potable water from Seminole County.

The city of Casselberry pre-viously held the toughest restrictions around, with no watering allowed from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Under the new restrictions, imple-mented immediately on passage, water use for gardening is restricted to 8 p.m. to 6 a.m., and strictly prohibited from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Homes and businesses with even-numbered addresses will be allowed to irrigate on Monday, Wednesday or Friday. Those with oddnumbered addresses will be allowed to water on Tuesday. Thursday and Saturday. Sunday watering is prohibited. Water use for the purpose of cleaning home exteriors and surrounding areas and all types of transportation and recreational vehicles is banned under the ordinance. The only exceptions are businesses, like car washes, which use water in the course of business; and for the initial 30 days following passage, applies to new lawns and landscaping.

Well-water irrigation must comply with current St. Johns River Water Management District policy of no wa-tering between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

SEMINOLE COUNTY - If he geta his way, a developer from Las Vegas. Nev., intends to buy and develop more than 900 acres of property in Winter Springs. This heart of the proj-ect is a Town Center. One of the newest twists is building two large polo fields. On Tuesday, Winter Springs Community Development Di-rector Charles C. Carrington shared developer Rohit Josh's blueprints with the Board of Seminole County Commission-ers. He told the commissioners how important it was to re-now important it was to re-ceive "their bleasing." Originally, Winter Springs officials told the commission-ers that the Town Center proj-ect would emcompass 230 acres - owned by five different parties. Thrilled at what he new, Bohtt, Josht wonted more new, Rohit Joshi wanted more. He'd do the Town Center proj-ect no matter what. But he'd like the additional acreage, in addition.

"Of course he would," said County Chairman Carlton

dents from all over the state. Greenwood Lakes has been competing in OM for eight years. For the first time ever, one of its teams took first place and won the right to represent Florida in the World Finals.

The winning team was Vehicular Team A. Greenwood originally had two teams competing on this problem. Team A was the one that made it to state.

Members of Vehicular Team A are: Hayley Ashworth, Katle Booth, Jeasica Chiu, Alex Grubi, Jacob Hoyer, Monica Ingalia and Nick Kramperth. Their coaches are Gary and Leslie Grubi. This is Gary and Leslie's third year coaching an OM team. Their teams have won second place at state twice.

For its effort, the team received a trophy, which will be

City residents usually average 3.5 to 4.5 million gallons of usage daily, but had reached 5 million gallons carly Monday morning. The only damage reported was a small water main break at Feather's Edge, off Rinehart Road. This, combined with the extensive water usage, placed water pressure at extremely low levels throughout the city.

Henley, determining immedi-ately any blessing or authority the county would give the builder or the City of Winter Springs which is seeking a joint planning agreement or to allow the city to annex en-claves by an interlocal Agreement.

This is way beyond the original plans given to us," Commissioner Randy Morris-told Carrington. "There is some very bold vision here. Where are you in negotiating with the current land owners?"

Carrington said that Joshi had entered negotiations with the property owners who were part of the original Town Cen-ter plans discussed four years ago. He had not approached other land owners outside the "heart of the city."

Commissioner Darryl McLain anid he was concerned about the property owners near Lake Jesup. "What's it going to look like near the lake?" he asked. "What are those people going to see - a city skyline?"

Carrington said that the city of Winter Springs does not own any of the land being talked about and would not enter negotiations. The city wants the Town Center and would supply the water and sewers, and a master storm ing center for the UK football team.

Watta will be eligible for parole in two years, if he is not released earlier on probation. Pulaski County prosecutor Eddy Montgomery opposes pa-role for Watta at this time.

Watts has been in the Pulaski County jail since March 31, when he pleaded guilty to two counts of reckless homicide.

Oviedo High School teacher Jack Blanton, who coached Watts on the football team, has said he was shocked by the charges because they are out of character with the person he knows Watts to be.

Blanton said Watts comes from a good family, and that he was a dedicated atudent and football player. drainage plan. Carrington hoped said he hoped there would be a groundbreaking this year. He had no idea when the Town Center would be completed.

Watts was a starter on the Oviedo High School varaity football team for two years, and spent extra time after practices to improve, Blanton said.

Waits was the homecoming King his senior year, according to Winter Springs High School principal Wayne Epps, who was the principal at Oviedo High School while Watts was at the high school.

Epps said Watts was a model student and a gentleman.

This was the second accident Watts was involved in at the University of Kentucky. In July 1997, a rifle being passed from Watte to teammate Omar Smith accidentally discharged. Prosecutors at the time said that the shooting of Smith was unintentional, but reckless.

permanently displayed at the school, and each team member received a medal and a state pin. In preparation for the world finals, the state will be giving team members Tshirts to wear to the competition. They will also receive additional state pins to trade with other states and coun-tries at the World finals.

The problem for the Vehicular Team was "Over the Mountain". The team had to design a vehicle that would traverse mountains, so over water and travel through three countries as well as their home country. Vehicular Team As vehicle was an old display case rescued from the trash. Teams have a spending limit of $100, so recycling and donations help stretch resources. The propulation for the vehicle was a rotisserie grill motor, attached to a lary Susan, that was attached to a pulley system that lifted the vehicle and took it from one country to the next. A hot air balloon got them over the water. To mave money, the team wove its own basket for the hot air balloon. Each team has to have prope that are representative of their countries. The Atlantic phone company in Sanford donated styrofoam for the team to carve its props from, including their mountain and some Greek columns. At the state competition, Greenwood's Vehicular Team A was the only team whose vehicle had no wheels.

Besides inventing the vehicle, the teams must have a skit. The skit can be no longer that 8 minutes and must include an historical event from one of the countries that is initiated by the vehicle during it's visit. After winning at regionals, the Greenwood team rewrote and refined their skit for state. Facing stiffer compe-tition at World, the team will be rewriting and improving their skit again. They plan to add music to it. Adding music to an OM skit doesn't mean going to the store and buying a CD. Any music must be original music written by the team.

The 1999 World Finals will be held at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville May 26 to 29. The team will be competing against other teams from the rest of the nation and against teams from all over the world. The Greenwood Team is thrilled to be going to the World Finals.

sion meeting, Tammy Chiriani, President of Longwood Babe Ruth Baseball, said she is in favor of connecting the two parking lots to ease parking difficulties, especially in the south lot. Chiriani said she brought a petition signed by parents in favor of the connecting the lots.

Commissioner Annamarie Vacca on Monday asked the commission to discuss the possibility of connecting the two parking areas and limiting the drive-through situation that it creates.

Lomax, the former director of Parks and Recreation, said on Monday that if the connection is made as planned it will cause problems for children and residents. She said she had a list of residents opposed to connecting the parking lots. Commissioner Steve Miller said that traffic calming devices and a road texture that would discourage skateboarding could be applied to the parking lots.

They're running around in the parking lot now," Miller said. "We can take precautions. That parking lot is just #### jammed."

Lomax said that "kids on bicycles and skateboards would love speed humps." She also said the parking lots need bet-ter signs to direct people where to park.

Commissioner Paul Loves-trand said suggested expanding the parking lot on the south side instead of having a drive-through. He said he is concerned about the potential for cars "racing" if the north and south parking lots are connected.

"I do feel the drive-through is going to create a racing situation," Lovestrand said.

Lovestrand said that city staff needs to gather data such as the average attendance at Candyland Park through an indepth study. City Manager John Drago said that a study will be done.

Longwood resident Phyllis Turner said that people using Candyland Park should park in the less-crowded north end. and walk through the gate leading to the south end of the parking lot.

"We should spend money where it's really needed, on roads," Turner said.

Commissioners then approved conditionally to grant a land request from Lake Mary Cemetery Association. City staff was directed to further investigate the grant for final approval at a later date.

Finally, without reservation, officials approved the calendar and fee schedule for the city's successful summertime "Fun in the Sun" recreation program.

Lake Mary City Commission meets the second and fourth Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. at City Hall, 100 North Country Club Road.

Times Square Bistro: a place to get the blues

For the best in local entertainment and dining, downtown Sanford's Times Square Bistro is unsurpassed.

The Times Square Bistro offers dining, gift shopping and live entertainment. Housed in a historic building that once served as the Sanford (now Seminole) Herald newspaper office, the Bistro was recently renovated.

Besides the great menu choices and cozy atmosphere, the Times Square Bistro is home to one of the best blues/jazz bands in the area.

The Bernie Lee Trio, which recently completed dates at Disney's Yacht and Beach Club, Gina's on the Water and the Citrus Club of Orlando, appears every weekend at the Bistro.

'Kistorante

Seminole Herald • 322-2611

The trio consists of George Myles, who plays drums and has been the personal drummer for Dee Clark, The Drifters and Ketty Lester. Myles has also performed with the Charley Bateman Big Band.

Bob Rose, on the plano, is a product of the Juliard School of Music and has made his musical footsteps in the Village Gate and the Village Vangard in New York City.

Bernie Lee, for whom the trio is named, plays the bass. His musical roots are in gospel and he was taught the love of music by his mother, who played the plano. Lee has used his groups' talents as an opening act for major artists in the country including The Jimmie Smith Trio, The Count Bassie Orchestra and Ray Charles.

On occasion, the group is joined by Herman Howard, a Cincinnati native whose specialty is the plano. Howard teaches at a parochial school in Orlando when he is not performing and has played all over the states of Ohio and Florida.

Head out to the Times Square Bistro this weekend and experience great dining coupled with some of the best blues and jazz to come to the Central Florida area.

GFC is readying for 1999 Alligator Harvest

SANFORD - Florida's annual alligator harvest is just around the corner, and anyone interested in participating can apply beginning May 1. This year's harvest is set for two phases in September and will occur at 32 potential sites around the state.

Applications will be available at all Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (OFC) regional offices. Persons who applied for a permit last year (even if they were not selected) will have an application automatically mailed to their home.

However, previous applicanta who have changed addresses in the past year, and those who have not received an application by the first week in May, should telephone the GFC.

In addition, applications will also be available from the GFC's Internet Web site at http://www.state.fl.us/gfc/. Click to the "Hunting" page.

By Deen Basit

ORLANDO - It was almost a perfect night for Seminole Athlette Conference teams on the playing fields of Central Florida

Tuesday night. In the District Semifinal round of the Central Florida Lacrosse Tournament, the Lake Mary boys romped to a 10-5 victory over Bishop Moore behind its big four of Adam Kurir, Brian Montgomery, Ken Ho and Bob Link, but the Oviedo girls, which had won a three-game playoff on Monday to get into the tournament, was ousted, 6-5, by Winter Park.

in softball action, Seminole wrapped up a 9-1 season in district play, scoring all five of its runs in the top of the seventh inning to beat Spruce Creek, 5-4; Lake Brantley is steaming, raising its record to 13-11 by edging Apoplus, 4-3; and Lake Howell also remained hot, nipping Liverpool, New York, 3-2.

LACROBE TOURNAMENT ORLANDO - Following a lose to undefeated Winter Park last week, the Lake Mary lacrosse team and they were looking forward to another shot at the top-seeded Wildcats.

Now the Rama have their chance.

As they have done all year, the big four of Adam Kurtr (four goals), Brian Montgomery (three goals). Nen Ho (two goals) and Bob Link (one goal) did the scoring as Lake Mary eliminated the No. 4 accded Hornets (11-4), 10-5, in District 2 play at Bishop Moore High School.

It was record-setting night for the Rams as Kurir's four goals give him 58 on the season, tying All-America Alex Lee's school record, and moving into a tie for third place on the all-time scoring list behind Lae Brantley's Danny Hogan, who holds the top two marks. Montgomery also had three souls to go with his three goals, giving him a total of 77 points this year, which is another record. Ho, who scored nine seconds into the game to give Lake Mary the lead for good, also had two assists as did Chad Sloan.

The Rame (11-4) will take on Winter Park (17-0) at 6 p.m. on Thursday at Lake Brantley High School's Tom Story Field. The Oviedo girls (8-6) missed an opportunity to take on Lake Brantley when they fell to Win-ter Park (12-3).

Oriffin (two goals), Card, Warren and Cox (one goal each) did the scoring for the Lions.

In the other girls game on Tuesday, Cypress Creek (9-5), which also got into the tourna-ment in Monday's playoff, knocked off Bishop Moore (10-5), 11-8.

Cypress Creek will now meet Lake Howell at Lake Brantley at 8 p.m. on Thursday and the Patriots host Winter Park at 6 p.m. on Friday, prior to the Lake Brantley boys taking on the winner of Tuesday's game between Flagler-Palm Coast and Jacksonville-Bolles.

The homestanding Hawks appeared to be in good shape, holding a 3-0 lead going into the seventh inning.

But the Fighting Seminoles (12-12) were just giving their hosts some confidence before pulling out the victory.

Maria Duvall (7-5) was the winning pitcher and was also 2-for-4 with an RBI at the plate, while Lakeita Bryant (2-for-4 with a double), Tamara Sleep and Angela Keefer (both 2-for-4) also contributed mightily.

Seminole will close out the regular season with non-district game at Colonial in Orlando Piesee see Preps, Page 28

SANFORD - The City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Women's Spring Slow Pitch Softball League got underway with a tripleheader at Pinchurst Park Tuesday night.

Applications must be reteived by 5 p.m., June 1 at the OFC's Wildlife Research Laboratory at Gamesville.

Applications must be delivered by a postal delivery service (U.S. Mail, FedEx, UPS, etc.). Hand delivered or faxed applications are not acceptable.

We will be selecting trappers randomly through a computerized drawing," said Harry Dutton, leader of the GFC's Alligator Management Section. "It's the fairest way because everyone has an equal chance of being picked."

The drawing will determine where the trappers can hunt, and during which phase. The OFC has selected 32 sites for this year's harvest, which will take place from Sept. 1-15 and again from Sept. 16-30. Applicants can rank their hunt area preferences on the application.

"We expect to have the information compiled in the computer and applicants selected by mid-June," Dutton said. Everyone will be notified of their status by June 30." Dutton said more than 500 permits will be available this year. He said each permittee will be allowed to take five alligators.

Each person chosen for the harvest must submit an application and the appropriate fee for a non-transferable trapping license. If the fee does not arrive at the GFC, via a postal delivery service, by the July 15 deadline, selected applicants will forfeit the right to their licenses.

The cost of the license is $250 for Florida residents, $1,000 for non-residents.

There is also a charge for validating the hides of all alligators taken during the hunt. The cost is $15 for hides measuring less than seven feet, and $30 for hides seven feet or longer. The charge will be $30 for any hide validated at a specially-requested validation, regardless of hide length.

Participants will also be encouraged to attend a three-hour training and orientation program that will take place at several locations throughout the state during July and August.

Shupe's scoop

Although alligators appear to be lethargic, they are capable of short bursts of speed, and they should be treated with due respect.

Bowen-Weston Football clinic is Saturday

EV Kelle Vesses CORRESPONDENT

CASSELBERRY - Saturday at Red Bug Lake Park, football will be the focus of every young player in Seminole county.

For the fourth year in a row, the Seminole County Police Athletic League will present the annual Bowen-Weston Football Clinic. being held at the Casselberry park from 9 a.m.-to-2 p.m.

The Bowen-Weston Football Clinic is an opportunity for student-athletes to learn sound fundamentals in football, emphasizing teamwork and self-discipline.

These fundamentals are passed on through a staff of present and former football players who know first hand what it takes to succeed in the sport, especially Paul Bowen and Rhondy Weston.

Paul Bowen, an educator and football coach for Seminole County Public Schools, played wide receiver for the University of Florida in 1993 and 1994.

A member of the two SEC Championship teams, Bowen also played two years at Potomac State (WV) Junior College, where he finished his sophomore season second in the nation in scoring and receiving yards and tenth in catches.

Bowen is a graduate of Lyman High School and has served as Creator and Camp Director since 1996.

Rhondy Weston, a Recreation Supervisor for the City of Apopka, was All-American defensive lineman for the Gators in 1989.

He was drafted and played for the Cleveland Browns during the 1989-90 season. He completed his playing career with the Dallas Cowboys and Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Weston teamed-up with Bowen in 1998 as camp co-coordinator.

In addition to the two local celebrities, Bowen and Weston's ties to the sports world have brought in such help in the coaching department as Chris Doering from the Indianapolis Colts, Lawrence Wright, four-time SEC All Academic and Jim Thorp Award winner, Terry Dean, 1993 SEC Championship game MVP, and James Bates, 1996 All SEC player.

All of this talent combines to create a complete learning atmosphere for camp go-CL8

Featured lessons include expert teaching of techniques of various skills and positions, instruction periods in weight lifting and conditioning, motivation and inspiration talks from former and current collegiate and professional football players, strategies to become a self-disciplined and dedicated student-athlete.

Whether the child has never touched a football before or is trying to hone existing skills, the Bowen-Weston Football Camp has a little bit of everything for everyone.

In addition to being designed to reemphasize fundamentals for those who are familiar with the sport, the camp also introduces basic skills to younger and/or new athletes to the sport.

Usually divided by grade level, if a student-athlete has an exceptional skill level, he/she may be played with an available coach who will work with the student with others who are also highly skilled.

Because this is a non-contact clinic, protective padding is not needed. All the camp goers need to do is dress in athletic attire. This may include football cleats or athletic shoes, shorts or sweat pants, Tshirt and/or sweat shirt and sport socks. Each participant will receive a clinic Tshirt.

While various fruit juices and water will be furnished during the breaks, each participant should bring a bagged lunch. Liability and medical (secondary coverage) is provided.

Fees for the clinic are only $25.00 per person. Since the camp is slated for this Saturday, participants are encouraged to enroll now.

For further information, please call (407) 665-6783.

The opening game of the evening was the most exciting with Sunniland 'Colymoniton scoring five runs in the top of the sixth inning to edge Vaughan incorporated, 9-8.

Vaughan Incorporated took a 6-2 lead in the bottom of the first inning and led 8-3 after three innings before Sunniland Corporation railied.

In the second game, the Sharks scored five runs in the top of the first inning and then added four runs in the top of the fourth inning to lead 9-2 and going on to defeat Don Pablos of Sanford, 10-3.

The Sharks kept up the momentum scoring eight runs in the top of the first inning of the nightcap and then capping off a 27-7 victory over Curt's Alleycats with a 16-run third inning.

The Patriota (13-11) saw the Blue Darters take a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning and hold that margin until the hosts scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Apopka bounced back with two runs in the top of the sixth inning to regain the lead, but Lake Brantley answered right back with two runs in the bottom of the frame and held on to record the victory. Samantha Scales paced the Patriots offense, going 2-for-3 with a double.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Don't look now, but it looks like the Class 6A-District 3 softball tournament looks like it will be wide open affair.

Everyone knows Lake Mary is the defending state champions and are loaded and Oviedo has overcome an slow start to earn the to-seed in the tournament that will be held at Lake Mary.

But last week Lake Howell, which came on late last year to finish second in the district tournament, took down a couple of strong teams and made a statement that it was ready to compete.

Now, Lake Brantley is also making a statement of its own, edging Apopka Tuesday night. 4-3, for its fifth straight win south to Lake Winder. Tiny Rapalas continue to be deadly, as bass are gorging on minute ditch minnows and grass shrimp. Bream and catfish are biting worms in deep bends. Sebastian inlet is leaturing good action with snook to 20 pounds. Large live shrimp worked slowly on a bare lead-head jig is hard to beat. Also expect redfish, flounder, trout, jack crevalle and a few bluefish. Trout are also on the grass flats back in the river.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports spotty offshore action with dolphin and wahoo. King mackerel are plentiful on Pelican Flats while cobia continue to roam the wrecks. Inside the Port, flounder and sheepshead are the main attraction. Trout and redfish are scattered on the flats of the banana and Indian rivers.

Sheepshead, drum, rcdhsh, bluefish, flounder, jack crevalle and ladyfish hit readily at Ponce Inlet on live or dead shrimp. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

How to live with a teen-age vegetarian

Anyone who has lived with a newly converted teen-age vegetarian will tell you that there is no more self-righ-teous, holier than thou, intense person on such. I know, because I was one. < 10100 I gave my parents grief for eating too high off the food chain (thereby wrocking the ecosystem), ingesting too many animal fats ("grous!"), and "support-ing the sloughterbouse" in which mi-lions of innocent animals were sacrificed on the altar of the carnivore () threw in stuff about capitalism and the military-industrial complex, too. But hey, it was the '70s). There are many sound reasons to be a vegetarian. If I didn't like meat so much, I'd probably become one again. I believe that a vegetarian diet can be healthier than an omnivorous one, and it can be a part of one's spir-itual, moral and ethical convictions. But as far as teen-spers are concerned, it's also a perfect way to get under your parents skin. Every family gathering becomes a battleground, and every meal a shirmish. (Teen-ager: "TURKEY! How COULD you?!" Parent: "But sweetle, it's Thankagiving!") Parents — terrified over their escalating loss of control — exacer-bate the situation by rising to the bait. ("Seitan? Not in MY house!") Parents may also have legitimate concerns about their children's health. A hid who subsists on french fries and who subsists on trench fries and bagels is a vegetarian in name only. Now, Bantam Books has done a way-cool thing by publishing a book called "Vegetables Rock! A Complete Guide for Teenage Vegetarians." This book can help teen agers — and their par-ents — negotiate the world of vege-tarianism make healthy and informed tarianism, make healthy and informed choices, and cut out the emotional terroriam. It offers nutritional advice, cooking tips, resources, and even helps teen agers determine what's healthy in the school cafeteria. The recipes mostly from other cookbooks and from professional chefs — range from the very simple (Basic Brown Rice, Veggie Burgers, Maple Baked Beans) to the sophisticated (Grilled Vegetable Flatbread Sandwich, Asian Corn Fritters, Grilled Sweet Potato with Cilantro Pesto). "Vegetables Rock!" clearly rules.

Prehest oven to lowest setting. In a large saute pan, heat 2 table-speces oil on mediam-high heat. Spoon in 2 or 3 tablespoons of the battler for each 3-1/2-inch fritter. When bubbles form through much of the fritter, care-fully turn with a spetula. Reduce the heat if the fritters are much darker than golden. Drain on paper towels and keep warm in a low oven. Add than golden. Drain on paper towels and keep warm in a low oven. Add more oil to pan as needed, but not too much. Continue frying until all batter is used up.

Serve warm fritters with dipping

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful, sweet grandmother who has been going to the same beauty shop for 40 years. Her stylist, "Sue," teases and lacquers her hair until it's still as a board, and also gives her those frizzy perms that make her hair look like Brillo. She sleeps with her hair wrapped in toilet tissue.

For my wedding, I offered to send her to my stylist and pay for it, but she said she would feel so disloyal to Sue that she could never look her in the face again. Abby, my beautiful grandmother showed up at my wedding looking like an apricot poodle! When I got the pictures back it almost broke my heart. What can I do to convince her that it's time for a change? LOVING GRANDDAUGHTER IN WICHITA, KAN.

DEAR GRANDDAUGHTER: Your grandmother sleeps with ADVICE COLUMNIST her hair wrapped in toilet tissue because she wants her "set" to last between shampoos. As much as you would like to see her adopt a softer and more contemporary style, she is satisfied with her hairstyle and comfortable with how she looks, so you should accept it. Had your grandmother been interested in changing her image, she would have accepted your offer to have her hair styled for your wedding.

DEAR ABBY: What is the proper etiquette when it comes to baby showers? I have a friend who wants a shower for her second child. Her first child is only 4. She has hinted around to me about how she wants "someone" to throw her another baby shower, and she has even registered at local stores!

Abby, I don't feel comfortable giving her another shower, but she's my best friend, and I haven't heard of anyone else doing so. I always thought that you have baby showers for the first child only. Am I wrong, or is this something that's changing because of the times? WONDERING

IN SUPERIOR, WIS.

DEAR WONDERING: In my opinion, it's improper to do it this soon. Be honest with your friend and explain why you're uncomfortable about hosting another baby shower. It's gener-ally assumed that if the children are spaced relatively close together, the mother will save the baby items and reuse them.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "In a Bind," whose cousin didn't want her to name her baby after their uncle, reminded me of a joke one of my co-workers shared with me.

A young couple were having their first child, a girl. The wife began searching through baby books, looking for just the right name for their daughter. After several months of "research" she finally decided the perfect name was "Calliope.

Her husband disliked the name, but he was a skilled negotiator. Instead of arguing with her, he said with a broad grin: "That's a great idea! When I was in high school I dated a beautiful blonde named

Calliope. Gosh! The memories that name brings back

The next day, his wife informed him that she'd changed her mind. They named their daughter Caroline Alice, after both of their mothers!

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a family history of colon cancer. I had a normal colonoscopy in 1997. My gastroen-terologist wants to repeat the test every five years. I would prefer to have it done every two years. What do was think? you think? you think? DEAR READER: I think that you should follow the specialist's advice. For the most part, colon cancers grow slowly, so — based on your relatively recent, normal colonoscopy — you are probably safe to wait out the full five years that he suggests. Nonetheless, I urge you to discuss your concerns

Over the years, I have spent much time deciding whether my readers would be happier if I stuck to 1950s' bidding, with 16-18 no-trumps, forcing raises and strong two-bids, or if I moved everyone into the 1990s. As regulars will know, I lean toward modernization. Yet I strive not to offer incorrect advice, and when I see an other writer suggesting an action I consider totally wrong, it bothers me. # Pond scum can be fun! Kids at South Seminole creating habitat area

By Jeff Berlinicke ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR Try finding a bunch of kids who volunteer to stay after school to play with pond scum.

You won't find that at too many places. But it's different at South Seminole Middle School in Casselberry where the kids are having a blast clearing algae from an oncampus pond. Eventually, the plan is to aerate the pond to allow for more oxygen to make it a welcome mat for all kinds of binds, wildlife and fish

A designated portion of the South Seminole campus was recognized as a National Wildlife Federation Schoolyard Habitat. The program was launched in 1995 and encourages the creation of wildlife habitats as learning centers on campuses across the nation.

At South Seminole, a large group of volunteers, some from different schools, stay after school to work in the pond, clearing out the pond and, generally, having fun.

Today, the next phase of the program goes into effect as the kids erect a windmill which will provide backup power to further aerate the pond which will serve as a living classroom.

Already, there are catfish in the pond, one of the few beings that can exist in the pond until more oxygen is supplied.

"We need to clear out the pond because we need to give the fish oxygen to breath," said sixth-grader Trinity Stevens. "I don't mind walking around in the pond. Sometimes you get stuck for a minute, but it's fun. Animals are very important to the environment." Eighth-grader Todd Barello agrees.

"We need to take care of the environment," he said. "If we take care of the environment for fish, they'll take care of the water for us."

The students are having a great time, but they are also learning while they run barefoot through the mud and the muck. South Seminole was recently named by the Florida Game and Freshwater Fishing Commission as one of only two schools in the state to be chosen for the Urban Fisheries Project.

Marcye Davis, the school security officer at South Seminole, is spearheading the project and is as enthused as the kids.

"It's a treat for them to go out and pull pondscum," she said. "Because of the low water level and the lack of rain we've had, we have to aerate the pond and this is the best way to do It. It's the only way to get oxygen into the water."

She's proud of her kids and their efforts. "We'll have the first windmill in Seminole County, we have catfish spawning and it's been a great learning experience. They are learning all about the importance of working with the environment."

John Kopack is used to spending his time taking care of the lush grounds at Alaqua Country Club. Lately, he's been spending his time at Hamilton Elementary School tending to a far different type of environment.

Despite the Hamilton layout in the middle of Sanford, the Hamilton students are making their campus more environmental-friendly. Along with a butterfly garden and several other projects, the first-graders are creating an environmental preservation area.

Alaqua adopted Hamilton as part of the Audobon Sanctuary Program. The purpose of the program is to teach elementary school students to learn about environmental preservation and development.

Last week, the kids were working with Kopack on a new on-campus nature preserve. After speaking to the kids about the environment and, the kids went to work, clearing a large area of weeds and debris. Then they planted plants and installed bird boxes. The ultimate goal is to create an ecosystem.

Plans are also underway to put identifying markers on their new plants and trees. Already, nature has taken to the Hamilton project. Rabbits and owls are finding it a popular place and other students at the school have helped by raising tadpoles in their classrooms. Of course, the first step was to make it habitable by clearing garbage from the area.

"It's really bad for the environment when you have garbage all around," said student Blair Edwards. We want to turn this grassy area into wetlands to help with the environment."

The project got a big boost from Alaqua which has donated all of the new plants. Alaqua also has visited the Hamilton campus several times recently to give the students golf lessons.

Da' Bomb hears all...

If you get a chance, Da Bomb says to check out the morning newscast at WNN (Wicklow News Network). The kids have a broadcast facility that rivals anything you can see on CNN.

You may have already read about it on the last page, but the folks at Alaqua Country Club deserve a big hand for working with the kid at Hamilton Elementary. Da Bomb has played Alaqua's beautiful golf course (he wouldn't mind playing again, hint, hint) and says it's pretty cool that they've come out to work with the kids.

Da Bomb says great job in "Nunsence" last weekend at Lake Mary High. Once again, Bill Eiselle's troupe put on a great show.

You'll hear more about this, but Da Bomb says to give a thumbs up to the Oviedo High NJROTC which finished second nationally. Col. Joseph Nardo and his gang do a great job and deserve a lot of credit for their good work.

What are you doing about getting a job this summer? Da Bomb wants to know. Give us a call at 322-2611 if you have any ideas on obtaining a summer job or. if you have a really cool one lined up already, tell us how you got it.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

One afternoon on late July two very cute and playful dogs wanted to run away. Their names were Jesse and Jackie. Jesse and Jackie wanted to run away because their owner s were very mean and scary. So Jesse decided to run away early in the morning.

Jackie and Jesse had a good night's sleep and left in the morning. Jesse said that they should go to the dump to see if there was any food. After they ate: they both walked to places that were very unusual.

After a few days, Jackie saw a wet and soggy sign that said Lost Dogs. She told Jesse and they were both worried and scared their mean owners would catch them. "What are we going to do?" Jackie asked.

Jesse said that they would have to run as far as they could.

Then, a girl named Lauren came up to them, picked them up and brought Jesse and Jackie to her house. Lauren was a very sweet girl. Lauren didn't know Jesse and Jackle were lost because they ran so far away from their house.

Jesse and Jackie didn't have collars on so Lauren asked her mom and dad if she could keep them. Lauren's mom and dad looked at them and said yes. Lauren was so happy and excited. Jesse and Jackie were very good for Lauren because they did not want to leave. Jesse and Jackie were so happy with Lauren that they stayed with her forever.

State law isn't worth the trouble

By Amy Guesther HERALD CORRESPONDENT

They are meant to protect teens and save lives, but are the laws that hang in the balance worth the trouble?

Sometimes people get carried away with their natural instincts to protect others. While these people have honorable intentions, they often hinder young adults' decision-making skills.

A new law that is now being processed in Tallahassee is one that is extremely troublesome. It impedes parents' rights as well as endangers young adults. Those who have pushed this bill probably have not considered all the havoc it will cause. Perhaps they have, but perhaps they have not seen it from all angles.

The bill being referred to in one that would make is against the law for teens to have more than two underage passengers. excluding family members, in their car.

This bill will cause many problems for many people. Say, for instance, that it is mom's day to run the car pool from a younger child's school. Mom gets caught up at work and calls an older child to pick up the kids in her place.

At this point in time, this would not be a problem. The older child could pick up the four younger children. Of course, they may be a bit of a distraction to the driver, but is there anyone who would not be distracted by four kinds in their car?

Yet, if this bill passes, four younger children could be stuck at school for hours. waiting for one of the other patents to come and get them. This may be a bit extreme, but It is real, it happens all the time.

Still, some may say this is a

It's not about luck at Jackson Heights

Luck? Some people make their own luck. Alexandra Dogariu, an eighth-grader at Jackson Heights Middle School, said her success story might have been luck, but it's more probable that she earned every bit of it.

She is the school's Disney Dreamer and Doer and also won the state science fair for a project she did on the subject of ink and paper printability. "I wrote about how ink prints and the spread of the ink on paper," she said.

She has experience as a newspaper reporter, working for the Jackson Heights newspaper.

Alexandra has a bright pedigree. Her father works as a physicist at the University of Central Florida and her mother is a physics teacher at the school. Other family members are in the field of physics as well, but Alexandra said her heart might not be in that field. "I want to go into medicine."

she said. There are no expectations for me to get into physics."

She laughed when she said that by the way.

Alexandra has made straight A's throughout her career at Jackson Heights and has a maturity beyond her years, but she says she just tries to blend in with her classmates. "I've got a lot of friends," she said. "I'm pretty much normal. Sometimes I think it's a drawback that I'm in gifted programs because I lost a lot of my friends and sometimes it's difficult when people think you're gifted."

Alexandra went to Stenstrom Elementary and will attend Oviedo High School next year. She's looking forward to high school but said she still has some things to take care of while she's in middle school. She's a member of the Math Counts program and practices Tae Kwan Do outside of school

After she graduates from Oviedo, Alexandra wants to go to school in California but wouldn't mind the New England area, but that's a long way off. For now, she just wants to enjoy her award.

When I was interviewed for the Dreamers and Doers Award, I was a little nervous." she said. Then, a few days later they pulled me into the video production room and put it live on television."

Even though Alexandra takes gifted classes, she says she is no different from anyone else at Jackson Heights.

"I've got a lot of friends," she said. "I just try to act normal and that's how I want to be treated."

She may want to be normal but, as a Disney Dreamer and Doer, she certainly stands above the crowd.

bad example and is definitely not a good reason to stop a bill that is meant to save young lives

Another example that seems all so real...car-pooling to school is a way of life for may teens. Some of the teens that car-pool have their own cars but choose to car-pool to save gas

So, if the new bill is passed the teens will disperse. instead of all being in one car, they will have to take two.

IF these teens are the type of stereotypical, irresponsible young people that most people think of when they hear the word teen, then they will not just be distracting each other and egging each other on, but they will also be racing each other.

This will not only cause more teen drivers to be put on the road, but also it will call for larger parking lots at high schools. This bill has been set forth with good intentions, but may miss its target in the long run.

Instead of restricting the number of passengers teens are permitted to have in their cars, try making it tougher to get a license to begin with. Making the driving age high is not going to solve the problem either. Reinstating driver's education in the schools. however, will help.

Summer driver's education programs are not as involved as the eighteen week course was, and new drivers need this type of instruction.

Another solution that should be considered is additional testing in order to get a license. In other words, make it so that the person giving the test asks the new driver questions, such as: if the driver approached a stop sign, a question about right of way could be asked.

Young people should not be persecuted for being young and naive, if nothing is being done to enhance their education. Young people, namely teens, will always be the focus of much of society's wrath. Just because every generation has messed up at this time in their lives, does not mean that all the following generations should be punished for their mistakes.
