Arbitration Offer of Bank's Receiver Rejected By City

Draft Proposed To Withdraw Action If Commissioners Had Agreed To Mediation

Time, Money Avers Receiver

Will Let Matter Rest With Courts or Final Decision

Proposal to arbitrate and immediate rejection of the offer by the city commissioners constituted the latest developments in the receivership of the First National Bank in which E. H. Ashcraft, receiver, for the Semole County Bank, has asked court proceedings to be taken to liquidate the bank's assets.

The proposal was submitted in a letter which went into some details, it contained an offer to arbitrate, within 30 days, the question of the City's liability for the Semole County Bank and the holders of obligation paper had been assigned from the bank institution. The offer stated that the arbitration would be a rule of court from which no appeal would be made.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the Commission on June 10. The proposition was presented by S. H. Dighton, attorney for the receiver, Mr. Ashcraft, who was present. It developed that the offering was the upshot of a series of conferences in Tallahassee between city officials and Comptroller Ernest Amos and between the controller and the bank receiver.

The receiver's proposal was read with some surprise by the commission. It had been whispered that the offer was to maintain a definite promise to draw the intervention proceedings. Fully recovered from its surprise, the commission at once demurred and voiced its objection by a unanimous vote.

"I think we ought to stand pat," said the way Commissioner Miley, who is a Householder acquiesced, submitting his client's offer. Dighton denied charges which had been made to the effect that "we are trying to wreck the city." He described the offer as "fair and reasonable" one which would greatly assist the City in straightening out its affairs and the bank in liquidating its assets.

"If you refuse to accept," he continued, "the responsibility of wrecking the city will be your own shoulder."

The question was summarized by Mr. Dighton with the statement, "Mr. Ashcraft says the City has the bank $750,000 in its hands. You say it does not, just as you obtain a legal determination of the question, you write obligation off your books. We say that this action is manifestly wrong."

With every sale of refunding bonds the City is boosting its bond sale," the attorney said, and saying adjudication of this matter. "He reiterated that the receiver was not trying to force the city and declared that acceptance of his proposal would save money and be of mutual advantage to both parties."

"I want to thank the voters of Semole County for the splendid support by which they have elected me for representation in Congress, and the Sanford Herald for its fine co-operation. Words do not express my appreciation of loyal support. I can only show my gratitude by devoted service the interest of our state and I will render to the utmost of my ability."

NOBILE'S MEN SUFFER FROM INTENSE COLD

Commander Himsel Together With Wireless Operator Stated To Be Frost-Bitten; Several Have Frozen Limbs

Two Of Crew Were Injured In Wreck

Ice-Breakers Push On In Effort To Reach Belonged Band Separated In 2 Groups

ROME, June 11.—(INS)—All the members of the stranded Nobile expedition in the Arctic are suffering from the intense cold while it is reported that Gen. Umberto Nobile himself and radio operator Giuseppe Biagi have been frost-bitten, said an aviator from King's Bay today.

These dispatches indicated that urgent assistance is necessary although the expedition has food for a considerable time. Several in the expedition suffered frozen limbs. The expedition split up and it is probable that members of the second group have also suffered frozen arms, legs or ears.

The Nobile group was six miles east of Foye Island at last reports. Gen. Nobile and seven companions were in the gondola when it was tipped from the body of the dirigible by coming in contact with a high ice hummock on May 25.

The ice-ship Kobay has been advised that a strong wind is now breaking up the ice and that it will soon be possible for the ship to proceed further northward to search for the Italia's crew. Both the Hobby and the steamer Braganza will attempt to press on toward Cape North as soon as possible. Captain Himsel-Larsen, the Norwegian aviator, has reached the Hobby in his plane, the Gull.

Larsen and Lieut. Halm will attempt to locate the Italia's castaways from the air and drop food and other supplies down to them. Halm made one attempt to scour the northern regions but was compelled by inclement weather to make a landing on the ice of Mossel Bay.

Meanwhile the Italia continues to keep in constant touch with the Citta Di Milano at King's Bay by radio. The two parts of the crew are on an ice pack 80 to 100 degrees north latitude and 28 to 30 east longitude. They are unable to reach each other because of open water in the area.

The members of the Italia's crew have sufficient food to last them until the middle of next month, and those who were not injured are in excellent health and spirits, the Citta Di Milano was informed.

Three members of the crew, better equipped than the others to combat Arctic conditions because of Alpine experience, are reported to be proceeding southward ahead of the others and may be able to reach the rescuers and lead them back to the Italia.

Field Events Will Precede Ball Games On Next Thursday

Thursday afternoon will be a gala occasion at the Municipal Athletic field, according to plans now being made by officials of the Sanford baseball team. A program of field events, participated in by the players of the local club and the West Palm Beach team, has been arranged and suitable prizes have been offered by local merchants.

President Leaves Tonight For 3 Months Vacation On Large Estate In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(INS)—President Coolidge leaves tonight for a three-month vacation in Wisconsin. With him will go Mrs. Coolidge who, at the last minute, abandoned plans to remain behind and attend the graduation of her son John, next Monday at Amherst.

The spot picked for this year's summer White House is the camp of the late Henry Clay Pierce, millionaire oil man, located on the Brule River about 32 miles from Superior. Over 4,000 acres are encompassed in the estate, through which run a number of streams reputed to be outstanding spots for trout. The main cabin, known as Cedar Island Lodge, which will house the President and Mrs. Coolidge, is on a little island connected with the mainland by drawbridges. A score of other buildings furnish guest and servant quarters.

A large office staff will make the trip with Mr. Coolidge, and a temporary executive office is to be set up in Superior. The President plans to motor in daily to attend to national business. Also the Coolidges are taking with them quite a force of household servants who will minister to the wants of the Wisconsin camp throughout the summer.

Newspaper men, secret service operatives and photographers will swell the total of persons aboard the Presidential special train to over 60. In addition to the President's car, the special will include two compartment cars, two standard sleeping cars, a dining car, a club car and a baggage car.

Everett Sanders, secretary to the President, will be the only absentee from the train. Sanders is enroute to Kansas City to observe the 28th Annual National Convention, according to friends of Mr. Coolidge, to see that no "draft" movement is started. The President is determined not to be a candidate to succeed himself, and he is not going to be forced into such a nomination.

CHINESE WAR ACE OCCUPIES PEKING ASSURING ORDER

GOVERNOR OF SHANSI PROVINCE IS GIVEN HEARTY OVALATION BY STUDENTS AND COMMERCIAL
BODIES UPON ENTERING CITY

PEKING, June 11.—(INS)—Marshal Yen Hsi-Shang, governor of Shansi Province and first of the three veteran Chinese warlords to reach Peking entered the city at noon today with a small bodyguard and immediately established headquarters at the Ministry of War. Representatives of commercial bodies and student organizations give the marshal a welcome.

Interviewed by the foreign correspondents, Yen stated that he had his two main purposes: (1) The preservation of peace and order within Peking. To this end he had ordered reliable troops stationed at all important points in the Peking district and has issued special instructions regarding the protection of foreign lives and property, also prohibiting public meetings, demonstrations, and distribution of incendiary literature.

(2) The dispersal of all enemy troops from the northern area, this to be done in cooperation with the Nationalist allies, under direction of the Nanking Government. Yen said that all civil affairs were for arrangement by Nanking and did not come under his duty as the defense commissioner of the area. He indicated that when affairs are properly stabilized he will return to Tai Yuan Fu.

Questioned about the incidents wherein General Feng Yu-Shang arrested and disgraced the forces of General Pao's men, in violation of the national government, Pao's men would be given safe conduct out of the city, Yen said that when he heard the report he had immediately telegraphed Feng suggesting the Mukdenites be released, their arms returned, and that they be conveyed safely back to Manchuria. As yet Feng has not replied.

This situation may bring the question of Feng's amenability to Nanking's instruction to a head. Marshal Yen is a plainly uniformed, mild-mannered military, obviously not in the best of health.

Students Present President Coolidge With Silver Plaque

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(INS)—A silver plaque, purchased with penny contributions of 46,680 New Orleans school children, was presented to President Coolidge today as a symbol of the gratitude those children feel for the President's action in signing the flood control bill.

"Stop Hoover" Drive Begins As Delegates Arrive In Kansas City

SENATOR STATES HOOPER WILL BE NEXT PRESIDENT

COLLEGE LEADER DECLARES PARTY FACES BIG CRISIS

FREDERICK SACKETT DECLARES
NO OTHER CANDIDATE IS ABLE TO MAINTAIN ALLIANCE
BETWEEN FARMER AND INDUSTRY

NICHOLAS M. BUTLER, PRESIDENT
OF UNIVERSITY AND STaunch REPUBLICAN, SAYS ISSUES OF PRINCIPLE ARE IN THE FORE

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—(INS)—The first of a series of stories on the Republican National Convention written by national known party leaders exclusively for newspapers served by International Service. Other articles will be contributed by Senator Arthur C. Warren, former campaign manager for Senator Watson and others. (By United States Sen. Frederick A. Sackett.)

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—(INS)—Herbert Hoover will be nominated and elected President of the United States because he answers, above all other candidates, the demand of the American people for a Republican nominee, who can maintain an alliance between agriculture and industry.

The Republican Party came into existence when agriculture and industry joined forces and it was this alliance which carried the Republican Party through four score years of success. Herbert Hoover is the candidate most acceptable to both groups.

The appeal which Hoover makes to the farm people, not politically minded is positively strong. They appreciate the efforts he made almost single handed in the post-war period, when the European nations, freed from the consequences of war, sought to break the markets of America and rob the farmers of the guarantee which the United States government had promised them as a reward for intensive production.

The American farmers do not forget the foresight which Hoover used in dealing with those foreign currencies and how he brought to bear all the power of this government to force them to live up to contracts they made during the war. They do not forget how Hoover led the campaign which forced the European cabinets to abandon their blockade of Germany, which opened the enemy markets to the products of American farms. The two things maintained the price level of farm products above the congressional guarantee and absorbed at a profit to the farmer, the excess production in all grains and livestock products, which the patriotism of the American farmer had provided in enormous quantities to insure the feeding of the allied countries, if the war had continued.

The highest prices for hog products which the country had ever known were maintained all through Hoover's administrative period in those broad sections of the country, which are the corn and hog regions of the country. The real farmers of America recognize without question the policies, created and administered by Herbert Hoover, produced the greatest prosperity that agriculture had ever experienced and aside from those interested in political aspects, it is perfectly evident that the dirt farmers of America stand loyally by the intelligent leadership which Hoover displayed in that trying period.

New Jersey People Get Taste Of Real Blue Law Sabbath

WESTWOOD, N. J., June 11.—(INS)—Residents of this village after a taste yesterday afternoon of a real, old-fashioned blue law sabbath, were looking forward to next Sunday when, according to Justice of the Peace E. Alan Meyer, "the town is going to be closed so tight it will squeak."

Meyer, who is also a theatre owner, was arrested earlier in the day and paid a $10 fine for exhibiting movies on Sunday. Then things began to happen. Involving a village out of 1877, Meyer started in to arrest everybody who wasn't either going to or coming from church.

He even issued a summons to his wife when she drove down town in the family automobile. Restaurants and stores were closed and all traffic, including interurban buses, halted. Next Sunday, Meyer says, he's going to close the telephone exchange and stop the Erie Railroad train on its way through the village.

"Allies" Assert They Are Certain Cabinet
Candidate Will Not Be Given Nomination

Andy Mellon Has
Key To Situation

With Secretary's Support
Hoover Will Be Sure Of His Success

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—(INS)—The real reason why Mellon will step into today as incoming trains poured into Kansas City and hundreds of delegates with whom the decision ultimately rests. "He will be stopped," asserted the spokesmen of the hardheaded allies. "He can't be stopped," countered the Hoover managers. "It will be Hoover on the first or second ballot."

It is in this situation, with the lines drawn taut, that Andrew W. Mellon will step into today. No school room ever waited more expectantly for the teacher than does this Republican National Convention await the coming of the shy, taciturn little leader from Pennsylvania.

It is his convention. He holds the key. It is his head one way it will be Hoover. If he nods another way it probably won't be Hoover. It may, in that event, be Coolidge, Hughes, or any of the struggling and embittered allies against the cabinet candidates.

The 79 votes from Pennsylvania are necessary to Hoover. Without them he might be nominated, but it is the judgment of all the leaders in Kansas City that he won't be if Mellon withholds the Keystone delegation. Given Pennsylvania it will be all over. The Hoover managers can count 450 votes without any form from Pennsylvania or New York. They are assured of 20-odd from New York and Pennsylvania's 79 would push him across the 345 nominating mark with votes to spare.

The allies are struggling desperately against the seeming inevitability of Hoover's nomination. Like the allies of 19 years ago their backs are against the wall. They are hammering steadily on the defeatist line of attack and are engendering in the process hard feelings that may bloom in November to somebody's discomfort.

The direction of the drive against Hoover was turned over today to Sen. Charles Curtis and Sen. Watson, both candidates in their own right. These two veterans of many national conventions and many years of political maneuvering share the leadership of the big offensive against Hoover. And if he is ultimately stopped it will be largely their handiwork.

"This convention," said Curtis, "is a brilliant anti-Hoover statement, cannot afford to nominate as the head of the ticket anyone for whom the party will be on the defensive from the day he is named to the close of the polls in November."

"The Congress that has just adjourned made a splendid record. On this record and the record of administration for the last four years our party can win the coming election if the candidate is a man for whom no apologies will be required."

That is the line of attack which the anti-Hoover directors are pursuing so vigorously—that Hoover will be weak candidate against Al Smith in November. Every incoming delegate is button-holed and impressed with the difficulty of electing the Secretary of Commerce against Al Smith. The new arrivals are being told that he will lose the Middle West, and that against Al Smith in the popular vote and wet East he will get nowhere. And on top of that they add that he "isn't a Republican, anyway, or wasn't eight years ago." It is a defeatist campaign with a vengeance.

Even Sen. Jim Reed, of Missouri, a Democrat, is helping the anti-Hoover cause along. "I hope they do nominate Hoover," he said. (Continued on Page 6)

The "slim" of the place of the

Through bronze medallions bear his sculptured face

And he is praised and sung and set apart,

He wears his laurels with uncorrosive grace,

The saving salt of humor in his heart!

The smiling eyes of "Slim" are keen and young;

Guarding the strength of old simplicities,

He is not spalled by fortune's trumpet-tongue

Sounding his name across the Seven Seas.

Seminole County is justly proud of the big vote given Doyle Carlton. With the exception of St. Lucie, and his home county of Hardee, Seminole gave him the largest plurality, in proportion to population, of any county in the state, not even excluding Hillsborough.

Ruth Hanna McCormick, head of the anti-Hoover crowd announced late last week that if Hoover were nominated at Kansas City, all Republicans would support him. He believes she is taking in a lot of ground when she says "all Republicans," but we do think enough will so that he would make a very satisfactory choice for the party.

The opposition is trying to prevent the nomination of Herb Hoover by saying that the South would never vote for him because he is a "nigger lover." The South would never vote for him anyway, because the South always votes according to the dictates of Northern Democrats.—Sanford Herald.

Son, you are more truthful than all—Palm Beach Independent. A fault for which we are continually apologizing.

During the campaign it was pointed out more than once by the Hathaway managers that Catts and Carlton were working together. If we remember correctly it was Senator Waybright of Jacksonville who, speaking here in Sanford, coined the phrase "Sidney J. Carlton and Doyle E. Catts." So we would like to remind our readers that, according to the local canvassing board, 887 of those who voted first choice for Carlton gave their second choice votes to Taylor, 227 to Hathaway, 206 to Carson, and only 95 to Mr. Catts. That doesn't look much as if Catts and Carlton were synonymous.

The People Won

With the election not quite a week old and with the results in one or two instances still undecided, it might not be too late to call attention to two important facts which stand out in clearly defined lines. The first is that the people have had enough of machine politics and the second that at last they have come to a full realization that the only way to change an existing system is to go to the polls in a body and vote.

We have always been of the opinion that when the people are fully informed as to the issues of a case, they can be absolutely depended upon to do the right thing and to vote for the best men and the best principles, if they can be induced to vote at all. The trouble nine times out of ten is that they do not see the necessity of voting, or if they do, they do not have the inclination. Too many times bad principles have triumphed and crooked men have been elected because only one-half or two-thirds of the people went to the polls.

Since the election of June 5th, we have seen one candidate after another congratulated upon his impressive victory. We have seen a number of newspapers commended for their loyal support, and we have seen campaign managers by the dozens praised for the good work in swinging the electorate to their respective candidates. But we wonder how many of them really know who won on June 5th.

The people won. It was the greatest victory the people of the state of Florida have ever won. In almost every race, where an issue was involved, the people triumphed. They fell upon machine politics like an avalanche and rolled over it like a rock crusher. In the state at large they refused to listen to the scores of hired orators who expounded at length on the virtues of the road chairman and they refused to accede to the ballyhooing demands of scores of newspapers. They turned to the man who had spent for such purposes, but who was inspired by the righteousness of his purpose.

In many counties of the state, the local machines were also smashed. From Duval, Hillsborough and Dade come the word that in many offices old line politicians, who felt wonderfully secure in their positions, have been displaced by younger and greener men, who do not know the ways of politics but who have better reputations for honesty and square-shooting. Where men in office had the confidence of the people they were returned, but where doubt existed, the people took no chances.

There is only one reason why the election of June 5th was such an impressive victory for the people. That is, they voted. Over two hundred and forty thousand persons used their right of franchise. It had been predicted that more would vote than ever before; one hundred and eighty thousand or two hundred thousand would not have been surprising. But two hundred and forty thousand! One hundred thousand more than voted in 1924!

The people won a victory, and there's the reason.

The Point Of View

Agitation has been rife recently in Miami against the great English sport of coursing, the pastime which requires that a dog chase a rabbit around a field until the rabbit is exhausted and falls victim to the knife-like incisors of the hound. The Humane Society declares that this form of diversion is cruel, that it appeals only to the baser instincts in man and that it is detrimental to the moral fiber of youth. While we confess that we would get a thrill out of seeing a sleek greyhound stretched at full length, bringing every muscle of its body into proper coordination and striving with all its energy to overtake the fleeing and doubtlessly scared rabbit, we must admit that we believe the Humane Society is right in its crusade against the practice.

It is interesting to note that in England where coursing is so popular there is found the greatest sentiment against bull fighting, the national sport of Spain. Englishmen, being great lovers of horseflesh, revolt at the spectacle of a maddened bull goring an innocent horse whose eyes are covered so that it cannot anticipate the furious charge. And too the quantity of blood spilt in the bullring is greater than that shed by a little rabbit and this probably militates much against the sport of the red cape. There is, however, essentially little difference between the two sports in so far as the suffering of the participants are concerned.

The chief difference is in the point of view. The Spaniard, in whose hot blood surges the passion for brilliant pageantry and a zest for mortal combat comparable to the American youth's enthusiasm for baseball, is blinded to the cruelty of the sport to which he has become inured from infancy. On the other hand the Englishman, to whom there is no sweeter music than the blare of the hunter's horn or the yelp of a pack on full cry, looks upon the rabbit and the fox as the legitimate prey of a country gentleman. Neither race can be condemned too severely for enjoying the pastimes which the centuries have left them as legacies.

BARNUM KNEW HIS ADVERTISING

Every successful business man knows, of course, that it pays to advertise and that not to advertise is inviting ultimate failure—except in a few rare instances—but it is interesting to hear what Phineas Taylor Barnum, the greatest circus man of all times, had to say on the subject of advertising many years ago. He has been quoted as follows: "You do not get any of your advertising through. You ought to use the printer's ink every day. You are asleep and want your business to run itself. Standing advertisements in a paper command confidence. The man who for a year resides in one community and leads a respectable life, even though he be of moderate ability will grow in the confidence and esteem of his fellows. On the same principle a newspaper advertisement becomes familiar and its presence in the columns of the paper inspires confidence in the stability of the enterprise." "Once more 'Barnum was right.' He was a man of unusual business sagacity, and one of the heaviest advertisers of his day. He utilized great areas of newspaper space and then expended thousands in circus posters. In his day newspaper advertising was in a primitive stage compared to its scope and efficiency now and Barnum had much to do with broadening it and impressing the public with its essentiality in enterprise, business or any other kind. The circus, that Barnum built up until it was one of the wonders of the world and so remained for several years was largely a product of astute and versatile advertising.

And the circus, while it was Barnum's greatest business and the one by which he became known to two hemispheres, was by no means the only one in which he made a distinct success, and in which he proved the value of consistent advertising. For example, he made a fortune out of real estate alone, which he developed, advertised and sold in a new and original way. The result, which is still considered effective—Barnum avoided worries and heavy expense and saved time by letting advertising work for him. He knew the value of advertising far better than it is known by many business men of the present time.

We suppose it would be all right to say that a senator who insists on a 100 per cent prohibition plank in the G. O. P. platform wants to carry water for the elephant.—Detroit News.

The case of the man who chooses not to run is very different from that of the numerous candidates whom the convention will not choose to run.—Boston Transcript.

MRS. DOYLE CARLTON IS QUALIFIED IDEALLY FOR HER NEW POSITION

Florida's new "first lady," Mrs. Doyle E. Carlton, of Tampa, has that combination of qualities which stamp her as an ideal occupant of the gubernatorial mansion at Tallahassee.

She is of the south's nobility, a lady of charm, poise and strength of character. She is possessed of a personality which stamps itself instantly on those whom she encounters. She has sympathy and understanding, frankness and sincerity. Her graciousness and kindness makes her loved by those who know her.

That modesty which gets so becomingly on Florida's next governor is an attribute of hers. Doyle Carlton remains unspoiled by the tribute of Florida's cheering thousands and the general acclamation which called him to the highest post in his state, and no amount of adulation will change in the slightest the bearing of Mrs. Doyle Carlton.

There is never a harsh word in the Carlton home. Between the two, the governor-elect and his wife, exists such a happy and affectionate companionship as makes for a perfect and harmonious home. Mrs. Carlton's refinement and culture is reflected in the good manners and sweet-temper of her children. She is unfailingly cheerful and during the long, arduous hours of the campaign, Mr. Carlton found sweet peace and comfort from conversation with her.

To her he came with some of the more vexing problems of his campaign, and thus paid tribute to her calm clear reason and common sense, coupled with a woman's tact. Which make her advice invaluable. Should she continue in the role of consultant to the state's chief executive, people of Florida may rest assured that decisions, tempered by her influence, will accrue mightily to their benefit.

Little incidents in the home where the writer was a guest during brief respite in the campaign, best proclaim the admirable qualities of "Nell" Carlton, as her closest friends know her. Perhaps the best summing up of her attitude towards the campaign may be found in a brief statement she made one morning at the breakfast table: "If Doyle is defeated, he is yet undefeated, for he has brought to the minds of the people the truth about conditions as they are. He will have accomplished much good and we can't regret it."

Never in these times of hard-ship to carry his message to the people, wading swollen streams, getting very little sleep, driving his car until unreasonable hours in the morning and straining every resource, did she deprecate his sacrifices. Instead she quietly made the way easier for him, relieved him of all home worries and confidently said he would "come out all right."

That depth of understanding, sympathy and desire to be helpful which extends beyond the bounds of her own family to encompass all who have need of it found expression in another breakfast table incident one morning. Doyle, Jr., was unable to open his pocket knife and asked help. Instantly Mrs. Carlton showed genuine concern. She volunteered her services, and finally proffered a piece of her silver, at the risk of having it marred, to aid in overcoming the refractory knife. She showed as much gratification when the knife was finally made serviceable as did Doyle, Jr. Between Mrs. Carlton and her children there is that fine companionship that authors like to picture but one so seldom sees.

Never were more thoughtful or unflinching courteous host and hostess than Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Carlton. Inconveniences caused by guests seem to delight them by giving excuse for additional service. The hospitality of the south is raised to a high degree of perfection in their home. The guest arising late finds his breakfast but, or if he has a bed, it may be brought to his room. His days are a continual round of little attentions that bespeak welcome.

The modesty of Mrs. Carlton is well shown in the appreciation she voiced one day over the description of her given by one friend to another. It was: "She is just a good, old-fashioned country girl." The remark seemed to greatly please Mrs. Carlton. "I like that," she said.

Often Mrs. Carlton "takes a hand" in her own kitchen, and her meals are always delicious surprises. More than this, she sees that her daughters, Martha and Mary are instructed in the housewifely arts. Martha, the older but only 13, makes many of her own dresses and they are most becoming. Martha is a very frank, practical and beautiful little person, who takes problems too big for her understanding to her mother for solution, while Mary, as yet more interested in play than in the serious side of life, does likewise.

Just as Governor-elect Carlton has always taken an active part in the affairs of men, so Mrs. Carlton has interested herself in the activities of women. There are many women who cast their ballots for Governor Carlton simply because they knew and liked Mrs. Carlton and knew she stood for the better things of life. She was a student at Stetson university, specializing in music, and is chairman of the finance committee of the Friday Morning Musicals of Tampa, that had the control of the raising funds for the erection of the splendid club home of the organization on Horatio St. there.

But Mrs. Carlton has always been more interested in church than in club work. She is president and leader of a class of married women of about her age in the church of which she is a member. She has held this post for several years. She is broad and tolerant in her religious views and is interested in general charity activities. Taking it all in all, Mrs. Carlton is well fitted for her new duties as mistress of the governor's mansion. It has been predicted that Governor Carlton will be the most popular chief executive Florida has had and it may further be said that his popularity will scarcely exceed that of Mrs. Carlton.

There is never a harsh word in the Carlton home. Between the two, the governor-elect and his wife, exists such a happy and affectionate companionship as makes for a perfect and harmonious home. Mrs. Carlton's refinement and culture is reflected in the good manners and sweet-temper of her children. She is unfailingly cheerful and during the long, arduous hours of the campaign, Mr. Carlton found sweet peace and comfort from conversation with her.

To her he came with some of the more vexing problems of his campaign, and thus paid tribute to her calm clear reason and common sense, coupled with a woman's tact. Which make her advice invaluable. Should she continue in the role of consultant to the state's chief executive, people of Florida may rest assured that decisions, tempered by her influence, will accrue mightily to their benefit.

CRIME SOLUTION DEPENDS ON GOOD FOOD SAY COOKS

Chicago Restauranters Declare Satisfactory Edibles Will Turn Men's Thoughts Away From Committing Evil Acts

BY FRANCIS ARMSTRONG International News Service Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, June 10.—Good meals—there lies the solution of Chicago's crime situation, on no less authority than the men who make good dinners and, furthermore, sell them.

They have decided, the association of Chicago restauranters, that theirs is a serious burden, bound with the happiness of the common-wealth.

A luscious porthouse, administered at the psychological moment, they believe, will turn a man from thoughts of suicide and convince him the world's a pretty good place after all.

Chicken a la king, with the proper amount of mushrooms, will make a good girl out of a jobless young lady, when she is on the verge of seeking illegal livelihood.

At Crime Peak

Roast beef and boiled potatoes, supplied at the right time and place, will stop the crime wave at its peak.

Lobsters newburgh will turn the thoughts of a utility magnate from ten cent fares to Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata.

Most of these encouraging thoughts about cooking done by restauranters were sponsored first by J. F. Weintz, business manager of the Sales Management Magazine, speaking at a gathering of Chicago cooks and restaurant owners.

"The restaurant keeper and his cook have a grave responsibility to mankind," was the burden of Weintz's message.

"They are the fellows who have the job of making mankind good by making mankind happy. When a man comes into a restaurant, he wants not only to get some nourishment under his belt, but he wants to soothe his soul."

"A bad dinner may make a man beat his wife, fire his stenographer, kick his dog and then jump in the lake."

"But give him a good meal and he is ready to take the world to his arms."

Politics, too may, be affected by meals, especially in large cities, like Chicago and New York where a large proportion of the meals are eaten in restaurants, it is pointed out.

Voting On Hamburger

"Feed a man on half raw hamburger and cheese sandwiches and if he is a Republican he will go out and vote a straight Democratic ticket."

"Give him indigestion and he will cry about the government and cheer for communism. But give him a perfect steak garnished with onions and he can't work up a bit of sweat over the terrible state of the republic."

But at least one Chicago restaurant owner believes the responsibility for eating good meals lies with the diner himself.

"Men come into a place where they can get a good meal," says Walter L. Gregory, manager of the Palmer House. "Then they grab a sandwich, bolt it down and hurry out."

"What hope can you have of feeding the people right when they won't order good food you have for them?"

COLD WET SPRING CAUSES ADVERSE CROP CONDITIONS

Federal Reserve District Report Indicates Unfavorable Balance Between Trades In The South And Agriculture

—With declines in both retail and wholesale trades, unfavorable agricultural conditions due to the cold wet spring, which caused a late planting of crops, the report compiled for the sixth Federal Reserve District for May was far satisfactory.

Unfavorable comparisons reflected in sales statistics for April 1927, were partly due to the fact that Easter this year was nine days earlier than last and as a result a larger proportion of Easter buying was done in March. It is pointed out in the review, April sales averaged 5.6 per cent smaller than a year ago, according to the report.

In agriculture, the late spring held back work and where early crops were planted, field work was seriously retarded by the cold spells and continuous rains. Much replanting of cotton and corn has been necessary and frosts during April did much damage to fruits and tender truck.

Condition of peaches in ten southern states on May 1 was reported as 73.8 per cent of normal as compared to 127 per cent a year ago. Prospects are best in Georgia and lower towards the west.

The Louisiana strawberry crop has been a very satisfactory one. It is pointed out, and heavy shipments with good prices have brought about a return to the growers.

Outlook for citrus fruits continues favorable the report states. According to the report estimates for the final production of sugar in Louisiana during 1927 was 70,792 tons compared with 47,468 in 1926.

Volume of prospective building in the sixth district as reflected in building permits at twenty reporting cities, the report states, declined in April and was smaller than at the same time last year. At this cities permits were 15.2 per cent smaller than in March, 1928.

Contract awards, however, reached a new high level in all states east of the Rocky Mountains, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports awards for April totaled $643,137,000 in these 37 states, an increase of 9 per cent over

March, the report says. Indications pointed to the volume of orders booked in the lumber industry during April exceeding production at reporting mills in the sixth district, it was pointed out.

The number of spindles in the textile industry active during April was smaller than for any month since September 1924.

April consumption of cotton amounted to 525,168 bales, 9.7 per cent smaller than in March this year and 15.1 smaller than during the same period a year ago.

Output of cotton yard mills reporting totaled 6,171,000 pounds, 12 per cent greater than their output in March, but 15.5 per cent less than in April a year ago.

A moderate gain in the daily output of pig iron is indicated during April as compared to March, it was reported, although because of the shortness of the month the total production was smaller.

U. OF F. WILL HOLD ATHLETIC COURSE DURING SUMMER

Large Number Of High School Coaches And Athletes Are Expected To Become Enrolled In University's Course

GAINESVILLE, June 9.—A large number of high school coaches, and athletes, are expected to enroll for courses in athletic coaching to be conducted here June 11 through August 4 in conjunction with the 19th annual session of summer school at the University of Florida.

The department of athletic coaching has established four years ago and has proved one of the most successful departments in the summer session. The chief purpose of the department is to meet a widespread demand for high school teachers who combine a knowledge of athletic coaching with their scholastic training.

E. Joe Bedenk, former All-American football star at Penn State, who is assistant football coach, and head baseball coach at Florida, will be in charge of the athletic coaching department, assisted by Coach Warren C. Cowell, member of the University coaching staff, and Dr. Lyman G. Haskell, director of physical education.

Classes and field work in football and baseball will be supervised by Coach Bedenk, while Coach Cowell will handle basketball and track and field. In addition, a one semester hour credit course in Athletic Training theory will be conducted by Mr. Bedenk, while Women's basketball will be supervised by Coach Cowell. A class of twenty-five of both young and old went through the course last summer with excellent results announced by Mr. Cowell.

SURVEY REVEALS WIDE DIFFERENCE IN CRIME RECORD

Stunning Discrepancies Between Figures Of Chicago's Crime Commission And Police Record Are Uncovered

CHICAGO, June 11.—(INS)—Starting discrepancies between police records and Chicago Crime Commission figures as to the number of crimes committed during the year 1927 were reported here in a report by A. W. Lashly, director of the crime survey undertaken by the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice.

The survey covered a period of two years.

"It has been demonstrated conclusively that for the period covered by our survey, of the felony charges filed in 1926 there was a glaring suppression of the criminal complaints which were made to the police department," Lashly declared.

"For example, in burglary the annual police report of that year showed 12,287 such crimes committed, whereas an investigation by the Chicago Crime Commission at the source of these complaints, police stations in the various districts, demonstrated that there has been actually reported to the police 14,110 such complaints.

Crime Comparison

"The police report for the year shows 1,277 robberies. The investigation discloses 7,191 robberies.

"Comparison of the number of crimes actually committed in these three offenses, with the charges filed in 1926, shows greater discrepancy than that which exists between the number of charges filed and the number of punishments meted out.

"Take burglary, for instance—out of 14,110 burglaries reported there were 1,433 charges filed, 510, which resulted in punishment. During the same period there were 12,908 grand larceny crimes committed, 2,968 charges filed, and 510 punished, some of them for lesser offenses.

"For robbery which is one of the most serious crimes since many robberies are accomplished with the aid of a gun, making the robbery a potential murderer, it was reported 7,191 robberies were committed in 1926, but there were only 2,696 robbery charges filed, of which 870 were punished.

"I have come to the conclusion that these things mean little to the average person if he himself has not been the victim of crime. I think that a crime commission made up exclusively of the victims of crime would probably be the most effective.

Need Public Backing

"The task of ridding Chicago of those influences which have not only contributed to but in my judgment, have been for many years, are now, directly responsible for the prevalence of serious crimes here, is one that will tax the capacity and ingenuity of every official whose duty it is to control crime and punish offenders.

"It will be wholly impossible for them to succeed even by exerting their very best efforts unless they are backed by such an aroused and overwhelming public sentiment that will not only inspire them to persistent and energetic discharge of their duties, but will also throw the fear of God into the hearts of those highways in crime who have been in the past able to all but paralyze the machinery of justice."

I HAVE 1860 ACRES OF AGRICULTURAL LAND AS FINE AS ANY IN THE STATE OF FLORIDA, most of it prairie land, ready for the plow, over 100 acres already in a high state of cultivation.

The soil is a rich sandy loam, with clay subsoil. It is in the flowing well district, and the drainage is perfect, with a fall of eight to eleven feet to two big drainage canals, one running through its western side and the other along its eastern edge. It is bordered by the St. Johns River on the south and by a broad improved highway on the north, with another improved highway running through it. It is crossed by the F. E. C. Railway with a freight station only one mile away and the promise of a siding on the property itself. It has every advantage possessed by the best agricultural lands in the Sanford district, and being virgin land, is likely to be free for some years from plant diseases and insects, which cause so much trouble on old lands. During the past season, on the part under cultivation, it produced as its first crop 65 barrels of potatoes to the acre, marketed three weeks ahead of Hastings growers. There has just been taken off a crop of cucumbers said by disinterested parties familiar with the cucumber districts at Wachula, Winter Garden, Webster, Williston and other points in Florida, to be by far the best produced anywhere in the state, and sold at the "top of the market". Other crops now growing on the land show its remarkable fertility and that it will produce bumper crops of everything that can be raised in this section.

FOR THE FIRST COMERS AND FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY. I am offering this land, either the raw or improved in small and large tracts at extraordinarily low prices and on exceptionally easy terms, but with a big discount to buyers prepared to pay all cash.

Telephone in the evening to 775 for an appointment to see this land. It is less than 25 minutes drive from the center of town and I will be glad to show it to you at any time.

W. M. YOUNG, Hughey Street & 12th Ave. P. O. Box 11 Telephone 775
