

ALL-STAR GAME IS LIKENED TO SAND-LOT TILT

Hubbell's Pitching Stood Out As Finest Of Several Displayed

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—For three magnificent innings, the National League yesterday showed the American League and 45,262 howling faithful the finest pitcher in baseball—Carl Owen Hubbell. Then everyone relaxed and the second annual battle of the all-stars turned into nothing so much as the major league equivalent of the married men v. the single men at the annual Sunday School picnic.

If all the hits the American Leaguers made off Warneke in the fourth had been laid end to end, they would have reached clear over to the Yankee Stadium. Simmons' double traveled 414 feet, Cronin's single went 315 and Averill's triple landed 455 feet from home plate.

Hubbell played no favorites in his string of six strikeouts in the first and second. After fanning Ruth and Gehrig, left handed batters, he got Fox, Simmons and Cronin, all right handers, before winding up his whiffing act against Gomez, who tries to hit from the port side.

Frankie Frisch's reputation as a "money player" lost no ground when the Cardinals manager socked Gomez's second pitch high into the right field stands for a home run. His single in the fifth likewise did no harm.

It looked like a baseball "brain trust" at the start when

The National Leaguers took the lead. They had three managers in the infield, Frisch at second, Bill Terry of the Giants at first, and Pie Traynor of the Pirates at third. Later the two leaguers were all even in this respect. Frisch left the game and Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers came in to increase the American League managerial representation to two, the other being Joe Cronin.

As early as the sixth inning, the National League had used up 19 players and had only Fred Frankhouse, Braves' pitcher, left for substitute duty.

The sixth inning produced a triple play which, however, failed to get into the records. With one down, Averill fanned and Cronin was caught off second, retiring the side. The ambitious National League infield, just for fun, completed the play and caught Cochrane off first for the "fourth" out of the inning. Every man in the National League squad eventually got into the game. Tommy Bridges, Jack Russell, Rick Ferrell, Jimmy Dykes and Frank Higgins never did find their way into the American League box score.

Lou Gehrig who failed to get a hit, struck out three times and made one of the game's two errors, had a bad day from the start. He drove up to the park late and was so excited, he locked his wife in the car. He had to send someone with the keys to get her out.

Ruth and Gehrig left all their big hits in batting practice. They drove at least eight balls into the stands while Knuckle Ball Eddie Rommel was in the work-out box but they failed to get even a single between them during the game. Ruth's substitute, Ben Chapman, connected for one of the longest drives of the game, a triple to the 455-foot mark.

In the clubhouse, Dixie Dean declined to admit the American Leaguers were a better team. "Just a bunch of wild sluggers," the Dixie one said.

Davis Advises Against Evils Of Bureaucracy

having passed a reasonably specific statute may commit to an administrative department the duty of rules and regulations of "filling out the details."

"But that inch having been given, the ell that is taken runs in final statutory form not entirely unlike this: 'Something is wrong in the country which ought to be put right; it is hereby made the duty of the executive to find out what that something is and to promulgate such rules, regulations, edicts and decrees as he or it may deem useful to correct it. Draconian penalties are not infrequently attached to discourage those who otherwise might imprudently resist."

"Some state legislatures have cut-headed Harold in point of self-abnegation by enacting the law of the state shall henceforth be whatever Congress has adopted as a recovery, not together with any codes, agreements, licenses, rules and regulations made effective thereunder."

"This is more than co-operation; it is unconditional surrender."

It stands to obvious reason, the attorney said, "that no man, whether the President of the United States or another, either the present high-minded and industrious occupant of that office, or one less gifted, can carry out such commands of himself."

This brings into being, Davis said, the bureaucracy that threatens the existence of Democracy. "For," he said, "be it remembered that, while there are, according to the latest computations I've seen, some 644,000 employees of one grade or another on the federal payroll, no single man or woman in the United States has ever cast his or her vote for more than five persons in all that mighty host. These five are the President, the Vice President, two senators and one congressman. That far and no farther marks the voters' choice."

Asserting that "drowning men have clutched at straws ever since the world began," Davis said the "battle cry has always been the same: 'Capitalism has definitely failed; Away with it and let something better be put in its place.'"

"Because in five brief, though painful, years we have fallen on evil days, are we entitled to say forthwith that capitalism has failed as a system? Is it not rather that those who in public or private life undertook to guide the course of events did not measure up to their duties and opportunities?"

"Men in office—I am not speaking of America alone—as well as the voters behind them lacked vision; others lacked courage to follow the vision they had. Men in private station, drunk with the desire for easy money, cast off all restraint and forgot the rules of prudence, and from the demands of honor also. But to lay the resulting crash at the door of the capitalistic system is to blame the automobile for the collision instead of the man who drives it."

"I am ready to concede that the capitalistic system is not fool proof, but I want more evidence than we have so far been given before it is abandoned as a proven failure."

The right of private property and the sanctity of contracts, Davis added, "are the twin pillars of the capitalistic system; they stand or fall together. American life, as Americans have known it hitherto, has proceeded upon these principles."

MISSISSIPPI IS STILL DRY AFTER PROHIBITION POLL

Voters Defeat Hard Liquor Bill By Vote Of Nearly 2 To One

JACKSON, July 11.—(AP)—Mississippi today held its place among dry states by a vote of approximately two to one. On the basis of incomplete unofficial returns from the prohibition referendum yesterday, the voters defeated a hard liquor bill by a dry vote of 47,375 against a wet vote of 25,246 in 658 of the 1,698 precincts in the state.

Lafayette, in the Delta, was the first county to report a complete vote showing a margin in favor of the state liquor control proposal. With all 12 precincts tabulated, the vote was: For statewide prohibition, 55; against 55; for sale in the county, 57; against 55.

Joining Lafayettes was Harrison, on the coast, which gave a 165 wet majority in seven of its 32 precincts.

With the City of Jackson complete, the state's heaviest populated county, returned a 9-5 dry majority.

Two Mississippi River counties, Warren and Tunica, with all boxes complete, voted wet 281 to 94, while Warren, with 11 of its 20 precincts in, gave 797 for repeal and 198 for state-wide prohibition.

LABOR BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—A 37-year-old dean of a law school stepped forward Sunday to try his hand at quelling the nation's often sanguinary labor troubles.

Lloyd Garrison, of the University of Wisconsin, realizing his task is no sinecure, has been on the ground for three days. Yesterday the new national labor relations board came into active existence and Garrison, great-grandson of the renowned abolitionist—IBT—headed it as chairman. Simultaneously the old national labor board expires, leaving a pile of unfinished labor dispute business.

"I am ready to concede that the capitalistic system is not fool proof, but I want more evidence than we have so far been given before it is abandoned as a proven failure."

The right of private property and the sanctity of contracts, Davis added, "are the twin pillars of the capitalistic system; they stand or fall together. American life, as Americans have known it hitherto, has proceeded upon these principles."

Famous Air Award

The Collier Trophy

HIGHEST prize in aviation, the Collier Trophy is awarded annually for "the greatest achievement in aviation during the year." The 1934 award, to Frank W. Caldwell, is a recognition of his invention of a "controllable pitch propeller," which has increased the speed limits of ordinary airplanes by more than 50 percent. This is 18th award of the famous trophy, which was founded in 1911 by the late Robert F. Collier, editor of Collier's Weekly and America's first sportsman pilot.

Farley Raps Critics Of New Deal Plans

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley Monday rapped to opposition criticism with the assertion that because Republicans have no economic ideas they are asking upon the "constitutional issues about which they can be as vague as they wish."

In a statement made on the eve of his departure for a Western speaking trip, Farley said: "The campaign is evidently definitely under way and I hope the opposition party has a good time even though its leaders have no more notion that Republican success is possible next November, than I have."

ALL NON-NRA GROUPS PUT IN BASIC CODE

Special Code Devised By Johnson For All Businesses Not Yet Under Code Of Own

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson yesterday promulgated a new "basic code" for industries still without the NRA fold and set a 30-day deadline for compliance. The new code, which Johnson said "is not intended to force all remaining uncodified industries under code," but gave notice that industries remaining outside NRA which appear to be harboring abuses may have a code imposed.

County Agent Gives Aid In Campaign To Conserve Our Water

With the warning that "The day our artesian wells stop flowing is the day which will bring to the end of our celery growing activities in this county," County Agent C. E. Dawson today joined a campaign to conserve water.

Dawson, volunteering to act as a "missionary" who will attempt to educate white and colored residents of this section in the matter, asks that all persons who have knowledge of artesian wells flowing on unused land communicate with him at the Court House.

He indicated that he would undertake to cap as many wells as possible, either in co-operation with Mayor Leffer and the Commissioners, or privately, at County Agent, and resident of the area which is affected.

In this connection, Mr. Dawson pointed out that Mayor Leffer is calling attention to the fact that few sulphur or artesian wells are running south of Fourth Street where only a few years ago, artesian wells were numerous all over the city.

"Attention of the public is directed to the absolute necessity for closing down all wells, the water from which is not needed for cultivation or drinking and heating purposes," Mr. Dawson stated as he asked every person to spread the message.

PONZI'S PETITION FOR PARDON IS DENIED BY ELY

One Time "Financial Wizard" Seeks To Avoid Deportation

BOSTON, July 12.—(AP)—Governor Joseph Ely today denied the petition of Charles Ponzi, one-time "wizard of finance" for a pardon which Ponzi sought to prevent his deportation to Italy.

With only two hours of freedom remaining before he was to surrender to the federal immigration authorities, the little gray man who once promised 50 percent profits in 45 days in a postal note coupon scheme, went before the governor to begin his plea and to clear his record of one charge of moral turpitude.

The federal government has hoped to deport Ponzi on account of two offenses involving moral turpitude in Massachusetts of larceny. The other was a federal conviction for using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Ponzi argued that both were based upon the same offense and consequently there was but one moral turpitude charge against him.

Ponzi halted deportation proceedings again by seeking a writ of habeas corpus in the federal court. The hearing is set for July 17.

Kiwanians Discuss Cabins For Boy Scouts

Immediate erection of cabins and other equipment which will be used by local Boy Scout troops on their property at Silver Lake is scheduled to follow as a result of a discussion staged at the Sanford Kiwanis Club meeting at the Montezuma Hotel at noon Wednesday.

Cypress poles are to be gathered and loaded on trucks, donated by the St. Johns River Line Co., to be hauled to the camp. It was decided, where they will form the supporting posts for the cabins, some of which will be built over the water.

Crawford Richford of Orlando, secretary of Florida on Orlando Exposition projected for Orlando in 1936, spoke briefly in the interests of the exposition and the part which local persons and clubs might play in it.

Miss Mary Frances Andrews offered several plans selections to complete the day's program. Those attending were: Mr. Richford, R. L. Glenn, and Miss Andrews as guests, Kiwanians, C. R. Mason, who presided, Howard Overlin, I. T. Deas, Bill DuBois, J. D. Jinks, F. S. Lamson, S. E. Andrews, E. B. Randall, Jr., J. G. Leonard, R. W. Ware, H. E. Morris, Dave Boniske, S. F. Doudney, C. F. At the trial of Edward Keith and Bernard Retherford last week, resulting in convictions, Retherford testified that Dewey Keith was not along, but today he surprisingly changed his testimony, saying Dewey not only participated but urged him to go along.

BIG TAX IS COLLECTED BY FLORIDA

Lee Announces Collection Of Large Inheritance Tax In State's History

TALLAHASSEE, July 12.—(A. P.)—The biggest single tax collection in the history of the state was announced today by Comptroller Lee. The item was $350,000 inheritance taxes, the estate of Edward Goodrich Acheson of St. Petersburg and Pittsburgh, Penn.

In addition, Lee said, there is an expected payment within a few days of an additional $448,603, bringing total to $798,603. The money goes into the general revenue fund for governmental operations. Acheson died in 1931.

Big Bass Wins Bout In DeLand Pond With Battling Moccasin

DELAND, July 12.—(AP)—Robert Page Lincoln, angler of note who left DeLand several months ago after making an exhaustive study of Volusia county fish and fishermen, missed the premier event of the season—a happening that is likely to go down in Grandfather Bass's diary under the caption "Battle of the century."

This happening occurred near DeLand early this week when a hoary denizen of the deep, age, army serial number and other pertinent data missing, undertook to devour a moccasin snake also a man among men. If the narrator may be believed.

The base, so the story goes, got a head start on the snake which he succeeded in swallowing as far as the reptile's waist line. The vermin, then, sensing something amiss, set in to extricate himself from the maw of the fish.

To and fro the tide of battle waged, the snake seeking to reach dry ground with the fish in tow, and the sealy warrior seeking just as diligently to tow his captive to deep water where he apparently planned to engulf the delectable tidbit that fortune had placed on his plate.

The battle waged for half an hour and at last reports the ball had apparently gained a temporary victory and was headed toward the deep water and accomplishment of his ultimate purpose.

What Ripley would like to know, and a lot of other people for that matter, is there any head in this section of sufficient heft to fight it out with a sea constructor for the heavy weight championship of the world? Members in the local here club say "Yes."

Quack Remedy Story Is Thought Untrue

NORMAN, Okla., July 12.—(AP)—Dissatisfied with the story of Mrs. Hazel Brown, 29-year-old fraternal cook at the University of Oklahoma, County Attorney Paul Updegraff said today that he would demand a new statement concerning the death of 20-year-old Marian Mills, the campus beauty queen. Updegraff said he didn't believe the girl died from the effects of a quack remedy in an attempt to avoid motherhood. "There's a lot happened out there at Brown's house we have not learned," he said. The girl died at Mrs. Brown's home.

FRENCH TO TRY SPENDING ON BROADER SCALE

8,720,000,000 Francs Voted By Parliament In Rush For Work

PARIS, July 12.—(AP)—Urged on by Doumergue's idea that the unemployed expected something more than words, Parliament passed, before breaking up, a scheme of public works calling for expenditures of 8,720,000,000 francs.

Adrien Marquet, minister of labor, who sponsored the plan, hopes it will give French economy the necessary impulse to enable it to draw itself out of the depression by bringing money into circulation and restoring confidence in the rebuilding and purchasing power of the internal market.

According to the government's statements it is to be financed out of social insurance funds at the disposal of the government. Special legislation will have to be introduced, however, to enable these funds to be freely used as present regulations tie them up too tightly. The money will be allotted as follows: 2,500,000,000 francs for the Paris urban region, 545,000,000 for roads, 35,000,000 for aerial transports, 315,000,000 for seaports, 1,395,000,000 for rural electrification, 1,125,000,000 for national education and 80,000,000 for beaux arts and the touring industry.

The remaining 2,375,000,000 francs will be borrowed from social insurance funds by the railroads to be applied to quadrupling the tracks between Paris and Dijon and the installation of automatic signals, the suppression of level crossings and electrification. Lines to be electrified are the Paris and Lyons, Tours Bordeaux Eastern Metropolitan suburban system and Color Chambery.

The first three lines, at present depend upon English coal for fuel. The railroad work alone is calculated to afford 3,500,000 labor days. Stringent penalties have been written into the law to guard against profiteering. Persons convicted of unjustified raising of prices will be liable to fines of 500 to 5,000 francs with, for the second offense, one to six months imprisonment.

During the debate P. E. Flanclin, Minister of Public Works, countered suggestions that the railroads, instead of drawing public funds could easily turn to the money market, with the statement that the Minister of Finance, wished to reserve it for consolidation operations. This indication of government intention, further strengthened rents, which have had a rising tendency for some time.

Present prices of the 4 1/2's give a yield of 4.95 percent and the market anticipates that they will rise to 5. The government is more ambitious and hopes the 4 percent rate will be established for the long-term gilt-edged securities.

The Anglo-German agreement, reached in London, on the service of the Reich's foreign debt, reassured opinion here of the feasibility of a similar agreement between Paris and Berlin. It is pointed out, however, that while an agreement will probably be very similar, the bargaining bases will be altogether different. Opinion here holds that Germans in London were actuated by hope of eventual access to the money market. No such factor could operate here as French credit is and will remain resolutely closed to Germany. Negotiations for a new commercial treaty, which are now going on, are probably linked with debt service negotiations.

9 MONTH TERM EXPECTED FOR SEMINOLE HIGH

Grade Schools Will Open Oct. 1, While City's Senior High Opens On Sept. 17

All grade schools in Seminole County will open the Fall term on Monday, Oct. 1 for a period of eight months, while Seminole High School which was forced into an early opening by the fire, will return to a nine months' term starting Sept. 17.

This was decided at a meeting of the Board of Public Instruction held at the offices of School Superintendent T. W. Lawton yesterday afternoon during a meeting in which several bus contracts were let, authority was given for the erection of a negro school at Midway was ordered opened for an eight months' term beginning July 7.

The high school, proposed to return to a nine months' term, plus other indications of a return to normalcy in the school system of this county, proved a source of satisfaction to the various members of the Board, each member of which expressed himself as pleased with the outlook.

Official budget of revenues and expenditures of the system for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1934, also came in for a share of the discussion.

The budget anticipates revenues of $244,920.00, which, with $29,050 in cash on hand as of July 1 and $300 representing the inventory of stores and state free text books, adds up to a total available revenues of $274,970.

Total anticipated expenditures are set at $274,520, leaving only a margin of $450. Haring the unusual, it was stated at the Court House today the system can operate within the budget estimate.

Roosevelt Starts Trip Over Pacific

HALFOA, Canal Zone, July 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt begins today the longest run of his vacation cruise, one over the Pacific to Hawaii. The cruiser Houston late this afternoon will swing into the Pacific and start a 12-day trip which will take Mr. Roosevelt the farthest from home any President has been since Woodrow Wilson went to Versailles. Mr. Roosevelt arose early today for a motor trip through the old city of Panama before lunch on board the Houston honoring President Arias of Panama.

SHOLTZ CUTS STATE LEVY BY 1/2 MILL

Reduction In State Tax Millage Made By Cutting Half Mill From Pensions

JACKSONVILLE, July 12.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz today announced a one-half mill reduction in the state tax levy for the 1934-35 fiscal year. The reduction which will bring the state levy down to 6 1/8 mills made by clipping a half mill from the Confederate pension fund levy.

The Governor attributed the low tax to the fact that Florida had "balanced the state budget for the first time since the boom days." He added that "the state has paid $100,000 back to the school fund from the general revenue fund. This money was borrowed in 1927. The state has also paid $500,000 worth of bills inherited when this administration took office. All bills incurred during the past year have been paid and the state is now operating on a pay-as-you-go basis."

He said the cut is "just a step in the right direction. We can confidently expect further reductions during the coming years." It is his hope, the Governor said, that the counties will follow the state's lead and keep their millage as low as possible. The pension fund was cut from 3 1/4 to 3 mills. All other items remain the same as this year. They are, in mills, 1/8 mill for the State Board of Health, 1 mill for the schools, 1/4 mill for Railroad prison, 1/4 mill for tick eradication, and 1/4 mill for school text books.

Nazis Urge People To Hear Hitler's Speech On Friday

BERLIN, July 12.—(AP)—The Nazi government's radio broadcast turned into a town cry, Wednesday to announce over and over again the importance of the speech Chancellor Hitler will make to the Reichstag Friday night and urge every German to listen to it.

This move emphasized the importance attached by the government to the explanation Hitler will give of his suppression of the "Roehm revolt" on June 30 and the events of succeeding days.

At the same time, there were strong indications that a "White Book" reminiscent of World War days when governments pleaded their cases in vast colored volumes will be issued, probably in time for publication immediately after the speech.

The Reichstag, which is 100 percent Nazi, will meet at 8 P. M. Monday, an unusual hour for the session, but convenient to the general public.

A move by Minister of Economics Kurt Schmitt toward perfecting the country's economic organization along Nazi lines was the only development of major importance today during the political day preceding the Reichstag meeting.

Yesterday's local weather: High, 88; Low, 73.

Among local persons "on the mend" after a siege with illness are M. D. Tarbell, assistant tax collector, and John Carver, second chair tonorial expert at Smith's Barber Shop. Mr. Tarbell has been suffering of late with an old ailment. Mr. Carver has been ill with influenza and malaria for over a week.

With the receipt this morning of checks for $10 from the Texas Co. and the Standard Oil Co., the fund for the farmers' committee which secured the State Farm-Wholesale Market for Sanford, had reached $330. It was reported at the Chamber of Commerce today.

Three building permits were issued at the City Hall during June, their total value being $10,076. Compared with last year, when $14,220 in permits were issued in June, the past month was $4146 off. Four plumbing and nine electrical permits also were issued last month.

Cash balance of the City of Sanford as of July 7 was $68,636.24, it was reported at the City Hall today, but this sum was reduced over $10,000 when checks were ordered sent to the Bondholders' Protective Committee, to DeWitt and Boggs, and the United Mutual Life Insurance Co. in payment of sums due each.

Slightly more than 36 percent of the 1933 city tax roll assessment had been collected through July 7, City Clerk F. S. Lamson stated today. The total assessment is $212,919.93, and $80,933.96 has been collected, leaving $132,985.97 yet to be secured.

Fire Chief Mac Cleveland reported today that his department responded to but three calls during June and that no damage was involved. He added that one call took his men outside the city limits in addition to the three mentioned.

Sixteen hundred and ninety-two water meters were in use during June it was reported this morning by Miss Charlotte Smith, water department clerk at the City Hall. Miss Smith added that there are 110 dead services in the city.

In his report for the month of June, John Abraham, chief engineer of the city waterworks plant on French Avenue says that 5900 kilowatt hours of electricity were used in pumping 17,742,900 gallons of water. He added that 757 gallons of fuel oil, 53 pounds of chlorine, 18 gallons of lubricating oil, seven gallons of kerosene and 30 pounds of ammonia also were used.

Fifty seven arrests were made by Chief of Police Roy G. Williams and his men during June, he reported today, arrests which involved 13 different charges, with (Continued On Page Two)

PRISON PHYSICIAN RESIGNS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 12.—Dr. C. D. Whitaker, for several years chief physician at the Railroad state prison, has submitted his resignation to the state cabinet. Dr. Whitaker said he had entered the practice of medicine in Marianna. He left the prison several days ago. A successor has not been appointed. Nathan Mayo, head of the state prison division, said other physicians at the prison would handle the work for the present.

PLAY ENJOYED

PALATKA, July 12.—More than 55 boys helped inaugurate the FERA recreational program here in their class recently while a score of girls enjoyed both morning and afternoon schedules arranged for their group, according to announcements made by Alton Brown and Miss Francis Yevelton, directors of the respective divisions. Although the turnout was not as large as was expected more than 40 availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy a free Keno party at the City Gym with Herman Lecka acting as master of ceremonies.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

TRUST HIM ALWAYS: Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him.—Psalm 37:5

Mr. Montague says that the present situation in Europe looks to him like a peace to end peace.

It is interesting to note in connection with the Pacific coast strike, that "Pacific" means "calm, peaceful."

See where J. P. Morgan has gone to England. Hope he is not figuring on financing another war for anything like that.

We haven't noticed that any of the newspapers have been intimidated by Huey Long's two percent tax on advertising. In fact it would appear that the editors have their dander up more than ever.

Hiller has issued an order to his Storm Troopers to turn to their guns. Having risen to his present place of eminence, he wants to get rid of the boys who put him there. Somehow or other that sort of thing doesn't work. History records that many a "champion of the people" has failed to solve his problems by trying to eliminate the people.

Will Rogers is taking his wife and two sons to Russia to give the communists the once-over. In applying for his passport he said, "You needn't worry about me being an alien. The Chinese Indians don't have birth certificates. None of us came over on the Mayflower, but we were here in meet those who did."

"Texas," says the Tampa Times, is preparing to advertise its grapefruit. That will mean keen competition for Florida growers from Texas citrus fruits. The Texas assessment of two cents a box for advertising purposes should at least be matched in Florida. It pays to advertise.

John W. Davis, one time Democratic candidate for the presidency, fears the tremendous bureaucracy of the New Deal, with its 644,000 federal employees, not to mention millions of relief workers, and the prospect of a changed social order which that implies. But it does little good to tell a man in danger of starving today, that he may starve tomorrow unless present methods are abandoned.

One thing that will be needed in the event they are to succeed in making a tourist resort out of Key West is an automobile highway from the mainland to the island. At present there is nothing but the F. E. C. railroad's extension and a carload of ferries for automobiles. We imagine the F. E. C. would be mighty glad to get rid of its extension, which could probably be readily converted into an automobile bridge. And if the government could be induced to take this over, that would let the railroad out of a mighty expensive investment.

Arthur Brisbane tells about a little boy, scarcely old enough to crawl, who had a dog for a playmate. The hot weather had got on the dog's nerves, he became ill tempered, and had to be chained in his kennel. One day the little boy crawled into the kennel, unbeknownst to his parents, and threw his little arms around the dog's neck. The child's mother arrived just in time to see the dog completing the work of tearing the child to pieces. To all of which Brisbane concludes, "Parents should know that it is dangerous to leave a child alone with a carnivorous quadruped. The killing instinct may revive at any moment." But it is not only in dogs that the killing instinct may revive at any moment. Witness the recent killings in Germany.

The Re-Distribution Of Wealth

An old saying has it that it is only three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves. In recent years, however, our observation has been that less time than that may be required not only to get out of one's shirt sleeves but also to get back into them.

We have in mind such notable illustrations as those of Carl Fisher, Miami Beach developer, and Fred Rand, another Miamian recently killed in an automobile accident. Both of them were once very rich. Both of them finally reached the point where their riches were but a fond memory of a dim distant past.

Carl Fisher used to be a garage mechanic. He made his first money when he invented presto light, a chemical once popularly used for automobile headlights. Later he bought Miami Beach when that island was mostly a mangrove swamp. His millions were used to construct beautiful hotels, homes and apartment houses. And his promotional program resulted in the further construction of many miles of city streets and side walks, parks and playgrounds, golf courses and polo fields.

From a deserted island, to a resort of over ten thousand year-around residents and scores of the-ands of winter visitors, Miami Beach grew under his guiding genius. But the other day we read that an involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed against the Carl G. Fisher Company. He had made millions and he spent them. Miami Beach stands today as a monument to his vision, far-sightedness, and unselfishness.

No less progressive was Fred Rand. Coming to Miami twenty years ago as a struggling young lawyer with but a few hundred dollars between himself and starvation, he first built up a prosperous law practice. His savings he wisely invested in real estate. Came the boom, and Fred Rand began to build. Buildings which would do credit to Chicago or New York were constructed on properties he had owned for years.

His cash assets plus millions which he borrowed were turned into wages for working men who built such magnificent structures as the Huntington building. At one time Mr. Rand was offered ten million dollars for a single piece of property. It was said that there was not a corner on Second Avenue which he did not at one time own or have an equity in. No expense was spared in improving them. These buildings still stand, a tribute to a great city builder, but of little cash value to their late owner.

The Fishers and Rands are no exceptional in this country. They are matched by scores of men like D. P. Davis and George Merrick. They are matched by hundreds of men, once great and immensely wealthy, who occupied important places in the field of big business. They spent their millions building factories, hotels, grand office buildings, warehouses and homes, spectacular monuments to the progressive spirit, but of relatively little value to their present owners.

The men who make wealth and hoard it, who pile it up in banks or vaults, where it lies idle, doing it no owners and the world at large exceedingly little good, are fortunately very few. Most men would prefer to be remembered for what they have done, than for what they have saved.

The Slot Machine Wins Again

According to a verdict of a coroner's jury in Illinois, Matthew Zimmerman, 68, Joliet, died as a result of injuries inflicted by a slot machine. His case was another proof that the slot machines "cannot be beat," even when desperate measures are used.

"Zimmerman, who was old enough to know better," the Miami Herald explains, "dropped 380 pellets in the slot machine operated in a Joliet saloon, and nothing, of course, came forth. He finally quit, his money evidently exhausted. A fool and his money. But he accepted his loss in good grace, sought no revenge.

"Then Miss Betty Stalder, a waitress, tried a nickel. At this point in the story you jump to the conclusion that he won a fortune with her five cents, and Zimmerman jumped into the river. But not so. The combination did not work up which entitled her to four cents and only two came out. That made Zimmerman mad and he lifted the machine and shook it. He slipped and fell and the machine crashed down on his chest, causing injuries from which he died.

"Hence, don't expect to beat the slot machine even through violence. It will strike back, and perhaps cause fatal injuries in protecting the ill-gotten profits for which the gamblers are given no room for their money."

Counterfeiting Ring Uncovered In Daytona

DAYTONA, July 12.—A United States grand jury today returned a seven-count indictment charging a counterfeiting ring has been uncovered in Daytona Beach. The ring is believed to have been organized in Jacksonville.

The following arrest of John Worter, Patsy Chausserelli, and Anthony Joseph Rizza, alias "Big Duke," here Monday, by governmental agents.

The men had in their possession more than 1,000 counterfeit United States and Canadian revenue stamps, and several hundred quarts of bootleg liquor, the Associated Press learned in Jacksonville. Worter who lives on Mulberry Street, unsuccessfully sought the Republican nomination for Volusia county sheriff a number of years ago. Worter was said to be officially to have been arrested at the postoffice while receiving a package containing the counterfeit stamps.

MRS. ROOSEVELT RUNS REPORTERS RAGGED AT FAIR

'Royal Refine' Lags Behind As Pace Fags Them At Exhibition

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's recent visit to the World's Fair, which started as a game of hide and seek and developed into a marathon, ended in a walkway for the First Lady.

The wife of the President ended a whirlwind inspection of a Century of Progress apparently as fresh as when she began. In her wake were left the members of her party and assorted curious, all in various stages of exhaustion. At the start of the day Mrs. Roosevelt granted an interview with the press and warned newspaper men she intended to see the World's Fair like any other visitor, and that any attempt to follow her would result in a game of hide and seek.

The truth of her assertion became apparently upon her first visit to the grounds in the morning. Paying her own admission, she entered the Thirty-first Street exit at 10:15 A. M., with her brother, G. Hall Roosevelt, of New York, and her secretary, Miss Marina Schreiber.

After half an hour in the Ford building, the party, with Mrs. Roosevelt in the van, hiked to the General Motors Building. Her brother appeared to be the only one who could match her long stride, and others in her party and an unaffiliated crowd of some twenty reporters and photographers broke into a trail in an effort to keep up.

From there the First Lady proceeded at a rapid pace to the world famous exhibit and to the Colonial Village. A sudden exit through an emergency gate and she, Frank L. Miller, Sheriff J. McMillan, Walter Cooper, Fred Lamb, and Henry Knudsen of Colorado, G. J. Bone, and G. W. L. Smith.

Mrs. Roosevelt called it a morning by leaving through the Twenty-third Street entrance and taxiing to her hotel.

She returned to have lunch at the Administration Building with Rufus and Mrs. Dawes. They sprang up on again a motorcar awaited her at a landing on the lawn in it she and her brother were whisked across the water to the Hall of States. Before a host of her pursuers could land, the Roosevelts, walking alone, were through the court and on their way to visit the exhibit of her friend, "Slim" Williams, who has an Alaskan show.

She was in the midst of a discussion with the grizzled, rosy-faced Williams when her passing followers caught up. She pulled the hood of her brand, "buck" dog of Williams' pack of Alaskan huskies, and warned photographers that the Northern dogs were afraid of flashlights and strangers.

Williams then introduced Mrs. Roosevelt to Copper, who is three-quarters wolf. Copper acknowledged the introduction in most un-wolf-like fashion, sticking his nose into her hand and licking her fingers. After Williams had "worked" her through his exhibit, trying to explain a display of Alaskan home utensils, Mrs. Roosevelt gave him a card in her motorcar that night at "Morris England," and posed with him for photographers in keeping with a convenient made with the cameramen.

Then back to the motorcar and the Hall of Science, where the familiar cry of "Here comes Mrs. Roosevelt" soon drew a crowd. She hurried through the medical exhibits, pausing momentarily before a demonstration of a "strong acrobaterograph."

The First Lady accepted an invitation to have dinner at the Black Forest.

VILLAGERS TELL OF HITLER CRY AT ROEHMS ARREST

Neighbors, Peeping From Windows At Raid, Saw Outburst

BAD WISSESE, Bavaria, July 12 (AP)—A description of Chancellor Adolf Hitler awakening the whole neighborhood with piercing shouts during his sensational conspiracy arrests here early last Saturday is reported by residents of this resort city. This fresh element in the story of events that led to suppression of Germany's "second revolution" differs from official versions, in that it consists of intimate revelations from neighbor's point of view. People living in the beautiful resort at Gengenase, where most villagers are tongue-tied in the presence of foreigners, revealed that Hitler's screaming awakened everybody, but before people had time to dress, the automobiles bearing the leader and those accompanying him already had departed.

"Hitler was furious," villagers said.

Only piecemeal bits of the story could be elicited. Actual witnesses were few, although the time of the stormy scenes is placed at 7 o'clock in the morning. No one in the vicinity ventured nearer than his own window sill. The setting was not, as official reports said, the official luxurious country mansion serving as a kind of storm troop headquarters, residents claim. They say it was a respectable middle class boarding house, built in Alpine style on the edge of a lake.

The late Ernst Roehm, former Storm Troop leader, had been passing there a vacation of about three weeks. Natives said Hitler had visited here a week or two previously, but had stayed at a house across the lake, while Hitler's secret police chief, Heinrich Himmler, who is credited with suppressing the revolt, was appearing near by.

None but prominent guests are admitted to the boarding house, which has been besieged by the curious since a government statement gave it a "house of sin" reputation. No one seems to have seen Roehm there at the time of his arrest, and hearsay descriptions of Edmund Heines, Silesian Storm Troop leader, in handcuffs, are frequent and unconfirmable.

BERLIN, July 12—Among outstanding rumors were several that Chancellor Adolf Hitler had been fired upon while riding in his automobile and that he had narrowly escaped assassination at Munich. Attempts to clarify the situation in connection with these rumors failed to disclose any substantiation in official or responsible sources.

For example, in connection with

Big Income In Year Of '34 Augments 95 Million Last Year

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Net operating income of Class I railroads in the United States for the five months ended May 31 was $183,977,640, compared with $94,918,398 in the like 1933 period, an increase of 93.8 percent, according to reports filed by the carriers with the Bureau of Railway Economics. Net income for the five months was at the rate of 2.11 percent return on property investment. Total operating revenues were $1,347,033,883, against $1,136,911,878 for the first five months of last year, a gain of 18.5 percent. The operating ratio was 74.53 percent, compared with 77.72 last year.

Total operating revenues for May totaled $283,023,664, against $255,241,381 for May last year, an increase of 10.5 percent. Net operating income, adjusted 5.3 percent from $41,642,328 to $39,494,980. The operating ratio was 74.47 percent, against 74.14 percent, and rate of return on property investment was 1.99 percent, against 2.05 percent in May, 1933.

During the first five months of this year operating expenses of the 148 Class I railroads increased 13.8 percent, totaling $1,003,889,856 against $885,616,031. In May operating expenses increased 15.7 percent, totaling $210,011,001, against $181,578,430 in May, 1933. Taxes in both periods were lower than last year.

SOVIET GRAFTERS GET DEATH AS FRAUD MOUNTS

Moscow Subway Trust Officials Sentenced To Die For Swindle

MOSCOW, July 12—Large-scale thefts of commodities, including bread, misappropriation of public funds and unlawful speculation are rampant throughout a large section of the U. S. S. R., according to newspaper reports from various centers. Severe punishments, with death as the maximum penalty, are being meted out by Soviet courts to those found guilty.

Charged with speculation and the theft of bread in wholesale lots, five officials of the Kiev bakery trust were sentenced to confiscation of their property and ten years' imprisonment. Three railroad officials engaged in construction of a branch line between Bryansk and Vyasma were sentenced to death for fraud and theft of railroad property valued at 140,000 rubles ($129,824). Two officials of the Moscow subway construction trust were sentenced to death for the unlawful sale of nails, pig iron and other subway construction materials to a third party, who in turn sold them at speculative prices.

"Pravda Vostoka," a Tashkent daily, reports that during 1933 there were 35,000 cases of embezzlement and theft in the co-operative shops of Soviet Central Asia, formerly Turkestan, involving a loss to the co-operative system of 23,000,000 rubles ($20,039,900). As a result of embezzlement and mismanagement the co-operative stores of this region are nearly all in a state of collapse.

As a means of alleviating bad conditions the local Communist party committee in Soviet Central Asia is mobilizing 2,000 Young Communists to replace incompetent or untrustworthy shop managers, salesmen and bookkeepers.

In Kiev sixteen persons were arrested on charges of swindling state enterprises in connection with fraudulent damage suits.

Custom Receipts In Miami Show Increase

MIAMI, July 12—Customs receipts for the port of Miami for the year ending June 30 show an increase of 24 percent over the previous year. John Klein, deputy collector in charge of the office, reported recently. Receipts for the fiscal year 1933 totaled $189,038.98 as compared with $137,937.18 for 1932.

During the past year 645 boats arrived in Miami from foreign ports as compared with 571 for 1933. This does not include 18 vessels which were not required to file entry papers. In 1933 these ships discharged 11,093 passengers as compared with 14,542 for 1934.

Arrivals of airplanes from foreign countries decreased, although the number of passengers carried by them increased. In 1933, 1,175 airplanes arrived in Miami from foreign airports as compared with 1,095 for 1934. The 1934 total does not include 41 planes which were not required to file entry papers. Most of these ships belonged to the United States Navy.

Altrians passengers arriving from foreign countries jumped from 9,731 in 1933 to 11,004 in 1934.

Movie Houses Get Relief On System Of Block Booking

HOLLYWOOD, July 12 (AP)

Motion picture distributors of ten major studios Wednesday came to the rescue of theater owners faced with ruin through boycotts and censorship of films, and broke up their system of "block booking" on all films made prior to July 15.

The step probably will cost producers more than $10,000,000, according to executives of the Hays office, who said scores of films already released, which have been proscribed by church and other organizations, probably would not be shown in hundreds of towns of the country.

It has indicated that the breaching of contracts between distributors and exhibitors over certain films to which strenuous protest had been made, might even extend past the July 15 date. The exhibitor, who for years has been at a disadvantage in his dealings with the distributors, will benefit greatly through the

500 TROOPERS BEAT BUSHES FOR LOST BABY

18-Month-Old Son Of Wealthy New York Family Missing; Thought Kidnaped

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—An army of 500 state troopers, police, and volunteers beat the dense woodland around Hartsdale today for blue-eyed, 18-month-old Bobby Connor who is feared to be kidnaped.

Authorities said they were convinced that the child, missing since 6:00 o'clock last night, was being held for ransom. He is a son of Charles Connor, mortgage broker and a grandson of Charles F. Connor, wealthy retired New England clothier.

Bloodhounds failed to pick up the trail of the child who was last reported seen while playing near the home of his parents in the exclusive Hartsdale manor. Society folk left dinner parties last night to join in the hunt which was pressed through the night with flashlights and lanterns.

Adolph Hitler Tells Why He Resorted To Killings On June 30

German Dictator Explains His Side Of Bloody Events That Took Place June 30

PARIS, July 17.—The "Paris Herald" has obtained a remarkable interview which Dr. Alfred J. Pearson, of Des Moines, former American Minister to Poland, had last week with Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, following the dramatic events of June 30 in the Reich.

Dr. Pearson, who met the Chancellor on July 6, gives the following account of the interview: "The Reich Chancellor spoke with apparent sincerity, much feeling and, to all appearance, the utmost frankness. He is a fan of the physics and abundant energy. In emphasizing points of special interest he would pound the table with his fist. He looks you squarely in the face. His words, as well as his eyes, hold attention. Even in private conversation he has some of the orator's ways."

"What may I tell the American people about recent events in Germany, about the present German situation, Mr. Chancellor?" I asked. "Quick as a flash came the answer. "Tell them the truth. Tell them the truth. Germany has nothing to conceal. In due time we hope all the facts may be known."

"It is unfortunate for us all, for Germany as well as for other nations, that wild rumors about us, rumors without foundation in fact, are constantly current in America and other countries. Such stories do untold harm. They have an especially bad effect in a country so densely populated as Germany, where the people live within narrow geographical confines. "On an average, 125 people live on a square kilometer (38 square miles) in Germany, while in your country there are not more than eleven or twelve. Our country is crowded. It is so thickly populated that whatever affects one part of our people at once spreads to the whole population. If one part of our country becomes affected by a pernicious political disease, it will immediately spread and affect the whole body politic. That is our danger."

"In your country there might be a serious strike at San Francisco, and yet the effects thereof would scarcely be felt by New York and other Eastern states. Little or no attention would be given it. That is not the way with us. Here, any disturbance, great or small, affects all of us."

"During recent months we have had trouble in our ranks. Men in whom I had the utmost confidence turned out to be traitors. It is a sad commentary upon loyalty to a great cause and devotion to country. It is tragic. It is abominable. These leaders, high in the service of the government, wearing the sacred insignia of authority, conspired and plotted to overthrow the established government."

"I had no alternative. To be true to the oath of my office and to keep faith with my people, for whose welfare I am responsible, there was only one thing for me to do, and that was to remove the traitors—put them out of the way, where they could do no harm, and thus save the German people from the tragedy of a civil war."

"Civil war in Germany would disrupt the nation. It would cause chaos and confusion not only in Germany but throughout Europe. By virtue of our geographical position (Continued on Page Two)

Lamson when commenting on the fact that already 35 percent of the taxes had been paid, he also said that several of the larger taxpayers have yet to be heard from.

Attracting the most attention at Sanford Municipal Zoo this week is the "Komodo dragon" which recently secured nation-wide publicity. The dragon is shedding its skin, and it appears to be twice as active as it usually is. The new skin gives the appearance of artificiality in that it seems to be painted.

Henry Long, one of the more prominent of the several persons who operated here in the real estate field during the boom, was in Sanford for a short time this morning, inspecting several properties with a view of authorizing immediate repairs. Mr. Long is vacationing at Daytona Beach with members of his family. A former official of the State of Alabama, Mr. Long is now connected with the income tax division of the federal government.

The quarterly meeting of the Safety Committee of the Jacksonville District of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad was in progress at the City Hall this afternoon with approximately 65 in attendance, and H. German Dictator Addresses Huge Crowd On Events Preceding 'Second Revolution'

BERLIN, July 17.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolph Hitler told the German people today that he would make a "brutally frank declaration" of the events "which will live in the memory of our history."

Speaking before a packed audience which included the German Reichstag, the Chancellor told the waiting throngs that they had been called to "give me a chance to explain the events. The content of my declaration will be brutally frank."

He said the events of which he intended to speak were "as sad as they are menacing. I must fling myself only in the extent of my regard for the interests of the Reich, and otherwise for a feeling of shame. We have not made a revolution as anarchists. But as executives we have removed the regime of a revolt. We did not conceive our task to be that of securing our power through bayonets but rather of deriving it from the heart of our people—and there to anchor it."

"If today I read in the foreign newspapers that I am filled with anxiety, I am filled with anxiety with economic progress, I can give but one answer. "But this anxiety is not the anxiety I feel. It is not the anxiety that weighs me down today. It has always weighed me down. When after 15 years of struggle we finally obtained the leadership of this nation, this terrible worry not only did not leave us but on the contrary it built up in us more powerfully than any belief we had that throughout my life I have never worried about my own fate."

To the national audience that hung in silence on the Chancellor's every word and to the world audience that listened with scarcely less intense interest, Hitler swung into a persuasive powerful manner of speaking that brought him from the role of house painter to that of Chancellor.

"I confess, however," he said, "that since the faith of the field marshal put me in my place, I have been borne by a load of worries which the present future of our people places as a burden upon all of us. For on Jan. 30, 1933, we did not take over a state that was politically in order and economically sound, but we took over a state of political and economic chaos."

Big Sum Available To Fight Reduction MIAMI, July 17.—(AP)—Officials of the Florida Power and Light Company expect to spend $450,000 in the fight to prevent Miami from offering a 50 percent electricity rate reduction and already have charged $200,000 of this expense into company operating expense under a five-year amortization plan. It was revealed in one of four reports made by the New York firm of Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants and introduced in evidence Thursday before F. M. Hudson, special federal court master. Mr. Hudson is taking testimony in the company's injunction suit against the city. The reports, were prepared by W. H. Bell, member of the accounting firm, called as a witness by D. A. Cahlan of New York, counsel for the company.
