

Sheriff Wants $422,096 More

Polk Will Appeal To State To Grant Budget Request

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff John Polk will be taking his case for more money to operate his department to the state capital.

After county commissioners Tuesday night unanimously approved little more than half the $973,000 budget increase he had requested, Polk said he will be filing an appeal with Gov. Bob Graham and the cabinet. He said he would have tried to operate under a compromise suggested by Commissioner Sandra Glenn, but couldn't do with less than the compromise offered.

"Mrs. Glenn understands my department and its needs," said the sheriff. "I won't try to fool anyone by saying, 'I'm going to think about an appeal.' I decided to appeal before I came here tonight, if the compromise wasn't accepted."

Mrs. Glenn's compromise proposal, which would have given the sheriff $661,521 in additional revenue during the 1981-82 budget year, was defeated when no support was voiced by other commissioners.

Polk will be appealing for $422,096 in additional funds — the difference between the $6,197,096 he requested and the $5,775,000 approved by the commission.

Polk said he will be calling Tallahassee to advise the state Department of Administration of his decision to appeal. He then has 30 days to file formal notice of the appeal. After that the county commission will have five days to answer his notice of appeal.

A hearing with Polk and county commission representatives will then be set in Tallahassee by a hearing officer of the Department of Administration. A hearing before the governor and the cabinet will follow that.

The decision of the governor and cabinet will be final with no further recourse allowed for either the county or the sheriff.

This will be the third time Polk has appealed a budget to Tallahassee.

Polk, who was first elected sheriff in 1968, was successful in an appeal of his 1969-70 budget.

On his second appeal, for the 1976-77 budget year, he received six of seven votes of approval from the cabinet. But former Gov. Reubin Askew vetoed the cabinet's decision. However Polk was able to obtain an additional $80,000 from the county commissioners that year.

"So I actually won both times," Polk said today.

Polk originally requested for this year an operating budget of $6,253,241, but cut the proposal at the request of County Administrator Roger Neiswender some weeks ago to $6,197,000.

The sheriff's department, during the current fiscal year, has operated on a budget of $5,223,805. The total increase requested was $973,291.

During the lengthy hearing Tuesday night Polk said the commissioners by not giving what he asked for were "putting me in a box on jail operation." He offered to sponsor legislation to permit the commissioners to take over the operation of the jail "if you think you can do it more efficiently than I can and without needing manpower."

He said if state mandates on operating the jail are not complied with it he will be sued. He pointed to the jails which are operated by county commissions in Alachua, Volusia and Escambia. Polk said the sheriff of Pinellas County, was sued about the county jail operation there and was fined punitive damages of $85,000.

"If the court lines me, I'll have to cut my wrists and see how much blue blood is worth," he said, adding his proposed budget had the lowest percentage of increase requested in the state.

Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said the commission in its effort to hold the line on taxes at $3.24 per $1,000 assessed value has had to violate several state mandates. "We'll all go to Raiford together," he said.

Kirchhoff said this is the year when everyone — all county departments — is sacrificing something. He added that despite what is approved by the commission, Polk, under the law, has the sole discretion in how he spends the money allocated by the county.

Winter Springs Charter Change May Be Revised

Winter Springs voters may not get to voice their opinion on proposed changes to the city's charter. By a narrow 3-2 vote, city council members Tuesday agreed to do away with the ordinance encompassing the changes which they had adopted July 14.

But that doesn't mean the planned November referendum on the charter revisions is canceled. City Attorney Wally Stalaker pointed out, "You have to rescind an ordinance by another ordinance. This vote won't do it."

The council instructed Stalaker to draw up a new ordinance which may be voted on possibly at the council's next meeting Aug. 11.

Tuesday's move was unexpected. It was made in the closing minutes of the council meeting and came up only when one of the 13 members of the charter revision commission, which drafted the reworded charter after months of study, complained about the council's "tinkering" with the final product.

In May, the commission presented council members with four major changes in the city's charter — changing the name of the city council to a commission, extending councilmen's terms from two to three years, switching the method of electing councilmen from the present at-large system to a series of five single-member districts, and mandating that Winter Springs have a city manager instead of leaving it up to the council to decide whether the Restrictions on residential lawn sprinkling were tentatively approved by the Winter Springs City Council Tuesday night.

The imposition of restrictions on watering of lawns at the request of the St. Johns River Water Management District due to present drought conditions.

The Winter Springs councilmen, however, chose not to follow all of the Water Management District's recommendations for conserving water use.

District officials have requested all municipalities within the region to order a 15 percent curtailment of water usage by golf courses, cemeteries, plant nurseries, farms, all commercial and industrial establishments and homeowners.

The Winter Springs Council objected, saying there is no way to enforce such a broad undertaking. They instead opted to prohibit only residential lawn sprinkling between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Councilman Hap Arnold said, "I know what the district is trying to do and I agree we have a problem, but it looks to me like there's a hell of an enforcement problem here."

"Who's going to monitor usage? Who's going to look for violators? If we pass this we'll be biting off so darn much we can't possibly chew it," Arnold said, referring to a sample ordinance submitted by the District.

Other cities, including Sanford, have reduced the pressure in water lines as a way of cutting water usage, but city engineer Jack Cooper said he would not recommend similar reductions for Winter Springs "because while you would be cutting water to homes and businesses, you would also be cutting pressure to the fire hydrants."

The restrictions on lawn sprinkling will not take effect unless they are approved at a public hearing on Aug. 25.

City Manager Richard Rozansky

said the police force would be charged with enforcing the ban and residents caught defying the conservation measure would be warned once and then ticketed. Violators could be jailed for up to 90 days, fined as much as $500 or both.

The council also Tuesday: — Appointed local resident Al Langraf as the city's volunteer recreation director for one year and as his first duty instructed him to prepare a detailed plan for spending the $14,000

County Expects $200,000 From New User-Fees

County Commissioners have adopted an ordinance, setting user-fees expected to bring $200,000 more revenue into the county coffers in the new fiscal year.

The fees are on a myriad of activities such as appeals before the Board of Adjustment, requests for variances to subdivision regulations, utility line inspections, inspections for use of the county right-of-way by water and sewer utilities, electric power companies and telephone companies and for various permits.

Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said these services, which in the past have been paid for from the county's general fund, will now be funded by fees collected from those who use the services.

County Engineer Bill Bush said today the new fees taken in will be used to pay the salaries of four inspectors currently on the payroll. If additional inspectors are needed, two currently vacant positions will be filled and paid for with money from the fees, County Administrator Roger Neiswender said Tuesday, but only with permission of the county commission.

County Commissioner Barbara Christensen voted for the ordinance, but she expressed concerns that the program be carefully monitored so that the inspections will not become a profit producing service.

She said she doesn't want the fees levied to be used as an excuse to raise costs to consumers by utility companies.

"I support the user fee concept, but I would also like to see a break for the consumer," she said.

Commissioner Robert Feather said he also shares Mrs. Christensen's concern.

Neiswender is to present a report to the commission on the costs of the program and revenues as the new fees are being charged. — DONNA ESTES

Marriage Goes Smoothly For Prince Charles And Lady Di

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles married a dazzlingly radiant Lady Diana Spencer today in a ceremony of such splendor that the archbishop who married them called it "the stuff of which fairy tales are made."

Cheered to the cloudy skies by at least 900,000 flag-waving people and watched and heard throughout the world on television by an estimated 1 billion others, the 32-year-old heir to the throne made a beaming and joyous Diana, 20, princess of Wales and the nation's future queen.

"Here is the stuff of which fairy tales are made — the prince and princess on their wedding day," Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie said in his sermon to a St. Paul's Cathedral congregation of 2,500 guests, including crowned heads and statesmen from around the world.

Unfazed by a last-minute security scare involving Buckingham Palace footmen, urban riots that claimed their first fatality on the wedding eve and the hunger-strike tragedy of Northern Ireland — and in spite of dangers which forced the most intensive security screen in British history — a spirit of joy and happiness reigned from coast to coast.

London exploded with color as it did with fireworks on the wedding eve. Neighborhood celebrations blanketed the country like the wedding-eve spider's web of 101 beacon fires.

Charles and Diana spoke their sacred vows firmly, though the bride mixed up the order of her husband's four Christian names.

Diana, barely repressing her smiles for the ceremony's solemnity, stole a sideways look at Charles and flashed him an impish grin as he vowed "I will" to the charge to "love, comfort, honor and keep her."

Tears welled in the groom's eyes and he brushed an eye with his fingers as magnificent music filled the cathedral. Diana, crowned by the Spencer family tiara, gowned in voluminous and ultraromantic ivoryshaded silk, clasped his hand tightly as they spoke their vows.

Bride and groom rode to the cathedral through a 2 1/2 mile canyon of color in a triple carriage procession from Buckingham Palace which typified the pomp and pageantry for which Britain is renowned.

All the cheering, all the celebrations great and small, focused on the Church of England marriage service beneath the great dome of the third largest church in Christendom — a service made magnificent by music chosen by the groom.

"Those who are married live happily ever after the wedding day if they persevere in the real adventure, which is the royal task of creating each other and creating a more loving world," preached Runcie, 60.

"That is true of every man and every woman undertaking marriage. It must be especially true of this marriage in which are placed so many hopes."

America's first lady, a cool and elegant Nancy Reagan, listened to the sermon half a dozen rows from the altar. Her fellow American, Princess Grace of Monaco, was among dozens of VIPs and international "royals" inside the vast church.

An intensity of hope focused on the newlyweds, even though Charles may not be king and Diana queen until the 21st century — and even then will have no power but influence and example. The public outpouring of joy and affection demonstrated the fervor of those hopes.

Neighborhood celebrations blanketed the land. Gifts and congratulations poured into Buckingham Palace in an avalanche Charles himself called "just incredible." This was a genuinely popular match.

Even so, the biggest security operation ever mounted in Britain cast a fine-mesh security net over the whole of London — protecting both the royal couple and the high and mighty, British and foreign, who gathered to witness their union.

St. Paul's Cathedral became virtually an armed fortress. Hundreds of normally unarmed British policemen carried weapons. Dogs sniffed buildings — including the cathedral itself — before the wedding — for explosives. Sewers were searched and sharpshooters positioned not only on roofs, but in a blimp hired by a British television company to augment its coverage.

For millions of Britons, thousands of whom camped overnight along the route, security worries caused by the wedding-eve revelation that two Buckingham Palace footmen were arrested two weeks ago about 85 miles from London on charges connected with explosives formed just one more anxiety set aside for the day.

County Official Jailed Over Shooting Spree

The director of Seminole County's animal control office was jailed early this morning following a Tuesday night shooting spree at a Sanford area mobile home park that left one man badly injured.

Ralph Lee Willis, 58, of 99 Exeter Court, Sanford, was being held in the county jail under $10,000 bond on charges of aggravated battery, use of a firearm during the commission of a felony, and discharging a firearm in public.

Willis is accused of shooting Roger L. McDonough, 19, of 170 Windsor Court, Sanford, once in the neck with a .22-caliber pistol while McDonough was swimming in the pool at the Carriage Cove trailer park in Sanford.

McDonough was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Sanford police said several other people luckily escaped injury when Willis allegedly began firing indiscriminately at swimmers in the pool around 9 p.m. He then reportedly fled after McDonough was shot.

"Several people jumped in their cars and chased him, but they quickly lost the thrill of the pursuit when he began shooting at their cars," said Sgt. Herb Shea. "Nobody was hurt. The car wasn't even hit."

Shea said an alert for Willis and a description of his car was broadcast shortly after the shooting. His car was spotted at the Holiday Inn on Lake Monroe around midnight and he was arrested in Room 102.

Shea said no motive has been established for the shooting. — BRITT SMITH

WORLD IN BRIEF

Major Earthquake Rocks Iran, Killing 5,000

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — A major earthquake rocked southeastern Iran Tuesday evening, killing as many as 5,000 people, Iran's official Pars news agency said today.

Pars said preliminary figures showed 400 people were injured and 90 percent of the villages in the quake area were destroyed.

Pars said the quake, measuring 6.3 to 7 on the Richter scale, was centered in the town of Anduhjerd, 510 miles southeast of Tehran and 30 miles east of the city of Kerman and in the Shahdad district.

Quoting the governor general of Kerman province Abolhasan Savaheh, Pars said "4,000 to 5,000 people are reported to have lost their lives."

The U. S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo. reported the quake measured 7.3 on the Richter scale and occurred near the border with Afghanistan in the same region where a quake with a magnitude of 7.7 in 1978 killed about 15,000 people.

Pars did not detail the areas hit, but Tehran Radio, monitored in Ankara, said there were "heavy losses" of life in the Anduhjerd, Shabaz and Golbaz regions.

Liverpool Rioter Killed

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — A police personnel carrier rammed and killed a rioter in the third straight night of pitched street fighting in the Toxteth ghetto, marring the royal wedding day with Britain's first death in urban violence.

Police said David Moore, 22, died early this morning only hours after a police personnel carrier ran over him during riots in Liverpool's Toxteth ghetto.

Hundreds of youths rampaged through the ghetto until dawn today, hurling bricks, bottles and limestone slabs at riot police in the third and fiercest night of riots. Police said 22 police officers were injured.

"They are throwing everything they can get their hands on at police," a police spokesman said.

Mobs of youths looted and torched several stores and hurled objects including a pickax at riot police hunched behind plastic shields.

Bani-Sadr Is In Paris

PARIS (UPI) — Ousted Iranian President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr flew into a French military airport outside Paris early today and was quickly granted political asylum.

Foreign Office sources said Bani-Sadr landed in an Iranian aircraft at 4:30 a.m. but did not offer any explanation on how the Iranian craft came to be used by the impeached chief of state.

city has a chief executive officer.

Ultimately, the council scrapped the final two proposals and agreed to submit to the voters in a November referendum only the name change and extension of councilmen's terms.

Charter revision commission member Gary Massey chided the council as doing a "diservice to the 13 people who worked so hard on that commission and to all the citizens of this city. I think it was a personal insult."

Councilmen Wilfred "Hap" Arnold, Maureen Boyd, and Mayor Troy Piland agreed that the commission's changes should have been submitted directly to the electorate without first being screened by council members and voted to scrap the proposed revisions and cancel the referendum.

Councilmen Jim Hartman and John Torcaso disagreed, saying the council had a right to review the commission's work. Councilman Martin Trencher was absent.

What happens next was left up in the air. There was some talk of forming a new commission and starting all over again, or submitting all of the commission's original recommendations to the voters for their approval.

"One thing is certain," Piland said, "this thing is not over." — BRITT SMITH

Figures Were Wrong

It was incorrectly reported in Sunday's edition of the Herald that the city of Lake Mary has spent $5,000 in matching funds for a $35,357 federal grant to study the feasibility of installing sewers in the city.

A total of $9,940 has been spent to date, not $20,000 as previously reported. Of that $9,940, $3,756 came from city coffers. The remaining $7,184 was federal money.

The city council recently canceled the unfinished sewer study. The Herald regrets the error.

Bomb Threats Made At Two Stores

Dozens of shoppers were evacuated from the K-Mart department store on Hwy. 17-92 in Sanford Tuesday afternoon following a telephoned bomb threat, the second such threat of the day.

A similar bomb scare occurred at the TG&Y store, 413 E. 1st St., about 2 p.m. a half-hour prior to the K-Mart incident. Shoppers and store employees were evacuated, but no bomb was found.

Sgt. Herb Shea of the Sanford Police Department said the first threat was phoned in by what a store employee described as a male believed to be 10-15 years old. "He said, 'A bomb is going to blow up in five minutes,' then hung up," Shea reported.

City policemen, firemen, and the sheriff's bomb expert Lt. Marty LaBrusciano responded to the scene, but found no explosives, he said.

"About 20 minutes later they had to go to the K-Mart where a female had called in another bomb scare," Shea said. "No bomb was found, but people were asked to leave the store just in case. How many people there were, I don't know," he added.

Moratorium Against Signs Lifted In Longwood

Longwood's moratorium on the issuance of sign permits has been lifted due to the passage of comprehensive sign regulations Monday night.

An amendment to the city's zoning ordinance that lists numerous specifications for various signs was passed by the Longwood Commission.

The commission found the zoning ordinance, passed several months ago, did not provide them with sufficient controls over all signs in the city, and so they prepared the new regulations, which they approved unanimously. The primary concern is with the proliferation of mobile type temporary signs and large billboards.

The monthly fee for a permit for a temporary sign has been doubled to $10 a month. The permit extends for 2 months.

At the insistence of Commissioner Steve Uskert a minimum of $25 of the actual costs was incorporated in the amendment as a fee to be assessed if the city has to remove and store delinquent temporary signs.

The amendment also spells out size, location and stacking specifications.

Maximum height to the top of a freestanding on-site sign must not exceed 25 feet. Billboards in excess of 300 square feet must be 36 feet high at the base or floor of the sign. Maximum area for on-site signs cannot exceed 200 square feet. A distance of 500 feet is required between billboards.

Monday night the Commission also approved a site plan for Meadow Ridge to be built on the east side of Range Line Road by Gallimore Homes, Inc.

Action on the site plan was tabled last week to give the developer time to work out an agreement with City Administrator David Chacey on plans to widen Range Line Road to three lanes for 650 feet in front of the development.

On Chacey's request, Gallimore has agreed to pay $10,500 of the $12,500 Chacey estimated the project will cost. The city will furnish the balance through excavation, traffic control, stripping the roadside, and painting stripes. — JANE CASSELBERRY

'SOLD' ON THE SALVATION ARMY

Dr. Vincent Roberts steals a kiss from Geraldine Weldon (left photo) after outbidding her for her husband Earl's services in the "slave auction" to benefit the Salvation Army. Roberts bid $500. Weldon and Roberts' wife Sheila look on. Through the efforts of George Stiffey, auctioneer, members of the Salvation Army advisory board brought in $1,191 at auction. Charlotte Smith,

Salvation Army Advisory Board member, (right photo) presents a check for $1,500 donated by Schilke Enterprises for the local fund drive during Wednesday night's banquet. Mrs. Smith not only sold the most tickets (44 of the 157 sold for the event), but was auctioned off to mend socks. Board Chairman Clyde Long (right) is heading the fund raising drive, which continues through August.

Highway Patrol Flies
'Shotgun' For Sprayers

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI) — Texas inspectors vowed to halt cars and trucks at the border today to check California produce for Mediterranean fruit fly larvae — the target of aerial spraying in the Santa Clara Valley now aided by a police helicopter to protect against snipers.

A California Highway Patrol helicopter was assigned Monday to fly "shotgun" for the civilian spraying choppers after someone apparently fired at one of the aircraft during a flight over Cupertino Saturday.

Authorities found what appeared to be a bullet hole in the craft on Sunday. No one was injured and the aircraft was not badly damaged.

Fight 'Nip And Tuck'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is going down to the wire in a Capitol Hill horse race for votes, trying to persuade members of Congress to support his tax-cut plan over the alternative being pushed by Democrats.

Reagan, who met Tuesday with 32 congressmen and telephoned scores of others, cleared his calendar to provide time for additional lobbying in the final countdown to today's expected House vote.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill has predicted narrow passage of the Democrats' 21-month, 13 percent tax-cut plan. But the White House said support was mounting for Reagan's 33-month, 25 percent across-the-board package.

In a telephone interview with radio station KTBB in Tyler, Texas, the home district of uncommitted Rep. Ralph Hall, D-Texas, Reagan termed the tax fight the "toughest battle" he has encountered in Capitol Hill.

"This is nip and tuck," Reagan said. "I don't think anyone can predict" the outcome.

Patient Critical

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Stanford's third heart-lung transplant patient this year, Karen Wilson, 28, was reported in critical condition today after undergoing a 12-hour operation.

A team of three doctors performed the surgery on the Mill Valley woman Tuesday. She then was removed to the Stanford Hospital's intensive-care unit.

"This is my only chance," she said before the surgery. Another heart-lung transplant patient kept her company in the tense hours right before the operation.

"It's what I wanted," Miss Wilson said.

Catch Saves Baby

SCHAUMBURG, Ill. (UPI) — Tom Deal says he's always been a better pitcher than a catcher but he made no errors in catching a 10-month-baby that fell from a third-floor balcony.

"It was the most nervous catch I've ever made," Deal said. "I've always been told I'm a better thrower than I am a catcher. The Saturday before I dropped a fly ball (in a softball game) over my head that cost us five runs."

Deal and his wife, Lorri, were awakened by a baby crying that morning and watched from their bedroom window as the infant, Jennifer Deal, worked open the screen door and edged her way toward the end of the balcony.

When Jennifer attempted to crawl through the slats, Deal ran across the parking lot and rang the door buzzer of the apartment, hoping to wake someone inside. After five minutes he gave up.

"When both feet went through the spacing, I just went to the corner and waited," he said. "There wasn't a thing I could do."

"She bounced her rear end off the second floor railing bar and did a little flop into my arms. I just guided her to the ground. She was crying, but she wasn't hurt. All she needed was a diaper change," he said.

Navy Justice

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The captain of the USS Ranger and 27 of his men face disciplinary actions in the death of a sailor who collapsed during punishment calisthenics that followed a brig diet of bread and water.

Airman Recruit Paul E. Terrice, 21, Algonac, Mich., collapsed aboard the Navy carrier and died of heat stroke April 14 in Subic Bay, Philippines. He had served three days of a 30-day sentence in the ship's brig for sleeping on duty and leaving the ship twice without permission.

An autopsy also showed he may have been beaten. Terrice's parents, who brought a $4.1 million wrongful death suit against the Navy, approved the Navy's actions Tuesday.

"It's about time," said Irene Terrice. "I finally feel we may see some justice for my son."

The Navy ordered disciplinary proceedings for three officers and 25 enlisted men, four of them charged with manslaughter in Terrice's death.

Decision Upheld

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — An appeals court decision written by Supreme Court nominee Judge Sandra O'Connor upholds workman's compensation benefits for a reputed Mafia figure doing time in jail.

The three-judge Arizona Court of Appeals, in a unanimous decision Tuesday written by Mrs. O'Connor, said Charles "Batts" Battaglia's incarceration on a mail-fraud charge after his injury did not prevent him from receiving benefits.

"The award of workman's compensation benefits has compensated the employee for his losses attributable to his industrial injury rather than for any loss attributable to his incarceration," the Appeals Court said.

Wedding Of Century?

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York's public television station offered viewers an alternative to the "wedding of the century" — the movie, "Bride of Frankenstein."

Channel 13, unable to offer a live broadcast of the marriage of Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer, presented "The Wedding of the Century but not the One You Think" — the 1935 movie film starring Elsa Lanchester and Boris Karloff.

Casey Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William Casey, apparently gaining ground in the fight to keep his job, says he is ready to face a Senate committee and answer questions about past business dealings and his stewardship of the CIA.

"They haven't laid a glove on him," Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said Tuesday after he and other Senate Intelligence Committee members were presented the findings of a staff investigation of Casey.

"I have yet to hear any credible evidence that would lead me to believe Mr. Casey should resign," Bensten said.

Life-Support Equipment Needed

There's a certain danger in the south end of Seminole County which county commissioners can help correct quite easily. As a matter of fact it'll take only $17,000 to $20,000 to do it.

The danger is trying to transport seriously ill or injured patients from those now congested areas west of Interstate-4, especially during peak traffic hours, to nearby medical facilities with an inadequately equipped ambulance.

Herndon Ambulance Service, which currently serves Seminole County and receives an annual subsidy of $107,000, has three ambulances operating fulltime. One is in Sanford, one in Casselberry and the other at Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

Both the Sanford and Casselberry ambulances are fully equipped with the latest in life-support equipment. They have devices which are attached to the patient being transported to a hospital which monitor vital signs and transmit that information to the hospital while the ambulance is en route. The ambulance operating out of Florida Hospital-Altamonte has no such equipment.

The life-support equipment and data-transmitting devices are vital because if the patient's condition worsens while en route to the hospital, ambulance attendants can be instructed by doctors on the proper procedure to keep the patient alive.

Gary Kaiser, Seminole County's public safety director, says it's taking ambulances much longer to get to patients in those congested areas west of Interstate-4 and just as long to transport them to nearby hospitals because of the increased growth and heavier traffic.

Herndon Ambulance Service's general manager, Herbert Perry, said the increased subsidy sought from the county will go to equip that third down-county ambulance with the modern devices.

The $17,000 to $20,000 it would take to do that is already budgeted by the county for fiscal 1981-82.

This is where the county commissioners come in. They can leave the money for that equipment in the budget. We think it's a good idea.

Italian Example

A tale of two cities:

In Rome on May 13, a Turkish terrorist named Mehmet Ali Agca shot Pope John Paul II and two bystanders in St. Peter's Square. The other day, at the end of a trial that took only two days to lay out the undisputed facts, he was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Elapsed time: two months and 10 days.

In Washington on March 30, James W. Hinckley, Jr. was arrested for shooting President Reagan and three others as they left a Washington hotel. The government was given 90 days to conduct psychiatric examinations of Mr. Hinckley, and has since requested and received an extension of time for the tests. Meanwhile a federal grand jury looking at the evidence in the case has returned no indictment, and no day has been set for a trial.

Elapsed time: nearly four months with the clock still running.

The Italian government is no model of efficiency, but it knows how to handle a criminal case.

Bring in the clowns: A proclamation by Longwood Mayor John Hepp designating August 1-7 as National Clown Week in the city brought on laughter from the audience at Monday night's commission meeting.

"We don't have a meeting that week," he hastily added, lest they think the commissioners were the 'clowns' to whom he was referring.

Recent accidents and near misses on State Road 434 in Longwood have caused the city commission to request city police to crack down on speeders and motorists running red lights. City Commissioner June Lormann also wants the Department of Transportation to do a feasibility study on whether the 45 mph speed limit should be lowered to 35 mph as it is in the area of Longwood Village. One of the problems, it was pointed out, is that heavy trucks, such as ready-mix concrete trucks, take a half block to stop at 45 mph and thus go sailing on through red lights.

Applications from two groups seeking to build hospitals in the Longwood area and Florida Hospital-Altamonte which wants additional beds for cancer care, are being reviewed by the Health Systems Agency of East Central Florida.

The Seminole County HSA board will consider the applications on Sept. 14 when it meets at the county's Agricultural-Center auditorium. The HSA-Regional Project Review Committee will meet and a public hearing will be held on Sept. 17 at the Florida Hospital Association Conference Room on Highland at Park Lake in Orlando.

The HSA-ECF will decide on its final recommendation on Sept. 24 before forwarding all three applications to the state Department of Health and Rehabilitation for the final decision.

The Young Republicans and Young Democrats will be butting heads again. But this time it will be on the playing field. The University of Central Florida athletic field will be the site of the First Annual Young Republican-Young Democrat All Star Sports Competition and Field Day on August 15.

Believed to be the first of its kind in the area, it will feature the Central Florida YRs vs. the Orange County YDs in softball, flag football, volleyball and an obstacle course. And in sports as in politics, both groups will attempt to "drag each other through the mud" with a tug-of-war contest.

The event, which is open to the public will be held between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. State and local public officials have been invited and there will be refreshments on hand.

A Way Out For S&Ls?

By MARY TOBIN
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Savings and loan associations now have permission to hedge virtually all of their assets in financial futures markets and that could help the troubled industry. But the new rule will do nothing to erase current losses and has the potential of adding to the S&L's woes.

Richard Pratt, head of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, told Congress last week more than 363 of the nation's 4,542 savings and loan institutions are on the regulatory agency's troubled list.

The S&L's losses stem from their portfolios of long-term, low-interest mortgage loans — some still hold mortgages at 8 percent — while they are being forced to pay record interest on new money, such as the six-month money market certificates.

But Pratt believes they can minimize future losses by hedging and he said the industry might be profitable today if the new rule had been in effect a few years earlier.

"Certainly over time as thrift institutions become accustomed to commodity markets it should limit their interest rate risk," Robert Hatcher, senior vice president of the New York Commodity Exchange, said. "It will help them today to deal with the future." Indeed the potential for profitability is there but so is the risk of new losses.

Under the new regulations, when thrift institutions must pay 14 1/2 percent interest on $500,000 in six-month CDs, for example, they can take a short position for an equal amount in three-month Treasury bill futures — that is, sell contracts hoping to buy them back at a lower price. If interest rates rise the increase in their interest costs would be offset by a profit in the futures contracts.

However, if interest rates fall, any gains they would realize from the drop in their costs would be offset by losses on their futures positions.

In an effort to inhibit speculation, the FHLBB rules prohibit S&L's from taking long positions in futures, except in certain cases connected with mortgage banking activity.

It allows only the traditional hedge vehicle of short positions.

"The restrictions force the S&Ls to set up a plan for operation in futures with the intent of reducing interest rate risk," Hatcher said.

Susan Kelsey, a staff member of the FHLBB, admitted there is no effective way to prohibit speculation. "We can pronounce 'thou shalt not speculate' but there is no way to prevent it," she said.

S&L's are expected to be slow in taking advantage of their new freedom and Hatcher said while the Comex has had "numerous inquiries," he didn't expect a buildup of business right away.

James Sinclair, head of a commodities trading firm and a Comex member, said, however, "there is an army of commodity salesmen heading out to get some of this business. Some thrifths undoubtedly will succumb to sales pitches and hedge at precisely the wrong time."

The wrong time would be to sell futures when contract prices are at or near a low, thereby locking in their historically high cost of money.

Sinclair noted that S&L's "don't have the expertise or background in futures to make a proper decision and they'll be dependent on commodities traders, many of whom have very little experience in the economics of interest rates."

What A Foundation!

Some Political Dead Ends

The riots in Britain's racially and economically troubled cities have been making the headlines, but it could be that the real news out of the island these days is being made elsewhere.

Or so history, with all the advantages of hindsight, may see it.

"Elsewhere" at the moment is an obscure constituency in the north of England where a by-election to fill a vacant parliamentary seat has been won by the Labor Party candidate. To absolutely no one's surprise since the district, Warrington, is a Labor stronghold.

But he won by only a slim percentage of the total vote over the candidate of the Social Democratic Party, who had been expected to do well but nowhere near as well as he actually did.

That was a surprise, and therein lies the news.

This was the first election contested by the Social Democrats, a party formed only six months earlier by four dissident Labor Party leaders. That move formalized a split that had been widening in Labor ranks for years as left-wing ideologues with the support of militant trade unionists took control of the party machinery, displacing the pragmatic political professionals.

Meanwhile, the Conservative Party has taken a hard right turn under Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, with the result that British politics are polarized between extremes of left and right as they have not been in modern times.

The Social Democrats are seeking to preempt the vacated center, presenting themselves as a moderate and practical alternative to the two extremes. Although losers their first time out in a local election, they are now being viewed as potential winners on a national scale as a consequence of having come so close.

Viewed with justified alarm in both Labor and Conservative headquarters, for what their success may portend is a major reordering of the British political balance comparable to Labor's displacement of the Liberal Party early in the 20th century. If so, it would mean that a possibly decisive portion of the British public is buying the Social Democratic message of moderation to the detriment of the ideologues of left and right.

All very interesting, you say. That may be what's new with the British, but what particular significance does it have for Americans?

Possibly a great deal, as an instructive example. American politics are not immune to polarization. In fact, according to some interpretations of recent trends, we may be in the process of polarizing right now.

At least some on the New Right appear to hope that we are. That is the message in the opposition to the nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor to the Supreme Court, evidence of the Reagan administration's pragmatic willingness to accommodate a variety of interests and attitudes that has brought some of its single-interest zealots out fighting. They don't want a politics of accommodation and moderation, the practice of which in the long run has been the strength of the major American parties.

The disadvantage in reaching a political pole is that once there, there's really nowhere else to go. And the distance between poles has become too great for effective communication.

The politics of polarization can easily become that of political dead ends, as British voters may be about to demonstrate to their major parties.

That is not saying that precisely the same thing could happen here. But a dead end is a dead end, British or American.

Sports And College

Some college professors are avid sports fans, but most are not; most, indeed, seem to regard athletics as the enemy of learning, as the enemy of intelligence.

The former president of Dartmouth, John G. Keeney, even professed to find a "negative correlation" between college sports and academic achievement.

All this would have come as quite a surprise to Homer and Virgil, Plato and Aristotle, all of whom had very definite ideas about the relationship of athletics to intellect and to a full humanity.

Most of our major colleges and universities today have large and expensive intercollegiate athletic programs. What they do not have is an educational rationale for them. A certain de-legitimation of college athletics is taking place, wholly mistaken in my view.

First of all, the experience of athletics differs greatly from most other campus pursuits. Athletics possess a sense of finality. The clock runs out. The last inning is played. The last point is scored.

And, at that point, you have either won or lost. The thing is over.

That experience is very different from the lecture-room experience, where more can always be said and further work done. It differs from the long conversation of a college seminar, where the conversation can go on in the student's mind long after class. In athletics, you have to deal with endings, and with definite success and failure, just as you must in life.

Intellectual activity requires discipline and occasionally courage, but athletics place a high premium on those qualities. In athletics there comes a point where you have to... do it — or else fail. Again, that is a useful educational experience.

But, even if that be admitted, why do we need intercollegiate sports, those expensive programs?

Of course it is true that some institutions place an inordinate stress on sports, on television contracts and state politics and all the rest of it. Corruption.

But it is also educationally useful for a college student to see a sport played very well by students "like him." The same would be true of ballet, chess or painting.

Examples near at hand of superior achievement increase one's sense of what is possible. Those figures on the television screen are remote and larger than life, but if the quarterback lives down the hall and you see the baseball captain at dinner, that is something else again.

It seems to me that we in America are entering upon a period in which we will rethink the liberal arts education.

And, as we do that, if we attend to the people who thought up the liberal arts education in the first place — Homer, Virgil, Plato and Aristotle — we will understand that sports have a central place in it.

All That Glitters May Not Be Gold

WASHINGTON — Shockingly, some of the gold in the nation's bank vaults may not be as pure as it is certified to be.

Even a trifle of impurity would reduce the value of a 1,000-ounce gold bar by thousands of dollars. If it turns out that there has been widespread dilution of the gold content, it would rock the world's monetary system.

My associates Indy Bathwar and Jack Mitchell have learned that gold from at least one bank has allegedly tested out below standard.

What is even more disturbing, this bank — the Rhode Island Hospital Trust National Bank — is a big dealer in precious metals. Its impure supply apparently came from one of the giants in the world of gold mining and refining — Engelhard Industries of New Jersey.

There is no evidence of foul play. Both the Rhode Island bank and Engelhard Industries appear to be victims of faulty testing methods.

Yet they are the victims of a system of their own making. For gold trading and testing is controlled by a tight, little circle of pin-striped bankers. The investigation by my reporters indicates that industry test standards are arbitrary and archaic.

Most of the gold trading on the New York Commodities Exchange is controlled by only six banks. Incredibly, the industry empowers only three assayers to be official testers, and they work at the pleasure of the corporations whose gold they are testing.

Because of this inadequate quality control, there is no telling whether defective gold bars have escaped detection. But the implications are staggering.

The traffic in gold bullion and gold futures has been bullish. Since 1975, when Americans were permitted to own gold again, billions worth of gold have changed hands. Once in 1980, the price passed $800 an ounce — an incredible 23 times higher than the $35 an ounce of less than a decade ago.

Inside the Reagan administration, top officials are agitating for a return to the gold standard. A congressional Gold Commission will report in October on the precious metal's effect on our money system.

So the allegation that gold bullion from the Rhode Island Hospital Trust National Bank didn't measure up to the 99.9 percent purity standard will send shock waves throughout the world of gold mining and refining.

The bank, using industry methods, had certified the ingots as pure gold. Yet this was disputed by a new testing machine, called the Heltra machine, which showed some adulteration.

For verification, the ingots were sent to independent assayers — Photometrics, Inc., and Jarrell-Ash. Both confirmed the startling findings; they reported traces of silver, nitrate, copper, zinc, iron and other elements. Some gold bars varied from the certified purity standard by .08 percent to .33 percent. One ingot was also shipped to England to be melted down by Her Majesty's assay office. This most prestigious of tests confirmed that the ingot did not contain the purity that was represented.

Bank executive Carl Peterson refused a request for an interview, but Englehard vice president Joe Feldstein said he was "shocked" at the test results. "We can make mistakes in other areas," he said, "but in this case, we have to be purer than Caesar's wife." He promised a thorough investigation.

Other sources have raised the frightening possibility that the loose testing standards may permit the Mafia to wash its illegal profits in adulterated gold.

It is also possible, of course, that the below-standard ingots are rare exceptions. But the testing procedures are so lax that the phrase "good as gold" may lose its meaning.

Footnote: In future columns, we'll examine the controversy over the gold industry's testing methods.

IN BRIEF

Pierre Has Plans, But Not Reconciliation

Canada's Pierre Trudeau wants to spend more time with his children, which "fuels rumors" he is "about to resign" as prime minister, according to People magazine. The magazine says Trudeau's estranged wife, Maggie, is accompanying him to London this week and they'll take turns looking after their three children — while he attends the royal wedding and she promotes a new book. A reconciliation is not in the cards, however.

According to People, Mrs. Trudeau, 32, is currently living with a wealthy lawyer-businessman, James Johnson, two blocks from the prime minister's Ottawa mansion.

"Maggie is typically open about the arrangement," the magazine said. "When asked whether news reports of the live-in liaison would bother her, she said: 'Well, it's true.'"

Prince Of Whales?

Prince Charles and Lady Diana weren't even invited but a wedding reception was held for the royal couple last weekend in Peekskill, N.Y. Some 50 people in formal attire gathered for tea and homemade wedding cake in the backyard of Eric Greenberg, a senior at Hendrick Hudson High School. Greenberg, 17, says his invitations brought apologies from the offices of Secretary of State Alexander Haig and Vice President George Bush, and Nancy Reagan wrote to say she was going to the real thing. Greenberg said the invitations were re-done at the last minute when it was found they referred to the "Prince of Whales" instead of Wales.

Royal Kin

Interest in Britain's royal wedding swept into Communist East Europe Monday. Poland's official news agency reported a professor at the University of Poznan has proved Britain's Prince Charles is a direct descendant of the Polish King Casimir IV, who died in 1492. One of Casimir's seven daughters, Sophy, married Frederick of Brandenburg, and one of their direct descendants was Britain's King George I, the agency reported. "In fact," it said "all European kings still living" are related to King Casimir.

Princess Geronimo

Actress Carrie Fisher, who reigns over the rocketships as Princess Leia in the "Star Wars" films, took to the sky Sunday with a slower form of transportation — parachute. Miss Fisher, 24, daughter of entertainer Debbie Reynolds and singer Eddie Fisher, made her first parachute jump at the California City Parachute School in the Mojave Desert about 100 miles north of Los Angeles. Her landing form was a little rough, but she walked away unharmed. Her reaction: "Wow!"

The 10 Most Beautiful Smiles In The World...

Like the mystery of the Mona Lisa's appeal, the magic of a winning smile is an elusive blend of facial harmony. Cyrus J. Amato, D.D.S., a maxillofacial surgeon in Caldwell, N.J., has observed that "a beautiful smile is much more than a perfect set of teeth. It is the aesthetic balance of four main points in facial composition — the two cheek bones, the tip of the nose and the chin."

Based on Dr. Amato's criteria, his selection of the 10 most beautiful smiles in the world are that of: Mikhail Baryshnikov, Sophia Loren, Pope John-Paul, Luciano Pavarotti, Lady Diana Spencer, Pierre Elliot Trudeau, Paul Newman, Ronald Reagan, Beverly Sills and Tom Seaver.

"In each of their faces, the 'total gestalt' is what produces the beauty and warmth of the smile," says Dr. Amato.

During his many years in private practice and as an essential member of hospital surgical teams, Dr. Amato has given hundreds of people beautiful smiles. Often, the patients who have come to him have spent much of their lives holding back smiles for fear that they would reveal unattractive teeth, jaw or gum abnormalities.

A pioneer in this surgical specialty, Dr. Amato is a leader of the revolutionary 'jaw-splitting' techniques of acclaimed Swiss surgeon Dr. Hugo Obwegeser. Amato's wife, Lola, is a professional model whose smile has brightened many commercials, including those for toothpaste.

Majors May Have A Hit

NEW YORK (UPI) — As "The Fall Guy" for ABC, Lee Majors is a far cry from the steel-sinewed "Six Million Dollar Man" of old. He can't even win a fist fight in this one, which gives his world-weary Hollywood stuntman character the sort of appeal that just might cause a Nielsen stampede this fall.

Certainly Douglas Barr, his eager young costar, is betting on a win, because if Majors wins, so does Barr, and with two strikeouts in series television he could use a hit.

"The affiliates like it and the sponsors are pleased with it so I think we've got a good shot," Barr said last week. "The big difference is for the first time, Majors is going to play comedy, and he's damned good at it. I think it's going to do great things for him."

If Majors' role in the two-hour pilot on which the primetime series will be based isn't exactly comedy of Marx Brothers persuasion, it is at least as funny as anything ever affected by Hurt Reynolds, who would feel right at home in the role.

Majors portrays a Hollywood stuntman whose working hours aren't exactly constant. In order to pay the rent, he therefore moonlights as a bounty hunter, tracking down bail-jumpers with the dubious aid of his klutzy young tagalong cousin.

Barr, of course, is cousin Howie, and his open-faced Jack Armstrong type is a perfect counterpoint to Majors' craggy veteran of car crash and heroic leap, both of which play heavily in the pilot.

For Barr, "The Fall Guy" is a third-time-charm proposition. He had been working as a model when he made his series debut in a stillborn pilot based on the movie version of "Semi-Tough."

Ed And Mariette?

It's A Hollywood-Style Friendship

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — Actors have a will-o-the-wisp quality. Their work forces them to make friends quickly when they work closely, even intimately, for the duration of a show. Then they each go their separate ways and may not work together again for decades.

That was how it was for co-stars Ed Asner and Mariette Hartley, who were shooting a movie called "O'Hara's Wife." They play a married couple who are devoted and loving. The wife dies, and she comes back in spirit, to oversee things with her husband and their children (the daughter is being played by Jodie Foster).

Asner and Miss Hartley are old friends. Back in the 1950s, they worked together in Stratford, Conn., in a Shakespearean production. In the intervening years they have seen each other a few times, at various functions, but haven't worked together since that Stratford experience.

"I was only 16 then," Mariette says, as they relaxed in a trailer between set-ups. Asner looks at her strangely and then, in his best Lou Grant voice, he barks, "You told me you were 18."

"No. I was only 16," she says. Whatever her age, they got along famously at the time, and they are enjoying working together on this project.

Their old friendship permitted them to be nice to each other and catty about other people — mutual friends or, perhaps more properly, mutual enemies.

Mariette talked about one actor she called "Rent-a-Jaw." They mentioned another big name, an actress, and they agreed she was terrible until she had had her third martini — and from then on she was a delight to be with.

William Bartman, the director, came in. This is his first feature film. When he wrote the script — based mostly on his own family, their relationships and experiences — he had Asner in mind all along to play the lead.

He finally got the script to Asner by accident, when they were both on a plane going from Los Angeles to Hartford (Bartman to attend a Trinity College reunion, Asner to visit his in-laws). A mutual friend on the plane asked Asner to accept Bartman's script.

"Ed was so excited about it when he read it," Bartman says, "that he called me in the middle of the night to tell me."

"Not true," says Asner. "I waited until morning." Mariette complains to Bartman that he has made her too old in the picture.

"Do you have to make me 45?" she says. "I'm only 41." "You have to be 45," Bartman says. "You have a 20-year-old son, and you didn't have a child until you'd finished college and been a teacher for a few years."

Mariette also complains about her wardrobe. In most of the picture, she is a spirit and she thinks it would be logical for her to be wearing, throughout her spiritual portion of the film, what she was wearing when she died.

Ed Asner and Mariette Hartley co-star in "O'Hara's Wife." They play a devoted married couple. After the wife dies, her spirit returns to oversee things around the house with her husband and children.

"I want something funky," she says, "so it would be fun — in the jogging scene, it would be fun if I was wearing something incongruous."

But she says the director (Bartman) and producers decided that she would wear what is appropriate in each scene. In the scene they are currently shooting (Ed cleaning out the house after her death, with her helping) she has overalls and a blue shirt.

It is a sore spot with her, and she and Bartman snipe at each other about it — in a friendly way, but with a note of seriousness underneath the smiles and banter.

Ed and Mariette joke, too. Ed teases her about her lack of bosom (she joins in with some self-deprecating jokes, as well), and she shoots back with some remarks about his lack of hair.

Then it's time to go back to work. For as long as "O'Hara's Wife" is shooting, Ed and Mariette will be very close friends.

Then, as always happens in this odd business, they will go their own ways.

The St. Lawrence River Valley is the most densely populated region in Canada.

Palestinians Critical Of Reagan's Mideast Stance

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Relations between the United States and the Palestinians are at their lowest point in years and some Palestinian leaders blame President Reagan for failing to initiate a new policy in the Middle East.

"There is no doubt that our relations are at an all-time low," said Chafic al Hout, a Central Committee member of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Al Hout, who calls Reagan's election a giant step in the wrong direction, said, "The first thing he (Reagan) does is to send the Secretary of State (Alexander Haig) to the Middle East to call us a bunch of terrorists. Again."

The Palestinian leadership is particularly concerned with the administration's decision to take a "strategic" view of the Middle East and its efforts to convince the Arabs that the Soviet Union and not Israel is their main enemy.

"If there is a threat to stability and peace in the Middle East, it comes directly from Israel, not the Soviet Union," al Hout said. "And since the United States is Israel's main ally, then by proxy the threat comes from the United States."

"If the United States does not recognize this and stop perceiving its interests as going hand in hand with those of the Israelis, then it will be hard for any Arab regime to view the United States and Israel as anything else but Siamese twins."

Al Hout spoke in his Beirut office, its walls covered with views of Jerusalem and his desk decorated with a sculpture of young Arabs in army fatigues and the kaffiya desert headdress, brandishing automatic rifles.

Before 1948 and the establishment of the state of Israel, U.S. dealings with the Palestinians were limited, but the United States was generally held in high regard.

"We had no past conflicts with the Americans," al Hout said. "They had no colonial history in the Middle East and many Palestinians wanted the United States to administer the mandate in Palestine instead of the British.

"But since 1948 it has been a bad and sad story."

Between 1948 and 1967, American foreign policy viewed the Palestinian issue as a refugee problem. The United Nations estimates there are 1.8 million Palestinian refugees in the Middle East.

But the Arab defeat in 1967 gave birth to the radical elements in the PLO and led to the string of terrorist acts ranging from triple plane hijackings to the Munich massacre of Israeli Olympic athletes.

The terrorism, designed to draw attention to the plight of the Palestinians, hardened Israeli and U.S. opinion against the PLO.

"To America, the PLO has been nothing but a band of terrorists, or for those who were nicer to us, simply a bunch of Communists," al Hout said.

But between 1970 and 1976, American policy toward the Palestinians began to take account of their "right to self-determination."

A new president, Jimmy Carter, declared there had to be a Palestinian homeland, and in October 1977 the United States and the Soviet Union issued a joint declaration which called for a comprehensive settlement of the problem to be worked out within the context of Geneva negotiations with "participation in its work of the representatives of all the parties involved, including those of the Palestinian people."

In November 1977, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat went to Jerusalem. His break from the Arab ranks and the subsequent negotiations that led to the Camp David accords ended Carter's flirtation with the PLO and sent U.S.-Palestinian relations into a tailspin from which they have yet to recover.

There are no official contacts between the United States and the PLO, but Palestinian leaders admit privately that contacts do take place and at "sufficiently high levels" to be meaningful. But where are these contacts leading?

Nowhere in any great hurry, according to Bassam Abu Sherif, a member of the leadership of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, one of eight Palestinian groups under the PLO umbrella.

But Abu Sherif sees 1982 as a watershed year.

"In 1982, in June to be precise, Israel is supposed to be totally withdrawn from the Sinai," he said. "The big question is: What happens next?"

"So far all three parties to Camp David (the United States, Egypt and Israel) have taken a clearly antagonistic stance toward the Palestinians and the PLO," he said.

Abu Sherif says a triumvirate of sorts is forming among Palestinians, leftist Lebanese who support the Palestinian cause and Syria. Through their treaty of friendship and cooperation with Syria, the Soviets are giving de facto support to the alliance, he said.

More moderate elements in the PLO take a slightly less gloomy view.

"The balance of power in this area is very fluid," said one Palestinian leader who asked not to be identified. "It is a most strategic area and things can change quickly. Both the Americans and the Russians are well aware of this and neither want another war here."

The leader said he saw too little momentum within the process and too much opposition from other Arab powers to keep Camp David going after 1982 and predicted the United States and Soviet Union would agree on a reconvening of a Middle East conference in Geneva where the United States would present a political proposal that might lead to the establishment of a Palestinian state on the West Bank.

"But this will take between eight and 10 years to finalize," he said.

Cities And Counties Disagree On Distribution Of Tax Funds

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has about given up on another special legislative session this year because city and county officials are deadlocked on how to distribute funds from a local option sales tax hike.

Graham has given the Florida League of Cities and State Association of County Commissioners until Aug. 4 to agree on a distribution formula, but an aide to the governor said today he doubts any deal will be worked out.

"At this time they still cannot agree. We are not going to go any further if the cities and counties can't agree on distribution," said Dr. Charlie Reed, Graham's chief legislative lobbyist.

"We are not going to go to the Legislature until we know we have a formula they both support and which they, the cities and counties, would also go to the Legislature and help sell."

Graham tried unsuccessfully to push several proposals past the Legislature during the recent regular session and a short special one that would generate more money for local law enforcement.

The last plan he settled on was a half-cent sales tax increase to be implemented by county commissions on an optional basis.

He said after the Legislature adjourned in June he would call a special session later this year if he became convinced he finally had the votes in the House and Senate to do what he couldn't do in the spring.

But Graham doesn't believe he can prod legislators into the politically difficult action of raising taxes without a united lobbying effort from local governments.

The problem right now is over distribution of the $350 million a year that would be generated if all 67 counties raised the sales tax from four cents-on-the-dollar to four-and-a-half cents.

The county commissioners want 70 percent of the money, but the League of Cities is holding out for 43 percent with the counties getting 57 percent. The difference between the two positions is $44.5 million.

Graham also wants Florida Sheriff's Association agreement on the distribution formula, but Reed says the sheriffs aren't part of the problem.

"The sheriffs are going to gain under either kind of formula," he said.

County commission association officials told the St. Petersburg Times they are holding out for a 70 percent cut of the sales tax hike revenues because they are losing money from other state sources and also losing federal funds under President Reagan's drive to balance the national budget.

At the same time their revenues are dropping, the state has imposed new programs on counties that will cost money, these officials said.

In addition, county commissions would be stuck with the difficult job of raising the sales tax, not city councils or commissions.

Cities have been getting slighted for years in the distribution of state revenue-sharing dollars, says Ray Sittig, league of cities director. But city problems are just as severe as county problems, especially crime because most of the serious crime is occurring in big metropolitan areas.

Insurance Rates Ordered Decreased

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter today ordered a $156 million reduction in worker's compensation insurance rates, almost double the decrease proposed by industrial insurance companies.

The National Council of Compensation Insurance proposed a $78 million reduction last month. Gunter said he is rejecting that proposal and ordering the higher one.

"I am not accepting it because, in plain English, it is far too little," he said at a news conference.

The New York-based council, which represents industrial insurance insurers in Florida and most other states, proposed an average 2.8 percent rate decrease and 7.1 percent premium level reduction, but under its plan, some classes of high-risk employers would face rate increases.

Gunter ordered a 15.6 percent reduction in both rates and premium levels and said the decrease must apply to all categories of employers. The typical employer in Florida pays $700 a year in on-the-job injury insurance rates and will see a $109 savings, the Department of Insurance said.

The compensation insurance council will meet Aug. 21 to decide whether to comply with Gunter's order, said Dave Fountain, director of the Florida Insurance News Service.

It could decide to ignore Gunter and force the commissioner to sue the insurance industry to get the lower rates. But more likely, it will agree to the reductions or propose an alternative, something greater than its $78 million plan and less than the $156 million proposal.

"One thing that probably needs to be kept in mind is that it really is a pleasant situation to be debating over how much of a rate reduction is going to take place," Fountain said. "Regardless of how this comes out, it's going to mean a rate reduction."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State Rep. Arnett Girardeau Freed After 24 Hours In Jail

LAKE BUTLER, Fla. (UPI) — State Rep. Arnett Girardeau, freed after nearly 24 hours in the Union County Jail for refusing to testify before a grand jury, says he will meet with Gov. Bob Graham and House Speaker Ralph Haben to discuss the principle of legislative privilege.

The 1st District Court of Appeal in Tallahassee ordered the release of Girardeau, D-Jacksonville, late Tuesday afternoon after the legislator's attorney, Bill Sheppard, appealed Circuit Judge Wayne Carlisle's ruling Monday finding Girardeau in contempt.

Looking clean-shaven and wearing the same grey suit and state of Florida blue tie he had on when he was booked Monday afternoon, Girardeau talked briefly with reporters before driving away in his late-model, beige Mercedes-Benz.

He accused State Attorney Eugene Whitworth, of Gainesville, of wanting "to discredit me and embarrass me as a public figure." It was Whitworth who subpoenaed him to appear before the grand jury and then moved that he be found in contempt when he refused to answer questions.

The grand jury is investigating the still unsolved murder of Union Correctional Institution inmate Vertis Graham, whose skull was crushed on Dec. 7, 1979, as he lay sleeping in a UCI dormitory.

County Votes To Stay Dry

CHIPLEY, Fla. (UPI) — Washington County's 96-year-old ban on booze stands. Residents voted 2,393 to 2,081 Tuesday to retain a prohibition on hard liquor that was first imposed in 1885. Tuesday was the first time they had a chance to vote on the issue.

"I consider this a victory even for those who lost, because we all know they are much better off without it," said the Rev. Richard Bloodworth, the leader of the anti-liquor forces.

The balloting left Florida Panhandle county as one of seven Florida Counties in which alcohol sales are banned by local option.

Florida's other dry counties are Hardee, Liberty, Madison, Suwanee, Lafayette and Santa Rosa. Each has had at least one wet-dry election.

Prison Suit Settlement Seen

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A settlement of the eight-year-old civil rights suit brought by Florida prison inmates is in sight, according to Attorney General Jim Smith.

Smith said all sides have agreed to a plan that is "just" and will improve health care and food for inmates.

He forwarded the agreement to retired U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott of Jacksonville Monday. If Scott approves, it would resolve — at least for three years — the final issues in a 1973 class action suit claiming that lack of minimal health care, overcrowding and poor food violated the prisoners' Eighth Amendment protection against cruel and unusual punishment.

The settlement calls for appointment of a single director of health services and a food services coordinator for the entire prison system. They must file plans for improvements with the court.

Slain Police Officer Buried

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Law enforcement officers from throughout the state joined family, friends and city officials Tuesday in mourning slain Tampa police detective Gerald A. Rault.

Rault, 38, was fatally shot Friday night as police officers moved in to arrest suspects in an undercover marijuana purchase operation.

An estimated 1,000 persons jammed into The Catholic Church of The Incarnation — which normally seats 750 — and between 300 and 400 more people stood outside during the funeral mass.

An estimated 700 law enforcement officers from municipal, county, state and federal agencies attended the services.

Police officers formed an aisle on either side of the church entrance and saluted as the flag-draped casket was carried past by six Tampa police officers serving as pallbearers.

Rault, an eight-year veteran of the force, is survived by his wife, Vanessa, and two daughters, Patty, 12, and Kim, 11.

Search On For 6-Year-Old Boy Who Disappeared In Sears Store

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — John and Reva Walsh consulted a psychic Tuesday and heard details about their family "he couldn't have known," but they didn't learn the whereabouts of their missing 6-year-old son.

Blond, hazel-eyed Adam Walsh vanished Monday noon from the toy department of Hollywood's Sears store while his mother shopped for lamps.

More than 50 off-duty police and civilian volunteers from a Citizens Crime Watch organization have searched back and forth through the area ever since the boy disappeared. The search continued today.

The psychic told the vice president of a Nassau, Bahamas hotel corporation and his wife their only child "headed south."

Police were attempting to check out reports that a child about the size of Adam — 3½ feet tall, weighing 45 pounds — may have entered a white car with a citizen's band radio antenna.

Several customers and store employees recalled seeing Adam playing with an electronic game in the toy department. None saw him leave.

Police spokesman Fred Barbetta said the boy had never before run away from home and had a "normal, happy family" life.

Mrs. Walsh said she had often in the past left Adam in the toy department while she shopped in other sections of the store. She said he preferred that to going with her and always remained there until she came for him.

At 12:15 p.m. Monday, she told police, she left the boy with the toys and told him she would look for lamps, just a short distance away. "I know where you'll be, mommy," she said he told her. When she returned at 12:30 p.m., he was gone.

The Space Shuttle

Cargo Crane Problems Delay Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — More problems with the space shuttle's cargo crane — already responsible for two postponements earlier — interrupted the Columbia's simulated maneuvers Tuesday, but scientists expected to complete the tests today.

Engineers working on the reusable rocket ship, scheduled to begin its second live mission Sept. 30, said problems with the "bionic arm" crane put the 20 hours of testing about six hours behind schedule.

Kennedy Space Center spokesman Dick Young said the problems had been corrected and were caused by difficulty in loading one of the Columbia's five flight computers with a program.

It is designed to test the Remote Manipulating Arm, a crane-like mechanism that will be used in space to handle the Columbia's cargo. Faulty wiring in the arm caused two delays of the tests Friday and Monday morning and testing didn't begin until around midnight Tuesday morning.

Space shuttle engineers said Tuesday a torrent of water released before ignition of the solid rocket boosters that carry the shuttle into orbit will reduce severe shock and vibrations discovered during a review of movies and data from the shuttle's maiden flight in April.

Technicians found the shock was four times higher than expected and felt the problem was too severe to ignore, said Robert Gray, manager of the shuttle project office at Kennedy Space Center.

Despite its severity, however, Gray said the astronauts probably didn't notice the jolt because of the normal vibrations of liftoff.

At a status briefing Tuesday, Gray said officials are convinced the necessary modifications to install a water jet spray system to dampen the shock can be made in the launch pad area in time for the scheduled Sept. 30 flight.

"The water system is the easiest for us to use in the long run," said Gray, estimating it would cost about $3 million. "Right now we would plan to have it done about the middle of September."

Engineers say the water, some 50,000 gallons flooded into exhaust pits under the booster rockets in about 20 seconds, will absorb the pressure pulse and limit the chance of damaging vibrations.

Gray said aside from the pressure problem, preparations for the launch are going very smoothly. Engineers have nearly completed repair work on the orbiter's delicate thermal tile system and have solved an icing problem on the external tank.

Late Tuesday officials at the space center reported astronaut Joe Engle and Richard Truly had completed opening and closing the payload bay doors in a critical pre-flight test of the Columbia's electrical and computer systems.

Gray said the three-day delay of the test would not set back the scheduled rollout of the Columbia to the Vehicle Assembly Building next week.

'Space Works' To Offer Space Flight Simulation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Simulated space travel complete with physical effects of G-forces, zero gravity and other sensations experienced by astronauts will be available to the public in 1982, a communication company says.

The theatrical attraction, called "The Space Works," has been licensed to Japan, Australia and New Zealand, the first overseas markets, Trans-Lux Multimedia Corporation said Tuesday in a release.

Richard Brandt, chairman of Trans-Lux Corporation, of which Trans-Lux Multimedia is a subsidiary, said some 20 U.S. and international firms will be licensed separately.

Brandt said the 75-minute show, in four integral parts, begins when a visitor steps into an oversized version of the flight simulators designed as a space-port in the year 2010. The theater rises, falls, pitches and rolls and simulates conditions of an accelerating and orbiting rocket.

The theater will take 300 persons for each simulated flight.

Why is FPL's fuel adjustment so high?

Michael C. Cook, Vice President, Fuel Resources and Corporate Development at Fort Everglades Oil Storage Facilities.

Prices have risen so much in the past few years that we now spend $4 million a day on oil.

I've heard that oil prices were dropping. Will the fuel adjustment go down as a result? Oil prices have dropped somewhat recently, but this summer we'll be using even more oil than usual because one of our nuclear plants that generates lower-cost electricity is being repaired. During months of moderate temperatures, overall use of electricity decreases, and we burn less oil. This could mean a lower fuel adjustment. A lot will depend on the weather, the price of oil and how much generation we can get from other fuel sources.

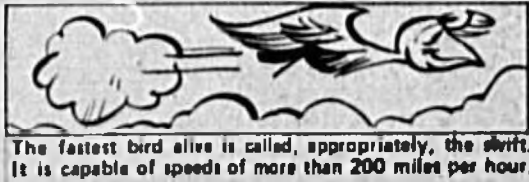

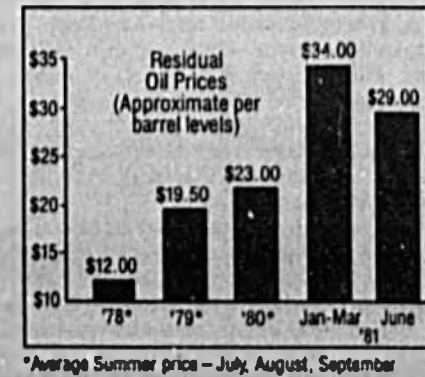

What is FPL doing to fight high oil prices? Everything we can. We shop for bargains in the oil market, both in contract fuel supplies and in open market purchases. We're not building any more oil-powered generating facilities. And before we use the ones we have, we use all our other less-costly generating sources — nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines. We've also been mixing coal and oil at one plant, and we're pursuing opportunities for converting our oil plants to coal use.

Doesn't the fuel adjustment destroy the incentive to buy fuel economically? No. First of all, our own performance standards are extremely high. In addition, there are efficiency incentives built into the fuel adjustment regulatory proceedings, and FPL must prove that all fuel was bought and used wisely when its case on the fuel adjustment is presented.

Does FPL make a profit on the fuel adjustment? No. Not a cent of the fuel adjustment goes to profit. All of it goes directly to pay for the cost of fuel.

Why is there a fuel adjustment in the first place? Customers are understandably annoyed by high summer bills, and particularly the size of the fuel adjustment. But fuel represents about 45% of the total cost of generating electricity, so the cost of fuel does have a big impact on the bill. Since fuel costs change frequently, it's important to have a timely and fair way to cope with these enormous, fluctuating costs. The fuel adjustment allows us to pay our fuel bills so that we can continue generating electricity, and to pass on any savings directly to our customers.

Why does it always seem to keep going up? Because the cost of fuel has gone up, especially residual oil, the kind we use most. About half of our electricity is generated by oil; even more in the summer. So oil prices have a dramatic effect on the fuel adjustment.

Schmit A Hit, Majors Romp

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Writer

Everyone in attendance Tuesday evening at Ocoee for the Major League Regional nightcap would agree with Altamonte coach Gene Letterio that, "It was Mike Schmit night."

The hard-throwing right-hander did it all by hurling a one-hitter and chipping in three hits with two ribbies as Letterio's squad captured its sixth straight tournament victory 8-0 over Inverness in first round regional action.

Altamonte advances into tonight's 8 p.m. winner's bracket contest against San Mateo-Jacksonville who was a 5-0 victor over Northwest Escambia in the opener.

"I'm not making any predictions," Letterio said afterwards, "but if anybody's gonna beat us they better come ready to play."

Inverness, who had won its previous two tournament games by 12-1 and 20-0 scores, seemed ready for Letterio's bunch early. But Altamonte proved too strong in the late innings with four-run outbursts in the fourth and sixth frames.

In the meantime, Inverness was simply overmatched by Schmit. The 12-year-old hurler retired 14 of the first 15 via strike outs and allowed just an infield hit by shortstop Rick Grice with two out in the bottom of the sixth. For the evening Schmit fanned 15 while walking just three. It was the fourth straight game Schmit whiffed 15.

The game had signs of turning into a pitching duel between Schmit and Inverness righty Craig Goosley. Goosley fought out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the top of the first and retired the side in order in the second and third innings.

"I'm always concerned with a nothing-nothing game and especially when we haven't seen the pitcher before," Letterio said. "It's easy to say you can hit a certain pitcher but it's another thing to go out and do it. But we were hitting the ball hard, and when you do that it's only a matter of time before you break things open."

'I'm not making any predictions, but if anybody's gonna beat us they better come ready to play.'—Altamonte Skipper Gene Letterio

The breaking point occurred in the top of the fourth. Schmit lined his second straight hit to center starting the frame and left fielder Ryan Lale hit a deep shot over the left centerfield wall to break the ice.

Right fielder Jeff McGeath drew a walk and moved to second when the Inverness second baseman dropped a double play ball. Anthony Laszalc looped a single to right loading the bases for lead-off hitter Shane Letterio, who took a two strike Goosley fastball off the wrist to force home McGeath. Another Inverness error gave Altamonte a 4-0 cushion.

"Ryan's home run was the big blow," Letterio replied. "It got us going, and it was good for him because he hadn't hit the ball well since his homer in our first (tournament) game."

Altamonte piled on four more runs in its final at bat. With one out, Bret Marshall reached on a bunt single and Letterio singled off the second baseman's glove to start the rally.

A walk to Jimmy Fox loaded the bases for Schmit and the left-handed swinging pitcher blasted a shot off the wall in right center for a stand up double and two more Altamonte runs. It was his third "shot" off Goosley in four trips to the plate.

"Mike's got a sweet, smooth swing; he's in a groove," smiled Letterio. "When he walks to the plate and we need a big hit, he forgets that he's a pitcher and turns into a hitter."

Infield singles by Neal Harris and

Altamonte right-hander Mike Schmit fired a one-hitter and struck out 15 as the catcher Dan Beaty pushed in the other two runs in the sixth to give Altamonte its final 8-0 margin of victory.

Schmit's only trouble spot came in the sixth when it was just a matter of how much Altamonte would win by.

He gave up two of his three walks and Grice spoiled the no-hit bid to load the bases with two out. But Schmit whiffed Goosley to preserve the shut out. Everyone in the Inverness lineup was a Schmit strike out victim.

Letterio will send Laszalc to the mound with the ball tonight against San Mateo hoping that his lone 11-year-old on the club will be able to match Schmit's performance.

In fact, Jacksonville pitcher Cliff Gaines may have topped Schmit's performance in the tournament opener. Not only did Gaines one-hit Northwest Escambia, but he drove in all five of his club's runs with a two-run homer to left and a three-run blast over the 200-foot sign in center.

Coast To Coast Effort To Settle

IS THE BILL DUE?

by Alan Maver

SINCE THE MAJORS DIVIDED INTO DIVISIONS IN '69, THE 'HAVES' AND 'HAVE NOTS' HAVE BEEN SHARPLY DEFINED. THE PIRATES AND PHILLIES WON 10 OF THE 12 NL LEAST TITLES, WHILE THE REDS AND DODGERS, HERE NL WEST CHAMP NINE TIMES.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Admittin' g time is running out on the 1981 baseball season, major-league players and owners scheduled at separate meetings on separate coasts today to discuss efforts to bring about a settlement in the 48-day baseball strike.

While Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, holds a regional meeting in Los Angeles for area players (beginning at 11:30 a.m. PDT), major-league owners meet separately and as a group in New York to discuss recent developments in the strike that has canceled 563 games — more than a quarter of the season.

Ray Grebey, head of the Player Relations Committee, will brief the 26 owners at 3:30 p.m. EDT after the American and National League owners hold separate meetings two hours earlier.

Two representatives from each club are expected to attend the PRC meeting with Grebey.

AL spokesman Bob Fishel described the latter meeting as "an overall review and report on the status of the negotiations."

"The only reason we're having this meeting is for the PRC to provide us with information," said Toronto club President Peter Bavasi.

Hal Middlesworth, spokesman for the PRC, said he had "no idea" if the owners might propose a change on their stand of free-agent compensation.

Federal mediator Ken Moffett is trying to get both sides back to the bargaining table. Talks broke off last Thursday in Washington.

"I'm still talking to them (both sides)," Moffett said Tuesday night. "Nothing is set right now. Ultimately they'll get back together, but I don't know when."

Player representatives met for nearly 5½ hours in Chicago Monday night and reaffirmed their support of Miller and the bargaining committee.

New York Yankee's player rep Reggie Jackson, attending the National Sports Festival at Syracuse, N.Y. Tuesday, said some positive things came out of the meeting.

"We had a lot of discussions over exactly what proposals were on the table, saying, 'What are your feelings on it?' and generally good talk," he said.

Jackson took exception to stories written about players criticizing the union.

"They (the players) were misquoted," Jackson said. "I have heard something from Davey Lopes, Steve Kemp and Dan Schatzeder, and all three were misquoted. Kemp said to me, 'I will sell my car and sell my house if I have to.'"

But Boston Red Sox pitcher Dennis Eckersley told a Boston newspaper not all players are solidly behind the union.

"I'll bet you'd be surprised at some of the guys who'd say, 'Screw the strike, let's play ball,'" Eckersley said in an interview published Tuesday in the Boston Herald American.

Savage Punches Out Split-Decision Victory

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Richard Savage and Steve Cruz, old friends from way back, punched each other mercilessly for nearly 10 minutes Tuesday night.

"We're both 100 percent good friends outside the ring, but once we climb into the ring friendship is the last thing on our minds," said Savage, after he defeated arch-rival Cruz in a split decision to win the gold medal in the 118-pound division at the National Sports Festival.

Savage, 21, a laborer from West Monroe, La., had lost to Cruz in the finals of the National Golden Gloves Championship in April, but won the U.S. Amateur Boxing Federation title over him May 23.

Both fighters said during their semifinal victories they were looking ahead to meeting one another in their rubber match.

Their bout was close throughout, with Savage finishing strongly at the end of the first round. The two traded blows in the second round, with Savage landing an effective uppercut.

"This was the hardest fight ever," Savage said. "Even when I lost to him it wasn't this hard."

Cruz, a 17-year-old from Fort Worth, Texas, insisted he won the fight.

"I feel I won every round. I think I finished strong. He was throwing flurries, but I was catching them on my arms," Cruz said.

In other bouts, in the 125-pound division, Benjamin Marquez of Denver outpointed Amateur Boxing Federation featherweight champ Guadalupe Suarez of Corpus Christi, Texas; National Golden Gloves and Federation champ Jesse Benevides of Corpus Christi stopped Inocencio Ventura at 57 seconds of the second round in the 106-pound class, and U.S. Army and Federation flyweight champ Fred Perkins outpointed Mark Harrison of Pontiac, Mich., in the 112-pound division.

In an upset, Mark Breland of New York defeated Federation welterweight champion Darryl Robinson of Houston in the first round of the 147-pound class, and the heavyweight gold went to U.S. Navy champ Mark Mahone, who stopped Johnny Keys in the second round.

In what may have been the most popular victory of the Festival, hometown favorite Mark Caso, temporarily paralyzed from the neck down a year and a half ago, completed a heart-warming comeback by capturing the gold medal in still rings with 18.75 points. He also had three bronzes to go with the silver he earned Saturday in team competition, for a total of five medals, one short of the NSF record.

"I don't have any goals anymore," Caso said.

Soon after Caso's victory, Brian Meeker of Edina, Minn., slammed into the long horse on a vaulting attempt and was taken to Crouse-Irving Memorial Hospital.

Fernandina Knocks Wood, Oviedo For Sectional Win

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

EUSTIS — Fernandina Beach knocked on Oviedo's Dave Wood for three runs in the third inning here Tuesday and then withstood a last-inning District 14 rally to remain undefeated with a 4-2 victory in the Sectional Tournament for 13-year-olds at the Stewart Cottrell Baseball Complex.

Tonight, Oviedo takes on Niceville-Valparaiso at 7. Niceville nudged District 15 West Hernando from the tournament, 4-3, on a two-hitter by Donald Tennant. Tennant fanned six and didn't allow a run after the third frame in beating Rocco Cirocco, who fanned nine in a losing effort.

David Sweeney, Tracy Crain and Harold Tennant all rapped singles as Niceville pushed across three runs in the second inning. Donald Tennant accounted for the first inning RBI with a single.

TERRY GAMMONS
... Injured wheel

Tonight's game will be a rematch of Monday night. Harold Tennant will probably pitch again for Niceville, while fight-hander Craig Duncan, who beat Niceville with a four-hitter, 9-2, will probably get the nod for Manager Tommy Ferguson's crew.

District 11 Fernandina Beach, which is located 30 miles northeast of Jacksonville, will play the winner Thursday at 7 p.m. The winner must beat Fernandina twice for the championship. If necessary, a second game will be played at 7 p.m. Friday.

Fernandina took command of the tournament with three runs in the third which turned around a 1-0 Oviedo edge. The Seminole County entry tallied its run in the second when center-fielder Terry Gammons reached on an error, but injured his leg running to first base.

"It might be his hamstring," said a worried Coach Charlie Beasley. "We don't know if he'll be able to play Wednesday or not."

Despite the injury, Gammons moved to second when Duncan lined a Ron Veal fastball to left field. Veal, however, whiffed Ellis Bell and Mark Coleman for two of his eight strikeouts and seemed on the verge of getting out of the inning.

But first-baseman Doug Powell tapped a soft roller to shortstop John Shave, whose throw to first was not in time to get Powell for an infield hit. The toss, though, skipped past Mike Peters allowing Gammons, who had stopped at third base, to score for a 1-0 lead.

Fernandina struck back quickly in the third with three runs, but could have added at least one more to the total. Chris throw to the plate easily for a 4-2 advantage. All four runs off Wood were unearned.

Oviedo's final rally and the game's most controversial call came, fittingly, in the final inning. Diminutive Andrews walked to open the frame and Wood drilled a single for runners at first and second.

Moore then delivered a short pop up over Peters' head at first base which hit the back of the infield clay and spun crazily into foul territory allowing Andrews to race to third base, Wood to second and Moore to first base.

But hold everything.

Fernandina Beach Manager Benny Alvarez contended the ball should have been ruled an infield fly. First-baseman Peters had been holding Wood on first and made a futile attempt to catch the ball, coming within 10 feet of it.

After a meeting of the minds, the umpires, indeed, ruled Moore was out. (See related story on 11A.) Instead of having the bases loaded and no one out, runners were at second and third and advancement is possible on an infield fly at the runners' risk and one out.

Ferguson followed with a ground ball to shortstop which scored Andrews and moved Wood to third base as "Ferry" was tossed out by Shave. Gammons then lifted a medium-range fly to right field which Durrance grasped to ensure the 4-2 victory.

Spence walked and was moved to second on a nice bunt by Peters.

With one out, Spence broke for the plate as Shave turned to bunt. Wood, however, pitching from the stretch, alertly threw to third base from where Duncan heaved the ball to Hofmann who easily tagged Spence.

Shave, nevertheless, kept the now two-out rally alive by coaxing a walk. Then as Shave broke for second, left-fielder Dennis Beck hit a sharp ground ball at Ferguson at second who took one step with Shave on the attempted steal, but then moved back in front of the ball.

The ball got past Ferguson for an error as Shave rambled to third and Beck cruised into second. Veal then helped himself by slamming a Wood pitch into deep right center for a double and a 2-1 Fernandina lead.

Catcher Byron Felder, Monday's pitching and hitting hero against West Hernando, then set Gammons to the fence with a Wood changeup which Terry couldn't flag down. Felder held at first base with a long single as Veal scored the eventual winning run.

After the third inning, Wood settled down. The young right-hander mixed his curve ball with his fastball to retire eight batters in a row until Felder cracked another double, but was thrown out by Jimmy Williams-to-Ferguson-to-Duncan, while trying for a three-bagger.

With two outs in the sixth, Tony Barfield followed Felder's double with one of his own and wisely stayed at second base. Kenneth Durrance then dribbled a slow roller through Bell's glove at shortstop on which Barfield beat Royce Moore's

Umps Blew This One

'That's a manager's job, to influence the umpire.'
—West Volusia Umpire

Normally I'm one of the staunchest defenders of umpires. Not that I think these funny-capped fellows in blue are infallible, but that they have a thankless and unrewarding job of policing kids and adults.

I've umpired at different levels of amateur baseball for pieces of five years and I've always felt the umpires job was tough enough without a sportswriter trying to tell them what to do.

That is, until last night at the 13-year-old Sectional Tournament at Eustis between Fernandina Beach and Oviedo.

It's no mystery to me that these four fellows requested to be announced as being from West Volusia by the public address man. If I pulled the boner they did, I'd request anonymity too.

Here's the situation. Oviedo is trailing, 4-2 in the top of the seventh inning with runners on first and second base and nobody out.

Royce Moore, Oviedo's second-place hitter, lifts a short pop fly over Fernandina's first baseman's head which falls fair on the clay just short of the outfield, then crazily bounces into foul territory.

The runner at second, Jimmy Williams, scamperes to third and makes a wide turn, but holds as first baseman Mike Peters hastily throws the ball into catcher Byron Felder.

Oviedo apparently has the bases loaded with no one out and the meat (3-4-5 hitters) of the order coming to the plate. At that point, however, Fer-nanadina Manager Benny Alvarez, a pretty astute fellow in his own right, appealed to the umpires that an infield fly should have been called.

OFFICIAL REGULATIONS AND PLAYING RULES FOR SENIOR AND BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL

(Divisions of Little League Baseball—1981)
Definition of terms
Infield Fly

2.00
AN INFIELD FLY is a fair fly ball (not including a line drive nor an attempted bunt which can be caught by an infielder with ordinary effort, when first and second, or first, second and third bases are occupied before two are out. The pitcher, catcher and any outfielder who station themselves in the infield on the play shall be considered in fielders for the purpose of this rule.

When it seems apparent that a batted ball will be an Infield Fly, the umpire shall immediately declare "Infield Fly" for the benefit of the runners. If the ball is near the baselines, the umpire shall declare "Infield Fly, if Fair."

The ball is alive and runners may advance at the risk of the ball being caught or retouch and advance after the ball is touched, the same as on any fly ball. If the ball becomes a foul ball, it is treated the same as any foul ball.

As you can see by the aforementioned rule, "when it is apparent that a batted ball will be an Infield Fly, the umpire shall immediately declare 'Infield Fly' for the benefit of the runners."

Not only did none of the four umpires not immediately declare "Infield Fly," but they did not declare it at all. At least not until Alvarez pointed out the possibility, well after the play ended.

Could it be that since they didn't call an "Infield Fly," that maybe they didn't think there was one? "Well the ball hit on the clay," one pointed out, "and we've been calling the clay 'Infield Fly' territory all year."

That may very well be true, but the first baseman was holding the runner on first. He did not come within 10 feet of the fly ball. The umpire must remember these players are 13-year-olds and their reaction to the ball is not that of a major leaguer, much less a high school baseball player.

Subsequently, Fernandina Beach retired Oviedo with just one run for a 4-2 victory.

The other part where the "blue" goofed was in the wording "ordinary effort." It was pretty obvious the first baseman did not make an ordinary effort or he would have gotten closer to the ball than 10 feet.

An "Infield Fly" rule usually deals with a pop fly the player is positioned underneath. The reason you have the rule is to avert simple double plays if the ball is dropped in the infield.

But my main contention still remains, why wasn't it called immediately? Why did Alvarez have to influence the umpire's decision.

"That's a manager's job to influence the umpires," was the reply after the game during a 20-minute discussion when the umpires tried to explain the ruling to this reporter and some interested fans.

That's strange. I always thought the umpires were supposed to do the influencing. But the best is yet to come. The man who made the final decision was the home plate umpire named Kicklighter.

And he's the one umpire who didn't see the play. "That's right, after I talked to the other umpires I ruled that it was an Infield Fly."

As the foursome walked away one muttered, "The game's over — that's the end of it."

Well, not just yet. You see when you finally escaped the "interrogation," you left me holding the rule book. That was a nice gift, but I'll get it back to you tonight.

I know the rules. It's pretty apparent that you need it more than I do.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

O-Twins 'Double Dipper' Proves Very Unappetizing

A "Double Dipper" at any ice cream shop is usually a very delightful treat. Tuesday evening's double-header in Chattahoochee, however, left a bad taste for the Orlando Twins as they savored defeat in both ends of their ice cream cone Southern League twinbill.

The Lookouts' Tom Owens fired a four-hit shutout in the second game as Chattahoochee dropped Orlando into third place with the sweep. In the first game, Randy Bush provided a three-run home run, but Orlando succumbed again, 7-2.

Scott Uliger, Andre David and Gary Gaetti added doubles during the two game 9 — the only extra base hits besides Bush's homer. The series continues tonight at Chattahoochee.

Rebels Blast Mitches, 20-0

It was a Royal evening for the Rebels of the Casselberry Men's Tuesday Night Softball League at Summeret Park.

D. Royal and W. Royal both whacked homers as the Rebels blew away Mitches, 20-0. E. Lee and W. Roberts also had circuit clouts for the Rebels.

AmeriFirst downed Lu Rae, 9-3 and Power Drill whipped Baird-Ray, 18-2.

Allison Is Not Looking Back

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Veteran stock car driver Bobby Allison, one of the favorites in Sunday's $294,000 Talladega 500, says he is "not looking back" in his bid for his first Winston Cup national championship.

Allison, of nearby Hueytown, told reporters Tuesday he wasn't going to look to see how his nearest challengers were doing.

"If you're looking over your shoulder, you aren't looking where you're going," Allison said. "I'm looking where I'm going."

Allison, the older brother of driver Donnie Allison, has won four races this year, including the Winston 500 in May. He leads the current point standings by 104 points over Darrell Waltrip.

Allison's lead was nearly 200 points over Waltrip before the Mountain Dew 500 at Pocono last week, but Allison had problems and finished 25th, while Waltrip took the checkered flag.

McCutcheon Rejoins Buffalo

By United Press International
Lawrence McCutcheon has become reunited with an old friend.

The Buffalo Bills signed the veteran running back, a five-time All-Pro who enjoyed his best years under current Bills' Coach Chuck Knox when they were both with the Los Angeles Rams.

McCutcheon still holds the distinction as the Rams' all-time rushing leader.

To Ahmad Rashad, It's Moore Than Just A Name

STATELINE, Nev. (NEA) — The phenomenon is no longer eye-raising. The world of sports has become conditioned to athletes with names such as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Abdul Salaam, Muhammad and Mahdi Abdul-Rahman — even if they're not all easily identified.

But when the former Bobby Moore decided in the spring of 1973 to change his name to Ahmad Rashad, to conform with his Muslim beliefs, all hell broke loose.

In St. Louis, where he was employed then as a wide receiver with the football Cardinals, he received sinister phone calls and death threats through the mail. "They made me very nervous," he says.

He'll never forget the first night his name change was announced publicly. The Cardinals were playing a pre-season Saturday night game, and during the player introductions the public address system blared, "In the program, there will be a change. No. 28, Bobby Moore, has changed his name. . . . That's as far as it got. Boos drowned out the rest.

During the game — when the loudspeaker carried, "Pass intended for. . ." — catcalls obliterated the name of Ahmad Rashad.

"It was so uncommon then," recalls Rashad, now a respected 10-year veteran in the National Football League, "that they put me down as a trouble maker. This guy's no good — let's get rid of him." On the practice field, I was like a leper. 'This guy's weird.' They said I didn't have my mind on football. I was a flake. At one point, I sat on the bench behind a guy named Walker Gillette. That was the all-time insult to my career.

"The Cardinals were very much against my name change. I could see the point. They had drafted me as a commodity, Bobby Moore, All-American from Oregon. And that's who (owner) Bill Bidwell wanted on his football team. So there had to be a compromise. The compromise was me going to Buffalo."

He was traded for a non-descript quarterback named Dennis Shaw who soon faded from the NFL. At Buffalo, Ahmad roomed with O.J. Simpson and began to experience the freedom of his beliefs.

"The feeling was," he says, "that if it was OK with O.J., it was OK with everybody. I grew up Pentecostal, which is a very strict religion. In college, I met Islamic students who showed me a religion which corresponded to the way I thought. I explained to my mother that it was the same God we believed in. We just got to him in different ways."

Thus it had nothing to do with the former Cassius Clay becoming Muhammad Ali and espousing the Black Muslim sect.

"As far as I was concerned," continues Rashad, "the Black Muslims were a racist sect, the same to me as the Klu Klux Klan, or anything that was exclusive to one race. What people didn't know is that all through college, when I was Bobby Moore, I was practicing Muslim who just happened to be black.

"When I joined the Cardinals (as No. 1 draft choice in 1971), my neighbor by chance was a guy from Cairo, Egypt, named Rashad Khalifah. I studied Arabic with him for about a year and at that point I decided to change my name."

Why Ahmad Rashad?
"Ahmad means 'admirable one' and Rashad means 'led to truth.' It has a pretty nice ring to it. But everybody had a hard time saying it. They were calling me Ramada, Ashmad, everything."

Rashad is a handsome, articulate, outgoing person who hasn't the slightest inclination to be outside the main stream of society.

With Buffalo in 1974, he began to capitalize on his considerable talents as a wide receiver and runner, but he hurt his knee severely. He sat out '75, his option year, and became a free agent because the Bills were $10,000 short of his contract demands. He signed with Seattle — he is a native of nearby Tacoma — but the Seahawks, leary of his knee problems, quickly traded him to Minnesota.

Orlando, Altamonte Decide League At Sanford Stadium

Explosive Legion Combatants Collide Friday

Rumor has it Sanford Stadium will be the site of a series of land explosions this weekend.

American Legion baseball returns to Sanford for a brief stay when Altamonte and Orlando exchange blows for the Central Florida league crown this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

However, when the two clubs meet a war is always in store.

Orlando finished with a 13-1 league mark, and it outlasted Post 183 three of the four times the two met. In the four games, Orlando averaged 12 runs while Altamonte blasted out 35 runs against the defending league champs during the regular season.

Post 286 sports five players from Boone's 1981 4A state baseball champion club. Leadoff hitter Johnny Pleicones had nine hits and seven stolen bases against Altamonte this summer. Pleicones will be at short while Brave teammate Ronnie Lamkin will be his double-play mate at second. Lamkin, who will bat third, can also fill in behind the plate and in the outfield.

Another Boone product, Jon Lambert will bat fifth and man leftfield. The hard-hitting outfielder hit over .400 two consecutive seasons as a Brave including a Metro conference batting title two years ago.

The other two off the state titlists are right-handers Jerry Ryder and Dave McCorkle. Ryder, who beat Post 183 8-4 last Sunday, will get the starting nod in game two while McCorkle will probably be sent to the mound if a game three is necessary.

Like Altamonte, Orlando has a pair of Jack Pantelias' Seminole Community College Raiders. Centerfielder Jeff O'Dell will tie the clean-up spot while slider specialist Kevin Smith will start on the hill Friday.

O'Dell and Smith are two of Post 286's three starters off last year's third place state Legion finishers. Lefty Dan Hayes also returns at first base. Orlando picked up the Stetson-bound Hayes off the Winter Park roster at midseason. He will bat second behind Pleicones.

Rightfielder Phil Burgess, who will swing from the six slot in the lineup, has totally destroyed Altamonte pitching in the first four encounters. The Bishop Moore outfielder-pitcher hit at a .714 clip against the second place regular season league finishers with 10 hits in 14 at bats including two doubles, two triples, a home run, seven runs batted in, seven runs and four stolen bases.

He will be followed in the lineup by designated hitter Bobby Hepburn, who bats seventh, Terry Revels at third and eighth, and catcher John Israel in the ninth position.

Altamonte knuckleballer Rick Marcello will be thrown to the lions in game one opposite college-teammate Smith. Marcello worked 7-and two-thirds innings in Post 183's lone win over Orlando, but the right hander was roughed up for seven earned runs and 10 hits.

The other Raider for Altamonte is leadoff shortstop Bob Parker who leads the club with 22 hits and a perfect 25-for-25 in stolen bases. Parker, like Marcello, was 5-1 on the mound and will be the first in relief for coach Bob McCullough.

Post 183's strength is up the middle. Along with Parker at short, Jim Chickowski logs down second. He has pounded the ball at a .423 clip since moving from Michigan.

Behind the plate, SCC bound Bryan Holzworth is hitting .364 for Altamonte. The strong-armed backstop is tied with rightfielder Doug Chiodini with four game-winning hits and has hit safely in his last 10 games.

Rob Reich will roam center and bat clean up. Reich, who is transferring to Valencia on a baseball scholarship, has gunned down six would-be runs at home this summer.

Surrounding Reich in the outfield will be a pair of Lake Howell seniors-to-be. Left-handed Dave Martinez (20 hits) will be in left while Chiodini takes his .396 average to right.

Rounding out the starting Altamonte lineup is smooth-fielding Jerry Winterhalter (.315) at third, John Reich at first and either Benton Wood (.406, 17 stolen bases) or Mike Andriano (.340) hitting for the pitcher.

Game one is slated for a 4 p.m. starting time with games two and three (if necessary) on Saturday and Sunday at 11 a.m.

Dear Abby

Secretary's Job: Ally To Boss At All Times

DEAR ABBY: He wife searching husband's desk at office: Sorry, Abby, but it is the consensus of every single (or married!) secretary with whom I discussed the letter that you are wrong.

As a confidential secretary to a corporate vice president of a major oil company, and as a wife of an executive with the largest automobile manufacturer in the world, I would no more expect my husband's secretary to permit me to go through his desk than I would expect her to jump into his (and my!) bed. In fact, I've never even been to my husband's office; nor has my boss's wife been to his. I would not even think of going through my husband's briefcase in our home. This would be violating not only his privacy, but his company's.

My suggestion to a secretary put in such a spot would be simply to offer to find whatever it is the wife is looking for. If the wife is persistent, I'd stand boldly at the desk watching every move, stating that she should know that I would, indeed, feel obligated to inform her husband of this.

A secretary works for her boss and his company. If a wife has the audacity to intrude, for whatever reason, the marriage is already in trouble, obviously; and the secretary's alliance is to her boss at all times. Your job, Abby, may be saving marriages (lots of luck!); mine, in this particular instance, would be to protect my job.

LOYAL SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Your answer was better than mine. Thank you. I learned something today.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 and my fiancée is 22. We've been engaged for a year and went together for three years before that. A Christmas-season wedding is scheduled. My problem is I don't want to marry this woman. We are not happy together and we fight and argue every time we see each other.

I have tried to break the engagement several times, but she cries and carries on and I get nowhere, so I give up.

She said she couldn't consider breaking the engagement because she would be humiliated before her friends.

Another complication: About six months ago, I fell in love with one of her best friends. (This friend was asked to be a bridesmaid.) She loves me, too, and we feel terrible having to sneak around to see each other.

I know I have to break this engagement, but how?

NO NAMES, NATURALLY

DEAR NO NAMES: Tell your fiancée that you cannot marry her knowing that the marriage will not be based on mutual love. Let her know that if it's humiliation she's dreading, she may tell her friends that she broke it off. And don't mention your present love affair. One blow at a time is enough. Good luck. You'll need it.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked 14 years in an office where no smoking was permitted. Six months ago we got a new supervisor who smokes, and now two-thirds of my co-workers have cigarettes going all the time.

My clothes smell terrible, my eyes are red and sore, and I am concerned about the damage second-hand smoke can cause to my health.

How can I get clean air where I work? If I bug my supervisor about it, I could lose my job to a smoker.

SMOKED OUT

DEAR SMOKED OUT: Sorry, there is nothing you can do about it. I know it's unfair. But who ever said life was fair? (P.S. Our country, for all its advantages, is lagging in citizens' rights. A law was recently passed in Switzerland making it illegal to smoke in a public telephone booth. Hooray for the Swiss!)

Cook Of The Week: Tracey Wight

Artist Splashes Foods With 'Visual Sparkle'

By LOIS SMITH
Herald Correspondent

Whether you call them hors d'oeuvres, canapes or appetizers, almost all cooks, at one time or another, are called upon to serve them.

What are they?

They are any number of foods served hot or cold in bite sized amounts. Most often they are served before dinner to whet the appetite.

Appetizers are served around the world and many countries have developed their own ethnic names: Spanish tapas, Japanese satsuki and of course French hors d'oeuvres.

In Sanford, Tracey Wight is the person many people seek for appetizer ideas.

Tracey and her husband, Ralph, live with their two children, Jennifer, 7, and Jessica, 5½, on Marquette Road.

Ralph is employed by Jim Lash Blue Book Cars and Tracey is an arts and crafts instructor with the Adult High School Diploma Program at Seminole Community College. She is a member of the Sanford-Seminole Art Association and Beta Sigma Phi.

"Art is a visual means of communicating ideas and thoughts," says Tracey. Therefore, cooking can fall into the category of art. Certainly a dish can be a work of art, especially when care is given to food arrangement and eye appeal," Tracey explains. "I use parsley, carrot curls and radish roses for color and eye appeal. They give what I like to call "visual sparkle" to most foods."

Tracey added, "I enjoy preparing hors d'oeuvres because of the variety of things that can be done with them to create a completely different recipe. For instance, you can substitute the types of cheeses or vegetables and in some instances even the meats. It gives you an opportunity to be creative and to express any artistic talent you might have."

By MEDCO

It's always reassuring when medical science results in a major success. Only twelve years ago, heart surgeons began to bypass coronary arteries, which were clogged up, with the hope of restoring good circulation to the patient's heart. It has long been established a bypass operation could relieve heart pain but it wasn't known how effective it would be for prolonging life. However, reports have been coming in from some of the major bypass hospitals such as the Texas Heart Institute and the University of Alabama Medical Center which give reason to be glad. The lengthy studies have closely followed bypass patients to determine the long-term results of the operations. Indications point to a 15 percent better chance of surviving five or more years with the bypass operation than with medical treatment only.

Ah-So Delicious Salads

Ideal Approach To Authentic Oriental Dinner

When friends come by to share a sunny afternoon, treat them to an Oriental inspired salad buffet. The refreshing buffet combines a variety of basic salad ingredients made deliciously different by adding bean sprouts, water chestnuts, chow mein noodles and soy sauce.

TUNA SALAD DELIGHT

- 2 packages ramen noodle soup mix, any flavor
  - 1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, sliced
  - 1 6 1/2 oz. can tuna
  - 1/4 cup onions, chopped
  - 1/4 cup celery, chopped
  - 2 tablespoons chives, snipped
  - 2 tablespoons parsley, snipped
  - 1/4 cup soy sauce
  - 1/4 cup oil
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 1/4 cup sour cream
  - salt and pepper to taste
  - 1 3 oz. can chow mein noodles
- Prepare the 2 packages of Ramen Noodles according to directions. Reserve the seasoning packets. Drain and rinse with cold water. In a large bowl combine the noodles with tuna, water chestnuts, onions, celery, chives, parsley, seasoning packets and if it needs it, the salt and pepper.

Toss lightly. Add the oil, lemon juice, soy sauce and sour cream. Toss lightly to coat with dressing. Chill for 30 minutes and serve over Chow Mein Noodles. Garnish with cherry tomato halves.

ORIENTAL VEGETABLE SALAD

- 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 can (14 oz.) bean sprouts, rinsed and drained
- 2 cans (8 oz. each) water chestnuts, sliced
- 3 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced green pepper
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 2 teaspoons seasoned salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine cottage cheese, sour cream and soy sauce. Add remaining ingredients; toss lightly. Chill. Serve on crisp salad greens. Serves 8.

CHOY FRUIT SALAD

- 1 can (14 oz.) bean sprouts, rinsed and well drained
  - 1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
  - 2 cups apples, chopped
  - 2 cups celery, chopped
  - 1 cup pineapple tidbits, drained
  - 2 cups mayonnaise
  - 4 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 2 tablespoons pineapple juice (unsweetened)
  - 1/4 cup maraschino cherries
  - 1/4 cup pimientos
  - 1/4 cup chopped nuts
- Mix bean sprouts, water chestnuts, celery, apples and pineapple tidbits. Mix mayonnaise, lemon juice and pineapple juice. Then blend into vegetable-fruit mix. Refrigerate and allow to marinate for several hours. Garnish with cherries, pimientos and nuts before serving. Serves 8.

The tempting salad trio features tuna salad delight (foreground) made hearty with ramen noodles and tuna; a light and creamy Oriental Vegetable Salad; and a perfect finishing touch, Choy Fruit Salad.

Top Salad With Crunchy Oats Mixture

Chicken salad is far from mundane, and still not expensive, when it is served in a fresh pineapple boat and topped with a curry add-a-crunch mixture.

This main course salad is prepared with leftover chicken or you may want to prepare chicken especially for use later with the pineapple.

It will take about two pounds of chicken breasts with ribs, poached or toasted, to make about three cups of shredded chicken.

Also, prepare the crunchy topping ahead and store it in the refrigerator to use for a repeat of your pineapple salad, or with other fruit and meat or poultry salads. It will keep for up to three months.

You may use canned pineapple chunks instead of fresh and your favorite nuts, rather than cashews.

PARADISE CHICKEN SALAD

Curry Add-A-Crunch

- 2 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1-3 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup chopped cashews
- 2 tablespoons shredded or flaked coconut
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

- Chicken Salad:
- 1 fresh pineapple
  - 1 cup fresh pineapple chunks
  - 3 cups shredded cooked chicken
  - 1/4 cup celery slices
  - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
  - 2 tablespoons chutney

For Curry Add-A-Crunch, heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all ingredients; mix well. Bake in ungreased 15-by-10-inch jelly roll pan at 350 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes or until light golden. Cool. Will keep in tightly covered container in refrigerator up to three months. This kitchen tested recipe makes about 2 1/2 cups.

For chicken salad, cut pineapple lengthwise through leaves into quarters. Slice out fruit, leaving shells intact to form boats; set aside. Remove core from fruit; cut fruit to make 1 cup chunks. Combine with remaining ingredients; toss lightly. Chill. To serve, mound chicken salad into pineapple boats; sprinkle each serving with 1 tablespoon Curry Add-A-Crunch; serve with additional crunch, if desired. This kitchen tested recipe makes 4 servings.

VARIATION: Substitute lettuce leaves for fresh pineapple and 1 8 1/2-ounce can pineapple chunks, drained for fresh pineapple chunks, if desired.

Chicken-pineapple salad, served in a fresh pineapple boat, with crunchy oats topping is healthful.

Making The Chinese Connection

Classic Chinese cuisine is as old as its culture and considered by many to rival the finest cooking in the world. As most of us know from reading the ads for Chinese restaurants, there are certain basic styles: Cantonese, Peking, Szechwan, Honan and Fukien.

And then there is Shanghai. Shanghai is also characteristic, but doesn't rate among the classics as a regional Chinese cooking style of its own since it represents an integration of Chinese cooking with many other ethnic ideas. This, because Shanghai is a great cosmopolitan city, and in cooking, as in everything else, people borrow customs and concepts from the people they live with.

So perhaps it would be fair to say that Chinese dishes most people prepare at home in this country are Shanghai style. We have adopted and adapted — and made the Chinese connection.

One of the best of the connections is the Shanghai Rock Lobster pictured here. It is Chinese in concept, but it has some definite Occidental culinary viewpoints. It is suited to current American tastes, needs and importantly, available ingredients. The sweet, easy to handle seafood used in the recipe is South African rock lobster. The tail contains a solid piece of meat that is easily cooked, as easily removed from the shell in one piece, sliced and put into the recipe. What makes this meat so desirable is its texture and taste, which are due to the icy current (that comes up the western coast of Africa from the Antarctic) from which the South African rock lobster is fished.

If there was ever a "Shanghai" recipe, this has to be it. Two of the ingredients are apple juice and catsup. Whoever but an American would think that these particular flavors would especially enhance a Chinese dish? They do. Rock lobster from South Africa, catsup from the pantry shelf, and apple juice from New York or Michigan combine with the Oriental culinary technique of Sweet and Sour.

The rock lobster dish will, naturally, be served with rice. In this case, Rickshaw Rice, a deliciously different way with the Chinese staple. It has an ingredient that unquestionably makes the dish Shanghai-style. That's Angostura aromatic bitters, the venerable liquid blend of herbs and spices. A taste for this flavoring and seasoning was carried by seafaring men of the 19th century to every port of the world. Certainly to Shanghai, the single gateway to China in those days, and one of the world's largest seaports.

SHANGHAI ROCK LOBSTER

- 16 oz. frozen South African rock lobster tails
- 1 1/2 cups apple juice
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 cup sliced carrots
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- 1 cup pineapple chunks, drained
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1/4 cup apple juice

Drop frozen South African rock lobster tails into boiling salted water. Boil for 3 minutes after water reboils. Drain immediately and drench with cold water. With scissors cut away underside membrane and remove meat in one piece and cut into chunks. Combine next five ingredients and bring to a boil. Add carrots, green pepper and simmer 10 minutes. Add pineapple and simmer 5 minutes. Dissolve corn starch in 1/4 cup apple juice and stir into hot sauce. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add lobster chunks and heat for 5 minutes. Serve over Rickshaw Rice. Yield: 6 servings.

RICKSHAW RICE

- 4 Cups steamed rice
  - 3 tablespoons of rendered chicken fat
  - 1 clove garlic, finely minced
  - 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
  - 1 can (19 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
  - 1/2 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
  - Salt and pepper to taste
- Heat chicken fat over medium heat in a heavy pot or large skillet. Stir in garlic. Add mushrooms and water chestnuts and stir-fry for 3 minutes. Add Angostura bitters and salt and pepper to taste. Combine this mixture with rice until grains are evenly coated. Place in casserole and heat in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

And For Dessert...

The Chinese are not high on desserts. But Americans are. Again we'll go the "Shanghai" route. When the Chinese serve dessert it is usually fruit. Any classic sweets in Chinese culture, and there are a number of them, are served during the meal — not after it.

The dessert, then, for an Oriental-Occidental connection should be fruit-based. And this Blueberry-Mandarin Pie is an ideal solution.

As most people know, mandarin oranges come from a small, spiny Chinese citrus tree. It bears loose-skinned fruit, in a color that ranges from yellow to reddish orange. There is speculation that the name "mandarin" came from the color of a Mandarin's robes. If you want to know, the fruit is also called kid-glove orange or, here we have it, langerine.

But for our Oriental-type dinner, we'll call them mandarin. Blueberries we always call blueberries. Americans know them very well indeed, and know that the name came from the beautiful blue color of the berry itself — a color that reflects the summer sky. It is during the blue sky summer months that the fresh blueberries are available. And that's when Americans are always looking for one more way to put them on the table.

BLUEBERRY MANDARIN PIE

- 1 can (11 oz.) mandarin orange segments, well drained
- 1 qt. fresh blueberries, rinsed and drained
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 pkg. pie crust mix
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons cream

Reserve some orange segments and blueberries for garnish. In large bowl combine remaining orange segments and blueberries. Sprinkle with sugar, tapioca, salt and nutmeg. Toss lightly until well mixed. Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions (or use your favorite recipe for 2-crust pastry). Roll out half of dough on lightly floured board or cloth to a 13-inch circle. Fit gently into a deep 9-inch pie plate; trim pastry overhang to 1/4 inch. Spoon fruit mixture into shell; dot with butter. Roll remaining dough into an 11-inch round. Cut 4 or 5 slits near center to let steam escape. Place over filled pie shell. Trim overhang to 1/4 inch. Turn edges under together flush with rim. Flute edges. Brush top with cream. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until crust is golden and juice bubbles up. Cool on wire rack at least two hours. Just before serving garnish with reserved mandarin orange segments and blueberries. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

NOTE: Dry-pack frozen blueberries can be used.

The combination of Oriental-Occidental culinary ideas comes up tasty and in good taste. Shanghai Rock Lobster, left, is Chinese in concept, but it has some definite Occidental culinary viewpoints.

'Fatproof' A Child From Birth

NUTRITION

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Special To The Herald

It may startle many parents who think fatness in an infant is a sign of God's favor. However, doctors and nutritionists say this is not true.

Dotting parents, and relatives, in fact, do a child a favor if they do not insist on "fattening" him up from infancy throughout adolescence.

One way, according to a leading pediatrician, not to blight their lives with psychological, physical and social problems that often come with excessive overweight, is not to let a child get truly fat in the first place.

It has been learned in the last few years that fat adults learned to be fat when they were children.

Pediatrician Alvin Eden, M.D., who wrote "Growing Up Thin," points out that certain children are destined to grow up fat.

These are children who are overstuffed with milk and are fed solid foods much too early, for example.

Pediatricians say that a baby who is kept in a play-pen or a stroller and not encouraged to crawl or scoot around getting exercise also may face later weight problems, especially if they are encouraged to stop crying by having a cookie or bottle stuffed in their mouths. A preschooler who is bribed with sweets so he will finish his meal or constantly snacks in front of the TV also may face a weight problem in later life.

Some children get less exercise than they really should have, pediatricians agree. For example, the adolescent who is driven to and from school rather than walking or riding a bicycle. And the child who never walks when he can sit and never runs when he can walk.

It is up to the parents to encourage some form of physical activity from infancy on. Of course, the problem may well be that the adults also are slothful, and probably fat.

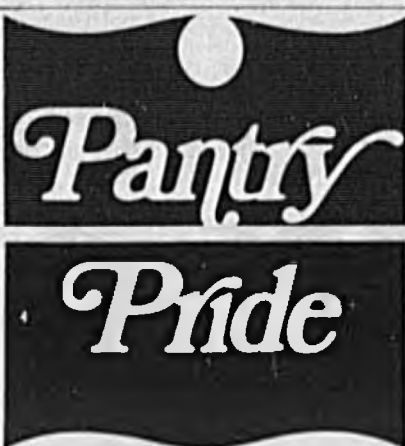

Doctors further explain that usually a thin child will grow up to be a thin adult, not skinny but within the normal weight range. A fat child almost always grows up to be a fat adult and studies show that a person does not lose the fat tissue built up as a child.

It may sound anti-parent, but don't insist your child finish everything on his plate. He may not truly be hungry. He may not need the full portions served him. By forcing him to eat you may start him on the path to putting on extra weight.

To avoid conflict at the table, serve smaller portions.

An infant or toddler knows how much food he actually wants. And, no crank diets or special diets are needed, unless medically required.

Again, help your child to avoid being an overweight adult from infancy on.

Vegetables and hot dogs are wrapped in puff pastry.

Doggies-In-The-Window A Unique Pastry Entree

Nutritious vegetables and slices of wholesome hot dogs are ideal go-togethers for creating the puffed pastry entree — Doggies-in-the-Window.

The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council suggests giving fresh garden or farmstand veggies a ratatouille seasoning that's sure to add interest and appetite appeal to this unique and economical dish.

As an economical buy, a pound of hot dogs yield a pound of edible food, with virtually no weight loss during preparation. During the summer special pricings are generally available. Hot dogs may be frozen for up to two months and should be left in the protective vacuum packaging.

DOGGIES-IN-THE-WINDOW

- 1/4 cup olive or vegetable oil
- 1 small eggplant, cut in 1/2-inch cubes (about 3/4 pound)
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 (17-ounce) package frozen puff pastry
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped

- 1 small green pepper, chopped
- 1 small zucchini, sliced
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

1 pound wieners, cut lengthwise into 1/4s
In large skillet heat oil. Stir in eggplant and onion. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, for 15 minutes. Meanwhile set out pastry to thaw as directed on package. Add tomatoes, green pepper, zucchini, seasoned salt and garlic powder to eggplant mixture; stir to mix well. Cover; cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. If necessary cook and stir over high heat to reduce any remaining liquid. (Vegetable mixture should be moist but not have runny liquid.)

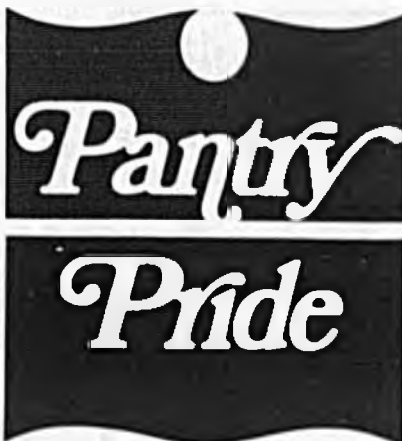

Unfold pastry. Place each sheet on lightly greased baking sheet. Place 2 cut wieners (8 strips) down center of each sheet. Spoon half (about 1-1/4 cups) vegetable mixture over wieners on each sheet. (Do not spread out the vegetable mixture.) Top each with half the remaining wiener strips. For each sheet of pastry with filling; brush edges of pastry with water. Cut pastry on an angle on each side of filling into 3/4-inch strips.

Then fold strips over filling, alternating 1 strip from each side. Pinch ends to seal. Bake at 375 degrees F for 30 to 40 minutes, until golden. Cut into thick slices to serve. Makes 8 servings.

Note: all zucchini or all eggplant (about 1 pound) can be used in the vegetable mixture.

For Individual Servings: Cut each pastry sheet into 1/4s. Roll out on lightly floured surface to increase size by 1 inch in each direction. Place 2 wiener strips in center of each pastry piece. Top with about 1-3rd cup vegetable mixture, then 2 or 3 additional wiener strips. Fold edges of pastry over filling; (edges may not meet in center). Pinch ends and corners to seal. Place on lightly greased baking sheets. Bake at 375 degrees F for about 20 minutes, until golden.

Black Cookery: 'The Way Mama Cooked It'

"The Way Mama Cooked It" is a new cookbook featuring traditional Black Cookery. The recipes in this 32-page color book were prize winners in a National Recipe Contest sponsored by the Reynolds Metals Company in Richmond, Va.

The contest was promoted in 18 major cities across the nation and judged at a cook off held at one of America's oldest Black Colleges, Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.

At Hampton, the panel of food experts who represented Black culinary expertise were Venezuela Newborn, Food Editor for Essence Magazine; Chef Fred Crawford, Master Chef and cookbook author, and Juanita Strawn, mother, wife and Director of Hampton's Human Ecology Department.

These judges taste tested the entries and selected the outstanding recipes. From these a grand prize winner and 25 second place recipes were designated.

Rubie Jamerson of Memphis, Tenn., was the grand prize winner with her recipe "Sunday Pot Roast." Mrs. Jamerson was the happy recipient of $1,000, a lifetime supply of Reynolds Wrap 25 ft. household aluminum foil, and a deluxe General Electric freezer.

Rice: International Favorites

A Prize Collection Of Rice Dishes From Around The World

Whether you're dining at a buffet in the South Pacific, an elegant restaurant in Europe or at the kitchen table at home, American grown rice is served and enjoyed the world over.

Most Americans don't realize the high quality rice they enjoy is actually grown and processed in the U.S. Or that this same preferred U.S. grain is enjoyed by people in over 100 countries.

Rice is grown in Arkansas, California, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri and Texas and is one of the most modern and highly-mechanized forms of food production today.

Rice producers and processors exercise quality control from the field to the table to give consumers in the U.S. — and throughout the world — a convenient, nutritious, economical and easy-to-prepare food.

In recent years, the United States has been the world's leading exporter of rice and it is known worldwide for its superior quality. It is in demand in international rice markets because of its quality, uniform grain size and dependable cooking characteristics.

So, whether you are in Barcelona, Baghdad or preparing something special for the family, U.S. rice goes great with everything. From risottos to curries to pilafs — American grown rice is truly an international food.

HOW TO PREPARE RICE

Presented here is a collection of international rice dishes from around the world. They have all been kitchen tested, use familiar ingredients and are easy to prepare. Bon appetit!

When a recipe calls for cooked rice, any type or form of rice may be used successfully (regular-milled, parboiled, brown, or precooked). Just follow package directions to obtain the quantity needed for the recipe. In recipes which specify uncooked rice, adjustment of the amount of liquid and cooking time may be necessary if you prefer to use parboiled rice or brown rice.

Most rice packages have easy-to-follow directions for preparing perfect rice. In the absence of package directions, the same high quality product can be obtained by using the following method(s):

- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 2 cups liquid for regular-milled white rice (for drier rice use 2 tablespoons less liquid) (2 1/2 cups liquid for parboiled and brown rice; for drier rice use 1/4 cup less liquid)
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in a 2 to 3-quart saucepan. Bring to a boil. Stir once or twice. Lower heat to simmer. Cover with a tight-fitting lid or heavy-duty foil. Cook, without removing lid, 15 minutes to 25 minutes for parboiled rice; 45 minutes for brown rice. If the rice is not quite tender or liquid is not absorbed, replace lid and cook 2 to 4 minutes longer.

- 1/2 cup sliced blanched almonds
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar

Put rice in a 7 1/2 x 12 x 2-inch baking dish. Scald milk and cream, but do not boil. Add sugar and stir to dissolve. Beat egg yolks until light in color; add extracts and salt. Stir hot milk gradually into egg mixture. Pour over rice; stir. The custard should be about 1 1/2 inches deep. Place dish in a larger pan; pour hot water around it. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour or until a knife inserted near center of custard comes out clean. Cool; then chill thoroughly. Sprinkle with almonds and top with brown sugar. Place under the broiler for a few minutes or until sugar melts and runs together. Serve immediately or chill again and serve cold. Just before serving, shatter the glaze by tapping lightly with a knife.

Makes 8 servings.

GERMANY:

The French influence is unmistakable in Baden, the region of Germany where the cooking can be ranked as "huete cuisine" and rice, not spätzle, is used to absorb the rich gravies.

WINEGROWER'S CHICKEN

- 2 slices bacon, diced
- 2 cloves garlic, halved
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 4 chicken legs (thighs and drumsticks)
- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 2 tablespoons each chopped parsley and chives
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms with liquid
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- 1/2 cup sour cream

Saute bacon and garlic in butter until bacon is partially cooked. Discard garlic. Add chicken and brown on all sides. Stir in onions and saute until transparent. Add 1/4 cup wine and cook a few minutes, stirring to loosen browned particles. Add parsley, chives, seasonings, mushrooms, and broth. Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken and keep warm. Discard bay leaf. Blend flour with remaining wine. Stir into sauce and cook until thickened. Serve chicken on beds of fluffy rice. Top with sauce and dollops of sour cream. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired.

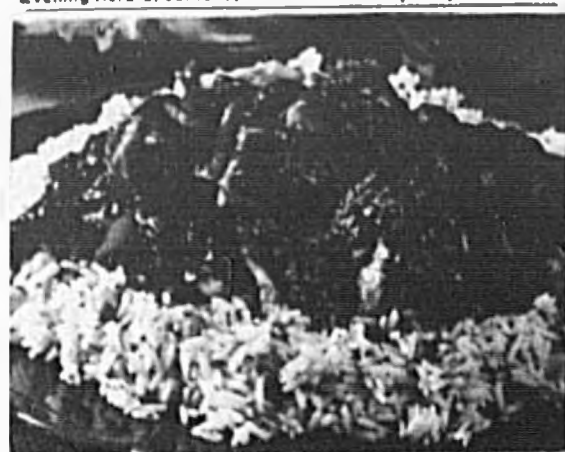

Makes 4 servings

CHINA:

From the land of birds nest soup and seaweed salad come many great dishes more suited to Western states — Cantonese cuisine is among the most popular around the globe.

CHICKEN CANTONESE

  - 2 large fresh tomatoes, cut in eighths
  - 3 cups hot cooked rice
- Remove skin and bones from chicken. Cut meat in thin strips. Sprinkle with seasonings. Saute chicken in oil 1 to 2 minutes. Add onion, green peppers, celery, and 1/2 cup broth. ## POLYNESIA:

Romance and beautiful beaches are trademarks of Polynesia, a group of 130 islands in the South Pacific, where Oriental and French cuisines are often combined to make delicious Polynesian dishes.

POLYNESIAN MEAT BALLS WITH RICE

- 1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
  - 3 slices bread, crumbled
  - 2 teaspoons each dry mustard, garlic salt, and ground ginger
  - 1 can (1 1/2 ounces) pineapple tidbits (drain; reserve syrup)

  - one-third cup cornstarch
  - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
  - 1 can (16 ounces) bean sprouts, rinsed and drained
  - 2 green peppers, cut in 1/2 inch strips
  - 1 1/2 cups beef broth

  - 3 cups hot cooked rice
- Combine ground beef, bread, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, garlic salt and ginger, pineapple syrup, and 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Form into 24 meat balls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Roll in 3 tablespoons cornstarch. Brown meat balls in oil. Add bean sprouts, peppers, and pineapple. Cover and cook 2 to 3 minutes. Blend broth, brown sugar, and remaining seasonings, cornstarch, and soy sauce. Pour over meat balls. Cook, stirring about 3 minutes or until sauce thickens. While cooking, spoon sauce over meat and vegetable vegetables to glaze. Serve over beds of fluffy rice.
- Makes 6 servings.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Quaalude Habit Induces Big Sleep

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am very worried about my boyfriend. He is using drugs and he wants me to use them, too. He says that it is not the same thing as a drug habit but just a sleeping pill. He uses Quaalude. I don't think he should use these at all but he does — he goes out with me and has several drinks and finally uses Quaalude. He claims it makes him feel better and that he enjoys sex more. He also claims I would enjoy sex more if I would use them, too, but I don't really have any problem in that department anyway. I really love this guy and don't want anything to happen to him. Can you say something that might wake him up?

stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

By the way, you can become dependent upon Quaalude just as you can on many other drugs, regardless of what you may have been told. It is a bad scene.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Members of my family take natural vitamins — at least 25 a day to cure or inhibit everything from the aging process to acne and to keep warm in the winter. They are constantly on me since I drink at least six to 10 cups of coffee a day in cold weather to keep warm. They say I'm losing a special vitamin that helps keep the body warm. Does smoking rob the body of this vitamin? They insist an herb pill will clear my complexion. I tried it and it literally made me feel crampish so I stopped. I don't take vitamins because no matter how I take them they repeat on me all day or all night.

DEAR READER — It might be hard to wake him up if he's using alcohol and Quaalude. It is a sedative and certainly should not be used with alcohol. In fact, none of the drugs commonly used as tranquilizers or sleeping pills should be used with alcohol. He shouldn't drive after drinking or after Quaalude and certainly not after both. Quaalude can induce sleep within 10 minutes after taking it. That is why it should never be taken before driving or any other activity that requires normal mental alertness.

DEAR READER — Vitamins are important, but I prefer people to get their "natural" vitamins in a well-balanced wholesome diet so they won't miss the other things good nutrition provides. If you get enough vitamins that way it is unlikely you will need any more. The same applies to important minerals.

You feel cold or hot according to blood flow through your skin. Cigarette smoking will diminish circulation to the skin in sensitive people and cause the skin temperature to drop. There are studies that report one cigarette will destroy the amount of vitamin C in one orange.

If you had a big boost because it was rumored to have an aphrodisiac quality. That is why your boyfriend thinks it is good for sex. It was billed by the drug culture as fostering "unreserved personal relationships." It doesn't. Whatever effect a person gets in that department is purely in the mind.

For Thursday, July 30, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 30, 1981

This coming year there is a strong possibility you may develop a promising venture on the side. It may start small, but it could fulfill a secret ambition you've been harboring.

you point out a similar pitfall to a pal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be a good listener today. You could receive a valuable tip from a least-expected source. It might come from a person who has never aided you before.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have a talent today for taking up causes others can't quite get off the ground and making them work. Your skill will pass the test. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail it for each to Astro-Graph Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is a good day to discuss production problems with coworkers. Each will inspire the other's inventiveness. Progressive ideas could result.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Tasks which challenge your creativeness will be the ones you handle best today. You're especially good at transforming the unprofitable into the profitable.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally it's unwise to gamble in areas where you have little say over the happenings, but today you could be lucky with something another controls.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may prefer staying in the background today, but another's success will be due to your guidance. You'll partake of the substance, but not the glory.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Innovating can save time and energy today and also increase your productivity. Think of new ways to improve your present methods of work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Developments of an unusual nature could occur today and gain you access to something for which you've been hoping. Keep the faith.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is opportunity around you today that could add to your income or resources. It may be fleeting, so you'll have to act promptly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Competitive or challenging situations serve to awaken your resourcefulness today. Major accomplishments are possible, regardless of the obstacles.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your material prospects look encouraging both today and tomorrow. Focus your efforts on enterprises that can make the cash register ring.
