

EUROPE NOW MOVING TO THE UNITED STATES SAYS IMMIGRATION HEAD

COMMISSIONER WALLIS SAYS FLOOD OF ALIENS COMING

SOME OBJECTIONS AMERICA DOES NOT WANT THE CAST OFF POPULATION OF EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Testimony by Commissioner Wallis of the Ellis Island immigration station that Europe was "literally moving to the United States" and that a "flood of aliens was imminent," still left members of the senate immigration committee doubtful last night as to action upon the Johnson bill prohibiting immigration for one year. Several members frankly expressed doubt whether any measure to stop or restrict immigration would be enacted at this session of congress.

The committee obviously was impressed with Commissioner Wallis' statements as to the need for inspection of aliens before leaving Europe and for more rigid examinations after their arrival at American ports. The commissioner recommended particularly that facilities be established overseas for such inspections and declared that 90 per cent of the immigrants arriving under the existing system would be denied permission to sail if they were examined at the ports of embarkation by American officials. A proper system of examination in Europe and upon arrival, Mr. Wallis said, would prevent an imminent flood of these, diseased in body and mind.

"Fortunately," he added, "the steamships of the world can bring only 1,300,000 a year to the United States. It is in the limited transportation facilities and increased examinations that we will get the best protection."

The commissioner declared reports of the public health service indicated that eastern Europe today "is in the grip of four epidemics—typhus, typhoid, dysentery and tuberculosis." The war has undermined the health of these countries and their emigrants are "dangerous to the health of the United States," he added.

Chairman Colt of the committee, asked whether it would be "harmful" if congress postponed changing present laws for six months.

"It would not be more harmful than at present," Mr. Wallis replied. "But I would prefer a definite measure giving us more inspectors, living quarters and increased facilities overseas."

HOTALING KILLS BROWN IN ORLANDO COURTROOM AS HE IS PAYING A FINE

Slayer Charged Victim Was Infatuated With His Wife.

WAS SHOT THRU TEMPLE Mrs. Hotaling and City Officials See Crazed Husband Force Pay in Full

ORLANDO, Jan. 6.—Crazed at the sight of the man he thought had been intimate with his wife calmly paying his way out of the difficulty with $100, the fine assessed by Mayor Judge Eugene Duckworth on the infuriated husband's complaint, Leroy Hotaling shot down John Brown in the courtroom yesterday morning while the man was counting the money for the fine and the judge was paraphrasing the seventh commandment in admonishing the defendant. Brown was instantly killed. The coroner's jury ordered Hotaling held for the grand jury.

Hotaling's complaint against Brown had been heard, the technical charge in municipal court being disorderly conduct. Mayor Duckworth had imposed the fine and was charging the defendant to maintain peace and order. Brown was counting out the money for his fine. Hotaling whipped out an automatic revolver, as he stood by his wife and their daughter, and fired. The bullet entered at Brown's right temple and when physicians arrived the man was dead.

Hotaling, appearing against Brown on the charge, submitted to the court as evidence a letter which he said had been given him by a negro on the streets Saturday. The letter, purporting to have been written by Brown, made a damaging confession of the writer's alleged relations with Hotaling's wife. Brown had denied writing the letter, during the reading of which Hotaling's daughter was sent from the courtroom.

Lifting the curtain on the sequence of events that have occurred in the lives of the three principal actors in yesterday's tragedy discloses a tangled maze of details to be ferreted out at the trial of Hotaling at the next session of court.

Hotaling, in the county jail, refuses to make any statement, Brown's lips are sealed by death and Mrs. Hotaling, too hysterical to make any statement, has been taken to her husband's mother's home.

STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 5.—It is announced that the regular quarterly meeting of the state road department will be held at its offices in this city today. It is expected that the new members of the department will be present to participate in the deliberations of the body.

What is believed to have been the last official act of Gov. Sidney J. Catts was the signing of the commission of A. J. Johnson of Perry, to be a member of the state road department succeeding A. Holt of High Springs. Mr. Johnson this morning made bond with a surety company in the required sum of $25,000, and his commission was signed by Governor Catts in the conclusion of the parade and just prior to his going out upon the platform for the inaugural exercises.

TABACCO GROWERS MEET TO DETERMINE THEIR FUTURE WHICH IS IMPERILED

WILSON TAKEN AWAY FOR SAFE KEEPING

ORLANDO, Jan. 5.—One of the last official acts of retiring Sheriff Frank Gordon last night was to spirit away John P. Wilson, who was confined in the Orange county jail charged with the murder of Emma Dyal, wife of George E. Dyal, near Goldenrod, last Friday night.

Considerable feeling has been engendered throughout various sections of the county with the publication of the sordid details of the brutal and premeditated tragedy. The frequency of expressions on the part of many friends of the dead woman's family as to the horror of the crime, and the gathering knots of men in close consultation at Winter Park and Goldenrod, induced the sheriff to forestall any attempt at mob law by sending the prisoner to a remote county jail last night under the careful chaperonage of Chief E. D. Vestel of the Orlando Police Department.

If the mayor of Cork who was arrested in Norfolk for coming in as a stowaway, means to try the hunger strike over here he probably was in training en route.

LORD MAYOR OF CORK MAY NOT REMAIN LONG

IS STRANGE CASE

IRISH NATIONALISTS WANT TO COME TO AMERICA RATHER THAN STAY AT HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The exclusion of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork was ordered yesterday at Norfolk by board of special inquiry. O'Callaghan appealed from the ruling and the case will eventually be referred to the State Department for decision whether it will waive special passport resolutions. Meantime O'Callaghan himself made appeal direct to State Department in hope of absence of passport might not deter him from entering the United States. Secretary Wilson's decision will probably rest upon that of State Department account of diplomatic character of questions involved in his entry into the country.

FIGHTING CRAFT STEAMING SOUTH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Screened by destroyers, the Atlantic fleet was steaming southward from the Virginia Capes last night to meet its sister armada from the Pacific in the warm waters of Panama bay. Over the battleship Pennsylvania flew the four-starred flag of Admiral H. B. Wilson, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, who will command the combined forces during the maneuvers and battle practice to come.

There were forty-eight craft under Admiral Wilson's command at the mobilization point off the capes when the flagship broke out the signal that set the fleet off on its long cruise.

Ahead of them, sent in advance to meet the Pacific fleet, airmen, the air force of the Atlantic had winged southward to join in the great war game.

Recommended that a constitutional amendment be made limiting the membership of the future houses at 500. Basis for representation will be one member for every 21,979 inhabitants. ## LUMBERMEN CALL ON ALL SUPPLY TRADES TO HELP LOWER BUILDING COSTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—A national campaign to reduce building costs was launched by lumber manufacturers from all sections of the country at a meeting here yesterday.

Lumber has come down in price an average of 40 per cent, said R. B. Goodman, of Marinett, Wis., chairman of the session. The lumber industry has absorbed its war time inflation and we feel that it is up to other building commodities to follow suit. Lumber represents only about 30 per cent of the cost of the average building and not more than 35 per cent of the cost of a wooden building.

REAL CHRISTMAS UNDER TENTS

CHRISTMAS TREES, AND EXCHANGE OF GIFTS AND MANY DINNERS

Those who make merry for others paused for an interval yesterday and made merry for and among themselves. It was "Christmas on the lot" for the show people of the Johnny J. Jones Exposition. In the forenoon, before the crowds gathered for the afternoon exhibitions, and when they had the lot to themselves, the street through circus town was as a glow with the Christmas spirit as at night it glows with electric lights and spangles. Nowhere in the city was there a better time or a merrier people.

There is poetry and romance in the hearts of the modern "trouper's" true heirs to all the glories and traditions of the ancient troubadours and harlequins. In their land of make-believe there are fairies; should they, of all others, not believe in Santa Claus? Their business is to give pleasure; their sincerest admirers are simple-minded men and women and tender children, and these, the pure of heart and the children—is not Christmas for them first of all? The Christmas spirit is in their hearts the year round; the humblest roustabout, who troups with the show because of its near approach to adventure, and the highest salaried performer of artistic instincts. There is no melancholy among the trouper's who bravely and happily make their homes wherever their business calls them to go, adaptable folk who amiably fit the traditions of their profession to the necessities of their lives.

In the sand of the Wild West show arena Friday night there stood upright a brave little tree, illuminated with lights, glowing as beautifully as any Christmas tree in a drawing room. Cow ponies dashed about the ring, and there was nothing incongruous in it. Christmas was there.

It was Christmas as truly for the "Siamese twins," the tattooed man, the fat man and the other "freaks," as for anybody in the world. Outside the ballyhoo went on; inside the tent there was a Christmas tree which, a few hours later, yielded in packages with holiday labels the fruits of love and friendship. The twins spent the afternoon sorting and packing their gifts, tendered by friends they have made during their stay in this city as well as by their friends in the show.

Christmas is the children's day and on the "lot" as elsewhere in all the world of Christendom it was around the children that all the activities centered. Mr. Jones had a tree in his private car, and one of the favored guests was little Miss Francis Scott, daughter of a lady connected with the animal show. The tree bore presents for her and the midgets and other members of the show.

In the quarters back of the tents there was everywhere a touch of Christmas. A table set in the wagon that contains the paraphernalia of the Stella show rivaled the display of a hotel dining room, and there Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Vaughn and their daughter had as the guest for dinner Ed. R. Salter, the show's publicity man. In the animal show Robert Irvin, the managed had at dinner "Admiral" George Dewey, the lion tamer; Captain Money and Captain Houston and Miss Hurd, Miss Etta Louise Blake entertained the posing girls of Superba. The Miller family of "the battlefields of France" had as fine a dinner and as good a time as if the Christmas dinner was served in other surroundings. The midgets had dinner in Mr. Jones' car. Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Wilson of the Jazz show, and the monkey hippodrome entertained friends in their tent.

A French chef—a real French chef who proved it by the "cats" he served, prepared the dinner in a wagon for "the crew." Ted Steinberg, manager of Murphy's Lunch, served for 75 cents a special Christmas dinner which his customers said would have cost $1.50 elsewhere.

Parke Prentiss, director of the big band, entertained the twenty-five members of that organization at Knight's Shop on Clematis avenue, and in addition there was present his wife and Mrs. Kreiber, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Clair, wives of members of the band, and Al Beck, treasurer of the show.

Without request from anyone but out of consideration for the proprietries, closing of the performances on Friday evening was advanced half an hour because of the knowledge that services were to be held at the Catholic church and care was taken not to disturb the worship.—Palm Beach Post.

WOMEN'S CLUB BALL

Brilliant Event in Society Circles
The Christmas holidays have been marked by many, gay parties and many more have been planned to cheer the last days of the old year and the infant 1921 will be born amidst much merry-making.

Among the most attractive and charming of the season's gayeties was the Women's Club ball, given by the social department at Hotel Valdez on Tuesday evening, an annual event of much social importance, that brings together the members of the social department and their many friends.

Amid the beauty of Christmas decorations, blending harmoniously the club colors of red and green, beneath the rosy glow of shaded lights and to the fascinating strains of the Million Dollar Orchestra, the gay assemblage enjoyed one of the most brilliant dances for which the social department is noted. There was a large representation of the college set and interesting groups of out-of-town guests added much to the charm of the occasion.

Receiving with Mrs. E. T. Householder, hostess of the dance, were Mrs. A. P. Connelly, chairman of the social department; Mrs. W. L. Morgan, president of the club, and Mrs. Samuel Puleston, first vice-president. Upon the arrival of guests they were welcomed by Mrs. H. B. Lewis and Mrs. R. J. Holly.

Punch was served throughout the evening by Mrs. Julius Schultz and Mrs. F. F. Dutton, assisted by a group of attractive young matrons and girls. Programs were distributed by Mrs. E. M. Galoway.

HUGHES TO HEAD CABINET ACCORDING TO LAWRENCE DOUGHERTY, ATTORNEY GEN.

done of select a cabinet that will fulfill the general promise to pick able executives.

Mr. Penrose isn't worried about the Pennsylvania situation. Another significant fact is that to date Senator Harding has not asked Senator Knox to come to Marion and has not indicated to Mr. Knox that he wants him to become secretary of state.

It is known that Mr. Harding has been thinking seriously of Mr. Knox for the secretaryship of state and in his heart there is no man he would rather select. But the next cabinet will not be a group of personal favorites. Mr. Harding has felt it his duty to map out a general policy for his administration and then try to get men to fit that policy.

Conferences of the last few weeks at Marion have convinced Mr. Harding that he cannot afford to take any extremist view and he fears that Mr. Knox's announced position on foreign affairs is such that it would be embarrassing for Mr. Knox to reverse himself or trim his views to suit the Harding policy.

Moreover, Mr. Harding doesn't want to antagonize any groups in the party by selecting one who has been so completely identified with the "irreconcilable" group in the senate. The unwisdom of such a course from a political viewpoint has been urged upon Mr. Harding through at first he was inclined to pay no attention to it at all.

To select a cabinet that would meet the expectation of the country Senator Harding has realized that he must get a top-liner, a man whose abilities have been well advertised and in whose judgment and integrity the whole country has confidence.

It was natural that having eliminated Mr. Root on account of advanced age he has turned to Hughes, who has made a brilliant record as governor of New York and who had distinguished himself on the supreme court of the United States and who had, furthermore, come within a few electoral votes of being elected president of the United States himself. 1916 and can hardly go back of that fact.

Mr. Hughes is known throughout the world as a distinguished jurist and Mr. Harding is said to believe Hughes' appointment will create confidence everywhere that the foreign policy of the United States was in the hands of a man of extraordinary capacity and fairness.

Every report received by the writer from the men who are in the confidence of Senator Harding and who are in Washington and New York concerning on his behalf with the celebrities in question, indicates that the next cabinet will be a much better one than earlier gossip would indicate and that while Warren Harding has been taking his time, sifting the various aspirants and candidates he has by no means fallen victim to the purely political temptations which are still athwart in his path.—David Lawrence in Jacksonville Metropolis.

Johnny Jones Big Shows

Will Furnish the Amusements and There Will Be Something Doing Every Minute With Plenty of Music, Attractions, Noises and Fun of the Right Sort. Read what the Palm Beach Tropical Sun says of the JOHNNY JONES SHOWS This Season

The Seminole Sun Dance committee were wise in selecting Johnny J. Jones to come to West Palm Beach to give a show to help in making expenses for the next Sun Dance, March 9-10-11, next spring. He has the best Carnival we have ever seen. He has everything and so much of it is new. He has undertaken a new departure in amusements and is cutting out the clap-trap and filling in with educational and art work. His free war museum is a wonder and is a liberal history of the war in itself. The European battle front with a thousand moving figures, seige guns and disappearing batteries and regiments of soldiers in trench and shell proof dugout and in trees and on mountain tops is an exact picture of an engagement, and all electrically controlled. And to think that an American from Urbana, Ohio, took away the special job of the Swiss music box makers—why it is more wonderful than the Strasburg clock.

In art the classic "Stella" that cost the St. Louis collector $100,000 is the most talked about picture of the modern painters and is the masterpiece of Napoleon Ninni, the premier Italian artist. In the same list is "Superba" a beautiful combination of painting and life sized human figures representing the masterpieces of the European and American galleries.

The feature here is the lighting effects and the artistry of posing, in pictures so famous and so artistically reproduced that nothing lewd or suggestive ever enters the mind of the beholder. It recalls the electrical shows at the Chicago World's Fair with colored storm effects. It should be seen for its educational value and art expression.

The Lilliputians are meritorious in the extreme for they are the most refined and commanding since the days of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb and Commodore Nutt. Prince Denison, M'le Salome, Princess Marguerite and Baroness Leonie, are very attractive and hold receptions with true courtliness.

The educational animal show where a whip would seem unnecessary except for show. Lions, jaguars, leopards, elephants, camels, goats, performing monkeys, pumas and a wild West Show of real plainsmen and trick riders in an original border drama, in which the trick mule is a star and the horse thief is caught, the audience encored and on all sides was exclamations of "That's some show ain't it?"

There are hundreds of things not on the bill with this show aggregation. It is a constant surprise and everything is a novelty and so clean and devoid of the rough house speller that one thinks he is in a museum. The one show is laid out on both sides of our concrete roadway through the park and runs from Althea north through the park to the railroad bridge for two long blocks and every twenty feet is something else. It would take us a week to see it, and hear entertainer Ed. R. Salter tell how good Johnny J. Jones was and how particularly he scrutinized all shows daily and all new acts to see that no vulgarity or short change acts are given. There is only one Ed. Salter and he is with Johnny J. Jones and there is only one Johnny J. Jones on the show map in the carnival routings. We are trying to get him here for the Sun Dance March 9-10-11.

FLORIDA CAN SUPPLY THE WORLD IN SUGAR STATES DR. BLACKMAN

IN ADDRESS BEFORE ASSO- CIATION FOR ADVANCE- MENT OF SCIENCE TALKS AT CHICAGO

AND CALLED ATTENTION TO WONDERFUL POSSIBILITIES OF THIS STATE

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Addressing the Association for the Advancement of Science here Thursday, Dr. W. F. Blackman, of Jacksonville, Florida, declared that Florida not only has the natural advantages to supply the sugar for the United States, but could with the proper development of the industry, supply the entire world. After going into the different kinds of soil and telling of the climatic conditions, Dr. Blackman said:

"Taking these various types of soil together, I have no doubt that it is well within the bounds of truth to say that Florida has 15 or 20 million acres of land which is either already adapted to the growing of sugar cane or which can readily be prepared for this use by clearing and drainage, and that on half this acreage, allowing thus for crop rotation, two hundred millions of tons of cane could be grown in a fairly favorable season. And two hundred million tons of cane of good sucrose content, would make as much sugar as the whole world now produces, both cane and beet. Of course this statement is only theoretical, for no one supposes that more than a fraction of this enormous area will ever in fact be devoted to this or any other single crop.

"It may be added that the average sugar content of Florida cane is considerably greater than that of Louisiana and at least equal to that of Hawaiian or Cuban cane. Dr. H. W. Wiley, then chief of the bureau of chemistry, reported in 1906 that the richest cane ever analyzed in the bureau was grown in Florida. And good cane land in Florida can still be bought at a very low price.

"After climate and soil, the next most important question is that of an adequate supply of labor. The lands of Florida are level, free from stones and otherwise especially adapted to implemental cultivation. It is only in the harvesting of the cane that a large amount of hand labor is required. We may have some difficulty at this point, but the harvest fortunately extends from early November in northern Florida to late spring in the south, so that labor can be shifted from one region to the other. Moreover, a large amount of migratory labor has in recent years been attracted to the state for the picking and packing of citrus fruits, and to a lesser extent for the growing and harvesting of truck, just as has happened in the wheat growing sections of the west. Florida is especially attractive in the winter, and it ought to be possible, if the need should arise, and if the effort were properly organized, to bring into the state a multitude of hands from the north where agricultural operations are largely suspended during the winter, for the cane harvest. Meantime, a considerable amount of native negro labor is available at reasonable wages."

Sweet Marie says she has two very good reasons for wearing short skirts.

DR. J. F. RAY, OF JAPAN, WILL SPEAK HERE

It is with pleasure that the announcement can be made that Dr. J. Franklin Ray, of Japan, is coming to Sanford for a visit and while here to lecture three times on the country of his adoption. Dr. Ray is the pastor of the Church at Kure, one of the large and important cities of Japan. The chapel in which he delivers his message over there is the gift of one of the trustees of the Baptist Church of Sanford. The church here in Sanford also pays the salary of Dr. Ray.

He was well educated in this country before sailing to Japan. He holds both A. B. and A. M. degrees from college and theological degree from the Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky. He was a class mate of Dr. Hyman in the last named school.

The Presbyterians have decided to put on a campaign to pay off the entire debt of the church property. Speeches were made on this campaign at both services Sunday and prayers were offered for the success of the movement.

The total debt on the property is about $13,000, and the plan is to ask:

75 people to give $100 each.....	$7,500
75 people to give 50 each.....	3,750
50 people to give 25 each.....	12,500
100 people to give 10 each.....	10,000
Total.....	$13,500

Cash or notes will be accepted. Already a number have offered their gifts up to $500 each, and many others are expected to insist in being put in a class by themselves by giving more than $100.

The campaign closes Saturday, Jan. 15th.

SHIPPING FINE FRUIT

F. F. Dutton brought in some fine grapefruit and oranges to the Herald office this morning. They are from Indian river where the finest of fruit is grown and all of the fruit is stamped with the Blue Goose stamp, this brand being one of the many put out by the American Fruit Company. We appreciate the oranges and grape fruit and hope that the American Fruit Company will not forget that printers do not eat hay but oranges when they can get them. Mr. Dutton stated that the Blue Goose brand was bringing top notch prices all this season and expected to get them right on. This demonstrates that good fruit and careful packing and standard brands will get the price.

When that expedition to Africa succeeds in locating the missing link, it should then go after the lost chord.

Old Days In Orange County

By C. E. HOWARD
THE STORY OF W. J. HILL, PIONEER

W. J. Hill, the only sure-enough English humorist, who came straight to Florida in the earlier days, has a real racy story to tell, related to the writer several years ago.

That this jovial gentleman has passed "Over the River" does not detract from the zest of his story, which we let him tell in his own words that nothing may be detracted from.

W. J. Hill, who was until the time of his death the oldest business man in the hardware line in Florida, and who claimed to have lived longer in Sanford than any one else.

"Funny how I came to Florida in the first place," said he. "I was born in London, England, March 15, 1842. I came to New York in July, 1872. I worked as an interpreter in the election race of Grant and Greeley, as most of the people did not understand the Cockney language. Worked at this until the election was over. It was cold and uncomfortable. One day I met an Englishman I knew. Tell me," said I, "where do all the bloomin' swells go when it gets like this?" "To Florida, my chap," said he, and to Florida this fell immediately went.

RUSSELL H. CONWELL TO SPEAK HERE

Through the arrangements made by Messrs. F. F. Dutton and George Hyman, Sanford people are again to have the pleasure and profit of hearing the greatest lecturer in the world. The largest number of people ever attending a lecture in Sanford heard Dr. Conwell in "Acres of Diamonds" at the Princess Theatre last year.

A larger audience room has been constructed in Sanford since that lecture and arrangements are being made to have Dr. Conwell at The Baptist Temple. There are fittings for 808. The price per ticket and the date for sale of the same will be announced later. Wednesday night, Jan. 26th, is the date for "Acres of Diamonds."

THE DANSTANT FOR MISS LEE.

(From Monday's Daily)

One of the most delightful affairs given in Sanford for some time was the At Home and The Danstant given New Year's afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Puleston and Mr. and Mrs. David Thrasher for Miss Lee, who is the attractive guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hill.

The rooms of the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Puleston were opened en suite and most beautiful decorated in poinsettias and ferns.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. W. E. Watson and Mrs. E. M. Galloway.

Receiving were: Dr. and Mrs. Puleston, Mr. and Mrs. Thrasher, Miss Lee and Mrs. R. A. Newman.

In the dining room Mrs. C. E. Henry poured coffee and Mrs. A. P. Connelly poured tea, they were assisted in caring for the guests by Mrs. Geo. Knight, Mrs. Allen Jones, Mrs. Billy Hill, Mrs. E. F. Hougholder and Mrs. Roy Bowers.

Music for dancing was furnished by the Sanford Jazz Orchestra and was very good, indeed.

About two hundred guests called between the hours of four and six.

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

Among the many attractions for next week is the opening of the fall term of the Circuit Court which opens here in January being belated on account of the fall term winding up in this county. There are at least two murder cases to come before the court and it is likely that court will hold at least two weeks as there is always a larger docket in the January court than in May. Court will open next Tuesday at 10:00 o'clock unless otherwise ordered.

MONDAY AFTERNOON BRIDGE CLUB.

The Monday Afternoon Bridge Club met with Mrs. A. B. Wallace Monday afternoon.

The rooms were attractively decorated in red roses and poinsettias. There were two tables of the members with Mrs. George DeCotties and Miss Bowler substituting. Mrs. DeCotties won the prize for high score, a cut glass bon bon dish.

A delicious salad course was served at the close of the game.

Much interest is being shown in Brevard county in sugar cane and citrus culture. The sugar cane acreage next year will be increased over that of this year. Many new groves are being developed.

BURGLAR ROBS HERALD OFFICE. GETTING CASH FROM THE SAFE AND SOME FOUNTAIN PENS

Evidently Knew the Inside of the Printing Office

HE MADE A SMALL HAUL

But Ruined a Perfectly Good Safe and Otherwise Ruffled Our Tempers

The Herald office was robbed last night, the thief effecting an entrance through a window in the mechanical department and coming into the business office opened the safe doors which are never locked and jimmied the cash drawer, taking out some $50 in cash and six Sheaffer fountain pens and several aluminum pencils that were in the safe. He knew the lay of the land very well and left all the checks intact and did not attempt to touch anything that he could not convert into money.

He miscalculated somewhat on the cash drawer for printing offices as a rule do not have any money and as there is nothing in a printing office that any person would want there is but little attempt made to keep them out. And in fact many printing offices over the state never lock their doors. The Herald uses the safe more for protection against fire and a place for keeping valuable papers and records and the subscription lists, etc. The safe doors were never locked on that account as it would be better to have thieves open the safe and get into it than to have them blow it or break it open by jimmying the combination although in the future it will be locked in order to keep the embryo thieves from getting what little cash might be left over night.

The thief will evidently try to dispose of the fountain pens or will be obliged to throw them away to avoid suspicion and if anyone is seen with

CHASE & COMPANY

NEW BANK WILL OPEN IN SANFORD WITH LOCAL AND NORTH CAROLINA MEN

Merchants and Farmers Bank Will Incorporate Next Week.

IN THE WELAKA BLOCK HAVE ALREADY ARRANGED FOR NEW QUARTERS—TO START NEW BUSINESS

(From Friday's Daily)
Sanford is going ahead at full speed these days and big deals in real estate and improvements in buildings and the starting of new lines of business are of daily occurrence. It all signifies that not only have the home people the confidence in their city but visitors to the state and outside investors are recognizing the fact that Sanford offers more to the investor right now than any other city in Florida. The time to invest in real estate is when a city starts a new growth and the same is true of new business enterprises.

The news then, of a new bank and trust company to be started here in the near future is only another indication of the confidence of home people and new residents in what Sanford is now and what Sanford is bound to be in the next few years. Among the new enterprises of a more substantial nature is the starting of the Merchants and Farmers Bank, the articles of incorporation of the firm will be published in the Weekly Herald at an early date as it is understood the stock has already been subscribed by local and new capital.

The firm will be known as the Merchants and Farmers Bank and will be located in the Welaka Block at the corner of First street and Railroad Way in the room now occupied by the firm of Walthall & Estridge, who will take the room just north of their present location they having given up their lease on the corner to the new owners.

The presiding spirits in the new bank are headed by J. D. Bowen of Winston-Salem, N. C., who this week purchased the Welaka Block. H. A. Coggins of the Rose Investment Company of Orlando, was here all this week and assisted in getting the subscriptions for the stock together with several of the local citizens.

Messrs. Bowen and Coggins and associates expect to organize a trust company in connection with the new bank that will be able to loan money on real estate and farming propositions and assist in the material development of the city and county.

OBITUARY.

James Philip was born of English parentage in Port Hope, Canada, Aug. 10th, 1851, and came with his parents to Huron county, Michigan, when but seven years of age.

He followed the farming in Michigan until six years ago, when he came to Sanford, Florida, on account of the cold weather in the north being too severe for his declining years.

He died at his home here December 16th, 1920.

He was clearly converted to God when a young man and continued in the faith, leaving a good testimony that all was well with his soul. He had very decided convictions as to the daily walk of one that professed to know and love God. His favorite hymn was "The Old Time Religion is Good Enough for Me."

He was married May 12th, to Miss Annie O'Neil, of Huron county, Mich., and to this union were born four children, two boys and two girls, all preceding him to the land that is fairer than day.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and four grandchildren, two boys and two girls, the children of Robert Shimmons, of Sanford, Fla., two brothers and two sisters of Bad Axe, Mich., and a host of friends wherever he was known.

He was a member of the Free Methodist church which means the Wesleyan type of long ago. A good man has gone to his reward, "and his works do follow him."
The funeral was held at his home on the West Side, conducted by Rev. E. P. Kinser, from the text: Rev. 22-14. Burial was made at Lake View cemetery.—Contributed.

Much interest is being shown in Brevard county in sugar cane and citrus culture. The sugar cane acreage next year will be increased over that of this year. Many new groves are being developed.

Miami's first palm fete was an unqualified success. The next one will be on a greater and more splendid scale.

DANCE AT PALMETTO CLUB.

(From Saturday's Daily)
Younger Daytona society men arranged one of the prettiest of holiday parties for Wednesday evening, which was given at the Palmetto Club house on Orange avenue. The ballroom and supper-room were massed in heavy Christmas greens, the palm leaves being artistically arranged in the manner which the clubhouse makes possible.

Koester's orchestra, under the direction of Paul Koester, played the dance program, which was a succession of encores throughout. The young women in their pretty dancing frocks and the opportunity of meeting again for holiday festivities made the evening most pleasant.

The floor was good and the music worth while. Punch was served between dances, and visiting was the order of the evening along with the dancing.

Among the guests of the evening were the Hon. and Mrs. Forrest Lake, Miss Serita Lake and Messrs. Chittenden and Robinson, of Sanford, who came over for the party.—Daytona Journal.

SHIPPERS SCORE IN FIGHT AGAINST DIVERSION RULE

SOUTHEASTERN AND EASTERN ROADS TAKE OFF PROPOSED TAX.

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 31.—Growers and shippers of Florida won a complete moral victory in their conference yesterday in Jacksonville with traffic executives of southeastern and eastern railroads on the subject of diversion privileges on citrus fruits and vegetables, even though some details remain to be adjusted later with the northern lines, and the case must be heard by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

A large number of citrus and vegetable growers and shippers came to Jacksonville to meet the railroad executives. At a preliminary conference on Wednesday night the shippers selected a committee of their number to handle the presentation of their case, which was most ably made yesterday. J. C. Chase, president; J. H. Ross, of the Florida Citrus Exchange; E. D. Dow, traffic manager, and George A. Scott, sales manager of that organization; John F. Thomas, George Williams and W. H. Mousef for the Florida men, made a tremendously strong case against the proposed new restrictions upon diversions. Dr. Ross pleaded with the railroad men "not to lay the last straw upon the back of the camel which already is overburdened by outrageously high freight charges and high costs of production."

The speakers were heard with grave attention by the railroad men, who then adjourned to talk things over among themselves. After an hour they requested the growers' and shippers' committee to meet with them again at 4 o'clock, and the meeting adjourned for lunch.

At 4 o'clock began an informal conference of the committee and the traffic officials. At the end of an hour and a half the officers of the southeastern railroads announced they were convinced of the justice of the case presented by the growers and agreed to withdraw their proposed new diversion rules, allowing shippers all the former diversion privileges south of the Ohio river, but by mutual agreement a charge of $5 per car will be made for the detention of cars at division points for more than forty-eight hours.

What action will be taken by northern lines is not yet indicated. Those northern representatives present stated there was not a sufficient representation from their territory to take action and said they had not the necessary authority to commit their lines to any action. Under the circumstances it will be necessary for Florida shippers and the Florida Railroad Commission to go ahead with the contest of the case before the examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Jacksonville Jan. 21, and a final hearing before the commission in Washington Jan. 31. Points then to be made will be practically the same as made yesterday. Representatives of southeastern lines at this hearing will announce their withdrawal of the new rules voluntarily, but it was doubted here if final action in the matter will be taken by northern lines until the case is adjusted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Growers' representatives were greatly gratified by the action of the southeastern roads, and encouraged by it to believe the final outcome will enable perishable shippers to retain practically all the advantage of former diversion privileges.

D. C. Gillett and C. E. Stewart of Tampa, respectively vice-president and business manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, were among the active members of the committee selected to handle the growers' plea for relief from the transportation companies.

DEATH OF MRS. SIEG.

Word came today of the death of Mrs. K. M. Sieg, of Geneva, to her daughter here, Mrs. David Speer. Mrs. Sieg had been ill for some time but was not thought to be in a serious condition. Her death was due to paralysis. Mrs. Sieg had been a resident of the Geneva section for the past ten years, coming from Americus, Georgia, her old home. She leaves two daughters in Geneva, Mrs. Culepper and Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Speer, of this city, a daughter in Georgia and two sons in Georgia and one son in Pennsylvania.

The remains were taken Friday morning to the old family burial lot at Americus, Ga., for interment. The many friends of Mrs. Sieg express their sympathy to the family.

Dade County has $350,000 for a highway into the Everglades, the eastern end of the Tamiami Trail.

PROGRAM FOR COMING FAIR IS ELABORATE

The program of sensational entertainment provided for the forthcoming Five Counties Fair is more elaborate than heretofore. The fair officials have closed a contract with the International Fire Works Company of Trenton, N. J., for a pyrotechnic display by these well-known producers of illuminated night spectacles that promises to surpass similar displays heretofore beheld in Florida for its lavishness and striking gorgeousness. The particular reason for this is found in that the occasion of the Midwinter Subtropical Exposition, which is always largely attended by officials of various southern fairs, affords this company a timely opportunity to demonstrate before these visitors the character of entertainment they will furnish for the season. For this reason elaborate features will be included in Orlando's fireworks exhibition that are not found in regular programs elsewhere.

Other amusement features include a program of hippodrome acts daily before the grandstand of which the headliner will be "the Flying Wards." This troupe of world-famous acrobats consists of seven people, of which three are ladies, and constituted the real talked about sensation of the Florida State Fair at Jacksonville. This act was considered the most meritorious and striking feature at Jacksonville, and so pretentious that it was considered to fill the gap occasioned by the absence of horse-racing in another rounded program of amusement features. At Orlando, this feature is shown between the races.—Reporter-Star.

FARM BUREAU ORGANIZED FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY—MEETING HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Council Selected to Cover The County of Seminole

IS A STATE FEDERATION CO-OPERATION IN BUYING AND SELLING WILL BE THE BIGGEST ASSET

The Seminole County Farm Bureau was organized at a meeting held at the court house Tuesday night.

The following council was selected, representing nine communities in Seminole county: G. W. Spencer for Sanford, L. A. Brumley for Celery avenue, O. P. Swope for Oviedo, C. D. Brumley for Chuluota, C. W. Entsminger for Longwood, J. W. Osteen for Altamonte, B. E. Lake for Lake Monroe, L. P. Hagan for Paola and Endor Curlett for Geneva.

The Farm Bureau will take its place in the State Federation of County Farm Bureaus and with the assistance of the county agent will work for the betterment of farm conditions and farm-life in Seminole county.

The meeting was one of the largest ever held at Sanford and many subjects of interest were discussed at length. The question of commissaries or co-operative stores for supplying farmers and farm-hands with the necessities of life at fair prices was favorably passed upon.

It also developed that profiteering prices are being maintained by retailers on such products of Seminole county as lettuce and oranges. Chief of Police Speer, who has just returned from America, Ga., reported that lettuce is retailed at 25 cents per head and oranges at 40 cents per dozen in America.

The maintaining of high prices by retailers is limiting the sale of our products and the farmers are largely on that account forced to plow under much good food at a great loss to themselves which should and could be consumed by the people at a fair price were asked for it by the retailer.

The matter of excessive freight rates was also discussed and it was pointed out that the producer stands the full burden of every advance in freight rates because he cannot pass on the burden as can the manufacturer, dealer and retailer, to the general public, but must accept his price after the freight is paid and survive or perish on that basis.

CAMPBELL-LOSSING POST ELECTS NEW OFFICERS FOR YEAR

At the regular monthly meeting of the Campbell-Lossing Post of the American Legion, held in the Court House, December 9th, 1920, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Post Commander—Frank L. Roper, Vice-Commander—Dr. R. E. Stevens. Post Adjutant—Geo. W. McLaughlin. Post Finance Officer—Robert W. Deane. Executive Committee—Col. George Knight, S. M. Lloyd and Judge Geo. G. Herring.

While it is true that the producing end cannot regulate the market it is also true that a steady movement keeping a normal supply in all the principal marketing centers tends greatly to eliminate rapid fluctuations.

The American Legion, while being composed only of ex-service men does not gather together at regular dates, solely for the purpose of discussing days gone by, or planning how the next big celebration is going to be pulled off, not by a whole lot.

They are always discussing means by which the town can progress at the same time deciding methods and plans to work by.

CATTS SAYS HE MADE A FEW MISTAKES

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 5.—“Of course, I have made mistakes, but they are of the head and not of the heart and if I made no mistakes in this life, I would do nothing. The divine mind is the only one that does not make mistakes. Therefore asking and craving your pardon for the mistakes I have made and assuring you that I have tried to do my duty fearfully as I see it and hoping and praying God's blessings will rest upon the administration of the Hon. Cary A. Hardee, the incoming governor, and the cabinet of this great State of Florida, I herewith present the great seal of the State of Florida to you.”

In his speech on the east portico of the capitol, ex-Governor Catts called attention to the work of the administration during the past four years, expressed his appreciation to the cabinet officers who labored with him and thanked the citizenry of the state, especially those citizens who aided the commonwealth during the trying period of the war, for their valuable co-operation.

marketing organizations, which are the logical mediums through which these problems can be solved for the farmer.

PRESENT MARKET CONDITIONS AND WHAT FUTURE HOLDS SHOULD RECEIVE ATTENTION

Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., Give Out Valuable Advice TO START PRICE LOW AND STRONG SHIPMENTS ALL ALONG WITHOUT GLUTTING MARKET

Since the lettuce deal for the season of 1920-21 has proven so disastrous due to the heavy early shipments causing the market to decline rapidly and after so declining to stay in the neighborhood of $1.25 for the entire month of December, we believe it imperative that growers and shippers be furnished with all the information possible, as far in advance as that information can be somewhat accurately determined. This office has endeavored to gather all information possible regarding the outlook for the celery movement from this section which we in turn transmit to those interested.

Good times may be ahead, but if so they are so far ahead that overtaking them seems hopeless.

At first glance it would probably seem advisable to hold back shipments to some extent to allow the major portion of the New York crop to be consumed or disposed of before bringing our stock into the market, but there is more or less danger in doing this owing to the heavy production in this section. If this should be done the lettuce fiasco in our opinion would be repeated.

The New York crop was quite large and will offer competition for some time. California is plentiful and with the best of quality.

In thinking this matter over, the increased freight rate from California is high and really a point in favor of Florida, for regardless of how low celery can be purchased in California, it costs real dollars and cents, mostly dollars, to get it on the market and that will naturally help keep values up. In reference to this freight rate we quote below information just received from California:

“The prices being realized in most instances would not be so bad if the increased freight rate of 58 1/4 per cent on vegetables did not create for the shippers at this end all the red ink balances which they are now getting. This state of affairs must result either in higher prices or in the growers refusing to make any further shipments. It is estimated that the Southern Pacific is going to lose $800,000 for non-shipment of celery which under pre-war freight rates would have moved readily.”

On the other hand, if lettuce had started off at $2.50 per hamper the retailer would have put his price perhaps at 10 cents per head and the public would have consumed one-third more than the amount it actually did consume, and would in that way have somewhat eliminated glutting the different markets.

With celery starting out very low, the retailer will not be so apt to get his ideas up in the sky but will begin selling low in order to dispose of his stock and will begin going up with the advance of the market if there should be one. The buying public would consume more celery than it ordinarily would should it start off at a high figure. As stated above, we believe that it is really a good thing for the growers, that celery is starting out low, if they will simply cut their celery as it matures; the shippers endeavoring at the same time to keep all markets normally supplied. It would create a steady demand, eliminate rapid fluctuation and perhaps the grower at the end of the celery deal will realize a reasonable profit from his investment.

The statements made here are simply given as our opinion in the matter for the information of all who may be concerned, and are taken from statistics gathered by this office, represent one hundred and fifty Sanford growers.

DE VALERA IS IN IRELAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," in returning to Ireland did so against the advice of Dail Eireann, the Irish parliament which was anxious that he remain in America to present the "republic's" claim before the new administration.

This was announced here tonight by Harry Boland, De Valera's secretary, who added that "events moved so rapidly in Ireland in the past few months President DeValera decided on his own initiative to return."

Mr. Boland said De Valera had been in close touch with the Irish republican government ever since he landed in the United States and was fully informed of events there.

GOVERNOR CARY A. HARDEE AFFIRMS OATH CHIEF EXECUTIVE. MAKES MASTERFUL ADDRESS

WORDS PROVE WISDOM OF
VOTERS IN MAKING
HARDEE CHOICE

REALIZES DUTIES

DEVOLVING UPON GOVERNOR
AT THIS TIME VERY SERIOUS AND WEIGHTY

(By The Associated Press)

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 4.—Hon. Cary A. Hardee became Governor of Florida today at noon when he took the oath of office and afterward gave his inaugural address. Coming just at this time the address is so good that the Herald procured it for the edification of the Herald readers. It is given in full below:

My fellow citizens:

A very wise provision in our State Constitution has placed a limit of time in which one may serve continuously as chief executive of Florida. That he may not succeed himself, finds hearty approval from thoughtful men and women. The inauguration of a chief executive becomes a frequently recurring event, marking the close of one administration, and the beginning of another. In this representative government they who shall administer the affairs of the state, must first be called to service by the sovereign voice of the people, and so today having been thus called, and in obedience to the will of the people of Florida, I am about to assume the high and responsible duties appertaining to the great office to which they have called me. It is my desire, and it seems quite appropriate that I should avail myself of the occasion now presented, to pay grateful acknowledgement of my indebtedness to the people of our state for the confidence reposed in me as evidenced by my election to such an exalted station. I am not unmindful of the great honor conferred and am not lacking, I trust, in the fine sense of gratitude which fills my heart today. As I read the fundamental and statutory laws of Florida wherein are prescribed the duties and obligations of the chief executive, any possible sense of self sufficiency seems to grow less and my feelings of dependence upon the patient good will of the people and upon the co-operation and assistance of my associates in office more pronounced.

I seriously question if the present is propitious for one to assume the governorship of the state, if perchance he expects to bask thereafter in popular favor. We are today in the wake of a great world conflict which taxed to the utmost the productive forces of the nation. During its continuance and immediately following the armistice which marked its conclusion, private business and public affairs have been administered in keeping with such profusion of expenditures as was never before known. Individual thrift and frugality have been largely discarded, and erstwhile luxuries are now being classed as necessities. Thoughtful men have known that such an orgy of inflation and expenditure could not continue, and with prophetic voice have all along wooed the people back to safer ground. Unfortunately we have not listened to more conservative counsels, and as a result we are in the midst of a period of industrial deflation which in magnitude, our country has never experienced before. There is rapidly accumulating a vast army of unemployed and the farms and manufacturing find difficulty in disposing of their products. If the people of Florida, forced by stress of circumstances need to take stock of themselves and learn again the lesson forgotten during the great war, even so must the state "set its house in order" against the perils of changing conditions. I desire to call upon the people to exercise a spirit of charity towards us, who shall attempt to lead during the critical period of readjustment and likewise I call upon them to practice individually those wholesome principles—perseverance, industry, economy and sober thinking.

We have no cause for gloomy foreboding, no reason for discontent, if only we are filled with a consciousness of our inherent power, and a realization of the matchless resources which a kind Providence has bestowed upon us. The future is big with promise, and Florida may if she will, come into her own. Ours is a rising state. Her people are not lacking in vision, and in natural resources she is rich indeed. The sturdy character of American citizenship is a result of the admixture of virile elements of varied nationalities. In a similar sense the amalgamation of those ever increasing streams of population, coming to us from every section of this broad land, must mean a citizenship of spiritual power and material achievement. The courageous spirit of the people, given fair opportunity and materials with which to work, will make Florida one of the greatest states of the union. Do I need to call your attention to the vast resources, granted us by a beneficent Creator. Nearly 1500 miles of sea coast, dotted here and there by splendid harbors. The commerce of the world finds facilities for trade and the wealth of the waters of the sea belong to us. Millions of acres of splendid agricultural lands, rich and fertile, specially adapted to agriculture, horticulture and live stock development, with little more than five per cent of it under cultivation. The wealth of our timber supply upon the face of the land and the hidden treasures beneath its surface speak of potential wealth of untold millions, and above all God's eternal sunshine affords us a climate which is attracting the peoples of less favored climes. I am tempted, perhaps to speak too much at length while contemplating the greatness of Florida. Let us set ourselves resolutely to the task of utilizing the proffered opportunities and building here on this heaven favored peninsula a commonwealth whose laws and institutions shall be so just and so efficiently administered that men everywhere will be attracted to us.

In its distribution of powers, the Constitution has divided our government into three departments. As the head of the Executive Department I shall not forget the intent of the fathers who wrote and published that great instrument and who saw therein each of said departments free and co-ordinate. A free untrammelled and independent judiciary must ever remain the bulwark of individual liberty. An enlightened, and incorruptible legislature is the absolute essential in governmental progress. By reason of supposed particular knowledge of our laws and policies, acquired through the administration and execution of them, it is made the duty of the governor to co-operate with the legislature and assist, if possible in its law making functions. I shall propose measures and policies but shall not attempt to influence their adoption through the improper use of executive power.

We are to be congratulated in that men of experience, ability and patriotic consecration to the public good have been chosen as head of the constitutional departments of our state government. For my part I am greatly pleased to be associated with them in the work ahead of us and can but feel that the official family, which I may with propriety call the cabinet, will, from the abundance of their experience contribute much towards the success of our administration. The occasion is quite opportune for me to bring them assurance that executive interference will not be indulged. And only in keeping with the spirit of the law shall I concern myself with their departmental affairs.

I wish to welcome, as co-partners the men and women who have been chosen to fill their respective positions incident to the administration of the law. There should exist between such officials and the Chief Executive a spirit of co-operation and mutual helpfulness. Each of us may well feel honored that we have been called to service. That our fellows have such confidence in our fitness that they trust their business in our hands. We can best repay them by a conscientious regard for the important duties of our respective offices.

The laws of Florida must be enforced. Private property must be respected. The rights of the individual safeguarded in his legitimate aspirations, but at no time and under no circumstances must the individual whether in a personal or in a corporate capacity, be allowed to assert himself to the detriment of the superior rights of the public. The obligation of law enforcement is upon the executive department. I trust that all of us who may be thus associated will somehow bear the call of the people for real service and for high ideals in the administration of

Now has the time arrived for actual work and construction. It is our great problem today. I trust that the highway commission for the next four years may set themselves to the task of actually building roads.

Our aim for the future should be to give to the people of other states, some conception of the greatness, the attractiveness and beauty of Florida through truthful advertising. To keep in mind and foster every movement which will develop and benefit our agricultural, horticultural and live stock interests. The development of our marketing bureau, and the encouragement of co-operative movements to the end that the farmers and producers may receive the highest possible price for their products.

Our aim for the future should express itself, in improved methods in assessment and collection of revenue. An amendment to the Constitution permitting the assessment at proper rates of the great class of intangible properties; a more equitable assessment of property as between the different counties; co-ordination of the various departments of the state; an elimination of expense incident to duplication of work, and finally the systematizing of our work so that many positions, now hardly necessary, may be abolished.

It is essentially the part of good government, insofar as laws and governmental regulations can do so, to create the highest possible type of citizenship, having due regard for the physical and spiritual welfare of all the people. The work of a well organized and efficient health department cannot be dispensed with. Improved sanitation and general health conditions result always in increased capacity for efficient labor, giving to every one a clearer conception of life's duties, and the ability to perform them.

As a component part of this great republic we must give serious consideration to educational problems, if we would preserve for all time the democracy of our institutions. In a country whose government "derives its just powers from the consent of the governed"; a country where the voice of the people directly, and through chosen representatives, become the real law of the land, the necessity for an educated citizenship is more pronounced. I feel that we are to be congratulated upon an awakened interest in the great cause of popular education. Our National Legislature is now considering the question of national aid to our public schools and acting on the same principle our state must eventually aid the counties in a similar manner. The day for provincialism is past, the time for larger conception of our obligations is upon us. The richer sections of our country have drawn their wealth, not only from their immediate surroundings, but from every state in the Union. The more affluent communities in Florida, having done the same thing, cannot say that the education of the people in less forward communities, is no concern of theirs. We have recognized this principle in the one mill constitutional school tax and we should more adequately observe it in the future.

Let us adequately support our institutions of higher learning. I glory in the great work they are doing and am much impressed with the ever widening fields of activity which they are opening up to the lasting good of the state. I hope the time may soon come when we shall hear no more that inadequate facilities must be plead as an excuse for turning away from their doors so many of the youths of the state knocking for admission. Our real educational problem today, however, is with our rural schools. The overwhelming percentage of our future citizenship is now attending the country school. Trying as best they can to equip themselves for life's duties in a school whose term, is in many counties, not more than four months a year, and oftentimes presided over by poorly paid incompetent teachers. It is the rural school problem which is beginning to attract the attention of our National Government and whatever plan may be undertaken, must find in our state a responsive partner in the great work.

And finally we should aim to maintain our democratic institutions and a government that is jealous of all the rights of the state but at the same time is broad enough to realize that the federal constitution must also be given ready obedience and respect. A government that guarantees to every citizen, the weakest and the strongest alike, equal and exact justice before the law and that stands always ready to make good that guarantee; a government, too that offers to every citizen, the weakest and the strongest alike, a fair and impartial opportunity to exercise his inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness circumscribed only by a just consideration for the rights of his fellow men. A government that is strong enough, fearless and fair enough to make every citizen, the strongest and weakest alike, obey the

COUNTY OFFICIALS TAKE SEATS TODAY BEING OFFICIALLY DESIGNATED

FINE BODY OF MEN WILL GUIDE OUR DESTINIES FOR FOUR YEARS

SHERIFF AND ONE COUNTY COMMISSIONER ONLY NEW ONES ON THE JOB.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The officials who will guide the destinies of Seminole county for the next four years were officially inducted into their offices this morning although all of them had already taken the oath and were ready for business at least all of those who had been re-elected. C. M. Hand, the newly-elected sheriff, and Endor Curlett, the new commissioner from the Geneva district, were on hand to receive the official papers that allow them to become new officials being the only new men. The county commissioners were called to order at 10 o'clock prompt by Chairman Brumley and the minutes of the last session were read and the unfinished business of the old board finished. The board adopted suitable resolutions regarding the past services of the retiring member, E. H. Kilbee, which was read and which will appear in the Herald in full. The old board then adjourned and the new board was called to order at this time.

L. A. Brumley was again chosen chairman of the board by the unanimous vote of the board. Mr. Brumley has made a fine executive officer of the board and the commissioners take up their duties with the feeling that much constructive work will be done in the next four years. The board is composed of L. A. Brumley, L. P. Hagan, C. W. Entsminger, O. P. Swope and Endor Curlett, all of them large property owners, all of them successful business men and all of them vitally interested in the upbuilding of Seminole county and it is probably the most representative, the most self-sacrificing, the most efficient board of county commissioners in the state.

C. M. Hand, the newly-elected sheriff, was the first sheriff of Seminole county and served two terms as such when he was replaced by E. E. Brady, who served the past four years in this office being in turn supplanted by Mr. Hand at the election in November. Thus the sheriff's office is to be filled by an experienced and able official and one who will give general satisfaction.

The other officials of the county are men who held offices during the past four years and were elected with or without opposition being E. F. Housholder, county judge; A. Vanghn, tax assessor; Jno. D. Jenkins, tax collector; E. A. Douglass, clerk of the circuit court; T. W. Lawton, superintendent of public instruction; L. G. Stringfellow, justice of the peace; Claude Whitten, constable; Theo. Aulin, justice peace; J. E. Lee, constable; O. H. Train, justice peace, and D. H. Hooker, constable.

DINNER FOR MISS ALLEN.

(From Monday's Daily)

A pleasant affair of New Year's evening was the dinner party that Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wathen gave in honor of Miss Minnie Lee Allen, who is leaving Sanford to make her home in Bristol, Tenn.

The tastefully decorated table was centered with a Madeira pie and a basket of red carnations and fern. Artistic cards bearing New Year's greetings marked the places of the guests.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Wathen, Misses Minnie Lee Allen, Elizabeth Mysson, Elizabeth Bleck, Agnes Berner, Mr. J. E. Wathen, Mr. W. L. Rumble, Mr. M. V. Bradbury, Mr. Jim Huff and Mr. A. M. Berner.

Counties interested are working now the Tamiami trail through the Everglades, linking the east coast with the west.

NEW POLITICAL REGIME BEGINS IN STATE OF FLORIDA TODAY WITH HARDEE'S ADVENT

Ceremonies Began at Noon Today at Capital in Tallahassee

THOUSANDS ARE PRESENT

Was Made One of the Greatest Inaugurals in the History of State

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 4.—Florida begins a new political regime today, when Cary A. Hardee of Live Oak, will assume the oath of office for a period of four years.

Ceremonies incident to the inaugural will begin at noon today when, in the capitol building, Chief Justice Browne of the state supreme court, will administer the oath of office, following which the new governor will deliver his inaugural address, outlining for the first time in an official law and respect the constitution under which he lives. Without this obedience to law and order and this sort of respect for constituted authority, the fairest and strongest government that human intelligence could conceive and human energy direct, must ultimately fall a prey to its own internal anarchistic tendencies.

I have spoken perhaps too much at length, but now that the obligation of a great office is mine, I find much difficulty in giving full expression to my views on so many important questions within a given time. In trying to serve you for the next four years I am sure that I shall make many mistakes. In making them, however, I am indulging in the hope that you will credit me with worthy motives and ascribe my errors to that frailty of human foresight and judgment so seriously afflicting us all. When right I court your commendation, when wrong, I pray your forgiveness and sympathetic counsel. Oft times when right, men will say I am wrong, because the judgments of men are not always made with full possession of all facts and only too often their view fails to cover all of the ground. At this the beginning I have been made to feel supremely conscious that the people are with me now, and as the days lengthening into the years, may come and go, my constant prayer to the Divine Ruler, shall be so to prepare me, so to lead me, that they will be with me to the end.

way the policies and principles which he will seek to carry out as chief executive.

Governor Hardee's inauguration is expected to be witnessed by perhaps the greatest throng of out-of-town visitors in attendance on an inaugural in recent years, as a testimony of the fact that he assumes the high office of governor as one of the most popular men ever sworn to that duty in the state.

Governor Hardee's address which is expected to be delivered shortly after the noon hour, will be followed by a luncheon in the afternoon, after which the governor will hold a reception in the governor's office. The Governor and Mrs. Hardee and all members of the cabinet and their wives will stand in the relieving line to meet the throngs which will file past and proceed to the second floor of the building into the hall of the house of representatives, which will have been cleared for the inaugural ball.

One change will occur in the cabinet which will serve with Governor Hardee, and that will be in the office of attorney general, Rivers Buford of Marianna succeeding Vas C. Swearingen, who did not aspire for re-election, having been a candidate for governor in opposition to Mr. Hardee. Mr. Buford will also be sworn in and the cabinet will be then made up of five department heads who served under Governor Catts and the no attorney general.

Governor and Mrs. Hardee have already moved into the governor's mansion which is situated on the northern outskirts of Tallahassee, the retiring governor and Mrs. Catts having turned the mansion over to the new governor Sunday afternoon. The incoming Governor and Mrs. Hardee were guests of the retiring governor and Mrs. Catts at supper for the exchange of residence.

It is probable that Governor and Mrs. Catts will remain in Tallahassee for the inauguration, but will soon depart for DeFuniak Springs, where he expects to reside in the future. Prior to his selection as governor Mr. Catts was pastor of the First Baptist church at that place, and while he expects to return to DeFuniak to reside he does not expect to again enter the pulpit as a pastor.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL PULLED OFF IN SANFORD WELAKA BLOCK IS SOLD

J. D. Bowman, of North Carolina, Buys the Finest Block in City
WILL RESIDE IN SANFORD
In Future and Engage in Business.—Rose Investment Company Makes Deal.

(From Friday's Daily)
One of the largest and most important real estate transactions ever accomplished in this city by any real estate firm has just been closed by the Rose Investment Company, of Orlando, when the Welaka block, owned by Douglas & Symes, was sold to J. D. Bowman, of Winston-Salem, N. C., but who will now be a resident of Sanford. The purchase price being approximately $140,000.

This beautiful new two story structure has nine spacious stores on the ground floor and twenty-one furnished apartments and two large lobbies on the second floor.

The deal was consummated by H. A. Coggin, who has been connected with the Walter W. Rose Investment Co. for the past three years, and who is considered to be the premier real estate salesman of Orlando. Evidently Mr. Coggin is a hustler owing to the progress he has made in Sanford during the past week and we congratulate him upon his success.

When approached yesterday by one of the staff of the Herald, Mr. Coggin stated that his firm expected to close several large real estate deals in Sanford within the next sixty days, and when asked if the Walter W. Rose Investment Co., was considering opening a branch office in this city, said no doubt they would if a suitable location could be obtained.

The Rose Investment Co. is one of the most substantial and successful real estate agencies in the state of Florida and Sanford welcomes a real estate firm such as this to continue its growth and advancement and to make it one of the largest and most prosperous cities in Florida.

We believe Sanford, as a commercial city, should rank third in the state inasmuch as its waterway to the ocean is certainly a great advantage and there is no question about it being the logical distributing point for the state in the near future providing the people of Sanford evince the same spirit in the next twelve months as they are now doing.

Chairman Lake is AS TALKATIVE AS A CLAM ABOUT CHANGES
The Buddhist creed of "hear no evil, see no evil and speak no evil" represented by three imitation monkeys, has nothing on Forrest M. Lake, chairman of the state road department, when it comes to commenting on Governor Catts' dismissal of J. D. Smith of Marianna, and W. A. Holt of White Springs, and the appointment in their stead of H. V. Maund of Tallahassee and A. J. Johnson of Perry.

Mr. Lake says he knows nothing further than that he understands Smith and Holt have been dismissed and that they are replaced by Maund and Johnson, except that he understands Johnson is an uncle of Governor-elect Cary A. Hardee. "I think I have met Mr. Johnson, and I have probably seen Mr. Maund in Tallahassee," and with this, the state road department chairman played the game of the Buddhist monkeys to a far-you-well.

Mr. Lake is attending the weekly session of the Hillsborough commissioners, but expects to return to Tallahassee in time for the inauguration. He refuses to venture any prediction as to where the governor's axe will fall next, or whether the department is fixed to stay.—Tampa Times.

The packing house at Travers has dimensions of 90x160 feet and cost $100,000. Everything about the place is up-to-date even a box-making plant being included. The packing house can handle ten to fifteen carloads of fruit in a day.

Counties interested are working now the Tamiami trail through the Everglades, linking the east coast with the west.

CHEAP SUGAR IN SIGHT FOR 1921

SUGAR MEN PREDICT NINE CENTS PER POUND OR BETTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—White granulated sugar should cost American housewives not more than nine cents a pound early in 1921. The price may go lower. This is the prediction of sugar men as the market continues collapsing.

Cuban raw sugar is being offered freely in New York market around three and a half cents a pound. On this basis the fair price retail is nine cents.

Some eastern stores already are selling sugar at nine cents.

The latest bulletin of the American Sugar Refining Co. says that "the price of most refined is now eight cents per pound, less 2 per cent for cash."

This is one cent lower than the fair price allowed wholesalers in war-time when sugar retailed at 11 cents a pound.

It is now generally accepted in the sugar industry that there will be no shortage next year.

WOMAN IS SHOT DEAD NEAR WINTER PARK

ORLANDO, Jan. 1.—One of the most cold-blooded murders in the history of Orange county occurred last night about 7 o'clock at Goldenrod, about five miles east of Winter Park, when J. P. Wilson shot and killed Mrs. George E. Dyal as she drove to the gate of her home in company with her husband and three children.

A load of No. 10 shot was fired at close range into her breast, killing her instantly. She had leaped from the wagon in answer to the summons of Wilson to "sit perfectly still," and was approaching Wilson when the shot was fired.

The horse, becoming frightened, shield and plunged down the road, carrying with it Mr. Dyal and his children.

VARIOUS "WAVES" HIT THE COUNTRY DURING PAST YEAR

We have had various "waves" in this country since the ending of the great war, and the beginning of reconstruction. First in order was a wave of extravagance, when everyone on the millionaire to the dock wallop seemed possessed with the sole idea of getting rid of their "easy money" as completely and expeditiously as possible. The peculiarities of this wave entitled it to be known as the "silk shirt wave." Nothing was too good for the buyers of that era. The higher the price the greater the demand. It has been called an "orgy" of spending and such indeed it was.

It was followed very naturally by an entire reversal of conditions. With the end of the war came the cancellation of the fat government contracts, with their cost-plus opportunities for plunder, the discharge of thousands of men from the shipyards and munition plants, where they had been drawing extravagant wages, and the return of millions of soldiers to the employments of civil life. Then there was a wave of strikes caused by the determination of labor to carry the wages of war time into the different conditions of civil life. Every strike aggravated the cost of living, which was its main excuse, and naturally failed of success except in those employments where the politicians ruled and granted increases as a cheap way of getting votes.

But gradually the fact that they were being mercilessly exploited by the profiteers dawned upon the people and a wave of parsimony set in. Buying except of the absolute necessities was reduced to a minimum. The merchants, seeing their shelves piled high with goods which were slow of sale, canceled their orders with the wholesalers, the latter with the manufacturers, and an era of retrenchment and economy set in.

The manufacturers met the declining demand for goods by closing their factories, or running on part time and thousands of men were laid off. This intensified the need of economy, which the people were already practicing almost to the limit. Economy is better than reckless extravagance, but it can be carried too far. It is better for all concerned that buying reasonably and sensibly should be continued than that it should be stopped altogether while the people deny themselves the necessities of life. Waiting until things get cheaper may be carried too far.

Action is always followed by reaction, and there is a limit to low prices as well as high prices. The pendulum that swings forward, must also swing backward. It is not likely that prices will reach the pre-war level for a long time to come, and buyers who expect it will find they have made a mistake.

The last "wave" has set in, and by far the worst of all, is the wave of crime that is sweeping our big cities. New York is patrolled by squads of riflemen in the attempt to suppress crime, and conditions there are not much better than they are in Dublin.

The citizens of Chicago, Toledo and other great cities are terrorized by gangs of bandits, who seize their victims in broad day and make their escape in swift automobiles. The only remedy for this state of things is speedy and merciless enforcement of the law. Run the robbers to earth and when convicted give them the extreme limit of the law. Put them where they can no longer terrorize society.—Tampa Times.

Miami is seriously considering changing over from the aldermanic form of city government to the more concrete and businesslike commission government including the city manager feature, such as Tampa recently adopted.

COLBY FOR HOME ON FLORIDA TODAY

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 3.—Colby is expected to leave here tonight on Uruguayan cruiser for Montevideo where battleship Florida is waiting. Florida leaves for United States as Colby goes aboard.

Miami is filled with fine visitors, so is Jacksonville, and Pensacola, and Key West, and Sanford and Tampa. Of course, that means Orlando and all other cities in Florida are full, too.

Take Our Advice and Build Now.

DO NOT WAIT TOO LONG

Materials in all building lines are now at a lower mark than they have been for years, and are at a lower level than they will be in a few weeks hence, if all indications point true.

Conditions in the lumber market are such that every indication points to an early rise in the price of building materials. The simple law of supply and demand, if there were no other influences, is such as to indicate that the present low prices cannot long prevail.

For the past 60 days prices have maintained the unprecedented low level and still remain at that point, but it's not a safe proposition to expect them to remain at this point long.

At the present low prices an opportunity is offered the prospective builder for a tremendous saving in building materials. BUT IN ORDER TO GET THE FULL BENEFIT OF THEM IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO START NOW. SO DON'T DELAY.
