

LLER VICTOR COMMISSION RACE BY 4 VOTES

Former Councilman Is Winner In One Of Most Exciting Races In Sanford History

Stevens Second, Herndon Third

11 Votes Are Cast To Set New Records In Commission Race

One of the closest elections ever staged in Sanford, Frank L. Miller, pioneer restaurateur and prominent business man, was elected Tuesday to a three-year term on the City Commission, succeeding W. C. Hill who was recently chosen to fill the unexpired term of Forrest C. Miller.

Miller's margin of victory was four votes over his nearest opponent, H. E. Stevens. The results of the election were: Miller, 402 and Colborne, 398. There were 401 votes cast, five of them being invalid on account of mutilation. The election attracted the largest vote ever polled in this city in commissioners' race and fell a few votes of the total in the recent charter election, which drew the greatest number of ballots of any previous municipal election.

Miller's selection followed a campaign which was remarkably close of the usual political heat. Though the race had been described very little in print it was not on the eve of election the vote would be heavy. Miller, however, exceeded even most optimistic forecasts, leading the general interest of citizens who flocked to the polls heretofore unheard of.

Miller has lived in Sanford for years, being one of its oldest residents. He was formerly a member of the old city council which he served as president, and he held just prior to the expiration of the commission term several months. For the several months he has been one of the workers in the Taxpayers League which advocated charter amendments and changes in the City government. In the commission campaign Miller had the endorsement of the following statement was issued this morning by Mr. Miller to the citizens of Sanford: "I wish to express my appreciation for the vote given me in the election held Tuesday. I also fully appreciate the right of those who fit to vote for the other gentlemen who were in the race for (continued on page six)

Other benefit games are to be scheduled within the near future.

Lilliendahl May Hear Fate Tonight

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 7.—(INS)—Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl may know by tonight if she must die in the electric chair for the murder of her husband or if she can return a free woman to her South Vineland home and the enfolding arms of her eight-year-old son "Alfy." A quick verdict is expected from the jury of five married women and seven men who will decide the fate of the black-haired widow and Willis Beach, jointly accused with her of slaying Dr. William Lilliendahl in an isolated lane near Hammonon on Sept. 15.

SEMINOLE BOARD POSTPONES BOND ISSUE TO MARCH

County Commissioners Will Call Election In March Or April Provided Petitions Are Filed By Freeholders

The proposed $500,000 county-wide bond issue for the purpose of raising funds with which to complete the unfinished portion of the Seminole Boulevard lying within the city limits and also to construct certain other short stretches of road throughout the county was yesterday tabled for the time being by action of the County Commissioners meeting in regular session at the court house. By provision of a motion passed yesterday afternoon, the board postponed the matters until March at which time it will issue a call for an election to be held in April. The Commissioners, however, made it plain that they would not take such action on their own volition but only after the filing of a petition containing the names of at least 25 per cent of the freeholders of Seminole County.

The general road program as contemplated in the bond issue is declared to have been approved by the board. In general it provides for $125,000 to be used in the construction of the stretch of the lakefront boulevard and $75,000 for each of the five commissioners' districts. The districts' funds would be used to construct only those roads which were described as being of an "emergency nature."

Commission Okeys Ordinance Aimed At Auction Sales Here

The City Commission meeting in special session Tuesday afternoon enacted an ordinance aimed at auction sales within the city limits of Sanford. The newly enacted law makes it prohibitive to hold such sales unless a license is procured from the clerk. A $50 daily fee is made compulsory under the ordinance. Section one of the bill provides "that no person, firm or corporation shall engage in or manage or conduct any business of any kind or character whatsoever without first obtaining a license duly issued authorizing said person, firm or corporation to do so." Violations of the law are made punishable by a fine not exceeding $200 or a jail sentence of not more than 30 days. The law took effect immediately upon its passage and specifies that all previous ordinances in conflict with the measure are "heresby repealed."

LEAGUE PLANS TO KEEP PEACE AMONG NATIONS

Lithuanian Premier Indicates That Any Proposals Giving Vienna To Poland Would Not Be Acceptable To Lithuania

Diplomatists Think Affairs Will Clear

Council Adopts Resolution That Press Censorship Be Abolished In Peace Times

GENEVA, Dec. 7. —(INS)—A tentative plan to preserve peace in Eastern Europe and abolish the theoretical state of war between Poland and Lithuania was the chief item of today's program for the League of Nations council meeting.

Premier Augustbe Valdemaras, of Lithuania, indicated that any proposals granting Vienna to Poland would not be acceptable to Lithuania. Despite the Lithuanians' attitude the chiefs of the British, French, Italian and German delegations were hopeful that a deadlock can be prevented.

It is proposed that Lithuania restore diplomatic relations by exchanging envoys and that a league commission be appointed to investigate the merits of the Polish-Lithuanian dispute over the possession of Vienna, which was seized by Polish troops in 1920.

President Pilsudski, of Poland, who has previously announced that "Poland must retain Vienna" has not arrived here from Warsaw. The council adopted a resolution proposed by Gen. Betancourt that press censorship shall be abolished in time of peace. This resolution provided also for equal treatment of foreign journalists in the use of telephone and telegraph facilities.

The press resolutions adopted were a part of the work submitted by the conference of press experts that met in Geneva this summer. Other portions of the conference resolutions were adopted at the last meeting of the League.

The resolution in favor of abolition of censorship in times of peace was not the work of any one delegate to the conference but was the work of a drafting committee which combined some fifteen or twenty resolutions on this subject and turned out a joint resolution. With the council's action in adopting of the program set forth by the press conference, this program will now be submitted to the various nations by the council with recommendations that laws be enacted to carry out the proposals set forth. The most important of which contained in resolutions declaring that there is no property right in news or news, but that what property rights can be established only in the sale and distribution of news.

DOUGLASS GIVES SMITH AND VARE SIGNIFICANCE OF ELECTION RESULT

Election Of Miller Is Hailed As Victory For Taxpayers League And Repudiation Of City's Slip-Shod Business

Characterizing the results of yesterday's election as a "repudiation of the slip-shod manner in which the City government has been handled" in the past and analyzing it as a victory for the principles to which the Taxpayers League is devoted, E. A. Douglass, member of the executive committee of that body, today issued the following statement:

Editor, The Herald:
In its last analysis the Election of December 6th, 1927 means a repudiation of the (as Mr. Cummins puts it in his report) "The Slip-Shod Manner" in which the City Government has been handled and the public is not inclined to blame any one man for everything as such is charged with the same responsibility under his oath of office. In Mr. Cummins' report he calls special attention to the Accounting System employed by the City, which he styles as being "Childish, Inadequate; Practically Worthless and not worthy of the Name." This department as you know handles, or should handle all the City's finances and as Mr. Cummins further says if this had been done the Taxpayers would not have lost by the closing of a bank. It means the strongest kind of endorsement of the principles for which the Taxpayers stand. There were 1000 votes cast out of which there were 804 cast for men that stood squarely on the Taxpayers platform. A few of the planks of which are the following:
The strict observance of the Charter, and the law, and specializations.

PARTY CHIEFS CASTING ABOUT FOR CANDIDATE

Coolidge Has Nearly Convinced The Hard-Boiled Skeptics That He Is Definitely Out Of Presidential Race

Tells His Party To Get Another Choice

President's Statement Will Bring Out More Candidates Is Opinion Of Politicians

By George R. Holmes
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Coolidge had pretty well succeeded today in convincing even the most hard-boiled skeptic that he is out of the 1928 presidential reckoning.

His re-statement to the Republican National Committee that he is not a candidate, coupled with his advice to the party to "proceed vigorously to the task of selecting another candidate" left those who have been leading the draft of Coolidge movement but little ground to stand on.

It is true that Mr. Coolidge did not say, as he did not say last August, that he would not accept a nomination were it tendered him by the Republican convention next June. He has never said that, and apparently has no intention of saying it for he has walked around the opportunity three times since his "I do not choose to run." For this reason there were still a few doubting Thomases in the Capital today who insisted that the door to a Coolidge re-nomination has not been slammed although they admitted it is only left slightly ajar.

A great majority of the national committee, as well as a great majority of the Republicans in Congress, however, were won over to the idea that the President meant what he said. An example of this was the announcement of Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio, that he would accept the invitation to run for Coolidge's favorite son in the nation. Willis' colleague, Senator Fess, has been the most persistent of the "draft Coolidge" leaders.

As viewed by the practical politicians here, the immediate effect of the President's re-statement of his position will be to encourage other candidates to come into the open. They have been exceedingly coy about doing so thus far. Vice President Dawes, every where considered a candidate, has announced "I am not a candidate," Herbert Hoover has made no statement of his position, while his friends have been actively promoting his candidacy; Gov. Frank O. Lowden has merely stated "No man ever run away from the presidency," and Charles E. Hughes has remained aloof and silent, awaiting developments. Only two men have actually announced themselves as candidates since last Aug. Senators Curtis of Kansas and Willis of Ohio.

Mr. Coolidge has now invited them to come into the open. He has virtually said, "I meant what I said, so go ahead." Certainly, Mr. Coolidge's closest friend could not now be suspected of disloyalty should he proceed to whomp it up for some one else. Most of the actual politicians now here for the session of Congress and the meeting of the Republican National Committee believe that the 1928 race will settle down to a contest between Hoover, Hughes, and a Dawes-Lowden combination.

Seminole Indians Facing Starvation Are Brought Help

FORT MYERS, Fla., Dec. 7.—(INS)—Facing starvation and held in the grip of an epidemic of influenza, without assistance of medicine two camps of Seminole Indians in the depths of the Everglades faced death and extinction until the arrival of Dr. W. Stanley Hanson at their camp last night, it became known here today. Hanson and Dr. George W. Stone went to their assistance after learning of their plight. Hidden in the heart of the vast wilderness, the Seminoles were stricken with the epidemic following the recent cold spell and heavy seasonal rains. In one camp on Turner's River, 82 miles southeast of Fort Myers, on the Tamiami Trail, a group of 25 Indians were all stricken and their food supply exhausted. There was not a man, woman or child in the group able to take to the trail in quest of game. Women and children were found last night without adequate shelter and four children were near death. In another camp, 25 miles east of Immokalee, similar conditions are existing. Lip-pee-chee, beautiful Indian maiden and widely known as the belle of the Florida Seminoles, died late yesterday while others were in a critical condition from want of medical attention.

Hughes Denies He Will Be Candidate

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Charles Evans Hughes denied today that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency. The former Secretary of State and former Supreme Court Justice, in a formal statement, left no possibility for mistake as to his attitude. "I am not a candidate in any sense," he declared. "I am keenly disappointed by President Coolidge's decision, but so far as my own attitude toward the candidacy is concerned, I stand by the statement I made last May. I have nothing to add to it."

SUPREME COURT DISMISSES AMOS IN BANK FAILURE

Declares State Comptroller Did Not Commit A Criminal Offense Because He Allowed Bank To Keep Operating

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 6.—(INS)—State Comptroller Ernest Amos, charged by two indictments returned against him by a Seminole County grand jury with malfeasance of office in connection with the recent failure of a Seminole County Bank, was today discharged from custody by a ruling of the State Supreme Court.

It was held by the court's unanimous decision that the Comptroller's failure to prohibit borrowing in excess of 40 per cent of the bank's reserve and his action in allowing the institution to operate with a cash reserve of less than 20 per cent does not constitute a criminal offense.

The court in an opinion by Justice L. M. Strum, ordered the discharge of the comptroller from the technical custody of the sheriff of Leon county. The decision of the court, rendered in habeas corpus proceedings, was unanimous. Closing the bank also led to the indictment of the two officials of the institution, charges of irregularities totaling several hundred thousand dollars being brought against them. The comptroller was accused of having wilfully and corruptly failed to wind up the bank's affairs. The sheriff of Seminole county court served him with a capias for the same term of Seminole county court, and he was placed in the custody of the Leon county authorities on order of the supreme court.

The indictments against the comptroller, the supreme court, in effect, held, did not charge him with any criminal offense. Where one of them alleged that the comptroller had satisfactory evidence of the unsound condition of the bank, he was simply guilty only of an omission to act, the court declared. "It was no more than I expected," the comptroller said when the court's decision was made known. "I believed it to be the law all the time. I am very grateful to the court. Its decision will enable cabinet officials to use their heads in the discharge of their duties as they think the circumstances warrant. These indictments against the comptroller were the second of the kind to be brought against him within a year. Last fall he was charged with having permitted two West Palm Beach banks to operate when he knew that they were insolvent. The supreme court discharged him at that time. Justices Strum and Rivers Buford dissenting.

Amos was placed in custody by a capias issued from Seminole county by Sheriff C. W. Hard, of Seminole county, and Frank Stoumlin, of Leon county, on October 17. He was released under bond of $0,000.

Sanford Kiwanians Hear Fine Program By Geneva Pupils

Other visitors present at the luncheon were: Linkin E. Allen, president of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank, Fred T. Williams, county engineer, Millard B. Smith, state attorney, and Mrs. J. C. Ramola Trys To Pacify Father

Judge Dismisses Jury And Bailiffs Escort Remus From Room

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Dec. 7.—George Remus broke down and sobbed in the court room at his trial for murder today when Harry Truesdale of Hamilton, Ohio, testified Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus hired him to assassinate Remus.

His 24-year old daughter, Ramola Remus, at the defendant's side in the prisoner's dock, tried to pacify him and then she, too, collapsed, and was assisted from the courtroom in a hysterical condition. Her shrieks resounded through the corridors and it was several minutes before she could control herself. Truesdale testified he had followed Remus on several occasions for the purpose of killing him. "I was offered $10,000 by Mrs. Remus at Cincinnati, to do the job," said Truesdale. "She gave me $250 expense money and I was to get the $10,000 the day after he was murdered."

Remus put his head in his hands. His frame shook. Soon he was crying audibly. He tried to hide his tears and then he signaled to Judge Chester R. Shook that he was breaking down. "The jury will be excused," said the court, quickly rising up the situation. As the jury filed out, Ramola, her arms about her father's broad shoulders, began to weep. Several women in the courtroom cried with her. Sheriff William Anderson warned the spectators against any demonstrations.

Gently two bailiffs took Ramola from her father. Tears were streaming down the cheeks of the pretty, flat-haired girl. She collapsed completely. Her father, Remus, meanwhile broke down entirely. "Let me go to Ramola," he pleaded to the deputy sheriffs who had him in charge. They took him up stairs to his cell on the sixth floor. There he lay for ten minutes on a couch moaning and crying out about "injustice" and "persecution." The court recessed indefinitely in view of what had arisen.

Truesdale was a surprise witness. Charles H. Elston, co-counsel of the prosecution began the questioning. Q—Do you know the defendant, George Remus? A—Yes, I met him the afternoon of Oct. 5. Q—What happened that afternoon? Q—Tell the story in your own words. A—I met John Marcus, at the Springdale Race Track at Hamilton, Ohio, and he told me I could make $10,000 if I would kill a man.

Cries For Pershing For President Set Up At Farmer Meet

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Amid scenes of widest enthusiasm following the conclusion of his address before the American Farm Bureau Federation Convention here today, General John J. Pershing was urged by 5,000 shrieking farmers to announce himself as a presidential candidate. "Tell him he's presidential timber!" He wanted Pershing" were the cries that greeted the former commander of the American Expeditionary Forces. General Pershing warmly took up the cause of farm relief in address, declaring the ploughshare with the sword shares the burden of national defense and it is imperative there be a national policy of agriculture as well of military preparedness.

Philip Falldown Scott Is To Battle Risko In Fight Holding National Interest

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Boxing, enjoying such poor health here that Mr. T. Rickard can be induced to leap with sounds of gladness upon the $20,000 offered him by Leo P. Flynn and Jimmy Johnson for a night's lease of the garden, once more is going West for its action, starting in Cleveland tomorrow night. This occasion will be the ten round meeting between Philip Falldown Scott, of the British Empire, no less, and Johnny Risko, the gent with the corrugated anatomy, the event being of national interest for several reasons.

One of these is that Scott, like Paulino, seemingly can die a lot of competitive deaths without affecting his status in the so called heavyweight elimination tourney. Another reason for the national concern in this occasion centers around the fact that everybody is beginning to wonder just what Risko has to do to get a nod from those who are sponsoring the tourney in question.

A short time ago, he beat Jack Delaney, yet Delaney is in and Risko is out. John also gave Paulino a veneering with the same result. Paulino belongs and John doesn't. Apparently, a trial horse is an animal which scores its victories only in the nature of a vast mistake. This condition, of course, can be rectified only by re-galting the bars as the winners and forgetting the entire incident with all due haste.

Two nights after the Cleveland affair the scene will shift to Chicago for a renewal of the Berlinbach-Delaney series, this one being interesting largely because the man involved probably are the only ones in the country who are not altogether aware of the fact that they have become passe. Still, any Berlinbach-Delaney fight is worth a second look and Chicago again has outscored New York by getting it.

Somehow, the cloak and suit boys here aren't forming on the left with their accustomed alacrity this winter, the result being few good houses and even fewer good fights. The middle west got the break on the Jimmy McLarnin performances, although the young man had been megaphoned sufficiently here to sell the Garden out against Sid Terris, if times were better. But times aren't and we haven't seen McLarnin yet.

In addition, Chicago seems to have the exclusive rights on Mickey Walker, one of the most attractive of the champions, and Los Angeles was doing a thriving business with the welterweights until Joe Dundee turned up absent at the Hudkins Fair.

New York, of course, will manage to bear up very bravely even if it is forced to get along without anything like the Dundee matter. In fact, the fights and fighters I am mentioning are merely good attractions without carrying the matter to an extreme; just fill-in stuff between the high spots.

And that's just the point. The high spots have been lower than a fallen arch.

DAWES DECISION MET WITH SMILE BY REPUBLICANS

Similarity Seen Between Declaration Of Coolidge "I do Not Choose To Run" & Dawes' Words "I Am Not A Candidate"

By George R. Holmes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Republican leaders gathered here for the party love feast that always accompanies a Republican National committee Meeting greeted with bland smiles today Charles G. Dawes' announcement that he is not a candidate for the Presidency next year.

It isn't that they question the Vice President's sincerity, nor do they doubt the warmth of his regard for his old friend, Frank O. Lowden, whom Dawes announced he would support. They just do not consider that the general has been picture any more than President Coolidge did when he made his enigmatic statement "I do not choose to run."

As a matter of fact, a number of the committeemen pointed out there is a lot of similarity between the Coolidge and Dawes statements. Mr. Coolidge said, "I do not choose to run." Mr. Dawes said, "I am not a candidate." But neither of them stated he would refuse a nomination if the convention proffers it.

The practical politicians that make up the National Committee feel, however, that the Lowden candidacy has been given a powerful impetus by the Vice President's statement. Some of them interpreted it as meaning that Gov. Dawes not only will not enter any primary contests, but will refuse to let his friends put his name in any state. If that is true the chances are that Lowden will spring a great deal stronger in the spring primaries than he otherwise would have done for it is admitted that he Vice President has certain strength that he may be able to deliver.

Some of the more cynical politicians who deal in futures professed to see some very deep laid strategy in the Vice President's position. They do not question the General's sincerity that he is for Gov. Lowden, for they know of the fast friendship that has existed between the two men for many years. But they doubt Gov. Lowden's ability to win the nomination even with Dawes' support.

What would be more natural then, they ask, than for Lowden, after he has had his run, to throw his strength to Dawes? They believe something like that is going to happen in the convention.

Kid Bosto Matched With Larry Levitt For Chief Bout On Wednesday Night

Kid Bosto of Winter Park and Larry Levitt of Sanford have been matched for Wednesday night in the feature bout of the weekly American Legion card at the Municipal Athletic Field, according to an announcement today by Henry Goddale, promoter.

Kid Bosto has been seen action in Sanford before as has Levitt both of them having made fine impressions with local fans. Bosto has been working out at the Orlando Athletic Club and Levitt under the watchful eye of Joe Kotulski has been training at the local academy for several weeks. Both men are pronounced in the pink of condition and ready for their fray tomorrow night.

Goddale has arranged as his semi-final attraction an eight round affair between Battling Peardon who has fought here before, and Jack Stacey of Atlanta. This match promises to be almost as good as the headliner.

Altogether there will be 32 rounds of boxing with several good preliminaries on the program. Goddale promises local fans with one of the best programs of the season.

As an added attraction for the evening the American Legion drum and bugle corps, under whose auspices the fights have been held, will appear in full dress to render a musical program between bouts.

The first match of the evening gets under way at 8 o'clock with the main bout being scheduled for about 9:30.

MEXICAN FAVOR WON BY MORROW DURING 1ST TALK

Put United States Upon Record in Telling Hope For Future; Acknowledged Sovereignty Of Public Opinion

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 6.—(INS)—A sympathetic appeal to the Mexican mind was made by Ambassador Morrow when he placed his Government squarely on record by establishing as the basis for relations with Mexico mutual respect and an explicit recognition of Mexican sovereignty.

All classes and factions in Mexico, regardless of their bickering among themselves, take a jealous view of their country's sovereign status. This was the touchy point with the late President Carranza which prevented him from accepting American goodwill assurances at their face value. It has been an explanation for President Calles' suspicious attitude towards the United States.

Ambassador Morrow now is held to have put the United States officially on record as acknowledging the sovereignty of Mexico. Mexican opinion stresses the solemn, formal occasion for the delivery of what is characterized as a history-making document. The brevity of Ambassador Morrow's paragraph explaining his mission—precisely 71 words—gives it, according to the Mexican way of thinking, all the greater emphasis and significance.

Favorable Foundation
Upon the favorable foundation which Ambassador Morrow established at the outset of his mission, Mexico City is building hopes for an era of good feeling between the American and Mexican peoples. At the same time, the practical difficulties before the new American Ambassador are not in the least minimized.

There is a fundamental difference of viewpoint between the American and Mexican Governments over the interpretation given the Mexican Constitution in the oil and land laws. At the bottom, the difference lies in radically different conceptions of property origin.

CHRISTMAS LAND: Christmas land is not so far, it's just across the hall. Within the little living room where holly decks the wall.

As we remarked once before, a miss is as good as a mile. If what the girl says is any criterion, she is a little of a duffer.

Business conditions in Eustis and Lake county are decidedly better. Eustis Lake Region. That's good; they are here too.

As far as we can make out from President Coolidge's speech his policy for internal affairs and foreign relations is "status quo".

Congratulations to Frank Miller who ran a clean race, and won a clean victory. May his efforts to clean up Sanford be equally successful.

The mail man has been alighting Sanford's Forum recently. Haven't any of our people anything they want to get off their chests?

Edison is planning to smash the British monopoly with Florida rubber. Coming as it does from Thomas Edison, the electrical wizard, this will be quite a shock to the English.

Newspaper despatch says three Atlanta girls took poison when their "boy friends" went out with their girls. Time was when it was always the man who committed suicide, but women have at last gained the plane of equality.

In Gaylord Cummin's report we notice that he says our fire department is considerably undermanned and suggests the organization of a volunteer body to supplement the regulars. Has anything been done about this yet?

Have you noticed how many fatal accidents are the result of faulty driving? Automobile drivers should be required to have driving licenses and should have to pass pretty rigid examinations in order to get them.

Party Leaders Speak

President Coolidge's message to Congress yesterday, the longest which this rather taciturn statesman has yet seen fit to deliver, may be taken as just another indication that when a Vermont says "I do not choose to run", he means just what the nigger meant when he said "Mah legs sho do plague me."

If President Coolidge possessed any idea of seeking the White House again, he certainly would not have come out so flat footedly against any measure for farm relief which might tend toward "price fixing", knowing full well as he does that "price fixing" legislation is the only way in which any material help can be given the farmer.

What Senator Brookhart of Iowa said about the Coolidge message may be taken as apt indication of the way most of the mid-western people feel about it. "After failing to oppose these measures (price fixing) for other groups," the Iowa Senator said, "the President denounces their use to aid agriculture. His recommendations for relief are wholly inadequate. He has promised the farmer equality in his platform though in office, he is repudiating the pledge. I predict, that if the President and the Republican party carry out his present recommendations, the West and the South will put the Republican party out of business."

Whether the one issue of farm relief can put the Republican party out of business there is considerable doubt. However other matters appear to be creeping into national politics which seem to indicate that the Republicans are now skating on thin ice. A warning was given the party by W. M. Butler in a speech before the National Committee members yesterday, not to be over-confident of success in the presidential campaign.

"The Republican party," Chairman Butler said, "must base its expectation of success in the next general elections not upon a weakness or division in the ranks of the opposition, but upon party unity, and sound policies aggressively presented by its own organization. The very excellence of our organization imposes on us an obligation to make certain it is used for the advancement of the nation and of our party."

Thus we see on the part of the President an attitude of indifference as to his own political future and of over-confidence in the success of his party, and on the part of the National Committee chairman an attendant fear that such an attitude may result in the loss of a very important election.

Not Wanted Here

"Scarface" Al Capone, notorious gangster and grand dispenser of alcoholic beverages among Chicago's elite, is thoroughly disgusted with the kind of publicity he has been receiving recently and has announced his intention to quit the city, probably for good, and peddle his wares in other places where his services will be more generously appreciated.

"I'm getting out of town in the morning," he said. "I'm leaving Chicago flat on its back to shift for itself in the matter of Christmas liquor. This place doesn't appreciate me any more," he added bitterly, as pointed cartoons glittered through his mind and more than one editorial, suggesting the very move contemplated, pricked his pride.

But did you notice where "Scarface" said he was going? St. Petersburg, Florida, "The City of Sunshine," the wintering place of fine old ladies and invalid gentlemen, the most restful city in Florida, the place where bootlegging died of thirst, where Sunday movies are the only crime the populace

What will "Scarface" do to St. Petersburg? He will make it the "City of Moonshine" before he has his grip unpacked. He will have the old ladies and invalid gentlemen staging wrestling matches in all the cafes turned into night clubs. But best of all, he will introduce machine guns, to take the place of pocket knives, and he will make street riots and gangland warfare an exciting diversion for Sunday movies.

Of course, it is none of our business, but if we were the people of St. Petersburg, we'd arrange a committee to meet "Scarface" Al Capone at the gates of the city with a return ticket to Chicago, and continue to buy our liquor in Tampa.

HOOVER ON PROSPERITY CLEARWATER SUN

Has the business cycle been abolished, or will we have a periodic repetition of old-fashioned "hard times"?

Here is the opinion of Herbert Hoover, as given in an interview printed in the Magazine of Wall Street:

"I can say that I believe that the profound forces which have been in motion in the whole business world particularly during the past 15 years, are making for greater stability, and I have in my view, greatly mitigated the violence of the business cycle.

"It seems impossible that the old terror-stricken panic can ever return, and I fervently hope that those periodic stretches of heart-breaking prices to farmers, bankruptcies to business men through no fault of their own, are on their way to history if we only continue wise.

"Many factors contribute to this hope. The Federal Reserve System has already proved its ability to guarantee against money panics. It gives a large measure of assurance of a continuous flow of credit. Business concerns have today large working capitals of their own. I see a less proportion of inventories carried on bank loans. All this contributes to freedom from interruption of production and distribution through accidental or artificial restriction of credit.

"One of the supposed broader causes of the business cycle was that in the rise from a slump, increased employment brought larger savings and profits, that these savings and profits sought employment in expansion of industry which in time brought about over-expansion and over-production, thence the slump again. One might conceive this to be true if increased production did not bring about decreased costs and consequent wider consumption. If all savings had to be poured back into expansion of the industries from which they were derived, and if there were no expansion in demand for their products, this would probably be true.

As Brisbane Sees It

In Busy Chicago. America's Fine Railroads. A Cabaret Shooting. They Fly in Chicago. By Arthur Brisbane Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

CHICAGO, DEC. 5.—Cold today, bitter north wind sweeping through Chicago's downtown canyons. But there is warmth in the mercantile hearts, cold weather means better business. "Warm underwear" is advertised in shop windows, and the wind makes Chicagoans walk faster, even, than usual.

FIVE LONG express trains left New York's Grand Central station one minute apart yesterday afternoon, each carrying an electric sign in the rear "20th Century Limited." Equally magnificent well run express trains left the Pennsylvania depot at the same time. Wind blew sleet along the slippery, cold tracks all through the night. All the trains rolled into Chicago this morning at exactly the appointed hour, the sections about one minute apart. You can call that railroading.

THE USUAL news of today reads "1 dead, 8 wounded in cabaret holdup." Six robbers brought four sawed-off shotguns, two machine guns, Lankdy three policemen off duty were relaxing in the Parody cabaret when shot guns, machine guns and holdup gentlemen appeared. For a change, bandits were shot. Policeman Charles Cohen, his wife with him, put up a particularly good fight, following the bandits into the street, where he was shot down.

SUCH THINGS however, are only dull routine in Chicago news. Next week Mayor Thompson gathers here mayors of 130 cities to discuss aviation, fly around the city, and help dedicate Chicago's new airport at Sixty-third street and Cicero avenue. Visiting mayors will see the site of a greater airport to be built on Lake Michigan, 10 minutes from the loop, from Sixteenth to Thirty-first streets, at a cost of $5,000,000. The money is appropriated.

MAYOR THOMPSON'S slogan is "Make Chicago the world's greatest airport." Mayor Walker and Governor Smith of New York, mayors and governors of other big cities and states are interested in Chicago's air dates. If cities and states don't protect themselves in the air, they won't have protection. This rich country has one small group of about 50 pursuit planes located at Detroit. Hostile bombing machines could wipe out the principal buildings in New York or Chicago, and choke half the inhabitants with gas, before our little air defense could arrive from Detroit.

IT ALY ISN'T as big or rich as this country, but the king and Mussolini at the aviation camp in the province of Udine recently saw 500 swift fighting planes rising into the air at once. That's aviation defense. Our's is an aviation joke.

HERE IN Chicago they fly, and mean to do more flying. Charles C. Dawes, nephew of the vice-president, energetic young Chicago financier, wanted to inspect Texas oil lands in a hurry. He flew about 1000 miles to Gainesville, near Dallas, Tex., taking three friends, with Captain Berry and his mechanic running a Wright whirling single engine monoplane. They left Saturday morning, looked over the oil properties all Sunday, started back Monday morning, reached Chicago in time for luncheon the same day, flying 165 miles an hour. Chicago men value their time.

MANY MEN in Chicago think Vice-President Dawes will be nominated to succeed President Coolidge, and want to bet on it. He is much liked in Illinois, and in Indiana. Henry Ford, not unlike President Coolidge in his ways of thinking says "President Coolidge will not run again. He made himself at least quite clear to me when he said he didn't choose to run. We used that expression when I was a boy, and the President means just what he meant."

IN STATE street crowded with Christmas shoppers, the biggest crowd today, blocking sidewalk and street, stood looking at something that they can't buy for the present, the new Ford car. It is believed here and elsewhere that General Motors Company plans a car and an advertising campaign, to offset and if possible discount the terrific success of the Ford campaign.

If you don't believe we've had a fine administration the last few years you should read the president's Thanksgiving proclamation and grow wise.

Newspapers are peculiar sometimes. For instance they insist on mentioning George Haldeman, who was only a pilot for the transatlantic flyer, Ruth Elder.

Some bankers don't like to have their assets out too long, probably because they fear the dirt things will get frozen. The news from New York that Miss Corona was to sing in "The Merry Widow" was a disappointment, considering she had the touch.

He's Changed His Name

ESSENCE OF BOOSTING FORT MYERS TROPICAL NEWS

Last week a newspaper reporter made an effort to sell a $20 bill for a nickel. He peddled it up and down Fifth Avenue, but found no customers. One excited gentleman on the famous shopping street called a patrolman and even the guardian of the law disinclined to buy the $20 at a bargain rate. We all remember the story of the man in London who tried to win a wager with a friend, to give away gold sovereigns on London bridge. There were no takers and all the would-be donor got for his pains was dirty looks.

The newspaper reporter made a story out of his experience and the London man won his wager. They both proved a very important trait in human nature. We are all prone to accept the other man's valuation of the thing that he has. This goes for his car, his dog, his house—even his wife. When he wants to get rid of it, we view it with suspicion. When he values it highly and proposes to hang on to it, we raise our bid. Tom Sawyer made all the boys in the neighborhood pay him for the privilege of painting Aunt Polly's fence. He made fence painting a privilege by seeming to value it himself as such.

CHRISTMAS SEALS ADULT STUDENT

Surely one feature of our Christmas buying is filled with the spirit of the Christ. He went about doing good and healing those cursed by disease. This picture of the healer among the sick is one of the phases of the life of Jesus that we like to examine again and again. It seems so appropriate that he should act in just this way. This is one of the things he did which we may do. Conduct of this kind is close to the spirit that moved him to such a life of compassion.

And when we buy the sheets of Christmas seals for use on packages and cards we may feel genuinely conscious of ourselves getting close to that same spirit. One and a half billion of these seals are bought each year for one cent apiece. The preparation, seals is a task the story of which would prove quite interesting. But a brief summary of the accomplishments of these tiny Christmas decorations will suffice to remind us of the importance and Christian-ness of this practice.

Mr. A. Schaeffer, Jr., says: "These seals that are sold for the cent each have made possible the organized campaign against tuberculosis that has been carried on with ever-increasing emphasis year by year; and the Christmas seals stand for something more for they are truly

German Athlete Comes To America To Study Track Methods Of Universities

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—I note without the slightest rancor that the Herr Doktor Peitzer is in America for one thing or another and that is very good news to me because I don't care either one way or the other whether the Amateur Athletic Union maintains its preserves or sets them up in one-gallon jars. Understand me, the good doctor may be here with the best of intentions, if any, meaning that he may not even so much as set a spiked foot in one of our board floors but all I know is that he announced his intention of staying here five weeks instead of one week, and in the first place, he could take in the Millrose games and in the second he would be wasting his time entirely and to no purpose.

It is surprising the number of track athletes who do not do the latter, particularly those from abroad.

Personally, I think the A. A. U. should be attacked about the matter and if this diatribe doesn't come under the head of that department, then I propose that all foreign individual invasions be ignored. Being very partial to track athletics myself, I propose to be one of the first out there but otherwise I think you people ought to show these foreigners that we haven't the merest interest in what they may do.

The thing, however, which gets my invaginated pajamas is the fact that Paavo Nurmi, Emil Emile or no other can come over here with perfect decorum and return, as is or as was or whatsoever.

The good doctor, ostensibly, is here to study athletic conditions. I suppose he is going to the University of Pennsylvania to find out why it hasn't won the intercollegiate during recent years or to Chicago to discover the secret of its lack of success in the western conference.

Anyway, it may seem to be the part of a doubtful proposition whether the American colleges can give this good or merely fair doctor much information—about just how the half mile event should be run.

But, having beaten our best time, he is here and so we must suppose that his visit is prompted by the fact that his curiosity about our system is irresistible. He simply must know.

Arrows Will Direct Air Planes To Tampa

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 7.—(INS)—White arrows pointing towards the new Tampa municipal airport to guide aviators coming to the city will be painted on roofs and sides of tall buildings by the Tampa aero club, according to present plans.

Bids for improvement of the airport will be tabulated by the city commission this week and it is planned to dedicate the field January 1.

Aviators experience extreme difficulty at times in finding the landing field upon reaching a city. The arrows pointing to the municipal airport is expected to facilitate aviation and stimulate the industry.

British Motor Show Offers View Of Big Auto Advancement

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Owners of expensive automobiles might well envy some of the chassis of the heavy vehicles on show at the Commercial Motor Show, at Olympia.

In the two years since the last similar exhibition was held, British manufacturers of heavy motor transport have made great strides. The motorbus of 1927 is equally as capable, almost as speedy and as safe as the car costing $5,000 or more.

One large motor-omnibus chassis is equipped with central lubrication of a better design than any seen at the Motor Show. This is a six-wheeler built to accommodate 32 passengers and capable of a speed of 55 miles per hour. One turn of a handle and oil is sent to every lubrication point.

For long distance motor-coaching designers have provided all kinds of comforts. One six-cylinder parlor car is complete with kitchen and lavatory. Each armchair is provided with a drop table, newspaper parcel rack, and ash tray. In another there is a canteen sufficient to supply the needs of meals for 20 people, and a "bar" for casual refreshment.

Great Stone Face's Slipping Forehead Anchored In Place

FRANCONIA NOTCH, N. H., Dec. 7.—(INS)—Immortalized in poetry, and famous the world over, "The Old Man of the Mountains" has had his face lifted, a mud massage, and had his slipping forehead anchored. Gazing as it has on the world for untold centuries, Hawthorne's "Great Stone Face" is assured a position on the mountains, for centuries to come.

This great task was undertaken by Rev. Guy Roberts, of Lisbon, N. H., known as "the valet of the Man of the Mountain," and five stalwart huskies.

The huge face is 40 feet high from bottom of the chin to the top of the forehead; a chin 12 in height, the upper lip seven feet, a ten foot nose and a brow that measures eleven feet.

Centuries of storms and avalanches had loosened the huge forehead, and in 1916, the minister beauty specialist had interested the Governor and his council to the extent that the state proceeded with the hazardous task of anchoring "The Old Man."

Three 450-pound blocks and turn-buckles were inserted, securely locking the sliding forehead. The Rev. Roberts took upon himself the task of rebuilding the great head, which is 1200 feet above Profile Lake and 1000 feet below the mountain top.

When the forehead was lifted back into place, the gap in the face was filled in with loose stones and cement, assuring a lasting job. The chink was three feet long and thirty inches high.

OPINION DIVIDED ON WHO GOT BEST OF CUYLER TRADE

Recent Trade Between Cubs And Pirates Arouses Some Discussion But Walsh Believes Cubs Gave Great Deal

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Opinion hereabout seems to be more or less evenly divided as to whether the Chicago Cubs or the Pittsburgh Pirates were the winners on the recent trade, whereby Hazen Cuyler took his letter heads to Chicago and "Sparky" Adams and Floyd Scott proceeded to Pittsburgh. Too which all I can say is that if Joe McCarthy got a break on the transaction, then it is Rockefeller's turn to trade in his health for a can of coal oil.

Not that I am comparing the self-styled "star of the 1925 world series" to that humble commodity. What really is on my mind or what have I, is that McCarthy gave away something he actually needed for something he actually didn't.

The Chief Trouble

The main trouble with the Cubs last year was that they had an infield that was more than a faint resemblance to a first class sieve. This infield had two good men, Charley Grimm and Sparky Adams, and needed two more. Now it has one and needs three. Somehow, I never like that kind of bookkeeping on my ledgers.

Meanwhile, they had a fair enough outfield in Wilson, Webb, Stephenson, Scott and Heathcote, although it lacked something of the punch that McCarthy would have liked. Cuyler, if he hasn't been negaphoned out of all ability, will supply the needed kick, batting ahead of Wilson, the clean up kid.

But this was robbing the poor box to pay old lady at the paper stand on the corner. Cub outfield, as was, would have got by, the Club infield never. It has even less of a chance now, with virtually untried or unsuitable men at second, third and shortstop.

It would seem, offhand, that McCarthy was carried away by the hysteria in Chicago, which took the form of Get-Cuyler clubs and other evidences of mild insanity.

Concerning Pittsburgh

Now, for the Pittsburgh end. One local critic, whose judgement I respect, thought Chicago had done very well for two reasons. One was that Pittsburgh should have received more for a man of Cuyler's reputed ability; the other that his acquisition meant the lining up of one of the hardest hitting outfielders in baseball, Cuyler, Wilson and Stephenson.

He was right on both counts but wrong if he thinks Barney Dreyfus is to be badly out-smarted on a player-deal. The situation is briefly this: Pittsburgh won the pennant last year without Cuyler's aid. It, therefore, had something to give that it really didn't need for something that was absolutely necessary to its existence, to wit, a second baseman.

It is generally understood that Adams can and will and does play quite a lot of second base any time you want it played.

May Manage A's in 1928 Season

It's likely to be "Manager" Eddie Collins again next year. There is a possibility that Collins may assume the managerial reins of the Athletics by next season. Connie Mack, who has said often that he didn't intend managing very many more years, also has said that Collins would be his successor when he stepped out.

Two Young Atlanta Girls Are Rescued From Kidnappers

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 7.—(INS)—Cecile Beatty, 15, and Betty Donaldson, 19, were en route to their homes in Atlanta in care of S. J. Beatty, Atlanta plant manager, Cecile's father, after the two girls had been found by department of justice agents when they raided the apartment of Jessie H. Smith, alleged leader of a counterfeit ring. The raid, according to the officers, was made in response to an appeal by Miss Beatty to be rescued from Smith, whom she alleged kidnaped her.

Cecile and her father exchanged no greeting when they met at the police station last night. Beatty looked reproachfully at his daughter, who said she sought advent and ran away from home with Smith and another companion to California, but were made prisoners by the men. She sobbed at the sight of her father.

Beatty nodded to the two girls to follow him and they left the police station to take the train to Atlanta. Smith confessed last night that he was the leader of a counterfeit ring which made its headquarters in Jacksonville, department of justice agents said, and he will be returned there for trial.

Rebellion Breaks Out Among Soviet Southern Regiment

BELGRADE, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Open rebellion against the government has broken out among regiments of the Soviet southern army, according to the newspaper Vreme which prints dispatches from Bucharest quoting unconfirmable but unanimous reports from Odessa.

The rebels are reported as consisting of five regiments of infantry led by General Potenkoff, an aide of the deposed Soviet leader, Leon Trotsky. The Moscow Commissar Danchenko was led paraded through the streets captivated by the rebels and his wife and daughter, the dispatches said. General Leziewitch, commander of the military at Odessa, was said to have refused orders from Moscow to resign his post. He was reported in open sympathy with the rebellion.

The harbor at Odessa was reported closed. A few loyal troops, the dispatches stated, partly abandoned their barracks under attack by the rebels and were camping outside the city limits.

It was also stated that the Soviet Government had cancelled the first meeting of the Russian-Rumanian border committee, scheduled for next Tuesday. Rumanian papers interpret this move as a definite proof of serious trouble in South Russia.

Real Estate Broker Must Be Registered To Secure Protection, Asserts Rose
 ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 7. (INS)—Unless a real estate broker or salesman is properly registered under the Florida real estate license law, he is without the protection of the state and cannot appeal to the courts for redress in the recovery of commissions, according to Walter W. Rose, chairman of the Florida Real Estate Commission.
 "During the year 1926-27 there were 2,000 registered brokers and salesmen," Rose said. "It is the belief of the commission, that some brokers and salesmen throughout the state neglect to make application for the renewal of their registration certificates."
 "All registration certificates expire with the end of the license year at midnight of September 30. Failure to fully meet the provisions of the law requiring the keeping in force of a registration certificate subjects the broker or salesman to suffer substantial losses, because of the fact that he does not have the protection of the courts in the collection of commissions."
 "Corporations are required to register their officers, directors, partnerships and members of the firm and the registration of a partnership or corporation is ineffective unless all are correctly registered and hold current certificates. Brokers are required to see that all employees required under the law to hold registration certificates shall be registered."
 "An employer is responsible for the proper registration of his salesman, and it is a ground for revocation of a broker's registration to have in his employ an unregistered salesman," Rose emphasized. "A person must become registered and hold in his possession a current registration certificate before he can represent himself as a real estate broker or salesman; and it is no defense to say that transactions have not been consummated or that no business has been done. A broker or salesman completing a transaction after his certificate expires has no standing before the law in the collection of a commission."
 "Unless a request for renewal certificate is made within the prescribed time the registration expires and the broker or salesman must then apply anew for registration, and be subject to the delays incident to the investigation of his application, and he will be required to pass an examination before his application is approved. Thus a registrant loses a valuable right when he permits his registration to expire through failure to secure a renewal certificate."
 Pinellas County leads all others in the state in the number of registered brokers and salesmen so far this year, according to Rose. Other leading counties in order of registrants from each, are as follows: Orange, Duval, Dade, Hills-Borough, Polk, Volusia and Palm Beach.

Whale Extinct In Few Years, Hunters Fear
 SAN DIEGO, Cal. Dec. 7.—(INS)—The King of the Deep is losing his sway.
 With alarming rapidity the great Leviathan of the sea, hunted, hounded and killed by his arch-adversary, man, is going the way of the buffalo. The way that leads to extinction. This would never be the case, according to Clinton G. Abbott, director of the San Diego natural museum, were it not for the appearance and development of scientific methods for capturing and killing the whale, largest of all beings on the face of the earth.
 One whaling concern, operating off the California coast, alone has bagged 450 of the sea titans this year, a comparatively staggering figure, but one which is equalled and exceeded by many other whaling companies operating in other localities.
 Many species extinct
 Many species of the huge mammal are almost extinct due to the wholesale operations of modern scientific slaughter. Abbott pointed out in sounding a warning against the continuance of unlimited whale-hunting today, not far distant, Abbott said, people will gasp with amazement at the sight of a great carcass in a museum. He is now regarding the reason for the withering feelings of strange curiosity and awe.
 The method of hunting the Leviathan of the sea differs radically from the methods of a generation ago, when Herman Melville's "Moby Dick," a mythical whale-killer, was a living reality in the minds of story-readers. All the romances surrounding the business has departed, according to Abbott.
