U.S. Jobless Rate Climbs To 10.1%; Florida Rate Drops

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Unemployment in the United States surged to a post World War II record 10.1 percent in September, with 11.3 million people out of work, the Labor Department reported today. It was the first time since the end of the Great Depression 41 years ago that the Jobless figure had been in double digits.

The report, coming less than a month before the November congressional elections, will ensure that joblessness will be a major issue for Democrats opposed to President Reagan's economic policies.

The most recent Seminole County report showed local unemployment at only 5.6 percent. The report was for the month of August. That low rate was unchanged since the identical figure of July. Seminole's jobless rate is the lowest in the immediate Central Florida area.

Florida's unemployment rate dropped slightly last month to 7.5 percent.

The Florida Department of Labor reported today two-tenths of a percent decrease in September's rate from the August level of 7.7 percent.

The rate had jumped four-tenths of a percent in August, ending a steady decline that had occurred throughout the Florida had a total workforce in September of 4,091,000 and of that group, 371,000 people were unemployed.

While the overall unemployment rate has been inching up since January, the rate for older Americans has skyrocketed. See story, Page 3A.

In Los Angeles with the president. White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes played down the new statistics as reflecting old information.

"The overall thrust of the economy is good. The trends are looking upwards. The unemployment figures reflect the job picture several weeks ago. It is a lagging indicator," Speakes

"We have laid the ground work for a permanent reduction in unemployment and we are confident it will occur."

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the increase of 450,000 in the number of unemployed since August occurred almost entirely among adult men, especially those more than over 25 years of age, and primarily among blue-

The 10.1 percent rate topped the previous high annual rate of 9.9 percent in 1941, and is the highest since 14.6 percent in 1940. It was a jump of 0.3 percentage points from the 9.8 percent level of July and August.

Coupled with the monthly data, was a quarterly report that showed the number of so-called "discouraged workers" those who have given up finding a job — increasing a record 1.6 million, with the 160,000 hike from the second-quarter entirely million workers on part-time schedules because they could not find full-time jobs, a huge 950,000 increase during September.

Labor Statistics Commissioner Janet Norwood, in testimony prepared for a congressional hearing, noted that normally both the size of the civilian labor force and the number of unemployed decline in September in raw figures, but this year the labor force dropped less than usual, and the number of persons unemployed remained the same.

Therefore, in adjusting the data for seasonal factors, it caused the increases.

She noted that unemployment for construction and manufacturing workers rose to 22.6 percent and 13.8 percent, respectively, during the month.

Others showed teenage unemployment down 0.3 percentage points to 23.7 percent; white workers, up 0.4 percentage points to 9 percent; black workers, up 1.4 percentage points to 20.2 percent, and Hispanic workers, unchanged at 14.6 percent.

Power Line Choices To Be Eyed

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County officials will participate in an evaluation of alternatives to the proposed Florida Power and Light Co. corridor that passes through Geneva, County Attorney Nikki Clayton said

Ms. Clayton said she will attend a hearing in Tallahassee on Tuesday with FP&L officials and the Public Service Commission to set up a timetable for examining the alternatives, as directed by the state Cabinet. The Cabinet voted 3-2 Wednesday to certify the corridor, which will host a 500,000 volt transmission line, from Duval County to the Seminole-Volusia County line. The remainder of the line will be certified in 90 days when a citizens group from Geneva presents alternatives to the corridor.

The citizens had protested that the FP&L proposal would put the high voltage lines right through their rural community. They had offered two Brevard counties.

But the cabinet rejected those afternatives and ordered the group to examine alternatives west of Geneva-

Ms. Clayton said she plans to ask FP&L officials for copies of reports they made on two alternative routes west of Geneva before the proposal was made.

She said the county will work with the committee in examining the alternatives and then will report on the pros and consof each of the proposals without making a recommendation.

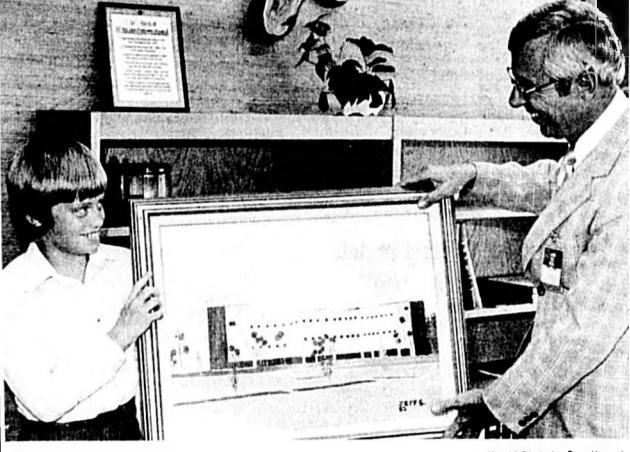

"We won't pick and choose between the people in the county," she said.

A Florida Power and Light spokesman today said even though FP&L officials have pledged to cooperate on finding an alternative corridor, it is up to Sid Kraftsow's group, People Against Power Intrusion, to take the initiative.

"In making their decision the Cabinet basically said it was the responsibility of the intervenor group to come up with the alternative corridor," Stacey Shaw said.

"If they come up with an alternative that balances the economics with the environment, we'll look at it," she said.

The Cabinet plans to make a decision on the alternatives at its January meeting. The date the alternatives must be given to the hearing examiner for approval has not yet been determined.

Casselberry Man Charged In Hit Team Murder Case

Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry man has been charged with being part of a hit team which was hired to kill an Ohio multimillionaire two years ago so his brother could inherit the family business. Robert Cliff O'Brian, 28, of 504 Kentia Road, was arrested

Wednesday by FBI agents who charged him on a fugitive warrant with conspiracy in the August 1980 murder of Constantine R. "Dean" Milo, 41, agents said. FBI agents declined to say how O'Brian may have been connected with the killing. Investigators said O'Brian is the 10th person to be charged in connection with the murder conspiracy and that the arrest was the first public indication that a 10th suspect was being sought According to Summit County, Ohio, Prosecutor Lynn Slaby, O'Brian who is originally from Coming, N.Y., was secretly indicted on a charge of conspiracy to commit aggravated murder in connection with the Milo killing.

"We've been looking for him since the killing," Slaby said.

According to investigators, Milo's younger brother, Frederick, masterminded the murder and paid nearly $80,000 to those who helped kill his brother or helped plan the murder. Frederick Milo is currently serving a life sentence in prison in Ohlo, along with three others convicted in the case. An Akron, Ohio lawyer has also been charged with conspiracy in the murder, authorities said. Reports indicate that the elder Milo held voting control of the $45 million business, Milo Discount Beauty and Barber Supply Co., which is based in Stow, Ohio, with 92 stores throughout the eastern United States. Milo was given the voting control in 1975 by his parents, who divided the company stock between Milo. Frederick and a sister, Sophie. Milo later fired Frederick for undisclosed reasons in 1979, reports show. Several months after Frederick was fired, police said he talked with various people about how to kill his brother. Mile was shot twice in the head while standing Just inside the door of his home on Aug. 11, 1980, police said. Milo's family was vacationing in Florida at the time of the shooting, police said.

Casselberry, Police Reach Tentative Pact

By JANE CASSELBERRY Herald Staff Writer

After almost a year of unsuccessful negotiations, a tentative one-year contract agreement has been reached between the city of Casselberry and the Orange County Police Benevolent Association representing the Casselberry police union.

The two parties had reached an impasse and a special master Dr. Jack E. Steen, had been named by the State Public Employees Relations Commission (PERC). He scheduled an Oct. 29 session with the city and PBA negotiators, which now will be canceled.

The tentative agreement, reached Thursday, now must be ratifled by the 25 patrolmen and detectives in the bargaining unit and approved by the city council. Randy Blankenship, PBA negotiator, said today, "I feel like a big stone has been lifted off my back. It's been a year and I'm glad to get it settled. The first contract is always the most

"It will be the end of next week or the. beginning of the following week before it can be ratified. The final language has not been worked out on the items agreed to, but I expect it to be done by today.

State law requires a complete contract be submitted to union members and a five-day advance notice be given," Blankenship explained.

"After it is ratified, the contract has to be approved by the city council, but I don't see a problem with it," he added.

An unfair labor practices complaint hearing was being conducted at city hall by Vernon Grizzard, the PERC hearing officer, Thursday when the city officials went into a 15-minute session at 10 a.m.

Under the tentative contract, the patrolmen and detectives in the bargaining unit will receive an 8 percent raise, retroactive to Oct. 1, 1961, and a 5 percent raise effective Oct. 1 for the 1962-83 fiscal year.

The city agreed not to deduct from the 8 percent the $25 a month incentive pay already given the police. But policemen will no longer receive the incentive pay. However, the city agreed to two additional longevity pay steps so officers who have been with the department more than 71/2 years will make up to an additional $1,677 a year. Eight members of the police department and 16 firefighters also will receive incentive pay for 1961-82. PVBA in turn dropped its demand for a grievance arbitrator.

City Stops Heathrow Land Annexation Bid

"The city doesn't have a chance in hell

With these words from City Attorney Robert Petree, the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night stopped all further legal action to have the 1,200 acre Heathrow planned unit development part of the city. Petree said with the decision of the fifth District Court of Appeal denying the city's appeal of a circuit court decision nullifying the annexation of the property, the city had little chance of getting the Florida Supreme Court to review the case and if it did, the city would probably lose anyway.

He said the appellate court had looked at the narrow issue of typographical errors in the origional annexation of the property and a very specific law-a writ of certiorari-would have to be used to get the high court to review the case. And then only that specific narrow issue would be considered.

He noted that high courts today are interested in limiting the cases it hears because of overloaded dockets.

"This personally offends me to the point of leaving the room," Petree said, all the way around are slim.

Once Petree's advice was given there was no further discussion.

The court tangle began soon after the city annexed the property west of Interstate 4 and north of Lake Mary Boulevard in July 1977.

Paulucci Enterprises petitioned the city for the annexation and the city

The Seminole County Commission, however, challenged the annexation by filing suit in the circuit court at Sanford. saying it violated state law forbidding the creation of enclaves.

A three-judge panel of circuit judges ruled against Lake Mary after Seminole County Attorney Nikki Clayton showed that two separate enclaves, one city territory completely surrounded by county property and the other county property completely surrounded by city property-were created in the annexation.

Tom Stevenson, director of real estate operations for Paulucci Enterprises said two weeks ago if the case is not appealed to the Supreme Court, the development company is ready to start construction at adding it is his opinion the city's chances the site in November .- DONNA ESTES

IN BRIEF

Record Trading Pushes Stocks To 15-Month High

NEW YORK (UPI) - A record 147,07-million-share buying explosion, triggered by lower interest rates, drove stocks to a 15-month high as Wall Street's amazing rally rolled on despite a sagging economy.

A spectacular boom in the bond market, surging gold prices, and a declining dollar accompanied the most explosive rally in the market's 190-year history.

Also Thursday, most of the nation's major banks cut their prime rate for business loans half a percentage point to 13 percent — the lowest rate in two years — and Chemical Bank lowered its rate for consumers.

The Dow Jones industrial average climbed 21.71 points to 965.97, the highest level since it finished at 967.66 July 1, 1981. The gain brought its two-day advance to 58.78 points, including a 37.07 surge Wednesday, the second best on record. Blue-chip stocks and transportation issues were the biggest gainers.

Archbishop To Be Deported

DETROIT (UPI) - Romanian Orthodox Archbishop Valerian Trifa, who admitted being a member of the Nazis' Iron Guard, will be the first person deported from the United States for war crimes in 29 years.

Trifa, 68, whose 35,000-member church is headquartered at Grass Lake, Mich., signed a settlement walving any right to appeal Thursday and will leave as soon as another country accepts him. He was given 60 days to leave the country and wants to go to

The government charged Trifa was a member of the Iron Guard, described as "violent, fascist and anti-Semilic and that he set off a Bucharest riot in 1941 which resulted in deaths of 236 Jews and Christians. Soviet Smugglers Foiled

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Reagan administration, which has tried to halt the transfer of all types of Western technology to the Soviet Union, foiled an attempt by the Soviets to smuggle out a top-secret spy device.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger revealed Thursday agents blocked a plan by the Soviets to steal a radio-frequency scanner used in spy planes and reconnaissance satellites. Weinberger gave no details, but Pentagon officials said the incident occurred earlier this year.

The instrument, a multispectral scanner manufactured by a firm in Anaheim. Calif., is used aboard military reconnaissance aircraft and satellites to scan radio frequencies and pick up voice communications from the ground, officials said.

The case still is under investigation and there have been no arrests, warrants or indictments, the officials

Tylenol Extortion Probed

CHICAGO (UPI) - The manufacturers of Tylenol received a letter apparently threatening to circulate cyanide-laced capsules unless $1 million was sent to a bank postal box, the Chicago Sun Times reported today.

The newspaper said the FBI is investigating a former successful stock broker who suffered financial losses as the possible extortionist.

The paper quoted FBI sources as saying the letter was delivered to McNeil Consumer Products Co., in Fort Washington, Pa., either Tuesday or Wednesday after being mishandled by the U.S. Postal Service.

The letter was sent to Massachusetts, New York and Paterson, N.J. before it reached McNeil.

The newspaper said the FBI was attempting to determine whether the letter was mailed before seven deaths caused by poisoned Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules occurred in the Chicago area last week. The postmark was difficult to

The newspaper said its sources refused to reveal the wording of the letter, but it demanded the $1 million be sent to a box at the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co. in Chicago. The box was rented by the businessman and the letter has been traced to an office he operated.

The Chicago Tribune reported bank records relating to the alleged extortion plot were subpoenaed by investigators Wednesday. The account number in the letter has been canceled, bank officials

Road Expansion To Cost Nearly $300 Million

Seminole County will need nearly $300 million over the next 20 years to fund proposed expansion of state Road 436 and Lake Mary Boulevard, a planning official claims.

Jon Martin, community development director for Altamonte Springs said, "We think we'll need about $16 million a year for the next 18 years for transportation."

The widening of Lake Mary Boulevard to six lanes between Markham Woods Road, west of Interstate 4, and U.S. Highway 17-92 and the construction of a four-lane highway to connect Lake Mary Boulevard with Sanford Avenue is estimated to cost between $40 million and $50 million.

Oviedo Firm To Fix Fountains At Courthouse

An Oviedo company has been awarded a contract to repair the fountains and reflecting pools on the east and west sides of the Seminole County Courthouse.

Seminole County commissioners voted to give the contract to Concrete Restoration Services, Inc., which submitted a bid of $44,317. The only other bid submitted on the project was a $45,868 figure by Altair Maintenance Services, Inc., of Longwood.

The contract accepted by commissioners calls for the Oviedo firm to complete the work-replacing expansion joints in the floor and walls of the pools and coating the surface with a waterproof material-within

Materials and workmanship will be guaranteed for one year in the contract.

The pools were drained last spring when it was learned that water was leaking through expansion joints into the basement of the courthouse.

Commissioners also considered filling in the pools with dirt and landscaping but decided against that option when they learned that evaporation of the water in the pools helps maximize the efficiency of the building's air conditioning system.

Consultant Undecided

A decision on renewal of a consultant contract with the Orlando firm Post, Buckley Schuh & Jernigan has been delayed by Seminole County Commissioners to examine a possible conflict of interest.

The firm, which has served as consulting engineers to Seminole County's environmental services division since 1975, recently was awarded a contract by Orlando officials to complete engineering work on the proposed $64 million expansion of the Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Facility.

The firm could be placed in a conflict of interest situation if it is asked to review the Iron Bridge plans

But Public Works Director Jack Schuder said the review could be handled either by county staff or by hiring another consultant to review that project. Schuder said the Iron Bridge review would be only a small part of the work the consultant has to do. He said the company has done 15 work orders for Seminole County in the past 18 months.

Commissioners are expected to take action on the renewal at Tuesday's meeting.

More County Telephones

Commissioners authorized the installation of additional telephone capacity at the courthouse and at the Five Points complex.

Commissioners were reluctant to authorize the new lines because some new positions which would require a phone are being reviewed.

Central Services Director Dave Hotary said there is a lag time of four weeks on installation and asked to go ahead with expansion now to avoid further charges.

Placed On Six Months Probation

Ex-Prosecutor Fined For Drunkeness

A former Seminole-Brevard assistant state attorney has been fined $200 and placed on six months probation following his plea Thursday of no contest to a charge of disorderly intoxication in August when deputies said he created a disturbance at an X-rated Orlando movie theater.

Steve W. Johnson, 27, has also been charged with possession of an open container of beer but that charge was dropped in exchange for his plea, prosecutors said. Orange County Judge Gary Formet also adjudicated Johnson guilty of the charge which means he will have a criminal record after the sentence

Johnson, who left the Seminole-Brevard State Attorney's Office in August to practice law in a private Orlando firm, was arrested Aug. 4 in front of the Fairvilla Cinema, 2415 N. Orange Blossom Trail. Witnesses told deputies that Johnson came into the theater and asked, "How about dinner?" and after being told that he was in a theater and not a restaurant. GOT HER GOATS

Thieves made off with eight goats from a small livestock farm near Sanford between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 4:31 p.m.

Geraldine William, who lives along W. State Road 46 Just west of Lake Markham Road, told deputies that someone stole her goats valued at about $1,631.

A Winter Park and Eatonville man are being held in the Seminole County jail today without bond following their arrests Thursday in connection with Sunday's rape of a 25year-old Orlando school teacher in Forest City.

Earl Eugene Hardy, 28, of Eatonville, and Charles James Arnold, 24, of Winter Park, were both charged with sexual battery and robbery, jail officials said.

Deputies said the woman told them she accepted a ride from two men from Orange Center Boulevard at Texas Avenue in Orlando at about 10:30 p.m. Sunday and that they took her, at knifepoint, to a wooded area off Hillylew Drive and raped her. Deputies said the men also stole $20 from their victim.

MAID'S WALLET, KEYS TAKEN

Thieves stole a Sanford motel maid's wallet which contained about $178 cash, along with other personal items and a master and laundry room key between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Paula Chambers, 40, told police she discovered that someone had taken her wallet and money from the housekeeping room and that someone had also stolen the keys to the motel rooms which had been on her cleaning cart. MAN CHARGED WITH DUL AUTO THEFT

Audubon Society Suing To Halt Keys Development

MIAMI (UPI) - The Florida Audubon Society is trying to halt further development in the upper Florida Keys, home to several endangered species and one of the last areas where virgin mahogany and buttonwood hammocks still stand.

On Thursday the organization filed suit in U.S. District Court to stop the Florida Keys Aqueduct Authority from providing any hookups from a Key Largo spurline of the new water pipeline which supplies Key West from the mainland.

The suit contends that if the water is provided, environmentally damaging condominiums and other structures will be built, further endangering the threatened animal and plant life in the area.

The suit is the second major attempt to block development in the upper Keys. In August state officials filed suit to stop the massive Bougainville project, the largest ever planned for the area, based on major discrepancies between plans shown to authorities and those actually being implemented.

The project had been made possible by the construction of the spur.

Lobbying Plan Challenged

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - A legal challenge to a proposed constitutional amendment that would make it easier for ex-legislators to become lobbyists has been appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

Former Gov. Reubin Askew, Common Cause and the League of Women Voters appealed the case Thursday, just one day after a Tallahassee circuit court ruled against their suit calling for removal of the amendment from the Nov. 2 ballot.

If approved by the state's voters, the amendment would allow ex-legislators to become lobbyists immediately after leaving office rather than waiting two years as is now required.

Askew and the two public interest groups say it is deceptively worded to make voters think it actually strengthens lobbying requirements.

Poverty In America: Numbers Rising Again Total in Millions 30 20 The Elderly Suffer More 10 All Persons 1960 '62 '64 '66 '68 70 '72 '74 '76 '78

SOURCE Bureau of the Census

After years of declining, the numbers of Americans with incomes below the poverty line recently have turned up again. The statistics, compiled by the Census Bureau through 1980 and therefore not reflecting current cuts in social programs, indicate the elderly benefited most during the decline in the poverty count and are most affected by the upturn. The small graph shows the total percentages of elderly persons who are poor and Americans who are

Unemployment Growing Faster For The Elderly

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The unemployment rate for Americans over 55 rose 50 percent faster since January than that for the overall population, a new study found.

The study by the House Select Committee on Aging also says older persons are likely to be iobless longer, are more apt to give up jobhunting and take bigger pay cuts when they find new work.

The panel was to hold a hearing on the matter today. In releasing the study Thursday, Rep.

Claude Pepper, D-Fla., committee chairman,

"While it has been apparent for some time that unemployment was becoming a national epidemic, it is only now becoming clear that the plague has been infecting older workers at a much faster rate than others."

Unemployment among workers over 55, the committee report said, grew 24 percent since January. That compared with 11 percent for those 16-24 and 16 percent for the total population.

NEA/MENT COL

The jobless rate, however, is still highest among younger workers. For workers over 55, it was 5 percent in August, compared with 8 percent for those 25 to 54. Overall, the unemployment rate was 9.8 percent.

"The statistics are shocking: Unemployment is increasing faster among older workers than among younger age groups," the study said.

"Prolonged unemployment is greatest for older workers, leading to serious financial, mental and physical health problems and ... proportionally more older workers become discouraged and give up the job search."

Unemployment among older workers is at its highest level since after World War II, with 117,000 unemployed workers aged 65 and over and 771,000 aged 55 and over, it said. If the 334,000 workers over 55 who have stopped looking for jobs are added in, the number rises

At the very least, plan to follow manufacturer's directions religiously. You may need to place a layer of insulating material or firebrick under the stove to protect flooring from the heat.

The major construction headache when installing a wood or keresene stove is the chimney. Ventilation is a must, since any fuel burning with deadly, imperceptible device produces combustion carbon monoxide gas, leaving by-products which can irreparably brain damaged. levels inside the home. Chimney type and size can choose and install a fuel fired also affect the fuel efficiency and heat output of your stove.

In many areas where stove installation does not require a building permit, the chimney and its associated holes in your walls do require official sanction. There's nothing more disheartening, or costly, than to build a chimney by the seat of your pants and be ordered to take it down. Unless you're pretty knowledgeable about construction, chimney building is best left to the professionals. Advance examinations of the cost of erecting a chimney may influence your decision whether or not you'll actually save anything by switching to a wood stove.

Chrysler-UAW Pact 'A Goner'

DETROIT (UPI) - Six more United Auto Workers locals buried the tentative Chrysler Corp. contract in an avalanche of "no" votes and a top union official said the pact is a Rejection of the agreement coupled with a short strike could threaten the No. 3 automaker's two-year journey from the brink of financial collapse, industry analysts said.

The 54 Chrysler-UAW locals complete voting on the two-tier agreement next Thursday but the pact was failing nationwide by more than a 2-to-1 margin.

Industry analyst Arvid Jouppi said a strike against Chrysler, which received $1.2 billion in federal loan guarantees since early 1981 to avert banruptcy, would be disastrons.

If the agreement fails to win worker approval, the UAW could resume negotiations with Chrysler in an effort to "sweeten" the pact, or it could, with approval from its executive board, order workers to accept the contract, an act sure to antagonize workers.

Workers were angered by the lack of any immediate wage hike in the pact which covers economic issues for a year and non-economic issues for two years. It also ties pay raises to the company's future profitability and restores cost-of-living allowances that workers conceded 18 months ago.

Chrysler's blue-collar workers receive $9.07 an hour in pay, more than $2.60 an hour less than hourly workers at Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp.

an effort to force the submarine to the surface. McDonald Blasts City Manager; Fox Looking For 'Missing' Tools

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Gene McDonald, in his swan song as a Lake Mary city councilman, again voiced his discontent with the work of City Manager Phil Kulbes and promised his colleagues detailed documentation of Kulbes' alleged shortcomings before he leaves office Oct. 15.

And Councilman Ray Fox got approval from his colleagues to match a tool inventory of the city's public works department with one he has from a year ago to determine whether any cityowned tools have disappeared along with a city mechanic. McDonald launched his attack on Kulbes' job performance three weeks ago, warning the 64-year-old city manager to "clean up his act."

At that time, McDonald said Kulbes is rude to citizens who come to City Hall for information and talks to them "out of both sides of his mouth."

Saying his remarks were not an attack on Kulbes personally, nor an attack on the city manager system, McDonald Thuraday night said the city needs professional management of its $800,000 annual budget. He said the line of authority under the city manager is not as clear as it should be and council is suffering from lack of necessary information as a result.

He pointed to Kulbes' recurring inability to properly advise citizens who must deal with the city, saying the manager needs to perform his homework prior to giving advice. McDonald rejected the excuse that Kulbes is overextended with too many

He said many things need to be done for the growing city such as the institution of a central purchasing system and a program placed on the city computer to keep track of the $24,000 spent each year on gasoline.

"Without better controls this is a poorly managed situation," McDonald said.

John Grice, a county jail inmate who worked for the city under the work release program, was hired May 10 by the city as a mechanic and took leave little more than two months later to go to Buffalo, N.Y. on business concerning his father's will.

Mayor Walter Sorenson was later informed that Grice's car had been burglarized and vandalized and the man had no way of returning to Lake Mary. Sorenson authorized a two-weeks salary advance. The man never returned.

For was authorized to match the inventories to see if Grice may have taken tools with him.

Supreme Court Overloading

The U.S. Supreme Court opened its new term in its "marble palace" in Washington. If the pillared portico of the Supreme Court building suggests the contemplative life of Athenian philosophers, what we hear from inside sounds more like a factory stamping out judicial decisions on an

Twenty years ago, nine Supreme Court justices handled about 2,000 cases a year. This year, they may be confronted with closer to 5,000. Justices complain they are overworked. There are fears that important cases are getting less attention

The court this term will be deciding issues that affect the fabric of our social, legal, and political life. It will hear five cases dealing with abortion. Eight cases concern search and seizure laws affecting rights of privacy and evidence rules in cases. Others involve the power of Congress to veto regulations issued by the executive branch, state vs. federal powers in such fields as nuclear energy, the rights of the handicapped, age discrimination, and the tender issue of tax exemptions for private schools that practice

Those are only a few of the cases in what Justice John Paul Stevens calls a "mounting tide of litigation" threatening to engulf the court. Justice Thurgood Marshall thinks important matters are getting "cavalier treatment" by the court because of the caseload. Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. is calling for congressional action to reorganize the federal court system.

The latter would take the form of legislation the federal courts. This would no doubt reduce the

While the Supreme Court under Chief Justice Warren Burger has shown less inclination toward the judicial activism of the Earl Warren court, the heritage of those years remains. Hardly a significant law is passed by Congress or a state legislature without the question of how it will fare our society accounts for much of the crowded agenda of the Supreme Court. It also accounts for a public perception that the courts are frustrating the intent of elected lawmakers.

We can sympathize with Supreme Court justices putting in long days in their marble palace, but they may be reaping the harvest of judicial precedents which only they can change. Eagle-eyed lawyers can see a constitutional issue in almost any case that comes in the door and, if the Supreme Court keeps going along, the justices cannot complain about working overtime.

Accidents in the kitchen often lead to burns. All accidents are preventable.

This week, Fire Prevention Week, officials are offering tips to help prevent fires, and bad burns.

A fire-wise homeowner should take special safety precautions in the kitchen.

Here are suggestions to make a kitchen safer. Don't hold a child in your lap while drinking coffee. Keep the tyke a safe distance away.

If you have a toddler, put away the tablecloth for a few years. The child might tug on the tablecloth, pulling heavy objects, hot foods or scalding liquids down on himself or herself.

Appliance cords should be coiled and tied with twist ties so they don't dangle over countertops. Dangling cords can catch in cabinet doors or attract the tugs of a child, upsetting the appliance and causing burns or injury.

Always use potholders when carrying pots and pans to the stove. To carry a pot whose handles are so hot you can barely hold them is to invite a fumble and a deadly, burning spill.

If you have children, keep them in a highchair or playpen or behind a gate and out of the kitchen whenever you cook

Keep pot handles turned in when cooking. A handle that dangles over the front of the stove could be jostled by an adult hip or, worse, tugged by a young hand, causing a scald burn.

Don't store cookies and similar goodies above the stove. It's easy to touch a hot burner reaching across the stove-little ones may actually try to climb onto the stove surface in search of sweets. For the same reason, it's wise to avoid garments with balloon sleeves, hanging tassels or other loose fitting features when cooking which are more likely to touch a burner and ignite.

limiting access to the Supreme Court, especially for cases which have been appealed up the ladder of a state court system before they are switched to caseload substantially, but it also could cut off an avenue for correcting injustices that should be left open. The right of the lowliest individual to appeal for justice to the highest court of the land is one that should not be made the victim of expediency.

Solicitor General Rex E. Lee has suggested the Supreme Court itself, over the years, has helped create the problem about which it now complains. In a brief filed on behalf of the Reagan administration in one of the abortion cases before the court, he urged that the court stop "constitutionalizing" so many controversial issues that could better be resolved through the legislative process.

ROBERT WAGMAN Sparks Fly Over Initiatives

By JOE HOEDDINGHAUS

LOS ANGELES (NEA) - California is one of about 25 states in which voters can petition to place initiatives on the statewide ballot. These initiatives, known as propositions, become law if they are approved by a majority of the voters.

This Nov. 2, the statewide ballot will contain 15 separate initiatives on a staggering array of issues - and the campaigns behind four of them are among the election's most interesting and highly contested.

It often seems that almost any interest group can gather enough signatures to get an issue on the ballot. In recent elections, California voters were asked to approve the firing of all gay teachers and to apply special high taxes to oil companies. Both measures lost.

This time around, about half of the propositions concern bond issues and state pension funds that the legislature must, by law, present for voter approval. Other initiatives ask whether textbooks in nonpublic schools should be supplied by the state; propose that various local court systems be unified; and offer a water-resources plan requiring urban dwellers to decrease their water usage and establishing new waterconservation programs for agricultural

But sprinkled among the more mundane ballot initiatives are four that are considered to be hot ilems - and between now and election day, the factions involved will spend tens of millions of dollars in an attempt to sway the voters.

Proposition 15 - a strict handgun-control measure - is probably the most controversial issue. It would require the registration of the estimated 3.2 million handguns now in Californians' hands and would establish a mandatory jail sentence for anyone possessing an unregistered handgun or selling a handgun on the black market. Its most controversial provision would freeze the level of handguns at the present level meaning that a new handgun could be sold only to replace one that was turned over to authorities - and would ban the import of new handguns into the state.

Conservatives and gun interests, including manufacturers, retailers and the National Rifle Association have voiced borderlinehysterical opposition to Proposition 15. They have raised more than $1 million to defeat it and are buying huge blocks of television time, and their ammunition includes a half-hour film narrated by Charlton Heston. If one were to believe its opponents' messages, Proposition 15 would put Californians on the road to concentration camps and would turn the streets over to murderers and rapists.

Only alightly less hysterical is the reaction of bottle-beverage interests and food retailers to Proposition 11, which would establish a mandatory five-cent deposit on beverage containers in an effort to reduce littering and encourage recycling. In recent years, similar measures have appeared on statewide ballots seven times in other states, winning only twice, but current polls show that the initiative would win in California. Its opponents have formed an organization called Citizens For Sensible Laws and probably will spend more than $1 million to defeat it.

The ballot proposition that has earned the most media interest so far is a nuclearweapons-freeze initiative similar to the one recently adopted in Wisconsin. This would mandate that Gov. Jerry Brown send a letter to President Reagan and Congress proposing a joint U.S.-Soviet nuclear weapons freeze and expressing Californians' concern about the danger of nuclear war.

'And if this doesn't work I can always take up the slack with my 38 snubnose."

Football Strike Impact

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the NFL players the first season may be almost 50 percent less strike drags on it could provide a bit of a lift for the businessmen who are investing $100 million in the United States Football League, Commissioner Chester R. Simmons concedes.

He says a prolonged strike could make the fans hungry for pro football come March when the USFL launches its 20-game season and could induce some college players to sign with teams in the new league instead of holding out for jobs in the older league.

Simmons does not, however, expect the strike's impact on the new league's fortunes to be blg in any case.

The major question is whether the fans will go for football from March through early

Frank M. Magid Associates, Inc., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a major broadcast research firm, did the marketing survey for the promoters of the league and concluded most fans think the present pro football season is too short compared with the 162-game baseball season and the 82-game pro basketball season.

Simmons said officials and club owners of the new league are betting on success where the World Football League failed after two

It is not, of course, competing seasonally with the NFL.

"In addition, our clubs are much better financed," he sald. "John Bassett, the Canadian multimillonaire who had the Memphis club in the WFL and has the Tampa Bay club in our league, says he was the richest man in the WFL but is the poorest owner in the USFL."

Simmons said the WFL never got real television money. The USFL has a two-year contract with ABC and a cable contract with Entertainment & Sports Network, Inc., which can pipe the games into 16.5 million homes.

The WFL raided NFL player rosters and got into a salary war with the older league.

The USFL will avoid that trap, Simmons said. Since its rosters will necessarily be composed of very young players, its average salaries in than those in the NFL, he said.

Simmons said there are plenty of players available and high-priced players don't necessarily mean interesting football games. "We've all seen a lot of bad football played by teams with a lot of expensive stars." Ticket prices will be about $2 less than NFL prices, Simmons said.

He doesn't expect the majority of the USFL's 12 teams to break even the first season. For that, a team would have to gross about $6 million between gate receipts and broadcast and cable revenue share.

Simmons sees no possibility of players performing in both leagues even though their playing seasons do not overlap. A player's contract runs for 12 months. That creates a valid legal and technical overlap in his opinion. A few NFL players whose options had run out already have signed with USFL

Simmons said he is convinced spring football will not have any harmful effect on major league baseball.

"In the first place, our season will have ended by the time the baseball pennant races really start heating up." he said. "The people who go to baseball early in the season tend to be dyed-in-the-wool fans and baseball can draw seven days a week against our one. The nationally televised baseball game of the week will be on Saturday and our braodcast will be on Sunday so there's no conflict there."

Ten of the 12 cities in the USFL also are in the NFL and will use the same stadiums as NFL teams, thus providing additional revenues to the municipalities that own the stadiums. The other two are Birmingham and

DENVER (NEA) - The centerplece of the superbly prepared meal was a main course consisting of crisp broccoli covered with tasty slices of ham and turkey breast, then topped with a tangy cheddar cheese sauce.

Customers

The other courses were equally delicious, the service was faultless and each place setting naturally included the requisite china, silverware and cloth napkin.

The meal merits recounting because it was served not in an expensive restaurant but in the coach section of a commercial airliner enroute here from Sioux Falls, S.D.

As most regular air travelers know, virtually all of the nation's airlines long ago abandoned china and silverware in favor of cheap plastic substitutes, while filmsy paper napkins have become the successor to classier cloth.

As for the food, the main course invariably deserves the "mystery meat" appellation coined by college students to describe unidentifiable institutional food so thoroughly devoid of any appealing qualities that it has the texture, flavor and appearance of processed cardboard.

Those rules don't apply, however on Frontier Airlines, the Denver-based carrier on whose flight the meal described above was served. Indeed, Frontier has a revolutionary approach to serving its passengers - it really tries to please them.

'Seat pitch," a technical term describing the space between seats, is so generous on Frontier that coach passengers can comfortably cross their legs — a maneuver that is a gymnastic feat on other carriers determined to cram the maximum number of seats into the passenger cabin.

The Frontier experience is worth noting because it is unique in a travel industry where hotel and motel chains, airlines and rental car companies insistently proclaim their purported desire to pamper and coddle their customers when, in fact, they often are a source of frustration and aggravation for weary travelers.

Industry advertisements regularly portray airline flight attendants as latter-day genies just emergened from their bottles and anxious to grant their passengers' every

In fact, the country's major airlines-United, American and TWA - and most of the regional carriers run glorified cattle car operations in which flight attendants perform required services in a ritualistic fashion and make little effort to hide their displeasure when called upon to provide additional Auto rental firms and lodging chains promote themselves as fervently dedicated to their customers' comfort and convenience. Howard Jounson's actually claims to be a surrogate for every traveler's mother.

But the rental car companies specialize in selling unnecessary insurance and concocting rate schedules so cluttered with variations, discounts and extra charges that the advertised price is almost never what the customer pays.

The biggest hotel chains - notably Hilton and Sheraton - too often resemble warehouses in which inefficient, impersonal service is a hallmark, while the major motel chains long ago ceased providing travelers with real value for their money.

There are limited exceptions. Among the hotels, Marriott comes closet to caring about its customers while the La Quinta Inn motel chain has become what one trade magazine describes as "the talk of the industry" because it provides business travelers with superior accommodations.

Contract Nearly Canceled After Scandal

WASHINGTON - Reagan administration officials, concerned about the possibility of criminal activity reaching high into Egyptian and American military and intelligence circles, seriously considered canceling a multimillion-dollar contract early this year. The only thing that dissuaded them, I'm told, was fear of offending the Egyptian government.

I reported a year ago on the suspicious circumstances surrounding the contract, which was awarded to the Egyptian American Transport and Services Corp. (EATSCO). This led the FBI and a federal grand jury to investigate the deal. They're trying to find out whether Egyptian and-or American government officials were bribed to assure that EATSCO got the exclusive contract to ship U.S. arms to Egypt.

The contract came up for renewal in April, and administration officials discussed canceling it. But it is traditionally up to the recipient country to select and oversee U.S. arms shipments, and there was a strong possibility that Egypt would resent this in-

Pentagon sources told my associates Dale Van Atta and Indy Badhwar It was this diplomatic consideration that caused the State, Defense and Justice departments to decide jointly that the contract should be renewed despite the cloud hanging over it.

shipping contract isn't peanuts, Shippers' charges are based on the value of the cargo carried. Not all of the $3.5 billion in military aid promised to Egypt constitutes hardware, and EATSCO was not allowed to handle classified items and some planes. But the value of the shipping contract is still enormous.

According to the secret contract, EATSCO is entitled to charge "up to 9.875 percent of the value of materials shipped." Egyptian sources suggest that an even more secret contract actually boosts the company's fee to 15 or 25 percent.

Most of the arms aid is provided on credit. As it has done for years with Israel, the government is planning to forgive some of these loans to Egypt- which means the American taxpayers are providing a lot of arms free, and also paying the shipping costs. Up to Aug. 7 of this year, EATSCO had been paid $71.4 million out of the Egyptian credit account, according to a Pentagon official. Another source said that EATSCO so far has shipped $750 million worth of arms. That would jibe roughly with the terms of the secret contract; under the supersecret contract, EATSCO would stand to collect up to $190 million.

On a single shipment of 16 tanks last summer, one of EATSCO's subcontractors charged $750,000 for shipping and $118,000 for handling.

A big problem from the start was Egyptian officials' lack of experience in handling money and the bureaucratic paperwork that is involved in U.S. arms deals. They were used to the Russians, who simply accepted Egyptian arms requests and eventually dumped the stuff on the docks at Alexandria,

Because of the Egyptians' inexperience in U.S. bureaucratic methods, the No. 2 man at the Defense Security Assistance Agency in 1979, Erich Von Marbod, was assigned to expedite the process. One source said Von Marbod was "an obstructionist" in the award of the shipping contract to a Geneva-based firm called Tersam, whose secret owner turned out to be a Palestinian.

Ultimately, after an internal furor over the Palestinian-owned company within the Pentagon, Tersam disappeared from the scene. In its place, in the same offices and with the same cable number, EATSCO appeared and got the contract. The company's new president was Thomas Clines, a former high CIA official who had worked with Von Marbod on arms shipments to the late shah of

Mothers-To-Be Told To Avoid Aspirin 5 Days Before Childbirth

BOSTON (UPI) - Women should not take drugs containing aspirin within five days of childbirth because it can cause abnormal bleeding, which can be fatal to premature infants,

They urged expectant mothers to read all medicine labels carefully to see if they include aspirin.

"The problem is there are over 100 over-the-counter drugs which contain aspirin," said Dr. Marie J. Stuart in the New England Journal of Medicine, "And many women, unless they read the list of hundreds of ingredients, are taking aspirin the aspirin within the five-day period, without real knowledge of it."

in Syracuse, N.Y., and headed the study, said as little as a quarter tablet of aspirin impaired both mother and child's hemostasis — bloodclotting ability — if the mother had taken a product containing aspirin within five days of delivery.

The study showed six out of 10 women and nine of 10 babies

The mothers suffered excessive blood loss during childbirth and in the first few days following delivery, and the bables were born with bleeding of the skin, under the skin and under hemoglobin count and increased bleeding from the uterus,

Aspirin is second only to vitamins in drugs ingested by expectant mothers; 69 percent of pregnant women take asplrin in the last three months of pregnancy, when a baby could be born prematurely, the study said.

Previous studies of premature infants show they have an increased risk of fatal intracranial hemorrhage if their mothers took aspirin within the last week of pregnancy.

Maude Coming Home To Zoo

At last, Maude, the Central Florida Zoo's female Asian elephant, is packing her trunk for the big move from her temporary home at Circus World to her new elephant paddock at the zoo west of Sanford, Ceremonies opening the new facility complete with swimming pool will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the zoo on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Lake Monroe.

The exhibit, built with funds donated by numerous community organizations, will conclude a four-year struggle to finish the facility.

The ceremonies will be open to the public and admission to the zoo for the event will be waived between the hours of 9 and

Maude, a 41-year-old circus elephant who tips the scales at 8,500 pounds, was given to the zoo by John Pugh, manager of the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus which has its winter quarters in DeLand.

Maude was the star attraction at a Pachyderm Pound Day held in March to raise funds to complete her exhibit at the zoo. The event attracted 4,000 persons to the zoo and raised about $18,000 to go with the $9,000 previously donated.

Lions, Raiders Try To Eliminate Errors Tonight

By CHRIS FISTER Herald Sports Writer

Both Oviedo and Rockledge received visits last week from an old nemesis that has been haunting football teams. since the days of Knute Rockne and the "Gipper."

Costly mistakes in critical situations led to the demise of the Lions, who dropped to 1-2 in a game that they dominated in every aspect — except the score — a 12-7 setback to

Likewise, crucial turnovers spoiled the Raiders' attempt to dethrone perennial 3A powerhouse Titusville Astronaut as Rockledge fell to 1-3 in a 10-7 heartbreaker to the state's second ranked 3A team. The Raiders' lone victory was a 23-0 shutout of Lake Mary in the opener, since then they have been overpowered by the likes of Astronaut, St. Cloud and

"We've played a very tough schedule and I expect this one to be another tough one," Rockledge coach Bill McKnight said, "Oviedo has a strong defense and we're going to have to avoid mistakes."

On the opposite side of the field, Blanton feels the same way, "Mistakes have killed us in the last two games," Blanton said of his last two losses to Orange Belt Conference foes St. Cloud and Osceola, "Our defense can hold its own if the offense doesn't make the costly mistakes."

Offensively, Rockledge has looked superb one week and stagnant the next. The top ballcarriers for the Raiders have been Mike Dillard and Billy Simmons with Leo Misch running the show at quarterback. "We need some long time-consuming drives," McKnight said. "But it's going to be hard to penetrate that (Ovledo) defense."

On defense, Rockledge is led by John Allagood, Leonard Lee and Jay Hinckley. "It's going to be a matter of who forces the mistakes defensively and can capitalize on them offensively," McKnight sald.

Ovledo's leading ballcarriers are J.W. Yarborough and Barry Williams, Yarborough has carried 44 times for 197 yards and Williams has gained 140 yards on 35 tries. Quarterback Dwayne Johnson has completed 14 of 29 passes for 158 yards and his main target is Ken Ashe who has nabbed eight passes for 131 yards (16.4 per catch).

The Oviedo defense is regarded as one of the top in the area. While it has allowed 332 yards rushing over a threegame span, 200 of those by St. Cloud's Brent Fullwood, the passing defense has contained opposing quarterbacks and allowed a meager 13 yards per game. The Lions rank third in the Central Florida area in total defense, allowing an average of 123 total yards per game.

The Lions are led by linebacker Tom Johnson who has 14 solo tackles and nine assists and has recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass. Eric Putman, David Butterfield and Kevin Yentz are also having promising seasons on defense.

Dry-Eyed Gierke Says Beware Of Apopka

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Watch out Seminole! Colorful Apopka football coach Chip Gierke was given the crying towel award earlier this year at a gathering of Central Florida football coaches. Even with his best teams, Gierke will bellyache and moan about his lack of size, speed and skill.

Tonight at 8, however, Gierke is bringing his 2-2 Blue Darters into Sanford with a dry eye for this crucial Five Star Conference encounter.

"We knew we were going to have a good team in the spring," said Gierke Thursday night. "And when we held (fifth-ranked) Evans to 128 yards, we were sure of it."

Apopka lost to Metro rivals Evans (18-11) and Colonial, but the Darters have blasted Lake Brantley and Mainland A victory tonight would put them in good shape for a Five Star and District 4A-9 title shot

Nineteen lettermen haven't hurt Major college prospects Jim Davis (6-6, 235-pound defensive end) and Mark Spicer (6-5, 250-pound tackle) join storybook names Othello Swift and Ulysses Harper on a defense which is giving up just 6.4 points per game. Apopka has a topnotch punter and field goal kicker in Mickey Ferguson. He is averaging 43 yards a boot and has hit all four field goals, the longest 32

Offensively, Rodney Brewer is a dartthrowing left-hander at quarterback. He's completed 50 percent of his passes for 350 yards and four touchdowns. Three of those scores has gone to split end James Jones, his favorite target.

Running backs Darin Jackson and Brian Pitts carry the offensive load, although all-purpose back Will Singleton, who dislocated a shoulder four weeks ago, will see some action tonight.

Gierke, of course, is leery of Seminole since it has yet to win. "They don't look that bad on film," said Chip. "They were in a position to win those first two games (Astronaut and Lake Howell)."

Seminole chief Jerry Posey agrees with the assessment. "I wish I could put a finger on the problem," said Posey. "We played a heckuva game for our first game against Astronaut. Then we digressed against Lake Howell. "With 145 yards in penalties, it looked like a first game of the season. And Edgewater (a 36-14 loss) was worse,' he added.

Posey feels leadership is a major problem.

"We definitely lack the leadership we had last year," he said. "We're not as intense as last year. We're still looking for people to step forward and take

"We've got the bodies. It's funny though. Usually our offense is slow coming around, this year it's our defense.'

Some of those offensive bodies have great statistics. Halfback Rendel Manley is the leading rusher in the county with an average of 9.8 yards a carry. Tim Lawrence goes 11.5 yards every time he touches the ball, but he's touched it just 13 times. Quarterback Mike Futrell has been up and down while fullback Ronald Burke hasn't lived up to his potential.

Guard Ed Rinkavage returns to the offensive line while center Todd Hildebran is recovered from an ailing

Lyman Tunes Up With Grenadiers Prior To 'Meat'

Colonial Grenadler football coach Bob Williams figured his 1982 squad would be throwing the ball to carve out a respectable record this fall.

After all, with just four returning lettermen on offense and defense, one couldn't blame Williams if he was a little suspect about his running attack since he had junior signal caller Jerad Carone, who threw for 1,000 yards, returning.

"We were leaning toward passing," admits Williams, a third-year coach. "But our running game surprised us. David Slockett turned out to be a real fine back."

Tonight at 8, Williams hopes the surprised continue when Lyman's Greyhounds invade Orlando for their final tuneup before tackling the "meat" of their Five Star schedule.

"We're afraid of them," said Williams trying to sound sincere. "They're bigger, stronger and faster than we are." Colonial is 3-1. The only loss for a 34-7 disaster against Evans. Of course, it's been a lot of disasters for Evans' opponents except Vero Beach.

Lyman is 2-2. The 'Hounds lost a heartbreaker (two points) to Mainland and a seven-pointer to Winter Park. Both wins (Boone and DeLand) have been comfortable.

Although this game means nothing, a second victory over the Metro by a Five Star team is a rarity. Plus, the Greyhounds need a sendoff into the Five Star chase.

Slockett, a 5-11, 175-pounder, is similar to Winter Park's Dennis Gareau, although not as strong. He trails Gareau by just a few yards on the rushing list. Slockett tore up Lake Brantley in the season opener.

Williams compares Carone to Lyman's Jerry Axley. Both are fine passers who have started for two years. Last week, Carone moved the Grenadlers 60 yards in a minute to beat Boone, 7-3, on a touchdown pass of seven yards to Derek Alligood with just seven ticks left.

Lyman beat Boone, 28-6. Why the close call Bob? "They hit you," he said.

While Boone has Improved, Lyman has not. The victory over the Braves looms as the 'Hounds best effort to date. The Greyhounds ground game suffered against Winter Park. Grady Martin, a 6-212 and 240-pound linebacker, hopes to make a few Lyman backs suffer Friday night. "Every college in the state is looking at him," said Williams about his prize linebacker. Martin teams with tackle Joe Brantley to give the Grenadlers an imposing Lyman had a healthy Vince Presley for the first time last week. The 6-1, 185-pound senior sliced for 71 yards. He makes the passing duo of Axley and Todd Marriott that much more explosive.

Niekro Says, 'Gimme The Ball Tonight'

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Phil Niekro wants to pitch the second game of the National League Championship Series and he wants everyone to know it.

"I think I might get a chance to come back," Niekro said Thursday night after his teammates, the Atlanta Braves, were beaten 7-0 by the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of the National League playoffs.

"I don't think I'll have to lobby hard; He (Atlanta Manager Joe Torre) knows my feelings."

Niekro has been the Braves' best pitcher this season, finishing with a 17-4 record. He was given the starting assignment for the first game of the bestof-five playoffs with the Cardinals and allowed just four hits in 4 1-3 innings

Phil Niekro

Even though he will be, in effect, pitching with one day's rest, Niekro says he is ready to pitch.

"I've pitched two or three innings and got rained out before and came back to pitch the next day," Niekro said. "I was ready to pitch tonight.

"I normally don't have arm problems. I sat in the whirlpool tonight. It's something I've done the night before I was scheduled to pitch all season." Niekro left no doubt that he was eager to pitch again. "If you like to pitch baseball, you get out there as much as you can," he said. "Just because you don't feel good doesn't mean you can't win the ballgame. There's nothing in the rules that says you before torrential rains brought an end to have to have three or four days rest between starts."

Forsch Flattens Braves On ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Rain made it a short evening for the Atlanta Braves Wednesday but Bob Forsch made it an even shorter one for the National League Western Division champions Thursday.

Forsch scattered three singles, struck out six, did not walk a batter and set down the final 11 Braves in a row to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 7-0 victory over Atlanta in the opening game of the National League Championship Series.

Claudell Washington collected two of the singles off Forsch, including Atlanta's final hit in the sixth inning. But he was thrown out by St. Louis catcher Darrell Porter attempting to steal and the Braves managed to get only two more balls out of the infield the rest of the night against Forsch.

"It was like a day off for me," Porter said. "I wouldn't say this was the best Bob has pitched but it's as good as. It may be his best game simply because it was a playoff game — these mean a little there." "We knew he was going to be tough," Atlanta outfielder Jerry Royster said. "But we didn't expect a three-hit shutout." Forsch struck out Royster twice and allowed Atlanta's MVP candidate, Dale Murphy, to get the ball out of the infield only once in four at-bats. Bob Horner, who hit 32 homers for the Braves this season, failed to get the ball out of the infield in three at-bats. Only one Brave advanced as far as third base and that came in the second when Bruce Benedict reached base on an error by infielder Ken Oberkfell and took third on a two-out single by Washington. But Forsch induced Rafael Ramirez to hit a grounder to shortstop Ozzie Smith to and better location tonight. But I didn't consciously do anything different." Forsch also had one of his better days at the plate with two singles in three atbats, scoring one run and knocking in another with a sacrifice fly to give the Cardinals a victory in a game that took two days to play. The Braves were ahead 1-0 after 44 innings Wednesday night before it was rained out, forcing the two teams to start over Thursday.

St. Louis set four hitting records and tied two others with a 13-hit assault against four Atlanta pitchers. The Cardinals sent a record 11 batters to the plate in the sixth inning to score a record five runs on a record six hits, all of which were singles for another record.

"I started looking on the guys' backs to see if they were the same guys I played got to get more than three hits." with all season," Porter said. "We haven't hit like that in a long time."

St. Louis converted its first hit, a Atlanta leadoff triple in the third by Willie St. L McGee, into a 1-0 lead on a sacrifice fly by Ozzie Smith.

Cliff Bags 11 Birds; Tillis Bow And Arrow On Target With Third Deer

The sporadic thunder of gunfire rumbled across the fields and woods of Central Florida on Saturday afternoon, proving that sportsmen of the local area were out in moderate force for the opening day of the dove season. Low threatening clouds and a moderate east wind kept the birds from normal feeding habits, but enough of the speedy targets kept linking through to make the day successful for most hunters.

As the fortunate guest of a group in Volusia County, I crouched ankle deep in water under a pine tree on the perimeter of an overgrown field for nearly four hours and banged happily away at the occasional birds zinging past like miniature feathered jets. After firing a dozen times and not even cutting a feather, I started muttering unspeakable things and examining my shells to make sure they were not blanks. Just before total frustrated collapse, however, a bird or two managed to get in the way of my shot and sanity was partially restored.

The afternoon was finished with renewed confidence and resulted in 11 birds in my bag. This was about average for the group, who are all good shots and fine sportsmen.

Many birds would have been lost without the help of the two fine Labrador retrievers in the field with us. who tirelessly sniffed out the birds dropped in the deep grass and weeds. Babe, a black Lab owned by Ray Fox of Lake Mary, ranged constantly in our area, and happily brought back bird after bird. The only difficulty was that Babe only brought the birds to Ray, regardless of who made the shot. This resulted in good natured bantering shouted across the field, and kept Fox husy returning birds to the proper

We quit the field about 4 p.m. just ahead of a fine, misting rain, and after a brief tailgate session of shooting stories, departed for home, perfectly content with the first day of the season.

One of the most unusual and successful stories of the archery season was brought to light the other day. Daniel (Danny) T. Tillis, age 35, owner of Tillis Exterminating Co. in Casselberry, reported that he had bagged a 150-pound six-point buck on Oct. 2, while hunting with Jim McCoy up the St. Johns River.

Killing such a fine buck with a bow and arrow is in itself rare, but this was the third deer killed by Danny this archery season. On Sept. 20, the Monday after the season opened, he killed a doe in the Bull Creek Management Area, and on the following Sunday came home with a spike buck taken in the same area that the six point was killed.

This kind of success is far beyond that of the average bow hunter, most of whom bunt for years without ever getting a single shot at a deer.

As Tillis told the story of his hunt for the six point, I found myself caught up in the tense drama. According to Tillis, he had seen the six point buck on a previous hunt and has been unable to get a shot. "I won't shoot unless I am sure of getting a probable hit," he

On Oct. 2, he had been in his portable Baker stand about 15 feet up in a tree and about 15 yards off one fork of a deer trail since before daylight, while his buddy hunted on the other fork about two hundred yards away. The buck finally appeared on the trail, but was obscured by brush so that a shot was impossible. After minutes of patlent waiting, the deer stepped forward between two trees, exposing the chest area and allowing his shot. The deer instantly fled into the thicket, and not knowing whether his arrow had found the mark or not, he patiently waited about 20 minutes before starting a Finding blood at the point the deer was standing at the time of the shot, he followed the blood trail until it abruptly ended. Marking this spot, he searched in an expanding circular pattern, and found the dead buck about 15 yards away, shot in the right rib cage. The thrust of the powerful compound bow had cast the arrow completely through the deer, killing him as efficiently as any rifle.

Asked about his technique for hunting deer, Tillis explained that he carefully scouts a hunting area prior to the season in order to fix a pattern of deer movement firmly in mind. This knowledge of daily movement as deer go from feeding areas to dense cover, enables him to select a spot for his portable stand overlooking an area of high density use. Thereafter he only approaches the stand by a roundabout route, avoiding the deer trails where his scent could contaminate the area and spook the deer.

Once he has scouted a total area, his hunting thereafter is confined to a small area about 200 yards square, Hehas found that spraying his clothes with ordinary turpentine effectively masks his human scent without alerting deer.

Although a gun hunter since he commenced hunting with his father at the age of eight. Tillis killed his first deer with bow and arrow last year at the Bull Run Area. He also killed two bucks last year during the gun season, and an additional six bucks were killed in front of his dogs by other members of his hunting party.

He lives in Osteen with his wife, Donna, and four children, Donna sometimes accompanies him on hunts during the regular gun season, and shares the excitement of the chase.

All in all, Tillis is a successful and fortunate man in life as well as his

Miracles Run Out For SCC. Valencia Prevails, 15-13

Last-set, come-from-behind victories finally took their toll on Seminole Community College's volleyball

Valencia, a loser earlier in the year to SCC, fought back from a 13-11 fifth set deficit Thursday night to drop the Raiders, 15-9, 15-6, 12-15, 10-15, 15-13 in junior college volleyball action at SCC.

"We played crummy the first two sets," said Raider coach Ileana Gallagher. "We just have to learn we can't always come back from two down to win."

It looked possible Thursday, nevertheless, as the Raiders broke to an 8-5 lead in the pivotal set on the serving of Johnnie Bennett and the net play of Ana Hernandez and Estelle Hayes.

VCC moved ahead, 11-10, but Hernandez hit three straight, aided by blocks from Sharon Vobornik and Hayes for a 13-11 lead.

Then we made some mental mistakes and that was it," said Gallagher.

SCC, 8-3, competes in the Valencia Tournament today and Saturday.

Foster, Robinson Lift Lions

Fran Foster's serves got Oviedo through a slow start and Fay Robinson's spikes out the finishing touches on as the Lions came back to pulverize Osceola, 15-13, 15-0, in high school volleyball action Thursday night at Ovledo.

The Lady Lions trailed by scores of 6-12 and 8-13 in the first set until Foster came on to serve seven straight points to pave the way for an Oviedo win.

The momentum from Foster's outstanding play in the first set carried over into the second as Robinson's spikes and fine defnesive play from Kathy Maione led the 15-0 rout in the set that clinched the match and gave Oviedo its 10th win against only two losses on the

In the 9-11 age group, four of seven girls qualified for the Sectional Meet after all seven turned in impressive performances. Marley Askins (29.00), Jennifer Kopp (29.95), Shannon Raynard (30,40) and Shannon Wilcoxson (30.20) all qualified for the Sectional Meet. Others competing in the 9-11 age group were Latonia Daniels, Julie Delph and Camilla Kennedy.

Nordiques Fall To Flyers

By United Press International

Quebec Coach Michel Bergeron gave his team a full menu of training camp defensive drills but the Nordiques failed to pick up the check.

"We were right into the game until we gave up those three goals, then we really gave up," Bergeron said Thursday night, after Brian Propp, Bill Barber and Ray Allison scored during a 35-second span midway through the third period to propel the Philadelphia Flyers to a season-opening 9-5 victory over the Nordiques.

"Our wingers didn't check. When your wingers don't check, you're going to be in deep trouble."

Propp broke a 5-5 tie at 9:06 with a power-play goal on a rebound past goalie John Garrett. Barber scored his second goal of the game, converting a pass from Bobby Clarke at 9:31.

In other games, the New York Islanders nipped Calgary, 5-4, Montreal defeated Boston, 5-1, and St. Louis edged Toronto, 3-2.

Greyhounds Bury Hapless Seminole

By GEOFFREY GIORDANO Herald Sports Writer

Taking advantage of five Seminole turnovers, Lyman rolled over the hapless Tribe, 36-14, in junior varsity football action at Seminole High School Thursday night.

From fumbling away the opening kickoff until losing the handle on the final play of the game, Seminole fumbled three times, losing all of them, had a punt blocked and returned for a touchdown and suffered a pass interception by quarterback Mike Whelchel.

The Greyhounds capitalized on Seminole's kickoff fumble by taking the ball 30 short yards for a score, aided by strong running by backs Mike Henley and Avery Merriwether. Merriwether put the ball into the end zone from the one yard line, and Steve Abernathy kicked his first of three extra points, making the score 7-0.

After a short drive by the 'Noles, the 'Hounds added another score. Merriwether shined on this drive, picking up 12 yards on a key run before finally scoring the second touchdown for Lyman, again from the one. Abernathy kicked again, and had 14.

Running back Dexter Jones, of Seminole, ripped off a 21-yard run for the Tribe on the last play of the first quarter, but Seminole was forced to punt. However, the punt was blocked, and run back 35 yards for a third TD. Abernathy connected on his third kick, and Lyman had established a comfortable 21-0 margin.

JV Football

Yet another weak offensive drive by the Tribe gave Lyman another opportunity. This time, Henley led the drive, putting the ball over the line from three yards out for a fourth deadly score. Abernathy missed his kick, but didn't worry much, since he and his teammates had a 27-0 first half lead, which he increased to 30 with an 18-yard field goal.

Even though the Greyhounds scored one more touchdown, they held the Seminoles to two last minute scores, both by Jones. One on a 40-yard run, and the other on a 21-yard pass from Whelchel.

The Seminoles will try to up their 1-3 record when they meet the Apopka Blue Darters in Apopka Thursday at 7:30. Lyman, 3-0, hosts Lake Brantley next Thursday.

Owners, Players Address Mediation

NEW YORK (UPI) - The issue of mediation was addressed Thursday by the NFL Players Association and Management Council. The tone, however, was hardly conciliatory.

The council, led by Executive Director Jack Donlan, has been calling for federal mediation to end the impasse ever since NFL players walked off Sept. 21.

Thursday, the NFLPA rejuctantly submitted a list of nine potential private

The league's bargaining arm certainly wasn't reluctant in its response - a swift rejection that touched off another round of verbal parries and thrusts.

With the first regular-season strike in NFL history in its 17th day, the NFLPA altered its previous stance in agreeing to the presence of a mediator. Previously, union head Ed Garvey reiterated almost daily the NFLPA's opposition to any third party, saying, "The two sides have to first agree on at least something."

"We prefer face-to-face negotiations but we need bargaining," said Garvey Thursday, "We need people at the table with an open mind."

Jim Miller, director of information for the council, said league management had no particular quarrel with the names submitted, but opposed the proposal because the mediation would not be on a federal level.

"We will tell the NFLPA that, while this is no reflection on the people on the list, we're still stumped on the concept of private mediation," said Miller. "This would inject another issue into a dispute in which no issues at all have been resolved. The Federal Mediation Service has kept abreast of the situation and is aware of the issues. I can't see why Garvey has a problem with a federal mediator."

But the union left little doubt about the reason for its opposition to utilizing the Federal Mediation Service.

Monday, according to Posey.

"The players, union reps and the executive committee are obviously very nervous about the FMS because Jack Donlan used to work there. That is one of the reasons we wanted to propose private, independent mediators," said Jay Benoit, assistant director of public relations for the NFLPA.

Miller dismissed that line of reasoning as specious.

"Jack worked at the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service 20 years ago," said Miller, referring to Donlan's 4-year association from 1962-65.

"At the same time, Ed Garvey was working for the CIA. Does that mean we have to check our phones for being tapped? That's just silly."

Wednesday night, Donlan said the 1982 season would be scrapped unless the league could play at least 13 regularseason games. Earlier in the day, the NFL called off this weekend's slate ensuring a full 16-game schedule for the season will not be played.

With three weeks already scrubbed and the league on record as saying only two could be made up, Donlan's statement means the entire season would be wiped out if three more weekends are

Something's Fishy About This Allergy

DEAR DR. LAMB - Many years ago I was advised by a medical doctor that I was allergic to jodine because when I ate crustacean food, such as shrimp, lobster, turtle, I became very sick for many hours.

Recently I underwent an IVP and cycloscopy without complications and the urologist then told me he didn't believe that I was allergic to lodine.

I can eat tuna, oysters and other seafood which contain much more iodine than crustaceans without getting sick. Do you believe in allergy to internal todine? If not, why do I get sick from devouring crustacean food? I've eaten shrimp and crab several times without knowing it and got very sick, so it definitely is not my imagination.

DEAR READER - The reason the urologist thinks you are not allergic to iodine is probably because he used a dye containing iodine to do the studies of your kidney and bladder. Since you didn't have a reaction he believes iodine is not your problem.

If he is correct, what is your problem? It is the type of protein present crustaceans, not their iodine content. It is perfectly logical that if you are allergic to shrimp and lobster that you might not be allergic to oysters or other seafoods.

Food allergies can just cause hives or they can cause asthma attacks or severe gastrointestinal reactions and even circulatory collapse that can be serious or fatal.

Anyone who has severe reactions to a food on an allergic basis should avoid that food entirely. Ingesting it can be dangerous. Which means you should never eat shripp, lobster or the other foods that you know you are allergic to. You might want to consult with an allergist. He may wish to do some tests but I suspect he would be cautious about exposing you to shellfish.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Could you please tell me what "bronzing" is, what causes it and what can be done about

DEAR READER - I'll assume you are not referring to the cosmetic practice of using bronzers to make the skin look suntanned.

You probably refer to the pigment changes in the skin that lead to a darker color.

The skin color is dependent upon the production of melanin, a pigment from specialized cells in the skin called melanocytes. There are several conditions that stimulate them to overproduction of pigment. Often these are endocrine problems.

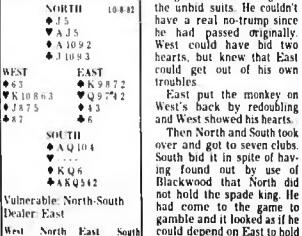

A person with adrenal insufficiency may become bronzed because the pituitary gland under the brain increases its activity to stimulate a failing adrenal gland. The pituitary gland also stimulates melanocytes at the same

Then there is a condition called bronze diabetes, caused by the body's excess retention of iron. The iron in the liver causes changes in liver function and diabetes.

Some medicines may also cause discoloration of the skin. Obviously, what should be done depends entirely on the cause. When adrenal insufficiency is the cause, hormone treatments to replace the adrenal hormone Read The Health Letter 19- may stop the change.

Miss Nancy Christina Daugherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Daugherty of Springfield, Mo., became the bride of Edward Connelly Dougherty, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Dougherty, Idyllwilde Drive, Sanford, Aug. 21 in Springfield. The Rev. Frank Jones officiated at the double ring ceremony following a prelude of classical selections by organist Richard

Mary Clair Keller of Fair Grove, Mo., plantst accompanied soloist Elizabeth Scott as she sang the "Wedding Song", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Evergreen."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of ivory organza accented with venice lace and seed pearls. The chapel length train was held in place with the same lace. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was secured by a cap of venice lace embellished with seed pearls

Miss Pamela Klug, Kansas City, Mo., was maid of honor. Bridesmalds were Mitzi Allwood Euell, Missouri City, Texas, and the grooms sisters, Jean Dougherty, Miami, and Helen Dougherty, Sanford.

The attendents were floor length dusty rose gowns. They carried nosegays to match the colors of the bride's bouquet, in shades of pink, burgundy and white. They wore small clusters of matching flowers in their hair. Niece of the groom, Andrea Kay Fourman, Laura, Ohio, served as flower girl. Her pale pink chiffon dress was also floor length and the flowers in her hair were similiar to those worn by the bridesmaids.

Attendents for the groom were University of Missouri (Columbia) classmates Stacy Woelfel, Orlando, best man, Martin Meyer, Stanberry, Mo., groomsman Scott Woelfel, Richmond, Va., groomsman and his brother-in-law, Ronald Fourman, Laura, Ohio, groomsman.

The brides brothers, Donald Daugherty, Atlanta, Ga. and Lyman Daugherty, Denton, Texas served as ushers. Master Keith Keiler, Fair Grove, Mo. was ring bearer.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD C. DOUGHERTY

A reception followed the ceremony. After their wedding trip the couple returned to Cedar Rapids, Iowa where the bridegroom is a television consultant with Frank N. Magid Associates. He is a graduate of Bishop Moore High School, Orlando, and he holds a batchelor of journalism degree in radio-television. The bride is a graduate of Glendale High School, Springfield, and the University of Missouri. Prior to her wedding, Mrs. Dougherty was news producer with KAUZ-TV, Wichita Falls,

'Father Unknown' Shows Up To Help

DEAR ABBY: In the summer of 1979 I met and fell in love with a boy I'll call "Joe." He was 23 and very handsome and charming. I had just turned 17. I was a virgin and had always planned to wait until I was married to have sexual relations, but Joe put a lot of pressure on me so I finally gave in because I didn't want to lose him.

I didn't use any birth control and got pregnant. Joe and I broke up and he left the state before I knew I was pregnant. I didn't know where he went or how to contact him. I never thought to ask him his last name. It just never came up.

Anyway, I had my baby alone and put "father unknown" on the baby's birth certificate. Well, last week Joe showed up. He was surprised to hear about the baby and wants to help any way he can and be a father to "little Joey." He is willing to help with my expenses like day care so I can go back to school, work part-time and get off welfare.

He also wants his name on the baby's birth certificate, but he's airaid that he will have to pay back welfare for the money was paid for the last two years. Is that true? It amounts to about $15,000. Thank you.

Dear

DEAR ABBY: "Sock Fight in Winona" asked If there was a right sock and a left sock, and you said, "no. And if I'm wrong, I'm sure some sock designer will sock it to me."

Well, I'm no sock designer, but you are wrong! When one puts on a pair of socks, after putting on one sock, the other one is always, "left," right?

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter you apologized for your "thoughtlessness and insensitivity" to "Brown and Burning," because of your response to "Cooled Off in Coos Bay." ("Cooled Off" was having trouble responding to her husband's sexual advances, so you suggested that she fantasize that he was Robert Redford, Burt Reynolds and Paul Newman rolled into one.)

"Brown and Burning" wrote to say that the three glamour models you listed wouldn't do for her because she happened to be an Afro-American woman, and why didn't you include at least one black male?

Abby, you also failed to include a Latin-American, Chinese, Japanese, American Indian, Eskimo and several other ethnic

Since I am of Chinese, Japanese, Polynesian and American Indian origin, I would also appreciate your mentioning at least one representative of my national origins. Admittedly, by having to do this, you might somewhat dilute the point you are making, but at least you wouldn't be guilty of discrimination. MULTICOLORED AND BURNING

Container Plant Can Be A Dramatic Home Accent

One doesn't have to have a large lot to enjoy gardening. A balcony or patio of a condominium or small areas around a trailer offer plenty of room for container gardening.

The popularity of raising plants in containers has increased tremendously in recent years. Most all plants can be grown in a container-at least temporarily. Plants in containers can be moved indoors during cold spells or simply for use as an interior decoration.

A container plant is much more dramatic than the same plant when massed with other plants. A container creates a special setting for a plant and thus accentuates its qualities. Here is a checklist of basic points to be considered in con-

Select a container of the right size and shape for the growth characteristics and appearance of your plant. The container is half the picture. A handsome plant deserves a handsome planter and vice versa.

The container can be practically anything—from a teakettle or antique urn to a terra cotta pot, clay pot, wooden box, clay flue tile or even a crevice in a rock or an old log. Fine ceramic and redwood containers can be purchased but handmade containers are always the best since they represent your own talent. Let your imagination be your gulde.

Use a porous, fast-draining soil mix such as half peat and half coarse sand. Plants need good drainage for growth so use a porous mix and not a clay mix. Also for drainage, make sure the containers have holes in the bottoms. If holes are not present and can't be bored in the container, be very careful with watering. Too much water is almost always worse than Plants grown in pots or boxes need to be fertilized regularly during the growing season. Watering can readily leach nutrients from containers so fertilize often.

Most plants need repot ting in fresh soil mix when their roots fill the container. This "root bound" condition requires repotting or root pruning. Most container plants can be brought it doors for varying Suitable plants are practically unlimited. Foliage plants such as palms, bamboo and philodendrons, etc. make excellent container plants but don't omit flowering plants like annuals, perennials and bulbs. Herbs, hanging basket plants, ferns and fruit trees are other choices. Also try flowering shrubs and trees like azaleas, bougainvillea, crepe myrtle, gardenias, roses and others. NEW YORK (UPI) - A cottonseed-oil extract and associates in Finland is supported by the being tested in China as a male contraceptive also Ford Foundation and the U.S. Agency for Interhas a "killing effect" on genital herpes and gonorrhea, researchers say.

Gossypol has been effective against the sexually transmitted diseases in test-tube research in Finland and is being tested on two groups of people by University of Helsinki scientists.

Dr. Sheldon J. Segal, director of population sciences studies at the Rockefeller Foundation, said Wednesday the foundation has "well over a million dollars" invested in gossypol studies.

An estimated 20 million Americans have genital herpes, which still is considered incurable. Gonorrhea, usually symptomiess in females, renders tens of thousands of people sterile each

"There are a lot of kinks to be worked out," Ms. Atkinson said, "However, we're pleased with the progress and the developmental potential looks

Dr. Wayne Bardin, director of biomedical research at the Population Council, an agency that directs population control studies worldwide, asked about the gossypol research, sald: "It seems to have a killing effect on genital herpes and gonorr-

A preliminary report on the Finns' work was published in the American Journal of Obstetrics and

"Detailed analysis of the antiviral effect of gossypol as well as clinical trials seems to be warranted," the scientists said.

They said in their test-tube research, gossypol prevented the herpes simplex virus type 2 from causing infection. When used against what would be the equivalent of an existing infection, it stopped the viruses from multiplying.

Ms. Atkinson said gossypol seems to knock out the gonorrhea bug and the genital herpes virus when used at about the same concentration in which it immobilizes sperm.

She said the Chinese are giving gossypol orally and after about three months, sperm production stops. Research supported by the foundation shows gossypol also can be used by women as a sper-

Frugal Town Being Hurt By Tax-Revolt Law

Mass. (UPI) - On garbage day in West Stockbridge, artist George Woodcock collects the trash on Main Street.

A member of the town's governing Board of Selectman. Woodcock is one of dozens of flercely frugal residents of the Berkshires town of 1,300 people where taxpayers choose to give time instead of money.

They can be seen all around town — at the swimming hole. where a retired man trims the grass when it gets too tall. Or in the Town Hall on election day when poll workers volunteer to save $350.

Then there's Police Chlef James Fallon, who is on around-the-clock call, works and earns the legal minimum $3.75 an hour for a 40-hour week.

Emergency services most city people take for granted firefighting and first aid are provided by volunteer squads in the town that has no ambulance.

It's old-time New England frugality at its best. But this year it's not enough, says selectman chairman Michael Skorput. The community is suffering deep financial stress, ironically caused in part by its frugal past.

"The crunch is coming on and the economy stinks," says Skorput.

Economic problems are universal. But the crunch he refers to is coming from WEST STOCKBRIDGE, upwards of 60 hours a week Proposition 212, a tax-revolt measure passed by Massachusetts voters in 1980 - a law Skorput says he voted for and now finds is flawed.

> West Stockbridge's problem is that the town traditionally kept taxes down. But now under the law, they can only raise last year's total taxes by 2.5 percent, giving them $573,000 in taxes, 1.9 percent of the town's assessed value.

Yet the bill alone for sending their children to the $10,000 more than they're allowed to raise.

The tax-revolt legislation does allow voters to override the limit. But residents at the Town Meeting have rejected the override twice.

Townspeople aren't rebelling against selectmen in rejecting the override, Skorput says. They're protesting that the regional school committee, exempt from spending limits, in-viewed by Skorput as atregional school is $583,300 - tacking big-municipal spending — is stretching the no-frill town to the limit. "I have a lot of pride in this town," says Woodcock, who moved from Michigan three years ago. But he sees its future in the summer tourists who flock to the Berkshires, spending much of their money in neighboring Stockbridge and Lenox. West Stockbridge is undergoing a bit of a renaissance. Boutiques dot Main Street specializing in expensive jewlery, crafts, antiques and other oddities to tempt tourists.

"But still we're faced with the problem of raising the taxes," he says, explaining they go back to the Town Meeting for more money in mid-October.

Until then, Woodcock is soliciting donations for a twoway radlo for Buck, the highway man, who drives the town truck clearing the roads during snowstorms.

Graham At Fund-Raiser

Gov. Bob Graham will host a reception and political fund raiser for State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, a candidate for the Florida Senate seat, District 15.

The $100 per ticket event will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., Saturday, at the Escondido clubhouse in Altamonte Springs. Hattaway, a four-term member of the Florida House of Representatives, is running against Sen. Toni Jennings, R-Orlando. The district encompasses the portion of Seminole County west of U.S. Highway 17-92 and south of State Road 436 and part of Orange County.

Steele Barbecue

A barbecue fundralser to benefit the campaign efforts of State Rep. Jason Steele, R-Rockledge, who is seeking a state Senate seat, will be held Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Roost Restaurant on Windover Farms in Titusville.

Tickets are $12.50 per person. The ticket price includes barbecue, and live country music. Tickets will be available at Steele, completing his first term in the Florida House, is running against 10-year incumbent Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa

The 17th district includes most of the east half of Seminole County, parts of Brevard, Orange and Osceola counties.

Have A Complaint?

Nancy Abernethy, an aide to U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, will be in the County Commission chambers of the Seminole County courthouse Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to meet with residents who need assistance with problems or concerns relating to the federal government.

Persons may stop by at any time during the designated hours, said Ms. Abernethy. No appointments are necessary.

Wanna Buy A '52 Vette For $5?

Model Building Remains Popular

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

Remember the model cars and airplanes we built when we were kids?

Times have changed. Video games and computer toys receive most of the attention in toy stores these days, but there's still an interest in models.

Whether it's a 59 cent three-piece model of a '55 Chevy or a $59 balsa wood version of a Spanish galleon, models are still popular.

"We sell them in all price ranges," Kevin Comer, manager of an Altamonte Springs toy store says.

The least expensive models are priced at 99 cents and are very simple three-piece jobs which can be put together in minutes. They are ideal for a child's first model and are also excellent for those $2 maximum Christmas gift exchanges.

At the other end of the price spectrum are the model ships. (Like the ones you see inside a bottle.) Those can cost upwards of $70.

According to Nancy Hayes, assistant manager at another Altamonte Springs toy store, $70 is what you'll pay for a top-of-the-line ship. They can take hundreds of hours to assemble because of the intricate detail. Those models, obviously aren't recommended for beginners.

The models have changed some since the 1960s when the most popular items were Corvettes, Thunderbirds and B-52s. Today, the classic cars remain popular, but sirplanes and ships are catching up fast.

Many of the model airplanes are increasingly sophisticated.

"You can even build some airplanes that you can fly after you build them," Comer said.

"Cars are still the most popular," Miss Hayes said, and Comer agreed.

And although the space shuttle has captured the imagination of America, it's not a popular item at area toy

"We've carried them for several months and I don't think we've sold very many," Miss Hayes says.

Of course, that's not the case at the Kennedy Space Center gift shop where model space shuttles go like hot-

"Most of the people who come in here are looking for a souvenir of the space program. What better one is there than a model of the shuttle?" a shop employee said. Who can argue?

With rack after rack of models to choose from, how do you pick which one to buy? Depending upon your taste and your pocketbook, there's something for everybody.

How 'E.T.' Thrives In Pop Market

DEAR DICK: The novel "E.T." was based on the screenplay of the movie and the trading cards were taken from the movie, too. Both the book and the cards show a scene in which Elliott's chair floats to the ceiling in the principal's office and another in which E.T. puts a piece of candy on the mother's pillow to show his love. We have seen the movie in several Detroit area theaters and these scenes are missing. Were they cut nationally or just in our area? D.O., Sterling Heights, Mich.

Those scenes were never filmed at all. The person who novelized the screenplay added those scenes to fill it out, and the trading cards were based on the novelization.

DEAR DICK: I watch "M-A-S-H" religiously. In some early episodes, Hawkeye, when writing to his father, sends his love to "Mom and Sis." In a later episode, however, Hawkeye reflected on how his father broke the news to him when he was 10 about his mother's impending death. And his sister was never again mentioned. What happened to those two women? L-L-D., Albuquerque, N.M.

You have to remember that this is fiction, and also that the episodes are written by different people. One writer created that early letter-writing scene and, just to make it sound real, threw in the "Love to Monn and Sis" line. Later, the producers felt it would be good — for the sake of a strong father-son relationship — if the mother was gone. So they conveniently forgot about that earlier line. They figured nobody would be that careful a listener to remember. They reckoned without you.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me the name of the man who takes newscaster Paul Harvey's place when he is not there? H.M., Stuart, Fla.

I understand there are a couple of Harvey pinch-hitters, but the only one I've ever heard is Mort Krim.

DEAR DICK: Are Adam Rich and Tim Conway related? They sure do look alike. J.M., Fort Wayne, Ind. Not related at all, and I personally see no resemblance.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me the origin of the song "You've Got To Be Taught"? It's definitely not original in "South Pacific," as I heard that exact same song in a play I attended in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium in the early '30s. A.J., Merced, Calif.

I may be wrong, but I think your memory must be playing tricks on you. In none of the books about Rodgers and Hammerstein, or about the musical comedy stage, is there any reference to that song (sometimes called "Carefully Taught") as being anything but original in "South Pacific." From everything I can find, it was first performed (by William Tabbert, as Lt. Cable) in New Haven, when the out-of-New York tryout began on March 7, 1949.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me why "Blade Runner" is restricted to an adult audience? I am 16, turning 17, and I have been thrilled by what I have seen and heard of the special effects in the movie. P.L'H., Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada

In the United States, "Blade Runner" received an R rating because of its violence. I assume the same thing applies to Canada.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know how many hats and caps Roy Clark (of "Hee Haw") has or had, any why he wore them so much but doesn't wear them anymore. M.M. Wickizev, Sidney, Neb.

My resident "Hee Haw" authority says it wasn't Clark, but George Lindsey, who was the big hat-cap wearer. Clark, according to my informant (and he works on the show), never wore hats particularly.

NEW YORK (UPI) -Bruce Penhall has made his living for nearly 10 years by racing a lightweight, highpowered motorcycle with no brakes on some of the most hazardous tracks in the world. After that, mere acting should offer little challenge.

But it does. Penhall -World Speedway champion for two years in a row gives the impression of one who would make a challenge out of an afternoon nap.

He'll be riding a different sort of bike now - the kind driven by the California Highway Patrol - as a principal character opposite Erik Estrada and Tom Reilly on the new revised edition of NBC's longrunning "CHiPs."

He enters the world of prime time television at 25 just the way he entered the high-speed world of international motorcycle racing at 16 — prepared by nothing but his own determination to make good.

"I've never had any acting said in New York in the narrow, treacherous dog get it," he said.

the lifestyle that has taken him to the races from California to Germany.

"More or less, I've just been picked off the street." Not quite.

He was picked off the track at the Los Angeles Coliseum in August by producers looking for a new All-American sex symbol for their prime time cop show after becoming the first American in 44 years to win the World Speedway crown twice in a row.

Penhall, who looks more like a screen star from "Beach Blanket Bingo" days than a world champion with the competitive instincts of a tiger shark, was a likely candidate and screen tests with Estrada confirmed it.

As a bonus, newsfilm of his championship race will be used to introduce him to the series Nov. 7 as a rookie cop just signing on.

By comparison, it would seem easy.

The race to which Penhall course of a promotional tour tracks - involves straddling only slightly less hectic than a vicious machine that will accelerate from zero to 60 mph in 2 seconds and hit a top speed of 130 mph.

Its scant 120-pound frame is driven by a 500 cubiccentimeter engine. It boasts no brakes and it can be turned only to the left.

He said the transition to a new race — one for ratings rather than prize money has been anything but easy.

"It's just happening so quick — it's just blowing me away a little," he said. "It's kind of scaring me ... two weeks ago, I was a full-time racer. Now I'm a full-time actor.

"I know it's not going to be easy and I'm not kidding anybody. I'm not an actor. I'm just sort of a baby actor and it's going to take a long time, a lot of hard hours, a lot of studying, but I'm willing to sacrfice a lot for it ... I can accept that challenge."

Then came the Penhall challenge formula.

"If you want something bad enough and if you're experience whatsoever," he is accustomed - often on hungry enough for it, you'll

Burns In 'Two Of A Kind': A Moving Dramatic Debut

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl.

NEW YORK (UPI) -George Burns - fresh martini at hand and the 20th cigar of the day clamped between his teeth - met the New York press to plug his latest television movie, "Two of a Kind," but his audience wanted to know about everything else. What is the secret of his vitality at 86?

"I exercise and I diet," he said. "I smoke 15 to 20 cigars a day. I drink martinis and I dance very close. I'm making old fashionable."

What is his philosophy of

"I'd rather be a failure in something I love than a success in something I don't."

How does he maintain his self-proclaimed image as a "sex symbol?"

"I do everything in my key."

Does he ever plan to retire?

"I don't believe anybody should retire. Why don't you do, play with your cuticles?"

"If I play drama and they cry, I'm successful. If I tell jokes and they laugh, I'm successful. If I tell jokes and they cry, I'm in trouble."

Burns is not in trouble where "Two of a Kind" is concerned. Everyone but the American Medical Association will love it.

Burns plays the role he most scorns in the GE Theater showcase to be aired Saturday from 9-11, EDT by CBS — that of a man who did retire, from life.

It's the story of an 81-yearold grandfather who has given up and is sliding through deepening catatonia toward death in a nursing home. The only one who really cares enough to try to cope with him is his retarded grandson - portrayed with masterful artistry by Robby Benson.

The boy = 21 but with the mind of a 15-year-old breaks through grandfather's torpor by teaching him a secret trick.

When his mother gives him retire? What are you gonna the powerful depressant the doctor has prescribed to How has he managed to keep him quiet and out of the make the switch from way, he has learned to conference audience. "I comedy to drama on tongue it back in his cheek don't believe in dying - it's and sneak it into a potted been done."

plant when she isn't looking.

The medicine, he complains, "makes me sad," adding to his unresponsive grandfather, "now the plant looks sad,"

The old man also is in the hands of a dope-and-dumpthem medical community. Much of the twilight world in which he lives is engendered by a barrage of pills with which, finally picking up on his grandson's ploy, he soon has filled the hollow frame of his wheelchair.

The story of how the two rejects of society - the backward boy and the "useless" old man - join forces to put their lives together in defiance of the boy's guiltridden parents, portrayed by Barbara Barrie and Jack Nicholson, who simply cannot deal with them, is as gentle in its humor as it is powerful in drama.

Burns, at 86, was called upon to play the role of a man who is spiritually exhausted at 81, and it wasn't easy.

"You can't help getting older, but you don't have to get old," he told his press
