

A Slick Cure For Oil Spills

Inventor Working On Device To Solve Problem

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

Take a used tire valve core, add piping. tubing, and wire, throw in some rocks, parts of a bicycle, 25 years of experimentation and inspiration, stir vigorously and you have three inventions of Sanford gadgeteer Haggie Cockman, a man whose creativity centers on water.

His latest creation - for which he is trying to raise money to build a prototype for testing - is a floating machine designed to pick up ocean-borne oil. And this fall, a Cockman-designed lawn sprinkling device costing $1 will hit the market. He's also proud of a water aerating system he came up with which he says could treat more effluent at less cost than present sewage treatment systems.

Cockman, a retired railroad clerk, has no formal engineering training. But that doesn't deter his inventive inclinations. The secret to inventing something, he says, is to think out all of the possible uses and modifications of whatever device you've dreamed up.

A man who has an idea and turns it into reality is an inventor; someone who improves the work of others is an engineer, he says.

Cockman holds eight patents on his devices and the improvements on them.

Inventing, despite the mystique conjured up by names like Leonardo DaVinci, Alexander Graham Bell or Thomas Edison. is a money-devouring, long-term affair that takes more brains than it once did, he said. It isn't, Cockman says, the way Edison defined it: "One percent inspiration and 99 percent perspiration." Today, it is about 50-50, he said, quickly adding, however, that he holds no grudge against Edison's effort to stereotype inventors.

Cockman said his sprinkler took 25 years and up to $50,000 to perfect. The oll skimmer is already a 10-year labor with many years and $1 million to go before it becomes a commercial reality. His aerating filter design, a model of which has been tested in a sewage treatment, still walts full-scale construction.

Cockman says his oil skimmer is a very

Court: Gays Not Protected By Constitution

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Navy has the right to dismiss homosexuals because they are not protected by the constitutional right to privacy in their sexual affairs, federal appeals court ruled.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, voting 3-0 on Friday, said homosexuality has been "traditionally condemned" in American society and is not a right protected from government intrusion.

The ruling gives the Navy, and by implication other branches of the military, the power to en-force mandatory diamissal rules

Mondale's Staff Called 'Know-It-All White Boys'

ATLANTA (UPI) - Mayor Andrew Young characterizes Walter Mondale's staff as "smartassed white boys," but says he will support the democratic presidential nominee because the issue is not black and white, but life and death.

"I can't let them (the Mondale staff) lose this election," the former U.N. ambassador told the National Association of Black Journalists Friday. "I can't let them undo all the things I have done all my life.

But Young used an expletive to describe Mondele's staff.

"They're smart-assed white boys that think they know it all," he said. "I talk to them all the time - I used to talk to them," he said. They against anyone proven to be a homosexual.

The court, led by Judge Robert Bork, said homosexuals have "no constitutional right to engage in homosexual conduct and that, as judges, we have no warrant to create one." He said homosexual activity had "never been protected" by law.

"If the revolution in sexual mores ... is in fact ever to arrive. we think it must arrive through the moral choices of the people and their elected representatives, not through the Judicial" process, Bork said.

The appeals court said the Supreme Court has never ruled that homosexuals have a right to privacy in their sexual activities.

The Washington, D.C. federal appeals court ruled in a similar case in 1978 that the Air Force had the right to dismiss one of their servicemen solely because he was a homosexual.

Mondale campaign spokesman Maxine Isaacs said Young's characterization of the Mondale campaign is "unfair and his language objectionable.

Despite his blast at Mondale's campaign staff, Young said blacks cannot afford to abandon the former vice president.

"There will be war in Central America if Ronald Reagan is elected." Young said. "The real issues are not black and white but life and death.

"The only thing that Mondale can give to black folk is access to the White House" Young said. The inclusion of the unincluded will only be on the agenda of America if the Democrata win." Young said.

In Minneapolis, Dayton Duncan, Mondale's deputy press secretary, said he did not know what prompted Young to offer such a characterization of the Mondale staff.

A Sanford First: Female OB-GYN

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

Sanford women have a choice they've never had before. Without leaving town. they can be treated by a woman obstetrician-gynecologist.

But 30-year-old Dr. Udita Jahagirdar says that just because she is a woman is no reason for women to chose her as their physician, even though some, she said, will probably select her because of her BCX.

Dr. Jahagirdar and her urologist husband Ravi, decided to bring their brand new medical degrees, received from Tulane University in New Orleans In June, to Sanford because the community needs them, she said with a distinct Indian accent.

The pair, who are natives of India. "looked around for opportunites all over the United States." before settling on Sanford after her husband received a job offer here and she was told that "a lot of patients in the area were asking for a female gynecologist." she said.

Although she said she "can't imagine why" any women would hesitate to see a woman gynecologist, she added that "I think that more important than being a woman or being a man it's whether there is security there. I'm sure that any man could be just as sympathetic and give them the same kind of support. Personally, I think it is more important to be good and kind rather than to be a man or a woman. I don't think that should count, because I've encountered many very good men doctors." But she said most doctors in India are women, which is a reversal of what she found in her six years of study in the U.S.

Ms. Jahagirdra, whose office has been open one week, has yet to deliver her first Sanford baby and, she said, she lavishes about an hour on each patient she sees. She hopes, she said, to continue to have time to listen to her patients' problems as her practice grows.

Her availability brought her one of her first patients, 22-year-old Sheila Gregg, of Sanford, who said she would have had a two-week or more wait to see another doctor, and that she was looking forward to being treated by a woman.

"I figure a woman doctor would know more about a woman's body. This is going to be a new experience for me. because I've never had a woman doctor actually doing the work before. There have always been nurses there watching," Ms. Gregg said.

Ms. Jahagirdar said that because of the recent controversy over foreign doctors

Many Tongues Spoken In Seminole County Schools

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

Things have changed considerably since 1979 when the federal government told Seminole County school officials that the lack of a program for foreign students was discriminatory and something had to be done about it.

Today, hundreds of foreign students speaking as many as 20 different languages are enrolled in the Seminole public school system.

By the 1980-81 school year, trilingual Kathie Schweizer was named foreign student registrar and the move to educate foreign students whether they could speak English or not kicked into high gear.

That year, 174 foreign students and youngsters from Puerto Rico were enrolled and 130 of them could not speak English.

When school ended for the 1983-84 school year. there were 232 foreign students from 50 different nations in the school system. In the past two weeks, an

Justice Department Drops 'Baby Jane Doe' Case

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Justice Department has dropped its efforts to obtain the medical records of the severely handicapped infant known as Baby Jane Doe and will instead pursue a second case that presents the "identical isaue."

Friday was the deadline for the federal government to file its appeal of a decision by the U.S. 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals denying the government the right to see the infant's hospital records.

"We are not going to ask the Supreme Court to hear the case." Justice Department spokesman Mark Sheehan said. because the infant was out of the hospital and at home with her parents.

At the heart of the legal battle are regulations prompted by the Baby Jane Doe case and adopted by the U.S. Health and Human Services Administration. The regulations require hospitals to post the number of a telephone "hotline" so medical personnel could alert the government when they believe an infant was not receiving sufficient care. The regulations also permit the federal government to investigate such cases.

No Greeting Cards For Disney

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) - Stockholders have persuaded directors of Walt Disney Productions to terminate an agreement to buy the nation's third largest manufacturer of greeting cards.

Ray L. Watson, chairman of the board, said directors voted Friday not to purchase Gibson Greetings Inc., because some stockholders believed the transaction was not in the best interest of the company.

The decision followed an announcement Wednesday by Minneapolis financier Irwin Jacobs who said he had enough votes among stockholders to stop Disney's acquisition.

Jacobs, who owned 6.3 percent of Disney stock. contended the purchase price of Gibson was overvalued.

Diancy announced plans to buy Gibson last spring as part of its attempt to fight off New York investor Saul Steinberg, who gained a $30 million profit after Disney successfully bought back Steinberg's stock.

Fight Looms Over Diablo Delay

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI) - An appeal is expected in a few days to try to reverse a last-minute federal court order that blocked full-power testing of the $5.1 billion Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

"We are considering whether our appeal should be made to the entire 12-judge Court of Appeal or directly to the Supreme Court," Tony Ledwell, a spokesman for Pacific Gas & Electric Co. said Friday.

The appeal to allow full testing of the 1,100-megawatt plant, designed to serve 1 million people, would be filed "as swiftly as possible, possibly early next week." he said.

In a 2-1 decision Friday afternoon, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia granted a request by plant opponents, based on safety issues, to block a full-power testing license that was to go into effect at 5 p.m. BDT Friday. A hearing on the opponents' arguments was to be scheduled for November.

The bank's contribution came after it pledged 25 cents for each signature collected on its giant tenth birthday card displayed in the Sanford office. Mrs. Brenner said the promotion received a large community response. "We had hundreds of people visit the office during our birthday week. Many signed the birthday card because they wanted to help the band."

WEATHER

Scorching summer heat in the Plains pushed temperatures past the century mark in Kansas, while thunderstorms in the Rockies spawned a tornado and three funnel clouds in Wyoming and mudalides that washed out roads in Colorado. The National Weather Service said temperatures in the south-central Kansas city of Hutchinson have ranged from 100 to 103 degrees since Tuesday. Six other Kanaas cities reached or surpassed the 100-degree mark Friday. As temperatures eclipsed the centu-ry mark across Kansas, state officials considered requesting a statewide ban on burning to prevent fires because extremely dry conditions have prevailed in recent weeks. The temperature also climbed over 100 degrees in Secremento for the 27th time this summer. The 95-degree noontime heat in Dallas Friday failed to wilt the 100,000 spectators who lined the downtown streets to watch the Olympic medal winners. Cheyenne, Wyo., was under a tornado warning for about an hour late Friday afternoon, but officials had no reports of damage from at least three funnel clouds and one tornado.

If judges have their way. however, more recorders will be on order. The judges say they want eight track recorders installed in all new courtrooms during the renovation of the courthouse and four-track recorders installed in hearing rooms for better record keeping in hearings involving mental cases, juveniles, domestic relations, traffic cases and for taking depositions. It is not known how many recorders this will entail, because renovation design is not yet complete.

If court reporters have to be used for all hearings, the judges say the costs "would prove to be place, clerks will have to be a financial disaster for Seminole County."

Air Force Airman Killed, Two Rescued After Crash

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) - One airman was killed and two others were rescued Friday following the aerial collision of two Air Force jet fighters during a training exercise that was being videotaped, officials said.

The two survivors were plucked safely from the Gulf of Mexico shortly after the collision at 8:40 a.m. about 65 miles east of Panama City in the Florida Panhandle, a Tyndall spokesman said. The body of the third airman also was recovered.

Lt. Col. Art Tate said all three airmen were participating in an "air combat maneuverability instrumentation exercise" at the time of the incident. He said the training exercise, which involved four F-15s and three F-4s, was being videotaped by officials at Tyndall Air Force Base. located near Panama City.

The cause of the collision was unknown.

Sex Offender Freed On Bond

MIAMI (UPI) - Court workers have recommended psychiatric tests for a convicted sex offender who was released without bond despite allegations he operated a child pornography ring and was photographed in sexually explicit poses with children.

The Dade County Department of Corrections Pretrial Services recommended at a bond hearing in Miami Friday that Michael Ray Jamison, 39, of Miami, be released without bond, said pretrial services director Timothy Murray.

Murray said his office recommended Jamison be released without bond so caseworkers could keep an eye on him and require that he receive psychiatric help.

Time For New War On Poverty

Census Bureau statistics released this month show that 15.2 percent of the U.S. population, or 35.3 million people, lived in poverty last year.

What does it mean to live in poverty?

It used to mean going hungry and shoeless. not having a roof over your head. But poverty is relative. Today, the government defines a family of four with a cash income of less than $10,178 as living in poverty, although this does not take into account such things as non-cash government benefits or under-thetable wages.

Some of the people who fall into the category of poverty aren't poor. Others who barely clear the poverty line suffer privation. Poverty in 1984 may have a different standard than in 1934, but it still hurts to be poor. And for people who have known nothing but poverty from the Depression to the recession, hope turns to despair.

Statistically, this is the highest percentage of poverty-stricken people in America since the Johnson administration began its War on Poverty in 1965.

What has caused this national problem? How can the United States solve it? And why, in the wealthlest nation on earth, does one out of every four children less than 6 years old live in a poverty-stricken family?

As with any complex problem, there are no easy answers. One can blame current budget cuts for the increase, while forgetting that the poverty rate has been climbing for the last five years, and that last year's increase in the poverty level was the smallest since 1979.

One can point to the accomplishments of . Johnson's programs, while forgetting the extremely high cost of his War on Poverty and the small decrease in the poverty figures that resulted from It.

Or one can point out how the economy affects the poverty rate, while forgetting that the country is in the middle of a recovery as the number of people in poverty is increasing.

Whatever the real answers, there are still too many poor among us. What can be done?

Throwing money at the problem will not work; the wer on poverty showed that, Cutting too much money from welfare programs increases the problem: the Reagan administration has proven that.

An economic boom is not the only solution: the times we live in tell us that.

Instead, a middle road must be found, in which the government spends enough money to provide a basic safety net for the destitute among us. But it should not spend so much money that the taxes needed to pay for the safety net, or the budget deficit incurred to finance it, strangle the economy with inflation, recession or stagnation. Poverty programs must be run efficiently, without the waste that has crippled them in the past. Aid programs must preserve the family, not destroy it. Many children live in poverty because 36 percent of female-headed households live in poverty. And this has happened because programs like Aid to Families with Dependent Children encourage fathers to leave their families.

And odds are that, today, 1 will probably scream back.

Sure, 1 thrive on the Biblical scriptures. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." But after getting "done" to the extent that I'm burned, I am apt to retaliate with the same M.O. you dish out. It's not that I like it this way. It's a survival tactic in today's fast-paced society.

Time was when I was so shy and bashful that I blushed and cried over nothing. I was often ridiculed by friends, family and colleagues. How I hated them. I wanted to scream.

This week my husband criticized a letter I wrote for him. Yes, Dear. My daughter didn't like the way I handled a situation. Okay, Sweetle, A friend called to lambaste the legislation requiring certain volunteers to disclose their finances. She was really hot under the collar. I agreed. A co-worker snapped when I thought I was trying to be helpful. I snapped back with pleasure. Even an employee on the public payroli sounded off. And the garbage man didn't pick up the garbage again. There's lots more.

But the negativisms I encountered this week were well worth the positive reinforcements generated when Dora Lee Russell phoned from Kissimmee that she would be in Sanford and "Let's go out for a drink."

East First Street in Sanford was a mess (under construction). A storm was brewing. But we didn't seem to notice the downpour while we were "getting high" in Touchton's - tea for two in a delightful tete-a-tete after work.

Dora Lee, who thrives on motivation, gets all fired up at any negative suggestion. She tells her employees, 'I will not have it. Let's talk it out. get things straight and get back to work.'

A lot of people do more than scream when under stress and pressure. They crack up. I have a recommendation.

Brenda Carter de Treville, director of marketing and community rela-tions at Brookwood Community Hospital, and formerly of Sanford, will conduct a one-hour Stress Management seminar on Saturday, Aug. 25, at noon in Captain's Galley. Red Lobster, 355 N. Semoran, Winter Park. Open to the community, the only cost is the $4 luncheon tab. No advance registration is necessary.

In the meantime, go ahead and clear the air. Scream. But be prepared for a resounding echo.

Problem For Us All

There wouldn't have been as much shock and surpise expressed at the United Nations International Conference on Population if the conferees had read a slender book published last year.

At that U.N. session, the conference secretary-general, Rafael M. Salas of the Philippines, said that unchecked growth in the world's population helped cause wars and kep ...ving standards low.

The booklet that makes this bad news worse is called "Population Change, Resources and the Environment." It's a report of a conference of 50 people from 18 states brought together for three produces more people. WASKINGTON WORLD That Failing Humor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The presidential campaign is turning into a lulu, proving all the candidates are human and then some.

Mostly it's the off-the-cuff comments that are making headlines and causing an uproar. Some of the remarks are made in jest and not taken that way. Others it is feared may come from the psyche and considering the backlash should never have been uttered in humor or otherwise.

Falling in the latter category was President Reagan's volce test microphone check with the joking anouncement:

"My fellow Americans. I'm pleased to tell you today that I've signed legislation that would outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes."

The Europeans were not amused. The communist bloc thought it typically Reagan. Many Americans were appalled, wondering whether the Reagan subconscious was prevailing. The president's political strategists publicly shrugged it off. expressing confidence that everyone would understand the nature of the quip.

But at the same time, it did nothing to crase a perception in the minds of some critics that Reagan is "trigger happy" and does not fully comprehend the devastating pushbutton power he holds in his hands.

Opposition candidate Walter Mondale accepted the fact that # was a joke, but said it was not a

Finally, relief programs must not stifle individual initiative but must encourage it.

One thing the government should not do is tax the poor more, but another Census Bureau study reports that it did just that. In 1982 the poor paid 8 percent of their income in taxes, compared to 6.6 percent in 1980. Such obvious inequity must end as a first step in the fight against poverty.

Of course, it is easy to list such broad-based objectives without considering how much moeny is just enough to provide the basic safety net. But the United States is full of managers, of talented people who can run programs. What is needed are the goals these people should work toward.

Let's spell out that goal: the eradication of poverty. America pulled out of the war on poverty, just as it pulled out of the war in Vietnam, because the goals of neither war were clearly defined.

This time there is a goal.

The fight won't be easy. It won't be cheap. It may even turn out to be impossible. But we should make the effort.

Queen Elizabeth is an inveterate purse carrier. She would look more like a monarch and less like a matron if she handed her purse to one of her ladies-in-waiting.

Once, with President Reagan, she was strolling in her own garden at her own home, Windsor Castle, and sure enough, there was this little purse dangling from her arm. 1 remember thinking: What can she possibly have in there - the keys to the kingdom?

Of course, we all know the reasons we carry purses - for makeup, comb, credit cards and money. We have allowed ourselves to think we also must carry pills, datebook, Kleenex, keys, paper clips, sewing kit, rain hat, etc., etc.

What we need is a F.F.P. movement - Freedom From Purses. To launch the movement, we must:

First: retrain ourselves to carry only the essentials.

- Second: convince fashion designers to provide clothes with built-in carryalls. These could include deep pockets in pants and full skirts; zippered pockets on sleeves (I had one once on a-canvas jacket and it was great).

We've learned. through increasingly expensive experiences at the gas pump, that others control valuable resources we can't afford to do without.

So most of us have some passing information about, and sympathy for, the scemingly "distant problem."

But what frightens the reader who absorbs the 15 pages of the population report is a notion that hasn't seeped into public consciousness yet, but which must if we are to survive as a civilized world.

The dimensions of the population problem are frightening enough. Today's world population of 4.7 billion grows at about 1.8 percent each year. That's a reduction from the 2 percent rate in the 1960s. But because the base is larger, today's reduced rate of growth actually Twenty other countries - from Australia to Yugoslavia - hold a fifth of the world's population and share a slow growth rate with the United States. China, with another fifth of the total population, adds about one-fifth of the world's increase in people each year.

It is in the rest of the world that one-half of the world's people live and nearly three-quarters of the annual growth occurs.

A third of the world's people, half the population of what is called "the developing world." live in countries where women, on average, have five or more children in their lifetimes. Three nations - India, Bangladesh and Pakistan - are half of that group.

When the next century begins. there could be over 6 billion people on the earth, and 45 percent more people in the developing world. To feed them, food production would have to increase three times over current levels.

HUD Man Has Violations History

WASHINGTON - An official of the Department of Housing and Urban Development has an outstanding bench warrant against him that calls for his arrest in connection with housing code violations on property he formerly owned in Washington, D.C.

The bench warrant was issued in District of Columbia Superior Court last Oct. 28 when the HUD official failed to appear in court for a "status hearing" in the case. It orders the U.S. marshal "to arrest Kenneth F. Holbert and bring him forthwith to answer the information charging him" with failure to pro-vide hot water for tenants of a seven-unit apartment building on 33 occasions from November, 1982. to April, 1983.

Holbert, 59, an attorney, carns $66,000 a year as a special assistant to HUD's general deputy assistant secretary for fair housing and equal opportunity. When my associate Tony Capaccio contacted Holbert at his $230,000 suburban Maryland home, the HUD official expressed mild interest.

"I thank you for bringing it to my attention," he said. "If someone was looking for me with a warrant. I'd be concerned." Generally, the federal marshals are too busy with more serious criminal offenses to pursue the huge backlog of outstanding bench warrants.

"All the problems I had with the property were solved" as of March 1983, Holbert said, explaining: "From that point on I was only concerned with selling the property." In fact, he said, "from 1979, after I had an agent, I wasn't involved on a day-to-day basis with the building."

Official, documents show that Holbert sold the three-story brick building in February 1984. Since 1981, the records show, he had carned anywhere from $5,000 to $15,000 a year in rental income on the property.

The outstanding bench warrant stems from a case filed in April. 1983, by the District of Columbia corporation counsel's office, alleging the 33 instances of failure to provide hot water in violation of the district's housing code. Holbert is among 28 current and former landlords listed as a major violator in a list issued by the city's housing enforcement authorities.

Holbert's current problems weren't his first run-in with housing regulations. In 1980, tenants in the building filed a petition with housing authorities charging Holbert with rent overcharges and code violations.

An independent examiner agreed with most of the tenants' allegations, and ordered Holbert to pay $2,490 in adjustments. The Deproper heating and hot water during various periods from 1978 to the present are housing code violations of such substantial nature as to significantly affect the health, safety and security of tenants."

Nine months later, another examiner concluded that Holbert had 'reduced (tenant-) related services and facilities by allowing substantial housing code violations to exist over a prolonged period of time."

HUD officials were aware of Holbert's problems. In fact, they took the unusual step of holding up final approval of his last three annual financial disclosure statements until he provided evidence that numerous code violations diacovered in 1980 had been corrected.

The evidence Holbert offered was a single-page check-off form from a city inspector, listing correction of 36 minor violations ranging from peeling paint to loose plaster, leaky sinks and dirty floors. The more serious charges lodged against him were not mentioned. But Holbert's disclosure forms were finally OK'd. /

A tremendous body of evidence is being compiled that links publications pandering to the child pornography market and child abuse by pedophiles - a mentally ill group of people who desire sex with children.

Recent FBI testinony before a Senate subcommittee indicates that child abusers and pedophiles "almost always" collect child pornography material. FBI agent Kenneth V. Larning testified: "Certainly we know this material fuels their fantasies, and they use it to lower the inhibitions of children ...

Two months ago, President Reagan announced the formation of a national commission to study links beween pornography and criminal behavior. The very first order of business for the commission should be to focus on missing children who are victims of pedophiles and how pornography leads to child abuse."

The qualms of the allies are just one reason the United States should welcome the chance for U.S.-Soviet talks on this subject ...

America can take pride as its winners parade through New York and other cities this week, and then through their hometowns all over the land. But it's the winners and losers of all nationalities who testify that the spirit of competition still thrives in sport. Not even the boycott could spoil that.

The U.S. government's Radio Marti preparations must be bothering Fidel Castro. His reaction has surprised some people in the United States who predicted Castro would try to jam radio stations in the United States in retallation.

Instead, Castro has encouraged Cuban news broadcasters and press people to be more like those in the United States, in some respects.

For example, he has urged that the Cuban news media be more aggressive in reporting problems Inside Cuba.

Not criticism of the Cuban government or the Communist Party, to be sure. But journalists are now told they can write stories about the problems of the average citizens ...

... Castro may have started something. Once the people become accustomed to a bit of frankness and truth in their news media, they may want more.

. the Cuban government may find that its new policy has whetted the appetite of the people for news that doesn't have a Castrolle viewpoint.

The suit was based on claims of Vietnamese veterans that they were exposed at great risk to Agent Orange and that they are likely to have health problems themselves and that their children may have birth defects ...

But has our concept of "freedom" changed?

Our ancestors placed a statue in New York Harbour, whose invitation reached throughout the world: 'Give me your tired, your poor.. your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore, send these, the tempest-tossed, to me."

> Maybe our concept of liberty and freedom also needs a facelifting - a cleaning up of the selfishness encrusting our attitudes, a strengthening of the framework of ideals, with freedom's privileges for all people and not just the privileged few.

> Shall we drop the torch in Liberty's unraised arm? Shall we blow out the flame of freedom? Shall we tear off the invitation inscribed within the Statue's entrance? Shall we close our eyes, our cars, our minds, to the pleas and cries we hear, and stifle conscience pangs? Or shall we listen as a new MISS LIBERTY calls:

> Keep alive the vision! Rekindle the flame! Open wide the doors! Proclaim anew the invitation to all who search in hope for life and freedom! For "life, liberty, an the pursuit of happiness" is still our American lifestyle.

Q. Early detection of cancer helped prolong my grandfather's life. I hope other seniors can benefit from regular medical checkups, too. I understand different cancers cause a variety of symptoms. What waraing signals should trigger concern about cancer?

A. The chances of surviving cancer today are better than ever before. And an awareness of cancer symptoms and regular checkups can help promote good health.

Some people, as they age, attribute medical symptoms to "growing older" and allow illnesses to remain untreated. Never fail to mention symptoms to a doctor. Ask questions and request

Presidents And The Press Perfecting The Art Of Intimidation

Editor's Note: The following is part three of a four-part series taken from Presidents and the Press: The Nixon Legacy by Joseph Spear, published by MIT Press. The final installment will run on the Herald OPINION page Aug. 26.

By Joseph C. Spear

President Gerald Ford complained In private, sometimes bitterly, when he felt mistreated by the media, but he rarely voiced such feelings in public. The same could not be said for his press secretary and chief enforcer, Ron Nessen.

Some of Nessen's quarrels with reporters were premeditated, but many were the product of his hairtrigger temper. He did not appreciate, for example, a question posed by UPI's Helen Thomas at a Ford press conference and, at the next day's regular briefing, the press secretary rebuked her by name.

"We can take a break here for the filing of corrections," said Nessen, "if anyone wishes to do so."

On occasion, Nessen attempted to intimidate reporters with calculated tantrums, the most notable a June 1975 exhortation to reporters to cease their "blind, mindless, irrational suspicion and cynicism and distrust."

Another premeditated outburst occurred while the Ford family was on vacation in Vail, Colo., during the 1975 Christmas season. Ford took a spill on the ski slopes, and pictures of the presidential pratfall were displayed on front pages across the nation. Later, Nessen strolled into the press room and delivered a diatribe to a half-dozen reporters.

The stories they had been writing. he fumed, were "the most unconscionable misrepresentation of the president. ... He is healthy, graceful, and he is by far the most athletic president in memory.

The press was not held in high esteem in the Jimmy Carter camp either. Carter "thinks he's 99 percent smarter than anybody who's around him." said New York Times reporter James Wooten, who covered the 1976 Carter campaign and the first year of his administration. "He has no respect for scribes; ne hates the press.

This observation by an outsider was later confirmed by an erstwhile insider, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs Hodding Carter. The president and his associates viewed "the press as the enemy," said Hodding Carter in an interview with the Boston Globe. "They think that reporters are clods and animals and that you simply feed them."

Jimmy Carter usually managed to avoid direct confrontation with reporters, but he had in his inner circle a press kicker who seldom hesitated to make use of his considerable talent. And White House reporters were well aware that when Jody Powell jumped on them, he was acting as Carter's surrogate.

Many times. Powell's temper tantrums were merely spontaneous bursts of anger. White House corresnondents believed, however, that he often had an ulterior motive when he snarled at them.

'Jody practices winning through intimidation." said one veteran reporter. "He can bully reporters and hopes you'll be a little less aggressive next time." Chris Ogden of Time magazine agreed: "There was a certain bit of the bully to him. You had to yell back at him or he'd spot it as a weakness."

Shortly after Carter took office, Powell took umbrage at an AP story on the administration's arms limitations proposals. He rousted reporter Rick Meyer out of bed at 6:15 a.m. and bawled him out.

When the Washington Post reported in early 1978 that White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan had splt a drink down the blouse of a female customer at a Washington singles bar, Powell went into a rage. He labeled the story "sleazy crap." issued a 33-page denial and, in the words of New Republic correspondent John Osborne, "rebuked and ha-rangued the assembled White House press corps for days afterward and expanded the lectures and protests in prolonged telephone calls - one lasting 45 minutes - to individual reporters."

When it comes to the needs of the poor and deprived, Ronald Reagan's political opponents have said, the president has a warm smile and a cold heart. Journalists could say the same thing about his attitude toward them: He is probably the best-liked menace to a free press since Theodore Roosevelt, who fulminated about muckrakers and filed libel suits against publishers and editors.

Reagan, like his predecessors, does not like leaks - by which he does not mean acclamatory leaks but unauthorized leaks of "bad news" or news that pre-empts his own announcements or actions. At times, according to one White House official, the president's concern over leaks amounts to "an obsession."

A spate of stories in January 1983 about White House budget deliberations sent Reagan into what one presidential assistant called "a lowering rage." Declaring he had 'had it up to my keister" with leaks. Reagan ordered subordinates to issue 'guidelines'' to regulate contacts with the press by White House officials.

Communications Director David Gergen formulated the rules, which designated a small number of officials who would be permitted to speak about various subjects and required all other staff members to clear journalists' requests for information with the office of communications.

"I would not call it a gag order," Gergen told reporters. "We are going to try and serve you to ensure that we get a full and free flow of information."

Reagan and his top aides have occasionally launched investigations to find out who talked to newsmen. A Wall Street Journal article about the 1982 congressional elections, for example, carried several quotes from anonymous White House officials, and the telephone logs were scrutinized in search of those who had spoken out of turn.

On March 12, 1983, the White House released without fanfare an executive order compelling all federal employees with access to classified ty clearances, stated the order, "may examinations, when appropriate, in authorized disclosures of classified information."

The same executive order imposed yet another, even more odious system of censorship on every government employee with access to certain types of classified information: Whether actively employed in the government or not, they would now have to obtain written approval for everything they planned to say or write about their activities as government officials.

The rules would apply to books. book reviews, speeches, even works of fiction. Everything would be submitted to government censors, who would determine what the public would be permitted to see, hear and read. Such regulations had previously applied only to employees of the intelligence services.

Thanks to congressional intervention, the White House has temporarily halted its efforts to implement the executive order.

The Reagan White House has also proposed legislation and supported other efforts to severely restrict the types and amount of information obtainable under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act.

Outrageously high search fees have been routinely charged to persons who have asked for documents. Attorney General William French Smith also decreed in May 1981 that information requested under the FOIA could be denied on purely technicai grounds.

Some types of cancer affect seniors more commonly than younger people. A persistent cough, shortness of breath or coughing up blood suggests the possibility of lung cancer. Changes in bowel habits or rectal bleeding are two signs of cancer of the colon or rectum. A sore that fails to heal, the sudden appearance of a mole or a change in the shape, size or color of a wart or mole are symptoms of skin cancer.

With men, frequent or painful urination, especially at night, could indicate a variety of health concerns, including prostate cancer.

> Even if no symptoms are present, a periodic checkup helps detect physical problems which may not cause pain or other noticeable symptoms. A doctor can determine the need for specific medical tests, based on a patient's medical history and generally accepted guidelines.

Q. In your column on eye care, I was disappointed by the definition of an ophthalmologist, where you did not state, "An ophthalmologist is a D.O. or M.D. who specializes," etc.

A. I meant no slight to doctors of osteopathy. but was using the term "M.D." in its broadest sense, meaning "medical doctor" or "physician." There are many similarities between the professions, but a few key differences, as you point out. Thank you for setting the record straight.

Doctors Grow New Skin For Wyoming Brothers

By Gino Del Guercio UPI Science Writer

CLUCKER PROPERTY.

BOSTON (UPI) - Doctors said today they have grown entirely new skins in the laboratory for two young Wyoming brothers who received third degree burns on more than 90 percent of their bodies last summer.

The Harvard Medical School physicians believe Jamie Selby, 6, and his brother Glen, 8, have survived worse burns that anyone else in medical history thanks to the new skin-growing technology.

"Since they just about didn't have any skin left, there can't be too many people with much larger burns," said Dr. G. Gregory Gallico. their plasti COL MAN

The only skin the boys had left - unburned armpit tissue and moderately burned skin behind their knees and in small pieces on their scalp was grown into large sheets of skin that were sewn back onto their bodies.

The Harvard team reported their success in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Jamie returned to school earlier this year and Glen remains hospitalized at Boston's Shriners Burn Institute with a few areas that have yet to heal, said a hospital spokesman.

Doctors had initially described their chances of survival from last summer's accident as "very grim." The two boys and a third companion, who was killed in the accident, were playing with paint remover when the third boy lit a match. turning the room "into a ball of flames."

according to one firefighter.

Because of the newly developed technique called autologous cultured human epithelium the boys will be able to resume "reasonably normal lives." said Gallico, who practices at Massachusetts General Hospital.

"The boys were surprisingly good natured."

Dr. Howard Green at Harvard Medical School discovered that if small patches of skin are shredded, mixed with a solution of nutrients and then poured into pans, within a month they can be grown into enough skin to cover even the largest burn victims.

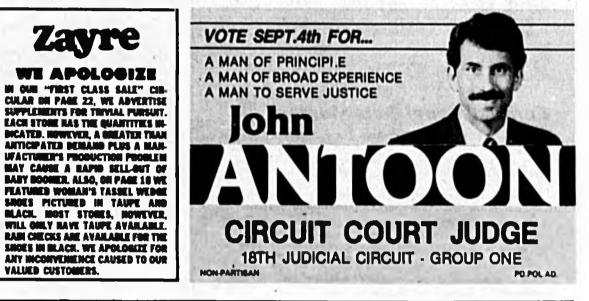

The skin is an organ like the heart or liver. Like other organs " must be were "pillar to the patient's own, otherwise the patient's body rejects it.

Normally, doctors take unburned skin from other parts of burn victims' bodies and graft them onto the burn sites. But in the case of Jamie and Glen, they did not have enough skin left to graft onto their burns.

Before the new skin was sewn on, all the old skin had to be scraped off down to the muscle. In a series of operations, new skin was sewn onto parts of the body - first the legs, then the arms and then the back, chest and other areas.

Gallico said Glen's face remains deformed and will need more plastic surgery. But he described Jamie's face as "just beautiful."

"It might take some getting used to, but if you knew what it looked like before, it's just beautiful," he said.

1. The current Commercial land use designation on the old Orchid Farm property located on Palm Springs Drive south of North Street may be inconsistent with the land use of the surrounding ares. The current Commercial designation is the result of an apparent transcription error in the development of the "Official Land Use Map." A lower intensity land use may be more compatible with surrounding land uses in terms of traffic, public satety, and visual compatibility. Alternative Land use designations under consideration for this property include; Low Density Residential; Medium Density Residential; Planned Unit Development; and Low Intensity Commercial.

2. As the County becomes more urbanized, ensuring adequate flood protection, surface water and groundwater quality, and groundwater recharge becomes increasingly important. Wetlands have come to be recognized as an important component in the safe and rational management of water resources. In particular, the management of water instands can provide beentilis to the County's water resources management can reduce public costs for meeting flood protection and water quality standards, provide groundwater recharge, and innities for County residents.

The proposed changes to the policies in the "Natural Resources" Element of the Comprehensive Plan were made as a result of recent technical information provided in A Wetlands Study of Seminois County. This Study includes detailed information on the importance of wetlands for water storage, groundwater recharge, and wildlife habitat and standards for regulating the development of wetlands in the County. A Wetlands Study Review Committee, representing varied interests in the County, was formed and held several meetings over a period of live months to review the Study and make recommendations to the Board of County Commissioners. The following changes/additions to the "Natural Resources Ele-ment" of the Comprehensive Plan are being proposed as a result of the Review Committee's recommendation "To consider the Wetlands Ordinance in addition to all zoning districts".

----CON CONCERNMENTS

To adopt a Wetlands Ordinance.
 To adopt A Wetlands Study of Seminole County and Planning Guidelines for Natural Resources and Land Use as guidelines for ecological erpretation. Ives such as liesibility in the design of development density, recreation, open space, buffer, and surface water storage re-To offer in ents in order to protect wetlands.

The proposed changes/additions to the "Netural Resources Elemen," ci the Comprehensive Plan also include; the adoption by resolution of Planning Guidelines for Natural Resources and land Use in order to provide detailed standards for the use of wetlands for development activities, recrea-tion, surface water storage, and buffers; and the designation of the Environmental Control Division as the County wide Conservation Agency (cur-rently the Parks and Recreation Division holds this responsibility). The redesignation of the County-wide Conservation Agency is proposed because of the closer involvement in development plan review, water quality monitoring, and waste management by the Environmental Control Division.

3. The initial of over 1000 new residents per month into the County is placing increasing demands on the County's Recreation and Open Space stem. The proposed changes to the policies in the "Services and Facilities Element" of the Comprehensive Plan provide for the use of wetlands I other environmentally sensitive areas for passive recreation and for the promotion of recreation in private developments to help meet some the growing recreation needs of the County.

Passive recreation is compatible in most wetland areas. Promoting boardwalks, traits and other passive recreation activities in private developments can help meet the growing recreation needs of the County. Increasing private recreation opportunities can also be achieved by the development of guidelines for active and passive recreation. In larger developments and by allowing development to improve County Park facilities in lieu of make ng on-elte recreation im

Traveler Beware: Hotel Phone Ripoffs With Us

By Gail Collins

UPI Business Writer NEW YORK (UPI) - The traveling businessman is safer from telephone overcharges in foreign hotels than he was a few years back, but experts still urge caution when calling home from across the seas.

'Most of my sermons to business groups start with the fact there is no reason to let yourself be ripped off simply because the company is paying for it," said E. E. Carr of AT&T. "If a hotel succeeds in clobbering the business traveler, they're going to get the personal traveler the neat iffic.

Carr, director of correspondent relations at AT&T, said angry calls from returning business travelers convinced him to start a crusade against excessive surcharges a decade ago.

"I was anxious to get out of hotel business and back to telephones," he said. "I was swamped regularly with complaints.

No one knows how much money is lost by American businesses whose employees are overcharged for overseas calls when they are traveling abroad. But AT&T files suggest the amount could be hefty.

One businessman called his office in California from Barcelona, Spain, and found the $120 call was billed at more than $500. A U.S. official in Beirut reported he was charged $686 by his hotel for a $270 ; phone call to Washington.

A businessman made a 7minute call from Hamburg. Germany to Rochester, N.Y., and was billed $110 for the $20 conversation. A marketing executive calling home in California from Dusseldorf found a $202 surcharge added to his $120 call.

"American travelers were coming home and suggesting our partners, the foreign telephone companies, were making a tremendous amount of money." Carr saw. Actually, it was the hotels."

In 1975, AT&T developed Teleplan, a cooperative agreement in which participating hotel chains abroad agreed to maximum surcharges of $2-$10 on calls to the United States. In return. AT&T offered to spend money on advertising to promote the hotels that took part in the deal.

"In exchange for being fair and reasonable they got a substantial amount of advertising under our logo," Carr said.

Since Teleplan went into effect, complaints have dwindled to almost nothing. Carr said.

But overcharging still goes on, and a major problem area continues to be Germany, Carr said.

Hornsby, who employs a dozen workers, operates two business record storage companies out of the same facility, and sells office-size shredders.

Because the material his company handles is sensitive and companies cannot risk the information falling into the wrong hands, Hornsby has to persuade his customers their records are safe with him until they hit the shredder.

Other services include the purchase of orthopedic appliances, and a week-long summer camp for younger patients. Hornsby has plans for expansion. He wants to sell franchises. The demand is there, it he said.

Personal Income Climbs, Spending Drops Off

icans' personal income climbed 0.8 percent in July but spending slowed even further and, in the case of heavy appliances and cars, went into reverse, the Commerce Department said Friday.

Varitek: This One ls For You, Skip

As the unofficial leader of the Altamonte Springs Little National All-Star Southern Region ampions, Jason Varitek has the job of paying attention to detail.

When he is behind the plate, the flesty 12-year-old is continually barking orders and keeping his teammates on their toes. This take charge attitude has been one of the reasons the Nationals have been so successful.

While some pre-teens might cringe at the thought of one of their peers ordering them around, just the opposite is true for the Nationals. The other 13 youngsters are inspired by Varitek's constant encouragement to the point where they look to him in times of indecision.

It wasn't that long ago that the Nationals fell behind St. Petersburg Bay Point, 4-0, in the championship game of the state tournament. It seems a 12-year-old's confidence level may go up and down similiar to a Holiday Inn elevator.

When the boys fell behind, there were worried oaks circling the dugout. Several conference thatthey thought all was lost — at least for that one inning. Not Varitek, however. He was the pillar among the first-inning storm.

He kept talking, encouraging and pumping up his teammates. By the third inning, Altamonte had caught Bay Point. One inning and five runs later, it was all over. Altamonte had its first state championship.

District 14: Best USA Big League 3rd In World

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE - The District 14 South U.S.A. All-Stars are the best Big League baseball team in the United States - but they ended up finishing third in the Big League World Series at Floyd Hull Stadium.

District 14, which dropped into the loser's bracket after being beaten by Talwan on Thursday, was ousted from the tournament on Friday night, 7-3, by a hard-hitting team from Maracaibo, Zulid State, Venezuela.

"We were best in the U.S., but we would have liked to have won it all," South manager Howard Mable said. "But the kids had a great time down here and they played some great baseball. They represented Florida very well.

Venezuela moves into the championship game Saturday night at 5 against the Far East (Ping Tung, Taiwan, Republic of China). Venezuela needs to win two games for the World Series title. A second, winner-take-all game would be played Saturday night at 8.

"Venezuela has a fine team," Mable said. "They're free swingers, so you have to mix up against them. And they're especially tough when they get ahead.'

Venzuela took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first as South starter Jeff Lowrey walked Omer Munoz. who then stole second and scored on a single to center by Francisco Alana.

The South came right back with a two-run

'Yeah, I thought we were going to lose," said Jeff Conklin at the time, "I think some of the rest did, too. But not Jason. He's always in the game. He keeps us going."

The Nationals haven't had too many close brushes with the wrong end of the scoreboard. but when they have, Varitek has led the way spiritually and physically. He has eight homers for the tournament. One of them - a grand slam - erased a Maitland lead and keyed the victory way back in the division playoffs.

But even some things are beyond Jason's control. While he was paying attention to detail Thursday after Altamonte had clinched a spot in the Little League World Series at Williamsport. Pa., his mind couldn't help but wander.

As he folded up the championship banner, Jason wasn't thinking about the championship or the World Series. He was thinking about a teammate – an absent teammate – first baseman Skip Diehl.

"We dedicated this game to Skip." said Jason about the Southern Region championship win over Alabama. "We were thinking about him, and wished that he could be here. We just wished so much that he could be here out here and have all the fun we're having.'

When Jason talked about his teammate, he did it slowly and quietly. When he got halfway through, his voice started to quaver. The kind of quaver that shows strong emotion for a team-mate. The kind of quaver that brings tears to your cycs.

That's how strongly the Nationals feel about their teammate Skip. The feeling is not just built on ability either. Skip is a good hitter and a pretty good first baseman. His role was as a part-time starter and number one pinch hitter.

This is a team which cares for each other. The parents aren't second guessing the coaches for whom they play. "I've been around a lot of all-star teams," said one parent. "And this is the first one where the parents didn't tear down the coaching staff for not playing their son."

Which is probably another reason for their success. It's also a deeply religious team. "A lot of us coaches are very religious." said outfield coach Rudy Callahan. "We just want to thank God for the talent and ability he has given us to work with."

Forfeit Can't Dim Savages' Showing

PLANTATION - It will go down in the books as a win by forfeit, but the Seminole Savages were impressive for five innings Friday before the Virginia Beach Astros had to forfeit for two illegal substitutions. The Savages already had the victory well in hand though as they had a 7-0 lead at the time.

Seminole moved closer to reaching its goal of finishing in the top 15 of the 47-team 15 and Under American Softball Association Slow-Pitch National Tournament. The Savages are the first Seminole Softball Club 15 and under team to make the ASA National tourney.

The Savages went up against the Fort Worth Angels Saturday morning at the Plantation Central Park complex.

Christy Tibbitts held Virginia Beach in check for five innings while the Savages backed her with an eight-hit offensive attack. Tibbitts allowed just three hits, struck out one and walked none.

Seminole took an early lead with three runs in the top of the first inning. Jaudon Jonas led off the game with a double to left-center and, one out later. Lomicia Whitaker singled to put runners on first and third. Sharon Bonaventure followed with a single to drive in Jonas and leave runners on the corners. Mikki Eby followed with a sacrifice fly to drive in Whitaker and Bonaventure scored the third run of the inning on a double off the bat of Bridgette Jenerette.

The Savages added a single run in the fourth to take a 4-0 lead. Sheri Peterson led off with a single and Kathy Mike followed with a single. Peterson came around to score when Mike's hit got by the Virginia Beach outfielder.

Seminole padded its lead to 7-0 with three runs in the top of the fifth. With one out, Bonaventure ripped a single. Eby reached on an error and Jenerette was intentionally walked to load the bases. Caroline Chavis the stepped up and hit a fly ball to right field, driving in Bonaventure from third. Three consecutive errors on the same play enabled both Eby and Jenerette to score.

Virginia Beach forfeited the game when they made two illegal substitutions, trying to put two players who were taken out of the game back in.

off Venezuela pitcher Nelson Diaz and scored on Kyle Whitaker's single to left. Whitaker then stole both second and third and scored on Dean Hazen's sacrifice fly to center to give District 14 a 2.1 lead.

After a scoreless second inning, Venezuela broke the game open with five runs in the top of the third. With one out, Nelson Diaz singled up the middle and Munoz followed with a double to right center to put runners on second and third. Alana then singled to right to drive in Diaz and tie the score at 2-2.

Eduardo Zambrano then hit into a fielder's choice, forcing Alana at second. Marcus Orias then stepped up and ripped a double down the left field line, driving in both Diaz and Munoz and giving Venezuela a 4-2 lead. Roberto Zambrano made it 5-2 as he unloaded a triple to right-center and Zambrano scored on a single off the bat of Gerardo Moreno to make it 6-2.

Venezuela knocked Lowrey off the mound in the third and Auckland came on in relief. Auckland was relieved by Jeff Greene in the fifth. Greene pitched the last three innings for the South, gave up two hits, struck out four and walked one.

The highlight of the game for District 14 came in the bottom of the fourth when pinch-hitter Darrin Reichle launched a Diaz fastball over the 20-foot wall down the left field line, some 340 feet away. Reichle's solo homer cut Venezuela's lead to 6-3, but the South couldn't push across another run.

Venezuela added a run in the top of the fifth to make it 7-3. Eduardo Zambrano led off with a double to left-center and scored when Moreno singled up the middle.

District 14 put together a two-out rally in the bottom of the seventh, but came up empty and the game ended on a controversial call at first base. With one out, Dwayne McLeoad drew a walk and Auckland followed with a single. Migoel Ferrer made a shoestring catch of Whitaker's liner to left for the second out, bringing up Hazen.

Hazen hit a grounder deep in the whole between short and third. Munoz, Venežuela's

Posey Cites Weightroom For Players Great Shape

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Thanks to summer weight programs and a lot of dedication, Seminole County football coaches are pleased with the condition of their players and, overall, the first week of practice has been a good one.

The first week was mainly for conditioning and a review of what was learned in spring workouts. Coaches will be able to tell more this coming week when the county gridders don pads.

All county teams open the season Sept. 7.

SEMINOLE — The new weight room at Seminole High is already beginning to pay off big for the football team as most of its players got in a lot of weight training over the summer. Seminole coach Jerry Posey said the weight program and a good spring practice season enabled the Tribe to come back for Fall practice in good shape

"The biggest surprise is the kids are in pretty good shape to start with." Posey said. "I'm pleased with the overall team condition. We spent some time in the weightroom the past few days and the kids handled it really well. I'm kind of anxious for Monday to get here, that's when we start in pads."

LAKE MARY - The Rams are anxious, to say the least, for the 1984 season with most of its top players returning from a 6-4 1983 season. Coach Harry Nelson said the Rams had a good first few days of practice and came back in good condition. "We look so good it's giving me goose pimples," Nelson said. "The carry over from last Spring is very positive and the attitudes are great. We'll be able to tell a lot more after next week. It's contact week and it will be kind of a key week."

LAKE HOWELL - The summer weight program has always been a plus at Lake Howell High since its inception. However, the main goal of the Silver Hawks in Fall practice is to learn as much as possible. Lake Howell's roster is dominated by sophomores and juniors this season and coach Mike Bisceglia said there are only five or six seniors who will be starting.

"Our problem is we're going to be a very young football team," Bisceglia said, "We could have a decent season but it depends on how quick the kids learn.'

"The first three days of practice have been pretty smooth," added Bisceglia. "I was really pleased with our results and the kids turned up in very good condition. They have good attitudes too. A lot of the kids are shaving their heads or getting Mohawks, that shows they are really into the game.

The Silver Hawks started practicing in pads today and they will be in a pre-season jamboree, Friday, Aug. 31 against Lake Mary at DeLand.

LAKE BRANTLEY - Lake Brantley is hoping Its success in 1983 will carry over into 1964, and, after the first three days of practice, it looks like there's a good chance it will.

"Everybody has a good attitude and the team came back in the best condition in a long time." Patriots' coach Dave Tullis said. "I was pleased with the first days of practice, but you really can't tell a whole lot without pads. After we practice in pads, we'll be able to find out how far we've progressed."

The Patriots will play DeLand in a preseason jamboree on Aug. 31 at DeLand.

OVIEDO - After an impressive four-hour workout on Thursday, coach Jack Blanton is anxious to get the ball rolling in 1984. The Lions will start working out in pads Monday as the Sept. 7 season kickoff approaches.

"We look just like we did when we left off in the Spring, pretty good," Blanton said. "The condition of the team is really good, they worked hard in the weight room over the summer."

One strong point for the Lions in the first practice sessions was the backfield, which Blanton is counting on for big things in 1984. Running backs Andrew Smith and Charles "Pop' Bowers and quarterback Kevin Thompson will be the key offensive players for the Lions in 1984 and Blanton said the three have looked good in practice thus far.

LYMAN - Bill Scott was not avialable for comment.

James Sparks Eagle Victory

United Press International

In a city where defections are as common as long-winded speeches, running back Craig James is one defector Redskins' fans would rather forget.

James was the hero in Washington Friday night, taking a screen pass and sprinting 41 yards for a touchdown to spark the New England Patriots to a come-from-behind 31-27 victory over the Redskins.

James, who defected from the USFL's Washington Federals to the NFL Patriots,took a fourth-quarter screen from third-string quarterback Tom Ramsey, broke a tackle and burst into the end zone untouched to snap a 17-17 tie and spearhead New England's first exhibition triumph of 1984.

"I knew I had them when I caught the pass." James said, "I had them where I wanted them."

New England coach Ron Meyer could not revel in the triumph because two of his key players went down with injuries.

Linebacker Johnny Rembert and All-Pro punter Rich Camarillo both sustained knee injuries that may require surgery.

The Patriots' victory spoiled a sparkling performance by Babe Laufenberg, the Redskins third-string quarterback, who is fighting for a spot on the roster.

Laufenberg completed 10 of 17 passes for 154 yards and a touchdown. He engineered two scoring drives.

'I thought Babe really competed in the end and showed he's a fighter," said Redskins coach Joe Gibbs, who added that Washington's second straight loss "showed we have a lot of things to correct.

While Laufenberg sparkled, rookie signal-caller Jay Schroeder fizzled in his NFL debut.

Schroeder's first NFL pass was intercepted and returned to the one-yard line, setting up a 1-yard touchdown run by the Patriots' Tony Collins.

The Redskins scored on a 9-yard run by quarterback Joe Theismann and a 3-yard pass from Theismann to Anthony Jones

Mosi Tatupu scored two touchdowns rushing for the Patriots.

In another exhibition game last night, David Kreig and Jim Zorn each threw touchdown passes to lead the Seattle Seahawks to a 17-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Zorn, who came in for starter Krieg, completed seven of 14 passes for 120 yards. He connected with Chris Castor for a 40-yard touchdown pass with 2:59 remaining in the third quarter to complete the scoring. Krieg hit Cullen Bryant with a 13-yard TD toss in the second quarter.

St. Louis opened the scoring Neil Lomax hit Doug Marsh on a 1-yard touchdown pass with 1:34 remaining in the first quarter.

The Scahawks improved their pre-season record to 4-0. The Cardinals dropped to 2-1.

Other games Saturday night include, Cincinnati at Chicago; N.Y. Jets at N.Y. Giants; Tampa Bay at Atlanta; Philadelphia at Minnesota; Cleveland at Kansas City: Indianapolis at Denver: New Orleans at Houston; San Francisco at San Diego; and Green Bay at L.A. Rams. In one game Sunday, Miami is at the L.A. Raiders.

Player Fires Blistering 63, Moves Into Deadlock In PGA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) - It was a round that had Gary Player thinking he might break 60 and left others marveling at the little 48-year-old South African.

Player, who hasn't won a PGA event in six years, blistered the 7,145-yard Shoal Creek course Friday with a record 9-under-par 63 to move into a tie with Lanny Wadkins and Lee Trevino at 7-under 137 midway through the 66th PGA Championship.

The round was the lowest ever on a par-72 course in the PGA. Bruce Crampton (1975) and Raymond Floyd (1982) had shot 63s on a par-70.

"The round that Gary Player shot was unbelievable," said Trevino. "The golf course played as long as it could play today."

Trevino posted a 68 Friday and Wadkins had a 69. One stroke back at 138 were Victor Regalado (69) and Scott Simpson (89). Seve Ballesteros (89), Donnie Hammond (69), Jay Haas (69) and Floyd (71) were at 139.

Tom Watson, trying to achieve a career Grand Slam, was at 72-146 and course designer Jack Nicklaus birdled the final two holes for a 70-147 to make the cut by one stroke.

Seventy players made the cut. Those missing included Masters champ Ben Crenshaw (73-153) and Arnold Palmer (73-152).

"It was a great round but it was a great opportunity to break 60 as well," said Player after posting 10 birdies and a lone bogey.

New Tee Signs Beautify Mayfair — Potter, Bradley Win Dogfight

Well, we've had another busy week at Mayfair. As the regulars out here will attest, the course is getting better and better. The greens superintendant, Ted Daum, is bually trying to eliminate the mole cricket problem that is prevalent in some areas. Hopefully, he will have it under control shortly.

A most welcome addition to the course are the new tee signs that are being emplaced now. The signs are, of course, on every tee, are made of solid California redwood and are very colorful showing the location of sand traps and water as well as the distances on each hole from all three tee marker locations. The signs have been a long time coming, but they sure look good.

Now for the results of the weekly tournaments. First, the Thursday Scramble on Aug. 9 produced the following winning teams: Low Net (6 under) Pat Partlow C. Baragona, Red Cleveland, Kelly Forkner, Second Low Net (5 under) Grover Todd, Bill Tishler. Bill Woodward, Howard Minner. The 4-ball, best-ball tournament

Last Tuesday, the dogfight had a total of 26 players who participated with the following results: First Place Team (29-Tie, match of cards) Dr. Stan Potter and Gordon Bradley. Second Place Team (30-Tie, match of cards) Ed Mioducki and Johnny Johnson.

The Mayfair fellows will participate in the Inter-County Golf Association end of the season tournament and "Bash" at Rolling Hills Country Club in Wildwood on Saturday, August 18th. Let's hope our guys do well. The results from this tournament will be in next week's column.

For 16 years, Pete Rose made life easy for the Cincinnati manager. Friday night, he did the same thing.

the player-manager of the Reds drove in two runs and set an aggressive tone with his baserunning

"Tonight was an easy game. There were no double switches or pinch hitters," Rose said. "We did all the things it takes to win games today."

Rose, who played 16 years for the Reds before departing as a free agent in 1979, was reacquired Wednesday in a trade that sent infielder Tom Lawless to the Montreal Expos. He replaced Vern Rapp as manager and inserted himself at first base

"I think 35,000 people didn't come to see me walk out to the mound and talk to (Mario) Soto," said Rose.

The Cubs scored in the first on Gary Matthews' RBI single but the Reds got three in their half. Gary Redus singled, stole second and scored on a single by Rose. Rose took third on a two-base error by center fielder Bob Dernier and scored on a single by Brad Gulden. Dave Concepcion doubled home Gulden.

In the Cubs' third, Leon Durham smacked a three-run homer, his 17th blast of the year. The Reds tied the score 4-4 in the third on Cesar Cedeno's seventh homer of the season. Dave Parker made it 5-4 in the fifth with his 12th homer.

In the seventh, the Reds added a run when Tom Foley singled, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Soto and scored on a double to left by Rose, who again wowed the crowd with a dramatic - though unnecessary - headfirst slide.

"I wasn't nervous," said Rose. "What calmed me down tonight was when Redus walked out in the first inning and got a hit."

Soto, 13-6, walked five and struck out four in going the distance for the 11th time to the Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis for the league lead in complete games.

At Pittsburgh, Jim Pankovits delivered a two-out, two-run single in the 10th inning to lift the Astros. Bill Dawley, 8-4, notched the victory in relief while Kent Tekulve took the loss. O'Brien's 3-Run Homer Hangs Rare Loss On Quisenberry

United Press International

A two-run lead for Dan Quisenberry in the ninth inning normally is like having stock in IBM. The future is guaranteed.

On Friday night, the market crashed.

Quisenberry, who blows games about as often as Laurence Olivier flubs a line, surrendered a three-run homer to Pete O'Brien with two out in the ninth, allowing the Texas Rangers to defeat the Kansas City Royals 8-6.

Billy Sample led off the Rangers' ninth with a single, stole second. reached third on Gary Ward's infield hit and, after Buddy Bell popped out, scored as Larry Parrish lifted a sacrifice fly. O'Brien then belted his homer. his 17th, off a 2-1 pitch to make a winner of Dave Schmidt, 6-5.

'I was in the clubhouse at the start of the eighth inning, working on my swing, when I heard the radio broadcast announcing that Quisenberry had 20 saves in his last 20 opportunities ... and all of a sudden I'm facing him with the score tied," said O'Brien.

"It was an awfully fun night, to wina game like that on my wife's birthday, espcially the way I was struggling in my previous four at-hats. Maybe some divine intervention hit me - that's what did it,"

O'Brien said he did not come to the plate awed by Quisenberry, who missed an opportunity to post his league-leading 33rd save and his third in as many nights.

"You don't like to lose," said O'Brien. "You always try to stay within yourself and put the right stroke on the ball. You can't be awestruck. You have to be patient and realize you can only handle certain pliches.

Jeff Kunkel homered for Texas. Indians 5, Brewers 3

At Cleveland, Brett Butler singled home two runs and Andre Thornton belted his 26th homer to pace the Indiana. Reliever Mike Jeffcoat got the final two outs in the seventh and Ernie Camacho picked up his 16th save by blanking the Brewers over the final two innings.

Twins 6, Red Sox 5

At Boston, Mickey Hatcher, Kirby Puckett and Tim Teufel each had three hits to pace a 16-hit attack that carried the Twins. Frank Viola, 14-10, gave up eight hits over 7 2-3 innings to win his 10th game in his last 13 starts. Ron Davis pitched the ninth to gain his 24th save. Rich Gedman homered for Boston.

Orioles 6. Angels 5

At Baltimore, Rick Dempsey stammed a one-out sixth-inning solo homer to break a 5-5 tie and Sammy Stewart came in to preserve the lead to sparking the Orioles. Baltimore's triumph broke a three-game losing streak and gave starter Scott McGregor, 14-II, his second victory since breaking a string of four losses. Gary Roenicke also homered for Baltimore and Doug DeCinces homered for California.

A's 7, Yankees 3

At New York, Dave Kingman slammed his 30th homer and drove in three runs to help the A's to their fourth-straight victory. Bill Krueger, 8-9, went 6 1-3 innings for the triumph and Pete Atherton, Tom Burgmeler and Bill Caudill combined to finish up Blue Jays 4, White Box 3 At Chicago, Ernie Whiti homered with two outs in the ninth to lift the Blue Jays. Tigers 8, Mariners 2

At Detroit, Milt Wilcox, 13-7, scattered seven hits and stranded 11 baserunners over eight innings to pitch the Tigers to victory. Kirk Gibson accounted for three runs with a single and a double to please a crowd of 36,496 that boosted the Tigers' total this season to a record of 2,056,171. District 14 wound up finishing third in the tournament after finishing fifth in 1983. Mable has guided the District 14 All-Stars to the Big League World Series five times and 1984 will be his last year at the helm of the District 14 All-Stars.

"I'm very proud of the team for going as far as they did," Mable said. "I'd also like to thank my assistant coaches. Max Westgate and Bob Ficquette. Max did a great job with the pitchers, we wouldn't have made it this far without him. And Bob did an excellent job with the defense."

TOURNAMENT TALK - District 14 has had an outstanding summer, thanks to the play of some of the best high school and college players In Central Florida. However, one of those players. Oviedo's Jeff Greene, has yet to sign with a college team and that is a great injustice, said Mable. Greene has been one of Central Florida's top high school prospects the past two years and any college team would be lucky to get him.

"He's the best kept secret anywhere," Mable said. "He's definitely a good college prospect and any college coach that won't sign him is a fool."

the bench and hit three home runs. He drove in eight runs that game. But home runs and RBI saide, the big fellow is truly missed.

He's had a rough year. He is constantly bothered by an aliery and his adrenal glands don't produce enough fluid, according to Altamonte manager Jerrey Thurston. When he runs for a period of time, he becomes tired more easily than others, according to pitching coach Greg Ebbert.

"I talked with Skip's mother Friday," said Thurston, "He won't be able to go to Williamsport. It's really a shame. Some people wanted me to pick up another player, but that wouldn't be fair."

It is a shame. These 12-year-olds are having the time of their lives. Skip would be, too, if he could join them. Although Skip missed the state and region tournaments, he does have his three homers to cherish. And that's a pretty good memory for anybody at any level of baseball.

Keep your chin up Skip. And it you ever need any encouragement, just remember the Southern Region championship was for you. Courtesy of Jason and friends.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli Troops Impose New Travel Restrictions

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Israeli troops in southern Lebanon imposed new travel restrictions in the occupied region after a Cabinet minister and Moslem militia leader called on guerrillas to step up attacks on Israeli soldiers.

President Amin Gemayel and Prime Minister Rashid Karami scheduled a meeting today to review divisions within the Cabinet over how to extend a Syrian-backed peace plan beyond Beirut.

The meeting was scheduled hours after Justice Minister and Moslem Amal militia leader Nabih Berri called on guerrilla groups in southern Lebanon to protest Israel's two-year occupation by stepping up attacks on its soldiers.

We will respond to the Israeli scaling off of the south, the abduction of its people and the theft of its water by increasing the attacks to three a day," said Berri, who is also Cabinet minister of state for the south. Berri's remarks, published in Beirut newspapers Friday, fell short of a government policy statement, but reflected rising Lebanese anger over the 2-year-old Israeli military occupation.

His call coincided with a reported attack on an israeli patrol near the southern village of Nabatiyeh by unknown gunmen Friday. No casualties were reported.

U.S. Beefs Up Search For Mines

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - A U.S. navy ship carrying four mine sweeping helicopters arrived in the Gulf of Suez to beef up Egyptian, British and French ships searching for mines that have disrupted commercial shipping for three weeks.

The USS Shreveport, carrying four Sea Stallion helicopters, passed through the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean and took up its operating position in the center of the Gulf of Suez Friday night, a canal authority official said.

Three U.S. Sea Stallions were already in the area, scouring the Red Sea off the Saudi Arabian port of Jeddah for more of the mysterious mines.

Shipping sources and the Pentagon say at least 18 commercial vessels have hit mines in the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea since July 27. No mines have been found.

Third Night Of Rioting In Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) - Hundreds of Protestant youths threw stones and gasoline bombs at police in the third night of rioting in the usually quiet. staunchly pro-British Shankhill Road area of the city.

Heavily armed riot police fought back, firing rounds of plastic bullets into the crowd.

Early today, police marksmen with telescopic night sites arrived in the area after snipers, believed to be members of the Ulster Volunteer Force, riddled a police patrol car with automatic gunfire. Police said no one was hurt in the incident.

The clashes represented a new development in the strife-torn city where the Protestant loyalists usually line up behind the police against the outlawed, predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army, which is fighting a guerrills war to split the province from British rule.

....Foreign Students

additional 106 foreign students have signed up for the upcoming school year.

These include 61 elementary children, 26 middle school pupils, and 19 high school students. Of these, more than half -63 are considered to be "limited English speaking" including 38 elementary, 13 middle schoolers and 12 high schoolers.

The others are either bilingual or English is their native tongue.

Nations represented among the new students are: Ecuador, France, England, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Mexico, Laos, Japan, Korea, Iran, Turkey, Italy, Peru. Canada, Venezuela, Jamaica, Costa Rica, Lebanon, Greece and Vietnam, Miss Schweizer said.

The foreign students have no problem registering for school as long as they have the "correct immigration status," Miss Schweizer said, adding this means they may have any immigration status except tourist. She said many of the foreign students do not stay with the system to complete their educations, but move elsewhere with their families.

Miss Schweizer said the foreign speaking students are given intensive English classes right from the start. By the end of the first year, elementary and middle school students, who receive one hour daily of English can "cope" and by the end of the third year, they are bilingual. She added most of these students bring knowledge with them and they easily catch up with other studies once they know the language. Some students, especially orientals who have received only refugee camp educations, have a more difficult time, she said.

High school students, meanwhile, receive intensive English classes of up to three hours daily. She said they usually use two of those hours the first year for their English requirement and thereafter use all but one hour daily as electives while they continue in required classes of math and other subjects.

All but the orientals who have received refugee camp educations, usually graduate in the normal four years, she said. The oriental refugees may need an extra year in high school to earn their diploma.

The English taught to the students is not based on their own language - their English teachers in most cases have no knowledge of the kids' language.

That makes things tough. Miss Schweizer says. But, she added, the students and teachers continue to work hard.

Language skills are worked on first. They listen, then they speak, they are learning and the final production of it all is writing.

And if parents follow Miss Schweizer's advice and get involved in the bilingual program at Seminole Community College and learn English, it will help the children, she says. It is more difficult for the youngsters when only the native language is spoken in the home.

For one hour daily at each of the elementary schools, the non-English speaking first, second and third graders are taken away from their regular classes and pulled together for an hour of English instruction.

At first, the language instructors teach the basic "survival" skill of raising one's hand to get attention, Miss Schweizer said.

Exchange Student Brings Home A Bit Of West Germany...Her Host

Sunday, Aug. 19, 1984-1B

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

Susana Huaman is scheduled to begin studies at Duke University on Monday, but to prepare for this big move, the 17-year-old Sanford student decided she needed a little practice being away from home, so she marked the end of her sheltered childhood by spending a month this summer in West Germany.

And when Susana, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gonzalo Huaman, returned home July 24 from her Rotary Club of Sanford exchange student trip she brought back a bit of West Germany, her German host Dirk Strebost, 17.

By the time Dirk retarns to Germany at the end of August he and Susana will have been together about eight weeks and, she said, from the beginning he has treated her as her two older brothers, Mark and Kevin, might, fighting with her and calling her "fat bottom."

'We fight," but he doesn't hurt me," Susana said, adding that she fit right in with Dirk's family and he with hers. She doesn't consider It unusual that her exchange student partner is a boy.

"I think I've always been closer to boys as friends, maybe because of my brothers, it's easter to talk to boys, they understand." Susana said, adding that her boyfriend isn't the jealous type.

But Susana said that even though her boyfriend, a student at the University of Florida, Gainesville, isn't possessive, herparents are protective and that has kept her closer to home than many other 17 year olds.

A non-smoker and non-drinker who doesn't like the taste of alcohol, Susana has always met her parents' 11 p.m. curfew because: "I would never want to get into any kind of trouble that would hurt my father's name.

Kids want me to drink and say I should. I guess they think it's cool if you can go out when you aren't exactly old enough and drink." she said.

Dirk said that 16 year olds can drink in Germany, but you can't drive until you are 18. If caught driving under the influence in Germany, you lose your license. That makes most young drivers in Germany non-drinkers. Susana said.

Not permitted to participate in a lot of the activities of her peers. Susana said she sometimes felt shunned when she was in school, "I never went to any parties. I never had a close friend, someone to call me up and say 'Hey, lets do this.' Maybe it was my fault because my birthday is in October so that made me younger than most of the kids. I couldn't drive until I was a junior and my parents are very protective, too. They never let me go to parties so I was never invited," she sald

Susana explained that her father who grew up in Peru and her mother who is the daughter of protective Alabama parents carried on their family traditions by sheltering both her and her sister Alicia, 16.

After keeping a close watch over her while she was growing up Susana said her mother was reluctant to see her go to Germany because this will be her last summer before leaving for Durham, N.C. to pursue her studies which she hopes will lead to a career in medicine.

But Susana took the challenge, "answered all the questions right" on her Rotary Club application and took the trip with the hope that it would prepare her to make the break with her family when she heads for college. Her mother, she said, told her that entering college will mark the end of her childhood and although she will be home for visits things will never be the same

"I had never been away from home for a long time before." she said of her trip to Germany. "I wanted to go some place where no one knew me, but I was was scared. I got a little homesick. I had to tell my mother I did, but I didn't get to call home that much.

"I was shocked by the way they ate." Susana said of her German family, "because they eat a lot of food and they cat differently than we do They cat really quick

Steve Boney Strikes Out On His Own For Germany

Steve Boney, 17, a senior at Seminole High School, struck out on his own this summer as an exchange student to West Germany where he lived with a German family, including three children, for five weeks. He returned Aug. 10.

But unlike Susana

Huaman, who was in Germany at the same time. the language posed no barrier since Steve speaks German and was encouraged by his German teacher, Antonia Howington, to make the trip

While there, he took the train to Bannover where he met Susana for the day, and they went shopping, he said, and he served as her interpretor of sorts.

Once he got over the culture shock (guards armedwith submachine guns at the airport in Frankfurt), everything went well.

Steve says he enjoyed mountain climbing in the Austrian Alps and a train trip along the Rhine where he saw lots of old, old castles.

And now, the 16-year-old member of his host family in Germany will exchange visits with Steve and his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. William (Nancy) Boyer at their Sanford home.

Steve's trip was arranged by friends in Orlando, and financed by his grandmother whom he plans to pay back from his job at Walt Disney World.

Incidentally, Steve says that to the Germans, World Disney World is out of this world and reflects the truly inagical aura that Mr. Disney fully intended.

An honor student. Steve hopes to get an appointment to the Air Force Academy_ li's good to be home, he says.

Susana Huaman may be a little sad at leaving a lifetime of mementos behind when she enters Duke University to study medicine and maybe follow in her father's footsteps.

In And Around Sanford 'Hannum Hoopla' Reunion Attracts 175 Relatives

"Hannum Hoopla," the first annual Hannum Family Reunion held at the Lake Golden recreational area in Sanford was nothing short of a howling auccess, according to the family members attending.

Heading the list of descendants of the late Charles and Elizabeth "Betty" Hannum, long time residents of Sanford, were their children: Elsie Griffith, Sanford; Cecella Transue, Dahlonega, Ga.; Albina Pelligrino, Duquesne, Pa.; June Bentley, DeBary; Ross Hannum, Columbia, S.C.; and Charles Hannum, Zephyrhills.

Ross Hannum, master of ceremonies, welcomed the 175 relatives in a festively decorated atmsophere featuring colorful balloons, banners and streamers. According to Elsie, a big hit was family photographs displayed on several tables.

"Fun and games was the order of the day with prizes awarded to winners in each group. A watermelon seed-splitting contest was the big event in the children's contests. Winner in the boys division was Rusty Fowler, Germantown, Tenn., with Amy Griffith, Jonesboro, Ga., taking the honors for the girls.

Albina was the surprise winner in the adult two-legged race. Although she got off to a slow start. Albino came through with flying colors. Grace Miller won in the dance category to recorded music,

The oldest relative attending was Chancey Turney, Mosea Lake, Wash. Close behind him was Grace Miller. Judy Grella, Kirkland, Wash., traveled the furtherest distance to attend the feativities.

"I guess I should have concentrated on one sport to be really good at one, but I like doing a variety. I wanted to do new things."

"The pressure comes from myself. I always like to be the best or to do my best in anything I do, for my parents and for myself. It would have been easy for me to go to the University of Florida because my boyfriend is there, both of my brothers are there, I have a lot of friends going there. It's two-and-a-half hours away, I could have gone and been just fine. But I was accepted at Duke and said yes right away. It was a big thing."

And Susana, who went to Germany unable to speak the language, except for a few important phrases like her name and "I'm hungry," has tried the waters away from home and expects to do well on her own.

Acid Rain Could Be Damaging Monuments

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Scientists fearing acia rain may be ravaging the monuments and memorials of the nation's capital are studying the effects of the threat from the sky on marble and limestone.

Jean's Special Lemon Cheese Filling

The tart taste of this lemon cheese filling is so good to use when you need to cut the taste of sweet ice cream when used as a sauce. It is so extra good as a filling in small baked individual meringues or as a filling between layers of a yellow cake and seven minute icing.

In the top of a double-boiler melt 1/2 pound of butter. While butter is melting, separate 6 egg yolks (saving egg whites for meringues or seven minute leing), put egg yolks in blender. Add 6 whole eggs and 3 cups of sugar, slowly. Blend well, then slowly add I cup of lemon juice. Blend. Add melted butter, blend. Pour contents of blender into top of doubleboiler. Bring water in lower part of boiler to a full boil. Stir mixture well. Cook over low heat for about 45 minutes or until mixture is shiny and thick. Stirring often. Mixture will coat spoon and will have a shiny appear-ance. Filling can be kept in scaled. sterilized jars for about three weeks in the refrigerator.

Peach nuggets

In zip lock bag place: I cup self rising flour 1 cup plain all purpose flour 14 cup cornstarch 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Santord, Fl.

Shake well. In small bowl beat 3 eggs and one cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. One large can of peach halves, drained. Halve each peach half. Can use generic or irregular cans if you don't mind nuggets not being uniform. Heat Crisco shortening in small deep saucepan, at least 3 inches. Medium high. Drench all pieces in the flour mix in the bag. Lay out on a plate. Only do about 6 pieces at a time. Dip each piece in the egg mix and right back into the bag of flour again and shake well. Don't handle pieces too much, the batter will slip off. Brown quickly in Crisco. Ahead of time, put a cake rack on a cookle sheet and put in 300 degree oven. As each batch browns. place nuggets on the cake rack in the oven, not touching. This allows the batter to remain crisp and the heat draws out some of the Crisco. After the last batch, turn the oven off in five minutes and shake confectioner's sugar over the pleces. Best served warm. These nuggets are also good for a side dish with meat, eliminate the confectioner's sugar. Pour a small amount of dried mint in palm of hand. rub briskly to awaken the flavor, sprinkle a little on the nuggets and serve with lamb. Can use small pieces of apple also. Fast preparation time.
