What's going on behind jail bars?

By VICKI Description

SANFORD - It's not enough to put someone behind bars as punishment for a crime, there must be rehabilitation so that one can return to society a productive member of the community.

That's the philosophy behind Sheriff Don Eslinger's Seminole County Jail Project. "It is a departure from the medical model (of corrections)," explained undersheriff Steve Harriett. "Detaining them won't rehabilitate them. There has to be rehabilitation."

inmates are not merely incarcerated at the John E. Polk Correctional Facilty (the Seminole County jail). Privileges must be earned. Harriett explained.

Things like television privileges and commissary privileges must be earned by attending classes and by working." he noted.

Television, Harriett noted, is not for entertainment for those incarcerated at the John E. Polk Correctional Facilty. They have to watch educational programs," Harriett said.

Eslinger has never allowed cable television to be available to the inmates in Seminole County. 'We don't need to provide them with entertainment." Harriett said. "We need to provide them with the skills they need to return as productive members of society.

There are a variety of classes available to inmates in which they can learn skills, such as reading, that will help them prepare for work outside the correctional facility.

"The GED (high school equivalency diploma) program here at the correctional facility is open to the public for anyone who wants to take the class," Harriett said, admitting that not too many people who are not incarcerated chose to come to the facility for the class. Inmates are also able to earn privileges through

Woman's donation may rescue historic fire truck

By MICK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Fire trucks arrive to save people, but this time, the people have apparently managed to save a fire truck.

Sanford Fire Chief Tom Hickson Friday reported receiving a $4,000 donation for the fire truck fund, from longtime Sanford resident Dorothy Morrison.

"I wanted to make the donation in the name of my father. W.A. Morrison," she said. "He was a businessman in downtown Sanford for many many years, and he just loved the downtown area."

William Austin Morrison and his family moved to Sanford in 1941. After World War II, he joined with what was then Strickland Motors, and the result was Strickland/Morrison Ford, an auto dealership located at the northwest corner of First Street and Sanford Avenue.

In the mid 1960s, the business was moved south of town to the present location of Seminole Motors.

The auto dealership building in downtown Sanford was eventually torn down after an adjacent furniture store was destroyed by

Autistic teen out of mainstream school

TAMPA — Although his parents say sudden change to the last thing their autistic son needs, change is what the 17-year-old will get.

U.S. District Judge Ralph Nimmons Jr. ruled Friday that Christian Ragues, an autistic boy prone to violent outbursts after being "mainstreamed" at a regular public high school, should go to a special school for students with physical and emotional disabilities.

The boy's parents had fought to keep Christian at Chamberlain High School, relying on an "inclusion" law that says disabled students can't be kicked out of school if their misbehavior is related to their disability.

But Chamberlain officials documented more than 30 cases this year in which Christian hit or kicked teachers, staff and students. His assaults were lightning fast and unpredictable, staff members said, and even one-on-one supervision by an adult couldn't prevent them.

TALLAHASSEE - A Panama City woman who complained she hadn't received her monthly welfare check of $303 got more than she bargained for.

Public assistance workers sent her a check for $32,297. "Our workers mad a bad mistake," John Awad, an area administrator for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, said of the March smafu that is just now being made public.

Awad said the check was the result of human error when a worker put the digits appearing to be the date of the check -31994 - in the space for the amount. That number was somehow added to the $303 the woman was supposed to

Relative of murder victim restrained in courtroom

By VICKI Doscom Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - An Altamonte Springs man was arrested Friday morning after he created a disturbance in a Seminole County courtroom.

Stu Walters, left, a balliff with the sheriff's office, and Charlie Sorenson, deputy for court house

The disturbance occurred at about 9:25 a.m. as Fulton Westmoreland was entering a guilty plea to two counts of second degree murder in exchange for a 30 year sentence before Circuit Court Judge Vernon Mize.

He had just pleaded guilty to shooting his ex-girlfriend. Cassandra O'Hara, and her niece, Erica Arnold, to death in their Bear Lake home in April of 1991.

As Westmoreland was concluding his plea. William Thomas Sr., a cousin of the victims, began shouting threats and tried to charge at Westmoreland.

Thomas, 34, got as far as the jury box before he was restrained by four Seminole County sheriff's deputies. The deputies had to use pepper spray to bring Thomas to his knees and handcuff him. Thomas was charged with disorderly conduct.

assault and resisting arrest without violence. He was booked into the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $500 bond.

According to sheriff's office reports, Thomas never made contact with Westmoreland. He was treated by paramedics for the effects of the pepper spray, but no other medical attention was needed as a result of the incident.

At the time of the murders, Westmoreland had been judged insane and has spent the interim time in a mental institution.

He was recently found to be fit to stand trial.

On Friday, deputies also had to escort O'Hara's brother from the courtroom prior to the incident with Thomas. He had shouted at Westmoreland as he had stood before the judge.

Larry Furlong for county commission

When Larry Furlong toppled GOP powerhouse Sandra Glenn from the Seminole County commission four years ago, he did so in part by appealing to the nacally conservative voter. Furlong pledged to study county spending carefully and trim what waste he found. He has done that each year he has been in office, cutting more than $500,000 this year. Furlong pledged to contribute a portion of his salary to deserving high school graduates to encourage them to further their education. He has done that each year he has been in office. Furlong pledged to protect the environment and the rights of residents. He has done that on a record of opposing unbridled construction in environmentally-sensitive areas and his efforts to make newcomers pay their fair share of their added burden to the county's infrastructure. Furlong deserves our vote to continue his work for another four years.

The Sanford Herald endorsement of Furlong is moderated by his stand on stormwater funding and taxes. Seminole County was once a leader in growth management in Florida and a model to others years before the state imposed similar guides to development. In large part to Furlong, it lass far behind others in addressing years of neglected drainage systems and short-eighted development. All of the cities in the county now have fees to begin paying the bill. funding spaces for both unincorporated and countywide drainings systems. Furlong also countywide draining systems. Furlong a opposes Welling out the tab rate to absorb sting of spikes. While excessive taxes must be avoided, laxplivers, particularly mortgage payers, appreciate consistency, not an annual breath-holding. It should also be noted much of his budget cuts are made from county reserve funds. We hope a Hurricane Andrew never passes through the county to teach us the risks involved in this policy. We recognize Furlong's sincerity, but disagree with his approach.

We agree with Furlong's opponent Winfield Adams on his stormwater fee stance and some of his fiscal ideas, but he offers residents little more than another Republican voice on the commission. Adams says he supports cutting waste, but offers no suggestions because he hasn't examined the budget. He attacks tourist tax spending, which has a tremendous benefit for residents.

The Sanford Herald recommends Larry Furlong for re-election.

Central Florida in cicar. We cannot be a mecca for families and a mecca for gamblers simultaneously. Proposed Constitutional Amendment 8, if approved, would legalize gambling in Florida. Gambling would jeopardize Central Florida's worldwide reputation as a family focused recreational site.

The messages emanating from chambers of commerce in this area have continually extelled our virtues and aided in creating a passive image of Central Florida. The multiplicity of classic theme parks and other recreational facilities have encouraged families to visit. Castons as an integral part of our communities would certainly change the image many have worked differently to promote.

How many Central Floridians can remember when we had to decide about Lotto? A majority of us approved Lotto. We envisioned that Lotto would provide a massive infusion of funds into our educational system. We assumed that funda-realized from Lotto would supplement general fund monies cormorhed for education. Instead, funds provided by Lotto players were used to supplant general fund allocations.

Now the electorate is being repeatedly told by television ada that Proposition 8 will bring

Lake Mary surpasses Sanford

The stark difference between Sanford "leadern" and Lake Mary "leadern" was brought to my attention by an article in the Oct. 24, 1994 Sanford Herald titled "290 New Homea Win Out." In brief, the article explained how a developer in Lake Mary wanted to change the minimum size of homes in a development located near Timacuan from 2,100 square feet to 1.800 square feet. The mayor of Lake Mary and the Lake Mary city commissioners argued against the change because the smaller size of the homes would not be compatible with the area. The issue was not resolved at that meeting, but indications are that a compromise will be reached where only 16 of the 290 homes would be reduced to 1,800 square feet. The developer also agreed for extra landscaping and conservation areas. Lake Mary's leaders stood up for its existing neighborhoods and won a solid victory.

Contrast this with the proposed development.

contrast this with the proposed development field sides of Country Clab Road wear the Walf Country Clab Man of the homes in the area of the proposed development are rather large and are on large lots. The developer, as I erstand it, wants to put homes with a minimum square footage of 1,200 square feet on lots with 20 foot front yards. The distance between these proposed homes, according to a resident in that area quoted in the 10/19/14 Heraid, would be five to 10 feet. This proposed development, in my opinion, would in no way be compatible with the existing neighborhood. The residents living there have a right to be

Did any of Sanford's "leaders" object to this or even bring up some valid concerns? On the contrary, I bet that Sanford's "leaders" all came out for the development without even considering if the development was compatible with the area. On Oct. 20, Sanford's Planning and Zoning Commission had a meeting in which many homeowners in the area near the proposed development, expressed their concerns. During the meeting a letter was read from the Sanford Historic Trust. The Trust's letter indicated that the organization was not in favor of the development. This, I felt, was a commendable position for the organization to take. I only hope that the Trust won't get too upact by the flack that I'm sure it will get from our Sanford city commissioners. In the past, commissioners have used intimidation tactics to try and dissuade anyone from taking a stand on an issue that is contrary to their own. The Sanford Historic Trust is one of the few organizations in Sanford that has made many positive changes in Sanford's Historic District. The Trust's hardworking members deserve our

In the past, Sanford's leaders have allowed developers to build houses that resemble mobile homes with asphalt shingle roofs in historic sections of the city. It often seems that decisions are made based on the city commissioners' and planning/soning official's friendships with developers, church memberships or, directly or indirectly, their own financial interests.

It was interesting to read in the 10/23/94 Sanford Herald the letter from A.A. Mc-Clanahan's wife, Candie. It would appear from this letter that the benevolent, Saint-like Mack is a definite asset to the community. But isn't this the same city commissioner who teamed up with Commissioner Whitey Eckstein to try and get Rick Sheafer fired from his job because they disagreed with a letter that he wrote to the Sanford Herald? Is this how Mr. McClanahan deals with anyone who disagrees with his views? Whitey Eckstein went so far as to even go to contact the employer of Ricky Shesfer's wife, the Sanford Police Department. What was he trying to do, get his wife fired too? |Sanford Herald, 2/18/93). And what was that investigation of Mack by the FBI? And while I'm on the subject, do you remember Commissioner Lon Howell's campaign newsletters from the 1992 election? There were pictures of Lon with fake black eyes saying how he was taking on the alumlords in this town and worked to prohibit weekly rentals through the adoption of a city ordinance which was to pass in December 1992. Whatever happened to Lon's fight against the slumlords and the weekly rental ordinance? The mayor's pro-active stance with regard to the problems in this town seem to be limited to yearly prayer meetings.

Sanford has many problems with code enforcement, residential burgiaries, prostitution and drug dealing. You can go to the vicinity of Sanford Avenue and 4th Street every night and find the drug dealers and prostitutes all over the place. Codes and laws are passed but not enforced.

Does Sanford need more of this? Enough is enough! Most of the so-called leaders in this town seem to be striving for a substandard quality of life.

Orlando surpassed Sanford in prominence and quality of life 30 years ago. Lake Mary, which was little more than a small village 10 years ago, surpassed Sanford a few years back. What town will be next, Bithlo?

Code enforcement

The Herald recently gave a perspective on code enforcement. They stated that CEB (Code Enforcement Board) to not (the) Gestapo. But let's look at it from a citizen's perspective.

Q. What are codes and ordinances? A. I don't know, but they must be laws because they send out people with guns, and the ability to take your property, to enforce them.

Q. How many codes and ordinances are there? A. I don't know, but there must be thousands!

Q. What do codes and ordinances cover? A. Everything From the ensement of your property, for which you have responsibility but no authority, to what is inside the walls of your

Q. How many codes and ordinances do every person and household disobey every day? A. Logic tells me we must be breaking some of

Q. Who draws up all these regulations? A. Lawyers and bureaucrats who are paid with taxes and fines from these same laws! Q. How can a citizen challenge the unfair prosecution of these laws? A. By using their own lawyer! After all, most citizens have a couple lawyers on retainer, don't

Q. Do citizens trust the government and its enforcement arms?

A. Nol Q. Why?

A. Because the "Bill of Rights" has not yet been deleted from the Constitution! The Second Amendment gives to the people: "A well regulated militia being necessary to a free state. the right of the People to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." This militis is the National Guard, the Sheriff's Office, city police and now any government employee?????! Laws and their enforcement have become not a bastion of security for the people but rather a tool of the citte legislators. That is the federal and state legislators, county and city commissioners, and now any or all of their employees? Power corrupts and complete power corrupts completely.

The Herald is right when it says that law enforcement people are not Gestapo. But they are being conditioned and positioned to operate the same way as the Gestapo. Will there be room for the many when the few have room

The government's answer is to write code enforcement into job descriptions. That is the return of the military draft, folks! I believe they had to do this because the person taking applications for code enforcement was as ionely as the Maytag repairman. Is something wrong

FDIC agents at a bank near you

WASHINGTON — In the next month, undercover agents deployed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. will be finning out to thousands of banks across the country, posing as customers with money to invest.

The agents are part of a nationwide "sweep" by the FDIC to find out how much information banks are giving their customers about the risks associated with uninsured financial instruments such as stocks and m M L M a L M m d s.

Modern banks have become the financial equivalent of Wal-Mart department stores: one-stop shopping outlets that have something for everyone. Right next to the federally insured savings and checking accounts are uninsured mutual funds, stocks, Treasury bills and annuities.

The Aging Committee investigation has revealed what many older Americans already know - that many banks are doing every thing they can to encourage customers to move their savings into these uninsured instruments, which often yield for more than a savings account or CD but also carry varying degrees of risk. Banks that sell these products through affiliated businesses often give incentives to their employees to encourage higher sales. While this practice is perfectly legal, increasing numbers of older Americans are complaining that they weren't told about the risks they were assuming when switching their money into these instruments.

The scripts that bank employees are given to sell these securities are often sprinkled with terms such as "government invest-ment" and "penalty for early withdrawal" that are used to lead the customer into thinking that the product they're buying is guaranteed by the bank or the government

Pryor cites the case of Lellant J. Delitint, a 53-year-old single mother in St. Petersburg. Fla. DeMint's job as a toll collector in Tampa barely allows her to make ends meet, forcing her to scrimp and save to build a nest-egg for her 28-year-old autistic son, Edward.

When Dellint's mother was killed by drunken driver in 1990, she put the inheritance into a certificate of deposit at a local bank so it would grow safely. But in the spring of 1993, when one of her CDs matured, she began to shop for a better interest rate. The bank that held her maturing CD called her to say they had a better deal and invited her to come in for a visit. A customer service representative met DeMint at the door and introduced her to the man who had called from the bank. He handed her a business card with the bank's name on it, and proceeded to tell her that she could get a higher interest rate by having the bank buy government bonds for her. He said the interest rate might fluctuate, but that her principal wouldn't be touched. Hearing this DeMint promptly plunked down $60,000 from the maturing CD. "I was not suspicious because I trusted the bank and I was in the bank," she said.

Seminole County has required every high school to have an athletic trainer.

To become an athletic trainer you have to take specific classes in athletic training. You have to take a three-part exam, which includes oral, written and simulation parts. You must pass every part to become certified."

There are two programs in which you need to achieve before you become certified: the internship program in which you must complete 1,500 hours of hands-on clinical work with a certified trainer: or, instead, you must take specific core classes in athletic training and the threepart exam.

So, as you can see, it is not just a water-running job.

Pamela Brand, Lyman's athletic trainer, is a very appreclated woman. She works long hours. Beginning at 7 a.m. and going until 9:30 or 10 at night. She works at least 80 hours a

Ms. Brand attended Valpariso University in Valpariso, Ind. for four years before attending Illinois State University for two years. She achieved the NATA graduate program. She also has a master's degree in sports medicine.

So as you can see, Lyman really appreciates what she has offered us here at Lyman.

Measure your intensity. The recommendation for "training heart rate" is 80 to 90 percent of the fastest your heart can beat in a minute. Figure your maximum heart rate by subtracting your age in years from 220. Multiply the result by 0.6 and 0.9 to get the bottom and top of your target sone for aerobic training.

Set your frequency. The goal is three to five times a week with a heart rate in your target sone for 15 to 60 minutes. You'll soon learn whether you're in your training sone simply by feel. Schedule your walks in advance and keep the appointment.

Ecop it up: To make walking a habit takes willpower — and sometimes a strategy. Schedule regular walks with a friend if you need an extra push or walk first thing in the morning before other commitments crop up or vary your route to keep it interesting, or get a dog. Finally, don't think of it as exercise. It's time you've set aside for yourself. Enjoy that time and be healthy.

All people can control life, health

By DR. MICHAEL PREEDMAN

NEW YORK (AP) - Arthur M. Sackler, physician and publisher, once wrote that how long we live, how well we live, how much fun we will have and how much pain we will be spared are matters that rest largely in our own hands.

To have a good grip on your life and health, he said, there are certain things you need, such as: -Feeling and understanding:

The feeling that you are not alone, that your family, physician, and others are with you and sensitive to how you feel, both at home and on the job. This is important in both keeping you well or getting you well. -Communication: Good communication between you and your physician, between those responsible for your health and your family is essential for good diagnosis and treatment.

—Time: Time is needed to get the facts and understand their meaning. Time is needed for medicines and treatments to do their work.

The cold and flu season is just around the corner, and the question of the day is: can chicken soup cure?

The answer, of course, is no, but chicken soup - or any hot liquids - do just as well as many drugs for most colds in helping clear up congestion and loosening mucus.

If you are going to take an over-the-counter medication to make you feel better while the virus runs its course, use it intelligently. Take decongestants during the day and save the antihistamine preparations for nighttime when it doesn't matter if you feel a bit drowsy.

A New Breakthrough In Hernia Repair Hernia repair is no longer major surgery. Recent advances like the mesh technique have made it as simple as a one-day "walk-in, walk-out" procedure.

A new laparoscopic technique now available at The Hernia Center of Central Florida has simplified things even further. Because this procedure requires only small incisions, it lessens pain and further shortens recovery time.

The Hernia Center is operated by Surgical Associates, an established team of skilled surgeons who have practiced in Central Florida since 1973 and have performed literally thousands of hernia operations.

Programs that help you think

By J. MARK BARPIELD Herald Senior Staff Writer

When we first introduced Superhighway Patrol to you back in April (Gad, has it been that long already?). I said I would introduce you to computer programs that would help you think. Well, no program actually thinks for you - yet - but there are some which help you organise your thoughts and in one case, prompts your thoughts. We'll prompts your thoughts. We'll take a look at the top two examples of these programs dur-ing the next couple of weeks, in-spiration and ideal/isher.

If you've ever had to plan a project such as a household

If you've ever had to put a project such as a household renovation or a newsletter for your club, you already know just how difficult it can be just to get started. If you're anything like me, the LAST MINUTE is probable here here to propose to the propose to t ably the best inspiration there is.
If I know a deadline duran't come up for a couple of weeks, I typically don't have a clue of the direction I'll go. As that dead draws near, apprehension sets in. But when there's a week to go, and I've got a limited amount of time to devote to the project tusually this column). I'm full of these life in the project to the project these life to the project t ideas. It's just a matter of pick-ing one out and slapping the thing together. I'm lucky that way. But some people need to organize their confusion or maybe a seed to begin the pro-cess of creation. Inspiration and kleafisher can help.

These programs do not eliminate the work of thinking they are tools to aid your thought processes. They do this by using very different strategies. Inspira-tion is a "mindmapper" based on the principles put forth by Tony Buzan, author of Mindmapping and Use Both Sides of Your Brain. It allows you to plot your thoughts or project on a com-puter-aided "napkin" to help you to visualize whatever it is you're trying to accomplish. Ideal tsher does this by asking you a whole bunch of questions about your project, then gives you a host of related subjects to consider. I found both moderately easy to learn. If you're completely helpless, both might come in handy. Let's take a look at Inspiration first.

e your so visualise your thoughts and move 'em around until they follow a logical order. At least an order that makes sense to you. On first look, it looks a lot like a flow-chart prowhat a flow chart is if you ever took a computer class in school. They're boxes and shapes linked by lines used to map electronic

When I write. I try to keep my thoughts and sentences in a nice, neat flow ideally, each sen-tence, each thought, leads smoothly to the next. I learned this concept from is concept from a college pro-sear who compared writing to siching a Good Of Boy popping relines. mind you.

Anyway, that's my goal in writing, but I don't always succeed. Sometimes, a new idea comes up and I just kind of stick It in at the most convenient place. Before I know it, my flow ien't quite so alippery and words be-gn to stick like... Well, you've got the picture. That's where Inspiration can help.

To test the power of inspiration. I began writing this seccessor, but using a different order. Instead of starting out with the two paragraphs introducing Inspiration. I began with the ramblings about college and sar-dines. I saved the four paragraphs to a plain text file, then opened Inspiration. I opened the Outline view and there were my four paragraphs, arranged in de-acending order with the usual 1. and A. and 1. and so on. From there, I switched to the Diagram view. There were the first few words from each paragraph in its own has with arrows supposed these between these.

But then I decided I didn't like sardines as my main idea. So I clicked on the "Inspiration is a 'mindmapper' paragraph. clicked on Edit, then Change Main Idea, clicked on Yes in the the new lead-in to the story. I swung the "Inspiration brings this" box around, reattached the connectors and saved the whole

That tells you that you have notes to that box. The notes are accessed again by using CTRL-Y or double-clicking on the red box.

Using the above method, I wrote the first three paragraphs to this article. First, I created a diagram tree with "Software that helps you think as inspiration's "Main Idea" box. You can change the connecting lines to right angles and even adjustable zig-sags. You can even add a label to your connecting lines, but not notes. Bernard Merthie will begin his third season as head coach of the Raiders with a roster of seven sophomores and eight freshman that includes both starting guards from last year, five players 6-foot-6 or bigger, a super transfer and a returning local high achool star.

But some of the enthusiasm must be tempered with the fact that Merthie and his assistant, fellow Seminole High School graduate Roderick Henderson, will probably not know how good his team will be until January because what will arguably be his two best players will not be eligible before that time.

Both Terrance Mitchell and Derek Royal, a pair of 6-foot-4 wing players, will not take the floor with the Raiders when the season opens this Tuesday (Nov. 1) at Pasco-Hernando Community College.

Williams (6-foot-6, 270-pounds).
Williams Fitzgerald (6-foot-7) and Sanford's Eric (Andre) Hall (6-foot-8), giving the Raiders an sbundance of size they have not had in several seasons.

Other members of this year's team are apphomores Akiva Wilson (Winter Park) and Roger Gaston (Sanford) and freshmen Bibb Allen (6-foot-8. Melbourne). Stanley Thompson (Greenville, S.C.), Dwayne Richardson (Winter Park). Johnny Lopez (New York) and Wesley O'Neal (Sanford)

The Raiders' first home game will be next Saturday night. November 5, at 7:30 p.m. against Broward Community College in the SCC Health and Physical Education Center. All SCC home games are free.

In addition to the tough Mid-Florida Conference schedule, SCC will also have defending state champion Polk Community College (November 10) and state semifinalist St. Petersburg Junior College (December 9) coming to Sanford.

Expectations high for SCC women

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD - Big things are brewing at Seminole

Community College. Even in years when she had a good squad, head women's basketball coach lleans Gallagher usually spoke in terms of her team improving on past performances and maybe having an impact on the bottom expected to be better than ever. Gallagher is not just taking about competing.

Mid-Florida Conference race. But even with the state's strongest conference top to Goe Women, Page 3B

"I expect to be no worse than second in the conference," said Gallagher, who has been the head coach at SCC since 1980. "And state is a definite reality if we continue to work hard.

"This is the best recruiting year we've every had. Ken (assistant coach Ken Patrick) really beat the bushes and did a nice job with the recruiting. We are going to be very young, but we have a lot of talent and potential."

Oviedo linebacker David Zickafoose (No. 42, black) tries to lineup DeLand fullback Fred Edwards for a tackle as the Bulldog runner breaks through the hole. Edwards scored on a 50-yard run and finished with 100-yards rushing.

DeLand puts hurt on Lions playoff hopes

Herald Sports Editor

OVIEDO - Do Lions have nine lives just like cats? The Oviedo Lions better hope so after seeing their third life expire Friday night, losing 16-7 to the DeLand Buildogs in a 6A-District 4 football contest at Oviedo High School's John Courier Field.

Having aiready lost to district leaders Mainland (36-0 on Sept. 30. life No. 1) and Lake Brantley (22-8 on Oct. 7, life No. 2), the Lions got an unexpected reprieve when Lake Mary upset Mainland this past

Thursday night. The Lions (4-4 overall, 3-3 in the district) fall from third in the standings to a tie for fifth with Lake Howell (also 3-3 in the district) behind Mainland (6-1). Lake Brantley (5-1). DeLand (which finishes its district schedule at 5-3). and Lake Mary (4-3).

Oviedo's loss clinches a playoff berth for Mainland, which has only one district game left (next week at home against Lake Howelli and could finish the season with no more than two district losses

The only way that the Lions (or DeLand, Lake Mary, or Lake Howell) could make the playoffs is win their remaining games while Lake Brantley loses its last two (at Deltona this Friday and against Lyman at home on Nov. 11).

"That just about does it for us," said Oviedo coach Jack Blanton, whose squad took a 7-0 lead into halftime, only to see the game slip away in the second half.

"We just didn't execute on offense as well as I thought we would. They (DeLand) have a fine defense, but I thought we'd play better in the second half than we did. They made some changes and we weren't able to handle them.

After forcing DeLand to punt in its first series, the Lions put together an 82-yard, 14-play drive that chewed up the rest of the first quarter and nearly a minute of the second. Brion King, who carried the ball 11 times on the drive, scored on a fourth-and-goal dive from inside ☐See Ovieds, Page 3B

Now is the best time to catch a big bass

Many base anglers have as their ultimate goal a 10-pound base, and this objective is at-tainable in the Central Florida catching a big bass, then you must fish specifically for these larger fish. From now until the con in February is the prime time to catch such a trophy.

Far and eway the best tactic for catching man over eight pounds in by truling with live things. This strategy combines are thanks for two proven methods for heavyweight hass — the use of a large live bait and the ability to cover a lot of area in search of

Most of us realize that shiners typically cost around $12 a does and the normal live but fashing trip usually requires at least three doses abserve. You don't most a calculator to figure out that this can get expensive in a hurry. Troiling with live shiners in much loss expensive. ed a doorn shiners will usually Casting thee fragile batts will injure them quickly, and by trolling these balts, they are not subjected to the banging and ag involved in centi

I use a stern-mounted electric wind casting reels spooled with 25 pound line. I buy the largest shiners I can find, hook them through the lips with a weedless hook, and let out around 50 feet of line. I then turn down the anti-backlash device on the reels to prevent the shiners from pulling out line as I am trolling forward.

Submerged weed beds and distinct grass beds are excellent reas to troll these large live balts. Once a base has spotted the shiner, you will be first to know. The nervous shiner will jerk sharply on the rod and rise to the surface. The trick is to keep trolling forward, and the hungry been will soon catch the hapless battfish. Once the fish has struck the batt. I reel in the second outfit and place that buit in the live well. I then follow the fish in order to reduce the distance betwen me and the fish 31. Not Strichtin. Sanford's Blake thrown to wolves in first start

By JOE KAY AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI - Think Shula versue Shula was a mismatch? Get a load of the sequel they're staging Sunday at Riverfront Stadium: best vs. worst.

Cowboys vs. Bengals. Stars vs. stripes. Champs vs. chumps. Super Bowl rings vs. goose egg kings. Troy Alkman vs. Jeff Blake-David Klingler-Erik Wilhelm-Todd Philcox (pick any two). Barry Switzer isix wine in seven games) vs. Dave Shula (eight wine in three seasons). la anyone besides Dallas looking forward to this game? Well, actually, yes. The game is sold out, proving either that the Cowboys are a huge draw (it'll be their 60th straight game in front of a capacity crowd) or fans are so fed up with their winless Bengals that they're looking forward to seeing them nuffer.

"When you play the Dallas Cowboys, you're going to get hit," Klingler said.

The only question is whether the Cowboys (6-1) are in a mood to really make them suffer.

The last time the Bengala played at home. Don Shula's Dolphins went easy on them and won only 23-7, saving Dave from too much embarrasement. The Cowboys might be of like mind. but for different reasons.

Dallas actually has a few problema this week. It lost Pro Bowl tackle Erik Williams to a knee injury in a car accident Monday: Aikman is coming off a concussion that knocked him out of a 28-21 victory over Arizona; and several other Cowboys are beat up.

Switzer spent the week explaining why he was starting Alkman against a winless team.

"You can't take for granted we're going to win the football game," the first-year head coach said. "We've got to go win it first, then sit him down. I don't know if we'll have the luxury of doing that, if they play good, it'll be a tough football game and maybe we win it in the second half."

It should be well over by then and Aikman can take his spot on the bench and his injured teammates can ease off. The Cowboys are known for their fast starts - they've scored touchdowns on five of their seven game-opening drives - and for their ability to finish off

Inferior opponents. Based on my experience here, we really have not overlooked anybody." Alkman said. "We've gone in ready to play each week. Right now. we're a team that's banged up to a lot of different areas, so I think even moreso than in past weeks. this team really has got to be sharp and understand what's at stake." Very little is at stake for the Bengala (0.7). They've been embarrassed so many times over the last few years that a loss to the Super Bowl champions even a lopsided one - won't matter. Everyone is expecting the worst. Whatever chance they had to give a good accounting of themselves probably was lost when Klingler hit the ground in Cleveland last Sunday and saw stars. His sprained right knee elevated Blake, a third-year prowith virtually no NFL game experience, to probable starter For reasons not fully understood, Klingler wanted to play against the Cowboys even if his knee is bad. Shula kept the option open, but wasn't thrilled about the notion of Charles Haley and the Cowboys league-leading defense taking shots at a slow-moving quarterback. Odds are that Blake, a thirdstringer who hadn't even run the first-team offense much until this week, will finally get his first extended playing time in the Blake spent two seasons with the New York Jets as a thirdstringer before the Bengals picked him up on waivers the week before the season started. He was on the sideline when the Cowboys beat the Jets 28-7 last season.

"I won't be in awe, so that's going to help me out a lot," Blake said.

"I expect him to do well." said offensive coordinator Bruce Coslet, who was Blake's head coach in New York. "I'm not saying he's going to go out and win the game single-handedly. but I expect him to do well.

"There's a couple of bad things: We'll be banged up and they're the world champions." Add a third: Even with Klingler healthy, the Bengala offense is the league's most

Scouts honor CIA; seniors treated

The Lake Mary Community The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association had special visitors at their monthly meeting Monday, Oct. 24. Lake Mary Girl Scout Troop 194 started the CIA meeting with a flag ceremony. After the invocation by John Montgomery, the girls had a special presentation for the 1994 board members. The Stardust Service Unit of The Stardust Service Unit of which Troop 194 is a part. adopted the pond at Lake Mary Elementary. With help from an SBA grant, the girls planted trees around the pond. The CIA then gave the service unit a grant to buy and plant shrubs and aquatic plants at the pond. To commemorate the adoption, Stardust held a patch design contest. The patch chosen was designed by Stephanie Mealor, a member of Troop 194. In appreciation for the grant, Troop 194 presented each board member with a patch.

Eastern Star turns 11; 20 choirs to gather for reunion

Sweet Harmony Chapter 388 Order of Eastern Star celebrated its 11th anniversary on Sunday. Oct. 23, at the Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church. They are members of the International Order of Eastern Star and a part of the F&AM Masons, Inc.

The worship service of celebration was presided over by Sister Elmira Fields Hall. The music for the occasion was presented by Second Shiloh's Mass Choir and St. Mary's Baptist Church Choir of Conway.

The message of the afternoon was delivered by the Rev. Arthur Graham, former Sanfordite and pastor of St. Mary's Baptist Church. The theme of his message was "What's Love Got to Do With It." The message will forever remain in the hearts and minds of those in attendance. A moment of memoriam was given to the deceased members of the

She began her collection while in the sixth grade. "I started collecting horses when I was a child," she said "When my grandfather died my grandmother sent me all of my grandfather's collection. There were probably about 10 but now I only have three left. My parents built a shelf for them and it fell. so many of the horses were damaged and broken."

The favorite of the group was cited as a toss-up between one of the three left from her grand ther's collection versus an Ap-paloosa foal given to her by her husband. "There are two that I consider my favorites," she said. "There is a red and yellow

Clubwomen display n antiques

The October meeting of the Longwood Civic League Woman's Club was held on Oct. 11 in the club's own building in Historic Longwood. Each member was asked to bring a small antique and introduce the piece and share by description and origin its meaning, purpose and the period of time in which it was used and how the owner came into possession. Mrs. Florence Wagner chaired and initiated the program by introducing her mother's aunt's candlestick which is over a century old and interesting in that it is designed to burn all of the candle wax leaving none to waste. Other items included her mother's cup from 1876, a daisy and button design. A beautiful crystal knife rest and another cup from Canada dated 1902 with a raised picture of the King on the bottom of the cup, also pieces of the Wagner ancestry. Caroline Bistline brought a quilt from the Pennsylvania area that was her grandmother's and also over 100 years old, signed and dated by the various people who helped put it together. Other pieces included jewelry, a plant stand, a chocolate service

FFWC VIPs visit Sanford on tour

The Woman's Club of Sanford was the hostess club to the annual District VII Fall Tour of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

The weekend got under way with a dinner Friday night at the unique Higgins House in the Historic District of Sanford where Burt and Walt Padgett opened up their charming Victorian home to 17 guests. The entourage were very impressed with the elegance of the lovely old restored home. The Padgetts served a splendid dinner with Crab Imperial and Chicken Marsala as the entrees.

Arriving from Miami to attend the 2-day event was Bert Alberti. president of the GFWC Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. Ann James, second vice president of the FFWC, Auburndale. also attended as wwil as other state and District VII officers.

Others attending the dinner were: Charlotte Smith, past club president, and also past FFWC
