

Spring Brings Out Yen For Adventure

By Carol Jepson
It appears that Spring has brought out the yen for adventure in the hearts of several folks in Chuluota.

It all started a few days ago when Harold Martin and Lester Calhoun, of Third St., decided to satisfy a long-time ambition of Harold's to ride the swift and rough Econohachee River from Oviedo to Chuluota, a distance of approximately six miles.

It was to be a full day of fishing, relaxation and fun... or so they thought. With full regalia and a borrowed aluminum canoe, they started out at the break of day; spent a few hours lastly fishing, and, having no luck, finally started on the hazardous trip downriver.

The current was swift and it took the combined efforts of both men to keep the canoe on an even keel. Suddenly there was a sharp jolt, a rending of metal, and a limb from a sunken log appeared through the bottom of the canoe. The two men leaped from the craft, struggled to drag it to shore, and after what seemed like an eternity, finally crawled, exhausted, to dry land.

What to do next!! It was either makeshift a patch, or start hoofing home through swamp and muck land. After rummaging through all their gear, Harold finally came up with a lone can of applesauce, of all things. He cut both ends out, placed them on either side of the gash and sewed them in place with a fish hook and line. To seal the patch he fashioned two plastic worms on either side as gaskets. Testing the patch and finding only a slight trickle, these two once again headed for home. The entire trip took 12 hours and worst of all, NO FISHL to show for their trouble.

After all this, Harold, still undaunted, soon persuaded Ben West, pastor of the Chuluota Community Church, and Fred Stumpf of First Street to attempt a similar trip. This time with the same canoe they started just North of Chuluota, planning a short trip down a comparatively tranquil stretch of the Econ and back. Lady Fortune apparently still frowned on such a trip however, as it wasn't long before they too ran onto a hidden stump and despite all efforts they could not break themselves loose.

Rev. West, being the huskiest of the three, clambered out into the cold, knee-deep water, harnessed a stout rope around himself and after much straining and pulling finally towed the canoe and its passengers over the obstruction.

Well, to make a long story short, a third trip was undertaken soon afterwards by Harold and I. M. Barnes of First Street. This time, using the same canoe, the tackle box on which Barnes was sitting, suddenly just dropped through the bottom of the canoe, leaving a foot-square gaping hole and a very surprised occupant. After patching again with the bottom cut from a bait bucket, I guess Harold finally gave up.

Both he and the canoe had had it!!

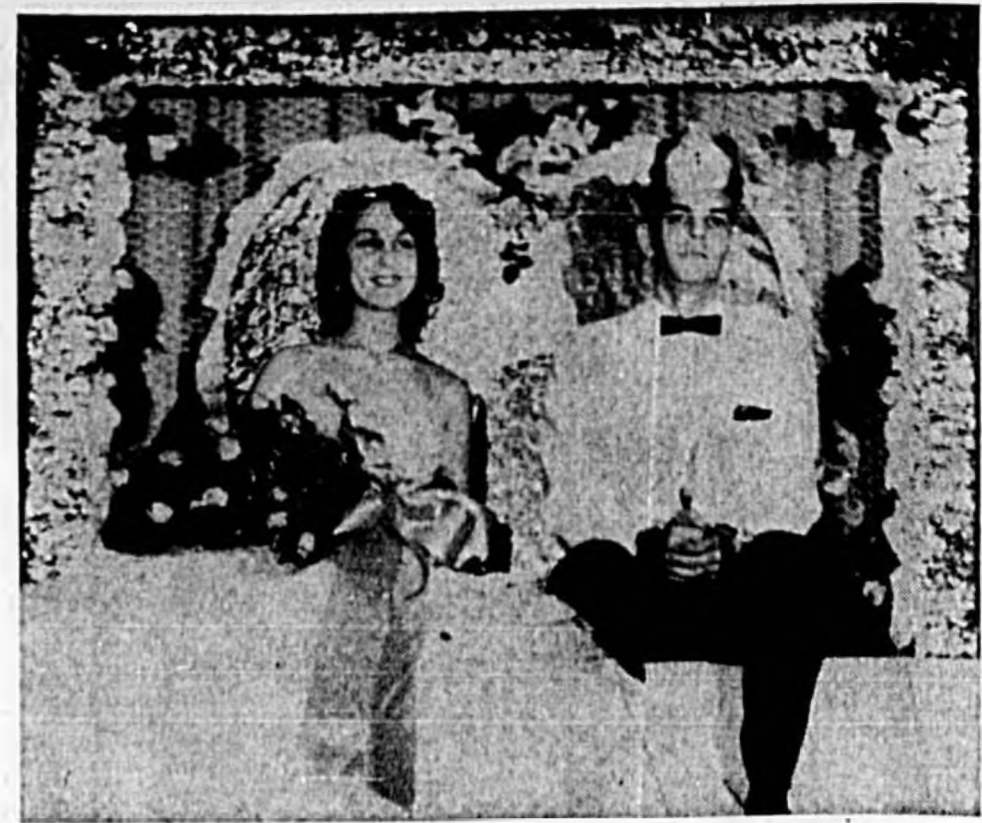

Forest City To Hear Stenstrom

By Shirley Wentworth
Douglas Stenstrom, former state senator and chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Long Range Planning and Development Committee, will be the principal speaker at the March 5 meeting of the Forest City Civic Assn.

Meeting at the Forest City Baptist Church at 8 p. m., residents of the area and members of the association will hear Stenstrom tell of the impact Nova will have on South Seminole areas and in particular to the Forest City-Bear Lake communities.

Association leaders say that it is their hope that all interested persons in Voting Precincts 12 and 16 will "turn out en masse to hear what this informed speaker has to add to this most prominent subject of today."

Also slated on the evening's agenda will be further organization of the proposed Forest City Volunteer Fire Dept. for the protection of the area.

Lions Appoint Committees

By Jane Casselberry
Nominating and convention committees were appointed by the Lions Club of Casselberry at last Thursday's meeting held at Bill's Diner on Hwy. 17-92.

With President Milton Freeman presiding, the club appointed Arvid Herdahl chairman of the committee to present a slate of officers for the 1962-1963 year. Working with him will be C. K. Fisher, Raymond Morris, Thomas Houston, Ben Evans and Joseph Murasko.

Clyde Kerce was named chairman of the convention committee to nominate four delegates and four alternates to attend the Lions Convention in Jacksonville May 17 through May 20. Other committee members are Darwin Shea, Victor Vimer and Morris.

In other business the group voted to renew its sponsorship of Casselberry Boy Scout Troop 341 for another year and made tentative plans for jointly sponsoring Harness Horse Races at the Seminole Park Raceway in Casselberry. Dates and times of the races will be announced.

Guest speaker of the evening meeting was Pastor Ronald E. Miller of the Messiah Lutheran Church who spoke on "The Value of Time."

Oviedo Royalty Crowned At Ball

By Jean Lyles
Miss Linda Harris and Johnny Courier were crowned Queen and King of the Annual Oviedo High Valentine Coronation Ball Saturday night in the school auditorium.

In the presence of a large crowd of parents and friends, Miss Sandy Mays and Tommy Estes, honor attendants, crowned the couple "Mr. and Miss OHS of 1962" after which the new royalty danced the first dance of the evening on stage.

Departure from the stage was made by the escorts and attendants forming a double columned honor guard through which the king and queen marched, leading the way to the castrorium in a grand march to open the ball.

Maid and her escorts included Ann Slavik and Stewart Ithia, Suzanne Parlin and Mike Telesky, Rhoda Haynes and Cyrus Thompson, Ann Eldenour and Wesley Swenson, Marilyn Parlin and Rex Brooks and Jan Beasley and Bill Silver.

Mrs. Young Harris, Mrs. John Courier and Mrs. George Means, in charge of stage decorations for the coronation, carried out a theme of pink and white beginning with a white throne backed by a large pink heart with silver ruffle trim. A mass of pink roses surrounded the throne and smaller hearts and cupid, strung with silver, flanked the setting amidst a grouping of palms. Music for the coronation was played by Mrs. Max Coberly, school music teacher.

In the castrorium, refreshments of red punch and red cakes decorated with hearts were served with nuts and candies. Miss Lois Ruddell presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. James Parlin and Mrs. W. B. Swenson acted as chaperones.

Decorations for the ball, in the Valentine motif, were done by Mrs. Parlin and Mrs. Swenson with the help of a student committee.

The punch table, overlaid with white, was centered with a large red heart formed of camellias. Red candles in crystal flanked the arrangement while overhead an extra large heart held red and white streamers attached to each chandelier decorated with smaller hearts and cupid forming garlands of red, white and silver all adding their gaiety and color to transform the room into a wonderland of beauty.

Men's Club Plans Second Azalea Sale

By Jane Casselberry
The Men's Club of the Casselberry Methodist Church has reported that $200 was made on its recent azalea sale but that there still are many of the large and beautiful Rhodalea plants which must be moved from their present location on the lot adjacent to the church.

In an effort to clear the property, to be used in the expansion of the church, the Men's Club will sponsor a plant sale beginning at 9 a. m. on Saturday and members advise that many bargain and specimen bushes will be offered at bargain prices.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Healthy Step

The Herald has watched with interest the almost phenomenal organization of the South Seminole County Young Republican Club from a group of four persons meeting for the first time on Feb. 3 to its present status of a state affiliated group with 31 paid memberships.

The new political organization, seeking to firmly establish two-party politics in the county and to aid the State Federation in its efforts, we believe, is another healthy step in the right direction towards better government for and by the people.

Competition brings out the best... in people and in politics. A two-party system in operation could result in bringing out some of the best qualified candidates in history for our county and state offices.

Young Republicans Receive Charter

By Jane Casselberry
The newly formed South Seminole County Young Republican Club was chartered at a meeting of the State Federation of Young Republican Clubs held last Saturday at the University Inn in Gainesville.

The meeting began at 10:30 a. m. and was followed by a luncheon at which time the guest speaker was George Peterson, former GOP candidate for the governor of Florida.

During the afternoon session, the new club, formed only 14 days prior to the state meeting, was presented to the Federation with a paid membership of 31 persons and was accepted for membership in the state organization.

The local club was represented by Patrick McKinley Jr., president and L. E. Woodhams, secretary, who received much helpful information regarding the operation of the new political group.

Membership in the club is open to anyone within a 50 mile radius of Sanford and

... As Modern As 'The Twist!'

By Jane Casselberry
The Lyman High School "Choralaires" entertained a capacity audience Saturday night in the school auditorium as they romped through the lighthearted musical comedy, "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow."

Though the story's plot was suggested by Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," it was as modern as the "Twist."

Ike Crane, the shy dancing instructor at the "Sleepy Hollow School for Young Ladies," was played by George Lewis who received many laughs for his comic characterization. His rival for the hand of Kathy Van Tassel, played by lovely blonde Gloria Lovell, was the boastful physical education instructor, Tom Bones, played by Lemmie Hoover.

Laurie Cheatham turned in a splendid performance as Dean Roberts, dean of the girls' school. Eugene Reams took the part of Dean Alton of the boys' school. Dawn Haines was hilarious as Dottie, a girl student with a southern accent and she sparkled when she sang in numbers such as "Our School" and "Gibraltar Rock" (which turned out to be musical rather than geographic).

Commendable performances were turned in also by Grace Hulbert, Elizabeth Lunn and Honnie and Larry Dill who played students and Dennis Hearn who played the wisecracking kid.

Other girl students were Pat Merrit, Mickey Lundy, Virginia Babbitt, Mary Murray, Dallas Cassel, Jill Forsyth, Delona Christianson, Cathy Eicker, Lona Beck, Linda Martin, Margaret Blanton, Carolyn May, Sandra Yates, Linda Pinnoch, Margaret Durnell, Edy Christenson, Pat Halsey, Brenda Womack, Barbara Foreano, Sharyn Dudley, Linda Ramsey, Sandy Adams and Pat Pearson.

Boy students were Richard Winkelmann, Eugene Winkelmann, Jack Jessup, Chuck Shudis, Marvin Jewell, Larry Miller, and David Cannon.

The production was enhanced by 12 show tunes ranging from the robust "A Mile Around the School" featuring the girls decked out in sweat shirts and sneakers for their exercise, to the romantic "In Your Own Quiet Way," sung by Gloria Lovell.

The stage hand, under the direction of Handmaster Michael Fisher, gave the performance an additional professional polish. Musicians were Mrs. Lois Lockyer, piano; Wayne Murphy, Terry Harmon, Paul McGhee, trumpet; John Wagner, Carol Highsmith, Jim Walker, Glen Mitchell, and

A TOUCH OF ROMANCE came in "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow" when Kathy Van Tassel (Gloria Lovell) sang a tender love song to Ike Crane (George Lewis) during the performance staged Saturday at the school by the Lyman Choralaires.

Making Of Valentine Corsages Highlights Bear Lake Meeting

By Shirley Wentworth
Mrs. Albert Jacobs, hostess of the Bear Lake Garden Circle led the group in a step by step workshop on making corsages following the monthly business meeting.

Due to her extensive knowledge and experience in the work, members were able to pick up a few professional hints for making a finished product.

For instance, they learned that flowers such as carnations are easily handled and that mums perhaps are the most difficult to manipulate. They were shown how to break apart carnations, use floral tape and to cut and assemble net used by so many professionals as backing and also to create and make ribbon bows to enhance the corsage.

After giving and demonstrating these pointers, Mrs. Jacobs assisted each member to make her own Valentine corsage which proved a rewarding and delightful experience for all beginners in this particular phase of floral work.

During the opening business meeting, the Circle voted to have a Spring Silver Tea with details to be announced at a later date. January and February prizes for a gift certificate donated each month by the Azalea Park Nursery were awarded to Mrs. Richard Scott and Mrs. Robert Kowalski.

To close the evening, the hostess served a tangy cherry pie with punch and coffee during a social period.

The next meeting was announced for the home of Mrs. Robert Kowalski on Shirley Drive in Bear Lake Manor.

AMONG THE first public spirited citizens of North Orlando to register for voting in the March 20 election was Mrs. Marge Stephenson, seated, whose husband this week picked up a qualifying petition to run for one of the council posts now held by Clarence Webster and Dominic Terebo. North Orlando Grand Openings Are Postponed

By Mona Grinstead
Officials of the North Orlando Co. and Horizon Home Developer Bill Deutsch announced today that their previously scheduled grand opening for the new residential section and for the Village Recreation Center has been postponed.

Originally slated for the afternoon of Feb. 25, the celebration now hinges on completion of North Orlando Blvd. (SR 434) and installation of street lights and other "finishing touches."

John Schwartz, secretary and general manager of the North Orlando Co. and Deutsch said this morning that they are working together on all details in order to have the opening as soon as possible.

Village Appeals For Help

By Mona Grinstead
Mayor Frank Fasula, representing the North Orlando Co., has mailed a letter to all residents of the Village asking their cooperation in keeping the community "one of pride."

He asked that the people remove all trash of any sort from their lawns and to help the village workers keep the curbs free of weeds and debris that might collect there.

In the third point of his letter, Fasula asked the residents to join in a voluntary overall "beautification project" on their lawns and home surroundings.

"You may be certain that our city is lending every possible effort to give you all of the facilities that will make this a happy community."

FDC To Survey Seminole

Economic, Population Check Set

The Florida Development Commission today ordered a complete economic and population survey of Seminole County to tie in with the Nova impact project, Douglas Stenstrom, a member of the Regional Planning Council reported.

Stenstrom, along with his colleague C. S. Lee, and ex-officio member Carlton Bliss attended the first meeting of the Regional Planning Council representing six counties in Brevard Thursday.

Stenstrom said the FDC will make complete up-to-date aerial photos and land-use surveys of the county with the first phase expected to be completed in five months.

The second phase of the study will be planning for roads, schools and increased population.

Counties represented on the planning council are Seminole, Orange, Brevard, Indian River, Volusia and Osceola.

There's no doubt that the commission will also ask for a preliminary survey of SR 46, Max Brewer's Nova impact committee laid it on the line recently that this road will be four-laned and this county must be ready with rights of way.

At the first meeting of the Chamber's road committee there were over 60 present. Thursday night less than half and not one representative from the Sanford City Commission . . . Four were present at the first meeting.

What was it Churchill said about "Never have we owed so much for so few" . . . It looks like the burden of trying to accomplish a long range planning program for county roads will fall on the shoulders of the few.

Someone at the Chamber meeting Thursday should have expressed appreciation for the fine job Mack Cleveland Jr., Gordon Frederick and Carlton Bliss did on that comprehensive analysis of our secondary road funds.

You remember the old Abbott and Costello routine about "Who On First?" Well, the City Commission is playing the same old game but it's called, "Who made the motion?" Monday night two of the commissioners voted to add two buildings on W. Ninth St. for public buildings. Two said no and one abstained. If they followed Robert's Rules of Order, the motion passed, but if they don't it's a stalemate. Anyway, the minutes will read two for, two against one abstaining . . . "No declaration of outcome."

If the City Commission doesn't take any action Monday night on floating the $200,000 bond issue for sewage treatment plant it might just as well forget about it for a couple of years. The State Health Department has given the city a 30-day extension of time to get that $150,000 federal grant but it would take 30 days to set up a bond ordinance.

Heart Sunday Nears.. Workers And Skaters Ready

Rev. Grover Sewell

"This Nation Under God"

Many of us are very puzzled and concerned as to what is happening to the thinking of some Americans about our nation's relationship with God. It appears to be very different from that which many of us were taught as children and so we find it necessary to go back into our early background for a re-examination of our position.

As I looked back in history most encouraging and enlightening factors are seen in events resulting from efforts of men who believed that they were directed by God and who became very prominent in the founding and developing of our country.

In history we find that so many of our founding fathers were well versed in theology as well as the hard and difficult problems of state and economics. It is true that they were thought of as being rebels against tradition of their day but they were not rebels against faith in God.

As we look at some of the testimony of our early leaders we can understand many things. The Pilgrims signed the Mayflower Compact in 1620 before they left the boat and it said, "In the name of God, Amen. We . . . do by these present solemnly and mutually, in the presence of God and of one another, covenant and combine ourselves into a civil body politic."

Benjamin Franklin said, "I believe in one God, Creator of the Universe. That He governs it by His Providence. That He ought to be worshiped. That the most acceptable service we render to Him is doing good to His other children. That the soul of man is immortal."

George Washington wrote, "I am sure that there was never a people who had more reason to acknowledge a divine interposition in their affairs than those of the United States."

John Adams declared, "A kind Providence has preserved and supported me for 85 years and seven months, through many dangers and difficulties, though in great weakness, and I am not afraid to trust in its goodness to all eternity."

Abraham Lincoln, in the Gettysburg Address, gave us the phrase that we all know so well, "this nation under God."

Perhaps none of us cares to return to the physical privations of yesterday. The stages coach may be good to watch on television, but we would not want to trade it for our automobiles, jets, or other means of modern transportation.

It would not be good to return to the kerosene lamp, the wood stove, or many other inconveniences of yesterday.

Lessons Interfering

It's a matter of opinion whether our young people are learning anything worthwhile in school, but one thing is sure: they are getting a liberal education in the peddling of merchandise. Whatever you may want or need, be it greeting cards, candy (with or without almonds), magazine subscriptions, or tickets to varied entertainments, just stick around and some youngster will be ringing the bell with a real sales pitch.

At least we have the comfort of knowing that every sale is for a good cause. Still, so many good causes come along that we are concerned lest the academic program at our schools may soon interfere with the various sales promotions.

If this happens, we could simply revamp the school system.

A change of this kind might, in fact, benefit the taxpayer. The principal of the school then could be called simply "sales manager". Teachers would be assistant salesmen in charge of, say, chocolate candy with almonds, cookies, magazines, and so on. All would, of course, be paid on strictly a commission basis, thus sparing the taxpayers a necessity of providing them with pay checks.

In deference to those who might wish to cling stubbornly to the old system, the school sales manager might agree to keep the library open and perhaps one study hall for those youngsters who were temporarily on such arithmetic as would help them fill out future sales slips.

And, of course, the habits of parents would be changed too. When Johnny came home from school, mother would say, "And what were your gross receipts today, son."

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Betty is puzzled. Should she read this column or wait till she is in high school? You readers be the jury. And see if you can explain the behavior of the Wisconsin publishers who considered me too frank, but when a woman columnist quoted me almost verbatim, he thought her comment was O. K.

CASE L-447; Betty J., aged 12, is unusually precocious, for educational columns like this are seldom read till young folks attain the junior year of high school.

"Dr. Crane," Betty began, "I read your column frequently. And I can truthfully say that I have learned something from every article."

"My Daddy and Mother think this is all right. But the parents of my girl chums think a child of 12 years is too immature to be reading your column."

"For they say you discuss sex problems."

"But how old do you have to be before you learn the so-called 'Facts of Life'?"

"I thought the purpose of education was to remove our ignorance so we could learn how to act wisely and thus be happier?"

What do you readers think about this case?

Phil Newsom Says:

Corridor Pressure

(UPI)—At this time of year, when the fog comes rolling in from the North Sea, it seems that more often than not the air corridor linking Frankfurt and Berlin is covered with an impenetrable blanket.

As the air transport lifts from Frankfurt airport's wet, glistening runway, there will be no further sight of the ground until some 45 minutes later when suddenly the wings tip seem almost to brush Berlin apartment houses and moments later it pulls up and the passenger canopy at Tempelhof.

Even with the fog, it is not particularly hazardous flight so long as men and machines are allowed to function without interference.

Tempelhof is located in the American sector of West Berlin.

Also located there is the Allied air control center which is one of the last vestiges of the old four-power control authority under which the Soviet Union cooperated with the three victorious Western powers in the administration of the whole of Berlin.

The other remnant of cooperation with the Soviets is the administration of Spandau Prison for war criminals.

At the air control center, the concern is air safety rather than control, and generally the exchange of information is a silent one in notes passed back and forth.

The chief Russian is named A. P. Strovov.

In the last two weeks Strovov has been extraordinarily busy as the Russians sought to establish authority over the corridors, the one link not subject to Communist checkpoints.

This was done in a series of notices that in specified periods the Soviet air force would require exclusive use of the corridors for maneuvers.

The notices were summarily rejected, and President Kennedy's personal representative, Gen. Lucius Clay, made himself a conspicuous passenger in one of the air transports defying the Soviet ban.

Allied commanders are agreed that the greatest chance for armed conflict over Berlin lies in the corridors, whether it be by interference from Communist fighter planes or from Communist jamming of the radio beams which guide Allied craft through fog to their destination.

So far, Soviet tactics on the railroads, the highways and the corridors leading to Berlin seem more designed to create annoyance rather than war-making incidents.

As such, they are a continuing test of Allied determination. They may be part of a Khrushchev campaign to force President Kennedy and other Western leaders into agreeing to a new meeting at the summit.

The Abominable Snowman

Dick West Says:

You're On The Switch Orbit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I don't know about you, but I must have spent too much time listening to the radio during astronaut John Glenn's space flight Tuesday.

The radio has been long since turned off but I keep on hearing voices, and this is what they seem to be saying:

"... This is Harvey Lungbuster back here at radio network control where we're still awaiting word on whether the astronaut has landed."

"It's a beautiful day on the Florida coast. The sky is blue and the ocean is green. Let's switch now to Sammy Peavine aboard the aircraft carrier. It's a beautiful day out here on the Atlantic. The sky is blue and the ocean is green. Otherwise, we can't see a thing, Harvey."

"Well, tell us what you can't see, Sammy."

"Night, Harvey. I can't see the look of relief on the astronaut's face as he floats gently down from orbit, assuming, of course, that his parachute opened okay."

"Or, assuming that he's already hit the water, I can't see him sitting calmly in the capsule waiting for the destroyer to pick him up."

"This is Sammy Peavine aboard the aircraft carrier returning you to Harvey Lungbuster at radio network control."

"Thank you, Sammy. We've just heard an eyewitness report from Sammy Peavine aboard the aircraft carrier. And this is Harvey Lungbuster back here at radio network control."

"Let's switch now to Dorothy Wallflower, who is standing by the home of the astronaut's family."

"This is Dorothy Wallflower at the home of the astronaut's family. It's a beautiful day. The sky is blue and the grass is green. However, the family is still in the house, Harvey, and we don't know what they're doing."

"What do you imagine they're doing, Dorothy?"

"I imagine they're sticking pretty close to the television set, Harvey. They must be feeling mighty tense right now, but mighty proud, too."

"This is Dorothy Wallflower at the home of the astronaut's family."

ing by the home of the astronaut's family.

"We've just had the latest report on the astronaut's family from Dorothy Wallflower. And this is Harvey Lungbuster back here in radio network control."

"I have with me space expert, Horace Figurehead, who's going to tell us again how much the capsule weighs. That will kill a little more time while we're awaiting word on whether the astronaut has landed."

"In the meantime, we switch you to..."

Letters

To The Editor

Editor of Sanford Herald:

I have been reading and I am very concerned about the articles on disciplining pupils in our schools. When I was a pupil in school my father was strict with his children, some people thought too strict, but I can see now he was not. He told us if we got a spanking in school, he would give us another one when we got home. I can say that his children were well respected by his neighbors.

I wish to bring out this one point concerning my early education. I went to a country grammar school and we had a teacher, who believed in sparing the rod—final outcome was the children got so unruly that the teacher resigned. The next teacher told the class if it was necessary to use the rod to educate them—the rod would be used.

Arthur Godfrey's program on youth delinquency was "spare the rod and spoil the child." The essence of the program was it is much better for the small child to be angry or hate his father as a child than when he grows to be a man. He would then say to his father, why did you not teach me better ways.

Our parents are filled with men that get this poor start. If the parents of this generation realized that each child needs guidance, love, understanding, and sometimes the rod they would have a brighter tomorrow.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Congressional hearings on President Kennedy's new Trade Expansion Act program are expected to start early in March. This will be after the House Ways and Means Committee finishes its work on a new tax bill.

The hoped-for schedule is to get the trade legislation through the House by mid-May. This would give the Senate six weeks to complete action before the present Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act expires June 30.

A principal criticism offered against the new program is that across-the-board tariff reductions of 50 per cent or more will cause an immediate dislocation in U. S. business. The fear is that a flood of cheap imports will compete with goods made in United States, causing business failures and unemployment.

Actually, nobody in or out of the administration has any good idea of how much dislocation in the American economy will result from a broad trade liberalization program.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, other administration spokesmen and trade experts are sure to be asked about this by Congress and they are trying to find some answers.

A stack of letters has come to the White House and State Department protesting a lowering of tariffs. Congressmen are also receiving protests from industries in their districts. This is the foundation for much of the opposition to the new trade program in Congress.

First estimates indicate that the total import impact of a liberalized trade program will be less than a billion dollars a year. This is one-fifth to one-sixth of 1 per cent of a $500 billion-to-$600 billion gross national product.

Of America's $15 billion imports last year, $9 billion were items like tin, not produced in competitive quantities in the U. S. A $1 billion increase over the present $6 billion worth of competitive imports would be a 16 per cent increase over present levels.

This may be offset, of course, by an increase in U. S. exports of more than $1 billion if Europe lowers its tariffs against goods made in America. This is what is hoped for.

Unfortunately, an increase in exports doesn't have the impact on the public of an increase in imports. The exports can't be seen. The imports are completely visible.

The wallops which the closing of a small factory or the laying off of a few workers in U. S. industry because of foreign competition is felt hard in a local community.

On the other hand, an increase of employment in some other industry to take care of increased exports is considered a normal business development and just what everyone should expect.

One point which trade liberalization advocates emphasize is that any shift in export-import trade patterns will not come overnight. It will take two years to negotiate trade agreements under the proposed legislation. First effects might not be felt until 1964.

Negotiations for new trade agreements going into effect this year under existing reciprocal trade law were begun in 1950. These changes were negotiated under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—at Geneva.

GATT will stay in business as the principal bargaining agency under the proposed new Kennedy trade expansion program.

The only difference will be that the United States will negotiate with the six or more European Common Market countries as a group, instead of individually.

Any concessions negotiated with the Common Market through GATT will then be negotiated with other principal U. S. trading partners such as Canada, Japan and the Latin-American countries, under the principle of granting similar trade concessions to all most-favored nations.

Jay Holds Out For More Loot; Pinson Signs Pact

United Press International. It's a far piece from Tampa, Fla., to Spencer, W. Va., and the Cincinnati Reds and 21-game winner Joey Jay are even "farther" apart than that. Jay, who scored the Reds' only victory in last year's World Series in addition to being their first 20-game winner since 1947, officially became a holdout Thursday when the National League champions' pitchers and catchers began working out at Tampa.

Jay, who is a partner in an oil drilling company, was tending to business in Spencer and, according to friends, "not even considering signing because he and the club are far apart."

A prolonged holdout by Jay would be considered quite serious because the 6-foot, 4-inch, 225-pound right-hander must train carefully and work reg-

Locals Play Oviedo

By Ronnie Broadway. Coach Bud Laver's Seminoles will be seeking their 12th victory of the cage season as they journey to Oviedo where they will meet Coach Paul Mikkler's Lions at 8:30 p.m. in the final cage action of the season for both teams.

This will be the final regular season contest, with group tournaments still to be played.

Coach Laver hopes to close out the season with a win tonight and feels that his Seminoles are capable of coming out on top.

Game time for the Varsity will be at 8:30 p.m., with the Junior Varsity tilt getting underway at 7:15 p.m.

Laver will probably go with Ken Gustavson, Barry Brown, Mike Woodruff, Don McMurray, and either Bubba Davis or Mutt Johnson. Dutch Riser, who injured an ankle last week won't be dressed out for tonight's contest, as Laver said that the injury is still ailing slightly.

The group five tournament starts next Wednesday night in DeLand with the Seminoles facing New Smyrna Beach at 8:30 p.m. The Seminoles have a good chance in the tournament and hope to be at full strength for the action.

Opposing Hurry Now in this top attraction will be Cliff Orth, Driving Dude, Flying Blazer, O.B.'s Irishman, Hello Charlie, Hiking and Kasco Whiskers.

P. C. and E. J. Alderson's Flying Blazer has been a quiniela factor in nine of his 15 starts, four times with wins. He won his last start, as did Cliff Orth and Kasco Whiskers.

Maris Planning Ruthian Walkout

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Roger Maris, the man who topped Babe Ruth's 60 homers in one season, may be taking a "Ruthian walkout" on the New York Yankees in the next few days.

Indications here Thursday night were that salary negotiations between Maris and general manager Roy Hamey had reached an explosive stage and that the new home run king is ready to pack his bags and return home if he doesn't reach a salary agreement by Feb. 23.

Maris is understood to be demanding between $75,000 and $80,000 while the Yankees are standing fast at an offer between $60,000 and $67,000.

Maris earned about $38,000 in 1961, after winning the 1960 American League most valuable player award in his first season with the Yankees.

President Auggie Russell announced the February luncheon had been postponed, but a meeting would be held at 12:30 and urged all members to be present.

Zubi Wins Four In One Night

Zubi became the third player this season to win four games in one night Thursday. He is the first player to win four games all in doubles matches at the Orlando Seminole Fronton.

Zubi, the husky basque, maneuvered his 195 pounds and over six feet of frame last night in a brilliant display of speed and skill. This could have been more or less anticipated in the fifth game with his season record of 10 wins in 41 contests, but his record in the sixth, ninth and eleventh games gave no promise of such a starting performance. Out of action for four days with a pulled muscle, Zubi has come back and performed with scintillating skill, upping his percentage to the point where he is a constant threat in any game.

In city basketball action Wednesday night, Wilson-Maier defeated VAH-11 by the score of 73-71. The game went into an overtime period and Jim Gracey set a new scoring record for the city league by racking up 39 points.

In the second contest, Florida State Bank dropped VAH-7 84-41. Cliff Laub led the scoring for FSB with a net total of 19 points.

In the final action of the night, Perfection Dairies beat the Marine Barracks by the score of 49-33. Ricci was top man for Perfection Dairies as he dunked in 28 points for the evening.

MR. AND MRS. DEJONG

A COMBINATION retirement and going-away party Saturday night feted Roland DeJong, Navy Chief Fire Controlman, who finished his 20 year hitch in the U. S. Navy on Feb. 8 and has accepted a position with North American Aviation at their Columbus, Ohio, plant.

DeJong will leave soon to assume his new job, but his wife, Rita, and children Ralph, 13, and Connie, 11, remain in Sanford until school is out.

"We're just going to rent our home here," said Mrs. DeJong, "because we like Sanford and hope that we can return here some day."

A large group of friends and neighbors gathered at the DeJong home on Pinecrest Drive to socialize and enjoy a delicious buffet style supper of barbecued chicken, baked beans, slaw, pickles, cheeses, dips and canapes, cake and coffee.

Afterwards guests gathered in the living room and with the chords coaxed from a toy ukulele by versatile Bob Hillmer held a lively round of singing with several persons getting in some real close harmony.

QUICK RESPONSE to the appeal for sponsors for children at the Sunland Training Center, who have no one "on the outside" to correspond with them and do things for them, was received from the Gamma Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

The ladies in this sorority have already written to Mr. L. C. Crooks at the Sunland Training Center and asked for a child to whom they might give their attention.

There are many other children who need someone to care. One other group has mentioned to me that they were considering the same move. How about your group?

DO YOU HAVE A DOG? And do you live in the Pinecrest area?

If the answer to both of these questions is yes, then your dog may be one of the dozen or more that are making an extreme nuisance of themselves every day at the school.

School officials at Pinecrest say: "Most of these dogs belong to some of the children, and we don't want to break their hearts by having these dogs picked up and taken away. But the annoying disruption of having half a dozen dogs running around the school, getting into classrooms, sometimes fighting, and often pursuing a flagrant romance has got to stop."

Anyone with an ounce of responsibility for their own kids and dogs must agree that school officials have been more than tolerant in putting up with this nuisance for this long (nearly six months).

A check with City Hall shows that dogs who are constituting a nuisance may be picked up even though they wear a tag, and held at the city pound for a minimum of 10 days, and when the owners pick them up they will have to pay a fine. If not picked up they will be destroyed.

So see to it that your dog is kept home where he belongs and don't let him annoy other people.

A HOMETOWN VISITOR is Mrs. Paul Wells of White Plains, N. Y., the former Carol Skinner, who is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Skinner, at their home on Magnolia Ave. She brought with her her two sons, Paul, Jr., two and a half, and six months old Stuart. The grandparents had never seen the baby.

Carol graduated from Seminole High, attended college at FSU and worked for a while at the Sanford Herald. After her marriage she moved to White Plains where her husband is connected with the Texaco Oil Co.

Mrs. Skinner said, "Carol had begun to think she would never make it to Florida. Before she could get to the airport, she had to shove a path from her door to get to the airport limousine, and then got on the wrong plane. Two late she realized the mistake and by the time she had scrambled off, her plane had taken off.

The second scheduled plane was grounded in Boston due to the weather and she finally got on the Florida-bound jet, which was running four and a half hours late.

Carol plans to be here about three weeks, in this land of sunshine and flowers, only a couple of hours away from the ice and snow.

New Members Special Guests Of Peacemakers Wives

The Peacemakers Wives of VAF-7 chose the elegant surroundings of Maison Jardin as the place for their February luncheon, Thursday afternoon. Hostesses Mrs. H. L. Monroe and Mrs. L. A. Heath elected the artistically decorated tables on the studio's sun-filtered patio as the dining area.

A short business meeting was held to finalize plans for the All Wives Spring Fashion Show which the Peacemakers will sponsor on March 15.

Special guests were squadron newcomers Mrs. H. M. Igou and Mrs. A. M. Campbell, who have both bought homes in Sunland, and Mrs. Catherine Heath, here visiting her son and his family.

So the visitors could chat with as many ladies as possible during the meal, the hostesses had the guests find their luncheon partners via matching varied colored bows they had chosen. Then the somewhat hectic, Navy Norfolk folk method of "getting to know you better" was employed by having luncheon partners switch tables between courses. Everyone agreed it was an afternoon of good food and fun.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a cuckoo 24-year-old daughter who is so good-looking people are always asking her how come she isn't in pictures or on television. She is going with a man of a different religion. He told her that as long as his mother is alive she shouldn't expect marriage. The dummy says she is satisfied to wait. How can a mother convince her daughter she is throwing her life away? She won't listen to me.

MOTHER OF A SAP

DEAR MOTHER: She won't listen to me either. Pra that she'll smarten up one of these days and realize that she has agreed to the longest wait in the world it may not be forever, but it will seem like it.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what a wife should do when her husband rolls over, hugs, kisses her and calls her by another woman's name in his sleep.

My husband did this and when I asked him about it he said he can't help what he dreams. I say a person dreams about what he has done. Am

I wrong or not? FORTY

DEAR FORTY: There is no telling what a person "dreams about." It can be something he has done, something he wishes to do, something he has never done or something he would do. Don't hold a man responsible for what he dreams if he behaves himself when he's awake.

DEAR ABBY: I have looked everywhere for the answer to this question, but have yet to find it. My husband does a lot of public speaking and I am usually seated with him at the speakers' table. Should I applaud when he is introduced and when he has finished speaking? I am very proud of him and would like very much to applaud, but I have watched the wives of governors and city officials sit in stony silence while the audience applauded their husbands. Which is "correct?"

PROUD WIFE

DEAR PROUD: Applaud. Don't worry about what others think. It's better to show honest pride than hypocritical humility.

PAUL NEWMAN and Piper Laurie in a scene from "The Hustler" coming to the Ritz Theatre Sunday.

'The Hustler' Coming To Ritz

The driving and ruthless Paul Newman, has arrived in the big city with his friends and manager Charlie Burns (Myron McCormick) after a bustling career in the west. Obsessed with one aim only, to take on the legendary Minnesota Fats (Jackie Gleason), undisputed champion in the field, Eddie is equipped with cash and a cold resolve that beats out all other loyalties. The game is on, a nerve-grinding, exhausting battle of skills, wit and stamina. Eddie loses, but he has been watched by Bert (George Scott), a big-time money man who exploits pool-room talent for precentages.

AUDREY HEPBURN, George Peppard and Martin Balsam in a scene from "Breakfast At Tiffany's" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Zany Comedy At Movieland

Academy Award-winner Audrey Hepburn returns to smart, sophisticated comedy in Jurow-Shepherd's "Breakfast at Tiffany's," the new Technicolor film opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In.

Abandoning her string of princesses and refined young ladies, Miss Hepburn pulls out all the stops in her portrayal of zany New York playgirl Holly Golightly in the Paramount release, which also stars George Peppard and co-stars Patricia Neal, Buddy Ebsen, Martin Balsam and Mickey Rooney. Adapted by George (Seven Year Itch) Axelrod from Truman Capote's best-selling novel, the attraction tells "all" about Holly and the many men in her life.

A creature of odd habits and even odder friends, Holly affects the lives of all who meet her, especially Peppard, her upstairs neighbor, a young writer being "supported" by a rich society matron. Other men in her past, present and future include a Texas horse doctor, a Hollywood agent, a Brazilian millionaire and a Japanese photographer whose peace of mind is continually hampered by Holly's madcap existence.

The other feature on the program running through Tuesday is "Portrait in Black" with Lana Turner.

On Wednesday and Thursday: "That Kind of Woman" and "Tora! The Magnificent" will play.

On Friday and Saturday, "The Comancheros," "Tammy, Tell Me True" and "The Sergeant Was A Lady" will play.

Lemm Inks Cardinal Pact

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Wally Lemm, the new head football coach of the St. Louis Cardinals, lost little time in getting down to business Thursday after being named to the post in a surprise announcement which yanked him away from a similar position with the champion Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

The 42-year-old coach was picked by Cardinal owners Charles Starnoy and Bill Bidwill to fill the shoes of Frank (Pop) Ivy, who resigned with two games left last season.

Art Show Planned For Shrove Tuesday

The annual Shrove Tuesday Tea sponsored by the Women of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, will have Art as its theme this year.

The spacious gallery in the Richard Deas home on Melonville will be the setting for the showing of many paintings in all mediums.

Work shown will not be exclusively that of members of the Sanford Art Assn. but will be enhanced by the addition of many other works, locally painted or owned.

Members of Holy Cross Church and other friends who paint have generously agreed to show some of their work for this occasion and others who do not paint themselves are planning to show exhibits which have been painted for them by friends and relatives, in order to share them with the visitors who will attend the tea.

In addition to the paintings, art of another kind will be displayed in flower arrangements being done by Mrs. Irving Fleischer for the occasion. Among the adults who will be showing paintings are Mrs. Olive Adams, Mrs. Betty Armstrong, Mrs. Mildred Babcock, Mrs. Georgia Ball, Mrs. Ruth Bethea, Mrs. Katherine Bishop, Mrs. Gretchen Crowell, Mrs. Kathy Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Galloney, Mrs. Helen Galloway, Mrs. Beth Gregory, Mrs. Helen DeWit, Mrs. Mary Know, Mrs.

Students Demonstrate To Class

Two Seminole High School chemistry students, Sherrille Julian and Betty Brandt, accompanied by their instructor, Paul Hickson, demonstrated how to detect radiation in food at a seminar on Emergency Mass Feeding being held at Longwood School Monday.

The students demonstrated to members of the school food services as part of a training course that is being given by the Civil Defense Dept., the Dept. of Education and the School Food Service Dept. In order to make the food radio-active, a harmless solution of uranyl acetate had been prepared in the school laboratory and some of the solution poured on a cabbage, an orange, a banana, a can of applesauce and a loaf of bread.

With the aid of an amplifier set up for the demonstration, the class was able to hear the clicks of the Geiger counter, and it was explained how the timing of the "clicks" indicated the density of the radiation.

After the amount of radiation had been tested on the outside of the food, the natural foods were peeled, and the bread was unwrapped and it was demonstrated that radiation still existed inside the peels and wrappers, though somewhat weaker.

In a further demonstration, paper napkins and a solution of alcohol were used to wash the can, thus removing some of the radio-activity from the can. Then the napkins were burned, and it was demonstrated that even the ashes were still radio-active. Hickson said that the two girls did the research and prepared all materials for the demonstration as part of their science project.

Glenn, Kennedy In Washington For Reception

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. arrived here today with President Kennedy for a tumultuous reception the nation bestows only rarely on American heroes.

The first American to orbit the earth was accompanied by his wife, two children, his parents and fellow astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and Alan B. Shepard.

The freed Marine lieutenant colonel scheduled a visit to the White House, a parade along the rain-soaked "avenue of heroes" to the Capitol, and a speech before a joint meeting of Congress.

Glenn and all six of the other astronauts were going to the White House reception. From there out, it was to be Glenn's day.

Rain pelted down from a dirty gray sky as the big celebration got under way, and no letup was in sight. But this did not deter the crowd, which began lining Pennsylvania Avenue well in advance of parade time. Upwards of 300,000 persons were expected to be on hand.

By 10:30 a.m., about 200 spectators had gathered at rope barriers at the Capitol in anticipation of seeing the man who soared three times around the earth in his space capsule last Tuesday.

School children in the Washington area were given the day off to watch the gala proceedings, and government workers were allowed time off.

The Supreme Court, in a change of plans, decided to recess at noon so the justice could attend the joint session and hear Glenn's speech. The court originally had planned to skip the meeting.

Glenn and his family were expected to spend about 10 minutes in the President's office, saying goodby to Kennedy, before setting out on the 45-minute parade to the Capitol.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was to ride in the lead car with Glenn and Mrs. Glenn along the parade route taken by such heroes as Eisenhower, MacArthur and Pershing.

Other members of Glenn's family and his six fellow astronauts also were assigned cars in the parade, which will include marching units of the armed forces.

Woodhams Will Replace Bennett

Casselberry Mayor Carl Stoddard announced today that he will appoint L. E. Woodhams to fill the vacancy on the town's Board of Aldermen created by the resignation of Mrs. Hope Bennett. Her resignation will become effective Wednesday.

Woodhams, who recently accepted the appointment as chairman of the Casselberry Zoning Board after the resignation of Earl Zibell, is also a member of the Volunteer Fire Dept. and recently was elected secretary of the newly organized South Seminole County Young Republican Club.

Woodhams' appointment, to become effective March 1, will come before the board for approval at the March 12 regular business meeting.

Cuban Tobacco Clearance Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., said he plans to introduce a bill in Congress this week to waive U. S. import duties on Cuban tobacco being held in bond in warehouses in this country.

Cramer said his bill would not allow any more tobacco to be imported from Cuba, but would permit use of tobacco already in storage without payment of the duties. He described this as a form of aid to Tampa cigar makers, hard hit by the tobacco embargo.

Ordinance For Bonds To Be Asked Tonight

Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps will ask the City Commission tonight to set the wheels in motion for a sewage treatment plant and ask that a bond ordinance be drawn up to float a $200,000 bond issue to carry out the program.

Indications are that the board will delay action on a $1,000,000 water improvement study until further study.

Crapps today said he would ask the commission to approve revenue certificates for the sewage treatment plant in an effort for the city to get a federal grant of $100,000 now being held in abeyance in Tallahassee.

Tuesday is the deadline for the federal grant and although the State Health Department has granted a 30 day extension it will take 30 days for the ordinance to be drawn up.

The issue will be one for 20 years and it would mean an increase of about 60 cents per customer per month.

In other business, the board will consider diagonal parking on First St. based on a recommendation by the merchants division.

City Manager W. E. Knowles has indicated he is against the move. The board also will consider a request for a bus franchise.

Consideration of utilization of the county registration system.

Consideration of tabled bids on the pickup truck and consideration of allowing Alex of Miami to utilize city water and sewer lines.

Herlong Among Those Qualifying

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A lot of political campaigning appeared likely this year as candidates flocked to qualify at the secretary of state's office to run for national and state offices.

The Fifth District incumbent, Cong. Syd Herlong, was among those who filed over the weekend.

Democrat Roger L. Davis of Fort Lauderdale filed to oppose incumbent U. S. Sen. George A. Smathers. No Republican candidate had filed for the office as the first week of qualifications closed out Friday.

Most of the early congressional filings centered around new districts created by the 1961 Legislature but Rep. Danie B. Fassel found himself opposed by State Rep. David Eldridge and Republican Ralph W. Schmidt for his Fourth District seat. Dr. John Marcello, Lake City, filed to oppose incumbent Rep. D. R. Matthews of Gainesville.

Ten candidates qualified to oppose incumbent state senators and 25 filed to oppose incumbent state representatives.

Kennedy Closer To Summit Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy appeared today to be one step closer to a summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but still insisting on specific evidence of Russia's good faith.

The White House disclosed Sunday that the President, though rejecting Khrushchev's second bid for a March summit meeting, told the Soviet leader he hoped progress on disarmament would make it possible to hold one before June 1.

Kennedy again urged Khrushchev to send his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, to meet with the British and American foreign secretaries at the opening of the 18-nation arms control meeting in Geneva March 14. He said U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk would "present my views with complete authority."

Red Border Cop, 3 Others Escape

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin police today reported the escape of an East German border policeman and three of his friends across the East-West border.

They fled through barbed wire from the Soviet zone of Germany to the American sector of Berlin in a suburban area last Wednesday.

The policeman, Rudi Thuro, 21, gave details of the flight to the West Berlin newspaper B. Z.

Thuro told police he fled through the barbed wire first and covered the escape of his friends, two men and a woman, by firing 30 shots from his machine pistol over the heads of two Communist policemen who tried to halt them.

The two other policemen took cover and did not fire on the refugees.
