

Area Water Customers To Vote On Fluoridation

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Some 7,000 customers of the Seminole County water and utilities system will have the opportunity to vote on whether they want their water supply fluoridated when they pay their December bills in January.

The question asking the customers to say if they are for or against fluoridation will be posed on the portion of the bill returned with payment and the responses will be tabulated. Afterwards, possibly in late February or early March, the county commission will hold a public hearing on the issue.

County Commissioner Barbara Christensen, remembering the furor created when fluoridation was considered in Casselberry and then killed by opponents, demanded that a public hearing be held regardless of the outcome of the poll.

While dentists are almost unanimous in their endorsement of fluoridation to protect children's teeth against decay, there are people who believe fluoridation is dangerous.

Dr. Harvey Kansol of Lake Mary is among the supporters of fluoridation and urged a county utility steering committee to recommend fluoridation. Three members of the county commission — Bill Kirchhoff, Mrs. Christensen and Bob Sturm — are on that committee.

Kansol says fluoridation of water can prevent as much as 60 percent of tooth decay among children, from before birth to 16 years old. He said obstetricians are now recommending that expectant mothers take fluoride to help their baby's teeth in the development stage.

When a child's teeth are examined by a dentist, it is obvious which are living in areas with fluoridated water, he said, adding the fluoride surface treatment does not compare in protection. Even among children who do not brush and do eat sugars, cavities are prevented by 60 percent when they drink fluoridated water, Kansol said.

But opponents like Bob Dysert, who fought the fluoridation battle in Casselberry and now lives in Fern Park, says the molecular structure of fluoride is so similar to that of calcium the body will assimilate one for the other.

"There is no midget Rube Goldberg in the stomach telling fluoride to go to teeth. Fluoride also goes to the bones and makes the bones of older people brittle and causes gastro-intestinal problems," Dysert says. He claims studies have been conducted by the Albert Elustein Medical Center and the universities of Montana and Utah showing the hazards of the chemical.

Pastors Vow Protest

School Officials Ban 'Silent Night'

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

School officials have heard few protests concerning the deletion of "Silent Night" and three other songs from a Tusawilla Middle School holiday program, but a Sanford minister said he and other area pastors are meeting with Superintendent Robert Hughes Tuesday to object to the school board's Christmas policy.

Hughes said today he received only two calls about the removal of the songs from Tusawilla's program Wednesday night. One caller protested the move while another just wanted clarification on the board's policy.

According to Patrick Zeuli, Tusawilla's assistant principal, a Jewish parent whose child was in the chorus called the teacher in charge of the program and objected to the singing of "Silent Night."

George Crossley

The teacher wanted to delete it "to avoid any hassle," Zeuli said. After studying the lyrics of all the songs in the program with the teacher and Principal Curtis Hughes, the song was removed, along with "Hanukkah Dance," "Carol Of Kings," and "Do You Hear What I Hear."

The school officials were forced to decide between what was traditional and religious holiday music, Zeuli said; a position he doesn't relish.

With the program behind him he doesn't think there should be any more Christmas controversy at the school.

"We have a band concert coming up but it's not controversial since it doesn't have lyrics. But I don't know what he (the teacher) is playing and I don't want to know," he said.

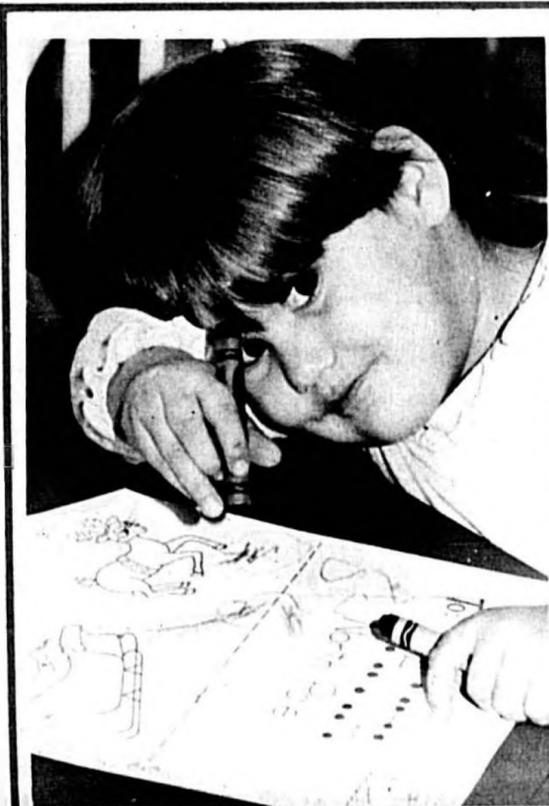

But at the school district office in Sanford, discussion is just getting started over the board's policy concerning holiday observances in the schools.

The Rev. George Crossley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lake Monroe, said he and a delegation of local ministers would meet with Hughes to protest a memo sent to principals prohibiting programs and classroom displays which depict the birth of Jesus.

While he said he was "disgusted" with the policy, Crossley said he would not "rant and rave" about it. He said the behavior of some ministers outraged by a similar edict in Orange County left a bad taste in his mouth.

"But he said the delegation does represent 'thousands of members in Seminole County' who are upset by the restrictions and want to see them lifted."

Wife Pleads No Contest In Murder Of Husband

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Sammie Earl Husted, 24, of Forest City, pleaded no contest today to manslaughter in the shotgun shooting death of her husband, Joseph Husted, 29.

The plea prevents a retrial of Mrs. Husted whose August trial on a first-degree murder charge ended in a hung jury. In the August deliberations, 11 jurors voted for acquittal while one held out for manslaughter. The jury deliberated 5 1/2 hours over a two-day period before announcing their deadlock.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr., who agreed not to incarcerate Mrs. Husted for more than 18 months, set a Feb. 1 sentencing date. The sentence can also include community control, a form of in-house arrest and probation.

Mrs. Husted was arrested Dec. 2, 1983, after a grand jury indicted her for the Nov. 9, 1983, death of her husband. Mrs. Husted, then a mother of two and pregnant — now a mother of three — was released from jail within a day on a $25,000 bond.

According to investigators, Husted, who died instantly, was shot through the left eye with a blast from a 16-gauge shotgun while he was sitting at the kitchen table in the couple's home.

"My client doesn't think she is guilty," Mark Horwitz, Mrs. Husted's attorney, said today.

He said it was a travesty that the state was proceeding to try Mrs. Husted a second time for first-degree murder after the 11-1 jury split. He said that while he believes Mrs. Husted had an excellent chance of winning, she felt it was better for her children and herself to plea and dispose of the case rather than subject herself to a 25-year sentence if she were found guilty.

During the August trial Horwitz portrayed Mrs. Husted as a woman beaten incessantly by a drunken husband.

He said that on the day Husted died she learned her husband was not at work, had been drinking and had offered his niece money to have sex with him. She decided to ask him to

Evening Graduation Set To Allow All Night Party

The Seminole County School Board voted Wednesday to allow Lake Brantley High School an evening graduation ceremony so seniors can continue on with an all night party.

The board allowed the school to change its commencement from Saturday morning, June 8, to Friday the night before.

There were a few objections from members of the Jewish faith.

Called Project Graduation, the party is an alternative to celebrations where booze and drugs are prevalent and is designed to cut down on traffic fatalities. There will be food, live music, dancing and use of the facilities at the Fitness Connection sports complex on state Road 436 in Altamonte Springs where the party will be held.

The program is sponsored by local community organizations and churches, according to party coordinator Carol Mitchell. Since Project Graduation parties were introduced to the state last year, Mitchell said the concept has received widespread support, including the endorsement of Gov. Bob Graham. The alternative is needed, she said, because there have been over 200 deaths from graduation night auto accidents in Florida in the last few years.

More than half of Lake Brantley's 400 seniors said they would attend the party in a school survey, according to Ms. Mitchell.

"I think it's great when seniors say 'We don't want alcohol and we don't want drugs — we just want to have fun,'" she said.

But some students will not be able to join the festivities because the party falls on a day on which attendance would violate their religious faith.

Jewish and Seventh-day Adventist seniors will not be able to party with their peers because Friday night is the Sabbath. Their Sabbath runs from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday.

Cantor Harold Dworkin, chairman of the Jewish Federation of Greater Orlando's public school task force, asked the school board to change graduation exercises to Thursday or Saturday nights.

Dworkin praised the party as a "courageous" step and asked the board to take the step further by voting to change the time so all students could attend.

But Ms. Mitchell said if the party was moved to Saturday night students would feel "penalized" because other high schools are graduating Friday. She also said fewer students would show if the party was held Saturday night.

Cholesterol Warning

'We All Eat Too Much Fat'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans as young as age 2 should follow a low-fat diet to reduce their risk of coronary heart disease and all adults should have their blood cholesterol levels checked regularly, a government advisory panel says.

The advisory committee said Wednesday about 60 percent of Americans have too much cholesterol in their blood, but that everyone over age 2 could benefit by cutting fat consumption to 30 percent of food intake from its current average of 40 percent.

"It has been established beyond a reasonable doubt that lowering definitely elevated blood cholesterol levels (specifically blood levels of low-density lipoprotein cholesterol) will reduce the risk of heart attacks due to coronary heart disease," said the committee, which was formed by the National Institutes of Health.

The committee cited an earlier study that found that for every 1 percent reduction in blood cholesterol, the risk of coronary heart disease could drop 2 percent.

Coronary heart disease is a reduction in heart efficiency caused by atherosclerosis, blockages in arteries that supply blood to the heart muscle. According to the NIH, heart disease is responsible for more deaths than all forms of cancer combined. Coronary heart disease affects at least 5.4 million Americans.

The recommendation unanimously supported the line promoted by other institutions, such as the American Heart Association, saying high blood cholesterol was linked to development of heart disease, and that blood cholesterol can be influenced by diet.

The panel, composed of doctors and two lawyers, said physicians should routinely test all patients' blood cholesterol. Children, except those with a risk of future heart disease, would need to be tested only once.

Children under age 2 should be exempt from the diet recommendations because they are in a period of extremely rapid growth and need the calories, the panel said.

The committee pointed out high cholesterol is only one factor involved in development of coronary heart disease. Others include family history, smoking, high blood pressure and the patient's level of "good" cholesterol, high-density lipoprotein, which has been shown to protect against heart disease.

'Mr. President, I Have This Problem...Could You Help?'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Mechanical heart recipient Bill Schroeder, a Democrat, didn't talk politics when President Reagan called to wish him well. He just wanted a little help with his Social Security.

The president kidded the famous patient about his beer drinking, but Schroeder talked about his artificial heart and his problem with the Social Security Administration.

He said he filed for benefits in March of 1984 and "I'm just getting a runaround."

In response, the president said, "Bill, I will get into it and find out what this situation is."

Apparently acting on a call from the president, Jim Brown, a spokesman for the Social Security Administration in Washington, said, "We will do everything we can to get this processed as quickly as possible."

Brown said Schroeder applied in May, claiming eligibility as of March, and was approved for disability benefits in October.

Brown said, however, that because Schroeder is a retired federal worker whose benefits are offset by his pension, his paperwork was sent for processing to the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, where it now is.

Weinberger Bows To Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, under intense pressure from both Congress and President Reagan's budget advisers to slow military spending, has agreed to reduce the Pentagon's $330 billion budget request by several billion dollars, officials say.

Weinberger staunchly has defended his budget request at three budget meetings this week, at one point hauling out a series of charts and statistics in an attempt to persuade budget director David Stockman and other administration fiscal advisers that the Pentagon should be spared cuts like those being proposed for many domestic programs.

Stockman says the military budget for fiscal 1986 should be reduced by at least $8 billion.

Officials said Wednesday that Weinberger has agreed to some cuts, but less than $8 billion. The negotiations at the White House are to continue.

The officials, who asked not to be named, said one way of cutting Weinberger's requested figure is canceling a scheduled Oct. 1, 1985, pay raise for military and civilian personnel working for the Pentagon.

The Washington Post reported today that

Weinberger agreed to the freeze, which would save more than $4 billion in fiscal 1986, but balked at other deep cuts, including scaling back the defense buildup over several years by restraining weapons procurement as well as personnel costs.

Military personnel are scheduled for a 7.1 percent increase next year and civilians for a 3.5 percent raise. Some 2.1 million uniformed men and women would be affected, along with 1 million civilians.

Reagan has told his Cabinet that he wants to keep the 1986 budget at current levels, $968 billion, which would require about $42 billion in cuts. So far, he has ordered $34 billion in cuts in domestic programs to reach that goal, and his advisers, led by Stockman, have been eyeing the Pentagon budget to make up the difference.

The administration has been warned by congressional leaders from both parties that cuts in domestic programs must be accompanied by some reductions in Pentagon spending if the budget plan is to have any chance of passing.

One sure target of those trying to cut military spending is the controversial MX missile.

NATION IN BRIEF

Civil Rights Chief Defends Busing Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's top civil rights enforcer defends his proposal to dismantle a court-ordered busing plan by saying that while it was effective at first it is now resulting in dropping white enrollment.

Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds headed the administration's unprecedented move asking an appeals court last week to free school boards from court-ordered busing plans even if it increases racial segregation.

Reynolds took the position in a case involving the Norfolk, Va., school system and urged the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to allow the city to become the first in the nation to return to a system of neighborhood elementary schools.

"If one is concerned about resegregation, the concern should focus on a plan that is continuing to cause white enrollment losses and leaving a school district in a situation which is likely to become 78 percent black at the elementary school level."

The Reagan Justice Department has consistently opposed new busing plans to promote racial balance, but until now has been stumped on challenging dozens of existing busing orders.

However, if Reynolds succeeds in his argument, the ruling could affect many mandatory busing cases around the country.

Democrats Back 'Old Guard'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite post-election calls for a change, Democrats in Congress are sticking with the "old guard" leaders — Thomas O'Neill in the House and Robert Byrd in the Senate — for two more years.

"You don't have to be under 30 to deal with change," the 67-year-old Byrd said after handily winning re-election as Senate Democratic leader Wednesday.

The West Virginian, who has held the leadership post since 1977, defeated Florida Sen. Lawton Chiles, 32-10, in a secret-ballot vote.

Chiles, a 54-year-old moderate from Lakeland, offered himself to his colleagues as a "new face" who would be a more forceful, articulate and telegenic spokesman for the Democrats than Byrd.

Chiles, one of those calling for a change in the direction of the Democratic Party, said one of the reasons he decided to challenge Byrd was President Reagan's landslide victory Nov. 6 over the Democrats — a clear indication the party needs to change to survive.

O'Neill, D-Mass., was re-elected speaker last week.

VDT Safety Drive Launched

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Video display terminals, currently used by 10 million workers, pose health problems as serious as those facing industrial workers in the 1930s, two national unions said in launching an 18-state safety campaign.

VDTs have been marketed without safety testing or regulation, she said, and her group is concerned about possible radiation emissions that may cause reproductive abnormalities and "vision problems, muscle strain and high levels of stress."

16 Airlines Violated Safety Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A comprehensive inspection of the nation's airlines found 16 of 327 carriers have violated federal safety regulations, but the faults have been corrected, the government says.

"We looked into every aspect of airline operations," Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole said Wednesday. "We found that 95 percent of the carriers were in compliance with federal rules."

Dole ordered her department's Federal Aviation Administration to inspect safety operations of the airlines earlier this year. The inspections were completed some time ago, but the government did not release its findings until now.

The agency conducted nearly 14,000 inspections including all 110 large carriers, 179 commuter airlines and 38 carriers operating under both large-airline and commuter certificates.

Some of the airlines found to have safety violations are no longer in business.

The 16 carriers that had deficiencies warranted suspension or curtailment of their operations, the FAA said. All of the deficiencies found during the second phase of the inspection now have been corrected.

The FAA report said the hiring of too many outside consultants could contribute to safety problems.

"There is an increasing trend among air carriers to let contracts for major functions such as training, maintenance and operational support," the agency said. "While contracting is not in itself a safety concern, and could even be a safety plus, the study found that an air carrier that contracts for too many major functions may lose control of the management of those functions."

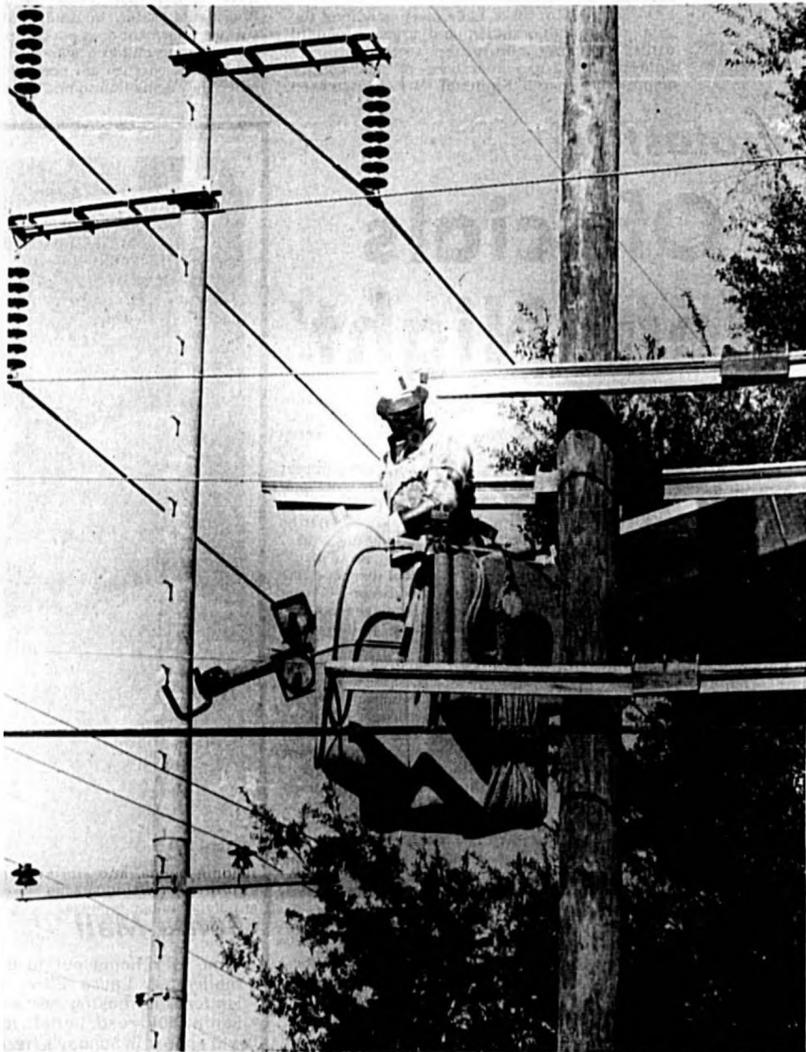

The agency said of the 16 found to be deficient, three had their operating certificates suspended or revoked, three voluntarily withdrew a total of 172 pilots from service, five voluntarily grounded aircraft or surrendered operational certificates and three had expansion plans or additional routes restricted by the FAA.

In addition, one carrier had its operations specifications withdrawn and one had an aircraft airworthiness certificate suspended.

People Express, a popular carrier headquartered in Newark, N.J., was among the 16 airlines singled out by the FAA. The carrier voluntarily withdrew some pilots from service because of violations, none serious to warrant further disciplinary action.

The probe discovered several instances of inconsistent enforcement or aircraft minimum equipment list, improper flight training and inadequate maintenance requirements.

Man Jailed In Grenade, Gun Attack

A Sanford man accused of throwing a live hand grenade under another man's car and peppering the vehicle with four bullets has been released from the Seminole County Jail on $16,000 bond. He also faces drug charges.

Sheriff's deputies reported the man and the victim, Kevin Cook, argued at Cook's place of employment at about 1 a.m. on Dec. 5. The suspect was thrown out of the business and about 2 1/2 hours later, while Cook slept, his roommate, John Craig Spencer, was awakened by gunshots.

The shots had been fired into Cook's car and a hand grenade with its firing pin disengaged was found under the car. It did not explode because of an apparent flaw in the fuse mechanism, sheriff's demolition expert Lt. Marty LaBrusciano said. The suspect was traced through a fingerprint found on the grenade, the report said.

Jeffrey Lynn Lackey, 25, of 107 Airport Boulevard was arrested at his home at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. He was charged with throwing a destructive device and possession of a destructive device.

Seminole County drug task force agents armed with a search warrant reported more than 20 grams of marijuana, along with drug paraphernalia, was found in the suspect's home. He was also charged with possession of both.

Lackey is scheduled to appear in court Dec. 28.

an Oct. 25 burglary at 2010 Blackston Ave., Sanford, where a .357 magnum revolver and a 22-caliber rifle were stolen, a sheriff's report said. The witness reported that a second man also fled the scene, but he has not been identified, the report said.

Jeffery C. Butler, 22, of 2751 W. 18th Street, was arrested at 11:40 a.m. Monday at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. He was being held without bond.

SPEAKERS LINK TO THEFT
Sheriff's deputies report that a pair of stereo speakers confiscated in a suspect's home on Dec. 5 link him to the Nov. 11 burglary of a Longwood home. An Apopka man was charged in the case Monday.

The speakers and other items were reported stolen from 232 Portsmouth Cove. Deputies report charging Gary Gene Palmer, 32, of 1201 Gail St., with grand theft at 8:15 p.m. Monday. He was arrested at his home and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

BAD DEAL
One of two Orlando men busted by Seminole County drug task force agents in a $4,000 cocaine deal has been released on $10,000 bond. The other suspect was being held in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Agents reported meeting with the pair in the parking lot of the N.C.N.B. Bank, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, at about 5:20 p.m. Monday. The 23-year-old suspect got into the agents' car, checked out a roll of cash they produced and signaled to his partner waiting in their vehicle that the deal was on. The pair agreed to sell two ounces of cocaine to the agents, a sheriff's report said.

The second suspect approached the agents' car and handed over a bag believed to contain cocaine, the report said. The suspects took the cash and headed back to their car as the agents alerted other officers to move in and make the arrests.

The cash and cocaine were confiscated and lawmen reported finding a semi-automatic handgun under the driver's seat of the suspects' car.

Antonio Dominguez, 21, and Job M. Brooks, 23, were both charged with possession with intent to sell and trafficking in cocaine. Dominguez has been released and is scheduled to appear in court Dec. 28. Brooks has also been charged with possession of a weapon during a criminal offense.

THREATENED DEPUTY
A 68-year-old Sanford man who called a sheriff's deputy to his home to complain he was being threatened over the telephone by a man in Mississippi has been charged with battery to an officer after he reportedly attacked the deputy and threatened to kill him.

Consumers Bullish On Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. retail sales soared 1.8 percent in November to a record $110.3 billion, a reassuring surge of consumer enthusiasm that could turn around the economic slowdown, the government said today.

The month's growth in sales was the strongest since April, ending — or at least interrupting — a bleak period of lackluster performance that extended into almost every area of the economy.

Sales were up only 0.1 percent in October according to revised figures issued by the Commerce Department.

The report was particularly encouraging for the Christmas selling season which, if successful in a big way, could make up for several earlier months of poor sales.

Sales showed a strong increase despite some weakening in automobiles. In October auto sales was the only strong category, showing a 5.9 percent gain. But in November auto sales slowed to a 1 percent improvement.

Every other major area of sales turned from a minus to a plus from October to November.

Construction material sales, down 2.2 percent in October, were up 3.8 percent.

Furniture and sales of other home furnishings, off 1.2 percent in October, managed a 0.5 percent gain in November.

Department stores reported a strong 2 percent improvement and food stores were up 2.8 percent.

Except for continuing gains in housing sales, the seasonally adjusted sales figures amounted to the most positive business statistic in months. Although inflation reports showed no alarming increases and unemployment actually dropped again in November, to 7.2 percent, business activity on which employment and production depend has been weak throughout the second half of the year.

sheriff's report said. Virgin reported the suspect threatened to "blow my (Virgin's) brains out" and put up a struggle while being handcuffed. The man appeared to be drunk, the report said.

John Henry Gentry was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Dec. 28.

Casselberry police charged a Casselberry man with spouse abuse after his wife reported he beat her with his fists.

Stephen Norm Simmons, 41, of 340 Jasmine Road, was arrested at his home at 9:17 p.m. Tuesday. He was later freed on $500 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
A thief who may have had a key entered the home of Estelle Klein, 47, of 107 Dea Pinar Lane, Longwood, and took $360 worth of items including record albums and jewelry between Nov. 1 and Tuesday.

City Backs Financing For Cardinal Headquarters

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission has paved the way for Cardinal Industries to get financing to build a regional headquarters across the street and west of its Sanford Avenue manufacturing plant.

And the manufacturing facility, built in 1976 just outside the city, will be annexed to the city as part of the deal.

The city commission adopted a resolution

Monday night asking Gov. Bob Graham to approve $2.58 million in tax-exempt revenue bonds to pay for the construction of the planned 30,000-square foot, modular designed regional headquarters.

When the structure is built, Cardinal offices scattered around Sanford and some accounting offices in Lake Mary are to be combined there.

Cardinal, the nation's largest builder of modular housing, has already found an institution willing to buy the bonds.

In return for the city sponsoring the revenue bond issue, Cardinal has submitted a petition requesting annexation.

When the property is annexed, the city would get increased property tax revenue while Cardinal would receive city services.

In other business, the commission instructed City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles to advertise for bids on an aerial bucket truck with a 35-foot reach to replace one that is worn out. Knowles will also be asking for an alternate bid on a 55-foot reach truck, which Knowles said the city will need if the commission intends to go into the tree trimming business.

Knowles warned, however, that taking on the added responsibility of trimming trees for the public will mean that a full-time crew will have to be hired. He said he has 125 requests from various residents for tree trimming and to fulfill each request will take one to two days.

He estimated the cost of a new truck will be $42,000. It will replace a truck the city has had since 1970.

Cutoff Of Social Security Benefits Upheld By Court

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — At least 10,000 people nationwide booted off the Social Security disability rolls have been told to forget about trying to get their benefits restored.

The 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia Tuesday overturned a lower court ruling that would have restored the benefits.

The court upheld the Reagan administration's decision to terminate benefits to the former recipients, reversing a ruling in July by U.S. District Judge Maryanne Trump Barry in Trenton, N.J.

Ruling in the case of three Middlesex County, N.J., residents, Barry said Secretary Margaret Heckler of the Health and Human Services Department acted illegally when the administration restored benefits to some classes of recipients, but rejected those who went to federal court.

In April, Heckler, responding to widespread problems in the Social Security disability program, suspended periodic review of disability determinations. The program had been started in 1980 to enable the secretary to terminate the benefits of people who were found to be capable of gaining employment.

As part of that decision, Heckler restored benefits to individuals whose periodic review cases had not received final administrative decisions, and denied benefits to people who had been terminated, lost their appeals on the administrative level and took their appeals to federal court.

Barry ruled in favor of the plaintiffs and certified a nationwide class comprising all individuals appealing their terminations. It was estimated by lawyers in the case that at least 10,000 people nationwide could join the class action against the government.

The Reagan administration appealed, and the 3rd Circuit ruled. "We hold that the secretary did not violate the equal protection component of the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment when she suspended the periodic review process. We conclude, therefore, that the District Court erred (and) ... we vacate the preliminary injunction."

Lawyers for the plaintiffs said they are considering an appeal.

Longwood Approves Rash Of Rezonings

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission has given preliminary approval to two requests for annexation into the city and has set public hearings for 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 21.

The commission gave unanimous approval Monday night to annexation of Lots 1, 2, 11 and 12, Entzinger Farms Addition No. 1, described as the "freeman property" located on U.S. Highway 17-92 north of Fairmont Plaza. Zoning will be C-3 Commercial, General. The petition was submitted by Kenneth F. Oswald, attorney for the owners.

Also approved unanimously was a petition by Daniel J. Woods for annexation of Lot 6, Block B W. Brutt's Addition to Longwood. The property is located north of Charlotte Street and east of the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad.

The commission also unanimously gave preliminary approval to four zoning changes on Evergreen Street. Requested by Mike Hattaway: change from C-2 Commercial, Office to C-3 Commercial, General, Lots 6, 7, 8, 9, 15 and 16, Farmers Addition to Longwood, located on the north and south side of Evergreen; from R-2 Residential, Single Family-Duplex, to C-3, Lots 15 and 16, Farmers Addition, on the south side of Evergreen; C-2 to C-3, Lots 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and east half of lot 11, Farmers Addition, south side of state Road 434 and north side of Evergreen.

Requested by Spencer C. Whitehead was the changing of the zoning from R-2 to C-2 for Lots 19 and 20, Farmers Addition, located on the south side of Evergreen.

Public hearings on the proposed zoning changes will be held Jan. 14.

In other business, the commission agreed to:

—Appoint Maureen Sikora, Orange County Assistant Attorney, to the Longwood Code Enforcement Board on the nomination of Commissioner Ed Myers. She will replace Dr. Fred Pearl, who was presented with a certificate of appreciation for his service on the board.

—The temporary closing of 20 feet of Lamont Avenue and Shadow Trail within the Shadow Hill subdivision that abuts Myrtle Lake Hills until June 30, 1985.

—A conditional use request by the Rev. Rick Chaffin of First Baptist Church, Longwood, to operate a Christian day care center on Lots 1-10, Block 1, Wildmere between state Road 434 and Bay Ave.

—Authorization (preliminary approval) of conveyance of city property to Henry O. and Barbara E. Walters, 401 Nina Place, Longwood, and set a public hearing for Jan. 14. The city had no access to the 30-by-30-foot piece of property, which is at the rear of the Walters' lot on the southwest corner abutting a small lake, and could not get to it to maintain it. Walters has promised to keep it clean if the city would convey title to him.

—Accept a site plan submitted by the developer, John Schneeman, for Island Business Center, Longwood, to be located on the west side of county Road 427 south of Palmetto (on the former Yarnell Garage property). The entrances and exits to the center will be on East Lake and Palmetto streets, rather than CR 427. Schneeman has agreed to donate $5,000 for resurfacing the streets.

—Preliminary approval of changing the name of Second Place from its intersection with county Road 427 to its intersection with 14th Street to Second Street.

—Accept improvements for Harbour Isle subdivision with the extension to 2 years of the developer's road maintenance bond. A three-fourths inch overlay of asphalt is to be put on the streets in a year on the city engineer's recommendation and Florida Homes will take care of the repaving and maintenance during the two-year period.

—Grant a Christmas bonus for city employees (not including elected officials or department heads or employees of less than six months) and permission to hold a Christmas party on Dec. 21.

The commission turned over a proposal for a so-called "lake doctor" to survey all of the lakes, holding ponds, and stormwater run-off retention areas and supply detailed analysis to the city for $720.

City Administrator David Chacey said that it would take a minimum of $10,000 to $15,000 to do everything that has to be done to clean up the lakes and eliminate problems.

You May Have To Sue For Your Tax Refund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service is telling some taxpayers they will have to sue the agency if they want their refunds next year from tax shelters the agency says may be fraudulent.

The IRS announced Monday that it will freeze refunds resulting from questionable tax shelters, putting the burden of proof on the taxpayer, who will have to go to court to prove the refund is deserved.

Instead of receiving the part of the refund attributed to the shelter, the taxpayer will get a letter saying the money is being held up while the shelter is investigated.

The taxpayer will be informed that if the refund is permanently frozen, a lawsuit must be filed against the IRS to get it.

A sampling of some returns last year showed middle America is being sold on the tax shelters, usually far less sophisticated versions than adopted by the rich, officials said.

But rich or not, taxpayers will face a formidable array of penalties if it appears the tax shelter was set up only to reap tax benefits.

IRS officials said they did not know how many returns would be affected by a refund freeze. But one of the IRS's 10 service centers, in a test last year, found 11,000 refunds potentially freezable.

Money returned by the IRS last year that might have been held up under the new program amounted to $1.8 billion, the officials said.

The freeze program is the most severe new weapon the IRS is employing in a program to completely wipe out abusive tax shelters in the next tax filing season. Congress already has imposed penalties to take effect Jan. 1 that are enormous, relative to the investment.

State Appeals Concealed Weapon Case

A prosecutor has appealed a Seminole circuit judge's decision which guts the state's case against an Oviedo man charged with carrying a concealed .38-caliber revolver.

The decision was to grant a motion to suppress testimony. Assistant State Attorney Thomas Hastings has appealed the decision to the 5th District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach.

The case involves Douglas Michael Cook, 24, of 2901 Walker Road, who was arrested at 12:52 a.m. Sept. 18 in Casselberry and charged with carrying a concealed weapon. The arrest came after two employees of the ABC lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92 at state Road 436, yelled at a passing Casselberry police officer on routine patrol to stop a white Toyota pickup. They said the driver had a gun.

The officer stopped Cook and searched him but did not find a weapon. Cook, according to court records, then told the officer that there was a gun under his truck's seat. The officer located an unlicensed handgun and arrested Cook.

Carrying a concealed gun is a third-degree felony punishable by up to 5 years in prison.

Assistant Public Defender Paul Arlt asked Circuit Judge Robert McGregor to suppress any testimony regarding the discovery of a firearm under the seat of Cook's truck.

Arlt said in the motion — which McGregor granted Nov. 30 — that the officer should not have stopped Cook for two reasons. He said Cook did not commit any misdemeanor in the presence of the officer, and the officer did not have probable cause to believe Cook had committed a felony. Arlt said the officer had no authority to search Cook's car.

Tragedy In India

Something went wrong. So far, that is the only certainty about the tragic episode in Bhopal, India, where upward of 2,000 people have died — ultimately, the total could be far greater — as the result of the escape of a poisonous gas used in making insecticides.

For the moment, this enormous disaster, made more poignant by television pictures of people gasping for breath as medical personnel frantically try to help, is itself the overriding concern.

A shocked world can only grieve and offer its sympathy to a community devastated by an episode whose long-term effects on survivors' health may be even worse than now imagined.

But, inevitably, shock and compassion must give way to the task of finding out just what did go wrong, and trying to prevent its repetition.

And inevitably, that process will result in the laying of blame, wherever it may be found.

Whether the responsibility is ultimately affixed to Union Carbide, builder and operator of the pesticide plant, to bureaucratic failure to enforce safety regulations, or merely to a single act of human or mechanical error, there is a larger responsibility, and it is a global one.

It hardly seems coincidental that the most disastrous recent industrial accidents have occurred in overcrowded slum areas of Third World cities, where zoning laws are either non-existent or laxly enforced.

In Bhopal, as earlier in Mexico City (where 452 people died in the explosion of liquid petroleum tanks only weeks ago), poor people with nowhere else to live had settled immediately adjacent to potentially dangerous industrial plants, a phenomenon only rarely found in advanced industrialized countries.

Nor is it disputed that — in general, if not necessarily in the case of Bhopal — safety and environmental standards in the Third World are less stringent and less rigorously enforced, both by government and by industrial firms.

Some of the blame for this can be laid to Third World governments which, understandably, are eager to develop industry as rapidly as possible in order to raise standards of living.

At the same time, Western corporations often abetted by their governments, are partly responsible.

They rush to set up plants in the Third World not only to take advantage of cheap labor but to escape environmental and safety restrictions that in their own countries raise the cost of doing business.

Righting these and other wrongs will not help the victims of Bhopal, but the jarring reminder such tragedies provide offers the small hope that governments will recognize the common interest in setting and enforcing standards worldwide that at least reduce the likelihood of future calamities.

Regardless of who or what is directly responsible for that lethal gas leak, the ultimate blame can be found in the collective mind-set that assumes it's all right, in the name of rapid economic development, to put poor people at greater risk than those fortunate enough to distance themselves from such perilous reality.

On the heels of this tragedy which makes matters worse was the untimely walkout Tuesday of doctors at the largest hospital in Bhopal who called a wildcat strike after one of the doctors on duty was slapped by a municipal official.

No one was treating the victims inside the hospital after the walkout, and only student doctors attended those needing medical assistance outside the hospital.

It was not immediately known why the official slapped the doctor, but one cannot imagine a reason sufficient to justify fellow doctors abandoning their victims to walk out in sympathy with their colleague.

Brainwashing Precedes Boondoggle

WASHINGTON — Soon after Howard Davia blew the whistle on a huge General Services Administration computer boondoggle, GSA bigwigs quickly called a powwow in Kansas City, Mo., to try to convert Davia to their side.

Davia, who is GSA's regional administrator in Chicago and was once the agency's chief auditor, says the meeting had all the characteristics of a "brainwashing."

Unfortunately, GSA officials are still plowing ahead with this huge $484 million agency-wide computer buy which Davia says will end up wasting millions of tax dollars.

As for the meeting, Davia described it this way in his confidential memorandum: "The long briefing was liberally sprinkled with esoteric acronyms and terms and not too relevant lengthy background material.

"After a very fatiguing hour of it, only the most hardy would be sufficiently attentive to ask, 'Where's the beef?'"

"Eventually," Davia told me later, "a less than studious, knowledgeable and determined listener gets so confused and disorganized that the apparent confidence of the presenters tends to convince the listeners that the whole project makes sense. It doesn't."

Instead of making a solid case for draping GSA in office-to-office computers, Davia discovered the agency's "computerize everything" plan raises more questions than it answers.

For one thing, the briefers insisted the computers will save GSA $45 million. But Davia later learned that this so-called savings "was based upon the average savings experience of others rather than computed within GSA. It is a very flimsy basis for projecting cost-benefit."

Davia's memo to Mitchell urges that smaller, less costly "stand alone" systems, rather than the bigger systems GSA wants to buy, could better automate many of GSA's smaller programs. Another Davia alternative: GSA's existing computers could be used. After all, GSA already has 227 computers in its regional offices and 116 computers in its Washington offices. How many more do they need?

Bishops Off The Subject

The good and conscientious Catholic bishops of the land have now had their say on economic matters. The first draft of their pastoral letter, "Catholic Social Teaching and the U.S. Economy" was released Nov. 11. It features an eloquent expression of moral sensitivity to the tragedy of poverty. Unfortunately, it also contains an unhealthy dose of timeworn left-liberal economic prescriptions as the solution.

Much of the early response to the draft has focused on the appropriateness of the bishops making public pronouncements on economic matters. There is something to that: the bishops, in their prefatory notes explain that it was urged on them in 1980 after they had issued a hard-hitting pastoral critique of Marxist communism. Of course Marxism, with its denial of the existence of God is a fit subject for the bishops' attention. However it's hard to see why they think that having condemned the world's most evil economic system, they should go after its alternative.

The criticism that the bishops are simply seeking headlines by issuing statements on secular issues is not quite right. Catholic teaching has always demanded a social conscience, that complements biblical precepts on charity and justice. Pope Leo XIII, in his encyclical Rerum Novarum, published in 1891, commented on the plight of workers during the rapid social changes caused by industrialization in the nineteenth century. The more recent encyclicals of Popes John XXIII, Paul VI, and John Paul II fit into this theme. But the Popes, for all their directness, never wandered away from moral instruction as their primary purpose. The American bishops are weightily preoccupied with the response to their pronouncements, as if the document is mainly a new think tank study. The pastoral endorses all sorts of Great Society programs. The government, it says, should achieve a 3-4 percent unemployment rate, improve child care facilities, and increase welfare payments. "All actors of government," the bishops declare, "must actively and positively cooperate in forming national economic policies."

Unfortunately, the bishops seem stuck on the idea that their admirable hopes for society, which are the hopes of all believing Christians, can be achieved by the same old policies that have failed so pathetically to achieve them for so many years. In the realm of morals, the bishops are wise and truthful. It's too bad they got off the subject.

Pork Barrel Must Become Extinct

WASHINGTON — In their futile grapplings with the deficit, members of Congress have always found it simpler to raise more taxes than to reduce federal expenditures.

For Congress is in the business of divvying up vast benefactions. As the last adjournment drew nigh, the members forgot their speeches on fiscal responsibility and the Capitol became, as one observer put it, a "pig pen" where congressmen clambered over one another to load down the budget with pork-barrel projects.

They simply refused to expend political capital or take political risks for economic stability — if it meant depriving the home folks of some special benefit or tangling with some determined special-interest group.

Certainly, the most painless way to decelerate federal spending and bring the deficit down to earth would be to eliminate extravagances and inefficiencies.

This, clearly, is what the voters want their elected representatives to do. A private poll, taken by the White House, found that "two out of every 10 people" favor President Reagan's idea "to reduce the number of federal employees and

WILLIAM RUSHER

Unwanted Advice

NEW YORK (NEA) — Whatever problems may be facing President Reagan these days, lack of advice certainly isn't one of them. No sooner had the votes been counted than the barrage of advice began: most of it unsolicited, much of it plainly bad, and a surprising amount of it from people who had fought Mr. Reagan's re-election tooth and toenail.

The Democrats, for example, have been downright generous. They have made it clear that if only Mr. Reagan will propose a tax increase, slash defense expenditures and go easy on domestic spending programs — if, in other words, he will just agree to repudiate every pledge he made to the voters during the campaign — they will magnanimously forgive him for winning the election.

Then there is James Reston. Whenever a Republican is elected or re-elected to the presidency, Reston sheds his customary Democratic sympathies like a snake shedding its skin and emerges as a devout advocate of bipartisanship. Suddenly he perceives that the nation's problems are so grave that they call for a "ministry of all talents."

I had been waiting for this year's version of this famous old hymn, and in late November, sure enough, it appeared. This time Reston zeros in on foreign policy: "At least some of the leaders of the Democratic Party want to help if they can and if they're asked ... For example, the last two Democratic secretaries of state, Cyrus Vance ... and Edmund Muskie ... are surely available. They would come running to help the president even as observers in the coming nuclear negotiations if invited, especially if they were asked to go back to Geneva."

President Reagan no doubt remembers what Reston neglected to add: that Cy Vance resigned from the Carter Cabinet because he considered Carter too much of a hawk. What a help he would be in Secretary Shultz's forthcoming talks with Gromyko in Geneva!

Then there were the "four prominent former officials" (as The Washington Post described them) who recently told Mr. Reagan in Foreign Affairs that he must choose between his proposed space-based defense against nuclear missiles and any hope of achieving an agreement with the Soviet Union on arms control. But the credentials of these four alleged experts as counselors in this field are to say the least a bit ragged, for they are: Robert McNamara, defense secretary under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, who personally invented the doctrine of "mutual assured nuclear destruction" that a space system would replace; McGeorge Bundy, national security adviser to the same two presidents, who was probably the single individual chiefly responsible for America's ill-conceived involvement in the Vietnam War; George Kennan, a long-retired U.S. ambassador to Moscow, who is now probably the severest critic of the policy of "containment" that he himself authored 35 years ago; and Gerard Smith, chief U.S. negotiator of the Nixon-era arms agreements that the Soviet Union is now systematically violating.

My own favorite, though, was CBS Television's anonymous "State Department source," who recently floated a proposal that the United States, as a gesture of good will before the coming Geneva talks, should announce a "temporary" moratorium on all further deployment of Pershing II missiles in Europe.

Fortunately it took Mr. Reagan's own national security adviser, Robert McFarlane, less than 24 hours to scotch that idea. Let's hope the rest of the gratuitous advice described above gets equally short shrift.

SCIENCE WORLD

Limbs Being Spared

By Al Rossiter Jr., UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The use of powerful anti-cancer drugs and radiation therapy is allowing doctors treating bone cancer to spare arms and legs that a few years ago would have been amputated.

A National Institutes of Health committee reviewed numerous studies in this field and concluded such limb-sparing procedures can be carried out in a significant proportion of patients without jeopardizing their chances of survival.

Surgeons cut out the diseased portion of bone and replace it with a metal prosthesis or bone from another part of the patient's body. When only small segments of non-weight bearing bones are removed, replacement often is unnecessary.

The surgery is usually preceded and followed by the use of cancer-fighting drugs and sometimes radiation to kill any remaining malignant cells.

Before chemotherapy came along doctors often amputated the affected limb because lesser surgery usually resulted in a return of the cancer. Such bone cancers are relatively rare, with about 1,900 new cases diagnosed each year in the United States. Related "soft tissue" cancers in the sarcoma group start in muscle, fat, fibrous tissue, nerves or in other tissues and account for 4,800 new cases annually.

Together, these two kinds of sarcomas account for less than 2 percent of all new cancer cases each year.

Osteogenic sarcoma, the most common form of bone cancer, occurs mainly in teenagers. The tumor usually begins in a leg or arm bone and cells from the tumor tend to spread to the lungs.

This used to be a rapidly fatal form of cancer because of the invasion of the lungs, but the National Cancer Institute said with better detection methods and better methods of treatment, "patients are now living longer and many are cured."

Because the limb-sparing treatment has been experimental, the NIH convened a panel of cancer specialists to review research results and make treatment recommendations to the medical community.

"Data reviewed from recent clinical experience have shown the feasibility and appropriateness of limb-sparing treatment for a significant proportion of these patients," the panel said.

cut waste and fraud in government rather than increase taxes in order to balance the budget."

What's more, a presidential commission of efficiency experts, headed by industrialist J. Peter Grace, found plenty of waste that can be cut. I have teamed up with Grace to get his proposals adopted.

These reforms are aimed not at necessities intended for needy, not at basic programs for Middle America that are firmly entrenched, but at wasteful management, unintended benefits to ineligible receivers, small freebies for people not in need, preferential treatment for special groups — all of which mop to the billions that spell the difference between getting control of the public debt or falling into its grip.

Yet every economy that Grace advocates stirs up a hornets' nest of bureaucratic resistance. The bureaucrats, in turn, have formed collusive alliances on Capitol Hill. If you try to cut off a privilege or perquisite that bureaucrats have become accustomed to, their champions on Capitol Hill will holler.

The food stamp program, for example, lost nearly $1 billion in 1981 because of ineligible recipients and wasteful procedures. That was 10 percent of the program's total benefits.

Grace exposed this waste. Mind you, he did not object to distributing food stamps to the deserving, just to the undeserving. But the administrators of the food stamp program don't want to lose 10 percent of their appropriations just because it's wasted.

So a hue and cry has gone up from members of Congress, who are in collusion with the food-stamp administrators. To hear the congressmen tell it, Grace wants to take food out of the mouths of the hungry when all he really wants to do is stop the food-stamp cheats from ripping off the taxpayers.

Rep. Pat Williams, D-Mont., jumped all over Grace on a television news-talk show. "You'd eliminate 96 percent of the food-stamp beneficiaries in this country," Williams charged.

"That's untrue, completely untrue," objected Grace. "I deny it. And I challenge you to prove it."

"Well ... 96 percent of the food-stamp beneficiaries would lose

Grace sputtered: "That's untrue. That's an untrue statement." Actually none but illicit recipients would be cut off.

No less than Robert Dole, R-Kan., the newly elected Senate majority leader, later joined in the clamor. A loyal food-stamp advocate, he complained: "It's one thing to talk about reducing food stamps. But what about the wide array of corporate subsidies and aid to the well-to-do?" He charged that Grace "doesn't get into that."

That, too, is untrue. Grace exposed a long list of wasteful subsidies to the rich, ranging from $234 billion in overcharges collected by defense contractors to free towing for wealthy yacht owners.

The nation's solvency depends on its political capacity to solve what is at bottom a problem of self-discipline. So far, Congress is unwilling either to set spending priorities or to impose spending disciplines.

IN BRIEF

Crackdown Planned On Tardy Tag Renewals

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles plans a crackdown on the one out of every four Florida motorists who renew their vehicle tags late because the state is losing thousands of dollars.

Charles J. Brantley, director of the division of motor vehicles, disclosed Wednesday that his agency will ask lawmakers this spring to approve the charging of late fees for tardy renewals.

The fee would range from $5 on up to about $250 for large trucks, Brantley said.

State Auditor General Ernest Ellison reported in October that the state is losing between $231,000 and $632,500 in interest annually because of late renewals.

Legislation to impose a late fee has failed in the Legislature in the past two years but agency officials believe that now that a dollar loss has been calculated, lawmakers will be interested in stopping the revenue loss.

Feds May Take Over 'Pot Bank'

MIAMI (UPI) — Federal authorities may take over the Sunshine State Bank of Miami, allegedly bought and controlled by an international marijuana smuggling syndicate that used the bank and 29 other businesses to shield illegal profits.

Six people were arrested Wednesday on a 30-count racketeering indictment returned by a federal grand jury.

U.S. Attorney Stanley Marcus said that if the defendants are convicted, the government will seek control of the bank under forfeiture provisions of the federal racketeering laws. Sunshine State has assets of $103 million.

The 30-count indictment said the smugglers imported 600,000 pounds of marijuana and used the proceeds to buy more than 80 percent of the bank's stock in 1978 and to infiltrate its top management.

The chairman and manager of the bank were immediately suspended from their jobs by state regulators.

The bank's deposits are insured and safe, and it will remain open for business, State Controller Gerald Lewis said.

High Blood Pressure Inherited?

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A University of Florida researcher says studies on laboratory animals indicate that an inherited brain cell disorder — not diet or stress — may be the primary cause of high blood pressure.

Using rats specially bred for high blood pressure, or hypertension, Dr. Mohan Raizada said Wednesday he has discovered a possible foulup in the brain's chemical messenger system that controls blood pressure.

Raizada, an associate professor of physiology at the university, said a three-year study indicates the brain cell disorder is present at birth and appears to be the primary cause of hypertension. Diet, stress and the environment may be triggers that later act the disorder off, he said.

Raizada and two co-researchers, physiologist Ian Phillips and Colin Summers, currently are examining the mechanism of the cellular defect to identify possible treatment.

Computers In Courtroom A Top Priority

Business Execs To Show Judges How To Beef Up Their Efficiency

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A group of Florida's top judges will meet with some business executives Friday to get some pointers on more efficient operation of the courts.

"Too often, we do everything like grandpa used to do," Chief Justice Joe Boyd said. "There are certain values, like the Ten Commandments, that never change. But there are things in the field of justice that I think we should change from time to time."

Boyd would like to increase the use of recorders and computers in the courts, to speed preparation of transcripts for appeal and prompt resolution of disputed points. He said he would also like to find ways of preventing unneeded motions for delay by attorneys.

"We use old-fashioned court reporting methods in most of the areas of Florida, where the reporters take down the information in shorthand and transcribe it a week afterward," said Boyd. "We're anxious to get some computer-aided transcription equipment, which will allow the transcripts to be done the same day the testimony is given."

Boyd appointed associate Justice Ben Overton to head the commission on judicial efficiency.

"Our purpose is to upgrade the quality and speed of justice in Florida at all levels," said Boyd. "We're going to conduct pilot programs for quick conclusions of litigation. We're going to try to get faster transcription of testimony taken in courts and avoid, if possible, the delays when lawyers come in and ask that cases be postponed for months."

The panel will sit down in the Supreme Court's conference room Friday morning for its first meeting. Boyd said chief judges from the district courts of appeal and circuit courts, and representatives of the county courts, will be included in the sessions.

He said some corporate executives would be included, to suggest ways of getting rid of chronic delays and time-consuming court procedures, while still assuring defendants and litigants a fair hearing.

Boyd said less than half of Florida's circuit courts have computers to tell judges what cases are building up on their dockets and what kinds of motions are pending in each case. He said the advisory commission might ask the 1985 Legislature for authorization and funding to expand such computer use in the courts.

"Every judge I have spoken to in Florida since I became chief justice has been strongly in favor of these systems. I'm suggesting that we should bring the system of justice into the 20th century. Every other area of life — medicine, education, the arts, music — have gotten into the 20th century," he said.

County Names New Public Works Chief

Larry Sellers, hired by Seminole County 15 months ago as assistant county engineer, is stepping up Sunday to the post of public works director.

The county commission, on recommendation of a special staff committee, appointed Sellers, 35, to the more authoritative post and raised his salary from $29,973 to $37,600.

Sellers was first chosen by the staff committee along with two others out of 20 men who applied for the position. In a final interview, he was recommended over the public works director of Tallahassee and the public works director of Plant City.

Sellers has been sharing the duties of public works director with County Engineer Bill Bush since Public Works Director Jack Schuder resigned from the job Oct. 31.

After eight years on the job, Schuder resigned for health reasons.

Sellers, who lives in DeLand, formerly worked for the state Department of Transportation. He has a bachelor's degree in environmental engineering from the University of Central Florida.

What Every Good Santa Should Know About Short Distance Calling.

Finding the right gift for all those special people on your list can take some effort. You might even have to make a trip of 50 miles or more.

But the wise Santa calls ahead before heading out. And that's when Short Distance calling comes in handy.

What's Short Distance calling? With Southern Bell, it's simply a call of 50 miles or so. And, in Florida, a 5-minute Southern Bell call on weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., dialed direct without the operator, costs no more than $1.52. And, you can save 50% by using Short Distance on weekends until 5 p.m. Sunday.

That's Short Distance calling. This holiday season every good Santa should take advantage of it.

No Mull Over Curt As Top County Player

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Burger King cooked up the Whoppers for the county football players, coaches and athletic directors Wednesday night in the Eastmonte Civic Center at Allamonte Springs and as usual, awards and hamburgers were consumed by many.

Lake Brantley's Whopper of an offensive lineman, Curt Mull, became the first of his kind to win the Burger King Offensive Player of the Year award. Mull, a 6-6, 280-pound center, was selected for the honor by the county coaches and the Burger King Selection Committee.

Mull, who will play in the first Georgia-Florida All-Star game, is on the most wanted list of just about every university.

Defensively, there was a tie for the player of the year between Seminole's feisty linebacker Bryan DeBose and Lyman's hard-hitting Mike Henley. Senior DeBose, who was second in the county to his brother Mike in tackles, was the leader on Seminole's defense, which ranked second in Central Florida.

Henley, a senior who was fourth in the county in tackles, was the mainstay on a Lyman team which didn't win a game. Henley picked up one regular season defensive player of the week award while DeBose won two.

The third award given was for Burger King Coach of the Year. And, for the second straight year, it was won by Lake Mary's Harry Nelson. The head Ram turned a 1-9 team into a 6-4 club last year.

This year, it was even better. Lake Mary went 9-2. The Rams won the district and the conference titles before losing to Winter Park in the region.

Burger King Community Relations Director Bob Santulli also handed out plaques to the selection committee and congratulated the players on their fine season and hearty appetite.

Brandon Seeds Every Weight But 1 At Lyman

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman's Christmas Wrestling Tournament, sponsored by Emerson Electric for the 13th straight year, opens Friday at Lyman High School with first round action at 6 p.m. Brandon, last year's state and defending Lyman champion, is an overwhelming favorite to win again. Admission is $2.50 for students and $3 for adults.

"Brandon has got to be almost as strong as last year," said Lyman athletic director Skip Pletzer. "They have a good program and they keep getting kids coming (moving) in and more kids coming out."

As might be expected, Brandon dominated the seeding. The perennial powerhouse has one of the top four seeds in every weight class except 187 pounds. It has four No. 1 seeds, two No. 2 seeds and six No. 3 seeds.

"Brandon is just awesome," said Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz, who has a pretty awesome wrestling program this side of Hillsborough County. "We meet up with them too many times in the semifinals to beat them."

"We just don't stack up too well. But, I think we'll have a good shot at second place. Our biggest competition for second will be Martin County and Bishop Moore."

Seminole County has five wrestlers seeded at the No. 1 spot. Lake Mary senior Ivan Carbia is the pick at 121 pounds. Seminole senior Tony Brown is the choice at 140 pounds. Lake Brantley senior Joe Waresak is No. 1 at 157 pounds. Lyman senior Derek Smith is the main man at 169 pounds and Lake Brantley senior Andy Craft is top dog at unlimited.

Wrestling

Of the five, Brown and Smith are defending champions. Brown was at his best about this time last year when he upset Brandon's Dale Perrazola to capture the 140-pound title. Perrazola, though, is at 157 this year. Smith just nipped Seminole's Troy Turner for the 157-pound title last year. Smith, however, has moved up to 169.

"Tony has a good chance to win it again," said Seminole coach Roger Beathard. "He's moving real well and he's been real aggressive in his first two matches this year." Brown's main competition will come from Lake Mary's Todd Beauchamp (No. 4), Martin County's Eric Brickson (No. 2) and Brandon's Byron Byrnes (No. 3).

Smith's first tough battle should come in the semifinals with Lake Mary's Scott Ross. The Sarasota High transfer is seeded No. 4 and Schwartz said he has been impressive in Lake Mary's early matches. Brandon's Jeff Gilbert (No. 3) and Edgewater's Gene Mitchell (No. 2) are the two contenders in the lower bracket.

Once again, 157 pounds figures to be a real war. Waresak and Seminole's No. 3 seed Turner had two classic battles last year. Beathard said Turner pinned Waresak at this tournament last year, but Waresak came back to win at the region. Throw in the rugged Perrazola at No. 2 seed and you have a matchmaker's dream.

Seminole's other seeds include sophomore SHERALTON MAYS, who

Lady Patriots Face Stiffest Test With No. 1 DeLand

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots face their stiffest challenge of the young season when they travel to DeLand tonight to face the state's top-ranked (4A) Lady Bulldogs.

DeLand, the defending state champion, is 3-0 on the season and tonight will be its first game in Five Star Conference play. Lake Brantley stands at 4-1 overall and 1-0 in the Five Star. The Lady Patriots have won four straight since opening the season with a loss to Seminole.

Junior varsity action tonight starts at 5:45 with the varsity game scheduled for 7.

The Lady Bulldogs have the best player in the state, and one of the best in the nation, in 6-1 senior Bridgette Gordon. Another standout performer for DeLand is senior guard Robyn Swartz and other returnees from last year's state champions include Patti Corr and Kathy Corr.

While Lake Brantley pretty much knows what it will be going up against tonight, DeLand has not faced the Patriots since 6-1 senior center Kirsten

Prep Roundup

Dellinger transferred in from Pennsylvania. Dellinger leads the Patriots in scoring with 14 points per game and rebounds with over 10 per game.

Senior forward Michelle Brown is averaging 10.4 points per outing and junior point guard Sherry "Ice" Asplen is hitting 9.8 points per game. Also in the starting lineup for the Patriots is senior guard Kim Lubenow and senior forward Cammie Twaddell. Bench strength comes from forward Angle May and guard Ashley Thomas.

With Dellinger, Lake Brantley has a new look in 1984-85. Lake Brantley also has more experience this year and is a better balanced club than the last time the two teams met, a DeLand victory in the district tournament.

In another Five Star Conference clash tonight, sixth-ranked Seminole hosts Lyman's Lady Greyhounds (JV 6, varsity 7:45).

The Lady Seminoles, fresh off a convincing victory over Daytona Beach Seabreeze, have won three straight since a loss to Cocoa Beach in the Hoop-De-Doo Tournament.

In women's junior college play, Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders travel to Miami to take on Miami Dade-South. The Lady Raiders, who stand at 5-2 for the season, will stay in Miami for the weekend and take on Miami-Dade North on Friday and Broward CC on Saturday.

In freshman basketball action, Seminole goes for its seventh straight victory when it travels to Lyman.

Meyers Kicks Rams Past Apopka

Tribes Travels To New Smyrna; Lyman Plays 3 At Lake Brantley

Jerry Meyers pumped in two goals and Darrand Richards and Louis Rosen added one each as Lake Mary's Rams blanked Apopka, 4-0, in Five Star Conference soccer action Wednesday night at Lake Mary High.

Lake Mary, 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Five Star, travels to Jacksonville Friday for the Pride of the South Tournament at Jacksonville Forest High. The Rams go up against host Forest Friday at 6 p.m.

"It wasn't very convincing, but it's a win," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "We're definitely struggling to score goals. We're playing well on offense and defense, but we just can't put the ball in the goal. We may have that problem all year."

Soccer

We have to keep improving as a team."

Meyers got the Rams on the board in the first half with his first goal which came on an assist by Andre Sanders. Richards fired in a free kick from 25 yards out to give Lake Mary a 2-0 lead and that was the score at halftime.

Lake Mary put Apopka (0-3 and 0-1) away one minute into the second half as Meyers scored on an assist from Pete Kinsley to make it 3-0. Rosen added a goal on Jay Sapp's assist in the final minute of play to make the final 4-0.

The Rams had the ball in Apopka territory most of the night as they took 30 shots on goal compared to just seven for the Blue Darters.

Compared to Wednesday's one match there is a full slate of soccer action tonight. Seminole, 0-3-1, which just missed its first win with a 5-5 tie against Spruce Creek Tuesday, travels to New Smyrna Beach to take on the Barracudas. Game time is 4 p.m.

Coach Logan Fleck's booters turned in their best offensive show of the year when they rallied for three goals in the final three minutes to produce the deadlock. Freshman Matt Albert, Mike Wheelch, J.J. Partlow, Timmy Roberts and Sidney Griggs scored the Seminole goals. In a big triple-header at Lake Brantley, the Patriots take on the Lyman Greyhounds with junior varsity action beginning at 4 p.m.

Seminole Club Needs Assist To Reach Goal

Scoring a major goal usually involves some timely assists along the way. The Seminole Soccer Club has a goal to build a facility to serve over 3,000 boys and girls.

The Seminole Soccer Club has purchased 39.2 acres of land for development into a permanent facility. The club plans to have a 13-field complex which will also include a permanent multi-purpose building, picnic area and playground.

Other features will include lighting, fencing, paved parking and spectator seating. The facility will be located at Longwood Markham Road and Lake Markham Road.

The Seminole Soccer Club, an all-volunteer organization, began its program in 1975 with an enrollment of 35 and has grown to over 1,500 boys and girls, ages four through 18, and more than 90 soccer teams.

"In effect, these new facilities will permit Seminole Soccer Club to double the effectiveness of the services we now provide," said Publicity Chairperson Nancy Williams. "And it will enable more than twice the number of boys and girls in Central Florida to participate in our program."

"In addition, these facilities will provide increases opportunities for tournament play, professional soccer clinics and exhibition games."

But before the complex can be built, the club needs contributions of time, money or materials.

The materials needed by the Seminole Soccer Club include fencing (approximately 5,400 lineal feet for a six-foot high chainlink fence), irrigation, paving, grassing, landscaping, building and playground equipment.

"Much of our labor needs will be donated by the membership," Williams said. "However, there remains a considerable amount of specialized tasks which will require skilled outside help. Contributions of trained work crews in the areas needed will greatly accelerate the completion of the project."

The benefits of the new facility, according to Williams, include the following:

- Free up crowded public school and park facilities now being used by all the youth athletic organizations which must share these facilities.

- Allow the club to double its effectiveness and serve approximately 3,000 youths.

- Provide safer and healthier fields to help reduce or eliminate field-related injuries.

- Eliminate the excessive mileage currently traveled by parents with two or more children playing at separate sites.

- Provide a controlled, safe playground facility for younger, non-participating youths.

- Provide fields for state, national and international soccer competitions.

- Allow for instructional clinics for youths, coaches, and referees.

St. Cloud's Rally Sticks Oviedo, 42-30

Oviedo's Lions built a 30-24 lead with three matches to go Wednesday, but St. Cloud came back to win those three matches and hand, the Lions a 42-30 setback in prep wrestling action at Oviedo High.

Oviedo got off to a good start Wednesday, winning the first four matches. Shawn Dezaggo started the Lions off on the right foot when he edged Mike Glad, 17-15, at the 100-pound class. Rob Harmon then pinned his foe at 107 as did Jerry Jordan at 114. Francis Vela made it four straight with a 9-4 victory over Joe Peerman at 121.

St. Cloud came back to win the next two matches but Frank Clements kept the Lions in front when he pinned Dan McFaddin in 5:19 at 140 pounds. St. Cloud tied the match at 24-24 with pins at 147 and 157 but Joe McCall gave the Lions a 30-24 lead when he pinned Joe Shawl in 28 seconds at 169 pounds.

St. Cloud took a 36-30 lead with pins at 187 and 222 and that set up the heavyweight match between St. Cloud's Steve Newcomb and Oviedo's Joe Tanner. A pin by Tanner could have tied the match at 36-36 but Newcomb was the more experienced wrestler after making it to the state tournament last season.

Newcomb, weighing in at 294 pounds, gave St. Cloud the victory when he pinned the 298-pound Tanner in 1:18.

"We knew Newcomb would be tough," Oviedo coach John Horn said. "We've really been taking a drumming lately. We've had some kids quit and one of our best wrestlers (Gene Hartman) is out with a broken nose. If the new kids stick it out we should be a good team toward the end."

In one other match Wednesday, Lake Howell smothered Chris Cina instead of Paul Cina. Greg Buckley (147) and Hal Crowley (Unl) each recorded pins for the Hawks. — Chris Fister

Carter Orchestrated Expo Departure

NEW YORK (UPI) — You could say Gary Carter orchestrated his own departure from the Montreal Expos.

You could also say no one's happier about that than the New York Mets. The way everything has worked out, the Expos aren't the least bit unhappy either over their end of the four-for-one deal in which they gave up the most productive player in their history.

The meeting that laid the groundwork for Carter's leaving Montreal took place in West Palm Beach a few weeks ago during Thanksgiving. John McHale, the Expos' president, lives there and so does Carter, so it was a convenient place for them to get together.

Carter, a seven-time National League All-Star and the highest paid Montreal player ever with his $1.8 million contract that runs until 1989, was the one who asked for the meeting.

He was concerned about his future role with the club. He had enjoyed his best year this past season with 106 RBI, 27 homers and a .294 batting average in 159 games, yet somehow he got the feeling he was being blamed for the Expos finishing next to last.

Carter never had entirely forgotten that in 1983 — a year after his contract had been extended for seven years and he had gotten the big money — owner Charles Bronfman had said his signing was a "mistake." Maybe, Carter told McHale, when they met in West Palm. It was time for him to move on. Particularly because he was so anxious to play for a World Series winner.

What Carter actually did was give the Expos some food for thought.

They knew the type of gun-ho player he was, but they also realized not all the Montreal players were crazy about him, in the clubhouse, partly because of the money he was getting and partly because he wasn't much of a mixer.

Frank Cashen, the Mets' general manager, had talked to the Expos about his availability from time to time going back to the 1983 season.

McHale had told Cashen that Carter had a no-trade contract and he didn't think he'd consider leaving Montreal. That meeting the two had in West Palm Beach last month, though, had put a different light on the possibility of a deal.

Milton Richman

Cashen kept broaching the subject and on Nov. 30 over lunch with Murray Cook, he said to the Expos' GM, "If you fellows are gonna trade that guy, what players would you want?"

"We'd have to have an infielder who can hit," Cook answered, openly entertaining the possibility of a deal involving Carter for the first time. "It's gonna have to be Huble Brooks and a center fielder as well."

The Expos were intent on getting a center fielder so that Andre Dawson, hampered by knee problems, can be moved to right field on a permanent basis and Tim Lincecum could return to left field.

Cashen and Cook talked about some of the Mets' young outfield prospects like Herm Winningham, who came up and looked so good with them in September. Some time later, Cook said if the Expos were going to give up Carter, they'd have to get a catcher in return. They also wanted one of the Mets' young minor league pitching prospects.

Cashen's top two priorities when he came to Houston for the winter meetings last week were a catcher and strong right-handed hitter. In someone like Carter, he had both. Before finalizing the deal with Montreal Monday, Cashen got third baseman Howard Johnson from Detroit for pitcher Walt Terrell.

He and Cook talked at least 30 times in Houston. Finally, they had themselves a deal. Carter for Brooks, catcher Mike Fitzgerald, Winningham and pitcher Floyd Youmans, one-time high school teammate of Dwight Gooden in Tampa.

While there's little question in my mind Carter will do well with the Mets,

I wouldn't be surprised if Montreal ends up having the best of the deal in the long run.

"Who knows?" Cashen says. "Youmans could wind up being the number one pitcher in the league one day; Huble could be the number one offensive player; Fitzgerald could be their regular catcher and Winningham the best defensive outfielder in the league. You never know how those things turn out."

Cook agrees.

"We would not have made the deal if any one of those four players was missing," he said from Montreal Tuesday. "About a month ago, after my discussions with other clubs, I felt we could not be competitive with those players we could get to patch up our club. That was Plan A. So the next step was to try to trade one of our nucleus players to fill the three spots that needed filling most."

Those spots were shortstop, second base and center field and the "nucleus" players Cook referred to were ones like Carter, Dawson and Raines.

SOKC's Schooling Begins 50th Anniversary Season

By Phil Denis
Special to the Herald

LONGWOOD — The familiar call of "Heerreeee Comes Swifty" is about to return to the Central Florida area as the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club is about to begin its 50th anniversary celebration with six evenings of official schooling races beginning this Thursday.

That's right, Jerry and Jack Collins' winter home of championship greyhound racing is ready to open its doors for another season of competition featuring the top-competitors from around the country.

It all starts with the schooling events, the only time when youngsters can attend the races and get in on the excitement. During the regular season, a patron must be at least 18 years of age.

During schooling, however, it's a different story as Director of Racing Tom Bowersox has scheduled a total of 60 races for this Thursday night, with the first race going to post at 5:30 p.m. There is no pari-mutuel wagering during schooling. There is no charge for admission.

Another full slate of previewing the coming season is on the agenda for Friday night — again starting at 5:30 — with 47 races scheduled.

Bowersox will also coordinate schooling performances next Monday and Tuesday and a week from Thursday and Friday, respectively, Dec. 17-18 and Dec. 20-21.

From there, final preparations will be concluded for the "official" opening of racing on Dec. 26 at 7:30 p.m. There is no matinee on opening day.

Beginning Dec. 26, nightly racing will be conducted, except Sundays, beginning at 7:30 o'clock and matinee each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday through Thursday, May 2, 1985, at 1 o'clock.

Pari-Mutuels

"We're about ready to go to work once again," said SOKC chairman of the board Jerry Collins. "We've got some of the best greyhounds from around the country coming in to race with us for the winter."

"It's going to be a big year for us. It has been each and every year thanks to the many, many thousands of loyal fans who have come out and supported us."

Adds Bowersox, "We have some super greyhounds and kennels coming back and some new ones for the people to see."

"Champion greyhounds such as Hood River Larry, Fast Profit and Pink Sunshine will be returning. And we've got many other veteran campaigners and from the looks of it, some good pups who are ready to break in."

For now, it's time for official schooling to begin, the opportunities for patrons to get a look at their favorite greyhounds compete and for the youngsters to get a close-up chance at checking out what greyhound racing is all about.

It all starts Thursday night at 5:30 p.m. when the first call of "Heerreeee Comes Swifty" echoes through the facility located in Longwood, just north of Orlando between State Road 436 and 434.

Additional information is available by contacting the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club at 831-1600.

Clubhouse reservations for the regular racing season beginning Dec. 26 are also being accepted at this time by telephoning the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

All Souls Clobbers St. Lukes, 30-11

All Souls Catholic School's varsity basketball team opened the season with a 30-11 victory over Slavia St. Lukes Tuesday at St. Lukes.

David Wright and Jeff Dunn each tossed in 10 points to lead All Souls. Chad Perce added six points and Kyle Gadson contributed four points and 12 rebounds.

"We played a blanket defense," said All Souls coach Hal LeRoy about his first career win. "We shut them out until the second quarter with our press."

Basketball

In the junior varsity game, Donovan Tucker scored all 16 points but All Souls dropped a 34-18 setback to St. Luke's.

Pirates Hope Hendrick Will Supply Bat Attack

PITTSBURGH — Left-handed pitcher John Tudor is Missouri-bound now that the Pittsburgh Pirates have traded him for veteran outfielder George Hendrick of the St. Louis Cardinals, and a Pirate official says his team is getting a "quality hitter."

The trade, which has been in the works for the last two months, was announced Wednesday by Pittsburgh executive Vice President Harding Peterson.

The Cardinals also obtained outfielder-catcher Brian Harper in the deal that sent minor-league catcher Steve Barnard, 23, to the Pirates. Barnard has played only one professional season.

"We have traded a quality pitcher in John Tudor and a fine extra man in Brian Harper and in return we're receiving a quality hitter in George Hendrick and a bright prospect in Steve Barnard," Harding said.

"George is the type player who will greatly improve our offensive attack and is a fine overall player."

Hendrick, 35, batted 277 with nine homers and 69 RBI in 120 games with the Cardinals last season, but missed the last three weeks because of a thyroid operation.

The right-handed hitting Hendrick has compiled a lifetime major league batting average of .283 with 241 homers and 899

BMX Racing Back To Normal

After last week's exciting Larry Wilcox race, things were back to normal at Gordon Barnett Park Pine Hills. There were only 27 motos compared to the 79 of the week before.

Sanford's Mark Koch took first place in the 17-cruiser class to go with his second place at the Larry Wilcox Challenge. Sanford's David Sanborn, a 14-expert, took third place last week and at the Wilcox race.

Sanford's Andy Doering, a 13-novice, was third last week while 11-year-old Susan Koch grabbed a third place at the Wilcox Challenge.

Jay Staley was in true form in his 7-expert class. He took a first place.

Staley also raced in the 8-9 open. This tough seven-year-old showed the older generation how to race. He took another first place.

Eric Lucia was out there stylin' Saturday night. He finished off with a first place in the 9-novice class.

Ten-year-old Tim Finks didn't have too bad of a night either. He earned a first place trophy for the night.

Tim's brother Todd, who has been out of racing

Christy Davis Herald BMX Writer

for some time with a bone broken in his foot, hopes to be competing again real soon.

Twelve-expert Stacy Johnson also brought home a first place trophy for the night.

Thirteen-novice Scott Lucia, of Lake Mary, has really started to improve his racing ability. He placed second in his class Saturday night.

Third place in the 13-expert class went to Ronnie Brewer.

On Dec. 29-30, Montgomery, Alabama, will host it's N.B.C. Nationals. Seven-expert Jay Staley will be competing in hopes of upping his national #6 plate to a #1 for this year. Best of luck, Jay.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

DeSoto 200 Winner Heads Field For New Smyrna's World Series

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Topping the list of early Late Model entries for New Smyrna Speedway's 19th Annual World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing is recent DeSoto 200 winner Butch Miller.

Also featured in the Feb. 8-16, $125,000 nine-night continuity are the NASCAR open-wheel modifieds. Among the early entrants for that division are current National Champion Richie Evans, Jamie "The Jet" Tomalino, Doug Hewitt and Allan McClure who will drive a new Troyer Cavalier for car owner Steve DeFelice.

Ron Thiel of Stoney Brook, N.Y. will drive a 1985 Pontiac Firebird in the Thundercar division. Sunshine State pilots Richard Proulx of Orlando (1981 Camaro) and Tom Brown of Charlotte Harbor are also entered.

World Series inquiries are pouring in from all over the country, prompting promoter R.L. Hart to predict that very large fields of cars in all divisions should greet the fans in February.

Penguins Capture 4th Straight

United Press International

You can tell the Pittsburgh Penguins have come a long way. They are analyzing a victory against the New York Islanders. The old Penguins would have just taken the two points and run — in disbelief.

Todd Charlesworth's first NHL goal with 9:54 remaining in the game boosted Pittsburgh to a 4-3 victory over the Islanders, extending the Penguin's winning streak to four games.

"I think we asked ourselves a couple of questions in the last couple of days. 'Why did we play so well and win three in a row?' was one of them," said Penguins Coach Bob Berry. "I think it was evident why tonight. We got involved in the game, we finished our checks, and we played with a lot of intensity."

Charlesworth scored after goalie Kelly Hrudey stopped Mario Lemieux on a stuff attempt. The rebound slid through a maze of players to the top of the left circle, where Charlesworth recovered and beat Hrudey with a slapshot to the short side.

Elsewhere, Boston and New York played to a 3-3 tie. Buffalo and Hartford tied 2-2. Chicago ripped Detroit 5-1. Toronto surprised Philadelphia 6-3. Washington edged Minnesota 3-2, and Calgary routed Winnipeg 9-2.

Politicians Join Eagles' Mess

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The politicians have jumped with both feet into the tug-of-war for the Philadelphia Eagles.

But as far as Leonard Tose is concerned, everyone can let go of the rope and go home.

A source close to the Eagles told United Press International Wednesday night that Phoenix, Ariz., has succeeded in pulling Tose and his team from the City of Brotherly Love to the Valley of the Sun.

The source said Tose has made a commitment to Phoenix officials to transfer the franchise. He said an announcement probably would be made Monday after a final agreement was signed.

The source said Tose, owner of the Eagles since 1969, wanted to keep the team in Philadelphia but did not want to back out of his commitment.

Toney Upstages Bird-Dr. J Duel

The last time the Celtics and the 76ers met, Larry Bird and Julius Erving got involved in a heated brawl. The two NBA powers hooked up again last night and everyone was expecting another battle between the stars but it was Andrew Toney who came out with the fire in his eyes.

Toney, nagged by a sprained ankle, came to life in the fourth quarter and canned a long jumper with 1:29 left that propelled the Sixers to 110-107 victory over Boston.

"Unfortunately, whenever he (Toney) is in a slump, it seems that the Celtics always show up," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said. "His eyes light up. He comes back strong every time against us."

The high-scoring Toney finished with only 13 points, but he packed six points into the final four minutes to keep Philadelphia alive in the rollercoaster game. The shot he hit with 1:29 to go put the 76ers ahead to stay.

Rookie Charles Barkley added two free throws with 11 seconds remaining to ensure the 76ers' eighth victory in their last nine games.

Elsewhere, New Jersey beat Milwaukee 116-109, Detroit defeated Chicago 102-95, Atlanta ripped Cleveland 116-99, Dallas downed Kansas City 116-107, San Antonio pounced Denver 126-105, and the L.A. Lakers bombed Golden State 131-107.

is No. 4 at 114. Beathard said he gives Tracy Turner a good chance at 147, too. "Tracy got in the right bracket," said Beathard. "He's not with (Brandon's Chris) Arsalona."

Lake Mary's seeds include freshman Enrique Carbia, No. 4 at 100, senior Craig Johnson, No. 3 at 114, senior Matt Broberg, No. 3 at 128, Tom Olson, No. 4 at 134, senior Mark Lindquist, No. 4 at 147, and Billy Caughell, No. 3 at 222.

The second round will follow tonight's first. The semifinals will be Saturday morning at 10, followed by the wrestlebacks at noon, consolation finals at 6 p.m. and championship finals at 8 p.m.

Wilson Has Distance, UAB Falls

United Press International

The University of Cincinnati, the king of comedy last season with a 3-25 record, went in for serious drama Wednesday night.

The Bearcats upset No. 18 Alabama-Birmingham 69-67 on a 49-foot shot at the buzzer by Tony Wilson.

"When I left my hand I knew it had the distance," said Wilson, a one-time walk-on from the track team. "I thought it would hit the backboard first but I knew it had a chance. I've fooled around with that kind of shot in practice but I never thought I would use it in a game."

Roger McClendon's free throws put Cincinnati up 67-65 with 12 seconds left and Steve Mitchell's 10-footer six seconds later tied it. The Bearcats rebounded with two seconds to go and Wilson's heave from beyond midcourt went in cleanly.

"That was a player play," Bearcat Coach Tony Yates said. "Coaching has nothing to do when a guy sinks a shot like that. That's a player putting out a supreme effort and that's what Tony Wilson did."

Myron Hughes had 22 points and McClendon 16 for the Bearcats, who are 4-0 and playing with a new cast of players this year.

Elsewhere, No. 1 Georgetown routed American 86-64, No. 2 DePaul downed Penn State 78-61, No. 4 St. John's ripped Davidson 77-51 and No. 10 Syracuse beat St. Bonaventure, 71-59.

Injured Panther Begins Recovery

Wildlife

GAINESVILLE — The 125-pound Florida panther recovering in Gainesville from two broken legs has been transferred from the University of Florida College of Veterinary Medicine to a special compound nearby at the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's Wildlife Research Laboratory.

The animal was the victim of a hit-and-run near Naples on Nov. 1. The next day, it was discovered and rescued by state and federal wildlife authorities, volunteers and veterinarians.

"He's starting to feel good," said Tom Logan, the Commission's wildlife research bureau chief. "It was time we moved him to a bigger enclosure to give him some room to move around. But the veterinarians will continue to check on him."

The cat was moved early Monday. The Commission constructed a $3,000 compound to house the animal during the next phase of his recovery. The panther will remain in Gainesville under tight security precautions for four or five more months before it is to be transferred to a larger facility. Eventually, the Commission hopes to return the animal to the wild.

Concern Over Cosmetics Prompts Free Pamphlet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers with questions about their cosmetics can now turn to a pamphlet published by the federal government containing information on a wide variety of products. The Food and Drug Administration has published an article, "Questions of Substance Concern Cosmetic Users", providing information about the safe use of various products ranging from skin cream to deodorants. The pamphlet deals with such issues as whether BHT, used to preserve some soaps, is a cancer-causing agent, the effects of long-term daily cosmetic use, and the implications of certain labeling phrases, like "other ingredients".

The FDA notes that little is known about the long-term effects of daily cosmetic use. Skin penetration studies are now under way to determine if some skin irritants might also affect other body organs or systems.

Questions are also answered for less frequently used products, like permanent wave products. The FDA says repeated use of hair permanents should not adversely affect someone's health, as long as the product is used according to the directions on normal, healthy hair and scalp.

To obtain a free copy of the pamphlet, write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 614M, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Public Records Offer Personal Information

DEAR ABBY: Every now and then a woman writes to say that she's involved with a man who claims he's not married, but she suspects he is. I was in that spot once, so I did a little detective work on my own and discovered that I was right. Not only did I learn the man was married, I also found out:

1. It was not his first marriage.
2. Where he was born.
3. What kind of work he was doing at the time of his marriages.
4. His mother's name.
5. His father's name.
6. The names of the women he married.
7. Their professions.
8. Where they were married.
9. Who witnessed those marriages.

Abby, I got all this information at no cost to me simply by checking the public records in the county registrar's office in the county where I suspected the man had married. Pass it on.

ANONYMOUS IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR ANONYMOUS: In California, records of births, deaths and marriages are available to anyone who wants to see them. But because the laws differ from state to state, it may not be true elsewhere. However, this can be easily checked out by calling your county registrar's office.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Guess what? Today I feel as though I have really accomplished something, and all I did was go to the mailbox. I called the local Alcoholics Anonymous chapter and asked the people there to please send me some literature. I've just read it, and you know, I feel better already.

I wanted to share my accomplishments with the world, and what better way than to write to you? I don't have the guts to go to a meeting yet, but eventually I will.

Love from a female college student. Sign me ...

OPTIMISTIC

DEAR OPTIMISTIC: Your letter was a real upper. You're going to make it. All you have to do is stay sober — one day at a time.

Good luck. And please write again in six months with a progress report. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Like a lot of other people, the only time I write to some of my friends is during the holidays. My problem is that my husband and I are in the process of getting a divorce. We have been married for a number of years and have no children (which makes it easier), but it's still hard.

We are still good friends, but we cannot live together as man and wife.

How do I tell our friends? Would it be proper to give them the news on a Christmas card while wishing them a happy holiday? Or should I just send a normal holiday card like all is well and write a separate note later? Our divorce will not be final until February.

HOW TO TELL

DEAR HOW: Send a holiday card with your signature only, then add: "Perhaps you haven't heard that I am separated from my husband."

DEAR ABBY: My college roommate and I are having an argument. Was the old saying "Feed a cold and starve a fever"? Or was it "Feed a fever and starve a cold"?

FUZZLED IN TEXAS

DEAR FUZZLED: It was "Feed a cold and starve a fever." But the health care experts say: "Don't go overboard to 'feed' or 'starve' any condition."

Adopt A Dog This Month

Adopt a dog in December from the Seminole County Animal Control and register to win eight weeks of free dog obedience lessons.

Seminole Dog Fanclub Association will offer a free obedience course to the winner of a drawing to be held in Jan. Anyone who adopts a dog from the Animal Control during Dec. 18 is eligible to enter the drawing.

The winner will also receive a free leash and training collar. Visit Animal Control, choose your pet and enter the contest. You and your dog may be the lucky winner of the free basic obedience course. Training classes are held at Secret Lake Park Recreation Center in Casselberry every Thursday evening.

For information call Shirley Reilly, 323-8343.

'Y' Sets Holiday Fun

With Seminole County schools recessed from Dec. 19 to Jan. 2, the Seminole YMCA is planning full day activities for kids in grades K-6.

Programs are planned for Dec. 19-21 and Dec. 28-29 which include trips to Circus World, Sea World, Kennedy Space Center plus skating, swimming and more. Transportation is available from local elementary schools in Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Winter Springs and Forest City.

Fees for the six-day program is $54 for Y members and $59 for others which includes admissions to all attractions. Daily fees are available on request. Call 862-0444 for registration and details.

Cancelled Stamps Needed

Cancelled postage stamps are needed around the world for several philanthropic projects, according to Loris Boutwell of Sanford.

Ms. Boutwell says the stamps are being used to help the Catholic Retirement Home, Crowley, Texas; guide dogs for the poor in England; and missionary projects for all Christian Missionary Alliance

Churches in Florida, including the Sanford church which is also accepting used greeting cards for all occasions.

Anyone interested in contributing cancelled stamps, please mail or deliver to Loris Boutwell, 204 E. 24th St., Sanford 32771. She asks that a one-half inch margin be left on the stamps.

Physical Exam Should Cover Several Areas

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — What do you consider to be a complete medical examination? I had not had a physical in five years and went to a clinic for tests. Several areas were bothering me. In addition to some pains, I'm a 65-year-old woman and would like to prevent serious illness, but I came home with the same complaints I had before the exam.

Is it up to the person to ask for certain tests or up to the doctor to decide which tests are necessary? If I knew what to expect, it might help me if I ever decide to have another examination.

DEAR READER — There are great differences in what is included in a medical examination. Often the patient does not realize how much is done. Drawing blood looks like just one thing, but when the blood is analyzed by a battery of tests, it provides powerful information about your health. This analysis can include measuring your cholesterol level to determine your risk of heart disease or strokes. Of course, the examination should be directed toward discovering the cause of any complaints the patient has. In many situations, the examination will be limited to just that, unless you ask for a complete evaluation.

A complete examination should include an evaluation of risk factors that predispose the patient to fatty-cholesterol deposits, which cause heart attacks and strokes. After all, that causes more than half of all U.S. deaths, and a lot can be done to prevent or delay these. An examination should provide early detection of cancer or of factors that predispose one to cancer, which is the second major cause of death. This detection would include such things as checking stools for blood.

You should also have some baseline records that can be used for future comparison, such as a chest X-ray and an electrocardiogram.

I am sending you The Health Letter 10-2, Your Valuable Medical Examination, which outlines these points for you.

In addition, you need to be tested to insure that you can maintain the quality of your life. Your hearing and eyes should be tested. You don't want early signs of glaucoma to be missed, since glaucoma must be treated to preserve your precious eyesight.

When you consider the importance of early detection and prevention, a really good medical examination is an important step in maintaining your health and the quality of your life.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

A combination of a little bit of luck and a large bit of skill brought in this aggressive contract. South was hesitant about bidding with such lackluster cards until North came to life with a business double of two spades. That persuaded South to enter the fray with three hearts, and North made a doubtful raise to four.

Hurdle one was at trick one. The rebid of two spades by West showed six, so nothing would be served by playing dummy's king or ace of spades, since East would trump. Declarer played a low spade from dummy, and East showed out by signaling with the diamond eight. Three rounds of diamonds were now played by the defense and South trumped the third diamond with the heart ace, rightly assuming that East had started with six diamonds.

There was now nothing to do but push a heart to the jack and pray. The jack held, and when the queen and 10 of hearts fell together on the heart king, declarer was halfway home. Two clubs were discarded on the A-K of spades, and declarer returned to his hand with a spade ruff. He then led K-Q of clubs for a ruffing finesse against the ace and the contract was home.

Don't bother trying to make this contract if you played the ace of spades at trick one. It just won't reach.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 14, 1984

Conditions that contribute to your status in life will improve substantially this coming year. Be prepared to rush to the door when opportunity knocks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Lady Luck is your ally today and she may work things out in a manner that projects you into the winner's circle. Instead of settling for second best. Major changes are in store for Sagittarius in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Yesterday your hunches were reliable but this might not be the case today. In matters of importance, don't depart from cold, hard facts.

AGUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Do not let material objects cause a rift between you and a friend today. If he does anything to annoy you, look the other way.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) At social gatherings today, be selective about the topics you introduce into the conversation. Talk about fun things, not shop.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Too many irons in the fire today could be counterproductive. Isolate your priorities and give them the time and attention they deserve.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Subdue temptations today to reveal your plans to people who aren't in the position to help. Their feedback could get you off track.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do not be hesitant to renegotiate a situation today where you feel you're not being treated fairly. Adjustments can be made in your favor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Joint ventures will click smoothly today, provided your collective goals aren't vague. Have a definite game plan with crystal-clear objectives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your instincts to accumulate will be rather sharp today, but, unfortunately, your extravagant impulses will also be strong. Don't let the latter dominate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you'll have an opportunity to extend an olive branch to one who has been treating you coolly. Your warmth and forgiveness will chase away the chill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There may be some confusing undercurrents in your social activities today. These complications can be easily dealt with if you keep a cool head.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There are material opportunities around you today, but if you fail to use the correct procedure, you might not fully capitalize on the breaks.

Grindle, Selph Help Kids Get Ready For 'Legislature'

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

State Representatives Art Grindle and Carl Selph shared their political know-how with a group of students at Lake Mary High School today to prepare them for a mock legislature in January.

Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, and Selph, R-Casselberry, ate cinnamon rolls and drank orange juice with the American Government students and then told them how to railroad their own bills through their "legislature."

The students have drafted bills tackling a range of assorted problems — from the abolishment of the innocent-by-reason-of-insanity defense to creating "autobahn" lanes without speed limits on Interstate highways.

The students will debate the bills and then vote on them next month. They will follow the same procedures for passing laws as the real state legislature.

Grindle, who described himself as a consultant to the students, talked about issues pending before lawmakers, including child abuse and pay hikes for representatives.

"I strongly support a raise in pay. I don't need it," said Grindle, who makes $12,000 a year as a legislator but operates other businesses on the side. "But do you want just people representing you who are independently wealthy? No. You need a cross-section of people representing you."

Selph spoke more about how to get a bill passed over the loud squawking of opposition groups.

He told the students to pick the finest arguments in support of their bill and "sell" them to their fellow legislators.

One student asked how she could successfully "sell" her bill proposing the abolishment of the death penalty.

"If I were to have a bill like that in the legislature facts wouldn't make any difference. It's an emotional issue. On something like that you just count the votes beforehand" and size up support, Selph said.

Some of the students said the session helped them understand legislative procedures better. In addition to equipping them for their mock legislature, the information will help them know what's going on in Tallahassee in the future.

"Maybe some time along the line there's going to be a problem in society and they're going to pass a bill and we'll know how they did it," said 17-year-old Michele Wagner.

The session also served to familiarize the students with their representatives, according to teacher Desta Horner.

"I want these kids to know that these men are real human beings ... that they're touchable and knowable," she said.

Danny Beck, a 17-year-old senior, said Grindle, famous for his zany car dealership commercials, appeared to be a different man than he was on TV.

"In person he's not anything like he is in the commercial," Beck said. "And he didn't jump on our table."

Slowed To A Crawl

Sanford police officer Andy Collazo "shoots" traffic on Mellonville Avenue while Walter Merriwether, Jr., risk manager for the Seminole County School Board, watches as cars slow. Flashing speed limit signs were posted at Seventh and 11th streets along the avenue Monday. The 15 mph zone was created to make crossing the street at Hamilton Elementary safer for students. The speed limit will be strictly enforced, according to police.

Christmas Is Anything But Merry For Divorced, Expert Says

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The Christmas season puts extra stress on recently divorced people, forcing them into social isolation when they most need the comfort of friends or relatives, a marital expert says.

"Sometimes you'll see divorced folks who typically don't drink a lot really start getting into the spirits during the Christmas holidays, trying to drown their sorrows," said Dr. Greg Neimeyer, head of the marital clinic at the University of Florida's Psychological and Vocational Counseling Center.

The holidays tend to put extra stress on people and those recovering from divorcees may be especially affected, Neimeyer said. People who have been divorced for years can find old emotional wounds reopening, he said.

One holiday problem for divorced people is finding themselves surrounded by reminders of love, such as couples in shopping malls walking arm-in-arm, Neimeyer said.

Coping with the holiday party season as an individual instead of a couple can be difficult, Neimeyer said. A divorced person may be reluctant to go to a party out of fear their former spouse may have been invited, enforcing a tendency toward social isolation.

"These poignant reminders surface around Christmas time, when most of the advertisements, Christmas parties and all that sort of thing are couple-based," he said. "Often people withdraw and become socially isolated during the very times they need more social support."

And the divorced person may also realize for the first time they've been cut off from a network of former in-laws.

"If you're married five, six or seven years and you're accustomed to getting Christmas cards from the in-laws and suddenly you get cut off not only by your spouse but you no longer receive those cards, there's a significant and immediate kind of impact there," Neimeyer said.

Instead of withdrawing from society during holidays, people getting over marital breakup should make contact with friends and relatives through telephone calls, Christmas cards and socializing, Neimeyer said. Such activities can provide support that once may have come from their marriages.

If children are involved, both parents have to learn how to share the kids with the other parent, he said. And if children get two Christmases — one with Mom and one with Dad — each parent should allow them to talk about their holiday experiences with the other parent.

Bicyclist Runs Into Traffic Cone; Files Suit Against TV Firm

A Winter Springs couple is suing a cable television company for injuries the husband received when he fell off his bicycle after hitting a cone set on the sidewalk by a company workman.

Harold McGinley and Margaret E. McGinley filed suit Tuesday against Cablevision of Central Florida. In the two-count suit, they are asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit, on July 27 McGinley was riding his bike near state Road 434 and Sherry Avenue in Winter Springs. On the sidewalk at that intersection, a workman for the company had placed a large plastic cone. The cone, according to the suit, was on a sidewalk curve and hidden from open view. McGinley said he rounded the curve, collided with the cone and fell from his bike. He states the cone was carelessly and negligently placed on the sidewalk.

McGinley is suing for injuries in and about his body and extremities, pain, suffering and medical expenses. He asks for interest, court costs and a trial by jury.

Mrs. McGinley states she is suing for loss of her husband's services, comfort, society and attention.

No trial date has been set.

Longwood Moves To Shape Up Recreation Facilities

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

As the result of a recommendation by the city's temporary Parks Advisory Board, the Longwood City Commission has given the Parks and Recreation Department two new full-time employees and is taking steps to extend the life of the advisory group.

Dean Plato, chairman of the Parks Advisory Board, offered the group's recommendation at Monday night's city commission meeting. He said the board had held three meetings and reviewed all the city's parks and recreation facilities.

Recommendations include: removing the lights at the Reiter Park ballfield and selling them (the lights are not being used for night games because of complaints by nearby residents); implementation of a plan for Reiter Park that includes construction of two regulation tennis courts, three racket ball courts, one baseball field, a playground, restrooms and parking area to be completed no later than April 1, 1985 when the extension expires for the $18,000 matching state grant. A soccer field is also in the future plan for Reiter Park. Cost of the park is expected to total $36,000, according to City Administrator David Chacey. The amended plan will be submitted for state approval.

The board also recommended, in order to assure park and recreation equipment is maintained properly, that the Parks and Recreation department be administered by the present recreation director and that he be given a minimum of two fulltime employees with the necessary equipment to maintain the facilities.

The commission voted 4-1 to combine the parks and recreation departments, taking two parks workers now under public works and assigning them to work under Recreation Director Bill Goebel.

Commissioner Harvey Smerison voted against the action, saying, "It would be a good point for the new commission to consider at the mid-year budget review. Taking two men away now would further deplete a department that is already half-staffed."

Chacey said that following publicity about the trouble the city was having getting workers, "people came in droves to apply for work and now the department is almost fully staffed."

Commissioner William Mitchell made the motion to separate the workers from the public works department because of the amount of work needing done before the April deadline.

Commissioner June Lormann thanked members of the Parks Advisory Board and said she hoped they would stay on to work on a five year plan for city parks. The attorney was instructed to draw up a resolution creating a Parks Advisory Board and bring it back for commission approval.

Mitchell said he met with Robert Blumentritt, administrator of the South Seminole Community Hospital, who had agreed to let the city use the back part of the hospital parking lot to install a jogging path. He said the hospital has agreed to donate workout stations along the path. Goebel was asked to contact the hospital to work out details.
