Progress is being made toward the construction of the new hospital at Titusville. The new hospital will be a modern structure of steel and concrete.

United Press correspondent reports millions are near starvation in France. Very sad, but for that matter millions are in England, too.

Local friends of the hospital are wondering whether the airplane project will interfere with the new hospital and whether the whole fight will have to be all over again.

United States oil firm is contemplating a great gasoline discovery which may revolutionize modern gasoline chemistry. And this is no secret.

Army officials were reported yesterday to be considering a plan to reduce thousands of selective service trainees to remain voluntarily in uniform for two years beyond the compulsory one-year period.

Some senators said they had heard unconfirmed reports that the Army might seek legislation to keep draftees in training for the duration of the emergency. However, sources in the War Department declined to say whether such a plan would be raised without resorting to new draft legislation.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 23—(AP)—The War Department announced today that it had approved a plan to reduce thousands of selective service trainees to remain voluntarily in uniform for two years beyond the compulsory one-year period.

The Greeks At Thermopylae

British and Greek troops have been driven back from the plains of Thessaly and are now making a heroic stand at the pass of Thermopylae, less than one hundred miles from Athens and the port of embarkation at Piraeus, but the news of the surrender of the Greek army in the west leaving the entire left wing of the Allied command exposed affords little hope for anything better than a successful evacuation.

Though this battle of Thermopylae may be the bloodiest in all history, it is not the first time the Greeks have sought to defend their heroic kingdom by making a strong stand in its narrow defiles. Thermopylae (which comes from the Greek word thermos meaning hot and pyla meaning gate) has long been famous as the gateway to the narrow neck of land by which invading armies from earliest times sought to reach the ancient seat of democracy at Athens.

Nearly five hundred years before Christ a huge army of Persians, then considered a barbarous people, conquered Greece by way of this same pass of Thermopylae. Then only 50 feet wide, it was much narrower than it is now since alluvial deposits have so altered the coastline as to make a plain some two or three miles in width. King Leonidas with only three hundred Spartan warriors was able to hold the pass for three days against the uncounted Persian hordes.

It is interesting to recall that patriotic people were plagued with Fifth Columnists then as now. They did not call them Fifth Columnists then. Before betrayal became fashionable in certain quarters, people who engaged in it were known by a shorter uglier term. But Leonidas was betrayed at Thermopylae by another Greek who led the Persians over a secret mountain trail to the rear of the Spartan band and completed their slaughter.

Two hundred years later Greece was again invaded, this time by the savage Gauls of northwestern Europe and again it was at Thermopylae that the Greeks made their last hopeless stand. Again in 191 B. C. the Greeks and the Romans fought it out at the pass of Thermopylae. Always the Greeks were overwhelmed by treachery and vastly superior numbers, but they always came back to form a new nation and to maintain their national honor throughout the ages.

Perhaps it is too much to hope that in these modern times when both treachery and overwhelming numbers must be faced, but stuka dive bombers and mountainous tanks as well, that Thermopylae will provide more than a temporary shelter, but it is not by any means too much to expect that this time as in the past the Greeks will ultimately triumph and be restored to the rightful possession of their native land and all that it holds dear for the entire civilized world.

Pleasure Bent

The Ocala Star agrees with us that the way to get rid of jook joints, or any objectional place of recreation, is to provide plenty of good wholesome forms of amusement in their place. Most people, whether young or old, black or white, don't go to questionable places of amusement because they like them; they go there because there isn't any other place to go, or because they are tired of the monotony of going to the same old place over and over again.

"The American people are recreation and pleasure-minded," says the Ocala Star. "If the right kind of entertainment isn't provided for them, they seek the other kind; and that is one of the reasons why the roadside jook, where nickelodeon music, liquor and dancing are always available, has sprung up in such numbers and become a problem to reckon with in almost every Florida community."

"Ocala, we believe, is fortunate in having established a number of recreational centers, or in providing healthy and elevating entertainment and recreation, for its citizens. In Tuscanville Park we have a recreation plant any city could well be proud of. Out at the municipal athletic field, where a permanent home has been set up for football, baseball and diamondball, Ocala has the best antidote to the evil influence of the jook that could be devised. When the playing season is on several hundred people can be found there nightly, some of whom might otherwise frequent the jook."

Most young people like to dance. They prefer to dance in beautiful surroundings, to good music, in a wholesome atmosphere, among nice people, but when such conditions are not available, they do the next best thing. They go to jook joints.

Marie Haynes And A. J. Williams Wed

Characterized by beauty and dignity, the wedding of Miss Louna Marie Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Haynes, Sr. of Tallahassee, Ala., and Arthur J. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams of this city, was solemnized this morning at a candlelight ceremony at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haynes on Palmetto Avenue.

The Rev. W. P. Brooks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony. The bride was attended by Mrs. Bill Tyre, as matron of honor, and J. W. Altman served the bridegroom as best man.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with quantities of fern, lilacs and white gladioli. The improvised altar which stood in front of the first place was decorated with fern, mistletoe and white satin ribbon, and which trailed sweepings in pale colors.

The bride was lovely in a light ecru blue dress, which had a very full, accordion pleated skirt, and featured a lace bodice with three-quarter length sleeves. With her costume she wore nice blue accessories and a coronal of sweetheart roses and gardenias.

Mr. Tyre, matron of honor, was powdered in a dusty pink with which she wore white and blue ribbons and a coronal of gardenias.

A program of musical numbers was played by Mrs. Robert Babb, of E. Lauderdale and pianist of the ceremony, Mr. Ralph Hayes, of E. Lauderdale. The program consisted of "The Sweet Mystery of Life" (A. J. Williams), "I'll Be True" (Marie Haynes) and "The Home of the Future" (A. J. Williams).

Following the ceremony, Mr. Williams entertained the guests in his club and centered with large white punch bowls and glasses and refreshments. The couple left for their honeymoon home in Tallahassee and returned to this city, later in the month.

Mr. Williams was a member of the Tallahassee and received his education in that city, later in the month. He is now a member of the State Teachers College at Jacksonville, Ala.

Miss Haynes has made her home with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haynes and has been employed by the Mother Emancipator. She will also be employed by the State Teachers College at Jacksonville, Ala.

Baseball Fans Asked To Pay To See Games

Sanford Baseball Association, as well as others holding annual passes, have a deeper sense of appreciation of this fact than anyone else. With their appreciation of this need each of the officers and directors, as well as all others holding passes, have agreed to pay their way into the games, and this has been done since the opening of the season.

"It seems there are certain persons who feel they have the privilege of gaining admission to the park free of charge. We hope that every person, no matter what his public or private position may be, will do his share toward the financial support of the team by purchasing the regular admission ticket."

SEMINOLES LOSE TO SAINTS 5-0

Local Team Shutout For 4th Straight Defeat Of Season

St. Augustine shut out the Seminoles five to nothing in a game played there last night for the fourth straight loss the local boys have collected since the season opened last week, but tonight the Sanford team meets the Leesburg niners who have lost five of their six starts, going down before DeLand last night.

Albert Teckel, a rookie right-hander, limited the Seminoles to five hits during the game, though Whitlock and Justice pounded out pairs of two-baggers, only to be out at bat, the most hits made by any Sanford player and Whitlock drove a double for his two runs at the plate.

In the seventh inning the local boys put on a drive, leading the game for a chance to come up and win the game but the Saints came over the game and ended the inning.

Only four strikeouts were made during the game, Hudson fanning two, Lettles one and Teckel one.

When the game showed the Seminoles leading with the better score as Hudson allowed only one out, two while the Saint pitcher put six men on base through four-balls routes.

The four innings both teams finished without a score but the Seminoles boys made one in the fifth and sixth, and drove in three runs in the eighth.

Florida Amateur Golf Tournament Leads Off Today

Bill Stark, Former Champ, Enters But Carl Dann Is Out

ORLANDO, Apr. 23.—(AP)—Florida's leading amateur golfers Tuesday fired final practice rounds prior to the opening of the 27th annual Florida amateur golf tournament here at Dabedread Country Club today.

Bill Stark of Jacksonville, winner of the 1935 event at Miami, was scheduled to arrive Tuesday to compete. The Jacksonville shooter may be the only former champion on the scene unless Carl Dann, four times winner from Orlando, changes his mind at the last minute and enters.

Dann, however, for the last few years by an old wrist injury, announced Monday that he would not compete. He is undergoing medical treatment, however, and if the wrist responds he may enter the event by the time the first three-somes tee off tomorrow.

Defending champion George Boletta of Tampa will not compete. Boletta was inducted into the Army Tuesday under the provisions of the selective service act.

The team championship, won for the past two years by the Miami Billmore Country Club, will go under the title. The Miami club has entered only a two-man team of Earl Christiansen and William Stembler. Christiansen, a Miami policeman, is regarded as one of the prominent threats to win the title.

With the lower East Coast team out of the way, four-man teams from Ponte Vedra and Dabedread appeared to be principal bidders for the trophy. Personnel of neither team has yet been announced, but Jacksonville has five fine golfers in Stark, Stockton Rogers, a semi-finalist in 1935; Bobby Walker, Jacksonville city champion; Crawford Rainwater, also of Pensacola, and Dick Van Kleek.

Dabedread's team will be composed of Watis Gunn, former Southern amateur titleholder; Hugh Akerman, Jack Youtsey, and Dann, if Dann plays.

Signs Point Towards Hitting Year For National League Big Bats, Says Scribe

NEW YORK, Apr. 23.—(Special)—Signs point to a bat-barraging Spring in big league baseball, with homers hitting far and wide and the bases-patting turning every inning. Primed-up ace pitchers muffled the cannons somewhat in the season-opening series, but not for long.

Swearing was the Number One training season feature in the National League. The parrot circuit's bolterous barraging climaxed in one wild afternoon in which their collective clouting cleared 17 home runs and 5 American League clubs hit the bases-patting clean sweep of the inter-league exhibition game schedule.

In those 5 games the National League hits totaled 67, better than 12 per club. This is not mid-season form, if you mean last season. It's better! Old 1940 was a pitchers' year in the National. Outside of batting champion Debs Garms '35, the best average for a 100-game player was .310. Only 9 125-gamers made the 300 class. For the first time since 1919 nobody reached 200 in hit production.

This is another year. The music of ash against leather emanating from National League bat-piles prophesies that the senior circuit's twirlers will have a hard time tying last year's record of 82 shutouts. In 1940, the chuckers held a much heavier whip-hand over the bats than their American League counterparts, whose shutouts totalled only 61.

Those April 9 homers, triples, doubles, etc. can perhaps be discounted by the fact that they weren't facing National League pitching, in their free and fancy flailing which bowled over the 5 American League clubs. Against National League pitching, when the season is on, the history will be different, say those critics who believe the National League pitchers will again dominate the flag fight picture in the parent league.

The pitching supremacy of the National held true, however, in all of last year's inter-league tests, at every stage of the baseball year: the Florida All-Star Game in March, the July All-Star Game in St. Louis, and the world series. Especially was this true in the mid-season classic, when the 5-man National League staff—Derringer, Walters, Wyatt, French and Hubbell, representing 4 different clubs and thus reflecting the pitching level of the league as a whole—wrecked the shutout trick on the American League team, blanking the pick of the junior circuit's sloggers

Track Experts Pick 4 Horses To Win Derby

Our Boots, King Cole. Porter's Cap And Whirlaway Chosen

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Apr. 23.—(AP)—Bluegrass hardboots, those boys who know their horses like a banker know a counterfactual ten-buck bill, predict a 4-horse race in the $75,000-added May 3 Kentucky Derby.

That doesn't mean that no more than four horses will start, but it does mean that they think the winner lies in a quartet.

The "smart" boys list these four:

- Porter's Cap
- Whirlaway
- Our Boots
- King Cole

Otherwise, say the hardboots, the more than a hundred nominated will be just so many also rans, if their owners send any of them against these four.

The leaders named by the hardboots represent, in the order listed, the far west, Kentucky, the mid-west and the east and that, they say, will be about the way the big money will be placed at the pari-mutuels. Each section supporting its entry.

Which of the four will take the roses appears to be entirely a matter of selecting a winner in a wide-open race which might develop a "dark horse" that even the hardboots haven't considered. Such things have happened.

The Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland Thursday probably will determine whether Whirlaway's or Our Boots' odds drop in the pre-derby betting books. It will be a matter of a eighth of the longest distance run by these horses. This will be the fifth meeting between the two outstanding derby candidates. Our Boots defeated Whirlaway in two previous starts with Whirlaway carrying more weight. In the Belmont futurity. The only time they met at equal weights Whirlaway won. Our Boots ran second and Whirlaway third to Bold Irishman in the Pimlico futurity, the only time they met when neither won.

Valdina Groom and Bushwhacker, two others slated to go in the Bluegrass, also are derby candidates. The former showed considerable late speed in the Elmhurst at Keeneland last week although running fourth to Our Boots and may be a derby starter, if his showing proves outstanding Thursday. The same goes for Bushwhacker, although his training has been disappointed in his preparation so far. Bold Irishman and will mark the closing day of the Spring season here. Saturday racing opens at Churchill Downs, the derby course here, with the Clark handicap the feature contest.

Weights in the Clark, announced today, give the top to Gallahadon, last year's derby victor, 120 pounds. Joe Schenck, Vascosity and Haulta were assigned 116, from which point the weights fall off to 97 for Gay Lady.

Flying Ball Players Make Prize Picture

NEW YORK, Apr. 23.—(Special)—Football, hockey, polo, boxing, and other sports offer plenty of thrilling moments but baseball led the sports leagues when the judges picked their No. 1 thriller from the 189 sports photographs in competition in this year's exhibit of the New York Press Photographers' Association.

First prize award was the proud honor of Ernest Biso, popular Times-Wide World sharpshooter. Ernie's prize winning shot showed a swift play at the plate at the Polo Grounds. Billy Myers is aiding for the plate. Babe Young is diving to tag him. Both men are off the ground, and the title, "He Flies Thru the Air" might mean either the Cincinnati or the New York 1b.

The array of great pictures defeated by the State masterpiece represented 17 different sports fields, making the prize achievement a notable triumph for the national game in the realm of the magic eye.

Florida Netters Down Mercer 6-0

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 23.—(AP)—Florida's tennis team swept to a 6 to 0 victory over Mercer here Tuesday.

Summary, with Florida players listed first:

- Ralph Thredgill defeated Bill McCowan, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.
- Charlie Trais defeated Roger Nelson, 6-2, 6-0.
- Osgood and Thredgill defeated McCowan and Nelson, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1.
- Beardsley and Harold Dye defeated Hollingsworth and Louis, 6-2, 6-2.

Auxiliary Base For Jacksonville Planned

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 23.—(AP)—Officials at the naval air station here Tuesday announced that another auxiliary station will be constructed immediately on a 2500-acre tract near here. The first auxiliary station was built on the Banana River near Cocoa. Another was placed at Green Cove Springs. The third will be 12 miles west of the main base here. In addition to these the navy is working on a dozen practice landing fields for flying cadets.

7 Is Lucky Number For Bill Posedel

NEW YORK, Apr. 23.—(Special)—"Lucky 7th" usually means the 7th inning. You stand up and stretch when your club comes to bat. Your boys go out and get some runs. Sometimes.

"Lucky 7th" means the calendar in the case of Barnacle Bill Posedel, slim slapper of the Boston Bees. Bill hasn't lost a ball game on the 7th of any month since May 7th, 1930.

It's a 4-straight winning streak, checking up July 7, 1935, and the 7th of July, August and Septem-
