Lutherans take stand on abortion

ORLANDO — The nation's largest Lutheran denomination condemned abortion except under the most extreme circumstances, marking what church leaders said is a Protestant trend toward a stricter stance on the issue.

The 905-70 vote Tuesday night came after three days of debate among delegates at a convention of the 5.2-million-member Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. The gathering continues through today.

The church declared abortion "an option only of last resort," acceptable only when the mother's life is endangered, the fetus is so abnormal it would soon die, or in cases of rape or incest.

"We mourn the loss of life that God has created. The strong Christian presumption is to preserve and protect life," the statement said.

"It's a potential model for the ecumenical community," said Lutheran Bishop William Lazareth of New York. "It is grounded unquestionably in God's law of creation and should provide leadership to all persons of goodwill."

Missile misses by 100 miles

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE — The Navy is trying to determine why a Tomahawk cruise missile — a weapon that won a reputation for accuracy in the Persian Gulf War — missed its mark by about 100 miles in a test and landed in Alabama.

The unarmed Tomahawk, launched Saturday from the cruiser USS San Jacinto in the Gulf of Mexico, fell harmlessly in woods eight miles east of Jackson, Ala. It was supposed to land on a test range at this base in the Florida Panhandle.

It was the fourth time a missile has landed in a civilian area since the Navy began testing Tomahawks at Eglin in 1985.

No one has been injured in any of the mishaps, all in unpopulated areas.

The test flights are supposed to take the missiles over the Panhandle into Alabama and then back into Florida for a parachute landing at Eglin, which at 720 square miles is the nation's biggest air base.

Compiled from staff and wire reports.

Thousands complain, few appealing appraisals

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Despite thousands of calls and visits by homeowners outraged over increased property values, few have appealed assessments by Property Appraiser Bill Suber.

"I won't say they go away happy, but they seemed to be satisfied we are treating everyone fairly," said Suber. "I've gotten several letters from people complimenting me and my staff for conducting ourselves during what one person said was a trying time."

By Tuesday, Suber's customer service representatives fielded 3,825 telephone calls and 1,953 visits by the public, mostly to complain or question assessments, said service supervisor Cindi Robinson.

Last week, almost 300 people attended a meeting at Sanford City Hall called by Sanford City Commissioner Lon Howell to protest increases in property assessments this year. Many residents are angered because their assessments have increased by two to three times previous amounts, skyrocketing their taxes.

Suber says he made the adjustments this year following a three-year study of assessments of older homes. The study found older-home owners have been given an unfair tax advantage for several years because their assessments were lower than the selling price of similar homes in their neighborhoods. The study also found depreciation allowed on older homes was too much.

But also by Tuesday, only 42 people had filed See Assessment, Page 5A

Ex-mail chief Joel S. Field dies at 95

By NICK PFENAUER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Joel Smith Field, who served as postmaster in Sanford for 17 years, passed away at Central Florida Regional Hospital Monday. He was 95 years old.

The certificate appointing Field as postmaster for the City of Sanford was one of his prized possessions, and is still hanging in the den of his home. It is dated June 23, 1944, and signed by then President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. He continued to serve in that capacity until the early 1960s.

During his lifetime, Field was very well known through his association with a number of organizations. He has been an Elder Emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford where he was a member since 1911.

Field joined the Sanford American Legion post in 1919 and was commander of that post five times. He was also Exalted Ruler of the Sanford Elks Lodge 2 times, and achieved 39 years of perfect attendance with the Sanford Kiwanis Club. In 1985 he was awarded the Randall Chase Citizen of the Year award.

Field was also known for his love of patriotism. His first local event was the July 4 celebration in Sanford in 1913, when Seminole saluted its split from Orange County into a separate county, following approval by the Florida Legislature on April 17, 1913. At the time, he was 17 years old, attending Sanford High School.

He was born on July 7, 1896 in Augusta Georgia, and first came to Sanford with his parents on December 1, 1909 at the age of 13. After a number

County chamber forced to scramble

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — An emergency meeting will continue today to discuss serious financial problems at the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Delays in collections have led to layoffs and the need for several short term loans to continue chamber operations through the summer. Bob Lewis, the chamber's director, confirmed today.

Two employees: his secretary and the chamber project coordinator, were laid off two weeks ago. The two positions will be combined into a single employee, he said.

"When we used to ask people to sponsor an event, they used to pay in two or three days," Lewis said. "Now, it's taking months to collect and we need that money to pay expenses."

Lewis said chamber membership, which numbers less than 1,400, is at the lowest level since the mid-1980s. He said the chamber will begin its membership drive this month. He said the drive should push paying members to over 1,600.

Lewis acknowledged that board members have been critical of his management, but said the criticisms have been "healthy." Lewis said he has not been asked to resign.

"There has been no request for me to resign," Lewis said, "at this point."

Chamber president Carmen Fogerty declined to answer specific questions about topics discussed in the meeting Tuesday. She said the meeting would resume this afternoon.

"I called the board meeting yesterday to review the internal operations of the chamber," said Fogerty, customer relations manager for United Telephone. "The chamber is going through changes like any business during these changing economic times."

Fogerty refused to comment on whether any criticisms have been aimed at Lewis. She said membership is growing and the business organization has an active slate of programs for the year.

Fogerty said the meetings are "executive sessions" and closed to the press and the public.

The Sanford intersection of East 25th Street and Sanford Avenue yesterday afternoon.

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The solution to one local traffic bottleneck has been stalled by right of way purchase problems.

The improvement of the intersection of Sanford Avenue at east 25th Street was scheduled to begin before October, but now may be delayed several months because of a holdup in land needed for the $30,000 project. Acting Public Works Director Jim Wilson said Tuesday the land may have to be condemned before the county can use it to add another turn lane for motorists.

Dozens of angry motorists wait each morning and each afternoon for traffic to clear the busy intersection. Traffic from east 25th Street must wait for northbound Sanford Avenue traffic to pass through the intersection afternoons. Mornings, northbound Sanford Avenue traffic shares the same lane as those turning east on 25th Street.

One woman, Dressa Mczyluskie, wrote county officials recently she was the seventeenth car in line on Sanford Avenue, waiting to turn east on 25th Street.

"There is a really serious problem on Sanford Avenue in Sanford, especially at morning and afternoon rush hours, with traffic back-up due to

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Students injured in school bus accident

EAST LAKE, Fla. — A school bus skidded on rain-slicked roads and rolled over onto a car, causing minor injuries to 13 high school students, authorities said.

The driver of the car and the 19-year-old bus driver were transported to Bayfront Medical Center in nearby St. Petersburg for evaluation Tuesday, but authorities said their injuries did not appear serious.

"It looks like the kids are in pretty good condition," said spokeswoman Maggie Hall of Mease Hospital-Countrydale, where most of the students were taken. "They're banged up. They're nervous. They're a little hyper. But that's to be expected."

About 25 East Lake High School students were on the bus.

Protesters picket judge's decision

FORT MYERS — A judge who made a controversial decision in a child custody case went to work through a back door to avoid about 40 chanting, sign-carrying protesters.

Circuit Judge Robert Shafer last month ruled without explanation that a 7-year-old boy should be removed from his father's care and returned to his mother and stepfather, who admitted the boy's accounts of bizarre punishment.

The protesters marching on Shafer's office at the county courthouse Tuesday saw him enter through a back door. They delivered a petition to the judge's office demanding he explain his order to return the boy to his mother.

The boy testified earlier this year that the couple threatened to cut off his genitals with a kitchen knife. In other instances, he was dangled from his ankles from a second-story balcony, forced to eat dinner off a toilet lid and had soup poured over his head.

Convicted killer gets death penalty

INVERNESS — A circuit judge went against a jury's recommendation and gave the death penalty to the man convicted of killing four people last year in Floral City.

Circuit Judge John Thurman sentenced John Barrett to death Tuesday in the electric chair for four counts of first-degree murder. Jurors had recommended life in prison.

The odds are slim, however, that an appellate court will let the judge's sentence stand. The Florida Supreme Court reviews all death sentences and gives even closer scrutiny to cases in which judges override jury recommendations.

In the last five years, the state's high court has upheld only five of the 42 cases where judges went against jury recommendations of life in prison.

Cop accused of rape

MIAMI — A Metro-Dade police officer has been accused of stopping a young woman motorist in the middle of the night and raping her in the back seat of his squad car.

No charges have been filed against officer James Andrew Chesson, 47, but police are investigating the alleged assault.

The woman, a 22-year-old nursing student, claims Chesson pulled her over for speeding in the early morning hours of April 23.

Chesson then thoroughly searched her car and said he found a clear plastic bag that contained traces of cocaine, the woman told The Miami Herald for a story Tuesday.

The woman said Chesson drove her to a dead-end street and ordered her to take off all her clothes. The officer forced her to have oral and vaginal sex with him, she said.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Super-police agency proposed

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Four state law enforcement agencies should be merged into a single department, Attorney General Bob Butterworth proposed in a move to end chronic allegations of mismanagement.

Butterworth, in a letter Tuesday to Gov. Lawton Chiles and the other Cabinet members, proposed a single Department of Public Safety to oversee operations of the Florida Highway Patrol, Florida Marine Patrol, Florida Department of Law Enforcement and Capitol police.

It would report to the governor and six independently elected Cabinet members.

"The time has come, in my view, for us to re-examine the jurisdiction of the Cabinet and how it might be modified to improve government efficiency and effectiveness," Butterworth wrote.

His other proposals were:

- Dismantle the Department of Revenue and transfer its duties to the treasurer and insurance commissioner, currently Republican Tom Gallagher.

—Break up the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, with FHP going to the new police agency and the divisions of drivers licenses and vehicle registration going to the secretary of state, now Republican Jim Smith.

—Abolish the Department of General Services and merge its duties with the Department of Administration, under the control of the governor. The Department of Natural Resources would also move from Cabinet jurisdiction to the governor alone.

Butterworth intends to ask Chiles and the Cabinet on Sept. 12 to create a task force to recommend what changes should be made and how to accomplish them. Many would require action by the Legislature and possibly changes to the state Constitution.

Butterworth's letter came in response to a request from Chiles for an examination of several allegations against the Highway Patrol. They include favoritism in disciplinary proceedings, poor geographic distribution of the troopers, missing weapons and lagging promotions of women and minorities.

Those problems come on the heels of a highly publicized investigation of the Marine Patrol over misuse of state vehicles, fraud and threats made to employees. That led to the resignation of patrol chief Col. Don Ellingsen and was a factor in the decision of DNR Executive Director Tom Gardner to leave in October.

At Revenue, Katie Tucker was forced out as executive director after allegedly using her office to settle a labor union political fight involving her husband.

Such repeated problems, Butterworth wrote, stem from a labyrinth of agencies that oversee the various law enforcement units and the daily struggle to juggle dwindling state finances. In the process, he said, some good management practices get lost and public safety suffers.

Chiles told reporters he was somewhat surprised at the magnitude of the changes Butterworth recommended but that many were worthwhile.

"I want to do a lot of thinking about it ... but I think it makes some sense," the governor said. "I'm going to be a little more careful before I call that fellow again."

Incinerator is cause for heated debate

Associated Press

OKAHUMPKA, Fla. — It costs so much to pay for burning garbage that Lake County officials are thinking of abandoning a new $79 million incinerator and resorting to the old method of landfill dumping.

The 5-month-old garbage incinerator is state-of-the-art, works flawlessly and meets environmental standards. But there isn't enough garbage to operate it. It may be cheaper not to use it.

"I know it's hard to believe," said County Commissioner Richard Swartz, a fierce advocate of abandonment. "But I believe it's possible. That's how bad it is."

Industry sources say no community has abandoned a new and properly working incinerator.

"It's a crazy industry, and a lot of crazy things have happened," said Bob Gould of Governmental Advisory Associates, a consulting firm in New York. "But I don't think anything like this has ever happened."

Big wheels start rollin'

The first day of work Tuesday and lane closures for the widening and repaving of State Road 415 caused headaches for afternoon commuters used to easy going between Sanford and Deltona. The $60,000 project between the St. Johns River and Enterprise Road is slated to take five months. State road officials say they're reviewing traffic and may decide to keep both lanes open during rush hours, possibly extending the construction period.

Redefining AIDS

Medicaid may be inundated under new diagnosis standards

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Florida could see a dramatic jump in the number of people seeking Medicaid and other government-paid benefits under a new federal standard for diagnosing AIDS, officials say.

An estimated $55.5 billion of Florida's projected $4.3 billion Medicaid benefits this year would go to people with AIDS, according to James LaCrosse, with the state's joint legislative committee on demographic research and forecasting.

About 45 percent of that money comes from state taxpayers. The federal government picks up the rest of the tab.

Florida could see a jump as big as 70 percent in the next couple of years, according to state health officials. Since 1981, the state has reported 16,484 cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

A gain of 6,000 to 11,000 AIDS cases may not have a huge impact immediately, LaCrosse said. But the eventual effect of the new definition will probably be significant, he said.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control developed the new standard for diagnosing AIDS so it could track the spread of the disease, according to CDC spokesman Kent Taylor.

As of Jan. 1, physicians must report to state health officials those who test positive for the human immunodeficiency virus and whose blood levels show a certain depletion in their infection-fighting white blood cells.

"Sometimes you have cases where people don't have an AIDS-specific disease. This diagnosis is more appropriate," Taylor said.

People who fit the new criteria often need the same level of care as those who fit the current standard, said Tom Skinner, another CDC spokesman.

"We're constantly evaluating the AIDS case definition," he said. "We're changing it on recommendations from experts in the field who are working with people who have HIV and AIDS so that these people can have access to the proper medical care."

Other federal programs may ease the state's burden of caring for more AIDS patients.

A 50 percent increase in cases could help local health officials record enough AIDS cases to qualify for millions of dollars in grants from the 1990 Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources Emergency Act.

The act, named for the Indiana teen who died last year after contracting AIDS from a blood transfusion, pumped $882 million into 16 metropolitan areas this year. The grants pay for patient care, education and prevention.

Florida received $3 million from the program this year, said Watson Haynes, director of Operation Parental Awareness and Responsibility Inc. in Clearwater.

Lawyer: Suspect's suicide attempt is a cry for help

Associated Press

CRYSTAL RIVER — A suicide attempt by one of the suspects in a highly publicized Tampa rape case should have no effect on his ability to stand trial, his attorney said.

"I have significant confidence he's going to be able to bounce back and assist me and assist himself in his defense," said attorney Norman Cannella. "This may have just been his immature way of saying, 'Help me. I can't handle this situation.'"

Carl J. Allison was back at home with his parents today after trying to slash his left wrist with a small-blade knife at the family's Crystal River home over the Labor Day weekend.

According to a police report of Friday's incident, Allison called 911 himself and told paramedics he tried to kill himself because of an argument he had with his girlfriend, pressure from his parents and his legal troubles.

Allison, 26, and Mark Urbanaki, 24, are charged with raping a 21-year-old woman last April at the home of Tampa Tribune President James Urbanaki. The elder Urbanaki was not at home at the time.

The case has received intense publicity in the Tampa Bay area as both defendants come from wealthy, prominent families. Trial is set for December.

When Crystal River police responded to the suicide attempt call at 2:45 p.m. Friday, Allison was sitting in the kitchen with towels wrapped around his left wrist, reports said.

POLICE BRIEFS

Whiskey River Lounge robbed

An unknown amount of cash was reported stolen from the Whiskey River Lounge on East State Road 46 early Tuesday morning.

Seminole County deputies reported finding an entrance door to a stairwell unlocked. Inside, they found a hole had been made in the drywall leading to the interior of the bar. The cash was missing from the cash register in the main bar. Deputies report finding three fingerprints. Also the bar is equipped with a surveillance camera, they reported. An investigation is continuing.

Man reports gambling money taken

A man reported he was robbed of $160 of gambling money west of Sanford Sunday night.

Dennis Williams, 18, reported to Seminole County deputies he was gambling with several other men near 18th Street and Southwest Road at 10:15 p.m. Williams reported a black man wearing a black pull-over mask struck him behind the ear and on the forehead with a handgun, possibly a 9mm or a 45-caliber, according to reports.

The man left on foot, reports state. Deputies have no suspects, but an investigation is continuing.

Maitland man attacked, robbed

A Maitland man reported he was attacked by five men in Midway Friday and robbed of $70.

Danny Green, 33, told Seminole County deputies he was attacked by the five unknown men near Brisson Avenue at Crawford Drive. Deputies reported Green received minor injuries on the back of his neck, but refused treatment. An investigation is continuing.

Man charged with burglary, theft

Eugene Edward Allgood, 23, 4889 Orange Blvd., Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Monday, charged with burglary and theft.

A witness reported to police they saw a man climb into a Palmetto Avenue home through a window. Police reported hearing noises inside the residence before Allgood emerged and was arrested. Police report Allgood confessed to taking $10 from the home.

Couple arrested during scuffle

A scuffle between a west Sanford couple landed both in the Seminole County jail Saturday afternoon.

Grace Delorse Carr, 27, and Major Wheeler, 35, both of 1811 W. 15th St., were arrested by Sanford police following the incident. Police report responding to the couple's residence to check on a report of a television theft. Police report finding the couple arguing in the front yard. Police reported seeing Carr strike Wheeler in the face with a rake handle.

Police report while they were trying to calm the couple, Wheeler kept yelling at Carr and shouting profanities, attracting a crowd of neighbors. Police also report Wheeler swung his arms within striking distance of an officer. Carr was charged with aggravated battery. Wheeler was charged with disorderly conduct and assault on a policeman.

Husband arrested after threatening wife

Anthony Bruno Piergrossi, 40, 289 Marjorie Blvd., Longwood, was charged with aggravated assault after his wife told Seminole County deputies he threatened her life with a hammer Sunday morning.

Janet Piergrossi told deputies she tried to leave during an argument when her husband grabbed her arm and threatened to kill her. She said he threw her to the ground and wielding a claw hammer, threatened to "smash her head in and kill her," reports state. She said she was able to break away and run to a neighbor's house where she called police. Piergrossi left in a vehicle.

Deputies found Piergrossi in his vehicle nearby. They also charged him with driving with a suspended license.

Concealed weapon charge filed

Ronald Robert Herring, 27, 608 Baywood Drive, Sanford, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon by Seminole County deputies Monday night.

Deputies report breaking up a scuffle at Herring's residence. When they asked him to stand up, a deputy reported seeing a large knife in Herring's rear pocket.

Shoplifter detained

Seminole County deputies report arresting a woman on shoplifting charges, only to find she was wanted for shoplifting under another name.

Deputies report arresting "Shay Baker, 33, 2428 Church St., Sanford," after an employee at Albertson's on south U.S. Highway 17-92 reported seeing her leave the store without paying for a $23 bottle of liquor. After she was booked into the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, deputies found Baker was actually Sarah Ann Jackson, 32, 2430 Granby Ave., Sanford. Jackson has been wanted since September 1990 for failing to appear at a shoplifting hearing.

Failure to appear arrest made

Joseph Charles Baker, 30, 701 E. Eighth St., Sanford, was apprehended Monday on charges he failed to appear at a burglary hearing.

Zoo offers training

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Docent training programs will be offered at the Central Florida Zoological Park. Registration is now being accepted.

According to marketing coordinator Andrea Farmer, "The Central Florida Zoological Park is more than a place to see exotic and native animals, it is an educational facility used by more than 50,000 school children and groups annually."

The zoo's education department will be offering two classes for prospective docents. One, to be held each Wednesday for eight weeks, will begin on Sept. 18. The other class is held each Saturday for eight weeks, starting on Sept. 21.

There is a $25 tuition fee for this mini-zoology course. Applicants must be 16 years of age or older, and be willing to donate three hours of their time each week after graduation. Contact the Central Florida Zoological Park, at 323-4450 or 843-2341.

Recovery

While the Federal Reserve remains convinced that the U.S. economy has emerged from recession and that a recovery is underway, it apparently is much less sanguine about the strength of the recovery. It is largely for that reason that the central bank's policy committee decided to help the recovery along by dropping short-term interest rates a quarter point to 5.5 percent.

Specifically, the Fed cut the federal funds rate, the rate to which overnight bank loans are pegged. In so doing, it hopes to set in motion other interest rate reductions, such as home mortgages, auto and other consumer loans and yields on certificates of deposit. The ultimate goal is to provide impetus for businesses and consumers to spend and borrow more money.

As it is, Fed officials have been concerned of late about the anemic growth of the nation's money supply. M2, which includes currency, checking accounts and certain time deposits, and which is the most closely watched money supply figure, has been sluggish for much of this year. This was mitigated somewhat by the more rapid growth of M1, which measures only currency and checking accounts. But, in July, both M1 and M2 came in below the Fed's targeted growth levels.

There had been concern in some quarters that a Fed interest rate cut would have an inflationary effect on the economy and actually do more harm than good. The experience of previous recessions has been that, when the economy begins to show signs of recovery, the quickest way to choke it off and plunge the economy into another recession — a so-called "double dip" — is to add higher inflation to the equation.

Most indicators now suggest that inflation will not be a problem in this recovery. The most encouraging sign, perhaps, was the reaction of the bond markets to the Fed's rate cut. There had been speculation that a cut in short-term would provoke inflationary fears in the bond market, resulting in a perverse increase in long-term interest rates. But, in fact, after the Fed announced its move, the rate on long-term Treasury bonds fell from 8.23 percent to 8.17 percent.

The Fed has responded judiciously to the vagaries of the U.S. economy. It first eliminated the danger of inflation killing the recovery. Now it has acted to strengthen the recovery by making more money available for banks and businesses and consumers. If the recovery ultimately proves stronger than expected, the Fed will deserve much of the credit.

When life was simple

Once upon a time, being an environmentalist was simple. All you had to do was wear a few buttons on your tie-dyed shirt that read "Save the Earth" and "No nukes," and make herbal tea on your wood-burning stove.

It used to be that if you hiked and communed with nature, you were an environmentalist. Today, that just makes you a yuppie. Instead, you must file suit against a developer, quote from environmental impact reports and cite legal precedent to win over a federal judge.

Singing folk songs about saving whales is no longer de rigueur. You have to be able to argue about mitigating the impacts of habitat fragmentation on the migratory cycles of the marbled fringe-toed gnatcatcher.

Environmentalism has changed so much that a schism has developed between environmentalists and conservationists.

The National Audubon Society fired the entire staff of its Audubon magazine. The society president wanted a more aggressive stance on a wider range of environmental issues, not just stories on the nesting habits of blue jays. One fired staffer said the hard-charging environmentalists running Audubon considered conservationists "old fogies."

The Sierra Club went through a similar transformation in the '70s, changing from a mountaineering club to a high-powered lobbying concern and a publisher of coffee-table books and calendars.

Perhaps environmentalists' change from passive tree-huggers to political combatants has been necessary to stave off a worldwide ecological onslaught. In some respects, it has been quite a success. Environmentalism is now to so socially popular it's even used to market laundry detergent.

But it's no fun anymore. Oh, for a Whole Earth Catalog and a pair of Earth Shoes.

FLORIDA COMMENTARY

School expectations exceed reality

By JACK LEVINE

Once again, the sounds of children's voices fill school hallways and classrooms. From the most timid kindergartener to the most intimidating teenager, the noise of their excitement will balance with the stillness of their anticipation.

Faced with the needs of nearly 2 million students, Florida educators have never experienced the scope of challenges they'll confront in the year ahead. For reasons ranging from ethnic diversity to fiscal constraint, schools in Florida have become places where expectations far exceed reality. When it comes to quality education, Florida orders up a banquet but pays for a brunch.

Schools mirror the communities in which they stand. We should never expect a school to be safe if the streets which surround it are dangerous. We can't expect children to be eager learners if they are ill, hungry or unsure of their self-worth. Parents cannot be equal education partners if economic pressures put health care and safe shelter out of reach.

Floridians aren't intentionally uncaring, but too many of us haven't been alerted to the needs of children. Parents know the details of their own child's life but are often ignorant of the facts of life for the child sitting next to theirs in school.

While most Florida children are ready for education, too many are not. Of Florida's 1991 class of kindergarten children:

● One in four lives in poverty. Economic risk is tightly linked to school failure; three-quarters of Florida's dropouts are poor.

● One in five did not receive adequate preventive health care prior to entering school; poor health reduces a child's ability to learn.

● One in six will eventually drop out of school. Florida's school failure rate ranks among the nation's highest.

From this year's kindergarten class will come the parents, taxpayers and community leaders our state will depend upon for its survival. For lack of investment, however, from their ranks, too, will come the criminals we will be forced to defend against.

The priorities of the 1980's have given us the highest child poverty rate in 15 years. Limited access to prenatal care, health screening and immunizations have resulted in unprecedented numbers of low-birthweight babies and children who suffer disease and disability in their formative years.

Girls and boys who grow up unhealthy, undereducated and unskilled are less likely to pay their way in adulthood. In the 21st century, when an aging Florida will need productive workers, today's children won't be able to meet the demand.

Since not all children are born equal, some need an extra boost to survive and succeed. To deny children the chance to prosper is to deny ourselves a productive future.

We can't expect politicians in Washington or Tallahassee to take action if we hesitate to act ourselves. To ensure the success of Florida's children, we must make their well-being everyone's concern — parents, grandparents, teachers, civic and business leaders, and politicians as well.

To guarantee school success, we must be willing to invest in every child. Failure to make this down payment increases the human deficit. With enough political will, we can afford to care for our children. What we cannot afford is the enormous cost of ignoring their needs.

Jack Levine has served as executive director of the Florida Center for Children and Youth since 1979.

To guarantee school success, we must be willing to invest in every child.

Now, America, play offense

PARIS — It was about yesterday — Aug. 1, 1990, to be exact — when it was being said that "America is in decline."

Other words are now heard. With the Klutz Coup following the Gulf War, it is maintained that "America is the only superpower" (true) and that "America can now do anything it wants" (false).

But if that's what's thought, fine. The perception of power is a form of power. The additional clout — real and perceived — that has accrued to the United States with the demise of communism is important, even if less than total. New assertive options are available, as a global leader, not a global bully. And so America ought to seize the moment.

What might we try to do, for the world's sake, and our own? Herewith are three ideas — one to wrap up the past, two to try to shape the future.

THE PAST. Has the collapse of the Soviet Union ended the 20th-century plague of totalitarianism? Probably, but only probably. We have learned recently that we don't know very well how the world works. Things go bump in the night when least expected.

So, as an insurance policy to finish off big-time communist totalitarianism, we should free China. There are a billion people there seeking liberty. The government has nuclear weapons.

We ought to gather our allies and determine that global strategies will best drive a stake through the heart of the last communist reptile. High on the list ought to be an ever-tightening global trade embargo, relaxed only as freedom emerges.

(A freed China means that our grandchildren might face the question, "Is China No. 1?" But such are the rains of the road.)

THE FUTURE (I). A second epic goes to Saddam Hussein. Just before the coup commanded the headlines, the news was coming out that Saddam's nuclear forces were much greater than had been believed.

That is a perilous situation, both in itself and for the model it establishes. There won't be a stable world if gangsters have nukes.

Simple inspection won't work in Iraq. The only way to control Iraqi nuclear weapons is to have a friendly government. That can probably be accomplished by simple resolutions of the U.S. Congress and the U.N. Security Council.

All we have to say is that Saddam must leave the country within 30 days or we're all coming in to get him. I bet he leaves — we can even provide him with a host country and Frequent Flyer miles.

(In any event, George Bush should check in with his political psychiatrist if he runs for re-election in 1992 with Saddam Hussein still in power.)

THE FUTURE (2). Gorbachev thought the USSR should find its new place in the world as part of a "European home." That's not a bad idea, if you're European.

We're not. With Gorbachev weak in the USSR, and Yeltsin strong in Russia, we ought to promote other ideas.

The soon-to-be country of Russia barely touches Europe, at Finland. It has roughly as much contiguity with America — across the Bering Straits at Alaska. The United States ought to suggest to the Russians that they might do better in the new world order as a Northern, Pacific and continental power — like the United States — rather than as a European afterthought.

When the time comes (a few years from now), we might well want to try to get the Russians in the U.S.-Canada-Mexico trading bloc. Meanwhile, let's offer immigration visas to a million educated Russians. That's the best foreign aid (the immigrants send money back to their families) and it bolsters ties.

A Europe with Russia in it might become the locus of global power. A Europe without Russia will not. An America with a strong link to the new Russia would continue to be No. 1. That is the object of the game.

New assertive options are available.

BCCI scandal has focus on Carter

WASHINGTON — The spreading scandal over the Bank of Credit and Commerce International, or BCCI, could soon taint the reputation of a former president.

We have written previously about Jimmy Carter's disquieting connection in the 1970s with the London-based, Saudi-controlled bank now accused of money laundering and fraud. Carter was pushing the sale of advanced jet fighters to Saudi Arabia while he was personally in debt to a bank with Saudi ties. The bank was controlled by a Saudi wheeler-dealer who served as a front for BCCI.

The story was important when first reported several years ago because it raised questions whether Carter had allowed his personal financial straits to shape his Middle East policy. But, it looms even larger now, as BCCI cuts an ever-growing swath through finance and politics.

BCCI had a reputation for moving money anywhere without a trace, and became a haven for figures ranging from drug lords to despots to tax-evaders.

No one accuses Carter of being remotely involved with these nefarious activities. Rather the questions swirl around the propriety of a U.S. president owing money to elements connected with the notorious bank.

Ghath Pharaon is a Saudi tycoon who has become a central figure in the BCCI scandal. The son of a high-ranking Saudi official, Pharaon helped BCCI founder Agha Hasan Abedi buy control over three American banks.

As we reported in 1980, the Carter connection began when Pharaon helped bail out the president's banker and buddy, Bert Lance. He was Carter's budget director until disclosure of his dealings as chief of the National Bank of Georgia forced him to resign.

On Dec. 20, 1977, Pharaon agreed to buy controlling interest in Lance's bank, National Bank of Georgia. Pharaon admitted to us back then that he bailed out Lance at his father's recommendation. At that time, the elder Pharaon was advising the Saudi royal family on how to get 60 F-15 advanced jet fighters that they dearly wanted to purchase from the United States — a sale that the Israelis and Carter's fellow Democrats in Congress bitterly opposed.

The younger Pharaon arranged a $3.5 million loan for Lance through BCCI. Then Pharaon bought control of Lance's bank for an additional $2.4 million.

At the time the Carter warehouse, in which the president had a big interest, was in the red and owed $630,000 to Lance's bank. Thanks to Pharaon, the president was now in debt to a bank that had been acquired by the son of the Saudi royal family's American affairs adviser. A few days later, Carter announced his decision to sell the F-15s to the Saudis. The newly acquired, Saudi-controlled bank renegotiated the Carter family's $630,000 loan and granted it favorable new terms that saved the Carters $60,000 the first year. It was a sweetheart deal that had become BCCI's specialty.

Even as the Saudis were being armed, the Defense Intelligence Agency in a "Secret" 1978 report seen by our associate Dean Boyd called Saudi Arabia the "PLO's most steadfast financial supporter." Carter did not return our phone calls.

A reputation for moving money anywhere without a trace.

Rice University tops best college buy list

By LEE HUYGANG
AP Education Writer

NEW YORK — Rice University, a century-old Texas school known for top-flight engineering and science programs, heads a list of the nation's 100 best college buys in a magazine survey.

Money Magazine's second annual Money Guide, which goes on sale for $3.95 at newsstands Monday, called the Houston university the nation's best overall tuition value after analyzing 1,011 colleges and universities.

The Top 100 list had 56 private schools, including the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Yale, Stanford and the University of Chicago, which charge more than $16,000 in tuition but were nonetheless judged excellent values.

Rice, with a $1 billion endowment, charges its 3,900 students $7,700 in tuition plus $4,900 in room and board, roughly half what most Ivy League students pay. Until 1985, it charged no tuition at all.

Rice was founded in 1891 by a cotton baron, William Marsh Rice, whose dream was to establish a first-rate college open to all regardless of means. Rice's engineering, business and science programs rank among the nation's best.

On the cost side, the survey rated schools based on tuition. It used out-of-state charges for public schools to make them more comparable to private institutions.

In measuring educational quality, the survey used such indicators as student-to-faculty ratio, average Scholastic Aptitude Test scores, library quality, graduation rates, percentage of graduates who earn doctorates.

The other schools in this year's top 100 best buys were: New College of The University of South Florida, Sarasota; Trenton State College, Trenton, N.J.; University of Virginia, Charlottesville; University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; California Institute of Technology, Pasadena; State University of New York at Binghamton; University of Washington, Seattle; University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; and the University of Texas at Austin.

Movie studios feel summer chill

By JOHN MORRIS
AP Entertainment Writer

LOS ANGELES — "Dead Again" earned a lively $6.3 million for first place at the box office over Labor Day weekend, but the reincarnation thriller was one of only a few bright spots in a mostly lifeless Hollywood summer.

Rattled by a series of clunkers, the major studios are cutting production budgets, scaling back release schedules and — or so they say — trying to make better movies.

"There's nothing wrong with the business. It's just lousy pictures," said Mitch Goldman, head of distribution for New Line Cinema. This summer, New Line's "Drop Dead Fred" earned $13.9 million, enough to make a small amount of money. Smaller New Line films — such as "Trust" — went nowhere.

"People are being much more selective in what they want to see," said Barry London, co-president of Paramount Picture's Motion Picture Group. London, like other studio executives, blamed an 8 percent downturn in summer attendance on the recession. Ticket prices, too, are up slightly to around $4.70 on average, and that may be keeping moviegoers glued to their sofas.

Paramount bombed with "Body Parts," but its "Dead Again" made a healthy $6.3 million in its second week of release. "Dead Again" beat out "Child's Play III," "Terminator 2: Judgment Day," "Hot Shots!" and "Doc Hollywood" during the Labor Day holiday, the last weekend of the summer season.

Daily Variety estimates slightly more than $1.7 billion in tickets sold at North American theaters this summer, down from $1.86 billion in 1990. Three summer films made more than $100 million — "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves," "Terminator 2: Judgment Day" and "City Slickers."

Scores of other releases — from "Bingo" to "Dutch" — were savaged by critics and ignored by moviegoers. Domestic movie house proceeds represent less than 20 percent of a film's income, with home video and foreign revenue accounting for the bulk.

But when theater admissions slip, the locomotive of the cinematic train pulls a little slower and the whole freight slackens.

Because of the lackluster summer, audiences may be spared borderline products in the months ahead.

20th Century Fox will cut its production slate from 25 to 30 films annually to 18 or 20. Columbia Pictures said it won't expand its schedule and may even cut back. Tom Pollock, chairman of the MCA Motion Picture Group, said his Universal Pictures must try to make better films for less money.

The studio was stung by borderline returns from "Mobsters," "Pure Luck" and "Problem Child II." Its "Backdraft" was a hit with $75.1 million.

"This is what we learned this year," Pollock said. "Unless you really have the goods, don't just throw movies out in the summer."

Cycle gang head slain at home

Associated Press

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Investigators today probed for a motive in the shooting death of the newly elected president of the Warlocks motorcycle club at his home in this Orlando suburb. Wayne Peter Sanzo, general manager of a motorcycle sales store, was found dead Tuesday night.

Sanzo's daughter, Tiffany, 15, told police that when she came home, she saw two men going through the front door and thought they were robbing the house.

She and a neighbor, John Valois, heard gunshots shortly after that, and Sanzo's body was found inside the house.

Police spokesman Mark Anderson said robbery appeared to be a motive, but friends and club members were being questioned. Several club members told police "that this is not a gang-related slaying," Anderson said.

Sanzo, in his 40s, was elected president of the organization on July 4, said the club's attorney, Roger Butcher. Sanzo replaced John Ingrao, who was arrested along with 33 other Warlocks during a fellow cyclist's funeral March 2 in Daytona Beach.

The group has about 75 members in several states, according to federal agents.

Sanzo was trying to clean up the club, Butcher said, and to "get all the drugs out of it and back to being a motorcycle club."

Ingrao and another club member are awaiting trial later this year on federal weapons and drug violations. Nine others have pleaded guilty to federal charges.

Twenty-three club members were charged by Volusia County authorities.

of years, the family returned to Augusta, where his grandfather attempted to make a doctor out of him. Field was studying medicine at the University of Georgia when World War I started, and he joined the U.S. Navy.

He did not continue with his medical schooling after the war, and his family returned to Sanford where they opened a hauling business. Field often spoke of hauling celery from the fields to the rail yards, and hauling ice. He and his family also made hard tops for early automobiles until auto body production became more modernized.

During his 17 years as postmaster in Sanford, Joel Field had a saying he often repeated and faithfully followed. "Always tell the truth. Then you won't have to remember what you said."

Intersection

poorly designed lanes," Mczyuskiak wrote.

In her letter, Mczyuskiak recommended eliminating one southbound Sanford Avenue lane and making that a westbound lane for Sanford Avenue traffic coming from south of 25th Street. The original two northbound Sanford Avenue lanes could then be reserved exclusively for northbound traffic and eastbound turns.

"This is important," Mczyuskiak wrote. "Wouldn't it nice if you all could affect a positive change inexpensively that would be really beneficial?"

County Traffic Engineer Steve Decker said the county agreed with Mczyuskiak in part. He said there is too much southbound Sanford Avenue traffic to narrow that portion of the intersection to one lane. What the county plans to do is widen the intersection by 12 feet to allow the northbound through lane and the eastbound turn lane to be separated.

Also, the length of the signal wait may be shortened to further improve traffic flow, Decker said. Also, the curve will be lengthened to accommodate large trucks, which often pass over lanes to make turns.

petitions with the Clerk of Courts Office to appeal assessments by Suber's appraisers. The appeal, which costs $15, will be reviewed by a "special master" appointed by the county Value Adjustment Board, comprised of county commissioners and school board members. The VAB then typically accepts the recommendations of the special masters without considering individual assessments.

The last day to file petitions is Sept. 9 at 5 p.m.

County records supervisor Sandra Wall said most people do wait until the last day to file, but said the number of petitions filed to date is much lower than prior years with four days left before the filing deadline.

"They've been starting to come in a little faster but it's still pretty slow," said Wall.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

25 dead in plant fire

HAMLET, N.C. — Screaming workers pounded and kicked locked exit doors as fire swept a chicken processing plant, killing 25 people and injuring 49. The 11-year-old plant had never been inspected.

"A whole lot of people were in one little corner, just pushing, trying to make a hole in the wall," said worker Letha Terry. "I thought I was gone, until a man broke the lock off the door. I thank the Lord I got out, but a whole lot of people got killed."

The blaze Tuesday at the Imperial Food Products plant erupted when a hydraulic line ruptured near a 28-foot-long deep-fat fryer and the spilled fluid caught fire, said Charles Dunn, deputy director of the State Bureau of Investigation.

Fire Chief David Fuller would not confirm witnesses' reports that all but one of nine exits were locked or blocked.

Jury: Cheerleader's mom was target

HOUSTON — A woman described as the "ultimate stage mother" could get up to life in prison after being convicted of trying to hire a hitman to kill the mother of her daughter's rival for the high school cheerleading squad.

Jurors deliberated about six hours Tuesday before convicting Wanda Holloway, 37, of Channelview, of solicitation of murder. The jury was told to return this morning to hear testimony in the punishment phase of the trial.

Prosecutors argued that Mrs. Holloway wanted Verna Heath killed in hopes that Mrs. Heath's daughter, Amber, would be too upset to compete in cheerleader tryouts against Mrs. Holloway's daughter, Shanna Harper.

Men shouldn't interrupt heart program

CHICAGO — Men who started and then stopped a heart-disease prevention program ran a higher risk of death than those who never underwent the regimen, scientists said today. But doctors cautioned against avoiding such programs.

"If there's a message here, it's 'Don't stop, not 'Don't start,'" said Dr. Stuart Rich, chief of cardiology at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

A report on the study appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Divorce lawyers adopt 'easze' guidelines

CHICAGO — An organization of divorce lawyers — trying to clean up its members' "L.A. Law" image as legal lotharios — has adopted guidelines governing such things as sleeping with clients and using children as weapons.

"The public thinks most lawyers are Arnie Beckers. Most divorce lawyers are not Arnie Beckers," Sanford Dranoff, president of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, said Tuesday, referring to the series' sleazy divorce lawyer.

The Chicago-based group has drafted non-binding guidelines that call for avoiding the use of youngsters as bargaining chips, steering clear of sexual entanglements with clients, avoiding harassment of opposing attorneys, recommending reconciliation when appropriate and considering the welfare of the children.

The group, which represents about 1,200 of the nation's 40,000 divorce lawyers, already has general ethical guidelines, but these are to first to deal specifically with sexual issues and certain other matters, Dranoff said.

Soviets let Baltics go free

By DEBORAH DEWARD
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW — Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev agreed today to grant independence to the Baltic republics and will issue decrees on it after the parliament concludes its session, officials said.

Gorbachev met with Baltic representatives from the Congress of People's Deputies in his Kremlin office and asked them to draft a declaration, said Algimantas Cekoullis, a former Lithuanian deputy who is attending the Congress.

The Soviet leader approved the general idea after he read their draft, Cekoullis said. Former Gorbachev aide Alexander Yakovlev also said Gorbachev will issue the decrees.

Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis was "aware that drafts relating to this were in the planning stages, and have been put on paper," said Darius Silas, an aide to Landsbergis. He declined to elaborate.

Separate decrees would be issued for each of the Baltic republics of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, Cekoullis said.

"It will be published the day after the closing of this Congress," Cekoullis said of the Gorbachev decrees.

Gorbachev had been expected to raise the issue at the Congress, but did not because it apparently did not have enough support. Instead the Congress has spent its time debating how to reapportion the power of the central government and the relative Soviet republics in the wake of last month's failed coup.

About 40 nations, including the United States, did not wait for the Congress to act and recognized the independence of the Baltic republics.

A Soviet official also has said his government will not block the requests by Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia for membership in the United Nations, another step in the Baltics' quest for a complete break from Moscow.

Once the decrees are signed by Gorbachev, the Baltic republics will return to the status they had before the Soviet annexation in 1940, he said.

Source: The World Almanac and Book of Facts

At that time, Soviet troops were in the Baltics as foreign troops, and they apparently will have that same status again, Cekoullis said. A pullout of troops is not expected to be completed until 1994, he said.

Federal drug czar: Fog of drug war lifting

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Federal drug czar Bob Martinez declared today that the fog of drug abuse is lifting from the nation, but acknowledged that reducing drug use is not automatically translating to a reduction in violent crime.

"Unless broken families begin to heal and, in particular, fathers begin to take greater responsibility for disciplining their teen-age sons and until we can design public assistance programs which foster the right virtues and until we allow the criminal justice system to more swiftly and more surely punish criminal acts ... then I fear that in some areas of our country, drug use will be replaced by another corrosive pathology," said Martinez.

Although he did not cite specific statistics in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Press Club, the former Florida governor noted that recent reports based on household surveys, and emergency room incidents suggest declining drug use, particularly among casual users.

"According to the most comprehensive recent estimate, America's users took $10 billion less out of their pockets to purchase drugs last year than they did in 1988," said Martinez, whose formal title is director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy.

"The fog is lifting," he said. "It still covers too many cities and towns. It still hangs over too many families. But make no mistake — it is lifting."

He acknowledged that there are skeptics "who will scoff at assertions of progress" and put them in two categories.

The first, he said, are police officers, teachers and others active in the war on drugs who "are skeptical about progress because they are at the center of the volcano. Their reaction might be similar to that of the soldier at the front who, surrounded by body bags, scoffs at the general who has just flown in with the good news."

He said that group has his support. "I will not argue with them," he said. "I will simply try to rally their spirits with the broader picture."

But he said there is another group: "These are the political ambulance chasers who use misfortune for political gain. They scoff at good news and assertions of progress because misery keeps the lights turned on at their press conferences. They respond to strategic analysis with anecdotes and unfounded, impressionistic assertions." It is this group, he said, that will say things like "there is no progress in the drug war because drug dealing still happens at the corner of 8th and Main Streets."

Martinez's speech was timed to mark the second anniversary of President Bush's national drug control strategy.

Dogs at risk on lawns

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Homeowners who spray with weed-killing herbicides may get good-looking lawns, but they could give their dogs cancer, a federal study says.

National Cancer Institute researchers reported Tuesday that dogs whose owners use a herbicide containing 2,4-D have up to twice the risk of developing lymphatic cancer. And the study said research is needed to determine whether household use of the plant-killing chemical could also pose a risk to humans.

The study, published in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, said that when homeowners sprinkled or sprayed their lawns with 2,4-D herbicide four or more times a year, dogs that played on the lawns were twice as likely to develop a cancer called malignant lymphoma.

SCC audit finds few accounting problems

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — While Seminole Community College received high marks overall from the Office of the Auditor General, there were some minor accounting problems brought to light in the most recent audit of the school.

The report, which covers the fiscal year ending June 30, 1990, called for the college to reorganize the way in which accounts receivable are recorded into the general ledger and to strengthen control and accountability for the award and collection of student loans.

The auditor general noted that past due notices were not mailed in a timely fashion to people who were delinquent in repaying their student loans. In some cases, the report noted, the past-due notices were mailed as much as six months after the due date.

A failure to adequately collect the student loans could result in a loss of student loan moneys in the future.

In a response to the audit, the college has stated that "differences in computer systems, timing of reports and communications failure" are main problems with the accounting systems.

They noted that the financial aid office will begin submitting a list of uncollectable accounts to the board of trustees each semester and the board will take action to allow those accounts to be removed from the ledgers.

According to the report, the college's subsidiary ledger supporting the amounts reported as accounts receivable contained approximately $88,000 in negative receivables and $56,140 in delinquent receivables over two years old. The college has not analyzed those delinquent receivables to see if they are collectable, the report said.

The audit also noted that the college should adequately safeguard and fix responsibility for collections and change funds at the bookstore.

Schools start recycling program

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — There may be a small problem with logistics at some of the schools for the next few days, but the Seminole County School district will begin recycling corrugated cardboard and polystyrene containers this week.

"There are as many as six dumpsters at some of the schools," said Don Nicholas, director of maintenance for the district.

According to Nicholas, the district's contract for solid waste disposal with Waste Management, Inc. did not expire until Tuesday while the new contract with Industrial Waste began last week with the new school year.

"It's a small problem," he said, "but we have gotten some calls from parents wanting to know why all those dumpsters are there."

Nicholas said bids were received from three of the seven vendors who were solicited.

Each company was asked to bid on the cost of compacting machines for disposing recyclable materials, for providing containers and pick up of those materials and for providing regular garbage pick up with no recycling services.

While the non-recycling option was less ($170,000 for a 12-month contract versus $171,900 for a ten-month contract) Nicholas said the environmental savings were "worth it."

He added that the purchase of compacting equipment is out of the realm of possibility for the school district at this time, but that is something that will be considered in the future.

Church plans new home in Sanford

By INCK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The El-Bethel House of Refuge, presently at 915 W. 3rd. Street in Sanford, is planning on a new larger home. The new facility is proposed for 1001 Celery Avenue.

Final site plans, which include the building, parking areas, a water retention area, and landscaping will be proposed to the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission during their meeting this Thursday night.

Reverend Elijah Richardson, pastor of El-Bethel, said "We're contemplating some excellent growth in the near future, and we need this new building and facilities to handle it." He explained the plans call for two phases. "We plan to start with a 6,100 square foot sanctuary, and eventually add two wings to the rear of the building, which will give us possibly another 3,500 square feet."

Initial plans call for the church itself, with plans for a day care center to be added in the near future. "When everything is approved," the pastor said, "we plan to start construction by the end of this year."

Rev. Richardson, his wife and members of his family, started the present El-Bethel House of Refuge in January, 1981. "Our goal is to take the church to people who may not be able to get to it," he said. "We often take to the streets, as well as visit nursing homes, and prisons."

The present membership numbers approximately 75 adults and 60 children. Rev. Richardson said, "As soon as we begin operating from our new facility, I know it will grow."

The city Planning and Zoning Commission will consider the site dimension plan at Thursday's meeting, beginning at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of the Sanford City Hall.

Sanford P&Z board to meet

SANFORD — The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission will hold its regular meeting Thursday, September 5. Several site plans will be discussed.

Included on the agenda are site plans for Aero Products manufacturing/warehouse at 700 Kennel Road, El Bethel House of Refuge at 1001 Celery Avenue, and a request for a security guard dwelling for Loch Lowe Preparatory School, 1180 Lake Mary Boulevard.

Also on the agenda are requests for detached signs at L17 Champ Food Stores, 2990 Sanford Avenue and 1920 French Avenue.

The meeting will be held beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, in the City Commission Chamber of the Sanford City Hall.

Bush aides anxious to get campaign in gear

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush has made a show of not giving much attention to his own re-election. But his top political operatives are anxious to get moving and have set an early $25 million fund-raising goal.

The advisers are hoping to get the financing part of Bush's campaign launched by around Oct. 1, even though the president will not formally announce his candidacy until early 1992. Republican sources say.

And despite repeated denials that Bush has campaign politics on his mind, he will set the stage for his re-election effort by barnstorming the country this month and October to plug his domestic proposals.

Bush's political luck continues as the election year nears.

The Soviet upheaval — like the Persian Gulf War before it — overshadowed Democratic criticism that Bush lacks a domestic agenda and allowed him to focus on what he enjoys most: managing foreign policy.

But the president's advisers are mindful that Bush remains vulnerable on some domestic issues — and could become even more so if the economic recovery stalls.

They hope the president can seize key domestic issues early by highlighting such issues as education, transportation, the environment and crime-fighting.

With Bush's long summer vacation over and Democratic hopefuls beginning to stir, the president's political consultants are starting to mobilize.

"We've got to raise $25 million with $1,000 limits (from individual contributions). So it's a huge undertaking no matter how popular you are," said one senior Bush political fund-raising adviser, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The adviser said a large war chest was planned, despite Bush's lack of Republican opposition and so-far low-key Democratic activity.

Among the Democrats, former California Gov. Jerry Brown established a presidential fund-raising committee on Monday. Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin, Nebraska Sen. Bob Kerrey, Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton and Virginia Gov. L. Douglas Wilder are expected to enter the race soon.

Former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas declared his candidacy in April.

Republican and White House political officials say they feel no real time pressure. But they want to get the campaign machinery in place over the next month, particularly for fund raising.

Bush is not expected to formally announce for re-election until after his State of the Union address to Congress in late January.

His campaign will follow the same fund-raising pattern he set in the 1988 presidential race, in which he raised the maximum $27 million early on.

Of course, he had far more to spend it on last time, when he defeated a field of serious GOP opponents.

Filmmaker Frank Capra dead at 94

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES — Director Frank Capra, whose populist vision of the American Dream in such movies as "It's a Wonderful Life" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" inspired a generation of filmmakers, has died. He was 94.

Capra died in his sleep Tuesday at his home in La Quinta, near Palm Springs, said his son, Tom Capra, executive producer of NBC's "Today" show.

Steven Spielberg, whose "E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial" seems profoundly influenced by Capra, once remarked: "Whenever I go on location, I take along a copy of 'It's a Wonderful Life.' I show it to the cast and crew and tell them, 'This is how movies should be made.'"

Spielberg's homage is representative of the devotion his generation of filmmakers feels for the movies Capra made in the 1930s and '40s.

"He set a style of filmmaking still in vogue today. So many films today are referred to as a 'Capraesque' film," said Arthur Hiller, president of the Directors Guild of America.

Like William Wyler, Billy Wilder and other immigrants, the Sicilian-born Capra had an outsider's special vision of the American psyche. While Wyler employed drama and Wilder satire, Capra took a humanist's view. He saw the failings of big business and government but proposed that a single brave person could prevail.

"The art of Frank Capra is very simple: It is the love of the people," he said upon accepting a Life Achievement Award from the American Film Institute in 1982.

Idealism was evident in all his work, from his morale-boosting World War II documentaries to his mainstream films. Ronald Colman sought his personal Shangri-La in "Lost Horizon." The Vanderhof family in "You Can't Take It With You" espoused non-conformism. James Stewart learned in "It's a Wonderful Life" that family and friends meant more than material success.

"Frank Capra will always have a very special place in my heart. I think this is true for the motion picture industry and true for the millions of people who saw his pictures," Stewart said Tuesday.

Capra was born near Palermo in 1897. The family immigrated to America when he was 6 and settled in Los Angeles, where his father worked in the vineyards.

"I hated being poor," Capra wrote in his autobiography. "My family couldn't read or write. I wanted out."

Capra graduated from the California Institute of Technology as a chemical engineer in 1918. After a stint in the Army, he taught mathematics, then discovered "the magic carpet of film — I vaulted to fame on its witchery."

He apprenticed with Mack Sennett's comedy factory as prop man, cutter and gag man, and directed films starring Harry Langdon before Langdon fired him.

Later he began his stormy relationship with Columbia Pictures boss Harry Cohn.

"It Happened One Night," with Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, proved the sensation of 1934 and was the first movie to win the top five Academy Awards. The comedy established Capra as Hollywood's leading director and elevated Columbia to major-league status.

Capra also won Oscars for "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" and "You Can't Take It With You."

With his small stature and quiet voice, Capra was hardly noticeable on a movie set. But when he spoke, often in staccato bursts, there remained no doubt who was in charge.

He called his autobiography "The Name Above the Title." He achieved that goal in mid-career, signifying his "one-man, one-film" philosophy.

IN BRIEF

RUNNING

Jamboree Saturday

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Summertime Cross Country Jamboree will be run this Saturday at Lake Mary High School.

Competition will be offered in seven different age classes — from 8-and-Under to 50-and-Over — as well as girls' and boys' club team races for athletes between the ages of 13 and 18.

Four races will be run, starting with a one-mile event for 12-and-Under boys and girls at 8 a.m. At 8:30 a.m. the girls' 13-to-18 club teams will run a two-mile race. That will be followed by the boys' 13-to-18 club teams at 9 a.m. Finally, men and women over 19 will compete in a three-mile race scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m.

The awards ceremony will follow at 10 a.m. In the 12-and-Under and 19-and-Over events, the top male and female in each age group will be awarded a medal with the top five in each age group receiving a ribbon.

In the club team races, a championship and runner-up team trophy will be awarded in both the girls' and boys' divisions. The top 15 individuals in each race will receive medals with 16th through 50th getting ribbons.

The registration fee is $5.
For more information, call Mike Gibson at 333-2370.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Orlando wins

FORT MILL, S.C. — Reliever Steve Stowell pitched three scoreless innings as Orlando took a 4-1 Southern League victory over Charlotte.

Following Stowell (2-1) was Greg Johnson, who got his 25th save of the season.

Orlando started the scoring in the top of the third when Rafael Delina came home on a single by Ray Ortiz. In the bottom of the inning, Joe Blasucci hit a double for Charlotte, scoring Dan Simonds, to tie the score at 1-1.

Dave McCarty singled in the top of the sixth to score Bob McCreary, and Ortiz singled and scored on a wild pitch, giving the SunRays a 3-1 lead.

Jacksonville rallies

GREENVILLE, S.C. — Jeff Wetherby capped a two-run ninth with an RBI single as Jacksonville defeated Greenville 6-5.

Wetherby, a former Brave, drove in Frank Bolick to rally the Suns past Greenville. Bret Boone had previously singled home Tony Manahan to tie the game.

PRO FOOTBALL

Eagles sign Ryan

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia Eagles signed former New York Jets quarterback Pat Ryan as a backup to Jim McMahon.

McMahon took over the starting spot when Randall Cunningham injured his left knee against Green Bay. Cunningham will need surgery and is out for the rest of the season.

Ryan, who will be 37 on Sept. 16, played with the Jets from 1978 to 1989. He hasn't played since being cut by Cleveland before the start of last season.

TENNIS

Capriati advances

NEW YORK — Seventh-seeded Jennifer Capriati defeated defending champion Gabriela Sabatini 6-3, 7-6 (7-1) to advance to the semifinals of the U.S. Open.

The 15-year-old Capriati, who overpowered third-seeded Sabatini with serves of over 100 mph, will face 17-year-old Monica Seles in the semifinals. Seles, seeded second, defeated Gigi Fernandez 6-1, 6-2 in her quarterfinal match.

Bradley sets record

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Pat Bradley finished a round of 7-under-65 to set a 54-hole record with a 19-under 197 total in the LPGA tour's Rail Charity Classic.

Jan Stephenson set the previous record of 198 in the 1981 Mary Kay Classic. Bradley's 28th victory on the LPGA tour left her just two away from an automatic berth in the Hall of Fame.

Bradley had a four-stroke lead with six holes to play on the 6,403-yard Rail Golf Club course when the final round was suspended by lightning Monday. She birdied the first three holes on the back nine Monday and continued the string with two more birdies when play resumed. She closed with four pars.

Danielle Ammaeccapane closed with a 66 to finish second, six strokes back. Meg Mallon (67) and Laura Davies (72) tied for third, seven back.

Sanford Pop Warner teams, looking for players

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Anyone for a little football?

The Sanford Youth Football Association (SYFA) of the Central Florida Pop Warner Football League is scheduled to play its first games this Saturday. But some teams are still in need of players to fill out their rosters.

One team in particular that needs players is the Sanford Seminoles of the Mighty Mites Division. The division is for players ages 7-10.

Carl Tipton, who played his prep football at Seminole High School and his college football at Eastern Kentucky, is the coach of the team. He said he needed at least four more players to get his team eligible for league play.

"I have 12 boys on the roster right now," said Tipton. "But we need 16 to have a team. We can play this weekend with what we have but starting next week, if we don't have a full roster we will have to forfeit."

Any Sanford area boy who wishes to play for Tipton may call him at 322-0781 or show up for practice at Chase Park (behind the Seminole County School Board on Celery Avenue) Thursday or Friday at 5:30 p.m. Players can be signed up anytime before kickoff Saturday.

Cost to play is $50 and parents should bring a birth certificate.

Pop Warner Football is a tackle football league that gives children a head start on preparing for high school football.

Any other Sanford boy wanting to play Pop Warner tackle football this season who missed the earlier signups can call 321-2012 for more information.

The SYFA also has cheerleaders for each team. Any young lady interested in cheerleading is also encouraged to call 321-2012 for more information.

No favorite in chase for volleyball title

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

One of the most competitive girls' volleyball districts in the state — 4A-District 9 — should be even more competitive this season.

Last year, the Oviedo Lions rallied for their 10th consecutive district title after finishing in a three-way tie for first in the Seminole Athletic Conference standings with the Lake Mary Rams and Lake Howell Silver Hawks.

This year, all three teams appear capable of doing the same. Then there are the Lake Brantley Patriots, who return nine players from last year's varsity squad, and the Deltona Wolves, who were district, regional and sectional champions at the Class 3A level last season.

"I've never seen a weak Oviedo team," said Lake Mary coach Cindy Henty. "I saw Lake Howell at camp this summer and they look good."

"It should be more of the same," said Oviedo coach Anita Carlson. "Lake Howell has lots of seniors coming back."

Oviedo graduated four players — Betsy Hughes, Becky Jakubcin, Jill and Jenny Wise — from last year's district and regional championship team and had two — Mimi Tran and Lori Boger — move away. That leaves Carlson with a nucleus of five returning seniors: Leslie Heise, Michelle Schiaffo, Carrie Macleod, Tonya Mitchell and Melanie Schrupp.

Moving up from the junior varsity for the Lions are senior Jill Cayton and juniors Christine Neufeld, Christine Shea and Christen Muns. A newcomer to the program is junior Marla Mims, a member of the Lion varsity basketball team last year.

Leading the Lake Mary Rams will be four-year starters Melissa Mau and Tara Calvin. Other returners from last year's squad are seniors Shannon Cook and Lisa Masilunis and sophomores Jennifer Greising, Diane Duber and Nikki Preece. The Rams received boost when Lori Boger, a junior, transferred from Oviedo.

Michelle Schiaffo (top, far left) and Melanie Schrupp (top, middle) are two of five returning seniors Coach Anita Carlson hopes will lead the Oviedo Lions to their 11th consecutive district volleyball title this year. Lori Boger (top, near left) has moved to Lake Mary, where she will try to help Tara Calvin (No. 00, below) and the Rams end a three-year streak of finishing second in the district.

Burners get 'Steamed' once again in Ford-Pele'

From Staff Reports

ATLANTA — Can we play someone else please?

That must be the collective thought going through the minds of the F.C. United Burners this morning after being eliminated from the Ford/Pele' Cup Labor Day Tournament for the second straight year by the B.S.A. Steamers of Lilburn, Georgia.

The Burners, an Under-14 select boys soccer team based in Casselberry, played well in Monday's semifinal contest, holding the Steamers scoreless in the first half. The second half was a different story, however, as the Georgia team completely dominated play and came away with a 4-0 victory.

Last year, the Steamers beat the Burners 4-2 in the championship game.

The Steamers went on to claim their second straight Ford/Pele' Cup title with a 6-0 win over Derby City Chesapeake from Derby City, England. The Steamers have now won over 200 consecutive games.

The Burners did a great job just to advance out of pool play. In their opening game, the locals managed a 2-2 tie with the Brookwood (Ga.) Broncos. With only the winner of each of the five pools and three at-large teams moving on to the final eight, the Burners were in trouble.

But they responded to the challenge and came away with a pair of 2-0 shutouts, over the Georgia YMCA Excel and the Stone Mountain (Ga.) Spirit behind the play of goalkeeper Johnny Biggs to finish pool play 2-0-1 and advance to the quarterfinals.

In the quarterfinals, the Burners got their third straight 2-0 shutout from Biggs, blanking the Charlotte (N.C.) United Sting to earn the rematch with the Steamers.

For the tournament, the Burners outscored their opponents 8-6 in finishing 3-1-1. Doing the scoring were Leo Mejia (three goals), Kris Leenin (two goals) and Paul Riggin, Charles Whitmore and Dusty Reinecke (one goal each). Whitmore led in assists with two while Reinecke, Garrett Kaiser and Jeff Soistman added one assist each.

The Burners, who open their fall season this Saturday, hope their success in this tournament will propel them to the same success last year's runner-up finish did. They ended the season with championships in the Clearwater Kicker Tournament, the Seminole Memorial Day Tournament and the Thanksgiving Plantation Tournament and a third-place finish in the

Dolphins send Hill to Phoenix for draft pick

By STEVEN WINE
AP Sports Writer

MIAMI — The Cardinals have had their eye on receiver Randal Hill since last winter. Now they've gotten their hands on him.

Hill, the Miami Dolphins' top draft pick, was traded Tuesday to Phoenix in exchange for the Cardinals' No. 1 choice next year.

"You've got to have great players to have a great team, and I think Randal Hill is one of them," Cardinals general manager Larry Wilson said.

"He is a flashy player and he enjoys playing the game. He has fun out there."

Phoenix coach Joe Bugel said the Cardinals considered drafting Hill with the No. 6 pick last April but took defensive lineman Eric Swann instead. Hill, selected by Miami as the No. 23 choice, will join Ricky Proehl and Ernie Jones when the Cardinals use three wideouts, Bugel said.

"It's not a crying need, but when you get a chance to pick up a player as good as him, you've got to do it," Bugel said.

The trade came two days after the Buffalo Bills shredded Miami for 583 yards in a season-opening 35-31 victory. There was immediate speculation that the Dolphins would swap the newly acquired draft choice or their own No. 1 pick for a veteran defensive player.

"There's no timetable. This trade was made on its own," coach Don Shula said.

"Now we can concentrate on doing something trade-wise for a defensive player if there is one available, or in next year's draft concentrate on upgrading our defense."

Hill, listed as a third-string receiver on the Dolphins' depth chart, saw little action against Buffalo. The University of Miami product's transition to the Dolphins was slowed when he missed the first four weeks of training camp because of a contract dispute.

He signed a three-year deal Aug. 6 for an estimated $2 million. In three preseason games the rookie caught six passes for 70 yards, with no touchdowns.

"It's evident Randal is not ready to play," Shula said. "He really hasn't had a chance to pick up our system and be ready to play the way I had hoped."

FSU's Jackson ready if Lee isn't

By BRENT KALLESTAD
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Ailing Florida State tailback Amp Lee is expected to start Saturday against Tulane, but if he's not at full speed, 220-pound sophomore Sean Jackson is raring to go.

Jackson stepped in last week to gain 75 yards in nine carries and score a touchdown after Lee was sidelined with a bruised shin in the top-ranked Seminoles' 44-28 victory over Brigham Young.

"I would not be afraid to start Sean Jackson," coach Bobby Bowden said Tuesday. "I'm sure he's going to want to do his best against Tulane, his hometown team."

Bowden recruited Jackson and teammate Chris Cowart out of St. Augustine High School in New Orleans two years ago. Jackson was one of a handful of true freshman top play last season, leading the team with an average of 7.9 yards per carry.

Since Jackson played quarterback until his senior year in high school, Bowden didn't expect him to play much a year ago.

"He was much further along than I thought," said Bowden, who likes lots of depth at running back.

"We've had several years here where our first, second and even third team tailback were down and out," Bowden said. "You'd better have the backup when that happens, and we do have that luxury right now."

In 1988, Florida State's first four tailbacks went down by midseason and freshman Chris Parker was pressed into action, responding with 391 yards and four touchdowns in three successive starts.

If Lee and Jackson were both out of action, Bowden would be down to a pair of unproven freshmen — Tiger McMillon and Marquette Smith — described by their coach as fine runners with good potential.

Lee, Florida State's do-everything junior, was injured when tackled by a Brigham Young player and at first a more serious injury was feared.

"Amp is probably four inches away from being out for the year," said Bowden.

Hurricanes preparing for shootout

By STEVEN WINE
AP Sports Writer

CORAL GABLES — Miami coach Dennis Erickson says 12 days to prepare for Houston may not be enough.

"Louisiana Tech had four months," Erickson said, "and it didn't help them."

Houston opened the season Saturday by routing Louisiana Tech 73-3 behind David Klingler's nine touchdown passes.

"Scoring 73 points — that's hard to do by yourself with no defense," Erickson said Tuesday. He expects a high-scoring game when the 10th-ranked Cougars play at third-ranked Miami in a nationally televised Thursday night game Sept. 12.

"What's the lowest they've ever scored? They're going to score points," Erickson said. "If people don't come out and watch this game, they're crazy."

because there will be some fireworks out there."

The Cougars' run 'n shoot attack produced at least 24 points in every game last year and averaged 46.5 points.

A lot of points against Miami would be quite a feat; in recent years few teams have been harder to score on. The Hurricanes won three national championships in the 1980s largely because of strong defense.

"Houston is going to be surprised by us," cornerback Herbert James said.

"Our defense is one of the best in the country and can stop any offense," quarterback Gino Torretta said.

In three games against Southwestern Conference teams since last October, Miami has given up a total of 16 points. That includes a 46-3 Cotton Bowl win over Texas — which gave Houston its only loss last year — and a 31-3 victory over Arkansas last Saturday.

Despite the easy win at Little Rock in Miami's season opener, Erickson saw plenty of room for improvement. Offensive inconsistency needs to be eliminated, especially in the line, he said.

"We must play better against Houston than we did against Arkansas," he said, "or we're going to get our rear ends kicked."

To keep the game from becoming a scorefest, Miami will have to contain Klingler, who broke or tied 33 NCAA game and season records in 1990.

"He's maybe the best that has come out in a long time," Erickson said. "The key to having a chance to slow them down is to get him held up (on rollouts) and try to get some sort of pressure on him. If he has a long time to throw, he will rip anybody he plays."

Soccer

Florida State Cup.

Members of this year's team, coached by John Burns, are Leenim of Lake Mary; Riggins, Jason Tisdale and Ron Weideman of Longwood; Mejia, Kizer and Alan King from Winter Springs; Whitmore, Ben McKeeby and David Kinsley from Casselberry; Biggs and Solstman from Winter Park and Reineke and Randy Jenkins from Orlando.

Trade

Hill expressed surprise about the trade but said he was looking forward to joining the Cardinals.

"They're an up-and-coming team," he told WIOD radio in Miami. "Maybe I can be that big-play receiver for the Cardinals. ..."

"The Dolphins need defensive help. It's a business, and you have to take care of business."

Miami drafted Hill in part as insurance for aging veterans Mark Clayton and Mark Duper, but both retained their starting job with impressive play in preseason. The Dolphins kept three other receivers: Veterans Fred Banks and Tony Martin and ninth-round draft pick Scott Miller, who doubles as a punt returner.

"We felt we had an abundance of talent there, and we felt it was a luxury to carry six receivers," Shula said.

Hill's roster spot may be taken by center Jeff Uhlenhake, who ended a summer-long salary dispute Tuesday and signed a contract. Terms weren't disclosed.

Bugel said the deal had been in the works for three weeks. The Cardinals' eagerness to make the trade prevented the Dolphins from waiting two or three more games to further evaluate Hill, Shula said.

"You have to make a trade when the other team is anxious to make a trade," he said.

Haven't you graduated yet?

Longevity is usually not a quality discussed in high school athletics, where careers can't last more than four years. Even then, considering the physical changes an adolescent goes through during that period of their life, varsity careers rarely are that long. But there are exceptions like Lake Mary's Tara Calvin (left), Carrie MacLeod of Oviedo (center) and Lake Howell's Diann Lowe (right), three seniors who've been playing so well for so long, it seems like they've been around forever.

Volleyball

Moving up from last year's junior varsity team are Becky Jackson, Angie Snow and Michelle Pall.

"We're running a different offense to try and more use of Melissa," said Henry, who has seen her team finish second in the district tournament three years in a row. "We're hoping it's our year, but it'll be tough again."

Lake Howell, which lost in the semifinals of the district tournament last year to Lake Mary, saw only four players graduate: Tanya Lewis, Christy Dees, Jane Mercado and Wendi Van Horn.

The group of Coach Jo Luciano's potential returners includes six seniors — Kelly Kobia, Michelle Harris, Jennie Yearick, Diann Lowe, Joanna Abbott and Monika Kolakovic — and a pair of juniors — Ardell Delitz and Teresa Mallard.

Lake Brantley, which ruled the district before Oviedo moved from Class 3A (where the Lions won their first eight district titles) to 4A, will be trying to regain its position among the district leaders under second-year coach Eileen Gabbard.

Leading the Patriots in that endeavor will be a nucleus of seven returning seniors: Shelly Davis, Kristen Forst, twins Becca and Betsy Platt, Carol Rabaja, Susan Jorquera and Shelly Spencer. Returning juniors are Shil Campbell and Nicole Rathbun.

"Probably our biggest problem last year was that we didn't have much senior leadership," said Gabbard. "That shouldn't be a problem this year."

New faces on the Patriot varsity are juniors Meggen Breen, Julie Helmers (a transfer from Bishop Moore), Rachel Poppe (who played basketball for Lake Brantley last year) and Rachel St. Amand.

Lyman, which won state championships in girls' soccer and cross country last year as well as enjoyed one of its best girls' basketball campaigns in several years, has turned the reigns of its girls' volleyball program over to Christy Tibbitts.

Seminole coach Beth Corso has a slightly different problem this year than she has had in past years.

Previously, it seemed like Corso had to start over from scratch every September. But this year, Corso has six returners to work with as well as eight players moving up from the junior varsity program.

"We have a lot of youth," said Corso. "We're working those other eight with the returning six. Right now, there's a big difference in the skill level. Of the eight we moved up from junior varsity, four of them are sophomores."

Leading the young Tribe will be returning seniors Amy Williams, Charlene Guy and Lori Faulkner and juniors Megan Hay, Christy Oliver and Dawn Burks. Of the eight players up from junior varsity, sophomore Yuleyma Otero is quickly establishing herself as the team's primary setter while Valerie Bengé and Catherine Foye give Corso some height to work with on the front line.

Corso is also hoping that senior Carrie Dryden, who missed all of last year due to knee surgery, will be able to contribute this season. Dryden played on the Seminole junior varsity as a sophomore.

Bring ethnic treats to your table

Mexican food is so popular you can get it just about everywhere. McDonald's even has two new items that are Mexican. One especially for breakfast. This popular food can be prepared in your kitchen with the help of the microwave oven. All of the ingredients can be found in our grocery stores, many of which have sections set aside for ethnic foods.

Fajitas are strips of marinated beef or chicken, sauteed with onions and topped with cheese, tomato and picante sauce and wrapped in a flour tortilla.

FAJITAS

- 2-2 1/2 lbs. beef flank steak
- 1/2 cup olive or cooking oil
- 1/2 cup lemon or lime juice
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 Tbsp. liquid smoke
- 1 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. ground cumin
- 1 tsp. brownning sauce
- 3 Tbsp. margarine
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 8 flour tortillas (9-inch)

Toppings

- Chopped tomatoes
- Chopped lettuce
- Guacamole
- Picante sauce
- Shredded cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
- Sour cream

Pound flank steak with meat mallet or rolling pin until 1/2-inch thick. Place in a regular size oven cooking bag. Secure bag with string. Rotate so marinade coats entire meat surface. Place in 12x8-inch microsafe baking dish. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Cut six 1/2-inch slits in top of bag.

Microwave on 50% power 20-30 minutes or until rare. Cut steak across grain into thin slices. Place in 2-quart casserole. Combine cooking juices and brownning sauce. Add to meat in casserole; set aside.

Combine margarine and onion in 2-cup measure. Microwave on 100% power, uncovered, 8-9 minutes or until onion is tender, stirring once or twice. Set aside. Microwave on 100% power meat mixture, covered, 2-3 minutes or until hot. Wrap tortillas in plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 30-45 seconds or until warm. Using a slotted spoon, spoon steak onto tortilla. Top with onion and other suggested toppings. Wrap tortilla around filling.

About 8 servings.

Mexican spicy-flavored rice and boneless pork cook together in this simple dish that is ready in about the time it takes you to prepare a tossed salad.

MEXICAN PORK AND RICE

- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. chili powder
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 1 lb. boneless lean country-style ribs, cut into thirds
- 1/2 cup picante sauce

Combine all ingredients except picante sauce in shallow 2-qt. microsafe casserole. Mix lightly. Cover with casserole lid. Microwave on 100% power 30-35 minutes or until rice and ribs are tender, stirring twice. Stir in picante sauce.

Leftover cooked pork could also be used in this recipe.

For brunch or supper this egg dish combines fresh vegetables and Mexican flavors. Serve with corn bread and a fruit salad.

MEXICAN EGG BAKE

- 1 medium tomato, chopped
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper

Mexican dishes such as this Pork and Rice are popular favorites on American dining tables.

- 1/4 tsp. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 6 eggs
- 1/2 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 2 Tbsp. picante sauce

Combine tomato, onion, green pepper, chili powder, and salt in 8-inch round glass baking dish. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 2 1/2-3 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Stir slightly. Add eggs, mix with fork until lightly scrambled. Cover with vented plastic wrap. Microwave on 50% power 7-8 minutes or until eggs are set. Sprinkle with cheese and drizzle with picante sauce.

About 6 servings.

A very favorite Mexican chicken recipe that I used and passed along is this easy, all-in-one casserole. It's great for busy Friday night suppers before the football game. Prepare it earlier in the day or the night before.

CHICKEN ENCHILADA

- 2 1/2 cups cooked chicken, diced

- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 1 can Cream of Mushroom soup
- 1 can Cream of Chicken soup
- 1 can (4 oz.) green chilies, chopped and drained
- 1 jar (4 oz.) pimientos, chopped and drained

- 1 Tbsp. dry sherry
- 1 8 oz. (6 cups) Doritos, slightly crushed

1 lb. grated Cheddar cheese. Mix all ingredients except chips and cheese. Cover the bottom of a 13x9-inch baking dish with 1 cup of cheese. Layer 1/2 of the chicken mixture, then 1/2 of the cheese. Repeat ending with chips topped with cheese. Refrigerate at least one hour or can be made the night before. Microwave at 85% power for 20-25 minutes or until hot throughout.

Do you have a question or suggestion about microwave cooking? Midge Mycoff will use her column to answer. Address letters to: Midge Mycoff, Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave. Sanford, 32771.

Invite new friends to a party

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Lucky is the youngster who can invite new school friends to a birthday party. It's a great way for kids to break the ice and for shy children to truly enjoy the "adventure" of going back to school.

Youngsters enjoy bright foods, and what better way to have a cheery dessert than to combine the colorful flavors of gelatin in a special form. Part of the celebration can be the cutting out of letters by the kids to top the party centerpiece.

Once the gelatin is prepared by Mom (since hot water is involved) and set, it's everyone for themselves in the spelling department. The giggles come when kids get to pick up their own jiggling letters to eat.

Since it's also that time to consider packing school lunches, consider including some colorful, jiggling gelatin letters as part of dessert. These will keep in a plastic cup in an insulated lunch box or lunch bag. Send youngsters off to school with sandwiches whose ingredients are kept cool between slices of frozen bread. The slices will thaw by lunchtime, but avoid fillings that have a tendency to soak into them. Kids hate soggy sandwiches; they're hard to trade to new buddies. Don't forget to include fruit — such as apples, grapes, bananas and raisins — and raw vegetables already cut into bite-size pieces for easy handling and eating.

There are children-sized con-

JIGGLING GELATIN alphabet treats not only make parties fun but they fit into school lunch menus.

tainers that fit into lunch boxes which may be used for hot soup or chilled milk and yogurt. There are also a variety of mini-packs of puddings, fruit cocktails and yogurts in the supermarket. But it is usually less expensive to buy a large family size and send kids to school with portions that fit their appetites.

JIGGLERS BIRTHDAY DESSERT

- 1 package (4-serving size) red-colored gelatin
- 1 1/4 cups boiling water
- 4 packages (4-serving size each) or 2 packages (8-serving size each) lemon-flavored gelatin
- 4 cups boiling water
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream, soft-ened

Jigglers alphabet cutters. Pour red gelatin into bowl. Add 1 1/4 cups boiling water. Stir with rubber scraper until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 2 minutes. Pour into 8-inch-square pan. Put pan into refrigerator to chill until firm, about 3 hours.

Pour lemon gelatin into another bowl. Add 4 cups boiling water. Stir with rubber scraper

Olive oil hotline announced

Have you ever wondered whether to use olive oil or extra virgin olive oil in a recipe? Do you understand the differences between saturated, polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats? Do you know which has more fat — a bran muffin or a slice of angel food cake? A new, free hotline from the International Olive Oil Council can help answer these and other questions.

The hotline staff for example, can explain how to properly use and store olive oil. Moreover, registered dietitians on the staff can sort out questions about cholesterol, HDLs versus LDLs, and fats in the diet. "Consumers know that they're supposed to cut back on fats, but they need help with how to do it," says Lynne Hill, MS, RD, co-director of the hotline along with William Hill, MS, RD. In addition, notes Hill, many consumers are confused about the current dietary recommendations to limit fat to 30 percent of total calories for the day. Consumers who call the hotline can also receive three free booklets: a brochure of free recipes, a four-color question and answer booklet about olive oil, and a guide to arranging an olive oil tasting.

The toll-free hotline number is 1-800-232-OLIVE OIL. Beginning August 1, the lines will be manned Monday through Friday, 9 to 5 Eastern time. After 5 pm, consumers may leave their name, number and request on an answering machine; the printed materials will be sent.

Does surgery help a hiatal hernia?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a hiatal hernia and experience problems eating because food seems to stick in my throat. Can I have surgical repair to correct the problem?

DEAR READER: Yes, you can. Although some doctors believe this surgery is ineffective, I have seen several patients who were helped by it. Known as a diaphragmatic hernioplasty, the procedure usually restores the normal anatomical relations (the upper stomach is returned to the abdominal cavity) and tightens the diaphragmatic opening through which the esophagus passes into the stomach.

Before considering such drastic therapy, however, I suggest you exhaust other possibilities. For example, antacids and medicines to reduce stomach-acid release may relieve your symptoms. It's important to get the situation under control because hiatal hernia, a condition marked by heartburn and displacement of part of the lower esophagus (and, sometimes, part of the stomach) into the chest cavity, often leads to reflux, the backwash of irritating gastric acid into the unprotected esophagus. Such continuing irritation, if unchecked, can lead to a pre-malignant condition known as Barrett's esophagus.

Since you have continuing symptoms, I believe you should see a gastroenterologist for esophagoscopy, a test during which the specialist examines your esophagus and, if indicated, obtains biopsy specimens. Ask your family doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was diagnosed in March as having Ramsay Hunt syndrome. Could you please tell me more about it?

DEAR READER: Ramsay Hunt syndrome (herpes zoster ophthalmicus) is shingles of the ear. This is unusual; shingles ordinarily affects other nerves. The disease causes severe ear pain, vertigo, paralysis of the facial nerve and hearing loss (which may be permanent). The diagnosis is established by the presence of viral skin blisters in and around the ear.

Cortisone pills and analgesics have been the treatment of choice; however, Zovirax (acyclovir, an anti-viral drug) is now the preferred treatment for shingles in general and, after doctors gain more experience with it, will probably be recommended for Ramsay Hunt syndrome, too.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Even if your contract looks completely hopeless, never give up... unless you have already gone down. Just keep playing tricks — you never know what might happen.

Hide the East-West cards in the diagram and plan the play in four hearts. When West leads the diamond king, you win with the ace and cash the A-K of hearts. West discards a diamond on the second round. How do you continue?

North's four-heart rebid is debatable. He decided to go with the known eight-card major-suit fit. South's opening heart bid guaranteeing at least five. However, with such a balanced hand, perhaps he should have settled for three no-trump (though that contract might not have succeeded).

You seem destined to lose two heart and two diamond tricks. But if you count your tricks, there is a chance at 10.

The right play now is to cash dummy's A-K of spades, ruff a spade in hand and try to cash three club tricks ending in the dummy. If that passes off safely, you will have won nine tricks: two spades, two hearts, one diamond, three clubs and one spade ruff. In hand you have left two trumps and two diamonds. East has two high trumps, a diamond and a club.

At this point, you lead dummy's last spade. What can East do? If he discards, you ruff for your 10th trick. If he ruffs, you discard a diamond loser and must collect another trump trick. Effectively East has ruffed one of his partner's diamond tricks. You make another trump trick by what is called a coup en passant.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Ouel
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 5, 1991

You might link up with several new individuals who are far-sighted and enterprising in the year ahead. Their influence could help you open a new route to success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You could be more fortunate than usual in your financial dealings at this time. Chance could play an important role in your affairs. In ways you'd least expect. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail #2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o his newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There isn't apt to be anything wishy-washy about you today. You'll be ready to effectively back up your words with action when and if situations warrant it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Several goals you establish to day will be achievable. But the zeal and relish with which you pursue your objectives could bring you more enjoyment than their attainment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have the gift of gab today, and you can be extremely compelling in persuading others to go along with your ideas. Your presentation will be both logical and imaginative.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might find yourself spending more time dealing with the endeavors of another than doing things for yourself today. Nevertheless, you'll benefit more from the former activity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Competitive involvements will arouse your motivation to succeed today, especially if it is some type of team or collective effort. You're the engine that will power the union.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are presently in a cycle where you may be able to find a second source of earnings that could be rather lucrative. Begin to look for it today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Results should be to your liking today in areas where you focus your efforts, be they social or commercial. The way you'll do things will inspire imitators.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Concern for the needs of loved ones will motivate you to be more enterprising than usual today. You'll feel compelled to give those you care for exactly what they desire.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're likely to need a variety of interests and activities today to gratify your restless urges. Fortunately, regardless of how much you'll do, you'll do it well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Involvements you deem to be profitable should be acted on promptly. Time is not necessarily your ally, so you won't make money by hemming and hawing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Whether or not you experience success today will be predicated upon your ability to focus on objectives. You can do what you set your mind to, but you must have a clear target.

The door with the moon will have the longer line

DEAR ABBY: What is the significance of the moon or half-moon on an outhouse door? I recently visited the birthplace of Herbert Hoover and saw this freshly painted outhouse with the moon on the door, and inquired of the security guard as to what it meant. He just laughed and said he'd been asked that question many times, but he's never been able to come up with an answer.

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

I'm sure there are a lot of people out there who are as curious as I am to know the answer. What is it?

BOB BESS, IOWA CITY, IOWA

DEAR MR. BESS: Before indoor plumbing, American privies usually had "two-seaters." The one with the "moon" on the door was for ladies and the one with the "star" was for gentlemen. That way, people who couldn't read could stay out of trouble.

P.S. I was privy to this information when I came upon "the Classic Outhouse Book," by Janet Strombeck.

DEAR ABBY: In February of 1987, my granddaughter called and said she and her husband needed a loan of $500 to pay for their baby, which was due in five months. I mailed a check to them immediately, and they sent a note with both their signatures, promising to pay me $25 until the loan was paid off. I never asked for this note — they sent it on their own.

Since that time, I haven't received a penny from them, although they have bought cars and furniture and have taken vacation trips. The final straw was when my granddaughter paid $150 for a pet snake! Abby, if they had sent me only $5 or $10 a month, I would feel that at least they were making an effort.

resentful. I am not poor, but neither am I rich. I am afraid if I ask for the money they owe me, it will damage the good relationship I have with them, and I don't want to cause any hard feelings. Should I just keep my mouth shut and hope they never come to me for another loan?

SOFT TOUCH IN NEVADA
DEAR SOFT TOUCH: It's fortunate that you let it go for so long; they probably assumed that since you never asked for the money, you didn't need it. Write them a friendly letter reminding them of their obligation and enclose a photocopy of the note they signed.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that drinking coffee can give a person cancer of the stomach. Is it true?

COFFEE DRINKER
DEAR COFFEE DRINKER: According to the Mayo Clinic Health Letter, "Most health concerns about coffee are groundless." Moderate consumption — two to four cups a day — poses little or no risk.

A portion of Abby's column was inadvertently omitted Tuesday. The letter is reprinted in its entirety today. See Page 6B.

Honey: Sweet, healthy all year long

Alleen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Honey has always been a popular sweetener in America. It is used in desserts and as spreads to top biscuits, pancakes and waffles just as it was in colonial days.

Each generation that did not actually grow up with honey as a staple discovers it anew. For example, folks in the '80s reinvented the use of honey as part of their "natural foods" trend. Now their children, caught up in the move to more nutritional eating, perceive honey as a product that fits perfectly into their menus.

Honey keeps well stored at room temperature; it can also be stored in the freezer. Do so if you want to have a sampling of honey — light or dark and in a range of flavors — always on hand.

Mildly flavored honeys are best for cooking, allowing the delicate flavors to come through. The more strongly flavored honeys make excellent spreads or add a distinct honey flavor to recipes, a taste many prefer.

If a container of honey crystallizes, place it in warm water or microwave 1 cup of honey in a microwave-safe container on HIGH for 2 to 3 minutes, or until the crystals dissolve. Stir every 30 seconds.

HONEY BRAN SQUARES

- 1 1/2 cup honey
  - 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
  - 4 cups miniature marshmallows
  - 6 cups bran cereal
  - 1 cup peanuts
- Blend honey and butter in large saucepan; stir in marshmallows. Cook and stir over medium-high heat until marshmallows are melted.
- Mix cereal and nuts; stir in marshmallow mixture until well-coated. Press into lightly greased 13-by-9-by-2-inch pan.

Let cool. Cut into squares. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 (2-by-2-inch) squares.

Nutritional analysis per serving: 131 calories, 3.8 grams protein, 5.7 grams fat, 22.1 grams carbohydrates, 5.2 grams fiber, 5 milligrams cholesterol and 174 milligrams sodium.

HONEY OAT BISCOCCIS

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup honey
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon each baking soda and salt
- 2 cups rolled oats
- 1/2 cup nuts, chopped

Cream butter. Beat in honey, eggs and vanilla.

Combine flour, cinnamon, baking powder, baking soda and salt; mix well. Stir into butter mixture. Stir in oats and nuts.

On greased baking sheet, shape dough into 2 (10-by-3-by-1-inch) logs. Bake at 375 degrees 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool 5 minutes; remove to cutting board. Cut each log into 1/2-inch strips; place on cookie sheet. Bake at 300 degrees 25 to 30 minutes or until crisp throughout strip. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 3 dozen cookies.

Nutritional analysis per serving: 102 calories, 1.9 grams protein, 4.4 grams fat, 14.6

grams carbohydrates, 0.6 grams fiber, 22 milligrams cholesterol and 78 grams sodium.

HONEY CARROT CAKE

- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 cup honey
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups carrots, finely grated
- 1/2 cup each golden raisins and chopped nuts
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup each whole wheat flour and unbleached flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon each salt and ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

In large mixing bowl, cream margarine until fluffy. Beat in honey in fine stream until well blended. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition.

In small bowl, combine carrots, raisins, nuts, orange juice and vanilla; set aside. Combine dry ingredients; set aside. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with carrot mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Turn batter into greased 12-by-8-by-2-inch pan.

Jigglers

Put about 1 inch of warm water in sink. Dip just the bottom of red gelatin pan into warm water for 15 seconds.

Use alphabet cutters to cut out letters for "Happy Birthday." Lift letters out of pan with your fingers and place on lemon gelatin ice cream. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 servings.

Man unselfish in death

Editor's note: A portion of the following letter was inadvertently omitted from Abby's column Tuesday. Following is the letter in its entirety.

DEAR ABBY: More than a year ago, you published a letter from "Mac in Oregon." He told you about his life and his battle with cancer and said he hoped his wife would not spend her life alone after he died.

Well, Mac lost his battle on May 30. He fought long enough to show great courage, but not so long as to destroy those he loved. He was as unselfish in death as he was in life.

I knew Mac for 42 years. He taught me about life, love, truth and mercy, and left me (and others) with sweet memories and a treasure trove of lessons about what is truly important. He wasn't rich, powerful or famous, but he was my dad. Rest in peace, Mac - we love you still.

TIM McSWAIN,
LINCOLN PARK, N.J.

DEAR TIM: My heartfelt sympathy to you and your family. And now, as a tribute to Mac, I'm printing your father's letter that appeared in my column on April 24, 1990:

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for supporting the widow who started dating three months after her husband died. You were right to say, "The time to show respect for one's spouse is while that spouse is living." Here is my story, and there must be thousands of husbands (and wives) who feel as I do.

My wife and I had many good years together. We raised kids, lived through joyous good times and horrendous bad times.

I am in my 18th month of chemotherapy for various cancers. I may live three months or five years. It doesn't matter how short or long my life will be, but it's reasonable to assume that I will die before my wife does. I have had a more rewarding and fruitful life than I probably deserve, for which I am grateful.

But the day I die, my last thoughts will be regret that I shall leave her alone. It's sad to know that after so many months of total concentration on my welfare - days of putting up with my misery and never letting me see her own misery - her reward will be to be left alone.

Abby, she is not the kind of person who should be alone. So I tell her now, and I want my kids and all my friends to listen: "As soon as you possibly can after throwing my ashes off the boat into the Pacific, wrap the memories of our life together around you - and begin a new life. If three days, or three months after I'm gone, you find a man who will love and cherish you for a few years as I have for so many - go for it! You've earned it."

"MAC" IN OREGON
DEAR MAC: Your sincerity rings true, leaving me uncharacteristically speechless. Thanks for a two-hankie letter.

Seniors to sign up for classes

By NICK PFERPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - A new class will be starting at the Sanford Senior Center, that will be a great deal of fun as well as healthful. Tap dancing classes begin September 17th.

Senior Center manager Elizabeth Derr said, "This is the first time we will have offered tap dancing classes, but we are already getting some excellent response." Registration for the class, as well as other classes to begin in the near future are now being accepted.

The tap dancing class will be approximately one hour long, starting at 10 a.m. each Tuesday morning, in the Sanford Civic Center. Derr said it will be a continuing class, offered throughout the winter season. "If we have even more interest than we expect for this, we'll make arrangements to have another such course in the future."

On September 18, the Senior Center will begin another microwave cooking class. "We've had this course before," she said, "and it has always been well received. They will be learning about cooking entire meals in the microwave oven."

Both the tap dancing and microwave cooking classes are open to both men and women, 55 years of age or older. Advance registration is required. Contact the Sanford Senior Center, 330-5699.

River slide show offered

By NICK PFERPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Friends of the St. Johns, is offering a slide show called "River in Distress", for use at meeting and civic club gatherings. The 25 minute color presentation depicts and good, the bad and the ugly of the state's longest river.

The program shows the lower, middle and upper basins of the St. Johns. Bill MacLauchlin, president of the organization said, "We not only show the beauty of the river, but some of the problems, their causes, and some of the work being done to reverse the trend of pollution or destruction."

The Friends will provide the screen, projector and all related equipment for area clubs. Persons interested in arranging for the River in Distress presentation are asked to phone MacLauchlin at 322-6788 or the club's secretary, Ruth Lee, 333-2423, or write to the Friends of the St. Johns, P. O. Box 956, Sanford, 32771.
