'Noles cruise to track crown

ORLANDO — The Seminole High School boys and girls track teams ran roughshod over the competition to completely dominate the 3A-District 6 meet at the Orlando Sports Complex Thursday.

The boys won their seventh straight district championship as they won by an amazing 97 points, 146-49, over Edgewater. The Seminoles took home first place in eight of the 16 events and advanced 18 individuals to next week's regional meet in Gainesville.

The girls, in search of their fifth straight state championship, also had a big night, winning seven of the 15 events and advancing 12 individuals to the regional.

It was the 12th straight year that the Seminoles had won the district title.

Better road system critical

SANFORD — An Orlando Sun Bank investment official said yesterday roadway expansion is critical to keeping Seminole County ahead of a nationwide economic slowing trend brought on by the federal government's efforts to control inflation.

"We're going to choke on our own growth if we don't have a better transportation system," J. Mitchell Grant, senior vice president of Orlando Sun Bank's investment banking division, said following his address to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Heroes receive recognition

Three Florida residents were among 19 people honored Thursday as recipients of a Carnegie Medal for heroism. Those receiving special awards include:

• Karl Weiss, 19, Orlando, sustained minor smoke inhalation while helping to save an unconscious neighbor in bed when a faulty heating unit filled his apartment with smoke on Dec. 9, 1988.

• Edwin Crowther, 36, Fort Lauderdale, became semi-conscious in ocean rip current while trying to save Barbara Currier from drowning, whose sons were saved by Henton.

• Donald Gordon, 51, Lauderdale Lakes, fought dense smoke and intense heat in an apartment fire to save two toddlers despite his own disability on April 22, 1989.

Pillow manufacturers sued

MIAAMI — The parents of an infant who suffocated in his crib filed a lawsuit Thursday against the manufacturer of a baby pillow, alleging that the product resulted in their 6-week-old son's death.

Gigi and Robert Lindstrom filed the suit against Comfort Products Inc., of Carrollton, Texas, one of 10 makers of the beanbag-type pillows marketed for babies. Comfort Products manufactures the "Cushie Comfort" pillow, which is made of a quilted material loosely filled with small polystyrene beads.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission called last week for a voluntary recall on all beanbag-type baby pillows, which the commission said may have caused as many as 19 infant deaths nationwide between 1984 and 1990.

Telescope in trouble?

Contact with device lost; Discovery crew may try spacewalk

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — The Discovery astronauts stood by Friday while engineers on Earth struggled to establish radio contact with the Hubble Space Telescope, delaying the opening of a protective door over the satellite's giant mirror.

The shuttle trashed the $1.5 billion telescope by about 40 miles while engineers at the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., were unable to immediately make contact with the 12-ton satellite, delaying the critical "aperture door" opening milestone originally set for 7:25 a.m. EDT.

It was the latest glitch in a series of minor but time-consuming problems that have plagued the orbital observatory since launch from Discovery Wednesday into a record 381-mile-high orbit.

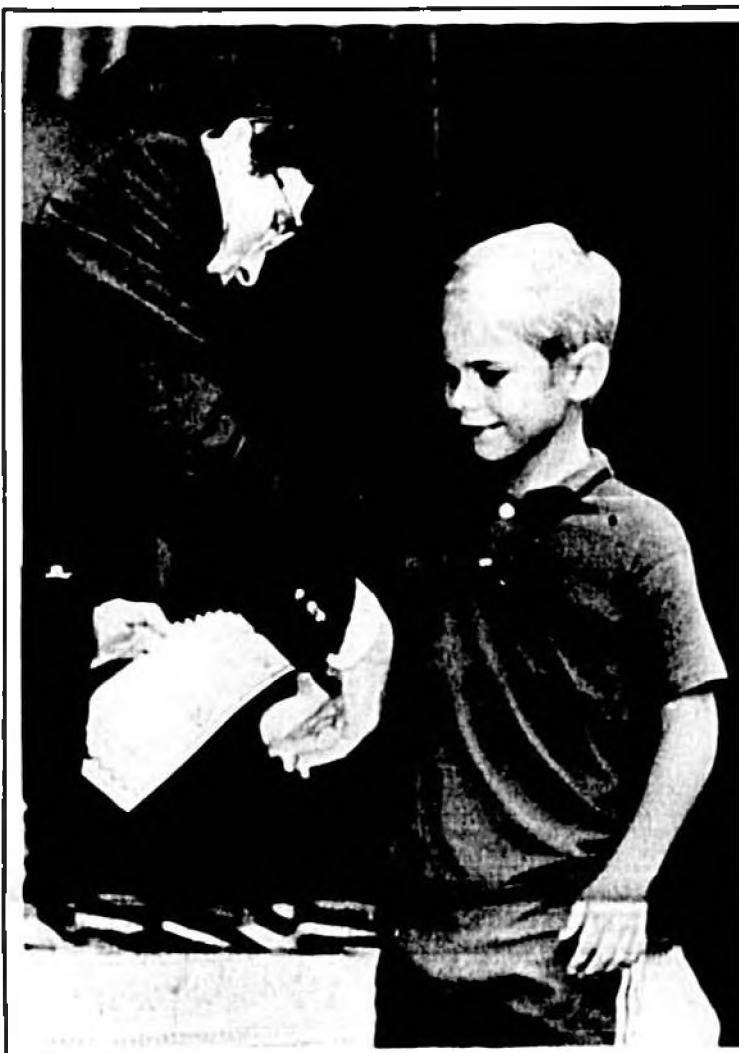

In case of problems with the "aperture door," the Discovery astronauts stayed close by Friday prepared to catch up and rendezvous with the telescope for a spacewalk to crank the door open manually if the radio commands failed to move the device.

In the meantime, ground controllers struggled to establish contact with the telescope after its on-board computer apparently implemented a "safe mode" routine to protect the observatory from harm because of some other problem.

When the telescope's mirror is finally exposed to light, the first picture from the satellite's cameras will not be taken until next week when a test photo of a non-descript star cluster is scheduled to be beamed to Earth to test the focus of the optical system.

Lake Mary P&Z faces a number of land decisions

By NICK PFENNAUF

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board met with the City Commission last night to seek direction in the preparation of several ordinances, but on some issues there was more than one direction offered.

The item that occupied the most time was the "Resource Protection Standards" measure that intends to establish protection standards for environmentally sensitive lands and resources. The proposed ordinance deals with drawing irrigation water from lakes, flood storage capacity, wetlands, drainage, and the monitoring of wells.

After more than an hour of pro and con discussion on the various subjects, Mayor Dick Fess ordered the city staff to work in conjunction with St. Johns River Water Management and, if possible, the Department of Environmental Resources, to come up with a modified plan based on the city's Planning and Zoning Committee draft.

It is hoped that an improved ordinance can be worked out during the next St. Johns River Water Management meeting set for June 30.

Gas tax increase clears Senate; Martinez waits with veto pen in hand

From staff and wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Senate has set the stage for the Legislature's long-awaited showdown with Gov. Bob Martinez, voting its final approval Thursday of a $4.7-billion transportation package that includes a 4-cent gasoline tax increase.

Seminole County Senators W.W. "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, and Richard Langley, R-Clermont, both voted for the bill, their aides reported.

Martinez has repeatedly vowed to veto any bill that includes a statewide increase in the gasoline tax, and lawmakers said Thursday they understand that a veto message has already been prepared.

"Based on what I know of the bill, I haven't changed my viewpoint on it," Martinez told reporters after the vote. "My opinion has not changed since the 1989 special session."

Bennett to state official: 'I'm not a messenger boy'

TALLAHASSEE — Florida House Speaker Tom Gustafson and federal drug czar William Bennett got into a verbal spat Thursday at the end of Bennett's speech to the House of Representatives.

The Legislature has passed a transportation package that Gov. Bob Martinez promises to veto, so Gustafson asked Bennett to take a message to President Bush and the U.S. Department of Transportation, urging them to tell the governor not to veto the highway bill.

Bennett snapped back that he is not a messenger, and that it

Metro officer shot, killed; suspects jailed

NORTH MIAMI BEACH — A Metro-Dade County police officer was shot and killed early Friday after stopping what turned out to be a stolen car, and three suspects were arrested, authorities said.

The officer, identified as Joe Martin, was airlifted to Jackson Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Metro-Dade Police Commander Fred Taylor said the shooting took place shortly after 4 a.m. EDT near the intersection of Northeast 151st Street and 13th Avenue after Martin and his partner made a routine traffic stop.

"The car was a stolen car. It had not been reported to the police at that time, so they did not know it was a stolen car. But they were in an area where a lot of crimes had occurred in the last month or so," Taylor said.

"As they approached the car, one of the subjects in the car jumped out and started firing at officer Martin. He was struck twice, once in vest, in the chest. The second shot hit him in the throat," Taylor added.

The officers returned fire. The man who opened fire jumped back in the car and fled. The man, who was wounded once in the shoulder, later abandoned the car. He was tracked by police dogs and captured, Taylor said.

The other two suspects surrendered at the scene.

Committee approves death for drug lords

TALLAHASSEE — A House committee approved legislation Thursday that could mean the death penalty for top drug kingpins regardless of whether their illegal wares are traced to any specific deaths by users or competitors.

The bill (PCS-HB 2063) is modeled on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which suggests the justices would permit executions under circumstances where there is no specific intent to kill any individual.

But supporters of the legislation disagreed on whether prosecutors would have to link large scale drug trafficking to any deaths, or whether dealing in large amounts of cocaine or opiates presumes a risk of causing death sufficient to warrant execution.

The bill says that to merit a death penalty, the trafficker must deal in at least 150 kilograms of cocaine or 30 kilograms of opiates.

Further, the state would have to demonstrate to a jury that the accused showed a "reckless disregard" for whether the dealing might bear a "lethal result."

The Criminal Justice Committee approved the bill on a vote of 14-to-1, after defeating an amendment by Rep. Jim Burke, D-Miami, which would have applied the sanction to bank officers who launder drug money.

Another county puts 'rape' on 2 Live Crew

ST. AUGUSTINE — A St. Johns County grand jury declared obscene Thursday the rap album "As Nasty As They Wanna Be" by 2 Live Crew, making St. Johns the seventh Florida county to ban its sale.

The grand jury also banned five other records, including a second album by 2 Live Crew, and seven videotaped movies, including "Debbie Does Dallas."

There were no indictments.

State Attorney John Tanner has now won obscenity presentations against 2 Live Crew and X-rated videotape movies in each of the four counties he serves: Volusia, Putnam, Flagler and St. Johns.

"As Nasty As They Wanna Be" also has been declared obscene in Sarasota, Manatee and Duval counties.

The other videotaped movie found to be obscene Thursday were "Tabu 6," "Blonds Have More Fun," "Heat of the Night," "Angela Gotta Have It," "Skin on Skin," and "Transitory States."

The other records found obscene were "Luke Skyywalker, The 2 Live Crew," "Ice T/ The Iceberg," "Easy-E, Easy-Diz It," "N.W.A. and the Posse," and "N.W.A. Straight Outta Compton," said Tanner.

Modify spraying begins in Dade County

MIAMI — A helicopter equipped with six spray nozzles spread pesticide Thursday over a 15-square-mile section of Miami, where nine Mediterranean fruit flies have been discovered since April 16.

The aerial attack, the first of four planned bombardments, was delayed several times during the day because of problems with an on-board generator and clogged spray nozzles, said Marve McConnell, a spokeswoman for the Florida Department of Agriculture.

Technicians were able to fix the problems, however, and the spraying of the chemical malathion and fly bait was completed shortly before 5 p.m. EDT.

Officials plan to repeat the treatment on the first three Sundays in May, over the mostly residential area mostly north of Miami International Airport, in the communities of Miami Springs, Virginia Gardens and Hialeah.

HEADLINESMan beaten with crutch

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City police here report charging Zellie P. Feagin, 36, of Maitland, with aggravated battery in connection with a Tuesday night attack in which Feagin allegedly hit another man with his crutch.

Altamonte Springs police said the victim, Kenneth Stein, 40, 638 Applewood Ave., Altamonte Springs, was confronted by a group of about five when he arrived at Terrace Apartments at about 11:30 p.m., to visit a resident there.

The group was reportedly verbally abusive and Feagin, who was walking with the aid of crutches, allegedly beat Stein on the head with a crutch. Stein was hospitalized in Altamonte Springs for treatment of a severely injured left ear, police said.

Police returned to the scene at about 2 p.m. Thursday and charged Feagin, who was visiting his cousin there, with aggravated battery.

Woman charged with kicking deputy

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A woman who allegedly ran away screaming when Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrived on Oak Drive, rural Altamonte Springs, to investigate a complaint, was caught and charged with disorderly conduct and prowling.

When she was being transported to jail she allegedly kicked the inside of a patrol car. The deputy driving the car stopped to further restrain the woman and she allegedly kicked him in the groin. Jane Doe, alias Delana Joyce Combs, 25, 138 W. Floyd Ave., Lake Mary, was also charged with battery on a policeman. She was first arrested at 11:40 p.m. Thursday.

Couple arrested after search

SANFORD — City County Investigative Bureau agents charged James Edward Maloney, 36, and Cheryl Ann Maloney, 35, with possession of less than 30 grams of marijuana.

The arrests came Thursday night after agents with a warrant searched the couple's house at 109 Raven Court, Sanford, and reportedly found a small quantity of marijuana. Cheryl Maloney, because she has an infant child to care for, was not jailed along with her husband. Instead, she was given a notice to appear in court on the charge, an arrest report said.

Businessman challenges Sandra Glenn

By J. BRADLEY BILLING
Herald staff writer

MAITLAND — Saying Seminole County Commissioner Sandra Glenn has ignored overcrowded schools by continually approving new houses, Peter Purting, a businessman and Democrat, will challenge her for the District 4 seat.

"Unless something is done immediately, we'll be in trouble," said Purting, 40. "Our schools are deteriorating. In spite of that, developments are still approved. It's the county commission's responsibility to prevent that from happening."

Glenn, a Republican, is seeking a fourth four-year term on the commission. She is currently unopposed for the Sept. 4 Republican primary.

Purting is owner of Magnet Cards, a business that produces magnetic business cards and other magnetic promotional items. He lives in the English Estates portion of Seminole County near Maitland. He is currently unopposed for the Sept. 4 Democratic primary.

Purting criticized Glenn's recent announcement she would be more forceful in exacting voluntary impact fees and school sites from developers as inadequate.

"That's not enough," Purting said. "She refuses to include schools as an optional element in the county's comprehensive (development) plan and I think that's wrong. She's not doing the same for schools as she does for sewage and roads."

The county's comprehensive plan states development must not occur unless adequate roads, sewage, water and other government-provided "infrastructure" services are provided. The state allows schools to be included in that list of required services, but Glenn and other commissioners balk at the idea because schools don't have adequate finances to build needed schools.

Corrections

Due to a reporting error, a photo cutline in Thursday's Sanford Herald incorrectly identified the cause of a blast in Castle Brewer Court on West 10th Street as a leaky gas line. A Sanford Fire Department spokesperson said the cause was improper storage of gasoline.

Also due to a reporting error, a story in Thursday's Herald said a bottle with a message in it was found four years ago on Daytona Beach. The bottle was launched five years ago.

Black hole bailout

The federal bailout of the crippled savings and loan industry is rapidly becoming a black hole. When Congress initially approved the rescue in early 1989, the price tag was $165 billion over 10 years. Last July, the Office of Management and Budget put the cost at $207 billion over 30 years. Recently, the bailout's projected cost ranged from $335 billion to $600 billion.

The gloomiest estimate comes from the General Accounting Office, the auditing arm of Congress. In testimony before a Senate Finance Committee, Comptroller General Charles Bowsher said the $335 billion tab is premised on a fairly robust economy and modest interest rates. Slower economic growth or a recession could boost the cost to half a trillion dollars. Even assuming the lower figure, this is more than double the cost of the Marshall Plan, which bailed out the economies of Western Europe after World War II.

Whatever the ultimate cost, most of it will be paid by taxpayers.

The bailout was necessitated by collapse of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which guaranteed deposits and had accumulated $100 billion in losses. It was closed last year. The bailout was caused by massive losses of S&Ls' savings, which have highly speculative investments, such as real estate and junk bonds, that exploded.

The federal intervention intended to solve the problem has made things worse in some respects. The bailout has been expanding, pushing the cost of the bailout ever higher, even though the original intent was to limit the cost to $165 billion. The GAO says the cost will exceed $335 billion.

The bailout assets have been mismanaged. The RTC owns more than 1,000 failed S&Ls and hundreds of other institutions, industrial facilities, resorts and hotels.

To make matters worse, federal regulators have identified 800 thrifts as "likely to fail." Another 200 are on the "watched" list. If they go under, the RTC could be inundated by failed assets. It is already faced with mismanagement.

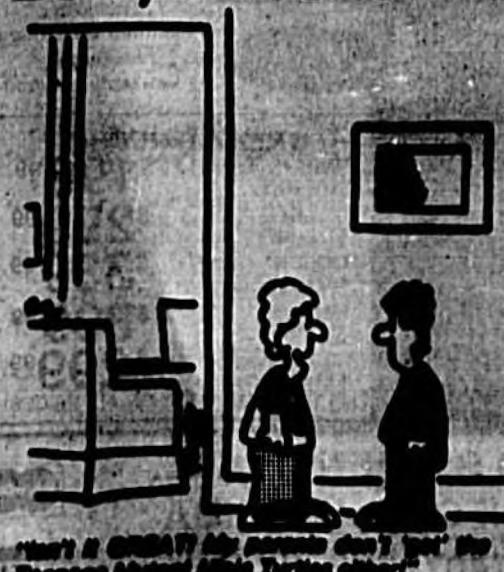

The RTC is answerable to a five-member oversight board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., both of which are under the control of Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady. The Treasury Department also oversees the Office of Thrift Supervision. These bureaucratic layers have made the bailout effort ever more cumbersome.

For example, Daniel Kreamer, the RTC's first director, resigned after four months because he lacked authority to make decisions. His temporary replacement, William Taylor, wants to return to the Federal Reserve Board, but a successor has not yet been found. OTS director Timothy Ryan, who was narrowly confirmed by the Senate last week, has no banking experience. He got the job primarily because no one better qualified wanted it.

In an attempt to move away the process, L. William Goldsmith, who is in charge of managing the bailout, is prepared to use an innovative 140 investment trusts during the next 90 days. He wants to cut through the bureaucratic red tape and give power to his own office directly to decide which failed assets to bail out.

The government's inability to dispose of these properties is costing taxpayers $14 million per day. Goldsmith's sensible plan could prevent the $60 billion from descending deeper into the black hole — but don't count on it.

Playing high stakes in Sun Belt

SURFSIDE — The unexpected return of former Sen. Lawton Chiles to Florida politics is the first sign that the Democrats belatedly acknowledge the importance of this year's gubernatorial contests in the three most populous Sun Belt states.

The significance of the elections in Florida, Texas and California is hardly a secret. For several years, the national media have noted that they will resolve the largest congressional gains when the results of this year's census are tallied. That, in turn, means they will gain the most seats in the U.S. House of Representatives during the 1991-92 reapportionment that will affect elections until the beginning of the next decade. In addition, the districts for state legislative seats in the three states must be drastically revised.

The early Republican recognition of the high stakes involved was most dramatically manifested in California, where Sen. Pete Wilson won re-election to a second term in late 1988 — an accomplishment that should have left fellow Republicans thoroughly satisfied.

But when incumbent Republican Gov. George Deukmejian decided he would not run for a third term this year, party leaders successfully implored Wilson (arguably the state's most popular public official) to relinquish the Senate seat and mount a campaign for governor, to keep that office under GOP control.

Wilson has no serious opposition in the early June primary, but two Democrats — Attorney General John Vassallo-Kane and former San Francisco Mayor Diane Feinstein — are locked in a fierce struggle that could leave the party divided as it enters the general election campaign.

In Texas' recently concluded primary campaign, the Democratic contest was far uglier. Three contenders — former Gov. Mark White, state Treasurer Ann Richards and Attorney General Jim Mattox — came close to accusing each other of everything from accepting bribes to taking

The Democrats fumbled the opportunity to unseat Martinez by offering unimpressive candidates.

Richards won that contest, but her party is sharply divided (White, for example, publicly says he could never support Richards), and she faces an uphill struggle against popular Republican nominee Clayton Williams, who won a primary race that was free of rancor.

In Florida, Republican Gov. Bob Martinez seemed to present the Democrats with an ideal target as he sleepily trundled through his first term.

In 1987, his first year in office, Martinez stumbled badly when he sought to impose a 5 percent sales tax on advertising and other business services, then was forced to withdraw the plan in the face of strident opposition.

Last year, he became entangled in another fiasco when he called the state legislature into special session to enact a package of anti-abortion legislation, only to have all of his proposals rejected.

But the Democrats initially fumbled the opportunity to unseat Martinez by offering voters a thoroughly unimpressive field of candidates. The leading contender, for example, was U.S. Rep. Bill Nelson, whose most notable achievement during 12 years in Congress has been flying as a passenger in a spaceship.

Trucking laws need overhaul

WASHINGTON — The American trucking industry is so bogged by outrageous state regulations that truckers would be better off driving hundreds of miles across state lines and back just to save the costs and paperwork of in-state trucking. Consider these examples:

• It costs more to ship a truckload of blue jeans from El Paso to Dallas than it does to ship the same jeans from Taiwan to Dallas.

• Ryder Systems Inc., the truck rental company, spends $2.3 million a year and uses 100 trucks on the 575,000-ton roads required by 50 states.

• In Michigan, it costs Savannah Foods more to ship sugar across an 82-mile delivery route inside the state than it does to send the same sugar 128 miles to another state.

• Prodigy finds it cheaper to ship its goods from Mississippi to San Antonio, Texas, than it is to ship the same goods from San Antonio to Lubbock, Texas, 800 miles closer.

In-state trucking remains one of the most anti-competitive and least efficient forms of transportation in the country. By some estimates, reforming the system could save consumers up to $15 billion a year.

In 1980, the Motor Carrier Act deregulated trucking between states, but in the spirit of state rights, the law left in-state trucking up to local officials. The result is that commerce moves relatively freely on trucks traveling between states, but a shipment between two points in the same state is a nightmare.

Comments that rely on the roads for shipping may the state taxes are testament to highway robbery. If trucking regulations were organized crime, then Texas would be the godfather.

One source estimates that restrictive Texas trucking rules cost consumers nearly $1 billion a year. The red tape of the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates trucking, has resulted in a virtual in-state trucking monopoly. Sources told our associate Don May that 10 large Texas shippers control upward of 85 percent of the market.

The legal monoliths and the state red tape across the country add up to a serious handicap for the United States in the world trade market. America's competitors know that they can ship goods to us cheaper than we can ship them to ourselves. A recent Economic Community study of trade barriers in the United States cited trucking regulations as one of the one of the major barriers that inhibit trade in the U.S. domestic economy.

Rep. J. Dennis Hastert, R-Ill., has heard the horror stories and introduced a bill to overturn the state rights and establish uniform national trucking rules.

The states probably are crying foul, claiming that small rural shippers will be pushed out of the market and that highway safety will suffer.

But we have seen evidence from the few states which have liberalized trucking, and there have been no such side effects. In Florida, trucking rules were down after deregulation. In California, which had tried with the idea of deregulation, the highway patrol found there was no commercial highway traffic trucking regulation and safety.

Until Congress has the courage to reform the state red tape, American consumers will continue to lose out to a series of state governments that put up unnecessary regulations.

GEORGE F. WILL

Court echoes U.S. founders

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court is not obligated to tutor Americans in their nation's principles. Still, last week Justice Scalia provided an opportunity to make the most philosophically illuminating case for a Supreme Court ruling that underscores the subordinate place of religion in the American polity.

Two Oregon men, both Native Americans, were fired from their jobs and denied unemployment benefits because they used the hallucinogenic peyote as a traditional sacrament of the Native American Church. Oregon law bars all use of peyote, which is made from cactus. The men argued that this violated the First Amendment ban on laws "prohibiting the free exercise" of religion.

Citing precedents running back to the 1970 Court ruling affirming the constitutionality of laws banning the Mormon practice of polygamy, Scalia wrote: "We have never held that an individual's religious beliefs excuse him from complying with an otherwise valid law prohibiting conduct the state has a right to regulate."

Or? In 1978, the Court held that a member of the Old Order Amish religion was exempt on free-exercise grounds. But in 1980, with Wisconsin law requiring parents to send their children to school until age 16, Scalia's argument that this 1978 ruling is incompatible with the principle he now asserts is unconvincing.

However, Scalia, joined by Chief Justice Rehnquist and Justices White, Stevens and Kennedy (O'Connor concurred in the result but not the reasoning), is correct on this point: The Court has often held that the right of free exercise does not afford a citizen of an accommodation to contrary law "a valid and neutral law of general application" (a law not aimed at the promotion or restriction of religious belief) on the ground that the law proscribes (or prescribes) conduct that the religion prescribes (or proscribes). "None the less," continues:

In addition to the majority ruling, Justice O'Connor, writing separately, has ruled that "a state cannot prohibit conduct that violates a state's public health laws, payment of taxes, compulsory vaccination and other conduct." Scalia says free-exercise protection is not violated if the burdening of religiously motivated conduct is an "incidental effect" of a valid law.

Justice Blackmun, joined in heated dissent by Justices Brennan and Marshall, charges, plausibly, that the Court has now overturned precedents pertaining to the Constitution's religious clauses. The Court has indeed altered the law to accommodate religious conduct and belief, and has required government to satisfy exacting tests about a "compelling interest" before allowing law to interfere with religiously motivated conduct.

Scalia should have been more careful. In 1978 Old Order Amish women won their

He could have invoked the support of the patriotic saint of libertarians — Saint Thomas. No, not Thomas Aquinas — Thomas Jefferson. To understand the philosophical pedigree of Scalia's sensible position is to understand the cool rationalism and secularism of the philosophy that informed the Founders.

A central purpose of America's political arrangements is the subordination of religion to the political order, securing the primacy of democracy. The Founders, like Locke before them, wished to take a stand on democratic religious questions of the sort that survived. They aimed to do so not by establishing a traditional religion — Christianity — or a state church. They aimed to do so not by establishing a republic — constitutionalism. They aimed to do so not by establishing people's turbulent energies in self-imposed patterns of material comfort.

More freedom is to be perfectly free as long as it is perfectly private — more belief — but it must bend to the political will (law) as regards conduct. Thus Jefferson said that "operations of the mind" are not subject to legal coercion, but that "one of the body" are. More belief, said Jefferson, in one god or 20, neither picks nor breaks one's legs.

Jefferson's distinction rests on Locke's private (Locke considered Locke one of the three greatest men who ever lived) that "operations of the mind" are not to be disrupted, but the body cannot be controlled by reason. Hence Americans would not "establish" religion. Rather, by guaranteeing free exercise of religion, they would make religious private and subordinate.

Twenty-three states and federal law exempt the religious use of peyote from prohibitions, and Scalia indicates sympathy for that policy. However, he didn't insist it is not permissible.

Mr. Justice, you have a number of these developments, that is "an accommodation" according to your standard. And, says Scalia, "I would be inclined to say that, in this case, the accommodation is reasonable."

Telescope

45, co-pilot Charles Botten, 43, Steven Hawley, 38, Bruce McCandless, 38, and Kathryn Sullivan, 36 — is scheduled to land Sunday at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to close out a five-day mission, the third of nine planned for 1990.

Once checked out and in operation above Earth's obscuring atmosphere, the space telescope will let astronomers study planets, stars and galaxies with 10 times the clarity of ground-based instruments, revolutionizing knowledge about the birth, structure, evolution and fate of the universe.

During its 16-year lifetime, the telescope will help scientists learn more about the age of the universe, the speed of its expansion, black holes, "quasars" and other enigmatic objects in the depths of space and time.

The telescope's odyssey began Wednesday with release from Discovery after ground controllers managed to free a stuck solar array. Since then, engineers at Goddard have struggled through a variety of communications problems and other glitches in a rocky start for the telescope's eight-month checkout procedure.

"I feel like we've had a lot more problems than I anticipated," test engineer Mike Harrington said Thursday after ground crews spent much of the day dealing with a series of glitches that plagued the Hubble's "breaking-in" process.

Controllers encountered trouble in the critical communications link between the telescope's high-speed science transmission system and NASA's data relay satellite. As it turned out, the telescope's antennas were incorrectly aimed and the problem was corrected Thursday afternoon.

Trouble also cropped up with the slower "low-gain" antenna system, used to route commands to Hubble, and one of four gyroscopes used to help maintain the instrument's stability was taken off-line by on-board computers even though nothing apparently was wrong.

Ground crews managed to overcome the difficulties and worked through "a very busy and productive night" relaying computer commands to ready the telescope for the door-opening procedure.

Gustafson wanted any messages delivered, he could do it himself. House Republicans went wild, cheering and clapping their approval.

Gustafson responded by saying he would ask that a videotape of the exchange be sent to the White House.

The speaker later left the podium to apologize for his remarks, saying he meant no disrespect to Bennett.

"I hope you will all forgive me for my passion at that moment," Gustafson said.

He was rewarded with a standing ovation by Democrats and Republicans.

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker, that does take guts," Republican leader Dale Pritchett said in accepting the apology.

Walkers

And they'll have fun doing it, said County Commissioner Sandra Glenn, who will be one of the VIPs shaking hands with walkers as they cross the finish line.

As with other sponsorship efforts, the participants acquire money by asking people to pledge an amount for each mile walked.

But far from being a typical 10-mile trek under a hot Saturday sun, Glenn said the volunteer walk is as much a county-wide party as it is anything else.

There will be five checkpoints along the way, with fruit and refreshments handed out at each.

The trek will begin and end at Fort Mellon Park and will weave its way in and around the historic downtown business district.

Glenn said in the past few years area corporations have pitched in to make the effort a success by asking their employees to participate in the walk.

Last year, the Sanford walk raised more than $40,000 of the $20,000 garnered by Seminole, Orange and Volusia counties.

Organizations wishing to participate as teams need at least five people. Individuals may sign up the day of the walk at registration tables at the site. Registration begins at 6:30 a.m. and the walk starts at 8 a.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

There will be five checkpoints on the course, manned by Sun Bank, Sanford; Southeast Bank of Florida; United Telephone; Sprague Electric; The Briner Corporation; and South Seminole Community Hospital.

close to one of the largest in the school's history.

"We've gotten larger and larger," he said.

The commencement speaker at this year's graduation ceremonies will be Bill Odem, deputy executive director for finance and information systems for the Florida state board of community colleges.

Odem, former legislative analyst for the state senate from 1979 through 1984, has retired from public life and is now an educational finance specialist.

"He's an interesting speaker," Weldon promised.

The graduation ceremony will also include special recognition of two local companies, Certified Billing and Suniland, which have helped the school financially throughout the year.

"They have been longtime supporters of the school," said Ormano. This year, Certified Billing purchased the top item in the SCC Dream Auction, a trip to Australia.

Following this evening's graduation, there will be a reception for the graduates in the health facility.

Decisions

needed to override a veto by the governor. But it was not clear whether legislative Republicans — some of whom voted for the bill — would permit Martinez to suffer a politically embarrassing override in this election year.

Sen. Vince Bruner, D-Dot Walton Beach, said recent polls showed 50 percent support for increased transportation spending among the public.

"We have done our very best to be productive and be accountable," Bruner said.

Martinez has not supported any major tax increases since his politically disastrous embrace of the services tax in 1987. He subsequently led the drive for the services-tax repeal and has resisted higher gasoline taxes through more than a year of rancorous debate over the state's mounting transportation crisis.

Legislative supporters of the tax increase argue the money is urgently needed to avoid bankrupting the road building industry. Local officials are also deeply worried because the 1985 Growth Management Act could force development moratoriums in many areas unless roads and other services are planned to handle the new residents.

"Although Martinez opposes any statewide tax increases, he has signaled his willingness to create special boards in each of the state's seven transportation districts to consider higher gas taxes.

The Legislature rejected that option.

The bill also calls for an increase in the tax on rental cars, would require motorists to pay another $3 to get a title for a new car, would impose a one-time fee of $100 to register an additional car, and would raise the state sales tax on gasoline from 5 percent to 6 percent.

The taxes and fees would raise about $600 million a year. About $175 million would pay for resurfacing existing roads; $325 million would go for widening or building highways or turnpikes; $150 million would be dedicated to public transit systems; and $145 million would be spent on airports, commerce rail systems, seaports and airports.

for the creation of a Downtown Development Review Board which would help guide the project.

Matt West, Lake Mary senior planner, presented an overview of the problems in trying to formulate downtown area development regulations that would follow legal guidelines, yet protect older buildings, especially those with historical significance.

West pointed out, as an example, the Church of the Nazarene, 171 E. Crystal Lake Ave., where, he said, "there should be one parking space for every three seats in the church." But West said there was "no way to have that much off-street parking because there simply wasn't enough land, (on the church property) for parking, or the normally required retention ponds."

Commissioner Tom Mahoney said, "There is not an easy answer." Mahoney suggested the Downtown Development be taken case-by-case until some solution is found.

PPZ Chairman Rickett called for the creation of a Downtown Development Review Board which would help guide the project.

Mayor Fess agreed to look into such a board, which, he said, must "preserve the integrity of the historical aspects of Lake Mary, and still provide us with workable guidelines."

Following the 3-hour joint meeting, the City Commission held a brief called meeting that lasted 12 minutes, due to an abbreviated agenda.

The next regular Lake Mary City Commission meeting will be Thursday, May 3, at 155 N. County Club Road.

could act on the bill as early as today.

There was little Senate debate on the bill (CS-HB 2515), which was identical to legislation approved earlier this week by the House and tentatively approved by the Senate last week. The final vote Thursday was 30-7.

Senate President Bob Crawford appealed to Martinez to "please give this bill your consideration. It is good for the state. It is good for Bob Martinez."

He referred to the hostage drama unfolding in the Middle East and equated it to the state's transportation system, which has a $10-billion backlog of road projects.

"It's time that we freed the highway hostages of Florida," Crawford said. "This bill will do that. I would urge You to sign this bill. Let it become law. The people of Florida need a break. This is the break they need."

The bill cleared each committee on route to adoption by more than the two-thirds margin

BEWARE OF HEEL BLISTERS

If you've noticed any blisters developing on the upper rear area of your heel, you should have them treated before more painful conditions develop. Blisters on the heel can lead to bursitis of the heel bone, a very painful condition caused by inflammation of the bursa or irritation of the skin.

Improperly fitted shoes can sometimes cause heel blisters.

Shoes that are too loose-fitting at the heel, for example, may cause an abnormal amount of friction that results in heel blisters.

If you have a heel blister problem, you will benefit from examination and treatment by your foot specialist.

Pistons open title defense

The Detroit Pistons served notice Thursday night that defense and a deep bench will again be part of their playoff arsenal in 1990.

Detroit, which allowed playoff opponents to score in triple figures just twice in the postseason last year, defeated Indiana 104-92 Thursday night as it began its title defense.

Game 2 of the best-of-five opening round series is Saturday.

The Detroit reserves, keyed by John Salley and Vinnie Johnson, helped to keep the Pacers off balance as they tried to overcome a 19-point first-half deficit.

In other opening-round games, Philadelphia clipped Cleveland 111-106, Boston knocked off New York 116-106, San Antonio stopped Denver 119-103, and Portland defeated Dallas 109-102.

Taking the first step, Part II

Last night in Orlando, Seminole High School began its trek to the Class 3A state track meet with its district meet. Tonight, the county's five Class 4A schools as well as DeLand, Maitland, Spruce Creek and Lake Weir will converge on Lake Mary for the 4A-District 9 competition. Among the athletes expected to shine is Lake Mary's versatile Haydee Rohlehr (above).

ORLANDO — If there has ever been an event that could be termed a "no contest," this one was it.

The Seminole High School boys and girls track teams ran roughshod over the competition to completely dominate the 3A-District 6 meet at the Orlando Sports Complex Thursday.

The boys won their seventh straight district championship as they won by an amazing 97 points, 146-49, over Edgewater. The Seminoles took home first place in eight of the 16 events and advanced 16 individuals to next week's regional meet in Gainesville.

Rounding out the field were Gateway (43), Leesburg (41), St. Cloud (40), Osceola (26) and Jones (23).

"This is such a weak district that it is hard to get the kids up for it," said Seminole boys coach Ken Brauman. "But things will toughen up considerably next week in Gainesville. The people we needed to get to the regionals made it. We hope for the same thing next week. We hope to get 10 or 11 of our people to the state meet."

Once again it was Robert Moore and Henry Williams leading the way for the boys with two first place finishes each. Moore won the long jump (22-0) and the triple jump (45-8 3/4). He also finished second in the shot put. Williams won the 100-meter (11.1) and 220-yard (22.2) dashes and had a second in the triple jump.

Also winning were Carlo White in the shot put (53-11) and Paul Godbee in the high jump (6-0). The other wins were the 440-relay team of Moore, Williams, George Prison and Joseph Murphy (42.8) and the mile-relay team of Eric Walker, Eldonte Stile, Dalvin Davis and Murphy (3:23.1).

Taking home second places were Tommy Hampton in the discus, Maurice Thomas in the 120 high hurdles and 330 intermediate hurdles, Prison in the 200-meters and Walker in the 400-meters.

Third places went to Willie McCloud (just out

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Thursday's 4A-District 4 softball semifinals at Lake Brantley didn't go as planned for No. 3-seed Spruce Creek upset No. 2 Lake Mary 12-3 in one semifinal and No. 1 Lake Brantley received a scare from No. 5 Lake Howell in the nightcap before winning 9-2.

Tonight's final has Spruce Creek playing Lake Brantley at 6:15 p.m.

In Thursday's first game, Jennifer Syford and Lisa Hughes each had three hits and two RBI and Aimee Jeannotte added three RBI to pace a 17-hit attack to lead the Spruce Creek Hawks past the Lake Mary Rams.

"I told our kids before the game whoever hits would win," said Rams coach Karen Nolen. "They certainly hit the ball hard."

Contributing to a total team effort, Amy Minnick held the Rams to only seven hits and two runs to notch her 20th win on the season against only five losses.

The Hawks were also aided by eight Lake Mary errors leading to eight unearned runs. With a 4-1 lead starting the fifth inning, the Hawks blew the game wide open with a seven-run outburst. Yazz King and Richelle Yingling singled and Jeannotte hit a bases-loaded triple to highlight the inning.

Contributing to a total team effort, Amy Minnick held the Rams to only seven hits and two runs to notch her 20th win on the season against only five losses.

"I don't think they played their best game," said Hawks' coach Gaye Lynn Wilson. "But we hit the ball real well and were able to get some key hits with runners on base."

In the nightcap, Michelle Davis and Christa Schroefel each had three hits and two runs scored and

Home runs were flying out of the Lake Mary High School field during the 4A-District 9 baseball tournament Thursday night. In the first game, Lyman's

LAKE MARY — When they wrap up the 4A-District 9 baseball tournament tonight at Lake Mary High School, there will be one unexpected guest and one gate crasher.

The Lake Brantley Patriots, the top-seeded team in the tournament, fulfilled their obligations by hammering Lake Howell 13-3 in a game stopped in the bottom of the fifth inning on Thursday night.

But in the other corner are the Lyman Greyhounds, who started the week seeded sixth. They advanced to this evening's final with their second upset of the tournament, beating second-seed Oviedo 5-2 in Thursday's first game.

Tonight, the Patriots and Greyhounds will play at 6 p.m. for the district championship. During the regular season, Lake Brantley won both its games with Lyman.

Lyman scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie and beat Oviedo. Catcher Andy Spokane started the rally with a double. After Larry Langston went in to pinch run, Jeff Jackson reached on an error. Heath Greenlee then hit an RBI single before John Jump ripped a two-run triple.

The rally gave freshman pitcher Frank Harmer his second win of the district tournament, having picked up

The Cubs won the opener with a 10-0 whitewash of the Seminole Pirates and the Dodgers won the nightcap 5-1 over the First Federal of Seminole Cardinals. The Cubs and Dodgers are tied for first with 8-1 records while the Pirates and Cardinals are tied for third with 2-7 records.

This Saturday, the American Division will start off the quadrupleheader with the Disabled American Veterans Royals facing the Sun Bank Orioles at 8 a.m. and the First Union A's challenging the Seminole Ford Red Sox at 10 a.m.

The last two games will feature the National Division with the Pirates taking on the Dodgers at noon and the Cubs squaring off with Cardinals at 3 p.m.

Williams and Dickerson worked two innings each and gave up one hit each as the Cubs won the first game of the evening. The Cubs scored five runs in the first inning, one in the second and two runs in each of the third and fourth innings to end the game by the mercy rule.

Fueling the 11-hit Cub attack were Williams, Dickerson and Mike Howard (one double, one single and two runs scored each), Adrian Knight (two singles), Fabian McKinney (double, run scored), Aaron Knight and Paul Evans (one single and one run scored each) and Charlie McLean (run scored).

Demetrice Turner and James Fields had one single each for the Pirates.

Major Fisher singled and scored in the first inning to give the Cardinals a 1-0 lead in their game with the Dodgers. But that would be all the offense the Cardinals would get as Watson struck out at least two batters in every inning and wound up with 14 for the game.

The Dodgers scored a run in the second to tie the game, tallied two runs in the second to take the lead for good and added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Watson also helped his own cause at the plate, going 4 for 4, scoring a run and driving in two. Also contributing were Lorenzo Robinson (two singles, run scored), Terrell Jackson (two singles), Derrick Queen (double, run scored) and Gerald Bishop and Donald Sherman (one run scored each).

Overwhelmed by the performance by Watson was a very good outing for Shawn Eaton and Bart Dizm of the Cardinals, who combined to hold the Cubs to only nine hits.

In the shot, Stile in the 400-meters, Eddie Davis in the pole vault, Willie Williams in the 130-high hurdles, Franks in the 100-meters and Davis in the 400-meters.

Also advancing to regionals with fourth place finishes were Franks (fifth in the triple jump), Murphy (fifth in the 100-meters), Peterson (fifth in the 130-high hurdles) and Davis (fifth in the 200-yard dash).

Scoring team points but not qualifying for regionals were Franks (fifth in the triple jump), Murphy (fifth in the 100-meters), Peterson (fifth in the 130-high hurdles) and Davis (fifth in the 200-yard dash).

The girls, in search of their fifth straight state championship, also had a big night, winning seven of the 15 events and advancing 12 individuals to the regionals.

It was the 12th straight year that the Seminoles had won the district title.

Seminole scored 113 and was followed in the standings by St. Cloud (75), Gessica (69), Jones (46), Edgewater (43) and Leesburg and Gateway (both with 30).

"I was the second step," said Seminole girls coach Hale Partlow. "Step three is next week in the regionals. We're right on schedule. We got the girls qualified that we needed to. We don't have the depth that we've had in the past, so we have to go for the quality points."

"When you don't have any more competition than this, you really have to push yourself. That's what we did tonight. We looked very good in spite. We're still having a problem with the mile relay but I think we might have that straightened out now."

Yolanda Baker won two individual events for the Seminoles, the 100-meter (18.3) and the 200-yard (34.9) dashes. Other winners were Sheri Reddicks in the shot put (30.6), Renee Singleton in the 110-high hurdles (16.6), Nadrian McGill in the 330-low hurdles (45.6), the 440-relay team of Kim Brown, McGill, Baker and Mechelle Tommee (48.6) and the mile-relay team of K. Brown, Keda Ward, McGill and Tommee (4:03.1).

Runners-up finishes were posted by Singleton in the 330-low hurdles, Rhonda Freeman in the high jump, Keisha Lawrence in the 800-meters and Tommee in the triple jump.

Thirds went to Ward in the long jump and Yolanda Williams in the 330-low hurdles while earning fourth-place finishes were Angie Brown in the shot put, Williams in the triple jump and Kay Mullins in the 100-meters.

The Patriots answered in the bottom of the second inning as Schrockoff tripled and scored on an error. Williams later scored on a Silver Hawk error to tie the game at 2-2.

"Sometimes the little things will determine the outcome of a game," said Patriot coach Neamy Betrie. "Tonight we ran the bases aggressively and forced them to throw the ball away a little bit."

The contest remained tied until the bottom of the fifth as the Silver Hawks committed four

Creative Invasion takes Thursday Night crown

By staff reporter

SANFORD — Chip Partlow singled twice and scored two runs for Creative Invasion as they blanked Tem-Dale 4-0 to claim the Sanford Recreation Department Thursday Night Softball League championship at Fort Mellon Park.

Creative Invasion ends the season 10-3 while Tem-Dale is 8-4.

Five games into the season, Creative Invasion led Tem-Dale by three games. But over the last seven weeks, Tem-Dale beat Creative Invasion three times to force the one-game playoff.

On Thursday, Blake Murray threw a 10-hit shutout for Creative Invasion. After giving up consecutive singles in the top of the first inning, Murray retired 18 of the next 24 batters he faced, not allowing a Tem-Dale runner to reach third until there were two out in the sixth inning.

Offensively for Creative Invasion, the bottom three batters in their lineup did all the damage.

In the bottom of the third inning, Partlow, hitting seventh in the Creative Invasion order, led off with a single. Joey DiBartolo followed with a double to score Partlow. The next two batters also got hits but Tem-Dale managed to get out of the inning without giving up any more runs.

Partlow also started Creative Invasion's three-run rally in the fifth inning with a one-out single. DiBartolo then hit a single and eventually scored to give Creative Invasion a 4-0 lead.

All of Tem-Dale's best chances to score came with two outs. In the first inning, Jay Johnson and Jimmy Sheffield hit consecutive singles to put runners at the corners with two out.

With two out in the sixth, Willie Ortiz, Terrell Ervin and Joe Ervin singled to load the bases. In the seventh inning, Sheffield and Sandy Hovey led off with singles, but the next batter hit into a double play that moved Sheffield to third.

Joining Partlow in leading the Creative Invasion attack were DiBartolo and Peres, who both had a double, single and run scored. DiBartolo also had an RBI. Other contributors were Ron Lettage, Joe Peres and Kirk Allen (two singles each) and Bryan Hartman, Steve Noble and Murray (one single each).

For Tem-Dale, Terrell Ervin, Johnson and Sheffield each had a pair of singles while Joe Ervin, Hovey, Dale Vines and Ortiz all hit one single.

Ride the trails by the silvery moon Cowgirls, buckeroos saddle up

By JEAN KING
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Riding the trails of Sanford by the light of the silvery moon is the ultimate in a blissful pastime known to few but desired by many.

Steve Charron and his daughter Lynn, own and operate a small ranch, The Flying Unicorn is located on SR 46 just west of downtown Sanford. They train and care for eight horses with more purchases being contemplated for the near future.

Charron says, "business is good and getting better with this wonderful weather we've been having".

In May, a troupe of Girl Scouts are booked for a clinic in horse care, where each will earn a merit badge upon completion.

Charron, a Sanford man for many years, knows his horses and the trails they travel. Last Tuesday night he led a party on a six hour moonlit trail ride, then back to the ranch for a good ole barbecue dinner catered by Richie's Market of Lake Monroe. Entertainment was a toe tapping ho-down with live music by Michael Page.

Jenny Trafford and Stanley the Wonder Horse

A new plateau of professionalism in pasture parties was evident by the manner in which the Charrons presented a program of riding, eating and listening to the sweetest music this side of the Mississippi.

All of the horses are trained to accommodate any level of riding, from the most experienced to the novice.

Youngsters are also welcome to ride or watch. Standing by for the little buckeroos or cowgirls is Stanley, the Wonder Horse. Stanley is a pony with a cosmic personality who wears a hat, scarf and blue jeans. He is a delightful sight to behold.

Looking toward the immediate future, Charron has some very enterprising plans that will be revealed at a later date.

"For now," he says, "we offer lessons, one and two-hour trail rides at reasonable rates and of course special rates to groups, churches and organizations."

Night riding is especially enjoyable.

Charron says: "We're having more people ride at night now. Some are doctors and lawyers who are finding another way to relax by horseback riding in the cool of the night."

Whether you like to ride or watch, The Flying Unicorn Ranch is open seven days a week from eight in the morning till the last rider comes home.

They are located at 3880 W. S.R. 46 in Sanford.

Son who bought trouble may profit from mistake

DEAR ABBY: I have a favor to ask of you and your readers. If you would be so kind, I am the mother of a son who, through poor judgment, is now facing a possible felony conviction for buying some electronic equipment that turned out to be stolen. He is over 21 and should have known better, but the "bargain" was more than he could resist, and now he's in trouble.

He thinks if he is convicted his life will be ruined and he will be branded as a failure for the rest of his life. He does no pain in finishing his college education because "nobody hires a felon."

I've tried to tell him that there is life after mistakes — that he can turn his mistake into a positive learning experience and become a better person afterward. He won't listen.

Abby, I am sure there are many who have been in a spot like this and managed to rise above it. Please ask your readers for any success stories. Are there any folks who have turned their lives around and gone on to become respected members of society? Would they please write and tell how they turned their lives around? Are there some fields that are more forgiving?

Thank you and your readers for their efforts. I hope it helps.

CONCERNED MOTHER:

DEAR MOTHER: I'm printing your letter. I, too, hope it helps. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 and have started at the junior high my older sister just graduated from. "Holly" is very pretty, smart and a great athlete, so you can imagine that she was very popular.

No one ever remembers my name. I go through school with teachers and kids calling me "Holly's sister." I am not a minute of a girl like my sister, and I wish people would stop expecting so much from me. What can I do?

HOLLY'S SISTER:

DEAR SISTER: All younger sisters and brothers of outstanding students and athletes have been saddled with this problem. Unfortunately, there's no way one can control the expectations or behavior of others.

I'm printing your letter, however, to remind teachers and kids to judge each person individually irrespective of his or her sibling's accomplishments.

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks the piano is too feminine an instrument for boys, so he refuses to let our son take piano lessons as our daughter does. My husband is afraid that if our son takes piano, he will grow up to be gay or sissy, because when you play piano, your hand movements have to be graceful — not stiff.

He thinks guitar is a better instrument for boys. I disagree. Our son is 8 years old and he likes music. Please advise me.

EXHAUSTED MOTHER: The quotation is, "Fish and visitors stink after three days." And it's from "Poor Richard's Almanac," written by Benjamin Franklin.

The image displays a massive grid of binary digits (0s and 1s), likely representing a memory dump or a large dataset. The grid is structured into four vertical columns. The first column contains labels at the top, including 'DATA', '0000-0000', '0000-0001', and so on. The subsequent columns are filled with binary data. The entire grid is set against a dark background with a subtle grid pattern.

A dense grid of binary code (0s and 1s) representing a large dataset or memory dump. The grid is organized into several vertical columns, each containing a sequence of binary digits. The first column contains mostly 0s, while subsequent columns show more complex patterns of 0s and 1s. There are also some horizontal lines of text interspersed among the binary code, such as '00000000000000000000000000000000' and '00000000000000000000000000000000'. The overall appearance is that of a technical document or a data visualization.
