DeCottes Is Credited With $100,034 Within 5 Years, Audit Shows

Commission's Audit

TO THE CITY COMMISSION, CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA. Gentlemen: Pursuant to your request, we present below an analysis of the account of the City of Sanford with Mr. Geo. A. DeCottes...

Table with columns: Item, Aug. 1, 1923, Aug. 1, 1927, July 31, 1927, June 30, 1928

TOTAL for the period Aug. 1, 1923 to June 30, 1928 $ 100,034.19

No fees have been included in the foregoing analysis covering the $182,000 and $425,000 Refinancing issues, the work of preparing these bond issues has not been completed...

The Herald lists the total salaries paid as $6,945.92; the correct total of salaries paid between the dates August 1, 1923, and June 30, 1928, is $4,250.00, an overstatement of $1,795.92.

The Herald includes in its list an item called "Expenses charged to Mr. DeCottes' office between August 1, 1923, and August 6, 1927, $2,243.47."

The Herald shows the balance owing to Mr. DeCottes as $10,500.00. The amount, as we determine it, is $6,970.50, a difference of $3,529.50.

The Herald lists an item of Nov. 24, 1923, as $500.00; the correct amount is $1,401.82, an understatement of $901.82.

The over and understatements as listed above result in the net difference of $6,668.62, between The Herald list and our analysis of the account.

Santiago Is Placed Under Martial Law Blamed For Wreck After Outbreaks Of Florida Train

HAVANA, July 19.—(INS)—A state of virtual martial law prevails today at Santiago de Cuba following a fight between police and soldiers in which one policeman was killed and many were wounded on both sides.

The trouble began apparently when soldiers began joining a police sergeant. In the fighting that followed missiles of all kinds were used. Of the wounded soldiers and policemen one policeman is in a serious condition and may die.

Mayor Armas ordered the commander of the military district to take charge of the city. All the policemen were ordered into the central station where they were put under military guard.

Hall And Pentland's Figures Give City Attorney $14,351 A Year In Fees Alone

$62,494 Paid Out For Net Services

New York Traveling Expenses And Other Items Swell Total

City Attorney George A. DeCottes has received $62,494.50 as salary, special compensation in the issuance of bonds and for fees in litigation cases between Aug. 1, 1923 and June 30, 1928...

The audit lists, outside of the $62,494.50 paid to Mr. DeCottes for salary and fees, other items also paid Mr. DeCottes for some purpose or other which brings the grand total paid him to $100,034.19.

According to the figures in the audit during the four years and 10 months it is said to cover, Mr. DeCottes has been paid for fees and salary an average of $12,929.89 a year.

The amount of $62,494.50 does not include, so far as the audit shows any amounts which the City may owe Mr. DeCottes, but only such amounts as have actually been paid.

A letter from Mayor Housholder to The Herald accompanied the copy of the audit. The Mayor's letter follows:

Inasmuch as your paper has seen fit to publish certain statements and represent to the citizens of Sanford that such statements represent facts and records of the City of Sanford relative to the legal department of the City, we are enclosing herewith, for your information and the information of your reading public, a complete statement as presented to the City Commission by the Certified Public Accountants, Hall & Pentland.

FRUIT SHORTCAKES FOR ALL

FRUIT SHORTCAKES Be your family large or small, here's something delicious for everybody.

There is infinitely more to the shortcake story than mounds of pulverized and whipped cream between layers of old-fashioned shortcake pastry. Peaches, apricots, plums and pineapple, and jellies and nutmeads make luscious shortcakes that rival in goodness the traditional strawberry shortcake. They may be topped with custard, hard sauce, marmalade whip or meringue as a variation from the whipped cream.

As the following recipes are for individual shortcakes, it is easy to have as many or as few of them as your family requires. If you will follow the directions given below, your family will tell you that you can't have too many of them. Here is how some of these melting bits of deliciousness are made:

CASTLES IN THE AIR

I build my castles in the air And, though they fall or fade, I deem it better work by far Than if I dungeons made; For men will see with me their lamps And tread their fairy aisles Who would not walk in dungeons damp Though led by cheery smiles. O castles fair, lift high in air Your mimic towers of hope— My soul will dwell untrammelled there. E'en though I fall and grope; And mayhap some sad, weary one May lift his leaden eye And gain new strength, as I have done, From visions in the skies.

For after all 'tis what we dream That makes the most of life— The living, planning hope renews The aridness of strife. So I would build my castles fair And people them with those I love and cherish, happy there Until life's dreamless close.

We Welcome The Suit

On Wednesday afternoon we made Mr. DeCottes the following proposition: A committee should be selected to investigate the affairs of the City Attorney's office. If this committee should find that we have done Mr. DeCottes an injustice, we agreed to apologize publicly and accord him our heartiest support in the future. If it should find that Mr. DeCottes had been receiving exorbitant fees, then he should resign.

Mr. DeCottes gave what was apparently his answer when he announced the next morning that he would immediately enter suit for libel against The Herald, its Editor, and its Manager for three hundred thousand dollars. It is deplorable that Mr. DeCottes has adopted the more unfriendly method. It is to be regretted that he has chosen the longer and more circuitous route. But there is some satisfaction in the knowledge that the result will be perhaps more official.

We want to assure Mr. DeCottes and the people of Sanford that we will co-operate with him to the very best of our ability in pushing the case to a speedy conclusion. We recognize in it, as probably he does also, something more than just a libel case against The Herald. From his point of view it may mean the re-establishment of confidence in the present Commission and especially in the present City Attorney. To us it appears as an unusual opportunity for the creation of confidence in an entirely new City Administration.

We understand that the earliest the suit can be brought to trial is in the December term of court. If at that time a jury decides that The Herald has been wrong in its exposure of the City Attorney's office, we will make every effort to pay the judgment awarded him. But if its verdict should be "innocent," we hope that we are not presuming too much to suppose that Mr. DeCottes will resign. We eagerly await the December term of court.

Bring The Sanitarium Here

The inestimable value to Florida of the location in this state of a sizeable branch of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, is clearly brought out in a statement from Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, who knows from personal experience, perhaps better than any other Floridian, its importance as an industry as well as its importance as a health restoring institution. Senator Fletcher has been a patient at the sanitarium on several different occasions.

Florida's senior senator says: "It means much to Florida to have a regular branch of that great institution established in the state. It is perhaps the greatest institution of its kind in the world. From 2,000 to 5,000 guests and patients are cared for there continuously. The winter precludes use of the outdoors in Michigan. The winter months in Florida afford local conditions for all patrons, and the favorite prescription in all sanitariums, sunshine and orange juice, can be indulged to the limit. The layout of such a plant would call for large expenditure and the patrons would doubtless exceed the number now enjoying Battle Creek."

The announcement is also made by Dr. Kellogg himself that no decision has yet been reached as to the exact location of the institution, although it has been definitely decided to establish a branch in Florida. Other cities are making a strong bid and are offering all sorts of inducements in order to have the hospital located within their limits. Sanford too is making a bid for it.

We know of no place in the state where the natural inducements should be so great. Our climate is perhaps the most moderate in Florida, being neither so cold as cities farther north, nor so hot as places to the south of us. We have an excellent golf course, and a beautiful lake for boating. And celery, one of Dr. Kellogg's hobbies, as far as diet is concerned, is the backbone of our community.

He should give serious consideration to Sanford.

WITHOUT SCANDAL

MONTGOMERY (A.L.A.) ADVERTISER

A democratic correspondent of the New York World scores heavily against the republicans in one important instance. We shall hear more of it as the campaign progresses.

The republican platform recites that federal officials of both parties have been more or less dishonest, much to the regret, of course, of the good old republican party. "No wonder," remarks this correspondent, "that Senator Smoot, when he reached this plank had a catch in his throat and a violent fit of coughing. Psychology is a factor in such things."

The correspondent then goes on to say: "Let us consider this. Woodrow Wilson—republicans, retire to your hate retreats and indulge in your spiritual poison—was president for eight years. During his two administrations, the United States made an outlay of $42,000,000,000. Currents and tides of money swept backward and forward through the channels of the government in staggering volumes. The like was never seen before.

Then a republican congress came into power, followed by a republican president in the white house. The republican congress organized and set to work eighty-two 'smelling committees' and the republican administration empowered and put to work on the public records the greatest accountants in North America to find, if possible, one rusty penny stolen or purloined by the officials under the Woodrow Wilson administration.

"Committees and experts, and accountants worked hard and fast, and feverishly went again and again into the bottoms and sides and corners of all the records in all the governmental departments. They did not find a trace or a sign of one penny that had been stolen, but they discovered a miracle. And the miracle made them angry, and the consciousness of the miracle makes their throats contract and produces a cough, even in these July days of 1928. The miracle will some day creep into history and men will 'point with pride' to it. This miracle was that a poor 'school teacher' president and the men whom he had chosen performed an act in arms and in industry incident to the use of those arms, and spent $32,000,000,000 and not a tarnished nickel showed up as pilfered or stolen. "There be republicans who shrug their shoulders and say: 'Oh, well, we feel morally certain that there was some stealing, although we never could find any.' This is a sad reflection on the intelligence and ability of the 82—or was it 83?—republican 'smelling committees' and their experts and accountants. "In this connection an interesting thing occurred. The 'smelling committees' found that in the stress of the World War and in the exigencies of experimentation in the construction of aircraft the aircraft board had wasted many millions. They dug deeper and found that the waste was due to honest, human mistakes and errors. Then they dug still deeper and found that the chairman of the aircraft board was a patriotic republican of national reputation—the leader of the republican party in an important state, and his associate on this board was also a prominent republican. There were three members of the board and only one of them was a democrat. The least said by the republicans on this the sooner mended. "With the passing of Woodrow Wilson came Harding. Then, in quick succession came Daugherty and Miller and Denby and Forbes and Miller and the Ohio Gang and Teapot Dome and Will Hays—and so forth. "I say a miracle has taken place in our own lifetime, and there is a plank in the republican platform which sends off an insupportable dust that produces a cough. There is a carload of planks in that platform and one of them, at least, has a cough in it." This is a knockout. The less the republicans have to say about corruption the happier they will be. They are not in position to swap epithets with the democrats on that question. Yes, they are fighting in China, but is it not embarrassingly impertinent for anybody to ask what they are fighting about? —The Pasadena Star-News.

A NEW WAR OVER OIL? PALM BEACH POST

The ostrich is, in many ways, an admirable bird. He has a fine physique, is easily tamed, can run very fast and has beautiful tail feathers. Yet, on the whole, he is hardly so fine that we should adopt him as our national bird in place of the eagle. In other words, it is not a good plan for us to copy his famous habit of seeking security by burying his head in the sand and shutting out all unpleasant sights. For when the ostrich's head is thus buried his posterior is elevated, tempting the fates to apply a ringing swat with a barrel stove or hoof. Not long ago Rear Admiral Plunkett made a speech in which he said of this country and Great Britain were drifting toward war instantly a cry went up: "Unthinkable!" The admiral was called many names, of which "jingo" was the mildest, and we all assume each other that since war with England would be un-speakable, it would, ipso facto, be impossible. "Unthinkable!" is it not "unthinkable?"

to be read by all of us who have been putting our heads in the sand. For Mr. Denny thinks war highly probable. The United States and Great Britain are engaged now in a great struggle for world reserves. Denny points out the spheres of conflict: Russia, the Near East, Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela. Standard Oil is doing the fighting for the United States, while Royal Dutch Shell carries on for the Empire. The struggle is getting more complicated, more acute. Neither nation could function without oil. The world's oil supply is limited. Each nation, from diplomats and financiers down to the perennial "man in the street," is determined to have an adequate un-checked supply. Floods of propaganda are pouring from each side. Is war, in such circumstances, "unthinkable"? Obviously it is not. Obviously we are both drifting toward the brink. Obviously a minor squabble over some cooperation in Columbia or Armenia could touch off a world conflagration. Such a war would be a great catastrophe. It must be avoided, and it can be, if both sides make an intelligent effort to reach an amicable compromise. Some method surely can be found whereby the struggle can be abated. But here is the point: if we bury our heads in the sand and keep crying "Unthinkable!" no such compromise will be reached. We will keep on drifting and drift squarely into war. These only sensible course is to face the

Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish Honored At Courtesy

Mrs. H. W. Rucker entertained Tuesday evening at her home on Magnolia Avenue with a lovely bridge party complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wimbish, whose wedding was an event of last month. Pink roses and zinnias were artistically arranged about the rooms where the guests were entertained, and scores were kept on lilies, ornamented with the figures of a bride and groom.

At the conclusion of the games the prize for high score among the ladies, a china cake plate, was awarded to Mrs. H. B. McCall. The men's prize for high score went to R. A. Smith, and Earle Jones received a box of bath powder for being lucky at cutting. The hostess presented Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish with a sterling silver ladle as a memento of the occasion.

After the awarding of the prizes the hostess, assisted by Miss Marcia Patterson and Mrs. H. B. McCall, served a delicious salad and ice course. Those playing bridge were Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCall, Miss Mary Greer, Miss Marcia Patterson, Miss Sara Warren Easterby, R. A. Smith, Roy Gasque, John Ivey, and Dr. Rucker.

Party At Titusville Honors Mrs. Wimbish

Mrs. J. J. Parrish and her daughter, Mrs. Needham, were joint hostesses Wednesday afternoon at their home in Titusville at a delightful bridge party honoring Mrs. Glenn Wimbish, a recent bride. The rooms of the home were beautifully decorated with quantities of pink roses, plumbago, and other summer flowers.

After an interesting game of bridge had been played prizes were awarded to those holding high and low scores, and Mrs. Wimbish received a lovely china tea set.

After the prizes had been awarded a tempting salad and ice course was served. There were thirteen tables of players, and those from Sanford were Mrs. Wimbish, Mrs. J. M. Brady, Mrs. J. C. Benson, and Miss Marcia Patterson.

SMITH TO TAKE HIS CAMPAIGN INTO MISSOURI

The governor has made up his mind, however, that he will not be drawn into an argument with anyone over prohibition until after he has stated his position on the subject in his notification speech.

The belief is daily becoming stronger at the capital that the Governor will make prohibition one of the chief issues in the coming campaign.

Farm relief, also will be dealt with extensively by Smith in his notification speech, it was predicted, he already has sent word to the farmers of the middle west telling them he stands squarely on the plank in the Democratic platform which calls for farm relief, and promising them that in the event of his election he will take speedy action to whip a concrete plan into shape for submission to congress at its opening session.

Friends of the Governor predict he will give a good account of himself as he invades the middle west. They point to the fact that he has played an important part in the enactment by the New York legislature of measures of vital importance to the farmers of that state.

The slayer of Obregon when brought to jail and revealed that his real name is Jose de Leon. None of those arrested is of any importance politically.

Gen. Obregon's body is being borne back to his home state of Sonora aboard special train. More than 100,000 persons lined the streets between the national palace and the railroad station to view the solemn funeral cortege.

Bare-headed behind the slain leader, walked... President Calles. He was fully exposed to any possible bullets which might be fired, or bombs which might be thrown from the crowd or the building lining the thoroughfare.

Behind him walked Ambassador Morrow. All business was suspended and all flags were at half-mast, before being taken to the train, the body of the slain leader had been on view at the national palace.

This hearse was preceded by a detachment of cavalry and the motor cars of picked committees of the Obregonist faction. Other prominent officials walked behind.

The funeral cortege took the same route which Obregon followed when he entered Mexico City at the head of a triumphant army and became president of the country.

TEARFUL CENES MARK LEAVING OF FINE ATHLETE

Ray Schalk, Called The Little Cracker, Resigns His Managership of Chicago's White Sox Amid Emotional Show

CHICAGO, July 19—(INS)—The penetrating odor of sweat from the bodies of athletes filled the stuffy room when a snappy little man stood in the center of a group, reading from a sheet of white paper. Suddenly the man's eyes filled with tears.

A shaft of light flooded his face, passing over his lined forehead, across his moist eye and then over the light drawn mouth.

"I guess I can't go on," he said to a locker and absently little man muttered. He moved toward the door. Then he folded the white sheet of paper and thrust it deep in a coat pocket.

That was the scene the other day at the clubhouse of the Chicago White Sox when Ray Schalk, the "Little Cracker," resigned as manager of Charley Comiskey's ball club. He had accepted to members of the club his memories of triumph and defeat with the Sox made it impossible for him to go on.

Behind The Scenes

But 20 minutes later the snappy little man was almost unrecognizable in a catcher's uniform as he took his position behind the home plate. Soon he was playing the great national game with all the cleverness and fire that made him known to many as the greatest catcher in modern baseball.

He was a private agent, free of managerial cares and apparently happy, although his hopes and dreams as the director of another great Sox team were wrecked and broken. He had failed as a manager.

Schalk, who came to Chicago in 1912 became manager of the Comiskey team in 1927. His first season was hardly satisfactory as the Sox finished fifth, after making a strong bid for first honors at the start of the season. The team's showing this season to date has been poor, with the Sox battling to keep out of the cellar.

Schalk's failure to register as a manager was held to be due largely to his lack of discipline. The players ignored the little manager. More domineering personalities on the club worked against Schalk and the team suffered badly. Late in June it was reported Schalk had almost entirely lost control of his players.

Bonus to New Manager

Schalk, who received $25,000 yearly as manager, will continue as a player with the Sox. He believes his major league career is far from ended and hopes to be an active catcher for several seasons. The terms of his new contract were not made public.

Russell (Lena) Blackburne, who succeeded the "Cracker" will receive a special bonus of $10,000 for finishing the season as manager. It is understood.

Blackburne, a promising infielder 15 years ago, came to the White Sox in 1912, included in a deal which brought him here with Schalk, the latter then playing with Milwaukee. On his first training trip with the Sox, Blackburne was injured and never developed as a player. In 1925 he was manager of the Little Rock team of the Southern League and that is his sole experience as manager.

Bituminous Strike May Be Ended Soon

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 19—(INS)—The policy committee of United Mine Workers of America were on record today as authorizing officers of various districts of the miners' national union to enter into wage negotiations with their respective operators with the view of settling the two year old bituminous coal strike upon any basis mutually satisfactory.

In a formal statement, climaxing a week of conferences here, John L. Lewis, international president of the Miners' Union, explained that the union was amending its policy for the purpose of coping with the depressed conditions in the bituminous coal industry.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. A. J. Barton, Georgia baptist leader, the 235 registered delegates took the promise that Governor Alfred E. Smith and Democratic national chairman John J. Raskob had themselves shaken one of the cardinal principals of the party in urging modification of the dry law.

The only ripple of discord in the meeting came when Dr. E. O. Watson of Columbus, S. C., and Dr. J. J. Gentry of Spartanburg, S. C., walked out of the conference room after their demand for organization of a third party was turned down.

They explained that in South Carolina to vote the Republican presidential ticket would also mean voting for the entire state ticket.

Both Dr. Barton and Bishop Cannon Jr., of Richmond, Va., sponsor of the gathering, expressed themselves as satisfied with the attendance and the attitude of the delegates.

ASHVILLE, July 19—(INS)—The conference of southern dry Democrats, here to perfect plans for a revolt against the Democratic national ticket, today settled down to the business of perfecting an organization for every state below the Mason and Dixon line.

TO WEAR IN THE HOUSE
For women who have never before used a pattern, the apron is an easy one for a first attempt. It is attractive yet sufficiently practical for work about the house. Printed gingham and cretonne are dainty wash fabrics, while madras, crisp dimity, this is a smart tea apron.
The simply tailored one-piece frock shown at the right is another model that can be made with entire success by the beginner. It is very chic in washable flannel or linen, while for street wear it may cutelose printed crepe de Chine or celanese voile with a plain vest. A novelty belt may be used as a decorative note.

Years of Service in MODEL T FORDS

Expenditure of few dollars may enable you to get thousands of miles from your old car

THE Model T Ford is still a great car. It led the motor industry for twenty years and it is used today by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service in city, town and country, and many of them can be driven for two, three and five more years and even longer at very small up-keep expense.

The cost of Model T parts and of necessary labor is unusually low because of established Ford policies.

The labor charge for tuning up the motor is only $1. This includes replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary. Grinding valves and cleaning carbon runs from $3 to $4. Overhauling carburetor, $1.50. Installing new pistons or connecting rods, $6. Tightening main bearings, $6. For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have the motor and transmission completely overhauled.

The labor charge for replacing rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion or drive gear is $5. All sockets and joints of front end can be tightened for $1.50.

The steering gear can be completely overhauled for a labor charge of $3.50. Muffler repaired for $1.

The labor charge for repainting the Coupe is $25. Sedan, $25. Touring Car, $20. Top deck of Coupe or Sedan can be replaced for a labor charge of $4.

All of these prices are approximate, of course, because the cost of materials needed will depend on the condition of each car. They show, however, the low cost of putting the Model T Ford in shape for thousands of miles of additional service.

See the nearest Ford dealer, therefore, and have him estimate on the cost of reconditioning your Model T Ford. He will tell you, in advance, exactly how much the complete job will cost.

For men will see with me their lamps
And tread their fairy aisles
Whom would not walk in dungeon damps
Though led by cheery smiles.
O castles fair, lift high in air
Your mimic towers of hope—
My soul will dwell untrammelled there
E'en though I toil and grope;
And mayhap some sad, weary one
May lift his leaden eyes
And gain new strength, as I have done,
From visions in the skies.
For after all 'tis what we dream
That makes the most of life—
The loving, planning hope redeems
The sordidness of strife,
So I would build my castles fair
And people them with those
I love and cherish, happy there
Until life's dreamless close.

We Welcome The Suit

On Wednesday afternoon we made Mr. DeCottes the following proposition: A committee should be selected to investigate the affairs of the City Attorney's office. If this committee should find that we have done Mr. DeCottes an injustice, we agreed to apologize publicly and accord him our heartiest support in the future. If it should find that Mr. DeCottes had been receiving exorbitant fees, then he should resign.
Mr. DeCottes gave what was apparently his answer when he announced the next morning that he would immediately enter suit for libel against The Herald, its Editor, and its Manager for three hundred thousand dollars. It is deplorable that Mr. DeCottes has adopted the more unfriendly method. It is to be regretted that he has chosen the longer and more circuitous route. But there is some satisfaction in the knowledge that the result will be perhaps more official.

We want to assure Mr. DeCottes and the people of Sanford that we will co-operate with him to the very best of our ability in pushing the case to a speedy conclusion. We recognize in it, as probably he does also, something more than just a libel case against The Herald. From his point of view it may mean the re-establishment of confidence in the present Commission and especially in the present City Attorney. To us it appears as an unusual opportunity for the creation of confidence in an entirely new City administration.

We understand that the earliest the suit can be brought to trial is in the December term of court. If at that time a jury decides that The Herald has been wrong in its exposure of the City Attorney's office, we will make every effort to pay the judgment awarded him. But if its verdict should be "innocent," we hope that we are not presuming too much to suppose that Mr. DeCottes will resign. We eagerly await the December term of court.

Bring The Sanitarium Here

The inestimable value to Florida of the location in this state of a sizeable branch of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, is clearly brought out in a statement from Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, who knows from personal experience, perhaps better than any other Floridian, its importance as an industry as well as its importance as a health restoring institution. Senator Fletcher has been a patient at the sanitarium on several different occasions.

Florida's senior senator says: "It means much to Florida to have a regular branch of that great institution established in the state. It is perhaps the greatest institution of its kind in the world. From 2,000 to 5,000 guests and patients are cared for there continuously. The winter precludes use of the outdoors in Michigan. The winter months in Florida afford ideal conditions for all patrons, and the favorite prescription in all sanitariums, sunshine and orange juice, can be indulged to the limit. The layout of such a plant would call for large expenditure and the patrons would doubtless exceed the number now enjoying Battle Creek."

The announcement is also made by Dr. Kellogg himself that no decision has yet been reached as to the exact location of the institution, although it has been definitely decided to establish a branch in Florida. Other cities are making a strong bid and are offering all sorts of inducements in order to have the hospital located within their limits. Sanford too is making a bid for it.

We know of no place in the state where the natural inducements should be so great. Our climate is perhaps the most moderate in Florida, being neither so cold as cities farther north, nor so hot as places to the south of us. We have an excellent golf course, and a beautiful lake for boating. And celery, one of Dr. Kellogg's hobbies, as far as diet is concerned, is the backbone of our community. He should give serious consideration to Sanford.

WITHOUT SCANDAL
MONTGOMERY (ALA.) ADVERTISER

A democratic correspondent of the New York World scores heavily against the republicans in one important instance. We shall hear more of it as the campaign progresses.
The republican platform recites that federal officials of both parties have been more or less dishonest, much to the regret, of course, of the good old republican party. "No wonder," remarks this correspondent, "that Senator Smoot, when he reached this plank had a catch in his throat and a violent fit of coughing. Psychology is a factor in such things."
The correspondent then goes on to say:
"Let us consider this. Woodrow Wilson — republicans, retire to your hate retreats and indulge in your spiritual poisons—was president for eight years. During his two administrations the United States made an outlay of $42,000,000,000. Currents and tides of money swept backward and forward through the channels of the government in staggering volumes. The like was never seen before.
"Then a republican congress came into power, followed by a republican president in the white house. The republican congress organized and set to work eighty-two 'smelling committees' and the republican administration empowered and put to work on the public records the greatest accountants in North America to find, if possible, one rusty penny stolen or purloined by the officials under the Woodrow Wilson administration.
"Committees and experts and accountants worked hard and fast, and feverishly went again and again into the bottoms and sides and corners of all the records in all the governmental departments. They did not find a trace or a sign of one penny that had been stolen, but they discovered a miracle. And the miracle made them angry, and the consciousness of the miracle makes their throats contract and produces a cough, even in these July days of 1928. The miracle will some day creep into history and men will point with pride to it. This miracle was that a poor school teacher had chosen, performed, and seen to arms and in industry incident to the use of those arms, and spent $22,000,000,000 and not a tarnish-

A NEW WAR OVER OIL?
PALM BEACH POST
The ostrich is, in many ways, an admirable bird. He has a fine physique, is easily tamed, can run very fast and has beautiful tail feathers. Yet, on the whole, he is hardly so fine that we should adopt him as our national bird in place of the eagle.
In other words, it is not a good plan for us to copy his famous habit of seeking security by burying the head in the sand and shutting out all unpleasant sights. For when the ostrich's head is thus buried his posterior is elevated, tempting the fates to apply a ringing sweat with a barrel stove or boot.
Not long ago Rear Admiral Blunt made a speech in which he said that this country and Great Britain were drifting toward war. Instantly a cry went up: "Unthinkable!" The admiral was called many names, of which "jingo" was the mildest, and we all assured each other that since war with England would be un-speakable it was, ipso facto, impossible.
It would be tragic, surely. But is it really "unthinkable?" It is if Ludwell Denny, a level-headed Washington correspondent who is no more a jingo than William Howard Taft, can you think of it, for one. His recent book, "We Fight for Oil," ought to be read by all of us who have been putting our heads in the sand. For Mr. Denny thinks war highly probable.

The United States and Great Britain are engaged now in a great struggle for world reserves. Denny points out the spheres of conflict: Russia, the Near East, Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela. Standard Oil is doing the fighting for the United States, while Royal Dutch Shell carries on for the Empire. The struggle is getting more complicated, more acute.
Neither nation could function without oil. The world's oil supply is limited. Each nation, from diplomats and financiers down to the perennial "man in the street," is determined to have an adequate unchecked supply. Floods of propaganda are pouring from each side.
Such a war would be a great catastrophe. It must be avoided, and it can be, if both sides make an intelligent effort to reach an amicable compromise. Some method surely can be found whereby the struggle can be abated.
But here is the point: if we bury our heads in the sand and keep crying "Unthinkable!" no such compromise will be reached. We will keep on drifting — we drift squarely into war. The only sensible course is to face the

Mr. and Mrs. Wimbley Honored At Courtesy

Mrs. H. W. Rucker entertained Tuesday evening at her home on Magnolia Avenue with a lovely bridge party complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wimbley, whose wedding was an event of last month. Pink roses and almas were artistically arranged about the rooms where the guests were entertained, and scores were kept on tallies ornamented with the figures of a bride and groom.

At the conclusion of the games the prize for high score among the ladies, a china cake plate, was awarded to Mrs. H. B. McCall. The men's prize for high score went to R. A. Smith, and Earle Jones received a box of bath powder for being lucky at cutting. The hostess presented Mr. and Mrs. Wimbley with a sterling silver ladle as a memento of the occasion.

After the awarding of the prizes the hostess, assisted by Miss Marcia Patterson and Mrs. H. B. McCall, served a delicious salad and ice course. Those playing bridge were: Mr. and Mrs. Wimbley, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCall, Miss Mary Graves, Miss Marcia Patterson, Miss Sara Warren Easterby, R. A. Smith, Roy Gasque, John Ivey, and Dr. Rucker.

TEARFUL GENES MARK LEAVING OF FINE ATHLETE

Ray Schaak, called "The Little Cracker," Resigns His Managership of Chicago's White Sox Amid Emotional Show

CHICAGO, July 15.—(INS)—The penetrating odor of sweat from the bodies of athletes filled the stuffy room, when a snappy little man stood in the center of a group, reading from a sheet of white paper. Sudden the man's eyes filled with tears.

A shaft of light flooded his face, passing over his lined forehead, across his moist eye and then over the light drawn mouth. "I guess I can't go," he murmured. He moved, inspected two baseball bats, he folded the white sheet of paper and thrust it deep in a coat pocket.

That was the scene the other day at the clubhouse of the Chicago White Sox when Ray Schaak, the "Little Cracker," resigned as manager of "Charley Comiskey's" ball club. He had accepted the members of the club his memories of triumph and defeat with the Sox made it impossible for him to go on.

Behind The Hit
But 20 minutes later the snappy little man was almost unrecognizable in a catcher's uniform as he took his position behind the home plate. Soon he was playing the great national game with all the fireworks and fire that made him known to many as the greatest catcher in major baseball.

He was a private, free of managerial cares and apparently happy, although his hopes and dreams as the director of another great Sox team were wrecked and broken. He had failed as a manager.

Schaak, who came to Chicago in 1912 became manager of the Comiskey team in 1927. His first season was hardly satisfactory as the Sox finished fifth, after making a strong bid for first honors at the start of the season. The team's showing this season to date has been poor, with the Sox battling to keep out of the cellar.

Schaak's failure to register as a manager was held to be largely due to his lack of discipline. The players ignored the little manager. More domineering personalities on the club worked against Schaak and the team suffered badly. Late in June it was reported Schaak had almost entirely lost control of his players.

Honus To New Manager
Schaak, who received $25,000 yearly as manager, will continue as a player with the Sox. He believes his major league career is far from ended and hopes to be an active catcher for several seasons. The terms of his new contract were not made public.

Russell ("Lena") Blackburne, who succeeded the "Cracker" will receive a special bonus of $10,000 for finishing the season as manager, it is understood.

Blackburne, a promising infielder 15 years ago, came to the White Sox in 1912, included in a deal which brought him here with Schaak. The latter then played with Milwaukee. On his first training trip with the Sox, Blackburne was injured and never developed as a player. In 1925 he was manager of the Little Rock team of the Southern League and that is his sole experience as manager.

Bituminous Strike May Be Ended Soon

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 15.—(INS)—The policy committee of United Mine Workers of America were on record today as authorizing officers of various districts of the miners national union to enter into wage negotiations with their respective operators with the view of settling the two year old bituminous coal strike upon any basis mutually satisfactory.

In a formal statement, climaxing a week of conferences here, John L. Lewis, international president of the Miners' Union, explained that the union was amending its policy for the purpose of coping with the depressed conditions in the bituminous coal industry.

Organizing South Against Smith Is Begun By Bone Drys

ASHVILLE, July 15.—(INS)—The conference of southern dry Democrats here to perfect plans for a revolt against the Democratic national ticket, today settled down to the business of perfecting an organization for every state below the Mason and Dixon line.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. A. J. Barton, Georgia Baptist leader, the 283 registered delegates took the promise that Governor Alfred E. Smith and Democratic national chairman John J. Raskob had themselves shaken one of the cardinal principles of the party in urging modification of the dry law.

The only ripple of dissent in the meeting came when Dr. E. O. Watson of Columbia, S. C., and Dr. J. J. Gentry of Spartanburg, S. C., walked out of the conference room after their demand for organization of a third party was turned down.

They explained that in South Carolina to vote the Republican presidential ticket would also mean voting for the entire state ticket. Both Dr. Barton and Bishop Cannon Jr., of Richmond, Va., sponsor of the gathering, expressed themselves as satisfied with the attendance and the attitude of the delegates.

Daily Fashion Hint

For women who have never before used a pattern, the apron is an easy one for a first attempt. It is attractive yet sufficiently protective for work about the house. Printed gingham and cretonne are dainty wash fabrics, while madras in crisp denim this is a smart tea apron.

The simply tailored one-piece frock shown at the right is another model that can be made with entire success by the beginner. It is very chic in washable flannel or muslin, while for street wear it may contain a plaided crepe de Chine or crease silk with a plain vestee. A novelty belt may be used as a decorative note.

Years of Service in MODEL T FORDS

Expenditure of few dollars may enable you to get thousands of miles from your old car

THE Model T Ford is still a great car. It led the motor industry for twenty years and it is used today by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service in city, town and country, and many of them can be driven for two, three and five more years and even longer at very small up-keep expense.

The cost of Model T parts and of necessary labor is unusually low because of established Ford policies.

The labor charge for tuning up the motor is only $1. This includes replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary, grinding valves and cleaning carbon runs from $3 to $4. Overhauling carburetor, $1.50. Installing new pistons or connecting rods, $6. Tightening main bearings, $6. For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have the motor and transmission completely overhauled.

The labor charge for replacing rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion or drive gear is $5. All sockets and joints of front end can be tightened for $1.50.

The steering gear can be completely overhauled for a labor charge of $3.50. Muffler repaired for $1.

The labor charge for repainting the Coupe is $25. Sedan, $25. Touring Car, $20. Top deck of Coupe or Sedan can be replaced for a labor charge of $4.

All of these prices are approximate, of course, because the cost of materials needed will depend on the condition of each car. They show, however, the low cost of putting the Model T Ford in shape for thousands of miles of additional service.

See the nearest Ford dealer, therefore, and have him estimate on the cost of reconditioning your Model T Ford. He will tell you, in advance, exactly how much the complete job will cost.
