To McLain's advantage, the Sanford businessman has made some in-roads in .Fern Park. western Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Mattland, Forest City and Apopka while Morris' support in Sanford was slight.

McLain took 12 precincts to Morris' 11 in Altamonte Springs, Maitland, Forest City and Fern Park. He won eight precincis to Morris' six in Longwood and Wekiva. In Casselberry, McLain won three districts while Morris won two.

Most of those races were close, however. In Precinct 4 in Aliamonie Springs and in Precinct 52 in Casselberry, they each finished with the same number of votes.

"We knew we had no name recognition in the south part of the county," McLain said, "so we walked many of those precincts, knocked on doors and handed our literature."

McLain said he had about six volunteers who helped him get the word out in the south part of the county.

Morris, who captured only three precinets in Sanford, Geneva and Chuluota to McLain's 11. won all three Lake Mary precincis.

The outbreak is the largest since 1977, when 110 cases of the disease were diagnosed and eight people dicd.

So far, no fatalities have been linked to this outbreak, but two people were reported comatose and 13 others hospitalized, state health officials said.

Florida usually records no more than three cases of St. Louis encephalitis annually.

Outbreaks of the disease, which is carried by the Culex nigripalpus mosquito, usually occur after long droughts have been succeeded by sudden wet periods, he said. Florida has been in a severe drought for two years

There is no antibiotic for the virus, which can only be transmitted to humans by infected mosquitos. The mosquitos usually contract the discase from birds.

CAPE CANAVERAL - The shuttle Discovery's countdown to biastoff Saturday ticked into its final hours Friday with activists awaiting word on a last-ditch legal bid to ground the spaceplane and its nuclearpowered cargo.

About 30 activists planned to trespass at the Kennedy Space Center early Friday to protest the launch, but NASA officials were confident Discovery would be cleared for takeoff at 7:35 a.m. EDT Saturday to finally end a five-month hiatus in shuttle

The goal of the 36th shuttle mission, only the fourth so far this year, is the deployment of the European-built Ulyases solar probe on a five-year, $750 mil-lion voyage over the uncharted poles of the sun. A 60 percent chance of good weather was expected at launch time Satur-

Anti-nuclear activists, concerned about the safety of a Ulyases' atomic power pack. asked a federal judge in Wash-ington last week to cancel the countdown, claiming NASA underestimated the odds of a radiation release in the event of a launch accident.

The $1.5 billion telescope also has collected a variety of new images of galaxies, comets, stars and other celestial bodies that have provided tantalizing clues to such cosmological phenomena as enigmatic quasars and light-supping black holes, scientists said.

Although none of the images has produced any major new discoveries, the work has elated astronomers, who earlier had expressed peasimism the flawed instrument would be indication of the type of science we can carry out. We will do world-class science for years to come," he said at the first workshop held for reporters to discuss the telescope since its defect was discovered in April.

Previous images taken from Earth show Pluto, the ninth planet from the sun, and its moon, Charon, as overlapping blobs of light. The Hubble image shows two clearly distinct spheres.

Unlike other planets in Earth's solar system, the frigid, distant Pluto, located about 3.6 billion miles from the sun, has never been visited by any robot probes.

Previous pictures of Saturn taken by passing spacecraft have been more spectacular, but the Hubble image released Thursday is easily the best shot ever taken from the vicinity of Earth.

The image is so encouraging, Glaconni said he would grant excited astronomets' request to take more pictures of Saturn to study a rare white mark visible on its surface.

TALLAHASSEE - Former Gov. Claude Kirk promised Thursday to move the headquarters for the state Department of Education to the Orlando area if he is elected commissioner of education. But he steered clear of an argument between Gov. Bob Martines and Democrat Lawton Chiles over whether "scientific creationism" should be taught in Florida's schools.

"You're getting away from why I'm here." Kirk said when reporters asked him about the creationism flap.

But he did place a paim stop a reporter's head and said. "I'm going to lay my hands on you and something good is going to happen to you." Martinez has declared that he thinks cre-ationism — a theory promoted by religious fundamentalists that science supports a literal interpretation of the Bible's story of creation -should be given equal time with evolution in state schools.

Lately Martinez has been running radio com-mercials accusing Chiles running mate Kenneth "Buddy" MacKay of Intolerance for comparing people who believe in creationism with those who , believe the world is flat.

Chiles, who says the issue should be left to local school boards, insists MacKay was quoted out of context and meant no disrespect. Kirk refused to say what he thought, but promised to address the issue at at later date.

He said he wanted to focus on alleged waste in the education bureaucracy.

In a news conference on the lawn of the Turlington Building, which houses the depart-ment, Kirk declared the $48.6 million, 17-story building is too far away from most of the state's schools. "This is the epitome of Marie Antoinette-ism." said Kirk, who is challenging Democratic in-cumbent Betty Castor in the November general election, of the structure.

Kirk said teachers, students and parents would have better access to the education bureaucracy if the operation were moved to a more central location. Like maybe Orlando.

He noted that around $302 million is due to be cut from the DOE budget next week because of lagging tax collections afflicting all areas of state government.

"All the money is tied up in this building. I'm going to take it out and give it to the teachers. We'll fill it (this building) up with lobbyists and lawyers and the sort of people who can afford it." Kirk said.

Kirk said he would leave the rest of state government in Tallahassee. But he noted that education consumes about 70 percent of the state budget. "What you have here is the class clown not doing his homework." said Castor spokesman David Voss.

Voss estimated that the state would have to shell out $53.2 million to lease the same amount of space over the Turlington Building's 50-year life. That's at Tallahassee commercial rates. Orlando rents run considerably higher, he said. He also noted that the building was authorized by the Legislature in 1961. Castor was elected in 1986.

They are likely to assure more public accountability without censorship, and they call for an end to some of the clubby back-scratching that, obscenity or no obscenity, often characterized the old system. The bipartisan commission, named to advise the Congress in the wake of the controversy over the photographs of Robert Mapplethorpe and Andres Serrano, called for the repeal of NEA's controversial requirement that grant recipients piedge not to use their NEA money to produce obscene work. At the same time, however, it reminded the NEA to be "sensitive to the nature of public be "sensitive to the nature of public

Most important, the commission wants the peer review committees, which are now usually made up of artists, to include non-artists. In addition, it wants the commit-tees, which have had virtually final authority in amanding grants, to become advisory. tees, which have had virtually final authority in awarding grants, to become advisory panels to the NEA chairman and council. The latter would have sutherstate choose among the recommendations of the advisory panels. The commission also proposed rules pro-hibiting advisory panelists from sitting in judgment on applications from organizations with which they are themselves affiliated. # Nuclear not answer to energy woes an ominous bomb, a smoking machine gun and

CLAY, Calif. — In a desolate corner of California's Secremento County, the Rancho Seco Nuclear Power Plant stands as a monument to a once promising but now dubious source of energy.

A pair of cooling towers soar skyward, presiding over the grasslands that stretch to the horizon in every direction. What makes Rancho Seco especially forlorn, however, is not the dreary landscape but the likelihood that it will never again produce a single watt of electricity.

Built at a cost of $375 million, the 900 megawatt plant began operating in 1974 and was supposed to be a safe, inexpensive source of power for homes and offices in Sacramento, the state capital, and the surrounding area well into the next century.

instead, the plant is being dismantled. Therein lies an important tale to be told about nuclear power at a time when its proponents are promoting the virtues of "domestic energy alternatives to foreign oil."

In newspaper and magazine advertisements designed to evoke strong emotional reactions, the beleaguered industry clumsily attempts to attract the readers' attention with a variety of terrifying cartoon images. They include a threatening snake with its fangs bared, an oversized hypodermic syringe.

ronmental effects of _______ bollers at generating stations.

Those con-

lost faith in the nuclear plant.

Now, the dramatically increased instability in the Middle East provides the industry with a fresh opportunity to perpetuate a propaganda campaign that always has been long on ments. But the experience with Rancho Soco belies the claim that nuclear power is a "secure domestic energy source." On several occasions, for example, large volumes of chilled water were accidentally dumped into the intensety hot vessel designed to contain a controlled nuclear reaction. The ensuing rapid temperature changes could have led to a catastrophe. Because of seemingly endless operational changes could have led to a catastrophe. Because of seemingly endless operational problems, serious accidents and minor mishaps, the Rancho Seco plant never produced even 40 percent of the power it was supposed to generate. To pay for needed improvements that were more expensive than the original construction costs, electricity rates for the plant's more than 530,000 customers in Berramento and Placer counties doubled between 1985 and 1989.

Those consumers finally lost faith in the nuclear plant. Some characterised it as "a disaster waiting to happen." while others sharply criticised its inability to produce power at competitive prices.

Defenders of nuclear power note that Rancho Seco is the only operating power plant in the nation ever closed by popular vote.

Controlling signs

As a Central Florida resident for 53 years and a Sasfordite for the past five years, there is a concern I feel the need to express. The city of Sanford is beginning to look like Holland with all its tulips in bloom. Unfortu-mately, the bloom of election signs are notifier pretty not eye appealing. But they are everywhere on public rights of way as well as please florid. Two ware sven found on our oburch property.

The sening office informed me that even though it was linged to post such signs on public or private land without permission, there was little they could do to stop this share. The sening office is understation, the abuse. # GEORGE F WILL Zooming in on focus of evil

WASHINGTON - War may be hell, but peace is proving to be no picnic for some injudicious people. The end of the Cold War is wonderfully rich in acute embarrasements for those who, while living on what proved to be the winning side, were on the wrong side of significant arguments.

One ergument concerned the guilt of Julius and Ethel Resemberg, the spice executed in 1953. Nikita Khruschev, in taped re-miniscences now published as memoirs, extells "some good people" who served a "great cause of the Soviet state";

"I was part of Stalin's circle when he mentioned the Rosenbergs with warmth....I heard from Stalin and Molorow...that the Rosenbergs provided very significant help in accelerating the production of our atom hamb."

The last particle of doubt - not that much doubt remained - regarding the Rosenbergs' stilt was removed in 1983 by the book "The Resenberg File" by Ronald Radsah and Joyce Million. Yet on the left, the myth of the Resenbergs' innocence is still ching to as an article of faith. a vital part of the catechism isdicting America - America - as paramoid and victors.

Last summer, strollers on Chicago's Michigan Avenue any stretched across the front of a cultural conter a bassory heralding an exhibit of "art" from "the Rosenberg era." The lie of the innocence of Alger Hiss has been similarly central to the mentality (and futility) of the American left. That he received a devastating, if redundant, relatation in 1978 in Allen Weinstein's bask "Forjury."

And now the bedraggied remnant of those innocents who still believe, and those cynics (including Hiss himself) who still pretend to believe, in Hisa's martyrdom must fear the day when some file cabinet in Moscow yields a document proving (on top of ample probf) that it was Hiss, not this nation or that ers, that was detestable.

After reviewing the proposal cariter this week, McCollum asid "I am not convinced in the least that this budget deal is even when we decide that what we want is a full-blown recession, then, and only then, we should embrace the plan put forth by the summitteers." "To rate increase takes on middle-income Americans and rate domestic spending is eco-nomically foolish." McCollum said earlier. "Why should we further tax the working people of this country?"

this country?" It represented a major legislative defeat for both Bush and congressional leaders of both parties, who negotiated for four months to produce the plan but who tried unsuccessfully to quell 11th-hour rank- and-file rebelitors over the plan's most controversial tax and spending cut provisions. "I was personally deeply dis-appointed with the results that we achieved," sold House Demo-of Missouri, one of eight congres-sional leaders and administra-tion officials who negotiated the final plan. "I wanted a tax attuation that was at least as fair as the tax situation that we have today. I don't think we achieved that."

In all, 105 of the 176 House Republicans opposed the plan.

Democrata. Leaders had decided that a majority of each party in each house had to support the plan to prevent one party for blaming the other, a month before the November elections, for the politically painful taxes and spending cuts the package contained. When Republicans failed to produce their majority, Democrats were off the hook and many who were prepared to vote for it probably switched and voted against it. With the defeat of the plan, the next step in the budget process was in doubt.

Assistant House Democratic leader William Gray of Pennsylvania said after the vote that he was not surprised by the outcome, but he could not say when an alternative proposal would be prepared. Following up on a strong viewpoint of many Democrats, Gray said, "It is my view that you must change two compo-nents" citing unhappiness with the deleated proposal's tax plan and Medicare cuts. House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said he will seek a stop-gap spending measure to replace one that is set to expire at midnight Friday. Foley over lunch Thursday that the Democrat-ic-controlled Congress could make some charges to the make some changes to the budget in the implementation stage, which was to have begun next week. Bush's assurance, coupled with frantic lobbying by the president, Foley and other House leaders, apparently were not enough to convince reluctant lawmakers to overcome their distaste for the plan's huge new taxes and its massive Medicare cuts.

Bush spent the day twisting arms, cajoling and pleading with undecided or wavering GOP members, meeting with about 50 of them at the White House and phoning others.

The five-year plan had pro-posed $134 billion in new gasoline, cigarette, alcohol, airline and other taxes and fees, 967 billion in defense cuts over three years, limiting domestic spend-ing increases to the rate of inflation, a 660 billion cut in Medicare and new tax breaks for investing in small companies.

Sufferance is God's test of faith

y Rev. James P. Drown

Why God is there so much suffering in this World? Why are you allowing this to happen? Why when I have tried to serve you did you allow this tragedy to come upon me?

We do not seem to have much of a problem understanding why bad things happen to those who are deliberately disobedient to God, to those who are living in darkness. But why God, do bad things happen to good people? Romans 12:2 tells us not to be conformed to this world but to be transformed by the renewing of your mind that you may prove what is good, acceptable and a perfect will of God. I know many are taught there is only one will of God and that is his perfect will. But God's perfect will is that all men be saved and to come unto repentance. Yet we know by the Word of God all men will not be saved.

We also are told clearly in scripture bad things do in fact happen to good people. Job 1:8, "The Lord said to Satan, have you 1:8, considered my servant Job that there is none lifte him on earth." a blameless commendation from God, yet we know what happened to Job. I do not believe any one of us would want to experience the tragedy, pain and affliction of Job. Even Job's friends told him God sent the tragedy into his life

Every good gift and every perfect gift comes down from the Father of lights with whom there is no variableness nor shadow of turning.g

because of the sin in his life.

James 1:17. "Every good gift and every perfect gift comes down from the Pather of lights with whom there is no variableness nor shadow of turning." Why then does God allow the tragedy to come into our life? The fact is, without the tragedies in our life we would soon feel we have no need to maintain a relationship with our Creator. We could soon come to rely on self and the philosophy of man. That attitude would quickly end in chaos and destruction. "For the foolishness of God is wiser than men and the weakness of God is stronger than men." No God wants us to learn to be solely dependent on him and will allow suffering to come into our life, not send it but allow it, so that we may realize our need for a total and complete dependency on God.

II Cor. 12:7-10, "And lest I be exalted above measure through the abundance of revelations there was given me a thorn in the fiesh the messenger of Satan to buffet me, for this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me." And He said unto me. "my Grace is sufficient for thee for my strength is made perfect in weakness." Most gladly will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, reproaches, necessities. persecution, and in distress for Christ's sake, for when I am weak, then I am strong.

As we acknowledge our weakness and God's strength, God is able to direct and guide us into what he would have us to do. He will be able to use us as his vessels to reach out to others with the glorious Gospel of Christ. Because we are dependent only on God we will be led by his Spirit, not my will but Thy will be done. Through our dependence on Jesus we will learn to give thanks in every situation knowing that this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning

Eph. 3:20-21, "Now unto him that is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us. Unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages. world without end." Amen.

Catholics square off on abortion and pro-choicers

Dy DAVID E United Press International

WASHINGTON - Dissident Roman Catholics, angry at the hierarchy's punishing of politicians and others who support legal abortion, urged church leaders Thursday to proclaim a year of "sincere and open dialogue" on the volatile moral and political issue.

At the same time, 38 of the original 99

signers of the controversial 1984 full page advertisement in The New York Times arguing there was a diversity of opinion on abortion in the church, issued a statement reaffirming the 1964 ad. Among those reaffirming the 1964 state-ment were 10 of 26 nuns who had been threatened by the Vatican with expulsion from their religious orders if they did not reacind their participation. Twenty-two of the cases were privately resolved and two of the nuns won the showdown with the Vatican without any resolution. Two nun signers were never identified by the Vatican. Meanwhile. Cardinal John O'Connor of New York. head of the church's antiabortion effort, issued a statement urging recognition of the sincerity of those who do not agree with the church's position, saying "those who respect all life as ancred must refrain from hatred and vitrolic attacks,"

LOS ANGELES - Actress Roscanne Barr and her husband filed a $145-million lawsuit Thursday against the National Enquirer and the Star, alleging the tabloids illicitly obtained love letters stolen from them.

The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court, accuses the tabloids invasion of privacy, possession of stolen property, copyright infringment and infliction of emotional distress for publishing excerpts from four letters.

The Enquirer also was accused of racketeering for its alleged "participation in a scheme to obtain the private papers and effects of celebrities by ... paying persons and entities to steal such information." the suit said.

The state of the same a burger and a strategy of the same

By PEC BYROM United Press International

NEW YORK - Teenagers around the country say abortion is murder but should remain legal to keep it safe, researchers reported. Teenagers tended to use "pro-life" vocabularies but took "pro-choice" positions, said the researchers in describing a series of 11 teen discussion groups held recently in seven citics.

When asked. "What comes into your head when you hear. the word abortion?" nearly all the groups mentioned. "murder." "killing a baby." and "death," said the researchers. who said the groups each consisted of about four boys and four girls.

In one typical comment, a girl in a Milwaukee discussion group also said, "People are going to do what they want to do," adding, "Let them leave it legal. I'm totally against it but let them leave it legal for the simple fact that it would be done in a proper way.

In Jackson, Miss., another girl said, "I'm just trying to say that you shouldn't take away anyone's rights even though abortion is not right."

The discussions were an attempt to gain a better un-derstanding of adolescent attitudes about abortion, said health policy consultant Rebecca Stone, one of two researchers on the study.

Co-researcher Cynthia Waszak noted that 80 percent of teenage pregnancies in this country are unwanted and 40 percent of them end in abortion.

The study was sponsored by the Population Council in Washington, D.C., and presented Thursday in preliminary form at the American Public Health Association's annual conference.

NEW ORLEANS - Less than 48 hours before Louisiana's open primary, the movement against former Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke's bid for the U.S. Senate gained momentum as the Republican nominee for the seat quit the race.

The announcement by state Sen. Ben Bagert came a day after eight Republican senators crossed the aisle to endorse Democrat Sen. J. Bennett Johnson, in an effort to keep Duke out of office.

TITUSVILLE - For the first time in nobody knows how long. Seminole High School will play a varsity football game in the daylight today, meeting the Titusville-Astronaut War Eagles in a clash of stateranked teams.

Going into this afternoon's contest, the Fighting Seminoles are ranked sixth in the Florida Sports Writers Association's Class 4A state poll while the War Eagles are eighth in the Class 4A poll.

Kickoff has been moved up to 4 p.m. as a precaution against the night-flying mosquitos that are carrying the encephalitis virus in reportedly epidemic proportions. "It'll be just like practice," said Seminole Coach Emory Blake of playing during the day. "That's what we told the kids. It'll be just like practice."

Because the game will be played in the sunshine, fitness will be more of a factor. The team that is able to hold up under the added heat and humidity of playing in the afternoon while have an almost insurmountable advantage.

"Our staff does a good job of preparing our kids for a ballgame," said Blake. "We run gamers (wind sprints) before practice and we run gassers after practice. Conditioning is the key. It keeps you from making mistakes.

This evening's contest also is a possible preview of what the 4A-

Section II playoff game, scheduled to be played Friday, Nov. 30. If Seminole and Astronaut go on to win their districts and survive their respective regional playoff games. the two schools will meet again at Seminole's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium to decide who goes to the state semifinals.

In other games tonight, the other five county schools are involved in 5A-District 4 contests tonight. The Lake Mary Rams will host the Oviedo Lions, the Lyman Greyhounds visit the Lake Howell Silver Hawks and the Lake Brantley Patriots are at home against the undefeated Mainland Buccaneers.

Oviedo will be looking for its third straight win while Lake Mary will be looking to bounce back from two straight one-sided losses when the two young teams meet at Don T. Reynolds Field in Lake Mary.

Oviedo's defense has been very good in the two victories while the Lions may have discovered the next great Seminole County running back in sophomore Ervin Alexander, who rushed for 94 yards and scored both touchdowns against DeLand.

Lake Mary has suffered back-toback losses to two of the best Central Florida has to offer in Lake Howell and Apopka. The Rams will rely on the running back landern of Chris Haney and Anush Collins to end the skid.

I.C.P drops game

CASSELBERRY - I.C.P blew a 4-0 lead and dropped into a tie for first place in losing to Poe and Associates 8-5 in a Seminole County Wednesday Night "C" League game at Red Bug Park.

Kenny Tuttle led the I.C.P. offense with three hits while Tom Lassiler, John McKay, Ronnie Gardner and Eddle Norton had two hits aplece. Cal Bostwick was the defensive star with three excellent catches in right field.

Both teams lead the league with 3-2 records. Next week, I.C.P. takes on the Pirates in a 8:30 p.m. contest.

"Boone did a good job of blocking us in the first game," said Whalen. "They blocked us extremely well. We didn't cover the court well. A lot of the balls hit the floor that shouldn't have hit the floor off their blocks." The Braves led 5-2 and 8-3 in the first game before

David Yurick served nine straight points for Lake Mary. "That broke the game open for us," said Whalen.

"We cruised from there for the rest of the game."

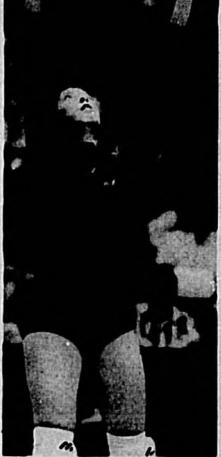

Lake Mary rode that momentum to a 5-0 lead in the second game. Boone came back to close the gap to 6-5 before the Rams went on a 9-2 run to finish the match.

As always, the Rams were led by their big four - Jon Brown (six kills, four spikes, three blocks). Matt MacDonald (six kills, four spikes, three blocks), Sloan (four kills, five spikes, one block) and Brett Marshall (five kills, eight spikes, three blocks).

Mau also contributed a kill, six spikes and two blocks while having an excellent night artting the ball.

"We spread the ball out really well again," said Whalen. "Between Mau, Ryan Munns and Brett, our three secondary hitters, we had six kills, 15 spikes and five blocks. It's real hard to stop us for that reason. We're comfortable going to anyone of our six starting hitters during the course of a match."

Now 16-1 overall, Lake Mary will try to keep its conference record perfect when the Rama entertain Lake Howell and Oviedo next Monday and Wednesdy before hosting Kissimmee-Osceola on Thursday.

Lisa Masilunis and her Lake Mary teammates improved their record to 18-2, 7-1 in the SAC, with their sweep of Seminole on Thursday.

volicycali match that took barely 30 minutes to complete.

"We were real smooth tonight," said Lake Mary Coach Cindy Henry. "And I know they're tireed because I'm tired and I haven't been playing.

"We weren't really tested tonight. The girls just wont out and got the job done. All I did was watch. It was really easy for me."

As always, Lake Mary was led by Tara Calvin and Meliona Mau. But this time, it wasn't so much what Calvin and Mau did but how they did it. During one rally, Calvin went to the floor for a dig. When the ball came back with her still on the floor. Calvin calmiy reached up and kept it in play.

Mau, who served the final five points of the first game and did a nice job setting and hitting the ball, played near-flawicss volleyball with several stitches in her chin, the result of a collision with the floor in Merriti Island on Wednesday.

Calvin and Mau weren't alone. Dena Morasch played a superb match at the net. Lisa Masilunis did a nice job settin her teammates and Marti Citarella served eight points, including the last two of the first game, the first four of the second game and the last one of the match.

Afterwards, Seminole Coach Beth Corso said her team had thrown just about everything they had at the Rams, only to see it knocked back at them.

"We just don't have the power that Lake Mary has," said Corso. "We had six blocks in the match. By the time they were up 4-0, we had spiked the ball five times. They just kept digging up our spikes.

"Cindy has one of the best teams she's ever had. We just were overpowered."

The junior varsity match was more of the same. Lake Mary defeating Seminole 15-1, 15-6.

Both Seminole and Lake Mary will be back in action next Tuesday, the Seminoles (now 2-8 overall and 0-8 in the conference) playing at home against DeLand while the Rams (16-2, 7-1) travel to Winter Park to play Lake Howell.

IN BRIEF

Season opens with British comedy

By JOAN KING Herald correspondent

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Sue Richards of Sanford is production properties mistress and sec-retary, of The Seminole County Players Inc. They opened their premiere season on Saturday night at the Eastmonte Civic Center in Altamonte Springs.

Their opening play, "No Sex Please, We're British" by playwrights Anthony Marriott and Alistair Foot, is a two-act come-dy which has delighted Rich-ards. She says. ''It was hysterical, a great show and hard to play as comedy is difficult. You must appeal to many levels of humor. The way the actors dealt with the opening and closing of doors had to be perfectly timed and they did it beautifully."

The play is slightly on the naughty side. However, it was well received by the mixed audience. Several youngsters sat fidgeting as the dialogue slid neatly over their heads.

Peter Gearge, the director said. "The show isn't dirty. I brought my own kids." He motioned toward the sleepy-eyed children settling down on a pallet while the set was being struck.

All of the players pitch in to dress the set and to strike it after each performance. George relates some of the problems he must deal with as the company's president, pro-duction stage manager and the director. "The biggest problem is space. I wish the cities would help out. I'm not just talking about this city, but all cities who have community platers; we all need

George says the troupe pays 945 an hour up to the total of 9250 a day for performance space. They need 40 patrons for each performance just to pay the rent from an admission charge of 87.

George says business is grow-the audience. Then the next weekend show, it doubles. It builds by word of mouth." he BEYS.

The people are supportive.

rienced, well-rounded actress in the business. Her portrayal of the mother was expertly executed. She projected her lines and ad-libbed meticulously for the audience. Her perfect diction and timing were well appreciated.

Taylor is an actress that brings pleasure to those who view her talent and acting ability. She is from England and a widow who states quite candidly her need to perform.

"After my husband's death, I felt lost and needed to do something for myself, to get motivated. I came back to acting very slowly. This is my first play in a long time. I was on stage in London in the hit. "Me and My Girl," and I worked as a circus performer where I did every-thing but ride the elephant's back," Taylor says.

Taylor has also been a pro fessional dancer. To get back into the routine, she started with Mary Kay products and gave dance instructions. She says this helped her to deal with people again. This play is a great thing for her, she says, as she just recently lost her husband.

"I really needed something more to do," Taylor says.

As Taylor's vibrant greenishblue eyes reflect the stage lighting, they twinkle with a happy look of pleasure as she speaks of the cast members.

"They are wonderful and I got to help them with their British accents. My only concern was that I would freeze on stage and forget my lines but Peter said. 'You have nothing to worry about. Whatever you say will be accessity doing the base of the acript." and he was right." Taylor says. "I love acting and want to do more."

Ed Rallegh, another player in the production, has 30 plays to his credit. Rallegh played the part of Brian Runnicles, an unwitting accomplice. He pulled it off stunningly as he timely entered and exited one door after another. In one scene he was another. In one scene he was accidentally trapped on stage. Being an expert player, he took the only logical exit available, through the kitchen service window. With a run and a leap, he nestly sailed through the window, saving the scene.

Jeenne Leonard

Take a dance class

Celebrity teacher, Jeanne Leonard, will put local dancers through their paces next week at Miriam's and Valerie's School of Dance Arts. Leonard has received acclaim from coast to coast for her astonishing performance as the legendary Judy Garland. Leonard also played the leading role of Judy Garland in the London stage show "Rainbow."

Dancers and teachers Miriam and Valerie are anxiously preparing for the high energy tap and jazz classes Leonard is scheduled to teach in Sanford.

Also scheduled to teach at the studios will be Mr. George Koller, from the Disney Entertainment Division. Koller will give dancers a mock audition.

"The audition atmosphere of his master classes," said Valerie, "causes the dancers to really produce and brings out all the dance skills and performing talents each dancer can muster!'

Mr. Koller will be teaching at the Sanford studio in November. All the state of the may contact the office on Eim Avenue or call 323-1900. You need not be a student at the school to participate.

Hear the Blues Brothers

Special guests the Blues Brothers and Paradise Band will perform with the Florida Symphony Orchestra "Jeans and Classics" at the Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts on Saturday, October 6 at 8 p.m.

Bring a picnic and enjoy an outdoor evening of popular

Tickets are $15 at the gate or call 894-2011 in advance, $12.

receive a grant from the Citizens and Southern National Bank. The grant is a community involvement award given each quarter to civic groups whose activities benefit the communities they serve.

"We get two grants per quarter, a total of 8 for the year," George mays.

George speaks kindly of the cast members and recognizes their ability as "a wide range of talent from non-pro and semi-pro to real pro." He admits that it was "difficult in the way I talked to the actors due to their experience." He was please with their spontaneity and ad-lib ability on stage and his admira-tion for Lis Taylor who plays a supporting role in this produc-tion was well stated, when he said. "Lis is a real pro."

Taylor acquired her last name through marriage, she says. She is not the Liz of screen fame. However, this Taylor is an expe-

Raliegh says. "The play is lots of fun and challenging with its timing and its quick pace. It's an easy stage to play once you know it. The company adjusted well: we're a well run organiza-tion and the abow definitely is not dirty: a little riscue maybe not dirty: a little risque maybe, but it's a fun night out for the audience:"

The audience head count of about 60 roared, giggled and applauded enthusiastically at play's end in tribute to the talented players.

Richards aptly said. "We have so much talent in our group."

DEAR ADD'r My 11-year-old daughter (I'll call her Cindy) just told me that her girlfriend (I'll call her Debbie) told her that she and her boyfriend had had sex. Debbie and her boyfriend are both 11 years old! Debbie made Cindy promise not to tell any-body, so I had to swear on my honor that I wouldn't say or do anything about this. Abby, I'm afraid set to
