HIGH SCHOOL HAS GREAT PROMISES

PUPILS AND TEACHERS TAKING GREAT INTEREST IN STUDIES AND ATHLETICS

The present term of Sanford High School promises to be one of the most interesting and valuable in the history of the school.

The course of study, together with athletics, dramatics and other programs are being greatly appreciated by pupil and teachers alike, and is receiving their cooperation in every possible way.

The class officers, elected at the beginning of the term, will indeed, each make his office one of dignity and show himself capable of the responsibility put upon him by his schoolmates. Officers elected: Senior Class: Adelle Rines, President; Anna Mason, Vice President; Lee Tillis, Secretary, and Sherman Moore, Treasurer.

Junior Class—Curtis Barber, President; Virginia DeCoursey, Vice-President; Vivian Crosby, Secretary; John Mason, Treasurer.

Sophomore Class—Florence Henry, President; Lucille Jenkins, Secretary; Victor McLaughlin, Treasurer.

Freshman Class—Nora Jenkins, President; Edward Rumph, Vice-President; Harvey Parrish, Secretary; Emily Lingle, Treasurer.

Each class holds meetings regularly and transacts all business. Athletics hold one of the most important places in any school term, and the splendid record made heretofore by S. H. S. is in a fair way to be excelled, even, this year.

The football team, with Mr. Ogilvie, Principal of the School, as coach, and Harvey Parrish as manager, plays its first game this afternoon, with the Town Team in Holden Park, followed by one at Orlando on Tuesday, and others in the near future all over the state. The team averages about one hundred and fifty-five pounds.

Miss Julia Zachary is the capable manager of the Girl's Basket Ball Team and under her leadership, Sanford will play to victory in every game. Monday will see the first game when the Seniors play the "Freshies," the first out-of-town game being about the middle of November.

The Boy's Basket Ball Team, with Glen Whitcomb, managing, has listed games with Orlando, Leesburg, Daytona, DeLand, Kissimmee, and other teams in Florida. The Black and Gold boys have splendid foes in these teams, and will most certainly come up to the fine record set by '17-'18 boys.

Other interesting plans include a Dramatic Club or Team, and a ten-piece orchestra, which is already furnishing music for the school.

The Dramatic Club which will give debates, short plays, and sketches, will be organized and handled in the same manner as the athletic team, and will meet out-of-town teams, both here and in their home towns, the public being invited to all meetings held here in the High School Auditorium.

A commercial course is another one of the splendid additions under the new regime. Mr. Ogilvie reports all things running smoothly, and a very bright future ahead for S. H. S.

ORLANDO TAKES GAME

Sanford High Gives Way Before Heavy Opponents

In a game featured by the game-ness and fighting qualities of Sanford High School's young eleven, Orlando plunged to a 37 to 0 victory at Holden Park.

The game was a much better exhibition of the great college spirit than the score would indicate. To pick the stars of Seminole's representatives would be to name the team but special mention must be made of the work of Smyth at half-back, Bossity at end, and Parrish at quarterback. Smyth, playing his first game of scholastic football, blazed the way to our bid for fame.

This boy played with a dash and brilliancy that gladdened the hearts of the fair rooters and set a good example for his team-mates.

Bossity, at end, seemed to be in every play and, with Smyth, was the main scuffling block over which Orlando had to rush to victory.

Parrish, at quarter, played a nice game, and with the experience which this game will give him, should make a valuable man in that position.

Fordey Russell also contributed some pretty tackling to the afternoon's entertainment.

Taken as a whole, the game was a creditable exhibition. Our team is light and lacks experience but this is being overcome and by the time that our next game rolls around will be in good shape. The team deserves the support of Sanford and it is hoped that Holden Park will see a capacity crowd when time is called on the next game.

Boys West Side Store

L. F. Roper has recently purchased the interest of his partner, J. W. Booth in the West Side Cash Grocery on West First Street. They will conduct the business along the same lines as formerly followed by the partnership.

Mr. Roper is well and favorably known in and about Sanford where he has spent several years in business. During the World War he served in Uncle Sam's navy, returning after the signing of the armistice.

He is an experienced groceryman and a young man of excellent business ability and it goes without saying that he will be eminently successful in this his new undertaking.

Death of Mrs. E. F. Erickson

Sanford friends of Mrs. Carl F. Erickson will regret to hear of her death which occurred at Miami on Sunday night.

The body was brought to Sanford on Monday for burial.

Mrs. Erickson was a former resident of Sanford, having passed the early years of her life in the suburb of Upsala.

The funeral took place from the undertaking parlors of T. J. Miller, on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, Rev. C. W. White officiating. Interment in Lakeview Cemetery.

She leaves a husband, a son and daughter and one sister. The pall bearers were Messrs. Sam Bradford, W. M. Haynes, Ed Lane, W. T. Wheeler, J. E. Spurling and W. C. DeCoursey.

DAILY HERALD WILL APPEAR NEXT MONDAY

SANFORD'S NEW DAILY WILL BE ONE OF CITY'S GREATEST PUBLICITY AGENTS.

Sanford's Daily Herald will appear next Monday afternoon. No date was arranged for the appearance of the Daily Herald because it was so difficult to get the sufficient number of printers necessary for printing of a daily paper that no time could be definitely decided upon but November first was the goal that we had set for the first appearance. We are glad to announce that this date will be one week earlier and so many anxious inquiries had been made regarding the first issue and many had no doubt despaired of seeing the daily before the first of January.

If nothing unforeseen at this date happens to stop progress upon the new daily it will positively make its first appearance upon Monday next and from that time forward we hope it will be the daily visitor to the homes of the people for many years to come. In fact Sanford has reached the big city class and large enough and progressive enough to have an all the year round daily and the management of the Herald recognizing that fact are ready to supply the demand.

The Daily Herald will be an eight page paper carrying Associated Press despatches, all the local news of the county, the news of the state and will be a real daily paper in every respect. Especial attention will be paid to local happenings and doings of society and of all local events as well as the news of the world. But we will let the first issue speak for itself and hope that it will still the readers and the patrons of the paper and we expect to improve from time to time and make it what it should be, the best daily in this part of Florida.

A copy will be distributed to each home free next week each evening and after that the solicitor will ask for your subscriptions. The Daily Herald will be fifteen cents per week delivered in the city and you will get your first copy next Monday.

FURNITURE SALE AT THE HOSPITAL

FURNITURE OF THE FERNALD HOUSE BROUGHT GOOD PRICES FOR THE HOSPITAL.

The Fernald - Laughton Memorial Hospital building has been admired by many hundreds of people this week while the sale of furniture of the beautiful home was in progress. People came here from adjacent cities and many of them from a distance not only to purchase the valuable rugs and furnishings but also to see this home which is undoubtedly one of the finest in this section of Florida.

All of the medical fraternity that have seen the Fernald home state that it will lend itself most admirably for hospital purposes and with few changes can be made one of the most beautiful and most complete small hospitals in Florida.

Some of the furniture will be retained in the building for the hospital and despite the fact that hospitals as a rule are bare of fine furnishings it will be the aim of the association and the physicians to make this hospital more homelike and medical journals of this age and time are united on the idea of giving the patients more comfort and beauty of surroundings, if possible than the early hospitals afford.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week were sales days at the hospital and many valuable and rare pieces of furniture and rugs, etc. were sold by the ladies of the hospital association who have given their time and attention to this work. The people of Seminole county are proud of the fact that they are to have a fine new hospital and that it will soon be ready for occupancy and the gift of Mrs. George H. Fernald of this home to the city for a hospital looms larger on the horizon of benevolence to many who have this week inspected the Fernald home.

There will be no auction of any of this furniture as all that is not sold at this time will either be used by the hospital or put upon sale at some future date. It is much too valuable to be given away and is worth more money than the sale would warrant. The electric fixtures are of solid brass and bronze and are of the most beautiful designs and are expected to bring the hospital about $500 more. The association will have to replace these fixtures with those of humbler design but fixtures that can be kept clean and that will fill the bill for hospital purposes and in this sale the association is only endeavoring to get the most money that is possible for the equipment of the hospital.

As soon as the sale of furniture is over there will be a meeting of the physicians of the county together with physicians of neighboring cities and they will lay their plans for the improvements and remodeling of the building with the idea that only those improvements that are actually needed will be made. Economy will be the watchword with the doctors and the committee and the work will then be pushed to completion as the hospital is needed and should be opened to the public as soon as possible.

Change Clocks Sunday

Next Sunday morning at two o'clock or somewhere around this time the clocks will be moved back one hour. Either do it then or before you go to bed for when you wake Sunday morning, October 26th, the clocks will be one hour slower. Get it straight and it will stay straight.

Dry Cleaning and Dyeing

Elsewhere in this issue appears the ad of the Jordan Hat and Cleaning Works, where all kinds of dry cleaning, dyeing, etc., are done and the work is guaranteed. Read the advertisement in this paper.

SUGAR SUPPLY IS LIMITED

SANFORD IS FEELING THE PINCH OF SHORTAGE OF SWEETENING—NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

Sanford seems to have been the last place in the state to feel the sugar shortage, other sections having been without sugar for the past two weeks while Sanford had enough to go around. Now the word has gone out that sugar rations will be in vogue for the next month and the grocers are having a hard time getting any sugar at all. The soda water emporiums will have to use syrups and there will be a shortage in ice cream and candies for some time especially in the home made candies, although the manufacturers here state they will use rock syrup as long as it supplies holds out. The following from F. M. Kirby of the N. E. A. of New York throws some light on the situation:

You can have your sugar in your coffee, enjoy mother's homemade cake, and even indulge in the usual ice cream sodas for the rest of the year in spite of the sugar shortage, if everybody helps.

There will be 875,000 tons of sugar available to supply the consumers of the United States between now and Dec. 31. This is 100,000 tons more than there was in the last quarter of last year.

It all depends upon what Mr. Wholesaler, Mr. Jobber, Mr. Retailer and Mrs. Housewife do in the way of hoarding. Sugar hoarding will mean acute stringency. There are 20,000,000 households in the United States; of each of them buys but one pound a week that means 20,000,000 pounds additional sugar, and this amount for every week from now until the end of the year would mean acute shortage in many households.

These are some of the facts that gather after a day spent in the center of the "sugar district" in Wall Street, where not only the central offices of the American Sugar Refining company are located, but also the central offices of the United States Sugar Equalization board, which—until December 31—will exercise control over the distribution of sugar.

The United States in the first nine months of the present year has consumed 500,000 tons of sugar in excess of the same period last year, or the equivalent of 3,000,000 barrels of 350 pounds each. How much of this has been consumed and how much stored, no one can tell, for no method of estimating accurately household supplies has been devised. Our sugar figures stop when the sugar leaves the refinery door.

Why we have consumed so much more than usual is attributed to different interests. Prohibition, the general prosperity of the country, the marine strike, and the desire to lay in supplies at this year's prices are four factors in increased consumption.

The last is the most important. For, unless government control is continued in 1920, prices are bound to rise.

Officials at the United States Sugar board told me today, that if the McNary bill is passed promptly, there is still a chance of negotiating for the Cuban crop through the Cuban government, although foreign governments and private bidders are already active. The Cuban law permits the president of Cuba to dispose of the crop during a period which extends "six months after the declaration of peace."

According to the board, there will be available for distribution to consumers in the district east of Pittsburg and the Alleghenies a total of between 400,000 and 600,000 tons of beet sugar. The sugar year ends with September 30, when the new crop begins coming on the market. California beet sugar refining started in September, and this has been followed by the other beet sugar states, and the Cuban crop will begin to arrive in this country by the end of December.

The direct way to stop hoarding, as well as assure reasonable prices for 1920 is to pass the McNary bill. This is the belief not only of the government officials but also of the sugar refiner interests.

PARISH HOUSE OPENS TO BOYS

Holy Cross Church Announces The Special Privileges and Benefits

In the last issue of the Herald appeared an advertisement of the Holy Cross Church announcing the opening of the Parish House. Probably few of those who read this announcement stopped to think of the many advantages offered to the young men and boys of this city. Holy Cross Church has one of the finest plants for the athletic activities in this part of Florida and the credit for the same should be given to the untiring energy of the rector, Rev. Arthur Searing Peck and his congregation.

Sanford has nothing in the way of a Y. M. C. A. building where the young men can gather in the evenings for wholesome recreation and athletic sports. A few years ago Rev. Peck had erected the fine big Parish House where the boys of the city and the girls also could play basket ball and have other athletic exercises. In the building other additions were made. Pool tables were added and in order not to take up any of the valuable floor space of the Parish House a separate building was added for the pool tables that were donated by Hon. Forrest Lake. Later on a fine building was erected for a complete bowling alley having two alleys, the same that were formerly laid at the Elks Club and were purchased by Rev. Peck.

These alleys are made of excellent material placed upon a solid concrete foundation and with all of these many other sources of amusement are the recreation rooms, reading rooms, games, etc., where the boys can gather in the long winter evenings for more quiet amusements and talks. The business men of the city expect to take an active part in this organization this winter and it is rumored that the old and young men will form a class for needed exercises, something that is needed to keep their bodies fit. The Parish House is most worthy and deserves the highest praise and the co-operation of young and old and especially of the parents.

Improvements in City Market

Extensive improvements are being made in the City Market, I. D. Martin and W. E. Walthall, Proprietors. The store is being repapered and painted throughout and a new refrigerating plant, refrigerator counters and a coffee roasting plant are being installed. When finished this store will be one of the best equipped in the city.

They will carry a full line of groceries and native and Western meats.

REVOLUTION IS MOVE IN STEEL STRIKE

ATTORNEY FOR I. W. W. CALMLY TELLS SENATE COMMITTEE DETAILS OF SOVIET MOVEMENT.

Washington, Oct. 20.—While the Senate labor committee investigating the steel strike sat fairly dazed and dumfounded, Jacob Margolis, of Pittsburg, the I. W. W. attorney and admitted advocate of social revolution, today told a story of ultra radical activities which he said were associated with the steel strike. He outlined the partially successful attempt, covering the past two years, to face at Pittsburg for an un- stated but vaguely hinted revolutionary purpose, combining the I. W. W.'s, Bolsheviks and Russian Industrial Workers.

Margolis said the imagination of these men was caught by the successes of Lenin and Trotsky in Russia, and they were all working, he calmly said, to create a new society within the shell of the old. He frequently mentioned the name of Secretary Flower of the steel strike committee, not so much as a radical agitator himself, but as a leader for help in conducting the industrial fight in the steel industry.

Margolis admitted that after the strike committee referred slightly to the I. W. W.'s in a letter to President Wilson about the strike, that Foster told him, Margolis, over the telephone to "tell the boys not to get sore about that. I didn't have anything to do with that letter. You know I have to go with the committee most of the time."

Open Boy's Department

The Sanford Shoe and Clothing Co. of this city have completed a very nice addition to their store by an extension which they have recently added to the rear of their store room on First Street.

This new addition has been fitted up completely and made into a boy's department in which they will carry everything in the clothing line for the boys.

It is expected that this new department will prove a great favorite with the boys and their mothers as nothing like this has ever been established in Sanford before and this progressive firm in keeping pace with the times are now prepared to look after the wants of the boys.

THE PENNANT WINNERS OF THE FLORIDA STATE LEAGUE

The niftiest little bunch of ball tappers that ever gathered together to put the kibosh on the Orlando Debies and the way they snatched the nursing bottle from that bunch of yellow daisies was a crime against humanity. They outplayed them, outguessed them, and out—but what's the use. Here they are. Paste this picture in your album and reserve it for posterity and if anyone from Orlando ever talks about baseball pull this picture on him and watch his "protests."

LETTER FROM RED DAVIS (Continued from page 9)

Gov. Catts for when he can send in scores with nine errors charged against the Orlando players and then have the nerve to fool the public and not give Sanford hits in the place of some of those errors I will have to yield to his vast knowledge of being an expert statistician. And feel sure that Gov. Catts could use him very well in the Auditing Department at Tallahassee.

Below is a clipping from which Larry of the Sentinel has to say about the sad ball game that was tossed away at Orlando.

THE GREATEST JOKE game and the saddest was played at the local park yesterday. It was ridiculously absurd because the Capitals made so many errors, and pathetic because they tossed the game away on that grand old master of the game, Bert Humphries, who has gone through the season undefeated, having pitched nearly a score of winning games. It was humiliating for Bert to stand up there and have Sanford score run after run against him when the support behind him was not there, the Caps falling all over the lot. The fans who appreciated Bert Humphries ability and his efforts in pulling a pennant away, feel as humiliated as he does over the way the team went to pieces yesterday. It was poor judgement to pitch him. He had pitched two days before and the manager should have taken no chances with the grand old boy, especially when it was a well known fact that the morale of the team was not there yesterday. Anyway, we take our hat off to Bert, and while technically he has lost a rottenly played a game as we have ever seen, the laurels of supremacy are still his. After the sad spectacle of yesterday's farce one's interest in the post series of the Florida State League is bound to fade away.

Larry says it was humiliating and pathetic. Yes, I say it was. It is always that way when things dont turn their way. Well, Larry, old boy, if you would quit your moaning and groaning over this game and admit DEEP DOWN IN YOUR HEART that Sanford had the best ball club of the two teams you will live in the minds of the fair minded fans as being a good loser and a game sport. Sanford stands on her record and you stand on your writing. Now answer which has proven conclusively that they deserved the credit? Answer Echo, Answer.

I say in conclusion that overcoming all the obstacles that were placed in their paths Sanford is acclaimed in THIS MANS TOWN as the fair and legitimate winner of the Florida State Championship. Orlando papers please copy. And according to scientists 1919 will be a much better year for protesting than 1920 as the moon will be out practically all the time and with this advanced information Orlando should win every game next year by the protest route.

Echoes From Lakeland

That baseball fuss between Orlando and Sanford is a sort of joke with the other clubs knowing the situation as they do. Orlando went ahead and let Sanford play all season without a kick on the men being used, and Orlando herself playing more than the club was entitled to. Then the league president at Orlando says that the shine ball is ruled out and yet he allowed Alexandria to play it against all the other clubs this season and never peeped. He has asked all the other clubs of the league to make a fool of themselves by throwing Sanford out of the league and fining them heavily for certain actions, and yet when their own players do worse than Sanford, he don't even open his mouth. In our way Sanford would not go out of the league unless Orlando did. Both teams played unfair ball, broke the rules of the league and won their season championship titles by every unfair means known, and if one is dropped, both ought to be. Orlando is just as guilty as Sanford of breaking the league rules, and President Rose knows it, and has known it throughout the season. That is why he put off announcing his decision on the eligibility of players on the different teams until the last minute. It sure is some sneaking imitation of being a true sportsman and Captain Schuyler of their team is the smallest one of the whole tribe.—Lakeland Star.

Methodists vs. Presbyterians

The Presbyterian Sunday School defeated the Methodist Sunday School on Wednesday afternoon in a baseball contest to the score of 3 to 1. The game, which was a very fine exhibition of base ball, by the way, resolved itself into a pitcher's battle with Drayton, late of the Florida State League for the Presbyterians and Raymond Allen for the M. E.'s. Twenty-nine men were struck out during the game, fifteen by Drayton and fourteen by Allen.

Were it not for the fact that "protests" are not considered good form in Sanford the Methodists, so it is said, would have protested the game on account of the professional battery used by the Presbyterians, which is against the rules heretofore followed by the amateur games in Sanford. However, the boys are to be congratulated on holding the score down to three to one and demonstrates that while they are not professionals they are "Some Amateurs."

Table with 5 columns: Team, AR, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows include Presbyterian players (Ed Lane, Lingle, Rive, Wallace, Drayton, Green, Moore, McLaulin, Howard) and Methodist players (McLucas, Smith, Laing, Allen, H. Cobb, R. Cobb, Tillis, Moyer, C. Cobb).

Totals: 32 3 6 27 10 3. Score by innings: Presbyterians 000 100 101-3, Methodists 010 000 000-1. Summary: Left on bases, Presbyterians, 3; Methodists 2. Two-base hits, Rive, 2. Home Runs, Drayton. First base off balls off Drayton, 1; Off Allen, 1. Struck out by Drayton, 15; by Allen 14. Stolen bases, Allen 1, H. Cobb, R. Cobb, Drayton 2, Green. Double plays, H. Cobb to Laing. Time of game, 1:50. Umpire, Housholder and Wheelis.

Princess Theatre Opens The Princess Theatre opened last Saturday afternoon and night to crowded houses and many were the expressions of satisfaction from the patrons regarding the excellent service, the perfect order maintained and the high class pictures shown. The new theatre starts off under most auspicious circumstances and guarantees the very latest pictures and the best service at all times. Watch for the programs in the Sanford Herald.

Youthful Saint.

St. Agnes was a Roman virgin, and martyr, who at the age of 13 suffered persecution and was beheaded under Diocletian about the year 301. At Rome there is an annual procession in her honor, when a lamb, highly decorated, is led through the city. The connection of her name with the Latin for lamb—agnus—probably has led to the association of this animal with her memory.

So They Couldn't Get Away. In olden times, when the men kissed, each took hold of the other's beard during the operation.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING?

LOOK OUT!

Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily, undermining health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease. Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain. This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

The Union Prayer meeting met with Mrs. T. W. Lawton on Tuesday. Led by Mrs. Lee Wheeler. Songs and reading of the 22nd. Chapter of Matt and discussion. Also a poem, "If Jesus Should Come," by Mrs. Wheeler. Solo, "Give Me Jesus" Mabel Swope, and an explanation of certain passages by Mrs. Farmer. The service will be held with Mrs. W. J. Lawton next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan of Sanford were in Oviedo Sunday visiting Mrs. Jordan's sister, Mrs. Young.

Quite a number of the Oviedo ladies attended the sale of the Hospital furniture in Sanford Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Mary Linehart and Mrs. C. A. Brown spent the week-end in Orlando.

Mrs. W. R. Kimbrel returned to her home in Oviedo Wednesday after a three weeks' visit to Pensacola.

Mrs. Julius Gist entertained the Crochet Club last Thursday afternoon. Delightful fruit salad was served and a most enjoyable afternoon spent.

T. L. Cushing has been very ill for the past week, but is reported to be some better. His son, E. Cushing of Jacksonville, and his brother, Wm. Cushing of Callahan are both with him.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Swope spent Monday in Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Wolcott and little son went to Sanford and Orlando on business Wednesday.

E. A. Farnell, Sr., spent Monday in Sanford.

Mrs. A. J. McCulley spent Tuesday in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cook of Orlando spent Sunday in Oviedo.

Mrs. T. W. Lawton, Mrs. W. J. Lawton, Mrs. Walter Carter and

Mrs. B. F. Wheeler went to Orlando Thursday stopping at Formosa to see Mrs. J. H. Lee who is at the Florida Sanitarium.

Little Miss Sara May McBride entertained a few of her friends Wednesday afternoon at a birthday party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Argo, Edward Argo and Palmer Argo spent Saturday at their former home, Waldo.

Park Winters spent Sunday in Oviedo the guest of Edward Argo, returning Sunday to DeLand.

Several of the Oviedo people have spent a few days this week at the Prairie fishing.

Mrs. H. B. McCall returned from Lakeland Thursday.

EAST SANFORD

The evangelist, Rev. Summers, will preach at Moore's Station church

Sunday morning, Oct. 26th; at 11 o'clock and there will be meetings at the church every evening next week. The public is cordially invited to be present. Mr. Summers will be welcomed here as he has many friends.

Mrs. Loretta Tracy expects to go to St. Petersburg to visit friends this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Arnold will arrive shortly from Bealsville, Ohio, to spend some time with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunlap, of Richmond avenue. They will drive through in their Overland car and expect to make their future home here. They spent last winter in Sanford.

Mrs. Philip R. Andrews and little son Eugene arrived last week from an extended stay in the North.

Ped Hasty came down from New York on the Lenape last Tuesday. He has been in Plymouth, Mass., all summer with the Peterson family, who reside here a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Wilson of Cameron City have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradley of Irvingsville, Ga. They expect to become permanent residents.

Other new arrivals noticed as daily coming from the North to enjoy our delightful winter climate are members of the wild duck family.

W. W. Dresser is mourning the death of his fine 2 year old Jersey heifer. The veterinary gave as cause of death too much dip tat.

Wildcats raided G. C. Chamberlain's hen house and killed a hen one night last week. Mr. C. frightened the cat away by shooting. The next 3 nights he got a fine Rhode Island chicken at the Steel hen house. Monday night Mr. Steel set three traps. The cat got caught and made a big yowl to get away and Mr. S. shot him. He was about 3 feet long, is said to be about half grown. Last fall wildcats got several turkeys at the Steel place.

It was said early this fall that about a ton of celery seed had been sown. If there was it was a good stunt, as there never was such a call for celery plants and lettuce plants too for that matter to rest as this past few days. Cut worms work is blamed mostly, fertilizing young plants too heavy and the hard rain of Saturday night washed out newly set plants.

The Tropical Produce Company have about a hundred men working on their new development out here building fences, ditching and tiling and their Fordson tractor plowing and fitting land. A small part of the land was tilled, 30 acres we understand. 80 acres is being tilled now, making 110 acres they are preparing for crops in one block, 30 of which will be set to lettuce. The remaining land will be ready for spring crops. The same company has 105 acres prepared for crops in Goldsboro, have about 65 acres of celery set out and the remainder to lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower.

Still warm and summery weather.

A Mr. and Mrs. Sims and children moved into the tenament house of Joe Neros.

The phoebe bird is again with us and found on our arrival that our loved mocking bird was truly "singing all the day." Florida is blessed with her birds and flowers.

Mrs. Clute and friends from Sanford were Grapeville callers Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Campbell and children were also calling in Grapeville at the home of Mrs. H. G. Lundquist, Thursday.

Mrs. George Ballinger returned home Wednesday from a few months spent with her only brother, L. H. Peterson, Tipton, Missouri. We had partly promised a write-up of that country but on seeing it felt that it was too big for us. It is one grand state, nevertheless we are glad to get back to our little Florida home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ericson and their four interesting children and Mrs. Jesse Lee and baby were in to welcome our home coming besides our near neighbors.

Walfrid and Carl Pierson were callers at the Lundquist home Monday evening.

There was preaching at both churches Sunday, it being Rev. Swanbon appointment at the Lutheran, and while here he was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lundquist. We were pleased at the Presbyterian church to listen again to Rev. Brower of Sanford, who spoke very earnestly and entertainingly to us.

Rev. Session is expected out for a service next Sunday at 4:00 p. m.

Mrs. Anna DeForest arrived on the 22nd, after a summer spent in the North and is at "The Palms" her pretty winter home.

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins of the West side attended the service Sunday afternoon. Alfred Erickson was much shocked in receiving a telegram of the death of his brother Carl's wife at their home in Miami. The remains were brought here for burial. Rev. White of Sanford conducting the service in the Miller chapel and interment was in Lake View Cemetery beside her father and mother and brother.

drug business, but later the family moved to Miami where we understand they own a number of... Their son Carl returned from overseas lately, where he lost an arm in our country's defense. The wife's health had failed of late and she left on a trip for the North on the doctor's advice and stopping enroute in Savannah to visit her only sister, Mrs. Munson, was stricken in her lower limbs, being unable to walk. A month ago her husband brought her home but she never rallied in spite of all the loving care given and she passed away Saturday surrounded by her loved ones, husband, son and daughter and sister. Our sympathy goes out to the stricken family.

Mr. Carl Ericson and son Carl and daughter Carmel of Miami and Mrs. Munson of Savannah were here for the last sad rites.

In Honor of Brides Elect

One of the prettiest of the pre-nuptial entertainments that are being given in honor of the Misses Beulah and Blanche Spurling, whose double wedding will take place on Saturday, was the shower on Monday afternoon given by the ladies of the Methodist church, at the home of Mrs. Claude Herndon. The rooms were lovely with their floral decorations and dainty white linens, carrying out the wedding colors of yellow and green in the living-room, a scheme of pink and green in the dining-room. In this room a white covered throne had been arranged, over which trailed graceful sprays of the pink vine and English ivy. Banked on either side were potted ferns on high standards while the same effective arrangement of vines and dainty pink flowers, and potted plants completed the decorations, with the soft radiance of pink-shaded lights over all. In the living-room and on the porch, great masses of yellow daisies were relieved by greenery of ferns and other plants.

Guests were received by Mrs. P. M. Elder, Mrs. C. W. White, and Mrs. Claude Herndon. Seated at the piano Miss Julia Laing announced the arrival of the guests of honor by playing Lohengrin's Wedding March. They were escorted to the throne by Mrs. Ralph Goodspeed and Mrs. W. L. Morgan. Wafted in by the October breezes, lightly dancing and flitting about among the flowers, two charming little fairies Alice Elder and Irene Griffin, poised at the feet of the honorees and deposited baskets of white and green filled with gifts. So many were these wonderful packages, that several trips to Fairy Land were necessary to bring them all.

A delightful program of music was rendered throughout the afternoon and a salad course was served at the refreshment hour. Assisting in serving were Misses Anna Mason, Julia Laing Carolyn Spencer and Le Claire Jones.

Wee Folks Birthday Party

In honor of the fourth birthday of little Miss Martha Almeda Bryan, and the second birthday of Master Leslie Tolar, thirty five little boys and girls were invited to a lovely party on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. P. Bryan. Halloween decorations were used throughout the rooms and were carried out in the refreshments, while kindergarten games were played during the afternoon. Assembling on the lawn, at the refreshment hour, the kiddies marched by twos into the dining room where the big birthday cake was cut, Master Leslie and Miss Martha passing around the table to each guest who took a bite of the cake, after which they again marched out on the lawn, and here ice cream and cake were served. Yellow hats, with black cats and pumpkins were the favors which the guests carried away to remember the delightful occasion. Both honorees received many gifts, which is the best part of a birthday party after all. Assisting Mrs. Bryan were Mrs. Archie Betts, Mrs. Tolar, Mrs. H. B. Crowder, Mrs. Fred Dalger, Mrs. L. Y. Bryan, Mrs. C. W. Bray, Mrs. Porter Miss Gladys Bryan, and Miss Burns.

Social Meeting of Auxiliary

Mrs. F. B. Langley was hostess to the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church at its social meeting on Monday afternoon at her home on Park Ave. Pink roses featured the decorations and an iced tea and sandwich course was served for refreshments. An interesting program on Korea, the study of the afternoon, was much enjoyed. A fine paper on the customs and habits of the country, given by Mrs. J. E. Baker, who was followed by Mrs. George Dickenson with an interesting paper on the political and religious conditions that prevail in Korea. A vocal duet was delightfully rendered by Mrs. Frank Woodruff and Mrs. H. C. DuBose. The pleasing program closed with a charming selection by Mildred Holly.

G. A. Speer and Son's Fall Showing Groups of eager women waited patiently for the opening of the doors of the G. A. Speer and Son's Dry Goods Establishment on Tuesday morning and were fully repaid by the attractive appearance of the new store the latest addition to Sanford's business enterprises. Never were lovelier decorations than greeted the eyes of the hundreds of customers on the opening day. Flowers in great profusion in myriads of colors and varieties were carefully arranged in bowls, baskets and vases upon the counters, while great masses of yellow daisies, almandas, and trumpet flowers above the shelves and on low pedestals were relieved by great potted ferns everywhere. Particularly beautiful and receiving many comments of praise was the large peculiarly shaped Japanese basket filled with red hibiscus which hung in the coat-suit and ladies ready-to-wear department.

The handsome display of dress goods fascinating in texture, quality, and colors, the dainty linens and lingerie, lovely waists, and every conceivable line of goods handled by a strictly up to date and modern dry goods emporium was enhanced by the floral setting. The very latest models in coats, suits and dresses together with a special department of furs with all the dainty accessories of the toilet completed a display of beauty dear to the heart of woman kind. A corps of courteous and obliging saleswomen together with their priors during the entire day were busily engaged in displaying goods to the delighted groups who filled the store. Music was an attractive feature of the afternoon.

Mr. G. A. Speer has been identified with the dry goods business of Sanford for many years, first with the N. P. Yowell Co., later was a member of the firm of Yowell-Speer Co., Mr. Vivian Speer who is associated in the business with his father, has practically grown up in this business, and is an experienced salesman. The attractive opening augurs well for the success of the new firm of G. A. Speer and Son.

Wire Basket Invented

Mr. J. P. Hall of this city has invented and patented a useful and convenient file basket for the use of telegraph offices.

This receptacle is of convenient size, which will constitute a unit in a series, so that a number of the baskets may be assembled for the use of distributing records and the like alphabetically.

A card holding device, to receive advertising matter or matter indicating the contents of the receptacle is included in the clever invention. Its height is seven and a quarter inches, width nine inches, depth three and three-quarter inches. It is constructed of wire mesh, the front wall being cut away for convenience in consulting the contents of the basket, the front wall carries also, the metallic card receiving device. The file basket can be used by any telegraph company, or by any other business office.

Mr. Hall is negotiating with several factories for production and expects soon to have his invention on the market. Mr. Hall is the general manager of the local Western Union office, and has many friends both here and in other sections of the state who will be interested in the success of his invention.

The night hours are being made a burden of horror and terror in the Lake Onora section by the firing of guns on the straying cattle, browsing about and destroying the farms and fruit trees of property owners in the vicinity.

It is said that as many as fifty head of cattle will browse on one farm in the course of a night, and having no other protection are being killed by the exasperated land owners.

It would save perfectly good beef in large quantities for consumption in the community if the cattle men would round up their straying cattle, saving also the production of fruits and vegetables, which might have a tendency to bring down the high cost of living.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

Titusville has voted bonds for a road from Titusville to the St.
Johns river and across the Indian river to the ocean with bridges for the rivers. This will mean a big exodus of folks from the interior to Titusville and the ocean
every summer.

We congratulate the South Florida
Press Association upon their selection of Gilbert Leach of Leesburg for president and Ansil Miller of Eustis for secretary. Both good men from a good county and they will make the South Florida Press Association a power for good in the land.

Morton Milford of Washington is the new editor of the Ft. Myers Press and we are glad to note that the Florida Press gang is getting such good material from other parts of the country. They will all eventually come to Florida anyhow but we are glad to see them coming so early. Bro. Milford knew a good thing and took advantage
of it.

The amendments about the Shantung affair have been turned down by the Senate which looks good for the adoption of the peace treaty as it stands. This simply means that Japan will have sovereignty over that part of China much as the United States has over the Philippines. They will some day turn it back to China just as the U. S.
means to do with the Philippines.
Nothing to be alarmed about and nothing extraordinary about it.

The very latest move in Tampa is a glass factory. There is always something new in Florida sand and glass can be made here if anywhere. However this new kind of "shine" would age better in wood than glass and probably a barrel factory would do twice the business although window glass ought to be in demand right on as the head of the house will probably want to kick out all the windows after visiting the still on the hillside.

The Herald is in receipt of communications every week talking about the blind tigers and why they are not suppressed as the evidence is very plain that liquor is being made and sold in every part of the county and here in Sanford.
Our advice about this liquor question is for the courts to send the offenders to the road instead of fining them and liquor selling will be stopped for six months at any rate. A jail sentence for the men who make it and for the men who fill up on it would put a stop to it right now.

Leesburg is all right. We see by the Commercial that the boys who took part in the world war were invited to a gathering in the Opera House where there was plenty to eat, good music, dancing and an evening of enjoyment for the boys and their families and friends. We cannot have too many of these affairs for the soldier boys. We are too prone to forget what these boys have done for us. Would it not be good thing for Sanford to arrange for a few entertainments for the boys who served their country in the late unpleasantness?

The hospital is getting on. With the sale of furniture of the Fernald home and plans made for the necessary changes and repairs to the building being drawn, Sanford's fine
hospital will soon be ready for occupancy. And all of the people who have seen this elegant home are of the opinion that the people of Seminole county who stand by this hospital will not be ashamed of it in the years to come for it will be one of the best in this part of the state. The home lends itself admirably for hospital purposes and when finished will be most comfortable in every way.

Ellison Adams has relinquished
his work as editor of the Winter
Park Post and Miss Emily Nicoll takes his place. Ellison answered the call to arms before America
went in and drove an ambulance
in the French army afterward joining the American forces and the Winter Park Post was kept alive
during his absence by volunteers.
Miss Nicoll was the last one to take up the editorial duties and has made many improvements in the paper and her many friends in the press gang are glad to know that she will continue in this capacity.

A Missouri editor has evidently grown weary of strike news. He offers the following advice: "Have you struck yet? If not, organize yourself immediately and quit work at once. In these days, with an approaching millenium apparent on all sides, no man really ought to have less than $50,000 a year, four automobiles, a summer abroad each year and a winter vacation thrown in. An hour a day at, say, $100 an hour, with time and a half for overtime, is all any citizen ought to work, under the new order.
Walk out anyhow. If everybody can be induced to quit work, things will prosper marvelously and you
with them."

Lake county has raised a large sum of money for a County Chamber of Commerce and Willis Powell has been engaged as secretary. This is a move in the right direction
and under the capable hand of Willis Powell Lake county will get the benefit of the right kind of advertising and will attract people from all parts of the country. Lake county is one of the most attractive counties in the state and Willis is one of the greatest boosters in the state and this is where two good ones have met to the mutual advantage of both. Aside from the County Chamber of Commerce, Tavares, Eustis, Leesburg, Mt. Dora, Umatilla and other towns in the county have their own trade bodie
and much good is bound to result from their united efforts.

No More Free Stuff
The South Florida Press Association has passed a resolution against the giving of free newspaper space and set forth just where they stood upon this matter. In these days of high cost of everything that goes to make up a newspaper
it is suicide for any publisher to give space away and none of them can afford to do it.

At the close of the business session at Orlando, George M. Goolsby, retiring president of the association, presented a set of resolutions concerning free publicity and propaganda, which, after broad discussion, were unanimously adopted,
as follows:

"Whereas, Owing to the great demand on country newspapers for free space by the many government and national benevolent organizations appealing to the public for financial aid, and

"Whereas, The limitations of the country newspaper are such that it is impossible for them to do justice to all these worthy causes, which we feel merit the generous consideration of the public, and

"Whereas, The officials of the organizations, including the pastors of the various churches are also working for meritorious causes for which they are paid liberal salaries, therefore

"Be It Resolved By the South Florida Press Association, assembled
at Orlando, Fla., Saturday, October 11, 1919, that in the consideration of reasons given above that we should also receive some recompense for aid and services which we rendered to these good causes; and we will hereafter charge for the publicity matter aforesaid our full advertising rates. In doing this we beg to call attention to the fact that we have been giving liberally to all these causes and in the meantime owing to the great increase in price of all materials, including help and everything necessary to the publication of a newspaper is more costly than ever before in many years and we feel it imperative that we should use every reasonable effort to make our business
self-sustaining and profitable."

A Lakeland hotel has changed hands,
the consideration being $300,000, the largest real estate deal consummated in that city for a long time.

SEMINOLE IS THIRD
In Enrollment Among the High Schools of State

The people of Seminole county
firmly believe in their high schools,
as is shown by a receipt chart, or graph, devised by Supt. Dixie Hollins, of Pinellas county. This graph shows Pinellas at the head of the list, Leon second, and Seminole third. This means that of the fifty-four counties of the State of Florida only two rank above Seminole, while fifty-one are below her in percentage of high school enrollment as based on total school enrollment of the county. And if these two counties are not very careful of their laurels Seminole will soon be at the head of the list—
for surely our people believe in these "Peoples Colleges," our high grade high schools.

Not to drop his groceries
On our roof again.
Wish, had to climb around
Nearly broke his neck.

Lost a half a peck.

Wish you'd tell your pilot man
When he brings the fish
Try to make a better aim
At out chaffing dish.

On the dewey lawn—
Hope to find the fish therein
When I rise at dawn.

Prohibition has not taken the joy out of joy rides by any means,
for some people are still able to mix
moonshine with gasoline in unequal proportions with the result that are rather dangerous to said J.
R's.

William Waldorf Astor, who resided in America citizenship
a few years ago in order to become an English nobleman, has died and few Americans and I suppose few Englishmen care much. Such a man deserves nothing but contempt
from both sides of the water.

I hear a little worm is playing havoc with the celery plants in some parts of the Celery Delta.
Life seems to be made up of worms
of one sort or another and plant life and human life seems destined to battle with the worms from start to finish.

Some cities are investigating the idea of putting up tents for winter
visitors, for nowhere can buildings
be erected fast enough to keep up with the exodus of visitors. This is not a bad idea for many of our visitors would like to try the out door life in Florida and the tent idea would appeal to them. In fact tents can be made very comfortable and Sanford might investigate this idea with good results.

I want the Woman's Club, the Library Association and the Board of Trade to join hands and build a fine community building either on the lake shore or near the lake preferably on Park avenue. It would be the kind of building that Sanford needs and a building that would not only be for our own community but for the benefit of the visitors to the city as well.
Something neat, not gaudy, but nice looking and serviceable and a building that would be a credit to the city. We need more of these buildings in Sanford and the lake shore is the place for them.

And then along this line we can also have a pavilion on the lake shore at the foot of Park avenue.
And the Elks or some other organization can build a nice building down there. And we can build that Yacht Club down there and have that basin for boats that we arranged for so many years ago and then forgot about it. Our lake shore is the most valuable asset of this city and yet it is the most neglected and few people take the interest in it that they should.

The tourists that are coming to this city this season and take advantage of our good hotels will want something of this sort on the lake shore. Many of them come from sections where there are no bodies of water and they go wild over our fine lake. They wonder why it is not fixed up pretty, and they wonder why we do not make it our most valuable asset. Familiarity has bred contempt with us and yet we should make our plans
to bring out the many beauties
of this lake and every dollar spent on it will be returned one hundred fold.

Postmaster Elder is greatly worried over the fact that an official

the postoffice must be closed at 9 o'clock. This ruling is to take effect that where there is no high

watchman the office must be closed
when the employees leave at night and this ruling here would be a hardship on many people who want to get their mail after 85 comes in or who want to mail letters at night after this time. The Board of Trade and the citizens generally should petition the Postal Department about this closing and assist the postmaster in his efforts to keep the building open all night as has been done in the past.

Dr. Holley at the Temple Sunday

Dr. Holley, President of Stetson University will speak at the Baptist Temple next Sunday, at both the morning and evening hours. The Doctor will also address the Members of the Sunday Morning Club in the parlors of the Temple
during the Sunday school hours.

The Doctor has consented to give lecture on the Constitution at the Sunday morning service and at the evening service he will give another splendid address. Extra seats have been provided and all who wish to attend the services will be made comfortable.

to that port. Already the men are speaking for accommodations, but most of them will no doubt, remain aboard
their ships.

Had Excuse for Eating Candy.
Edith's aunt had come for dinner and brought the little girl a box of candy, but warning her not to eat any of it until after the meal, as it would spoil her appetite. Edith turned to her mother and asked what the menu
for the meal was, and was informed that lamb stew had been provided.
"Oh, then I guess I'll eat tandy and spoil my appetite. I don't care for lamb stew."

Costa Rica.

Costa Rica is the most southerly
of the Central American republics, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, with Cocos island as its outlying possession. It lies between Nicaragua and Panama. A considerable area of the country is high tableland with a temperate climate, but the land along the coast is low, with tropical vegetation and a strictly tropical climate.

First Orlando Woman to Become Candidate for Office

The first Orlando woman who ever offered to become a candidate for office is Mrs. A. B. Whitman, who announced yesterday her candidacy for the office of commissioner
at the approaching primary, November 10. Mrs. Whitman has been in the park commission for a number of years and has been faithful
in the performance of her duties.
She has done a great deal to enhance the beauty of Orlando as her work on the commission has been excellent. Mrs. Whitman is interested in club and church affairs,

being a leading spirit in the Rosa-bind Club, the Sorosis Club, the Episcopal church and other organizations. Her friends will wish her success in her ambition to become a city official.—Orlando Sentinel.

What
Is Wise
Spending?

Wise spending is the foundation of intelligent saving.
We must spend to live;
just as we must work to earn.

If we spend foolishly, we get less for our work, have less to save, less to spend
in the future.

Wise spending means that we think before we spend.
Then we buy to our ability
what we really need today.
But we wisely hold some money, for tomorrow's, or next month's, or next year's needs or unforeseen emergencies.

Wise spending gives us
more for our work now,
and leaves more money for future spending.

It is getting full value
in goods, comforts, service,
advancement, and fun.

War Savings Stamps are a wise purchase.

Shopper Advises Patient Clerk She Wanted Only Enough Linoleum to Cover Canary's Cage.

The day was hot, the hour rapidly approaching closing time, and the salesman thoroughly worn out and tired.

Still, he was a good salesman, and the customer before him—a lady faultlessly attired in next year's fashions—had the appearance of being a really liberal purchaser.

Cheerfully, therefore, he unrolled and re-rolled piece after piece of linoleum for her inspection. But all to no purpose. Nothing, it seemed, could satisfy her hypercritical taste.

"I'm extremely sorry, madam," said the salesman, "but I'm afraid I've shown you all the linoleums I have in stock. Of course, I can get some more up from our factory; and if you care to call again tomorrow—"

"Yes," broke in the customer, "perhaps I'd better leave it at that. You see, I want quite a small design—something suitable for the floor of a canary's cage."

PURITY OF NATURAL ICE

Common Notion That Manufactured Article Is Best Shown to Be Fallacy.

The common remark that natural ice is not so pure as the manufactured kind is somewhat of a fallacy. Practically 99 per cent of all the impurities are cast off by nature in the process of freezing. The remainder of the impurities that are included in the ice die in transportation. Sometimes, of course, even in a healthy flowing stream, nature slips up and a germ does get locked up in an ice crystal, but this is usually the finish of the troublesome germ, for though the cold does not often kill him the fact he can not roam about and search for food brings on starvation. Some germs die quickly, others live a week, while laboratory tests show that the typhoid germ lives longest—its maximum limit of life while frozen in ice being placed at three months. Since natural ice is usually stored at least ninety days before it is shipped to market, the matter of its purity need not be doubted. Many tests of natural ice have shown that it is far more pure than the city water of most communities.—Floyd W. Parsons in the Saturday Evening Post.

BACON HAD A RELAPSE.

The customer eyed the rashers keenly.

"I tell you, madam," pursued the shopman, "that bacon is as right as you are."

"I say it's bad," persisted the customer.

"How can that be?" he reasoned. "Why, it was only cured last week!"

"Well, all I can say then," she concluded, as she turned away, "is that it must have had a relapse."—London Tit-Bits.

Origin of the Loving Cup.

The origin of the loving cup is hazy. Some investigators have asserted that its beginning was the wassail bowl, belonging to festivities antedating the Christian era, and that on the advent of Christianity the custom of wassailing assumed a religious aspect. The monks called the wassail bowl the "pocalum caritatis" (loving cup). The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed at the Jewish paschal supper and on other notable occasions.

Live Near to Others.

Work the mine of your own home. Dig deep into the affection of the wife and little ones. Spend more time in their company. Talk with them more. Read to them and listen while they read. Discuss the world's big questions with them. Precious metal here. And don't be too busy to get better acquainted with the neighbor young folks. The man who lives near to the heart of others, lives long, well and happily.

Smallest Component of Matter.

An electron is the smallest known component of matter. Scientists have weighed and measured electrons, and can even estimate their number. But they haven't seen them. They are too tiny to appear upon the microscope field, although the microscope reveals objects so minute that 125,000,000,000 of them could be crowded into a cubic centimeter.

New Crate for Lettuce

The adoption of a crate instead of a hamper for a large part of lettuce shipments of the Manatee County Growers' Association for the season seems assured. C. C. Hutches, general manager, brought back a sample of the crate under construction and stated that the crate was largely and favorably used in practically all lettuce markets whereas the hamper locally used is strongly disliked by the trade.

A definite decision of adoption has not been taken although the matter has been under almost consideration for two weeks, the thoroughness with which the matter is being considered being merely a fresh evidence of the characteristics of the local vegetable exchange. Mr. Hutches states that the chief advantage of the present proposed crate over the present hamper is that prospective buyers of lettuce can see every head of lettuce before buying and without opening the crate. It is also claimed that lettuce carries better, it handles easier and quicker, and that for these reasons a smaller number of heads will bring the same amount of money.

The crate is designed to hold 24 heads of lettuce and is designed only for use with first grade stuff. The stems are turned in showing the lettuce to maximum advantage.

The crate was first placed before the growers at a largely attended meeting, a sample being on exhibition. It was explained that the chief drawback is that unlike the hamper the crate cannot be packed in the field as the lettuce is cut. In other words the heads must be placed on trays and carried to the row ends as the crate takes too much ground space to sit between the rows.

Mr. Bennett, treasurer of the association, made a trip to the crate mills at Plant City to confer regarding the manufacture of the crate. Upon his return a meeting of the board of directors and interested lettuce growers was held.

Tested 250,000 Miles Three-Point Cantilever Springs Greatest Improvement Since Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been put through the most thorough and severe test possible. 250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Cantilever Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Spring-base gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to Marshall Divan Spring Upholstery.

PINK BUNGALOW

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

It was pink, a rampant rose pink that smote the eyes the instant the shore train rounded the curve, and its veranda was a clambering mass of rose clusters from rock foundation to roof. Mrs. Demorest took one look at it and leaned back in her car horrified. "I can't imagine why you even thought I could live next door to that horror all summer," she told Dudley. "It will fairly smoke on hot days with such coloring. Who lives there?"

"Oh, mother dear, who cares who lives there," teased the major. "After all I've been through a pink bungalow won't ruffle my happiness. You've been living too easily over here. Turn your back on it if you don't like it." Which she certainly proceeded to do; not only her back, but Venetian blinds were ordered immediately for that side of the Demorest veranda, and Japanese shades for the sleeping porch and bedroom windows, that no glare of the offending pink should hit her eyes.

The major was strictly neutral. He lounged about the grounds, chatting with the gardener and chauffeur, or strolled the two blocks down to the wide strip of beach every morning before breakfast. And here he did have a startling experience which failed to reach the ears of Mrs. Demorest. It must have been about 6:30.

Just as he came down his steps he caught a flash of rose pink running along the sidewalk from the beach, looking for all the world like a large runaway rose. It turned into the garden next door, ran up the steps and vanished.

"God bless us," murmured the major thoughtfully. "What was that, Judd?" The gardener shook his head.

"Best, sir, I couldn't say. It's a young lady next door. She takes her dip early. She lives with her grandma, very dignified old lady, sir. Understand she got back from war lately, too; used to drive her own motor car full of sick folks."

This was establishing a fraternal basis for opening up overtures. The major waited his chance, and called, not on the rose girl, but on her grandmother. Miss Sigourney welcomed him charmingly. They had come to America after the invasion of northern France, and one granddaughter had married here. Diane, the younger, had kept on her work at the front until the close of the war. Now they were resting at Spring Beach until the return home.

The major told his mother nothing of his visit.

Mrs. Demorest was too much engrossed in her own activities to notice what was developing beyond the Venetian blinds. After much argument the little close corporation at Spring Beach which comprised local "society" had decided to give a Versailles fete under Mrs. Demorest's guidance.

"We have everything but celebrities, dear," she told the major. "Can't you find me some heroes?"

"They'd run ten miles from being on a parade like that, Mumzie," he laughed. "I wouldn't be responsible."

"But Mr. Everitt will be there, and he was on so many committees over there, and so very important, Jack, that we must have him meet some one of importance. We're going to have the dear countess—oh, I forget her name. Mrs. Vaughan knows her well. She will be guest of honor after Mr. Everitt, or should she come first?"

The major rose restlessly at a

of pink in the garden and excused himself.

"Have it your own way, Mumzie," he told her, hurrying out to find Diane. Later on he did suggest that they include their neighbors on the receiving committee for the fete, but Mrs. Demorest refused.

"Pink bungalow, that tells it all, Jack."

The day of the fete the major declined to attend. He was extremely "busy." It appeared, and no coaxing would make him stir.

"I'm sure it's that girl in pink," Mrs. Demorest thought anxiously as she turned her head to watch him out of sight. "Men are impossible."

At half past three Diane came down the steps next door, lovely as a rose in her new gown, with a rose pink parasol tilted over her. The major joined her at once and discovered that she was bound for the fete over at the Vaughn's grounds. Also, "in home grandmama" was likewise going, and he wondered why her brown eyes shone with mischief as she sat him by at luncheon he could not accompany them.

As they entered the beautiful entrance gates at Lynwood, he saw Everitt hurrying toward them. The whole receiving line of ladies seemed to wait their cue. And Diane laughed with eager outstretched hands.

"Oh, but it is so good to see you again, Monsieur Everitt!"

The major's heels clicked attention and his chin was up as he realized the joke was on him. The Countess de Sigourney was being welcomed by Spring Beach's best, and his rose girl was swept away from him. As the truth dawned on Mrs. Demorest, she came to him anxiously and held her hand on his arm.

"I'm so very sorry, Jack. Of course I couldn't be expected to know, could I? And a pink bungalow is rather disturbing. Have I hurt your chances?"

He laughed, his eyes softening as they followed Diane.

"No, Mumzie. Madame gave her consent to our marriage last night." (Copyright, 1919, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

DAVID'S LOVE

By MILDRED WHITE.

Abbie Vall bent over the pan of peas she was podding—rebellious in her firm-pressed lips and somber eyes. David was taking too much for granted. Just because they had been looked upon as sweethearts in their school days was no reason why the old order should continue. Abbie blamed David for the general understanding; as long as he insisted upon monopolizing her evenings, it must continue. David was so dense; Abbie's ill-treatment of him could not shake his allegiance.

She did not confess, even to herself, that this devotion had but recently caused her annoyance. Previous to the arrival of the handsome stranger she seemed to enjoy it.

Abbie had not actually promised herself to David, and since the advent of J. Radford Sills she was conscious of many crudities in David's appearance and manner, of which she had been heretofore blissfully unaware.

J. Radford, fastidiously correct in dress, winningly courteous in his ways, was a formidable rival. Little Abbie was very proud as she walked at his side down the main street.

Mrs. Vall had taken J. Radford Sills as a summer boarder, upon his recommendation from an old friend of hers, now located in that same city.

Abbie Vall had looked with awe upon their guest, the neat sleeping room seemed all at once bare and unworthy of such a presence, so she set about adorning it with favorite trifles of her own.

The dining table, too, was dressed with fresh flowers, and Abbie herself, dainty always in fresh muslins. And David sat by, patient, vaguely troubled at her aloofness. Abbie wondered, with a thrill, what it might be like to be loved by a superior being, and her triumph came with startling promptness.

J. Radford loved her, really loved her, the little country girl, podding peas on the old back porch into a shining tin pan. Only last evening he had told her so, speaking in a glorious way as a being should speak, comparing his love to the depth of the sea and his constancy to the stars which shone above.

David had never talked like that. David was strangely shy before her, always humble. So Abbie Vall was rebellious today, that David might not know that she had outgrown a simple, silent love, that he must force the knowledge from her in so many words.

With the acquisition of this admired man's love Abbie felt far removed from simplicity and homely surroundings. She despised the broken place on the porch, the peas in the pan. She intended to be like the women her new lover had pictured—women of his world—modish, charming. She hoped that her mother would sell the old place, and go with her to the city. After all, the farm was her own; it had been grandfather's legacy to her, outliving his daughter's name from his will because of a marriage which had displeased him.

Mother had not minded; she knew that this was her father's way of bestowing the homestead upon herself; after all, in her widowhood she knew that Abbie's home would be hers also. The banker had suggested that for her to sell now would be a wise move. Abbie honored her mother's wish, and to the plan. They could all three live happily in the city together after he and Abbie were married.

Her face brightened at the sound of a step on the walk, but it was only David. David, with his new-wearied eyes, and kindly, believing smile.

He took no notice of Abbie's forbidding attitude, but dropped down on the step beside her, looking searchingly into her averted face.

"So you haven't heard," he said with a sigh of relief. "Reckon, then, I'll be the first to tell the news, an' maybe I can make it softer. I'll shock you, Abbie, 'till you get used to the idea. It's about that banking fellow. He—well, he isn't what you have thought him to be all along, dear; reckon—" David smiled—"he's worse what I thought him to be."

Slowly David took a city paper from his pocket and unfolded it before the girl's winking eyes.

"A defaulter," read David, "hiding around in the country under an assumed name. Got him this morning walking along the main road and took him back to town. Been keeping the standing up pretty clever for some time back, the same way."

Unconscious of the girl's stricken face, David folded his paper, and put it back into his pocket.

"And now, girl, dear," he said gently, "I've another kind of news that's better. You've been so busy lately you haven't asked much what I've been doing. Abbie; there's the nicest little bungalow on the main road that you ever saw, and it's mine—mine and yours, dear, whenever you want to say so. Your mother, I reckon, 'll be happy right here in her own old home."

"But, David," breathed Abbie—she found her voice with difficulty—"I haven't been living you, David. I've been living that—that other man."

David smiled his patient smile. "Oh, no, you ain't dear," he said. "You've just been thinking you loved him; it was part of that wrong thinking of yours. I knew all the time that you didn't, and I've been right."

"And you can forgive me?" asked Abbie, wondering.

David nodded. "That's the kind of love I've got," he said.

He Didn't.

Part of the peace celebrations at Little Muchcombe was a shooting match for lads under seventeen. Although the judge had his doubts about some of the competitors, he held his peace.

The prize finally lay between two marksmen, and the excitement became intense.

A small boy of ten or so, who had crowded close up to the barrier, suddenly called out to one of the competitors:

"Good shot, dad! A few more of those and you'll get the prize!"—London Answers.

Worth Trying.

"What do you think of the plan to do away with pockets in men's clothes?"

"I think it's a good idea," replied the busy man. "It may be the means of curing some people of the habit of standing around with their hands in their pockets and criticizing other people who are at work."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Answered.

"You know," said the lady whose motor car had run down a man, "you must have been walking very carelessly. I am a very careful driver. I have been driving a car for seven years."

"Lady, you've got nothing on me. I've been walking for 54 years."—Detroit Motor News.

Dad's Little Joke.

"How do you like this necktie, son?"

"I wouldn't wear it to a dog fight." "I'm glad to hear you say that. I'll buy it for myself. I'd like to have at least one tie of my own that you won't be wearing when I want it."

Pola an Old City.

Pola was a Thracian colony when the Romans swooped down and took it in 175 B. C., and a stormy existence followed this descent of the world-conquerors. In 1379 it was virtually blotted out of existence when the Genoese, darling forerunners of Admiral Christopher Columbus, defeated the Venetians in a great sea fight off the port, and then wrecked the town—and kept it out of its annals for a century and a half. It came back finally and waxed important again and since 1815 was Austria's principal naval harbor.

Need Animal Food.
It has been found that such animal food as milk, eggs and meat contains growth-producing substances in quantities sufficient for the rapid growth and development of the body. While these substances are found in certain vegetables and grain, they are in quantities so small that often in the ordinary diet sufficient quantities are not consumed to meet the needs of the growing body.

The Perfect Lining Behind the Gridiron Tread

QUALITY materials, careful manufacturing and strict inspection are the reasons for the Long Life of Kokomo Tires. Fresh white rubber is the tread that best resists wear. But the lining of Kokomo tires has much to do with their Long Life. The illustrated cross section of a White Gridiron Tread Tire shows the friction "cushions" which lie between each layer of the heavy special cotton fabric, with its cordlike weave. These prevent unnecessary rubbing of the fabric layers and contribute to the Long Life of Kokomo Tires. They are backed by a 1,000 mile guarantee. Made by the pioneer tire manufacturers of the industry.
