Congress Readies For Anti-Recession, Defense Measure Battle

By RAYMOND LANE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)— Congress returned from its pulse-taking recess today with battle lines hardened for coming warfare over anti-recession and national defense measures.

Both administration and congressional leaders have held back from tax reduction as an anti-recession weapon. They want a later diagnosis of the outlook for business and the federal budget.

Some Reduction Likely
Even so the betting now is on some kind of tax reduction this year—at least a few excise sales tax cuts on automobiles, freight and other items. If business does not stage a recovery soon, a general reduction in income and excise taxes is likely.

The 85th Congress was ready to tackle other anti-recession bills. After passage of housing, highway and other public works bills with heavy bipartisan support before Easter, party lines have been stiffening on economic measures.

In the Senate the first order of business was a bill to provide a billion dollars in loans to communities for public works projects. Senate Republicans forced a delay on this measure before the recess.

The House Ways & Means Committee goes to work Tuesday on differing administration and Democratic proposals to provide extra unemployment insurance payments to persons who have exhausted their benefits.

President Eisenhower prodded Congress on Sunday to "act as swiftly as possible" on the issue.

Contacts cutting across party lines are coming up on other issues, particularly the President's plan to overhaul the organization of the armed forces. Despite opposition from powerful figures in Congress, Eisenhower has promised to keep shuffling for his plan.

West Okays Proposal For Talks In Moscow

LONDON (UP)— The West will accept Soviet Russia's proposal to start pre-summit diplomatic talks in Moscow this week, authoritative Western sources said today.

But at the same time, the sources said, the West will turn down Russia's demand that the allies commit themselves in advance to holding the summit meeting regardless of the outcome of the diplomatic discussions and a foreign ministers' conference.

Western officials believed it will not be possible to get them started so early, but thought they could begin in Moscow early next week.

The United States, Britain and France spent the weekend in what a Foreign Office spokesman described as "urgent consultations" on their reply to the Soviets.

Disney Won't Open Branch Replicas Of Disneyland

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Walt Disney said today he will not open branch replicas of Disneyland despite offers from a dozen foreign nations and uncounted requests from this country.

Some organizations have gone so far as to offer complete financing, but Walt has turned them all down.

"Disneyland is a personal project with me," he says. "I must stay close to it, otherwise the park would no longer be fun."

Not yet three years old, and already visited by 10 million wide-eyed visitors, the 160-acre park is in a constant state of flux. It barely resembles the Disneyland that opened in July, 1955.

Disney is holding to his prediction that it will never be completed.

New attractions this year include a haunted house, wax museum, a three-masted sailing ship, a submarine ride, Science Hall, "Edison Square" and a Liberty Street.

Most spectacular addition is the Grand Canyon diorama, a tunnel featuring a 305-foot wide, 440-foot high three-dimensional painting that "continues" visitors they've been transported from Anaheim, Calif., to the awesome grandeur of Arizona's big ditch.

Each year Walt plunges 2 million dollars into his fairland, adding new wonder to the eye-rubbing magic already created.

In 1956 he will build a 100-foot high mountain of steel and concrete with a skyway running through it and various rides ascending down its side.

"The fun is in the building," Disney said during lunch at his Burbank Studio headquarters. "We'll remove some of the old things as they lose popularity to add new innovations. This will keep people coming back."

U.S. Gold Output Was Off In 1956

WASHINGTON—Gold, traditionally the world's best known precious metal, had a poor production record in the United States during 1956.

The Bureau of Mines reported that production of gold dropped 3 per cent to 1,822,000 ounces in 1956. The metal, worth $84,140,000, was the smallest annual output since 1948.

Silver did somewhat better. Production for 1956 was 28,900,000 ounces, worth $28,304,500 at 90.5 cents an ounce, or 3 per cent greater than in 1955.

The decline in gold production resulted primarily from a reduction in the number and yield of placer mines in Alaska and California and to the closing of a group of lode mines in California.

The increase in silver output reflected expanded production of base metal ores, particularly copper ore yielding by-product silver.

South Dakota was the leading gold-producing state, followed in order by Utah, Alaska, and California. The three states and Alaska supplied 96 per cent of the total domestic production.

Idaho Silver
Nearly all of South Dakota's gold came from the Homestead mine. Most of Utah's gold was recovered as a by-product of copper. Alaska's gold was recovered from many placer operations, chiefly by bucketlike dredging. Virtually all of California's gold came from straight lode mines, both lode and placer.

Idaho maintained its rank as the leading silver-producing state by a wide margin. Montana was second, Utah third, and Arizona fourth. These four states supplied 84 per cent of the domestic silver output in 1956. Nearly 98 per cent of the domestic silver was recovered by smelting ores and concentrates.

Consumption of gold in U. S. arts and industry in 1956 rose for the third successive year to 1,400,000 ounces. About 76 per cent of the total represented domestic production.

Silver consumption in the arts and industries declined 1 per cent to 100 million ounces. Increased uses in the electrical field were offset by lower consumption for sterling and plated ware. The silverware, photographic and electroplating industries continued to be the leading consumers.

Radar Comes In Handy To Smooth Trip In Airliner

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—Some day in the future passengers may step into a rocket liner and zoom to Europe at speeds so fantastic and altitudes so high that weather simply will not matter.

But until that day arrives modern airliners will depend on the miracle of radar to search out a smooth route, probing as much as 150 miles ahead to find the smoothest and safest way.

An electronic miracle takes place each time the pilot or copilot switches on the twin scanners of the radarscope on each side of the cockpit—and the passengers' way is eased.

A scan of a button and a towering bank of cumulus clouds shows up on the scope like fuzzy outlines on a television screen, but accurate enough to show there may be trouble ahead.

The pilot pushes another button which changes frequencies in some mysterious way and the fuzzy cloud looks like a doughnut with a dark center. The darkness shows a high moisture content and the pilot knows that only violent up-drafts can keep the moisture in the air.

A Navigational Comfort
So he steers a course around the greatest turbulence. If it is a horizon-to-horizon mass of clouds he picks the easiest way and the passengers may never know the roughness they are missing.

Radar was developed during World War II to seek out enemy shipping at sea. It later was adapted to the needs of aircraft and used with deadly accuracy by bombers flying over darkened, fog-hidden cities.

Pan American World Airways was one of the pioneers in the exacting use of radar, installing it on its flying clippers both as an aid to navigation and more recently as an aid to comfort.

So far PAA has invested $2,500,000 in the electronic wizardry that sends out 24,000 cloud-piercing bangs every 60 seconds to keep pilots posted on what is ahead and down below.

Capt. Cleo Deregibus of New York, a 15-year veteran of the Latin American division of PAA, uses it to dodge clouds, but he also finds comfort in the way it aids navigation.

Other electronic gadgets such as "Loran" or radio direction finders pinpoint a plane's position instantly with the flick of a switch, but the radarscope lets a pilot see exactly what is ahead.

An "Extra"
Deregibus was 150 miles away from New York's International Airport on a flight from Nassau. The sky was dark except for the

The building committee told of the progress, so far, on the new church being erected on High Bank Rd. Reports were heard from other committees, on their work during the last month.

Sprinkling of lights to the west that was Atlantic City, N. J., and a dull glow on the northern horizon that was New York.

Then he flicked on the radarscope and the familiar shore of New Jersey showed up like a map. A beam of light swung around the scope, leaving in its wake a phosphorescent glow that was an accurate picture of the coastline. Manhattan island crept into view, then the outlines of Long Island, the darkness of Long Island Sound and the shores of Connecticut. A few bright alps were ships at sea. All of this was just an extra. The navigator already knew the ship's position exactly—and so did the ship's E. defense which use radar themselves to pick up every incoming plane and plot its exact position.

Deregibus explained that radar was used chiefly on flights south, where weather reports are not as exact as those for a metropolitan center, and used chiefly to explore the weather. But it can find islands in the dark or pick up vertical objects to give constant checkpoints for navigational aid.

Southern Bell

in the South... THE WOODS ARE FULL OF PROSPERITY

The rate of industrial growth in the South during the past 20 years has led the nation. The pulp and paper industry is a leader in this Southern progress.

Sixty-three primary pulp and paper mills are located in Dixie. They employ over 77,000 persons in the woods, mills and offices. Another 81,000 harvest pulpwood.

The pulp and paper industry annually contributes over one billion dollars to the South's economy at the rate of three million dollars a day. It also is giving new impetus to the region's agriculture because pulpwood has become a vitally important new cash crop to Southern farmers.

Farmers and other landowners are assured an expanding market for their trees since paper consumption is growing by leaps and bounds each year. It is predicted that 50 to 60 percent more pulpwood will be needed by 1967.

Growing trees—like growing any other crop—requires sound management. Forests that are out properly go on producing trees generation after generation. Forests that are now non-productive can be converted into money-making areas.

PULP AND PAPER DAY APRIL 18

Pulp and Paper Day will be celebrated throughout the South on April 18. This event will focus public attention on the economic importance to the region of the pulp and paper industry, its role in the South's modern agricultural development... and the tremendous economic opportunities more productive forests offer in the years ahead.

THE STORY GOES

The Story Goes: The Way It Began Was With An April Dream

The story is told that on a quiet April day peace came to the world. The air was mild and warm, full of the promise of new growth; there was the music of birdsong everywhere, and the earth was gilded with pale spring sunlight. On that day, so it is said, peace entered the hearts of all men.

It was as though the ice of fear and hatred, of greed and frustration and anxiety, had melted along with the remnants of winter weather. It was as though men throughout the world, suddenly conscious of nature's most entrancing miracle, felt the rebirth of goodwill and of kinship with the whole struggling race of mankind.

The last to be affected were the cruel, savage ones—the dictators, the repressors, all who live by the blood and toil of weaker men. The iron or ruthless ambition went out of them, just as the final stubborn mass of ice in the deepest shadows melts at last.

Then all mankind turned, as one, to the great task of building a society united by the bonds of love and compassion and freedom as the natural world is united by the burgeoning power of spring. No one built weapons of destruction, or fostered the spirit that would unleash them. And humanity prospered as never before.

That is the way it began, one quiet April day. So the story goes.

In Other Words: Trade At Home

Spring is traditionally a time for home repair and improvement. It is not surprising, therefore, that spring is also the season when the home improvement racketeers flourish.

These shifty, fast-talking fellows employ various methods of separating the home owner from his dollars and giving a minimum in return. They promise big and deliver small. They talk about first-class work—work so good that it will result in a "model" home—and then produce a shoddy job that falls short of decent standards.

What Do You Know Of Smokes

What do people know about smokers? A Harvard University research study on what constitutes a "normal" young man has made some striking discoveries, as an article in the Archives of Internal Medicine shows.

Heavy smokers, says the author, Professor Clark W. Heath of Tufts University, "showed great energy, restlessness, seeking for danger, and a kind of independence which keeps them actively engaged in some difficult with marriage. The non-smokers," the report goes on, "were steady, dependable and hard workers, with stable marriages; and they led rather quiet, progressive lives."

An interesting hint is offered that whether a man smokes or not is no mere superficial habit, but may rest on some special features of personality and psychology.

Now, what we'd like to see is a report on women smokers.

A TREE DIES IN BROOKLYN

Unemployment Up 25,000 In March

By WILLIAM J. HATON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Government officials said today unemployment rose 25,000 in March to its highest point in 194 years—5,128,000. But the increase was the smallest since the current recession began last fall.

It was down considerably from the 705,000 in February and the one million-plus rise in January.

This sharp decline in the jobless rate, plus a pickup in spring outdoor work, led to the first increase since last October in the total number of Americans working.

Reduction Would Delay Opening Of New University

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A Board of Control spokesman says that any reduction in the $6,500,000 building program for the new university near Tampa will delay its opening at least one year.

Board Executive Director J. Edward Culpepper said the five-million dollar legislative appropriation is the very minimum of facilities the university must have to open its doors on schedule in 1960.

Whether to abandon a single building, he said, the board would merely delay the opening until 1961.

The Cabinet-facing the prospects of a fund deficit in the coming fiscal year, has ordered construction cut to the bone to keep the state solvent.

Present indications are that only one half of the big building appropriation voted by the 1957 Legislature can be spent. And several officials indicated that rather than abandon any large, essential part, it might build just part of a facility and wait for another Legislature to get money for the balance.

But Culpepper and Assistant Board Business Manager Ed Delli said a Cabinet subcommittee today said that this would be impossible at the new University of South Florida.

It's all or nothing, they said, pointing out the board has adopted an inflexible rule that the $6,500,000 five-building program is the absolute minimum to open the facility.

The board will take up the matter at its meeting in St. Augustine April 17.

Employment, officials said, rose by about 300,000 last month to approximately 62,250,000. The figure for October was 62 million. In July, just before the recession began, it was a record 67,300,000.

Statement by Mitchell
The Labor Department was scheduled to announce the statistics on last month's job picture at noon. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell planned to issue a statement later on the figures.

Mitchell was expected to hail the improved employment situation as a sign that the recession is easing. President Eisenhower said March 20 he believed "we are going through the worst of it right now," and Mitchell has predicted a general economic upturn by mid-year.

The President called his principal economic advisers to the White House this morning for a conference. They included Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson; Federal Reserve Board Chairman William C. Mc. Martin Jr.; Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers; and Dr. Gabriel Hauge, assistant economic adviser.

Evan Glasgow, commissioner of labor statistics, also said the prices of new cars, refrigerators, television sets and other appliances will begin sliding down before 1959 models go on sale.

But he said there is no hope that haircuts, streetcar fares, movie admissions, doctor bills, electricity rates and other service items will go down. Instead, they will climb "slowly but steadily."

Income Tax Tips

The Florida Accountants Association—an affiliate of National Society of Public Accountants—

I hope you have already filed your 1957 federal income tax return.

If not, then you should put this paper down and get that return in the mail right now.

If you find for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to complete your federal income tax return for filing by midnight Tuesday, April 15, 1958, then you should request an extension of time in which to file your return. Extensions are usually granted, for good reason, for a ninety-day period; although the Director may grant an extension for as long as six months, if the circumstances warrant.

Requests for extensions of time are filed on forms furnished by the Treasury in triplicate, and the request must be signed by you or your duly authorized agent.

These forms are available at your local office of the Internal Revenue Service. All requests for extensions should be on these forms and three copies are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do. Your application should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name and address as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

If, by reason of illness, absence or other good reason, you are unable to sign this request, then any person in close business or personal relationship with you may do so, provided the reason and relationship are clearly stated in the request. In such case, the signer of the request will be considered your duly authorized agent for this purpose.

Extensions are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accident, inability to secure all the facts necessary to complete your return, etc. Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway. Uncle Sam will send you a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. He will charge you 6% interest, but there

Conning The News

The fairways are cleared of women for their state tournament men now, and already filled with which begins Wednesday. The men, of course, are taking things far more casually, and have not bothered with the thousand and one details checked by the local women's golf association.

Comments from the visiting gals were really fabulous. They raved about the golf course (in magnificent condition, thanks to Hob Wills), the accommodations (just about all of them stayed at the Mayfair Inn), the entertainment (truly terrific), the prizes (picked with an eye to taste by Keen Ivey), and the downright courtesy and friendliness of everyone in Sanford with whom they had contact.

Stan Piskorski is back from the Mediterranean with VAH-9 and has already departed for Newport where he will go to C. S. E. Bauer and the children will stay here while he is gone. The Piskorskis went to see Victor Borge Friday night.

Speaking of Esther always reminds me of her pet project—mental health. And that reminds me that at the Woman's Club next Tuesday afternoon at one—there will be a most interesting program, featuring two speakers. The meeting is open to the public.

Besides Miss Margaret Margrave, who gave the local association a good push in the beginning, Dr. Melvin P. Reid, M.D., acting director of the Mental Health Department of The Florida State Health Department, will talk on "The Origin of Emotional Problems in Children." He will discuss in this message the various kinds of deprivation which lead to mental disorders. We urge you to attend if you possibly can.

Another interesting note about Dr. Reid is that he was dominant in testing children in Brevard County—with the result that they now have a program for gifted children over there. Miss Margrave will speak on "What a woman can do for mental health in her community."

In spite of the hard work of committees, and believe me, it was hard, our local golfers managed to carry away their share of the loot. A tremendous cup now sits at the Mayfair Country Club, won by our own team of Jeanne Foulk, Ellen Betts and Dot Powell.

It would be impossible to include the names of all those responsible for the success of the tournament. The golfers themselves were delightful. Helen Andrew, manager of the Mayfair Country Club, commented on their courtesy and thoughtfulness. No one knows how many friends Sanford has made this week with this tournament. It would be a hard thing to measure.

Lawyer Fred Wilson is one of our favorite people in town. Mr. Wilson came in the office the other day with the news that his grandson, Gray Mitchem of Milwaukee, appears in the advertisement of Evinrude Motors in the April issue of Reader's Digest and numerous other magazines. Gray is ten years old, and son of Helen and Dan Mitchem. Needless to say, Mr. Wilson is bubbling over with pride and happiness.

Ann Middlemas, co-ordinator for the state championship, won yesterday by Miss De Moss, and medalist Mrs. William Foulk.

Mrs. Ruth Myers, Lady Lake, gave the history of the Louise Camp Memorial Trophy, before introducing Mrs. Grace Gibbons of Ocala who made the presentation.

The tables were decorated with candelabra, arrangements of lily, and red and white carnations.

Miami Golfer Wins Louise Camp Memorial Trophy

In a moving presentation Saturday night, the Louise Camp Memorial Trophy was presented to Mrs. Clara Spitz of Miami, by Mrs. Grace Gibbons of Ocala. The trophy was awarded Mrs. Spitz, affectionately known as "Ma", for her leadership, interest and participation over a forty-five year span.

The trophy is a permanent one, totalling yearly. It has become even more important in the eyes of Florida Women golfers than the actual championship. The Ocala Club awards the cup in memory of Louise Camp, a beloved golfer, of "fine character, great goodness, generous heart, and fine sportsmanship." Mrs. Camp had been appointed chairman of the state board shortly before her death.

Linda Yeakle Crowned "Belle Of Ball" At Glee Affair

The annual Glee Club Ball of the Seminole High School was held Friday night at the Mayfair Inn. The theme was April Showers. Decorations included wheelbarrows filled with hydrangeas, and umbrellas.

Two hundred and fifty high school students and guests jammed the dance floor. They were entertained during a floor show by Roger Harris at the piano, and Gerry Covington, vocalist.

The grand promenade was led by Glee Club president Bill Tyre and Peggy Jane Lundquist. Bandmaster Ernest Cowley directed the operation, which wound through the Mayfair Inn, lobby, porch and ballroom.

Bill Tyre crowned the "Belle of the Ball", Linda Yeakle. Her escort was Johnny Barley. Attendees were Shirley Morgan and Gregory Walker, Mary Jane Flynt and Eddie Harbour.

Miss Sylvia Price, 1957 alumna, was floor hostess. Director of the glee club is Miss Ollie Reesa White.

Chairman of the event was Peggy Jane Lundquist. Aides included Marcia Lechelt, Ellen Viblen, Barbara Mitchell, and Linda Smith.

Chaperones and judges for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Allen, Miss Ethel Riser, Miss Sylvia Price, Gerry Covington, Paul Hickson and Miss Mildred Turner.

Winners Compete For Cash Prizes At Convention

With $700 in state and $27,000 in national prizes at stake, interest is mounting in the announcement of winners in the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs Community Achievement Contest on the evening of Thursday, April 17, final night of the 56th annual convention of the FFWC in the Viny Park Hotel, St. Petersburg.

113 clubs are competing in Florida, all of them outstanding according to Mrs. C. M. Washburn, Tampa, president. Mrs. Washburn adds that the judges have had a very difficult time deciding on the merits of the entries.

Heading the three-man panel of judges is Dr. Conlin Varner, Department of Adult Education, Florida State University. Assisting Dr. Varner are Mr. H. H. Glidd, Director, Community Development Department, Florida Power Corporation, St. Petersburg, and Mr. J. Dayton Sallaman, Community Services Manager, Station W8UN and W8UN-TV, also of St. Petersburg.

Citations of merit will be presented to the three judges by the Florida Federation in recognition of their services.

Entries will be divided into two groups according to membership. Group "A" is composed of clubs with memberships up to 75, and Group "B" of clubs with memberships above 75. The first prize in both groups will be $200, second prize $100. A sweepstakes prize of $100 will be awarded to the best entry of the combined groups.

The two top winners will be sent immediately to headquarters, General Federation of Women's Clubs, where they will compete with top entries from other states and areas outside the continental United States. Separated into groups "A" and "B", the club entries will compete for first prizes of $3000; second prizes of $2000; third prizes of $2000; and fourth prizes of $1000. There will also be a sweepstakes prize of $2000 awarded to the best entry of the combined groups.

The Community Achievement Contest is sponsored jointly by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Ledr. Kidwell Picked For South Pole Expedition

Mrs. Robert N. Kidwell, the former Gladys Wright, is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. E. Robson. Mrs. Kidwell will return this week to Jacksonville, where her husband is stationed with the Hurricane Hunters.

Ledr. Kidwell is presently on a weather reconnaissance mission in Fort Lytton, Africa. He will return in two weeks to leave the middle of May for the South Pole.

The naval aviator was chosen over 104 naval officers to fly a super-constellation over the South Pole, photographing the area. This is the first time an officer has been picked. Usually they are volunteers.

The expedition will last from seven months to a year, and is top secret. Ledr. Kidwell is originally from Washington, D. C. He was stationed at N. A. S. Sanford at one time.

Mrs. Kidwell and her four children will remain in Jacksonville while the pilot is gone. She is a former Sanford resident.

The couple was married April 8. They will reside in Sanford until his release from the Navy in September.

Decline In National Economy Shows Signs Of Nearing Bottom

WASHINGTON (UP)—The decline in the national economy showed new signs today of nearing bottom.

From this low plateau government economists hoped for upward movement in the not too distant future although no response official would predict exactly when an upturn would start.

Industrial production, one of the key measures of the current slump, declined again in March according to Federal Reserve Board estimates. The rate of decline was less than in February.

The Labor Department reported today work was begun on 79,000 new homes and apartments in March, an increase from the "unusually low" February figure of 64,000, but still 8 per cent below the figure for March, 1937. The department predicted a bigger pickup in coming months due to a sizeable increase in March application for GI or FHA-insured home loans.

Until the Eisenhower administration gets a better fix on the mood of Congress and until new figures are received some weeks hence on business activity in April, there is no indication of a change in the President's basic policies toward the recession.

Outside the administration, economists and officials of private organizations continued to argue for speedy action by Congress.

Sen. Paul M. Douglas (D-Ill.) said "I can see no sign of a pickup and if the decrease in industrial production continues at this rate, we will have a decline of 30 per cent in one year."

In years past industrial production usually has run comparatively low in April and May. This meant that figures for this month might see another slight decline.

Steel ingot production and auto assemblies presented the bleakest part of the March picture. Steel was running at about half the rate of early 1937. Auto assemblies decreased in March almost two-fifths below a year earlier, even lower in early April.

While new housing was up numerically in March, it was less than the normal seasonal rise.

Taking this factor into account the March rate was below that of February. Bad weather in February and March was blamed for a lag in new construction.

Of the 79,000 new homes begun in March, 75,100 were private homes or apartments and the rest public housing.

Weather

Shower ending this evening becoming partly cloudy late tonight and Wednesday; low tonight in the 60's.

Central Florida Alerted For Tornado

City Commission Adopts Regulations For Use Of Center

Regulations governing the use of the Sanford Civic Center were adopted last night by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

The rules, regulations, leasing and use of the new facility were adopted by resolution and passed by a unanimous decision of the board.

"Rates for the use of any area in the Civic Center do not cover the cost of operation," City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the board of commissioners. He explained that to start the air conditioner alone cost $13 and $9 an hour to operate.

"We have gotten these charges from comparable cities," it was explained, "and patterned after the Sarasota and Clearwater regulations."

Commissioners pointed out, as the first applicant for the use of the auditorium appeared before the Board of Commissioners, "that application for use of the facilities must be made to the City Manager where a lease agreement must be filed out."

Another point that was made during the discussion with John

MIAMI (UP)—The Miami Weather Bureau today issued a tornado alert for central Florida this afternoon.

The severe weather forecast also warned that the area would be raked by severe thunder storms.

"A few severe thunder storms with one or two isolated tornadoes are expected from 12 noon EST until 6 p. m. in the central portion of Florida south of the Cross City-Daytona Beach line and north of the Fort Meyers-Palm Beach line," the advisory said.

The message that central Florida has been alerted for the severe thunderstorms was received by the Seminole County Sheriff's office from DeLand. The alert was relayed to DeLand from Daytona Beach.

A check of the barometer at noon today revealed that the reading was 29.78 and falling.

However, thunderstorms and tornadoes do not occur until the barometer drops to approximately 29. It has been explained.

Sanford is in the area alerted for the thunder storms and severe weather but it is expected that the tornadoes, if they do occur, will be confined to the East Coast between Daytona Beach and Palm Beach.

At noon today, there was an overcast, and some occasional slight rain, with sun occurring intermittently. There was no indication from cloud formations that either thunderstorms or tornadoes would be occurring.

Such Sanford radio stations alerted listening their listeners on the possibilities of thunderstorms and tornadoes immediately on receipt of bulletin from wire services.

It was reported earlier that television stations are also broadcasting the alert as a public service.

The Weather Bureau, according to United Press, said one unconfined tornado was reported by the Highway Patrol 25 miles south of Tampa near the Hillsborough-Manatee county line.

A possible second tornado was reported in the Mullet Key area near the entrance to Tampa Bay. The location was about the same place where an Air Force B-47 jet bomber went down about an hour earlier in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Highway Patrol reported that winds of 83 miles per hour hit Mullet Key during the morning.

Huskin, a few miles south of Tampa had four and one half inches of rain during an hour—between 8:30 and 9:30 a. m.

The Weather Bureau said a "Dr. Rutledge" at Wimauma, about 25 miles southeast of Tampa, reported one inch hail, torrential rains and winds estimated at 50 miles per hour.

Gunman Nets Only $45 In Armed Robbery

Sanford Ave. Merchants Protest One-way Traffic

A group of Sanford Ave. merchants appeared at the meeting last night of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners to protest any action on the City's Zoning and Planning Board recommendation to change traffic on Sanford Avenue to one-way.

"It would be a detriment to our business," Ben Hatz, owner of the H&A Department Store said, and added "it would be a greater help to widen the street."

The group was assured by members of the commission, however, that no action would be taken "at this time" on the recommendation for limiting the direction of traffic.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham told the group that "the traffic in a hazard as it is now."

Commissioner David Gatchel pointed out that there would have to be some trial period and until then "I am not willing to take any action."

City Manager Warren E. Knowles proposed a suggestion that traffic lights be installed at Third and Fifth Streets to "con-

The armed robbery of a French Ave. service station netted the Negro gunman only $45, Chief Hoy G. Williams of the Sanford Police Department said this morning.

B. S. Hinson, operator of an Amoco Service Station at French Ave. and 24th St. was counting his money last night at 10:17 when a "brown skin" Negro, as he was described, "came in and held me up at the point of a pistol."

Hinson was locked in a back room of the service station, told to "be quiet" while the gunman made his escape.

The entire Sanford Police Department and Sheriff J. L. Hobby and his deputies rushed to the scene immediately in an attempt to pick up the Negro gunman in the vicinity.

However, at noon today, the Negro was still at large and had not been apprehended.

Hinson was able to furnish the law enforcement officers a fairly complete description of his assailant.

"I don't know whether he was riding or not," Hinson told police officers. "I didn't hear a car start up when he left the station," he said.

"This is the first one of these armed robberies we've had around here in a long time," Chief Williams said this morning.

Hinson, police officers said, talked to the Negro gunman and told him "it's no use to have any trouble—the money's all insured."

That, described Hinson, seemed to calm him down. He was mighty nervous to begin with.

Police officers said that it was evident the Negro had been watching the station when he walked in the station and demanded "Give me the money you got in your pocket" pointing to the exact pocket which Hinson had placed his night's receipts.

At the scene of the armed robbery last night were Capt. Arnold Williams, Lt. Joe Hickson and Patrolman C. C. Dudson.

Chief Williams said this morning "Our entire department is investigating this robbery."

Two SHS Students Get 4-Year Scholarships

Two Seminole High School students were notified that they have awards as a part of the "Holloway Plan" of the U. S. Navy.

Mike Tammy, son of Cdr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Tammy and Berry St. John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. St. John will enter colleges of their choice this fall following their graduation from Seminole High.

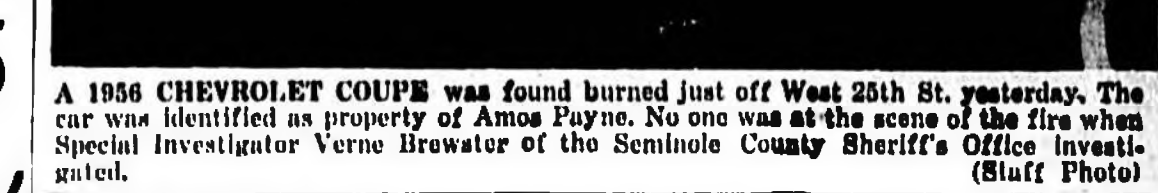

Tammy chose Princeton University and St. John selected Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute from the 32 institutions and colleges available.

It is unusual in the awarding of scholarships under the Navy plan that more than one student is chosen from a high school for the four-year course that is followed by four years in the U. S. Navy as a commissioned officer.

Seminole High School Principal Andrew J. Bracken, when he learned of the awarding of the two scholarships, said "It is certainly an honor to have two students from our school selected. It is a big incentive to others here to try for such awards."

Tammy explained that he had been thinking of "The Navy as a career for some time." However, he explained that it was a local naval officer who spoke to a number of the students about the Navy as a career that actually set in motion his applying for the scholarship.

Berry St. John explained that his first inclination to apply for

Pre-Summit Talks To Start Thursday

LONDON (UP)—The United States, Britain and France drafted notes today in Russia agreeing to begin pre-summit diplomatic talks in Moscow on Thursday.

A British foreign office spokesman said the three Western allies completed the drafts of the notes today and that they probably will be delivered in Moscow Wednesday.

The note agrees to a meeting of the U. S., British and French ambassadors with Soviet foreign office officials to lay the groundwork for a summit conference.

The North Atlantic Council approved the text of the notes earlier and work on them was completed today by a special U. S. short notice in asking for the talks.

In Moscow, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev talked at length during a Kremlin reception Monday night with U. S. Ambassador

City Fathers Get 'Down To Business' On Annexation

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners "got down to business" last night in the matter of considering the annexing of areas adjacent to the city limits.

Commissioners called for a list of property owners in sections "A" and "B", areas that had been designated by the group being adjacent to the city limits.

"Before we could set up any plan," said Commissioner David Gatchel, "we would have to know the number of property owners, the number of owners of vacant property, the owners of residential homes, and the owners of business or commercial property."

"Until that point," said Gatchel, "we are pretty well tied. At that time we will set the boundaries for annexation."

He explained that "Then and only then would we set up step by step, our program of providing service to the property owners in the area or areas designated."

The City Manager and the City Clerk were instructed to secure the lists of property owners for commissioners and that the county be requested to furnish them.

"We have got to know what we are dealing with before we can consider boundaries, services, or any question concerning annexation," said Commissioner A. L. Wilson.
