Koiso Pledges Recapture Of Guadalcanal

Yanks Take Another Island In Philippines As Advance Made In Solomons

Supported by tanks, 60,000 Japanese troops opened a new central Chinese campaign as Premier General Koiso promised to launch an offensive toward the recapture of Iwo Jima, Saipan, and Guadalcanal.

Koiso's bland pledge ignored the loss of another Philippine island—Guimaras, the 27th invaded by the Yanks—a new Australian amphibious advance in the Solomons and feverish defense preparations in Japan.

The new China offensive stemmed from the Hankow area. The newest Philippine invasion was accomplished by the 40th Division against no opposition. The Australian advance on Bougainville was made by landing on Soraken peninsula, 12 miles from the island's northern tip.

Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier task force presumably still was on the ground today, with the Tokyo radio hinting it might scourge the Ryukyus or Formosa while withdrawing from the island given Japanese war ships Monday to Japan's island sea.

There has been no official word on the whereabouts of the fleet, a part of the Fifth Fleet, since it moved close to Japan to permit its planes to stretch out over fleet units at their bases.

In the days that have elapsed since that strike, Admiral Mitscher has had time to move his ships into the Formosa area, 900 miles from the scene of Monday's crippling blows to Imperial warships. In so doing he would pass the Ryukyus, lying between Formosa and Japan.

It is believed that the fleet is now in the Formosa area, and that the American force was "floating" this enemy radio said Thursday that it was in waters to the east of the Okinawa Islands. Okinawa is the principal island in the Ryukyus chain. It's been hit by U. S. carrier aircraft several times, the last reported raid being on March 11.

Thursday's fleet communique made no reference to the Fifth Fleet nor the carrier aircraft attack in the Inland Sea. Radio silence maintained by the fleet prevented any new assessment of damage dealt the enemy in that daring foray. A preliminary report the previous day said 15 to 17 Japanese combat ships had been damaged.

Germans In Flight From The Saar

RUSHING FOR RHINE CROSSING PLACES

long Nazi columns continue to jam roads leading to Kaiserslautern (1), key Saarland communications hub to the east of St. Wendel (2) into which Army divisions have driven. With some 50,000 Nazis abandoning the Saar, Kaiserslautern became the center of interest in the closing traps of the 3rd and 7th Armies as they hunted for enemy cluttered roads. Also, driving to the Rhine, Patton's forces are closing in on Mainz (3) and threatening Worms, Mannheim (4) and other Nazi strongholds.

Celery Prices Reported Up On N. Y. Market

Quotations Given At From $3.50 To $4.00 Per Crate Today

An increase in maximum celery prices of $1.00 to $1.50 a crate on the New York market was given on Thursday, according to reports from the American Celery Growers Association. The celery market was reported to be in a "tight" condition, with prices for the week ending March 17, 1945, ranging from $3.50 to $4.00 per crate.

Withdrawal of the ICC ruling prohibiting the use of refrigerator cars for more than 50 percent of bunker capacity, a ruling which resulted in spoilage of celery when it reached northern terminals, was being attributed by M. L. Cullum, president of the Seminole County Farm Bureau, as a major factor in the celery price increase.

The recent spell of hot dry weather, which caused much celery to ripen too fast, was given as a reason for the recent celery price slump by Charles Sherman of the Federal News Office at the Sanford State Farmers Market. Grades of celery now being shipped are much better, he said.

One factor in the recent price increase, he added, was that less celery was shipped this week than last. Only 88 cars were shipped in the whole country yesterday, as compared to an average of 150 cars a day last week. Florida shipments Thursday were 67 cars.

According to the Florida Vegetable Committee in its March bulletin, shipments of celery from Florida reached an average of 115 cars a day for the week ending March 17, with the result that market prices were unusually low, especially on small sizes. At the request of Chairman Loring Raoul of the committee's field division, Manager Graw contacted all celery shippers in the state and obtained practically unanimous agreement that no nights, tens, X's or hearts would be shipped between midnight and Saturday, March 17, and midnight, March 18, was hoped at that time that the voluntary restriction program would materially improve the market.

The being restriction order on vegetable cars was removed last Saturday by the ODT, three days before originally scheduled, after appeals for its removal had been made by the Seminole, Florida and National Farm Bureaus, working with Florida representatives and senators.

New OPA Rules For Merchants Are Explained

Frank Shames Heads Committee To Aid On Pricing Charts

New OPA regulations designed to stabilize prices for apparel, shoes, dry goods, bedding, floor coverings and furniture, were explained Wednesday afternoon to more than 10 merchants of the County by Frank Shames, local dry goods merchant. He was introduced by A. B. Peterson, secretary of the County Price and Rationing Board.

A committee with Mr. Shames as chairman was formed with each member to act as an adviser to merchants in preparing basic pricing charts. Such a chart is based on a merchant's cost and selling prices for the items covered by the regulations as set forth for sale on March 19, plus the average percentage of markup between cost and selling price.

After his explanation of the regulations, Mr. Peterson explained that the regulations are designed to stabilize prices for apparel, shoes, dry goods, bedding, floor coverings and furniture, were explained Wednesday afternoon to more than 10 merchants of the County by Frank Shames, local dry goods merchant. He was introduced by A. B. Peterson, secretary of the County Price and Rationing Board.

Sgt. Ralph Williams Chased By Elephant

After being chased by a wild elephant in the jungles of India, T/Sgt. Ralph Williams wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Blaisdell of Sanford, "I have never been so scared in my life."

Having been given a five day rest period from his duties with the Army Air Corps, Sgt. Williams, who used to spend much time hunting in Florida near the Wakiva River, set out at night with several buddies to hunt deer and other game. He wrote: "I was with no mammals, they would drive a bound dog crazy, he stated. They bugged one deer.

About two miles from camp they sighted a bull elephant which trumpeted and started after them. Fortunately the elephant could not see very well at night and they got away safely, but Sgt. Williams wrote that his hair was right on end and the elephant tore the ground up trying to locate them.

James L. McWhorter Made 1st Lieutenant

A NINTH AIR FORCE LIGHT BOMBARDIER, James L. McWhorter, a P. 45 Thunderbolt pilot, was promoted to 1st Lieutenant, 24th Air Force headquarters has announced.

Lieut. McWhorter, who has flown more than 100 combat hours, piloted his Thunderbolt on his bombing and strafing missions in front of American troops advancing to the Rhine. He also flew on the mammoth South Air Force aerial assault against German transportation and communication lines which so greatly limited enemy movement of troops and equipment that the first local counterattack against American ground forces was not mustered until 20 hours after the initial jump-off.

"Our squadron bombed and strafed the railway yard at Bielefeld, southeast of Cologne," said Lieut. McWhorter, "after B-26 Mustangs had dropped their bombs and they were so many other fighter-bombers and Mustangs doing the same thing in cities and towns all over western Germany that I marvel that the Nazis are able to move anything up to the front."

The Sanford pilot is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Blanford F. McWhorter, rural route No. 1. He graduated from Seminole High School and was employed by the Barney Dillard Fruit Company, Eustis, Fla., until he entered the army in July, 1942.

Kesserling Is Called From Italy Replacing Von Rundstedt On Western Front

LONDON, Mar. 23 (AP)—Continuous day and night bombing of Germany at the rate of 271 tons of explosives a hour is turning the Reich into chaos in preparation for a knockout blow from the ground. Since the huge aerial offensive started three weeks ago, Germany has been hit with more than 10,000 tons of bombs dropped on England since the start of the war. The devastation is almost beyond comprehension. Relentless bombing of all types of military objectives made the way paved for the double-bomb British Lancaster carrying 22,000 pound volcanic bombs which in another day of assaults, raising the breaking point of the Reich, will have given its last consecutive night raid.

lenz, on the west bank, where the Third Army sits in firm control. German broadcasts admitted that the bridgehead had been meshroomed until now it had achieved "tactical importance, and might well form the southern jaw to Montgomery's northern pincer. The enemy and Montgomery had tremendous forces

Third Army banners floated over 100 miles of the Rhine's west bank from Ludwigshafen to Coblenz, and racing armor was five miles from Speyer and 10 from Karlsruhe, the two main roads back for the battered German band—all that remains of two German armies once more than 100,000 strong.

The German defenses lines crumbled early today in Mainz, which fanatic SS troops had tried to turn into an island of resistance in a sea of almost unsurpassed destruction.

They had impressed police and firemen and unlimbered anti-tank and self-propelled guns and held out for two days, but the Ninth Division shattered their lines with an early morning barrage of great ferocity and then broke through.

By mid-afternoon Mainz was more than 75 per cent cleared and the Germans had been driven back into the old town, which covers only a small area in the heart of the city.

The Ninth Division to the south battled to cut the last snipers from the great chemical center of Ludwigshafen.

The battle west of the Rhine, which will carry out General Eisenhower's orders to try every German short of the big river barrier, was being carried to a swift conclusion by the U. S. Third and Seventh Armies.

Pincers Menace Speyer The Tenth Armored Division of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army was fanning out, one column spearheading six miles southeast to near Gommersheim, seven miles west of Speyer, and only 19 miles northwest of Karlsruhe, industrial city of 200,000 on the Rhine's east bank.

The pincers were being clamped on Speyer. The Tenth captured the steel city of Neustadt, pushed on into Rahlst, 10 miles northwest of Speyer, whose bridge the Germans made to escape before it was too late.

Patton's mystery tank division which first penetrated Ludwigshafen left the morning of that day to the Ninth to cut off the city. Division and moved south to within five miles of Speyer on the north.

Simultaneously the Tenth sent one column slashing eight miles southeast through the Pfalz, capturing the steel city of Neustadt, pushed on into Rahlst, 10 miles northwest of Speyer, whose bridge the Germans made to escape before it was too late.

Canners Continue Taking All Citrus Still Available

(Continued From Page One) night. The swing to pre-packaging of "consumer units" was attributed in part to labor shortages and the lack of paper bags.

Compared with the 1943-44 season, the use of "consumer unit" bags through February of this year represented 4.72 per cent of all fruit going out of the State in fresh fruit form, compared with 1.89 per cent in the same period last year.

The eight pound bag, 10 of them representing a standard bagged box of fruit, was the most popular, showing a gain over last year of 301 to 600 per cent. The total usage of the eight-pound bag this year, through February, totaled 1,026,000 bags as against 191,765 boxes or 1,917,650 bags last year.

The five pound bag about passed out of the market with a decline from 523,008 bags last year to 28,000 this year so far.

Several big firms are doing research work on shipping point bagging devices, but the makers are visualizing a machine for use in retail outlets which will afford a convenient and economical means of pre-packaging.

It was argued that the promotion of the sale of pre-packaged fruit has a direct relationship to the amount of juice which can be extracted from it research has shown.

Most Florida oranges for example, are bought for juicing and the weight of the individual pieces of fruit has a direct relationship to the amount of juice which can be extracted from it research has shown.

With the hope of bringing more money to the citrus packers in a "reasonably good position." But Arthur L. Winn of the National Independent Meat Packers association, another witness, disagreed.

Acting Secretary of War Patterson said the army's food supply is "below the minimum safety factor."

War Food administration officials reported that fighting men will get more food in the next three months but that civilians and foreign relief agencies will get less.

On the brighter side, the biggest single shipment of hogs sent to any U. S. market in years was unloaded at the Kansas City Livestock exchange.

Bowles' meat subsidy announcement came after he had spotted two days' defaming at his press conference against bitter criticism of Republicans and packers. They charged that packers are going broke and that only a price increase blocks a large boost in meat supply.

The additional subsidy will be based on amounts paid by slaughterers for live cattle. It will be computed on the individual slaughterer in excess of the "floor" established for live cattle prices.

Army Patients Doubled, But Nurse Aid Lags

Senator Debate Dratt, Hear Simon, Patterson Tell Needs

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23 (Special)—The Army pushed forward this week its long drive for a draft of nurses by presenting to the Senate Military Affairs Committee a bill for "prompt action."

The bill, introduced by Senator Dratt, of Florida, and cosponsored by Senator Simon, of Utah, and Senator Patterson, of Utah, calls for "prompt action" to increase the number of nurses in the United States.

The extent to which soundings are waiting for adequate care and nurses are overworked in giving what care they can was outlined by General Kirk, Surgeon General of the Army.

"We cannot ask our wounded and sick soldiers to wait for relief," Secretary Stimson declared in a letter to Senator Dratt.

Since General Kirk appeared before the House Military Affairs Committee more than a month ago, the Army Nurse Corps has increased from 11,000 to 17,500. Nevertheless, 60,000 nurses are needed by June, and according to Mr. Patterson, "we will not have it until the end of the year."

Mr. Patterson said the since May 1 the patients in Army hospitals have doubled in number, while the increase in nurses has been less than 20 per cent.

He said that 20 per cent of Army hospitals at home and abroad now have 520,000 patients, he revealed. "It will be impossible to give leaves to more than 100,000 nurses who have been serving abroad for three years, both he and General Kirk told the committee."

This committee, which has just finished a prolonged study of the original war-rationing bill, was urged repeatedly not to take so long in considering this legislation, which, according to the witnesses, involves life or death for hundreds of American soldiers.

Although reaction to the bill on the first day of hearings was difficult to gauge, Senator Thomas appeared to be rather lukewarm in his attitude toward the measure, whereas Senator Warren R. Austin, Republican of Vermont, appeared quite favorable to it.

Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, suggested that since Army nurses have done such a good job, all nurses now in the corps should be promoted one grade in "formal recognition of their work."

No Accord on Man Power Meanwhile, House and Senate conferences who are attempting to compromise the wide differences between the man-power bills passed by the two chambers held their first meeting without reaching any agreement.

The labor-draft principle of the Roosevelt administration's May-Bailey work-or-jail bill, the House version.

Representative Walter G. Anderson, of New York, ranking Republican on the House Military Affairs Committee and one of the House conferees, summed up with: "It looks like a case of no hits, no runs and no errors for the play."

State Salvage Manager Urges Saving Of Paper

At the close of the talk, many Lions arose and stated that they had collected a lot of paper and had found no way of disposing of it. Joe Moss said he had collected so much paper which he could not dispose of that his store caught on fire from the accumulation.

Mr. Campbell reported that he was going to confer with William F. Thorne, Legion commander on a better plan for paper and lin salvages in this county. He also said he would discuss this with Mayor Higgins, and pointed out that Daytona Beach had made $1,000 in two months from "paper collection."

Joe Moss was appointed by King Lion J. E. Rowland as club salvage chairman, and the Lions agreed to put forth more effort in salvage work.

Upbreeding Cattle Is Aiding Florida Hides

KISSIMMEE, Mar. 23 (Special)—Upbreeding of Florida cattle and elimination of the cattle tick have removed to a large extent the basis for the bad reputation of Florida cattle hides in the trade, declares J. S. Welton of the Florida Power & Light Company, in the April issue of the Florida Cattleman and Livestock Journal, which goes to press this week.

"Later," a quarter gelding, one of the first every brought into Florida, is the magazine's hero of the Month for April. Owned by Iro Bronson, Kissimmee stockman, "Later" has won a number of blue ribbons for his performance in calf roping and cow cutting contests throughout the state.

The April issue includes a complete report on the recent Southwestern Fat Stock show at Ocala as well as a special article on new grasses developed by Florida experiment station research personnel. The article, by L. E. Blaser, agronomist, and Dr. R. S. Glascock, animal husbandman, lists various varieties of grasses now available in Florida.

The January, 1945 inventory of cattle shows an increase of one percent for the four South-eastern states, according to The Cattleman, with Florida exceeded only by five states (North Dakota, Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Utah) in rate of increase.

The nation as a whole showed a 1 percent decrease in cattle numbers, according to the inventory, while cattle values for the nation dropped 2.9 percent.

Gen. Raymond Barton Visits At Blanding

CAMP BLANDING, Mar. 23 (Special)—Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton, Jacksonville, who commanded the famed Fourth Division in the "Battle of the Breakthrough" in Normandy last July was a visitor on the post recently, talking over old times with Col. E. C. Rose, Camp Commander and former classmate at the U. S. State Military Academy at West Point.

Bronzed and in fine health after a leave to this country and a vacation in South Florida, General Barton was en route to Washington for new orders. It was the same modest field commander who was described so vividly by Ernie Pyle in his book "Brave Men" who spurred his men on to their greatest effort in breaking through the German lines which started the whirlwind liberation of France, after the bitter combat in the hedgerows of Normandy.

BIBLE VERSES FOR TODAY

IT IS NOT ENOUGH JUST TO REGRET A MISTAKE, BECAUSE IT HAS PROVEN FOOLISH AND UNPROFITABLE. ONE MUST ACCEPT A WHOLE SYSTEM OF RIGHT LIVING AND RIGHT THINKING. Repent ye and believe in the gospel. —Mark 1:15.

Deep Thought

(From Florida Magazines of Verse)
There has come a strange night, deeper than the drift snow, deeper than the darkness wrapp'd about this tree.

OPA Chief Seeking Curb on Inflation—headline. Can you imagine that? Why not speak to the Handout Department about it!

Did you see where Drew Pearson, America's well known "chronic liar" was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by John Perry, Leonard Riegler, Barney Warburton, Prince Obolensky, John Pillsbury and some other millionaires at the Palm Beach Bath and Tennis Club the other day?

Two little colored boys were drowned in Lake Monroe evidently trying to swim across the rowboat in which they were playing drifted out into the lake. If they had stayed in the boat until help eventually came they would have been all right. Every boy should be taught how to swim but until they learn they should be required to stay out of rowboats.

The State Board of Health urges wider use of cabbage by housewives in this day of general scarcities and over-supply of cabbage. But cabbage, no matter how it is cooked, is not good for everybody. People with tender stomachs, or nervous stomachs, with gastritis, colitis, or any of the other ills should not eat cabbage, unless they want to be severely scratched.

A few years ago most Sanford people were having plenty of trouble because they had little money; now many of them are still having trouble because they have too much money. A colored man, smart enough to save some of his excess profits from his wartime prosperity, was not smart enough to know what to do with it. So he hid it around the house where it soon disappeared. Later it developed it had been stolen by his own grandson who with two other boys had decided they would like to take a trip to Philadelphia.

Governor Millard Caldwell agrees with us—or perhaps we should say, we agree with him, although we said it first—that this is no time to attempt to draft a new state Constitution. With two hundred thousand men in the service—the best men, we might add, in the whole state—and unable to participate in the debate and with most of the rest of us in an abnormal state of mind, anxious over the welfare of loved ones overseas, worried by the perplexities of home front problems, too busy to give it any serious thought anyway, we hesitate to think what would come of a constitutional convention assembled at this time.

President Roosevelt has appointed a committee to study the 100 percent for an annual wage. The idea seems to be that employees should be paid on an annual basis whether they work only 100 hours a year, 2,000 or 3,000. A year's vacation, however, demands the volume of business seasonal fluctuations or anything else. Just what happens there will be for a time until it is being paid anyway is not yet clear. But what would happen when business falls off and retrenching measures are indicated in anything but the most dire emergency?

Rheumatic Fever

"Rheumatic fever, like tuberculosis, cannot be successfully attacked by the medical profession alone, or from one angle alone," stated Dr. Donald B. Armstrong, second vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in a strong plea recently for communities to organize against rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease. The appeal was presented jointly by Dr. Armstrong and Dr. George M. Wheatley, assistant medical director of the Metropolitan, in the current number of the New York State Journal of Medicine.

"The war has brought home to the American people the great importance of rheumatic fever as a national health problem," said Dr. Armstrong. "Thousands of our young men have been rejected from military service because of heart disease due to rheumatic infection in childhood. In addition, many acute cases of rheumatic fever have occurred in Army camps and Naval stations. A high proportion of those affected have had to be discharged from the service. Rheumatic fever, not only in the armed forces but in the civilian population, in terms of hospital care and disability from heart disease, is costing the people of this country many millions of dollars each year. On the other hand the money now being spent on research and organized effort in rheumatic fever is insignificant compared with successful efforts against many other diseases.

"If the magnitude of the rheumatic fever problem is to be disclosed in the civilian population in various localities throughout the country, if there is to be intelligent action on the basis of what is known about the problem in the community and most important, if there is to be sustained public support of the efforts to control this disease, community organization must be undertaken now."

Dr. Armstrong called for community agencies with a logical interest in this disease—the Health Department, medical society, hospital, voluntary health and social agencies, public health nursing agencies, the school, parent and youth organizations—to come together and plan a broad program of public action. "In this program of community action," said Dr. Armstrong, "the physician and his medical society can and must play a leading part."

Dr. Armstrong and Dr. Wheatley outlined a four-point program for communities:
First—Find the magnitude of the rheumatic fever problem through well-conceived and well-executed school and industrial health surveys. Because of the difficulty of diagnosing the disease, some communities are already providing practicing physicians and school physicians with expert medical consultation service as has been done in many localities for the diagnosis of tuberculosis.

Second—Provide sufficient facilities for treatment of the disease. This means good medical and nursing care either at home or in the hospital during acute attacks, and in many cases, prolonged convalescent care. In all cases, periodic medical supervision over a long period of years is advisable. Because of the chronic nature of rheumatic fever, special treatment facilities may have to be created.

Third—Improve the living conditions, if necessary, of its victims. Many times a patient has received expensive treatment over a long period of time in an ideal environment at an institution only to suffer a recurrence of rheumatic fever when he is returned to the same unhygienic living conditions where the disease developed.

Fourth—Educate the public to the importance of rheumatic fever, the signs which suggest it, and the approved methods of treating the disease, as well as possible measures of prevention. In addition greater provision must be made for research into the cause and cure of rheumatic fever since much remains to be learned about the disease.

Uncle Sam's Babies

Sure, the babies are getting a break, war or no war. Indeed, they may be getting a better break in this topsyturvy war than their little predecessors did before the war.

Uncle Sam has his eye on them. Dr. Martha M. Elliott, associate chief of the Children's Bureau at Washington, says that 750,000 children and their mothers have been cared for during this war, under the emergency maternity and infant care program. Half a million babies have been born with help from this program, and 200,000 more are lined up and on their way.

It is gratifying to realize that the same government which has the unpleasant job of sending fathers to war has also the satisfaction of helping to look after the children of those fathers. It is no more than fair, and it is a service for which no American is likely to grudge the cost.

SANFORD FORUM

Sanford, Fla., March 21, 1945.
Mr. R. L. Dean, Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida.
Dear Mr. Dean:
I am enclosing a report made to me by the Seminole County Health Unit Sanitarian, Mr. E. H. Johnson in regard to wastage of fat. This is the second time recently that the Sanitarian has called my attention to the waste of this vital war necessity. The way it is handled in Sanford amounts to the loss to the Government in two or three ways. The first loss is in actual grease itself; the second loss is in points given for it, which in turn are used to get meat, and the third loss is to the meat retailers who have to charge all meat buyers the two cents per pound he loses on the grease, thereby bringing the price of meat sold up to two cents, defeating the effort to hold down prices and prevent inflation.

It is an actual fact that a great deal of this grease, hundreds of pounds, have been set outside the stores in an effort to prevent odors, and then hauled away by the garbage trucks and dumped. Recently, the Sanitariums, City and County, stopped the dumping on grounds near the city on account of the stench. As a result of this, some have been burned and some privately destroyed. We do not blame the meat dealers as they have to get it out of their way. They have patriotically complied with the government request and collected it. Now the government does not see that it is collected. It seems strange that the government would continually and vociferously call for grease over the radio and then allow it to be dumped. Is the grease salvage going to turn out like the famous scrap iron collection? Some over-patriotic groups destroyed monuments and First World War captured guns, not being able to think very far, and now there is still heaps of this scrap iron at many schools, and laying around behind garages, etc.

Piggy Wiggy Store on East First Street. This is the only one example of the way this vital product is being handled in this county. The market managers give four cents a pound and two red stamps for this grease just to help the government collect it and then they have to hold it until the Winter Park Tallow Company comes around after it and this is about once in three weeks, and they are not stopping at all the places that have this grease and in the meantime I am finding fault with the markets and restaurant owners for having this stuff around as it smells in a very short time. The City will not take it away in their garbage trucks because it leaks out on the street and we don't allow them to dump it on the ground.

The government is continually begging for this grease and here we have it all being destroyed to get it out of the way. Two weeks ago, Grady Duncan and myself called on Mr. Peterson and explained this condition and he called Jacksonville about it that day and he says he has been trying to get it picked up for months. One thing sure is that the government is losing 500 to 600 pounds of grease a week which is being thrown away that could be saved if there was a proper method employed in the collection of this grease. The Navy has trucks and plenty of covered enlisted men that could be used on this work but instead they bring all their waste grease into the markets in Sanford and let us worry about it.

Or the O. P. A. should set up a control station where the housewives could bring the grease and this place should have proper containers for it and then be able to take it to the plant where it is processed or have the Tal-

Miss Mildred Windham Weds Sergeant Cobb

In a simple, impressive ceremony Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian Manse, Miss Mildred Windham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Windham, and T Sgt. Thomas Adrian Cobb, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cobb, were married by the Rev. E. D. Brown.

The couple exchanged vows at an altar before the fireplace flanked by green foliage. Arrangements of pink anemones and Queen Ann's Lace were used at strategic points in the living room.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Estridge attended the couple. Miss Windham chose for her wedding ensemble an aqua suit with white accessories and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Sweet-bright roses and Forget-me-nots. Mrs. Estridge wore a white suit and the bridegroom's mother chose a blue sheer afternoon dress. Mrs. Windham, the bride's mother, wore a blue and white ensemble.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. R. H. Walthour, pianist, played traditional nuptial music, including "Love's Old Sweet Song" and the Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

An informal reception was held honoring the couple, following the ceremony. Miss Frances Cobb, sister of the bridegroom, presided over the punch bowl on the reception table, which was overlaid with a lace cloth and decorated with white snapdragons and Queen Ann's Lace. The bride and bridegroom cut the wedding cake as is tradition.

By CAPT. H. W. MACKOWSKI
Editorial Note: Capt. H. W. Mackowski is a nephew of Mrs. B. C. Schultz, a well-known doctor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mackowski, a medical clearing station in France ever since 1918. This clear-up of the works of Nazism is from a recent letter to his parents.

Once our men recovered from the initial shock of this dreadful sight, nothing could stop them, and they worked tirelessly to do what they could for these unfortunate souls. My job was to observe them at work and when I try to realize that they are kids from all types of work and families all over our country and probably have never seen a sick or injured person before entering the army, I can't help but marvel at their enthusiasm and ability to do such a wonderful job of nursing.

O. P. A. Freezes 300,000 Stores At Day's Prices

Clothing, Textiles, Furniture Affected In Broad O.P.A. Order

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (Special)—The Office of Price Administration announced this week a sweeping new retail pricing order which will replace the general maximum price regulation in determining ceilings for clothing, textiles, furniture and home furnishings. The order freezes retail markups as of today for 300,000 retail stores.

One of the most important purposes of the order is to force retailers to pass on to consumers their savings under the low-cost clothing program sponsored jointly by the O.P.A. and War Production Board. This will be accomplished by making retailers the retail ceiling prices directly to invoice costs.

Other major features of the plan, which Chester Bowles, O.P.A. Administrator, hailed as "one of the most important events in retail price control" since the general maximum price regulation was issued in May 1942, include:

1. Although it will not automatically cut present price levels or recapture price increases, the order will reduce some prices by freezing markups and compelling retailers to pass on any reductions in their own cost. Such lower prices will be felt by apparel shoppers as soon as the low cost clothing program becomes effective at the manufacturing level.

2. The order will fix a single day, March 19, 1945, as the base day for prices of goods covered instead of the base period of one month provided under G. M. P. R.

3. Retailers will have to prepare and file with O. P. A. pricing charts showing both their retail prices and invoice costs for which goods were offered for sale today rather than actually sold.

The order covers virtually all clothing, textiles and home furnishings, including such items as shoes, hats, gloves, handbags, yard goods, sheets, towels, curtains, floor coverings, lamps, bedding and furniture. The O.P.A. has been studying and discussing with the trade for more than a year the changes involved.

Mr. Bowles declared that the new order, by substituting more precise pricing methods for the looser controls under G. M. P. R. and other previous regulations, would benefit retailers and consumers alike.

The order exempts only very small retailers having an annual dollar volume of less than $2,500. These merchants may continue present pricing methods.

Every retailer covered by the order is required to prepare a pricing chart listing the net invoice costs and retail prices for all merchandise he offered for sale today. Costs and prices must be listed separately for each category of goods.

For different articles having the same cost but more than one price, the retailer must calculate his average markup in the category. He then adds this markup to the cost and selects the actual price nearest the price thus calculated. This becomes the maximum price for the line.

Two copies of the pricing chart must be filed with O. P. A.

by April 20. After April 30 the retailer is required to list his selling price on the invoice received from his supplier. The price is determined by adding the markup taken on March 19 to the cost. The O. P. A. will accept this as the maximum price. The new regulation replaces four orders in addition to G. M. P. R. The others are maximum price regulations 142, 175, 239 and 332, dealing, respectively, with summer seasonal commodities, men's and boys' tailored clothing, fall and winter seasonal commodities, and men's and boys' shirts and pajamas.

The categories established in the order are men's and boys' apparel, women's and girls' apparel, infants' apparel, masculine and feminine apparel, costumes, athletic clothing, etc., footwear, household furniture, bedding, floor coverings, lamps and shades. A few items such as work clothing, boys' wash clothing, women's knitted outerwear and women's hosiery remain subject to special pricing procedures now in effect.

Japanese Report U. S. Attempts To Invade Ryukyus

Air And Sea Attacks Get 25 Nip Ships, Cripple Industry In Japan, Formosa

Unconfirmed Japanese broadcasts today reported American amphibious forces were attempting to invade two of the Ryukyu Islands in the center area where air and naval attacks knocked out 25 Japanese ships and crippled war industries in Japan and Formosa.

Tokyo said Yanks struck at Toka and Aka islands as springboards for the assault on Japan. 350 miles to the northeast, U. S. battleships and carrier based planes raided the Ryukyus Friday and Saturday, destroying an eight-ship convoy while three were damaged also off Ryukyus.

Fourteen vessels were destroyed or damaged off the China Coast by Philippines based bombers. Superfortresses raided Nanyang and destroyed much of the Mitsubishi Aircraft Engine Plant.

The persistent sea and air attacks on the Kurile islands, which guard the back door to Japan, appear to be more than mere diversionary or nuisance raids, military experts said tonight.

The Navy is not ready to talk about the campaign, but observers said it may be that the air and naval bombardments of the enemy's northern bases since Jan. 1 are softening up preparations for eventual invasion.

The Kuriles, which stretch for more than a thousand miles north of the enemy's home islands, would fit admirably with the avowed American strategy of ring Japan with bases from which land-based aircraft can harass the homeland as a daily routine.

If Soviet Russia were to join in the war against Japan, the Kuriles would be a strategic link in air communications between the United States and Siberia.

The encirclement process began with the seizure of two Kurile islands in the volcanic islands. To complete (Continued on Page Two)

Rains Bring On Slight Impetus To Spring Crops

Central And Lake Regions Need More Rain Immediately

JACKSONVILLE, March 26 (Special)—Light rains last week gave slight impetus to the Spring vegetable crop now getting underway in the Lake Okechobee and Central Florida areas, but unless more rain falls immediately, the volume will be considerably below normal.

William L. Wilson, director of State Farmers Markets reported in his crop and market review yesterday.

"Sanford reports that section here had no rain of any consequence. Much celery would not have been cut until the middle of next month has been cut or will be cut within the next week on account of hot weather. Some black hearts are showing in Pascal and the price tendency is up. Considerable celery has already been shipped and lettuce prices are expected to rise as all having quantity shipments. Plenty of citrus fruits and vegetables will be available there this week.

Bean volume at Pahokee is light, with a large amount of the surplus going to fruit makers. Celery volume has dropped considerably. Demand is very slow and market is dull with prices ranging from $2.50 to $3.00.

"Vegetable movement at Dunmore is showing a sharp decline due to hot and dry weather. Bean shipments are practically finished. Pepper, eggplant and other crops not under irrigation are rapidly passing out of the picture. Prices remain satisfactory.

"Fort Pierce Market is showing increasing activity with Spring crops coming in. Tomatoes are of good quality and prices average $3.00. Market is low and straight neck squash are being shipped. The spring crop of cucumbers is bringing ceiling prices. Weather has been good and windy. Although two showers fell last week, more rain is still badly needed.

"Plant City reports a nice movement of early low season last week, 2,142 hampers averaging daily from $5.00 to $6.10, and 403 hampers of jumbo yellow squash averaging from $3.75 to $4.10. The first crop of beans of the season brought ceiling price of $3.25. First pole beans also sold at ceiling. Cucurbit shipments were light. Current prices, which was also true of white squash and English peas, 80,028 pints of strawberries averaged from 20 to 22 cents. Light shipment and continue for the next two weeks. A considerable increase in volume of vegetables is expected from now on to the close of the Spring deal.

"Dade City poultry and egg market reports all eggs are being sold to private buyers, with no activity in sales to the government.

American Third Is But 250 Miles From Reds, Southeast Of Berlin

As Russians Launch Fourth Offensive, Nazis Are Moving To Defend Vienna

The Fourth Russian offensive has been launched toward Germany's southern mountain region, Berlin today announced, as Moscow said the Nazis shifted their divisions from Italy and the Balkans to defend Vienna.

A new assault was reported to have sprung north of the Danube in Slovakia as other Red units continued to grind through the Moravian Mountains in North Vienna. An all-out offensive gained a bridgehead over Iron, 50 miles northwest of Budapest.

Red army tank spearheads raced within 10 miles of Austria and 75 miles southeast of Vienna yesterday as a second mighty Soviet army joined Russia's Vienna-bound offensive that was sweeping unobstructed across untried western Hungary on a 90-mile front.

While Marshal Eissler I. Tolbukhin's Third Army pushed forward to the Danube, the Second Army under Marshal Zhukov's Malinovsky spearheaded the battle and gained the city of Vienna in the south. The two main Red armies were still 250 miles from Berlin.

At the same time, Premier Stalin announced the fall of Herengrad, last line enemy stronghold in east Prussia southwest of Koenigsberg. The Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia, held and bombed by Russian aircraft and planes faced capture as the Russians took a suburb of Danzig and pushed closer to the port.

The Red Cross drive in San Francisco is now nearing its goal of $1,700, but more contributions are needed to put the drive over the top, it was announced today by H. R. Crumley, drive chairman, and Mrs. Helen Schultz, Red Cross executive secretary here who reported cash contributions to date total $15,923.59.

Mr. Crumley has urged all solicitors to bring their collections to the headquarters by Tuesday, in order that the present status of the drive may be determined.

Incomplete reports from outlying communities and special groups reveal the following contributions: Geneva, $211; Ovielo, $1,600; Forest City and Maitland, $450; Goldwood, $471; Chulonta, $130; Slavia, $580; Longwood, $238; Cavalberry, $435; Atlanta, $663; Lake Monroe, $233; Paola, $61; Lake Mary, $191; Ocala, $17.

Donations from Sanford colored residents have now reached a total of $770.
