NEW SMYRNA CITY OFFICIALS ARE INDICTED

Three Indictments Returned Against Men For Violating Federal "Dry" Statutes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 27 — (AP) — Indictments charging three city officials of New Smyrna, one former city official, two policemen and a drug store operator with violation of the federal prohibition law, were made public here today. Three indictments returned. The defendants made bond at noon.

One of the indictments named John B. White, alias James P. White, chief of police; James H. Johnson, former chief of police and now county superintendent of bridges, and M. L. Brown, drug store operator.

The second indictment involved White, J. H. Stevens and J. B. Fassel, policemen; E. M. Hastings, junior, and J. M. Brown, fire chief.

White also was named in the third indictment.

The first indictment alleged that on July 2, 1929, Stevens, White, Fassel, Hastings and Brown had unlawfully, wilfully and knowingly and feloniously transported for beverage purposes two courts of whiskey in two quantities from the city jail at New Smyrna to a point near Fifth Street, Goswami Beach.

The second count of the first indictment charged those four defendants with conspiracy to sell, transport, deliver, furnish and possess liquor continuously from June 30, 1929 to July 15 inclusive.

It was alleged specifically that on July 1, last, White and the others transported to Goswami Beach, Fla., containing approximately 80 pounds of whiskey in a plumbing room of the New Smyrna City Jail that on July 8, Stevens, White, Fassel, Hastings and Brown removed 47 snaks, containing approximately 80 pounds of whiskey from the city jail and loaded it into two automobiles, and that Brown and Stevens transported it away from the jail.

Bond for each of the defendants was set at $1,000.

Six Students Leap From 3rd Story Of Blazing Building

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 27 — (AP) — Six students, five of them girls of the Newport Business College, leaped from the third story of the College hall building into a fountain today after the building had been trapped by a fire which caused damage estimated at $100,000.

Sixteen other students and three faculty members were taken from the building over leaders.

Three firemen were injured. One of them Charles Eldridge, had a remarkable escape from death after he fell two stories to a water-filled elevator well in the cellar of the building.

The fire, starting from the 14th to the street through a sidewalk grate, caused a fire which spread where firemen pulled him out. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

The fire was believed to have been caused by an oil heater in the basement. It rapidly worked its way up the elevator shaft to the fourth floor, spreading out on all floors.

Contest Will Determine Who Will Represent City In Miami Beauty Pageant

What example of a young girl in Miami is to be crowned as the city's representative in the Miami Beauty Pageant will be determined by a contest of 15 girls in Miami next Saturday. An effort to bring a contest to the city and honor to the city.

What local interested girl between the ages of 16 and 25, the most beautiful face combined with the most graceful body, is most popular, this contest will determine. The contest will be held at the city hall.

Who, out of all your acquaintances here, more nearly approaches that perfect one, a beauty as characterized in an unknown sculptor's Venus of Milo?

BRITAIN STOPS WORK ON 2 OF HER CRUISERS

New Jesture Of Faith In Navy Conference Is Seen In Announcement Of Admiralty

LONDON, Jan. 27 — (AP) — The navy today moved toward a compromise today on two of their most troublesome problems—the physical methods of limiting their parity with France and Italy's demand for parity with Britain.

Great Britain made a new gesture of faith in the naval conference, according to an announcement today that construction of two new cruisers has been canceled.

The British announcement coincided with a meeting of the "big four" in Downing Street, at which further progress was said to have been made toward a compromise on tonnage plan.

Publicity For Florida

After reading the complete white wash which Fred Eberhardt, crusading editor of the Florida State News, gave the Hialeah race track and moral conditions generally on the lower East Coast, we were much surprised to read in "Variety", a theater tabloid published in New York City, an article with a Miami date line which seemed to indicate that there is a certain amount of public gambling going on all over Florida.

It is hard to believe that Mr. Eberhardt, after his public avowal that he would close the race track if any law violations were found there, could have a typical investigation, have been influenced by his original intention by his proximity to such power, wealth, and prestige as characterize the men at the head of the Miami Jockey Club, or by any other inducements. Still "Variety" must have known that it was laying itself open to a very serious libel suit if what it says of Miami is untrue.

We are sorry we haven't the space to publish the entire article, but the paragraphs we have selected will serve to illustrate our point. We hope that they do not escape the attention of either Fred Eberhardt, the Miami Chamber of Commerce, or others who might be interested. They are as follows:

"Florida is gambling mad. Betting of every kind has swept the resorts here with hurricane intensity. The whole state is wide open.

"Unquestionably the greatest swarm ever of 'bookies' from New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Frisco have descended, finding money so tight they are out taking each other. Miami and contiguous parts are mere clearing houses for all the racketeers, gamblers, Wall Street victims and saps, who are in a frenzy to 'clean up' where there isn't much to work on except each other.

"Tropical moons, blue seas, emerald palms and all the beauties which ordinarily lure the folks here are forgotten in the delirious play of crap games, horse racing, dog races, accarat, roulette, bird cage, black jack, poker, prize fights and everything else on which money may be wagered.

"More pinched, worried faces observable than cocoanuts. Women crazier than the men this year. They inundate all the casinos, leaving lack weary and broke.

"One woman is the cynosure of all eyes, having lost a fortune in the last two weeks. She's still biting her head off, her husband's occasional winnings alone keeping her in the game.

"Slot machines, punch boards and all the various other kinds of chicken feed gambling devices outnumber the palm trees. Even the children here have the craze. Give a kid a nickel and instead of candy he'll punch the first board in the nearest store. All the hotel lobbies have golf games and quarter machines, sometimes as many as 20 men and women grouped around feeding them coins.

"Scores of little emporiums for playing Radio, a corn game, dot every business center. Around First street is a regular carnival of concessions where one might win anything from groceries to a hydroplane. Even the newspapers are offering prizes, knowing the gambling fever is bound to boost circulation.

"Dog racing is extremely popular, with the Biscayne and Beach races well attended. Opening of Hialeah race track yesterday in the heaviest rain in the past two weeks failed to detract from the pup sprints. Bad weather hit turf attendance, however. Greatest racing stables represented for the 45 days scheduled. Notably absent was Harry Payne Whitney, who had been announced as sending a string here. Overabundance of horses on the ground points to highly competitive season."

JUDGE AKERMAN at Tampa, blames newspapers generally for criticizing the courts, but what he should do, it seems to us, is to blame the courts for being subject to criticism.—Sanford Herald. If all courts were as well conducted as Judge Akerman's court, they would seldom need criticism. The truth is that many courts deserve criticism and severe criticism at that, and if they were subjected to more of it the cause of justice would be served. We think a judge should always have power to maintain order in his court and to fine or imprison officers or citizens who disobey his orders or judgments, but we don't think he should have the power to fine newspapers for criticizing his actions and utterances as a judge, provided the criticisms are not made with malice. A judge who makes errors or acts in an immoral or tyrannical manner is always criticized, and very severely, by the average citizen, and the fact that a newspaper man is liable to fine and imprisonment for printing what the man in the street is saying, makes it worse rather than better for the judge; also, much worse for justice. A just judge can afford to ignore criticism; a judge of small ability and inferior character would be restrained if he knew his actions were subject to unfavorable comment in black and white.—Marion Sim.

ALMOST ANYBODY SHOULD be able to give at least one good answer to that question those Tampa depositors are asking Comptroller Amos, why he did not take charge of and close the Citizens Bank long before that fateful July 17? For one thing, he may have harbored a disinclination to be lynched by the citizenry of Tampa, and especially the depositors of that particular bank.—St. Petersburg Times.

FLORIDA FLY FRUIT given President Hoover. Crates of oranges and grapefruit shipped from Winter Haven. Perfectly legal. No fruit fly, but fruitless. Transported in nonstop airplane flight of 950 miles, made in eight hours. Mamma from heaven.—Miami Herald.

TELLING THE WORLD

(Covering the London Naval Conference with fountain pen and pencil is the greatest expert of them all, J. Herman Seiditz. Mr. Seiditz needs no radio announcement to the public at large as a naval authority. When Washington crossed the Delaware, Seiditz was his cousin. When Magellan circumnavigated the globe, Seiditz was first to call attention to the fact that the Strait of Magellan went from the six to the jack and a pair of nuts, therefore beat it. Mr. Seiditz was also the first naval expert to sail over Niagara Falls, going upstream and he likewise chafed the course of Steve Brashe from Brooklyn Bridge to the East River without running a single obstacle. And this is the same outstanding authority who is interpreting the London Naval Conference for you. Each day he sends a skeleton cable despatch to this office. An autopsy is immediately performed on this skeleton despatch and it is then buried in the wastebasket. The third of Seiditz's interpretive articles appears below, and they are (written in a slight) Interpreting The Naval Parley By J. Herman Seiditz LONDON, Jan. 26 (Continued but more to be pitted). Our naval delegates have only been in London a short time, but they are already learning new principles of defense. This morning the American and Japanese envoys met to discuss the relative naval strengths. England waxes America to exceed Japan in battleships in a ratio of 10 to 7, but Japan objects to being created by a field goal. They are now trying to fix things up for a return game. UNCOMMON SENSE

By John Blake

Perhaps a thorough knowledge of the Bible and Shakespeare does not constitute an education. But an education can be acquired without them.

It has been said that the proper study of mankind is man. But it is difficult to study his first hand altogether, for life is short and acquaintance is limited.

The Bible and Shakespeare deal with human nature. Moreover, the authors of the Scriptures and the poet of Acon were masters of language.

In a considerable experience as a newspaper reporter I have heard many speeches and listened to many orators, political as well as the "after-dinner" variety.

And it was easy to trace in the best of these the influence of the two books of which I have spoken.

Moreover, it is easy to trace their influence in the works of all really great writers.

The style of all English poets is flavored by them, as is that of most of the great novelists.

It will be remembered that Abraham Lincoln read them through by the light of his heart, five, pouring over them by the hour.

And any one who is familiar with his life knows the beauty and simplicity of his prose style.

Do not think that I am decrying general reading or the reading of modern literature.

But for any literary education there must be a foundation, and no foundation is so good as a thorough familiarity with the Scriptures and so extensive a knowledge of Shakespeare as to render one able to quote many of his best passages from memory.

"Of the making of books there is no end." But of the reading of books there must be a beginning.

If you are not a Bible reader or a Shakespeare reader get clear print editions of both and read, reread and study them.

You will soon discover that human nature has not changed much through the centuries—that the same good and the same evil existed in it when the Children of Israel were on their journey in today, and that Shakespeare's heroes, heroines and villains have their counterparts in the people among whom you live.

No matter how much of a general reader you are, no matter how eager a purchaser of the latest literature, you are missing much if you do not keep a Bible and a Shakespeare within easy reach and read them over and over again.

The knowledge of your fellow men, his ambitions, aspirations and failures, that you will acquire toward gaining an understanding of your contemporaries.

The Italian Commission has agreed, however to certain reservation. If America will building French guns Italy will reduce the rest of its navy ratios from maximum to spaghetti.

Secretary Stimson is sounding out the other powers to take American guns from the streets to second class passenger cars and to stop the smoking-room stewards.

On the other hand, the Japanese envoys are willing to give four high speed destroyers. They will grant them the rights to sell concessions at Atlantic City, Coney Island and Far Rockaway. Uncle Sam is willing to grant these concessions but insists on retaining the shooting gallery and popcorn privilege on the Atlantic and Pacific Coast from June 15 till after Labor Day.

Everything went out fine for this American-Japanese agreement till it came time to sign it. The Yankee delegates signed with a fountain pen, but the Japs demanded a paid hitch in affix their signatures. The treaty was finally signed in the British Royal Art Gallery.

The question of the range of the five powers, British guns came up today and England poured oil and honey on the troubled waters by agreeing that her biggest gun, the Phil Scott, will be horizontal before Feb. 28. Bets were made at 5 to 1, America, France, Italy and Japan (naming Sharkey).

AN AUDIENCE WITH THE KING

FLORIDA VITALLY INTERESTED TAMPA TIMES

Since a protective tariff is plainly the American policy, the tariff should be so free to give equal and necessary protection for all up and down the line, and never levied so as to provide more than liberal protection for some things, and denying the necessities of others. Florida has become thoroughly impressed with this since she has seen her products come into competition with those of foreign countries which would produce them cheaper—hence the Florida demand for increased tariffs on fruits and vegetables.

This leads to saying that Florida is vitally interested in the tariff on sugar. It is highly important to the state that domestic sugar producers in Florida be afforded a reasonable additional protective tariff in keeping with the protection afforded other agricultural products in the same state.

Not many Florida readers realize that the sugar development in Florida is the largest in the United States. The largest cane raising sugar development in the country, and the only sugar in the United States which is sold in the United States.

It is estimated that Florida produces 2,000,000 tons of sugar annually, and a corresponding amount of sugar will give an annual revenue to the state of approximately $100,000,000. This is an immense amount, and it is a fact that Florida, alone, produces more sugar than any other state in the United States.

When the sugar tariff was before the Senate the Florida senators applied the same logic. Both Senator Frankland and Senator McMillan applied the same logic. They pointed out that the sugar tariff was the only tariff in the United States which was paid for by the consumer of the product.

It is a fact that the sugar tariff is the only tariff in the United States which is paid for by the consumer of the product.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 26.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 117:2, "The truth of the Lord endureth for ever. Praise ye the Lord."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as children of light: (For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth)" (Eph. 5:1-8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth destroys falsity and error, for light and darkness cannot dwell together. Light extinguishes the darkness, and the scripture declares that there is no night there. To Truth there is no error,—all is Truth" (p. 274).
