Commissioners' Statement

We, the undersigned members of the City Commission of Sanford, Fla., being all the members of that Commission with the exception of VIVIAN SPEER, who is a candidate in Tuesday's election, have recently noticed the implications which have been made in the press and on the streets during the past few days to the effect that the Commission has followed a "do nothing" policy, with regard to its bonded indebtedness, and is subservient to the Bondholders' Protective Committee. We therefore wish to submit the facts in the case in order to clarify this situation for the voters of Sanford.

Such charges spring either from ignorance or political bias, and have no relation whatever with the facts as we know them. The City Commission has contacted the Bondholders' Protective Committee in repeated efforts to effect a permanent readjustment of our bonded obligations. We have held numerous meetings with them and their attorneys in the City Hall in which the problem was approached from every conceivable angle.

Since everything that has been in all wrong, we suppose the time may come when gentleness will prefer bruteness.

A man should never go into politics who can't take it. If you don't take it, there's nothing in it for you at all.

Over in Ocala they say bootlegging is so good that if they didn't ring the church bells they couldn't tell it was Sunday.

A Englewood fellow girl has got her legs insured for $20,000. There's nothing wrong with her undergarments... at least so far as the value of insurance goes.

After all, it might be pointed out, no man makes you play the slot machines.—Ocala Banner. Nobody makes you take dope either or run gambling dives, or commit double.

Wouldn't it be funny if Gov. Smith should call out the militia in order to run all the transients out of Florida, and Gov. Tamm, should call out his militia in order to keep them from being driven into Georgia. The poor devils would be between the frying pan and the fire.

As we get it there will be no additional taxes levied by the federal government that year... if the preceding taxes can't be levied. If the additional taxes can't be levied, if the administration can't be levied to borrow all the money it needs, and if nobody can think of anything else to spend money on.

The Cross State Canal

We see where Col. Brehan Somervell, the Army engineer in charge of the construction of the cross state canal, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address in Orlando on next Tuesday. The meeting is being held as the result of "get together" moves conducted by Horace Smith, of the Marion county chamber of commerce, and A. C. Slaughter, of the Orlando chamber of commerce; and Col. Somervell, as well as Capt. E. H. Levy, executive officer of the project, is expected to explain the progress of the construction as well as the plan for protecting the state's underground water supplies.

As this is a subject which is of tremendous interest in this locality, on account of the widespread belief that the "big ditch" will adversely affect our agricultural interests, it might be well for a sizable delegation of Sanford citizens to go to Orlando on Tuesday and learn the point of view of those actively connected with the project. This will be the first opportunity that our farmers, and most of the rest of us, have had for obtaining first hand information from the sponsors or the bosses of the project.

An opportunity might also be afforded one or two spokesmen of the Sanford group to present their position in the matter. We feel sure that the previous attitude of Horace Smith indicates he for one would be very glad of an opportunity to get an expression directly from our people as to their fears and beliefs with respect to the canal and would go all the way in affording our farmers a respectful hearing. At the same time it would give Col. Somervell an opportunity for answering personally some of their questions.

Therefore we think it to the interest of all parties concerned for our civic leaders to do what they can toward securing a representative delegation for the Orlando meeting.

Another Roman Conquest

High school students may have noticed that a certain well known Roman by the name of Benito Mussolini has recently dispatched his legions abroad to conquer Ethiopia. This may remind them of another Roman of an earlier date who started out and carried to a successful conclusion the conquest of another country, and who began his conquests on this subject with "Gallia Omnia in tres partis divisa est," or words to that effect.

Readers of Caesar's Gallic Wars will recall that grizzled old Gallic chieftain, Vercingetorix, who gave the Romans so much trouble at the Battle of Alesia in 52 B. C. Inhabiting the country of Arveni, which is known today as Auvergne, where Premier Pierre Laval has his home, Vercingetorix is said to have been one of fiercest and most courageous fighters with whom Caesar had to contend.

When the confederation of which he made himself the head was broken, he was taken in chains to Rome and kept a captive for six years, being put to death after he had figured in Caesar's formal "triumph." In his "Commentarii de Bello Gallico," Caesar described the last general uprising in Gaul, which came after he had returned to Rome from his expeditions into Germany and Britain.

A local revolt gave the signal, and though Caesar, hurrying back, had at first some local successes, widespread guerrilla warfare continued. He was forced to raise the siege of Geravia (now Clermont-Ferrand), where he had surrounded Vercingetorix, and his communications were cut by a revolt of the Aedui. As Caesar retreated toward his base, Vercingetorix attacked near the modern Langres, but was repulsed and took up a position in Alesia.

Caesar surrounded the place completely with ten miles of contravallation including entrenchments, palisades, towers and other devices of field fortification, in which the Romans were killed. He built also lines of circumvallation, to prevent any attempt at relief for the besieged, and set himself to starving out the Gauls. A relieving force assembled, but it was dispersed after hard fighting, and all sorties from Alesia failed. Lack of supplies finally compelled surrender.

Though Caesar described his conquest of the Arveni with characteristic thoroughness, and gave a detailed account of the battle of Alesia, the exact site of the place was lost in the dark centuries which followed and ever since has been a constant source of dispute among historians and archeologists.

Recently, however, photographs taken from an airplane are said to have definitely fixed the location of this important battle ground. Photographers took pictures of the region around Alesia-Izernore and found that they revealed almost exactly the topographical outlines given in Caesar's maps and descriptions of the terrain at the battle.

Down in Florida the proposed ship canal across the northern part of the peninsula threatens to divide the state politically as well as physically. There are even hints of a major political war that will affect the national arena.

The trouble, reports Frank Kay Anderson, writing in The New York Herald Tribune, arises from the fear of the South Floridians that cutting a sea level channel midway of the state would cut off a vital underground water supply from everything south of the ship canal. There are, South Floridians geologists say, streams of fresh water coming down from North Florida through subterranean limestone channels to supply most of the peninsula with water during the long dry winter.

Such a fear is one to be reckoned with, no matter what geologists say about it. The slightest suspicion that its water supply is to be cut off or seriously curtailed is enough to throw a community into a panic. In this case, the public's fears have some scientific support. Both the Florida Geological Department and the United States Geological Survey have declared that cutting the canal would threaten seriously the water supply of South Florida.

To these fears, army engineers, in charge of constructing the canal, have replied with assurances that so far have failed to satisfy the worried South Floridians. The result has been the organization of a Central and South Florida Water Conservation Committee, and nearly 100 petitions sent to President Roosevelt from chambers of commerce, city and county governments and other bodies.

As serious as the water question is, however, there exist signs that the agitation may be only a smoke screen for revival of the effort to create a new state in South Florida. Antagonism has existed a long time between North and South Florida. The lower part of the state has been developing

VOTE FOR W. R. DUPREE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER

With reference to what I have previously said in regard to the tangled bond indebtedness, I feel the City Commissioners could get further along by having conferences with the majority of the business people and citizens of our town, taking full tabulations of their ideas and expressions and after compiling them carefully, endeavoring to act in accordance with their suggestions as near as possible after the manner of the old town meeting house which was so popular with our forefathers.

I would also want to state fully to citizens and taxpayers, through the press, the deals we propose to make and by so doing, take the people into our confidence and give them a chance to have a full voice in the affairs which so vitally affect both their civic and social order. I am wholeheartedly in favor of the commissioners' office being under the mandate of the people and not the people being under the mandate of the office.

The citizens have voted, as I remember, about five to one in favor of the Homestead Amendment and if they want to keep this intact and not allow it to be changed we can, most assuredly, preserve this sacred act, so there will be innumerable other ways of raising the amount of revenue needed. I for one, would rather have a man in my coat, shoes, hat or most anything, than be a pauper, and I would allow this splendid law to be tampered with, after these years of long, hard work to get it passed.

And the only hope of a permanent revival of business, business as we know it, is to be found in the revival of the spirit of the Homestead Law.

It is proposed next Tuesday I propose to do all in my power to see that these things are put into effect as quickly as possible.

Remember Washington's famous statement regarding the slave, "Divide we fall" and Thomas Jefferson said, "Without vigilance is the price of Liberty."

REDUCED CITY COSTS LOWERS SANFORD DEBT

During the same period there has been a shrinkage in revenues, and a marked reduction in assessed valuations. In 1927, when it cost more than $300,000 to operate the City government, the assessed valuation in Sanford was $21,727,599. As contrasted to this figure is the 1934 assessment roll which totals only $6,743,968.64. The reduction in the seven year period is $14,983,630.36 or 69 percent.

The bonded debt of the City when the municipality first defaulted on its bonds on July 1, 1929 was $7,001,000, but before the City Commission's agreement with the Bondholders' Committee had taken effect this debt, with accrued interest, reached an all time high on Sept. 30, 1933, of $7,461,000. At that time accumulated interest over a three year period amounting to $1,035,348.83 was cancelled under the terms of the agreement with the Bondholders' Committee. Since then the Commission has succeeded in further cutting the debt down, and this despite the great reduction in assessed valuations and in tax revenues. The amount of outstanding bonds has been reduced from $7,001,000 in 1929 to $6,007,000 at the present time.

Hiding Place Of Old Confederate Flag Discovered

KEY WEST, Nov. 2.—(AP)—FERA carpenters here have solved a mystery that baffled and enraged federal soldiers stationed in Key West during the War between the States. They discovered the hiding place of the Confederate flag—Carolina Lee, high-spirited Southern woman, snuck out before the public gaze as often as she could from the widow walk of her home.

Repeatedly, the soldiers, then drafted, charged up the four flights of stairs to the walk—one of the railed bowtop platforms from which Key West wives amused surrounding waters for ships bearing seafaring husbands—but they never succeeded in finding the forbidden standard.

It was not until the FERA took over the tradition-packed Lowe home for the Key West federal art collection that the secret of Mrs. Lowe's flag was solved, with the finding by carpenters of a cleverly hollowed rail in the widow walk.

The war over, the spunkiness of Mrs. Lowe was gradually forgotten. A few years ago, however, her daughter, Mrs. Venetia Lowe Otis, overheard by some unexplained promission, awoke her grandmother before dawn one day and told her the story.

Concluding, she brought out the flag, its fine, soft silk aging with the years, placed it in the care of the younger woman and, her trust fulfilled, returned to bed. A few hours later she suffered a stroke from which she never regained consciousness.

The master and holder of this masonry and cedar dwelling, then, as now, surrounded by shanties, Janney, dogwood, Spanish lime and happily laden coconut palms, and within sound of the sea, was an extraordinary individual as his wife.

When the lovely Caroline boarded ship after a brief Key West visit to return to her native Bahamas and marry the man of her choice, William Alexander Lowe forcibly removed her and her belongings ashore.

Winning heart and hand, this brusque shipmaster built the Duval Street house for his bride, filling it with art treasures brought from the world over to Key West by his fleet of merchantmen.

New the old house again to be filled with things of beauty, outstanding works of Public Works of Art project artists, painted, drawn, sketched or etched about this southernmost city of the United States.

Japan's Cruisers Set Naval Pace In Battery Power

TOKYO, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Japanese navy has introduced a new, highly destructive type of fighting ship in the world.

The 2,500-ton cruisers, Mogami and Mikuma, first of the swift and heavily-armed B-class cruisers in the building of which Japan and the United States are competing, have joined the empire's sea forces.

These vessels, each carrying fifteen 6.1-inch rifles in five triple turrets, represent naval architects' efforts to obtain the last ounce of power, efficiency and destruction within London naval treaty limits.

Their armament is the maximum permitted by both the treaty and the laws of naval design.

Naval experts of other nations have expressed doubt that such heavy armament could be used with safety on such small displacement. The Japanese, too, had doubts after one of their torpedo-boats, the Tomonari, carrying three 6-inch guns on only 627 tons, capsized in a storm in March 1934, with the loss of 100 officers and men.

There was then a thorough overhaul of the designs of cruisers and destroyers under construction. In the completed Mogami and her sisters the lesson of that tragedy has been heeded.

The addition of the Mogami and Mikuma to the fleet means Japan is more than a year ahead of the United States in ships of this classification. The American navy is building four cruisers of 10,000 tons each, also to be armed with fifteen 6-inch guns.

These are the Savannah, Nashville, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, but the first of them will not be completed until late in 1936. Before then the Mogami and Mikuma will be joined by two more of their class.

In the Mogami class the Japanese builders unlike the Americans failed to take full advantage of the London treaty's limit on displacement of 10,000 tons.

These ships were kept to 2,500 tons each, because at that figure Japan could build six vessels within the 10,000 tonnage allowed her at London for this subcategory. She could have built only five 10,000-ton ships.

Mark Twain's House In New York Wanted By Boys As Shrine

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—"Huckleberry Finn" and Tom Sawyer," wearing tattered garments, hands a scroll bearing 15,000 signatures of Boys' Club members to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia asking for help in preserving the house at 21 Fifth Avenue where Mark Twain lived from 1904 to 1908. The ceremony followed a parade of 1,000 boys, many of them dressed as characters from Mark Twain's books.

Mayor LaGuardia gave a cordial welcome to the two ragamuffins but said he regretted that it would be impossible for the city to purchase, at 21 Fifth Avenue, a three-story red brick building, as a perpetual monument for American boyhood, but said that possibly some wealthy manufacturer might buy the house, that money for the purpose could be raised by popular subscription.

Crowds Throng Supreme Court's 'Pile Of Marble'

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The principal attraction in the capital these days for the general public is that magnificent pile of marble "on the hill" which is the new home of the Supreme Court.

The crowds that throng the corridors, especially on Mondays when decisions are handed down, appear to be different from the usual run of sight-seers merely intent on inspecting Washington's newest and most beautiful building. The patient manner in which they stand in long lines outside the chamber in the hope of being admitted impresses an observer.

It is as if the crowd senses the fact that the next and most important chapters in the "New Deal" drama are about to be enacted. The average person probably knows little about the details of what is in the offing. He has a vague understanding that the nine justices are about to do something eventful and significant concerning the "New Deal."

And, remembering the NRA graphed today.

CELERY FEDS DEFEAT OCALA, 7 To 0

Losing Streak Of Sanford's Squad Is Finally Broken

Defeat Handed Ocala, First Suffered By Bulldogs This Year

The Sanford "Celery Feds" ended their losing streak last night and took the Ocala "Bulldogs" to camp for a score of 7 to 0. This was the first defeat of the "Bulldogs," who presented a strong club, and who gave up victory unwillingly after being outplayed in almost every department by the "Celery Feds," and the first win for Seminole High.

The canal city turned out in large numbers to see their usual chalk up another win, only to see Roy Wright, "Fed" quarterback, carry the ball across the 50 yard line for six points and then to win the extra point on a short pass from Billy Zachry, right halfback to full back, Leland McClelland.

Ocala threatened early in the game, after Wright had received the kick off and Sanford, unable to gain any ground, was forced to punt. Ocala soon ran the ball down to Sanford's 10 yard line where an uncompleted forward pass over the goal line gave the ball to Sanford. Unable to gain any ground, Lawson, "Fed" left half back, punted the ball from the danger zone. Ocala, however, was offside and after a five yard penalty, Lawson again made a successful punt. Branch for Ocala then picked up five yards. Hodges, one yard through center and then another yard and Thompson punted the ball to Roy Wright who returned it three yards before he was brought down. McClelland and Zachry then picked up one yard between them and an uncompleted pass, Zachry to Lawson, forced Williams to punt and "King Kong" Williams dropped the receiver in his tracks. Hodges then picked up three yards and Hodges, another yard with McClelland and Squires "Fed" center, making the tackle, respectively. A lateral pass was broken up by McClelland and Thompson punted to the Sanford 19 yard line where the ball went out of bounds. Sanford, however, was offside and received a five yard penalty which gave Ocala a first down. Squires then broke up a lateral pass and Lawson intercepted McKay's forward pass and ran 20 yards before he was tackled. The quarter ended as Sanford fumbled and recovered.

Opening the second quarter, Lawson made seven yards around left end, and then two yards through center and a short pass from Zachry to Purdon gave Sanford a first down. This drive was stopped after Zachry and Lawson gained no ground, and the pass Wright to Purdon was incomplete. Lawson punted to the 10 yard line and Branch returned the ball five yards. After a few off tackle plays and a five yard penalty for off side, Thompson punted to Wright who returned the ball to Sanford's 45 yard line. Zachry, then on a fake play to McClelland broke through the line and outrunning five Ocala men was forced out of bounds on the 10 yard line. With the first down and goal to go, Zachry made five yards through right tackle only to meet a determined line which refused to a right and left end play by Zachry and Lawson respectively. Phillips was then sent in for Wright, but a pass Zachry to Lawson resulted in a five yard loss and Ocala took the ball. A pass, McKay to Thompson, was knocked down by Lawson. The next pass, however, was successful, but little yardage was gained when "King Kong" Williams spilled Thompson. On the next play Lawson intercepted Branch's pass and the half ended with the ball in Sanford's possession.

Bob Williams made the kick off to open the second half and "King Kong" Williams brought down by Lawson and Purdon, for a two yard gain, McClelland broke up a short pass, and as Hodges could not gain through the line, Thompson punted to the 35 yard line. In the first play, Sanford received a five yard offside penalty and unable to gain this loss back, Lawson punted to Branch who was dropped on his own 30 yard line by Billie Colbert. Ocala experienced the same difficulty and soon punted the ball "King" Williams, the tackle, which after a 15 yard penalty for roughness placed the ball on Ocala's 21 yard line. Unable to gain, Thompson kicks to Wright who returned the ball to Ocala's 43 yard line. A left end run, a fake play, and two uncompleted forward passes gave the ball to Ocala. Branch was back to Sanford. Wright trying to pass was thrown for a five yard loss, and Lawson attempting to kick the ball to "higher ground" was severely handled by Ocala who received a 15 yard penalty for roughing the kicker. His next punt was good but the Ocala receiver was unable to hold on to the ball when tackled by Bob Williams and the fumble was recovered by Colbert. The next three plays and a five yard offside penalty for Ocala gave Sanford a first down and goal to go with the ball on the eight yard line. Zachry faked to McClelland for a yard gain, Lawson falled at center, and Wright on a quick quarterback play carried the ball across the goal line. The pass Zachry to McClelland was good for the extra point. Humphrey was then sent in for Stapler and shortly after the kick by Bob Williams the third quarter ended.

Ocala opened the final quarter with passes, and Lawson intercepting a long pass carried the ball to Ocala's 40 yard line. Attempts to gain 10 yards failed, and Lawson punted to the 10 yard line where Purdon brought down the receiver. Ocala trying to run the ball out of the danger zone fumbled, only to recover on her own goal line. The punt was successful but Wright returned the ball 20 yards before he was brought down. Zachry was able to pick up only six yards and the ball went to Ocala's 40 yards. A pass McKay to Thompson was good but Wright tackling the receiver caused him to fumble the ball which Sanford recovered to no avail as the umpire ruled the ball dead and gave it to Ocala. On the next play, Thompson, who was attempting to pass was snared by Humphrey who recovered the fumble. Lawson's wide end run yielded one yard, McClelland gained three yards and the game ended as Zachry went through right guard for no gain.

The entire game was filled with excellent performance by every man on the Sanford squad. The end positions were filled by Purdon and Colbert, tackles by Stapler and Warner, guards by Bob and Theodore Williams, center by Squires halfback positions by Lawson and Zachry, fullback McClelland and Wright called the plays as quarterback Elwin Squires was captain for the game.

Football Gossip
Ten different cities, all of them in Florida except one, are represented on the first freshman eleven at the University of Florida.

Correll may not have much of a football team this year, but it has one of the best lands in the East. It is the R. O. T. C. land and there are 100 boys in it. They can execute more maneuvers than the varsity team.

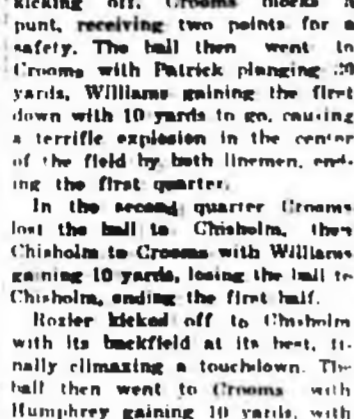

While the State of Ohio is all wrought up over the prospect of the Hockeys winning a national championship, the cooler heads at Columbus are already warning the team to beware of the Notre Dame team on Saturday.

Dartmouth will take another shot at the Yale Bowl on Saturday, and after the Indians' showing against Harvard the Dartmouth people think that this is the year they can defeat the Elis.

Miami Bunch Enjoys Big Building Boom

MIAMI BEACH, Nov. 2.—A building boom, reminiscent of the mad days of 1925, is now in progress here, it is said by the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Health.

Building permits issued by the municipality totaled $5,000,000, considerably surpassing the $4,250,000 figure for all of 1934, which was the record for the year in Miami Beach history.

However, residents of the swank resort agree that there is no immediate danger of exceeding the 1925 figure of $10,000,000 recorded in 1925. But they say just as well pleased to see the boom and its resulting benefits.

Topping the beach building program are 20 new hotels, to cost $1,250,000 and cost $1,250,000. Among the largest are the 140-room Whitman hotel, to cost $250,000, and the 100-room

Miami Keeps Record Clear: Defeats Jax By Score Of 6 To 0

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 2.—MIAMI High's winning streak, unbroken through the first four games of the season, was broken last night when Miami High's Squires, capitalizing on their only scoring opportunity, registered a 6 to 0 victory over the Generals at Hawthorn Field.

An overflow crowd of over 1,000 persons saw the Squires boys meet their brilliant record of not having lost a game to another Florida scholastic rival since they landed 13 to 0 to Lake City's Greenoughs (Hawthorn Field) in 1928. Since then the Magic City boys have won 12 titles and tied two in battles with state opponents.

On a hunting trip with their axes in the Sebasticook region, Danny MacPherson, of the Boston Braves, and Don Freeman, of the Cincinnati Reds, left their camp recently to get water from a spring 400 yards distant. Both were unarmed.

As they strooped to fill water into the large, growing receptacle, the bear, growling menacingly, crept on its haunches and snatched the water. The bear went byword and Freeman and MacPherson went campward.

When the easiest way is the best way...

THESE are no two ways about it! Certainly the easiest way to get the most for every dollar you spend is to buy products that you know about through the advertisements in your daily paper. You don't have to go out and look for buying opportunities. The advertisements bring them to you. And all you need do is consider the facts, compare values and decide on the map or the sedan that best fits your judgment and your pocketbook.

Certainly the best way of making your money go furthest is to buy merchandise of proved value. Advertised merchandise. Merchandise that is bought and used by many people. Merchandise that must be superlatively good enough for its maker to keep calling it to the attention of people day after day and year after year.

This is the service—of convenience and profit—that the advertisements offer you every day. It will pay you to read them regularly and take advantage of everything they can do for you.

Victory In Ethiopia Pledged By Il Duce On Anniversary Of Austrian Victory

Invaders Move On Makale Pass

Troops Marching On 100-Mile Front Are Not Opposed

By The Associated Press

Defiant of the alliance of sanctions against him, and with peace negotiations deadlocked, Mussolini pledged victory in Ethiopia for Italy today.

As his Fascist legions, 120,000 strong, renewed their offensive against Makale on the northern Adwa-Adigrat front in East Africa, Il Duce left his nation in a celebration of the triumphant armistice with Austria-Hungary of 17 years ago. To thousands who surged about his Palazzo Venezia, the dictator shouted: "The Itals, an army of 17 years ago today won victory not only for itself but for everybody. Today the nation is engaged in another battle. But the Italian people are invincible, united and irresistibly determined. Once again we shall win."

The Italian advance on the Makale mountain pass, a key center strategically placed as a gateway to the interior, was without resistance. Roman legions, reinforced by native troops, were marching on a 100-mile front from the religious center of Akum on the West to Adigrat on the east. Driving south from Adigrat the central column of the army reached Haurien, halfway to Makale. Scouting patrols had entered Haurien several days ago.

Two Veteran Outfits Are To Meet Tonight

Both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are to hold meetings this evening at the former in the Legion Hut on Lake Front Boulevard and the latter in DeLand.

Plans for participation in the Armistice Day celebration in Orlando will be made by the local Legion Post. As Gen. Hugh Johnson is to speak at that celebration it is expected that a large number of veterans will go from Sanford.

New officers of Seminole Post No. 3282, V. F. W., will be installed at a joint ceremony with the DeLand and Daytona posts in DeLand this evening at 8 o'clock, but the Sanford veterans plan to leave at 6:30 o'clock. They are to assemble at Commander Harry Kent's place of business on Commercial Avenue and go to DeLand in a body. Transportation will be provided for all veterans who can go.

Frost Protection Costs Less Here Than In California

LAKELAND, Nov. 4.—(AP)—E. S. Ellison, chief of the new federal state frost warning service, said frost protection for Florida farms and groves is possible at lower cost than in California.

New Head Of Service Has Had Experience In Far West State

Ellison has been in the state several weeks inaugurating the new frost warning service carried on under the United States Weather Bureau and the agricultural experiment stations. He came here from California, where for years he was engaged in frost protection work.

"Citrus groves properly heated during the last freeze," Ellison said, "are now in flourishing condition while surrounding unprotected groves have been frozen to the ground. These sharp contrasts have caused citrus men to become frost-minded and a substantial increase in frost protection work is indicated for this coming winter."

Grove protection is accomplished by heaters, Ellison added, and "this is most effective when there is a layer of warm air several feet above the ground. This layer of warm air acts as a ceiling to prevent loss of heat, and is an important factor in raising surface temperatures by means of heaters." Heating becomes difficult when low temperatures are accompanied by wind, Ellison said.

"The general belief that during the freeze last December there was strong wind during the period of severe cold is entirely unfounded on fact since my findings have shown the damaging frosts did not occur until the wind had subsided."

Ellison declared frosts in Florida "are not as common as in California but they usually occur under severe conditions."

"Consequently, Florida growers should be prepared for a winter of unusual severity."

County Board Petitioned On Seining Again

Asked To Reconsider Its Former Order To Close Rivers; Meeting Tomorrow

Petitions asking the Seminole County Board of Commissioners to rescind action taken in the October meeting whereby it recommended that the rivers of this county be closed to some fishing has been filed with County Clerk O. P. Herndon and will come before the board when it meets in regular session tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

C. C. Magruder, state fish and game commissioner, has been notified by Mr. Herndon of the filing of the petition and that as a result the pending seining question will be reopened by the County Commission tomorrow. The clerk has received no reply from his wires, but he said today he expects that either Mr. Magruder or a representative of his department will attend the session.

Early in October, the County Commission moved to open the rivers to some fishing, then followed the filing of a petition and the Commission passed the order recommending that they be closed. This new petition asks the board to change front again.

Mr. Herndon explained that the County Commission does not close or open the rivers, but recommends to the state fish and game department the action desired locally. That department has issued no order predicated on the October action by the county board.

Commissioner Speer Saved Sanford' Tremendous Sum, Declares Harry M. Papworth

Purchase Of Concrete Pipe Factory Was Due To His Efforts, Says Pioneer In Approving Handling Of Finances

Expressing the belief that the City has been saved thousands of dollars through the purchase and operation by the municipality of the concrete pipe factory, Harry M. Papworth today reminded electors that it was Vivian A. Speer who convinced the City Commission that it was necessary to purchase the factory and that "such an act as this, if there was nothing else to his credit, would warrant his (Speer's) return to the board of City Commissioners."

In a letter to the editor of the Sanford Herald, the pioneer says that he is "not asking that other people should vote for any particular man for the Board of City Commissioners, but I do hope that they will well consider the merit that they send to the board." In this connection he further states: "That opinion as expressed by some of the candidates of their intentions would, in my humble opinion, be disastrous to the interests of Sanford."

Mr. Papworth makes the assertion that "you cannot ignore the financial obligation, and I am only by courtesy petitioning leniency that a creditor would help you and I to meet an obligation."

Mr. Papworth's letter is as follows: "I desire to ask that the citizens of Sanford, should they read these few lines, will not in anyway connect them with the Chamber of Commerce on Page Three."
