For Wednesday, April 21, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keeping company with friends who have extravagant tastes could severely dent your budget today. Don't try to ape the big spenders.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your goals for today will not be achieved if you team up with nonproductive associates. Work with those whose aims are similar to yours.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't convince yourself that you urgently need something you can do without. Impulsive purchases aren't likely to be bargains.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) To advance your interest today in the Citizens Band radio industry, you'll need to be particularly active, or else you're likely to change direction just once too often.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Rely upon your logic today rather than your hunches, particularly if you have to make a judgment on a matter of importance.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Major changes should not be made on the spur of the moment today. Stop to consider what the aftereffects could be.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Agreements made in a hasty manner today are unlikely to survive. Both parties should take time to iron out the details.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions favoring a relationship to your work or career are to be somewhat unstable today. Be on your toes. Don't make wrong moves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your luck has its limitations today, especially if you hope to

Her Mother Grows Senile

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My mother at age 61, an intelligent, active woman, developed what was diagnosed as cerebral atrophy. Four years later she had gradually deteriorated to the point where she is a body without a mind, unable to speak or feed herself and apparently unable to recognize us. There is no family history of such an illness, so we assumed perhaps a head injury was behind it. However, another member of the family is now showing similar symptoms. Can you tell us what causes this condition?

DEAR READER—I understand thoroughly your distress. I wish there were some good answer to give you. Your mother's condition is the same as that which occurs in many older people. Whether it begins early or late the changes are approximately the same. I don't need to detail these because they are all too familiar in our society. In medical circles we call these dementia and sometimes senile dementia, although it must be stated that this condition can occur at a relatively young age, specifically in later middle age in some people. Women seem to be more susceptible to this disorder at an early age than men.

Most of these disorders are associated with actual changes in the cells of the brain, and the condition can occur in individuals with brain injury as may be seen sometimes in boxers who had repeated excessive head injuries. The development of symptoms may be gradual or more rapid. One of the earliest signs is the diminished ability for problem solving. Individuals lose the ability to cope with new problems. Stated simply, they lose their previous capacity to learn even though they may still be able to handle old familiar tasks.

We do not know what causes this condition, but these disorders are usually included as part of the picture of aging. However, medicine has long had a tendency to classify disorders that are not well understood as aging, only to find later that they are true diseases. A good example here is the common heart attack. We now know that heart disease can begin in young men in their early twenties and thus is hardly a disease of aging. Sometimes disease of the arteries to the brain contributes to this problem. In other instances, the degeneration of the brain cells seems to be independent of disease of the arteries.

What we really need is a better understanding of the fundamental processes of aging and how to prevent it. The truth is, we are very close to being able to control biological aging. That statement may startle some people, but we already understand a great deal of the regeneration process, how cells are replaced, and even how to make duplicates of frogs from the nucleus of an intestinal cell (popularly called cloning). Those who want information on what we understand about aging can send 50 cents for Health Letter, number 1-7, Perpetual Youth. Aging. Send a name, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of the Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

While the Florida House debates a $4.9 appropriations bill, the Senate is in a haste over legislation dealing with automobile insurance. To find out what the Legislature is doing in Tallahassee, see stories, Page 7-A.

Dr. Betty L. Siegel, dean of Academic Affairs for Continuing Education at the University of Florida, will deliver the commencement address at the Seminole Community College ninth annual graduation exercises tonight.

The ceremonies will be held in the SCC Health Center at 8 p.m.

Dr. Siegel became Dean of Academic Affairs for Continuing Education at the University of Florida, and in that capacity was responsible for the development of the University's Affirmative Action Plan.

She also served as Chairperson of the Affirmative Action Advisory Council and Chairperson of the Search and Screening Committee for the Affirmative Action Coordinator at the University of Florida.

Dr. Siegel is the Chairperson of the Committee on the Concerns of Women of the National University Extension Association.

She has been keynote speaker at numerous national, regional and state conferences on the Concerns of Women, and she is a frequent consultant to women's groups throughout the country on the topics of Women in Higher Education, Women in Management, and Continuing Education Opportunities for Women.

Dr. Siegel received her Ph.D. from Florida State University and her Master's Degree from the University of North Carolina. She earned her Bachelor's Degree from Wake Forest College.

She also has done two years post-doctoral study in clinical child psychology at Indiana University.

Before joining the Florida faculty in 1967, she taught at Indiana University and Lenox Rhyne College.

Dr. Siegel is a member of several professional and educational fraternities. She has delivered some 50 papers, served as a consultant in over 115 school systems in 27 states, served as keynote speaker to five national associations and over 75 regional and state conferences, written two books and many articles, served on numerous departmental, college and university, state and national committees and is listed in Who's Who in America, Education, World's Who's Who of Women, Leaders in Education, Who's Who in the United States, Dictionary of International Biography, and

Homemaker Show 1976 Receiving Last Minute Touches

The last minute details for the Evening Herald's exciting Homemaker Show 1976 are being wrapped up by area merchants and newspaper staffers.

Since last year's show drew a standing room only crowd, this year there will be two shows at 6 p.m. Friday and at noon Saturday. Charlene Ernst, nationally known home economist, will prepare more than 15 different recipes in each of the free shows at Sanford's Civic Center.

Preparations are being made for 800 people at each presentation. Copies of the American Homemaker '76 cookbook, along with food samples and coupons, are stacked up waiting to be packed in free gift bags for each member of the audience.

Dozen of door prizes will also be awarded, including 24 bags of groceries filled with products from the six national sponsors of the Homemakers Schools along with Publix, Winn Dixie, Fairway and Park & Shop. The dishes prepared by Ms. Ernst during the shows will also be given away.

Other door prizes include a starter set of cabinets from Scotty's, a mangle from Camco Industrial Equipment, a CB antenna from Williamson Communications, two redwood name signs from Sanford Rec. Vec, a musical figurine from Car Ben Jewelers, two Sunday brunches and a three-foot party sandwich from Buck's Restaurant and Catering, two framed color portraits from Gregory Photography, a lamp from KBB Lamps, an oil change and filter from Williams Assoc., two turkeys and two sets of Bicentennial place mats from Seminole Appliance Service, two lubrications from Goodyear Service Shop, two $10 gift certificates from Capp's Mens Wear and two French purses from Atlantic Bank of Sanford.

Other businesses—including Knight's Shoe Store and Phillips Decorating Den—will give a prize to someone who registered at their booth.

Other participants include Phil Deere Furniture, Seminole Garden Center and Gardenland.

Area merchants will also assist on stage and exhibit in booths for you to look at before and after the show and during the intermission.

Ms. Ernst will spend a long day preparing for the 2½-hour demonstration. She'll be assisted by Junior Woman's Club members Cathy Bauerle, Linda Derbie, Vicki Cavallara, Jan Freeman, Linda Hite, Pat Hunt, Linda Reck and Bill Gielow, who will do the backstage tray set-up and assist on stage to keep the program running smoothly.

Members of the Retired Seniors Volunteers Program, including Harriet Sherman, Irene Dennis, Frances Britana, Lillian Mensch and Bessie Peterson, are stuffing the gift bags. Members of Civnettes, a Seminole High School service club, will be helping with preparations as well as during both shows.

FCC Okays Temporary CB Permits

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has made a major concession to the Citizens Band radio industry in the form of instant temporary operating permits for new CB radio operators.

The new instant permits came on the heels of a storm of protest when the FCC issued an instant temporary permit to Mrs. Betty Ford just before the Wisconsin primary election while literally hundreds of thousands of applicants had waited weeks to obtain a response to their own applications.

Until now, a long wait was expected by the would-be Cber between the time he applied for and received his Class D Citizens radio license—sometimes as long as three months which was just long enough for the warranty to expire on some new radios before the operators could even go on the air legally to test them.

With the instant permit, the new Cber can operate his radio immediately providing he fills out and mails his application for a permanent license before using the temporary permit.

The only hitch thus far has been the unavailability of the new temporary permits. A spokesman for the Tampa regional office of the FCC said yesterday that the forms are being distributed to dealers in CB equipment but that there are not yet available in large quantity.

However, the FCC said that it is perfectly legal to use a reproduction of the form, such as appears in today's Evening Herald, or a photo copy. The agency cautions, however, that the temporary permit is not legal unless all requirements have been met.

The surge in interest in CB has been growing at a rapid rate. Applications for licenses are being filed at the rate of 400,000 a month and the backlog has grown continually worse. Nevertheless, the FCC expects to have permanent licenses available within the 60 day period in which these permits are valid.

Drug Task Force May Relocate To Seminole

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Federal officials declined comment today on reports that a federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) task force may relocate its headquarters from Orlando to Seminole County, but Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said he will meet with county commissioners Monday in efforts to get Seminole to take over administration of federal grant funding of the drug-fighting unit.

Operations of the task force have recently become controversial with Orange County and Orlando police pulling out of the cooperative task force. Orange county is withdrawing as the sponsoring agency for the $14,000 federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant that is funding the drug task force through September.

Polk said today that local matching funds the grant have been in the form of salaries of 20 local area agents on the task force. "There was no direct outlay of money involved," Polk said.

Polk said he hopes to get Seminole County Commission approval at the 9:30 a.m. Monday work session for Seminole to take over as sponsoring agency on May 1.

Polk said the DEA "is advertising nationally for a new task force director" and that he hopes the interim director, Don Harper, of Miami, will apply and be appointed.

"Harper, I feel," Polk said, "is a very competent man and will do a good job." Polk said Harper headed the recent operation that netted 10 arrests in Seminole and Highlands Counties and the seizing of an airplane and 1,200 pounds of smuggled marijuana valued at nearly a half million dollars.

"I definitely feel that if the good task force from the DEA task force far outweighs the bad publicity it has received," Polk said today.

Meanwhile, Orlando and Orange County law enforcement heads reportedly are requesting that U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi order an investigation of the DEA's Orlando operation as possible civil rights violations by DEA agents.

Choirs Present Patriotic Musical

Members of the Youth Ensemble of Central Baptist Church, (from left) Walter Benton, Debbie Ransbottom, Nancy Walker and Tim Hood, will be singing with the church's combined choirs Saturday at 7:30 p.m. for the presentation of "I Love America," a musical celebrating the Bicentennial, in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church of Sanford. The patriotic production will include visual projections, the showing of the colors and choreography saluting American heritage and is open to the public. The choir is directed by Ms. Nancy Baldwin. Kwiatkowski Seeks Creation Of Builders Fee Committee

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski has asked for creation of an ad hoc committee to come up with recommendations to solve the county's allegedly illegal unwritten policy of charging area builders and developers a $310 per unit impact fee.

Kwiatkowski's suggestion came Tuesday just prior to the county commission's 3-2 decision to allow a builder, who refused to pay the $310 assessment, to begin work on four lots in the Howell Branch Wood subdivision.

It also came on the heels of a spirited debate between Commissioners who were unable to reach a decision about the county's unwritten policy of requiring developers and builders to submit "voluntary contributions" in return for building permits.

Joseph R. Evans of Southern Land Co. was granted building permits for four lots. Voting in favor of allowing the permits were Kwiatkowski, Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway and Sid Vlahen Jr.—the same three commissioners who last week granted a lone builder his permit after he refused to pay the $310 fee.

NATION IN BRIEF

United Rubber Workers Strike Tire Companies

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United Rubber Workers struck the rubber industry's Big Four nationwide today despite a last-minute Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. offer that included an unlimited cost-of-living adjustment. Master contracts that expired at midnight with Firestone, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal Inc. covered about 600,000 of the URW's 190,000 members. Peter Bonmarito, URW international president, said Firestone's proposed total hourly wage increase of $1.15 over three years, 60 cents of it in the first year, "is short on what we need for a cost-of-living wage catchup for 1976 alone." Firestone said its offer was "in the best interests of the employees, the country's continuing economic recovery and the company." Any settlement with Firestone would set the pattern for the rest of the Big Four.

Missile Funds Request Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is expected to ask Congress soon for $322 million to produce 60 additional long-range Minuteman missiles and speed procurement of a new and bigger nuclear warhead. The move is prompted by the continuing deadlock in U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms-limitation negotiations and the threat of a Soviet nuclear strike. Announcement of Ford's new request might come before the May 1 Texas primary, where some political analysts believe Ford may be running behind challenger Ronald Reagan. However, administration spokesmen are expected to disclaim any political intent.

Walters May Switch Jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Barbara Walters leave Jim for Harry? Miss Walters isn't saying. NBC says it's continuing negotiations with the "Today" show star to renew her contract. And ABC says it, too, is negotiating with Miss Walters. ABC reportedly is offering Miss Walters a five-year contract at $1 million a year to anchor the "ABC Evening News" with Harry Reasoner.

Employees Can Sue

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you lose your job or a promotion because you won't play games behind the filing cabinet with the boss, you may be able to make a federal case out of it. A federal judge ruled here Tuesday that a worker who resists the boss' sexual advances may sue for sexual discrimination if the worker loses his or her job or is denied advancement.

Suspended Police Dispatcher Sentenced To 3 Years Probation

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer
A suspended Casselberry Police dispatcher has been sentenced to three years probation after pleading guilty in circuit court at Sanford to delivering a controlled substance — amphetamines — to undercover federal narcotics agents. Ellen Susan Ely 23, of Orlando, entered the plea Tuesday before Circuit Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr., waived a pre-sentence investigation and was immediately sentenced. Defense attorney George Sprinkel told reporters the case was "a typical example of federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) prosecution of 'average drug users' and not of quantity dealers." Sprinkel charged that a doctor at Volusia County illegally dispensing drugs and that federal agents "have done nothing about the source." Ms. Ely, who had worked as a police radio dispatcher for about 30 months before her Feb. 16 arrest, had been suspended from her city job pending outcome of the case. Judge Cowart Tuesday withheld judgment of guilt in putting Ms. Ely on probation. Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher said the situation will now be reviewed by the city attorney "as to what procedure is to be followed." Ms. Ely, when entering her plea, admitted that she has a weight problem and that she sold diet pills to the undercover agents "as an act of friendship." The doctor who dispensed the drugs isn't being investigated, Sprinkel told the court. "I trust that that area will be pursued. Ms. Ely will cooperate." He said Ms. Ely was given the drugs by a receptionist and paid for them by check. Sprinkel said the doctor didn't see Ms. Ely. There is another case docketed for trial this week, Mike Allen

20-Month-Old Baby Found Unharmed Area Man Charged With Kidnaping

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer
Casselberry police have arrested a Winter Park man for kidnaping a 20-month-old baby. Sanford police have charged a housewife with robbing a bread truck driver. Casselberry and Winter Park police arrested Lewis Sidney Yerby Jr., 18, at his 1701 Lee Road, Winter Park, apartment Tuesday night and reported they found a 20-month-old baby unharmed. Yerby was in Seminole County Jail today in lieu of $13,000 bond on burglary and kidnaping charges. Police said Yerby allegedly took the child of Ms. Carol Ekaldal from her residence at 1413 Ashe Circle, Casselberry, and carried the baby to his Winter Park residence. Police said the baby has been returned to his mother. Sanford police jailed Alfreda Maud Addison, 34, of Seminole Gardens Apartments, Sanford, in lieu of $10,000 bond on an armed robbery charge. Trooper Wright said Dickson underwent surgery last night for internal injuries also. Wright said a passenger in the Dickson car, Thomas H. McKenzie, 17, of 805 Wooding Place, Altamonte Springs, was treated for injuries at the local hospital released. Mary Ann Brook, 33, of Geneva, a passenger in the Shadron car, wasn't injured, Trooper Wright said. Theft Probed In other reports, sheriff's deputies today were investigating the theft of $850 in stereo equipment in a burglary at the residence of Larry Hix Jr., Cherry Ave., Chuluota. Katie T. Toth, of 1850 North St., Longwood, reported to deputies that in a round play pot was stolen from a porch at her residence. Candy Bars Missing Sanford police are investigating a burglary at the city-owned concession stand at the Fort Mellon Park little league ball park in which five boxes of candy bars, valued at $30, were stolen.

Pearson Resigns OMAE Position

The former acting director of county government's Office of Management Analysis and Evaluation (OMAE) has submitted his resignation to the county commission today. Sig Pearson said today he is quitting because "this office is getting a little bit top heavy." "I don't think they need this position," Pearson added. OMAE office workers were informed yesterday of Pearson's resignation. And County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski told the board of county commissioners that Pearson was leaving. Pearson was employed by the county for about 10 months. Presently, his title is OMAE Principal Budget Management Analyst, a position that calls for an $18,000 to $22,000-a-year salary. Pearson said a budget analyst, a $12 to $14,000-a-year position, could easily perform the tasks he was being assigned. For a time Pearson was in charge of OMAE in the absence of a director. But then the commission brought Pat Glisson in at the director's level, which calls for a $21,000 to $25,000-a-year salary.

Hubert Humphrey Needs Attention

All of the Democratic candidates who aspire to the presidency have received extensive public cross-examinations in the first eight primary election campaigns with one exception.

Hubert H. Humphrey gets a lot of semi-serious attention for his indefatigable nature, the length of his speeches or the enthusiasm of his style. But there is little public cross-examination of his rhetoric because he has chosen not to enter the arena with the other candidates.

It's really too bad, because Mr. Humphrey is saying things that Americans should be discussing. Two examples illustrate the point.

Mr. Humphrey is the biggest booster of big government in the political business and he is saying so. In a speech in Virginia, which he gave in 1962, he said that the Minnesota Fair Labor Act of 1937, which is also known as the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill.

The bill is contradictory in some parts and vague in others. But it is very specific in provisions that would require the government to reduce unemployment to 3 per cent within four years after its passage by launching public works programs, creating jobs in public service, establishing goals for all aspects of the economy and tailoring federal programs to achieve these ends. It also would create another massive federal bureaucracy and cost an additional $30 billion a year, according to some estimates.

The measure is unrealistic on the face of it and alien to the generally perceived American philosophy of free enterprise.

Unfortunately most of the public focus on the measure during the campaign has been on the other Democratic candidates, some of whom have endorsed the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill, not on the author himself.

If we read the messages Americans are giving at the polls, citizens in the United States are displeased with the ineffectiveness, unresponsiveness, size and cost of all government. The liberals who advocate more government and more spending are being slowly retired to the sidelines as the primary campaigns progress.

It would be a strange situation indeed if the Democratic voters, who have rejected the liberals from the first primary in February, find that they are saddled with the most liberal candidate of all when the last hurrah echoes at the Democratic National Convention in July.

Peanut Question

The question is not whether Jimmy Carter has been getting the peanut subsidy but whether too many other people have.

The federal government's peanut subsidy program will cost the taxpayers $155 million this year. This will keep the government peanut price up around $400 a ton, about $150 a ton more than the world price of peanuts.

The government buys about a third of the crop for that price and won't sell for less than that price. As a result the government peanuts are given away, at home or abroad, or they simply rot in warehouses.

Farmers in Carter country say they would face disaster if the government stopped buying peanuts. But it is obvious that the program cannot go on forever.

Similar programs for wheat, corn, cotton and all feed grains were dropped in 1973. Programs for peanuts, tobacco and longstaple cotton are the only ones remaining that control the production and price of crops.

These remaining programs should be phased out. They have survived only because the southern Democrats have so much clout in Congress.

A compromise bill now before Congress would cut peanut acreage and reduce the federal subsidy. It should be enacted as the first step in a gradual phaseout plan.

BERRY'S WORLD

CIRCLE DER VAGONI, CIRCLE DER VAGONI, WE'VE BECOME A CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

Around

The Clock

By ED PRICKETT

To paraphrase writer Gertrude Stein's famous maxim that a rose by any other name is still a rose, I'd like to add a 20th century interpretation that a "service station" by any other name is not a "service station."

In the not too distant future, the service station as we know it and still on occasion view it may become as extinct as the dinosaur. In fact here in this county, as well as the rest of the nation, it's becoming more and more difficult to locate a true service station.

Many of the old service stations are in fact becoming places where you pump your own gas, pump up deflated tires yourself, and, you guessed it, clean your own bug-spattered windshield.

What I've just described is a "gas station," or what is commonly viewed nowadays as a place you don't wheel the old gas hog up to unless you have the energy to do the work yourself.

Just think in the future Americans may not be able to experience that fast disappearing luxury of wheeling up to the gas pumps and rolling down the driver's window and crooning, "Fill 'er up." Of course, that's assuming the supply of gasoline holds out. And, if it holds out, it's assuming the average American will still be able to afford it.

Actually prices and services tend to go together. Donald Witt, president of this county's Gasoline Retailers Association, says self-service stations stress self service because that cuts down on the price per gallon of petrol.

However, have you ever thought of the items on your car that may be going away with it because your old "service station" manager no longer automatically checks them for you. Witt said many station owners leave the choice up to you. Cheaper gasoline without service, or service for a few cents more per gallon.

I don't know about you, but I'll continue to search for "service stations" who "I" can pull up and say, "Fill 'er up, please." That is, until, like the dinosaur, they become extinct.

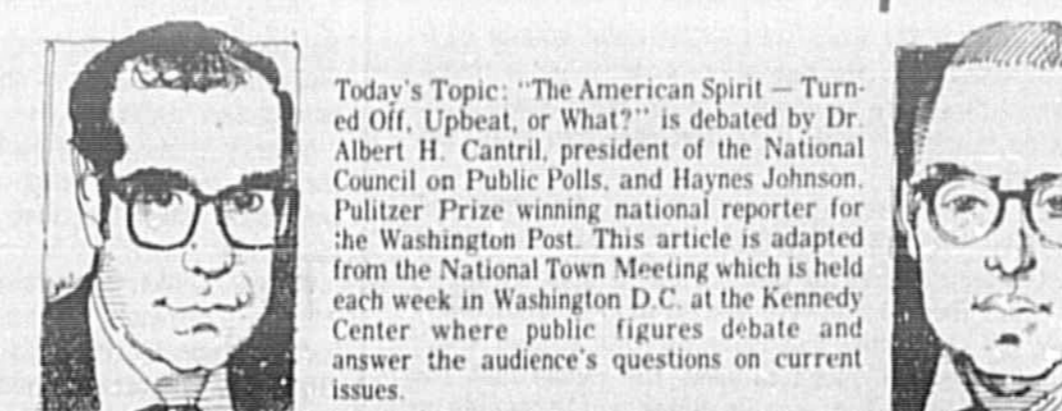

Today's the Big Day at the courthouse in Sanford. It's the day County Maintenance Supervisor Henderson Ferguson reinstalls a new bulletin board at the entrance to the facility.

The bulletin board was installed once, but Bob Ellis, the commissioner's former acting administrative assistant, said it was a hazard. "So it was taken down for repair."

What's wrong with the old bulletin board? Well, a few months ago Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler informed county officials they weren't in compliance with state law by posting marriage license applications on the old bulletin board, a salvaged relic from the old courthouse that was built in 1913.

A check with Circuit Court Arthur Beckwith Jr. proves Leffler's contention correct. Beckwith says Florida Atty. Gen. Robert Shubin has ruled marriage applications must be posted in FRONT of the front door — not 30 feet away where the old bulletin board sits!

PRO/CON The American Spirit

Today's Topic: "The American Spirit — Turn of Mind, Upbeat, or What?" is debated by Dr. Albert H. Cantril, president of the National Council on Public Policy, and Haynes Johnson, Pulitzer Prize winning writer for the Washington Post. This article is adapted from the National Town Meeting which is held each week in Washington, D.C., at the Kennedy Center where public figures debate and answer the audience's questions on current issues.

By HAYNES JOHNSON

What is the mood in America? There is a public attitude about public business which has changed dramatically, drastically. People are more cynical, more realistic about their politicians, their press, their churches, their businesses, all of that. We've been through a crisis for some 10 or 12 years in the country and we've changed. I think we've changed for the better. There is nothing lacking in the creativity of the people of this country. I don't think we are burned out as a people. I find people are asking far more introspective, searching questions about themselves, about their lives, about their values. I find people are far more sophisticated and mature than at any time since I've been traveling the country. That's a very positive sign and an optimistic one. There are people who would say that this America is doomed. I don't believe it at all. I think that we may indeed be entering perhaps our most realistic, practical phase.

By ALBERT CANTRIL

What is the mood in America? There has been a significant trend at work which has been picked up by candidates and by the media — commonly referred to as an alienation. But, on balance, one cannot judge the mood of the American public just from the nature of the trend. I would agree it reflects realism on the part of the public, that there is a clear element of maturity. On the other hand, I think that the public is looking for leadership, for a new articulation of what government is. We can see Fred Harris and, in the last campaign, George McGovern, groping for a populist view of what is good for America and what the appropriate role of government is. I think another element at work is that the American public for a long time looked upon the system as protecting the opportunity for upward mobility. People now tend to look upon the system as a vehicle for protecting the gains upward mobility has brought.

Will presidential influence decrease or increase? I don't see any way that Congress, with all its diversity, is going to take the place of a single leader who can command television air time in the respect, hopefully, of the American people. We haven't had those two in combination for some time.

Since there is no debate on the "loss" of Vietnam, is America turning isolationist? The reason we don't have a debate over Vietnam is that we know it isn't as simple as who lost Vietnam, although it is a real issue. The American public is increasingly preoccupied with domestic matters but this is not to suggest that we are entering a more isolationist period. I think what is happening is that a new foreign policy, to be justified to the American public, can no longer talk about containment and alliance structures. That just does not go anymore. What is at work now is an increasing awareness of the economic interdependence of the world, the dialogue with the American public about foreign policy issues, we have to begin focusing on hard pocketbook issues such as protecting American jobs and keeping the prices of oil and food down. That is going to be the basis around which foreign policy must be conducted.

Describe the American character in this Bicentennial year. We're entering a very interesting phase of our evolution in this country. I begin to sense a kind of slowing down in the mood of American life. I don't mean a diminution of power or influence; it is a more reflective quality. We have been through a great deal. We have learned a lot. We are not sure where we are going. (Alexis de Tocqueville, when he came over here exactly 175 years after our Revolution, was struck by one thing: the enormous energy and vitality. But even then, he said, people had time for reflection. I'm not sure I sense a much more growing inward, and it's not isolationism at all; it is a much more mature process.)

We are going through a very difficult period and realizing that we can control things — which runs up against the Yankee ingenuity which is so much a part of our character. The debate now is the role of institutions in solving the immense, large-scale problems that we face. Sometimes he would talk about large aggregations of resources, for solutions to problems which involve social experimentation.

There were times that Hughes seemed to want to come out of his self-imposed exile. He walked into the lobby of Vancouver's Bayshore Inn under his own power, for example, going only to tie the drawstring on his pajama bottom. The hotel guests and a Japanese window washer didn't seem to notice him.

For a time, Hughes enjoyed staying across his balcony to watch the planes at a nearby airport. But an aide suggested that an enterprising photographer with a telephoto lens might be able to snap a picture of Hughes from another building. The curtains were drawn, and Hughes never again looked out of his window.

Why did his devoted aides neglect him in the end? The only explanation they can offer is that they were strictly obedient. When he issued instructions not to send him to a hospital, it didn't occur to them to disregard the instructions when he lapsed into his periodic stupors. Perhaps the only real decision they ever made, one insider conceded, was to fly the dying Hughes back to the U.S.

In a way, Hughes may have ordered his own death by not allowing his closest aides to help him. But U.S. authorities aren't satisfied with this explanation. They want to know whether the quirky Hughes was competent to run his $2 billion empire, why a guardian was appointed and who made the multimillion-dollar financial decisions.

The "Old Man," as his aides called Hughes, regarded them as his adopted family. When it came their turn to leave him in a week to visit their own families, he would invent excuses to keep them near him. One member of his circle complained that he had missed the graduation of all of his children because of his devotion to the Old Man.

Candidate Expects Good Showing Next Week

Wallace Optimistic About Pennsylvania Primary

By The Associated Press

Wallace, campaigning in Pittsburgh Tuesday, conceded he has not been doing well in his bid for the Democratic nomination. But he said his campaign is viable and solvent. Two other presidential candidates, Washington Sen. Henry Jackson and former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, spoke to $100-a-plate fund-raising dinners Tuesday evening, Jackson, in Philadelphia, and Carter, in Pittsburgh, each forecast victory in the state next Tuesday.

Wallace said he expects to spend two or three days campaigning in Pennsylvania before the primary. All three candidates prepared for more work in Pennsylvania today.

Another of the leaders in the race for the Democratic nomination, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, was in Colorado to lobby for support in the state's May 3 precinct caucuses. He made a series of appearances in Denver and at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

A committee of more than 50 labor leaders who claim to represent 1.5 million union workers in Pennsylvania announced support of Jackson.

Udall said, "The function of these middle primaries is to test us out. Don't pick a candidate lightly. Let's insist on the details — the specifics." Reagan, in Albuquerque, warned that the Social Security program is a fiscal calamity and could collapse in 30 years unless it's completely overhauled.

He told more than 2,000 supporters at a rally that revamping the system would be a top priority if he wins the election.

"I'm not doing as well as in 1972, that's academic," Wallace told a news conference. "But I'm not doing as bad as you newsmen imply. Some of you

WORLD IN BRIEF

Lebanese Christians Oppose Palestinian Truce Role

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Fighting is continuing at a war level in Beirut and neighboring hill towns as Christian leaders object to the major role Syria has assigned the Palestinian guerrillas in truce attempts.

Despite proclamation of the year-long civil war's 35th anniversary this week, police reported at least 130 persons killed Tuesday and 217 wounded.

The Christian and Moslem sections of Beirut traded rocket, mortar and machine-gun fire. There was also heavy firing in the mountain towns east of the capital.

Flames gutted the Industrial Bank of Lebanon after it was hit by seven fire bombs, and sniper fire drove fire brigades from the area. Sniper fire and mortar shelling also delayed the start of a meeting of the truce supervisory committee for two hours.

Rabin Reassures Settlers

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin has told Jewish settlers in occupied West Jordan that they will be there a long time despite the continuing wave of protests from their Arab neighbors against their presence.

"We have not established any settlement in order to abandon it later," Rabin said Tuesday as Israeli troops waded to more Arab rioters 15 miles to the west.

"The government which has established these settlements intends to sanction them and wants them to continue to exist for a long time," Rabin declared during a tour of some of the 19 Jewish paramilitary farm communities established in the Jordan Valley since Israel occupied the territory during the 1967 war.

British PM Boycotts Ball

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister James Callaghan stayed away from Queen Elizabeth's 50th birthday ball, and one newspaper suggested he feared attendance might hurt his chances of seeking a second term.

"Should the prime minister be seen dancing the night away in an atmosphere of diamonds and champagne when he is trying to persuade the unions to accept minimal wage increases and further cuts in living standards?" the Daily Express asked.

Other newspaper commentators suggested that the 64-year-old Labor party veteran stayed home because he is a teetotaler and doesn't like late parties.

Salary Increase Measure Tabled

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — No opposition was registered by city citizens to a proposed salary increase for Mayor Norman Floyd Tuesday night, but commissioners nevertheless delayed adopting an ordinance granting a $2,000-a-year pay hike until the issue is studied further.

The ordinance, raising Floyd's salary from $11,500 a year to $13,500, was tabled until next week, pending study at a 2 p.m. workshop Friday.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn said the governing body has not actually seen statistics on salary for offices of comparable responsibility, although figures are available from the Florida League of Cities. She said consideration also has to be given to whether salaries of key department heads are in line with other cities of comparable size.

Noting that a mid-year status report on the budget is available from the city comptroller, Lesley Bentley, Mrs. Glenn said attention also has to be given to a job classification and pay plan for all city employees which provides for merit raises.

She said that city employees early in the budget year were granted a two per cent across-the-board increase in pay and received an additional four per cent when the state mandated that governmental entities pick up all costs of state retirement rather than having a portion of the cost deducted from employees' salaries.

This gave the employees a little more money in their pockets, but it was not an overall increase that helped much," Mrs. Glenn said.

In other business at Tuesday night's meeting, commissioners:

- Passed on first reading ordinances annexing a tract of property around Trout Lake, off SR 441 near "Dead Man's Curve" with industrial zoning and set public hearings for May 25.
- Passed an ordinance changing the zoning from apartments to professional office for a parcel behind the 351 building on Matland Avenue to provide additional parking space and set a public hearing for May 11.
- Voted to change the election ordinance to provide

Daytime Tennis

Seminole Community College's Division of Adult and Continuing Education will offer a daytime tennis class from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday beginning on April 26 and ending on June 3.

"Tennis I" is designed for those who have not played tennis or had formal instruction and will deal in the basic fundamentals of tennis such as grip, stance, ground strokes, serve, etc. A single round-robin tournament will be played at the end of the instruction period. Mrs. Leslie Castle will be instructing the class.

The fee for the "Tennis I" class will be $15 and may be paid at the Registrar's Office located in the Administration Building on the main campus at SCC.

Real Estate Class

Seminole Community College will offer Real Estate Course I beginning April 27, as a prerequisite for taking the Florida Real Estate Commission's Salesman examination.

Due to recent rule changes by the Florida Real Estate Commission, the College has moved ahead with plans to restructure the Real Estate offerings so that they meet quality standards which will enable applicants to successfully pass the Commission's Course I examination.

The Florida Real Estate Commission has conducted a comprehensive study dealing with the question: Why do 30 per cent of the applicants fail the Commission's Course I examination? The results, unfortunately, reflect a drastic need for compulsory license law and rules instruction. Data indicated that even though Real Estate law has been available, a great number of individuals have not taken advantage of the instruction before applying for the Salesman's examination.

To fulfill this need Seminole Community College will offer a greatly expanded educational program which will include principles and practices of real estate, real estate license law and rules of the Florida Real Estate Commission. The class will meet two evenings each week for 3 hours. A registration fee of $50 will be required, plus textbook. Classes will meet in Room L215 at the College.

Individuals may register at the Registrar's office in the Administration Building, or call 323-1450, ext. 377 or 325.

LTD Club Asks Help

SANFORD — The LTD Club will operate the refreshment concession for the Sanford Regatta this weekend.

Proceeds will go to the Central Florida Zoo and for the assistance of hand of hearing children, Anita Williamson, secretary, said.

Mrs. Williamson issued a call to members to help operate the concession between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Volunteers are asked to contact her.

Hospital Expansion

WINTER PARK — Winter Park Memorial Hospital has announced that due to construction activities preliminary to its major modernization program it has been necessary to close one of its parking lots frequently used by visitors as well as employees and volunteers.

The North Lot, located between the hospital and the Aloma-Lakemont intersection and reached from Lakemont, has been closed for an indefinite period.

Administrator Harvey E. Meagher explained that this area is involved in relocation of utilities and other activities that are preliminary to the actual construction of a $7 million addition on the east side of the hospital.

He added this same area probably will be required for construction equipment and supplies when the actual building work is started.

Meanwhile, construction already has started on a Medical Library and Education Building on the south side of the hospital, but it will have no effect on parking facilities.

Meagher suggested that visitors will have two alternative solutions to the loss of the convenient North Lot. They may find parking space in a lot south of the hospital or a larger lot across Edinburg Drive, both of which required some walking to reach the main visitor entrance and information desk.

Another solution is to park at the Association Building on Aloma Avenue, a few blocks from the main building, and use the shuttle service operated by employees and volunteers.

"Visitors are welcome to use this shuttle, which will take them right to the front door," Meagher said.

Associate Honored

WINTER PARK — Mrs. Pat Gast, realtor-associate, with Roberts & Gilman Inc., received national recognition at the National Homes for Living Convention held in Atlanta, April 21.

She was first runner-up for the prestigious National "Sales Associate of the Year" award. Dan Gilman, president of the firm, received the award on behalf of Mrs. Gast at the awards banquet.

Mrs. Gast was chosen from more than 10,000 associates in the Homes for Living network of brokers.

This award is not only on her outstanding sales achievement of more than $2.5 million in residential sales in 1975, but also on her professionalism in dealing with clients and associates. She is the wife of "Gast," well-known jai alai player at the Daytona and Melbourne Fronton.

Education Funding

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The House is handling over details of its $4.9-billion 1976-77 appropriations bill, while the Senate is trying to come to grips with Florida's escalating auto insurance costs.

But it appeared likely that legislators faced hours of debate today before the House passed its spending bill or the Senate voted on revision of Florida no-fault auto insurance law.

Sen. Kenneth McKay, D-Ocala, chief sponsor of the no-fault revision bill, said he expected the biggest fight over the $2,000 threshold of losses before persons injured in auto accidents can sue for damages.

McKay prefers a $3,500 limit, but his proposal was defeated in committee. The present limit is $1,000 on medical expenses.

The House opened debate Tuesday on its appropriations bill, which would hike state spending about nine per cent next year without increasing taxes. Appropriations Chairman Edmund Fortne, D-Pace, said the state's increased revenues reflect economic recovery after two years of spending cuts.

Dozens of amendments were pending, including several aimed at removing a $1.5-million appropriation to purchase a 54-acre tract from a business associate of Speaker Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee.

Tucker told the House that he shared part-ownership of a Tallahassee building with businessman James Tully and they had been involved in purchase of an Alabama farm. But Tucker said he had no interest in the property considered for state purchase.

The House passed 110-0 Tuesday a proposed constitutional amendment, HJR72, providing for automatic suspension of Governor, Cabinet officers and judges indicted on official corruption charges.

It also passed 91-20 a bill, HB1300, allowing prosecutors to bypass normal court proceedings in order to try 16 and 17 year olds charged with major crimes as adults.

In Senate committee action Tuesday, a Judiciary-Civil Committee gave general support to a bill to enact into law the financial disclosure requirement proposed as a constitutional amendment by Gov. Reubin Askew.

But the committee delayed a final vote after adding an amendment applying the stricter disclosure standards favored by the governor to hundreds of local officials, including mayors and city councilmen.

The Senate Rules Committee moved to limit the state's fast-growing bureaucracy by approving a proposed constitutional amendment holding the number of state employees to not more than one per cent of the total population.

Dozens of amendments were pending, including several aimed at removing a $1.5-million appropriation to purchase a 54-acre tract from a business associate of Speaker Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee.

Tucker told the House that he shared part-ownership of a Tallahassee building with businessman James Tully and they had been involved in purchase of an Alabama farm. But Tucker said he had no interest in the property considered for state purchase.

The House passed 110-0 Tuesday a proposed constitutional amendment, HJR72, providing for automatic suspension of Governor, Cabinet officers and judges indicted on official corruption charges.

It also passed 91-20 a bill, HB1300, allowing prosecutors to bypass normal court proceedings in order to try 16 and 17 year olds charged with major crimes as adults.

In Senate committee action Tuesday, a Judiciary-Civil Committee gave general support to a bill to enact into law the financial disclosure requirement proposed as a constitutional amendment by Gov. Reubin Askew.

But the committee delayed a final vote after adding an amendment applying the stricter disclosure standards favored by the governor to hundreds of local officials, including mayors and city councilmen.

The Senate Rules Committee moved to limit the state's fast-growing bureaucracy by approving a proposed constitutional amendment holding the number of state employees to not more than one per cent of the total population.

Education Funding Prompt Debate

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Dade, Broward, Palm Beach and Pinellas counties won. Duval, Hillsborough, Orange and rural counties lost.

But the stakes were surprisingly small for such a hard-fought battle.

The fight came Tuesday as a coalition of South Florida and St. Petersburg legislators won a key technical victory in debate of the House appropriations bill that means more state education aid for their counties.

At issue was the required share of school property tax revenues that a county must contribute to the Florida Education Funding Trust (FEFT) to receive state aid.

The bill called for required local effort equivalent to 7 mills of taxes, but the South Florida-St. Petersburg coalition won a 70-47 vote to hold at the current level of 6.3 mills.

Because of the peculiarities of the complex funding program, some counties get more state aid at 6.3 mills and others fare better at 7 mills.

Education Chairman Richard Hodes, D-Tampa, who fought for seven mills, said his county of Hillsborough loses $1.07 million in state aid at 6.3 mills.

He said Duval loses $12 million and rural Gadsden, which is about 20 miles west of Tallahassee, loses $259,000.

Some Counties To Get More Aid

Hodes said that Broward gains $2.7 million at 6.3 mills; Dade, $305,000 and Pinellas, $3,000. He contended that Pinellas lawmakers joined the coalition in a deal that won them support in future fights over water management problems.

Rep. Van Poole, R-Port Lauderdale, moved for 6.3 mills, contending "if we go to 7 mills it's increasing the burden on local taxpayers, don't let anybody kid you."

But Hodes contended the move would lead to "destruction of the FEFT that's going to wipe out the equalization principle and... devaluation of thousands of jobs in the state."

The intent of the FEFT is to equalize school spending by providing proportionately lower state aid to rich counties like Broward and proportionately more to poor counties like Gadsden.

"The state has reneged on that pledge from the governor's office across the board," said Rep. Robert Johnson, R-Sarasota. "The FEFT's not what it's supposed to be."

In other action Tuesday, the House first approved and then changed its mind and killed 63-56 a proposal to retain the Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation.

The appropriations bill would abolish the agency and transfer the 28 boards it regulates to the Department of Business Regulation.

Everything Stromberg-Carlson did, George's did twice as well, at least in the line score. Stromberg recorded single markers in the first, third and fifth innings, but George's bounced back with two runs of its own each time.

McGlothen Defends 'Friendly Dusters'

By The Associated Press
New York batters hit the St. Louis pitchers hard Tuesday night—almost as hard as Cardinals pitcher Lynn McGlothen hit two Mets batters and nearly sparked a brawl.

The hitting by the hitters took place in the first two innings, when Felix Millan, Del Unser and John Milner each slugged two-run homers to help New York carry a 6-0 lead into the third inning. That's when McGlothen started hitting the batters.

"I'm a big league pitcher and I want to be around a while," said McGlothen, who hit Unser and opposing pitcher Jon Matlack in the third, causing a charge from the Mets dugout, led by slugger Dave Kingman. McGlothen, who was ejected for his tactics, continued to defend his action. "I just think a pitcher has a right to try to control the hitters. If a pitcher feels like he's being intimidated, he has to do something. I hit them as a warning message. They had to be done."

Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst, who along with New York shortstop Bud Harrelson was ejected from the game in the third inning, managed a light comment.

"Mac McGlothen was wild all night. I'm surprised he hit anybody if he was trying," said

Schoendienst.
But New York emotions were militant against what had taken place.

"I think it's bush," said Matlack, who pitched a six-hitter for the 8-0 victory. "I really think I have no respect for the man McGlothen, even though I did before. When a guy hits a batter Unser after a home run, it's one thing. But not when the score is 6-0. Everybody's got to pitch inside that's part of the game. But not a foot-and-a-half batter."

In the other NL games Tuesday night, Matt Williams hit two home runs—his second winning single in the 10th inning—two games, scored four runs and drove in three to lift the Giants past the Pirates.

Los Angeles trailed 8-1 at one point.

When Detroit Coach Herb Brown was asked if there was any one area in which his team was weakest, he answered: "Yeah, basketball."

But, the Golden State Warriors can make almost any opposing coach feel that way. The defending National Basketball Association champions opened their quarter-final series against Detroit Tuesday night with a 127-103 victory. Phil Smith scored 26 points.

"We're horrible," Brown said. "The Warriors played well. They can just break you down, and I'm sure that contributed most to our being horrible."

Rick Barry was held to 13 points but he tied his season-high for assists, handing out 11.

In the night's only other playoff game, the Phoenix Suns took a 3-1 lead in their quarterfinal series against Seattle, beating the SuperSonics 130-114. The Warriors-Pistons series continues in Oakland Thursday night, and Phoenix travels to Seattle for Game 5 Sunday.

Pedro Garcia drove in two runs and scored twice to pace the Milwaukee Braves in a game twice delayed by rain, for a total of one hour 22 minutes.

Pete Broberg checked the Royals on two hits through five innings, then Billy Champion and Ed Rodriguez preserved the victory.

$385 Million Uncollectible For Calendar 1975

Corporations Failing To Deposit Withholding Taxes

EDITOR'S NOTE — The resistance to taxes afflicts not only taxpayers but corporations that withhold taxes from employees' paychecks. Now the IRS is changing its methods to make certain businesses turn over all the money they withhold, and on time.

By R. GREGORY NIKES, Associated Press Writer. WASHINGTON (AP) — The collector of most of the nation's taxes is not the Internal Revenue Service, but the country's many corporations, and a growing number have been falling down on the job. Across the land, corporations are required to withhold money from their employees' paychecks, both for income taxes and Social Security taxes, and deposit the money as often as four times a month into government accounts in local banks.

During 1975, an estimated $384 million was collected in this fashion by employers, out of total government tax collections estimated at $284 billion. The IRS said that money is returned to the Trust Funds. "It is a fact that lately the strain has been showing signs of stress because of the recession, inflation, and an environment for protest" against tax payments generally, IRS officials say.

Stanley Skriffler, chief of the IRS's Technical Division, said in an interview that "The Vietnam war got people in the mood to object to taxes generally." The IRS listed $385 million in Trust Fund taxes as uncollectible for calendar 1975, an increase of 7.8 per cent over 1974. It said there were 1.2 million delinquent Trust Fund accounts — 5.6 per cent of the total — that required special collection action during the year.

The amount of money in these accounts totaled $2.1 billion. There is considerable risk to the employer in being delinquent: fines up to 100 per cent of the money owed and prison terms up to five years.

Small and medium-size corporations and businesses, usually those in some financial difficulty, most often yield to the temptation to use employees' taxes for business purposes, said Kenneth E. Lake, assistant director of the Collectors Division. However, he said that businesses which are consistently delinquent usually do not survive long, in part because the IRS insists on payment and will seize business property if payments aren't made.

The IRS carried out 18,864 seizures of property of all kinds in 1975, both from businesses and individuals who were in default on taxes.

Lake said the IRS has adopted a policy of being more lenient in working out repayment plans for delinquent businesses. It has issued a new firm that encourages businessmen to come to the IRS to discuss their problems before they become too serious for solution.

There are proposals to simplify collection procedures, which Lake acknowledges now impose "a fairly substantial paperwork burden." IRS officials believe that businessmen are now more tempted than ever to delay handing over tax money because so much more money is involved. Withheld taxes averaged $1,950 per year for each employee in 1975, up from $760 in 1964.

Cook Of The Week

Slow Cooker Ideal For Career Gals

By ELDANICHOIS, Herald Correspondent

Eileen Mack of Sanford presses a great deal on her pressure cooker and slow cooker for turning out tasty dishes. "I try to cook the quickest thing I can find," she said. She keeps her recipes simple and has only one cookbook in the house.

Married only two years, she and her husband Clark are proud of the vegetable garden they're growing with another couple. "We have beans, peas, corn, carrots, tomatoes and squash, plus cantaloupes and watermelon. It's coming along just fine. We work in it on Sundays, or whenever we get a chance," she said.

Clark enjoys cooking and doesn't mind stepping in and preparing a dish or two. In fact, when meat loaf is served, it's his own recipe they use. "I just don't like to make it, so he does it himself," said Eileen.

She said, "We had stacks of lemon meringue pies around here at Christmas time. The lemons were ripe on the tree in our back yard, so I put them in."

Eileen's time is rather limited, as she works in the Stenstrom, Davis and McIntosh law offices and attends Rollins College at night. She also makes most of her own clothes and sews and alters for others. She has just begun needlepoint work and loves it.

Here are some of Eileen's quick, simple recipes:

VEAL PARMESAN
3 breaded veal patties
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
Cheddar cheese to cover tops of patties
Brown patties in frypan in small amount of grease.
Transfer to baking dish, pour tomato sauce over patties and bake at 350 degrees, for 25 minutes, remove from oven, sprinkle with cheese and bake until cheese is melted.

PRESSURE-COOKER STEW
1 lb. carrots, sliced
6 medium-sized potatoes, quartered
1 lb. stew meat

CHICK CHILI
1 can (12 oz.) tomato paste
1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce
2 lbs. ground beef
1 can (28 oz.) kidney beans
chili powder to taste
Brown meat in frypan, combine tomato sauce and paste in crock pot, add one to one and a half cans of water, add beans and meat. Add chili powder. Cook four to five hours.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN
2½ to 3 lb. broiler-fryer chicken, cut

small ovenware dish and bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Remove and garnish with one cup tomato sauce, return to oven, and bake 20 minutes, remove and serve.

Heat oven to 425 degrees, wash chicken and pat dry. In oven, melt shortening and butter in baking pan, 13x9x2 inches. Mix flour, salt, paprika and pepper. Coat chicken pieces thoroughly with flour mixture.

Place chicken skin side down in melted shortening. Cook uncovered 30 minutes. Turn chicken; cook 30 minutes longer or until thick pieces are fork-tender.

The Marriage Savers
Sex Clinics: One in 50 Legitimate

By JOANNE AND LEW KOCH, The Herald Services (Fourth in a series)

It is the best of times and the worst of times for people with sexual problems. Never before have there been so many places where a man who has never achieved an erection or a woman who has never experienced an orgasm can be helped. Never before have there been so many quacks and charlatans vying for sexual therapy business, with little more than a leer to recommend them.

Now that we are finally able to recognize sex as a natural birthright of every man and woman, we have to guard that birth right from those who would exploit us. The healthy openness about sexuality which allows a husband and wife to admit, at least to their therapist, that they are not able to please each other, the growing equality which tells a wife she doesn't have to fake an orgasm any more — all this has led to a boon and a blight called the sex clinic.

Sex therapy is not just a course in intercourse, but a program of learning to respond to a separate adult human being, someone who has ceased to be a live partner, a lover, and is now entangled with you in a debilitating dependency.

In a relatively short, concentrated period of therapy (12 to 15 sessions is a typical course), husband and wife can learn to flourish; then can experience an amazing, accelerated growth. They can establish a new relationship which doesn't require one of the partners to be sick or guilty or hurt all the time.

But just as sexual therapy may hold the key to a new relationship, it can also be bungled so badly that men and women become convinced they are sexual and emotional failures.

The dangers have been exposed recently by the first and foremost sex therapist, Dr. William Masters.

"The current field of sexual therapy is dominated by an astounding assortment of incompetents, cultists, mystics, and well-meaning dabblers and outright charlatans."

His professional and marital partner, Virginia Johnson, in a rare moment of anger, told us there's so much exploitation in the field now that it disgusts her.

Dr. Masters claims that in the five years since they published "Human Sexual Inadequacy," approximately 3,000 to 5,000 new treatment centers devoted to sex problems have been established in the United States. Of these, says Dr. Masters, "the most charitable estimate is that perhaps 100 are legitimate. Our instinct says that 50 would be a better guess."

Quackery in sex therapy is nearly impossible to prosecute because there is no legal definition of what is a legitimate sex clinic.

The problem is compounded by the fact that most people have no idea what they should expect from a sexual therapist. Dr. Masters will be the first to admit that there is no such thing as the Masters-Johnson technique. "We preach no dogma. We treat each couple as a unique relationship, and we don't know what approach will be followed until we know what the particular problems are."

Son In Quandry Over Step-Mother's Advances

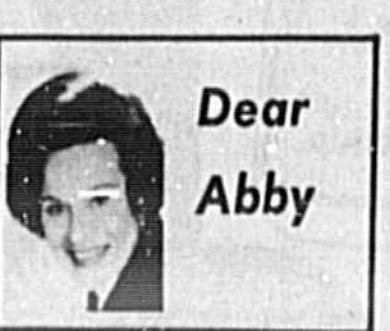

DEAR ABBY: I know I've done wrong, but please help me because I'm in such a mess I don't know what to do.

I was 15 when my mother died, so my father and I "batted it" for nearly two years. My father finally decided to marry Neva who was 37 and fairly nice-looking. Dad was 57.

Everything would have been fine if I had had any sense, but I started fooling around with Neva when my father was at work. Neva got pregnant. I was scared out of my wits, but Neva said she could make my father think the baby was his, so I shouldn't worry.

Neva had twin boys, and my father was the happiest man on earth. Everything was working out fine, until the twins were 8-months-old. Then, with no warning, my father had a heart attack and died. Neva and I were in a state of shock for several days and didn't know what to do.

My father left enough insurance, cash and property for Neva and the twins to live comfortably and for me to go to college. Now Neva doesn't want me to go to college. She wants me to marry her — and help her raise the twins! She says they are as much mine as hers. I want to do what's right, but I don't want to live with Neva the rest of my life. Please help me.

Dear Abby

turn it on when you both retire. Whoever is awake while the other is asleep should say, "I am awake, so YOU must be snoring!" And that should settle it!

DEAR ABBY: Get a load of the following, published April 3, 1976 in "The Alabamian," the weekly newspaper of the 18th Infantry in the Army of Occupation of Germany with the Rainbow Division: EASY ON PANTS

Pants are made for men, not for women.

Women are made for men, not for pants.

When a man pants for a woman and a woman pants for a man, that makes a pair of pants.

Pants are like molasses: They are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold weather.

There has been much discussion as to whether "pants" is singular or plural. Seems to us that when men wear pants they are plural, and when they don't, it is singular. If you want to make pants last, make the coat first.

S.L.M. SUTHERLAND, HISTORIAN, RAINBOW DIVISION VETERANS

DEAR S.L.M.: Thanks for a dandy day brightener!

DEAR HUFFY: Thanks for pointing out the progress we've made since 1888.

DEAR ABBY: My husband says that I snore, but I know I don't. One thing I know for certain is that HE snores, and if I don't fall asleep before he does, I'm up all night. He tells ME that HE is up all night because of MY snoring, which is ridiculous because if he were up he wouldn't be keeping ME up with his snoring.

200 YEAR HERITAGE OF GREAT AMERICAN FOODS

Although early settlers in America used simple ingredients to create a variety of meats and other foods, today we have more sophisticated and sophisticated ways to prepare our food.

GRAPES CUT UP
2 quarts grape
2 quarts orange
2 quarts apple
2 quarts pineapple
2 quarts kiwi
2 quarts cantaloupe
2 quarts watermelon

Wash grapes, remove stems. Rinse with a small amount of water and grapes are washed. Slice to remove seeds and stems. Add remaining ingredients to the 50¢ and 10¢ jars. A heavy detergent will make it easier to wash. Wash thoroughly. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Art Of Budgeting In The Kitchen: Scandinavian Cooking

By NANCY BOOTH Herald Correspondent

When most people think of Scandinavian cooking they think "Ah! Smorgasbord!" They're right, but the smorgasbord is only the beginning of the wonderful meals devised by the cooks of the Northern countries of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden.

Part I of a Series

In Denmark cooking has been strongly influenced by the French cuisine. The Danish Court set the pace for the rest of the country both in clothing and food. Peasants ate the same foods as royalty.

Breakfast (frokost) in Denmark is a simple meal of tea and a light pastry. Luncheon (middag) is served about 1 p.m. and is usually a simple affair starting with smørbrød, an open-faced gargarntan sandwich, or an assortment of smaller sandwiches. Coffee usually is the only complement to the meal.

It is the dinner hour that food really comes into its own in this Scandinavian country. Nothing is hurried. Every course is long-processed in preparing. Danish cooks are noted for their thrift and nothing goes to waste. Leftovers are disguised and served as the main course.

Every scrap is used to create plate-pleasing meals. An aid to Danish cooking is its location and topography. Denmark is a small sea-bordered country, flat and fertile. It's seas and forests provide the population with an abundance of fish, game and fresh vegetables.

The Danes have added their imagination and skill to create recipes that have been handed down through the ages. Danish meatballs called Frikadeller, are probably the best known Danish dish.

DANISH MEAT BALLS
1 pound cooked beef
1 pound salt pork
1 onion
1 hard-crust roll
2 cups milk

There are a lot of aspects of vegetable gardening that will stymie new gardeners in the beginning, but a great many books on the subject have been written in recent years. These may be found at libraries and in book stores.

There are some pointers that may prove helpful in the venture. — Plan the vegetable garden for maximum yield, not only for summer enjoyment but for long term economy by freezing and canning. Plant only as much as you can farm. Rotating a small plot may be far more rewarding than planting a big garden that can become a burden. Too much to handle can be discouraging.

— Grow the vegetables and fruits your family enjoys. Corn stalks take a garden out of horizontal conformity, but if only raccoons eat them, this is not the year to worry about the aesthetics. Beans, tomatoes, squash, lettuce, carrots and greens usually provide good yields, a nice assortment of vitamins and minerals. Tomatoes can be a lively challenge. Even sunny apartment windows can be good places to grow tomatoes and lettuce.

— A backyard garden close to the house is a better arrangement than one a good distance away because of the availability of water in case of drought. There may be some difficulty in getting the help needed to weed or to bring water to the garden if it is needed. On chilly, rainy, muddy and very hot days, family helpers keep out of sight unless there is a firm schedule. They will want to munch on the production, but they don't want to do the work.

Some years ago a gardener found an easy way to get family and friends into the gardening act. He prepared a terrace under a shade tree far from the family garden. Guests would leave their chaise longue or chair to second-guess the garden and they would never fail to pull some weeds. He had counted on the fact that "most people are busybodies," he said.

Vegetables serve a more useful purpose perhaps than say, a big flower plot. But a border of flowers and herbs could serve two purposes — provide flowers (if you like marigolds) and discourage bugs. The claim has often been made that marigolds planted next to corn and tomatoes may discourage Japanese beetles. Some people use them to discourage aphids in a rose bed as well as bean beetles.

Even the early colonists used herbs to discourage bugs — tansy, a bitter tasting but aromatic herb, was even used indoors. Thyme is supposed to kill cabbage worms and some people

Airport To House Firm HQ

By KRIS NASH
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford-Central Florida Airport will be the new headquarters for an electronic communications company which is anticipating $50 million in sales during fiscal year 1977.

Meeting today, board members of the airport authority approved a plan to lease a three-story building to the firm — BFJ Sales Company, Inc. — at an annual rate of $21,000 for the first three years.

BFJ President William Boucher said computerized operations of his company's sales, which now stand at $35 million per year, have not missed the mark in the last five years.

BFJ, a national wholesale distributor, already has a regional headquarters at the Sanford facility and will move its sales, accounting and data processing departments to Sanford.

The transfer will boost the number of local employees from 30 to 75, and will increase the firm's annual local payroll to $700,000 according to Boucher.

Boucher said he plans to relocate a maximum of 25 BFJ employees from Louisiana in July, if there are that many who will move. If all 25 are transferred then 20 more sales and clerical personnel will be hired from the local job market.

Boucher said, "It was a big decision to move down here," Boucher related. "We've been in Louisiana for 16 years and Louisiana's been good to us. We've spent a lot of hours and many nights trying to decide."

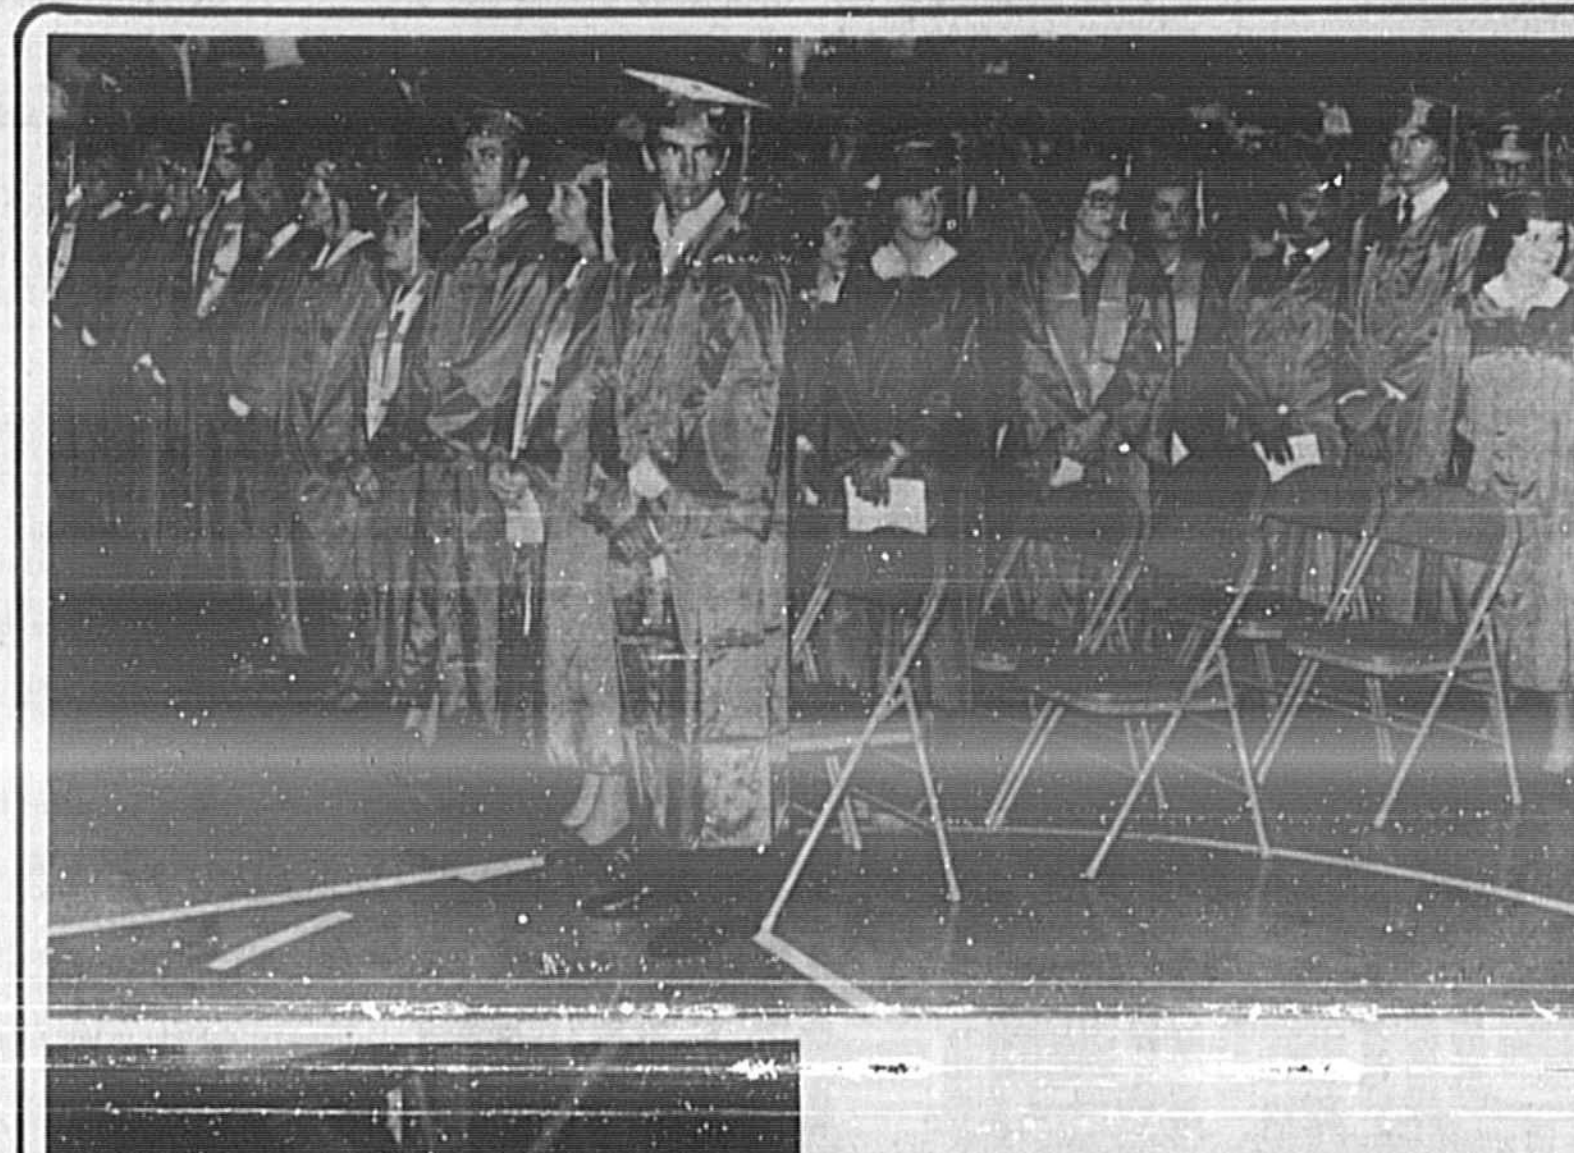

BFJ finally decided to consolidate its offices in Sanford because of the area's labor climate and the firm's relationship with Airport Manager J. S. Cleveland and other local officials, Boucher said.

"Plus we find it is much easier to bring employees to Florida than it is to transfer them to Nome, Alaska, or somewhere," he added. "I've been selling Florida for several years—they've almost refused to stamp my visa to get back into Louisiana."

The building that will serve as the company's headquarters — Building 310 at the airport industrial complex — was the same structure targeted for use by Seminole County as a jail facility a few months ago, according to Cleveland.

The Airport Authority voted not to allow the building to be used for that purpose, Cleveland said.

Constructed as barracks at the Sanford Naval Air Station in 1965, Building 310 was abandoned in 1968 and has stood vacant since except for a year of temporary use by Glenn Turner in 1972-73.

SCC GRADUATION

Associate Degrees in Arts and Science were awarded by Seminole Community College Wednesday night at the SCC Health Center to 159 graduates of the Class of 1976. Degrees were presented by R. A. Schreiber, dean of student development, Dr. Earl S. Weldon (photo left) president and Dr. Joseph White, dean of instruction. The commencement address was given by Dr. Betty L. Siegel, Dean of Academic Affairs for Continuing Education at the University of Florida. The invocation was given by Rev. Leo King of First United Methodist Church and the benediction by Rev. Kenneth Holt of Pinecrest Baptist Church. Some 600 additional students earned degrees during the terms ending in June, August and December, 1975, but did not return for the official one a year graduation exercises. GAO Team In Sanford For Audit of SEEDCO Today

A three-man team from the General Accounting Office (GAO) arrived in Sanford today to conduct an audit of the books of the Seminole Employment Economic Development Corporation (SEEDCO), a federally-funded poverty-fighting agency.

The GAO audit was requested Feb. 18 by SEEDCO President Horace Orr in a letter to State Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Lake-Land.

"I welcome this audit, and I am glad to see it get under way. For much too long now, the people of this area have been delayed by stories that serve no purpose but to raise doubt in the public mind," Orr said today.

"This audit, when it is finished, will erase those doubts," he added.

The latest "doubt" is a published story that the agency paid $202,000 for land that sold for $105,000 less than three weeks before it was purchased by SEEDCO.

The land is near Interstate 4 and the SR 46 Interchange west of Sanford and was bought in 1972 as a motel site. J. R. Hattaway of Hattaway Realty in Longwood said he located the SR 46 property for SEEDCO after looking at several sites.

However, Orr said the site was purchased on recommendation of experts as to the value of the land at the time of the purchase.

Orr also said he bought the "cheapest land" he could find for a motel site. Orr explained that he looked at various sites, one on Lake Mary Boulevard and one on Oregon Avenue, that were more expensive than the SR 46 site.

"Some of the best authorities in industry looked at that land and told us what to do," Orr said.

In the meantime Hattaway said there is nothing unusual about buying land without checking to see what the previous owner paid for it.

Hattaway said it's "very, very common" for persons in the real estate business to buy a site without checking to see what the owner paid for it.

"What a realtor looks at, Hattaway added, is the "market value" or what the parcel is worth at the time of the intended purchase.

"All you care about as a buyer is the market value," Hattaway said.

The unused motel site was bought by Woodcher Inc. in Nov. of 1972 for about $105,000. Then it was resold to SEEDCO about three weeks later.

Orr, like Hattaway, said he had no idea what Woodcher paid for the land.

The agency began operations in San. in 1970. Since then some $4.2-million in federal dollars has been brought here by the agency's efforts.

Orr blames his woes on an Orlando newspaper, which, he says, has "attacked" SEEDCO without provocation and without justification.

New County 5-Year Plan $25 Million Needed For Capital Projects

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

More than $25-million in Seminole County capital construction projects are projected over the next five years, according to a study released today.

The $25-million figure is listed in Seminole County's first five-year capital improvement program plan prepared by the Office of Management Analysis and Evaluation (OMAE).

CHAE Director Pat Gilson said this morning that the $25-million figure is "just an estimate" and not a solid evaluation of future needs.

Gilson said it's uncertain at this point whether or not the $25-million worth of projects will require increases in land taxes.

"If all the projects were done, it could mean an increase in taxes. Those decisions will be made at a later date," Gilson said.

Several significant projects are included in the five-year plan, including a new county administration building, a new jail and utility acquisitions. However, Gilson pointed out needs and/or desires may change over the next five years and that would necessitate changes in the OMAE overview.

Copies of Gilson's document have been presented to members of the county commission and a decision on adoption of the plan is set for May 4.

Gilson explained that commission approval of his overview would not require the county to spend $25-million. The document is to be used only as a "policy planning tool," according to the OMAE director.

The largest expenditure is on roads. Some $7-million is listed in state road programs, which, technically, are not a county responsibility, Gilson included.

Roads, however, because the commission adopts the yearly road program and it is paid for out of state gas tax funds attributed to Seminole County.

Other major projects and their five-year costs are:

- Environmental services (utilities), $3,699,000.
- County road program, $2,955,000.
- Parks and recreation, $2,215,000.
- Fire protection, $2,177,000.
- Arthropod control, $943,000.
- Traffic engineering, $730,000.
- "One of the objectives of a long-range capital improvements program is to

Section Previews Homemaker Show

The American Homemakers Club will present two shows in Sanford this weekend — Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m.

There's a sneak preview inside today's Evening Herald, with a 16-page section full of recipe ideas using products that help. The Herald sponsor the annual show.

But there's more to the 2 1/2 hour shows at Sanford's Civic Center. Charlene Ernst, nationally known home economist, will prepare more than 15 different recipes at each of the shows. There will also be helpful household budget tips, a spring fashion show and exciting exhibits and displays by local merchants.

Everyone attending the Homemakers' School will receive a free gift bag with the American Homemaker '76 cookbook, food samples and coupons.

Each dish prepared on stage will be given away to someone in the audience and dozens of door prizes — including 24 bags of groceries — will be given away.

The Civic Center doors will open an hour before each show.

The gifts include a starter set of cabinets from Scotty's, a matching mower from Camco Industrial Equipment, a CB antenna from Williamson Communications, two redwood name signs from Seminole Rec Vee, a musical figurine from Car Ben Jewelers, two Sunday brunches and a three-foot party sandwich from Buck's Restaurant and Catering, two framed color portraits from Gregory Photography, a lamp from K&B Lamps, an oil and filter change from Williams Amoco, two turkeys and two sets of Bicentennial place mats from Seminole Appliance Service, two lubrications from Goodyear Service Shop, two $10 gift certificates from Capp's Mens Wear and two French purses from Atlantic Bank of Sanford.

Other participants include Public, Winn Dixie, Fairway and Park & Shop, who helped fill the grocery bags to be given away, and Knight's Shoe Store, Phillips Decorating, Dan, Phil Deere Furniture, Seminole Garden Center and Garden-Land.

CHARLENE ERNST ... directs show to give everyone attending time to see all the displays and register for free gifts.

Lake Mary To Air Water Needs

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — A meeting of land developers and city officials is to be called early next week to consider a joint effort to construct a water system in the western section of the city to serve the entire community.

Council member Lillian Griffin at a meeting Wednesday evening was designated to set up the meeting, inviting developers and representatives of owners of 339 acres in the west end, who have either had development plans already approved or on the drawing boards.

Among those to be invited are: Don Rathel, representing owners of 205 industrial zoned acres, west of Interstate 4 and south of SR-46A; Leo Trepanier, owner of 80 acres, located opposite the Stromberg-Carlson plant where a mobile home community is planned, and Harold Fues, a representative of the owners of the Interstate Industrial Park that contains 54 acres and was approved by the city for development more than a year ago.

Mrs. Griffin in urging the meeting, said the city officials can determine at the meeting what the developers are willing to do in the way of providing water facilities and can determine to what extent the city can participate.

Fues, at a workshop with the council Wednesday, again offered to give the city a 50x75-foot lot and to build a 12-inch well at the site, in exchange for water service from the well.

He said owners of the Interstate Industrial Park have no desire to be in the utility business.

Councilman Martin Bacon Sr., put colleagues on notice that he will recommend at city council meeting tonight that an "independent" engineer be retained to determine whether the city will be "better off" by continuing with the plan to purchase water from Sanford as part of its water system expansion and improvements or to build a new system.

The city, under a $34,000 loan approved by the U.S. Farmers Home Administration, plans to expand current water lines to provide better water pressure and to purchase water from Sanford rather than to update and modernize its current water plant. Engineers say water from the old plant is deteriorating in quality.

Clerk-Dietz and Associates, city engineers, have recommended that the purchase of water from Sanford is most cost effective at this time.

The engineers have also said the $354,000 loan is not sufficient to expand water lines and modernize the old water plant too.

Bacon said, "Some are insisting a conflict of interest exists with the engineers" in that the firm serves both Lake Mary and the City of Sanford. An opponent for some months of the plan to purchase water from Sanford, Bacon said the 37.5 cents per thousand gallons fee to be charged by Sanford is high. He said with the proposal being considered by Sanford to increase water rates "Sanford may be taking us over the hurdles."

In other discussion, the city council agreed to request sealed bids from property owners in the community willing to rent office space to the city for a city hall. Councilman Bert Perinich, police commissioner, said the police department is preparing to move into new office space on County Country Club Road and that sufficient money exists in the budget to pay the rental.
