Detective Author Had Hands Blown Off In Desert War

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Jan. 14 (AP)—This is the story of a man of courage who, wrecked physically by the war, refused to remain a helpless cripple.

Ronald Vincent, 21, was a gunner with the first army in the Western Desert. One day a Italian hand grenade exploded near him. Vincent lost both arms and his sight.

Discharged from the hospital, Vincent equipped with artificial arms, enrolled in a technical training school. A South African firm devised a typewriter with a keyboard in perforated metal. With small wooden pegs, tucked to his artificial wrists, Vincent, after memorizing the keyboard, punched out the letters by inserting the pegs in the proper holes. After many tedious weeks of study and practice he became an excellent typist.

Writer Studies Life Of Florida Seminole Indian

WINTER PARK, Jan. 14. (Special)—Dr. Kenneth W. Porter of the history department of Washington College, concluded at Rollins College today a two weeks research project which involved checking the indexes of the Union Catalog of Florida and materials in other parts of the state in preparation of a biography of the Seminole Negro chief, John Horse of John Cavallo (Cowaya, Coway, Lowaga, etc.), perhaps better known by his nickname of Gopher John, or in Seminole, John Kowi-ya, (Cawiga, Ca-wy-ya, Coch-ah).

The subject of Dr. Porter's biography was a subject in the Seminole War and signed the capitulation of Fort Dale March 6, 1837, as a representative of Alligator. He was a ringleader with Osceola and Wild Cat, in carrying off the hostages from Tampa Bay as a protest against violation of the treaty, was captured with Osceola and Wild Cat from the Castillo de San Marcos, St. Augustine, the next month, and was a commander in the Battle of Lake Okechobee with

Superstitions Of Africa Questioned

By JOSEPH MORTON
A P Features

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES IN WEST AFRICA—Some day I hope somebody will explain a few things to me. They really have me worried.

I would like to know, for example, if the black-skinned natives hoisted along a certain stretch of the Liberian coast honestly believe a water devil will get them if they use their surf-boats to assist the United States Army with unloading operations. Or have their fears been planted by subtle German agents? Is it superstition or sabotage?

I wonder if there ever have been any wild animals in the world as fortunate as the sacred crocodile at Cape Palmas, Liberia, which reportedly was given chicken and cane juice by human worshippers every day. Is it true that it was once fed a child?

Did the French Ivory Coast natives, who threw away the British coin bearing Queen Victoria's likeness, really think it was bogus because the queen was dead? And has the tribal bigwig, whose mechanical fan is propelled by means of an elaborate arrangement of pulleys and cords attached to a phonograph, ever heard of Rubo Goldberg?

Do you think the Liberian natives who threw pepper into the ocean actually believed that fish would come up to sneeze and thus permit themselves to be speared?

I certainly would like to know if any good pictures ever have been taken of the mermaids in the Cavally River, the fabled stream which Hervey Allen called Rio Pongo in his "Anthony Adverse." They are fishes with faces like monkeys and perfectly formed breasts for nursing their young.

I wonder, too, if Pauline Smith, the Negroess from Harlem, enjoys her life as a sort of sub-queen in a Liberian village. . . . And are their any fighting French agents more colorful than Henri de Villmorin, who has crossed the desert many times on a camel with his small two-way radio strapped to his hump.

I also wish I knew why so many American army officers include adding machines as part of their field equipment. . . . Most of all, I would like to find out if the colors, nesting in a pile of clothes on the cot next to mine,

LAUNDRY BURNS

ORLANDO, Jan. 14.—Damage estimated at $200,000 was inflicted early Tuesday when fire of undetermined origin swept through the Winter Park plant of the Orange Laundry company.

An undetermined quantity of army and civilian clothing was destroyed or damaged, W. J. Hill, one of the owners, said. The plant held a contract for laundering flat work of the Orlando Army Air Base.

A total of 3,500,000 acres of federal grazing districts were converted to military training areas in 1941-42.

ODT Says Farmers Co-operate With Filing Appeals

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 14. (Special)—Word went out today from officials of the Office of Defense Transportation that farmers, as well as other commercial vehicle owners, had co-operated nicely in getting their appeals filed by the deadline of Jan. 10. It is hoped that all farm appeals will have been handled by Jan. 15 in order that farmers may be assured of enough gasoline for their essential needs.

H. E. McDaniel, district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, Jacksonville, stated that ODT was trying to keep the trucks rolling longer, and that if all unnecessary driving is eliminated, it is felt that there will be sufficient gasoline and equipment for absolute necessities. Each one must bear in mind, however, that it is his responsibility to cut his operation to an absolute minimum.

Farm transportation committees are co-operating very nicely, and appreciation was expressed for their fine work in bringing to the attention of the farmers, as well as others, the gravity of the situation, and the ingenuity on the part of these committees has assisted ODT a great deal in getting this splendid co-operation that has been evidenced.

FOR PLEASANT DINING

Good food, agreeable companions, and an attractive table are three things that make meals pleasant. When a table is clean and well-ordered, food tastes better and is more beneficial. The people round it are stimulated to friendly talk.

For an attractive table, the linens used should be spotless. China, silver, and glassware should shine with cleanliness. Every accessory, however simple, should be immaculate. Fresh flowers in a shining bowl, are cheerful, but wilted ones should never be used.

If ever you get the answers to any of these questions, please send them to me. And if I get any more questions, I'll pass them along to you.

Point Rationing Should Be Looked On As Banking

The "Point Rationing" System won't seem so complicated if you look on your coupons as a sort of money.

Beginning probably in February, you will have to "spend" these coupons for most varieties of canned goods and frozen fruits and vegetables...

It may be that for the first month of rationing you will be permitted to use all coupons lettered A, B and C. If so, you will have 48 points to "spend" on processed food...

Creighton U. Coach Packs Lot Of Cage Dynamite

By CHIP ROYAL
A P Features Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 14. —He's only 5-foot-5, weighing 155, but he packs a lot of athletic dynamite under his small frame, this Eddie Hickey, the basketball coach of Creighton University, out Omaha way.

Watching the Nebraskan mite order the six-footers around during a recent Madison Square Garden session, spectators were impressed by the way he handled his men, and the way they respected his words.

Talking to Hickey, you can understand it all. He is one of the greatest boosters that basketball players or sports audiences ever had. He is interested in only one thing—doing his best to keep sports on a high plane.

Recently, there have been stories that eastern and western basketball don't mix, that the game is too professional in the east, but the Bluejays mentor doesn't agree.

"Basketball has made great strides in the last few years, and it can thank these New York games for it," Hickey declared. "The inter-sectional clashes have done more to improve the game than all the rule changing and talk will ever do."

The Nebraskan commended the style of officiating here in the east and said he liked the rugged, offensive style of play.

"The New York teams I have seen all operate with major efficiency that is a pleasure to watch. The spectators are entitled to be excited by the terrific off-the-board game. I doubt if any other section of the country can match the marvelous ball-handling, the fast cutting, and the exceptional ability in set-court shooting.

"Some of the coaches have been yelling for the standardization of play," continued Hickey, "and these inter-sectional games are the best medium I know for doing that. We have introduced several features of the eastern game in the west, and we intend to try more of them in turn. The teams here have picked up a few of our tricks, including the one-handed shot, and they are doing all right."

Eddie also had a word to say for the Garden spectators. "I like the New York audiences. Their enthusiasm is catching. I like the way they pull for the underdog, and I have great respect for their sportsmanship."

Hickey thinks that basketball should try to carry on during the war. "There isn't a game that gives you the speed, action and scoring that you can get in a court battle, and they all go to make up the best entertainment and relaxation I know."

"Athletics will be the greatest medium in bringing the nation back to a level plane after the war. There are unlimited possibilities for sports and it is up to us to keep shooting, forget about rule changes, and keep everything the same for the boys until they come home."

This dramatic photo was made in Washington, D. C., just after Marie Davis tripped in front of an incoming trolley car and was pinned beneath it. Quick work by the motorman stopped the car just before the wheels were about to run over the woman. It took a rescue crew an hour before she could be freed. She was rushed to a hospital to determine whether she was badly injured. This is a photograph. (Central Press)

Unemployment Fund Increases In '42

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 14, (AP)—With claims by jobless workers reduced by increased wartime employment in Florida, the State's Unemployment Compensation Fund increased 85 percent during 1942, from $20,000 at the close of the year, Boyce A. Williams, chairman of the State Industrial Commission, reported.

During the first six months of 1942, when many major automobile agencies, contractors, appliance dealers and service stations lost their jobs, unemployment claims aggregating $2,851,229 were paid. In the second half of the year, as war work absorbed more and more of those displaced in private industry, payments decreased 37 percent, Williams said.

BIRTHS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14, (AP)—From Nov. 26 to Dec. 25, 1942, there were 6,041 births and 1,744 deaths reported for Florida, compared to 5,101 births and 1,718 deaths for the same period in 1941, the monthly vital statistics bulletin of the Bureau of Census reported.

For the first 11 months of last year, births in the State rose 6.4 percent (from 53,555 to 56,871), while deaths dropped 4.9 percent (from 21,015 to 20,208).

Uncle Sam's Boys Will Know Nation's Dances

SAN JUAN, P. R., Jan. 14, (AP)—When Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors on guard in Puerto Rico come back, they'll be ballroom champions of inter-American friendship, able to waltz along the inter-sectional lines, says the command and the local press.

And the dance-band quartets' quest back in San Juan will be beating it out right to a ballroom, where they'll be waltzing with the girls.

T. C. U. Player Brings Team Out Of "Doldrums"

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 14.—Make way for Hub (Carpenter) McQuillan.

That's what they call him out at Texas Christian University where he's done a lot of building.

Hub is the guy who brought T. C. U. out of basketball's doldrums in one year then pushed the Horned Frogs to the top the next.

The Frogs came home the other day with the championship of Oklahoma City's All-College tournament in their pocket. To win it they had to topple mighty Arkansas, always the team to beat in the Southwest Conference.

But it wasn't the defeat of Arkansas that impressed the fan as much as the way the Frogs did it. The score was 27-25 and few teams ever had held the tall Razorbacks under 30 points.

Meaning, T.C.U. has the all-firdest defense in basketball down here.

It's a short but interesting story.

Hub started at the bottom when he became coach of T.C.U. last winter. The Frogs could count their victories over a stretch of three or four years on their fingers. They were doormats of the Southwest Conference.

McQuillan wants to get a job done, quickly. Carpenters, you know, are that way.

With the aid of a few additional basketball jobs, Hub went after material. He took a short cut. He brought in junior college boys who could skip that year's freshman play, his went to Kansas, Minnesota and Idaho for some of the prospects.

They were not the shining stars that other conference schools boasted but they were a lot better than the average. They were hard workers too, just like Carpenter McQuillan.

Today, Texas Christian looks like the best bet in the field of line teams in this conference. It lost its opening game but that was before the boys got organized. Since then, it has dropped just once—before Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, which boasts one of the greatest edge squads in the nation.

Carpenter McQuillan can skip back and admire his work—that is, he has time. He's a very busy fellow, you know.
