CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION, "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME." EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOSES AND FAITH. 'HELL PRENT 'EM'—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

The Government ownership of the nation's telephone lines would cost less than $900,000,000 and would present no greater difficulties of financing than did the Panama canal. Representative Lewis of Maryland told the house in an exhaustive analysis of his proposal to have those lines operated by the post-office department.

Representative Lewis, who took a leading part in the establishment of the parcel post, and who has made a study with post-office officials of government ownership of the electrical lines of communication, does not propose to have the government take over the telegraph companies. His plan is to have the government first own the telephone network of the country, operate some of the telephone lines as telegraphs, as is now possible under modern mechanical positions, and have the government own companies with the private telegraph companies at the outset in the same proportion as the parcel post now compares with the express companies.

With Postmaster General Burleson ignoring the project the government ownership and a special committee of the postoffice department making a study of the subject, the possibility that a bill to that end will come before congress this winter, with administration backing, centered attention upon Representative Lewis' views on the subject, although his measure is his own and does not claim to represent the views of the post-office titles.

The privation of the laws of public and private financing," said Mr. Lewis, "by which public governments have been disinherited of their normal functions, has led to such corruption and demoralization that cities like New York, with its street railways; Philadelphia, with its gas works, and San Francisco, with its telephones, have shamed the actions of Robbin corruption in their most dishonorable days.

Investigation discloses that our telegraphic rates are the highest among twenty countries. The result of these abnormal rates is that we rank-but ninth as telegraph users. Against these conditions it appears that our postal rates average lower than other countries, and that the number of letters here is the highest in the world.

The telegraph companies seem to be lacking in individual economy or efficiency. A striking feature is the discovery that the telegraph service is a relatively declining institution, and that it would be unwise now to purchase it alone and use a single office. To take over the telegraph lines alone and operate them merely as telegraph lines might result in postal privation. They would be no advantage in taking over the telegraph lines, the investigation makes this clear.

But our telephone toll and long distance rates compare with those of other countries. Rates compare with those of other countries even less favorably than do our telegraph rates. It is not unfair, or inaccurate, to say that the American interurban telephone rates are the scandal of public service rates the world over. The local rates of the Bell telephone monopoly are just twice the average charge of other countries.

The subscribers' rates in American cities, compared with continental cities, are about three times as high. For example, New York, where 5,400 calls, about fifteen per day, under a measured service tariff, cost more than the four unlimited yearly rates of London, Paris, Berlin and Stockholm together. For like services, Baltimore people pay more than the rates for London and Paris combined, and Washington pays as much as the five cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Auckland, Tokio and Copenhagen combined.

While competition does not supply a remedy because it divides the service and necessitates the service for two phones, yet it throws an interesting sidelight on the tendency of a private monopoly to jack up the rates.

Telephone development has reached its substantial limits in the United States under private capital, with the extension of the services to the very profitable office and well-to-do home traffic. To extend it to the homes of the masses, as the public roads and postal service now are extended, the postal agency is necessary.

The cost of acquiring the telephone networks is indicated as something less than $900,000,000, for which it is proposed to issue 3 per cent bonds payable in fifty years. It is calculated that the postal system by superimposing the telegraph service on the telephone lines at half present telegraph rates may net some three millions annually from that traffic alone, which with the present profits of the telephones and after the deduction of interest on the bonds and depreciation would supply the department with a large surplus for extensions and so forth.

The financing of the acquisition and the valuation of the properties would cover several years; and while the properties should be taken at one time with the personnel and systematized the payments for them would have to await the final valuations by the Interstate Commerce commission, the treasury paying the owners 4 per cent interest quarterly during the interim. The financing would thus be decentralized into as many payments as there are distinct legal ownerships.

The time is not far distant when Sanford will be under the commission form of government or under the sole management of one man. The city council can delegate this power to one man and the city can still be primarily under the council. In other words we can have the real commission form of government where three men control the destinies of the city as Orlando and Lakeland have recently adopted or the city can still elect a council and the council can engage a manager who will give all his time toward managing the city affairs. This would not be such a difficult position here since we do not own any of our public utilities but the time is coming when we will own our light and water plants and the manager business will be all right. Meantime it would be well for us to watch the cities that have adopted the new form and if the plan is good Sanford can vote on the question and adopt it also. There is only one plan to administer the affairs of any large city or small and that is to give the management to any one man or three men and pay them to do the managing and nothing else. No business man on the city council can afford to give his time and attention to the city affairs. They can give more than they should and I wish to commend them for it but they cannot possibly give the time that the position requires and the commission plan is obvious. Listen to the reports from Dayton and Springfield, Ohio, two cities that have adopted the manager plan.

The people are the stockholders. They have a right to know that their business is conducted. My main hope is that they will take enough interest to want to know.

This is the way Henry M. Waite looks at his job as city manager of the largest city that has adopted such a plan. Waite was in charge of the public improvements in Cincinnati, and his record for efficiency there and not politics, led to his selection when Dayton's commissioners were looking for a man to run the city on a business, not a political basis. Since he took charge he has put in fourteen hours a day on the job. He watches fire runs, police calls, paving contractors, streets cleaners, bookkeepers, every form of city activity with the one aim of efficiency.

Waite runs his job as a superintendent runs a big business. He had a free hand in picking his heads of departments and picked them with an idea of getting results, not with an eye on their political pulls. He holds them responsible for getting for the people the worth of their money.

And this from Springfield: Charles E. Ashburner as "city manager" has been selected to test the theory that what can be done in a small town can be accomplished in a real city. He is the real boss of the city government, hired by the council as a board of directors, and is given the job of seeing that a dollar's worth of returns are obtained for a dollar paid in taxes.

Ashburner turned the trick for Staunton, Va. In the three years he acted as manager for that city he paid off accumulated floating debt of $50,000, passed twice as many streets as had been paved and secured efficiency in the clerical departments of the city. Small grafts were cut out and the people's dollars spent with the same care that he had paid out the money for railroads and other corporations, for which he had worked before taking up the job of running a city on a business basis. His record for efficiency secured him the appointment.

Think of that, you Sanford politicians and realize that the sooner we cut politics from our city and county and state governments the sooner we can get the proper results and the taxpayers will get the benefit. I hope the present city council will go further into the manager business and look well into the results. It would mean that none of them would lose any more time from their business and the manager would prove a paying investment from the very start.

The Pre-Cooling Car

On Monday the officials of the Intermittent Vacuum Pre-Cooling Company with a couple of cars containing their outfit arrived here and in the afternoon gave a demonstration of what can be done to help to deliver our perishable fruit and vegetables in the markets of the north and west in good condition. The demonstration was made on the tracks by the old passenger depot. A refrigerator car was used to show how the temperature could be reduced in a few hours. The temperature was reduced to 15 degrees above zero in about three hours.

Tuesday morning a car of lettuce loaded by Chase & Co. was pre-cooled and sent to T. J. Roberts of New York. In the afternoon a car loaded by F. P. Dalton and sent to John Shreve, Washington, D. C. The arrival of both of these cars will be watched with much interest.

Tuesday morning a wire was received by Mr. R. C. Watson, the official in charge of the demonstration work, telling of the arrival in Baltimore of a car of oranges that had been pre-cooled in Jacksonville Friday of last week. This car was an old refrigerator, No. 21432. It was loaded in Orlando. It was 24 hours getting to Jacksonville to be pre-cooled. The showing was remarkable.

The car was consigned to the J. A. Lambetta Co. With Mr. Lambetta to inspect the car was W. F. Jones, chairman of the transportation committee of the National League and a Howitz Produce Co. reporter. These men found the temperature of both fruit and car to be 57°. The loss was less than 1 per cent, although the grade of oranges in the car was a particularly delicate one to "carry". They were all impressed with the fine showing made, although the car was such a poor one to demonstrate with. While four hours is the usual time necessary to precool a car, only 3 hours and 6 minutes were used in precooling this car, as it had to be hauled out to the train being made up to go north.

From Sanford the demonstration cars were taken to Orlando Tuesday night. Demonstrations were made there on Wednesday and Thursday, after which it was the plan of the officials to take the cars to Plant City, Arundel, Palmetto and Bradenton on the West Coast. They will copy the state and make a demonstration at Cocoa and go on down the East Coast to Miami. It is the plan of the officials to take two days at each place. The results of the demonstration will be watched with much interest. It certainly is hoped that this company has the necessary method of keeping our fruit and vegetables in good condition so that the heavy losses from decay will be a thing of the past. If they have, and their rates are reasonable it will mean a new era of prosperity to the Florida Grower.

HATES MADE TREASURER

Florida Tax Assessors' Association Held Meeting in Jacksonville

The Florida Association of Assessors of Taxes and County Commissioners, after assuming permanent organization at their meeting in Jacksonville, adopted a resolution under the people of the state to demand that each candidate for the senate or state house of the legislature a public statement placing themselves on record as being in favor of or opposed to the separation of state and county taxes as endorsed by the convention.

The assessors favor a plan looking to a separation of state and county taxes, the state to assess the railroad, telegraph and telephone companies; banks, express and Pullman companies, leaving to the county assessors the duty of assessing purely local property.

This would, so the assessors contend, permit the state to defray its expenses with funds derived from the taxation of properties which are essentially state business, and the counties would realize an ample amount from the assessment of local properties to provide for their needs.

The assessors and county commissioners met to adopt a uniform application of Chapter 5596, Laws of Florida, looking to an agreement on a schedule that each class of property should be assessed at on the tax assessment rolls of the various counties of the state.

The assessors formed a permanent association, electing S. E. Sparkman of Hillsborough county, president; J. F. Jaudon of Dale county, first vice president; S. B. Wilson, of Hernando county, second vice president; and S. P. Griffin of Madison county, third vice president.

A. L. Turner of Duval county was selected treasurer and T. K. Bates of Seminole county, treasurer.

Chairman Neel of the state tax commission attended the closing sessions of the convention. The recent reports from the state commission were very thoroughly discussed, Chairman Neel venturing the assertion that the commission would be glad to cooperate with the assessors in reaching an equitable conclusion regarding an assessment of property throughout the state.

Following the adoption of a resolution advocating an assessment of mortgages, a resolution expressing appreciation of the "Tax Muddle" article which recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and a resolution placing the organization on record as supporting the organization of personal property in the state of $100 adjustment was taken until the second Wednesday in December next.

Jolly Shriners Here

A jolly bunch of Shriners from Jacksonville were here on Wednesday for several hours and were guests of some of the local Shriners at the Elks Club. Those in the party were W. M. Roetke, Potentate of Morrey Temple of Jacksonville and A. Y. Millan, W. P. Winchester, R. F. Gillespie and Marion R. Craig.

They are touring Florida, advertising the big Shriners meet in Tampa and general celebration on February 23rd at which about 400 candidates will be initiated and a good time is promised. A special train will leave Jacksonville on the night of the 21st.

The party here on Wednesday made the trip from Jacksonville via Augustine, Daytona, DeLand and Sanford and will go to Tampa through Kissimmee and Lakeland and Plant City. Returning they will leave Tampa on Saturday going home by Brooksville, Leala, Gainesville and Starke. They had a large banner on the car and all the gentlemen wore the Turkish fez caps and they are advertising the big event in great shape.

Robinson is a Writer

Few people here know that M. P. Robinson is a writer but such is a fact. Mr. Robinson is a writer who live here have never recognized his ability but other parts of the country have. Some few weeks ago a well known farm paper wrote Mr. Robinson that if he could write some short articles they would pay him well for the same and being interested in the brick roads Mr. Robinson saw the opportunity of his life to visit Sanford and get some red money for it and he immediately took his typewriter on his lap and dictated a fine article on our brick roads. The article appeared on the front page of the farm journal and in a few days Mr. Robinson received a check for 25 cents. Says he is a full fledged journalist now for his articles are accepted and he is paid for the same and the next thing we know he will be trying to join the Press Association.

WHAT CAUSED THE WRECK

Thought That Iron Nut on Track Turned Engine Over

Palatka, Feb. 6.—An investigation was held as to the cause of the wrecking of the Atlantic Coast Line railway passenger train at Ludys last Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was ascertained that a small negro boy, whose identity is not known at present, was seen to place something on the track at a point where the front trucks of the engine left the rails. This something proved to be a large square iron nut, bolt on the rail on the high side of the curve, around which the train was running when the disaster occurred. The impression of the fact that the nut was in possession of the railroad department, who are at work on the case.

Going at the rate of speed at which the train was running at the time, and especially around a sharp curve there is little doubt that the bit of iron placed on the track caused the accident.

Engineer Tolar continues to improve at his home in this city and will recover with careful nursing. His back is badly sprained, his lip cut, his eye bruised and he has a bad gash in his head, besides numerous bruises on his body. He also suffered a bad bruise in his side that is causing him considerable pain but the physicians have no fear that Mr. Tolar will not pull through all right.

From the pictures of the wreck that have been taken and that show the engine the escape from instant death of Mr. Tolar is nothing short of miraculous. Conductor Burt who was injured in the wreck and was taken to his home in Jacksonville is also reported as being out of danger.

THE NEW PARISH HOUSE

When Completed Will be Fine Addition to Episcopal Church

The new parish house recently started is beginning to assume shape and though having some delay in the lumber the carpenters are making good time and progress. The parish house when completed will be an excellent addition to the Episcopal church of this city.

Every church needs a large auditorium of this kind for social entertainments and Sunday school and other purposes. The new parish house when finished will cost about $2500 and will have chairs and an elevated platform making it suitable for entertainments, lectures, etc.

The front of the two buildings will in all probability be connected, making a most imposing and beautiful effect from the Park avenue approach and when finished the Episcopal church will in reality be a new structure and Rev. Arthur Peck and his congregation are to be congratulated upon their progressive methods and their desire to keep pace with the rapid growth of Sanford.

COMMERCIAL CLUB BUSY IN BIG ADVERTISING PLAN

TWENTY FIVE THOUSAND BOOKLETS WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

ADVERTISING SEMINOLE CO.

SECRETARY BATES HAS A GOOD PLAN FOR ADVERTISING THE NEW COUNTY AND THE CITY OF SANFORD

Some nights it is a difficult matter to get a quorum present at the meetings of the Commercial Club but the members are active just the same and are busy getting up good plans for advertising the city and exploiting the many advantages of the new county of Seminole.

At the last meeting of the board of governors of the Commercial Club an order was placed with the Herald Printing Co. for twenty-five thousand folders to supplement the order for ten thousand recently given by the commissioners.

The first order was exhausted in a short time as Secretary Bates of the Commercial Club does not believe in keeping Sanford literature at home and he has hit upon a most excellent idea of distributing this literature in an economical manner and one that will not fail to get the best results.

The twenty-five thousand folders are now ready and all the real estate men and other boosters who wish to send them out can get same at the office of the secretary or at the Herald office.

Every one who sends a letter north should enclose one of the folders and many of them will bring results from points where you least expect it as all eyes are turned on Florida and the people of the frozen north are anxious to receive literature about this section.

A meeting of the Commercial Club will be held in the next few days to take up many matters of interest and a full attendance is desired. The announcement will be made in The Herald and all the members and those who are not members, are requested to be present.

Sanford has an opportunity to locate a manufacturing plant, a hotel and several other good things and the Club is the proper body to take up these matters and push them to completion.

Presbyterian Church

The people of Sanford will have a treat Sabbath morning at 11. Dr. R. M. Russell of Pittsburgh, Penn., will preach. Dr. Russell is moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, the highest office in the denomination of the church. He is also president of Westminster College. He is at Enterprise taking a vacation and delivering a series of sermons to the conference.

One of the prominent religious workers who heard him this week reports it as the best sermon he has ever seen. His privilege to hear Mrs. Powell will sing at this service.

At the 7 o'clock service Sunday evening Dr. Brodies will preach. This will be an evangelistic service. Miss Allison will sing.

The Sunday school is still enthusiastic and will meet at 9:45 Sunday morning. A teachers' training class with Mrs. D. I. Thrasher as teacher has been organized and meets each Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The Brotherhood will hold a social gathering as the guests of Mr. Thrasher Friday night at 7:30 at his home the corner of Park and Fourth.

Resolutions

Whereas, It has seemed good to the invisible powers that control the destinies of men to remove from among us our late worthy and esteemed townsman and brother, Richard H. Marks, and Whereas, The intimate relations held by the deceased with the members of the Brotherhood Class render proper that we should place upon record our admiration of him as a splendid type of man and our appreciation of the interest he manifests and the zeal with which he worked in the upbuilding of this Brotherhood Class, therefore:

Resolved, That we deplore the loss of Capt. Dick Marks, with deep feelings of regret, softened only by the confident hope that his spirit is with those who have fought the good fight and are now at home in peace with Jesus.

Resolved, That we tender to his afflicted mate and relatives our sincere condolence and our earnest sympathy in their bereavement of the loss of one who was a good citizen, a devoted husband, and an upright man, whose departure is to the gain of him who has gone and an irreparable loss to that great host of admiring friends whom he has left.

Presbyterian Brotherhood Class Thomas K. Bates, Secy.

Congregational Church

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson will be in Sanford on Feb. 12, and will speak at 7:30 p. m. in the Congregational church. His special subject will be "Industry" and "Social Service" and the message Christianity has for those great realms of man's activity. Dr. Atkinson is a man of national influence and responsibility, holding the office of social service secretary of the National Council of Congregational Churches. He was pastor of one of the large churches in Atlanta afterwards secretary of the National Brotherhood of the Congregational churches, and has been instrumental in setting before thousands the larger and nobler conception of labor, social service and brotherhood opportunities for all men. A cordial invitation is extended to all individuals, societies and organizations to come and hear this "big brother" and take part in the open parliament after his address.

The Baracas enjoyed a fine "byster eat" last Monday evening, provided by the ladies of the church; they had their young ladies of the church at their guests and all agreed that such occasions are worth repeating. After the supper games were participated in by all; Miss Aspinwall and Miss Olive Hill entertained the company in their delightful manner, and Beecher Koff proved himself able to tell lady's hat out of tissue paper, as he of all the men made the prize creation.

Watch for the date of the concert to be given by the church choir in the near future.

Our Sunday school is now the largest it has been in years. Let every member, old and young, take great pride in having a splendid average attendance, and this can be done if everyone on the rolls plans to come and does come.

Next Sunday special music is provided by the choir for both services. In the morning the pastor will speak on the subject, "A Church's Response to the World's Challenge"; in the evening the theme will be "Life's Problem: the Discipline of the Will." All are cordially invited to come. Our ever-growing audience is growing very nicely and we welcome all to a share in this music and a warm gospel service.

Has a Feeling For Us

R. J. Holly, Editor Herald:—As I am listening to the cold winds of March they tell me of the balmy breezes of your fair state, and I wonder why, after spending a summer and a winter in your beautiful city of Sanford, I am any stopping here shivering and shaking with the cold. There is only one reason why I am here and that is my devotion to a noble mother.

I am an interested reader of The Herald and I look anxiously forward to its coming as it tells me of the things you are doing and the improvements that are being made. I have always taken a deep interest in Sanford since the first time I landed at her docks. There is something about the place that appeals to me. Your location, your beautiful Lake Mohr, your paved streets, your fine residences, your good people and above all your superior climate, all appeal to me. I am interested in all that you are doing, particularly in your paved road work and in your bulkheading proposition. After this is carried, through I am looking to see a new hotel and to see Sanford boom as never before and soon become one of the great tourist cities of your fair state.

As my subscription to your paper has expired, I am enclosing $1.00 for six months more and if I am not in your city at the end of that time continue to send the paper till you hear from me again. I cannot get along without it.

Respectfully,

J. F. SPAULDING.

There are some fourteen fine new homes starting building or contemplated for the next week or two.

Jacksonville people have been forced to ship cream and milk from other states but a milk train will run from Tallahassee.

The Sanford growers are doing very well, thank you. And they are not going to pay exorbitant rates for refrigeration and transportation much longer either.

A Sanford man is accused of stealing ten head of beef cattle yet the Herald of that city continues to holler about the high cost of living.

But, Thurn, you don't understand. This fellow was stealing cattle in order to sell the meat cheaper and the other butchers caught him at it.

The court at Sanford added four to the population and acquitted one man of murder. That is going some for an initial term and shows that what Seminole was cut off from Orange County.

Say, these old maids do love to play on one string a long time. We will make a bet that the one who wrote the above is wearing pulse wafers and ear holes in Florida.

CAN'T HURT HIM Some of the editors residing outside of Frank Clark's district seem especially anxious for an opposing candidate for that gentleman.

Quite true, and even now they are continually slurring Frank Clark's efforts to help Florida but they will never find a man to win over Frank Clark for he has made good.

ANENT NEWSPAPERS The Jacksonville News did not fill a long felt, if it did a want long felt by its readers to have a daily newspaper.

The newspaper business is very much overdone everywhere. Two or three try to run in a one paper town with the result that none of them make a living.

A NEWSPAPER'S FUNCTION People engaged in the newspaper business have frequent cause to remark that it isn't like any other business in the known world.

reading notices without charge. On the same principle it would be reasonable to expect a merchant to give a pair of shoes with every sale he sold, or a ham with every barrel of flour.

The controversy started some time since by the Huala Lake Region regarding the advertising sent out by the Merchants Protective League or some other league of Jacksonville.

Typographical mistakes will occur in the best regulated newspaper offices, but that of a Louisiana paper which spoke of a performance opening with a "rhule" quarter was possibly not so bad. J-acknesses can bray better than a great many of the quartets we have heard. Orlando Star.

A distinguished visitor to Sanford on Sunday was Bishop J. C. Atkins of North Carolina. He preached to a very large congregation in the evening at the Methodist church. Fine Concert Under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Sanford a most enjoyable concert was given Tuesday at the Imperial Theater. Madame Bouton, mezzo-soprano, who so pleased her audience here two winter ago again delighted her hearers with her rich and flexible voice, her selection in every instance being most artistically rendered. Madame Bouton especially showed herself at home with the German, French and Italian songs. Although a soprano she is the possessor of a voice of great resonance and power, making it possible to render intelligently the more dramatic selections, The Dance of the King and Verdi's O Don Fatale. Among her encore Madame Bouton gave one of Cadmus' Indian songs, "The Moon Drop Low." Miss Broomell, reader, captivated her hearers at once, and gave us some very touching and amusing instances of child life. All her numbers were given with artistic skill and versatility, especially in the children's sketches. Miss Broomell is without doubt one of the best interpreters of child life on the platform today. Mrs. Alexander, harpist, charmed her hearers with her artistic rendering of various selections and her vocal numbers accompanied by the harp. Mrs. Alexander is one of the few lady harpists who produces true intonation and skill. Accompanying is an art by itself, and much credit is due to Miss Olive Hill for her skill and artistic manner in which she accompanied Miss Bouton. Madame Bouton was the guest of Mrs. M. Martin, who deserves much credit in securing Madame Bouton and the other artists of the evening.

"Seven Hours In New York" The title of the successful musical comedy, "Seven Hours In New York," suggests a world of incident. A thousand things might happen in that space of time. The plot revolves around the sprightly adventures of a soda gentleman and a few friends in the metropolis between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., the miscellaneous collection of people they encounter, not forgetting the group of lively cabaret girls. But so cleverly has the author construed his story that no hint of vulgarity appears. It is all natural and very, very funny. There are more than a dozen changes of costume and a stage full of pretty girls to wear them. The principal members of the large cast are all artists of ability. The song numbers, of which there are eighteen, are of the light, catchy order. The management have provided a complete scenic equipment. "Seven Hours In New York" will be seen at the Imperial Theatre, matinee and night, Saturday, Feb. 14.

CASSIA Alford Webb of Adair county visiting his sister, Mrs. M. M. McLarty. He enjoys our winter sunshine so much that he is contemplating buying a winter home here. Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Bray and Mrs. Sherman attended the fair Thursday. They are loud in their praises, saying that the exhibition far exceeded their expectations. The following were visitors at the fair Friday: Misses Ruby Cobb, Vivian Lucile and Mabel Grace Royal and Cecil Royal. Mrs. L. C. Garrett is visiting her niece, Mrs. Joe Ching, at Jensen. Cecil Royal is the happy possessor of a twenty-five dollar check, having won the prize for raising the greatest number of bushels of corn to the acre. Mrs. L. C. Royal of Port Tampa visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

NO HIGHER RATES

There has been quite a lot of discussion lately about the new express rates, effective the first of the month. Some folks claim the rates on fruit and vegetables would be higher. Everything looked as though they would be. To settle the question we quote what R. Hudson Barr of the State Railroad Commission says: "It has come to the State Board of Railroad Commissioners that some express agents in applying the new Interstate Commerce Commission tariff on shipments from points in Florida to points in other states are assuming that the new rates cancel the present commodity rates, which is not true. The Interstate Commerce Commission's new tariff provides that where rates are increased by the application of the tariff, that the present commodity rates shall remain in effect. This is to be fully understood by the tariff schedule of the express company, and any statement to the contrary is ignorance on the part of the men applying the tariff. The Interstate Commission should be advised immediately of any deviation in the application of rates."

EXPRESS COMPANIES

That the express companies do not intend to give up their business to the government's parcel post department without a struggle is indicated by aggressive efforts on their part to regain or add to their business. The new rates which go into effect on February 1 will give them an advantage in the matter of cost on some of the long distance hauls, and they have a further advantage in the fact which they are quick to advertise that they offer free insurance up to $50 and give the sender a receipt for each shipment. If the theory of many of our economists, that private enterprise is apt to be more efficient than government operation, is correct, then we may have a lively competition here, in spite of the cheaper government rates generally. The public can look complacently upon the struggle, because whoever wins they profit. And in such a struggle the express companies may regain for themselves that public sympathy which they forfeited by their conduct in the past. The parcel post was made possible by the arrogance, extortion and stupidity of the express companies. Had they given an even approximately fair service ten years ago, had they given their services and rates that they give now, the demand for a parcel post would never have arisen. Even with all the objection there was a certain object of liberality about the big United States government going into the competition with the express companies, especially in view of the government's ability to compel the railroads to carry the packages at its own rates, and liberately cutting down the profits of the private concerns. TELLS HOW TO MAKE MONEY GROWING FIGS. This book treats this important fruit as completely and thoroughly as it does citrus fruits, etc. There is no section of the citrus or cotton belts in which figs do not thrive. Figs are increasingly in demand and the fruit is destined to become an important commercial factor in Florida and all the Gulf Coast Country. Plant fig trees now. Diversify in Fruit Growing—It Pays. Even in the heart of citrus Florida it will be found profitable to grow some fruits other than oranges and grapefruit. Many tropical fruits also figs, Japanese persimmons, plums, peaches and peaches should be planted. In many instances these can be interplanted in citrus groves and a good income derived from them without injury to the citrus trees. Griffings' 1914 Tree Book. This work gives lists of the fruits that may be grown to advantage in any section of the South. It tells which of these may be grown in the same orchards and groves. Griffings believe that diversified fruit growing is as important to Florida as diversified farming is to the whole South and they have developed their nurseries accordingly. Send today for free copy. BUT THREE FACTS

Woman Shows Ambitious Husband That Only Life, Love and Death Count.

By HARRIET M. ABBOTT.

"And you still deny that the god of luck is today the greatest power in the business world, Cartell? I'm amazed at you."

"Look over this great city. You see at every hand men whose prosperity depends on the merest turn of the wheel. No, I'm not claiming that brains and moral force are no longer of account, but I insist that they rarely get the showing they demand."

"Yet, there's everything in the point of view, Jennings," was the reply, with a slow, whimsical smile. "Thus if the lucky dogs are too busy in wrestling still other bones from the less fortunate, to settle down and enjoy the sweets of conquest, of what advantage is their conquest? Now, success in life means something far deeper than that which is brought about merely by luck. Luck may be but a chance shot with fortunate results; but behind success there is usually a good aim and steady hand."

"Granted, but—suppose we take, as example, a man who has to all appearances, never known defeat. What of our old classmate, Wenwright? Wenwright, the lucky, as we used to call him, even in college."

Ah, even Jennings never forgiven Wenwright for winning Edith! Silly? He glanced thoughtfully from the window; then answered with seeming irrelevance: "How I wish you had been in town when Wenwright made his famous speech last month! But, by jove, he doesn't pose as a chance darling of Fortune, let me tell you! His two terms in congress have developed all his latent power as a speaker, and in vigorous, polished sentences, he gave, that night, so vivid a picture of his early days that you could fairly see the chrysalis of the awkward Vermont lad from which emerged our present Napoleon of finance. That's a hackneyed expression, but it's Jim Wenwright to the life."

"Indeed!" Jennings drew in his breath sharply. "And if he is Napoleon, what, then, of Josephine?"

"You mean Mrs. Wenwright?"

His companion hesitated. "Unlike her husband, she is not in the public eye; or, at least, not more so than is unavoidable. She is a social devotee, but her name is often connected with philanthropic movements. On the rare occasion when I have seen her, I have thought her as unassuming as in the days, when the good old professor's daughter, she dispensed her hospitality in the white house behind the elms."

A vision rose before them of that fair young girl, and Jennings impulsively exclaimed: "To think of the inspiration she might have been to almost any man! Yet, such is the irony of Fate, that she is doomed to wholly merge her identity."

"Who knows?" was the sober question. "This a ticklish thing to circumscribe a woman's influence, even in fancy. You never saw Wenwright in just the light I did, Jennings. There is a very defiance of daring in the man, that appeals to me, and at the same time he has a curious responsibility. How can you tell what the fine alchemy of his wife's nature may do, even for the strong mind of a Napoleon? But, hark! the newboys are calling 'Extras' on the street below. Suppose we stroll along and discover the cause of the excitement."

It was but a few hours later, when not three miles away, Hon. James Wenwright hurriedly tied his latch-key in the door, and entered his home on the avenue.

"The cool spacious library, with its soft light, had an air of peaceful seclusion. A faint breeze gently stirred the curtains, and the heat and bustle of the city seemed remote and forgotten. Yet the burden of the hour was not one to be readily cast aside, and as the man's gaze roved over the quiet room he shuddered at the mirrored reflection of his haggard face.

Could that set, gray countenance, with dull and nervous lips, be indeed his own?

As if to ward off a blow, he threw out a hand, and recoiled instinctively, as his fingers touched an icy, polished surface. What was that? Ah, the statue! the Winged Victory, poised on its pedestal, in all the white arrogance of beauty and pride. What place had a Winged Victory here, within his walls?

The muscles around Wenwright's mouth twitched in an ironical semblance of humor, and with the sardonic smile that was, in truth, but an articulate moan, he muttered: "Confronted by Victory, and tonight! The world has a grim fancy for contrast."

Had his daughter's ambition leading him to risk more and more, in order to quaff deeper draughts from the golden cup, lured him to destruction? He had never "set sail to sea," had believed in victory, never in defeat; but growing bolder, intoxicated with success, he, too, had been at last outwitted, and tonight he beheld himself—a ruined man.

Who could have foretold that sudden drop in B & R? Not he! But it came—too late to close out, and now—the end. How the hours dragged! Tomorrow, all his little world would know that he, Wenwright, the lucky, had forfeited his claim to the title, had gone down, like many another.

But, a look like that of a dreamer rudely awakened, swept over the man's face, as, raising his head, he exclaimed, in an awe-stricken whisper: "My God, Edith, my wife! And I had not even thought of her!"

How would Edith take this change of fortune? Edith! Their lives had drifted so widely apart during the past ten years that he scarcely knew, or understood her. She had cared little for luxury or social distinction, yet how changed was the fair, self-poised woman who bore his name, from that young girl who had strolled with him on moonlit evenings, beneath the old elms, so long ago!

Ah, well! She had still her small inheritance, for he had squandered nothing which was not his own. He had fully intended to run down to Hartford last week and see how she was getting on, but it seemed impossible then, and now.

There was a rustle in the doorway, and against the dark portiere a woman's slender figure was outlined, in bold relief. The sensitive profile quivered, and a low voice, vibrant with feeling, murmured: "James, James, I simply had to come, and so took the evening train. I am glad, oh, so glad, to find you here! How white and worn you look, though!"

"But this has been such a sad and dreadful day."

The man winced as at a touch upon a wound, but the low voice continued: "Let me tell you. This morning there was a terrible accident. I was at the beach when a young doctor, who had been stopping at the next cottage, was drowned before my very eyes. He was on his wedding trip, and the little bride, poor girl is frantic. But, James, the shock and pity of it all made me see even more clearly than ever before, how little the world has to give us but these three things, life and love and death."

Her voice trembled, but with a gesture both winning and tender, she held out her hands. "Is it too late for us, even now, dear? You are an ambitious man, but have you not yet satisfied your pride? I'm not a sentimentalist, but aren't we losing something that is the best and sweetest part of existence? Nothing counts, you see, but these three facts, life, love and death."

"And Death is swallowed up in victory," repeated the man, in a hushed monotone.

But the heart of the woman still sought expression. "I have been lonely, so lonely, James. If I had had a child—"

She turned her head to hide the tears. "The man caught her in his arms. 'But, Edith, listen!' he spoke with apparent effort, after a long silence; 'I am a ruined man. You have not heard, but everything is swept away.'"

"A ruined man?" she echoed, in perplexity. "There can be no ruin save in dishonor, and you are not dishonored." Proudly she raised her head, and like a beacon to a shipwrecked mariner the light of her trust flashed its message of hope to the spirit of the man before her.

"No," rang his answer, thrilling with the inspiring power of reawakened courage. "Defeated, but not dishonored."

A look of almost maternal joy and yearning was on the woman's face, as she softly rejoined: "Then nothing seems lost. All that is best remains, and at last, oh, my dear, we know how much we need each other. Failure means so little when it can bring even greater joy than success."

The speaker glanced kindly in response to her own. Edith, how often have I heard your father quote the lines: 'What is our failure here but a triumph's evidence!' Never, have I realized before how truly you are his daughter in spirit, as in flesh."

They stepped to a window, and raising the curtains, looked out. "See," she cried, in joyous exultation, "a new day is dawning. The night is gone, and the east is full of promise."

But the man looked not toward the east, but into the clear eyes of the woman, for in their light he saw not only the evidence but the way.

Lightning on Mountains.

As one climbs up to the mountain top, the danger from lightning increases rapidly, and, as a rule, the observatories located on the mountain tops are rather uncomfortable places of residence, as discovered by the scientific gentlemen who have had the experience of a winter on the mountain top. It is evident that ordinary lightning rods are entirely inadequate to carry off the enormous discharges of the mountain thunderstorms. There are several observatories at Mont Blanc, and at one of them, that of Janssen, there have been a number of bombardments, during which the interior of the place was filled with ribbon-like sheets of electricity and balls of fire which moved silently from point to point.

Painting the House.

The odor of fresh paint indoors will last for many days and even weeks, especially if the weather is not favorable for drying it. Rooms should be heated to assist the drying process, and buckets of water should be placed in all rooms, to absorb poisonous gases, as water quickly absorbs all impurities of the air.

Rooms that retain the paint odor can be freshened if sugar is burned in them. It is preferable to disinfectants, especially when the latter is really not essential. It has long since been learned that sugar smoke is death-dealing to microbes, and it is recommended for use also in a house where there is disease.

It Depends. Traveler (hostily)—Porter, have I got time to kiss my wife goodby? How long have you been married?—Life.

The odor of fresh paint indoors will last for many days and even weeks, especially if the weather is not favorable for drying it. Rooms should be heated to assist the drying process, and buckets of water should be placed in all rooms to absorb poisonous gases, as water quickly absorbs all impurities of the air.

Rooms that retain the paint odor can be freshened if sugar is burned in them. It is preferable to disinfectants, especially when the latter is really not essential. If it has long since been learned that sugar smoke is death-dealing to microbes, and it is recommended for use also in a house where there is disease."

PAOLA POINTS

We were all shocked and saddened to hear of the sudden death of Capt. Marks, who for years lived in this vicinity and was ever a good friend and neighbor, genial, accommodating and generous to all.

Mrs. James is enjoying a visit from her brother, whom she has not seen for over forty years.

The Buchanan, Browns and Cleveleys spent a pleasant day in the woods last week, enjoying a sumptuous picnic dinner and calling on friends at Crystal Lake in the afternoon.

J. W. Kersey has gone to Jacksonville to accept a new position with increased salary. May good luck be his.

Harty Garwood is at home on a two month vacation, while the Government dredge boat in which he is employed is being dry docked and repaired.

The oranges from the McCormack grove at Twin Lakes have been shipped to Crescent City to be packed in the big McCormack packing house there. This two acre grove turned out eight hundred boxes of fine sound fruit.

The orange trees generally are looking well and are full of bloom buds that will soon fill the air with their fragrance.

The Foy house has been rented to Mr. Tate of Missouri.

There are all kinds of rumors afloat of things that are going to happen, from a grand colonization scheme down to the straying and putting in good order the road from Paola church to Upsala. If the colonization materializes we hope it may be a success. As for the road, there seems to be no good reason why that should not be done.

This section has never had much county money spent on it and this would not be an expensive job anyway. Such a road would supply the missing link in a loop out from Sanford and in again, that would make a fine fifteen mile drive for autos and carriages right through the famous West Side gardens and celebrated Paola orange groves, firing passengers a glimpse of flat woods and sand hills, as well as many pleasant homes, both new and old.

MONROE ITEMS

The stork left a fine baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hawkins on Jan. 31st. Mrs. J. Bell has been attending the spiritualist meeting at Lake Helen and reports a very pleasant and instructive meeting.

Miss Bove has resigned her position as assistant principal of the Monroe school and Mrs. Gora Hawkins Williams will take her place. Mrs. Williams was Monroe's first teacher and has many warm friends who are glad to have her again.

The Christian Endeavor Society held their usual Sunday meeting and was well attended.

Farmers are shipping celery and cauliflower every day and the fields are being set in lettuce.

We have had very heavy rains recently but very little damage was done to the crops.

Fishing is a good sport nowadays. Parties go out daily and return with fine catches.

The brick road is now a reality instead of a dream. It will reach the ferry in several days and then what joy the folks can ride and walk in gear, not mud.

LAKE MARY POINTS

G. W. Herring and brother have moved to Lake Mary to take charge of the turpentine industry of the Leverett Turpentine Co.

H. D. Durant, section foreman of the Atlantic Coast Line has recently moved to Lake Mary and has assumed the responsibility of that section of track for the Atlantic Coast Line R. R.

There will be services at Lake Mary church every Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Pomeroy and Sunday school at 10:30 every Sunday. All invited to attend these services and we are sure you will enjoy Mr. Pomeroy's talks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Durant happened to a mistake last Thursday. Their little five year old daughter, Cora, while playing on a pile of cross ties near the house, a cross tie rolled off the pile and struck her on the left ankle and fractured the small bones in her ankle. She was attended by Dr. Miller of Sanford and is getting along nicely and will be up in a week or ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. and Mr. Chas. Lee of Jacksonville returned home after a pleasant visit to their sister, Mrs. J. G. Martin of Lake Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keely of Jacksonville have moved here and will reside with Mr. Keely's mother, Mrs. A. W. Keely of Crystal Lake.

Mrs. Simons and daughter spent the day here Sunday and attended services at the Presbyterian church.

MOORE MOVEMENTS

Henry Huber of Peoria, Ill., is the guest of his friend, T. F. Johnson. Mr. Huber has been proprietor of the Farmers' Hotel in his home city for thirty-five years. F. P. Chambers of Scottsburg, Ind., has been a recent guest at the Hancock home on Lake Golden. Mr. Chambers and Mr. Hancock are cousins and had not met for forty years.

Prof. G. L. Maris and wife are entertaining some friends from the north. Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Dutton have had as guests Mrs. Dutton's sister from New York and other northern relatives.

The farmers are complaining of too much rain. Irish potatoes recently planted have rotted badly, celery getting black heart and lettuce dampening off.

Mrs. Chandler and little daughter of Beardall avenue are in Maysville, Ga., called there by the serious illness of her father.

The woods in the hammocks are full of the blossomed sweet yellow jessamine and blue and white violets. The live oaks have new leaves, the iron wood and sweet gum trees have hung out their tassels and old Dame Nature seems to think spring is here.

Depressed Spirits

EVERY ONE HAS IT WITHIN HIS POWER TO BE HAPPY

A celebrated French physician has said that "a man's liver is the barometer of his disposition."

Every man and every woman knows that the cheerful smile is a big factor in one's success.

Every one should know that the disordered liver is cause of ninety per cent of human ills. Lazy, overworked livers are the prime causes of headaches, indigestion, constipation and dozens of other ills.

But the inactive liver always warns by coated tongue, sour stomach, dull eye and even laziness. Heed your warning and you insure happiness to yourself and reflect it upon your associates.

Calomel used to do. Modern day science has found a better way in Carwell's Liver-Aid which is a pure vegetable remedy on sale under guarantee of money refund at 50 cents for large bottle. Ask R. O. Bowers, druggist, about it.

THE FISH CULTURAL STATION WILL BE LOCATED AT SANFORD

SITE HAS SALE AND FRESH WATER TO OFFER

THE BEST SITE IN FLORIDA

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS APPROPRIATED BY SENATE FOR ESTABLISH O. F. FISH HATCHERY HERE

Sanford is the logical place to establish the U. S. Fish Cultural Station and the site will be set forth in no uncertain manner when the investigating committee call for the report. As soon as the senate passed an appropriation on Friday last the editor of The Herald spread Senator Fletcher the following: "Sanford is the place for the cultural station. Do we get it?" In two hours the Senator wired the department.

"Location will be left to the department after investigation and study. Sanford will be given opportunity to be heard."

And this means that Sanford having so many advantages over all other locations in the state will be the site for the government fish hatchery. The hatchery will look after salt water fish and land water fish. Sanford has precedence, for in Lake Monroe the water is often brackish and the trout, mullet, herring and other salt water fish come up to Lake Monroe to spawn. In fact old fishermen and experts of fish culture have often remarked that Lake Monroe and the surrounding tributaries would be the finest site in the world for the propagation of fish. The following despatch from Washington is interesting: "Plans which Senator Fletcher has been working on for some time to give a site to date fish cultural station are carried out, as now seems likely, in the near future will secure for the government establishments."

The bill Senator Fletcher introduced appropriated an appropriation of $50,000 for this purpose, and today he had passed it by the senate and sent it over to the house for action.

As stated the bill appropriates $50,000 for so much thereof as may be necessary for the establishment of a fish cultural station in the state of Florida, including purchase of site, construction of buildings and equipment at some suitable point to be selected by the secretary of commerce, and provides that before any final steps shall have been taken for the construction of a fish cultural station in accordance with this act the state of Florida through appropriate legislative action, shall accord to the United States commissioner of fisheries and his duly authorized agents, the right to conduct fish cultural work and all operations connected therewith in any manner and at any time that may by them be considered necessary and proper, any fishery laws of the state to the contrary notwithstanding, and provides further that the operations of said fish cultural station may be suspended, by the secretary of commerce whenever in his judgment, the law and regulations affecting the fishes cultivated are allowed to remain so inadequate as to impair the efficiency of said fish cultural station.

Bearing on this matter, Acting Secretary Sweet of the department of commerce sent the following letter to the chairman of the committee on commerce of the senate:

"In referring to your letter of the 20th, transmitting a copy of senate bill 1899, for the establishment of a fish cultural station in Florida, the department makes the following statement and recommendations: "It would appear to be very appropriate and desirable for this department to have a fish cultural station at some suitable point in Florida where both migratory and pond fishes could be handled for the purpose of keeping up the supply in the waters of Florida and of contiguous states. Among the migratory fishes of great economic importance which may be cultivated to advantage in Florida are shad and sturgeon, while the local races of black bass, snook, crappie, etc., are among the largest and best in the country. The force of this bill meets with the entire approval of the department and its passage is strongly recommended."

A Ham Fry was enjoyed at Enterprise Friday morning by the following ladies: Miss Blahd, Yockey, Herlin, Kara, Mrs. C. R. Phelps, Oklahoma City, Mrs. Gibson, San Diego, Calif. Those in the party from Sanford were: Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Douglas and baby, Mrs. Goodt, Mrs. Butto, Mrs. Hoff, Mrs. Marlow, Miss Fox, Mrs. Gerrard, Mrs. Russell, Miss Hazel Hand, Mrs. R. L. Jones and Mrs. Taylor.

Soft Cold Weather Remains
Washington, Feb. 9.—Winter's backbone still a long way from being broken, according to the weather bureau experts. "The general distribution of atmospheric pressure over the North American continent and the adjacent oceans," said the weekly bulletin, "remains temperatures considerably below the seasonal average and will continue so until the middle of the week east of the Rocky Mountains, and temperatures near the seasonal average on the Pacific Ocean. "The weather generally will be fair the first half of the week in the Plains states, the great Central valleys and the North Atlantic States. In the Gulf and South Atlantic states the weather will be overcast, with probably rains along the Gulf and South Atlantic Coasts until Wednesday. "The next disturbance of importance will appear on the North Pacific Coast on Tuesday, attended by general rains. It will prevail over the Middle West Thursday and the Eastern States Friday or Saturday. This disturbance will be preceded by a general reaction to higher temperatures, and be attended by general rains in the Southern States. "It will be followed by colder weather."

Dr. R. M. Russell of Pittsburgh, Pa., preached Sunday morning in the Presbyterian church to a very large and interested congregation. His fame as being one wholly imbued with the spirit of Christ and being blessed with the ability to transmit it by word of mouth, had preceded him here with the result that every seat in the building was occupied. Dr. Russell is moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, which position is the highest within the gift of the church. He is also president of Westminster College at Pittsburgh and is in Florida for the purpose of attending the deliberations of the Bible conference which is now being held at Enterprise, just across the lake from Sanford.

His address was much appreciated and his remarks relating to the process of abolition, which is now taking place in the line that separates the Presbyterian church in the United States, was also received with duly manifested interest.

LECTURE ON BIRD PROTECTION

High School Graduation Friday Evening Given Free
Dr. Eugene Swope, field agent for the Florida Audubon Society, will be in Sanford Friday, Feb. 6th and will deliver a stereopticon lecture at the Sanford High School at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Women's Club.
Dr. Swope is an excellent speaker and has a fine collection of stereopticon slides, mostly of Florida birds. He brings a message of interest to all bird lovers and possessors of the gift of entertaining, as well as disseminating information. He visits the schools during the day and gives stereopticon lectures at night. No charge is made for admission to the lecture, but Dr. Swope solicits membership in the Florida Audubon Society both at the lecture and privately. It is desired to greatly increase the number of members in all parts of the state, so as to solidify public sentiment in favor of bird protection. The Women's Club of the state are cooperating in this movement with much enthusiasm and success. The Women's Club of Sanford extends a cordial invitation to the people of Sanford to enjoy with them a rare treat that will cost you nothing. Teachers are especially invited to be present.

New Bridge Club

The new Bridge Club met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Bennett Friday afternoon on Magnolia avenue. Vases of beautiful roses and ferns were on mantels, cabinets and piano. Three tables of players entered into a spirited game, and at the conclusion it was found that Mrs. Mary Symes had made highest score and was awarded the prize, a handsome deck of cards. The hostess, Mrs. Bennett, was assisted by Mrs. Willie Flanagan in serving dainty refreshments, consisting of strawberry ice cream, white cake and chocolate cake, the plates being decorated with sprays of nasturtiums. Those present were Mrs. William Flanagan of Christiansburg, Va., Mrs. L. W. Brady of New York, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. T. K. Bates, Mrs. Roy Symes, Mrs. Mary Symes, Mrs. B. A. Howard, Mrs. W. D. Turner, Mrs. Geo. Hoy, Mrs. W. P. Carter and Mrs. G. I. Loucks.

The commission form of government has been adopted by the Gainesville board of trade for its government.

SANFORD LIBRARY ASSOCIATION HAVE AN INTERESTING MEETING

OFFICIALS ARE HONORED AFFAIRS ARE FOUND IN AN EXCELLENT CONDITION

THE GOOD WORK OF LIBRARIAN RECOGNIZED AND SMALL TOKENS ARE GIVEN

The annual meeting of the Library Association was held in the Imperial Theatre on Tuesday, Jan. 29. A large attendance than usual manifested an awakened interest in the affairs of the library.

The treasurer's report was satisfactory, while showing no balance to commence the year's work with there was no deficit. During the year 1913 the library received by gift from various clubs and friends an amount that aided greatly in meeting the current expenses, as well as in the purchase of books and magazines. $182.92 was given. $152.28 was amount received from Librarian, the sum total of annual dues, rents and fines for 1913. The building fund on deposit amounts to $200.13.

During the year, by purchase and gift 387 volumes have been added, making the number catalogued Jan. 1, 1914, 1728 volumes. Early in the year a book fund was created through the gift of $60.25 from the Land and Hand Society and added to by others. This was divided into two orders of $27.75 and $30.25. The books were selected by the book committee and purchased through the Sanford Furniture Co., and Union Library Association.

Through the generosity of Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. W. J. Hill and Mr. S. J. Biggers, cases and shelving were provided as needed.

On the magazine table fourteen periodicals were placed, purchased for $27.65. Twelve others are donated more or less regularly.

Election of officers resulted in the reelection of Mr. C. R. Walker for president, Mrs. Anna DeForest, vice president, Mrs. May Dickins, secretary, Mr. Raymond Key, treasurer. A new officer was elected, that of supervisory librarian, to which Rev. Arthur S. Peck was unanimously elected. Mrs. May Dickins, Mrs. M. Frank and Mrs. A. D. Key were re-appointed assistant librarians.

Pres. Walker appointed the following committees for the year 1914: Finance Committee—D. L. Thraasher, P. Forster, W. S. L. Laffler, Forrest Lake, Mrs. May Dickins, Mrs. M. B. Blythe, Miss Mel Whlaker. Membership—Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Chase, Mr. C. H. Laffler, Mrs. J. N. Whitner, Mrs. H. H. Chappell, Mrs. L. S. Laffler. Books—Mrs. John Dickins, Mrs. Henry Wright, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. L. R. Phillips, Mrs. DeForest, Rev. Arthur Peck, Rev. Brownlee, Prof. Perkins, Dr. Walter S. Key.

A committee for incorporation was appointed, composed of the following gentlemen: Hon. D. L. Thraasher, chairman; Judge Herring, Messrs. S. O. Chase, M. F. Robinson, F. P. Forster, C. H. Laffler.

The following resolutions were offered by Mrs. John Dickins and adopted by the association:

- Whereas, The Sanford Library Association at its regular annual meeting hereby offers the following resolutions:

LETUCE MARKET DEMORALIZED

Poor Quality Generally Assigned as The Chief Cause

New York, Feb. 6.—The lettuce market is in a demoralized condition. Prices are much lower than usual at this time of the year and show a heavy decline from last week. This week the top for good dry lettuce has been $1.25 and from that the price ranged down to 25c. This is in comparison with $3 to $3.50, which was realized for good lettuce last week.

Receivers say that one cause for this decline is the fact that a great deal of the lettuce which is coming from the Sanford section is slippery, wet and unbound. Another contributory cause is the fact that on account of the fog last Friday it was impossible to float any lettuce over and there were sixteen cars here last Saturday. This was followed by three seven Monday and this helped depress the market.

When some of the lettuce is sold, it is believed that a large proportion of it has been purchased. If this is the case it shows heavy losses to the purchasers. This is a fairly good demand for good dry lettuce and the only stock that is filling that requirement is that which is coming from the Mahabes section. Even this does not bring a much better price than the best Florida stock because of the depressed condition of the market. Produce News

"Silver Party"

A beautifully informal and altogether enjoyable affair was the silver party given at the home of Mrs. C. M. Williams Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church. There was a goodly number of males and matrons and little folks and a most sum was realized for the treasury. A charming program was rendered as follows:

- Paula Duet, Jig Brown

To Florida in Hugo

It is not often that settlers come to this country in any other manner than in the one expected to wit, by train. But one exception has been given a rubber road from Dayton, Ohio, to Fort Pierce, Fla. and drove about 10 miles a day. He passed through Cincinnati, Ohio, Georgetown, Ky. through the states of Tennessee and Georgia and into Florida.

Among the most important points through which he passed in Georgia were Macon and Valdosta, and he came into Florida at Jasper, going from Jasper to White Springs, from White Springs to Lake Geneva, Palatka, Deland, Daytona, New Smyrna, Titusville, Vero and Fort Pierce. He arrived at Fort Pierce on November 29th and after spending three weeks on the East Coast he drove to Titusville, Sanford, Orlando, Lake Alfred, Lakeland, Plant City and Tampa.

He reports that he had no difficulty whatever and his horse, which is a fine one, was not injured, and did not suffer any ill consequence, and there was not a scratch on his rubber tired runabout.

He reports many interesting and amusing incidents and many interesting sights, one of which was 1,600 geese driven through the town of Monticello, Ky., just as people drive cattle. In this community he says that wages are but 60 cents a day, and the farmers say that is too high, and that they cannot afford to pay it.

The coming into Florida was like coming into an oasis from a desert, and Mr. Hugo expects to make Florida his future home.

These ladies are famous for the baked beans, brown bread, pumpkin pie, salads and other delectable dainties that appeal to the New England epicure. To please the eye there will be charming serving maids in colonial dress of Washington's day, while no doubt there will be cherry trees and the hatchet that made the Father of our Country famous, largely in evidence in the decorations. A genuine New England supper appeals to the Sanford appetite and a generous patronage will assist the ladies in adding to the society's funds.

BROTHERHOOD CLASS

Hold Regular Meetings and Have Great Time at Home of Mayor Thraasher

The Brotherhood Class of the Presbyterian church held their regular get together meeting at the residence of Mayor Thraasher last Friday night and like all the meetings of this popular organization the meeting was conducive of good results not only in getting together but in interesting others in the work of organization.

The Brotherhood Class had had remarkable success since organizing a few months ago and it has grown in numbers until the present Sunday school rooms are too small to hold the Sunday meeting and the members who from every denomination of the city.

Aside from the good work accomplished in Bible study and church work the meetings held once in every two or three months at the home of one of the members are looked forward to by all the members and the invited guests as the place to go for an evening of pleasure and the meeting at Mayor Thraasher's home was no exception.

There were forty men present and the evening was pleasantly passed in playing various kinds of games, absorbing delicious punch and eating of copious dishes of ice cream and lady fingers. After the eats had been disposed of, a croquet eating contest was held, there being fifteen entries. It resulted in a tie between R. H. Mulrhead and Tenny Deane and this tie was "eaten off" by the result that Mr. Mulrhead came off victor as the greatest gastronomist in Seminole county, upon the establishment of which fact the victor was presented with a beautiful necktie.

Those present were A. E. Anderson, Ed Lamb, Ed Hess, John Hunter, J. M. Gillon, J. F. Karnatz, Allen Scott, D. P. Caldwell, E. L. Hodges, C. H. Dinger, J. A. Burum, Robert Deane, Duane Caldwell, Tenny L. Deane, H. J. Nimmon, T. K. Bates, H. W. Wallace, A. D. Smith, J. A. Thomas, Al Purdon, J. C. Terwilliger, R. H. Mulrhead, N. H. Garner, V. W. Rossiter, C. Davidson, Charlie Ingold, Seth Woodruff, C. L. Goodhue, Bob Brister, H. W. Caldwell, D. D. Caldwell, Dr. Brownlee, A. H. Wallace, G. A. Hall, D. E. Hacker, A. K. Rossiter, H. C. Dullback and D. L. Thraasher.

This Brotherhood Class, which is composed of some thirty members, was organized last May, the organizing being David L. Thraasher and the assisting officers being Thomas K. Bates. During its existence it has done a wonderful amount of good and is one of the most unique church organizations in the city.

Just Travelling Through

The editor of The Herald found the following note last Saturday morning: "G. A. Drell, S. D. Jordan, W. A. Allen, Charles L. Colquhoun, minister in Sanford, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Streetsboro, Ohio, etc." Signed "C. O. C."

We knew nothing of the circumstances as to whether the party had been arrested on the "streets" and had to give "bonds" and had then escaped to those other small towns to escape the police or not and were considerably worried over our old friend, "C. O. C." until we picked up the DeLand News and discovered that the party of gentlemen from DeLand were on a tour of inspection for the city of DeLand and that they wanted to find out what made other cities so lively when DeLand seemed to be asleep and they would investigate conditions and discover if it was the streets or the people that were at fault.

The Herald is sorry that these gentlemen could not stay longer in Sanford for we could have sold each of them a celery farm in fifteen minutes and they would have remained in Sanford during the remainder of their lives. However we live in hopes that they will return home this way and the police are on the watch for them and they will be pinched for slow driving and made to stay over here for an hour at least and the cause of their residing in DeLand will be thoroughly investigated.
