Dr. Sowder Urges Expanded Research In Mental Illness

Expanded research in mental illness was urged by Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, state health officer, of Jacksonville, at the Seminole County Mental Health Association's campaign for funds gains momentum in its last week.

Yesterday, the Central Circle of the Sanford Garden Club, with Mrs. E. C. Moore as its chairman and the Balle Harrison Chapter of the DAR, with Mrs. A. R. Key as its chairman, made contributions to the fund which is expected to reach its goal May 23, the final day of the fund drive.

Dr. Sowder, speaking before the Florida Medical Association's annual meeting at its opening in Miami Beach, said that funds that are available for mental research in the United States amount to only about $4.5 per patient under treatment while $38.30 is available for each polio victim and $27.70 for each cancer sufferer.

He said medical schools at the Universities of Florida and Miami should take the lead in research and also in training of psychiatrists needed to staff new hospitals.

"At the present time, mental illness is one of the major health problems facing us," Dr. Sowder said. "It outranks all other diseases as a cause of disability."

With 10,000 mental patients being cared for in Florida, Dr. Sowder said our institutions are badly overcrowded. To relieve them, he said the state should go ahead rapidly with plans for regional mental hospitals and outpatient clinics.

The Seminole County Mental Health Association is headed by George Touhy. The campaign for funds began here May 9.

Kefauver To Speak Here Next Wednesday

Senator Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidate for nomination as a presidential candidate, will visit Sanford next Wednesday night and will stop over here for a brief stay to talk with local citizens and to have dinner.

As a statewide delegate for Kefauver for this area, said this morning the Senator Kefauver will be in Sanford at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening and will deliver a short talk from a platform at the corner of First St. and Magnolia Ave.

Immediately prior to the May 20 Presidential Primary, Kefauver comes to Florida for a statewide tour in his own behalf.

Kefauver will have dinner at Jim Spencer's when he joins his friends immediately following his local appearance in downtown Sanford.

Original plans included a non-alms visit to Sanford and Seminole County. However, plans were changed to the night visit which immediately precedes an Orlando TV appearance at 10 o'clock over WDBO-TV.

Mrs. Dallas, this morning, said that a tremendous crowd is expected to greet the presidential candidate, on his arrival here next Wednesday evening.

Steelworkers Seek Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers will seek a "substantial" wage increase and 21 other contract changes in forthcoming negotiations with 172 basic steel firms.

The demands, approved yesterday by the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee, touch on almost every part of the current contract.

Highest on the list, besides wages, are a premium pay plan for Saturday and Sunday work and supplemental unemployment benefits. The committee did not put a dollar and cents value on the package.

David J. McDonald, USW president, said he felt the demands were "reasonable" in view of high profits reported by most basic steel producers.

FLORIDA'S GOVERNOR, LeRoy Collins, presents a signed proclamation to Colonel George Patrick Welch, Chief, Florida Military District, naming May 19 as Armed Forces Day, which will be celebrated throughout the State by open house at all military installations. Open House will be held at the Sanford Naval Air Station from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Saturday.

Aldermen Postpone Approval To Get Utilities Company

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS
Approval of a plan to acquire the Casselberry Utilities Co., a privately-owned water company without cost or financial obligation to any citizen, was postponed by the town's board of aldermen last night.

A special meeting will be held May 21 at 7:30 p. m., at which time a report from a New York attorney on a validation of revenue certificates will be presented.

The board of aldermen decided to postpone action after a lengthy discussion last night on methods of financing expansion and improvement of the company's facilities.

Questions pertaining to financing, which will be done solely out of revenue, were answered by Robert Wagner of Leely, Wheeler and Aldeman, investment house of Orlando.

Problems of engineering and expansion were explained by Charles Black of Black and Associates, Inc., Gainesville engineers.

The board's monthly meeting was attended by about 50 persons. Objections raised at the beginning to various phases of the proposal by Frank Lucey, Mrs. C. W. Shipley and H. E. Buckley, among others, were answered to their apparent satisfaction during the meeting.

Ernest Lowndes, retired vice-president of the American Cicle Co., spoke in favor of the proposition and approved the plan to have Hibbard Casselberry continue to manage the water system. Others, who spoke in its favor included Chris Nuernberger and C. H. Michaels.

Weather

Partly cloudy through Thursday, a few scattered showers and slightly cooler today and tonight; low tonight 58 to 64.

Sanford Officials Speak At De Bary Open Discussion

By MARY FOWLER
George Touhy, president of the Sanford C. of C., Forest Breckenridge, manager of the C. of C., and John Meisch, commissioner, were guest speakers last night at the civic auditorium in De Bary. The occasion was the first of a series of the Civic Association is inaugurating for open discussions of local problems.

The Sanford officials were invited to clarify the proposals under way for the crossing of Lake Monroe by a causeway as one solution to the rapidly growing traffic situation, which must be met in the near future by both state and federal decisions on central Florida's highway system. After the talks a spirited question and answer period was held.

At the business meeting the president Miss Kay Keninger, stated that the Brownies club for girls would soon be started, following the Association's policy of sponsoring the cub packs of Scouts. Sydney E. Wilkes outlined proposals for the grading and establishment of a parking area at the civic building, which plans are to be discussed further at the next session.

18 Persons Killed When Jet Crashes Into Rest Home

OTTAWA (AP)—A jet fighter rocketed from 33,000 feet into a rest home for Roman Catholic nuns last night, killing 18 persons.

Most of the victims were aged and bedridden nuns. They perished in an inferno lit by a Royal Canadian Air Force CF100 jet.

The plane smashed like a bomb into the three-story brick convalescent home of the Grey Nuns of the Cross, alongside the Ottawa River, seven miles east of Ottawa.

The bodies of three nuns and a priest had been recovered from the smoldering debris early today.

Sister Marie Edmond, assistant general of the order, said there were 26 sisters in the convent.

She said 11 were missing and presumed dead. Twenty-two other nuns, including three injured, escaped.

Also missing and presumed dead are the two man crew of the plane and a woman cook employed at the home.

Classes Tour Herald

Two primary school classes were interested visitors last week to The Sanford Herald and enjoyed personally conducted tours through the entire establishment to learn the rudiments of getting out a newspaper.

Last Thursday, members of Mrs. Barnes' class of Pinecrest School, part of the fourth grade of Seminole County's newest school building, followed Charlie Morrison member of the Herald's advertising staff on the tour starting with the business office where the advertising, editorial, circulation and accounting department functions were explained to some thirty-odd youngsters. They seemed to be more interested in the mechanical department, which, though not air-conditioned as was the front office, drew their attention to the Linotype mechanical type setters where they saw molten lead converted into bars of type, proofs made, forms set and plates cast in cylinder rotary type press capable of printing some fifteen thousand papers per hour. As the children left the building after the trip was completed, they received a type "slug" of their names, which proved to be of great interest to them, although the type shown in reverse.

On Friday morning, the third grade pupils of Lyman School with Miss Frances Cobb, their teacher, in charge, made the trip and were as much interested, it appeared, as were the group of the previous day. The procedure was followed with a comparable sized group who undoubtedly will turn out in years to come, some editors, managing editors, sports writers, society editors—and perhaps good advertising salesman or two.

Armed Forces Parade Group Slates Meet

Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Armed Forces Committee Chairman Karlhe Housholder has called a final meeting of the Armed Forces Day Parade committee for tomorrow afternoon to set plans for the Saturday celebration.

Along with Housholder, the four co-chairmen of the event will meet with all committee members at the American Legion Hut on Seminole Boulevard.

In the meantime, the American Legion Fair Building on Celery Ave. next to the old baseball park, has been thrown open for the building of floats for the Saturday Armed Forces Day Parade.

The parade is slated to form at 9 o'clock at the corner of First St. and Sanford Ave. and will move off promptly at 9:30.

According to plans, there will be an Armed Forces Day Prayer from the reviewing stand and the platform guests will be introduced. However, there have been no speakers planned for the Saturday occasion.

The Red Cross has entered a float in Saturday's parade which will depict water safety with the members of the Naval Officer's Wives Club of the Sanford Naval Air Station manning the float.

Another Red Cross float will be entered by Lyman School with recipients of life saving certificates manning the float.

The parade will move west on First St. to Oak Ave. according to a release this morning. South on Oak Ave. to Second St. East on Second St. to Sanford Ave. and south on Sanford Ave. to Fifth St., where the parade will disband.

So far bands to be represented in the parade will be those of Seminole High School, Oviedo High School, Sanford Junior High School, Lyman School, and Crooms Academy. Also taking part will be the Majorette Corps of Seminole High School, the Seminole High School Pep Club and the Crooms Academy Majorettes.

Heading the parade will be Police Chief Roy Williams, Sheriff Denver Cordell, and the Florida Highway Patrol represented by either Trooper T. Mark Mack or Patrolman Carl Williams.

New Establishment To Open Tomorrow

A new retail establishment will open in Sanford tomorrow to serve the expanding needs of the City and Seminole County.

The Imperial Tile Company, Inc., contractors and retailers for ceramic tile and all types of floor covering will open tomorrow at 401 W. First St.

W. E. Wicker of Plant City is president of the new local firm and the resident manager will be W. R. "Bill" Gay.

Building To House Nearly 400

Bids will be called for May 24 for the construction of the New York Giants' Farm System training base dormitory and administrative offices to be located on Mellonville Ave. in the athletic area adjacent to the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium.

The bids will be opened in the office of the architect, John Burton of Burton and Rogers, in the Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building.

The huge building, expected to cost in the neighborhood of $180,000 will house nearly 400 baseball players and trainees, as well as administrative staff, during the six-week training period early each year.

Already under construction are the additional playing fields necessary to take care of the training of the nearly 400 baseball players brought to the New York Giants Farm System spring training season. The three additional baseball diamonds will be adjacent to the two already being used, one in the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium and the other in the old baseball stadium area.

The return to Sanford of the New York Giants Farm System Spring Training Base is expected to release an additional quarter of a million dollars into the trade channels of Sanford.

However, this estimate does not include the attraction to Sanford of hundreds of visitors and families of baseball players.

The modern architecture of the new dormitory building will result in the construction of one of the most attractive buildings in this area. It is expected to be completed by the first of the year when plans for the 1957 spring training season get underway.

Mr., Mrs. Williams Attend Royal Palm Club Meet Monday

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams have just returned from Orlando, where they attended a meeting of the Royal Palm Club of the American Fire and Casualty Company, held at the San Juan Hotel, May 14. John H. Williams Insurance Agency is exclusive representative of the "American" for this territory.

The Royal Palm Club is the most selective insurance organization of its kind in the Southeast, and is composed of the topmost "American" producers of the 14 states and the District of Columbia in which the "American" operates. Williams has been a Royal Palm member for seven consecutive years.

The American Fire and Casualty Company, with its Home Office in Orlando, has been a pioneer in multiple line underwriting and other features, which have been of great benefit to the "American" Policyholders.

The "American's" president, Walter L. Hays, sounded the keynote of the meeting, "The Emblem of Better Service," with the prediction that, "The future for us here in the South is brighter than ever, we really are heading into an era of greatest possibilities, there will be lots of business for everybody. Those who try can grow beyond their wildest imagination."

Hays stated "The aim of the "American" is to give the best of service to its Policyholders, to its Agents, and to pay its Agents a maximum commission. It is also our aim that the Agent should own his own business, and not be a slave to the Company."

The Jaycees noon luncheon meeting will be held at the Senior Officers Quarters where Armed Forces Week will be observed.

Bobby Weiderhold Winner Of Central Florida Contest

Bobby Weiderhold, sophomore at Seminole High School, won first place in the Central Florida speaking contest held yesterday afternoon at the Edgewater High School Auditorium in Orlando.

The title of Bobby's talk was "Conserving Natural Resources in My Soil Conservation District."

After explaining how a Soil Conservation District is organized and its purpose to local land owners Bobby centered his talk on local soil and water conditions.

Bobby stated that "the proper use and treatment of our land, water and other natural resources insures a more abundant production of crops for the present land owner and also for the next generation." According to Bobby the best method of getting all the needed conservation practices applied on the land is to first obtain a conservation farm plan for each individual farm. He explained that the plan is divided into three major parts: (1) An aerial photograph showing the various soil types, fields, roads, fences and etc. (2) A land map showing what each field will be used for and the conservation practices required to keep the land productive. (3) A set of written instructions telling the farmer the best method of applying each recommended practice.

Bobby placed second in the Central Florida contest last year and by winning first place this year he will participate in the State Contest to be held in Orlando on August 23. A twenty-five dollar award was presented to Bobby by Gary Snow of Orlando.

He is a member of the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America, Seminole County Chapter. Jay Voss of Edgewater High School placed second and was awarded fifteen dollars and Kit Gillos of Deland High School placed third and was awarded ten dollars.

Mr., Mrs. Williams Challenges

ing stick for success is how far you have come from where you started. You have carried the 'American' banner, 'The Emblem of Better Service', and, you are a success.

In closing, Hays urged agents to "Make 'The Emblem of Better Service' indispensable. There is just one thing people buy, when they buy insurance, because you can't deliver anything tangible other than a contract, that thing is service. In addition to keeping in touch with your policyholder and the public, make your services indispensable."

George S. Bradshaw, first vice president and treasurer of the company, reported on the facts as to the history of the company and the figures on its growth. He also commented on the "American" being granted the highest possible rating by insurance authorities.

The secretary of the company, gave Mrs. Dorothy C. de Nooyles, the historical significance of "The Meaning of 'The Emblem of Better Service'."

J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner of Florida, was the luncheon speaker. Larson stated, "The insurance business is the fastest growing industry in Florida, and affords more opportunity for future growth than any other."

Larson also said, "In 1934, Fire and Casualty business in Florida amounted to over $418 million dollars in premiums, an increase of 500 per cent in the last 10 years. Life insurance in force was five and three-quarter billion dollars."

Larson further commented "Every division of the State Insurance Department has expanded and Florida has the finest educational program on insurance of any state in the union. To protect the insuring public, the qualifications for prospective agents have been made extremely rigid."

South Has Highest Traffic Death Rate

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Critical looks at traffic safety programs of 12 Southern states Tuesday revealed serious deficiencies blamed for a higher traffic death rate in the South than in the rest of the nation.

Some 750 delegates to the President's Committee for Traffic Safety held state meetings to try to devise some means of combating the rising number of casualties.

The most urgent needs are improved highways, more money to train enforcement and educational personnel, and much more citizen support for official programs, the delegates agreed.

Robert B. Leopold, director of the Atlanta, Ga., Traffic and Safety Council, said cities too often attempt to improve their highway problems with humanitarian and emotional appeals.

He suggested, instead, an economic appeal which stresses the dollars saved when accidents are reduced.

It has been estimated that traffic accidents cost about four billion dollars during 1955, in addition to killing 38,300 persons and injuring another 1,350,000.

The National Safety Council has pointed out that a record number of persons will be killed this year unless the present rate is reduced. It said 9,870 persons died in traffic accidents during the first three months of 1956.

Cul. C. W. Woodson Jr., superintendent of the Virginia State Police, told the meeting the South is lagging badly behind the rest of the nation in its safety programs.

"The 1954 death rate in the Southern states ranged from 6.3 to 8.5 per one hundred million miles, against the national average of 6.4," he said.

Russia Challenges Big 3

By ROY ESSOYAN
MOSCOW (AP)—Russia has told the world it will cut its armed forces by 1,200,000 men within the next year and challenged the Big Three Western Powers to follow the Soviet example.

The Soviet Union announced the trimming would involve 63 army divisions and three air divisions. It said the manpower would be diverted to industry and agriculture.

In addition, Russia said it would put 375 warships in mothbals and disband a number of military training schools. But Foreign Ministry press chief Leonid P. Ilyich, who made the announcement, would not say how many men would be left in uniform after the cut.

(The new cut apparently would bring the Soviet armed forces about to a level with those of the United States. The best figures available to the West credited the Soviet military with 4 1/2 million men in 1955. Since then, it has reported 610,000 men demobilized. As of March 1, the United States had 2,850,000 in its armed forces.)

(In Washington, a White House spokesman said the Soviet move would have more significance if the Russians had been more cooperative at the London disarmament talks. The State Department viewed the move as a switch from military to economic methods of seeking world domination. Officials said there would be no offsetting reductions in U.S. military manpower.)

The Moscow announcement had been anticipated in Western capitals since the breakup of the London disarmament conference 11 days ago.

"By undertaking these new reductions the Soviet government is striving to contribute to the practical carrying out of the disarmament program now under consideration in the United Nations," the announcement said.

"Other governments such as those of the United States, Britain and France wishing to contribute to the strengthening of peace cannot but follow this example."

"The Soviet government would be ready to consider the question of a further reduction in case the United States, Britain and France carry out a proportionate reduction in their armed forces and armament," the statement continued, adding:

"The Soviet Union believes that carrying out such measures would be a way of achieving disarmament and would establish real premises for the prohibition of atomic and nuclear weapons."

The Kremlin statement said that the program shows the Soviet Union "is a sincere and constant champion of peace and . . . relaxation of international tension."

The new demobilization program offers the Soviet Union twin benefits of relieving its tremendous manpower shortage in agriculture and industry and bringing heavy pressure on the Western Powers to reduce their armed forces.

Russia has announced its goal of overtaking the U. S. industrial potential within the next 10 to 15 years. Such a program will require all the manpower it can muster. Furthermore, Soviet agriculture has suffered severely from the drain of peasant youth into the armed forces.

The military cut also bolsters the Soviet propaganda drive for peaceful coexistence and carries a broad appeal to European socialists in line with the new Moscow campaign for "unity on the left," political coalition of Socialist and Communist parties outside the Soviet bloc.

The reduction undoubtedly stems also from the now widespread belief that advances in thermonuclear warfare have made large standing armies an unnecessary luxury.

"Armed Forces Day is an appropriate time to pledge ourselves anew to the ideal of peace and security through strong national defenses. During the past year, our Armed Forces have continued to make important gains in overall efficiency and balance. All the more we have been favored with our efforts to maintain the thriving and vital economy that is so essential in support of a strong military establishment. The Treasury Department is happy to have the United States Coast Guard, one of the Nation's Armed Forces, in its organization and in peace to have it take part in the Armed Forces Day celebrations."

George M. Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury

Warner Brothers Selling Controlling Interest To Group

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Warner Brothers, one-time nickelodeon operators who built a giant movie studio, are selling controlling interest in it to a syndicate. Banking sources say the price on the stock is $19,250,000.

Harry, Albert and Jack L. Warner said Thursday they "have agreed to sell a major portion of the holdings in Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., to a group headed by Serge Semenko."

Semenko, senior vice president of the First National Bank of Boston, "plans to operate the company actively and aggressively under strong and competent management."

"The three Warner brothers will continue on the board of the company, and they and their families will retain a substantial stock interest in the company."

The Wall Street Journal reported that more than 700,000 shares of stock were sold at $27.50 a share, with the Warner family retaining an estimated 10 per cent. The syndicate's purchase represents more than 28 per cent of total Warner stock outstanding.

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I'm planning to convert my World War II term insurance policy to a permanent plan. May I convert just part of it, rather than the whole amount?
A. Yes. You may convert part of your insurance—not less than $1,000, in multiples of $200.

Q. I understand that Korean veterans in school have the right to finish their semesters if their entitlement runs out after they have reached the half-way point of the semester. Does the same privilege apply to veterans taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill?
A. No. Under no circumstances may entitlement be extended for veterans taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill.

Q. Must a veteran's blindness be service-connected in order for him to qualify for special VA aids for the blind?
A. Not necessarily. But he must have a service-connected disability entitling him to VA compensation. This disability need not be his loss of sight.

Q. Are peacetime veterans entitled to "wheelchair housing" grants, if they meet the eligibility requirements of the law? Or is the benefit limited to war veterans?
A. Veterans of either peacetime or wartime service may qualify, if their service-connected disabilities are such that they can't get about without the aid of wheelchairs, crutches or braces. Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits should write the VA office at 13 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

Armed Forces Day - 1956

"Armed Forces Day is an appropriate time to pledge ourselves anew to the ideal of peace and security through strong national defenses. During the past year, our Armed Forces have continued to make important gains in overall efficiency and balance. All the more we have been favored with our efforts to maintain the thriving and vital economy that is so essential in support of a strong military establishment. The Treasury Department is happy to have the United States Coast Guard, one of the Nation's Armed Forces, in its organization and in peace to have it take part in the Armed Forces Day celebrations."

George M. Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury

May 22 Is Important Election Day; Don't Forget To Cast Ballot!

A representative to the State Legislature from Seminole County for the unexpired term of Volie A. Williams Jr., must be elected.

This election, a special one, will be held on May 22, next Tuesday.

Frankly, there are more than 10,000 voters who can take part in this election next week, and the major percentage of them should turn out to take part in naming a man to represent them in Tallahassee for the balance of this year.

This is no unimportant election. It is important to every citizen in Seminole County and should those who do not cast their ballot for their choice of the two men eligible to appear on the ballot, they have no grip coming as to what might happen should their views be not expressed.

Each person, registered as a qualified voter in Seminole County, should take it upon himself or herself to go to the polls on May 22 and vote for one or the other of these men.

Take it upon yourself to advise your neighbor or friend who is a voter here that next Tuesday is election day—an important election day—when a man will be named to represent Seminole County in Tallahassee. The date is May 22.

Summer Creates Desires

The advent of warm weather creates many desires other than the one usually heard in unison "let's go to the beach".

Problems crop up that should be attended to.

Sidney Hatkin Is Lucky Man
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sidney Hatkin was lucky. Left hanging in midair by the government—jobless and under a cloud—he found someone to fight his case in public. When he got his job back.

February a Russian employed in the Soviet Embassy contacted Hatkin after the latter had put an advertisement in a newspaper, seeking a job. The Russian asked him to gather information about the aircraft industry.

Hatkin notified the FBI at that time but two weeks ago—a week before Cain made his speech—the Air Force notified Hatkin it had tentatively decided to fire him as a security risk.

Other. He was in a state of suspension. On Saturday Secretary of the Air Force Quarles announced he work—not near secrets. Hatkin had offered Hatkin a job with the Air Force doing non-sensitive work for full clearance later.

Why did it take a year after the board heard the charges against him for action in his case? The Air Force, through a Pentagon public relations man, says it takes time to handle these cases.

In a speech in New York a week ago Saturday, Cain talked of Hatkin's case without mentioning his name. Hatkin's identity was soon learned.

Cain, one of the most severe critics of President Eisenhower's program for getting security risks out of the government, cited Hatkin as an example of what he said happens to hundreds of suspended employees.

He said he knows of 616 government employees who were suspended as risks, and later reinstated to work. It did so only after Cain, but only after some of them had waited an average of eight to nine months for a final verdict.

Cain declared this long delay for people left them in an agony of spirit about their future and the merit of reinstatement. It is doubtful Hatkin would have been fired as a security risk but he hadn't been cleared open statement of his case. Last ed to, but usually receive the answer "wait until cool weather when more people are here."

Sanford, in all fairness to those who try to relax during the summer months, is now a year 'round city. There is as much going on during the months of June, July and August as there is during other months of the year.

There comes a time in our city when problems must be attended to when they occur, and not at some future date.

Possibly, therein lies our trouble. With the accumulation of so many summers in years gone by, we are just that much behind those who work the year around to achieve ultimate success.

Sanford and Seminole County have now become full fledged business areas twelve months out of the year with industry, sports, growth and expansion going on every day out of the 365 in the year.

So, when someone approaches you to do something this summer—don't turn the job down—get it done now and be that much ahead.

Plan For School System

The president of the board of education in a large American city is going about these days with fire in his eyes and a message on his lips. The theme of his message is that the nation has plenty of teachers and classrooms but does not manage these educational resources efficiently.

This flies in the face of all—and it is a wearisome great deal—that has been said and written about the problem of school shortages and a rapidly rising population. Yet, the contrary notion deserves a hearing, if only because it has the ardent sponsorship of a major school board president.

There is no mystery about how this man arrived at his unorthodox view. It is based on an idea that crops up every once in a while, the idea of using teachers and schools the year 'round instead of only about three-quarters of the year.

The school board executive, like other proponents of this view, considers it ridiculous to let school buildings stand idle during the summer months. He thinks it is a pity to let expensively-trained teachers work at their profession only nine months of the year. He would employ teachers the year 'round. Vacation time for pupils would be staggered, so that there never would be a time when school buildings stood empty.

Many professional educators object to this idea, but their objections do not create more teachers and classrooms. There are obstacles to putting into effect a four-quarter public school year, but they are not insurmountable. With the tide of students rising, this is a good time to do some hard thinking about our system of using the schools only three-fourths of the year.

Sanford Herald

Dear Sir:

Regarding your recent editorial about how Sanford must be renovated in order to encourage people to come here and shop, and the downtown facilities must be increased, etc. I am all for it, but I would like to state my opinion on what Sanford needs a few forward looking merchants that will stock a large variety of items than at present and at more reasonable prices.

Just why do you suppose that Sears Roebuck order office is so well patronized? It is because many items needed in the homes here are simply not available in purchases here, or, if so, at prices more than the average woman can buy the same articles for elsewhere.

If I could buy shoes that are stylish, good-wearing and in the $3.99 price range here in Sanford, for instance, do you think I would bother to take the trip to Orlando? The answer is No. I simply cannot afford to pay $10 to a pair for shoes like I want. That is only one item. I recently

Dear Sir:

Regarding your recent editorial about how Sanford must be renovated in order to encourage people to come here and shop, and the downtown facilities must be increased, etc. I am all for it, but I would like to state my opinion on what Sanford needs a few forward looking merchants that will stock a large variety of items than at present and at more reasonable prices.

Just why do you suppose that Sears Roebuck order office is so well patronized? It is because many items needed in the homes here are simply not available in purchases here, or, if so, at prices more than the average woman can buy the same articles for elsewhere.

If I could buy shoes that are stylish, good-wearing and in the $3.99 price range here in Sanford, for instance, do you think I would bother to take the trip to Orlando? The answer is No. I simply cannot afford to pay $10 to a pair for shoes like I want. That is only one item. I recently

Actress Is Tired Of Angelic Roles

By RAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—True angels may never become weary in Paradise.

But actresses who play angelic roles do sometimes get good and sick of them. One of them right now is Martha Scott, who is suffering from a bad case of too much sweetness and light.

Martha has been wearing wings on stage and screen for some years now, and she'd like to shed them for a while.

I have known Miss Scott from the time she was a schoolgirl studying biology in Kansas City—book biology, that is. When I met her for lunch the other day I told her, "Martha, you're still just as pretty as the girl next door."

Well, I meant it as a compliment, and a true one. Martha has a fragile beauty that never fades. But my remark had the same effect on her as if I had stepped on her toes with my big size ten shoes.

"You're as bad as all the others," she said reproachfully, her hazel-green, green-blue eyes clouding. "What do you mean?" "I mean that little-girl-next-door business," she said. "I've had about all I can take of being the little girl next door. I want to try playing that mean but fascinating lady who lives in the penthouse."

Martha, who actually does hail originally from a small Missouri town with the unlikely name of Gee's Creek, started her radio career as "a ten-buck scream" in a ghost story starring Orson Welles.

Earlier, as a member of a Shakespearian repertory at the Chicago World's Fair, she had enjoyed blackening her teeth to play one of the witches in "Macbeth." The sweetness-and-light light depended on her when she first started on Broadway as Emeline in the musical "The Sign of the Cross" starring Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town."

It deepened when Hollywood starred her in "Miss Bishop," a story which she played an old maid schoolteacher who turned her back on love, forsaking a bird-and-bee adventure for a life of service among the ABC's. Strangers who meet her still often exclaim in pleased surprise, "Why, it's Miss Bishop!"

This makes Martha want to say a bad word. "How would you like it, if every time you stepped in a taxi, the driver called you Miss Bishop?" she asked.

Frankly, she thought never had occurred to her. "Many performers don't mind being typed at all. They can enjoy a lazy, financially secure life playing variants of the same role over and over. Not Miss Scott, who is a skilled and talented craftsman. "Money isn't security," she said. "You have to figure out what you really want to do with your few hours on earth, and it does come down to a matter of hours—even minutes."

"How can an actress grow in her trade unless she plays a variety of roles that demand more and more from her? The trouble is that producers sometimes are afraid to take a chance. They're afraid the public might not like you in a new role."

But Martha is more than willing to take chances. Just recently she has been in her latest picture, "The Ten Commandments," she plays Moses' mother.

In a recent Robert Montgomery TV show she strayed even further from her own real life character. She portrayed the self-centered, possessive, over-sexed wife of a plantation owner, who destroyed the lives of all those around her. "I never had more fun," said Martha, smiling.

The results were satisfying, too. Starlined producers flooded her with three big TV bids, a Broadway play offer, and two invitations to do movies. She feels that at last she's on the way to getting rid of the "goody-goody" label.

If you should bump into Martha accidentally, she won't mind at all if you mistake her for either Marilyn Monroe or Mother Macchree. But, please, don't call her Miss Bishop. Martha doesn't live there a lazy, financially secure life playing variants of the same role over and over. Not Miss Scott, who is a skilled and talented craftsman. "Money isn't security," she said. "You have to figure out what you really want to do with your few hours on earth, and it does come down to a matter of hours—even minutes."

Try and Stop Me
By BENNETT CERF

JIM BARNES recalls a day when J. P. Morgan had to interrupt an Adirondack vacation to resolve a sudden crisis in Wall Street. He telegraphed the New York Central Railroad president that the 10:24 train was to be flagged for him at Paul Smith's station.

Arrived there, Morgan noted that the one man on duty had his feet planted unconcernedly on his desk, and was reading a sports gazette. "How about getting up and flagging that 10:24 like you've been ordered?" thundered J. P. "Not me," said the unconcerned railroad employee.

So J. P. dug up a red flag and waved it furiously at the oncoming train. After it had ground to a stop, he discovered that Paul Smith's was a regular scheduled stop for the 10:24!

A Doctor in the Family

By ELIZABETH BELFERT

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

THE HOURS went by, the days sometimes on winged feet. The nights went more slowly, but they too passed. The big house began to smell richly of spices and roasting fowl, of oranges and cedar boughs, to gleam with tinsel and colored globes of blown glass, to ring with the excited laughter of the towns.

On Christmas Eve, Alan was held too late at the hospital to go with the family to midnight services. Linda decided that she would wait at home for him. He came hurrying in at a quarter before the hour, and suggested that they still might go—but his face was so shadowed with fatigue, his eyes so dark with weariness, that Linda took his hat and coat, then led the way back to the breakfast room where a fire burned brightly, and some food could be brought in quickly from the kitchen. Hot chocolate, slices of cold meat, some cheese to be toasted between bread held on a long fork—Linda sat on the fender to do this, while Alan stretched his length in the armchair. Soon he began to talk to her, as he had always been able to talk to Linda. She listened, with attentive silence, occasionally a grave comment and a rewarding smile.

"Tonight she was wearing gray, with a spray of holly caught in her hair, and another tucked into the scarf at her throat. The firelight haloed her head. Alan watched her with pleasure, his eyes drank—and was refreshed. And he talked of the hospital, and then of why he had chosen to be a doctor. "But it was a scientist that I had in mind," he said gruffly. "Not a hospital executive." Her eyes turned his way, and his big hand lifted. "I know—we thrashed that all out when Father built the place. But, oh, of course, the war has made things difficult, and Doctor Cassidy isn't getting any younger."

Linda's parted lips blew her breath outward in a soft whisper of regret. "Ernst says to kick him out!" cried Alan. "But, of course, I remember the old suffer when I was a little boy, Linda. He fell silent for a time, and when Linda moved to the small rocker opposite him, his eyes glanced her way. "It was due to Cassidy that I became a doctor," he said dreamily. "One day when his black boy took sick, Cassidy asked if I'd drive for him—and I did. I loved to talk to the doctor, and he was a bit of a talker himself. Still in it was about four-teen, and I don't for nine that whole summer—and at the end of it I knew I wanted to be a doctor, too."

"I couldn't tell you, to save me, what it was that made me decide. Cassidy wasn't an inspired physician, and I am not. Not in the sense of a clear call, or dedication. What little intelligence I possess is in connection with my profession, but that isn't overpowering."

"Well, we do. On purely theoretical cases, like whether an allergy does cause a swelling in the brain, due to a lack of oxygen, and what should be done about it. Then things like—" He shifted again in his chair. "D'you remember the night here when Ernst and Father got into it over Tchakovsky?"

Linda's fingers caught at the folds of her skirt. "Yes," she said breathlessly, "I remember..."

But Alan was thinking only of the example he would cite concerning his differences with the Europeans. "Ernst hates Tchakovsky. I loved the Pathétique at my first hearing; I remember. Without knowing then, the story behind it of disappointment and probable suicide, I loved it. It seemed to introduce me to an entirely new world where I was content to dwell for the time. I didn't need to understand why the music was written. But Ernst—well—he laughed a little. "Of course, we're as different as we look. He's trim and suave. I'm easy-going outside in everything but surgery... and yet—" He shot a green-eyed glance at Linda. "I mean what I say and stand for, and I'm ready to defend those things."

There was a firmly tense note in his manner of speaking. His words held a deeper meaning which both of them felt, without clearly defining their import.

Sharply Linda straightened in her chair, her eyes suddenly alert. Why, Alan was arguing his case to her! He was too proud to make a more personal appeal, but he was endeavoring to remind her—

She pressed her hand to her mouth, as if to hold back the excitement which was sweeping over her in waves. Was he telling her that he wanted her? Wanted her more than the children he might have had—wanted her—Linda—for herself alone?

He was still gazing at her. "How good you are to me," he said deeply, "to sit and let me talk to you this way. But, then, you always have been good to me."

"He stood up, stretching his long bones. Knowing that he would come to her, and touch her, she sat waiting, thinking of his touch, his warm embrace—his kiss. How Seretha would be confounded! Her lips parted in a little smile, her breath quickened..."

In so tenderly pregnant a moment, the noise was shockingly offensive. The siren screaming and whooping, their own telephone ringing...

First Linda ran for the telephone. Alan for his rubber boots, helmet and coat, which stood always ready in the hall closet. It was Alan who had organized the system of alarm and casualty stations in the town, and around it. Voluntary groups were ever ready to assist the town's small police and fire departments. This time, the operator told Linda, was just off Main street; the feed mill, she thought...

That the feed mill bore the Thornton name made no difference to Linda. In fact, she could have been so called. A fire in any feed mill was a serious thing for the entire town.

Linda snatched her own coat and scarf, and was in the car seat before Alan when he switched on the lights, and Jacob, the butler, tumbled into the back seat. The red searchlight on the car swept out of the drive and down the avenue.

White Sox Batting Like Crazy

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
What's gotten into the Chicago White Sox? All of a sudden they're hitting the ball like crazy in support of a pitching staff that takes its lumps but somehow has managed to fashion a five-game winning streak.

Before the Sox started the fuss they lost seven of nine and any talk of American League pennant contenders stopped with Cleveland, New York and Boston. Then boom! The Sox began clubbing the ball to make up for some shaky pitching, and now that the mound staff looks to have found itself, the hitters are still at it.

In the five games, Chicago has collected 65 hits—an average of 13 a game—including nine doubles, two triples and seven home runs.

Last night they poked 14 hits off four Washington pitchers and beat the Senators 3-1. Bob Keegan, in his first '36 start, pigeon-holed nine Nat hits. The only Washington run was unearned.

The victory pushed the Sox to within 1 1/2 games of the AL lead, virtually held on a joint basis by Cleveland and New York, who were rained out last night. Baltimore clipped Kansas City 9-5 and Detroit battered Boston 6-3.

In the National, Brooklyn won four unearned runs for a fifth straight victory in a 7-5 decision over St. Louis, Philadelphia, behind Cardinal Stu Miller, beat Milwaukee 3-1 to end a 10-game losing streak. And the New York Giants outlasted the Chicago Cubs 6-4. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Bob Nieman hit his second homer to get the White Sox started on a two-run second against Chuck Stobbs, then singled to open the fourth as Chicago made it 3-0. An error and doubles by Sherm Lollar and Ron Jackson provided two unearned runs in the fifth for the Sox.

The Orioles scored three in the third and four in the fourth off Lou Kretlow and Ed Burtschy at Kansas City as Jim Wilson who hit his fourth.

Detroit ended a three-game slump by knocking Willard Nixon from the mound after eight hits scored five runs in 3 2-3 innings. Paul Foytack won his second, although needing help from Steve Gromek.

Brookline's Don Blasingame contributed two errors and Pee Wee Reese unloaded a three-run homer as the Dodgers scored their four unearned markers in the fourth to hand Tom Poholsky his first loss. He had won three. Gil Hodges homered in a three-run Brooklyn first, while Bill Virden delivered a three-run blow for the Cards. Reliever Clem Labine was the winner.

The New York Giants to Minnesota, was organized here yesterday. Eight major league teams will split all profits—or losses—equally in the league's operation.

The Class D Nebraska circuit will be open only to June high school or college graduates with no previous professional experience. A non-playing professional manager will be in charge of each club.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues, said the loop would open this year, playing either a 63 or 70-game program between July 1 and Sept. 9.

The major league teams which drew the names of farm clubs out of a hat were the Milwaukee Braves, New York Giants, Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox, Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees, and Kansas City Athletics.

Development along lines already established can triple the value of Florida's forest industry. The requisite for full fruition of the potentialities is conversion of all of the state's idling forest acreage into healthy stands producing continuous forest crops.

Benzene hexachloride is the chemical most widely recommended to kill pine bark beetles, which yearly wipe out hundreds of thousands of board feet of commercial timber and knock ugly holes in residential landscapes.

Travelers Half Game Out Of 6th

By The Associated Press
The Little Rock Travelers, who spent all of the 1935 season in the Southern Assn. cellar, stood only half a game out of sixth place today after playing like pennant contenders in six games with Nashville and New Orleans.

Steve Souchock's resurgent Pebbles beat New Orleans 3-2 last night in 10 innings for their third straight victory and the fifth of their last six outings.

A big reason for the recent Little Rock success has been the clutch pitching of relief ace Joe Tully. The big Arizona righthander stifled a New Orleans threat in the seventh inning. He hurled hitless ball during his 2 2-3 inning stint and struck out six of the 11 Pels he faced.

Harry Minor singled home the winning run and made New Orleans a loser for the seventh straight time.

The sagging Memphis Chicks fell again to Mobile 7-5, and Atlanta rallied in the last two innings to beat Chattanooga 8-7. The Nashville-Birmingham game was rained out.

Dartmouth College made its first spring baseball training trip to the south in 1932.

Through Florida's farm forestry program, the state's small woodland owners are gaining a new appreciation of their farm woodlots and developing greater skill in handling them.

Major League Clubs Put On Finishing Touch

By The Associated Press

General managers and field managers conferred in person or by telephone today as the major league clubs started putting the finishing touches on player rosters to bring them within the 25-man limit by Thursday's midnight deadline.

Brooklyn's Dodgers sold relief pitcher Jim Hughes to the Chicago Cubs, making room for Sal Maglie who used to give the Brooks fits while with the New York Giants, from Cleveland. The Dodgers still were a man over the limit, which does not count returned servicemen.

The Chicago White Sox traded utility man Bob Kennedy and shortstop Jim Bridewee to Detroit for outfielder Jim Delsing and infielder Fred Hatfield, and then sold veteran righthander Darryl Byrd to Charleston of the American Assn. for an undisclosed sum.

Boston got down to the roster limit by placing sore-arm Willard Nixon on the disabled list, postponing an actual cutdown for 20 days.

With the sale of Maglie, Cleveland still had 30 players on the roster. The Indians reduced that by one, putting Gene Woodcut on the disabled list.

The Baltimore Orioles hit the 25-man stage with the option of rookie pitcher Fred Basano to Vancouver of the Pacific League. Cincinnati got within the limit by asking waivers on bonus outfielder Al Silvers to permit his unconditional release.

The New York Giants shipped outfielder Bob Lemon to Minneapolis of the American Assn. on 21-hour recall. And the Chicago Cubs did the same with outfielder Gale Wade, sent to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, and Solly Drake, sent to St. Paul of the American Assn., while releasing catcher Elvin Tappe outright to Los Angeles.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro won four stakes races at Aqueduct in 1935.

Florida's forest are about 69 percent pine lands. Other commercially important trees are cypress, magnolia, gums, dogwood, sweet bay, cedars, and many kinds of oaks.

DETROIT (AP)—A three-game slump by knocking Willard Nixon from the mound after eight hits scored five runs in 3 2-3 innings. Paul Foytack won his second, although needing help from Steve Gromek.

Brookline's Don Blasingame contributed two errors and Pee Wee Reese unloaded a three-run homer as the Dodgers scored their four unearned markers in the fourth to hand Tom Poholsky his first loss. Travelers Half Game Out Of 6th

By The Associated Press
The Little Rock Travelers, who spent all of the 1935 season in the Southern Assn. cellar, stood only half a game out of sixth place today after playing like pennant contenders in six games with Nashville and New Orleans.

Steve Souchock's resurgent Pebbles beat New Orleans 3-2 last night in 10 innings for their third straight victory and the fifth of their last six outings.

A big reason for the recent Little Rock success has been the clutch pitching of relief ace Joe Tully. The big Arizona righthander stifled a New Orleans threat in the seventh inning. He hurled hitless ball during his 2 2-3 inning stint and struck out six of the 11 Pels he faced.

Harry Minor singled home the winning run and made New Orleans a loser for the seventh straight time.

The sagging Memphis Chicks fell again to Mobile 7-5, and Atlanta rallied in the last two innings to beat Chattanooga 8-7. The Nashville-Birmingham game was rained out.

Dartmouth College made its first spring baseball training trip to the south in 1932.

Through Florida's farm forestry program, the state's small woodland owners are gaining a new appreciation of their farm woodlots and developing greater skill in handling them.

White Sox Batting Like Crazy

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
What's gotten into the Chicago White Sox? All of a sudden they're hitting the ball like crazy in support of a pitching staff that takes its lumps but somehow has managed to fashion a five-game winning streak.

Before the Sox started the fuss they lost seven of nine and any talk of American League pennant contenders stopped with Cleveland, New York and Boston. Then boom! The Sox began clubbing the ball to make up for some shaky pitching, and now that the mound staff looks to have found itself, the hitters are still at it.

In the five games, Chicago has collected 65 hits—an average of 13 a game—including nine doubles, two triples and seven home runs.

Last night they poked 14 hits off four Washington pitchers and beat the Senators 3-1. Bob Keegan, in his first '36 start, pigeon-holed nine Nat hits. The only Washington run was unearned.

The victory pushed the Sox to within 1 1/2 games of the AL lead, virtually held on a joint basis by Cleveland and New York, who were rained out last night. Baltimore clipped Kansas City 9-5 and Detroit battered Boston 6-3.

In the National, Brooklyn won four unearned runs for a fifth straight victory in a 7-5 decision over St. Louis, Philadelphia, behind Cardinal Stu Miller, beat Milwaukee 3-1 to end a 10-game losing streak. And the New York Giants outlasted the Chicago Cubs 6-4. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Bob Nieman hit his second homer to get the White Sox started on a two-run second against Chuck Stobbs, then singled to open the fourth as Chicago made it 3-0. An error and doubles by Sherm Lollar and Ron Jackson provided two unearned runs in the fifth for the Sox.

The Orioles scored three in the third and four in the fourth off Lou Kretlow and Ed Burtschy at Kansas City as Jim Wilson who hit his fourth.

Detroit ended a three-game slump by knocking Willard Nixon from the mound after eight hits scored five runs in 3 2-3 innings. Paul Foytack won his second, although needing help from Steve Gromek.

Brookline's Don Blasingame contributed two errors and Pee Wee Reese unloaded a three-run homer as the Dodgers scored their four unearned markers in the fourth to hand Tom Poholsky his first loss. He had won three. Gil Hodges homered in a three-run Brooklyn first, while Bill Virden delivered a three-run blow for the Cards. Reliever Clem Labine was the winner.

Major League Clubs Put On Finishing Touch

By The Associated Press

General managers and field managers conferred in person or by telephone today as the major league clubs started putting the finishing touches on player rosters to bring them within the 25-man limit by Thursday's midnight deadline.

Brooklyn's Dodgers sold relief pitcher Jim Hughes to the Chicago Cubs, making room for Sal Maglie who used to give the Brooks fits while with the New York Giants, from Cleveland. The Dodgers still were a man over the limit, which does not count returned servicemen.

The Chicago White Sox traded utility man Bob Kennedy and shortstop Jim Bridewee to Detroit for outfielder Jim Delsing and infielder Fred Hatfield, and then sold veteran righthander Darryl Byrd to Charleston of the American Assn. for an undisclosed sum.

Boston got down to the roster limit by placing sore-arm Willard Nixon on the disabled list, postponing an actual cutdown for 20 days.

With the sale of Maglie, Cleveland still had 30 players on the roster. The Indians reduced that by one, putting Gene Woodcut on the disabled list.

The Baltimore Orioles hit the 25-man stage with the option of rookie pitcher Fred Basano to Vancouver of the Pacific League. Cincinnati got within the limit by asking waivers on bonus outfielder Al Silvers to permit his unconditional release.

The New York Giants shipped outfielder Bob Lemon to Minneapolis of the American Assn. on 21-hour recall. And the Chicago Cubs did the same with outfielder Gale Wade, sent to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, and Solly Drake, sent to St. Paul of the American Assn., while releasing catcher Elvin Tappe outright to Los Angeles.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro won four stakes races at Aqueduct in 1935.

Florida's forest are about 69 percent pine lands. Other commercially important trees are cypress, magnolia, gums, dogwood, sweet bay, cedars, and many kinds of oaks.

Auto Inventories Continue To Mount

DETROIT (AP)—Despite almost unprecedented April production cutbacks, new car inventories have continued to mount.

The monthly survey of Automotive News showed today that on May 1 dealers throughout the country had 902,270 new cars jammed in warehouses and storage lots or in transit from the factories. The total compares with an April 1 figure of 858,668 units and is only 1,318 units below the record total set March 1 this year.

The auto makers built fewer cars in April than in March—347,600 units compared with 375,307—in the effort to reduce retail stocks. Most industry analysts expected production cutbacks through April to bring a reduction in inventories.

Failure of the reduction to materialize, they now say, emphasizes that the sales sag has been more serious than most industry sources realized.

On May 1 a year ago dealer inventories stood at 783,041 cars. Factory production in the first four months of 1955 came to 2,819,000 cars. Factory output for the January-April period this year was cut to 2,281,000.

The auto industry customarily operates at near peak levels at this season. April production last year came to 734,077 cars.

Most auto industry experts are agreed there will be no comparable production volume in any month this year. There still are some, however, who insist the industry's total output for 1955 will come very close to the 4,658,000 units that mark 1950 second best in industry history.

Physicist Creates Gamma Ray Device

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A University of Michigan physicist has devised a bubble bath chamber which will permit photographing of heretofore unknown aspects of atomic particles.

Associate Prof. Donald A. Glaser, 29, said his bubble bath for the short-lived gamma rays and previously invisible neutrons will give scientists a chance to see their speeding flight for the first time.

He described the chamber in detail for the first time Wednesday night. Some scientists speculate the chamber may reveal nuclear events not yet known.

The new device is called a xenon chamber, filled with liquid xenon gas, as dense molecularly as solid aluminum.

Because the xenon atoms are so large and so close together, any directed radiation of atomic particles into the liquid has a good chance of striking the xenon atoms.

As the atomic particles are directed into the small chamber from an outside source such as an atomic accelerator, the liquid xenon is brought to the verge of boiling.

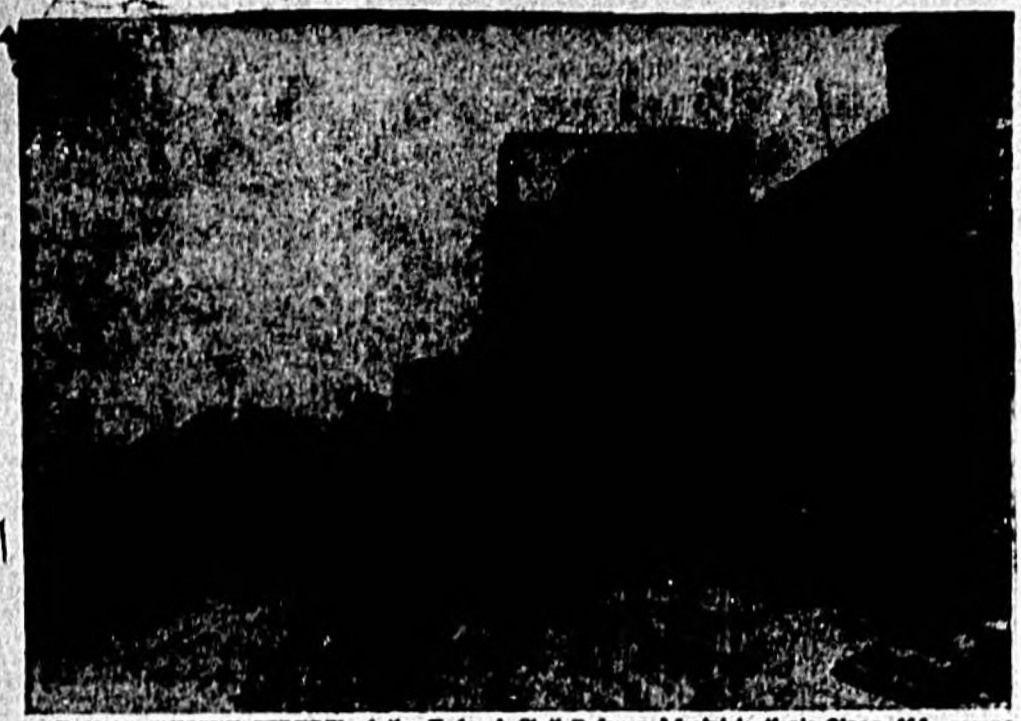

Neutral particles race through the chamber. Suddenly one strikes an atom of xenon, and the point of collision is marked by the creation of bubbles in the liquid. By checking the photographs with coordinates and feeding the information into an electronic computer, scientists can calculate velocities, directions, energies and masses.

More than 25 institutions in the United States are adopting Glaser's earlier bubble chamber and one university has a three-million-dollar bubble chamber.

10 States Appear Holding Senate Key Of Control

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—Ten states which elect 11 senators appear to hold the key to control of next year's Senate.

In these vital contests, Republicans will be risking six and Democrats five seats they now hold.

The Senate now is divided 48-47, with one vacancy to be filled by appointment of Democratic Gov. A. B. Happy Chandler, Kentucky. To gain control, Republicans would have to take a net of one seat away from their opponents and re-elect Vice President Nixon. Nixon then could break a 48-48 tie vote and give the Republicans organizational control of the Senate.

Outside of the 10 crucial states, there are at least six in which the GOP is expected to have some difficulty in retaining its present hold. These include California, Colorado, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Utah.

Democrats face Republican opposition in varying degrees in Washington, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arizona but GOP hopes are not particularly high in those areas.

Democrats apparently can rack up as certain to remain in their hands seats in North Carolina, South Carolina (2), Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Florida.

Republicans are confident of retaining seats they now hold in North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, New Hampshire and Vermont. Republicans are counting heavily on President Eisenhower's popularity and on general prosperity in their efforts to upset Democratic control. Democrats are predicting a farm revolt against the GOP and saying that Eisenhower's popularity isn't what it is cracked up to be.

Local conditions and personalities may play a large role in settling the Senate issue, however.

Star Says Career Goes In Cycles

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The same thing happens to all performers. First you're up, then you're down, then you're up again. It all goes in cycles."

This was Red Skelton explaining his renaissance in the last year. His Tuesday night TV show, which had been in the doldrums, once again ascended into the top ranks in the audience ratings. Now he's making his first movie in four years—"Public Pigeon No. 1."

You can see the results in Red's expansive kisser. He's less frantic. He exudes the warm glow of success. But he can be just as hilarious as ever.

"How can you say I ain't been workin' in pictures?" he demands. "After all, I had a day's work in 'Susan Slept Here' last year. And this year I did a day's work in 'Around the World in 80 Days.' I'll admit this is my first big part since I left MGM. Boy, that last one was some picture! It was the only movie in history that hazed the audience for being so stupid as to pay money for it. They were afraid to play it at the Grauman's Chinese—afraid the footprints would walk out."

How does he explain the upswing of his TV show?

Aside from the fact that stars' careers go in cycles, he noted: "This year we have two swell sponsors that are dignified and that do not interfere with the show. Both those factors mean a lot."

"What ruined me was too much interference. I always had to fit somebody else's idea of what I should be like. They had me playing every skit as Willie Lumpsum."

CBS has more than passing interest in the picture. The network has a 5 per cent interest in it. Red has 35 per cent, making the closest connection of a network with a theatrical film.

India produced 22,528 autos in 1955.

Atomic Scientists Have Begun Study On Liquid Fuel Reactor

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 12 (AP)—Atomic scientists have begun on a liquid fuel reactor, or atomic furnace, which they believe holds promise of atomic power as cheap as coal by 1960.

The reactor, in which liquid atomic fuels are mixed together much like milk and cream in homogenized milk, is an improved version (AFG) is developing at various installations as a prelude to economical, peacetime atomic power.

"Economic" is the key word. Dr. Alvin M. Weinberg, director of Oak Ridge National Laboratory, points out that atomic power now is far too expensive to compete with power generated at coal-fired steam plants.

As it stands now, it would cost as much as 5 cents a kilowatt hour to generate electricity on a large scale with atomic energy. This compares with Tennessee Valley Authority's cost of about three-tenths of a cent.

"There is little question that ultimately nuclear energy will be as cheap as coal energy," Weinberg said. "And there is little question that our coal reserves ultimately will disappear."

Weinberg noted that Great Britain already faces a coal shortage and is going ahead with plans for eight gas cooled atomic power stations which, while expensive to operate, are considered essential to Britain's economic survival.

The test reactor should be in operation by fall, and S. F. Beal, project engineer, says "We should know in about a month of operation just what it will do."

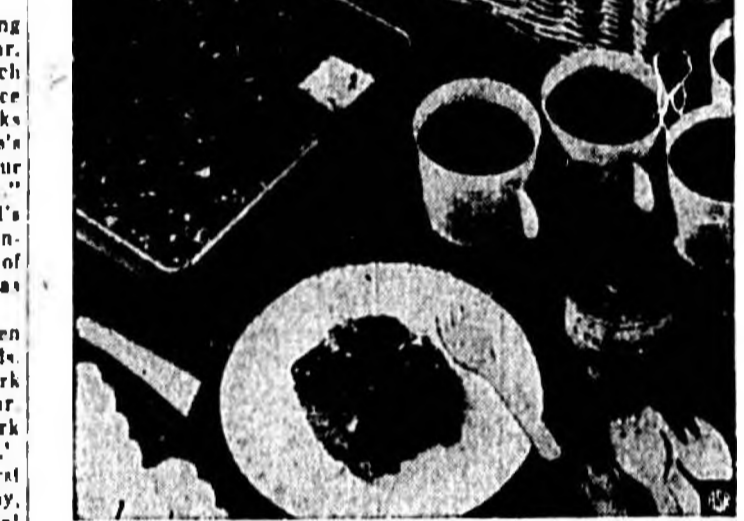

Beal emphasizes that this particular reactor won't show how cheaply atomic power can be generated. The chief reason for this is the small size of the test model.

The reactor being tested is a sort of intermediate step between the first homogeneous reactor built here—the one which produced electricity in 1953—and a full scale pilot model of a central generating station.

The value of the current test is that it will provide information on how cheaply this type of reactor can be operated.

Picnic Perfect Banana Cake

Going on a picnic? Here's the cake for you—luscious, moist banana spice, with the simplest-est frosting. Bake, broil and carry your cake in its 9-inch square pan. It is convenient to pack and just right for hearty outdoor appetites.

Convenient, too, is the double-rich evaporated milk which gives this cake its tender light texture. Used just as it pours from the can, evaporated milk blends perfectly with the smooth bananas and spices to produce the delicious result.

Note: Include a can of evaporated milk in your picnic basket for the coffee drinkers in the crowd—no need to worry about spilling or spilling!

- Banana Spice Cake
- 1/2 cup butter
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 small can (3 1/2 cup) evaporated milk
 - 1/2 cup mashed ripe banana (about 1 1/2 medium bananas)
- Cream butter. Add sugar, cream until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Sift flour with soda, salt and spices. Stir lemon juice into evaporated milk. Add milk alternately to the egg mixture with the dry ingredients, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Add mashed banana and mix thoroughly. Turn into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in moderate oven, (350° F.) 40 minutes or until toothpick, inserted in center, comes out clean. Remove from oven and spread with frosting mixture. Place under broiler until mixture is bubbly. It takes but a minute for frosting to broil, so watch cake carefully so frosting does not scorch. Cool cake in pan on a cooling rack. YIELD: 9 generous servings.
- Roiled Frosting:
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 3 tablespoons butter, melted
 - 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 - 1 tablespoon evaporated milk

Florida Orange Crop Predicted Slightly Larger

LAKELAND (AP)—The season's Florida orange crop is going to turn out to be only slightly larger than last year's.

The Federal Crop Estimating Service forecasts that the Florida crop will be 49,700,000 boxes. Last year's harvest was 48,100,000.

Crop estimators swamped ten million boxes of their original estimate of late season Valencia oranges. They now predict the Valencias will figure to be 38 million boxes. Sizes of other varieties remain unchanged at 48,900,000 boxes for early and midseason types and 2,800,000 boxes for Templets.

An estimated 19,700,000 boxes of oranges remain to be picked.

On grapefruit estimates, the picture remains unchanged from earlier forecasts—a total of 39 million

Plan Is Underway To Restore Lake

LAKELAND (AP)—A plan is afoot to restore one lake which has about dried up by pumping in water from another lake.

Costs are being figured on pumping water from Lake Parker to near Lake Bonny which shoreline residents describe as a "mud hole" following a long drought. Pockets about Lake Bonny now stand on dry land.

The plan is that in years when Lake Parker is normal its waters would be used to replenish Lake Bonny. In years when Parker is affected, Bonny would just have to suffer.

The situation of dried up lakes is a serious one in all Central and South Florida because of prolonged dry spells for the last two years.

Sanford Library Plans 'Incentive Reading Program'

Attention has been directed, by the Sanford Library, to its "Incentive Reading Program" which will get underway on June 1 and continue through August 31.

To create a greater interest in reading, the Sanford Public Library will present two age groups—5-10—a picture of a big bookworm.

For every book that is read, the child will be given a segment to paste on the body of the bookworm. At the end of the incentive reading program, the children's bookworms will be finished if they have read 15 books.

The other age group—11-15—will be given a map of the United States. For every fiction book the child reads there will be given a star to paste on the map and for every non-fiction book that is read the reader will be given two stars to paste on the map. The stars will be in different colors.

If the projects are finished on time, reports the Sanford Public Library, there will be an extra award for each one. But regardless whether they are finished on time or not, each child may keep the map or bookworm.

Parents are reminded that if their child is a good reader and in the first group but would like to try for the map, they may request to be signed up for the map. Some ten year olds read the advanced books.

The Sanford Public Library has the books divided so that each child will find it easy to find books approved by the librarian for his or her reading level. There will be a slip fastened in each book for the parent to sign, certifying that the child has read the book.

This is the first year the "Incentive Reading Program" has been attempted by the Sanford Public Library and it is hoped, by the Library staff, that both children and parents will like it.

Object of the program is to encourage good reading habits, especially during the summer months when a little encouragement may turn a slow reader into a good reader.

The Sanford Public Library has requested that children sign up as soon as possible for the mid-year program.

Mayor F. D. Scott yesterday issued a proclamation designating "every day of the year" as "Safe Driving Day", and called upon all citizens of the community to join in the President's Safety Crusade.

Pointing out that the nation's highway death toll is still at the rate of some 38,000 lives annually, Mayor Scott said in his proclamation that "individual action will be necessary if we are to reduce this needless slaughter."

In the proclamation, the Mayor cited the Safe Driver League program instituted by the B. F. Goodrich Company as a member of the President's Inter-Industry Safety Committee, and urged citizens to pledge their support to the movement.

The proclamation was an unusual official document in that it did not specify any single day or week for the community observance. Instead, the proclamation put the full official weight of the city administration behind an all-out, year-round observance of "Safe Driving Day."

Possibilities of a State Mental Hospital located in Seminole County came up again recently when Mrs. Richard Stover, Campaign Chairman for the Florida Mental Health Association wrote Mrs. C. L. Park Sr., of Sanford, a member of the Seminole County Mental Health Association committee.

Mrs. Stover revealed in her letter "You might tell your Mayor, Mr. Scott, who seems anxious to have the Central Florida State Hospital in Seminole County, that this campaign being successful and your getting your citizens behind Mental Health will help in getting the next regional hospital that is set up for Central Florida."

The letter also cited "He will know about that for the prospectus that was worked out two years ago for a hospital in Seminole County was an excellent one and my personal belief is that it would be an ideal county in which to place the hospital."

The various clubs and civic groups throughout the county are being approached or have been approached to support the Mental Health fund raising campaign. The response, according to the chairman of the Seminole County Mental Health Association, has been most gratifying.
