WATER TRAFFIC LEAGUE WILL HOLD MEETING HERE ON FRIDAY FEBRUARY 24

Our Water Transportation is Greatest Asset of the City

BRINGING RELIEF

TO MERCHANTS AND SHIPPERS OF THIS TERRITORY ADJACENT COUNTIES

The next meeting of the Central Florida Water Traffic League will be held in Sanford, Friday, Feb. 24th, at 7:30 p. m. in the Palm room of the Valdez Hotel. All members of the League in Sanford and adjacent cities are urged to be present at this meeting in order that they keep in close touch with the work that the league is doing to bring cheaper rates to the business men of Central Florida.

Despite the fact that great publicity was given to the 10% reduction effective the first of the year, on carload shipments of grain, grain products, fruits, vegetables and live stock, no mention has been made of the raises in classifications which in one particular instance amounts to a rate increase of 250%. The item referred to is barbed wire fencing, the rate on which as a 6th class commodity in less than carload lots from Richmond, Va., to Tampa, Fla., in 1918 was 59c; in 1919, 74c; in 1920, 92 1/2; in 1921, $1.28; in 1922, $1.48, an increase of 250% due in part to the commodity being raised from 6th to 4th class. Beginning 1922, by raising commodities from lower to higher classifications, rates were increased 30% until at the present time they are 160% higher than in 1918, this despite the wage reductions which were made effective for the purpose of reducing rates.

If the business men of this section had no recourse from these excessive rates, the condition would be deplorable, but with a navigable body of water available to carry an unlimited tonnage, the much desired relief can be secured with but little effort on their part. The Central Florida Water Traffic League was organized for the express purpose of bringing relief to the merchants and shippers of this territory and its efforts to date have resulted in increasing the river tonnage to large proportions, and a saving to those individuals who have utilized it.

The local chamber is in receipt of a letter from the commercial organization of East St. Pete to the effect that the business men of that city were contemplating the immediate establishment of a truck line between East St. Pete and Sanford. The truck line operating between Sanford and Orlando reports an increasing volume of business, proving that the business men of Orlando are taking advantage of an opportunity as they see it.

The Chamber of Commerce and the county commissioners have been assured by the State Road Department that the road between Orlando and Sanford would be widened within the next six months. A three foot shoulder of rock will be placed on each side of the road and treated with an oil covering so that when the permanent widening of the road begins, an excellent foundation will have been made.

The future development of Sanford is contingent largely upon the development of our waterway. Increased river tonnage, and nothing else, will force the government to build the St. Johns-Indian River canal. By having other communities take advantage of our advantages and consign their goods to Sanford, Sanford will not only be logistically but actually the distributing wholesale center for this section of Florida. It will be time enough then to talk about making it a basic point, our particular job at present is to have the water patronized to an extent that will make this possible.

Increased river tonnage with its consequent volume of new business for Sanford will cause federal and state appropriations to be made for new roads to carry the traffic consigned to Sanford destined for points farther South.

WATSON DEMANDS RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MELLON—HE CANNOT HOLD OFFICE

Says He is Engaging in Private Enterprises in Violation of the Law

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Secretary Mellon is holding the office of secretary of the treasury in violation of the law and can be arrested for retaining the place if any one sees fit to swear out a warrant charging him with the offense, Senator Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, declared in the senate late yesterday. The law which Mr. Mellon is violating, Senator Watson said, prohibits the secretary of the treasury from engaging in any kind of business or commerce.

Senator Watson told the senate that Mr. Mellon could be impeached "any time we see fit" and read to the senate the provision of section 243 of the revised statutes which, he declared, expressly forbid Mr. Mellon to retain his place. He declared that by staying in office, the secretary was violating the law, adding that it was generally known that Mr. Mellon was one of the wealthiest individuals in the country.

The assertions by the Georgia senator were made in connection with several speeches on the accomplishments of the two major political parties. He informed the senate in the course of his remarks that the law, now listed as section 243, was passed in the congress of the United States and that during the administration of President Grant, A. T. Stewart had withdrawn after being named secretary of the treasury when attention was called to provisions of the act.

Senator Watson asked Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, for his opinion on "what the people will think of the way our government is being run when a criminal, unconvicted but disobeying the penalty openly and notoriously, committing a crime, is left in charge of our national funds and the refunding of debts of eleven billion dollars."

Senator Heflin said that Senator Watson had shown that Secretary Mellon was violating the law and that it was time for senators to speak out. Mr. Watson stated that Mr. Stewart had resigned three days after his confirmation by the senate and after President Grant had learned of the provisions of the law.

"And if Mr. Stewart resigned," continued the senator, "why should not Mr. Mellon resign? Why should he continue in office in inscient violation of the law? He knows it; so does President Harding know it, and the Republican party is going to have to answer for it this fall for I do not believe the people will stand for open violation of the law by a member of the cabinet when persons throughout the country are prosecuted for trivial offenses."

Asking why the president did not "respect the statutes," Senator Watson said that Mr. Mellon was "impudent" for retaining the office and ought to resign.

"If he doesn't resign," he added, "then the president ought to ask for his resignation."

The Georgia senator referred to the recent passage of the allied debt refunding bill and said that never before in history had so much money been placed in the hands of one man to handle, "and that man is violating the law every day of his life."

He challenged "all of the lawyers in the senate" to refute his statements relative to Mr. Mellon's right to remain as secretary.

Mr. Watson referred to Mr. Mellon as "a colossal figure in the business world," and declared that he had no more right to be secretary of the treasury "than had J. P. Morgan or John D. Rockefeller or a member of the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Company, if you please." He also read from James G. Blaine's "Twenty years in congress," a reference to the circumstances surrounding the nomination of Mr. Stewart. This told how Mr. Grant had asked congress first to amend the law to except Mr. Stewart and then, after it was seen that congress was unwilling to make the change, the president withdrew the request and the newly named secretary resigned.

REPUBLICANS ARE FOOLING THE PEOPLE

REGARDING THE ECONOMY OF THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Attack on the speeches yesterday of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and McCormick of Illinois, detailing accomplishments of the Republican party, was made in the senate yesterday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, who challenged accuracy of the Republican claims.

The Mississippi senator declared the American people were being "hoodwinked, hoodwinked and deceived" by the Republican spokesmen. Referring to a statement that the Republican congress had cut appropriation estimates of Democratic officials aggregating $5,300,000,000 to $1,400,000,000, Senator Harrison said the Democratic estimates were made when the war was in full blast and its continuance was expected for another year. The ending of the war, the Mississippi member asserted, made possible enormous savings.

"I submit to every fair-minded person whether this should be claimed as an achievement of the present administration," said Senator Harrison. "All of the estimates were based on the war continuing through another year, so when it suddenly collapsed these enormous sums were saved. And yet the American people are being hoodwinked, hoodwinked and deceived by Republican spokesmen claiming that as an achievement of the present administration."

Senator Lodge's speech at Boston Mr. Harrison said, was the "keynote" address of the Lodge campaign for reelection, while Senator McCormick's address to the senate yesterday, Senator Harrison stated, probably was redrafted with help "at the other end of the avenue," and prepared carefully for general campaign distribution.

Sleet accompanying snow did much damage to wires. Twenty-one above zero in Richmond at 8:00 a. m.

HARDING SILENT, BONUS UNDECIDED, CONGRESS PLANS

SOME TALK NOW OF CUTTING APPROPRIATION BILL TO PROVIDE REVENUE FOR VETS.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The soldiers' bonus question was last night still very much in the air.

Congress was without any official word from President Harding as to his views on the subject, and meantime, the committees which have been handling the problem continued to mark time.

Among the senators and representatives generally there was considerable private discussion and conjecture with the revival on the house side of talk about a slashing of annual appropriation bills as a means of providing the necessary finances for the bonus.

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, and some other leaders in the house were understood to be giving the proposal close study. Mr. Mondell called at the White House early in the day, but did not see the president. He said afterwards that the supply measures would be examined carefully to determine whether much of the sum needed for the bonus could not be obtained from that direction.

This proposition met with considerable response from members of the house, where apparently there is a growing desire to put the bonus bill through. There were suggestions that as a result of the agreement for a naval holiday as much as $200,000,000 could be cut from the naval bill and that another large sum could be saved by cutting down the size of the army.

(By The Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—Sending of many fake telegrams to President Harding from Pennsylvania, has caused W. Harry Baker, secretary of the Republican State Committee to seek an investigation by the federal attorney. Baker revealed fraudulent telegrams had been sent to the president purporting to endorse the candidacy of J. C. Overton, negro head waiter at West Philadelphia Hotel, for appointment as registrar of the United States treasury. OUR SANFORD GIRLS WERE THERE ALL THE TIME

By JOHN "RED" DAVIS

"Red" Davis, formerly sporting editor of the Sanford Herald, but now with the Jacksonville Metropolis, went down to Lakeland Friday with Duval's boys' team and met our girls' team at the station. He says he was so impressed with our girls' team that he just had to write the following:

Wake up Seminole!

You have a girl's basket ball sextet—and don't know it.

Friday afternoon while on the train with the Duval Tigers we reached Sanford—three minutes later a delegation of "children" (I say children for never once did our party dream they were basketball players) boarded the same train and sent up three cheers for Duval.

Right then an investigation was started and having met Misses Mildred Holly and Maude Lake, two that I knew back in 1917, I found out they were going to Lakeland, the very same place we were headed for.

Now that's off my mind. The game will soon begin as soon as I sketch a few more sidelights.

Edna Styles is now talking after being introduced to the various Duval players: "Boys, we are going to wear your colors and root for you all tonight against Lakeland." Very good says Ted Reed, Duval's captain.

Captain Ted Reed then calls his gang, or rather gentlemen, together and orders a cheer sent up for the Celery City. Here's the way it sounded to me on the train—"Rah-Rah-15 of them for the Celery City."

Some one in the Duval crowd asked Emma Spencer if she was a player or the girl that was supposed to hold the players' neckties and handkerchiefs—what prompted this silly question from this Duval player was Emma's size. From the back rows Gayle Marshall said, "Why she's the 'playingest fool' in the county."

The game begins: Sanford enters the court. From numerous voices on the sidelines I remembered a few of Lakeland's remarks. Some one said, "What kindergarten are they from?" Another said "Why they are babies, they can't expect to play our big girls." Another came forth with this "Why they'll be mine pie for us, they haven't got a chance." All of a sudden Maude Lake nearly knocked one of Lakeland's girls into Volusia county. Then the tune turned.

By all means Sanford High bring Lakeland to Sanford. The girls can beat them.

Emma Spencer shot three field goals and all three were shot over the head of a girl who must have been as tall as Sanford's once-upon-a-time famous Helen Hand.

Talk about rooting for Duval—Lakeland thought Duval county had moved to Polk when the ladies from Seminole turned loose. And all the time Sanford's girls were kidding the spectators about how bad Duval was beating the boys.

Attention Mr. Holly: Boost the girls' and boy's team—maybe some of After Maude has demonstrated her Jack Dempsey prowess someone yelled from the sidelines "Why she plays too rough." I then thought the Lakeland lady that made that remark should have brushed off her glasses a little and glanced at Miss Hamilton who was playing forward for Lakeland.

Then Lakeland looked Edna Styles over and I mean right from Paris she has the style. She plays basketball excellently.

Probably the sensation of the evening was the way the Lakeland fans gazed in amazement over the work of Mildred Holly at forward and Emma Spencer at forward, the "two children" of the Sanford sextet—I say children for it's not right to say babies. Both Mildred and Emma marched through Polk county like Sherman marched through Georgia back in '65—they raised whatever you want to call it.

Sara Wheelers at standing center was also a star in this game. Often Sara received her jolts after running into a few of Lakeland's heavyweights but for every jolt she received somebody else received an earthquake in return.

the people will enjoy a little sporting news just as well as some of our polished editorials—some time I like sport news better—for all the editorials I read now are too blooming long, and everybody's writing the same thing "Come to Our City, It's the Only One."

Maude Lake, in my opinion, was the outstanding star of both sextets. She was closely followed by Hamilton of Lakeland, and Spencer, Holly, Styles, Marshall and Wheelers of Seminole.

Here's the most truthful paragraph of the whole lot: With the exception of Miss Hamilton at forward for Lakeland the Sanford girls stood over Polk's representatives like Sanford stands over Orlando in every way under the sun. Brother Glynn, I'll be in Orlando some time shortly—look me up. I still think you have the best morning paper in Orlando.

PAOLA POINTS

Paola is coming into her own again it seems, for she is a lively little place nowadays.

The ladies have got together and we have a very nice Ladies Aid started. We met last Friday at the home of Mrs. Burnett and the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Cooke; Vice President—Mrs. Minchew; Secretary—Mrs. Stenstrom; Treasurer—Mrs. Herzberger. We will meet on the first Thursday in next month, at the home of Mrs. Minchew.

Last Sunday we had an all day Sunday School convention in which new Upsala joined with us. Mr. and Mrs. Albertson came over from DeLand to be with us. Mr. Albertson had charge of the Sunday School and gave us a nice talk after the classes were dismissed. Then Mrs. Albertson gave a temperance reading which we enjoyed very much. After that our minister Mr. Clarke, gave us a sermon which I hope we will all remember and take to heart. After that we had a two hour recess, which we used to empty the baskets of the good things that the ladies brought to eat and to listen to a lecture given by "Happy Jack Caves" the great pedestrian. He told us all about his travels in this, and other, countries, and finished with a talk to the boys and girls. It certainly was great, and all who missed hearing him missed one of the greatest treats that they will have in a long time. At the beginning of the afternoon services Mrs. Stenstrom's Sunday School girls sang very sweetly, "We Shall See The King Some Day." Next Thursday night the Bible Class will be at Mrs. Minchew's.

Mrs. C. C. Pearson has been sick for the past few days but is better now.

It seems that almost all of the works around here are burning, or have just been burned so there will be plenty of fresh grass for the range cattle pretty soon.

It has been so nice and warm that this last cool spat came as a surprise. However Florida is noted for those kind of surprises, and so we must expect almost anything.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Young of Markham, with us Sunday. Also Mrs. John Purdon, and children, from Sanford. Mr. Alfred Ericson of New Upsala gave a very good talk on the importance of bringing the children to Sunday School.

We were delighted that Professor and Mrs. Podmore, of Rollins College could be with us.

WILL BE SURFACE TREATED WITH A BASE OF OJUS ROCK

Purden & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, Purchased Bonds and Maull & Snyder Contract For the New Roads

At the meeting of the Seminole County Commissioners yesterday the $90,000 bond issue for good roads was sold to Purden & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, at the premium of $90,135.00.

The contract for the roads was let to Maull & Snyder and will be surface treated, the base to be of Ojus rock and asphalt and granite chip and it is thought that these new roads will serve as an example for future road building in Seminole county, the commissioners having made trips to other parts of the state and examined this class of roads where they have been laid for several years. The bonds sold yesterday will cover the following roads: Oviado to Goldenrod, approximately 37,000 sq. yards. Chuluota south to the county line, approximately 10,000 sq. yards.

Osceola road, approximately 11,000 sq. yards. There were seven bids for the bonds yesterday and six bids for the contract showing that bonding and building of roads has again assumed a much better aspect than in the past two years.

With this new system of hard-surfaced roads and with the old roads including the brick roads to be improved Seminole county will have the finest system of hard-surfaced roads in the state and there will not be any part of the county but what will be covered with a trunk line of hard surfaced roads.

When the time comes that the old brick roads can be repaired and put in first class shape the county commissioners will then, for the first time in the history of this and other counties, really have the time and money to build new lateral roads.

The new road building program also takes care of the Osceola road that has long needed attention.

FARMER'S EXCHANGE PRE-COOLING PLANT NOW IN OPERATION

WILL WORK TRANSFORMATION IN PACKING AND SHIPPING OF SANFORD VEGETABLES

By the time this article is published, there will be completed and in full operation, the large pre-cooling plant of the Sanford Farmers' Exchange. Acknowledged to be the most progressive movement, from an agricultural standpoint, ever attempted in this section, it will eliminate the gamble which has entered so largely into the marketing feature of Sanford's great agricultural industry.

The pre-cooling idea was originated by the Florida Citrus Exchange, and adopted by the Sanford Farmers Exchange, which is affiliated as a corporation with the former organization. The plant was financed and built by the Sanford Farmers' Exchange and will be operated by them. Its membership consists of the largest farmers of the Celery Delta controlling over four hundred acres of this productive area. The Exchange owns ten acres of land, and the plant covers approximately two acres of the property. It is located on Beardsall avenue, east of Sanford, on one of the principal sidings of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and is convenient to the member growers of the Association. The space in the building devoted to washing, packing, pre-cooling, crate storage, and crate making is 325 feet long by 210 feet wide, and to date indications point to the necessity of increasing this space to three times its present size. Another portion of the building houses two 150 horse power generators furnishing current for lighting and ice making and pre-cooling. Production capacity of ice is 40 tons per day and the plant, when in full operation, will be able to pre-cool from 12 to 16 cars per day. The building also contains storage room for 600 tons of ice and provision has been made whereby six cars of produce can be stored. In the event of low prices, caused by glutted markets, this combined storage space will provide enough storage room to keep from 30 to 40 cars of perishables. All cars will be iced at the plant before shipment, and a special icing platform running the full length of the loading platform has been built for this purpose.

The rapidity with which the plant has been constructed is considered phenomenal. Ground was broken November 28th, 1921, and on February 2nd member growers began delivering to the plant. The necessary facilities having been completed, washing immediately started, and on February 3rd the first car was shipped, followed by another on the 4th. These shipments consigned to two different markets, arrived in perfect condition, and brought premium prices of from seventy-five cents to one dollar per crate. Both the quality and pack created a sensation upon arrival at destination, and obviously those who put over this project are justly elated at this initial success. No individual in this section will attempt to prophesy as to the limitations of the great possibilities the adaption of pre-cooling will bring to Sanford growers.

While the production of celery and other produce in this section has reached as near a scientific basis as possible, the methods used in packing, shipping, and marketing are practically the same now as when the industry first started. They have not kept pace with modern ideas, as successfully adopted by the important vegetable producing sections of the west, and as a result the element of gamble still plays too large a percentage in the marketing of the product.

All produce contains a certain degree of latent heat, which when augmented by that of the sun, before being loaded into cars, will cause decay to start unless the shipment is re-iced at intervals before reaching destination. Failure to re-ice often occurs, resulting in the shipment arriving in poor condition and consequently bringing little or no returns to the shipper, who, notwithstanding, has paid for this service. Pre-cooling obviates the necessity for re-icing and saves the shipper this cost which is thirty-five to forty dollars per car, the original icing being all that is necessary to insure the shipment reaching the market in prime condition. No attempt of any consequence has been made heretofore to ship a standardized package from Sanford. Celery, packed in the field, was shipped to the large markets, where in turn it was stripped, washed and re-packed, and re-shipped at a greater price, some of it finding its way back to Florida.

The Sanford Farmers' Exchange will combine these processes through which celery passes from producer to consumer, at their pre-cooling plant. After the member growers have hauled their produce to the plant in field crates, it will be stripped by expert celery workers, washed, graded, packed and pre-cooled. The time consumed for these combined operations is approximately one and one-half hours per car. The present maximum load per car for celery is three hundred and fifty crates, loaded according to standard refrigeration regulations in order to assure perfect refrigeration. Pre-cooled packages can be loaded to a figure greatly in excess of the present maximum, conserving the space in the car which is now necessary for the circulation of cold air.

The application of the pre-cooling process to green corn will open up another channel of income to the member growers of the Exchange, as it will permit them to put this much desired edible on northern markets when sweet corn in that part of the country is still a thought of the far distant future. Heretofore it has been impracticable to ship this commodity in any quantity, due to its extremely perishable nature. Hereafter the production of corn in this section will no doubt become as potent a factor for producing revenue, as is celery at this time.

Inasmuch as the Sanford plant has been in operation but a short while, exact costs for pre-cooling are not yet available, but officials of the Exchange are agreed that comparative costs with similar plants in other sections of the country will show lower costs in favor of Sanford. The principal factor supporting the contention of these officials, is the great number of flowing artesian wells found in this section, and which will keep pre-cooling costs down.

Sanford's new pre-cooling plant is practical evidence of the progressiveness of the member growers of the Exchange. Not only are they large in their holdings, but broad in their visions. The continued success of their efforts, as exemplified in the plant they have built, and are now operating, will instill modern methods and thereby greater stability in marketing the products of this great agricultural section. It is a foregone conclusion that other pre-cooling plants will be operating in this section before any great amount of time has passed, for, as previously noted, the member growers are seriously considering increasing their plant to three times its present size. Pre-cooling will eventually be as primarily important to the marketing of Sanford products as its system of sub-irrigation, aeration, and drainage is to the production of them, and those growers who have had the initiative to put over this innovation are deserving of the congratulations of every one in this section.

"Stag Brand," the name of the Exchange's pre-cooled product, has already its debut on northern markets and been received with acclaim. Having blazed the way, it will only be a matter of time when all produce from this section will be handled the same way, bringing greater returns to the grower, greater wealth to the section, and greater renown to the City Substantial.

PAID 100 PER CENT BUT TRUSTING POOR WILL DROP $7,000,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Raymond J. Bischoff, taken into custody yesterday afternoon involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy had been instituted against him by creditors, today admitted that he owes about $4,500,000, representing the savings of six thousand Chicagoans mostly foreigners. Less than one million dollars worth of oil and gas stock of doubtful value is available to meet the obligations, it was announced.

Bischoff whose financial operations apparently rival those of Charles Ponzi, the Boston "wizzard" expressed relief when taken into custody by deputy marshals. He had received threats from those he is alleged to have fleeced, he said, and was afraid to venture into the South and West side district where most of his victims live.

The Central Trust Company was yesterday appointed receiver for Bischoff, Felix Streyckman's attorney for the creditors, said he believed Bischoff's liabilities will near $7,000,000 and that the receiver will be lucky to realize half of the face value of the stock held by him. Bischoff is 25 years old.

By paying large returns on money borrowed in a few particular instances he gained a reputation as a financial wizard among the people with whom he dealt according to federal agents. Profits of forty per cent on short term loans were said to be common and Bischoff is said to have paid as high as 100 per cent interest.

According to Mr. Streyckman's only the creditors that objected to long waits were paid in actual cash. The rest, he said, were content to accept their alleged earnings in more notes. Some of the people sold almost all they owned to give Bischoff money. Mr. Streyckman said. One man, he said, sold his home for $7,000 and turned over $9,200 to Bischoff?

James J. Kelley, attorney for Bischoff, today asserted that his client had violated no law but simply lost money by speculation.

Creditors may receive ten cents on the dollar, Mr. Kelly said, when Bischoff's holdings are liquidated. Federal authorities intimated there was no basis for prosecution.

BROKER SETS NEW BANKRUPT RECORD

Chicago Man Owes More Than 4 Millions—Has $1,000 To Pay

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Raymond J. Bischoff, whose financial operations are alleged to have ruined thousands of poor investors, was trusted him with their life savings, today told Federal Judge Landis at an inquiry that "I owe $4,500,000 and I have less than $1,000 in cash."

Bischoff declared he was only 25 years old and that he had accumulated liabilities estimated by a receiver appointed Saturday as totaling approximately $5,000,000 in less than two years. He described his business as "general financial business, brokerage and oil," and said that he started it in the spring of 1919 with $10,000.

Asked where he obtained the money Bischoff said he had made part of it working in the stock yards and that the rest was the result of stock speculations. He declared that he had no previous business experience, that he lived at home at the time and that the only other work he had done was in connection with obtaining members for the Boy Scouts.

Under questions from Judge Landis, he maintained that his operations were legal, that the money entrusted to his care was given him for speculation and that while it was unfortunate that he should have lost it, he felt that he could have recovered all of his losses if the receivership proceedings had not interfered.

Despite Bischoff's protestations that all of the millions he had handled had been lost, a search was begun for all possible assets and Judge Landis issued restraining orders preventing Bischoff's relatives from disposing of two flat buildings, two houses, a farm, four automobiles and the contents of several safety deposit boxes.

JITNEY BUSES CANNOT OPERATE ON MAIN STREETS

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, Feb. 15.—Operations of the jitney buses have been restricted by the announcement of City Manager Warthon that he planned to enforce an ordinance prohibiting the conveniences from operating on streets served by the municipal street railway system.

The jitneys will be permitted to continue service in sections of the city not reached by the electric cars, either financially or otherwise for the two utilities on the same street.

Miami, it was asserted, at this season of the year, has more automobiles, per capita, than any other city in the country, and traffic congestion was a major element in his decision to restrict the buses, Mr. Warthon said.

TOLL BRIDGE RECEIPTS $10,000 PER MONTH

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 15.—Receipts from the county toll bridge across the St. Johns river here were $10,130.87. With a balance of more than $3,000 on hand the first of January the sum of $10,500 was transferred to the bond trustees, making a total of $72,300 of the earnings since the bridge was opened last July that has been applied to payment of interest and retirement of bonds from which the fund for building the structure was derived.

WOULD OPEN UP RIVER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Transportation facilities for remote sections of Alabama and Tennessee to convey their products to Ohio, Mississippi and Gulf regions would be afforded under the plan put forward by Henry Ford for completion and operation of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power project, W. B. Mayo, representative of the Detroit manufacturers, today told the house military committee.

Navigable limits of the Tennessee river would be increased 90 miles, Mr. Mayo said, by the construction of two dams at Muscle Shoals. In answer to questions he said that without doubt the price of fertilizer would be materially reduced for the farmer.

He advises against seeking the aurora, although the dispatches from Miami, Fla., announced that the spot now visible on the sun's face were likely to cause a colorful display overhead. "The spots are too small," the scientist replied, "and not likely to offer anything striking. It has been shown Pain Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed suffering a great deal of pain, weak nervous, depressed. I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I am sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

TO SPEED UP BASEBALL, PERMITTING THEFT OF FIRST, IS BEFORE JUDGE LANDIS

Scientific Pitching Makes the Game Too Tame for the Fans Now

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(By The Associated Press).—Speeding up baseball is a suggestion that has Judge Landis guessing today. The Baseball Commissioner received a letter from Newton C. Gillham, a Kansas City attorney, in which he suggests theft privilege of the batter would offset scientific pitching which he thinks slows up the game from the fans' viewpoint. Gillham believes scientific pitching often makes an inning a tame affair with the batsmen being mowed down, one, two, three. "Let the batter steal first base and this advantage of pitcher over batter will be equalized," he wrote.

FT. PIERCE LEGION HAD TO CALL MEN OFF

FORT PIERCE, Feb. 15.—Boxing bouts are being held in numerous towns and cities of this state, although a state law prohibits them, but none will be staged in St. Lucie county. The local post of the American Legion has prepared an elaborate program of athletic events to be held from time to time as a means of obtaining funds toward the erection of a clubhouse here and recently announced that boxing exhibition would be a feature. Sheriff Ruffner informed the Legion he could not permit boxing and the exhibition has been cancelled.

"I regret it, but the law is strict with reference to boxing exhibitions and I can do nothing but enforce the law," said the sheriff. "It is one of

"BIG FOUR" DIVIDES INTO TWO GROUPS

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15.—The "Big Four" railroad brotherhoods have divided into two groups, each of which will conduct separate negotiations with the railway managers in regional conferences. W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen and Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers, announced tonight.

Engineers will meet the railway executives jointly with the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, while the brotherhood of railroad trainmen and the order of railway conductors will conduct their conference jointly.

It is the intention in the future, the announcement said "to handle wage questions through our regional associations, as was done prior to the national negotiations carried on during the war period."

It was understood that this means that concerted action on wage matters which have existed several years, is ended for the present at least. The brotherhoods now will deal with the railways in three regions—eastern, western and southern—instead of as a whole through the labor board, it was declared. This is understood to be agreeable to the railway executives.

The first of such conference will be held in New York Thursday between representatives of the trainmen, conductors and the eastern group of railways. Another conference next Monday will bring together the same delegation of railway executives and officers of the brotherhoods of engineers and firemen and engineers.

BRYAN MAKES STATEMENT REGARDING SENATE MATTER LOOKS LIKE A REFUSAL

Says Record is Known and He Will Not Enter into the Contest

BUT HE IS READY

AND WILLING TO SERVE THE PARTY AT ANY TIME HE IS CALLED UPON

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, Feb. 15.—William Jennings Bryan responding to inquiries today as to whether he would be a candidate for the senate from Florida issued a statement saying, "If the Democrats of Florida felt that as senator I could render service to the state and to the party in the nation sufficient to justify them in calling upon me to represent them at Washington I would consider the matter from the standpoint of duty and in connection with other claims upon me, but I have no thought of entering into the contest for office."

The statement said he preferred to continue to serve the public without cares of office.

"No friend will expect me at my period of life and when my political record is known to all, to solicit support or to take the risk of alienating those pledged to aspirants. I am looking forward to congenial association with Florida Democrats who have been my collaborators for a quarter of a century. I am sure our relations will be pleasant so long as my plans do not conflict with ambitions of others or with their personal preferences." The penalties of being an officer—that one must refuse to grant permission often. Examining the law, nothing could be plainer."

Section 5084 of the General Statutes of Florida reads as follows:

"If any person or persons shall voluntarily engage in any pugilistic exhibitions, fight or encounter, with or without gloves, between man and man, or in an exhibit in or fight between man and bull, or between man and any other animal, for money or anything of value or upon the results of which any money or anything of value is to be collected, acquired, bet or wagered or to see which any admission fee is charged, directly or indirectly, shall be punished by a fine of not less than two thousand five hundred, nor more than five years.

SENATE AND HOUSE ARE FRAMING BONUS BILL WITH NO RESULT

Considering Necessary Funds That Must Be Raised

HARDING WAVERS

IS NOT CERTAIN JUST WHERE THE MATTER WILL START OR END

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senate and House committees charged with framing bonus bill continued to mark time today in consideration of how necessary funds should be raised in expectation of receiving from president formal expression his views.

President Harding thinks it is impracticable to raise by a bonus issue at this time a large sum of money to finance the soldier's bonus, it was stated today at the White House and he is unalterably opposed to the suggested eight point tax program or to a return of any of the taxes that have been repealed.

The executive was represented as being favorably disposed toward the bonus legislation and it was emphasized that when he appeared before the Senate last July to ask that its enactment be deferred he had not taken a position of hospitality. It also was stated that promises made by Republicans in the 1920 primary had not been lost sight of, but it was pointed out that no exact time had been fixed for the passage of an adjusted compensation bill.

The attitude of the executive, it added, had to be that of finding a sane condition of the fulfillment of the promises made on the one hand and having regard for restored ability on

NEW BLOC IN CONGRESS TO REDUCE ARMY

REPRESENTATIVES ORGANIZED TO SEEK SMALLER FORCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Demand for a reduction in the size of the army to 100,000 enlisted men, or even to a maximum of 75,000, will be made in the house when the annual army appropriation bill comes up for consideration members of the subcommittee, which is drafting the measure predicted yesterday.

A formidable bloc of representatives the subcommittee members declared, was preparing to wage a determined fight to limit the army's size to 75,000 men while others who favor reduction had indicated they would be satisfied if the maximum was fixed at 100,000. Other factions among the house membership were said to favor a 125,000 maximum or to oppose any reduction in the present size which under a limitation for pay of enlisted men approximates 137,000.

THE MISSION OF THE NEWSPAPER.

Dr. George Stuart was not knocking the newspapers when he said that too many of them gave too much space to nonsense and too little space to sense. He charged that there seemed to be an inclination on the part of some to get off cheap jokes on sober subjects. In these statements Dr. Stuart did not knock any newspaper true to its mission. He, in these charges complimented the newspapers that refuse to turn their columns over to junk dealers by way of copy.

With many large dailies there is a tendency to strive after volume rather than quality. With the smaller city papers, there is too often a weakness for canned goods. The cheapest, trashiest stuff that will do for filler is bought from syndicates that are not at all discriminating, and in many cases are paid propagandists of vile and evil interests. This propaganda is cunningly cloaked so as to get a reading without the evil influence back of it being revealed. Better an 8-page paper well-filled with good and wholesome news than a 16-page paper or a 48-page paper filled with this canned stuff only fit for the garbage can.

Then too, as stated by Dr. Stuart, all too many newspapers gauge their editorial columns by their advertising columns. They pussyfoot on every subject that they think will affect their advertisers. This is a false and foolish attitude. People read the newspapers that have a definite editorial policy and fearlessly strike out in line with that policy. Advertisers want to get before the people and they will use the paper that gets a reading regardless of whether they agree with the editorial policy or not of that paper.

The editor who depends on the mails and the shears to fill his editorial columns serves no very useful purpose and will soon find the reading public leaving him. The people who read the newspapers have a right to expect something more than cheap jokes and syndicated filler. The liberal use made of these by many of the newspapers of the country has brought general criticism on the press. If ever there was a time when the world needed a clean cut, independent, untrammelled press it is now. This is what Dr. Stuart, Irving Bacheller and other great men of the platform are demanding; and in this they speak for the best people of this generation.—Reporter-Star.

Weeks wants bids on Muscle Shoals now. He sure hates to see Henry get it.

The dispute over Yap has ended. Dispatches say. We are glad of that. It will probably stop all future "yapping."

The "housman" of Taylor, the murdered film director, is being questioned. We suppose the housmaid, the chamber maid, the three chauffeurs, the six butlers, the seven gardeners, the sixteen kitchen girls, will be questioned next. Those movie people are sure living easy and dying the same way.

They are starving in Russia and the Near East and the Far West and many other places and it is all right to send them money—after we take care of the starving in Florida, the poor in Seminole and the local hospital and one hundred or more other local institutions right here at home. The first thing for Sanford people to think about is keeping more of their money here where it will do the most good and there is no "overhead" expenses to eat up eighty per cent of the sum total.

We should get those park benches this week by all means. Don't let another Sunday come round without having plenty of benches in the park not only for the band concerts but for people to enjoy these fine days. It makes but little difference whether the merchants donate them or the city donates them but they should be made and placed in the park now. A small lettering telling who donated the bench would not be out of place for it will again show who are the big hearted merchants and who are the tight-wads. The man who donates a bench should certainly get credit for it.

WHERE IS OUR CURB MARKET?

Sanford was the first city in the state to originate the curb market and it was a great success here for some time but the farmers themselves were the first to fall down on the proposition and while we still think it is the right idea to bring growers and buyers together to the mutual benefit of both it is up to the growers to start it and keep it going. Other cities that have about one-fourth of Sanford's acreage in vegetables are putting on curb markets with great profit and success and it would be well to investigate the curb market plan here as the spring crops will soon be coming on and the curb market is a wonderful place to sell your surplus products and get the ready cash for them. Lakeland is thinking about the curb market as the following from the Lakeland Telegram would indicate:

"A prominent farmer from a nearby community has asked the Telegram to throw out the suggestion that Lakeland ought to have and support a curb or farmer's market in line with the plan now in vogue in Orlando and well known to almost every town and city outside of Florida. The suggestion is worthy of more than passing notice. If such a market could be established it would afford a trade avenue whereby the farmer could sell his produce for cash to the people of the city and take that cash to the merchant for the purchase of groceries, drygoods and all the other articles of commerce. Anyone who has ever had a knowledge of how this proposition works will instantly realize what an enormous factor a curb market would be in attracting the suburban population to Lakeland to do their trading and to exchange mutual benefits. This may be a matter for the merchants' committee of the Chamber of Commerce. If it is, the suggestion of our farmer friend is respectfully submitted for consideration and action."

WATCH THE CELERY SHIPMENTS

The grower of celery and other vegetables is apt to kill the goose that lays the golden egg each year by rushing his celery, lettuce and other vegetables in the early market just because it happens to be a high priced market. It might be all right to send as much as possible to the early markets if there was a big crop to market but even then the stuff should be put up in a guaranteed pack and be prime stuff always. If it is not prime stuff mark it in plain letters as

"seconds." And then this season it might be well for the celery growers to remember that the celery crop is short. There will soon be practically no celery on the northern markets except Florida celery. Then why hurry the shipments by boarding up all kinds of stuff and trying to get it all off at one time? If the growers will take their time, keep the celery in good condition, pack the best and use ordinary precautions they will get a good price all through the season. For heaven's sake, if you ever put up a good pack of celery put it up now when you have everything just like you want it. Poor quality celery or poor quality of anything will kill the good markets and they will never come back this season. It is useless to tell the growers this again. They have heard it every year. They have seen many of the growers raise good stuff and put up a guaranteed pack and get good money for it. They have seen other growers put up poor stuff and green stuff and the market has dropped ruining the prospects of all the growers.

Go slow on your cutting this year and let your celery stay as long as it will and be in good condition. Don't board it up until it is right for boarding and don't get all your celery off at once. Keep it coming along slowly as possible and the market will keep firmer than if you ship all the celery in this section in a few weeks.

A little sound judgment used this year will work wonders toward stabilizing a market that is as uncertain and coy as a maiden accepting her first invitation to a dance.

TOO MUCH "THANK YOU."

We honestly believe that in the matter of doing things for a mere "thank you" the weekly newspapers of the country hold the record.

We say it with no desire to discriminate, for the people of Clermont are no different from those to be found elsewhere, but we feel on reflection they will agree it is true, that for the number of favors rendered, no other institution is as poorly paid as the newspaper. The church has a bazaar, the school has a concert, a club brings a paid speaker or musician to town, and does so to make money, and yet in almost every instance, the newspaper is called on to announce the date, boost the attraction, get out the crowd and whoop it up generally.

Many people do not understand that all that a newspaper has to sell is its space, or at least that part of its space not devoted to actual news happenings. And on the other hand, there are a number of these occurrences, which if not strictly news, are for the community welfare, so that perhaps, in the end, the balance is not unjust after all.—Clermont Press.

The Advocate editor is glad that he can give publicity to worthy causes. For instance it was a pleasure last week to give first page space to the coming of the Boys' Drum and Cornet Corps of the Georgia Industrial Home, and we like to boost everything promoted by home people for home benefit, but must confess that it is no pleasure to publish stuff free in our paper which is furnished by paid publicity agents, even under the guise of working for the benefit of humanity, and then we don't care to give our space to the reformers who find their way to Florida every winter who claim to be devoting their time to this "ism" or that "ism," but who really are out for the coin, having a good time and enjoying Florida's winter climate. To even pretend that these people are necessary or doing a good work would be saying that our several churches cannot guide their people and are inefficient, if not superfluous.—Wauchulla Advocate.

THE CACKLIN' HEN

(By Aunt Aggie) I may be a little backwoods—some folks say I'm behind—but I never was much on chickens of the fancy feathered kind. I don't deny it's nice, like, to own a blue-ribbon hen. But it's lots more satisfactory to have a cacklin' hen. I don't mean to be cranky, on the handful o' things I know, for, with hens the same as people, of course good blood will show; but the profit you get from poultry is not in color of legs, nor in the lay o' feathers, so much as it is in eggs.

It's the hen that's always cacklin' that's doin' most o' the work. The one that preens her feathers is pretty sure to shirk. If a flock is busy layin', the farmer's bein' paid; but the workers delay their moultin' an' can't go out on parade.—From Oklahoma.

MALARIA VS. PNEUMONIA

The State Board of Health, taking cognizance of statements that many persons hesitate to visit Florida or make this state their homes because of malaria, or stories they have heard about malaria devotes two pages of the Monthly Vital Statistics Reporter for January, issued under the supervision of Stewart G. Thompson, to a discussion of malaria and pneumonia. The Reporter declares that mortality statistics of the United States Census Bureau for 1919 show that deaths that year from pneumonia were 32 1/2 times greater than those from malaria. Pneumonia caused more deaths than any other disease except tuberculosis. "Pneumonia occurs in all climates and affects all ages," declares the Reporter. "It is more prevalent, however, in states where the seasons of bad weather are prolonged. While there are other causes, such as exposure and lowered vitality, a milder climate with plenty of sunshine undoubtedly gives a certain amount of protection.

"Florida has been referred to as 'the playground of the nation.' This is due to a great extent, to the fact that thousands of tourists come to Florida during the winter months and enjoy the mild climate, sunshine and temperature that is enjoyed in their home states during a very short season of the year. Notwithstanding the fact that many persons who come to Florida with a lowered resistance, advanced age and many other handicaps, the pneumonia death rate is lower in Florida than in any other state in the United States registration area.

"It seems rather strange that there are those who hesitate to come to Florida on account of malaria when they are right in the midst of a community where the pneumonia death rate is exceedingly high.

"Do not overlook the seriousness of malaria, because of the picture drawn of pneumonia. Malaria is serious but it is preventable. Everyone who so desires can learn how to avoid malaria. Pneumonia, on the other hand, is not so easy to avoid and because of its prevalence in many cases seems to have been taken for granted and not feared as its seriousness should warrant; while many other diseases, that only claim a small percentage of the

Cash Prices Must Look Good To The Trade Read This

Thrasher & Garner did $830.00 more business on a strictly cash basis during the month of January than during January, 1921, on a time basis. This reflects the hearty approval and co-operation of the buying public for which we are grateful. If you pay cash, and have not visited our store, we shall appreciate a call. The fact that we are doing more business selling for cash than we previously did on time, and for cash, is convincing proof that our lower scale of prices is bringing the trade our way.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

Mr. Henderson was worried about the condition of his father who has been very weak of late and fell Saturday striking his head by the fire place.

A good number out to Bible study last Tuesday night. Next time we are invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Menlor for a cottage meeting as there are a number who find it hard to get to the church.

It is very dry and forest fires are all about. Monday we in Upsala were very much excited by one that swept down from Paola way where they had been fighting it around Miss Tabor's place for a couple of days it came like a race horse and although a number near by fought it and back fired but in spite of all it leaped into Neil Swanson's place and burnt up his barn and only by strenuous efforts was kept from the house. A tree close to the house was on fire and a limb had to be sawed off. The old Anderson house, now owned by colored people also caught but was soon put out. A number came out from town to see it. It will be quite a loss to Mr. and Mrs. Swanson as it contained a lot of tools, three gallons of paint, lumber to cell the kitchen, chicken feed and rolls of fencing, etc. Mr. Swanson was at the ice plant.

The fire burnt up most of the straw in the road, threatening the church and other buildings. We think these forest fires are a big mistake, causing a great deal of loss for the little good they do.

The land along Monroe Avenue is very desirable both as to location and fertility and the clearing of this stretch will be a big boost for this section which is already developing rapidly.

Mrs. Lawrence Stone was injured in an automobile wreck Friday night at the ice plant while returning from town. Mr. and Mrs. Stone collided with another machine in the cloud of spray from the fountains at the plant. Both cars were badly torn up and Mrs. Stone was thrown from the car upon the pavement suffering many bruises and a bad shock. She was rendered unconscious for a short time but is now on the road to recovery.

Sneak thieves entered the barn of Mrs. Sarah Lyons Monday night and stole her Overland car. Mrs. Lyons was awakened when the engine was started and the car backed out but as there was no one in the house but herself and sister Mrs. McClowan, they were afraid to molest the intruders who boldly rode past the house. As yet no trace of the thieves or car have been found.

Farmers are busy setting pepper plants. The plants are large and fine and give promise of fine crops. Some have had plants set since the middle of January and have small fruit upon the bushes. FLORIDA AND HER RESOURCES

From the Manufacturer's Record

The shipment of a box of oranges of unusual size and flavor to President Harding as a Christmas reminder of the many pleasant trips he has made to this city and state, and also as a reminder of the great food producing possibilities of this section, has called forth from Mr. James E. Ingraham, the vice-president of the Florida East Coast Railroad, an interesting letter, in the course of which he said:

"It has seemed to me a very strange thing, in my forty odd years' residence in Florida, or since 1876, when I came here from St. Louis with my wife and young baby, full of ambition but very limited means, that other people should not see the state and its resources as I saw them, and I could not understand why they did not, and don't now understand; but more than all else, during all of this period, while I have had much to do with development in different parts of the state, with the three men who have done more than any other three men to develop Florida, it has been a puzzle to me that the government—the administration, it did not make any difference whether Democratic or Republican—should pay so little attention to Florida, its vast possibilities, boundless resources, and incalculable advantages, one of the greatest being its nearness by rail to all the important cities in the United States. If the government would have done one small part of its duty towards Florida, in the way of drainage, that it extended to irrigation in the far West, Florida would have three or four millions of people here instead of one million, and its attractions for health, pleasure and business would be as well known, or better known, than California. It is very probable that distance lends enchantment to the view, and that is where California puts it over on us.

"The box of oranges which you sent the President was almost as good as the box of oranges which I had picked from General Henry S. Sanford's grove at Belleair, near Sanford, and packed and given to Gen. Grant, when he turned the first shovel of earth, beginning the construction of the South Florida railroad. This box was a standard box and contained 60 oranges, all picked from two trees.

"Gen. Sanford's work was the beginning of all interest in Florida by men of vision, enterprise and means. After he bought the Sanford grant in the early seventies and established the town of Sanford at the head of navigation on the St. Johns river, he built the Sanford House, the first tourist house in what was then known as South Florida, and planted the first big citrus grove in the state, of over one hundred acres of trees, about three miles from Sanford. He established as well the fact that pineapples could be grown commercially in Florida, and pines were shipped from the pinery at Belleair Grove to No. 8 Covent Garden Market, London, in the early eighties, very successfully, but after they were planted commercially on the Indian river further south, Mr. Sanford dropped them, but he imported quantities of high grade pines, slips and suckers, from India and Persia, for which he paid very high prices. He also imported a large number of high grade orange trees and among other trees, the Villa Franca lemon, which established itself in Florida. He entered upon the first colonization scheme of importance, bringing over five hundred Swedes, men, women and children, whom he established near Sanford and in the vicinity of his great orange grove. He established a large store in Sanford, called the Sanford store, the first general store, probably in Florida, and carried on business through his agents, from Tampa to Punta Rasa and Punta Gorda on the west coast, to Titusville on the Indian river, and Lake Harney on the St. Johns river. He always contended that Florida was really so close to New York that it should be considered at the entrance to the New York harbor. Mr. Sanford did a great deal of real philanthropic work, as he gave of his knowledge and the results of his investigation of fruits freely to his neighbors, and to any one who desired them he would sell, at merely nominal rates, cuttings for budding purposes from his fruit trees, or if they could not pay for them he would give them away."

It is surprising, and has been for many years, as stated by Mr. Ingraham, that the National government has never seemed to grasp the almost infinite value of this state to the entire country, and therefore it has never given to Florida a hundredth part of the attention which is given to the arid lands of the West, though the returns from money invested by the National Government in the deepening of Florida's rivers and in the drainage of some of its overflowed lands would have been returned manyfold in profit as compared with the profit from the irrigated lands of the West, upon which the government has spent so many millions and tens of millions of dollars.

Mr. Ingraham's well merited tribute to Mr. Sanford suggests that if he can ever be persuaded to write of the many and varied philanthropies of Mr. Flagler, with whom Mr. Ingraham was intimately identified, he could give to the public the most interesting chapter in all the life work of Florida's greatest constructive genius.

It was mainly for the purpose of emphasizing to President Harding and the country how large a part Florida is playing in feeding the country, and how vast are the food potentialities of the whole South, that the writer sent to the president a box of the largest oranges which he had ever seen, accompanied by the following letter:

"As a reminder of the Christmas season and of your many visits to the Daytona section of Florida, I am sending you by express a box of Florida navel oranges of somewhat unusual size, weighing each from a pound to a pound and a quarter or more. I doubt whether there has ever been shipped from California, the supposed home of the navel orange, a box of oranges averaging as much in size and weight as these Florida oranges. They have thin skins and are full of the finest flavored sweetness that the glorious climate of Florida, with its rains and its sunshine, can pack within an orange skin. I am sending you these, not merely as a reminder of your many pleasant visits to Daytona, but to suggest that these oranges are simply typical of the limitless food producing resources of this state, and of the quality of its products.

"Florida is even now, though but in the infancy of its development, annually shipping more than 50,000 carloads of foodstuffs to the North and West, contributing, thus, greatly to the welfare of the entire country through furnishing in the mid-winter season, when most needed, this abundant supply of winter grown fruits and vegetables.

"In addition to the 12,000,000 or more boxes of citrus fruits which are annually shipped from this state to other sections, fruits that are essential to the maintenance of the health of well people and soothing and comforting to those on beds of sickness in homes or in hospitals, Florida annually ships thousands of carloads of early potatoes, cabbages, celery, lettuce, tomatoes, strawberries and other winter grown foodstuffs. It is in this way contributing immensely to the food supply of millions of people in the North and West who are now able to have fresh vegetables throughout the winter. And yet Florida's development has scarcely begun.

"This state has an area seven times as great as that of Massachusetts, but only one-third as large a population as Massachusetts has. It has vast areas of overflowed or wet land awaiting drainage, in addition to the great areas which through the enterprise of state and of individuals have been drained and put under cultivation. The drained lands and those to be drained equal in fertility the richest on earth. As the reclamation or drainage work is continued, enormous areas not now under cultivation will be made available for enlarged food production for the nation. There are also millions of acres of good cut over lands from which the timber has been taken, and which have not yet been utilized for agriculture, although these lands, too, are in most cases exceedingly productive when properly handled, for the growth of citrus fruits, for a wide variety of vegetables, and in many cases for general agricultural purposes.

"In view of the great interest which you recently expressed in your annual message to congress in regard to the importance of the reclamation of the wet or overflowed lands and the cut-over pine lands in the South, I am taking the liberty of mentioning these facts merely as indicative of what this one state is already doing in the way of supplying essential foodstuffs to the entire country. With a continued increase in population, with the utilization of the idle lands available for cultivation, the contribution which Florida can make to supplying foodstuffs to the country can be increased many-fold before the limit of its productive power is reached. It may not be amiss in this connection to say that the available reclamation lands in the South, if drained and put under cultivation, could easily be made to produce from $2,500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 annually of foodstuffs, live stock included.

"Hoping that the flavor of the oranges which I am shipping will remind you of the charms and the glory of Florida, and that you, when burdened with the mighty responsibilities which rest upon you to seek again in this heaven favored land rest and invigoration and new strength for the larger duties of the future, I am etc."

Mr. Ingraham's letter brings to memory, however, some interesting facts connected with the great leaders in business, who with a vision of the potentialities of this state concentrated their work many years ago upon its development. Mr. Ingraham himself is one of the most conspicuous in this work; one who identified with the state for nearly half a century has lived to see some of the fruition of his own work and that of the other men with whom he was very closely associated in the past.

Probably no other man in Florida has had so unique an experience in connection with the railroad and development work of this state as Mr. Ingraham, who is vice-president of the Florida East Coast Railway Company, and also president of the Model Land Company, the latter owning some hundreds of thousands of acres of land secured years ago by the railroad in its early days. The Model Land Company has been one of the leading agencies of the state in opening up large areas of farming land, and now is largely interested, as the heaviest owner of property, in the Lake Worth Drainage district, recently described in the Manufacturers' Record.

Mr. Ingraham's connection with Florida dates back to its early days of railroad construction activity, and he has the unique experience of having been intimately associated with the three Henrys who stand out as the most conspicuous development forces in Florida's business life. These were Henry S. Sanford of Connecticut, and Henry B. Plant of the same state, and Henry M. Flagler, who, while he called New York his home was for the last thirty years of his life more of a Floridian than a New Yorker, for to the development of this state he gave the fullness of his life's work and for several years before his death he registered as a citizen of Florida.

Mr. Ingraham built the South Florida railroad from a point near Sanford to Kissimmee for the R. M. Pulsifer Co., then the owners of the Boston Herald, who became greatly interested in the potentialities of Florida, and we believe were the first newspaper men in this country on their own individual account to undertake the building of a railroad and the development of a large territory. This road ran from Sanford to Kissimmee. Mr. Ingraham was president of it, and afterwards sold for Messrs. Pulsifer & Co., a three-fifths interest in the road to Mr. Plant, then president of the Plant Investment Company; and the South Florida Railroad was extended to Tampa and Port Tampa, and in connection therewith a line of steamers was put on between Port Tampa, Key West and Havana. Mr. Ingraham continued as president of that company for twelve years, until Mr. Flagler commenced his operations south of Daytona, having up to that time confined his work to railroad hotel operations between Jacksonville and Daytona.

An offer from Mr. Flagler to Mr. Ingraham was accepted, and he resigned his position under Mr. Plant and became identified with Mr. Flagler's operations in 1892 and undertook all of the pioneering work for all of the great development operations carried on by Mr. Flagler south of Daytona from that time on.

In his early life Mr. Ingraham was first a clerical and then general agent for Henry S. Sanford, who bought what was afterward known as the Sanford Grant, at Sanford, Fla., built Sanford House, the first tourist hotel in what was then thought to be Southern Florida; and while associated with Mr. Sanford, Mr. Ingraham laid out and handled the development of Sanford for eight or nine years under General Sanford's operations. Sanford is now the center of one of the greatest celery and lettuce growing sections probably in the world.

Thus with three of the leaders in Florida's development, each having the Christian name of Henry—Henry Sanford, Henry Plant and Henry Flagler—Mr. Ingraham was intimately associated, dating his experience back to the time when he built for Pulsifer & Co., of Boston the railroad from Sanford to Kissimmee. Certainly this is a varied and unusual experience for any one man to have had! Probably there is no other man in the country who has held such a relation to the forces which have been so powerful in the building up of the interests of any one state.

The memory of the writer in connection with Florida goes back to the time when Pulsifer & Co., then among the business forces of New England, were identified with Florida's development. In those early days Florida commanded the attention of farseeing men, who planned great things and dared to do great things, recognizing that the time was coming when Florida would be appreciated as one of the chief assets of this nation, not only because of its superb climate for health and pleasure, but because of its limitless agricultural potentialities.

FORD'S ENGINEERS TO FACE BARAGE TODAY BEFORE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—W. B. Mayo, chief engineer officer for Henry Ford, and J. W. Worthington, the man who is understood to have conceived the possibilities of developing the government's $100,000,000 properties at Mussel Shoals, Ala., were prepared tonight to appear as the personally authorized representatives of the Detroit manufacturer before the house military committee tomorrow.

Chairman Khan, who is directing the committee's investigation into the Ford offer before it is reported to the house for acceptance or rejection by that body, indicated that the committee would seek information from them on several important provisions of the offer respecting which conflicting provisions.

Other committeemen made it plain that they intended through Mr. Ford's spokesman to establish beyond doubt the much-disputed point regarding the obligations said to be imposed under the contract and the intentions of the Detroit manufacturer with regard to the manufacture of fertilizer. Witnesses also heard have stated that Mr. Ford would not manufacture that commodity at a loss, would not bind himself to produce it over a given number of years and that the pending offer contained no provision to guarantee delivery of the product to the farmers at a cheaper price than is paid at the present time.

THINK ONE OF GANG AT LAUDERDALE, MAY HAVE SKIPPED BAIL

No Liberty Until He Is Proven Innocent; Seek Others Too

FORT LAUDERDALE, Feb. 15.—Michael O'Flannigan, one of twelve alleged wiretappers arrested here several days ago, will not be allowed bail until Newark, N. J. authorities have determined whether he is wanted there for skipping a large bond some time ago, local officials said today.

Four members of the alleged band released yesterday on cash bonds ranging from $7,500 to $15,000 have raised the money to release the remaining prisoners, it was said today, and will offer cash bonds for them tomorrow. In the meantime, however, advices were received from the chief of police at Dallas, Tex., asking that the men be held until he could arrive here in an effort to identify them as men who operated in that city to the extent of $200,000.

Additional requests for photographs of the men were received from Maine and New Jersey city officials.

TO THINK SOLDIERS VOTE CAN BE 'BOUGHT BY DOLE OF $500' INSULTS THEM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Industries of the country oppose cash appropriations for a soldier's bonus "as being socially unwise and economically absurd and politically preposterous" according to a statement issued tonight by John E. Ergerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

That millions of former soldiers, he declared, "can have their votes at the November election bought by a paltry dole of $500, of $600, payable $50 a quarter, beginning at some time in 1923, is such an insult to their intelligence, and an outrage to their sense of decency, that in my opinion, it will defeat for re-election every member of congress, house or senate, who supports this iniquitous measure." He added, however, that the industries of the country were not opposing "the most generous and liberal care" for the disabled veterans of the world war or the dependants of those killed in it.

NO LONGER REASON FOR IRISH LEAGUE IN THE UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The reasons for the formation of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, no longer exists, in the opinion of Edward L. Dohony, president of the association, who announces he favors the Irish free state.

Mr. Dohony had taken an active interest in the association, founded by Eamonn de Valera. He underwrote the recent $4,000,000 Irish relief fund has been one of the largest individual contributors in America to the Irish cause.

"I am in favor of the treaty," he said, "and I think the vast majority of Irishmen are. Give the new arrangement a chance. In twenty or thirty years from now, after a neighborly relation has developed between Great Britain and Ireland, then it will be time to strike out for the republic, if the people want it."

PLAN ON FOOT TO BUY LIGHT PLANT ST. PETERSBURG

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 15.—A petition signed by more than 2,000 voters here is soon to be presented to the city commission, asking that Director of Utilities R. E. Ludwig be directed to investigate the cost and practicability of the city owning its power plant to supply electricity for operation of the municipal car lines, and the street lighting. The petition asks for an investigation only, and the question of voting bonds for the plant will come up later.

Heathen Chinese, Lo Poor Indian, Were Up to Snuff

And Made Counterfeit Bills for the Poker Game

(By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Complaint of an American that a Chinese had paid his poker debts in a game at Yerlington, Nevada, with raised bills led to an investigation indicating that a Piute Indian had altered the currency with whittled stick and white paint according to report today by W. M. Ashe, secret service investigator to his superior officer here. As poker is a legalized game in Nevada complaint against the Chinese had to be investigated. Chinaman out on bail charged with possessing raised currency and Indian in jail charged with altering bills.

HARDING UNFAVORABLE TO CALLING CONFERENCE ON HOUSING QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—President Harding in a letter to Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, made public today declared he considered it inadvisable at this time to call national housing conference. The executive also asserted he did not know of legislative palliative to relieve the home shortages and added he very much doubted if it ought to try to create one.

TWO PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED AT OKEECHOBEE

OKEECHOBEE, Fla., Feb. 15.—Cadet Fowler, of Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, was seriously, and Spurgeon L. Clements, business man of this city probably fatally injured yesterday when an army airplane piloted by Fowler and with Clements as a passenger crashed on the shore of Lake Okeechobee here.

Fowler was injured internally and Clements in addition to severe internal injuries had both legs broken. Two planes from Carlstrom on a cross country flight stopped here, and Clements was taken by Fowler for a short ride. The cause of the crash has not been determined but witnesses said the plane attempted to rise and suddenly dived. The machine was wrecked beyond repair.

NEW YORK CITY UNEMPLOYED MEN FORM NEW UNION

1,000 JOBLESS SEAMEN FAVOR TAKING CAPITAL TO SUPPORT LABOR

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Organization of an American "Union of the Unemployed" to be governed by the workmen's council system of representation which prevails in Soviet Russia, was attempted at a meeting of 1,000 jobless seamen, at the seamen's church here today.

Leaders announced that the movement would be carried to every city in the country, in an effort to compel government and capital to "provide work or supply the jobless with compensation at union wage rates."

To guard against any attempt at "liquidating" the "demonstration" by the police, several hundred mounted police, at least, reserves and detectives, paraded the Battery district.

The demonstration, however, was confined to one tattered soldier of the unemployed, who marched down the waterfront, sandwiched between placards exhorting the jobless to join him.

Isidor Amter, who said he was secretary of the unemployment council, was the principal speaker. Another was P. J. McCarthy, who was introduced as a recent worker for Irish Freedom.

Formation of a workmen's council, among the jobless with direct and direct affiliation with organized labor, taxation of capital to provide work and sustenance for the unemployed, complete disarmament, opening of the Mansions along Fifth avenue, "while the owners are sunning themselves at Palm Beach with their Hylas" were advocated as means of relieving the situation.

It was announced that other branches of the "union of the unemployed" were being formed in Brooklyn and the Bronx.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—The investigation of the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director reached by officials as "waiting for the unexpected." NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Mabel Norman's father, Claude G. Norman, of St. George, Staten Island, announced tonight that his daughter had wired him that the Los Angeles authorities, and jury, district attorney and police had absolved her of all blame in the killing of William Desmond Taylor.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Further decrease in retail food prices shown statistics today by department of labor from twenty-seven countries largest cities month ending January fifteenth.

FARM SUGGESTIONS FOR 1932

(From College of Agriculture, Gainesville)

Corn: It is not recommended that the Florida farmer plant corn as a money crop by itself. A liberal acreage of corn to supply his own needs has its legitimate place in any rational system of farming in Florida. This should be planted on well-prepared land and properly fertilized. Along with the corn always should be planted cowpeas or velvet beans.

Sweet Potatoes: This is a crop which has not been properly appreciated in the South. With good management there is no reason why sweet potatoes cannot become a money crop in this state. Certainly farmers are justified in growing sweet potatoes even as a food and feed crop.

Peanuts and Velvet Beans: These are profitable crops and especially so, if we consider their soil-improving qualities. As a hog and cattle feed there is a big point in favor of the bean, and the peanut is possibly one of the best fattening feeds for hogs. As soil-improvers these crops are almost essential to the farm and no rotation system in the South should exclude them.

Home Gardens: Special attention should be given this year to the home garden. The land to be used for a garden should be specially prepared and highly fertilized with farm manures. It should be convenient to the home and well-fenced from hogs, cattle and chickens. Some plantings should be made in this garden practically every week in the year and the cultivation should be regular and thorough.

Pork Production: Florida is buying several million dollars' worth of pork annually. Every farmer should have one or more sows and provide them with green, growing crops and sanitary surroundings. Farmers should not give up the raising of hogs, even the present market conditions are discouraging. People must eat, and pork is a staple food.

Other Livestock: The most economical way of marketing many crops is by feeding them to livestock. Every farmer, therefore, should strive to maintain his livestock, especially good beef and dairy cattle, so as to have a sufficient number to consume the surplus feed on the farm. Where advantageously situated, farm dairying will prove profitable. Livestock will not only pay a good profit for feed consumed, but will very materially increase the supply of farm manure, thus saving the fertility that otherwise would be sold from the farm.

Poultry: Florida is not growing anything like the poultry that is needed in the state, and it is recommended and urged that much more attention be given to this valuable branch of the livestock industry. It will pay.

Bee Culture: The proper handling of a few hives of bees upon every farm will prove both profitable and interesting. These few colonies of bees will furnish the farmer and his family with an abundance of delightful, nutritious food at the minimum cost and a ready sale can be found always for any surplus and at a profitable way.

HARDING FAVORS APPROPRIATION FOR HOSPITALS

Sixteen Millions Would Be Spent As Relief Measure for Former Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Approval has been given by President Harding to the bill authorizing an appropriation of $16,000,000 for the construction of additional hospitals for war veterans, Chairman Langley of the House public buildings and grounds announced today.

Passage of the bill also is advocated by the federal board of hospitalization with the recommendation that a clause providing that $500,000 be expended in enlarging Mount Alto hospital, at Washington, D. C., be eliminated.

A copy of a resolution unanimously adopted by the board which has been studying the Government hospitalization program, and approved by the President, was transmitted today to Mr. Langley. The committee chairman announced that he would seek to have the committee report the bill immediately, so it can be taken up by

WILLIS POWELL STEPS IN SPOT WITH NEW STORY

TAMPA, Feb. 14.—The sense of humor possessed by the late Viscount Bryce, formerly British ambassador to the United States, who passed away recently in England, was strikingly illustrated at a banquet tendered the statesman here some years ago by the Tampa Board of Trade.

The orchestra at the hotel where the banquet was held was composed of Tyrolese, none of whom could speak English. Willis B. Powell, formerly widely-known middle western and eastern newspaper and advertising man, then secretary of the board of trade, was charged with the preparation of the musical program and he undertook to instruct the orchestra leader that when the toastmaster did the honors to Great Britain and the ambassador and the assemblage arose and lifted glasses for the toast, the orchestra should play "God Save the King." To be certain that the leader understood his instructions Powell whistled a few bars of the British national anthem.

The auspicious movement arrived. The toastmaster feelingly spoke of the cordial relations between Great Britain and the United States, proposed a toast to the mother country and her ambassador, the company arose—and the orchestra burst out with "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

The guests were struck dumb and all eyes turned toward Mr. Bryce. That gentleman began to laugh. He laughed until the tears streamed down his face.

When the orchestra concluded its rendition of the air so popular with the army and navy during the Spanish-American war the party applauded loudly and the musicians, feeling highly honored by the acclaim, played it again.

Mr. Bryce was so greatly amused at the incident he took steps to see that the newspapers in Great Britain recorded it, and from that source it went all over the world.

WHITE MALE FACTORS PREDOMINATE IN ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Feb. 13.—Statistics of the Orlando police department for the month of January show that the number of white persons arrested was almost three times the number of negroes. Eighty-six whites were docketed during the month while only thirty negroes got into trouble. Four whites and three negroes were made and officials said the small number docketed on that charge indicated prohibition was becoming more effective here.

Fines collected during the month totalled $1,320.

Finance Corporation Says Prices Now Are Satisfying Farmers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Optimistic views of improved conditions in the country's basic agricultural industries are warranted by reports received by the War Finance Corporation from its field agencies, according to statement issued tonight by Managing Director Meyer.

"Corn is now selling at country elevators in Nebraska and Iowa at forty cents a bushel, as against twenty cents four months ago," he said. "Hogs command a good market, and reports indicate that farmers are getting the equivalent of eighty to ninety cents for corn that is marketed on the hoof. The market for sheep is stabilized. They are selling in large quantities and at prices considered satisfactory to the growers and feeders."

"The cattle market is no longer demoralized; the breeding herds are being held; the young stock is no longer being sacrificed and the feeding and fattening business is proceeding in good volume and with fairly satisfactory returns. There is a broad market for wool and hides at good prices."

"The grain markets are showing a good consumptive demand. The movement of cotton has been larger this season than last year and the prices are much fairer to the producers. The large cotton co-operative marketing organizations have demonstrated their ability to conduct their business on a sound basis and have proved to be a stabilizing factor.

"All this means that the farmer is being put in position to liquidate his debts gradually and that his normal purchasing power—so vital to the commercial transportation and industrial interests—is being restored."

SEN. HARRISON CHARGES VIOLATE CIVIL SERVICE LAW

SAYS PRESIDENT HARDING OVERSTEPS BOUNDS IN APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Charges of violating the civil service law were made against President Harding Saturday in the Senate by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, in an attack upon Republican management of Government affairs.

In appointing French Crow as postmaster of Marion, Ohio, his home city, by executive order, Senator Harrison said Mr. Harding had "stamped" the law under foot. The appointment, which Senator Harrison announced he would oppose and urge to be rescinded on the floor of the Senate, was, he declared, "the most glaring incident in the history of civil service in the United States."

"How can followers of civil service have any faith or confidence?" he asked. "This is the beginning of destruction of the civil service system."

Senator Harrison also attacked Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, declaring he had made statements regarding its alleged economy of administration which had not been born out, and also criticized an appropriation bill provision extending the annual $25,000 travelling allowance fund of the President for use for official entertainment purposes.

Chairman Warren, of the appropriations committee, defended the travel-entertainment fund and called attention to the expenditures aboard of former President Wilson. Senator Warren said that "some millions of dollars" had been spent by Mr. Wilson "and no accounting made for it yet."

That Senator Harrison was seeking to inject partisan politics into the discussion was charged by Senator Warren, while Mr. Harrison countered with the statement that Senator Warren had raised the question of partisanship.

Civil service administration also attacked again by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, and others. Senator Caraway read a letter from the commission denying his recent charges that examination marks had been raised arbitrarily, and then reiterated the charges, citing alleged instances in Arkansas postmaster cases. ator Caraway also charged that former service men had been "turned down" in seeking positions as postmasters.

Senator Harrison said that it was "a farce the way postmasters are appointed." Other appointments, he added, were subject to the same indictment. Without Republican political influence, he declared, there was "no chance to get a job under this administration." This condition, he said, in his opinion resulted from orders "from above."
