Sanford firefighters are "sitting ducks" for the young arsonists who are setting dumpsters ablaze an Sanford Housing Authority property and then lying in wait to greet responding firefighters with sprays of rocks and bottles, according to Sanford Fire

Investigator Mike Hoening.

Sanford policemen routinely join firefighters on calls and are thus also being attacked during the dumpster incidents, Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

78th Year, No. 216, Friday, May 2, 1986—Sanford, Florida

Following three such incidents at the Higgins Terrace apartment complex Sunday night and early Monday morning, firefighters will now vacate the premises as soon as they feel dumpster fires are reasonably under control, Hoening said today.

If the men are being harassed, they will not engage in routine follow-up efforts to ensure the blaze does not re-ignite, nor will they attempt to rid the area of smoke, Hoening said.

The follow-up efforts usually keep firefighters at the scene for another 10 to 45 minutes, according to Hoening, who said now, "As long as the fire isn't posing danger to anyone other than the obnoxious smoke it's emitting, we want them to just go in, knock it down and pull right out of there.

Tot Drowns In Jacuzzi After Wandering From Babysitter

An 18-month-old Sanford girl apparently drowned Thursday morning after wandering into a backyard patio Jacuzzi at her babysitter's 117 Borada Road home.

The infant, Stacey Balint, 101 Bunker Lane, was dead on arrival at Central Florida Regional Hospital. Seminole County Medical Examiner G.V. Garay said. An autopsy is scheduled for today.

The child apparently wandered from the house to the patio through an open sliding glass door, said Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett. No charges are expected to be filed against the babysitter, he said.

The administering of CPR and oxygen by Sanford firemen and police at the scene was preceded by the babysitter's own efforts to revive the child, Harriett said.

The babysitter, Maryanne Luania, 25, had received CPR instructions from police Communications Operator Lee Charles when she called in the incident at 10:55 a.m., Harriett MOSCOW (UPI) - The Soviet Union completely shut down all of its graphite reactors in the wake of the Chernobyl nuclear catastrophe, a Western diplomat said today.

A recently-passed law makes Florida pharmacists the first in the nation empowered to write prescriptions for a number of drugs.

But many pharmacies across the state were hesitant to take advantage of the controversial program, fearing they could face malpractice suits if something goes awry. And some insurance firms either were refusing to write policies covering prescrip-tions, or were doubling or tripling premiums.

Sanford pharmacists' opinions were split on the matter.

Waste Plant Location Set

By Paul Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

The location of Lake Mary's wastewater treatment plant was decided Thursday, and the city also adopted its master wastewater plan for providing sewer service to portions of the city.

The decisions came in a four-hour Lake Mary City Commission meeting.

City residents, especially those living in the Rantoul Lane area of the city, seemed satisfied with the final location of the plant adjacent to the Oaklawn Cemetery. A site near their homes had been suggested by the developers of the Tima-cuan Golf and Country Club in recent weeks, which had them up in arms.

The city has been working with the Timacuan developers to build a temporary wastewater treatment plant while the city considers its options for future sewage treatment.

About 150 people attended recent planning and zoning board and city commission meetings to protest the suggested Rantoul Lane site.

The approved location is within the Timacuan project, and will be surrounded on three sides by Timacuan property in the north end of the project. Oaklawn Cemetery is directly north of the site.

The development of a golf course, and $175,000 homes and villas, is proposed to be located in an area south of County Road 46A. west of Country Club Road, east of Rinehart Road, and north of the western edge of Crystal Lake.

While Rantoul Lane residents were satisfied with the new location, the owner of the Oaklawa Funeral Home and Cemetery, Albert leases, was not. The plant will be built 100 feet from cemetery property.

"Please move the plant 400-500 feet away from the graves, out of respect for the dead and the future dead." Issaes pleaded. He said he didn't want Oaklaws to become "known as the cemetery next to the sewer plant." and that "the value of pre-sold (burtal) lots will drop to zero." Issaes also expressed concern that

Millions Celebrate May Day Despite Nuclear Disaster

Millions across the Soviet Union marched in exuberant May Day parades despite the nuclear catastrophe in the Ukraine, but police clashed with demonstrators at celebrations on three continents and a black died in South Africa during a workers' strike that paralyzed the country.

Millions of Soviet workers marched and shouted, "Glory to the People!" in May Day celebrations across the country, seemingly shrugging off the fire at a nuclear power station at the Chernobyl plant 60 miles north of Kiev.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said Politburo member Vladmimir Shcherbitsky greeted thousands at a parade in Kiev, capital of the Ukrainian Republic and the nation's third-largest city.

In Moscow, 300 miles northeast of the stricken plant. tens of thousands of workers marched past Lenin's mausoleum, where Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and most of the ruling Politburo waved and clapped as parade floats with anti-American banners drove by.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) - First lady Nancy Reagan arrived today at the start of a two-nation Southeast Asian tour and said her visit was aimed at fighting drug abuse but was not an endorsement of Malavsia's mandatory death penalties for drug traffickers.

Speaking to reporters aboard the United States Air Force Boeing 707 on which she flew from the Indonesian island of Bali, Mrs. Reagan said her campaign to combat drug use was a "mother-to-mother" effort.

"All I'm trying to do is get people more knowledgeable about drugs, more involved, parents and children, so that they work together (with) the schools." Mrs. Reagan told the 20 journalists traveling with her to Kuala Lumpur and Bangkok.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - Police said today seven blacks, including a policemen, died in widespread violence during a May Day strike by more than 2.5 million blacks - the nation's largest walkout ever.

The walkout was called by black leaders to protest the refusal of the government to declare May Day a legal holiday.

The policeman was killed when his home in Watville, east of Johannesburg, was mobbed by black youths. Police said he shot and killed one of the attackers before being killed.

Police also said they killed three more blacks during widespread unrest and arrested more than 100 for staging illegal gatherings or threatening those who attempted to report to their jobs Thursday.

Senate Approves Gas Clean-Up Tax

By Michael Meline

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - The Senate unanimously approved at 10-cent per barrel tax on petroleum products Thursday to clean-up at least 400 - and maybe as many as 6,000 leaking underground gasoline storage tanks.

'These tanks could be the number one environmental hazard today," said Sen. Karen Thruman, D-Ocala, who sponsored the so-called "LUST" bill (CS-CS-SB 206).

The Department of Environmental Regulation, which administers the various "superfunds" the state has established to clean up toxic waste spills, has identified 406 buried tanks that have corroded badly enough to leak gasoline into the groundwater that supplies 92 percent of Florida's drinking water. Some 60,000 of the tanks have been buried in Florida, and the department believes as many as 6,000 may be leaking undetected. Residents have reported smelling gasoline when they turn on their taps, and some have been warned against operating clothes driers for fear of explosions.

But DER officials were uncertain whether the Water Quality to provide clean drinking water Assurance Trust Fund created in 1963 to clean-up chemical spills would apply to the petroleum spitis.

Thurman's bill would clear up that doubt by creating a new Inland Protection Trust Fund. The 10-cent tax would raise an estimated $17.6 million in its first year. The tax would be supplemented by a $5 million loan from the $25 million Coastal Protection Trust Fund, which is used to clean spills along the coast.

"The longer we waited on this insue, the more chance we had of

Scientists Anxious For Accident Data

By Al Resaiter Jr. UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) -Western scientists trying to assess the danger posed by the Chernobyl nuclear accident say they have many questions that Soviet officials have not come close to answering.

"The fastest way to assess a dangerous situation is with meaningful information." said David Cowen of the Environmental Protection Agency. "We have not received that data."

What scientists need first is accurate information on the current situation, the size and intensity of the plume of radioactive debris pouring into the atmosphere and its constituents.

"If we could get that type of data it would be most helpful." Cowen said.

He said the State Department was preparing a list of questions to be submitted to Soviet authorities to help Western scientists understand the nature of the threat that might exist.

"The main thing we'd like to have would be the doses at the point of emission." said Michael Driscoll, professor of nuclear engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of technology. "If we could have that, with some estimate of what is being released, we would be able to project the health hazards."

Gordon Hurlbert, a nuclear energy consultant in Pittsburgh and former president of the Westinghouse Power Systems Co., said a key question is how west-central Florida, has been safeguards in place than Russia long the reactor has been accused by the Nuclear Regulaoperating with its current load of tory Commission of security Corp. spokesman Ray Blush uranium oxide fuel. This would violations in the past. It has been said. "The speculation i've heard allow engineers to determine the nature of the nuclear fission by-products that have been released.

Measurements of contamination levels within a 10-mile radius of the plant along with wind records would help scientists extrapolate the contamination that might occur at greater distances.

"Most of the damage is going to be done within a 10-mile radius," Driscoll said. "What happened to people in this area? What's the state of habitability of the land? What fell out of this cloud in the inner 10-mile radi-1182 on the radiation experienced his "If they put the fire out, then remaining releases will be minimal." Driscoll said. "If people living in the vicinity of the plant also will be valuable for they're still burning, then radia-tion is still being released." future research on the effects of radiation of varying intensition

Once the immediate questions are answered, scientists and engineers want to know more about what initiated the accident, how it worsened and what people at the scene did to try to control It. Hurlbert said engineers would want all the detail possible in terms of temperatures in and around the reactor during the emergency. Also helpful would be readings of radiation monitors inside and outside the plant from the start of the accident to the present time.

Also important to officials trying to assess the future hazards posed by the plant would be knowing whether any of the other three reactors were damaged by heat or radiation.

Scientists say the information the future."

Warplane Hits Saudi Tanker

ABU DHABI. United Arab Emirates (UPI) - A suspected Iranian warplane struck a Saudi Arabian oil tanker inside United Arab Emirates territorial waters, setting it ablaze and killing three crewmembers, officials said today.

The officials said the bomber fired two missiles into the living quarters of the Al Safiniya as it steamed north to the Saudi oil terminal of Ras Tanura Thursday.

They said the British captain of the 31,500 ton vessel was among the dead.

The two others were Pakistani, while six crewmembers - a British officer and five Pakistanis - were injured.

But NRC officials, coming to the defense of the plant, said the Crystal River problems have been more operational than safety related.

"Their shutdowns have not particularly been a safety issue as much as they have an operational issue," said Joe Gilliand, an NRC spokesman in Atlanta. "We believe the problems have been adequately addressed, although some people don't agree with us."

Energy Auditors Fear Loss Of $2.3 billion In Oil Reserves

By Neil Roland

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Energy Department may never be able to tap 130 million barrels of oil reserves, worth up to $2.3 billion, from a California field because officials ordered hasty production that left behind many isolated deposits, an internal audit says.

The department has violated federal law each year since 1979 by exceeding production limits intended to conserve oil at the Elk Hills, Calif., field, which the department owns jointly with the Chevron Corp. oil and gas company, the department's inspector general said in its April 14 report.

Auditors quoted department engineers as blaming the rush to pump deposits on "politics," the department's desire to maximize short-term income and "strong pressure" from Chevron.

A department spokesman. disputing the finding that many deposits are now too isolated to be located economically, said Thursday the inspector general's office failed to consider studies suggesting that all the oil could eventually be recovered.

The inspector general, in a newly released report, said about half the isolated oil pockets still could be recovered and sold commercially if the department were to slow production, which was 76 percent above the recommended rate from 1979 to 1965.

Congress passed legislation in 1976 following the oil shortage resulting from the Arab embargo to require oil at the field to be produced at the "maximum riment to the ultimate recovery" income." the inspector general of reserves. The inspector general estimated that between 90 million and 130 million barrels of oil, which at $18 a barrel would be worth between $1.6 billion and $2.3 billion, is "at risk of being lost" because of excess production at the field.

Prices for refined crude oil have dropped to about $15 a barrel since the audit was issued - reducing the estimated possible loss by up to $380 million.

Rapid oil production causes water or gas to seep around the deposits and leave them isolated far below the surface, the report said.

Department officials have taken "positive steps toward improving production manage-ment" at Elk Hills, one of three fields owned by the Energy Department, the auditors said.

However, they said department officials disregarded repeated warnings from engineers over several years that oil pockets were being bypassed in the hurry to tap deposits from the field, known as Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1.

The audit quoted a 1983 memorandum in which an engineering manager at Elk Hills recommended that future production "be based on engineering principles rather than politics or short-term monetary gain."

The manager's superior blamed the high production rate on "strong pressures" from Chevron and department pre-

Unemployment Dips Slightly; Construction Up, Industrial Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) --- Unemployment dropped slightly in April to 7.1 percent, showing pronounced, continuing weakness in America's industrial sector but improvement in the construction industry, the Labor Department said Friday.

The unemployment rate in April was slightly lower than the blarch figure of 7.2 percent. The jobies rate was 6.7 percent in January and 7.3 percent in February.

Factory employment dropped again in April. Mining and manufacturing were hard hit.

Since January, 85,000 factory jobs have disappeared - generally the victim of foreign competition. The factory job total in April showed there were 240.000 less workers in the industry, compared to January 1965.

The figures also showed that less than 60 percent of the factory jobs that were lost in the 1981-1982 recession have been regained.

For the third consecutive month, jobs in the oil and gas industry showed continuing cutbacks because of declining oil prices. Another 35,000 jobs were lost in the oil and gas industry in April. according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The figures also showed the highest number of people forced to work part time for economic reasons in more than two years. In April, another 385,000 people were forced to work part time.

bringing the total number of workers in this category to 5.9 million.

Most of the increase occurred among workers who suffered cutbacks in the number of hours they could work each week.

Employment continued to rise in the fast-growing service in-dustry — which pays almost the lowest wages in the nation and there also was significant improvement in construction. Construction employment rose by 85.000 during April, the Labor Department said.

Heavy construction con-tractors showed particular gains because of unusually good April weather that permitted an in-creased number of highway projects, the government said. Also, declining interest rates and the accompanying increased demand for new homes aided contractors in the fields of plumbing, carpentry, masonry and electrical wiring. Total payroll jobs increased by some 200,000 in April.

FBI Issues Alert For Possible Arab Terrorists

SAN DIEGO (UPI) - The FBI issued an alert for three possible Arab terrorists who reportedly slipped across the Mexican border in camouflage-type clothing and armed with .45-caliber pistols two days after the U.S. bombing of Libya.

The Border Patrol and FBI confirmed the alert Thursday, but said they have "some doubts" about the reliability of a Mexican national who said he was forced at gunpoint to lead two men and a woman into the United States April 17.

But the witness "sounded credible to us during the interrogation process," said Alan Eliason, chief of the Border Patrol's San Diego district.

The officials held a news conference after The Orange County Register published a confidential FBI report, dated April 25 and subtitled "International Terrorism - Middle East.'

"While there is no confirmation that these three individuals are terrorists, precautions should be taken." the report said, adding they should be considered armed and dangerous.

Sanctuary Trial Convictions

TUCSON. Ariz. (UPI) - One of eight members of the Sanctuary Movement convicted of violating immigration laws by helping illegal aliens flee Central America, says the group is guilty only of a "conspiracy of love." A federal jury deliberated nine days before convicting eight of the 11 defendants, including a co-founder of the nationwide, church-backed movement, of running an underground railroad for Central American refugees. Three others, including another founder, were acquitted.

Most of the defendants were stone-faced as the verdicts were read Thursday in a packed courtroom, ending a trial that began Oct. 22 and cost up to $3.2 million. The U.S. District Court jury received the case April 17, deliberating 48 hours over nine days.

In all, the jury of nine women and three men rendered guilty verdicts on 18 of the 40 violations outlined in the indictment.

The felonies carry maximum penalties of five years in prison on each count and fines of $2,000 to $10,000. Sentencing was scheduled July 1.

Defense lawyers said there would be an appeal.

AIDS Is NYC's 3rd Leading Killer

CHICAGO (UPI) - AIDS is the third-leading cause of death in New York City and the No. 1 killer of men aged 20 to 54 and women aged 25 to 29, according to a health official who says it may be too late to improve the situation.

"In smaller cities with established gay populations and I'm thinking of places like Boston and Seattle - this is the type of thing where intervention now can do some good." said Alan Kristal of the New York Department of Health.

"It's sad to say, but it's a little too late to do anything in New York." Kristal is the author of a report published today in the Journal of the American Medical Association on the impact of acquired immune deficiency syndrome on death rates in New York through 1984. But figures from 1985 make that study obsolete, Kristal said in a telephone interview.

Bevy Of Burglaries Reported In Loch Arbor Neighborhood

Four homes in the Loch Arbor section of Sanford were the sites of thefts this week as residents sustained losses of tools, golf gear and other items with a combined value of nearly $2.500.

The residences are located within a few blocks of each other near the intersection of Upsala Road and State Road 46A. The burglaries or thefts were:

-A radar detector, a brief case, golf gear and other items with a combined value of $900 were stolen from the home and vehicle of Tommie Hopkins, 40, of 202 Forest Drive, Sanford, on Tuesday or Wednesday.

-A tool box and tool were stolen along with other items with a combined value of $600 from the vehicle of Rudolph Johnson, 71. of 101 Mirror Drive, Sanford, on Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

-Three tool boxes and tools with a total value of about $500 were stolen from the van of Manley L. Rusho, 55, of 305 Sunset Drive, Sanford, on Tuesday or Wednesday, deputies reported.

-Gregory P. Canas, 37, of 215 Ridge Drive, Sanford, told sheriff's deputies tools, golf clubs and a chainsaw were among items with a total value of at least $450, which were stolen from his home Tuesday or Wednesday.

COCAINE AT HOME

A Winter Springs couple has been charged with trafficking in cocaine and held without bond after a City/County Investigation Bureau agent and a confidential informant allegedly bought an ounce of cocaine from the man for $1,250.

The investigators first went to the couple's home at about 7:55 p.m. Wednesday and the woman reportedly told them she didn't know where the cocaine was stored, but if they returned at about 8:15 p.m. her husband would be there, an arrest report said.

The investigators returned at 8:20 p.m. and allege that the male occupant of the home sold them cocaine. The couple was arrested and about three additional - a reportedly found in their Action Reports + Fires * Courts * Police

TREFT, CHASE

A man was chased by witnesses who reportedly saw him loading a gas grill at the Sandpiper Apartments, Casselberry. He was captured by police behind the Seminole Plaza, U.S. Highway 17-92.

The man, who was nabbed at about 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, at first gave police a false name and a birthdate that indicated he is a juvenile. His real name and age were determined and he was charged as an adult with grand theft for the alleged theft of the $175 grill.

SALT Treaty: Keep A Lid On

If the president had made the opposite decision on the SALT II treaty limits, there would have been hell to pay.

The decision that has been made is to dismantle two older Poseidon missile submarines in order to stay within the SALT II treaty limits when a new Trident missile submarine begins its sea trials.

What is most interesting about all this is that Ronald Reagan opposed both the SALT treaties. The SALT II treaty does not have any binding force, because it was never ratified by the U.S. Senate and, in any case, it expired last December. But both the United States and the Soviet Union are continuing to abide by it. after a fashion.

The Russian fashion is to shave the corners of the treaty just as close as they can, seeking some national advantage by testing the treaty limits while trying to keep us from abrogating the entire treaty. Such, at least, is our perception of the Russian behavior. And it has been the perception of Russian behavior held by foreign observers for as far back as Russia has existed as a nation and Russians have made agreements with foreigners. They have been perceived as untrustworthy.

However that may be, nuclear arms control is not a matter of trusting the Russians. It is a matter of determining whether, in light of the Russians' known treaty violations, it is still better to adhere to the treaty ourselves than to throw the entire treaty overboard and give up the arms control process as a bad job.

President Reagan has come down on the side of treaty adherence. Wisely, because the Russian violations are relatively minor and do not constitute major threats to our national security and, on the other hand, it seems the Soviet Union has been observing the main treaty limitations rather scrupulously. They have dismantled more submarines and plugged more missile silos than we have.

Our allies and the other nations of the world want the two great superpowers to continue the effort to control nuclear weapons. If we renounced the SALT II treaty now, it would undermine our position of world leadership, and in the long run that would be more dangerous than the treaty violations of the Russians have been. When we put the cutting torch to those two Poseidon submarines, we will be destroying two perfectly good weapon systems, each capable of wreaking greater havoc upon the Soviet Union than Adolf Hitler did in what the Russians call the Great Patriotic War. These two submarines will be replaced by an even more powerful and deadly undersea weapon system, the new Trident "boomer." The Russians won't have gained any military advantage in the exchange. But both our nation and theirs - and the people of the world - will have gained something. That is the proof that strategic arms limitation treaties, despite all odds, can work effectively to reduce nuclear arsenals and therefore can indeed reduce the threat of nuclear holocaust.

BEN WATTENBERG

Stockman's Book Is Little Off The Target

The gist of David Stockman's new book is in the title: "The Triumph of Politics: Why the Reagan Revolution Failed."

How failed? Stockman says it failed because our icky politics did not allow big tax cuts to be matched by big spending cuts. And so, we ended up with a big deficit, which, he says, will likely prove to be a disaster. (Hard to notice on Wall Street these days.)

The necessary reason for all the tax and spending cuts (says Stockman) was to smash the state - the welfare state. Those monies diverted from little programs like Social Security were to finance Stockman's supply-side state. chock-full of economic growth and entrepreneurism. This would free people from the heavy hand of government.

Reagan's problem, says Stockman, was this: "Despite his right-wing image, his ideology and philosophy always take a back seat when he learns that some individual may be hurt." Eek!

The villain in Stockman's book, however, is not Reagan: It is Caspar Weinberger. If Weinberger writes a memoir it will be called "How the Reagan Revolution Succeeded."

There were always two Reagan Revolutions at work. Stockman's was domestic. Weinberger's was international. Stockman got a piece of his: He didn't roll back big government, but he slowed its growth. So we will continue to live in a capitalist country with a medium-level safety net (which is fine with me).

Weinberger - the villain who wouldn't let money be taken from his defense budget - saw a different problem in the world. It wasn't the welfare state. It was the totalitarian state. Particularly one: the Soviet Union.

The conservative view of the globe when Reagan took office was this: The Soviets had gone through the biggest peacetime military buildup in history. They had built a "blue-water navy." with which to "project power." And, they said, the Soviets were indeed projecting power - on the horn of Africa. In Mozambique and particularly viciously in Afghanistan - and probing in Central America.

And America? In the conservative view, we were sucking our thumb. While the Soviets were building and pushing, we kept a flat military budget, idealistically worrying about the relationships of rich countries to poor ones (remember Andrew Young?) rather than the relationships between us and our superpower adversaries. Worst of all, they felt, we had a wimpy president who said we must rid ourselves of an "inordinate fear of commu-nism." Hawks said Carter's foreign policy was not only weak, but incoherent.

So, backed by Reagan, Weinberger got big increases in defense and gave Stockman a case of deficititis.

Now there are very smart analysts who say the Reaganauts didn't spend the new military money as wisely as they might have. They have also said - often correctly - that Reagan's foreign policy leaves something to be desired and (like Carter's) is incoherent.

But, when all is said and done, there is this: When Reagan had a choice between an important revolution (halting totalitarians) and a chimerical one doomed to failure except at the edges (rolling back Social Security, health care, education. etc.) - he made the right choice. That's so even if he foolishly ran up big deficits.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN More Handout Politics

A recent issue of Barron's Financial Weekly contained the disturbing report that Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. plans to propose a new edition of the old Trade Adjustment Assistance program. He reportedly intends to sell this as an answer to the trade deficit problem.

This is disturbing news because this plan, which was a $2 billion a year program under the Carter adminstration, is a welfare scheme, not a serious attempt to deal with foreign trade offensives. Barron's estimates the new version would cost $5 billion a year.

Under this plan, workers who lose their jobs because of imports receive subsidies for retraining, relocation or early retirement, along with aid for unprofitable companies. It's pure, old-style handout politics.

The United States has a dangerous foreign trade problem. The trade deficit amounted to $148.5 billion last year, and it is rising. But this can't be dealt with via the welfare route. What would displaced workers be retrained for? Every type of industry — from textiles to electronics — is threatened by foreign targeting.

WILLIAM RUSHER The War Power

President Reagan's two military strikes against Libya have prompted fresh demands that Congress be consulted before such attacks are launched. There is a real problem here, but that is most certainly not the solution.

Matters are not made any casier by the American public's happ habit of electing a president of one party and a Congress of the other: but the struggle between the White House and Capitol Hill would go on. in a more muted form, even if both were held by the same party. Traditionally, foreign policy has always been the special preserve of the presidency. But the Constitution vests in Congress. and Congress alone. the power to declare war, and Congress rightly feels that some presidents have eroded that power. Harry Truman unilaterally took us into the Korean War on the theory that it was a mere "police action." Lyndon Johnson escalated our involvement in Vietnam to full-scale war without ever asking Congress for an explicit declaration. In part. of course, the problem is the nature of modern warfare. The kind of American military response that may be appropriate in the event of a communist coup or a guerrilla-style infiltration or terrorist bombings in some friendly country is often a world away from full-scale warfare. It would have been utterly ludicrous, not to mention counterproductive, for President Reagan to have asked Congress for a declaration of war against Grenada before invading it, or against Libya before striking at Khadafy's headquarters and the terrorist camps, or against Nicaragua before equipping and training the Nicaraguan conspecifies that a president cannot send American troops abroad for more than 60 days without express congressional approval. If such approval is not forthcoming, the troops must be withdrawn.

That is not, it seems to me, an unreasonable attempt to prevent iuture "police actions" and "escalations" that, in effect, finesee the constitutional provision that Congress alone can declare war. Unfortunately, the War Powers Resolution goes on to specify that the president must "consult" with Congress in advance "in every possible instant-making process itself. It would be hard to imagine a more dangerous folly.

WASHINGTON WORLD View Of Human Rights

By Ira R. Allen United Press International Indonesian President Suharto, a man who uses no first name - and one who needs none - is very sensitive to criticism of his military regime.

Charges of repression and corruption by a U.S. ally that are publicly ignored by the administration have the familiar ring of U.S. policy toward the Philippines before the downfall of Ferdinand Marcos and his billion-dollar empire.

Rather than label Suharto a dictator, President Reagan calls him "a long-time friend of the United States" and "a most responsible influence in world affairs." the head of a nation that "in large part embraced human liberty.

The White House fact sheet on U.S-Indonesian relations given to reporters before Reagan's Pacific trip makes no mention of human rights. Spokesman Larry Speakes would not talk a saying. "The most systematic. videspread, violations, of human Vietnam and now in Vietnameseoccupied Cambodia." He misses the point. Vietnam does not have diplomatic relations with the United States and is not a part of the freedom-loving, economically booming Association of Southeast Asian Nations Reagan is promoting on his "winds of freedom" tour to Indonesia and Japan.

Some Spread

Waistline spreading a bit? Not to worry, if you're middle-aged. It's normal to gain some weight as you get older. As a matter of fact, a certain amount of weight gain could be a sign of health and indication of a long life.

Paul Abernathy, head of Purdue University's Department of Food and Nutrition, says that recent studies show that almost any normal lean person can put on about one pound a year after age 20.

The weight of an average man increases about 17 percent between his 20s and 40s. and women generally gain even more. Abernathy claims.

"If you want to live a long time, your weight should increase as much as 20 percent as you get older," he said.

Hip, hip, hooray! Let's hear it for Paul Abernathy.

BERRY'S WORLD

The Rostenkowski plan will play right into the hands of the free trade idealogues in the adminstration who don't worry about the loss of two million high skill industrial jobs to Japan. South Korea and other countries. As Barron's said. "The administration, in the person of U.S. Trade Administrator Clayton Yeutter, would prefer more footdragging."

So what's needed in the way of congressional action?

1. Application of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings approach to trade policy. This means passage of a law that would require automatic cuts in the trade deficit by something like $30 billion a year. Each trading nation would have a quota imposed on it so as to reduce the trade surplus to a permitted level. The objective would be true balanced trade within a three or four year period.

2. Congress should act now to broaden the terms of reference and powers of the U.S. International Trade Commission. The goal of this would be not only the protection of strategic industries which are being destroyed by foreign targeting but the maintenance of an adequate industrial base for the United States - a base essential for the security of the nation.

The War Powers Resolution of 1973 was an attempt by Congress to limit the extent of such military adventures without crippling presidents altogether. Its core provision

In the first place, little as Congress may like to hear this, it simply isn't secure enough. When Portugal was threatened with a communist election victory in 1975, a high-ranking American official told me that our government badly wanted to give secret financial help to friendly parties there, but that under prevailing law two committees of Congress would have to be notified in advance, and in that case "every friend we have in Portugal would be dead or in jail by dawn."

In the second place, Congress has developed a bad habit of trying to influence or shape presidential policies by conditioning its approval of them, or its financial support for them, on the prior occurrence of certain events.

Speakes dismissed the subject by telling reporters to check the State Department's compendium on human rights around the world.

An administration official, who conceded the Indonesian government was "stupid" for barring two Australian correspondents traveling with Reagan, explained, in stilted State Departmentese:

"The Philippines and the Republic of Indonesia are two countries that are quite different. The Indonesian government has broad support among its people.

"Its management of its economy, particularly recently as declining oil revenues were experienced, has been very skillful. There is no insurgency at all comparable to the Philippines, and the army is professional. ... Our policy is not monolithic. ... The United States uses its influence to encourage democratic change in careful ways that respect other countries' traditions and political realities as well as the security threats many of them face from external or internal forces of totalitarianism.

Narcotics Nominee: Little Experience

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON - Should a 34-year-old former press accretary for Nancy Reagan, with neither drug enforcement nor diplomatic expertise, be given a key post in the administration's war on international dope smuggling? Is the White House nominee being unfairly picked on by her critics?

Even if the answer to both questions is yes, Senate insiders tell us that Ann Wrobleski, acting assistant secretary of state for international narcotics matters, doesn't stand much chance of confirmation. For starters, some influential senators are miffed because they weren't consulted by the White House before Wrobleski's nomination was sent to Capitol Hill. But the main reason for senatorial dispicasure on both sides of the siste is Wrobleski's almost total tack of experience in dealing with law enforcement officials and diplomats.

Before going to the State Depart-ment, she had held jobs as press assistant to a series of Republican members of Congress from Florida and then served in that capacity for the first lady.

In fact, some critics grouse that Wrobleski's sole diplomatic experience to date was to set up a luncheon for Mrs. Reagan with the queen of Thailand during the president's Far East trip this month.

As an indication of the State Department's attitude toward Wrobleski, she was bypassed twice for U.S. delegations to important international conferences on narcotics. The first meeting was spearheaded by Attorney General Edwin Meese: the second was set up by the Organization of American States. In both cases, lower-ranking officials in her office were chosen to represent the State Department.

Senate critics are concerned that Wrobleski's nomination signals a designation of the drug post.

Sources told our associate Donald Goldberg that Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is quietly searching for an alternative candidate.

Meanwhile. Wrobleski apparentiy got a bum rap from one staunch Reaganite, Customs Service Commissioner William von Raab. In an intemperate private letter to Wrobieski, von Rasb accused her of embarrassing and offending him personally. The reason: Wrobleski's office had invited Customs officials from Bulgaria and East Germany to a regional drug conference in Spain late this month.

"I have heard of the bias of some in the (State) Department in being soft on communists, but this is too much!" von Raab wrote. "You have not only embarraged me in front of all my counterparts in other customs services, but also personally offended my own princi-

Bishops Reaffirm Casino Opposition

"MIAMI (UPI) - Florida's nine many aspects of organized Roman Catholic bishops crime. Thursday reaffirmed their opposition to casino gambling. warning it could lead to an increase in syndicate crime. prostitution and loan-sharking and entice public officials into a life of graft and corruption.

Archbishop Edward A. Mc-Carthy of Miami and the state's eight other bishops said in a May Day statement that their opposition stemmed from their responsibility as religious leaders and from their concern "over the long-range implications which casino gambling would have for the quality of life of all of the citizens of our state."

We have followed with interest the development of casino gambling in other parts of the United States," the bishops said in their statement. "The experience of others can serve to inform us of what we might expect in Florida should casino gambling be introduced.

"Not the least consequence of the introduction of casino gambling is the possibility of improper influence on public officials," the bishops said.

"Vast sums of money flowing through the casinos make possible the purchase of favors and concessions from public officials. Corruption tends to spread through many levels of public administration."

The bishops rejected contentions that Florida needs casino gambling to compete with other tourism centers.

"We cannot believe that our state, which is so rich in natural beauty and its wonderful climate, needs to employ such doubtful means to promote tourism - especially in view of the potential harm to the common good of all citizens of our state," the bishops said.

Senate Makes In-House TV Debut

the promise of a possible X-rated debut, the Senate Inaugurated live gavel-to-gavel television coverage Thursday and Republican leader Robert Dole offered some advice: Keep your head up and don't chew gum.

Six robot cameras slowly picked their targets and zoomed in on senators as they spoke, bringing to the screen in vivid colors dapper-dressed senators sporting an unusual number of television-red ties.

After the first bursts of fanfare, marked by fits and starts of uncase, the Senate quickly turned to its day-to-day proceedings. But senators clearly did not immediately forget the all-seeing cameras.

The Senate - and television coverage - began a little more than a minute late with a live shot of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., the president pro tem. banging the gavel to open the session. Next, the Rev. Richard Haivemon delivered the opening prayer.

Then Dole, dark suit, white shirt, bright red tie, took center stage and promptly forgot to hook a microphone into his jacket pocket and just as quickly whipped off his reading glasses after reading a prepared text.

WINTER PARK - Ken Brauman, the boys' track coach at Seminole High, ian't one for lengthy oratory. He lets the feats of his defending state champion Seminoles do the talking.

But when Brauman huddled up his mile relay team after it had blown away the field and wrapped up Seminole's second consecutive Class 4A-3 Regional Track & Field Championships Thursday night at Showalter Field, the coach could barely conceal his glee.

"We're ready," he announced to the excited foursome. "We're ready.'

Ready for what? Dwayne Willis, Louis Brown, Maurice Roberts and Eric Martin didn't have to be told. They knew. With the speedy quartet burning up the mile in 3:17.9, the final puzzle piece had fallen into place.

The Seminoles are ready to defend.

"We finally broke 3:20." Brauman said. "We've had the potential all year but we hadn't put it together. They ran a great race. We've been looking for that all year long."

Seminole's victory in the last event secured the team title with 70½ points. The Tribe held a scant 41/2 point lead entering the finale. Vero Beach was next in line with 58. West Palm Beach Twin Lakes, which had scored over 200 points in its district. was third with 54. Orlando long jump and triple," Brauman Evans was fourth with 43 and no one else was close.

said. "That's a good sign. He might need all 12 next week." The top four in each event Thursday qualify for the Class 4A State Championships next posted his best mile time ever Saturday at Showalter Field. with a 4:17.9. He was pushed for all but 200 yards by Roger "We won eight events and barely won the meet," Brauman Farinas, who drafted Penick 3:17.9. "We're only taking sey while the rest of the field fell nt n hopelessly out of it. Farinas ran 4:22.8.

"Billy needed that kind of race," Brauman said of the push. 'We didn't know anything about the kid (Farinas). It should get Billy ready for next week."

Penick said he was aware of Farinas the whole race, but was surprised the West Palm Beach Twins Lakes foreign exchange student from Spain didn't try to move on him.

"He was a good competitor and I thought he was going to try and go by me one time but he didn't," Penick, the defending state mile champion, said. "That's the first time (this year) I've really had somebody go after me. My legs were kind of heavy the last two laps but I felt okay."

Senior Davis was an impreasive winner in the 100 meters. He ran an 11.1 into a 10-mile an hour head wind to capture the top spot by twotenths of a second. Davis didn't get out of the blocks with the rest of the field but came on at the 50-meter mark to take control. Davis' best effort is 10.4.

"I just didn't want to jump the gun," Davis said. "Every starter is different. Some fast, some slow. After I got to 50 (meters), I felt pretty good. The wind made some difference."

Seminole's relays all won handily.

In the mile, Willis. a sophomore running his first year of track, opened with a 50-second quarter. Brown, another senior leader who has devoted his wheels to the relays, zipped around the oval in 47.9 to give the Tribe a commanding lead. Freshman Maurice Roberts turned a 51.0 before handing to Martin who turned a 49.0 to complete the school-record jumps to help Seminole to its second consecutive regional title Thursday night.

Lady Seminoles' First-Place Effort Earns Second

WINTER PARK - There were some pretty impressive times turned in by the Seminole High Lady Seminoles Thursday night in the Class 4A-3 Region Championships at Showalter Field.

Included were a state-leading 3:52.8 in the mile relay. a state-leading 44.0 by Dorchelle Webster in the 330 hurdles and a meet record 56.5 by Shownda Martin in the open 440.

But the timer certainly didn't tell the whole story.

The Lady Seminoles did it with heart, tenacity and the ability to reach down deep for that extra push - qualities that can't be measured by a stopwatch.

"I'm very proud of the girls for their performances tonight." Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "And, although I'd like to have some people in the field events. I'm pleased going into the state meet."

The young Seminole team.

consisting almost solely of freshmen and sophomores. finished second in the meet Thursday with 52 points, 15 behind state favorite Orlando Oak Ridge. Oak Ridge built up a 22-1 lead in the four field events and that was too much for the Lady Tribe to overcome.

Melbourne Palm Bay took third place at 31 followed by Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks and West Orange at 28. Lake Mary's Lady Rams took fifth place with 15½ points.

The top four in each event Thursday qualify for the 4A State Championships next Saturday at Showalter Field.

The Seminole mile relay team of sophomore Webster. freshman Adrian Hillsman. sophomore Martin pulled off what was probably the biggest upset of the girls meet as they beat tremendous odds in outrunning Oak Ridge's Lady Pio-neers in the final event of the night.

Oak Ridge went into the event the heavy favorite with one of the top three times in the state and was the only team in the region to break 4:00 while Seminole's previous best was a 4:01.5.

Webster led off for the Lady Seminoles and ran a 58.2 split for the 440 yards and handed off to Hillsman about even with the Oak Ridge runner. Oak Ridge's second runner bolted in front of Hillsman, who ran a 58.1 split, and the Lady Pioneers held the lead going into the third leg which was also supposed to be Seminole's weakest.

But, although she went up against a stronger and more experienced runner. Scott didn't back down and she even made freshman Tammi Scott and up some ground on Oak Ridge as

Snow Chief Seeks Fast Break And Early Speed

LOUISVILLE. Ky. (UPI) -Snow Chief will need a fast break and early speed, qualities that have made him the Kentucky Derby favorite, to win Saturday's 112th Run for the Roses.

Snow Chief's March 1 Florida Derby triumph helped establish the California colt as the 6-5 early line choice for Saturday's race. The son of Reflected Glory broke from the No. 12 position at Gulfstream Park and breezed for a wire-to-wire victory over, the 16-horse field.

Saturday, Snow Chief runs against the same number of horses, and from the same post position, but there is one important difference.

Along with him on the outside will be much more speed. In No. 13 will be Bachelor Beau, in No. 14 Groovy, and No. 15 Zabelata. Bachelor Beau trainer Philip Houswald would rather his Blue Grass Stakes winner was away from the rest of the pace-setters. "I just hope one of them doesn't get used up going for the Racing front." he said. Snow Chief trainer Mel Stute said he is not worried about the extra burners on the outside.

"There is a little more speed, but it's on the outside, which is good." Stute said. "He can drop across and make his own way. If they were inside, he might be carried along, but this way he can lay back third or fourth until he makes his move at the quarter or 5-16ths pole."

Before the draw Thursday, workers along the backstretch at Churchill Downs were predicting a fast - perhaps a record -Derby race. Thus, most preferred a middle post position to allow their horses to best acclimate themselves to the break of the race.

Badger Land, the second pick at 3-1, drew the No. 10 position. Trainer and part-owner Jeff Lukas says his colt. a winner of he Everglades and Flamingo stakes his last two times out, is right where he should be.

"It looks like he'll fall into perfect position. We have speed outside of us and it looks like we can go into the first turn laying back just a little,"said the son of D. Wayne Lukas.

The winner's share of the record $784.400 purse is $609,400. Second place is worth $100,000; third is $50,000 and fourth $25,000.

Price, Wright Hurdle To State Meet Berths

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo High may not be sending one of the bigger contingents to the 3A State Meet, but it does have two of the premier 330 hurdlers in junior Kelly Price and sophomore Karl Wright.

Both Oviedo hurdlers gualified for state with outstanding efforts Thursday night at the 3A-2 Region. Championships at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

Price qualified for her second state meet in a row in fine fashion as she won the 330 low hurdles with a time of 46.4. Price, fourth in the state a year ago, tied her own school record in the 330 lows in the preliminaries with a time of 46.1.

"She ran her fastest time ever in the prolims and won her heat by over a second." Oviedo coach Ken Kroog said of Price. "They came up on her a bit in the finals but she still wan it comfortably." Price also qualified for state in the 110 high hurdles as she took third with a 15.6 after breaking the school record with 15.1 in the prelims. Price made it 3 for 3 by qualifying in the long jump with a fourth-place leap of 17-7%

Wright is the only other individual from Oviedo to qualify for the state meet and he did it in record-breaking lashion. Wright, who had tied the school record a week ago in the districts, broke it Thursday night with a second-place time of 30.3. Oviedo also qualified its mile relay team with a fourth place time of 3:25.8. Running on that team were Karl Wright, Bubba Wright, Robb Hughes and Mark Stewart.

Bubbs Wright also took fifth in the 230 dash with a time of 23.8.

"Kelly (Price) in the 330 hurdles is our best chance to place at state and Karl (Wright) has an outside chance," Kroag said. "We'll really have to struggle to place anywhere

Mirror Image: Lions, Auburndale Thrive On Steal

By Bam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Oviedo's Lions and Auburndale's Bloodhounds square off tonight for the Class 3A-2 Sectional Baseball Championship. Don't be suprised if they stand toe-to-toe and slug it out.

On paper the two clubs seem very similar. They have strong hitting halfway through the lineup, a sprinkling of power, excellent speed and quality pitching. The lineups are dotted with hungry athletes, anxious to go to battle. Ovledo is 18-10 while Auburndale is 24-9.

"The more I look at it it looks like a mirror image." Oviedo coach Howard Mable said Thursday. "Our kids are really pysched up for this game and so is the school."

Auburndale coach Paul Porowski concurred. "We have the kinda kida who just want to go out and play," he said Thursday. "We just got a group of kids who play together and are fighters."

The bell for Round 1 rings tonight at 7:30. A large throng is expected. Porowski said Auburndale averages 150 fans per game. Mable said Oviedo will be taking at least one spirit bus. Fans should take I-4 west to exit 559, which winds five or six miles. Take a left at the Auburndale High School sign.

Both teams thrive on the stolen base. Auburndale has swiped 139 bases while Oviedo pushed its total to 142 in three post-season games. Each team is led by a dynamic leadoff hitter.

Ovledo center fielder Mark Merchant batted .467 during the regular season. stole on 29 of 32 attempts, socked three homers and drove in 14 runs. The 'Hounds' first hitter, right fielder Doug Diggs, batted .374, belted three taters and stole on 31 of 35 tries.

"He's going to have to do his job and I'll do mine," Merchant said about the matchup.

Merchant is complemented by junior shortstop Tony Belflower (.389, 17 steals), left fielder Frank Torres (.438, 26 steals), catcher Mike Sink (.289, 16 RBI) and designated hitter Alan Greene. Sink and Greene both came on strong during the past three weeks to aid the stretch drive.

Auburndale, like Oviedo a juniordominated hitting lineup, boasts one of the best - and biggest - hitters in Florida. DH Jamey Barnes, a stocky 6-0, 240-pounder, socked nine homers, drove in 31 runs and batted .405.

All of which was accompliahed after a two-year layoff. "Jamey didn't think he was good enough to play baseball, so he concentrated on football for two years," Porowski said.

Joining Barnes is catcher Tommy Taylor (.408, 29 RBI), third baseman Bryanb Chevalier (.360), left fielder Mike Pugh (.287, 21 RBI) and second baseman Mike Laughlin (.402, 28 RBI). Tonight's huriers will be junior Scott Bowers (4-5, 2.85) for the Lions and sophomore Paul Hutto (7-1, 3.17) for the Bloodhounds.

Bowers is deceptively fast and has been the victim of nonsupport most of the year. "Scott's best pitch is his fastball," batterymate Sink said. "You pretty much know if he's on right away. The action on it is good and it moves real well."

Bowers, a product of Seminole Pony Baseball, said he is relaxed despite the importance of the game. "It's only a game, but it's a bigger game than usual," the slim righthander said. "We're comparing them to Lake Brantley. They were one of the best hitting teams we faced and we handled them pretty well."

Bowers, who is a strong starter, said his problems come when he tires. "I start leaving it up and when you get a few up, they send a few," he said.

Mable said Bowers will go as far and as hard as he can. "When Scotty keeps the ball down we're in good shape. We'll have (Craig) Duncan and (Jimmy) Barrett) ready if we need them."

Hutto, meanwhile, was converted to a part-time sidearmers just two weeks ago and Porowski said he has adapted well. "Hutto used to throw completely over the top," he said. "He mixed the style against Tampa Robinson and shut them down (2-1 for district championship)."

Auburndale, which posted a convincing 11-1 victory over respected Brooksville Hernando in the regional, has Billy Deeds in relief. The junior righthander was 6-1 with six saves and a 2.68 carned run average.

Porowski said his team has an added incentive for winning tonight. "Our football and basketball teams both went to state." the former Florida Southern baseball player said. "Heck, if we don't go this year we're the doormats around the school."

SCC Pulls Together, Eyes State

By Mark Blythe Special to the Merald

The Seminole Community College baseball team has again found its way to the state tournament. Coach Jack Pantellas said Thursday excellent hitting and superb fielding have a lot to do with it, but he points to an intangible as making the difference.

"The players pull for each other and there is no one hero on the team." Pantelias said. "They all depend on each other to carry the weight in each ball game."

They have carried the weight to a 30.17 record thus far. Saturday, SCC opens the State Junior College Tournament at Winter Haven against Brevard at 1:30 p.m. Pantelias said Mike Walker would pitch the opener.

After a slow start (10-11) SCC pulled things together for an outstanding season. Pantellas' teams, who are known for their stretch drives, posted a 20-6 mark over the second half.

Martinez, Show Rally San Diego

United Press International

Carmelo Martinez sees similarities between the 1986 San Diego Padres and the team that won the National League pennant two years ago.

"We've been winning by coming back in the late innings and that's a good sign." Martinez said Thursday after he homered and scored three times to help Eric Show to his first victory of the season and lead the Padres to a 4-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. "It reminds me of '84."

Show, 1-2, allowed four hits and two runs over six innings before being lifted in favor of Craig Lefferts. Rich Gossage worked the final two innings to gain his fourth save. The loser was Danny Cox, 0-2.

Martinez hit his second home run of the year in the eighth inning off Pat Perry to score what proved to be the winning run.

The Padres took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on Garry Templeton's RBI single that drove in Martunez, who reached base on an error by third baseman Terry Pendleton and then stole second.

N.L. Baseball

baseman Jose Oquendo.

St. Louis scored its second run. in the seventh when Smith doubled, stole second and came in on Coleman's sacrifice fly.

The Cardinals added their final run in the ninth on Coleman's third sacrifice fly of the game that scored Smith. Smith walked, stole second and reached third on a throwing error by catcher Terry Kennedy. Coleman tied the major league record for sacrifice flies in a game, which is shared by four other players.

Pirates 6, Giants 2

At San Francisco, Johnny Ray drove in three runs to boost his NL-leading RBI total to 21 and spark the Pirates over the Glants, snapping a three-game losing streak. Reliever Bob Walk. 1-0. pitched the final three innings. Giants starter Mike Krukow, 3-2, pitched seven innings and allowed five runs.

first-team honors. They include Murphy cf 1213 files as 4828 Patts cf designated hitter Jeff Morgan. baseman Jeff Greene, center fielder Chad Sims and Mike Walker.

Greene leads the way in batting with .405 average and also leads in runs batted in with 60. A graduate of Oviedo High School, he made the transition easily this year after a year of being ineligible.

"I knew most of the team so I feit I fit in better." Greene, who was draftd in the fifth round of the winter phase by the White Sox, said. "I feel the communication of this team has been much better in the past and we've all grown closer throughout the season."

Morgan has almost taken the entire team by surprise with his power surge. He slugged 16 nomers to eclipse the SCC record by one. Morgan has a .368 batting average and 59 ribbles.

Sims set a doubles record with 14 this season. He has outstanding speed and sparked many offensive rallies. The Brooksville product is hitting at a .390 clip.

Songini is a hard hitting shortstop who came to SCC from East Long. Mass. and made the SCC team as a walk-on his freshman year.

"The maturity of this year's freshmen and the closeness of the team is the reason for our success," he said. Hitting .370. Songini is dangerous when on the bases as his 28 thefts will attest.

Walker was drafted by Cleveland in January. With a 3.90 ERA he has an 8-5 record, he has been the ace of SCC's staff. He also has a no hitter.

"I'm comfortable pitching right now," he said. "I feel very strongly we have a good chance to win the state tournament."

The Raiders' depth has been another reason for their success. Two defensive specialists are Tico Martines and catcher Rick Given. Other strong hitters in-clude right fielder Leonard Thigpen and left fielder John Moore. An all- around contrib-uter has been third baseman Kevin Hill. The former Lake Mary standout is an excellent gloveman and has thrown enough relief for a 2-0 record with two saves and a 1.57 ERA. The rest of SCC's pitching staff includes Sanford's James Herney with a 5.00 ERA and a 8-1 record. Herney is elated for the tournament's second game. Brian Maley who has a 4.50 ERA and is 6-5 will be used in ruliaf or the third game. Lefty Matt Lowton finished 4-1 and will most Maly come in for rollof date

By Chris Floter Herald Sports Writer

3b. Palers

Mike Dillion was about as productive as you can get Thursday night as he was 5 for 5 with two home runs, a triple and two singles and drove in eight runs as First Federal downed D.A.V., 20-12, in Sanford Little National League action at Bay Avenue Field.

The win enabled First Federal to maintain its half game lead over Poppa Jay's as it improved to 5-1. It was the sixth loss in a row for D.A.V.

Dillion gave First Federal the carly lead as he unloaded a three-run homer in the top of the first. First Federal pulled away with five in the first and eight more in the second. Twins Turn Tables On Yanks

United Press International

One man's home is another man's prison.

The American League was full of such home-i-lies Thursday night.

- After nearly two years of rude treatment in the home of the New York Yankees, the Minnesota Twins finally won a game at Yankee Stadium by defeating the Yankees 7-4.

- Moose Haas felt very uncomfortable visiting his old home in Milwaukee County Stadium, but the right-hander quickly adjusted and became the American League's first five-game winner by turning back his old Brewer teammates, 7-2. - The Toronto Blue Jays can't wait to leave home. Toronto lost wait to serve nome. Toronto soit its fifth straight series in Exhib-ition Stadium dating back to last season by dropping a 7-4 contest to the California Angels. Twins 7, Tankces 4 At New York, Steve Lom-bardozzi and Tim Laudner singled home runs in the sixth inning to help the Twins break a nine-game Yankee Stadium los-ing streak. Kent Hrbek and Gary Gaetti added solo homers to assure the Twins their first Yankee Stadium victory since July 21, 1984, and hand New York only its third loss in its last 11 decisions.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Seminole Sets Twin Inaugural, Greyhound Give-Away Saturday

For the first time ever Seminole Greyhound Park will have a double inaugural to open its season Saturday. The afternoon performance begins at 1 p.m. The evening performance gets underway at 7:45 p.m.

"Each year (Director of Racing) Garry Duell selects the best young maldens and puts them in a special race," Seminole spokesman Happy Ison said about the afternoon feature. "At at the end of the season usually four or five of them are in the $15,000 Future Champions Stake Race."

An inaugural trophy will go to each winner. In other track news, Tom Blayney has been rehired as general manager at Seminole Greyhound Park. The evening inaugural will be the 12th race.

Seminole, in conjunction with Hanover Farms, will also give away a greyhound after the 10th race Saturday.

The 11-month-old greyhound has been sired by MC's Spinmaster who ran his entire career against All-Americans at West Memphis, Hollywood and Biscayne.

Along with the greyhound give-away, something new has been added to the Seminole Greyhound Park. It is the twin trifecta, better known as the twin tri. Patrons will wager on the eighth and 10th races for the twin tri.

Lubinskas 2-Hits Tigers, 3-1

Chris Lubinskas fired a two-hitter and struck out 13 as the Indians defeated the Tigers, 3-1, in a playoff for the first half title in the Altamonte Springs Little League Major American division.

The Indians, who were held to three hits by Billy Moore. scored all three runs in the top of the third an RBI singles by Kevin Scott and Shane Odom and a squeeze bunt by John Ryan.

The Indians set up the playoff by defeating the Tigers. 6-4. in the last week of first half play as both teams finished with 9-1 records. In that game, Odom drove in two runs with a double in the fourth inning that tied the game and eventually sent it into extra innings. Lubinskas was the winning pitcher in relief as he allowed just one hit and struck out 10.

Kevin Morro had a double for the Tigers and allowed just one hit over six innings.

4 Countians On AAU Select

Four Seminole County prep basketball players have been chosen to play for the AAU 16 and under Central Florida Select Team. Lake Mary High and AAU team coach Bill Moore announced.

The selections include Lake Mary High's Teri Whyte, a 6-4 center, Lake Mary's Tonya Lawson, a 5-7 guard. Seminole's Adrian Hillsman, a 5-6 guard, and Lake Brantley's Ashley Thomas, a 5-5 guard. The Seminole County players were four of 12 selected for the select team. There were 75 players from around the Central Florida area who tried out for the team.

Speed World Needs Support

With all the support events going on recently for different causes, it's time for we racing fans to do our thing. Orlando Speed World deserves our support. Promoters Don Narone and Gene Jones have the super-fast, third-mile oval packed with cars every Friday night. The only problem is not enough spectators know about the door-to-door racing going on there.

Narone is the promoter at DeSoto Speedway in Bradenton and really runs a good show at that beautiful facility. He feels that if he can get the crowd count up at Orlando he can make it just as popular as the Bradenton track.

"Narone pays a good purse and the drivers really like to run for him." Dave Westerman, track PR man and announcer, said. "The track has a number of improvements under way and a new pit gate was just opened last week."

Speed World runs six classes with heats and feature in each class. Local driver Casey Hawthorne and Lee Faulk battle Sun Coast drivers Eddie King. Richard Brinson and Jim Casselberry in the Limited Late Model class.

King, of Bartow, has his six-cylinder Ford Pinto on a hot streak. He took his third straight main event last week. What the car lacks in power down the straightaways is made up for by incredible, handling in the corners. Hawthorne seems to be one of the few drivers able to challenge King, but is out for a few weeks with a blown motor.

Also running are the Sportsman Cars.

With eight NASCAR Winston Cup races down and Alabama International Motor Speedway's Winston 500 looming on the horizon (May 4). Winston Cup fans are sitting back and preparing to witness what could be the most dramatic battle for the national title in NASCAR history.

Three former NASCAR Winston Cup stock car driving champions are sitting on top of the Winston Cup standings following Martinsville (Va.) Speedway's Sovran Bank 500, April 27: Darrell Waltrip (1981-1982, 1985); Dale Earnhardt (1980); and Terry Labonte (1984). Only once before has the Winston Cup season boiled down to three former champions vying for the title, that in 1977 with champion Cale Yarborough. Richard Petty and Benny Parsons.

Amazingly, though, only two other times have former champions finished in the top two spots: 1969 with champion David Pearson and Richard Petty, and 1958 with champion Lee Petty and Buck Baker.

Experience being the factor it is in motorsports. Winston Cup observers are noting the 134 points separating the top three and the five points separating the top two: Waltrip. 1247: Earnhardt, 1242: and Labonte, 1113.

Even moreso. Winston Cup observers are keeping a keen eye on some of the hungry young drivers filling out the rest of the top 10. naemly Rusty Wallace, 1092. Kyle Petty, 1082. Bill Elliott, 1040. Bobby Allison, 1018. Tim Richmond, 1008. Geoff Bodine, 1000, and Sovran Bank 500 winner Ricky Rudd, 987.

Seven different drivers already picked up a winner's trophy in the first eight victory lanes this season. Earnhardt being the only driver to have won two Winston Cup races this season.

The modern day Winston Cup record of 12 different winners in a single season appears to be in definite jeopardy, especially since Waltrip and Elliott are still looking for their first 1986 victory. The all-time record of 16 different winners, that coming in 1961's 53 races, may well be on the line.

Bucks Beat Back Sixers

The Milwaukee Bucks, who failed to protect an 18-point third-quarter lead in Game 1, learned their lesson.

With Terry Cummings scoring 10 of his 30 points in the fourth quarter Thursday night, thd Milwaukee Bucks held securely to a 17-point third-quarter advantage to tie their NBA playoff quarterfinal series against Philadelphia 1-1 with a 119-107 decision over the 76ers.

"I was sitting on the bench in the fourth quarter, and I saw when Philadelphia was starting to make their run to get back into the game." Cummings said. "And I made a statement after the first-game loss, that I don't care anything about a jinx, that won't happen again.

Lake Mary's Lady Rams qualified three performers including Anquenette Whack in the long jump and shot put and Oneyke Berry in the 330 hurdles.

Whack, a senior, soared to a 17.7% on her third jump of the day and that was good for third place. Oak Ridge's Michelle Spear was head and shoulders above the rest with a leap of Berry, a sophomore, broke the school record in the 330 hurdles in the prelims with a 46.7 and came back to break in again in the finals as she took fourth place with a time of 46.3.

Lyman High senior Jeannine Gauvin came through with the best throw of her career in the discus and it was good for a second place finish and her first trip to the state meet.

"After she threw the 128-5, we were confident she (Gauvin) would get in the top four." Lyman coach Larry Baker said.

Lake Howell's distance standouts contined to perform well although junior Lisa Samocki reinjured the ankle that had been giving her problems much of the season.

Samocki led for most of the way in the mile before she was passed in the last 220 by Palm Bay's Mia Dentice who won with a time of 5:13.3 compared to 5:15.4 for Samocki. Lake Howell's Martha Fonseca also qualified for state in the mile as she took third at 5:19.4.

Samocki tried to come back to run the two mile but the ankle. was too painful and she couldn't finish the race. Fonseca went on to win the two mile but, without Samocki running, she ran the entire race by herself and ended up with a time of 11:45.

Also qualifying for state for the Lady Hawks were a pair of senior standouts in Cheryl Brinkley and Angle Smith. Brinkley qualified in the high jump by clearing 5.2 for second place and Smith ran a personal best in finishing third in the 860 at 2:19.8.

In the medley relay, it was Brown's 440 split (48.9) which blew away the competition. It followed opening 220 splits by Willis (22.3) and Davis (21.7). Penick kept Vero Beach five seconds back with a 1.56.7 880 split as the 'Noles finished in a school and meet record 3:29.7. In the 440 relay, Davis turned on the jets down the stretch to cap a 41.83 meet and school record despite some wobbly exchanges. Willis, Brown and Martin ran the first three legs.

"We had three bad handoffs and still ran a good race." Brauman said. "It's encouraging because of the way they ran but we butchered the exchanges. That's what makes it nervewracking."

Although sophomore Alan Seward finished just out of the money in fifth place, Brauman said he was impressed with the effort. "It was Alan's best race of the year." he said. "He had a little trouble on that one curve or he might have qualified."

Seminole hurdler Andre Jackson, bothered by a hamstring pull he suffered in the district, didn't qualify in the 120 low hurdles in 15.2. Junior Sonny Osborn came up short in the pole vault with 11-6. "Andre's leg was bothering him." Brauman said. "He just couldn't run like he had in the scason."

Rowe, Philpott, Rohr Earn Firsts

After the Seminoles, it was pretty lean pickings for the other county entries although Lake Mary's Ken Rohr, Lake Howell's Dyian Rowe and Lyman's Ralph Philpott all turned in strong individual efforts while winning their events.

Daylilies A Popular Perennial In Florida

Daylilies are among the most popular perennials grown in Florida. They grow just about anywhere, are relatively free of serious pests, have a long blooming period. and are great in any landscape planting. Daylilles are available in a wide range of colors from yellow, orange, red, pink, purple and near-white. Our modern varities have been developed from native Chinese species. Early settlers brought many of the original ones with them to America. Over the past century, hybridizers have made great variety improvements.

Davillies adapt to a variety of cultural conditions, which make them ideal for landscape plantings, but they should be part of a planned planting rather than scattered throughout the garden. They're most effective when set in mass plantings of at least ten plants, preferably all the same color. Daviilles are classified in two ways. First, some are deciduous, some semi-evergreen, and others evergreen. The evergreen varieties are probably the most suited for our normally mild climate. Daylilies are also classified according to the height they grow. The tall varieties will attain about 36 inches. the medium kinds are those from 16 to 36 inches, and the low-growing or dwarfs are 12 inches high or less. Naturally, the dwarfs are best used for border plantings.

In Florida, the daylily is really a cosmopolitan plant, since it thrives in just about any soil from mucks, sands, to red clays. The plants prefer full sun, but will do well in partial shade, too. The darker shades do best in filtered shade. The yellows, pinks, and pastel colors need full sun to bring out their best colors. Avoid deep shade as it will cause spindly growth and poor flowering. The light beneath pine trees is ideal for most daylilics.

Daylilles may be planted anytime of the year, but they usually do best if they're planted right after flowering. Proper soil preparation is a critical step in successful dayilly culture. If your soil needs amending. do it before you plant. Daylilles are usually left in the beds for three to five years. Set your plants about 18 to 24 inches apart. as they multiply rapidly. If they become crowded, flower production will drop.

To plant daylilies, dig holes larger than the root masses with a trowel or small shovel. Make a mound of soil in the center of the hole and spread out the roots to the sides of the mound. Next, fill the hole with loose soil making sure the crown of the plant is at ground level. Daylilles should be set at the same depth as they were originally growing. Water the newly set plants and keep the soil moist until plants are well established. Once established, daylilles need only minimum care.

Daylilles do like an occasionaly feeding. About twice a year, spread about two pounds of a complete fertilizer, such as a 6-6-6 or 8-8-8, per 100 square feet of garden area. Apply the fertilizer evenly, and be sure to water thoroughly after feeding to remove any fertilizer on the foliage.

Mulching your daylilies will help retain soil moisture, reduce any weed problem and moderate soil temperature. A 2-inch layer of pine straw, leaves or shredded bark are among the most destrable.

One night thing about daylilies is that they can survive temporary dry spells very well due to their extensive root systems. However, a prolonged drought may affect the bloom size, the number of blooms, and plant growth and vigor. A weekly application of enough water to soak the soil down to about eight inches will certainly help. You should avoid overhead watering during the heat of the day as it will cause open blooms to spot and wilt. Daylilles planted in full sun will need more water than those planted in more shady locations.

Happily, most daylily plantings are virtually free from attack by insects and disease and will rarely need spraying. Occasionally, you'll have an infestation of aphids, thrips, spider mites or grasshoppers. They usually attack the foliage and damage is severe. Mite-damaged leaves lose their green color. turn tan and then brown, and eventually die. Thrips are one of the most serious pests. They damage immature stems and blooms. causing discolored, misshapened flowers and definitely reduce flower bud set.

Daylilles are still one of the best flowering landscape plants you can set out. They're in bloom now and for some time to come. The best way to pick what you want is to see them in bloom. Why not visit one of the several daylily nurseries in the area - and select the ones you want. In the meantime, get your beds worked up and amended If necessary, then you'll be ready to plant them.

Strokes Are Caused In Several Different Ways

DEAR DR. GOTT - Does high blood pressure or a blood clot cause a stroke? What is arterial plaque?

DEAR READER - "Stroke" is an all-inclusive term that means loss of certain brain functions. It can result from bleeding into the brain (an arterial blowout in hypertensive patients) or from a blood clot that becomes wedged in a brain artery. I have found the blood-clot type to be more common. These clots tend to form on the insides of arteries that have rough, fatty, plaquehardened deposits. Often, pieces of clot break off and are carried in the bloodstream until they find their way into a smaller artery, where they become stuck, causing occlusion and loss of circulation. Any artery can be affected. When the event occurs in the brain, it is called a stroke.

Arterial plaque is part of the aging process that we recognize as hardening of the arteries (arterioscierosis). It is accentu- 23 ated and accelerated by high 26 Abet blood cholesterol.

By James Jacoby

When you tiptoe delicately in your bidding, just remember you may be giving the opponents room to exchange vital information. When West's opening one-heart bid was passed around to South, he knew he was going to eventually bid four spades. To tell his partner that his hand had defensive strength as well, he first made a takeout double. East was now able to belatedly show heart support, and South's four-spade bid ended the auction.

West opened the king of hearts, on which East contributed the 10. Because East had been able to raise hearts. West knew that he could not hold a doesn't take the first four tricks. doubleton, so the 10 must be declarer will play A-K of spades showing the queen. It was easy followed by A-K-Q of clubs. ... Prescribe

However, Folsom foresees misconceptions on the part of the public, and even insurance companies, over the latitude the legislation gives pharmacists.

"They think we can prescribe anything and everything." Folsom said. "They think they will never have to see a doctor again.

"When you consider the drugs allowed, I don't see a problem with it."

Many of the medications pharmacists can now prescribe are available in comparable over-the-counter drugs of different strengths or ingredients, local pharmacists said.

preparations and head lice shampoo as some of the medications pharmacists can prescribe.

IN BRIEF

FLORIDA

The new law enables pharmacists to distribute more than 30 drugs in 14 categories to their customers without consulting a physician. Doctors, however, must still prescribe narcotic and addictive drugs, antibiotics, tranquilizers, blood presaure drugs, and any drugs that require injection. Doctors were strongly opposed to the new law.

"I think it's a disgrace," said Dr. Luis Perez, president of the Florida Medical Association. "The pharmacists are going to start treating the symptoms that the patient is having, not the discase. That's bad medicine." Perez said pharmacists generally are unable to make a valid diagnosis.

Some pharmacles, like the They listed pain relievers, cold Eckerd chain, required pharmacists to undergo special training before the law took effect. Others, such as Herbert Margolis, who owns Sunset Drugs in South Miami, said they would not prescribe drugs for customers.

"We are not physicians." Margolis said. "We are not trained to diagnose."

Jennifer Weader, pharmacist with Super X Drugs, 2438 S. French Ave., said she will take a wait and see attitude, but that she may opt to recommend over-the-counter drugs rather than prescribe medicine.

"Why would someone pay $15 for medicine when they could pay $4?" she asked.

Mrs. Weader also said she may not be writing too many prescriptions because of the time involved in gathering the customer's medical information, about 20 minutes per person.

"I'm in favor of the law, and it would be good if I had time to do it." she said.

Pharmacists said the law requires them to keep patient profile sheets regarding medical history, any ailments the customer may have, medication they may already be taking and other pertinent information if drugs are to be prescribed.

However, the legislation does not make it mandatory for pharmacists to write prescriptions, they said.

Owner of Faust's Drug Store, 407 E. First St., David Klingensmith, said he will write prescriptions "to a limited degree."

"It will depend on what I deem appropriate, if I have expertise in what I'm trying to treat and whether or not the person has a lot of health problems," he said.

Klingensmith said he feels comfortable with the legislation because it is restrictive as far as what drugs pharmacists can prescribe.

Sara Reed. Eckerd Drugs Orlando district professional services manager, said her company is behind the legislation and has developed guidelines for its pharmacists to for further notice from the USC.

briefed on the law, will evaluate whether to prescribe drugs on a case by case basis, she said.

"It is up to them if they feel it is correct to prescribe in each case," Ms. Reed said. "We feel it customers with a service we previously couldn't.

Some pharmacists, like Joe Rushing of Wal-Mart Discount Pharmacy, 3653 Orlando Drive, however, are thinking twice about writing prescriptions.

Although his company has not yet come out with an official policy statement, Rushing said he doesn't plan to prescribe drugs, primarily because of the possible liability involved.

"I think it would be foolhardy for anyone to do it at this point. ne mid.

Other companies. like Revco Discount Drugs, are leaving the decision up to their individual pharmaciata.

Pharmacist Frank Moavero, with the Revco store at Lake Mary Boulevard and U.S. Highway 17-92, said he does not plan to write prescriptions at this time but may later, once the law has been tried and tested.

"At this time I don't feel comfortable with the law and don't see a reason or need for it." he said. "There are enough over-the-counter drugs already available that we can recommend.

Moavero expressed concern that the drugs pharmacists are allowed to prescribe can mask the symptoms of illnesses which may require a doctor's care.

Educating the public on what the law says could also pose a problem, said Glenn McCall, pharmacist at Touchton's Rexall Drug Co., 121 E. First St.

"I think people will expect us to write a prescription for anything." he said."There is nothing we can write a prescription for that can't be bought over the counter anyway.

McCall said he will not prescribe drugs at this time but may in the future if the need arises Walgreen Drug Store Pharmacist Mike Johnson, 2942 Orlando Drive, said he is waiting company. The district office is Eckerd pharmacists, who were compiling a procedure for pharmacists to follow, although Johnson did not know what that procedure would be.

Pharmacists who embraced the new law, and those who shied away from it, said they is a good move and will provide cannot immediately tell how insurance for druggists will turn out, although they feared the impact will be negative.

Pharmacists said insurance firms that did agree to cover prescriptions doubled or tripled the premiums.

Insurance industry officials were making their own predictions in light of the legislation.

Travelers Insurance said it stopped writing new policies for pharmacies when the law was enacted.

"It is our feeling that it places a pharmacist in a greater area of risk," said spokeswoman Alan Fletcher.

"This bill is awfully dangerous for both the pharmaciat and for insurers. Our company is not a medical malpractice insurance carrier so we'll probably drop all coverages for drugstores." said a regional vice president for one of the larger insurance companies operating in Florida. "Prescribing drugs is just not an exposure we've anticipated in underwriting drugstores. It certainly isn't reflected in the premiums.

"However, I suspect most pharmacists won't get into prescribing to any extent beyond what they've done in the past. This thing could spell the end of the small, independent druggist and they've had dwindling numbers anyway due to the competition from the large chains. There used to be a lot of small corner drugstores, but not anymore."

Premiums will have to go way up with the medical exposure, and professional liability is very expensive - both direct and in reinsurance premiums. Rather than start doubling and tripling premium sizes, I think we would rather just get out of writing coverages for pharmacists altogether." the official said.

Locally, Medco's Folsom said he has not had any feedback from his insurance company so far, but conceded that pharmacists are more or less "at the mercy" of the carriers. The law, he said, "is just an excuse to raise premiums."

Sara Reed said she doesn't feel the law will affect Eckerd's insurance coverage. The carrier said it would cover the company "at this point," she said.

Klingensmith. & long-time Sanford pharmacist, though, predicted the law will adversely affect druggists' insurance rates. which he said have traditionally remained low. And, he said his insurance company is somewhat apprehensive about the new law.

Rlingensmith said he is covered until July, and out-of-state carriers indicated they are willing to provide coverage should his insurance not be renewed.

Still, the issue for many pharmacists may come down to writing prescriptions versus having insurance coverage.

"I will have malpractice insurance or I won't participate," Klingensmith said.

unfortunate these 'pranksters' think it's fun to get our people out there and harass them."

Harriett attributed the 'frustrating'' arsons and follow-up attacks to juveniles, and said on-scene efforts to apprehend them have thus far been unsuccessful.

Hoening lauded the police department's efforts and acknowleged the difficulty they face in trying to catch the youngsters. "The kids hide in bushes near the dumpsters and you can't see them because it's dark. When you try to go in the bushes after them, they run off." Hoening said.

Firefighters, however, "are sitting ducks," due to the dumpsters being located in open, lit areas, Hoening said.

Apparently, "It's not enough of a thrill to just set the fires," he said. "A big part of it seems to be their plans for us when we arrive.

Thus far. firefighters have not been injured during the incidents, although there have been "several close calls," according to Hoening.

A case in point occurred at Higgins Terrace Sunday night. when a bottle thrown from bushes near a burning dumpster 'just missed'' a fireman's head. Hoening said. He added that projectiles were thrown at firefighters during all three Higgins Terrace calls on Sunday night and carly Monday.

"The contamination problem was more severe than we thought in that there were certain items of clothing that we had to confiscate." he said.

In its two-page report on the accident, a task force named by President Reagan said U.S. experts are unable to determine whether the fire was still burning at the Unit 4 reactor. The task force said it could not the second hot spot visible in satellite photographs of the area is not a reactor.

The Soviets granted permission for Dr. Robert Gale, head of the International Bone Marrow Transplant Registry, to treat the disaster victims and the State Department approved.

Gale, who left Thursday night for Moscow, said he would discuss American innovations in bone marrow transplants, and assess the radiation exposure of people suffering from the reactor's fallout.

Gale said he was asked to come alone, indicating the Soviets have not retreated from their position of not accepting aid

The transplantation of bone marrow, the soft tissue that produces red blood cells and components of the body's immune system, is the only way to treat radiation sickness, Gale said. Transplantation of marrow from an unexposed person must be done quickly because death occurs within about two weeks after a person receives a lethal dose of radiation.

The Soviet government issued what has become a daily statement, saying 18 people were in serious condition of the 148 that have been hospitalized. It said 49 had been released for outpatient treatment.

'There are no foreign citizens among those affected." it said.

The statement, issued by the Council of Ministers, said work was under way to clean the contaminated areas adjacent to the crippled nuclear power station at Chernobyl and radiation levels had dropped by "1.5 to 2 times."

Western diplomats following the events closely were unable to evaluate what the figures meant. "It doesn't mean anything as far as I can tell," one said.

Despite claims that the disaster was under control, the Soviets appealed to Italian energy officials for technical assistance in alleviating ground contamination from a nuclear explosion, an Italian Embassy spokesman said.

Incidences of dumpster fires and attacks on firefighters have occurred sporadically during the last several years, but have heated up in the last couple of months, according to Hoening.

In addition to Higgina Terrace, firefighters have been victimized this spring at the Castle Brewer Court, Cowan-Moutan Terrace, William Clark Court and Lake Monroe Terrace housing authority projects, he said. The police department has contacted the Sanford Housing Authority in an effort to apprehend those responsible, according to Harriett, who also said the incidents' recent in-creases are being addressed by providing additional officers to respond with firefighters to suspicious calls.

odor from the plant will offend those visiting graves of loved ones, as well as those attending graveside services.

City Engineer David Wright said the area surrounding the plant would be buffered, burmed, and landscaped to "mask and veil the site from public view."

The process in treating material at the plant will require air, so processing tanks will remain uncovered, a Timacuan engineer said. He said that some of the odor problems can be controlled through the use of chemicals. He also said that the plant's sludge will not be processed at the site initially, eliminating that potential cause of odor. The tanks will also be partially sunk into the ground, to further confine potential odors.

"The site offers what we are looking for on an interim or permanent basis." Wright told commissioners. Technical issues still need to be resolved, but that can be done in the design stage." Wright said.

Wright also said that Seminole County officials have expressed a willingness to work with the city as it decides what direction to go in treating sewage. Officials have said it may take up to five years for the city to decide to continue using the Timacuan plant, or work with a neighboring municipality such as the county or city of Sanford.

"Seminole County has opened the door to negotiate all terms," Wright reported. He said he expected the county's Yankee Lake treatment plant to be in operation by early 1988. Miranda Franks Fitzgerald, a Timacuan attorney, said the developer would "prefer the city controls" the 12 acres of land on which the plant will sit. Commissioner Ken King said he "likes the location" of the plant, and commissioner Russ Megonegal said he wanted to "keep all the options open" on future city wastewater treatment and wants the "most cost effective wastewater program."

King agreed with Megonegal and said he hoped the treated effluent would be kept in the city for recharge through land irrigation. "I don't see this plant as a real problem in the site proposed," he added.

Commissioner Buzz Petsos said he will "feel much safer" having the land on which the site will sit be reserved by the city for its use, and commissioner Paul Tremei also favored city control of the land.

Lake Mary resident Jim Orioles, Sr. said, "If the county gets tough like Sanford did with the water, you need to keep your options open so you're not locked into an agreement."

By unanimous votes of 4-0, the commission approved the plant location, and approved negotiation with Seminole County for treatment. service.

The city planning and soning board will consider the soning request change for the 643.6 acre Timacuan property from agricultural to planned urban development use May 13. Commissioners will consider a final draft of the project's development order on May 15.

Life with a goldfish in bowl may be the simple way to finny form of pet love. Granted you can't snuggle with them and they won't nip at your heels to welcome you home, but there are advantages to welcoming this hardy breed of fish into your home.

Goldfish

For one thing these gleeming, graceful aquanauts don't shed. They don't have to be walked, trained or groomed.

The only care they need is a daily feeding and a once or twice a week change of water. They are also less tempermental and can survive under less than ideal conditions that would doom more exotic tropical fish.

The goldfish, which is said to have been popularized in the United States by showman P.T. Barnam in the mid 1800s. when it became a mark of status just to have seen one of these glittering specimens, can be mesmerizing to watch.

They can also, according to Sanford pet dealer Dick Brandeberry, be trained to notice their keeper, especially if the caretaker has fishfood in hand and feeds the fish at a set comfortable life indeed for a goldfish who was taken home to swim its days away a filtered, acrated aquarium - a must for tropical fish - a goldfish can survive and thrive in a simple glass bowl. Brandeberry said.

In fact the simpler the setup the better for the beginner who wants to bring a pet into an apartment, Brandeberry said. The easy care of goldfish make them a very popular first pet for youngsters. And Brandeberry said many parents may take them home with the secret hope that they won't survive at the hands of a mini-sized owner.

However goldfish are made of pretty stern stuff and if bought at a pet shop, where the buyer gets a bit of instruction in fish care, goldfish are survivors. Under ideal conditions. Brandeberry said, they could live 25 years or so.

He estimates that 75 percent of the goldfish bought with the owners not having received any care instructions are short-lived. If their owners receive and follow care tips, Brandeberry said, the survival rate reverses and about 70 percent of the fish thrive. But your typical goldfish isn't going to be pampered as are some that are especially bred as show fish and which are valued into the thousands of dollars.

Show goldfish are most popular in the Orient. Japan and China are also primary sources of the more common fish that are carried out of Brandeberry's shop as pets at the rate of about 100 a month

Two favorites of serious beginners are fantails, with double tails, and moors, which are black and bug-eyed. Both cost about $3 each. The most common comet goldfish are available for about 75-cents cach. A bottom of the line bowl costs about $3.

In meeting the needs of a finny friend sciected from an array in rainbow colors, some belie the "gold" in the name of their species. Brandeberry said the less you add to your goldfish's bowl, the less you'll have to clean. Gravel and plants can be colorful additions, he said, but take away notice of the simplicity of goldfish care.

You'll need one s-ilon of water area for each inclose flah. he said. So if you have six goldfish, according to Brandeberry's formula they would need an aquarium home that would hold six gallons of water.

Goldfish are happy living alone, but owners usually want to add more fish as they become friendly with their first. he said.

The big cautions in caring for goldfish, Brandeberry said, are: you must declorinate the water using a petshop supplied chemical, before putting the fish into tapwater. Goldfish like room temperature water. Although goldfish can survive shifts in water temperature the sudden addition of cold water into their bowl may be a death blow. In a water change about one-third of the bowl water should be siphoned away and replaced with fresh, declorinated water of the same temperature as that already in the bowl.

The fish must not be overfed. Overfeeding will, he said, bring a quicker need for a change in water and anytime the water is danged your fish's life is in Althous ish fanciers like to water, Brandebern pristine fish probably have a hd, the healthier life if the water is. murkey, but not too dirty. Either extreme may be deadly for the fish. It may be bruised by a cleaning freak who is a fanatic about changing the bowl water. Or it may be suffocated to death in water that's too cloudy.

Commercially prepared fish food is available and costs a few cents per feeding. Fish also like to snack on tiny bits of table scraps, such as lettuce, spinach, cereals, crumbs or boiled potatoes. For a special treat, their diet might be supplemented with Tubifex worms, brine shrimp and ants' eggs. But no feeding should contain more food than your fish can gobble up in five minutes.

As for gobbling goldfish. which from time to time has been a national craze, Brandeberry said he wouldn't even consider such a fate for his fish. "What's the point? It's just done for shock value," he said.

So his goldfish are safe from that questionable fate, at least until they fall into the bowl of a new owner.

North And South Book II

By Bill Lohmenn UPI Feature Writer

"North and South, Book II," the sequel to the occasionally historical and often steamy miniseries that lit up the ratings last fall, picks up where 'North and South'' left off and runs headlong into the Civil War.

It also treads new ground in primetime history when it airs next week.

A 12-hour miniscries like its predecessor, "Book II" airs for six nights on ABC, WESH-TV, Channel 2, beginning Sunday, May 4. and concluding Sunday. May 11. marking the first time it chronicled the lives and loves of two families - one from the North and the other from the South - in the period leading up to the Civil War. ABC was so certain of its eventual success, "Book II" went into production nearly three months before the first episode of "North and South" was on the air.

"No question it was a big gamble by the network, but it worked out well," said producer Robert Papazian.

Executive producer David L. Wolper, who produced the sequel to "Roots," believes the quick turnaround will help "Bool: 11."

Winkler Turns Mogu

By Versee Boott UPI Hellywood Reporter HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Henry

Winkler, once the Fonz in "Happy Days," has become one of the few actors to succeed as a producer of TV series.

A successful TV producer ts defined these days as anyone who can originate a scries, make a pilot and then sell it as a primetime show on one of the three major networks.

There are virtually hundreds of such men and women in Hollywood with "properties" they believe would make hit situation comedies or longrunning dramatic shows.

About 1 percent of them manage to get as far as a pilot film and a fraction of that number live to see the day when their show actually becomes a series.

Even then, the mortality rate of new series is horrendous: their life-expectancy is less than 13 weeks.

There have been superproducers - Norman Lear, Aaron Spelling, Garry Marshall, to name three - who repeatedly succeeded with show after hit show.

But few actors - Michael Landon is one - have had two shows running in prime time simultaneously.

Winkler has accomplished that difficult trick with "McGyver" and "Mr. Sunshine.

"McGyver" is an hour-long adventure spoof starring Richard Dean Anderson as a superhero who gets the job done by resourceful cunning and without the use of firearms. "Mr. Sunshine" is a half-hour comedy starring Jeffrey Tambor in the role of a blind English teacher.

Winkler attributes much of his success to his partnership with veteran TV producerdirector John Rich, who has contributed to some of the biggest series hits in the history of the tube.

"Our agent brought me together with John," Winkler said the other day at the Paramount Studios commissary. "We both had production deals with ABC but we didn't have anything ready to go.

Friday, May 2, 1986—3

Rich, an energetic, muscular man in his 50s, nodded at Winkler's words and said, "Henry and I worked on the phone together for six months before we ever saw each other. We were just too busy on other projects."

"But there was real com-munication," Winkler said. We understood each other and the sort of shows we wanted to get on the air. It was as if we'd worked together for years."

"When we finally did get together our first two projects made it to prime time," Rich said. "We're dedicated to quality. The network loved our first pilot, but we didn't. So we pulled it back. We actually un-sold the series and told them: 'Trust us. We'll be back."

The pilot, a sitcom about a

"We made a lot of changes with 'Mr. Sunshine,'" Winkler said. "We really didn't want to make it a sitcom in the conventional sense. I like to call it a hour one-act play every week."

Rich put in. "We want the action and dialogue to flow evenly instead of cutting from acene to acene with a bunch of one-liners. We tried to avoid a blind protagonist in a comedy would put a little English on the ball," Winkler said. "The greatest comedy comes from conflict and a feeling of being

Dear Debra - I'm a big fan of "Simon and Simon." Can you tell me about Gerald McRaney, who plays Rick Simon? What other work has he done? When and where was he born? Married? Anything else about him. Thank you very much! - C.S., Michigan City, Lad.

McRancy, who was born in Collins, Miss., is married with three children, aged 19, 16 and 4. He began his TV career with a guest spot on "Night Gallery" and followed that with guest appearances on "Gunsmoke," "How the West Was Won," "The Rockford Files," "CHIPs" and "The Dukes of Hazzard." He's appeared on "Roots II: The Next Generation," "The Jordan Chance," "The Haunting Passion," "Stranger in the House," "Women in White," "Love Story" and "The Trial of Chaplain Jensen," all on television. In 1984, he played in the film "The Never Ending Story" and has made another film, "Jackals," with co-star Jameson Parker.

Dear Debra - What other series besides "The Colbys" has Ken Howard appeared in? — T.M., Des Moines, Iowa.

Howard has appeared in "The Manhunter," "Adam's Rib." "The White Shadow" and "It's Not Easy.'
