NEWS DIGEST

BRIEFS

Attorney recognized

SANFORD — City attorney William (Bill) L. Colbert was recognized last week as the outstanding municipal attorney of the year for 1995.

Colbert was presented with the Paul S. Buchman Award by the Florida Municipal Attorneys Association at the annual seminar at the Sanibel Harbour Resort and Spa.

Colbert serves as the city attorney for the cities of Oviedo, Sanford and DeBary. He became city attorney for Oviedo in 1979, for Sanford in 1981 and for DeBary in 1994.

Colbert has worked on behalf of numerous cities in Florida since 1971. His service includes being an assistant city attorney and municipal judge for Oviedo, assistant city attorney and city prosecutor for Altamonte Springs, assistant city attorney and city prosecutor for Longwood, city attorney for St. Cloud as well as the positions he currently holds.

A lifelong resident of Sanford, Colbert is currently the managing partner in the law firm of Stenstrom, McIntosh, Colbert, Whigham and Simmons, P.A.

The Florida Municipal Attorneys' Association is composed of city attorneys throughout the state. Organization members met for the seminar July 13-15.

Home ownership meeting

SANFORD — Home ownership will be discussed during meetings July 26 and 27 at meeting sponsored by Our Home of Seminole County Inc. and Consolidated Funding Corporation of Longwood.

Individuals will learn about programs designed to make homeownership affordable. The evening meetings titled "The path to homeownership" will be conducted from 7-9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Country Club Shopping Center, 1710 W. Airport Blvd.

James Montel, senior loan officer of CFC, will present financing information on affordable housing.

Reservations for the meetings may be obtained by calling Michelle Leatherbury or Susan Jones at 322-8447.

Tax protester indicted

ORLANDO — A Lake Mary man who threatened to seize an Internal Revenue Service office last year has been indicted and could face up to 187 years in prison if convicted.

Lewis Grant McEwan, 58, faces 22 charges, including forgery, fraud, obstruction of justice, income tax evasion and possessing a machine gun and a rifle silencer.

His Casselberry collection agency, Loss Recovery Services, also was named in the indictment made public Friday.

McEwan was arrested eight months ago by IRS and FBI agents on charges of filing a bogus $1.1 million lien against the government and interfering with the IRS.

He has been free on $100,000 bail, but will be summoned to appear in court soon on the new charges.

A few days before his arrest, McEwan told a public rally of anti-government supporters near Casselberry that he planned to form a militia to defend members from tyranny.

He also said he wanted to form a people's grand jury to indict, try and if necessary, hang public officials who violate the Constitution.

McEwan said he was not serious about seizing the IRS office or hanging anyone, but just trying to show that the IRS' system of filing liens and seizing property was illegal and cruel.

MusicFest: Community is united through God, gospel

SANFORD — What the crowd lacked in size, it made up for with its exuberance.

Hugged tightly around the stage, those who gathered in Ft. Mellon Park for MusicFest 95 sang, danced and praised God.

The MusicFest brought together many from the community for the purpose of prayer and for praising God with music with styles ranging from rap to jazz to traditional gospel.

"This is what real community unity is all about," said Meredith Carnes of Sanford. "We can all be one people. You can see that here. We need to show the rest of the community how we can do this."

Daniel Andrews clasped his hands tightly together and jumped in a frantic circle as he

School district facility nears completion

By VICKI DeBORMIER

SANFORD — Looming over and behind the Seminole Center shopping center, the four story Seminole County Public Schools Educational Services Center building is nearly complete.

The district staff won't be moving in for another three months or so.

The building has been under construction for nearly a year, but modular furniture, computer systems and a phone system still need to be installed.

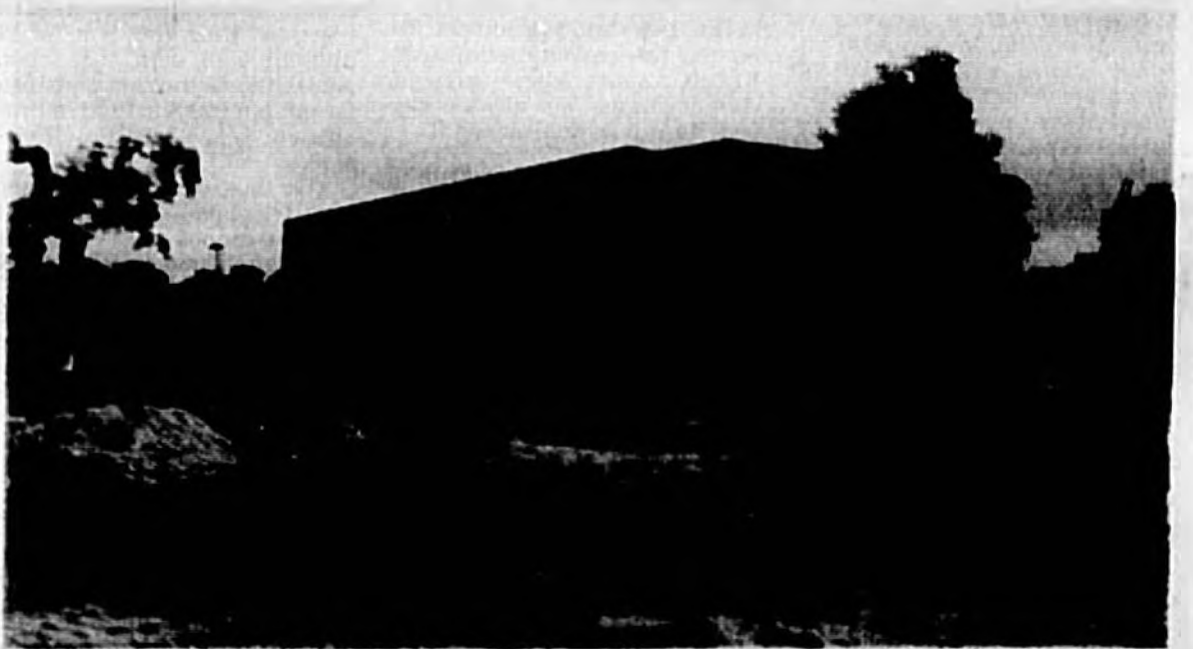

"This is the final phase," said Diane Kramer, director of facilities planning, "but there's still quite a bit to do."

Staff members at the current offices on Mellonville Avenue are chomping at the bit to get into their new facility.

The building they now occupy is cramped. Departments share tiny office spaces and boxes of papers are stored in corners and in hallways for lack of any proper facilities for that purpose.

The air in the building, air quality inspectors have told them, circulates poorly. As a result molds are thriving in the air conditioning and SANFORD — Kathy Shaw isn't one to sit back and watch government happen.

The petite woman in an all-cotton skirt and blouse and all natural grass-green sandals has spent the last few weeks walking the neighborhoods around Crystal Lake, both in Lake Mary and in unincorporated Seminole County.

Shaw believes in the power of the people and has been gathering signatures on a petition in hopes of convincing Seminole County commissioners not to approve the rezoning change that would put

No cop station in mall?

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — In October, 1994, the Sanford City Commission and police department were offered a location at Seminole Towne Center mall for use as a police community center. Although some exchange of financial requirements was indicated, it appeared as though the site would be offered with no cash layout by the city.

Things appear to have changed.

When first presented by Tom Schneider, senior vice president of Simon Property Development, the location was described as having a value of between $155,000 and $236,000 in rent, during the next 10 years. The space however, was to SANFORD — For years, the unemployed workers in the area immediately surrounding Sanford have voiced concern over the lack of jobs. Others, who believe they are underpaid in the present jobs, have also wanted opportunities to improve their income.

When developers announced the plans for the Seminole Towne Center mall, many seeking employment looked at its coming as the influx of jobs the Sanford area needed.

Well, it's here.

Major tenant stores at the Seminole Towne Center mall, scheduled to open next month, have employment offices and are accepting job applications.

POLICE BRIEFS

Another charge

Monday, Lake Mary police chief Richard Beary apprehended Ernest Earl Fields, 45, of Miami, charging him with armed bank robbery. Fields has now been given an additional charge of driving with a suspended license.

Drug arrests

Sanford police conducted a traffic stop Thursday in the 1000 block of S. Hickory Avenue. Two passengers in the vehicle were subsequently placed under arrest in connection with drugs. Little Walter Taylor, 18, of 1011 W. Sixth Street and Jermaine Jerome Bradley, 18, of 1506 Southwest Road, were each charged with possession of cannabis with intent to distribute, and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute. The arrest report also indicated the driver of the vehicle was arrested, but no separate arrest report was immediately available.

More drug arrests

Anthony Tyrone Lewis, 25, 2408 S. Lake Avenue, Sanford, was located by Sanford police in the 1400 block of W. 13th Street Thursday. Police arrested him after observing reported drug activities. He was charged with possession of cannabis under 20 grams, possession with intent to distribute cannabis, possession of cocaine, and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute.

Lewd charges

Kandy Kay Allen, 27, of Gaston, N.C., was arrested by an undercover Sanford police officer Wednesday near First Street and French Avenue in downtown Sanford. She was charged with lewd and lascivious behavior and assignment to commit a lewd act.

Traffic stop

Robert James Johnson, 23, 1508 Cedar Creek, Sanford, was stopped by sheriff's deputies Wednesday on U.S. Highway 17-92. He was charged with driving with a suspended license.

Domestic arrest

Anthony Gary Rowe, 24, 1970 South Street, Sanford, was arrested by deputies at his residence Thursday following a reported argument with a female. He was charged with aggravated battery domestic violence.

Stolen vehicles

• Sheriff's deputies are searching for a white 1993 Ford van, license number KSN-25U, reported stolen Thursday from a construction site in the 200 block of Hickman Road.
• Sanford police are looking for a blue 1987 Chevrolet, license number BBZ-924, reported stolen Thursday in the 1300 block of Lake Avenue.

Warrants

• Matthew Thomas Harris, 19, 1002 E. Seventh Street, Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of battery.
• Virgil Braxton, 42, 806 E. 14th Street, Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday, for violation of probation on a conviction of having a suspended drivers license.
• Marvin M. Martin, 22, 3000 E. 20th Street, turned himself in at the jail Thursday. He was wanted on a warrant for aggravated assault.
• Regina Renee McKinney, 25, 4220 S. Orlando Drive, was arrested at the State Probation Office Thursday. She was wanted for four instances of violation of community control on a conviction of grand theft.
• Edward George Lewis, 50, of Caselberry, was located by Sanford police Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of obtaining property with a worthless check.

Cops ask public for help in locating missing man

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Staff Writer

A search is underway for a 27-year-old man who disappeared early last month under suspicious circumstances. Investigators from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office major crime's section are asking the public for their help in locating him.

According to the sheriff's office, Wade Spencer Miller of 704 Cherokee Cir., Sanford, was last seen by his friend John Bledsoe in the early morning hours of Monday, June 5.

They said Miller spent the night at Bledsoe's house at 713 Cherokee Cir., Sanford.

Bledsoe reported to deputies that when he woke up that morning, Miller and his 1987 maroon Nissan pickup truck were gone. The truck was found later in the day on I-4 between Sanford and Deltona. Miller, who is 6-foot-2, 150 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes, has not been seen since.

Miller shared a home with his sister, Kathy Providence.

Providence told investigators that she last saw her brother on June 4 when he came home to shower after he and Bledsoe had spent the afternoon washing the pickup truck. She said he told her he was going out for the evening.

Investigators said Miller's mother, Sylvia Yoder, has received phone calls stating that her son is being held against his will.

They said that Yoder first reported him missing on Monday, June 19. She told investigators that he had disappeared before, but that she did not become suspicious until he had been gone for two weeks.

Sheriff's investigators said Miller was not employed, but he was looking for a job when he was last seen.

Anyone who has information about Miller should call Investigator Randy Garrett at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, 330-6650.

Bell Systems facility going up; Lake Mary Chamber moves soon

By NICK PFEIFAUER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Greater Lake Mary/Heathrow Chamber of Commerce devoted the entire front page of their July edition of "Exclusive" to welcoming Cincinnati Bell Information Systems.

According to the chamber's newsletter, ground was officially broken for the 185,000 square foot $32 million Data Center and Office Complex on June 22.

The facility is now under construction at its 38 acre site at 301 International Parkway in Heathrow International Business Center, and is clearly visible to passers-by on Interstate-4.

The center is a three story 125,000 square foot office building with a 60,000 square-foot data center which will house some 700 CBIS employees currently operating in two separate buildings in Maitland.

Construction is expected to be completed by mid-1996.

On hand for the official ground-breaking observance were CBIS President and CEO James F. Orr, Executive Vice President of Pizzuti Development Clifford D. Aikens, and Randy Morris, chairman of the Seminole County commission.

Morris is also a member of the board of directors of the chamber.

The county commission is credited with having assisted in obtaining the company, by approving a $550,000 economic incentive to be used for permit and impact fees.

Meanwhile, the chamber offices are preparing to move to a brand new location near the Cincinnati Bell facility. Also on the west side of Interstate-4, it will be located in the new Stirling Preview Center.

"At the present time," said office manager Sam Maynard-Hall, "everything is in a relative mess here at our old office because things are being packed and moved about getting ready for the move."

The chamber has been operating from 3821 Lake Emma Road in Lake Mary for a number of years, having moved to that location from the downtown area.

The moving date has been tentatively set for Monday, July 31. "We don't expect any shut-down in our chamber operations," Maynard-Hall said. "If everything goes as planned, it will be out of here on a Friday, and opening business at our new headquarters on Monday."

Summer crime: A reminder

Perhaps it's time for another reminder. With this summertime heat comes open car windows, and motors left running at times to keep the vehicle's air conditioner operating.

Each summer, vehicular burglaries have increased during the hot days. More and more people are rolling down the windows and forgetting to close them when parking. Many people also pull up to a convenience store and leave their car motors running while they "dash" inside. (The time in the store however, depends on the number of customers ahead of you). Meanwhile, you are inviting robbers to do you in.

"The vehicle's door were not locked," or "the windows were down," often are contained in police reports regarding vehicular burglaries. It's nothing new. Police have been writing up these kind of theft reports ever since cars with lockable doors and rollable windows first hit the streets.

This action is not only foolish, but for those who have items stolen from their vehicles, it's often costly. Some insurance companies will not reimburse for stolen items if the vehicle has not been properly secured.

Then too, look at the items taken. People have been robbed of items from their vehicles which should never have been left in them: firearms, portable radios, purses, wallets, laptop computers, portable telephones, and many other items.

The burglars are out there. They are looking for something to steal in order to sell the items for cash with which to purchase drugs or alcohol.

There is no question that some burglars will break into a vehicle regardless of how securely it may be locked. Some are experts, and can break in within a matter of seconds. It is difficult to stop them.

But others, inexperienced in such thievery, don't have to improve their ability. Members of the general public are providing them with the opportunities to burglarize vehicles without having to jimmy a window or pop a lock.

These warnings have been made before. They will, no doubt, be made again. An occasional word of caution however, if taken, can go a long way toward helping a few people who seem to forget that among all of the people walking our streets today, some are not very honest.

LETTER

Militia disbands

This letter's purpose is to try, in some way to unscramble the mess that many in the media have made of the militia issue, and in particular, the second regiment of St. Lucie County, Fla. This letter is also my last words on the subject, because this militia is now disbanded and will not regroup.

It was never our intent to frighten the public or trouble the police, or the sheriff. Nor was it intended that harm come to anyone, including the federal government. If some people were concerned, I offer my sincere apology. However, if those in the media had reported what they were told in the first place, no one would have been distressed.

The original idea was to help the police and citizens protect themselves in the event there were a hurricane, riot, or if some other disaster struck this area. Never to break the law or do something unspeakable to our own people. In any case many former members are still your neighbors and fellow citizens who care deeply about this nation, no matter what the leftist press has to say. Our country is in danger from the people that we have elected to high government office, and we will all be better off if we just vote them all out in November of '96.

Berry's World

"Oh, don't mind the rubber glove. It's just an idea I picked up from the White House."

Helping families help themselves

The number three item in the Republican Contract with America is welfare reform. Welfare reform is aimed principally at the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program. When public assistance or welfare programs were initiated during the presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt they were sorely needed. America missed a golden opportunity to reform the public assistance program after the Second World War. At that time the economy was strong and jobs were plentiful. Instead of applying the principle of "teaching people to farm, instead of just giving them food," we failed to really help people in financial distress to alter their behavioral patterns. The programs as designed promoted dependency and psychologically robbed individuals of a belief in their own capabilities.

Thus generations of families interpreted public welfare as an end in itself and assumed it would always be there for them. No one would choose public welfare as a permanent way of life if they believed themselves capable and that there were other available options. Rather the welfare programs as designed violated some of our most cherished principles. For example, when I was employed by the Philadelphia County Board of Assistance, absence of the father from the household was a salient factor in granting assistance to a mother and children. The General Assistance Program (for employable males) was no better. We had no training program to facilitate their entry or re-entry into the job market. For years we closed our eyes to the damage the programs were doing and affirmed a substandard quality of life for millions of

Americans.

The solution to what American society has created over decades should not be to simply dismiss citizens from public welfare rolls, but to plan an orderly transition. This would involve: psychological counseling, employment training, job creation and job placement. It is my understanding that some states have embarked in helping welfare recipients to help themselves by planning and structuring change while providing the necessary supports.

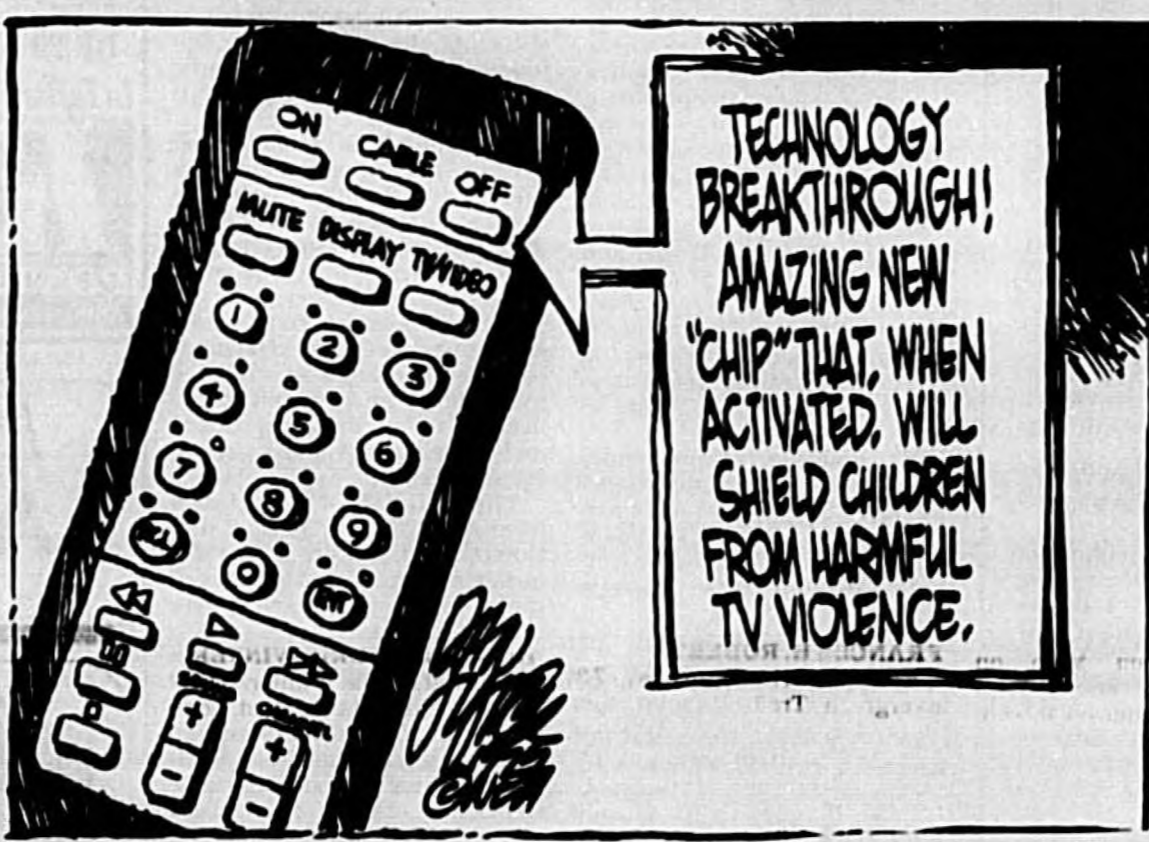

Public assistance or welfare is often singled out as one of the chief villains in our effort to balance the budget, but there are multiple programs that are not called welfare that assist various members of this society. What does one call the billions and billions of dollars spent on top secret weapons that never see the light of day. Is that welfare for would-be inventors, or simply pork barrel gifts masked behind top level security regulations? What were the savings and loans bail-outs all about?

If balancing the federal budget is the national goal then we should mimic how a family might balance their budget by each member making some sacrifice. Some other ways that might be considered in balancing the budget are: increase the cigarette tax to 99 cents per pack which would yield 49.1 billion; taxing growth of assets relative to stock or other property (capital gains) would yield $37.5 billion; ending the exemptions on income earned by U.S. corporations on operations in Puerto Rico and other territories would yield 19 percent. There are multiple methods of becoming more fiscally responsible as a nation without increasing human suffering.

Americans, each of us is this country's greatest resource. We are privileged to live in the greatest nation in the world. We have been abundantly blessed. Evidently since there is no more "cold war" to unite us as a nation we are becoming a nation of splintered priorities. We have become one issue, above all others, oriented. Each issue is so important it is worthy of tearing the very fabric of our nation into shreds to promote our own agenda. Freedom is wonderful and the preservation of freedom is all of our responsibility. This can be done if we can return to respectful dialogue on issues that are personally important to us.

If the upcoming presidential election and political campaigns are only going to be used as vehicles to divide the nation, then America will reap the fruits of these efforts for generations. It is clear our nation is badly in need of divine guidance. We all need to pray for our nation and our leaders that God may help us to fulfill our destiny as a nation that cherishes liberty, justice and opportunity for all of its citizens.

JOSEPH SPEAR

Pat Robertson on truth serum

JOE (sotto voce): Ladies and gentlemen, we are about to begin a press conference with Parson Pat Robertson, well-known televangelist and founder of the Christian Coalition.

This news conference promises, however, to be like none you have ever witnessed before. Just minutes ago, your intrepid correspondent sneaked backstage and, using a small blowgun, shot a tiny dart containing a powerful truth serum into Parson Pat's posterior. Every word he utters will be the unvarnished truth, unlike the news you normally get from politicians.

Ladies and gentlemen, the next face you see, smiling like the mastiff who ate the mailman, the next voice you hear, dripping nectar like a sated hummingbird, will be that of the avuncular, the charming ... Parson Pat Robertson.

PARSON PAT: I would prefer to take questions today about our new "Contract With the American Family."

but feel free to ask about anything you want and I will attempt an honest response.

JOE: Your so-called contract sounds almost like the same ideological agenda you are always pushing, except that you use soothing language and talk about things like prayer and tax relief -- things that few people could possibly disagree with. And you don't even mention homosexuality or the anti-abortion amendment. How should we interpret this?

PARSON PAT: I cannot tell a lie. If you will look in the introduction, you will find a reference to this contract being the "first word" in an "incremental start" on our total program. (Chuckle). We call it our Camel's-Noe-Under-the-Tent Contract.

TOM: Your executive director, Ralph Reed, said that every item in your contract was tested with focus groups by the same pollster who tested the Republican "Contract With America."

PP: Ralph's a cutie, isn't he? He's my little Time magazine cover boy with the sound-bite brain. Yes, it's true. Everything was market-tested by Frank Luntz.

DICK: So what's in the contract is not about what's right and wrong. It's about what will sell.

PP: That's right. You wanna give 'em the Word, first you gotta suck 'em in.

HARRIET: I'd like to quote something written by 18th century British statesman Edmund Burke. He said, "Politics and the pulpit are terms that have little agreement. No sound ought to be heard in the church but the healing voice of Christian charity." Don't these words apply to you?

PP: To tell the truth, yes, those words apply to me. But I have conflicting desires. I want to be a television preacher, but I also want to be a politician. What can I say?

JOE: You mean you still want to be president?

PP: First I intend to take over the Republican Party -- why am I saying these things? -- and then I intend to take over the White House, and then I intend to turn this democracy into a theocracy. I will be the Chief Theocrat, and the people can express their appreciation. If they so desire, with contributions to my good works. Cash, check, money order, plastic -- makes no difference, we'll take 'em all.

Early this month, I attended a family reunion. July appears to be the most common month for such gatherings as there have been many local residents having similar events.

A three-day event, it was considered highly successful. With relatives from both the north and south, the site was selected as a mid-point to avoid persons having to travel great distances. As a result, it ended up in northern Georgia.

It was a small town. It had only two local motels, each with its own restaurant. Antique shops stretched on both sides of the one-street town, adding to the flavor. For beauty, there were mountains nearby and sparkling brooks.

What? No tourist attractions? No, none at all. That is one reason the reunion was considered a success. This was a situation where members of a large family, many of whom hadn't seen each other in a long time, gathered together. There was nothing to do to distract from being with each other. There was time to talk, meet some of the new cousins and grandchildren, and discuss what events had affected their lives since the last gathering.

There is a tourist attraction here in Central Florida which offers to take care of all arrangements for family reunions. They supply food, entertainment, and if needed, obtain lodging for out-of-town visitors. This is great. Except.... after the picnic is over, people spread out to visit the attraction, and the companionship between family members which was supposed to have been achieved, is gone with the wind.

Certainly, there are probably some families who would prefer to eat and move along as rapidly as possible. But for relatives who really care about each other, a gathering should be exactly that: a gathering of family, of loved-ones, of people who care about one another.

Family reunions, if properly planned, and held in the proper setting, can brighten spirits of those who may be down, and excite others who are refreshed through an honest outpouring of love.

If your family reunion flopped this year, don't give up the ship. When it comes around again, join in the planning and become involved in the activities.

If it was successful, you know what is meant by family values. The love of a family for each other is a wonder to behold.

IN BRIEF

Stop smoking now

SANFORD — Central Florida Regional Hospital will present the highly-effective Wellness Seminar for smoking cessation on Tuesday, Sept. 19 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The two hour session combines the power of hypnosis and behavior modification.

Participants learn to stop smoking without weight gain or withdrawal.

The first 45 minutes of each session is a free orientation. If the participant feels comfortable with the program, then they pay a one-time fee of $50.

This fee includes a powerful hypnotic session, a behavior modification booklet, a home reinforcement audio cassette tape and unlimited free repetitions of the seminar if needed.

The seminar is presented monthly at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

For more information call 1-800-848-2822.

CPR class set

ORLANDO — The American Red Cross in Orlando is offering an adult CPR class on Tuesday, July 24.

This course is designed to prepare individuals to perform life-saving emergency skills for adults such as rescue breathing, one-rescuer CPR, and first aid for choking.

Students may also take Component I of the Community First Aid and Safety courses.

The hours for the courses are 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The cost is $25, which includes the cost of the booklet 'Till Help Arrives'. A textbook will be provided for in-class use only or may be purchased separately.

The class will be held at the American Red Cross of Central Florida's headquarters at 5 N. Bumby Ave. in Orlando.

For more information, call 894-4141.

Florida Hospital screenings

ORLANDO — Florida Hospital Community Health Services will offer a Lifestyle Screening on Sunday, Aug. 20 from 8 to 11 a.m.

It will take place in Conference Room 1 of the Florida Hospital Executive Building, 2520 N. Orange Ave. in Orlando.

The screening includes individual lifestyle counseling, a lipid profile, a fasting glucose test, a blood pressure reading and a health risk appraisal.

The screening costs $35.

For more information or to register, call Florida Hospital Community Health Services at 741-4790.

Better services now available through CFRH-Florida CORF

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford has acquired Florida CORF of Volusia County.

Florida CORF is Volusia County's oldest and largest comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facility (CORF).

The acquisition enables the hospital to expand its array of services to residents of Volusia County and parts of Seminole County.

Florida CORF was founded in 1985 and is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities.

It provides coordinated interdisciplinary therapy for patients requiring rehabilitation for stroke, arthritis, amputations, wound care, pulmonary problems, and work-related injuries.

Other services include occupational therapy, speech and respiratory therapy, and physical therapy.

Florida CORF has two state-of-the-art facilities: one in Deltona and the other in South Daytona.

"It's a perfect match for us," said Doug Sills, chief executive officer for Central Florida Regional Hospital, about the new scope of services that will be offered by the hospital. "Florida CORF has one of the finest reputations in the state and the services are excellent, which fits our mission to serve the community with high quality and comprehensive health care services."

On the other side of the deal, Diana Friedman, president and founder of Florida CORF, is also pleased with the acquisition. "Excellent patient care has been of utmost importance to me since the inception of Florida CORF," she said. "I see this as a way to offer the best of two worlds."

"One is the ability to continue providing the best rehabilitation services to the communities in and around Volusia County," she added. "The second is enabling the CORF concept to be expanded and offered to patients being served by Sanford's Central Florida Regional Hospital."

Central Florida Regional Hospital is part of Columbia Park Health Care System.

New wing now open at ORMC

Geoffrey the Giraffe was the host of a line party for a group of hospitalized children this week.

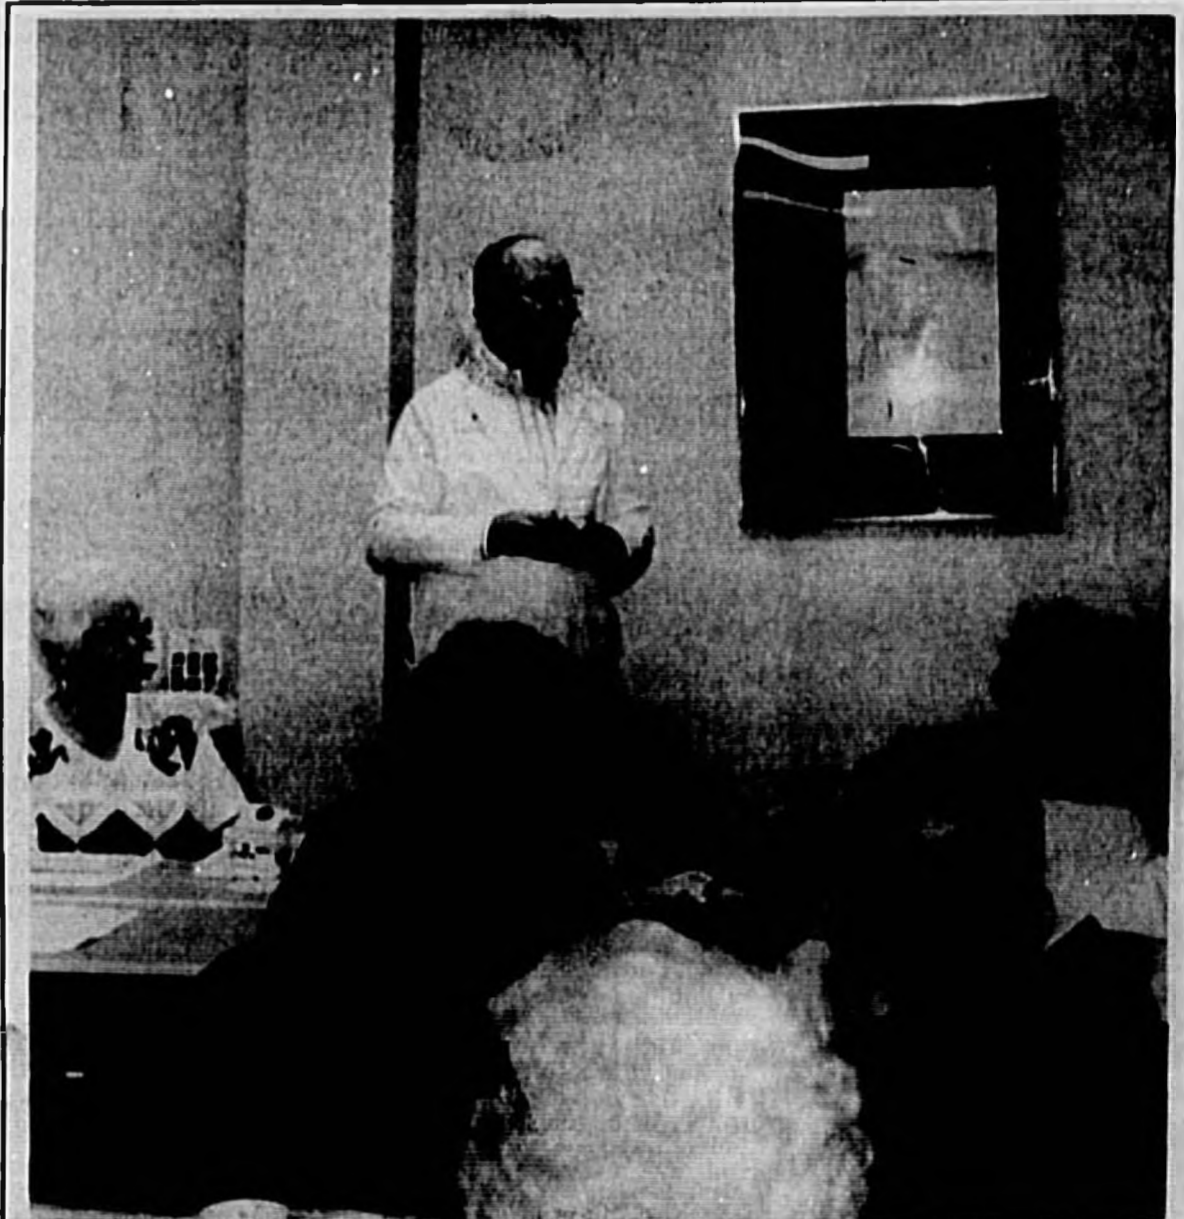

The Toys R Us mascot handed out goody bags to patients at Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women in Orlando.

It was all a part of the dedication of the new Toys R Us wing at the Hubbard House, a Victorian style home away from home located at the main campus of Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Toys R Us, in conjunction with Children's Benefit Fund, Inc. named Orlando Regional Healthcare Foundation as the beneficiary of a $100,000 trust fund during this year's annual gala in New York City.

Hubbard House was selected for its outstanding commitment to providing a home-like atmosphere for the families of ORMC patients and the Arnold Palmer Hospital.

The Toys R Us wing includes rooms on the second floor of the 21,000-square-foot facility.

Getting to know you

Dr. Russell K. Shaw spoke to interested participants at a recent Dinner with the Doc program at Central Florida Regional Hospital. Shaw spoke about how to get to know your doctor better so you can receive better treatment in his lecture "Would you like to learn how to communicate more effectively with your doctor?"

Doctors must tell parents with genetic diseases to test kids

By ADAM YEMANS
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Doctors who fail to tell patients with inheritable diseases to get their children tested could be taken to court by the offspring under a Florida Supreme Court ruling Thursday.

The children don't need to be patients of the doctors treating their parents to sue the physicians if they fail to make such a warning, the court said in a precedent-setting decision.

The ruling stemmed from the case of a woman who had sued the physicians and hospital who treated her mother for a genetically transferable disease but did not recommend she get her children tested.

Marianne New of Lakeland was treated in 1987 for thyroid cancer. Three years later, New's daughter, Heidi Pate, learned she had the same disease.

Pate sued her mother's doctors, claiming she could have taken preventative steps that could have cured her if she had known earlier. Pate underwent major surgery to remove her thyroid and still faces a cancer risk, said her lawyer, Nolan Carter of Orlando.

Carter, Pate's attorney, called the decision "fantastic" and said Pate's suit will return to trial court.

"It puts some teeth into standard of care," he said.

Pate's suit had been dismissed by lower courts, which said she did not have a professional relationship with her mother's doctors and had failed to establish they owed her a "duty of care."

Courts have ruled in the past that in order for someone to sue a physician, a professional relationship must exist between the two.

A trial court rejected Pate's argument that her case should be based on past decisions recognizing a doctor's duty to warn others of a patient's contagious disease.

The state Supreme Court, in reversing the lower court rulings in the Pate case, said decisions in non-medical cases that showed an absence of a professional relationship "does not necessarily foreclose liability."

"A patient's children fall within the zone of foreseeable risk," Justice Charles Wells wrote in the court's opinion.

Lawyers for Dr. James Threlkel of Lakeland, Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville, and Geisler Clinic, P.A. in Lakeland, which had treated Pate's mother, did not return messages seeking comment Thursday.

have been offered in exchange for an impact fee credit for the capital outlay for the space.

At that time, then-Commissioner A.A. McClanahan didn't agree with the concept. He suggested the city shouldn't be locked down to a particular area. "We may want some type of floating police department," he said.

The matter had not been brought back for consideration before the commission until the last week in February of this year. At that time, the proposal called for the city to agree to pay $30,000 in impact fee benefits or construction value to the Simon organization in exchange for the space. Simon would then lease the space to the city for five years, with no minimum rental.

Nothing was done regarding the proposal, with City Manager Bill Simmons saying additional information was still needed.

Now, with the grand opening of the mall only weeks away, the matter has finally returned to the city commission for consideration.

This time however, Simmons plans to recommend that the city not approve the lease.

The proposal is scheduled for initial discussion during the commission work session meeting Monday afternoon, and as part of a five-part item listed on the agenda for the regular meeting Monday night.

The Simon Property Group has submitted a revised lease for the police community center at the mall. Much of the original lease, including Section 2, dealing with "minimum and percentage rent" has been deleted, as have other paragraphs and sections dealing with the amount of money involved in the transaction.

A new section has been added to the lease however, Section 11, titled "Key Money," says, "As additional consideration for Landlord entering into this lease, Tenant (city of Sanford) shall, on or before the commencement date, pay landlord (Mall) key money in the amount of $30,000."

While the written agenda has not detailed exactly why Simmons plans to call for a denial, additional information has been supplied to the commission by Deputy Police Chief Joe Dillard.

At the request of the city, Dillard undertook a survey of malls throughout the Central Florida area, regarding facilities used as police facilities within the malls. Dillard examined the Altamonte Mall, Lakeland Mall, and Del An Plaza and West Volusia Mall to Daytona Beach.

Dillard also conferred with Seminole County Undersheriff Steve Harriett regarding the five sheriff's community centers.

In no case did Dillard find any of the malls where rent was charged for a law enforcement facility.

Regarding the Lakeland Mall, Dillard noted, "The operators of the mall felt that the police and the community should be represented and afforded them the opportunity to occupy the space made available at no charge."

He added, "Altamonte Springs (police department) has the privilege to occupy more than one space for their needs, and the most significant fact is that it is rent free."

"It was found that none of the police departments polled within the Central Florida area paid any amount for the utilization of these spaces," Dillard concluded.

Monday's Sanford city commission work session will begin at 4 p.m., with the regular meeting to begin at 7 p.m.

The Sanford City Hall is located at 300 N. Park Avenue.

Jobs

Parisian, one of the larger stores, started out trying to fill nearly 200 full and part-time jobs.

As of earlier this week, store Manager Donna Holdnack said there is still a need for between 50 and 70 employees. "Most of these will be part-time jobs," she said, "but we have a number of full-time positions also available."

Holdnack said in addition to sales staffers, she is seeking sales support personnel, and those who can handle alterations. "A good alterations person is often difficult to find," she said, "and we want the very best people we can get."

She stressed, "Supertor customer service has been the hallmark of Parisian's success for more than 100 years. This is why we carefully select our sales associates."

She commented that possibly as many as 20 persons are interviewed for each new hire.

Prior to being placed on the sales floor, associates undergo an extensive 45-hour classroom instructional program which provides sales, service and merchandise training. Previous retail experience is not a requirement at Parisian. Holdnack said the only requirement is for a person to be "genuinely nice and considerate."

Parisian has set up an employment office at Longwood Village, 1783 W. SR-434 in Longwood. For information, phone 767-8398. The office will only be operating until August 12.

The new Sears store is also seeking full and part-time employees. They have set up an office at 320 Towne Center Circle in Sanford and are also accepting applications for all positions at the Sears Auto Center.

Other stores have also been advertising for job openings.

The opportunities are presenting themselves. When the job lists are filled, an onslaught of hirings such as this may not be seen for years.

Business and employment is growing in Sanford at the Seminole Town Center mall. It's what many have been waiting for.

Echolses, Tamms recall Alaskan cruise

Two Sanford couples have arrived home from an adventure of a lifetime — a cruise to Alaska. It will take Lottie and Lamar Echols and Jean and Henry Tamm a long time to come down to earth after their exciting experiences in the cold, north country.

"We really had a good time," Lottie said. They flew to Seattle where they spent a week touring Seattle and British Columbia before boarding a luxury cruise ship, the Regency Rainbow, that was to be their home for the next week.

Lottie raved on and on over the beauty of Vancouver and all of the beautiful flowers at Victoria which, she said, "was the most gorgeous thing I ever saw."

After boarding the ship, they sailed to Ketchikan, Juneau, Skagway, Sitka and Anchorage. In Juneau, the group boarded a helicopter to get a birdseye view of the majestic glaciers. The helicopter landed and the Sanfords donned special boots to glide around the slippery ice formations.

At Skagway, the foursome took a side trip into Yukon territory which proved to be "most beautiful," according to Lottie. Lots of Eskimos and Indians were observed at Anchorage and "There was outstanding scenery everywhere we went," Lottie said.

SENIOR EDITOR

DORIS DIETRICH

"The weather was just beautiful," Lottie said, "and there was great food everywhere... king crab, lobster... The service on the ship was excellent. Oh, it was a lovely, lovely trip."

After doing Alaska in proper fashion, the travelers boarded a plane in Anchorage and headed for home via a stop in Salt Lake City.

The Echolses are barely home and unpacked, but guess what? Already, they are planning a trip to Nova Scotia next year.

And that's not all. The Tamms hardly arrived back home before flying off again to Colorado to visit Henry's eldest brother. At this writing, they are still in Colorado, but were due back Thursday.

Illness follows trip

Speaking of Alaska, Frieda Tyre and her daughter and son-in-law, Shirley and Bud

Maddox, have also returned from a trip to Alaska. They visited all the sights and had a wonderful time except Frieda was not her usual vivacious self. She felt puny before they left, and upon her return home, went on another reunion trip with Rubye King. At this writing she is hospitalized with pneumonia. We hope by the time you are reading this, Frieda is up and about.

Y event promises fun for all

It's an event requiring skill, stamina, speed and a really good sense of humor. It's the Fifth Annual Seminole YMCA Fun-A-Rama. The event is scheduled for Saturday, August 26 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Seminole Family YMCA in Lake Mary. The Fun-A-Rama consists of seven events each requiring team participation. Last year's events included the Silly Ski Shuffle, the Sling Shot Shoot, and the Rubber Raft Relay.

What the YMCA needs right now is company teams. Each team will consist of six full-time employees, 3 men and 3 women.

The purpose for the Fun-A-Rama is two-fold. It promotes community-wide commitment to both health and fitness and the proceeds enable the YMCA to provide programs for underprivileged children. Last year's Fun-A-Rama raised $5,000 which was used to send children to summer day camps and after school care.

Companies participating in the event will benefit with the team building skills their employees learn while they have fun.

If you're interested in participating, call the YMCA at 321-8944.

Milestones

Monday, July 17, dawned gray, wet and dreary. It wasn't an ordinary summer day. In Lake Mary, it was the first day of school. It was the first day of school in other places too, but who cares? That's how I felt Monday. Depressed and trying desperately to hide it. You see, Monday was my baby's first day of kindergarten.

YMCA Fun-A-Rama participants show their skill in the water balloon pass at last year's event.

I suppose it would have been better had I been able to take her to orientation where we would both have met her teacher and found out where her room was, but this dastardly year round school didn't give us enough of a summer and we were vacationing with relatives.

Chelsea was a little nervous when she woke up Monday morning, but her brother

Nicholas soon had her over that with his talk about how much fun it would be. And, after all, they were getting to use their new backpacks and lunch boxes. I put on a fake smile and hurried everyone along. I didn't want them to take the bus today. I wanted to go to school with them and make sure neither one got a terrible two-headed monster for a teacher. (To my knowledge, this has never happened anywhere, but the rumors are so frequent among the under 12 set, there must be one somewhere.)

Chelsea's room was the first stop. I guess I wanted Nicholas to know where she was in case he had to go save her in the event of some terrible calamity. We met her teacher (one head), hung her backpack up, put her mat and lunch box away and said goodbye. I took Nicholas to his room and repeated the process. I left the school without walking past Chelsea's room. See Rowell, Page 2C

AARP members learn more about Alzheimer's Disease

Shelle Brassler, assistant director of the Alzheimer Resource Center, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping victims of Alzheimer's Disease, and helping family and friends cope with the effects of this devastating disease, spoke about the center and the disease to the members of the Winter Springs AARP at their July meeting.

After describing what Alzheimer's Disease is, a degenerative brain disorder, and the fact that it can linger for two to 25 years before death, and the various stages of degeneration in which the patient may look perfectly healthy in his physical appearance, Brassler explained the course necessary to diagnose Alzheimer's Disease which is essentially excluding other conditions responsible for the various symptoms of confusion, memory loss, personality change, etc. Since there is no definite test to positively identify Alzheimer's Disease, a post mortem brain autopsy is performed to give a definitive diagnosis. A typical evaluation of a patient with suspected Alzheimer's Disease includes the following: social/medical history, sensory/motor functions exam, mental status exam, Cat Scan, Spect Scan, EEG, blood and urine tests, and lumbar puncture. For some reason, the family usually has to request that the patient be evaluated for Alzheimer's

The Black Family Reunion — "Celebrating our Ancestry," was held in the City Beautiful of Sanford, July 7-9. This reunion was spearheaded by the Blacks living in the area.

Special thanks goes out to Felisa Black Gueka, Karen Hillsman, Brenda DeBose and the children of the late Robert and Willie Black. Those attending the reunion brought relatives from the area of Havana, west Florida, Georgia, Rochester, N.Y.; and Miami, Bartow, Jacksonville, West Palm Beach.

The celebration began on Friday evening with a get acquainted dinner with plenty of delicious food. The Saturday morning poolside get-together had a continental breakfast for all of the family.

Lake Sylvan Park was the setting for the afternoon of down-home food, all kinds of games, and the latest music. To view the over-300 family members don their beautiful T-shirts inscribed with the 1995 Black Family Reunion and to see them

Sunday morning worship service was shared by Black family members and the congregation of New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church which was celebrating its 56th anniversary.

The history of the David Black family is as follows: "In memory of the children of David Black, 10 of them to be exact, four of whom came to Sanford in the early 1920s from Havana, Fla., in search of employment and a future for themselves and their families. These proud, industrious people have a long legacy of being strong, hardworking, spiritual individuals who recognize that without God — "nothing would be."

Two of David's children, Robert and Willie Black, resided in Sanford's black community called Roseland Park and attended New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church. That is why the family chose to fellowship with New Bethel on its anniversary. Two other siblings, Bessie and Alice Black Barton Pendleton, resided in another black community near Sanford called Midway, and attended churches located in Midway and Cannan. The other five children of David, Cora Black McDaniels, Green Black, Gus Black, Hester Black Richardson, Lula Black Ford and Oscar Black, resided in and around their birthplace, Havana, Fla. The connection between Havana and Sanford has great historical significance. Sanford's leading historian, Altermese Smith Bentley, wrote in her book, "Georgetown, the History of a Black Community," that the

Rumer, French exchange vows

SANFORD — Diana Lynn Rumer and Nicholas Herbert French are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 20, 1994, at 2 p.m. at Church of Christ, Sanford. The Rev. Tony Black performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmuse R. Ogleby of Sanford. The groom is the son of Mr. William French of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white satin and lace gown with a long, ruffled train. The gown featured a v-neckline topped with a lace applique teardrop collar. The sheer, fitted sleeves were gently puffed at the shoulder and were embellished with lace applique. She wore a white picture-style hat, decorated with white beads and edged with blue silk rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and blue rosebuds tied with blue ribbon streamers.

Angela Fay Ogleby served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a blue taffeta, floor-length gown and carried a bouquet of white silk roses with blue rosebuds tied with blue ribbon streamers.

Jennifer Brown-Robin served as bridesmaid. She wore a light blue taffeta, floor length gown and carried a bouquet identical to the honor attendant's.

Michael French served the groom as best man.

Ushers were Bo Ogleby and Layton Welborn.

Groomsmen were Bill French and Howard East.

Allan Rumer served as ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Sanford Moose Lodge, Sanford.

Driving home alone was difficult, not because of the rain, but because of the tears. It's hard to explain to men or non-parents why I was crying. I wouldn't have believed it of myself before I had kids. After all, I had planned on being a modern, not overly protective mother. I wouldn't be one of those who thought their children were the most beautiful and perfect children in the world. (I admit my children aren't the most perfect, but, objectively speaking, they are the most beautiful.)

Other mothers understand. Most of the women I know cried just like I did. I cried with the first two as well, but this time the tears were a little harder, the sadness a little deeper. Chelsea is the baby of the family. I will not have any more babies. But harder than that is the fact that I am no longer the all knowing adult in my child's life. I'm not the final authority any more. If she has questions to ask, she can ask her teacher. Mom won't necessarily be the one she always runs to.

Chelsea's not a baby any more. She's not a toddler. She's a little girl. I don't know if the kindergarten experience is as hard on working women, but I suspect it is. Milestones aren't called stones for nothing.

I am trying to be grateful that I've been able to stay home with my children rather than resenting the school system for taking them six or seven weeks sooner than they should. I've been very lucky. I work from my home and when I do go out, I've always been able to take Chelsea with me. She's been to AARP meetings, woman's club meetings, garden club meetings, you name it. I've been lucky to have the time I've had.

Still, maybe the school system would consider a pilot program where really nervous and/or emotional mothers are allowed to stay in the classrooms with their children for the first few days or weeks of kindergarten. Or maybe even until the first intervention. I think I'll bring that up at the first PTA meeting.

Journalist's living legacy

DEAR READERS: Recently I received a letter from Lillian Thorpe of Pinehurst, N.C., advising me that her father, Wilfred Peterson, had passed away at the age of 94. He was a fine journalist whose poem "Slow Me Down, Lord" has appeared in my column over the years, also appears in "Keepers," my booklet of the most requested poems and essays.

Mr. Peterson was best known as the author of the "Art of Living" books, eight volumes of essays that appeared in 42 Sunday newspaper magazines during the 1960s and '70s. His books sold more than a million copies during that time.

May I share his thoughts on success from "The Art of Living Treasure Chest" (Simon and Schuster, 1977):

"There are no secrets of success. Success is doing the things you know you should do. Success is not doing the things you know you should not do. Success is discovering your best talents, skills and abilities, and applying them where they will make the most effective contribution to your fellow man. Success is not arriving at the summit of a mountain as a final destination. It is a continuing upward spiral of progress. It is perpetual growth.

However, my all-time favorite is "Slow Me Down, Lord," and to honor his memory, here it is again:

Slow me down, Lord!
Ease the pounding of my heart
By the quieting of my mind.

Amaranth VIP on the go

June McFadden has really been on the go lately since she was honored after being elected Grand Associate Matron of the Grand Court, Order of the Amaranth, State of Florida. She attended the Grand Court meeting in Tampa recently with her daughter and son-in-law, Sharon and Dean Smith who represent the court as Royal Matron and Royal Patron. A banquet will be held in June's honor Nov. 4 in Orlando.

The Amaranth is a fraternal, social and charitable foundation whose special goal is fighting diabetes.

After returning from Tampa, June's son and daughter-in-law, David and Georgia Ann, presented her with a plane ticket to visit San Diego for her birthday present. David, stationed at San Diego, is a Master Chief Petty Officer with 24 years in the Navy. He took a week's leave just to be with his mom and they enjoyed a visit to Mexico. "It was a great trip," June said.

No sooner had June settled down from the California trip than it was time to attend the Supreme Council of the Order of the Amaranth Inc. in Decatur, IL. Over 1,000 members from all over the world attended this assembly. While there, June arranged a breakfast for 51 making up the Florida delegation to visit with each other. "It was most interesting," she said.

June left Decatur and took a bus to New Jersey to attend a wedding of her daughter Colleen's best friend who June said was "like a daughter to me." Colleen had arrived from Florida to attend the wedding which June described as "most unique." She, Colleen, Michael (Colleen's husband) and Colin and suspected Alzheimer's wonderers in case one might become lost.

The Alzheimer's Resource Center is the Central Florida satellite office for the state of Florida Alzheimer's Brain Bank research program. The goal is to find the answers to cure these devastating diseases. Potential donors to the brain bank must register as there are strict criteria regarding clinical diagnosis, and autopsies must be performed within six hours for the purposes of research.

Shelie Brassier also speaks to children's groups regarding understanding Alzheimer's Disease. When addressing children's groups, she brings props that include a walker, crutches, and arm sling, and a briefcase; she selects children to model the props and asks what is wrong with each of the models. All of the children respond that the person with the briefcase is fine, and allows the visual image to remain fixed in the mind of the audience.

Pilots convene in Washington

Ruth Gaines, president of the Pilot Club of Sanford, was the official club delegate to the Pilot International-Pilot International Foundation Annual meeting and convention held in Washington, D.C. July 1-5.

More than 5,000 Pilot delegates attended the event with the theme, "Washington D.C. Gala."

Founded in 1921, Pilot International is a volunteer service organization of executive, business and professional leaders working together to improve the quality of communities throughout the world. At the convention, Florida District was recognized as the first District to establish and Endowment.

Marian Rethwill, immediate past president, attended the convention along with a large Florida representation. Also making the trip to Washington with their wives were Fred Gaines and Lester Rethwill.

The group enjoyed the museums, monuments and history of the nation's capital. They also went on a dinner cruise on the Potomac River and visited the Washington National Cathedral and Mount Vernon.

July Fourth was celebrated on the mall side of the capitol with 400,000 in attendance. Music was by the Washington Symphony Orchestra and all joined in singing "God Bless America" before the colorful fireworks display.

The award involves a two-year search to honor a winning family from each of the 50 states. From among the state winners, one family will be chosen to be recognized by the 1996 Olympic Games held in Atlanta as "America's Youth Baseball Family."

At McDermit's request, Edwina gave her a list of various families from different cities

by Phillip Alder

The Senior Life Master strolled into the card-room about half an hour before his Saturday morning class was to start. He distributed lesson notes and the pre-duplicated boards that contained his example deals.

Some 75 minutes later, the students started to bid and play the first of these deals, which is given in the diagram.

After North makes a limit raise in hearts (explained the SLM), you dabble optimistically for a slam with a four-club cue-bid, but stop in four hearts. Given West's overall, you devalue the spade king.

West's opening lead is the club jack. Play on from there. Most declarers drew trumps, cashed the other club winners and played a diamond to the queen. After West won with the king and returned a diamond, the declarers won with the ace and exited in diamonds, hoping autographed upon request, for $14.95 from P.O. Box 169, Hualyn 1118, NY 11877-0169. Copyright 1995 by NEA, Inc.

This is a deceptive deal (re-summed the SLM), but the contract is guaranteed, assuming West has the spade ace. After drawing trumps and eliminating the clubs, play a low spade from both hands.

Presumably East will win and switch to a diamond, but you win with the ace and lead the spade king. After West wins with the ace, he is endangered. He must either play on diamonds, letting you score your 10th trick with the queen, or return a spade, which yields a ruff-and-discard. In both cases, you lose only one diamond trick to go with the two spades already conceded.

Phillip Alder's new book, "Get Smarter at Bridge," is available.

IN BRIEF

Seminole High prepares for 1995-96

SANFORD — All incoming freshmen are being invited to the school's Freshman orientation on Thursday, Aug. 3.

Freshmen will be able to pick up their schedules beginning at 9 a.m. and will then attend a special assembly at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium.

In addition, schedules for students in tenth through twelfth grade will be available in the guidance office beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the guidance office on that same day.

The school day will start earlier this academic year.

The first bell will ring at 7:20 a.m. and the final bell will ring at 2:20 p.m. On Wednesdays, the school day will end at 1:20 p.m.

Open House, a night when parents can follow their student's schedule and meet his or her teachers is planned for 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Student museum needs docents

SANFORD — The Seminole County Public Schools Student Museum, which is located on West 7th Street in Sanford, is seeking interested volunteers who would like to be docents at the museum.

The museum has several rooms with permanent exhibits which depict periods in Seminole County history. The rooms include the Photographic Essay Lobby, the Turn of the Century Classroom, the Native American Room, the Pioneer Room and Grandma's Attic.

Students from across the district visit the museum during the school year.

Docents would be trained to assist students with hands-on activities in one of the historical areas.

In addition clerical volunteers are needed from 9:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. any day of the week.

Anyone who is interested in being a volunteer, should call Serena Fisher at the Student Museum (322-1902).

Let us know

The Sanford Herald wants to know what is happening at your school.

If you have an event coming up at your school, or if you want to tell us about some of the great things the students at your school are doing.

Send the information to the Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, 32771 or fax it to us at 407-323-9408.

Seminole County students succeed

Students from across the county are doing great things here and elsewhere.

Both in the classroom and elsewhere, they are showing that they are the best and that they work hard to achieve the goal.

We want to congratulate them for all they have done and encourage them to keep up the good work.

The daughter of Bernie and Gennie Beckey of Sanford, she and her husband Jeremy Carter live in Guam.

Business partners needed at schools

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford Middle School and the Seminole County school district are working together to form business partnerships.

They are currently contacting various businesses in the area in an effort to lay the groundwork for those partnerships.

Though school starts tomorrow at most district elementary and middle schools, the partnerships are still being established at a number of levels. They have a variety of needs that can be met by businesses around the county.

The program is being supported by the Florida Department of Education and has done much to benefit students, teachers and the schools over the years, district officials said.

When the partnerships are formed between a business and a school, a school administrator and a representative from the business meet to plan activities that will assist the school in meeting the needs of their individual students and the general student population.

Each school, of course, has different needs, but many of the same needs are common to all the schools.

For example, they need:

needing individual support and insight

- Guest speakers
- Financial support
- Student and teacher incentives

• Participants in the Seminole County's annual "Teach-In" each March, where representatives spend all or part of that day in the classrooms with the students.

The schools try to do what they can to support the businesses that help them out as well.

Parents are encouraged to patronize the businesses. Often the businesses are featured in school fliers or in information that is sent out into the community.

Students have the opportunity to work with professionals in the community and learn valuable life skills.

Often the business professionals earn valuable experiences as well.

Any business that is interested in helping out at Sanford Middle School should call assistant principal Fred Tombras at 322-3063, ext. 114. Those that would like to establish ties with other schools should contact Jane Lane in the district's Community Involvement department at 322-1252, ext. 483.

What's for lunch?

No school lunch menus

Your guess will be as good as anyone's when it comes to what's for lunch for the rest of this month.

As classes get underway tomorrow, each school will be on its own as far as selecting the menu for the next two weeks.

Starting August 1, the menus will be generated at the district level and we will publish them on this page at that time.

Seen at school...

Wet set

The first day of school was a real wet one this past week. Elementary and middle schools (except for Pine Crest and Midway elementary schools) began classes earlier this week. The remaining two schools will begin classes tomorrow. High schools will kick off their academic year on Aug. 7. Last week, the students at Sanford Middle School jumped puddles and dodged cascading water to make it to class and to meet their friends.

The Winter Park-based company has six offices serving the area including branches in Lake Mary and Sanford.

Credit expansion

In an effort to serve more of the community, Fairwinds Federal Credit Union is now offering credit union membership to low income families and individuals in Seminole County as well as throughout Central Florida.

Those eligible include low income families as defined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, a family earning $25,900 or less annually, and individuals earning $15,250 or less annually.

The purpose of what is being called "Project Moonshot" is to increase awareness and enhance the image and credibility of the credit union movement.

Credit unions in Florida have a statewide goal to establish partnerships with 4.29 million members by the year 2000.

Kennedy projects

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Roger Kennedy Construction Inc., of Altamonte Springs, is now building its fifth multifamily apartment community for Maitland-based developer, CED Construction, Inc.

The five projects, which include 1,092 units, total $38.8 million in construction value.

All five of the CED projects are tax-credit affordable housing.

Kennedy is presently building over 2,000 units of multifamily housing throughout Florida.

Still growing

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Altamonte Mall, with over 175 specialty stores and restaurants plus four major tenants, Gayfers, J.C. Penney, Sears and Burdines, continues to grow and expand. A number of new tenants has been announced.

Included are Abercrombie & Fitch and American Eagle Outfitter.

Abercrombie & Fitch, in operation for over 100 years, features rough and ready khakis, a full line of jeans, big shirts, shorts, skirts, jackets and T-shirts for men and women. It is located in the lower level in the J.C. Penney's wing with 6,877 square feet of store space.

American Eagle Outfitter's, on the lower level in the Gayfer's concourse has a 3,900 square foot store that carries popular outdoor living looks for men and women. Included are denim, flannel and khaki garments highlighted in lightweight fabrics to conform to the heat and humidity of Florida. They also carry footwear.

Altamonte Mall, one-half mile east of Interstate 4 on State Road 436, is owned and managed by the O'Connor Group.

Chamber workshop

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will sponsor, at no cost, a number of educational programs during this week and upcoming weeks. They are jointly sponsored by Wheelchell and Howard, Inc., and Vincent T. Howard, CPA, P.M.

This Tuesday, July 25, from 7 until 8:30 p.m., a workshop is scheduled for Wealth Accumulation. It is designed to tell what a person can do to preserve assets which have been accumulated. It will focus on how to make money work for an individual. Included are basics of investing, such as inflation, interest, stocks, bonds, mutual funds and tax deferred/free earnings.

On Wednesday, July 26, also from 7 until 8:30 p.m., the workshop will deal with Tax Strategies, and is intended to help people understand how to avoid taxes and obtain maximum benefits from the dollar. Planning techniques are to be discussed, to help people decide when to pay taxes.

The third workshop will be held on Tuesday, August 1, from 7 until 8 p.m., with featured speaker, Attorney Thom Rogers. It will deal with Estate Preservation. Handouts with a variety of informational items will be given out.

Each of these workshops are free of charge, although advanced registration is required. All of the workshops will be held at the chamber offices, on East First Street, in Sanford.

To register, phone 322-2010 or 321-4777.

Sears opens early at the mall 'Tower of Light' highlights exterior

By NICK PPRIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Although the official grand opening of the Seminole Towne Center Mall is set for Sept. 21, one of the major tenants, Sears, plans to open early, on September 16.

"It's not unusual for some of the stores to plan an earlier opening," explained Marketing Director Martha Mannarino. "I wouldn't be surprised if some would even open earlier than that, but we expect everything will be open by our dedication date."

According to Sears General Manager Lynette Swinski, "The 'tower of light' featured on our exterior is the first of its kind in Sears' stores in the area. We think it beautifully illuminates the fact that Sears has joined the Sanford community."

The Sanford Sears' store is one of nearly 20 new stores the company will be opening this year, as part of a $4 billion building and remodeling project which also includes the renovation of approximately 500 stores nationwide.

"We are growing and adapting to serve our primary customers," Swinski said. "women ages 25 to 54 who are likely to have families as well as work outside their homes."

She continued, "They have significant time constraints and want to be able to shop in one place for most of their families' needs, including apparel, shoes, cosmetics, electronics, appliances and hardware."

While hard lines are the focal point in the 141,000 square foot Sears' store, soft lines will also be in the limelight. "We have placed a significant emphasis on the softer side of Sears," said Swinski, "with a broad assortment of national and private brands of clothing and accessories for the entire family."

In addition to the store located inside the mall, a 10-bay auto center will also be

It has been almost four decades since a Sears' facility has been actually located within the city limits of Sanford.

Into the late 1950s, there was a Sears' catalog sales store located on East First Street, near what is presently the site of the Colonial Room Restaurant. In that store however, there was hardly any merchandise for sale, only the various Sears' catalogs through which customers could browse. In addition to the regular Sears' catalog, there were specialty catalogs with camping equipment, auto equipment, leisure clothing, home products and furnishings, musical instruments, and many others.

The orders were mailed out, and when the merchandise arrived, it would be picked up at the catalog office. The operation ceased functioning in downtown Sanford during the late 50s.

Bank and Barwick active in community

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole National Bank may be a small town bank but its contributions to the city of Sanford have been invaluable. Its president and chief executive officer, Bill Barwick, shares its vision of involvement.

The bank is active in Partners in Excellence for Sanford Middle and Idyllwild schools. It is a member of the Westside Community Association and assists with various projects at Seminole Community College. Four seminars a year are offered to small businesses through its sponsorship in the Chamber Success Seminar Series.

The bank is a member of the Central Florida Community Reinvestment Corporation which

Bill Barwick, president provides financing for low income housing. Much of the bank's activity stems from Barwick and his love for the area. He is on the Sanford

Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, current vice-president and incoming president of Sanford Main Street. He was recently appointed to the Waterfront Master Plan Steering Committee.

Although Barwick presently lives in Orlando with his two children, Robin and Chris, he said he would like to purchase property in Sanford on the waterfront.

He said, "Sanford is a very nice town. It's friendly. There are a lot of people that want to see it improved."

Continuing, he shared his thoughts about the business of banking in a small community. "You're obviously more involved with the community in a small town. The bank depends on its customers. You know your customers a whole lot better."

The most recent endeavor of the banking staff was to count the money from the Fourth of July fireworks Bucket Brigade's collection.

He concluded by saying, "It's a joy to be in Sanford and close to Orlando. People are closer here and they tend to know each other better." Barwick agreed that this relationship is good for the banking business and for the community.

Grand opening

SANFORD — Sunshine Drop-in Center, 2950 S. Orlando Drive, celebrated its grand opening this past Wednesday. The two on-site counselors, Merla Brooks, left, and Dorothy Sona, were on hand for the event, along with Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith, and representatives of sponsoring organizations which include Seminole Community Mental Health Center, and State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. The center was established for people with psychiatric disabilities, to provide them with a mutual place in which to interact, learn, and have fun. For information on the center, phone 324-9660.

Individuals beware Business schemes defraud

By NICK PPRIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

Bob Crawford, commissioner for the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, has revealed a crackdown is underway against companies that allegedly defraud or mislead individuals while purchasing business opportunities for them.

The crackdown is the result of a cooperative investigation involving Crawford's department and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) which targeted sellers of business opportunities believed to be violating state and federal laws.

"During this investigation, our department shared information with the FTC to develop cases at the state and federal level," Crawford said. "As a result, we have filed lawsuits against five sellers of business opportunities that operated in Florida."

He continued, "In addition to seeking fines against these firms, we are also asking the courts to award restitution and damages to the complainants who lost substantial sums of money to these companies."

Crawford explained that a purchaser with appropriate disclosure statements, misrepresenting material facts or creating false or misleading impressions, and many more.

The department's investigation also identified an additional 12 sellers of business opportunities operating in Florida that have failed to register or provide other information to the department prior to advertising in the state.

Crawford notified each company of his intent to impose an administrative fine and issue a cease-and-desist order if the company fails to comply with Florida law.

Most of the 12 are out of state companies. Those located in Florida include Telecard Marketing Center, Inc., Hollywood; Power Marketing Group, Inc., d/b/a Vend America, Tallahassee; Fortune Marketing, International, Tampa; and Future Games, Inc., Fort Lauderdale.

"These actions should send a message to all sellers of business opportunities that if they conduct business in Florida, they'd better comply with Florida law," Crawford said.

He suggested anyone having any questions regarding whether or not a seller is registered with the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services or wishing to check to see if any complaints have been filed against the company should phone 1-800-HELP-FLA (1-800-435-7352.)

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

YMCA basketball signups

LAKE MARY — Sign-ups for the 1995 YMCA Youth Sports Junior Magic Basketball season is taking place at the Seminole Family YMCA. Leagues are open to boys and girls 5-14 and will run from July 31st through October 15th. Parents are encouraged to volunteer as coaches, officials, committee members, and other positions within the league. For more information, please contact Todd Couture, Program Coordination, at the Seminole Family YMCA: (407) 321-8944.

UCF inks Russian star

ORLANDO — University of Central Florida volleyball coach Laura Smith announced on Friday the signing of Renata Menchikova, a 6-foot outside hitter from Russian. Menchikova, a member of Russia's national team, is the first international player to sign with Smith's Golden Knights. UCF finished 31-11 last year and advanced to the NCAA Tournament after winning their third straight Trans America Athletic Conference title.

ELSEWHERE

Deion heading west

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds got the pitching they needed through a stunning eight-player trade that sent Deion Sanders and four minor leaguers to the San Francisco Giants. Cincinnati obtained pitchers Mark Portugal and Dave Burba and center fielder Darren Lewis, who will take over for Sanders in center.

Boselli has surgery

STEVENS POINT, Wis. — Tony Boselli, expected to anchor the Jacksonville Jaguars' offensive line, is likely to miss the start of the season after surgery on his left knee. The 6-foot-7, 323-pound left tackle, picked No. 2 overall in the April draft, was initially diagnosed with a sprained knee. But a follow-up examination determined that surgery was needed to repair a dislocated knee cap and remove loose cartilage.

It's the Oakland Raiders again

CHICAGO — The Raiders got permission from NFL owners to move back to Oakland, where they spent their first 22 seasons before going to Los Angeles in 1982. Still to be resolved, however, is the sharing of revenue from permanent seat licenses.

Cox gets extension

ATLANTA — Manager Bobby Cox, whose Atlanta Braves lead the NL East, was given a two-year contract extension.

Falcons sign Andersen

SUWANEE, Ga. — Morten Andersen, a six-time Pro Bowl kicker with the New Orleans Saints, signed a $2.4 million, three-year contract with the Atlanta Falcons.

de Ferran grabs Cleveland pole

CLEVELAND — Gil de Ferran overtook Jacques Villeneuve on the last lap of qualifying, winning the pole for today's Cleveland Grand Prix at a course-record 147.512 mph. It was the first career pole for the Indy-car rookie, who had been sixth after Friday's qualifying session. He has never finished higher than eighth in 11 previous races. His speed was the fastest ever for an Indy-car road course, surpassing the mark of 146.215 set by Michael Andretti in Friday's provisional qualifying on the 2.37-mile, 10-turn circuit set up temporarily at Burke Lakefront Airport. Villeneuve got stuck in traffic late in qualifying and was second at 147.484, followed by Bryan Herta at 147.412, Teo Fabi 147.013, Andre Ribeiro 146.996 and Paul Tracy 146.920. In all, 20 cars beat the course record of 144.139 Tracy established two years ago.

Marlins leads Chevy rout

TALLADEGA, Ala. — Sterling Marlin is on the pole for today's DieHard 500, with championship points and big bonus money at stake. If he can back up his speed (194.212 mph) with a victory, he'll get a bonus check worth $121,600. The ante has been growing since the last time a pole-sitter — Jeff Gordon, in the second race of the season at North Wilkesboro — made it to victory lane. No one could touch Marlin, or the rest of the top five — all Chevys, driven by Bobby Labonte, Jeff Gordon, Ken Schrader and Dale Earnhardt. Ricky Rudd, Michael Waltrip, Darrell Waltrip, John Andretti and rookie Robert Pressley rounded out the top 10.

Oviedo's Knapp tosses shutout in sectional win

From Staff Reports

GIBSONTON — The pitcher made the manager proud as the Oviedo Little League Major All-Stars got off to an impressive start Saturday in the Florida Section III Tournament at East Bay Little League. Jeff Knapp, son of manager Chris Knapp, struck out 15 and walked only two in hurling a three-hit 2-0 shutout at the Conway (Orlando) All Stars.

Knapp and Valentin, Abbell and N/A. 2B — Oviedo, Lorenzetti. 2B — none, HR — Oviedo, Prather.

Oviedo was to play in the winner's bracket final at 5 p.m. today. If they win today, they will not play again until Wednesday and if they lose they will be off until Tuesday. Oviedo did not waste any time in taking control of the game as Brian Lorenzetti led off the contest with a double, moved to third on a grounder by John Howell and scored on a single by Colin Irvine. Neither team mounted another scoring threat until Oviedo's Jason Prather led off the sixth inning with a long home run. Also getting hits for Oviedo were Knapp, Howell and Barry Dunemann.

Peers laud Coach Jay

UCF's Bergman voted Coach of the Year

Coach Jay Bergman

STATESBORO, Ga. — A much-deserved award has been bestowed upon Jay Bergman.

The University of Central Florida baseball coach, who guided the Knights to a 49-13 record and an NCAA playoff appearance this past season, has been voted the 1995 Division I Coach of the Year for the Atlantic Region.

Bergman, who became just the 50th coach in NCAA Division I history to win 700 games with a victory over Georgia State late in the season, was stunned by the honor.

"I was so shocked," said Bergman, who started his college coaching career at Seminole Junior (now Community) College. "I was really honored to be chosen, particularly in a region that sent three teams to the College World Series (Florida State, Miami, and Clemson). "Even though this is an individual award, it's really a tribute to the assistant coaches and players because they're the ones who made it happen." Bergman was selected by 45 peers in balloting conducted by Georgia Southern's Jack Stallings. The 19-year Division I veteran will be honored with coaches-of-the-year from seven other geographic regions at the American Baseball Coaches Association convention January 6, 1996 in Nashville, Tennessee. UCF broke its own state record by winning 29 straight games during the 1995 campaign and was ranked as high as 10th nationally. The Knights went 1-2 at the NCAA Atlantic I Regional in Tallahassee. Over 13 seasons in Orlando, Bergman has compiled a 500-306-3 record. While at the University of Florida, the Winter Park native was 216-113 from 1976-1981, giving him an overall Division I record of 716-419-3.

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS

At Lake Mary, everyone helps

By TONY DeBORNIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Underwriting the athletic department at Lake Mary High School is a combination of "we're all in this together" and "it's every man for himself." According to principal Raymond Gaines, Lake Mary's athletic program thrives largely to the efforts of its booster club. But each program is expected to be self-supporting, whether it be through gate receipts or fundraising. "Very definitely, without the efforts of our booster club, we wouldn't be able to support athletics," said Gaines. "Our booster club is a very vital part of that practice. "You hate to have coaches involved in fundraising, but that's become part of a coach's duties, especially when it comes to purchasing special items that teams need and want." Last year, that combined effort brought in $208,000. Of that, the school spent $190,000, the balance being reserved for "start-up costs" for the 1995-96 academic year. While each team is supposed to be self-supporting, they're not on their own when it comes to determining how much money they can raise and spend. "Basically, the athletic director sits down with each head coach and goes over the needs and demands," explained Gaines. "We set up a budget from that, based on the anticipated income from that program." "If the moneys are not generated, then we may to have make some cutbacks. If they bring in an excess amount of money to run program, then we'll look more toward individual wants of that particular program." Gaines says making each program responsible for its operating budget demands that everyone

Lake Mary's varsity soccer team wears a stylish yet replaceable uniform while the junior varsity and freshman uniforms are "strictly adequate."

Soccer coach stresses thrift

By TONY DeBORNIER
 Herald Sports Editor

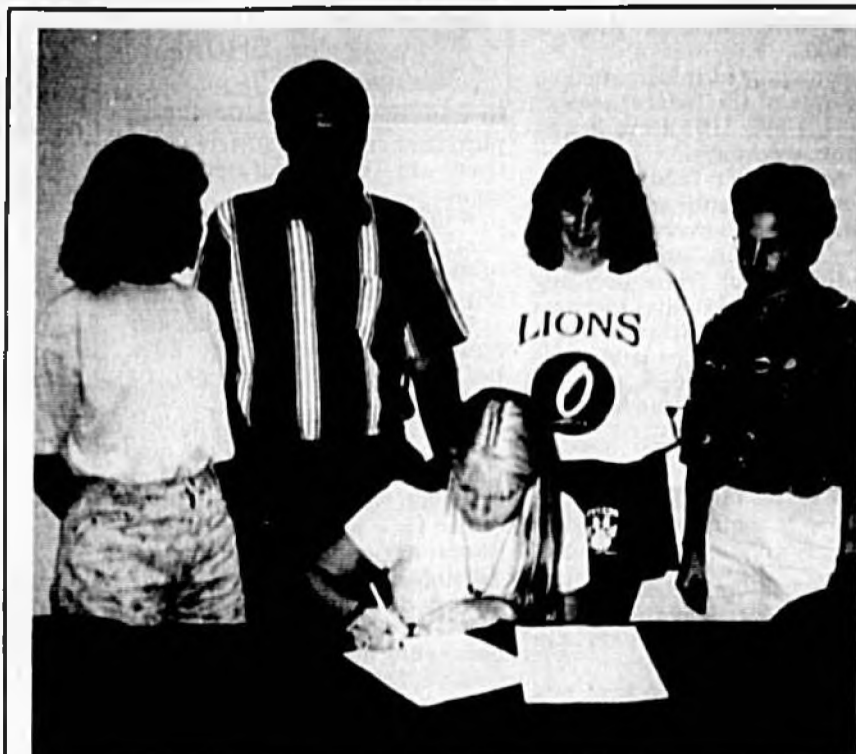

LAKE MARY — Just as there's a time to attack and a time to bunker, Lake Mary boys' soccer coach Larry McCorkle says there's a time to be aggressive in fundraising and a time to be frugal. "When you're just starting a program, you really have to be aggressive in raising money," said McCorkle, who started the soccer program at Seminole High School and took over Lake Mary's program in the school's second year. "Once you've established your program, you can cut back a little bit and concentrate on raising money for special situations." One way McCorkle keeps his budget manageable is by being selective in uniform purchases. "We go with a style that's restockable," he said. "That way, if I need three or four shirts, I don't have to buy a whole new set." Also, McCorkle says the junior varsity and freshman uniforms are "strictly adequate." "I want the junior varsity players to look at the varsity and see a difference," he said. Besides the standard annual costs — balls (20 or so at $35 a piece), officials for home games ($72 for a three-man crew), and travel to away games — another expense is rental of a training field in the fall, when the varsity football and three girls' soccer teams are vying for field space. "That's money well spent," said McCorkle. "Being out there (at Lake Sylvan Park), we can concentrate and get a lot of work done." McCorkle stresses that he has a duty to spend wisely the money people give his program. "You can't be extravagant," he said. "You have to decide between what you need and what you can make do."

Prep physicals scheduled

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — With the start of practice for the fall high school athletic season quickly approaching, athletes are being reminded that they will need a complete physical before they can even practice. Most schools in the county will be providing physicals within the next week. Here is a recap of who is offering what. SEMINOLE HIGH SCHOOL Physicals will be available between 7 a.m. and noon on Tuesday, July 25, at Central Florida Regional Hospital's emergency room for athletes who expect to compete in fall sports for Seminole High School. The physicals are free of charge. Students should bring their physical/parents permission form with them to the physicals. The forms are available at the school. OVIEDO HIGH SCHOOL Physicals will be offered for football, cross country, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, soccer, swimming/diving, cheerleading and bowling on Monday, July 31, from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Oviedo High School Athletic Training Room.

Building No. 9, Room No. 017. Cost will be $10 (make checks payable to: Oviedo High School). The funds will be donated back to the Athletic Training program. Pick up OHS Athletic Physical/Health Screening Form from the Athletic Department Office or see your coach. LYMAN HIGH SCHOOL Physicals will be offered on Tuesday, Aug. 1, and Wednesday, Aug. 2, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Training Room area. Cost will be $10. Pick up forms at the school. LAKE BRANTLEY HIGH SCHOOL Physicals will be offered for junior varsity athletes on Wednesday, Aug. 2, and for varsity athletes on Thursday, Aug. 3. Time is 3 p.m. both days. Cost is $10 and forms are available at the school. LAKE MARY HIGH SCHOOL Physicals have already been given. If you have not had a physical, please contact the Athletic Department or your coach this week for information. LAKE HOWELL HIGH SCHOOL All sports physicals will be given on Saturday, Aug. 5, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the cafeteria. Cost will be $15. Anyone who can volunteer to help should call the Athletic Training Department.

Lion signs with Raiders
 Oviedo High School graduate Michelle Field (sitting) has formally accepted a scholarship to play softball for Seminole Community College. Witnessing the signing were (from left) Gayle and Steve Field, Oviedo softball coach Anne Collins, and SCC softball coach Courtney Miller.
