Five injured in auto crash, fire

LONGWOOD — Five persons were hospitalized following a 2-car collision and fire near Lake Howell High School last night. According to Florida Highway Patrol trooper R.L. Carmichael, "We believe the accident was alcohol related, but our investigation is continuing and so far we haven't made any charges."

Three persons were in a 1970 Volkswagen. The driver, William Jones Jr., 18, of 1780 Wyoming Ave., Longwood, received serious injuries. His passenger, Beverly Snyder, 17, of Matland, was also injured. Both were taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center.

The third person, Danny Snyder, 14, was taken to Winter Memorial Park Hospital with unknown injuries.

The Highway Patrol reports Jones' car apparently pulled into the path of a 1990 Jeep at the intersection of Dike Road and Balmly Circle, at approximately 9:05 last night.

The driver, Jonathan M. Carlson, 28, and his passenger, Jonathan Carlson Jr., 4, were both taken to Winter Park Memorial Hospital. The 4-year old was described by the FHP this morning as in serious condition.

Following the collision, officers report Jones' vehicle left the road and struck a sign. The vehicle then caught fire, and was declared a total loss. Three passers by were credited with pulling the three passengers from the vehicle.

The Jeep was reported by the FHP as having an estimated $3,000 damage.

CBS on top in ratings again

LOS ANGELES — The long-running Sunday newsmagazine "60 Minutes" helped lift CBS back into first place in the latest Nielsen ratings survey.

NBC's veteran comedy "Cheers" was the No. 2 show. The network, which has won four of the last seven weeks, has seasawed with CBS for first place since the season began.

A rerun of ABC's "Roseanne" was third. "60 Minutes," which is 23 years old, won its fifth No. 1 finish of the season.

CBS, in overall network standings, was first with a 13 average, followed by NBC with 12.4 and ABC with 12, according to figures released Tuesday by the A.C. Nielsen Co. ABC has finished third for most of the fall season.

Each ratings point represents 921,000 homes. CBS' "Murphy Brown," finished fourth and NBC's "Unsolved Mysteries" was fifth, followed by ABC's "Home Improvement," the only new fall series to break into the top 10.

SANFORD — Richard Wells stood quietly in the back of the room Tuesday evening as the Seminole County school board voted on who would be the acting superintendent.

"You have selected Richard Wells as the acting superintendent," announced Dr. William Dalley who had been overseeing the balloting.

A smile broke across Wells' face but he didn't move. "I'm ready for the challenge," he said, laughing.

LAKE MARY — Nineteen Lake Mary High School band members were named to the Florida All-State Band after recent auditions.

According to David Kaminsky, a representative of the Florida Music Education Association (FMEA) that was the highest number of musicians of any school in the state.

"I think it is attitude," said Terry Pattishall, band director at Lake Mary High, who refuses to take any credit for her students' success.

"And a lot of talent," Pattishall said the students are "taught from middle school on up" that they can win.

"That has so much to do with it," she said.

She said that most of her students who have gone on to success in state contests study music with private teachers and that she helps them only with specific challenges while they're at school.

The 19 All-State Band members are: Amy Brinklow, clarinet; Lillian Ramos, clarinet; Jennifer Kaplan, clarinet; Brad Schriker, trumpet; Nicole Nemeth, oboe; Nathan Holladay, bassoon; Allison Lopscomb, clarinet; Shannon McGhee, clarinet; Holly Baumhoffer.

Train wreck recalled by local travelers

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Shouts of joy, great relief, and hugs greeted eleven passengers arriving here by bus Tuesday afternoon. The group were passengers on Amtrak's Silver Meteor, which derailed and crashed at Palatka at 11:25 yesterday morning.

Amtrak officials had arranged for all passengers to continue their journeys by chartered busses, which took passengers to the remaining stops between Palatka and Tampa, including Sanford.

The southern bound bus reached the DeLand Amtrak station at 3:40 yesterday afternoon, and arrived in Sanford at 4:10. A number of family members and friends were on hand, to be certain their loved ones were safe.

"My wife called me as soon as she could, so I know she wasn't hurt," said Robert Bergstrom of Longwood. He added, "I would be here picking her up anyway, but it will certainly make me feel better when I actually see her get off the bus."

Wanda Hatcher was anxious. She had no idea of the wreck until she arrived at the terminal to greet the train. She had been waiting for several hours, during the final hours, often standing motionless, her head bowed in prayer.

"My niece and nephew are coming down here from Rochester, New York," she said, "and I couldn't get in contact with them, so I don't know if they were hurt, or if they will even be on the bus when it gets here." Hatcher said the two youngsters were en route to Sanford, "as a surprise for their grand-

PALATKA — Ten people remained hospitalized today after an Amtrak passenger train carrying holiday travelers derailed, smashing through two houses and sending 55 to area hospitals.

The cause of the derailment, which occurred on a slight curve, was under investigation today by the National Transportation Safety Board.

The Silver Meteor was carrying about 170 passengers and a crew of 16 from New York City to Tampa when it derailed Tuesday morning, authorities said.

Most of those injured were treated and released. No one was badly hurt, hospital officials said.

One of those injured was Kitty James, wife of U.S. Rep. Craig James, R-Fla. She sustained minor injuries and was released after being treated at Putnam Community Hospital in this north Florida community of 10,000.

The train derailed about three blocks from the depot in Palatka, in northeast Florida south of Jacksonville. The train left New York on Monday and was scheduled to arrive at Tampa at 3:02 p.m. Tuesday.

The train's engine flipped on its side and crashed into the corner of one house. Two other cars of the nine-car train jackknifed into another house, demolishing it.

Way cleared quickly for new heart wing

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Central Florida Regional Hospital has received final certification for open heart surgery wing. It opens the way for the start of an $8 million expansion.

The word came yesterday afternoon, in the form of a Certificate of Need (CON), from the State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. It was exactly one week after the Florida Supreme Court refused to hear appeals from two other hospitals, which could have blocked the new unit.

The HRS had previously indicated it would issue the CON, but the other hospitals filed a protest against the issuance, which took it to the State's highest court.

According to Marketing Director Lisa Schultz, "We expected to receive the CON within a few weeks, but coming this quickly was a pleasant surprise."

Hospital Administrator Roy C. Vinson said, "We are excited to be able to offer the Central Florida community this much needed service. We have been working toward this goal since our initial application for the CON in 1988."

The CON lists the project cost at slightly over $4.3 million, but the total project will eventually reach approximately $8 million in cost.

Construction is expected to add another 15,145 square feet of space, with renovation of an additional 2,303 square feet. The additions will also include reorganization and restructuring of the emergency room and a new magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) laboratory.

Vinson had previously announced that work on the new facility will be related to the construction of the obstetrics area currently underway in the northeastern portions of the hospital. "We may be able to break ground on the open heart facility as we conclude our current expansion project, and continue the construction straight into the new project," Vinson reported.

The original completion date of the open heart surgery program was to have been Aug. 20, 1990, but because of delays caused by the court hearing which held up on the issuance of the CON, HRS has not revised the completion date to Dec. 9, 1992.

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Push on for repeal of dropout driving law
TALLAHASSEE — Education Commissioner Betty Castor will oppose the efforts of officials to get rid of a law that takes away the driver's license of school dropouts.
"We cannot prove that it worked," said Pat O'Connell, legislative director for Castor.
Though Castor supported the measure when it initially passed, the education commissioner won't stand in the way of repeal when the Legislature convenes its regular session Jan. 14, Ms. O'Connell said.
Frank Darden of the Florida School Boards Association said there's been no change in the dropout rate since the law took effect.
"We feel like the hard-core dropouts are just driving without license because of it," Darden said.
The 2-year-old law was intended to force students to attend school or surrender their licenses.

Man feels responsible for wife's death
INVERNESS — An elderly man who is dying of colon cancer said he is racked with guilt and sorrow after his pickup truck accidentally ran over his wife and killed her.
"She was all I had," Harry Hinkel Sr. said Tuesday. "How many men kill their wives? It's like someone cut off my head or my arms. She was everything, I couldn't live without her... couldn't have had a better woman."
Hinkel, 76, said he and his wife, Josephine, drove up to the gate in front of their home Monday night.
Mrs. Hinkel, 78, got out to open the gate, but had trouble with the chain, so her husband started to get out to help. With one foot out the door, he discovered he had left the pickup truck in gear.
He scrambled to get back behind the wheel, but the truck lurched forward, knocking his wife of 40 years down and dragging her about eight feet before crashing into their nearby camper.

Judge grants Noriega defense delay
MIAMI — The late release of important government documents to Manuel Noriega's lawyers has won them a delay until Jan. 6 to open their case.
In granting more time, U.S. District Judge William Hoewler on Tuesday cited Drug Enforcement Administration intelligence reports detailing the ousted Panamanian leader's cooperation with U.S. investigators.
The defense received the files only last weekend, and the judge agreed attorneys need time to study them further for use in examination of the views of DEA agents who will kick off Noriega's case.
"That's probably the backbone of our defense — the cooperation of the general gave to the DEA," said lead Noriega attorney Frank Rubino.

UF will fire pharmacist
GAINESVILLE — University of Florida officials say they will fire a pharmacist who refused to dispense a contraceptive to a student because of his religious beliefs.
UF officials notified Michael Katsonis Tuesday that they intended to dismiss him as of Jan. 13.
Because of his religious beliefs, Katsonis refused to dispense the contraceptive to a student, which violated university policy.
Katsonis, 40, said he has been a university employee since August 1987. He has been a pharmacist since 1983.

Sen. Graham visits Sanford Recession discussed

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — U.S. Sen. Bob Graham says he doubts a proposed tax rebate will boost the economy from the recession, but says the federal government has billions of dollars that can revive the country.
Graham was in Sanford Tuesday to visit the Crooms School of Choice and meet with students and teachers. After a discussion with the editorial board of the Sanford Herald, he appeared at a Daytona Beach mall to ring the bell at a Salvation Army donation pot.
"The reason this recession is different than previous ones is that there is a big need throughout the country for interstate maintenance," Graham said. "Maintenance is much more labor-intensive than construction. You don't have an unlimited amount of money to finance an economic recovery so you must do it efficiently."
Graham said there may be large amounts of federal dollars going unused for stalled federal projects. He said he is reviewing all delayed Defense, NASA,

"Nationwide, about one-third of the children eligible for Head Start have access to a program," Graham said. "At Crooms here, there are two Head Start classrooms, but the teacher told me they could fill four. I would like to see Head Start funded at 100 percent. It won't cost much, about the cost of three B-2 bombers a year."
Graham said he doubts increasing federal social aid programs will help the economy but said he does believe that any additional "peace dividends" from military reductions should be used to increase the Head Start programs, such as those at Crooms. TALLAHASSEE — Give the details to hearing officers so Cabinet meetings can focus on the big decisions, Gov. Lawton Chiles and Cabinet members told challengers in a "hearing" on the state's land development plan.
"The message is, when there is a hearing, that they make their case there," Secretary of State Jim Smith said Tuesday.

Dade first with unpaid leave law

By MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

MIAMI — Dade County has become the first local government in the nation to require private businesses to provide unpaid leaves for new parents and employees with sick family members.
The Metro-Dade Commission Tuesday voted 8-1 to pass the measure, which goes into effect in 90 days.
Dade County employees with more than 50 employees will have to guarantee employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave every two years to care for a newborn or adopted child, or deal with a serious illness involving the employee, child, spouse, parent or other close relative.
Although the new law applies only to Dade companies, county commissioners said they would no longer do business with large companies outside Dade that do not have a family-leave program.
"This means we may go back to some of the strong family values that helped make up this country," said Commissioner Larry Hawkins, sponsor of the measure.
The Dade law is similar to a national family leave bill that was passed by both houses of Congress for two consecutive years.

MCI gets contract for hearing, speech impaired

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — MCI edged AT&T for a state contract to set up a telephone system that will enable people with hearing and speech impairments to communicate with anyone, anywhere.
The state Public Service Commission on Tuesday accepted MCI's $4.7 million bid to provide service beginning June 1.
"That's something you and I take for granted. Today, deaf citizens don't have much capability to communicate," Robert Goldsmith, vice president of MCI's southern division said.
The state organization, known as Florida Telecommunications Relay Inc., has been buying and distributing devices used by the deaf and speech-impaired to "talk" on the telephone. The TDDs, short for "telecommunications device for the deaf," allow people to converse using the written word.
MCI will provide the missing link: a group of operators to "translate" those words into spoken speech, allowing the deaf to "talk" to those with no hearing problems and vice versa.
The devices now allow the deaf and speech-impaired to communicate with each other but not to others.
PSC spokeswoman Bev Demello said the surcharge will be raised to 9 or 10 cents a month to pay the contract, which runs for three years. The law caps the surcharge at 25 cents per month.
AT&T, however, may contest the contract even though its bid was much higher, at $6.3 million. With an estimated 1.5 million potential customers, many of them elderly, and more arriving every day, Florida is considered a plum market for hearing-impaired devices.
"We're really disappointed that we didn't get the bid," said Julie Speicher of AT&T. "We feel we are the most experienced at delivering products for the deaf."
The guidelines for the bid placed more weight on the quality of the service than on the cost, she noted, adding that AT&T set up the first deaf service in California in 1987 and now operates systems in 14 states.
MCI's Goldsmith, however, said: "We clearly don't think there are grounds for a protest."
AT&T must file notice of its protest within 72 hours of the decision, Demello said. Two other companies bid on the service, US Sprint at $6.8 million and Southern Bell at $8.7 million.

POLICE BRIEFS

Man accused of burglary
An Orlando man was arrested Monday at a Longwood home Monday he is accused of burglarizing Dec. 14.
Richard Phillip Kalfeld, 29, was arrested by Seminole County deputies at a Gene Gables Circle home at about 3:15 p.m., according to reports. The resident had reported someone forced their way into the residence through a window and removed a set of folding doors and exterior lighting, reports etc. Witnesses reporting seeing Kalfeld's car at the residence and recognized it as belonging to a former occupant.

Investigations continue in two shootings

Sanford police are continuing their investigation of two unrelated shootings that occurred early Tuesday morning. Meanwhile, the condition of the 35-year-old victim of one shooting, Bill Lane, has been improved to fair from serious by Orlando Regional Medical Center physicians. Hospital spokesman Joe Brown said Lane has been moved out of the intensive care unit to a regular room.
Police Chief Steve Harriett had little comment on a statement by the attorney for Thomas Moore that Moore thought Lane was trying to burglarize his home. Police say Moore fired a .25-caliber handgun into Lane's face in the driveway of Moore's 812 Sanford Avenue residence at about 2:15 a.m. Moore was charged with attempted murder.
"We don't think it happened that way," Harriett said when asked of Moore's position.

Window smashed, vacuum missing

Someone smashed the front plate-glass window of Garrett's vacuum cleaner business at 106 W. Second St. sometime between 4:45 p.m. Monday afternoon and early Tuesday morning and removed a $199 vacuum cleaner from a shelf near the window. An investigation is continuing into the theft. Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

FDOT wants more turn lanes here

By MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Predictions of a busy intersection at the Seminole County expressway at U.S. Highway 17-92 may require additional turn lanes onto the tollroad.
Members of the Seminole County Expressway Authority will consider a request from the Florida Department of Transportation to order design changes for the proposed interchange today. FDOT is now paying for the $200 million 12-mile road which will connect with the Orange County expressway system at Aloma Avenue near Oviedo and extend to U.S. 17-92 at State Street in Sanford.
Until the expressway is completed to Interstate 4, the northern entrance to the expressway will be by way of Sanford Avenue.
SCEA director Gerald Brinton said the current road design calls for a single turn lane onto the expressway from north- and southbound U.S. 17-92. He said even under current traffic conditions, the Airport Boulevard intersection is busy.
"There's already a problem there," Brinton said. "Even without the expressway, the level of service is low. After the expressway is completed, it will get worse unless we do something."
Brinton said the additional turn lanes can be added and will stay within the $200 million budget. Construction has begun on the four-lane highway is expected to be completed by October 1993.

POA donates 400 trees to county

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Because of a donation from a botanical company, dozens of small oaks, hollies and palm trees are growing and strengthening at a water plant that will some day add more greenery to Seminole County parks.
The 400 trees, valued at $1,200, were donated to Seminole County in October by Peterson Outdoor Advertising. At the request of county commission chairman Bob Sturm, the Central Florida billboard company is considering donating more trees for the Lake Mary Boulevard beautification effort.
For the first time, POA included Seminole County with Orange County to receive the donated trees. Carl Bogle, POA public affairs director, said the company has donated trees to Orange County since last year.
Although POA officials had asked county officials not to publicize the donations, Sturm said more residents should be aware of it.
"This was a very generous act by them," Sturm said. "We hope other companies will follow suit."
"It's just something we do," Bogle said. "We don't make a big deal about it. We believe in replanting trees. We believe our ecology needs to be maintained."
Bogle said POA has contributed more than $1.6 million of the cost of billboard advertising space in Seminole, Orange and

SHS computer lab takes shape with purchase

By VIRGI BODDAMANN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole High School is well on its way to getting a new computer lab which will help students help themselves learn.
With the purchase of 11 of 20 units, the school's Tandy learning lab will begin to take shape as soon as summer school, principal Gretchen Schapker hopes.
The lab will not be ready for student use right away, much of the equipment will be stored in "a very secure place," Schapker said. The rest of it will be used to train teachers on the uses of the system and to allow teachers to preview software they might want to use next year.
"We're very excited about this purchase at a recent school board meeting, will probably be received at the school in late January or early February, but will not be installed permanently until the close of the school year."
The room (which will house the lab) has not been renovated yet," she said. "And we don't want to displace that teacher."
She noted that the room must be rewired to accommodate the 20 computer stations.

Push on for repeal of dropout driving law

TALLAHASSEE — Education Commissioner Betty Castor won't oppose the efforts of officials to get rid of a law that takes away the driver's licenses of school dropouts.

"We cannot prove that it worked," said Pat O'Connell, legislative director for Castor.

Though Castor supported the measure when it initially passed, the education commissioner won't stand in the way of repeal when the Legislature convenes its regular session Jan. 14, Ms. O'Connell said.

Frank Darden of the Florida School Boards Association said there's been no change in the dropout rate since the law took effect.

"We feel like the hard-core dropouts are just driving without licenses because of it," Darden said.

The 2-year-old law was intended to force students to attend school or surrender their licenses.

Man feels responsible for wife's death

INVERNESS — An elderly man who is dying of colon cancer said he is racked with guilt and sorrow after his pickup truck accidentally ran over his wife and killed her.

"She was all I had," Harry Hinkel Sr. said Tuesday. "How many men kill their wives? It's like someone cut off my head or my arms. She was everything. I couldn't have asked ... couldn't have had a better woman."

Hinkel, 76, said he and his wife, Josephine, drove up to the gate in front of their home Monday night.

Mrs. Hinkel, 78, got out to open the gate, but had trouble with the chain, so her husband started to get out to help. With one foot out the door, he discovered he had left the pickup truck in gear.

He scrambled to get back behind the wheel, but the truck lurched forward, knocking his wife of 40 years down and dragging her about eight feet before crashing into their nearby camper.

Judge grants Noriega defense delay

MIAMI — The late release of important government documents to Manuel Noriega's lawyers has won them a delay until Jan. 6 to open their case.

In granting more time, U.S. District Judge William Hoeweler on Tuesday cited Drug Enforcement Administration intelligence reports detailing the ousted Panamanian leader's cooperation with U.S. investigators.

The defense received the files only last weekend, and the judge agreed attorneys need time to study them further for use in examination of a slew of DEA agents who will kick off Noriega's case.

"That's probably the backbone of our defense — the cooperation the general gave to the DEA," said lead Noriega attorney Frank Rubino.

UF will fire pharmacist

GAINESVILLE — University of Florida officials say they will fire a pharmacist who refused to dispense a contraceptive to a student because of his religious beliefs.

UF officials notified Michael Katsonis Tuesday that they intended to dismiss him as of Jan. 13.

Because of his religious beliefs, Katsonis refused to dispense the contraceptive, which is available to all students.

Katsonis, 40, said Tuesday he would resign if he were fired. He has been a university employee since August 1987.

Sen. Graham visits Sanford

Recession discussed

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — U.S. Sen. Bob Graham says he doubts a proposed tax rebate will boost the economy from the recession, but says the federal government has billions of dormant dollars that can revive the country.

Graham was in Sanford Tuesday to visit the Crooms School of Choice and meet with students and teachers. After a discussion with the editorial board of the Sanford Herald, he appeared at a Daytona Beach mall to ring the bell at a Salvation Army donation pot.

"The reason this recession is different than previous ones is this is the first recession when America is fully a part of the world economy," Graham said. "If you cut taxes to provide up to $500 more for lower income groups, they will most likely spend money on products that are not made in America. The top consumer products are made by Sony, Panasonic and other companies that are in other countries. A tax break won't produce jobs in this country."

Graham said the federal government has nearly $20 billion in a transportation fund that is going unused. He said if that money is used to maintain and repair the federal highway system, a large number of jobs will be quickly created and most supplies, such as asphalt and concrete, will be American, not imported.

"There is a big need throughout the country for interstate maintenance," Graham said. "Maintenance is much more labor-intensive than construction. You don't have an unlimited amount of money to finance an economic recovery so you must do it efficiently."

Graham said there may be large amounts of federal dollars going unspent for stalled federal contracts. He said he is reviewing all delayed Defense, NASA,

General Services and other department contracts to see which ones can be revived, again creating jobs to complete them.

Graham, who serves on the Senate Banking Committee, said he also hopes Pres. Bush's appointment of a new federal bank regulator will be someone who will play an active role in the recovery.

Graham said he doubts increasing federal social aid programs will help the economy but said he does believe that any additional "peace dividends" from military reductions should be used to increase the Head Start programs, such as those at Crooms. Graham also serves on the Senate Housing and Urban Development Committee.

"Nationwide, about one-third of the children eligible for Head Start have access to a program," Graham said. "At Crooms here, there are two Head Start classrooms, but the teacher told me they could fill four. I would like to see Head Start funded at 100 percent. It won't cost much, about the cost of three B-2 bombers a year."

Governor urges thorough hearings

By BILL BERSTROM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Give the details to hearing officers so Cabinet meetings can focus on the big decisions, Gov. Lawton Chiles and Cabinet members told challengers in a Brevard County land development case.

"The message is, when there is a hearing, that they make their case there," Secretary of State Jim Smith said Tuesday.

"Don't come back later on and say this should be examined."

Chiles and the Cabinet decided to permit a Lake Polineet land development and declined to debate the legality of a dike that drained the land.

The members voted 4-3 against two attempts to send the permit application back to the John A. Water Management District, either for a ruling on "the dike" or on whether the project protects the land.

Chiles had scolded environmentalists at the Nov. 28 Cabinet meeting who appealed a district hearing officer's recommendation to grant the permit, saying issues they raised should have been brought up earlier.

"At what stage do we say that the record is taken," Chiles asked Tuesday as Sierra Club representative David Guest and others argued remanding the case to the district.

Dade first with unpaid leave law

Associated Press

MIAMI — Dade County has become the first local government in the nation to require private businesses to provide unpaid leaves for new parents and employees with sick family members.

The Metro-Dade Commission Tuesday voted 8-1 to pass the measure, which goes into effect in 90 days.

Dade County companies with more than 50 employees will have to guarantee employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave every two years to care for a newborn or adopted child, or deal with a serious illness involving the employee, child, spouse, parent or other close relative.

Although the new law applies only to Dade companies, county commissioners said they would no longer do business with large companies outside Dade that do not have a family-leave program.

"This means we may go back to some of the strong family values that helped make up this country," said Commissioner Larry Hawkins, sponsor of the measure.

The Dade law is similar to a national family leave bill that was passed by both houses of Congress for two consecutive years.

MCI gets contract for hearing, speech impaired

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — MCI edged AT&T for a state contract to set up a telephone system that will enable people with hearing and speech impairments to communicate with anyone, anywhere.

The state Public Service Commission on Tuesday accepted MCI's $4.7 million bid to provide service beginning June 1.

"That's something you and I take for granted," said Robert Goldsmith, vice president of MCI's southern division. "Today, deaf citizens don't have much capability to communicate."

The contract, approved by the Public Service Commission, is

That's something you and I take for granted. Today, deaf citizens don't have much capability to communicate.

— Robert Goldsmith, vice president of MCI's southern division part of a new state law that imposed a 5-cent-a-month surcharge beginning last July on all telephone bills to provide service for the disabled. The law passed last spring set up a non-profit organization to collect and administer the funds and said the PSC should find a company to run the service.

The state law is an outgrowth of the national Americans with Disabilities Act, intended to help the disabled take greater part in mainstream life.

The state organization, known as Florida Telecommunications Relay Inc., has been buying and distributing devices used by the deaf and speech-impaired to "talk" on the telephone. The TDDs — short for "telecommunications device for the deaf" — allow people to converse using the written word.

MCI will provide the missing link: a group of operators to "translate" those words into spoken speech, allowing the deaf to "talk" to those with no hearing problems and vice versa. The devices now allow the deaf and speech-impaired to communicate with each other but not to others.

PSC spokeswoman Bev Demello said the surcharge will be raised to 9 or 10 cents a month to pay the contract, which runs for three years. The law caps the surcharge at 25 cents per month.

AT&T, however, may contest the contract even though its bid was much higher, at $6.3 million. With an estimated 1.5 million potential customers, many of them elderly, and more arriving every day, Florida is considered a plum market for hearing-impaired devices.

"We're really disappointed that we didn't get the bid," said

Julie Speechler of AT&T. "We feel we are the most experienced at delivering products for the deaf."

The guidelines for the bid placed more weight on the quality of the service than on the cost, she noted, adding that AT&T set up the first deaf service in California in 1987 and now operates systems in 14 states.

MCI's Goldsmith, however, said: "We clearly don't think there are grounds for a protest."

AT&T must file notice of its protest within 72 hours of the decision. Demello said. Two other companies bid on the service, US Sprint at $6.8 million and Southern Bell at $8.7 million.

POLICE BRIEFS

Man accused of burglary

An Orlando man was arrested Monday at a Longwood home Monday he is accused of burglarizing Dec. 14.

Richard Phillip Kalbfeld, 29, was arrested by Seminole County deputies at a Gene Gables Circle home at about 3:15 p.m., according to arrest reports. The resident had reported someone forced their way into the residence through a window and removed a set of folding doors and exterior lighting, reports state. Witnesses reporting seeing Kalbfeld's car at the residence and recognized it as belonging to a former occupant.

Watch on Old Sanford

Investigations continue in two shootings

Sanford police are continuing their investigation of two unrelated shootings that occurred early Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile, the condition of the 33-year-old victim of one shooting Bill Lane, has been improved to fair from serious by Orlando Regional Medical Center physicians. Hospital spokesman Joe Brown said Lane has been moved out of the intensive care unit to a regular room.

Police Chief Steve Harriett had little comment on a statement by the attorney for Thomas Moore that Moore thought Lane was trying to burglarize his home. Police say Moore fired a .25-caliber handgun into Lane's face in the driveway of Moore's 812 Sanford Avenue residence at about 2:15 a.m. Moore was charged with attempted murder.

"We don't think it happened that way," Harriett said when asked of Moore's position.

Window smashed, vacuum missing

Someone smashed the front plate-glass window of Garrett's vacuum cleaner business at 105 W. Second St. sometime between 4:45 p.m. Monday afternoon and early Tuesday morning and removed a $199 vacuum cleaner from a shelf near the window. An investigation is continuing into the theft. Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

POA donates 400 trees to county

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Because of a donation from a billboard company, dozens of small oaks, hollies and palm trees are growing and strengthening at a water plant that will some day add more greenery to Seminole County parks.

The 400 trees, valued at $1,200, were donated to Seminole County in October by Peterson Outdoor Advertising. At the request of county commission chairman Bob Sturm, the Central Florida billboard company is considering donating more trees for the Lake Mary Boulevard beautification effort.

For the first time, POA included Seminole County with Orange County to receive the donated trees. Carl Bogle, POA public affairs director, said the company has donated trees to Orange County since last year.

Although POA officials had asked county officials not to publicize the donations, Sturm said more residents should be aware of it.

"This was a very generous act by them," Sturm said. "We hope other companies will follow suit."

"It's just something we do," Bogle said. "We don't make a big deal about it. We believe in replanting trees. We believe our ecology needs to be maintained."

Bogle said POA has contributed more than $1.6 million of the cost of billboard advertising space in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties to charitable organizations. He said POA officials will consider accepting the county's request to donate trees for the Lake Mary Boulevard landscaping.

Bob Chorvat, county parks and recreation manager, said the one-gallon-sized trees are kept at a north Seminole County water plant to allow them to grow to a larger size. He said the county was allowed to pick out trees they wanted from a Clermont nursery under contract to POA. County staff selected 100 each of laurel and live oaks, East Palatka hollies and Washingtonian palms.

When the trees are larger, they'll be planted in area parks to enhance their greenery or to replace dead trees, Chorvat said.

SHS computer lab takes shape with purchase

By VICKI BOGEMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole High School is well on its way to getting a new computer lab which will help students help themselves learn.

With the purchase of 11 of 20 units, the school's Tandy learning lab will begin to take shape as soon as summer school, principal Gretchen Schapker hopes.

The 11 units, which are being purchased by the school, cost $20,732.25, but Schapker said the full cost of the lab will be close to $41,000.

"Through careful planning and saving," the principal said, "we've been able to pay for this lab."

The equipment, approved for purchase at a recent school board meeting, will probably be received at the school in late January or early February, but will not be installed permanently until the close of the school year.

"The room (which will house the lab) has not been renovated yet," she said. "And we don't want to displace that teacher."

She noted that the room must be rewired to accommodate the 20 computer stations.

While the lab will not be ready for student use right away, much of the equipment will be stored in "a very secure place," Schapker said. The rest of it will be used to train teachers on the uses of the system and to allow teachers to preview software they might want to use next year.

"We're very excited about this lab," Schapker said.

She noted that while the lab will be in place for the next school year at the latest, it is "a dream" that the school can soon have two such labs for the students.

The money for the second lab will come from private and corporate donations.

FDOT wants more turn lanes here

MARK SANFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Predictions of a busy intersection at the Seminole County expressway at U.S. Highway 17-92 may require additional turn lanes onto the tollroad.

Members of the Seminole County Expressway Authority will consider a request from the Florida Department of Transportation to order design changes for the proposed interchange today. FDOT is now paying for the $200 million 12-mile road which will connect with the Orange County expressway system at Aloma Avenue near Oviedo and extend to U.S. 17-92 at State Street in Sanford.

Until the expressway is completed to Interstate 4, the northern entrance to the expressway will be by way of Sanford Avenue.

SCEA director Gerald Brinton said the current road design calls for a single turn lane onto the expressway from north- and southbound U.S. 17-92. He said even under current traffic conditions, the Airport Boulevard intersection is busy.

"There's already a problem there," Brinton said. "Even without the expressway, the level of service is low. After the expressway is completed, it will get worse unless we do something."

Brinton said the additional turn lanes can be added and still stay within the $200 million budget. Construction has begun on the four-lane highway is expected to be completed by October 1993.

Independence

Ukrainian voters' ringing endorsement of independence marks a decisive turn in Soviet history. The union that once encompassed the disparate nationalities and vast territories stretching from Poland to the Bering Sea has been dealt a finishing blow.

It is difficult to conceive of a Soviet Union without the 52 million people of the Ukraine.

As the second largest of the republics, after Russia, the Ukraine possesses a disproportionate share of the country's industrial and agricultural capacity. It long has been called the breadbasket of the U.S.S.R. because it produces almost one-quarter of the country's food — and a much larger share of its prime staple, wheat. It also generates 25 percent of the coal and 20 percent of the machinery and chemicals.

The recent referendum, endorsed by more than 80 percent of the voters, spells the birth of an independent Ukraine and, for all practical purposes, the end of Mikhail Gorbachev's desperate campaign to form a new union of sovereign republics. Moreover, the Ukraine's expected affiliation with a new Soviet federation, led for now by Boris Yeltsin only complicates the enormous task of rebuilding the shattered economy of the old communist empire.

In anticipation of the balloting, the Bush administration signaled a fundamental shift in U.S. policy. The new American approach prudently respects the right of self-determination for the Ukraine even though it accelerates the demise of central control.

Now that the referendum has been passed, Washington intends to grant diplomatic recognition to the Ukraine as soon as it meets certain minimal conditions. In the past, the administration was slow to extend such recognition, even in the case of the three Baltic states, so as not to contribute to the rapid disintegration of the U.S.S.R.

By now it has become abundantly clear, however, that the real political and economic power in what is left of the Soviet Union has shifted profoundly away from the Kremlin and to the republics. This fact was illustrated dramatically by Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin's assumption of the Kremlin's purse strings.

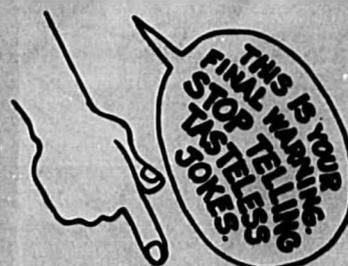

By agreeing to take over the Kremlin's foreign debt and its domestic financial obligations as well, Yeltsin effectively seized control of the central government. As a result, the Kremlin's future policies will be subordinated to those of the Russian republic.

For the United States and its allies in Western Europe, the creation of an independent Ukraine nation raises a host of troubling questions.

For example, will the new Ukrainian government abide by the deep reductions in nuclear and conventional arms provided for in treaties recently agreed to by the Kremlin? Who will control the stockpiles of nuclear weapons, including intercontinental ballistic missiles targeted on the United States, that may remain in the Ukraine? How large will the new country's armed forces be, and will they pose a threat to neighboring states?

American diplomacy will confront substantial new demands in attempting to influence these crucial decisions. But by recognizing Ukrainians' legitimate aspirations for independence from Moscow, the Bush administration can prepare the way for constructive relations with what is about to become the fourth-largest nation wholly contained in Europe.

Dem six-pack debate is stale beer

It is easy to be critical of campaigning politicians, and to give them advice. The first of the seven nationally televised Democratic presidential debates made it even easier to do both, so I will. Herewith some notes:

Hey guys, smile. Just once. It's allowed. What country were they talking about, Croatia? Cuba? We were told that America is coming apart at the seams, that it is ruled by a new King George, that the middle class is going out of business, that young people can't afford college (15 million are enrolled), that a conspiracy of wicked rich people run America.

Now, viewing-with-alarm is the way to run against an incumbent. That's all right, certainly during a recessionary moment. But Democrats are regarded as a bunch of scolds who haven't said anything pleasant about America in decades. The Democratic primary process has been characterized as a contest of "Lefter Than Thou." It may evolve into one of "Gloomier Than Thou." Both are losers.

Speaking of political ideology, Gov. Bill Clinton had an opportunity to hit a weekend trifecta, and didn't. On Friday, Dec. 13, he gave an excellent foreign policy speech at Georgetown University. On Sunday, he won the Florida straw poll, beating Sen. Tom Harkin 54 percent to 31 percent, with Sen. Bob Kerrey getting 10 percent.

But Clinton did no better than stay with the pack during the debate. Clinton wants to be seen as a "moderate" in a field of "liberals." This is a good idea. Only a perceived non-liberal can withstand another bruising "L-word" attack from a scared Republican Party. Clinton won't be seen as a man who knows that the liberal wing of the Democratic Party has made big mistakes, unless he stands up early and says so. He didn't.

The format is a bummer. If the style is to be based on The McLaughlin Group — hit 'em with a fresh fish, politician interruptus, yell and

The format is a bummer.

Unseemly but riveting talk

BOSTON — The women in this case filed a Rolodex of roles. Presiding over the courtroom: a woman judge. Prosecuting for the state: a woman lawyer. Testifying as an expert witness: a woman emergency-room physician.

On the front bench, a phalanx of females named Kennedy: mother, aunt, family defender. And looming over them all, the accuser: woman as victim or vixen. Old roles, new ones, traditional, and even postfeminist — how many female images can fit into a courtroom? What do they say about how much life has changed for women, and how little?

I will not attempt to scoop some redeeming social message from the hazardous waste which has oozed out of Palm Beach. The trial of William Kennedy Smith has been stripped of any such pretense. Neither CNN — the station that gave us the war in the Gulf — nor the print media even attempted to flavor this story with any greater issues. The people who lined up for seats had come not for social insight but for a glimpse of her undies and his uncle.

But what of the women who read about this case...despite themselves? What of the young women who were glued to the strange, talking gray spot on their television sets — the spot that blocked out the accuser's face, turning her into Everywoman or Nowoman? What about their body language as they watched and listened and thought about rape, violence, consent, sex, and their own vulnerability and responsibility?

In the months since this story first emerged, and in the days since the trial opened I have talked with a number of young women about the complexity of their own changed lives. They have grown up being told that they can be the judge, the lawyer, the doctor AND the rape victim. Why, they can have it all.

If there is one thing that unites these women in an era when much of sisterhood has been shattered by success it is the fear of sexual violence. This is the chill in the campus air, the threat in the garage late at night, the tension on their faces as they listened to this woman's story.

But there is also enormous confusion around the words that infiltrate their single lives with less terror than the word rape: words like sexuality, sexiness, and the nature of "consensual sex." It is as if another huge grey spot has covered up these topics too, making it hard to see clearly.

Any woman under 40 has grown up with the disintegration of the double sexual standard. That double standard didn't evolve into a single standard but into a thousand smaller ones. Cultural cues are no longer universal and the likelihood that two people who meet will share the same assumptions isn't as high as it once was.

Today, one woman gives her daughter black lace underwear to lift her spirits. Another considers this underwear proof that this daughter was looking for love in all the wrong places.

One woman feels free to sit in a bar past midnight or go home with a man if she wants. Another woman, man or jury, asks, "What was she doing there at 3 o'clock in the morning?"

We have increased exponentially the number of messages hand-delivered to women. Be free and safe. Be sexually attractive — but careful. Be sexually active if-you-must — and more careful. Even Disney's updated heroine, Beauty, is given the contemporary mythic task of fending off one overbearing man's attention while turning another, a Beast, into a prince.

In Palm Beach, the jury had been asked to determine if this was rape or consensual sex. But I hear young — and not so young — women talk about the contour of consent, the nature of not-saying-no in their own experience.

They heard of a woman being "tackled" on the lawn, of a brief encounter in which the standard of pleasure was his own, and another woman left worried about pregnancy. They talk about the times they did not say no and the men who didn't notice that they didn't say yes. Even now-and-future doctors, lawyers, and judges talk about the difficulty of setting their own sexual standard in such uncertain times.

There is no crime for sexual mis-manners, for thoughtlessness or the absence of tenderness. But there are personal penalties we hear about every day. In a time of fewer norms the only way to bridge the gaps of changing sexual mores is through public and private conversation.

So we have the case with a giant gray spot. In this year's on-going dialogue about men and women, the Palm Beach trial has become another unhappy, unseemly and riveting conversation piece.

How many female images can fit into a courtroom?

Mexican soldiers shoot our plane

WASHINGTON — A U.S. Customs plane on a narcotics mission was peppered with bullets fired by Mexican army soldiers last month in an incident that both countries would rather keep under wraps.

The shootout on the ground at a remote airstrip near Veracruz, Mexico, on Nov. 7 made headlines because Mexican soldiers, apparently protecting drug runners, shot and killed seven Mexican narcotics agents attempting to arrest those drug runners.

What neither country wants to publicize is that sometime during the firefight, the soldiers realized they were being watched from the air by a U.S. Customs plane, and they turned their guns on the Americans.

The incident began in the early morning when Customs picked up on radar a drug plane on a flight from Colombia to Mexico. A joint team of Mexican drug agents and U.S. Customs officials in their respective airplanes tailed the traffickers to the airstrip.

The drug dealers landed, and then the Mexican drug agents followed them in while the U.S. plane circled above, filming the arrest with an infrared video camera. The Mexican agents stepped out of their plane and were inspecting the drug haul — 800 pounds of cocaine — when Mexican army soldiers guarding the airstrip began firing on them.

At some time during the firefight, the army general in charge, Alfredo Moran Acevedo, was informed that his targets were Mexican drug agents. But his men kept on firing. They killed seven of the Mexican drug agents, two at close range. One was shot point blank in the mouth.

Customs sources told our associate Dean Boyd that the Mexican soldiers ordered the surviving Mexican agents to radio the Customs plane to land. They refused, and told the soldiers the whole episode was being recorded on videotape. At that point, the soldiers began firing into the air, hitting the Customs plane four times and severing a cable in a wing flap.

The Customs pilots had no idea they had been hit until they had to lower their wing flaps to land at another airstrip after they fled the shooting. The plane landed safely and none of the Customs agents were hurt. They emerged with an infrared videotape of most of the shootout. Customs headquarters confirmed for us that the plane had been hit.

A Mexican investigation into the murder of the agents blamed the military, but it carefully avoided the question of whether the soldiers made a mistake or whether they were paid to provide cover for the drug plane. The three smugglers were allowed to escape from the air strip, and U.S. Customs officials are convinced the soldiers were working for the smugglers.

In another hair-raising incident on Dec. 1, three U.S. Customs officials in a surveillance plane were intercepted by a Venezuelan fighter off the northern coast of that country. The fighter pilot, with a dip of his wings, motioned for the Customs plane to land. The agents flashed their badges through the window, but the fighter pilot was unimpressed. He fired a burst of warning shots across the nose of their plane and they followed him to a landing strip.

The Customs agents were ushered out of their plane at gunpoint and held for the night in Caracas before they were allowed to return to the United States. A Venezuelan Embassy official downplayed the incident as being "of no consequence." But the U.S. Embassy in Caracas is investigating to determine if the American plane had wandered into Venezuelan air space as that government claimed.

None of the U.S. Customs agents were hurt.

nervously, a few moments later.

He will be interim superintendent while a permanent replacement is chosen for Bob Hughes who will be taking the position as superintendent in Alachua County next month.

The others who had applied for the position, Dr. Hortense Evans, administrative assistant to the superintendent; Carlton Henley, principal of Lyman High School and Bill Moore, assistant principal at Lake Mary High School, will remain in their present jobs.

Wells, 49, has been with the Seminole County school district since 1983.

He had served as superintendent in Flagler County from 1980 until 1983 when he came to Seminole as the director of transportation.

He remained in that position until 1987 when he was named assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation.

He will remain on in that position during his tenure as acting superintendent.

"That will save us a great deal of money," said board chairman Nancy Warren. "But that isn't why he was selected."

Warren said that his experience as an educator, a senior administrative staff member and as a former superintendent made him the "logical" choice for the job in her mind.

After lengthy discussions board members were asked to name, on a piece of paper, their first and second choices. All first choices were given three points each, second choices earned one point. The one nominee with the fewest votes would be eliminated.

Bill Moore, assistant principal at Lake Mary High School was eliminated on the first try.

On the second ballot Wells earned the most points while Henley and Evans were tied for second place.

Evans was eliminated because she had received only one first place vote.

"He seemed like the logical choice," said board chairman Nancy Warren. "I believe he will do a good job."

A long line of well-wishers formed to offer their congratulations after Tuesday afternoon's meeting.

"I got some sympathy cards already," he joked.

Wells checked a notebook to his chest and extended a welcoming hand to those who offered theirs. He smiled but said little.

Wells will be paid about $7,800 per month for the duration of the contract, which begins at 11:59 p.m. on Jan. 5 (when Hughes' resignation becomes effective) and ends when the permanent superintendent begins work.

The salary is equivalent to the $94,000 per year salary earned by Hughes minus a state supplement he carries as a state certified superintendent.

Wells has already set to work with what he said is his first priority.

"I need to learn more about the areas that I don't deal with on a regular basis," he said as he looked at his schedule to see where he would fit in meetings with the assistant superintendents.

"I've got some learning to do," Wells said.

High on his agenda is the resolution of the contract disputes between the district and all four employee unions.

"Congratulations," said Nancy Wheeler, executive director of the unions. "We need to talk."

SANFORD — Now that an acting superintendent for the Seminole County school district had been chosen, the board can get down to the business of choosing a permanent replacement for Robert Hughes.

Tuesday afternoon the board named its choices to the committee that will help name the new superintendent.

"They will begin work tomorrow," said board chairman Nancy Warren on Tuesday.

The committee will be made up of Dr. Wayne Blanton, president of the Florida School Boards Association at 3 p.m. today to begin the search process. Blanton will be guiding the board through the steps that must be taken in finding a new superintendent.

The committee consists of five members who were nominated by the board's main advisory groups.

Dr. William Callarman represents the Business Advisory Board, Don Smith, principal of Lake Mary High School, represents the Seminole Association of School Administrators.

Marianna Stronko represents the Seminole County Council of PTAs, Barbara Spragg represents the Seminole County School Advisory Committee.

And Helen Goodson, president of the Seminole Education Association represents Seminole Un-iserve.

Each board member named an additional three members to the board.

Adrienne Perry, Dr. Bob Hawkins and Craig Orseno were picked by Sandy Robinson.

Norris Jennings, Turner Clayton and Paul Sneed were named by Joe Williams.

Dick Gudenkauf, Trish Madden and Jim Stelling were selected by Barbara Kuhn.

Vice chairman Jeanne Morris selected Dave Farr, Sandy Traeger and Dr. Lurline Sweeting.

Chairman Nancy Warren picked Larry Strickler, Linda Maya and Pat Southward.

"I think we can be satisfied that we got a good mix," said Warren.

The board was interested in maintaining a balance of gender, race, staff and community representatives and of those who live in different geographic areas of the county.

"I believe this is a very open process," said Joe Williams. "We will rely on other people to give us advice throughout this as well."

er, had a small scrape on her lower right leg from the accident. It was not bandaged however. "This is all that happened to me," she told her aunt.

Hatcher's nephew, 12 year old Alex Neabitt was not injured. "It was a scary thing," he commented.

Bergstrom's wife, Sandra Hayes, also arrived safely on the bus. She had been in Charleston, S.C., and was returning to her Longwood home.

"It was frightening when I saw people and luggage flying through the air when we crashed."

As for the mishap itself, she commented, "It is going to be very interesting to see who or what caused the crash."

Another Sanford resident aboard the train was Sanford Herald columnist Lurline Sweeting, who was also returning from Charleston. During the bus trip from Palatka to Sanford, she discussed the wreck with others from the local area.

Sweeting reported, "Sarah Lou Raines was returning from Jacksonville and was taken to the hospital for examination. She had no cuts but had several contusions."

She continued, "Ethel Thornton was returning after having traveled cross country to California. Nancy Timmons and Rhonda Walker were returning to Oviedo from a relative's funeral in Fayetteville, N.C.

Dianne Green, a former Sanford resident from Washington, was returning from Harvard University. She is a Junior, majoring in electrical engineering, and currently lives in Orlando. Sandra Keyes was returning from South Carolina."

Sweeting reported, "The severity of injuries appeared to be directly related to where the person was, and what they were doing upon impact."

The railroad car in which Sweeting and a number of other Sanford bound passengers were riding, was the second from the last on the train.

Yeltsin under fire for lack of leadership

By ALAN COOPERMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW — Boris Yeltsin's vice president has mounted a stinging attack on his boss, charging in a newspaper article published today that the Russian government is a rudderless, disorganized "hotbed of intrigue."

The attack by Alexander Rutskoi widened the split in the top Russian leadership and threatened the stability of Yeltsin's own government as he tries to found a new Commonwealth of Independent States to replace the Soviet Union.

Rutskoi stepped up his criticism of Yeltsin's radical economic reform program and told Nezavisimaya Gazeta (the Independent Newspaper) that he has not been able to talk frankly with the Russian president for six months.

The vice president, an Afghanistan war hero with wide support in the military and among former members of the now-banned Communist Party, accused Yeltsin of trying to run the Russian government single-handedly.

"There is no governing power and no democracy in Russia today," he was quoted as saying. He said there was a "witch hunt" against former Communist Party officials, banning them from Russian government jobs.

Rutskoi said the Russian parliament building has "become a hotbed of intrigue. Nobody knows where we are going and what is our ultimate goal."

But he said he has no plans to resign as vice president despite his differences with Yeltsin.

Yeltsin and Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev agreed Tuesday to dissolve the Soviet Union by year's end, Soviet media said.

It was decided that Soviet central government ministries and departments will either be dismantled or given to Russia. It reportedly was agreed that the Kremlin — the ancient fortress in the heart of Moscow — would be transferred to Russian jurisdiction, as would the Soviet

State Bank.

Even the Soviet flag is to go, the reports said. Yeltsin said in an interview published in Tuesday's editions of the Italian newspaper La Repubblica that "There will be no more red flag."

But Yeltsin's plan to base a pared-down version of the 27,000-warhead nuclear arsenal entirely in Russia ran into opposition Tuesday from the president of Kazakhstan, the second-largest Soviet republic.

Nursultan Nazarbayev said if Russia keeps nuclear weapons, "it's not acceptable" that Kazakhstan should give up its entire nuclear arsenal.

But Nazarbayev, who met in his capital Alma-Ata on Tuesday with Secretary of State James A.

Baker III, did say that the four republics where nuclear weapons are based — Russia, Kazakhstan, Ukraine and Byelorussia — will sign an agreement to provide centralized control of the arsenal.

He also said Russia's bid for the Soviet Union's seat on the U.N. Security Council would have to be studied by the leaders of the nine republics expected to meet in Alma-Ata on Saturday to formally forge the new commonwealth.

Yeltsin was quoted by the Russian Information Agency as saying that the meeting Saturday will choose a "commander-in-chief of the unified strategic armed forces" from the military.

Uninsured for health care at record high

WASHINGTON — More than 1 million people were added to the rolls of the uninsured between 1989 and 1990, leaving a record 34.7 million Americans without health insurance, a private analysis of new Census Bureau data said today.

The number of uninsured would have been even larger if not for a Medicaid expansion required by Congress in 1990 that put 3.1 million more Americans in the health care program for the poor, the report said.

Frank Taylor, trumpet; and Jessica Bonataks, french horn; were named to the band and three, Katherine Jackson, Collin Yakomi and Ryan Kellogg, were named to the chorus.

And at Tuskawilla Middle School in Winter Springs, Aleksander Latorree was named to the band.

The band and chorus members from across the state will perform at the Florida Music Education Association meeting in Tampa next month.

Bush may consider tax rebates

By ALAN PRAM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush, searching for ways to give middle-income Americans extra money and to lift the economy out of recession, is considering one-time tax rebates of $200 to $300 per taxpayer, an official said today.

The proposal, one of many options the president is weighing, would be included in an anti-recession initiative Bush has said he will announce in his State of the Union address next month.

Another alternative Bush has been considering is to increase the personal income-tax exemption by as much as $1,500, said a congressional source, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The exemption, $2,150 for the 1991 tax year, is a before-tax deduction. The amount a taxpayer would save with an increased exemption would depend on whether they were in the 15, 28, 31 or 33 percent tax bracket. All but certain to be in that same package is a plan that would allow penalty-free withdrawals from Individual Retirement Accounts for individuals using the money for first-time home purchases, the official said.

People also would be allowed to escape penalties for withdrawing money from IRAs if they give the money to their children or grandchildren to buy first homes, the source said.

Bush and Congress are under tremendous public pressure to do something about the recession, which began in July 1990. Democrats have introduced a torrent of tax-cut bills, paid for with either higher levies on the rich or defense cuts.

The official was uncertain how much the tax rebate plan would cost, but guessed that it could be $30 billion or $40 billion. The Washington Post reported in today's editions that it would cost $30 billion.

The official said the rebate Bush is considering, if proposed, would be timed to get the money back to taxpayers early next year.

Bill signing showcased to create jobs

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush is using the signing of a $151 billion highway and transit bill to showcase his administration's new drive to create thousands of jobs and get the recession-bound economy moving again.

Bush left this morning for Dallas, where he will sign the transportation measure at a highway construction site. He planned to underscore his commitment to jobs creation in a speech to state highway officials.

As he left the White House, Bush ignored reporters' questions about reports he is considering tax rebates of as much as $300 for each U.S. taxpayer next year as a way to spur the economy.

The president's move to give the six-year authorization bill a high-profile launching came as a poll showed his approval rating dropping to 47 percent, the lowest of his administration and a sign of trouble less than a year from the 1992 election.

In a series of interviews with ABC affiliates in five cities Tuesday, Bush portrayed the transportation bill as the key-stone of "a job-creating package" in an economy he acknowledged is "sluggish" and "in trouble."

"We're signing a jobs-intensive transportation bill that will kick the economy and free up a bunch of money for construction projects," he said.

Although some administration officials say the bill will create up to 2 million jobs over its six-year life, the measure also is being applauded for the new directions it takes on cleaning the environment, conserving energy, promoting traffic safety and beautifying the nation's highways.

The measure has provisions effectively freezing the spread of long double and triple trailer trucks, promoting the use of high technology to ease traffic congestion, opening the way for U.S. investment in toll roads and bridges and furthering the development of high-speed trains.

It also gives states unprecedented flexibility to shift highway money to rapid transit systems to meet local transportation needs.

THE PERFECT GIFT!

ON THE DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS, AND NOT ALL STRANGE ARE THE CROWDS FLOCKING WITH THEIR GIFTS TO EXCHANGE. THEIR SOCKS ARE TOO LARGE. THEIR TIES ARE TOO BRIGHT. THEIR STIPPERS ARE WRONG. THEIR SHIRTS AREN'T RIGHT. THEY HAVE TOO MANY PENCILS. THEIR BOOKS THEY HAVE READ OR HAVE TWO OF A KIND, AND WISH SOMETHING INSTEAD. NOW I HAVE NO GRIPE. FOR I MAKE A GOOD LIVING. FROM PEOPLE WHO GIVE AND KEEP GIVING AND GIVING. BUT IF YOU ARE ANXIOUS AND EAGER TO LEARN HOW TO GIVE AND BE SURE YOUR GIFTS WON'T RETURN FOR WHAT IT IS WORTH — THE SUGGESTION IS MINE.

Recreation expansion likely

By WICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The City Recreation and Parks Department is another step closer to obtaining a larger facility. The City Commission has officially signed its part of a joint agreement with the Salvation Army.

The next part will be acceptance by the Salvation Army Regional office in Atlanta.

The city has been working toward improving the summer recreation projects for a number of months, since a proposed recreation improvement bond went down to defeat. The bond would have build a new swimming pool, major sports fields, and a new recreation center. The proposed center would have been adjacent to the Salvation Army facility at 700 W. 24th Street.

Mike Kirby, Sanford's Parks and Recreation Director said, "We are working on a start date of February 1, if we can get all of the paperwork done in time."

Kirby has projected being able to open programs by then, that will include an improved summer playground, basketball and volleyball programs.

When the new program gets underway, Sanford will share in the cost of operating and maintaining the Salvation Army Building. The first time period for the joint project is from Feb. 1 through Sept. 30 of this new year. "By paying half of the electric bill, half of the janitorial costs and one quarter of the water bill," Kirby said. "we should pay approximately $5,202.64 for that nine month period."

He added, "While we hope we'll be able to continue using the facility, we'll have to work on the agreement's renewal for the year 1993." The original idea of the city paying for re-stripping the gymnasium floor in the building has been held off until next year.

Under the agreement signed by the city, the Sanford Recreation events will be held during the school year, Monday through Friday, from 2:30 until 10 p.m. During the summer months, programs will run 8:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. The facilities will be closed Saturdays and Sundays.

Head Start classrooms adopted

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Students in the district's Head Start program are there because they are economically disadvantaged and need a little extra help getting ready for the rigors of education.

Being poor, they will often not have a cornucopia of gifts under the Christmas tree at home. Some will not even have the tree.

Students at several Sanford and Lake Mary schools as well as a coalition of businesses have adopted the 13 Head Start classrooms in the district.

They will throw the students a holiday party, complete with food, drink, presents and holiday cheer.

"We've had a very nice response," Ada Sires of the Head Start program said. "All the classrooms have been adopted."

Sires said the students and others have been adopting the classes for several years and look forward to hosting the parties.

"They have started coming to us requesting a classroom," she said.

The Interact and the AAU clubs at Seminole High School have each adopted a classroom at the Hopper Center in Sanford.

The Lake Mary High School Wrestlettes adopted another classroom at Hopper. The school's Marionettes adopted a classroom at Geneva Elementary School in Geneva.

Lake Mary's Debate team and the Spanish Club each adopted a classroom at Rosenwald Exceptional Education Center in Altamonte Springs. The school's choir adopted a classroom at Forest City Elementary School in Altamonte Springs.

The French Club at Lake Mary has adopted the family of a Head Start student.

"They have some very special needs," Sires said.

Another class at Hopper was adopted by students at Greenwood Lakes Middle School. The school's Home Economics Club has adopted the Head Start program at Altamonte Springs Elementary School.

The program at Lawton Elementary School has been adopted by Oviedo High School. The high school students take care of the needs of the Head Start program throughout the year, Sires said.

Sanford Middle School students have adopted the two Head Start classes at Midway Elementary School in Sanford.

Finally, the remaining classroom at Hopper was adopted by members of Xi Theta Epsilon, the employees of Stenstrom Stump Construction, Stenstrom Realty and AVCO Financial Services and the Croonis School of Choice KHA Club.

St. Lucia parade trophies ready for top floats

SANFORD — Laine Wood, chairman for the St. Lucia Festival Parade, wishes to remind participants whose floats were chosen as winners that trophies can be picked up at the St. Lucia Festival office at the First Street Gallery, downtown Sanford.

Wood also added that the Sons of Norway were chosen Best Overall float with the St. Lucia theme for their Viking ship.

City Hall closes early this Friday

SANFORD — The facilities at the Sanford City Hall will be closing one hour earlier than usual Friday. The extra hour, from 4 until 5 p.m., will be used for a City Hall staff Christmas gathering.

According to City Clerk Jan Donahoe, "The City Hall will also be closed all day the day before Christmas, Dec. 24th, as well as Christmas Day. We'll be open for business as usual on

CHRISTMAS GUIDE

Sanford Herald - Wednesday, December 18, 1991

Herald Advertiser - Thursday, December 19, 1991

Tree trimming 101 — the history of holiday lights

It all began in 1882 — The first electrically-lit Christmas tree was unveiled in the New York City home of a colleague of Thomas Alva Edison. It featured 80 hand-wired and hand-blown colored bulbs in red, white and blue; turning slowly on a pedestal the tree created a "superb exhibition" of "starry fruit" as reported by a Detroit paper.

A CIRCA-1900 General Electric brochure illustrated how Christmas trees were wired into the ceiling fixture.

Out, out brief candle — The first electrically-lit trees cost the equivalent of thousands of dollars today, but the public quickly realized the benefits of electric light. General Electric began mass-manufacturing miniature bulbs and, by 1901, they were advertising that "the danger ever present with candle-lit trees is entirely removed, as well as the inconvenience of grease, smoke and dirt."

Hired help — Turn of the century "wiremen" or electricians would hand-wire each bulb together in a time-consuming process, then wire the contraption into an overhead light fixture to provide electricity. It wasn't until 1903 that ready-made strings of wiring were sold alongside packages of miniature General Electric bulbs.

Lights of today — Contemporary light sets are a far cry from the 1882 version. Now, computer chips are getting into the act, allowing consumers to program up to six different twinkling, fading or chasing patterns to suit their decorating tastes.

Don't let stress and tension spoil your holiday-time fun

Last minute shopping, parties, family gatherings, crowded stores — the hustle and bustle of the holiday season can leave us feeling frazzled, but these tips from Sonassage by Conair will help keep you feeling relaxed and rested.

•The 60-second revitalizer — When you're beginning to feel tired and stressed, try this instant relaxation exercise. Breathe in slowly, counting to five as you inhale. Hold the breath for a few seconds, then release slowly while counting to five again. Repeat five times.

Next, lean forward from the waist, let your arms dangle in front of you, and shake them gently. You'll feel the tension shake out of your body.

Finish up with five head rolls. Lean your head as far to the left as is comfortable, then slowly roll your neck to the right as far as you can. Repeat from right to left, and continue three more times.

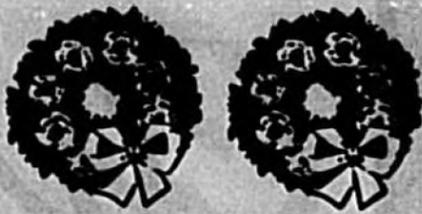

•Try a low-stress diet — Foods that are high in potassium can be soothing on busy days. So, after a hard day, instead of having a cup of coffee (which will add to stress), try eating an apple, plums, cherries, cucumbers, red cabbage or potatoes. They're low in calories (yes, even the potato!) and will help reduce your intake of fattening holiday treats.

•Stress busters — After a busy day at work, shopping and looking after the family, give yourself at least an hour of quiet time. Use the hour to read, take a bubblebath, give yourself a manicure — whatever makes you feel pampered.

Try a soothing rubdown with Sonassage. Because it uses sonic waves, Sonassage reaches down to the source of pain to relax stiff, sore muscles, providing soothing temporary relief. Even tired, aching feet will respond to a gentle Sonassage treatment.

•Don't lose sleep — Office pressures, last minute shopping and everyday stress can leave you so overtired you have trouble sleeping. Instead of counting sheep, try this relaxation exercise: Lie on your back, with a pillow under your feet. Then, starting at your toes and working all the way up to your neck, make each part of your body go completely limp.

Concentrate on relaxing each muscle and joint separately until they're so light and relaxed, they feel like they're floating. Before you know it, you'll fall fast asleep.

•Take a tip from St. Nick — Santa Claus makes a list, and so should you. Before tackling holiday shopping, make a note of everyone on your gift list, jot down how much you want to spend, and some possible gift ideas for each person. Use the list as a guide, but be flexible. The few minutes you spend making your shopping list can save you hours inside crowded stores.

IN BRIEF

WELL DONE

Under-12 Stars finish first

For the third straight season, the Under-12 Winter Park Stars finished first in the Seminole Soccer Club's end of the season tournament.
Undefeated during the 1991 season, the Stars also won the annual Thanksgiving Plantation Tournament, outscoring their opponents 31-0 during the three-day event.
In the last year, the Stars, under the guidance of coach Ron Tompkins, were the Seminole Soccer League fall and spring champions, Region B champs in Presidential Cup play and winners of the Seminole Soccer Club Memorial Day Tournament.

Under-12 Stars

Players, coaches still sought

SANFORD — Players and coaches are still being sought to participate in the Sanford Recreation Department's girls basketball leagues which are scheduled to begin play in January.

All games will be played on Saturday's at Lakeview Middle School.

While tryouts have already been conducted anyone registering will still make a team.

Registration fee is $8 with non-Sanford City residents also having to pay the $10 yearly non-resident fee.

Girls between the ages of 10 and 15 can sign up by contacting the recreation department at 330-5697 during normal business hours, Monday through Friday. Also, anyone who is able to volunteer their time to help coach one of the teams should contact the rec department.

'Classic' roundball action
Tournament tips off today at Oviedo High School, SCC

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — While seemingly being overshadowed by big-name tournaments like the Great Florida Shootout in Kissimmee and Kingdom USA in Ocala, the 16-team Central Florida Classic gets underway today at Oviedo High School and Seminole Community College with a pretty impressive field of teams of its own.

This year, the Central Florida Classic has attracted what may arguably be the two most talented teams in Central Florida in DeLand and host Oviedo.

Throw in one of the top high school teams from Canada to go along with top local entries Lake Brantley, Lake Mary and Seminole and you can expect to see some very good basketball over the next four days.

Because of the field of 16 teams participating in this year's tournament, the Classic will return to the two-site format of two years ago.

There will be four games played at both SCC and Oviedo today and Thursday; two games at Oviedo and four at SCC on Friday; and the final four games at SCC on Saturday.

Today's schedule at Oviedo High School has Lake Mary playing University at 4 p.m., Lyman hosting Auburndale at 5:30 p.m., Mt. Dora facing last year's fourth place finisher, Winter Park, at 7 p.m. and the host Lions welcoming Bishop Moore at 8:30 p.m.

At Seminole Community College's Health and Physical Education Center today, Pitt Meadows Secondary School from British Columbia, Canada will take on last year's runners-up, Lake Brantley, at 4 p.m., Jacksonville-Englewood will square off with Spruce Creek at 5:30 p.m., Miami-South Dade challenging Wymore Tech at 7 p.m. and DeLand tackling Seminole at 8:30 p.m.

Oviedo will enter the tournament as the favorite. The ninth ranked-4A team in the state is 6-0 and holds victories over local powers Boone, Dr. Phillips, Mainland and Lake Howell. The Lions also bested Pitt Meadows by 19 points, 83-64, Monday night.

Making up the starting five for Oviedo, which could be as good as any to ever play in Seminole County, are 6-foot, 7-inch senior center Simon Harper, 6-foot, 3-inch junior forward Devon Green, 6-foot, 5-inch junior forward Randy Wright, 6-foot, 2-inch junior guard Right about how it's when Deltona's Gary Wutkiewicz (top) realized he was in big trouble in his match with Seminole's Corey Bennett. Called the "banana split," Bennett hooked one of Wutkiewicz's knees with his leg, grabbed a hold of the other knee and pulled.

Seminole overtake Patriots

From Staff Reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Tenneshia Eason hit a baseline jumper with 6.2 seconds left to cap a 10-point rally and give Seminole a 45-43 win over host Lake Brantley Tuesday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference girls' basketball contest.

Seminole, which trailed 43-35 with 2:46 left to play, scored the final 10 points of the game to send the host Patriots to their third consecutive loss.

What made the win even more impressive was that Seminole did it without leading scorer and leading rebounder Niki Washington, who was home sick with the flu.

"Playing without Niki is almost like going on safari without your rifle," joked Seminole coach John McNamara. "The girls really hustled that last quarter. They kept coming back. It would have been awful easy to give up without Niki. But they played a team game. I'm

Raider women post fourth straight road victory

From Staff Reports

FT. MYERS — Don't be surprised if Seminole Community College women's basketball coach Ileana Gallagher has her team ride around in a van before home games the rest of the season.
The Raiders claimed their four straight road victory Tuesday night when they mauled Edison Community College 82-57 at Ft. Myers. The win was the second slaughter in two nights as they blasted Manatee Community College 61-47 in Bradenton Monday night.

Seminole finishes its pre-holiday schedule with a 9-5 record. The women will now take off until Jan. 3 and 4, when they travel to the Patrick Air Force Base Tournament in Cocoa. Edison falls to 6-6.

"Everybody is playing pretty well," said SCC assistant coach Val Roessler. "They're (the players) having a good time for a change. Everyone on the team is contributing. Tonight the guards did a good job of feeding the inside players and we pretty much controlled the whole game. They never really threatened us."

Tribe grapplers achieve goals, ready for more

SANFORD — OK. Now what?
When the season started, Coach Matt DeVincenzo and the Seminole High School wrestling team set several goals for themselves, among them finishing in the top five of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Holiday tournament and winning two of their first three dual meets.

On Tuesday night, 72 hours after finishing fourth in the Seabreeze event, the Fighting Seminoles hung a 43-32 loss on the visiting Deltona Wolves, improving their dual meet record to 2-1 on the season.

"We're going to take it one step at a time," said DeVincenzo, in his second season guiding the Seminoles. "So far, we've met all the goals we set for ourselves at the beginning of the season. Now

Rams have enough to clip Hawks

WINTER PARK — Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good.

Despite being ice cold from the floor and the free throw line, getting outbounded by 11 and allowing four potential game-winning shots from within 15 feet in the final minute, Lake Mary had enough Tuesday night to hold off Lake Howell 51-49 in a Seminole Athletic Conference girls' basketball game.

The game was close throughout with the Rams leading most of the way. But

 We have to re-evaluate the team and set some more goals for ourselves."
 There were several aspects about the Seminoles' win over Deltona, that fueled DeVincenzo's enthusiasm. Not only was it Seminole's first home dual meet victory in at least three years, it was a meet that the Tribe was expected to win and did win.

"This match went pretty much the way I thought it would," said DeVincenzo, who had a chance to see Deltona during the Seabreeze tournament over the weekend. "On paper, I figured we should win this meet."
 Which is why, when Seminole dropped behind 23-10 as Deltona won four of the first six matches, DeVincenzo didn't panic. He knew at least one of the Seminoles would turn around for the Tribe.

And turn around it did as Seminole won six of the last eight matches, five by pin. Four of those pins came consecutively as Corey Bennett (140 pounds), Jerome Pendleton (145), Marlon Knight (152) and Bernard Mitchell (160) all scored first-period pins.

"Coach has brought us all together," said Bennett, on of the few Seminoles who wrestled in the pre-DeVincenzo era. "We've come a long way."

Bennett probably personifies the improvement in the Seminole program as well as anyone. While several of Seminole's pins could be attributed to superior size, strength or quickness, Bennett's pin of Gary Wutkiewicz was a perfectly executed — albeit painful to watch — technical piece of wrestling.

"Corey's starting to come along," said DeVincenzo. "He's only been out a couple of weeks since football ended. It's just a matter of time before he's back where he was at the end of last season. I expect him to be tough this year."
 That may be the biggest landmark of improvement yet.

that DeVincenzo and the Seminoles can expect and accomplish success.

"The guys came through that we needed to come through," DeVincenzo said. "The guys we needed to get pins got those pins. That's what carried us."
 Also picking up wins for Seminole were Cyrus Patterman (112), Russell Heubner (130), Ben Shuh (159) and Darrin Butler (220).

While Heubner and Butler both won on first-period pins and Patterman scored a superior decision, Shuh's one-point victory was one of the crucial moments of the match.

With Seminole holding a slim 34-29 lead after 11 matches, Shuh, a freshman, took a 4-2 lead over Jimmy Smith in the first period and hung on for a 6-5 decision, picking up three very important team points for the Tribe.

Butler followed that up with a 54-second pin of Gabriel Grove that mathematically clinched the meet victory for Seminole.

In the junior varsity preliminary, Deltona took advantage of forfeits at several weight classes to defeat Seminole 66-12.

While Seminole was scheduled to participate in a junior varsity competition this evening at Kissimmee-Gateway High School, the Tribe varsity won't compete again until Jan. 8, when they will host Seabreeze in a dual meet.

Lyman pins Gateway
LONGWOOD — Willie Campos extended his school-record winning streak to 41 matches Tuesday night during Lyman's 46-32 dual wrestling meet victory over Kissimmee-Gateway.

Campos, who was 33-0 as the Class 4A state champion at 119 pounds last season, has won all eight of his matches so far this season.

Also scoring victories for the Greyhounds on Tuesday night were Nicky Samero (103 pounds), Rich Aikay (130), Vinnie Samero (135), Jim Giammo (152), Nelson Diaz (189), Dallas Simpson (220) and Ladary Fenney (Heavyweight). Shawn Whitaker (140) scored a draw in his match.

Simpson, in his first match with the wrestling team after leaving the Lyman basketball team, registered a first-period pin in 1:26. Also winning by pin were Nicky Samero and Aikay. Vinnie Samero won by technicals fall while Campos scored a major decision.

Except for the Sunshine Open, a non-high school tournament to be held in Tampa between Christmas and New Year's, the Greyhounds are now off for the holidays.

Lake Mary

 each time Lake Mary appeared to take control of the game, with leads of as many as eight points, the Silver Hawks would come battling back.

The last time was with 2:51 remaining. The Rams held an eight-point lead, 50-42, but Lake Howell rallied with Kristy Hill losing in a three-pointer and Deanna Graves hitting a layup and two free throws to cut the lead to 50-49 with 0:34 left.

But the Silver Hawks could get no closer as they missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw opportunity and three short jumpers. Lake Mary's Karen Morris made the final margin two points when she made one of two charity tosses with 0:02 to play.

Lake Mary improved to 6-1 with the victory and will host DeLand Thursday night to conclude its pre-holiday schedule. Junior varsity action is set for 6 p.m. with the varsity hitting the hardwood at 7:30 p.m.

The loss was only the second against nine victories for Lake Howell. The Silver Hawks have another big game this week as they travel to Sanford to take on the Fighting Seminoles Thursday night. Junior varsity action tips off at 6 p.m. with the varsity playing at 7:30 p.m. at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"I was proud of the team," said Rams assistant coach Carl Brown, who was filling in for head coach Anna Van Landingham who was forced to miss the game because of the flu. "They could have folded several times in the game, but they hung in and did what they had to do to win. This was a good win for us, especially coming off a loss to Lake Brantley."

"Lake Howell has a good team and it's nice to win on their floor. We've got a team that can win, but they need confidence in themselves. I told the girls at the end of the third period that this was our game if we wanted it and they went out and played hard only to have them hit that three to get back in the game."

One reason the game was close was Lake Mary's inability to convert from the free throw line. While neither team shot well from the floor (Lake Mary making 37.9 percent of its field goal attempts and Lake Howell connecting on 30.6 percent), the Rams only hit 7 of 22 charity tries (31.8 percent).

Included in those errant free throws were the front end of four consecutive one-and-one opportunities in the fourth quarter that could have iced the game.

The Silver Hawks, meanwhile, made 17 of 26 free throws (65.4 percent) to keep the game close.

Morris was the high scorer in the game with 21 points. She also was tops in assists with four. Diane Duber was the only other Lake Mary player in double figures with 17 points. Duber, along with LaShawn Merrick and Melissa Mau, headed the rebounding chart with seven caroms each. Mau and Merrick also helped out with three and two assists, respectively.

For Lake Howell, Hill led a trio into double figures with 13 points. Also in doubles were Graves (12) and Stephanie Clarke (11).

wing players — Monique Hayes, Flicia Collins and Pamela Williams — for most of its scoring. The Raiders went inside to trounce the Buccaneers.

With the quartet of Michelle Kumpf, Brandie Groves and Elizabeth Mills getting the ball into the paint consistently, the Raiders' power players — Brandy Friedemann, Carla Letbetter and Kerri Archer — were able to put big numbers on the scoreboard.

Friedemann topped all scorers with 24 points while Letbetter dropped in 16 more. Archer, a 6-foot, 1-inch freshman from Cantonment, came off the bench to toss in seven more.

IN BRIEF

Audubon chapter hosts luncheon

Seminole Audubon Chapter will have a covered dish Christmas luncheon on Thursday, Dec. 19, at 12 noon in the Sunshine Room of Florida Power and Light Co. on Myrtle Avenue in Sanford.

Bring a dish either hot or cold and bring a place setting of silver and dishes for yourself and your guests.

There will be a program entitled "Florida Power and Light Co. and Nature". Contact Mrs. Evelyn Bowers at 880-1932 for further information.

Adopt a sailor for Christmas

Have room for two more at your Christmas dinner table? If so, call the Central Florida USO at 847-2341 or 847-2972 and adopt two sailors for Christmas dinner.

Most of the sailors available for the "Adopt a Sailor" program are Navy recruits, many away from home for the first time. You can help ease their loneliness by taking two home for Christmas and making them part of your family on this very special day.

Al-Anon to gather

Peace of Mind, an Al-Anon group for friends and family of alcoholics, will meet each Wednesday, 8-9 p.m. at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 2917 Orlando Ave., Sanford, between J.C. Penney and Bryan Honda on 17-92. Call Sue at 321-7424 for more information.

Walkers run to meetings

The Mid-Florida Miller Volhasport Walking Club holds its regular monthly meetings on the third Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at Winter Park Memorial Hospital's Education Department Auditorium on the second floor. For more information contact Ann Eifert at 894-0606.

COPE to help families cope

COPE support group for families of mental health patients meets the first and third Wednesday of each month 7-9 p.m. at Crane's Room Office of the Seminole Community Mental Health Center, 5-377, Altamonte Springs. Details, call Cheryl Werley, 831-2411.

Chemical dependence talks free

Quest Counseling Centre/Young Recovery sponsors chemical dependence lectures free to the public each Wednesday from 7-8:30 p.m. at 711 Ballard St., Suite 200, Altamonte Springs. For more information, call 331-7199.

East-West Kiwanis to gather

East-West Sanford Kiwanis Club meets Thursday at 8 p.m. at Friendship Lodge, Seventh and Locust.

Cranberries add color, flavor

It would be hard to imagine the holidays without cranberries. They add so much color and flavor to many foods that we associate with this time of the year.

Cranberries can be frozen just as they are, so purchase an extra bag or two when they are plentiful and freeze for use later.

The berries contain pectin which, when the berries are cooked, thickens the juices. They are also a good source of Vitamin C. Combined with other fruits takes the edge off their natural tartness.

Make this melt-in-your-mouth dessert to serve after a big meal during the holidays. It's a "do ahead" recipe.

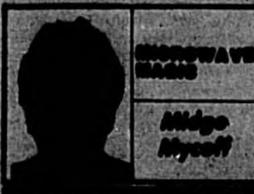

CRAN-BERRY CLOUD

- 4 egg whites
- 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 tsp. almond extract
- 2 cups fresh cranberries
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen sweetened raspberries
- 1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
- 3 Tbsp. water
- 1 1/2 cups whipping cream
- 2 Tbsp. powdered sugar
- 1/4 tsp. almond extract
- 1/4 cup sliced almonds
- 1 tsp. margarine or butter

Preheat conventional oven to 300°. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until frothy. Gradually beat in 1 cup sugar. Continue beating until mixture holds stiff peaks. Beat in 1/2 tsp. almond extract. Spread evenly in greased 13 x 9 inch baking pan. Bake 40-45 minutes or until mixture has a dry appearance. Cool completely.

Combine cranberries, cornstarch and sugar in 1-qt. glass batter bowl; mix well. Thaw raspberries by removing lid and microwaving package 1 1/2 minutes. Add thawed juice from raspberries to cranberry mixture; mix well. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 4-5 minutes or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring once. Cool slightly. Stir in raspberries. Spoon over meringue layer, spreading evenly. Refrigerate until chilled.

Combine gelatin and water in 1-cup glass measure. Let stand a few minutes to soften gelatin. Microwave on 100 percent, uncovered, 30-45 seconds or until hot.

Beat cream and powdered sugar until thickened. Beat in gelatin mixture and almond extract. Carefully spoon over fruit, spreading evenly. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Combine almonds and margarine in 1-cup glass measure. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 2 1/4-3 1/4 minutes or until lightly toasted, stirring once. Just before serving, sprinkle almonds over the dessert. Cut into squares and serve.

About 15 servings.

A fruited cranberry compote is easy to make in the microwave and adds a tangy, sweet flavor to a special dinner or lunchtime leftovers.

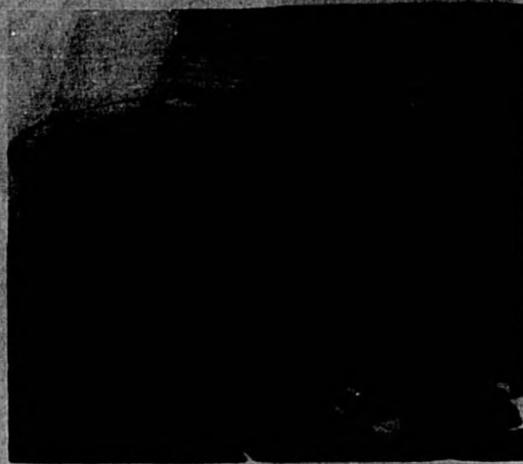

FRUITED CRANBERRY COMPOTE

- 1 orange
- 5 whole cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 1 Tbsp. crystallized ginger, chopped
- 3 Tbsp. sugar
- 8 prunes
- 1 pear peeled, cored and cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 cup cranberries, fresh or frozen

Remove a 4-by-1 inch strip of rind off orange with a vegetable peeler. Cut width-wise into julienne. Squeeze juice from the orange. Place in a liquid measure and add water to equal 1 cup.

Place orange juice mixture, rind, clove, cinnamon stick, ginger, sugar and prunes in medium-size microwave-proof bowl or 8-cup glass measure.

minutes. Stir in pears and cranberries and microwave an additional 4 minutes. Remove cinnamon stick and clove and serve warm or chilled. This kitchen-tested recipe makes four 1/2-cup servings.

For best flavor, chill overnight with cinnamon stick and cloves. Remove these whole spices before serving.

Squash can become quite festive with a convenient cranberry sauce.

ACORN SQUASH WITH CRANBERRIES

- 2 small acorn squash
- 2 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 (16 oz.) can whole cranberry sauce

Cut squash in half and remove seeds. Place squash in shallow baking dish and sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Fill squash cavity with cranberry sauce and cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100 percent power 9-10 minutes, or until squash can be pierced with a fork easily.

Canned cranberry sauce makes a glaze and a sauce to serve with a pork roast. Serve along with broccoli spears and a sweet potato casserole for a festive holiday meal.

CRANBERRY-GLAZED PORK ROAST

- 3 1/4-4 lb. boneless pork roast
- 1 medium onion
- 1 can (16 oz.) whole cranberry sauce
- 2 Tbsp. orange juice
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Arrange pork roast, fat-side-up in shallow microwave-safe baking dish. Cut onion into wedges; place around roast. Combine cranberry sauce, orange and cinnamon in 4-cup glass measure.

Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 1 1/2-2 minutes or until heated and saucy. Spoon about 1/2 cup of cranberry mixture onto roast, spreading evenly. Cover roast with waxed paper.

Microwave on 50 percent (medium) power 45-50 minutes or until internal temperature reaches 160°. Let stand covered 10-15 minutes before slicing. Microwave on 100 percent, uncovered, 1 1/2-2 minutes or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring once. Serve pork with thickened juices and remaining cranberry sauce.

There's more to turkey than the leftover meat

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Turkey luncheon sandwiches made from leftovers are great. But, there's more to turkey than just the meat.

Many people freeze the bird's carcass, thigh and wing bones for later use in making a broth. Some quickly strip the cooked turkey from the bones the day after a holiday meal and toss the bones into a pot to make their favorite broth. The broth is then frozen and labeled for use in a variety of menus. One favorite is a hearty main dish of cut-up turkey, barley and vegetables.

Here is a lighter cholesterol version, using broth — with as much of the fat as possible skimmed off — and delicate-tasting safflower oil — which is low in saturated fat and very high in cholesterol-lowering polyunsaturated fat. Onions, carrots, celery and mushrooms are sauteed and then added to quick-cooking barley and the turkey. The result is a meal-in-a-bowl with only 54 milligrams of cholesterol.

Another use for turkey leftovers, also low in cholesterol — one serving contains only 42 milligrams of cholesterol — is a turkey rice salad with orange and an orange-ginger dressing. This satisfies a palate that's a tad jaded from too many holiday sweets.

TURKEY RICE SALAD WITH ORANGE

- 3/4 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking brown rice (uncooked)
- 2 cups cooked turkey, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
- Orange-Ginger Dressing (recipe follows)

- 1 cup orange sections, halved
- 1/2 cup toasted*, sliced almonds

In a medium saucepan, bring water and salt to a boil. Add rice; reduce heat and simmer, covered, until rice is tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Place in a medium bowl. Add turkey and Orange-Ginger Dressing; toss to coat. Just before serving, stir in oranges and almonds. Serve on a bed of lettuce leaves, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

ORANGE-GINGER DRESSING

- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons safflower oil
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

1 teaspoon ground black pepper
In a small bowl, combine orange juice, safflower oil, ginger and black pepper. Mix well with a wire whisk or fork. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 3/4 cup.

* To toast almonds, spread on a baking sheet. Bake uncovered, until golden, 6 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally.

QUICK TURKEY-BARLEY VEGETABLE SOUP

- 2 tablespoons safflower oil
- 1 1/2 cups carrots, sliced and halved
- 1 cup onion, diced
- 1 cup celery, sliced
- 1 1/2 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced

- 2 bay leaves
- 9 cups turkey or chicken broth
- 1/2 cup quick-cooking barley
- 2 cups cooked leftover turkey or chicken, cut into bite-size pieces
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

In a large saucepot, heat oil until hot. Add carrots, onion, celery, mushrooms and bay leaves; cook over low heat until lightly browned, about 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Add broth and barley; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, 25 minutes. Add turkey and black pepper; simmer, covered, until barley is tender. Remove bay leaves before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings (or 9 1/2 cups).

Cutting cable sets family free to enjoy one another

DEAR ABBY: Something wonderful has happened to my family, and I want to share it with you and your readers.

I have had cable TV in my home for five years. I have four children — all in grade school — and there was a constant battle about which TV channel to watch, as we had only one set, which was in the living room. The kids would sit there after school changing the channel every two minutes and not watching anything special.

I finally got sick of the squabbling and called the cable company and told them I wanted no more cable TV in my house. The kids were upset with me, but after a couple of days, they didn't miss it at all. Now for the good part:

It's been a year since I returned my cable box, and the children's grades have improved dramatically. They are now reading in their spare time instead of watching the boob tube, and my husband has started to talk to me!

We still enjoy TV, but now we rent tapes of the movies we want to see instead of watching whatever is available on TV.

I wish someone had written a letter like this one for me to see. I hope this helps someone else.

Love you, Abby. Please never retire!

BEV IN WORCESTER, MASS.
DEAR BEV: I hope your letter inspires others to follow your sensible example. And who said anything about retiring? I promise to stay at this typewriter as long as my fingers, and mind, can do the job.

DEAR ABBY: We were married four months ago. (My husband and I paid for the wedding ourselves.) We also hired the best photographer in town, and were very happy with the results. His bill for all the pictures was $800.

My problem is my new mother-in-law. As soon as we got our wedding pictures, I dropped them off at her house so she could review them and decide which ones she wanted to order. I stopped by her house every weekend to get her decision, and she said, "I haven't had time to look at them yet."

Now she says she is sure she gave them back to me. When I assured her that she did not, she said she must have misplaced them, but she was sure they were "somewhere around the house."

ADVICE

Abby, as of now, the pictures have not turned up. My husband and I have argued about this, and I say his mother should replace them. I need your advice.

ANGRY AND IMPATIENT
DEAR ANGRY: Since your mother-in-law is sure that the wedding pictures are "somewhere around the house," ask if you and her son may come over and help her look for them. If she is agreeable, and your search proves fruitless, accept the fact that they are gone.

Of course she should replace them. If she refuses, and you want the wedding pictures, you will have to replace them yourselves.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter from the woman whose mother had a painful lump in her breast.

I, too, had a painful lump in my breast for 2 1/2 years. The lump did not show up on my yearly mammograms, and the doctor said, "Don't worry about it — it's just a 'mass' — if it were cancer, it wouldn't hurt." Well, it became painful to the point where I couldn't even lie on my left side. My doctor then did a needle biopsy, which was not accurate because the needle happened to hit a spot where there were no cancer cells present.

Finally, I was in so much pain,

I insisted that the lump be removed. It WAS cancer! I was very fortunate, as it was a slow-growing cancer, and I was able to have a lumpectomy followed by six weeks of radiation treatments, which saved my life.

Don't listen to doctors. Cancer DOES hurt.

DAR BARBAR,
COSTA MESA, CALIF.

DEAR DAR: Thank you for sharing your experience. However I wouldn't advise women not to listen to doctors: I would say, "Get a second opinion, and a third opinion — and if you are still in doubt, get a fourth opinion."

DEAR ABBY: You ran a piece about the benefits of hugging. I believe it was in 1988. Will you please run it again?

B. REAVES,
WINTERVILLE, N. C.

DEAR B.R.: Here it is:

HUGGING
Hugging is healthy: It helps our body's immune system. It keeps you healthier, it cures depression, it reduces stress, it induces sleep, it's invigorating, it's rejuvenating, it has no unpleasant side effects, and hugging is nothing less than a miracle drug.

Hugging is all natural: It is organic, naturally sweet, no pesticides, no preservatives, no artificial ingredients and 100 percent wholesome.

Hugging is practically perfect: There are no movable parts, no batteries to wear out, no periodic checkups, low energy consumption, high energy yield, inflation-proof, non-fattening, no monthly payments, no insurance requirements, theft-proof, non-taxable, non-polluting and, of course, fully returnable.

Carnegie proposes strategy to better prepare pre-schoolers

By TAMARA HENRY
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON — Nearly 1.5 million American youngsters aren't ready for kindergarten, the Carnegie Foundation said Saturday in a report calling for a "new network of support" to help prepare children for school.

Ernest L. Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, said the strategy responds to the first of six national education goals developed by President Bush and the nation's governors — that "all children in America will start school ready to learn."

Carnegie envisions a network of health care providers, community groups, business leaders, parents and educators working cooperatively to prepare children for school. The seven-prong strategy would be implemented over the decade.

"The sad fact is that vast number of children experience crippling deprivations that dramatically dampen their prospects for educational success," said Boyer, a former U.S. Commissioner of Education.

Carnegie surveyed 7,000 kindergarten teachers this summer, described by Boyer as the largest study of its kind. The teachers estimated 35 percent of the nation's children — nearly 1.5 million — are not prepared to enter school. When asked how the readiness of their students last year compared to those who enrolled five years ago, 42 percent said the situation has gotten worse; only 25 percent said it is better.

"The time has come to move beyond the tired old 'family vs. government' debate and create a new network of support," said Boyer. "Let's agree that while responsibility for school readiness begins with parents, it quickly reaches out to the workplace, to television, to neighborhoods, to state capitals, and to Washington, D.C."

The Carnegie report calls for a seven-pronged strategy to be implemented over the decade. The areas of focus are improving health care for children, fully funding and expanding preschool programs, educating and training parents, making businesses more responsive to the needs of workers with families and using television to aid in the education of children.

Neighborhoods also should be revived as safe havens for children and the talents of senior citizens should be used in educating young children, said the report.

"I think it's doable," Boyer said, noting several organizations already have endorsed many of the ideas. "I think we could commit ourselves as a nation. I think it should be the No. 1 domestic priority. If we can't get together on children, what will bring us together?"

Among specific recommendations, the report said:

• Every school district should offer all students a new health course called "The Life Cycle," with study units threaded through every grade; a network of neighborhood-based "Ready to Learn Clinics" should be established in every low-income area.

• A comprehensive parent education program should be established in every state and a new "Ready-to-Learn" Library Series should be prepared under the leadership of the American Library Association. Also every school should organize a preschool PTA.

• Head Start should be designated by Congress as an entitlement program and be fully funded by 1995 to serve every eligible child; every school district should establish a preschool program as an optional service for all 3- and 4-year-olds not participating in Head Start.

• Employers should develop workplace policies that are "family friendly," such as parental leave and flexible work schedules, and supply child-care services.

• Each of the major commercial networks should offer at least one hour of preschool educational programming every week and a "Ready-to-Learn" Cable Channel should be established to offer programming aimed exclusively at the educational needs and interests of youngsters.

• A network of well-designed outdoor and indoor parks should be created in every community to give preschoolers opportunities for exercise and exploration; instead of arcades, every major shopping mall should include, in its facility a "Ready to Learn" Center for young children.

• Schools, day-care centers, and retirement villages should redesign their programs to bring young and old together.

How to alleviate intestinal gas

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have gas. It pops out at the most inopportune times and goes on all day long. At my doctor's recommendation, I have stopped drinking milk or eating foods that cause gas, yet the problem continues. Fortunately, there is no odor, yet people can hear me. Help!

DEAR READER: Intestinal gas is usually caused by swallowing air while eating or drinking. Also, certain foods, such as beans and legumes, are associated with excess gas.

If you are unable to control the gas by altering your diet, I suggest you try a new product called Beano. This natural substance is available in supermarkets and drugstores. A few drops a day in your food should relieve your gas.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please provide information on stasis dermatitis. My doctor has prescribed a topical ointment. Is he on the right track?

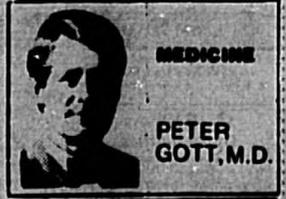

DEAR READER: In order for skin to remain healthy, it has to have a good blood supply. Fresh arterial blood must replace used, oxygen-deficient blood, which returns to the heart in the veins.

Many people suffer from venous disease of the legs. Most often this takes the form of stasis: As the leg veins enlarge and swell with age, venous blood pools in them, preventing fresh blood from entering the lower legs. This stasis causes a type of dermatitis marked by dry, scaling, itching, thickened skin that darkens with time. Fundamentally, these skin changes are a consequence of poor blood circulation to the skin. Stasis dermatitis is common in adults with varicose veins.

Your doctor has prescribed an ointment that may contain cortisone (to reduce inflammation), emollients (to moisturize the skin) and antibiotics (to prevent infection). This treatment is on the right track - but doesn't go far enough. You need to improve circulation.

I recommend that you elevate your legs whenever possible (gravity will help drain the veins), use elastic stockings (to prevent further venous dilation) and consider having the most troublesome veins treated either with injections (to obliterate them) or with surgery (to remove them).

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Basically, bridge is a simple game. There is a lot to learn, but most hands are easy to play if you count. Still, there are deals in which the "simple" play doesn't rate to be best, and this helps to retain bridge's appeal. For example, if you are faced with a straight finesse, normally you will take it, hoping it will win. However, there are times when you don't take the finesse, for one reason or another.

To test yourself on today's deal, cover the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts. West leading the spade six.

South had an awkward bid over East's one-spade opening. He might have bid four hearts, but that action is usually treated as pre-emptive, and he was far too strong. If only he had been using strong jump overcalls, he could have bid three hearts, but he wasn't. That left two hearts or a takeout double. The latter would work if West didn't jump the bidding in spades. Wisely South preferred to show his suit.

When the deal was originally played, South won the first trick with the spade ace and immediately ran the heart queen. When that lost to the king, he had four losers: one heart, one diamond and two clubs.

Rather than commit himself immediately, South should lead the diamond king at trick two. When that is won by West, it marks the heart king in East's hand; otherwise, where are the values for his opening bid?

Winning the return, South should lead the heart queen (tempting a cover from West, just in case) and put up dummy's ace. When the king drops, he is home.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Osof
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Dec. 19, 1991

Several valuable friendships might be established in the year ahead with individuals who have much in common with you. These pals will influence your life socially and materially.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you might be inclined to believe otherwise, someone you'll have important dealings with today is likely to be more considerate and tolerant than you'll be. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work.

Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A matter that is materially meaningful to you might be resolved to your advantage today. However, you may still feel you didn't get everything to which you're entitled.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

If you do not modify views you feel strongly about just to placate others, friends will respect you more today. Be your own person and let the chips fall where they may.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not broadcast your intentions in advance today, especially in matters that directly affect your career. What you say could be used to your competitor's advantage.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are in the company of friends who have a disagreement today, be on guard. Try to steer a middle course so that you can arbitrate the matter rather than antagonize it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your financial trends are favorable today, provided you are prudent in the management of your resources. You do not have too wide a safety margin, so don't let things get out of hand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to come up with reasons why something can't be done today. Instead, focus on positive elements regarding ways to accomplish your purpose.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This can be a productive day for you, provided you can separate the wheat from the chaff. Devote your time to what is absolutely necessary.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even in group endeavors today, make an effort to single out individuals who are worthy of your personal attention. Hard feelings could result if all are treated the same.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions in general are reasonably favorable today, but things aren't likely to be handed to you on a silver platter. Rewards must be won by your own merit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're methodical and practical today, possibilities for fulfilling your aims will be substantially enhanced. If you're not, things that could have been done won't be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to be successful today, you must know how to make proper value judgments. It won't be to your advantage to waste a lot of time on things that will yield sparse rewards.
