

Opposes Hospital Move

Sanford's Mayor Blasts SMH Report

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

Mayor Lee P. Moore today blasted a consultants' report paid for by Seminole Memorial Hospital, claiming his 14-year-old daughter could have assembled the information contained in the report.

The report, prepared by the New York firm of Booz, Allen and Hamilton, stated it would be cheaper to relocate the hospital outside the city of Sanford rather than renovate the existing structure. The hospital paid the firm $7,300 to prepare the 19-page document.

Said the mayor: "The report could have been prepared by my 14-year-old daughter. All she would have had to do was go to the bank and have somebody give her a couple cost estimates."

"Over the years I have served with several administrators I have considered to be superior. I put Pete Knowles at the top of that list and I know Pete would never

'The report could have been prepared by my 14-year-old daughter' — Mayor Moore present a document like this (the consultants' report) and ask for $15 million."

The consultants' report stated it would cost $15.9 million to renovate the present hospital and $17.3 million to relocate the facility and build a new building. However, the report stated that with the lower interest rates that could be obtained through a Farmers Home Administration loan, it would be about $2 million cheaper over the 25-year period to relocate. The FHA loan is not available under the renovation alternative, the consultants stated.

Moore said the hospital board is making an approach to spend very much money on the basis of very little information."

Moore's comments prefaced a vote by the city commission on a resolution stating formal opposition to any plan that would leave the city without a hospital.

The resolution, presented by Commissioner David Farr, stated that the commission feels the needs of the community would be best served by keeping a hospital in Sanford. The resolution further states that the medical professions have made sizeable investments in the area and that to protect those investments, it would be "prudent" to see that a hospital remains in Sanford.

The possible loss to the city was spelled out to the commission in a memo sent to them by Knowles. Knowles' memo indicated that the present 23-year-old hospital and $1,798,070 worth of private doctors' offices and facilities are affected in any discussion of relocating the hospital.

"This translates into hundreds of jobs and many thousands in payroll," he wrote.

In addition, Knowles said the medical offices adjacent to the hospital represent "nearly twelve and a half thousand dollars of municipal taxes and nearly twenty-seven thousand in county and school taxes."

"These facilities and investments are hospital oriented and necessary to the medical life and service. They are not easily discarded in the discussion of hospital relocation."

"Any discussion should await a more detailed, comprehensive, and substantiated report than what has been developed by the consultants to date. The handling of a multi-million dollar project must be done with care since it is the public who will pay the bill," Knowles' memo to the commission stated.

The vote on the resolution was unanimous. A copy was ordered sent to the Seminole County Commission and to the SMH board of trustees, which began its regular meeting at 11:45 this morning.

Moore said he was disturbed that in all the discussion about relocation there has been too little consideration

Cops Endorse Executions

By SHARON CARRASCO

"From midnight on, it's countdown time."

Those were the words said today by Sgt. William Bernosky of the Sanford Police Department in reference to the two convicted murderers who are scheduled for execution at sunrise.

Tired of hearing opposition aimed at the governor for not halting the execution of John Spenklink and Willie Jasper Darden, Bernosky decided to send a hand-carried telegram in support of the death penalty.

The telegram which should have been delivered to Gov. Bob Graham about 7 a.m. this morning was signed not only by Sanford police department but all police departments and the sheriff of Seminole County.

Bernosky said he only contacted each police chief to ask for their support and did not poll the police officers of each police department.

"I doubt seriously if you could find any police officer against the death penalty," Bernosky said.

"We're so tired of hearing the other side, it's time our side was heard."

The brief telegram reads:

"We the undersigned wish to endorse your efforts and actions to enforce the mandates of the courts and the rights of the people of Florida in the carrying through of the death penalty."

"The victims of capital offenses now have a place of rest knowing that someone cares."

"God bless you, sir."

The telegram is signed by: Sanford Police Department, Seminole County Sheriff's Department, Casselberry Police Department, Longwood Police Department, Oviedo Police Department, Winter Springs Police Department, Lake Mary Police Department, and Altamonte Police Department.

The Maitland and Winter Park police departments of Orange County also endorsed the telegram.

Bernosky said he didn't have to twist any of the police chiefs' arms to support the telegram and described their responses as "unbelievable."

"A lot of them said they'd be glad to chip in to pay for the telegram," Bernosky said. "Many told us they were so glad we called and were behind us 100 percent."

Across The State

Sentences Prompt Protest

By United Press International

Gov. Bob Graham's signing of two death warrants Friday provoked a rash of protests across Florida and around the country as death penalty foes hoped their pleas for mercy will spare the lives of John Spenklink and Willie Darden.

The two death row inmates sit in cells just a few feet away from the electric chair at Florida State Prison, in separate, constantly guarded cells. They have less than 24 hours to live unless a reprieve is granted.

Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark and anti-death penalty defense lawyer Millard Farmer arrive in Tallahassee today to lead a rally against capital punishment planned for the lawn across the street from the governor's mansion.

And several hundred protesters are expected to gather outside the Florida State Prison at Raiford today for an all-night vigil in opposition to the death penalty.

Eight demonstrators knelt in prayer in front of Graham's office Monday while the governor was at lunch. They were the same ones who chained themselves to the gate at the governor's mansion Saturday.

Meanwhile, Graham avoided a confrontation by using another entrance to return to his office. His lawyer, Robin Gibson, later told the protesters they could wait for Graham as long they wished, but said the blockade wouldn't do any good since there are numerous other entrances to the governor's office.

Saying they were from religious groups around the country, the eight quoted Biblical passages and sang "We Shall Not Be Moved" as they knelt and locked their pleas to prevent anyone from entering or leaving by the double doors that lead into a visitor's reception area.

The eight said they will maintain their vigil as long as necessary.

A group of 12 protesters showed up in Fort Lauderdale's downtown park. Richard Tice, chairman pro-tem of the Broward County Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said the death penalty was counter-productive.

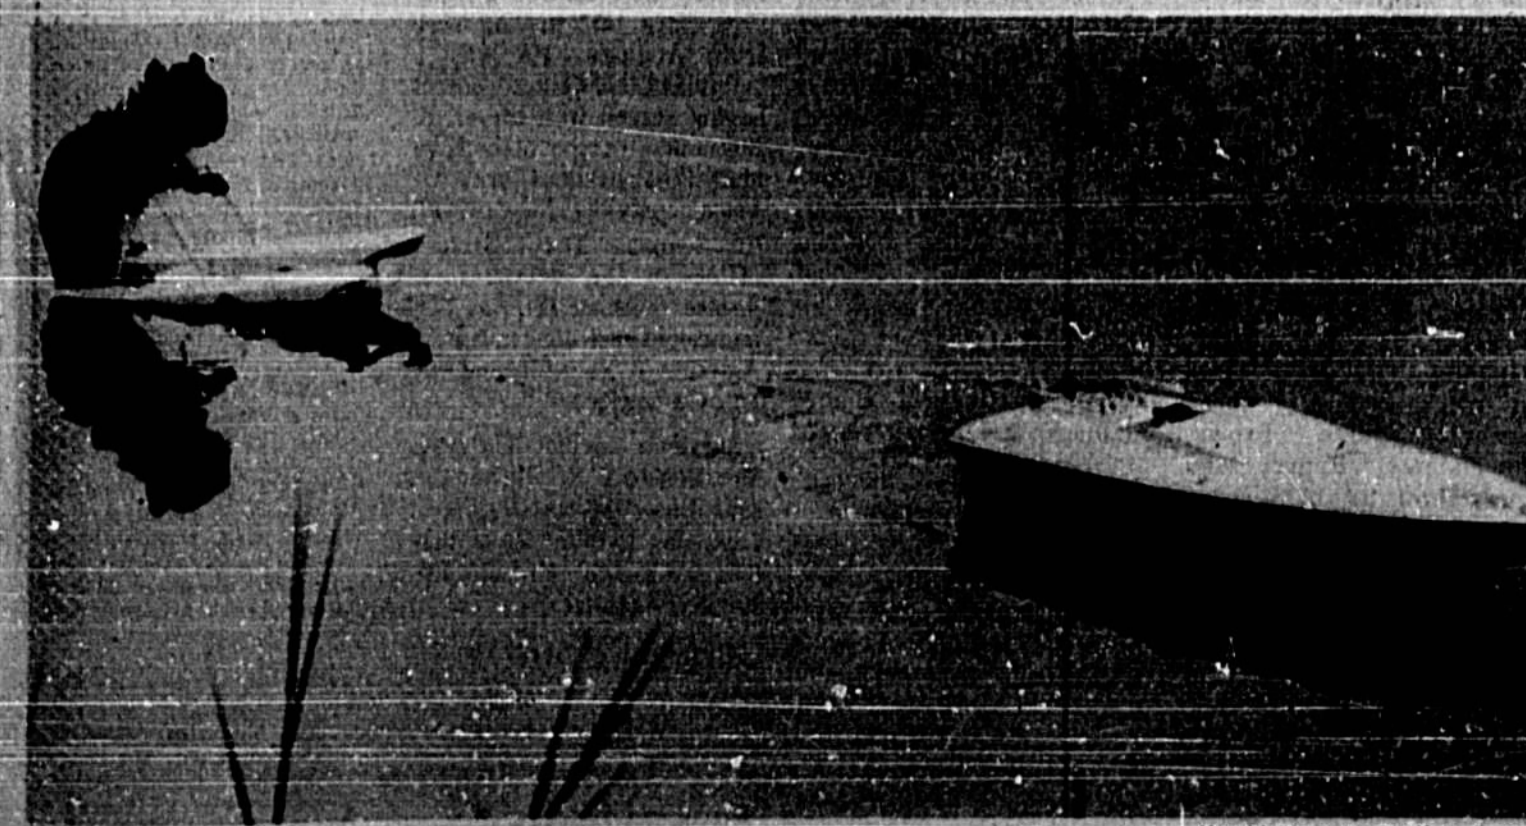

The political group Amnesty International also pleaded with Graham and the courts to stop the executions.

"The eyes of world opinion are turned towards Tallahassee today," a statement from Amnesty member David Hinkley said. "Amnesty International urges Gov. Graham to reconsider his decision and grant clemency to both condemned men."

In Indiana, two religious groups launched a telephone campaign to Graham's office.

Press secretary Steve Hull said about 200 of the estimated 225 calls fielded by his office supported Graham's decision to sign the death warrants, but 360 of the estimated 569 telegrams opposed Graham's decision. "Most of the calls have been from the general public in the state of Florida and most have been proponents of the death penalty," Hull said.

Can you believe your eyes? This squirrel really can water-ski

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

Her turns are a bit wide and she lacks a touch of balance when getting started, never theless Chuck and LouAnn Best's 10-month-old pet still maybe the world's finest water-skiing squirrel.

"I've never heard of any other squirrels that water ski," claims Best, 31, of 213 Homewood St., Sanford.

Best has spent the past two months teaching his pet the aquatic art, and the tiny half-pound rodent now hops eagerly onto her custom-made styrofoam sleds when the family visits the lake.

"Squirrel," as she is known is pulled through the water by an electric, remote-controlled toy motorboat operated by

Best. A nylon fistling line connects the boat to the sled. A small metal bar joins the two sleds, and Squirrel mounts one rear paw on each of the sleds and clings to the metal bar with her front paws.

"My husband likes to have a pet that can do things other people's pets can't," said Mrs. Best, 28. "I think that was the motivation behind teaching Squirrel to ski."

Best said the animal didn't take to the water at first and would jump off the sleds and swim to him. But since working with her, she now seems to relax and enjoy the ride. Top speed of the small boat is about four or five knots, he said, but Squirrel can drag her tail if she wants to slow down. Squirrels aren't noted for their love of water, but who own a farm noticed the animal lying in the grass, injured from the rain and winds of a heavy storm. They took Squirrel in, nursed her back to health and gave her to Chuck and LouAnn.

"We didn't know for a month or so whether she was male or female so we just called her Squirrel," Mrs. Best said.

At night, Squirrel sleeps in Squirrel joined the Best family in October. Friends

WORLD IN BRIEF

Canadians Go To Polls - Close Race Is Expected

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's 14.8 million voters decide today if their desire for change is strong enough to end Pierre Trudeau's 11-year rule as prime minister and install unopposed Conservative leader Joe Clark.

After eight weeks of campaigning across the world's second largest country, the outcome was unclear and national issues seemed less important than the people's feeling about the 59-year-old Liberal leader.

Elton A Smash In U.S.S.R.

LEMINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — British rock singer Elton John is a foot-stomping, crowd-pleasing, yelling, whistling unqualified hit in the Soviet Union.

The flamboyant rock star, wearing his trademark patent leather boots, a green shirt and blue-velvet pants, brought thousands of Soviet fans to their feet Monday in the first of eight concerts in the Soviet Union.

Thousands of fans screamed, shouted and whistled Elton John back onto the stage of the October Concert Hall for three encores.

"I'm knocked out," he said. "This has to be my biggest achievement as an artist. These people don't have my records. They don't know my songs, and yet they reacted like that. I'm at a loss for words."

Israel Takes Tough Stance

By United Press International
Egypt said today its borders with Israel will stay closed even after it gets back the unofficial capital of the Sinai, El Arish, Friday.

Israel also took a hard-line stance, with the Cabinet Monday accepting Prime Minister Menachem Begin's plan of only limited administrative autonomy of the Palestinians.

In Beirut, leftist sources said Israeli troops Monday thrust into Lebanon for the second time in three days and said Israeli-backed Christian militias shelled U. N. positions in the frontier region.

Oil Ministers Sign Pacts

PARIS (UPI) — Western ministers attending the International Energy Agency conference signed 12 cooperative projects today to step up research and development of new oil and coal technology, geothermal and solar energy and energy conservation.

The 20 ministers also chose October 1979 as "International Energy Conservation Month" aimed at driving home the need among their peoples to use energy more sparingly — the first such effort by the IEA, whose member countries use 80 percent of the world's oil.

The decision was announced on the second and last day of the cabinet-level session of the 20-nation IEA governing board, which met to approve joint strategy for coping with the threatening oil shortages and fast rising oil prices.

Gold Reaches Record Price

LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold hit a new record in London today and held its high mark in Zurich. But the dollar made a nervous start in European money markets.

Gold opened at $267.75 per ounce in London after Monday's close of $262.85.

"Fears of inflation and worries about the effect of oil supply on the dollar, particularly in the United States, have led to further demand for gold," a dealer with London bullion brokers Sharps and Pleyd said.

Victoria Less Than Pure?

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Victoria apparently was not as pure as she is said to have been.

The testy queen and head of the British Empire certainly would have used the expression often attributed to her — "we are not amused" — on hearing the recent claim of a respected Scottish anthropologist.

Dr. Michel MacDonald, Curator of the Museum of Scottish Tartans, says the British monarch not only secretly married one of her Scottish servants after the death of her husband, Prince Albert, but bore him a child.

Buckingham Palace said Monday the royal archives contain no evidence that would support MacDonald's findings.

Bar Seeks South Seminole Court Facility

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
If the Seminole County Bar Association is to be successful in gaining court facilities in the south end of the county, it is going to have to gather information to justify it. The majority of the county commissioners decided in workshop Monday.

County Administrator Roger Neiswender reported to the commission that the bar association president Newman Brock, told the bar president the county provide court space in South Seminole.

STRIKE UP THE BAND

The Forest City Elementary School Band under the direction of Norman Krogstad played as a pre-festival feature Monday at the County Elementary School Music-Choral Festival held at the Seminole Community College. In addition to songs from a mass chorus from county schools, Dr. Bert Perinich of SCC conducted the children from Bear Lake, English Estates, T. W. Lawton and Forest City in playing music on rhythm instruments, recorders and the Glockenspiel. A featured county-rock group were the Altamont Pioneers.

wants sufficient space for a courtroom, hearing rooms, a place to file legal documents, land records and court related records in the south end, asking direction from the board on whether to follow up on the request and its related priority on county staff time.

Commissioner Robert Sturm, saying two-thirds of the members of the bar have offices in the south end of the county, added he is interested in the amount of "traffic flow" in legal work at the courthouse from those attorneys. Commissioner Sandra Glenn, at the same time, said the judges of the county and circuit courts should be asked for their feelings on a South Seminole courthouse annex, staff fees for such an annex and the costs involved.

Commissioner Chairman Bob French said he doesn't see the issue as a high priority one. "Instead of wasting time, let Brock do it," declared Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who insisted the question of an annex is the same type of philosophy behind the effort to move Seminole Memorial Hospital out of Sanford. "I want to know what the space would be used for, who would benefit, the cost, where the request is coming from, whether there is support from the people or just court groups. If someone else will do all this paper work, we can look at the question," said Kirchhoff.

"We can ask Newman to ask the clerk of the circuit court, Arthur H. Beckwith) and the judges whether they are receptive," said Commissioner Dick Williams. Neiswender was instructed to contact Brock and urge that he talk with the judges and the clerk and put his specific request in writing along with comments from the judges and Beckwith.

Casselberry Man Sues SCC Over Fall

A 50-year-old Casselberry man has filed a civil suit against Seminole Community College for injuries he suffered after falling 12 feet from a building under construction on campus.

Edison Roberts was employed by the Redell Construction Corporation as a subcontractor to perform masonry work on the college campus when the incident occurred on May 25, 1978. Claiming the community college was negligent in maintaining safe conditions at the construction site, Roberts suffered a broken hip, wrist and other injuries when he slipped and fell 12 feet from the mezzanine floor, the civil suit charges.

Seminole Community College "failed to warn the plaintiff about the dangerous condition presented by the wall openings," the civil suit states. As a result of the college's failure to erect safety railings at the wall openings, Roberts suffered physical injuries and incurred medical expenses for the treatment of those injuries, the suit states.

Roberts is seeking damages in excess of $2,500.

PICKUP TRUCK HEISTED

A 1972 Ford pickup valued at $3,500 was stolen from in front of a Longwood family's home according to Seminole County deputies.

Marilyn A. Wager, 104 Cedar Oak Trail, The Woodlands, told deputies the theft occurred sometime Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The truck has an American flag on the right side of the hood, she said.

TV, STEAK KNIVES TAKEN

Burglars pried open a casement window and removed the bedroom screen to gain entry to a Sanford home, according to Seminole County deputies.

Hazel Gourley, 65, of 625 Lake Mary Blvd., Sanford, told deputies several items were taken from her home Thursday after burglars ransacked her drawers and closets.

18 Chosen To Reach Compromise

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Eighteen legislators have been singled out to try to reach a compromise on the $11 billion-plus state budget so the session can end on time.

House Speaker Hyatt Brown and Senate President Phil Lewis made their appointments to the budget conference committee Monday. Brown announced his representatives early in the day, but Lewis dabbled until evening, meeting with key chairmen to map strategy for the upcoming struggle over tax relief and state spending.

Lewis finally appointed Ways and Means Chairman Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach; W.D. Childers, D-

A Michael Philip Insalaco, 23, of Orlando, was charged today with burglary and possession of a controlled substance. He was placed on an initial bond of $8,400.

Using a hammer, Insalaco allegedly smashed the glass door of Eckert Drugs, 484 E. Altamonte Drive, at approximately 4:27 a.m., police said.

In the process of entry, Insalaco tripped the burglar alarm, police said.

Insalaco allegedly was seen by police running from the pharmacy clutching a pillowcase to the Village Green Apartments nearby where his car was parked, police reports stated. He was stopped by police as he was leaving the apartment complex.

A pillow case containing about 15 bottles of both prescription and nonprescription drugs was found on the right rear floor in Insalaco's car, police said.

Psychiatrist: Gas Shortage Causing Depression Epidemic

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Anxiety over possible gas shortages during the Memorial Day weekend is causing an epidemic of depression among drivers, a West Coast psychiatrist says, but rest assured — the U.S. isn't "going down the tubes." Even Southern California's long gas lines are easing.

California gas stations, swamped with lines of up to 100 motorists just last week, had shorter lines Monday, an "odd" day in the state's rationing plan.

New Hope For Texas Inmate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has granted new hope to a Texas inmate who is serving a life prison sentence for nonviolent crimes involving a total of $20.11.

The court agreed Monday to review former air conditioning repairman William James Rummel's challenge to the state's 123-year-old "habitual offender" law which requires a life prison sentence for any person convicted three times of a felony.

Rummel's problems stem from his guilty pleas in 1964 to forging checks for $28.36 and in 1969 to using a stolen credit card to purchase four tires worth $89. Both those offenses were felonies.

He thus was automatically subjected to a life in prison when he was convicted in 1973 of another felony — accepting a $100.75 check to repair an air conditioner with no intention of actually doing the work.

Poll Contrasts With Congress

NEW YORK (UPI) — An overwhelming majority of Americans surveyed disagree with their elected government officials and feel Medicaid should pay for abortions, a Gallup poll reported Monday.

The poll, published in the June issue of Redbook magazine, said although the House of Representatives has repeatedly tried to ban federal funding for abortions, 70 percent of those surveyed feel Medicaid should pay for the operation.

Of the 70 percent, 22 percent felt Medicaid should provide funding under any circumstances and 47 percent said it should only pay under certain circumstances. Only 28 percent said Medicaid should not pay.

Oldest Settlement Uncovered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pains-taking digging on a Virginia plantation has uncovered the oldest British domestic settlement yet discovered in America, a Colonial Williamsburg archeologist reported today.

Ivor Noel Hume said he and his associates so far have found the post-hole remains of a timber-framed roof, one row — and possibly the start of a second row — of company houses, a cemetery and a wealth of artifacts including two visored helmets and a gun barrel loaded with lead shot.

The settlement, founded in 1619, was called Wostenholme Towne and was home to more than 200 settlers sponsored by the Virginia Company of London. Wostenholme was the seat of a 2,500-acre plantation known as Martin's Hundred.

Talmadge Aide Testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Daniel Minchew says his former boss Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., $500 from a $2,000 campaign contribution he had laundered through a secret bank account.

And he said the senator was "fully aware" false Senate expense claims were converted to cash in the same manner.

Minchew, formerly Talmadge's top aide, told the witness stand as chief accuser Monday as the Senate Ethics Committee began its fourth week of testimony in the disciplinary hearings against Talmadge. Minchew's testimony is expected to last several days.

Kissinger Blasts Carter

AMES, Iowa (UPI) — The lure of Henry Kissinger drew 2,000 mainstay Republicans to the state party's largest fund-raiser in a decade — an event that underscored Iowa's key role in the evolving presidential campaign.

The 450-person dinner Monday night concluded a two-month fund-raising effort that had cut the party's $270,000 campaign debt in half.

Kissinger delivered a hard-line critical assessment of President Carter's foreign policy, faulting the Democratic administration for a lack of "decisiveness" and blaming Carter for upheaval in Iran.

Plant Construction Halted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff has halted the construction of new nuclear power plants for three months in light of the Three Mile Island accident.

The three months will be used to complete reviews of any pending operating licenses, the NRC said Monday. The NRC announcement came as the head of a congressional task force concluded that "an accident such as occurred at TMI not only could happen again, but is likely to at any time."

Wayne To Get Gold Medal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cancer-stricken John Wayne is about to get a "congressional Oscar" — a special gold medal inscribed "John Wayne, American."

The veteran motion picture actor's fellow Hollywood stars appeared in a House subcommittee Monday to urge creation of the medal to — in Elizabeth Taylor's words — "show him our appreciation and love."

"He is a hero and we have so few left," said Ms. Taylor, now the wife of Sen. John Warner, R-Va.

Anger Over 'Lenient' Sentence

Verdict In White Trial Sparks Riot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dan White, the former city supervisor who killed Mayor George Moscone and homosexual supervisor Harvey Milk, was convicted Monday of voluntary manslaughter — a verdict that sparked a car-burning, window-breaking riot at City Hall.

White, 33, also a former policeman who was described as an "all-American supervisor," showed little emotion over the decision, and his lawyer said his client was "really remorseful and filled with guilt — he can't react."

In the evening, two hours later, thousands of homosexuals attended a rally outside City Hall to protest what they called a lenient verdict. At first only windows in City Hall were broken, then rioters turned to the city hall.

White could have received the death penalty had he been convicted of first-degree murder, a charge sought by the prosecution. However, under the involuntary manslaughter verdict he could be paroled in five years. The most time he could spend behind bars is seven years and eight months. "As I looked at the law this was a murder, two murders," said Mrs. Feinstein, who tried to revive Milk the day of the City Hall slayings and whose clothes became stained with his blood. She told reporters her reaction to the verdict was "disbelief."

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated 36 hours over six days, and members declined to discuss the case with the scores of newsmen outside the courtroom even though Superior Court Judge Walter A. Calcagno said they were free to give their feelings. However, juror Grayce Jack-

Condemned Men Lose Several Appeals

RAIFORD, Fla. (UPI) — Lawyers for two Death Row inmates rejected by the Florida Supreme Court turned to the federal courts today in 11th hour appeals to stop the scheduled Wednesday morning executions.

Both John Spenkelink and Willie Darden lost in several different courts Monday as their lawyers began the confusing appeal blitz.

The Florida Supreme Court turned down stays for both men, a Tallahassee federal court refused an appeal from Spenkelink and a trial court in Bartow let stand Darden's murder conviction.

Spenkelink's lawyers immediately petitioned the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for an appeal of the federal court ruling. Lawyers for Darden filed appeals Monday night with the U.S. District Court in Tampa and said another stay request would be filed with the Florida Supreme Court based on the Bartow court ruling.

Meanwhile, Spenkelink and Darden have been moved to separate holding cells at Florida State Prison near the oaken electric chair, grimly nicknamed "Old Sparky." They are under 24-hour guard.

Spenkelink is set to die at 7 a.m. EDT Wednesday, Darden a short time later. Assistant State Attorney Ray Marky refused to speculate on the chances for a successful appeal or how many more appeals would be filed. "We have reached a point beyond which anyone else has gotten" since 1964, when the electric chair last was used in Florida.

Marky did not say that any U.S. Supreme Court justice could stay the execution of either or both men. He said he did not know if any of the justices would act.

Spenkelink's case has been before the nation's highest court three times and was turned down each time. Darden's case was heard once and rejected.

Prison Superintendent David Brierley said the two took the news of failed appeals well. "They feel apprehensive, but have hope," Brierley said other Death Row inmates showed "no undue anxiety" over the possibility of a dual execution.

There are 134 people on Florida's Death Row, including one woman.

The last persons executed in Florida were Emmett Blake and Ste Dawson, who died minutes apart on May 12, 1964.

The nation's last execution was in January 1977, when Gary Gilmore used before a Utah firing squad.

Spenkelink, a lean, prematurely gray, 30-year-old Californian with an arrest record that began at age 18, was convicted of killing Joseph J. Stymonkiewicz, a 43-year-old parole violator from Detroit, in a Tallahassee motel Feb. 3, 1973.

Best directs by remote-control Squirrel's motorboat

She's as docile as they come. She's never bitten either of us. People say she's the tamest squirrel they've ever seen," Mrs. Best said.

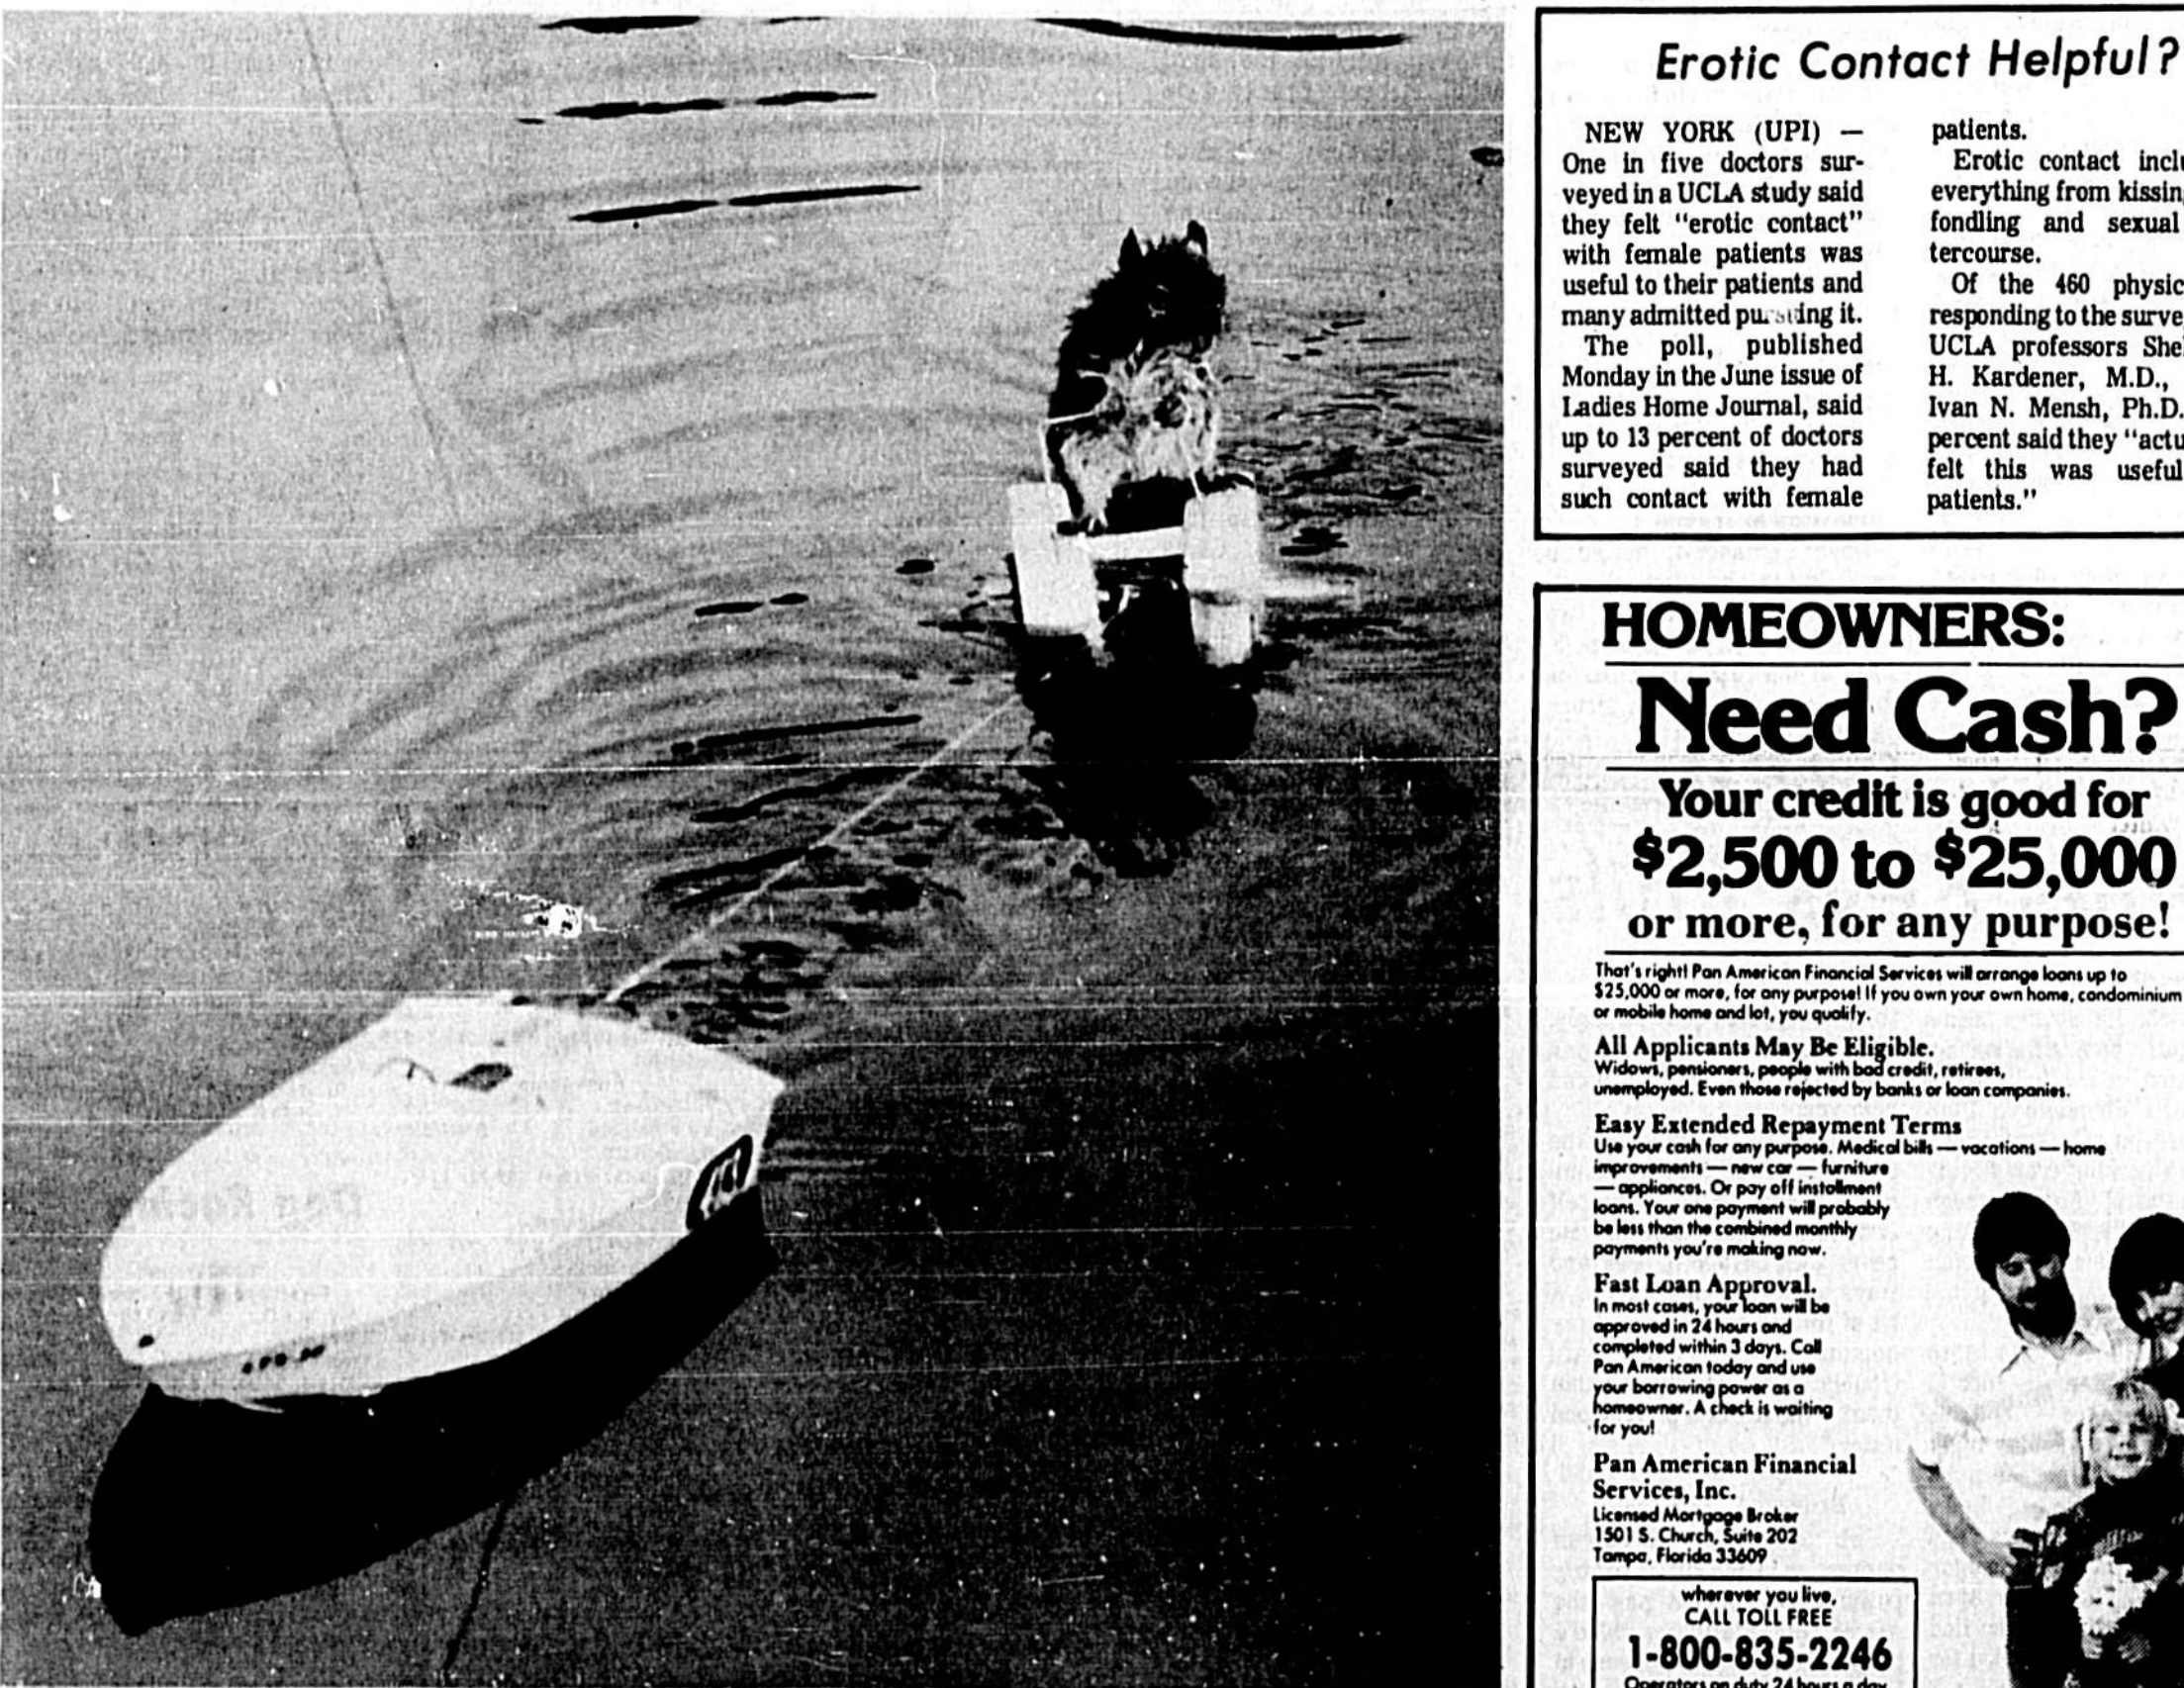

"The only thing is . . . nobody believes us when we tell them Squirrel water skis. They tell us to get off the wagon."

The Bests own and operate the Melodee Skating Rink on west 25th Street. Best said he once taught a . . . roller-skate and has instructed several monkeys in skateboarding.

He said Squirrel's progress as a student compares favorably with that of the primates he has tutored. Said Best: "No doubt about it, she's made real progress in a short period."

Squirrel's progress has been so encouraging, in fact, that he says he might soon try and market her skill on skis. He said he's going to look into the possibility of finding a boat or watersports dealer who might like Squirrel to do commercials on their behalf.

"You know, I've seen small cougars that sell cars and they don't do anything special," he said.

Looking like a pro, Squirrel is now eager to water-ski over what would become of the old building if the hospital moved.

"We're talking of a $15 million replacement. As we know from the Sanford Stadium, a single purpose, specifically constructed building is difficult to do anything with except that for which it was designed," Moore said.

Farr said one possibility for the hospital would be to keep it operating as a private facility. He said he has heard reports that the Hospital Corporation of America (HCA) has expressed interest in purchasing the hospital and operating it.

"The question might be: do the citizens of Sanford want this hospital or do they want a hospital in the city?" said Farr.

However, HCA officials in Nashville could not be reached for comment on whether or not any feelers had been extended to the county regarding a possible purchase of SMH.

Meanwhile, opposition to the relocation continued to mount as Knowles, in Tallahassee today for a League of Cities conference, said he discussed the hospital relocation with state Representative Bobby Hattaway. Today, Knowles sent word to the city commission that he had been assured by Hattaway that the representative would oppose the moving of the hospital outside of Sanford.

Sanford Garden Club Ends Season

Circle Leaders Honored

The 1976-77 year of the Garden Club of Sanford officially came to an end Thursday when members of all circles met for a luncheon at the club building. Unofficially, club members will be meeting all summer for workshops for next year's bazaar and flower show.

The luncheon was preceded by a short business meeting presided over by club president, Mrs. Walter Lee. Yearly reports were given by the outgoing presidents of the circles and new chairmen for the club projects were announced.

Election and installation of the new circle presidents was held in the various circle meetings during the past week. They, along with the outgoing circle presidents, were honored at the luncheon and presented with corsages made by Mrs. Joseph Fahy.

Permanent trophy mementoes were presented to winners of the flower show by Mrs. Joe Stankiewicz, awards chairman.

Mrs. Beth Glor, Orlando Garden Club, presented the program stressing the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs' emphasis on the Wekiwa Youth Camp, located in Wekiwa Springs State Park, a wooded and undeveloped area Northwest of Altamonte Springs, in rural Seminole County.

The FPFG Wekiwa Youth Camp is a dream come true for over 600 youngsters interested in any form of nature. Here they can live nature. Nature walks, handicrafts using natural materials and special programs by state resource people all take place.

Garden club women with special outstanding talents do the teaching. Mrs. Glor, who works with a Girl Scout troop in Junior Gardening, also teaches at the youth camp.

The program chairman was Mrs. F.L. Elmore.

Suckers Tired Of Running Free Hotel

DEAR ABBY: Now that the summer season will soon be upon us, how about some help for us poor suckers who have summer cottages?

We've had our cottage for eight years, and each summer we grow more popular than the summer before. Friends and relatives come in droves to enjoy themselves in the sun and partake of our food and drink. They stay anywhere from a weekend to a full week. They always come empty-handed, of course.

We have even written notes in advance saying, "We are sorry, but we can't have you this year," — but they come anyway. Why are some folks so thick? We bought this place to get away from these people.

We don't want to seem cranky, but we'd like to entertain the guests we really WANT, without all these others right when you say, "Live your life one day at a time."

After 13 years of a happy marriage, beautiful children, a successful husband (due to my help), a beautiful home and all the trimmings, my husband informs me that he is just not "happy" anymore!

At the same time, my brother's wife has decided the same thing. Strange? Not really. She is divorcing my brother (they also have a lovely home and two beautiful children) so she can marry my husband.

Need I tell you how much hurt and unhappiness these two selfish people have caused everyone involved?

So, here I sit, still in shock, very hurt and bitter, thinking of how wise your philosophy is. "Live your life one day at a time."

That's all any of us really has. Sign me...
 ALONE WITH TWO CHILDREN TO RAISE

DEAR ALONE: You asked for so advice, but may I give you some? Don't dwell on your bitterness, hurt and resentment. Turn your attention to putting your life together by pursuing new interests. Work on being a positive, attractive, likable person. You still have a lot of living to do. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is convinced that shampooing his hair will cause it to fall out. Arnold is 25 and good-looking, but he's got this thing about losing his hair because his father was bald at 40. He never brushes his hair because if he sees a few hairs in his hairbrush he practically freaks out! And if he wakes up and finds a few hairs on his pillow, it spoils his day.

He's a wonderful guy, but you don't know how hard it is to sleep with a man who hasn't washed his hair since last July. Help! Maybe he'll believe you, I've given up.

HIS WIFE
 DEAR WIFE: Tell Arnold that I said cleanliness and massage promote the growth of human hair. He stands to lose more hair (and friends) if he allows himself to collect on his scalp.

DEAR ABBY: I have a young friend whose wife died after they had been married only five years.

My friend has received numerous verbal requests and more recently a handwritten

Impotence Is Only A Symptom

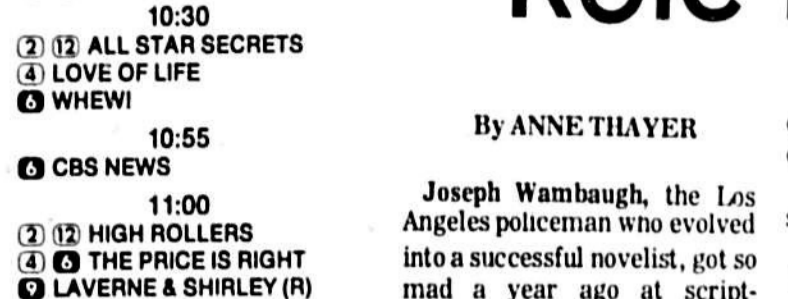

DEAR DR. LAMB - This is very important to me so I hope you'll answer my question. I'm 42 years old and for the last four to five years we haven't had any sexual relations because my husband is impotent. What does this do to me physically and mentally? I'm frustrated and depressed and feel old and angry. I'm mad at him all the time. Is this natural? ... DEAR READER - Assuming that your husband is somewhere near your age group, it's certainly not natural for him to be impotent. ... DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a very afraid 14-year-old girl. I am positive I have breast cancer. My chest is so very small and I have big lumps in my chest. ... DEAR READER - It's most unlikely that you will have cancer. I presume from your letter that you're a woman.

At First Glance, NBC's Schedule Looks Just Awful

By PEPPER O'BRIEN Maybe NBC was born to lose. One look at their plans for next year would indicate they've become a decidedly forgettable lying low in third place. They certainly haven't come up with a new game plan. It's full of the kind of "fried-and-true" thinking that results in tired-and-trite programming. ... "Shirley" (Fridays, 8-9) - Shirley Jones returns to TV as a widowed mother of three who leaves New York City for Lake Tahoe. ... "The Force" (Fridays, 10-11) - Joe Don Baker of "Walking Tall" returns to the role of the New York City chief of detectives he created in "To Kill a Cop." ... "The Partridge Family" - Without songs, which may be a blessing.

Goose Bumps Features Originals By Andrea

Goose Bumps utilizes the multi-faceted talents of young fashion designer Andrea Spielmann, who together with her mother, Viola Schelein, opened their business in Longwood three years ago.

The unusual name of the shop was chosen because of Mrs. Schelein's nervousness over going into business for herself. Although her fears have proved unfounded and the business has become a success, the Goose Bumps label can be seen in Andrea's original creations for sale in their retail shop. They sell clothing for men, women and children.

Andrea specializes in making clothing for persons with a less than perfect body build, such as a curvature. Hidden by careful design and fitting, this gives the person more confidence.

Andrea dreamed of becoming a fashion designer since high school and after working for a costume designer in New York, attended the Fashion Institute of Technology, where she learned to sew, draft, grade and make patterns. Before coming to Florida as a bride in 1974, she was in fashion design in the garment center in New York City.

After moving to this area she got a job in the fashion industry in charge of 95 employees turning out 10,000 to 15,000 articles a month, before going into business with her mother.

"Our clothes have the professional touch. We use our own labels and the workmanship holds up...not like the foreign made clothing which often falls apart after one wearing," said Andrea.

Starting May 28 through Labor Day summer hours will be Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday by appointment only.

Keeping SMH In Sanford Eyed Favorably

By GEOFFREY POUNDS Herald Staff Writer

A final decision on whether or not to relocate the Seminole Memorial Hospital in the city of Sanford will not be officially made for six to eight weeks, but a consensus of SMH board members now favors a satellite unit in the city and establish a satellite facility along Interstate 4 near Lake Mary Boulevard or State Route 46.

"Official action will follow a marketing study by the consulting firm of Allen & Harbitt, which will look into the feasibility of the satellite unit," board member Alan Keen said Tuesday. The $50,000 study will take six to eight weeks.

The compromise was suggested at Tuesday's regular board meeting by Freddie Mobley and was immediately endorsed by other board members Sophia Shoemaker and E.C. Harper, Jr. Board members Keen and Thomas Blayney and hospital administrator Charles Bentley also expressed tentative support of the plan.

"There are interests and investments to be protected whether we relocate or renovate," said Mobley. "I'd like to explore the feasibility of a satellite unit which would allow us to keep the hospital here and protect the local interests here and still give us the opportunity to expand into a growth market."

The decision to approve the market study came on a vote of 3-2, with Mrs. Shoemaker and Harper in opposition. The dissenters wanted the board to commit itself to a renovation plan and exclude entirely any further study of relocation. They also felt the cost of the study was excessive and the six to eight weeks the study will take would delay getting started on the renovation work.

"I question the spending of $25,000 on another study when we have rooms that are so badly in need of a coat of paint," said Mrs. Shoemaker. "The marketing study will examine the financial prospects of a new facility as well as those of a satellite, Bentley said. After the study was approved, Harper attempted to limit its scope so that no examination of relocation would be included. Harper moved that the hospital be kept in Sanford and that the study be pursued only for the purposes of exploring the feasibility of a satellite.

"I think we're all very close in what we want," said Keen. But he added, "We need as much information as we can get and I'm not afraid to wait six or eight weeks to get all the facts."

Bentley, who previously favored a relocation of the hospital, said the satellite plan might be "the right compromise." He said a satellite unit instead of a new hospital would still solve many of the problems he said a strict renovation of the old hospital would not.

Among the problems he said would exist is an inability to attract physicians to Seminole Memorial. He said physicians seek facilities in the areas where those facilities are best and there are the most number of patients. The Sanford hospital does not now fit that category, he said, whereas a new hospital or a satellite in the Lake Mary area would fit the category.

Hospital in Altamonte Springs, a high growth area, has attracted 70 new doctors in the past two years while SMH has attracted only one new doctor to its staff during the same period.

One of the leading opponents of any plan to relocate the hospital, Dr. Vincent Roberts, said he was satisfied with the hospital's renovation of the old hospital would not.

Spemkelink On Reprieve: 'Thank God'

RAIFORD, Fla. (UPI) — Convicted killer John Spemkelink escaped the electric chair today, at least temporarily, after frantic appeals to individual Supreme Court justices.

Spemkelink and another convicted killer, Willie Darden, were to be executed at 7 a.m. today at Florida's Raiford State Prison, but U.S. District Judge W. Tervell Hodges granted indefinite stays to both men.

"Oh, thank God," Spemkelink breathed the 30-year-old Spemkelink, who has been in jail since he was 18, when the news flashed on his cell that Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall had issued a stay of execution.

Spemkelink, who unlike Darden had exhausted the appeals process, had a difficult time finding a judge who was willing to interfere.

His attorney made a dual assault on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and contacted individual Supreme Court justices and finally came up with two last minute stays.

The first was granted Thursday at 11:30 p.m. in Atlanta, when Judge E. Lee Rife, senior member of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, ordered a delay based on a petition contending Spemkelink had received ineffective legal counsel.

That a half hour later, at 11:59 p.m., Marshall issued another stay, saying, "I believe it appropriate to grant the application for a stay until further action by the entire court."

The court likely will review the case at its regular conference Thursday.

"I'm originally set for a hearing in the Spemkelink case for 9 a.m. today, but after receiving the stay," Spemkelink said, "I will have no action (in his case) until after the Supreme Court acts."

Spemkelink had been moved to a special holding cell only a few feet away from the execution chamber that houses Florida's electric chair, which inmates call "Old Sparky," and officials were about to start final preparations for the execution.

"I had not been prepared, the prematurely graying Spemkelink has been the first person to be executed in the United States since Gary Gilmore was executed in 1977.

Spemkelink, who has been on Florida's Death Row for six years, was convicted in December 1973 of killing Joseph J. Szymankiewicz, a parole violator and traveling companion.

Darden was convicted of killing a Lakeland furniture store owner, Fred Turman, and wounding a 14-year-old boy who came to Turman's aid. Darden claims he is innocent, but both men who testified to the conviction.

"John took a deep breath and so did I," said the Rev. Tom Feunster, a Presbyterian minister who waited out the hours with Spemkelink and was with him when the reprieve came Tuesday. "He's a very unusual person. He's reserved."

The minister said Spemkelink had already received communion and was "doing great. We talked and had some good dialogue. He never gave up hope. He has never

Law Library Facing Shutdown: Librarian

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The ravages of inflation have hit the Fred R. Wilson Memorial Law Library at the Seminole County courthouse and things are so bad, according to law librarian Jan Cara, a giant book sale may be the ultimate answer.

The only alternative Mrs. Cara said, is an increase in fees to defray costs and the only body that can approve the increase is the board of county commissioners.

The commissioners in workshop discussed the request of the Seminole County Bar Association for an increase in lawsuit filing fees to give the library more money and agreed to set public hearings to consider the matter.

The increases requested for the law library include circuit court and probate court fees from $5 to $8 each while in criminal matters where no fees for the library are currently charged, fees of $15 would be levied on felony cases, $10 on misdemeanor cases and $8 on appeals. The fees would be levied only on conviction of the crimes or assignment of probation.

Filing fees are charged when lawsuits or court action is taken with the fees distributed according to law.

To illustrate the inflation factor, Mrs. Cara pointed to recent increases in the purchase price of supplementary monthly law volumes which precedent cases throughout the nation, as they occur. She said in January the volumes cost $27 each, were raised a few months ago to $36 per volume and now cost $28.50 per volume.

The law library now located on the second floor of the judicial wing of the courthouse was established by special act of Legislature in 1959 and renamed the Fred R. Wilson Memorial Library in memory of the late prominent Sanford attorney.

Mrs. Cara said that currently the law library contains 6,500 volumes and is used annually for a fee of charge by 2,600 persons including not only lawyers and judges, but also law students and the general public. She said there hasn't been an increase since the early 70s.

The library is fully supported by filing fees. The fees are set by county ordinance. "We have a fairly small library. We should have more volumes just to keep up with what is happening," said Mrs. Cara. "Seminole County is large enough to hold up a law library of this size. We are going to have to have a gigantic book sale and close down if the increased revenue is not received," she said, adding currently savings are being dipped into to pay for operating costs.

Mrs. Cara said the library's current revenue average about $12,700 annually at the rate of $1,062 monthly, using December as an average month. The increased filing fees, however, she said would bring in about $2,515 monthly or about $30,000 a year.

Using the first four months of 1979 as an example, she said disbursements were running at almost the same level as revenue, pointing to January with $1,045 in disbursements and $1,263 in fees received; February $1,109 in disbursements and $1,203 in filing fees; March $1,317 and $1,620 and April $1,278 and $1,712.

"We can't go on like this," she said. Mrs. Cara is the law library's only employee. The library is operated by a board of trustees of lawyers including Bill Lefler, chairman; Gary Siegel, secretary; Larry Roth, treasurer; and Freddie Hill.

"It's not just attorneys, judges and the court who use the library, there is also a lot of use by the general public," she said. "At least one-fourth of those using the library are the general public."

County Commission Approves Higher Bus Fare To Seniors

Senior citizens, the largest group of patrons of the bus system in Seminole County and the largest group to be paying more for the privilege of riding the buses beginning July 1.

County commissioners Tuesday approved an increase in fares to the seniors from 15 cents to 20 cents on recommendation of county Planner Woody Price. Price said the increase would be applied to the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority (OSOTA) which operates the bus system in Orange County.

The Sanford operation which began in December is currently running six days a week, Monday through Saturday. The south end operation also runs six days weekly between Orange and Seminole Counties. The two lines in Seminole County do not meet — that is neither a Sanford rider nor a South Seminole rider can transfer from one line to the other.

OSOTA is currently preparing its budget for the new fiscal year and recommended the increased fares, Miss Firtel said.

The total Sanford operation costs $94,100 annually with projected revenue of $30,000, leaving a deficit of $64,100, according to Miss Firtel. OSOTA with federal funds pay half of the $64,000 with the state Department of Transportation paying half of the balance and the county paying the remainder of about $16,000 annually, she said.

Miss Firtel said, however, costs have gone up from the increase in fuel costs and maintenance. "We are experiencing larger deficits than we have had in the past," she said.

The South Seminole bus service has been operating for the past four years, —DONNA ESTES

Demo Caucus Votes Against Compromise On Oil Decontrol

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats opposed to removing price controls on domestic oil refused to compromise today on amending their resolution, setting the stage for Thursday's showdown.

Parliamentary wrangling prevented the House Democratic caucus from being taken today and Moffett said the voting strength behind his resolution Thursday will be "a question of how many people of the oil companies can get to stay away."

Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., told a reporter, "This is high noon now. Tomorrow is the day of reckoning."

Moffett's resolution, by nearly a 2-1 margin, survived an effort to table it Tuesday.

The compromise was drafted by Joseph Fisher of Virginia, Richard Gephardt of Missouri, John Dingell of Michigan, Richardson Preyer of North Carolina, Philip Sharp of Indiana, and Tony Coelho and Vic Fazio of California.

Carter made oil price decontrol a major part of his 1979 energy policy. As of June, he can decontrol prices himself, but he needs legislation to get a profits tax.

Votes in the Democratic Caucus are not binding on the House, but serve as strong political signals to Carter on the fate of his legislation.
