Gray-Messenger Nuptials

A quiet church wedding took place last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church, Rev. J. W. Boyd officiating.

The contracting parties were Miss Alice Gray and Mr. Will Messenger. Only a few friends were present to witness the ceremony and few were aware that the wedding had taken place as the couple had decided to steal a march on their friends and had guarded their secret well.

The bride is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and during her residence in Sanford has made many friends who love her for her sunny temperament and kindly disposition.

As for the groom, well everybody knows Billy Messenger and it is safe to say that no one has more friends than he. For the past twelve years he has been a resident of Sanford, being identified with the printing business and the publication of the Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Messenger will reside in the Carraway cottage on Magnolia avenue where they will be at home to their many friends.

The Herald joins in extending congratulations to the happy couple. May their bark of happiness ride safely upon the troubled sea of matrimony and never strike the rocks of adversity.

Married

At the home of the bride's parents at Monroe, Florida, on the 28th of February, 1909, Mr. William E. Hawkins of Sanford and Miss Mattie Wynne were joined together in matrimony, A. E. Householder officiating.

The contracting parties are well known in Sanford, having grown up in this vicinity.

The bride is one of Sanford's most winsome young ladies and her sunny nature and genial disposition has won her a large circle of friends. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wynne, well known residents of Monroe and a sister of Mrs. J. H. Bruton of this city.

The groom is a young man of sterling worth and character and is well known in Sanford where he passed the greater part of his boyhood. The happy couple, after a trip to Jacksonville and points in South Georgia, will make their home at Monroe, where Mr. Hawkins will engage in the dairy business and farming.

The best wishes of their many friends follow them.

Levering-Ballard

"Glen Ginn," the country home of Mr. Wilbur A. Ginn, was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday afternoon when Mr. George Ballard and Miss Ruth Levering of Columbus, Ohio, were united in marriage by Rev. Boyd of the First Baptist Church.

The Drawing Room was a tower of palms and orange blossoms with pansies lending color.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Covers were laid for fifty.

After March 15th Mr. and Mrs. Ballard will be at home to their friends at 1224 Park Avenue.

Party at Leesburg

On Friday evening a "Valentine Party" was given at the residence of Mrs. M. W. Lovell. Misses Lucile Cottrell and Carrie Lovell were hostesses for the occasion and charmingly filled the role. It was a "Hearty Party," hearts were in evidence everywhere, some of the young ladies even wore theirs on their sleeve. As each guest entered the hall punch was served by Miss Agnes Arnold and Luta Frierson. The time was delightfully spent with music and games. A progressive conversation game was much enjoyed. Misses Mattie Howell and Miss Hattie Stevens tied, in votes, as to which was the most entertaining young lady. Miss Cottrell favored the guests with two recitations which were very amusing. At 10 o'clock a salad course was served followed by chocolate and cakes. Here hearts were found galore, both in cakes and sandwiches. Oh! we forgot to mention that the invitations were written on red hearts and issued to the Cupids and their Valentines, who heartily responded as over forty were present. The spacious verandas surrounding the house were brilliantly lighted with a score of Japanese lanterns. Among the guests we must mention Albert Brady, Braxton Perkins and Geo. Lovell, all of Sanford.—Leesburg Commercial.

A certain young lady in this town, not now so young in reality or in impulses as she was before her marriage, was speaking recently of her early experiences in the social world. She said the best time for thinking was after a ball, and she was never more serious than when she reached her room after a night of gaiety. She thought the same applied to all girls. Her views may be a revelation to many, especially the men, and she told them in a very impressive and entertaining manner. She said that many a young girl coming home from a night's gaiety sinks into a big chair before the fire and dreams for an hour or two before going to bed. Pretty speeches are recalled, a look from this man which seemed to mean so much, a dance with that one merely to recall which sets her pulses beating, a girl's kind word or the feeling of commendation of an older woman—all this comes up as the girl rests her head in her hands and gazes into the fire. As she takes off her flowers and puts them in water to keep for a day or two, perchance her fingers may linger about the petals, and all of a sudden, life appears to be sweeter even than before. Then as the party dress is taken off and the negligee put on, the girl glances about her room.

The flowers of last week's ball she has laid away on the shelf of the secretary; withered they are, but still recalling pleasant memories, and a smile comes as her eyes rest upon them. The smile deepens as she sees this token, and that one, souvenirs of happy times, pictures of many a good friend, and an open memorandum page of happy times still in store. "Ah, yes," the girl thinks as she sinks into slumber, "life is sweet indeed." With so many friends and such friends, who can say it is not worth the living? Into the secrecy of that gentle maiden's chamber one would not go with aught but kindly thought. But life is such with its lessons that always they must be learned and sometimes learned quickly. Perhaps a year has done it all, and as the girl lays aside once more the dainty dress, her face becomes thoughtful and earnest, then wistful for the feeling of glad assurance which can never return in the fullness of the past.

Going to the dressing-table she takes several photographs—perhaps she looks especially at one as she lays the pile away. Surveying the few that are left—"Yes, these at least are true, true friends," she whispers softly, and gives each a look of fondness and trust. Into the waste-basket she throws little trinkets, "once so full of value, but now meaningless, although a tear falls into the basket, too. The light is put out, and as she raises the curtain she looks out into the night, and the expression of sadness deepens. "Well, I suppose these things must come," she thinks, "life has its bitter as well as its sweet, some are untrue and unworthy, but still how many are left."

The group of faces on the dressing table grows smaller and changes from year to year. Faces are not banished as carelessly as at first and a new one among the few is the marking of an event—an event which is the making of a new friendship. The girl's own face among the group is sweeter and more womanly, and it changes, too, from year to year. It may be that it takes on the radiant smile of the bride, then the gentle look of the mother. Or, perhaps, it carries its impress of a story and a tinge of sadness for the one thing which was not to be. But over all other expressions is the one of reserve, of control, as if the deep inner life of the soul were a secret not lightly to be disclosed.

"I know I am changed," she continued, "and people are frank enough to say so. I probably am more distant, surely less enthusiastic, and make friends less rapidly. Of course, to you, and several others I may always appear the same, notwithstanding that you say I have been a revelation to you since my engagement. Now many acquaintances enter more or less into my life, yet my friends are few. Friendship, how much it means to me now! That sympathetic bond of heart life, which, in my foolish youth, I sought for everywhere, I now expect to find but seldom. And my friends—up and down the world they are scattered. And you can count them on the finger of one hand."

LARGE SHIPMENT OF FISH

One of the Many Great Industries of Lucky Sanford

A representative of The Herald called upon C. R. Walker of the Florida Produce & Commission Co. Tuesday, and found him busily engaged in superintending the unloading and packing of thousands of fish. There were over 3,000 pounds of herring alone, and as many more of trout, shad, bream, catfish and perch.

Very few people are aware of the vast proportions of this industry in Sanford and that many varieties of salt water fish come up the river as far as Sanford. The herring are found here in greatest numbers in February and March, coming up the river to spawn. Mr. Walker stated that the largest haul was made near the old fibre factory last year, when a solid carload was caught, and as many more were thrown back in the water because they were unable to load them, and they did not believe in useless slaughter. The water was so fully alive with herring at the time that the whole river looked like rain drops as the fish floundered about and congested the stream.

The herring are shipped to the western markets, and, while not commanding as good a price, are nevertheless a marketable commodity when caught in large quantities. To anyone who has resided inland the sight of men scooping up fish in shovels and shipping them by the carload is one long to be remembered.

Several other firms in Sanford also enjoy a lucrative trade in the shipping of fish, among them being W. N. Lester, Frank Hatch, Speer & Malcolm and J. E. Vincent.

On Sanford Celery.

R. J. Holly of The Sanford Herald left at The Times office Saturday some very remarkable celery. It is not strange that Sanford has become famous as the "Celery City," if this is a fair sample of the product of its farms. It is not only of very unusual size but beautifully bleached and very tender and finely flavored.—Tampa Times.

R. J. Holly, the enterprising editor of The Sanford Herald, was among the visitors at the Fair yesterday. This year Sanford had an excellent exhibit of celery, for which the town and contiguous territory is famed. Mr. Holly was among those contributing to the celery display and yesterday paying an appreciated call at the Tribune office, he left some of the choice plant.—Tampa Tribune.

The Return of a Former Resident

A visitor of more than ordinary interest in the city last week was Mr. David A. Caldwell, a leading business man of Sanford, Fla., who came back to Greensboro to renew old acquaintances after an absence of forty-two years. Mr. Caldwell is a son of the late Dr. Andrew Caldwell who is remembered by the older people of this community as a prominent physician of his day. Dr. Caldwell moved to Florida soon after the civil war and died there nearly fifteen years ago. His aged widow resides with her son, Mr. David A. Caldwell, who, with his two sons, Messrs. D. D. and H. W. Caldwell, conduct a department store in Sanford.

While in Greensboro Mr. Caldwell met many friends of his boyhood days. He left Saturday evening on his return to his home.—Greensboro (N. C.) Patriot.

More New Residents

Dr. and Mrs. Delameter and Mr. Hilton of Chicago have arrived in the city and purchased part of the fine tract of land of Mr. Prouty on Cameron avenue. Dr. Delameter is a well known physician of Chicago, who on account of ill health has sought Sanford's equable climate and with Mr. Hilton will get next to nature in earnest by tickling the earth with a hoe and pulling the bell cord over a mule. We welcome these estimable people to our midst and hope they will gain health and wealth by their residence in the celery delta.

REDUCTION IN RATES

Florida Shippers Accomplish Some Good Work

ASSOCIATION ISSUES A LETTER

Good Service Already Secured and Other Evils to be Remedied—Better Rates

J. C. Chaso, secretary and treasurer of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Protective Association, has issued the following, which will be of special interest here and throughout the state:

At a meeting of the directors of this association held in Jacksonville on Wednesday, February 24th, the secretary was instructed to issue a statement showing what this association has accomplished since its organization in the way of securing more equitable rates on Florida perishable products, matters now pending, and questions for future action.

Under the decisions and orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Florida growers have made the following substantial gains:

First—Oranges, grapefruit and pineapples. On all shipments to Atlantic seacoast and interior Eastern markets, in a territory bounded on the west by Pittsburg and Buffalo, and east, including the New England states, the carriers are requested to establish carload rates with a minimum of 300 boxes or crates, and rates have been reduced from 4 1/2 cents as high as 15 cents per box and per crate as follows:

Baltimore,	reduced from 47 1/2 to 43
Philadelphia,	" 48 1/2 to 44
New York,	" 50 1/2 to 40
Boston,	" 50 to 51
Buffalo,	" 60.8 to 53
Pittsburgh,	" 60.4 to 52
Providence,	" 59 to 51

Corresponding reductions apply to territory adjacent to the points named, and tariffs are already effective at the new rates.

Second—The Commission say that "in their opinion, rates to the West from Florida ought to be less perhaps to the Ohio river points, and ought to be less from Ohio river points to destination, and ought not to be higher on the average than rates from California." In event the carriers do not put reduced rates into effect, the Commission's attention may be called to the matter later on.

Third—Vegetables. The reduction by the Commission on shipments of vegetables via rail and water to Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and Boston is five cents per crate of 50 pounds, which is a reduction from the old rates of 15 to 20 per cent. On cabbage and potatoes via rail and water the rates have been reduced as follows:

Cabbage, to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York reduced from 54 cents to 44, and to Boston from 63 cents to 52 per barrel or barrel crate of 120 pounds.

Potatoes, to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York reduced from 60 cents to 50, and to Boston from 70 cents to 50 per barrel or barrel crate of 185 pounds.

The all-rail rate to Boston was reduced from 53 cents to 49 per crate of 60 pounds and from $1.06 to 98 cents per barrel.

Fourth—Strawberries. The minimum loading of 200 crates at the rate of $1.80 per crate from Starke and Lawley to New York was reduced to a minimum of 175 crates.

These rates are in effect and will be the means of saving thousands of dollars to Florida growers. We consider the same a substantial victory for this association, but it is not all that has been accomplished. In its report the Commission states that "all-rail rates on vegetables were too high." It suggests that Florida railroads put into effect to Atlantic seacoast and interior Eastern markets an all-rail minimum carload and all-rail rates from basing points approximately as follows:

33 cents to Baltimore, now 40 cents
34 " Philadelphia " 41 "
36 " New York " 43 "
42 " Boston " 49 "

with corresponding rates to interior points. This matter is now pending before the Commission and some definite action is promised on or about March 10th.

At the same time we hope favorable action will be taken upon our request that the Florida railroads insert a clause that will enable growers to ship mixed cars of oranges and pineapples, and mixed cars of vegetables and Florida fruits into eastern and western markets at carload rates on each commodity with a minimum carload not to exceed 24,000 pounds.

Fifth—Tariff. At the request of Congressmen Sparkman and Clark, the secretary and members of this association appeared before the ways and means committee of Congress and furnished facts and figures showing that it would be an injustice to Florida growers of fruits and vegetables to make any reduction in tariff now in effect that would throw the markets of this country open to importations of competitive products grown with cheap labor.

We have reasonable assurance to feel that this appeal will have the desired effect.

This work has not been carried on free of expense. To secure what we are striving for will require patience, time and work. The association will require funds to continue the fight. You are hereby requested to forward to the treasurer, in the enclosed envelope, either in cash, check or money order, your membership dues of $5, and on the enclosed blanks the names of one or more new members with $5 to cover initiation and membership dues for one year.

It was also suggested by the directors that each member should address a letter to the different commission houses with whom they are doing business requesting subscriptions in behalf of this association. Respectfully submitted,
J. C. CHASO, Sec. and Treas.

CELERY DEMANDS HEAVY

Rains and Cool Weather Cause Bright Outlook in Florida

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 23.—Chase & Co. report the movement of celery for the week ending last Saturday as 37 carloads, which did not begin to satisfy the demand. They say that recent rains, followed by cool weather, have put the fields in excellent condition and that the quality and sizes from now on will be far superior to previous shipments. The demand has been heavy and they say that everything they are now shipping is going forward on f. o. b. orders. They advise customers to place their orders a little bit ahead, as they will then not be disappointed in securing supplies.

Florida oranges, they say, are cleaning up fast. The demand is heavy and they look for a good market the remainder of the season. They expect to begin grapefruit shipping next week from the famous Milwaukee grove. This stock is fine, heavy, full of juice and has the reputation of being about the finest eating fruit shipped from the State.—New York Produce News.

Discoveries.

It is astonishing how many new discoveries are made in Florida.

And these discoveries while, of course, new to the discoverer, were known to the fathers and grandfathers of us old-timers. The editor of this paper actually discovered America, but it was an awful long time after thousands of others had done the same thing.

The latest "discovery" which has come to our knowledge is that of a man in Orange county. He "discovers" that a peach tree can be grafted on a plum stock and forthwith he takes it for granted that peaches grafted on plums would knock out the peach borer.

He is correct. It will knock out the borer all right, but unfortunately for his theory, it knocks out the peaches also.

Our editor has grafted peaches on plums, just for the curiosity of the thing but he never obtained any fruit from trees thus treated.

But, to keep borers out of peach trees is a very simple matter. Take some strips of osimburg, or other thick cloth and wrap two or three times around the tree, tie it on with strips of the same material and see that the lower end of the cloth is a couple of inches in the ground all around the trunk of the tree. Keep it in that condition and a borer will never enter the tree.

The reason is plain. The sap of a peach tree is required to hatch the egg of the borer. The borer moth lays its eggs in the cloth, where the sap of the tree never reaches it, and the egg never hatches.—Jasper News.

THE EVENTS OF ORANGE COUNTY

Efficient Staff of Reporters Weekly Covers the Territory for The Herald

OVIEDO OCCURRENCES

Special Correspondence to The Herald. Mrs. Ed Argo and children are in Jacksonville on a visit to the parents of the former who reside at the latter place.

The Ladies' Club are making preparations for a sale which they intend to give shortly, the proceeds of which will be used to defray the expenses of planting trees along the public highways. This is a worthy object and should be well patronized.

Rev. Mr. Rogers filled his regular appointment in the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs. Foster entertained the Ladies' Club at her home on Lake Charm Wednesday evening. A large number of the ladies were present and report a most enjoyable time.

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Cor. to The Herald.

We are having refreshing showers, everything is putting out new growth and the orange trees are blossoming.

E. O. Hankins is paying a visit to this town again.

Rev. J. F. Sundell and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McBride attended the C. and M. A. convention at Orlando last week.

Miss Mary Nicholas of Philadelphia is spending a few months here with her friend, Mrs. A. W. Keely.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Martin was christened at the Episcopal Church on Sunday, the 21st of February.

Rev. Mr. Brown of Sanford officiating. School closed last Friday. The teacher, Miss Florence Lovell, left here Saturday. We are sorry to lose her from among us.

Monroe Items.

Special Correspondence to The Herald.

Mr. W. E. Hawkins and Miss Mattie Mae Wynne were married at the bride's home on Sunday, Feb. 28, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The pastor of the M. E. Church of Sanford performed the ceremony. Mr. Hawkins intends to locate at Monroe where he will go into the dairy business on an extensive scale. The citizens of Monroe wish the happy couple a long and successful career.

R. T. Wynne has already shipped two cars of celery from this point and has two more cars under boards which will be ready to ship soon.

The express platform here is crowded every day with express shipments for northern and local markets.

J. R. Allen, ex-conductor of a northern division of the A. C. L. Railway, and also a stockholder of the Southern Railway and U. S. steel stocks, has purchased five acres of land from W. E. Hawkins near the depot. Mr. Allen has joined the league of wide-awake hustlers of Monroe and has a large force of men clearing and ditching his land. He intends to erect a two-story building on the place, using the first floor for an amusement hall. A few more such men would be highly appreciated by the settlement.

J. M. Wise has sold five acres of land to Mr. Smith, a Georgia man, who intends building a dwelling house on it immediately. Mr. Smith is occupying a house belonging to R. T. Wynne until he can complete his own.

The convict gang are doing much to improve the roads in the vicinity of Monroe.

Maitland Happenings.

Miss Kate Witherington has returned to the Cathedral School for girls in Orlando.

Mr. T. C. Darby, of Crescent City was here this week looking after his orange grove. Mr. Darby was for many years a prominent business man of this place and is always a welcome visitor.

Master William Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Berry, was six years old last Saturday. He celebrated the occasion by inviting his young friends to spend the afternoon with him and it goes without saying that it was passed most pleasantly. Ice cream and cake were served and each child received a favor.

Miss Miriam Shepherd, a popular young lady of Winter Park, was the welcome guest of relatives and friends here last week. An entertainment was given in her honor Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geiger which was much enjoyed.

Miss Spang, an elderly maiden lady of this place, has been having mental trouble for some time. She has grown so much worse of late that it has been thought best to send her to the state hospital at Chattahoochee for treatment. She will probably leave this week.

Mr. J. W. Bird, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raulerson for a month past, left Thursday for his home in Jefferson City, Tenn. Though Mr. Bird is an elderly man, he is full of life and good spirits and he greatly endeared himself to the young people with whom he was thrown. In recognition of this, Miss Kate Raulerson gave him a surprise party last Tuesday night at the residence of her parents by inviting her class in school to spend a few hours with him. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable way, young (?) Mr. Bird contributing the greater part of the entertainment.

Rev. J. W. Caldwell, pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Birmingham, Ala., came down this week to visit his uncle, Mr. Thomas Caldwell, who has been quite ailing for some time. The latter accompanied Dr. Caldwell to his Birmingham home on Thursday. It is hoped that the change will be greatly beneficial. Mr. Caldwell is unmarried and has lived alone for a great many years. He has the entire confidence and the cordial esteem of all who know him.

Mrs. B. F. Wilson and children left this week for Quarry, Fla., to join Mr. Wilson who has been in business there for some time. We regret to lose this family from our town.

Dr. Williams left Tuesday for Sparks, Ga., where Mrs. Williams has been visiting her mother for some time. Early next week Dr. and Mrs. Williams will proceed to Atlanta where the latter will enter a hospital for appendicitis. Their many friends here are remembering them with sympathy and best wishes.

Major and Mrs. S. V. Pickens, of Henderson, N. C., for many years regular winter visitors to Florida, and always spend part of the time of their sojourn in Apopka have been here this week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Witherington. Major and Mrs. Pickens are friends to everybody here and they number all of our good people among their friends. They always bring sunshine and good cheer.

Last Sunday was a great day for Apopka Baptists and for the people of the town generally. The new Baptist church auditorium was used for the first time; and though it is considerably larger than the old auditorium it was comfortably filled by town and out of town people. The lecture room and Sunday school rooms not having been completed were not used. The Sunday school, however, was very well accommodated in the main building. The 11 o'clock services were conducted by Rev. R. N. Cate, acting pastor of the church, and Rev. L. D. Geiger, secretary of the Baptist State Board of Missions. The choir, under the direction and training of Prof. J. H. Newman, rendered most excellent music. Rev. Mr. Cate preached an appropriate sermon, after which a subscription collection of something more than $3000 was taken to apply on the debt of $1,200. This fine collection surprised everybody and made all happy. It is felt that the building is a credit to the entire town and the people generally participated in the collection. There was a large attendance again in the evening. Rev. Dr. Schofield, who for several years has been connected with the Bible Institute, at Northfield, Mass., and who was on his way to Crescent City to fill some lecture engagements at the Southfield Institute, stopped over for a day with friends in this community and kindly consented to preach. The sermon was a truly great one from every point of view. It melted all hearts and was a fitting close to the "high day in Zion" experienced by all devout souls.

Among the out-of-town people who attended services here last Sunday were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips, Orlando; Miss Miriam Shepherd, Winter Park; Mr. Rewis and Miss Gertie Rines, Lakeville; Mr. Loveless and Mr. Seeger, Clarcona; Mr. Mooly and Miss Taylor, Ocoee; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Pirie and party of friends, Plymouth; Mr. Leland Smith, Jacksonville, and Rev. Dr. Schofield, Dallas, Tex.

The Wills Musical Comedy Co.

The attendance record at the Orpheum theater last night was broken when the John B. Wills' Musical Comedy Company opened a week's engagement at the popular playhouse. The bill was in Gay Atlantic City and judging from the applause that rang out through the house time and time again the piece pleased.

When the doors were opened there was a crowd waiting for admission to the theater which plainly shows that the theater-going public appreciates the change from dramatic productions to that of musical comedy.—Times-Union.

The S. R. O. sign was displayed before the performance started and many were compelled to stand in the aisles during the performance. The same bill will be presented tonight and tomorrow, matinee and night. Thursday night and for the remainder of the week Two Old Cronies will be the bill.—Times-Union.

The Wills Musical Comedy Co. will appear at the Sanford Opera House next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night. The best attraction of the season.

Children's Dancing Class

Miss Gelsie Butt has opened a dancing class in connection with her other class. Lessons will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at three o'clock, at the Hotel Wilton. Terms, two dollars for eight lessons.

PROPHECY FULFILLED

When San Francisco Was Destroyed by Earthquake

HORRORS VIVIDLY PORTRAYED

Dr. Kirkland of the Congregational Church An Eye-Witness to Awful Disaster

"And behold, the Lord passed by and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire. . . . And the seventh angel poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven from the throne, saying, 'It is done!' And there were voices and thunders and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake such as was not since man was upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great. And the cities of the Nations fell and men blasphemed God. . . . And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her; for no man buyeth her merchandise any more.

This correlation of prophecies from the first book of Kings and Revelation found fulfillment, according to Dr. R. Lee Kirkland in the fall of San Francisco, at once the Paris and Sodom of America." Dr. Kirkland, a native of Mississippi, was a pastor of a San Francisco church at the time of the great earthquake, seeing all the multiplied horrors of those days "of the wrath of God."

Dr. Kirkland is a forceful, fluent speaker, making a profound impression upon his audiences. He is a firm believer in the fulfillment of Divine prophecy in current events, this being the theme of his address on "What I Saw and Heard in the San Francisco Disaster" which he delivered at the Congregational church Sunday night. In opening his address he said:

"A hundred thousand lecturers could go out and tell of the San Francisco earthquake, and no two would make the same lecture. Eternity would be too short to describe all that happened in those thirty-six hours. Being an eye-witness to that awful disaster, there are some things peculiar to themselves which I wish to bring to your attention. In the first place I want to refer you to two passages in the Scripture, the one found in Kings, and the other in Revelation. These two prophecies give an adequate picture of San Francisco. The old prophet in Kings saw an awful hour, and he says the Lord was not in the wind, nor in the earthquake, nor the fire. He saw the horrors of that hour, and I am confident that I saw the literal fulfillment of that prophecy.

"The night preceding the earthquake I preached in Oakland, across the bay. Returning on the boat, I saw those little sea birds, which every traveler who has visited San Francisco knows so well, and they were acting in a peculiar way. There was trouble among them. They formed lines like soldiers by the side of the ship, flapping their wings and making distressful noises. Then they would swarm up in the air like bees, and back down to the water, fighting the water with their wings; then they flew over the boat, one lighting on the shoulder of a little girl.

"When we landed, going up Market street, I thought every dog in the world was in San Francisco, and every dog in San Francisco on Market street. There they were howling as dogs do when they lose their master. They refused to be controlled, and their masters could do absolutely nothing with them. A little black dog went to police headquarters early in the night and was put out. Later he went again, whining and howling and again was he put out. Yet another time he went, and this time he was kicked out. About 3 o'clock (the quake coming at 5:15), he came again, and the officers could scarce believe it the same dog, for the hair on his head had turned almost white.

"We passed a livery stable, and within we heard a sound as of murder. We went in and found twenty men trying to control a single horse. The horses of the city were wild with nervousness. They could not be controlled, and the cabs and other vehicles of the city were tied up; traffic was blocked, for the horses were beyond control in their nervous fright. As I went to my home I thought over these things, and being from the far south, and naturally a bit superstitious, they weighed on my mind. I went to bed, however, and soon fell asleep. The next thing I knew the earth rose up and threw me against a mirror in the room. The room was as light as day, and it seemed forty years that I was held against that mirror."

The speaker then told of the descent into the street, and of finding thousands there in their nightclothes, or no clothes at all. He told of the sweep of the fire, how all at once the sky blazed up with the mightiest exhibition of fireworks ever seen, caused by the breaking of thousands of electric wires. He described the terrible progress of the fire—a fire absolutely beyond control—for the first quake had broken all the mains, and there was absolutely no water to drink, nor to quench the fires. Buildings were dynamited for blocks, but "a mighty and strong wind" lifted the flames beyond the cleared space, and the fire went on "until it buried its tongue in the western ocean." He then described the awful second shock, which killed its thousands and destroyed the proudest works of man's hand. He told of gigantic buildings, which cost millions to build, being pitched up in the air, like houses of paper, "dancing a fantastic dance, pitching their domes into the street and then crushing like an eggshell."

Nowhere was there a drop of water, and a mighty thirst came to the people in the streets. Many of the 380,000 half-naked people entered the 3,000 down-town saloons, forced by either thirst or desire, and made themselves drunk. The natural depravity and wickedness of this most wicked city in America was shown in its true light. Men became more wicked than ever before in their lives. The speaker then told something of the awful crimes which were committed in the streets of San Francisco. He told of the women there, without protection, without defense, and of the crimes that were committed by men, already vile, half-crazed with drink, and the uncertainty of existence through the horrible disaster.

He told of the dead, falling like hailstones in the streets, and of the fact that there was no place to bury them. "Suddenly, standing there on Market street, I heard a peculiar sound, and the air was filled with the most beautiful flames and with ashes. Looking down close to my feet I found a mighty rent in the earth, about 300 yards long and two feet wide. Here the dead were hauled and pitched in by thousands. Mangled bodies, torn beyond recognition, were tossed into this vast grave, and when its usefulness was over, God closed it up again." He told of how men killed their wives, fathers their sons, and friends their own companions, rather than see them suffer, pinned beneath masses of debris. One of the most vivid descriptions of all was the earth belching forth the indescribable horrors of Chinatown. And "the merchants of the earth shall no more buy her merchandise," for after this revelation the city council decreed that Chinatown, with all its newly-revealed horrors, should never be rebuilt. In and through it all the speaker saw the hand of God at work, fulfilling the words of the prophet of old, and as each point of horror was brought out, the various parts of the prophecy were shown to be carried out. "The prophecies were fulfilled," said he, "for the cities of the Nations fell. God was not in the earthquake. He stepped aside and let the course of Nature be fulfilled."

COMING OF WALTER DAMROSCH

Big Crowd Expected at Spring Musical Festival.

The fact that Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony Orchestra are going to be in Jacksonville on April 19th and 20th for the purpose of supporting the Jacksonville Choral Society in their spring festival has created enthusiasm wherever music lovers have read the good news in The Herald.

It is only three weeks ago that the contract was signed which brings the famous leader and orchestra, with four celebrated soloists to Jacksonville, yet judging from the information sent us by T. T. Elmore, the secretary of the Choral Society, the demand for seats already has broken the brunt of the enormous expense the engagement entailed.

There will be four concerts: Monday matinee and night; Tuesday matinee and night. The huge chorus of two hundred and fifty voices will be heard in Tuesday night's big program when Haydn's favorite oratorio, "The Creation," will be given, soloists, orchestra and Choral Society taking part.

A special rate of only $5 is being made for the entire series of four concerts—for one concert, $2. Each concert will be the highest grade of talent that has ever appeared on one platform in Jacksonville without a single exception.

It will be wonderful, and as the divine instruments begin to cast their spell over the vast audience, we are sure that all of those of our readers who make the trip to Jacksonville for this festival will pronounce it "worth while."

Immediate application for seats should be made as the prospective facilities are being taxed. Full particulars appear in our advertising columns.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurried Readers

The Sixtieth Congress of the United States closed its session on the 4th of March in the midst of one of the worst snow storms and blizzards that has ever been known in Washington. There is a proposition now to make an amendment to the constitution changing the date of inauguration to some more propitious time of the year.

For three days last week the middle northern and eastern states were in the throes of the worst snow storm and blizzard since 1888. Telegraph and telephone wires were down in all directions, and trains were either snow-bound or run very slowly without regard to schedules.

The supreme court of Texas has decided that the Presbyterian Church of the United States has right to all church property owned by the Cumberland Presbyterian church, as a result of the union of the two bodies, the latter having been absorbed.

The Federal grand jury has found indictments against the New York World for libel in regard to the Panama canal purchase.

A special session of Congress has been called by President Taft to meet on the 15th of March.

A Cuban general amnesty bill has been signed by President Gomez. It provides for the release from prison of all prisoners not convicted of atrocious crimes.

During February sixty new cases of bubonic plague were reported in Guayaquil, Ecuador.

The Mexican volcano Collima is again active, and grave apprehension is felt for the safety of natives and stock in the surrounding country.

Rear Admiral Sperry has been relieved of the command of the Atlantic battleship fleet at his own request, and Rear Admiral Schroeder has been appointed as his successor.

Last week the steamship Mauretania of the Cunard line made the trip from New York to Queenstown in four days, twenty hours and two minutes.

On his African hunting trip, Mr. Roosevelt will not engage in promiscuous killing of animals and birds, but will endeavor to secure some of the very finest specimens.

A bridge is to be built over the Rio Grande river between Brownsville and Matamoros, connecting the railway systems of the United States and Mexico.

An earthquake is reported near Jerusalem which destroyed several buildings and killed a number of people.

J. O. Carter, advisor of Queen Liliuokalani, when the latter was Queen of the Sandwich Islands, died in Honolulu last week.

Rather than prosecute the government libel cases against the New York World and Indianapolis News for expressing the opinion that graft was apparent in the Panama canal deal, District Attorney Joseph B. Keating of Indiana has resigned.

In addition to $3,000,000 worth of new rails, the N. Y. Central railroad will spend $8,000,000 for rolling stock and other equipment.

The N. Y. Mutual Life Insurance Co. has accepted from Richard A. McCurdy $815,000 in full settlement of $8,000,000 suit to recover that amount fraudulently taken from the funds of the company.

By the burning of a tenement house in New York last week, ten persons lost their lives because of rubbish-choked fire escapes. The cause of the fire is attributed to the Black Hand organization, as one of the tenants had three times ignored their demand for money.

On March 18th a gold life-saving medal will be presented to Miss Mary McCann when she graduates from the Florence Crittenden training school at Washington. Miss McCann when a little girl just convalescent from scarlet fever happened to be on North Brothers island, when the steamer General Slocum was burned. She went to the rescue of the drowning little ones and, sick though she was, succeeded in saving nine children's lives.

Ex-President Roosevelt has had a powerful graphophone made at the manufactory in Bridgeport, Conn., capable of distinctly recording any and all sounds. He expects to take the machine with him on his trip to Africa, and will be accompanied by an expert operator whose duty will be to make records of sounds to be heard in that far-away uncivilized land.

A New York judge has established a rule to accept the opinion of nine out of twelve jurors as a verdict.

Ex-President Roosevelt will leave for Africa on Tuesday, March 23.

In making their escape from a burning mine at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., last week, 25 miners were compelled to leave a fellow miner to burn to death because he was disabled and they could not carry him up the steep slope on account of his weight. The unfortunate man was John Walsh who weighed 320 pounds.

ANOTHER LARGE FACTORY

Will Use the Culls of the Celery Fields for Products

Sanford is to have another great industry ere the next crop of celery matures and it will be one that will mean more from an industrial and commercial standpoint than any that has yet been found. From reliable information The Herald gleams the fact that several northern capitalists were recently in the city, looking for a good factory site on the lake front and if they can purchase one at a reasonable figure, they will erect a large plant to manufacture celery tonic, celery salt and other compounds from the celery plant. It is a well known fact that celery enters largely into the parts of different medicines, food products and condiments and the location for a plant to manufacture these products is near the spot where the most celery is raised. Naturally Sanford would be selected for this site and if the project materializes our city will have a plant of large dimension employing several hundred hands.

All the celery that is now unfit for the market, known as culls and often left in the field will thus be utilized and such a factory would tend to keep up the price of celery at a fixed value. Thousands of dollars would be saved to the growers every year and our great product would become a staple article and not subject to the fluctuations of the market.

The Herald will give the full particulars as soon as the same are ready for publication.

KEEP UP THE ADVERTISING

Sanford Must Continue The Stride Already Taken

Anent our proposal that now was an opportune time for the establishment of a Sanford Business Men's League for the purpose of keeping "Lucky Sanford" to the fore, the following from Printer's Ink is interesting:

"The Jacksonville Advertising Agency has been placing the advertising of the Deland Business Men's League in the columns of several of the nationally circulated magazines. The initial run of this advertising has proved satisfactory. In the words of Mr. V. W. Gould, who had the matter in hand, the inquiries kept the correspondence department of the league busy. A new campaign is being outlined on more extended lines, which will be placed toward the beginning of next fall by the same agency."

Confirming our inquiry as to these facts Mr. Percy P. Vyle of the Jacksonville Advertising Agency, says the advertising ran through the principal winter months and that he is now planning along lines more extensive. With the coming or greater activity in land development advertising, municipal advertising and Business League advertising, the towns who do not advertise next fall and winter are going to get left. From the indications in this office, next fall and winter is going to witness a "scramble" for Florida lands, and if Sanford keeps to the fore she will get her share; if she is content to rest on laurels already won (or on market reports) some other town will get in the limelight.

For want of storage room, I will close out buggies and harness at cost, for thirty days. Now is time to buy, and save money. —SANFORD CARRIAGE WORKS.

STOLE REFRESHMENTS

Band of Hoodlums that Need to be Suppressed

During the social gathering of the Weinka Club last Tuesday night a band of miscreants raised the screen at the rear of the club house and stole a freezer of ice cream and several plates full of cake and sandwiches. Luckily there was another freezer of cream that escaped their notice or the company would have been left without refreshments.

These misdemeanors should be suppressed at once, and a heavy penalty imposed upon the guilty ones. Marshal Lee has very good evidence against several, and they will be sadder but wiser after they face Mayor Lake.

LONG CHASE AFTER REYNARD

Party Have Great Sport On A Fox Hunt Last Monday Night

Fox hunting is one of the great diversions indulged in by the sportsmen of Sanford and every week a party of these congenial huntsmen get together and chase Master Reynard, generally returning with his brush.

Last Monday night a party composed of D. L. Thrasher, G. S. Dery, Paul Biggers, J. A. Thompson and the guest, J. B. Simmons of Toccoa, Ga., started out at 8:30 via the Ft. Reed road to Lake Onoro. From Sanford avenue around Markham and Paola and the New York Grove, finally catching the fox after a long chase that carried them through Island Lake.

By this time it was 5:30 in the morning and the party returned home fully satisfied with the great sport. It is safe to say that none of them were down to business Tuesday morning until a late hour.

These fox hunts are becoming very popular and many guests in the city stop over to take advantage of this great cross country sport. Some of the great fox hunters of the East who delight in paper hunts and tame foxes should come to Sanford and take one of the moonlight chases after a real fox in his native haunts.

JUDGE G. A. HANSON IS DEAD

Well Known Jurist and Writer Died in Tampa

Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at his residence, 904 Marion street, Judge G. A. Hanson, one of the pioneer citizens of the city of Tampa, breathed his last.

Judge Hanson was a native of Tennessee, where his family were prominent, and prior to coming to Florida passed through the privations and sufferings of the Civil war as a member of the Confederate army.

After the war he returned to the practice of his profession and at once rose to the front rank. He was one of the leading counsel for the Pacific Railway company, and was instrumental in securing the passage of certain bills through congress that insured the building of that great continental railway, which has been of such great worth to the west.

In 1879 he was elected to the state senate of Tennessee. His nomination and election were contrary to his personal wishes, but after being elected he sacrificed his own interests to attend the session of the legislature for the purpose of securing the passage of a bill for a new city government for Memphis. The result of the measure was to practically put the city of Memphis in the hands of a receiver, and it can be said that under the provisions of that law, it enjoyed the best form of government in all its history.

Several years ago he moved to this state and took up his residence in Bartow, where he practiced law and entered into journalism, being the editor of the Bartow Courier-Informant for a number of years. Later he was elevated to the bench and held a term of office as judge of the Sixth judicial circuit of the state of Florida.

Following his retirement from the bench he moved from Bartow to Tampa and practiced his law business, again entering the ranks of journalism and accepting the editorship of the Tampa Tribune, the paper which was eventually bought by the Tampa Publishing company and incorporated with The Tampa Times.

For the past two years the judge has been confined to his home by sickness and he has seldom appeared on the streets, so that to many of those who have recently made their homes in Tampa his face, which was familiar to all the older residents, was unknown.

The funeral services occurred from the first Methodist church, the following ministers officiating: Revs. W. J. Carpenter, B. K. Thrower, W. K. Piner and W. M. Poage. The interment was in Woodlawn cemetery.

The deceased, who was seventy-four years old last October, leaves the following immediate members of his family, in addition to the devoted widow: A daughter, Mrs. C. N. Taylor of Memphis, Tenn., who has been with her father for the past two weeks; a son, G. A. Hanson, Jr., who is attending school; a granddaughter, Mrs. B. F. Bonfoey, and a sister, Mrs. L. Hall, of Kissimmee.

MAY PICNIC FOR SANFORD

Ought To Be Made A Grand Affair And Universally Attended

For the bountiful crops and bright prospects of our fair city the people should have a grand thanksgiving in the shape of a barbecue and basket picnic in May and The Herald suggests that the people of Sanford take up this matter at once and arrange a fine program for that day.

This would be a glorious opportunity to invite our neighbors in Orange, Volusia and Lake counties to come to Sanford and help us celebrate. There will be many tourists enroute north at this time and they can be induced to stop over and celebrate.

H. H. Chappell has already donated $25 to this movement. Who will follow him?

Orlando's Auto Parade

Tuesday's auto parade was very pretty, though not nearly as large as the one of last season.

Headed by Orlando's Polo Club and mounted police, the procession moved north on Orange avenue to Robinson avenue, east around Lake Eola, west on Central to Main street, south on Main, circling Lake Lucerne and north on Lake Lucerne and north on Orange avenue to the driving park.

One of the most attractively decorated machines in line was that of Senator and Mrs. J. E. Buxton, of Vermont and Orlando, which was artistically ornamented with California poppies "made in Orlando."

The first prize was awarded to Mrs. S. E. Ives, the second falling to J. L. Giles; Mrs. Beeman won third and Harry Beeman fourth honors.—Orlando Sentinel.

The Missouri Girl

The Missouri Girl is a comedy drama that produces more genuine hearty laughter than anything yet written. In connection with the strong and interesting plot, it contains the most ludicrous situations ever conceived. The company presenting the play this season is composed of the best known people in the theatrical profession, who are fully able to extract this fun and dole it out to the public in a most satisfactory manner. Nine of the old favorites remain in the cast, some of them have played their roles continuously for eight seasons. This guarantees a firstclass performance. The new people added for this season were selected for their peculiar fitness for the roles they are to assume and it is safe to predict that "a better than ever" line can safely be added to the advertising matter.

Sanford Celery Crates

In 1898 the Sanford celery growers adopted what is known as a flat celery crate. This crate was adopted because it was flat and would ventilate and refrigerate easily and effectively. In loading refrigerator cars, the floor space allows ample air spaces between crates. For ten years this was known as the Sanford celery crate, and the splendid reputation of Sanford celery was built up by its use, the carrying quantity being fully established by the superior condition of celery at destination, this being the first and essential consideration. Sanford celery in this standard crate found ready sale at Sanford through buyers who came here for it and through brokers, selling at f. o. b. prices. Last year an effort was made to form a Celery Union, and at a mass meeting to organize it was found that so small a number desired it, that they called their own meeting, and the mass meeting drew up a statement of the condition and published it. The number organizing the union, limited in number and acreage, appointed a commission house in a distant city as sole selling agents of "Sanford Celery Union," and they have since so advertised themselves.

An effort was then begun to change the shape of the Sanford celery crate by making it shorter and thicker.

The crate suggested did not appeal to the celery growers because, in spite of a small increase in cubic dimensions, it was found that both held the same amount of celery, except in small sizes. In loading cars the thicker crate was not as well adapted for air space, without which successful refrigeration is impossible. The standard crate makes a much better display of the contents and gives the buyer a better opportunity of inspection and lessens the chance of inferior stuff being run in on him. In addition to all this, Sanford celery growers see no reason why the limited few should change an established and highly satisfactory condition. It is too much like the tail trying to wag the dog.

The general opinion prevailed that the rumored results of the last season's business by the Union would be sufficient to eliminate them as a disturbing element in the year's market. But while the air of business they are doing is insignificant, their agents have advertised to the world that the Union ten-inch crate contains ten per cent more than the standard eight-inch crate. This has aroused the celery growers. Tuesday night a representative number met at the office of Murrell & Minshew, at which meeting Mr. Preston, editor of the New York Produce News was present, when the matter was fully discussed, and the contents of a standard crate taken from a load on the street was packed into the union ten-inch crate. The packer failed by two stalks of celery to get the contents of the eight-inch crate into the ten-inch crate. This explodes the claim that one holds more than the other. The celery growers want the trade to know the exact facts, and only ask a square deal, but they deplore the fact that the zeal of a deluded few disturbs satisfactory conditions, while making a futile effort to break up a home market in the interest of a distant commission house.
