National Emergency week

SANFORD — As part of the National Emergency Medical Services Week recognition, the Seminole County Department of Public Safety Fire/Rescue division is conducting a program on Saturday, May 20, at the Seminole County Extension Services auditorium, 250 W. County Home Road in Sanford.

The class will be conducted from 1 until 5 p.m.

All citizens interested in being CPR-certified should phone 323-2500, extension 5151 as space is limited to 28 participants.

Spanky sniffs pot on student

LAKE MARY — The new drug-sniffing black Labrador named Spanky made his first collar at Lake Mary High School Wednesday, detecting a small amount of marijuana in a 16-year-old student's backpack.

The youth, a Peruvian citizen, was issued a notice to appear in Juvenile Court and released to his mother after Spanky located less than one gram of marijuana in the teen's school bag.

A school administrator stopped two 16-year-olds about 10 a.m. after he smelled what he suspected was marijuana as the youths walked by during class change.

Deputy Brian Marcum was summoned to the office along with his K-9 partner and Spanky put his nose to work. Trained in the passive method of drug detection, Spanky sits when he detects drugs.

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said Spanky will be called upon if administrators suspect drugs are present.

Child abuse charges

CASSELBERRY — A 50-year-old Casseberry mother was charged with child abuse in a warrant served Wednesday.

Mary Jo Bridges, 327 Elm Drive, was booked into the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and released after posting $1,000 bond.

On May 4, Sheriff's Office Investigator Tom Artingstall went to the family home to interview Bridges and her 12-year-old son for another case involving the boy. He found Bridges' five children ages 8 thru 12 in the care of their 24-year-old uncle.

The children had not been in school for six weeks because of a head lice infestation, sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said. "The house smelled of stench and when Investigator Artingstall opened the refrigerator, cockroaches ran out of it. There was only a small amount of rotten food. At the time Bridges had not been home for two days."

HRS was contacted that day and all the children were placed in foster homes May 9.

"The children's biological father is in prison in West Virginia," McDonough added.

SANFORD — Before a gathering of media personnel yesterday, Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger introduced his newest equipment, two U.S. Army OH-58C helicopters. They were on display in front of the sheriff's facility having been trucked in Tuesday evening from Fort Rucker, Alabama.

Eslinger explained that the crafts had participated in both the Vietnam and Desert Storm conflicts, and had last been airborne in April of this year. It is estimated it will take two to three months for the craft to be inspected, repaired, repainted, and have law enforcement equipment added.

The original cost of the helicopters was $800,000 each, but through an agreement

SHDWA pulls out as event sponsor

By NICK PFENPAUF

SANFORD — The Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association, in a surprise move Tuesday evening voted to pull out immediately as sponsor of this year's July 4th Fireworks celebration planned for Fort Mellon Park.

Yesterday afternoon, Rod Laver, who has served as president of SHDWA, submitted his resignation in protest. "As far as I was concerned," he said, "SHDWA gave me a no confidence vote, and while I was working hard to keep the organization going and progressing, I don't believe I should stay any more."

"The SHDWA members said they just didn't want to be involved in the fireworks project," Laver said, "so now the entire fund-raising effort and party planning will apparently be placed on an immediate hold."

"What I would like to find," he said, "is some non-profit organization which is willing to undertake this year's drive, but so far, I have been unsuccessful," Laver said yesterday afternoon.

"I had previously talked with Sanford Main Street people about the possibility of merging the two organizations," Laver said, "but when I approached them about possibly taking over the fund-raising for this year's fireworks, they said they were not only in favor of the July 4th

School board OKs redistricting plan

WINTER PARK — The Seminole County sheriff's deputies who had lined the perimeter of the auditorium at the start of the final public hearing on high school redistricting was brought in, one deputy said "just in case things got ugly," but it was quickly apparent that parents and community leaders would cause no trouble. Instead, the group politely and eloquently stated their concerns before the school board vote to accept Plan C as suggested by the rezoning task force.

While some members of the public had definite opinions on which plan they preferred, most seemed to only state a preference with reservations.

"I object to all the plans," said Seminole High parent Connie Hall.

Lakeview student takes top honors in state speech contest

SANFORD — Terry McKinney never thought he would win, though he had no doubt he had done a great job.

McKinney recently took top honors at the Optimist Club's state oratorical contest with a speech he wrote the day of the local event.

"My teacher, Mrs. Baker, had asked me to help a girl in my class write her essay," the quiet Lakeview Middle School eighth grader said. "I knew that I could do that speech."

He said he had never written or made a formal speech before, but he knew that it was something he could do.

"I was certain I could do a good job," he said. During his fifth period class, he sat and concentrated on the job at hand and created what he believed to be a good speech.

"I wrote from the heart," he said. "The theme was 'Listen to me' and I just wrote what I know in my heart."

McKinney, 14, said his family and his teacher were all "very supportive" of his efforts.

"They have been behind me," he said. A month and a half ago, he gave the speech for the first time to the Sanford Optimist Club. His heart-felt speech and strong confidence won over the judges.

A few weeks later he wowed the regional judges in

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Insurance crisis

Task force to tackle homeowners' crunch

By ADAM YEHOMANS
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — As hurricane season fast approaches, some of Florida's top academic minds have been enlisted to come up with solutions to the state's homeowners' insurance crunch.

A task force of university presidents has until Aug. 15 to recommend ways to attract insurers that have fled the state since Hurricane Andrew devastated south Dade County in August 1992, leaving $18 billion in insured losses.

Insurance Commissioner Bill Nelson said Wednesday he wanted the task force to help slash the number of policyholders in a state-sponsored insurance pool of last resort created by lawmakers after Andrew.

The Florida Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association, or residential JUA, has about 750,000 policies, making it the third-largest property insurer behind State Farm and Allstate.

"What we want to do is get the state of Florida government out of the insurance business," Nelson said at a news conference. "We want to get the insurance business back into the private sector. That is where the consumer is best served."

The task force will be led by state university system Chancellor Charlie Reed and include Florida State President Talbot "Bandy" D'Alemberts, University of Florida President John Lombardi, University of Miami President Edward Fouts and Florida International University President Modesto Maidique.

The group's recommendations are needed quickly in the event another major storm strikes the state this summer, Nelson said. Hurricane season begins June 1.

The task force will look at whether hurricane risks should be covered separately from standard property insurance or whether insurers selling auto, workers compensation and other profitable coverage should be required to offer homeowners policies, Nelson said.

"We've made a lot of progress in last few months, but we got a long way to go," he said. "And if we get hit by a major storm this summer, we're going to have a real problem."

Gov. Lawton Chiles is expected to sign legislation passed this spring to curb the growth of the JUA and provide additional incentives to lure back insurers.

The bill also aims to bolster the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, also created by lawmakers after Andrew, to reimburse insurers for excessive losses from major disasters.

Task force members will use the same approach taken by a similar group of academics in the late 1980s who recommended reforms during a medical malpractice crisis, Reed said. Lawmakers adopted the recommendations.

Assisting the academic task force will be a six-member working group that includes Bob Sheets, former director of the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables; former Texas insurance commissioner Bob Hunter; former South Carolina insurance commissioner John Richards; Florida State professor Ray Solomon; University of Florida professor David Nye; and Roderick Petrey, executive director of the Collins Center for Public Policy in Tallahassee.

The Legislature approved $500,000 for the task force in the 1993-94 state budget.

Man arrested for smuggling

FORT PIERCE — A man has been arrested on charges he tried to smuggle 650 pounds of cocaine into the country from the Bahamas.

Demien M. Thomas, 20, was arrested Tuesday after Customs agents found the drugs hidden in a secret compartment on a dinghy that was towed by a sailboat into the Harbor Town Marina, Customs officials said Wednesday.

Shortly after the boats arrived from the Bahamas, officials conducting a routine inspection of the harbor stumbled upon the 12-foot-long dinghy, which was sitting unusually low in the water and had areas that recently had been caulked, Customs spokesman Michael Sheehan said.

Thomas, who claims Irish citizenship but lists his permanent residence as St. Maarten, was arrested on drug charges after agents located the drugs in the secret compartment between the outer hull and inner shell of the dinghy.

The captain was still at large Wednesday night, Sheehan said.

Child abuse charged

TAMPA — Jose and Isabel Ralat were arrested on child abuse charges two years ago after red marks on their son's arms were thought to be burns from cigarettes.

But those marks turned out to be a skin condition, and the couple was eventually cleared.

Now, they are suing the arresting officers in the case, contending they knew the boy had been diagnosed with a skin condition but arrested the couple anyway.

The lawsuit filed Tuesday in Hillsborough Circuit Court says officers Leon Green and Kevin Morris violated the Ralats' civil rights.

The Ralats contend the case against them stemmed from a 1993 visit by their 12-year-old son, Jason, to his school infirmary. There, a school nurse noticed what she thought were burn marks and notified state child welfare workers and police.

The Ralats were arrested though they tried to explain that the child had been diagnosed with a skin condition, the lawsuit says.

Sales tax a first in state

FORT WALTON BEACH — Okaloosa County will be the first in the state to levy a local sales tax exclusively for school construction and renovation.

Voters in the Florida Panhandle county approved the 1 percent tax Tuesday by a 2-to-1 margin: 12,173 to 6,246. Only 21 percent of the county's 87,500 registered voters turned out for the special election.

Proponents argued if the sales tax failed, property taxes would go up to build permanent structures for students attending school in 200 portable classrooms, repair leaky roofs and make other renovations. Opponents contended money could be raised by cutting other costs.

The penny-per-dollar tax, which would be in addition to the state's 6 percent levy, will begin Aug. 1 and expire after four years. It is expected to raise $65 million during that period.

The Okaloosa sales tax will pay for most of an $85.8 million plan to construct three new schools and add classrooms or make renovations at existing buildings. The remaining $25.8 million would come from property taxes and the state.

Death of black officer retained

ORLANDO — Savin Perry Sr., who became one of Orlando's two black police officers in 1961, has died at the age of 74 after battling complications from a 1993 stroke.

Perry, who patrolled a predominantly black area of small-town Orlando for 25 years, died Tuesday. He is survived by his wife, Jessie, and five children: a circuit judge, an attorney, an assistant school principal, an orthopedic surgeon and a store owner.

Perry helped break down racial barriers when he and another black man, Richard Jones, became police officers walking a beat.

"He was all officer," said Jones. "He was an officer I would trust my life with and not waste a second thought about it."

Perry was an only child, raised by his widowed mother in Sanford. He worked in celery fields as a youngster and drove supply trucks in World War II.

Telemarketer faces prison sentence

ORLANDO — An Orlando telemarketer faces a 25-year prison sentence and $500,000 fine on his guilty plea to a precious-gems scheme prosecutors say defrauded investors out of $1.7 million.

The Federal Trade Commission filed suit last year against Thomas O'Day and one of his managers in a telemarketing operation, seeking to close down the business.

O'Day, 51, admitted during a federal court hearing in Orlando on Tuesday that he used $60,822 he made in the scheme to pay part of a mortgage payment on his home.

State agencies brace for 2,000 job cuts

By ADAM YEHOMANS
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Hundreds of state workers face layoffs in one of the biggest cutbacks in years as government agencies deal with eliminating about 2,000 jobs in next year's state budget.

Officials were trying this week to determine how many positions being eliminated were filled or vacant under the $39 billion state budget passed by lawmakers last week.

The overall state work force will rise slightly next year to 124,000, primarily due to the hiring of some 3,000 new prison guards and other corrections workers.

The departments of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles and Health and Rehabilitative Services have imposed hiring freezes in order to help employees in eliminated jobs find other state work.

Chiles may consider a similar action for all departments under his control after officials figure out how many people are affected by the budget cuts, said Tom Herndon, the governor's chief of staff.

Outside hiring already has been suspended so state workers affected by the cuts at the governor's agencies get the first shot at open positions.

"Our first priority is to help those who have been displaced as they continue to stay employed in government if they wish to," Herndon said. "Our concern is people who are adversely affected not be left out on the street."

About 300 administrative jobs in the Department of Education will be phased out through the end of the year as part of a reorganization by Education Commissioner Frank Brogan.

The highway safety agency was the first agency Wednesday to notify its employees that about 275 workers face layoffs.

Of those, about 174 are driver license examiners, support staff and others in the Division of Driver Licenses. Another 71 are radio operators and other non-uniformed personnel at the Florida Highway Patrol.

The department plans to close 12 driver license offices throughout the state, meaning motorists will face longer waits to get licenses renewed at least over the short run.

"Certainly, consumers will feel the impact of these cuts," said Janet Dennis, the agency's spokeswoman.

Legislation passed this past session would allow motorists to renew their licenses twice by mail and could reduce the wait at drivers license offices, Dennis said. The measure is headed to Chiles for final action.

HRS froze hiring at its Tallahassee headquarters Wednesday.

Jobs being eliminated include 119 workers in home care for the elderly, which is being privatized and transferred to the Department of Elderly Affairs, and 68 employees in administrative functions in Tallahassee and HRS district offices, said spokeswoman Michelle Lagos.

The job cuts came in the same session the Republican-led Senate ousted HRS Secretary Jim Towey, the governor's appointee.

"Layoffs are awful, especially for an organization that has been beat down as much as this one has," Lagos said.

At the Department of Agriculture, 10 meat plant inspectors and 25 urban foresters are among about 50 employees who will lose their jobs, said Jim Naff, the agency's legislative affairs director.

Plan G was adopted by the Seminole County school board Wednesday, in a redistricting move for months hotly debated by parents. Most accepted Plan G as the fairest.

"But if I have to choose, I am for Plan G."

Kevin Nassuh, a 10th grader at Oviedo High did not wish to address the board, but expressed his views in a note to them.

"I'm disgusted with all I have seen here," he said. "You are making the decision without any input from the students who are the only ones who will be affected by the decision."

The young man wrote that he did not care about racial balance. The only concern of students, he said, was the quality of education they receive.

Dick Harris, a member of the reasoning task force, said he believed Plan G might not appear to be as beneficial as Plan F (the only two plans to be considered at the meeting), but that it would be the most realistic plan to make that work easily.

Some community members, representing Seminole High School, spoke out against all the plans, saying none of them does anything to help Seminole High improve the quality of education for its students.

Plan F does virtually nothing to help Seminole High School," said Judy Williams an SHS parent. "Plan G buses students east of Sanford Avenue and north to Lake Monroe all the way across Lake Jesup to Winter Springs High School. It would appear that there are white, affluent students just south of Lake Mary Boulevard that have a 'protected' status."

Some municipalities spoke of their particular needs.

John Bush, the mayor of Winter Springs, read a resolution passed by his city that called for the board to pass Plan F. Plan F would keep almost all of the students in Winter Springs in Winter Springs High School, he said, and help preserve a sense of community in that city.

Bruce Tronovost, mayor of Casselberry, took the opportunity to petition the board to consider his city as the site of the high school that will need to be built at the turn of the century. The district has already purchased 80 acres of land for that purpose in south Oviedo.

"In any case, we do prefer Plan G," he noted.

Members of the African-American community and others expressed their dismay that minority students were being forced to "bear the brunt of diversity." It was suggested that, in order to achieve the board's desired racial balance, that black and lower socio-economic students be allowed to remain at their current schools while middle class students be relocated.

Judy Williams was booed loudly when she stated her "reluctant" support for Plan G.

"Reluctantly, I would endorse Plan G with the intention of locating the new south of Lake Mary Boulevard, east of County Road 457 into the Seminole High Zone," she said.

Dave Farr, speaking as a community resident not as an executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, suggested the school board consider the possibility of giving parents a choice in the school their children attend.

"It's been done in Charlotte County with some success," Farr said. "It has some possibility here, I believe."

The board agreed to look at the possibility, but made no commitments to implement a plan.

Benjamin Chisolm, a resident of the Midway area east of Sanford, wanted his children to attend Seminole High School, which is located nearby within walking distance of his home. Under Plan G, they will be transferred to Winter Springs High School in 1997.

"It doesn't make any sense for my children to be bused 15 miles away when there is a school two and a half miles away," he said. "The Midway community has always been at the bottom of the totem pole. Why would we make them bear this burden too?"

School board member Dr. Barbara Kuhn said she did not view the transfer as a burden. Rather, she said, it was a new opportunity that the students will come to approve of once it occurs.

Under Plan G, the attendance zone for Winter Springs High School will include the areas east of Sanford Avenue and the portion of Tusawilla community west of Howell Creek. The Springs subdivision will go to Lake Brantley High School rather than Lake Mary. The Lake Howell zone will extend east to State Road 426 and Dean Road, including the Deer Run development. The Lake Monroe Terrace area, south of Seminole High from Lake Mary High, but the area along Airport Boulevard south of Lake Mary.

with the U.S. Defense Department, they were obtained for only $200.

"We already have a Navaho aircraft," Ealinger said. "It has been used to extradite prisoners or for special trips. We'll be selling that now, and use the money to pay for these helicopters and their reworking."

Ealinger projected the new units can be used for surveillance, chases, to reach difficult areas quickly, and other needs, in addition to continuing service in transporting prisoners to and from other jurisdictions.

Seminole County has been utilizing the services of the Volusia County Sheriff's Department. "I'm sure they will be glad to see that we will have our own units now," Ealinger commented. "They have never objected, but I didn't want us to outlive our welcome."

The sheriff said a special arrangement for the purchase of parts for the helicopters has been made, with other counties being able to share in the lower costs for parts.

Also on hand at the press conference yesterday was Captain Bill Armstrong, who will be the chief pilot for the sheriff's helicopters. Ealinger said the addition of the two units is not expected to result in any increase in personnel.

Fireworks

fireworks fund drive, but the Miss Sanford event as well.

"SHDWA didn't specifically vote against the Miss Sanford Pageant," Laver continued. "At the present time, they only want to drop out of the fireworks drive."

Laver said only a dozen people were on hand for Tuesday night's SHDWA meeting. When the matter came up for a vote following a lengthy discussion, Laver said there were 12 votes in favor of dropping out, but only two against it.

"Some of the members, they were apparently didn't vote their feelings, or at least their votes weren't heard by the people counting the results."

"About two weeks ago," he explained, "SHDWA member Rosemary Leone suggested if we didn't raise half of the budget money ($12,000), in the near future, we might consider dropping the project."

SHDWA board member Helen Stairs said the matter was a board decision. "We had discussed the point that if enough money for the fireworks was not received by our deadline of May 15th, that we would be forced to drop it, which is what we ended up doing," she said.

Laver said he has been "beating the bushes all day long" trying to find donors. "One thing I was disappointed with," he said, "is that only four actual downtown merchants donated to this, even though it would certainly benefit the entire city, especially the downtown area."

At Tuesday night's meeting, Laver said it was Leone who made the motion that SHDWA get out of the fireworks project immediately. The motion was seconded by Helen Stairs.

Laver said he has considered establishing some other non-profit organization and managing the two events through it, but it would require time to have the non-profit group officially approved by the state, and the time may not be sufficient to be able to continue the fireworks fund drive.

Stairs commented that she was still in favor of having fireworks on July 4th, but believed it must be a much larger community project. "I don't think our local governments should get into the fireworks business," she said, "but if the project would be planned at least a year in advance, and people like chambers of commerce and various civic organizations which prepare their budgets late in the year would allocate some for this, there would be plenty of money for the project."

Stairs said it should be a joint operation, as it would attract not only Sanford people, but those from Lake Mary, Longwood, Deltona, and other surrounding communities.

The suggestion that SHDWA undertake the fund raising project however, was made well in advance. It was shortly after last year's July 4th, when people turned out along the lakefront, only to find no fireworks, that SHDWA agreed to look into the fund raising for 1995.

All of the money pledged and submitted for the fireworks so far this year has been placed in escrow. Monday (May 22) would be the deadline for arranging for the fireworks. "The fireworks people need a 50 percent deposit of $4,000 by no later than Monday," Laver said, "and while we have approximately $3,700 plus some additional pledges, the matter is up in the air right now."

If the fireworks project is completely scrubbed, Laver said it would be returned to the contributors. In the meantime, funds are still being accepted by SHDWA, but only on a temporary basis until other plans are made or cancelled completely.

In addition to the fireworks, Laver had also planned on having a July 4th parade through downtown Sanford, an arts and crafts show, exhibits, demonstrations, a family-style picnic, and a number of other events. All of these would be cancelled if the fireworks event is forced to be eliminated.

Laver spent most of Wednesday contacting various organizations seeking a new sponsor for the event.

similar fashion.

Finally, he took his speech to the state level and took top honors there too.

"We are really proud of Terry," said principal Jim Shupe. "He did a great job. He did so well. I have to say, considering the circumstances under which he prepared for this he did wonderfully."

He is the first boy from Seminole County to win the state honors. The other three winners who came from this county were girls.

McKinney said he is very proud of his success and believes the supportive teachers at the school and his loving family are the keys to his success.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) - The Federal Government has approved a drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain. The material has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur 15th" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur 15th relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur 15th is an odorless, greenless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work.

Balanced budget plan

WASHINGTON — In a giant step for the Republican revolution, the House has passed a balanced budget plan, breaking aside Democratic complaints it would impose a terrible cost for the elderly on Medicare and for others reliant on social programs.

"No more smoke and mirrors, no more fancy accounting, no more spending away our nation's future," New York Republican Rep. Susan Molinari said Wednesday. She was among numerous lawmakers to argue the merits of the GOP measure in a daylong debate.

Countered Rep. Karen McCarthy, D-Mo.: "I will not be party to a balanced budget formula which gives tax breaks to those most advantaged while slashing the programs of our parents — the seniors."

The GOP plan to erase deficits by 2008 would dramatically change the face of government, eliminating hundreds of federal programs, cutting others and turning still more over to the states. In all, it relies on $1.4 trillion in savings over seven years, including $283 billion from Medicare and an additional $180 billion from Medicaid, the government-run health care program for the poor. It also leaves room for the tax cuts passed last month as part of the Republican "Contract With America."

O.J. trial update

LOS ANGELES — The days when O.J. Simpson's attorneys could blame everything on Detective Mark Fuhrman are long gone, some legal analysts said.

"They said the latest prosecution blood evidence shows too much blood, in too many places, and pointing too many times toward Simpson's guilt to explain away as a simple police frame-up."

"The defense will have to talk about a more global conspiracy theory. I mean that one rogue cop simply will not suffice," said Southwestern University law professor Myrna Raeder.

California Department of Justice scientist Gary Sims completed the prosecution's "trail of blood" Wednesday, placing the genetic fingerprints of Simpson and two murder victims inside Simpson's Ford Bronco and on a bloody glove found at his estate.

Charged with murder

ASHEVILLE, N.C. — Two days after he was fired for fighting with co-workers, James Floyd Davis went into a pawn shop and bought an M-1 carbine and 90 rounds of ammunition.

Then he drove to his old job, parked his white Toyota pickup at the side door, grabbed the carbine and a .38-caliber pistol and walked inside.

In the next two minutes, police say, Davis killed three people and wounded two. Dozens escaped by hiding under their desks.

"I heard gunfire, then someone yelled, 'It's Jameel' and then everyone ran," said Larry Short, who fled outside as the gunman blasted at him. "I heard the bullets hitting the ground around me and hitting the street."

Davis, 47, was charged with three counts of murder. The district attorney said he would seek the death penalty.

NRA offers apology

WASHINGTON — Backing away from its defense of a recent fund-raising letter that described some federal agents as "jack-booted thugs," the National Rifle Association is offering an apology.

"I really feel bad about the fact that the words in that letter have been interpreted to apply to all federal law enforcement officers," NRA Executive Vice President Wayne LaPierre said in a telephone interview from Phoenix.

"If anyone thought the intention was to paint all federal law enforcement officials with the same broad brush, I'm sorry, and I apologize," LaPierre said Wednesday.

Cult leader in court today

TOKYO (AP) — Cult leader Shoko Asahara appeared in court today for the first time, after reportedly saying he wasn't aware of everything his followers did.

It was the first time that Asahara — who was nabbed Tuesday at his Aum Shinri Kyo cult's hideout near Mt. Fuji — gave any indication he might try to cast blame in the Tokyo subway nerve-gas attack on his disciples.

He reportedly suggested to police that his followers might have carried out the attack without his knowledge.

"Do you know what all of your underlings are doing?" TV reports quoted him as saying. "I have so many followers, it's impossible for me to know what everybody is doing."

At a closed court hearing, he was bound over for at least 10 more days of interrogation. Police don't have to charge him until 23 days after his arrest.

From Associated Press reports

Zaire outbreak: Quarantine is no guarantee

By RALPH BAUER
Associated Press Writer

KIKWIT, Zaire — Health workers were searching street-by-street through this quarantined city looking for new cases of Ebola, the lethal virus that has killed at least 87 people. A Zairian man who arrived in Toronto aboard an airliner from Belfast, Northern Ireland, was put in 21-day quarantine Wednesday after telling officials his mother died in the area stricken by Ebola.

Canadian officials said the quarantine was just a precaution because his mother's symptoms did not appear compatible with Ebola and the man was not exhibiting any symptoms of the disease.

Zaire's government has quarantined Kikwit, a sultry tropical city of 600,000 people. But fearful the virus could spread to Kinshasa, the capital city of 6 million people 260 miles to the west, the government has set up a 20-bed quarantine ward there.

Zaire's president admitted Wednesday there was no way to completely secure Kikwit.

"Those who are in quarantine are not under arrest, and since they are not under arrest they can sometimes escape and do what they want," President Mobutu Sese Seko told reporters in Kinshasa.

The president spoke during a visit to a warehouse to see donated medical supplies being sent to Kikwit. He said he wanted to go to Kikwit but his doctors had forbidden it.

Health workers have begun to convince the people of Kikwit that the ritual washing of loved ones' cadavers could transmit Ebola, and now make the rounds in a big orange truck to collect bodies left in the street.

Along with a plastic-wrapped cadaver, one crew Wednesday brought in an old woman, curled up in a folding chair, who was suspected of carrying the virus. No one else would bring her.

"It's really bad," said Dr. William Kipahu, a graduate of Tulane University in New Orleans. "We are finding more and more sick people as we search street by street through the city. There will be many more deaths."

One person died Wednesday, raising the death toll to 87, according to Dr. Jean-Jacques Muyembe, a professor of microbiology at Kinshasa University. He is in Kikwit overseeing medical services.

Another five people are known to be infected, he said.

The World Health Organization expects a significant rise in the number of Ebola victims soon because of the disease's incubation period, which ranges from six days to three weeks, according to spokesman Philippe Stout.

There is no vaccine or cure for Ebola, which is spread through bodily fluids and kills 90 percent of those who contract it. Victims die within days with blood pouring from their eyes, ears and noses.

In the United States, the Centers for Disease Control has ordered all airlines to notify the agency if any passengers headed to the United States were ill with fever or vomiting blood, two Ebola symptoms.

Marlins fall in extra innings

MIAMI — Mickey Morandini had a pinch-hit, two-run homer in the 13th inning Wednesday night, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the Florida Marlins. Morandini also drove in the decisive run in the 10th inning of Philadelphia's 9-7 win Tuesday. Ricky Bottalico (3-0) notched his second win in less than a week, pitching one inning of relief, and Heathcliff Slocumb pitched the bottom of the 13th for his major league-leading ninth save. Florida's Chris Hammond, making his first start since Aug. 3 of last year, carried a no-hitter into the seventh, but Mariano Duncan ended it with a double to right that scored Lenny Dykstra, tying the game 1-1.

Dolphins sign draft picks

DAVIE — The Miami Dolphins have signed 1995 draftees Norman Hand and Cory Swinson to three-year contracts, the team announced Wednesday. Hand, a 6-3, 329-pound defensive tackle from Waterboro, S.C., was the Dolphins' fifth-round draft pick (159th overall) out of Mississippi, where he was a teammate of current Dolphin defensive lineman Tim Sowers. Swinson, a 6-5, 334-pound defensive tackle from Bayshore, N.Y., spent three years at Hampton Institute before being picked in the seventh round (233rd overall) by the Dolphins.

Timmons opts for Florida

Beth Timmons, the outstanding swimmer at the last two New York State swimming championships, will pursue her Olympic ambitions at the University of Florida. Timmons, an Ithaca (N.Y.) High School student, settled on Florida after considering opportunities at 25 colleges. Timmons was named the outstanding swimmer at the state championships as a junior and senior. As a senior, she won the 100-yard butterfly and 200-yard individual medley and anchored two second-place relay teams.

Gumy ousts Wheaton

CORAL SPRINGS — Pan American gold medalist Hernan Gumy outlasted third-seeded David Wheaton 6-3, 7-6 (7-5) Wednesday in a high-caliber second-round match at America's Red Clay Tennis Championship.

Other than his victory, over fellow Argentine Javier Frana in the finale of the Pan American games last March, Gumy's win over the 25th-ranked Wheaton is a career best.

Frana, the eighth seed, joined his friend in the quarters with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Michael Tebbutt of Australia.

Luke Jensen couldn't hit what he couldn't see as he fell victim 6-1, 6-2 to sixth-seeded Greg Rusedski, the game's most powerful server. Rusedski, who set the speed-serving record earlier this year by hitting a 157 mph shot past Michael Chang in San Jose, cracked nine aces past Jensen, two of which reached 134 mph.

Also advancing were fourth-seed Mark Woodford, fifth-seed Brett Steven, and Nicholas Pereira, who beat wild card entrant Ivan Baron.

Mientkiewicz powers FSU

GREENVILLE, S.C. — Doug Mientkiewicz hit a pair of two-run home runs to lead Florida State to a 6-0 victory over Virginia in Wednesday's first round of the 1995 Atlantic Coast Conference baseball tournament.

The win improved the Seminoles to 44-13, while Virginia dropped to 28-28.

Jonathan Johnson, 9-3, pitched eight innings for the Seminoles to earn the win. He allowed just three hits, struck out 10, and retired 16 of the last 20 batters he faced.

Showdown shaping up
White Sox keep pressure on first-place Royals

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It looks like the race for the American Division championship in the Sanford Recreation Babe Ruth Baseball League is going to go right down to the wire.

On Wednesday night, the second-place Nobles Construction White Sox (10-4) moved to one game back of the front-running Rotary Club Royals (11-3) with an 11-5 win over the Signs by Design A's (6-8) at Zinn Beck Field.

There was no report from the game scheduled to be played Wednesday between the Ovidio Cubs (4-8) and Moose Lodge Pirates (14-0) at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Both the White Sox and Royals have two games remaining, including a head-to-head battle scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Tonight at 6:30 p.m., the Royals are scheduled to play the Ovidio Marlins (1-10) in Ovidio. The White Sox's other remaining game is a contest with the Ovidio Cubs that was supposed to be played on April 15 but will be made up on Monday, May 22, at Zinn Beck Field.

Still in the hunt for an American Division berth in the City Championship playoffs are the Elks Lodge No. 1241 Blue Jays, who have a 7-5 record with four games to be played.

Wednesday night at Zinn Beck Field, the White Sox and A's combined for all of five hits. But the White Sox were helped considerably by eight walks and several key misplays by the A's.

Joe Mendosa had the top offensive performance of the evening, hitting two singles and scoring a pair of runs for the White Sox. Freddie Hawkins chipped in with a single and two runs.

David Brooks scored three runs. Eddie Rollins added a pair of runs scored. Danny Brooks and Mathew Hendrick each scored one run.

For the A's, Chad Getchall had a single, one run scored, and an RBI. Terral Bender also singled in a run. Antonio Floyd scored a pair of runs while Brett Witte and David Horn each scored one run.

Mendosa and Hawkins split the pitching chores for the White Sox, each allowing one run over three innings. Mendosa, who gave up three runs, struck out four while Hawkins, who was touched for a run in the fourth, fanned six.

Witte and Tim Byrd did the pitching for the A's.

Wells Cont. hangs on to unbeaten tag

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Jumping in front with a five-run outburst in the top of the first inning, Wells Contracting held off a late comeback attempt by short-handed Crazy Wings for an 8-5 win in the Sanford Recreation Men's Softball League at Chase Park.

Earlier in the evening, Mike McLohan hit for the cycle — a home run, triple, double, and a single — to spearhead Reckers' 17-5 rout of Nice & Easy in a game stopped after five innings by the 12-run mercy rule.

The victory keeps Wells Contracting (2-0) undefeated in the early going. Reckers and Nice & Easy are tied for second at 1-1 while Crazy Wings is away to an 0-2 start.

Next week, Wells Construction plays Nice & Easy in the 7 p.m. game before Crazy Wings goes up against Reckers at 8 p.m.

Crazy Wings suffered a serious setback early against Wells Contracting when Jim Nulty was injured in a play at the plate and had to leave the game. Because Crazy Wings did not have a substitute to take Nulty's place in the lineup, it was an automatic out every time his spot in the batting order came up.

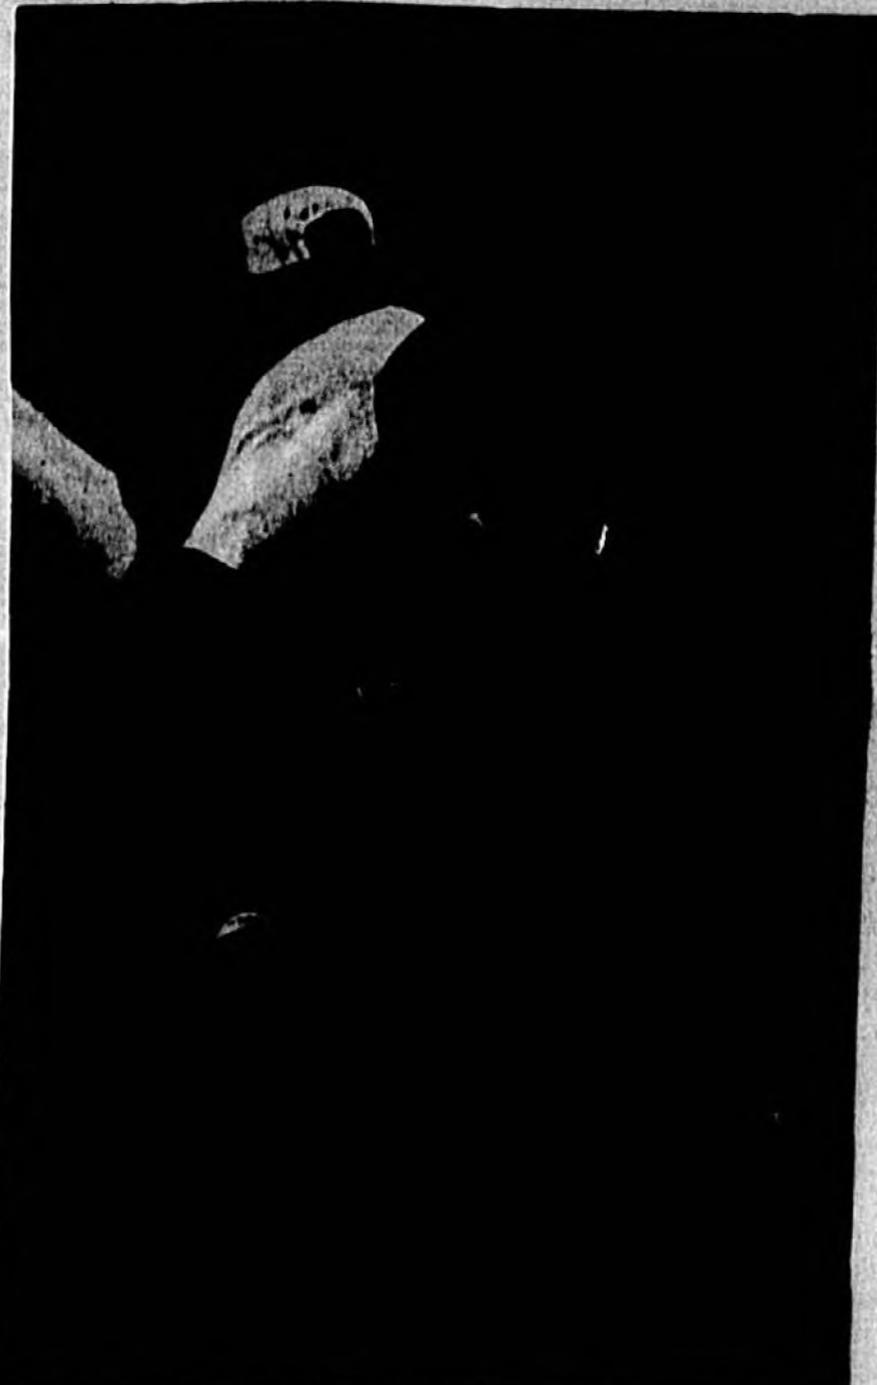

Even with that handicap, Crazy Wings managed a late rally, scoring two runs in the fourth to cut Wells Contracting's lead to 6-2 and plating three more in the sixth to pull to within 7-5.

George Forsig highlighted the 17-hit attack mounted by Wells Contracting by hitting three singles, scoring a run, and driving in two more. Jim Dawson also hit three singles and scored twice. John Reichart contributed a double, single, and an RBI.

Randy Brown had two singles and two runs scored. Tim Cooper and Bo Sellers each added two singles, a run, and an RBI. Frank Mann also singled twice. Kenny Brown singled, scored a run, and had an RBI.

David Goldstick led Crazy Wings with a triple, double, two runs, and three RBIs. Brantley Brumley singled twice and scored twice. Steve Woodley, Bob Palagiano, Ron Wirth, and Don Best each hit a single. Cary Keefer scored a run while Mark Tanech had an RBI.

Reckers scored at least one run in every inning, exploding for six in the top of the first and adding to the advantage with every at bat. Nice & Easy stayed close the first two innings, trailing 10-5 heading into the top of the third frame. But they didn't score after that while Reckers added seven more runs.

John Kobliniski (No. 9) collected two doubles, two singles, three runs, and an RBI to help Reckers post a 17-5 win over Scott Corvell (white shirt) and his Nice/Easy teammates Wednesday night at Chase Park.

Besides hitting for the cycle, McLohan scored three runs and had three RBI for Reckers, which got at least one hit from everyone in the lineup. Leadoff hitter Chris Dapore went 5-for-5 with a pair of doubles, three singles, two runs, and two RBIs. John Kobliniski added two doubles, two singles, three runs, and an RBI.

Jerry Camus had a double, two singles, three runs, and three RBI while Tom Kelly chipped in with a double, two singles, a run, and two RBIs. Brian Jones doubled twice.

Who has the edge, young Magic or veteran Bulls?

By BILL MADDALAP

CHICAGO — Young legs. The Orlando Magic have them; the Chicago Bulls don't.

Experience. Chicago has it; Orlando doesn't.

Which will be the difference tonight in Game 6 of the Eastern Conference semifinals, a game the Bulls must win to stay alive in the best-of-7 series?

"What is this, the fifth game in nine days coming up? Well, there's a lot of age difference between these two clubs. I'd have to think recovery rate favors them." Chicago coach Phil Jackson said. "But we think experience and home-court advantage is going to give us the odds (tonight), and then there's a couple of days rest."

Game 7, if necessary, would be Sunday at Orlando. But Magic players, bursting with confidence, think they can end it tonight.

"People thought we might win a game or two, but I don't think anyone expected us to be up 3-2 right now with a chance to close this thing out on Chicago's floor," forward Dennis Scott said.

"I think people expected us to get past Boston, play this series pretty good, lose, then say the Magic had a good year. They would've patted us on the back and said get ready for next year. We're not ready to get ready for next year yet."

Neither are the Bulls, who won NBA titles in 1991, 1992 and 1993; and who joined the favorites for the championship this season when Michael Jordan came out of retirement two months ago.

"I've been here before, I won't focus on the negative," Jordan said. "The door's not closed yet. We're not looking at it as being one game away from having a summer. We're looking at it as trying to tie this thing up."

Added teammate Scottie Pippen: "It's time to go to war. We face elimination. We've got to treat this as if it's Game 7."

Scott, who went from super sub to starter during the series and has sparked Orlando with his outside shooting, said he could sense the Bulls tiring near the end of Tuesday's Game 5.

Allison crossed the stripe in front of Brian VanAlstine, Ron Abeles, Kevin DiMeco, and Ron Goff.

Mark Manfredi edged Rick Clouser at the finish line by the width of a bumper to win the Bomber main event.

For the majority of the race, Manfredi maintained about a two-car lead over Clouser. Going into turn three on the final lap, Clouser drove to

Cook makes it look easy in Space Racer Camaro

By PAUL MARABELLA

Specialist to the Herald

SANFORD — Ormond Beach's Jack Cook, behind the wheel of Bob's Space Racer Camaro, raced all but uncontested in winning the 25-lap Late Model feature event last Saturday, May 13, at New Smyrna Speedway.

"This was an easy race for us tonight," said Cook, a former FASCAR Late Model champion. "The car was the best it's been in several weeks."

"This is our last race until September. Now, we have to go up north and go to work. When we get back, I hope we can pick up where we ended."

Cook, who started the race from the sixth position, got around early leader Johnnie Gaskacko on lap six. Once on the point, Cook pulled away to a commanding lead as Gaskacko and Gary "Hot Shoe" Balough duelled for the No. 2 spot.

Balough assumed the position on lap 11. Two laps later, Guy Thomas got around Gaskacko to take over third place. Just as Balough was mounting a charge on Cook, his car started to smoke and he pulled behind the pit wall with an apparent power plant problem.

Thomas took up the hunt, but with four laps to the checkered flag, he and Charlie Evans tangled. Evans smacked the outer retaining wall, rupturing the fuel cell. In moments, his car was engulfed in flames.

The fire was extinguished and track safety personnel attended to Evans, who was later taken to the hospital for observation.

With Balough, Thomas, and Evans out of the competition, Cook cruised to victory lane. Gaskacko ended up finishing second ahead of Pat McClain, Rick Johns, and Bruce Everett.

Brad May led all but two laps on his way to victory lane in Limited Late Model action. May jumped to the early lead with Bobby Sears in tow. May got high going into turn three of lap No. 4, allowing Sears to take over the No. 1 slot.

Sears led the following lap, only to relinquish the lead to hard-charging May on lap six.

May raced to the checkers, finishing ahead of Sears, Trevor Draa, Tommie Elliott, and Don Roberts.

Jared Allison led every circuit to win the Mini-Stock feature event.

Early in the race, Allison was challenged by Conrad Grenier. After several laps of wheel-to-wheel racing Grenier faded with mechanical problems and Allison had clear sailing to victory lane.

Allison crossed the stripe in front of Brian VanAlstine, Ron Abeles, Kevin DiMeco, and Ron Goff.

10 simple ways to improve your health

Many Americans quite properly want to take more control over their lives and health. However, in our increasingly technological society, this goal may seem unattainable. Nonetheless, there is much we can do. In the January 1988 issue of the American Family Physician, Dr. Jay Siwek (Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, D.C.) editorialized about 10 steps to better health. These tips, which I have modified, are worth noting.

1. Stop using tobacco products. Smoking (or chewing) has become a major public health concern, because it is associated with cancer, heart disease, stroke, and chronic lung disease.
2. Reduce the fat in your diet and eat at least five portions of fruit and vegetables a day. In conjunction with regular exercise (at least 15 minutes daily every other day), this dietary modification will lower cholesterol, maintain optimum weight and protect the cardiovascular system.
3. Moderate alcohol intake. Don't drink every day and, if you do imbibe, limit your consumption to no more than four ounces of spirits (or its equivalent in wine or beer).
4. Make sure you (and your family's) immunizations are current. In addition to childhood immunizations, adults should receive tetanus boosters every 10 years. Pneumonia vaccine and flu shots are recommended for individuals over 65 and for younger people at high risk (with lung disorders, for example).
5. Avoid exposure to toxic substances. These include lead, asbestos, radon, petrochemical solvents, carbon monoxide, second-hand tobacco smoke, and harmful chemicals.
6. Keep firearms out of the house. If, on the other hand, you own a weapon, make sure that it is unloaded and stored in a safe place -- under lock and key if there are children at home.
7. Practice safe sex. Monogamy is the preferred option but, in other circumstances, use a male or female condom to reduce the risk of AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases.

8. Buckle up in your auto, drive at safe speeds and purchase vehicles with air bags.
9. Never use illicit drugs, such as cocaine, crack, LSD and others.
10. Think safety, both at home and on the job. For example, supervise children around water, always use a helmet when bicycling, apply protective eye covering when using power equipment, avoid potentially violent domestic situations, don't tolerate abusive relationships.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
We have the expression "raining cats and dogs." Other countries have their own versions. For example, in Germany, it rains cobblers' apprentices; in South Africa, it rains grandmothers and knobkerries (a small club with a knobbed end); and in North Wales, it rains old women and sticks.

In bridge, there are many bidding systems, and in most deals all will lead to the same final contract. For example, in today's deal it would be cautious not to reach three no-trump. Yet having got there, not everyone would make it.

West led his fourth-highest heart, South capturing East's king with his ace. Then, thinking the sun was shining, South cashed the club ace. West's diamond discard was a fatal blow. South had to lose two club tricks to East. The defense plodded away at hearts, and West had the diamond king as an entry. South could take only eight tricks.

The declarer began with six top tricks: two spades, two hearts (after the lead), one diamond and one club. So he needed three more club tricks. But South overlooked the potential power of his nine. At trick two, South should have led a low club toward the dummy. Whatever the club distribution, South must get four tricks from the suit and nine in all.

Here, East wins dummy's jack with his king and returns the heart 10. South wins with the queen, plays a club to dummy's queen, finesse his club nine, unblocks the club ace, crosses to dummy's spade ace and cashes the club six.

A vindictive North would be wishing his partner would move to South Wales, where it rains knives and forks.
