TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—After a long battle which resulted in expected approval of the child welfare amendment to the federal constitution, the Democratic state convention Tuesday adopted a platform in which the Ku Klux Klan, Enforcement Act of the state were denounced by name. With but little alteration the platform unanimously was approved as drafted by the resolutions committee. An anti-lynching plank was added. The plank on labor and child welfare was widened to include a more liberal workmen's compensation provision. It was adopted unanimously after a substitute plank pledging the Democratic party to strengthen the existing legislation dealing with child labor and sweatshops had been defeated, 14 to 22. Eighteenth Amendment Denounced. The eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution was denounced as "an unwarranted intrusion upon the rights of states," in the wake of which "has trailed corruption of government on a scale unparalleled in the history of the country, a lack of enforcement and general disrespect for all law."

Johnson Again Forced To Bow In Defeat Before the National League Champions

Bentley Pitches His Second Game. 50,000 Fans See New York Team Forge Ahead in the Series. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The New York Giants again went into the lead in the world series by defeating the Washington Senators by a score of 6 to 2 this afternoon at the Polo Grounds before a crowd of over 50,000 spectators.

Walter Johnson suffered his second defeat of the series, the Giants knocking the offerings of the veteran ace for a total of 13 hits. Bentley, hurling for the Giants was hit hard but managed to keep them well scattered. The score by innings: R. H. E. Washington — 000 100 100 — 2 0 2 New York — 001 020 03 — 6 12 0

The Giants drew first blood in the third inning when Jackson bled out a slow infield grounder and went to third on Bentley's single. He scored a minute later when Lindstrom beat out another infield grounder. The Giants hit safely three times in this stanza and in Washington's half, the Senators made equally as many hits but failed to put across a run.

The Senators came back in their half of the fourth and with two singles, an infield out and a sacrifice put across the run that tied the score and made the Washington supporters in the stands throw their hats high in the air. Up to this time Johnson had given up five hits while his team mates had hit Bentley six times.

In the fifth the Giants once more assumed the lead. Johnson was touched for three hits and two runs. Gowdy opened the inning by sailing to right and Bentley, in his second time up this morning, tallied into the upper tier of the right field stands for a home run. Frisch doubled to center but the Giants' scoring stopped suddenly here when Kelly hit into a double play after Young had been hit by a pitched ball.

The eighth inning saw the New Yorkers again score, getting three runs this time. The best the Senators could do was to obtain one run, running their total to two. After a heavy rain last night the sun came out this morning and unusual ideal weather for this afternoon's game. An immense canvass protected the playing field from the rain and the diamond gave no appearance of rains in the least.

Manager Harris sent his star hurler once more to the mound and John McGraw sent Jack Bentley, loser of Sunday's game, in to oppose him. Nehf, who won from Johnson in the opening game, was unable to pitch because of an injury to his hand which he received in the first game of the series.

Dickson-Ives Store Undergoes Many Changes Recently

To entertain visitors the coming Thursday, Orlando merchants have been most active in planning for music, unique decorations and in some cases entirely rearranging their stores for the start of the fall business.

A trip through the Dickson-Ives Company's department store, which is one of the leading stores of the state, reveals that extensive changes have been made recently, and further plans are being carried out to better care for the winter throngs of shoppers.

The second, third and fourth floors of the large building at the corner of Orange and Central Avenues have been rearranged, giving added space to the third floor to what is declared Florida's Finest Rug Department and a large drapery and decorative department.

On the third floor also has been placed the Art Shop which has been enlarged now to a splendid shop of unusual proportions on the north side of this floor.

The removal of this shop from the second floor leaves added space to the apparel section which has been divided conveniently into a costume, ready-to-wear, department of expensive Paris inspired dresses and all of the usual French Room and the new shops of apparel for little women and the larger women.

The children's department which recently brought forth so much favorable comment with its fashion show of hand clothes, the nursery department and the underwear sections have also been enlarged.

The remainder of the store which is now mostly being filled with new fall merchandise purchased by the Florida buyers recently in New York, has been tastefully decorated by C. Walter Johnson, for a busy season.

THE HILL

Breathless, we flung upon the wind, we flung upon the wind, we flung upon the wind...

—Rupert Brooke.

The series now stands at two all, with the Senators leading.

Have you bought some Sanford property?

Don't put it off too long; it might be too late.

Bear with us. We'll get the paper to you as soon as the game is over.

Some folks we know don't seem to know the difference between an early bird and a night hawk.

It takes a Ford automobile to bring out the real disposition in a man.

LaFollette says he thinks he has a chance. A chance to take a good long skid on his neck may be!

Now they are suggesting a chin for the settlement of matrimonial squabbles. What chance would a man have in a case like that.

One thing that is about as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth these days is the old-fashioned mousetrache-cup.

The fellow who has never seen a street car shouldn't feel ashamed of that fact. Think of how much money he has saved.

The Clearwater Sun is now appearing in eight columns. Eight columns, which give one additional page of live, illuminating reading matter, out of every eight.

Some local sports are showing the height of precaution when they bet a large sum on one baseball team and then wager an equal amount on the opposing team.

Wood is said to be plentiful in Australia. And if you gaze at some men's heads in this country, you might have good cause to believe it is plentiful in America.

The Herald advertised yesterday afternoon for a circulation manager. Last evening there were six applications in person. If you don't think it pays, try it sometimes.

The trouble with the Ashley gang has always been that the officers have never been able to get the heads. Shoot 'em in the head. You can't hurt those bumps anywhere else.

This is the third year when New York women come home from Europe in order to pack up to go to Florida.—James J. Montague in New York Herald Tribune.

When Woodrow Wilson was referred to by Paul Loebe, former president of the German Reichstag, as "the father of the League of Nations", the entire German audience cheered. Surely, "What's not destroyed by Time's devouring hand?"

Journalists are learning the lesson, according to the New York World. There were twenty-two fewer persons killed in street accidents in New York city during the first nine months of 1924 than during the same period of last year. And yet there were seven hundred and forty killed this year.

Among famous Democrats slumping the country for Davis and Bryan are Bainbridge Colby, Governor Sizer, William J. Bryan, Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Carroll Miller, Governor Brandon, Jewett Rhoads, and Mrs. Peter Olson, but as far as is known none of them have included Sanford on their itineraries.

Watch The Time Killer

Did you ever stop to realize that the fellow who steals time from his employer is just as big a thief and a robber as the fellow who steals money from the cash drawer? There is very little difference between the two. At least they are both lacking in character and honesty...

American Talk Best

Many young boys and girls of Sanford have left within the past few weeks for their first experience with college and fond parents and friends are wondering what effect the probably vast change in customs and environments will have upon the young students...

The Language Snob constitutes one of the most important of this class. He is the one who apparently knows French so well that he can't keep it out of his English, when in reality his knowledge of either language is probably so limited as to make it impossible for him to express himself very clearly in either one without the aid of the other...

F. P. A. in the New York World's Conning Tower admirably illustrates the point in question when he reproduces a letter from one "sweetie" to another. It follows rather uncertainly like this:

Carissima: The most wonderful news! Of course you'll say that you've heard of my affairs du coeur before, but this time it is sui generis. Bill came down for the week-end, and he's always been my bete noir, you know. But this time, Jerry was with him. How any one who is so obviously jeunesse doree as Jerry can associate with one of her polloi like Bill is beyond me, but then chacun a son gout, as I always say. As soon as I saw Jerry I knew him for a rata avis; he has a habit to come up to me that none of the rest of the bunch has, and entre nous, I said "Eureka!" the minute I saw him on the beach. He really is so distingue, so absolutely creme de la creme, that I couldn't believe that he'd ever look at poor little me, because you know I'm not a bas bleu at all. But miracle du ciel, he liked me at once, and even though I took some of the things he said cum grano salis, still he really did feed my amour propre, and now especially since I've let the rest of the bunch know they're de trop, we've really become the cause celebre of the place. Now you enfant terrible you! I know what you're going to say about that; but you know perfectly well that I'm always an fait, and you can be sure that we wouldn't do anything infra dig, because I realize only too well that facis descensus Averni—so there—honi soit.

L'amour est magnifique! Auf wiedersehen, CLARA.

Away with the cant of "Measures, not men!"—The idle supposition that it is the harness and not the horses that draw the chariot along. No Sir, if the comparison must be made, if the distinction must be taken, men are everything, measures comparatively nothing.—Lanning.

Kant, as we know, compared moral law to the stary heavens, and found them both sublime. On the naturalistic hypothesis we should rather compare it to the protective blotches on a beetle's back, and find them both ingenious.—Arthur Balfour.

We hardly find any person of good sense save those who agree with us.—La Rochefoucauld.

WORKING STUDENTS

An interesting announcement has been made by the Bureau of Appointments at Yale University to the effect that thirty-two per cent of the students have registered for term-time work by means of which they may be able to help support themselves through their college course. Last year students in Yale earned nearly four hundred thousand dollars toward their own expenses. Readers of some of the recent novels have been led to believe that the students of the land are hell-bent. The impression has gone out that most of these young people are chiefly interested in drinking and carousing. Those in a position to know have been aware that this is an altogether wrong impression. Some students do not seem to understand the purpose of a college. Some of them have gone beyond the bounds of decent behavior, but most of them, as has always been the case, are seriously seeking to secure the sort of education that will fit them for useful living. It may be safely said that the young people who are sufficiently eager for an education to be willing to work their way through college are not likely to spend much time in dissipation. These young people mean business when they go away to school. They come out of homes where the ideals are high and they can be depended upon to maintain those ideals. It is not wise to close one's eyes to the fact that there are temptations offered these young men that they sometimes find it hard to resist. Every effort should be made by parents and by college authorities to remove these temptations. But there is no reason to fear that the whole generation of young people is bound for perdition. As long as thirty-two per cent of the college students are working their way through the country is pretty safe for another generation at least. There is also inspiration in these figures for those young people who desire to go to college, but do not see how it can be accomplished. It may be said with truth that any young person who is in good health and who has the proper determination can secure a college education in these days. When there is a real purpose in the soul of a young person that there are many forces working to help him. It is comparative-ly easy for the determined youth to secure all the education he needs to fit him for life.

As Brisbane Sees It

"National Imbeciles." A La Follette Outhrust. Only it Wasn't. Many Happy Returns. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

WHAT would be said in respectable banking rooms, director's rooms, and in the drawing rooms of the "better element" if this statement by La Follette were said aloud: "This country with its institutions belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it."

CAN YOU imagine the look on a notably respectable countenance on hearing the statement that this country belongs "to the people who inhabit it" and the reference to "their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it"? Wouldn't it be easy to organize a crowd to lynch the author of that shameful revolutionary statement?

THE ONLY trouble is, you could not lynch him, because he is dead. The quotation is not from a La Follette campaign speech, but from the second inaugural address of Abraham Lincoln, sent to Congress in 1865. In 1865 Lincoln and the people of this country ran the United States, to a great extent and felt that it really belonged to them.

In 1924 a select group manages the United States and feels that it really belongs to them. That's the difference.

COMPARED TO Lincoln, Senator La Follette denounced as a "Red" anarchist, a traitor down of the constitution, and heaven knows what, is really as mild as any cooing dove. As he has been said about "tearing down the constitution or blowing up the courts" is in these two paragraphs from his platform.

"We favor, admitting to the people a constitutional amendment providing that congress may, by enacting a statute, make it effective over a judicial veto. "We favor such amendment to the constitution as may be necessary to provide for the election of all Federal judges, without party designation, for fixed terms not exceeding ten years, by direct vote of the people."

All that La Follette wants is to have the people control their government. Unlike Lincoln, he does not say anything about the "people's revolutionary right to tear the government down."

What chances would Abraham Lincoln have in the primary election of Illinois, with an anti-imperialist, anti-war, anti-foreigner platform, at its home base and were nominated by farmers in the Northwest?

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE and his wife celebrated recently, the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage with a trip down the Potomac on the Mayflower.

IF there had been an international conversation, they could along the planet's young New Englander, today, in particular, nineteen years ago. The country really does offer opportunity. I can't say it will wish for Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge a great many happy anniversaries of the day. And one thing will be remembered. That mother and father would cry up, gladly, the White House, and all the honor, if their boy could be returned to them.

AT DAYTON, a lighter than air flying machine, carried up with it a small airplane, as a fish hawk carries up a fish. Two thousand feet up the little airplane was released by the big Zeppelin and went flying off on its own account. That's interesting in this country which has made no preparation to meet the danger of invasion through the air.

IN A FEW days Germany will send us a big Zeppelin that will cross the ocean in three days. Imagine a similar machine, ten times as big, leaving the coast of Asia, or Europe, carrying beneath it a dozen high powered bombing machines. Imagine that big ship coming out of the early morning sky, releasing its brood of swift destroyers to wreck cities, the mail carrier ship and the life ships subsequently landing on safe neutral ground in Canada.

This nation will have the world's greatest fighting fleet of airships in the United States of 1924 will be known in later history as "the nation of imbeciles."

EDWARD L. DOHENY, who probably knows the single man in the United States and desires credit for discovering, opening and bringing under American ownership vast Mexican oil fields, announces that his organization, in the retail field only one year, sold 90,000,000 gallons direct to the consumer in the first six months of 1924. The more the merrier in the retail trade. When many sell, prices go down. Ask the department stores.

SOME MORE CLEANING UP TO DO

BROOKHART'S BROADAX

NEW YORK WORLD

In one speech Senator Brookhart of Iowa has destroyed the myth that there exists a united Republican Party. With one blow of his broadax he has cut the weak string of a common party name that held the two factions together.

The Presidential ticket has been described by those Republicans who hold with Senator Brookhart, "I belong to the farm bloc, the President belongs to the Wall Street bloc." Shall the principles of the Republican Party be determined by the voters, then elected by a small group of coolied and irresponsible dictators...

Senator Brookhart's popular Republican nominee in Iowa, Mr. LaFollette, the Independent nominee for President, is a native Texan, a well known photographer, a habitué of international finance, a gentlemanly, dignified, and a gentleman.

Not only in Iowa, but in every community west of Lake Michigan, Republicans are divided in the same fashion over their national ticket. The names of Coolidge and LaFollette, the regular Republican nominees, held with LaFollette and Brookhart and even the President should be elected, will decline to vote with him in California.

Republican Senators and Representatives, speaking for hundreds of thousands of Republican voters in the West and Northwest, challenge the party title behind the Coolidge and Dawes nominations and intend to form at the November polls a new party, their alternative to the Republican label.

ITALY'S SYMBOL OF FRIENDSHIP DEARBORN INDEPENDENT

On the shore of the blue Mediterranean, near Carrara, Italy has decided to set up a marble statue of Prometheus which will be at once a lighthouse and a memorial of the Part. Shelley, who was drowned at that coast more than a century ago.

The height of the figure will equal the feet greater than the figure of Liberty at the entrance to New York Harbor, and comparable with the statue of which there is any record, it will be the celebrated Colossus which bestrides the harbor at Rhodes.

The sculptor will be Fontana, who has already executed works of great magnitude, notably the statue of Garibaldi at Sarzana, twenty-four feet high, and the great Quadriga at Rome.

In an interview with Signor Fontana, which appears in the Manchester Guardian, it is stated that the light-house statue commemorated with the hundredth anniversary of Shelley's death. The poet's body was cast up on the beach a few miles from the spot where the memorial will stand. Shelley made the legend of Prometheus the groundwork of one of his greatest poems, and "Prometheus Unbound," bearing the torch of freedom, will send beneficent beams over the waters which became his grave. The mountains close at hand will furnish the marble.

Warning Issued To Motorists Regard To Fire Prevention

As a warning to motorists the Sanford Chamber of Commerce today issued a statement reminding them that they can best observe Fire Prevention Week by keeping as far away from fires as possible.

"Curiosity," says the statement, "impels many drivers to trail the fire engines or, sometimes, to beat them to the scene of the fire. This is not only dangerous to the motorists but renders the tasks of the firemen more difficult. In many cities collisions have occurred between fire trucks and automobiles whose drivers tried to get to the fire first.

to do their best to extinguish a fire as quickly as possible. Every second counts. Frequently many seconds are lost because of the curious motorists crowding the streets. The Insurance Department of the United States has called our attention to a recent large fire in Washington at which the Chief of the Fire Department was forced to leave his car three blocks from the burning building because of the people and automobiles that blocked his way.

"The duty of motorists is obvious. When you hear the warning from the fire trucks draw up to the curb and let them pass. Don't trail the trucks. Don't go to the fire. Keep away from it and give the firemen a clear field. No one knows whether the fire will be confined to one building or cover the entire block. In either case you will be in the way. In many cases the extent of the loss will depend largely upon your own actions. And it might be your own car that is threatened or is burning."

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep their kidneys and urinary organs clean; thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least once a year. —Adv.

$248,319 WILL BE AMOUNT DIVIDED AMONG PLAYERS

If Senators Win Each Player Will Receive About $6,477; Giants would Receive $3,821; Dodgers to Get Share

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Washington and New York players will divide a fund of $248,319.38, it was announced today after the fourth world's series game, the last from which the players receive a share of the receipts. The winners will get $158,991.63 and the losers $99,327.75. The Giants have 26 eligible men, the Senators only 23. Exact figures for each man cannot be computed now because of the practice of donating lump sums to certain ineligible players and attaches but the approximate shares follow:

Each Washington player will receive about $6,477 if the team wins the series, but only $4,319 if it loses. If the Giants win, each player will be entitled to about $5,731 but the amount will be cut to $3,821 if McGraw's team fails.

Brooklyn and New York, second place teams in the two leagues, each will receive $24,831.93 to be divided among its eligible players. Detroit and Pittsburgh, finishing third, will each receive $16,554.62 to split. The total players fund was $331,092.51.

The total players' fund for 1923, the record year, was $362,783.04. Each winning Yankee received $6,530 and each losing Giant was given $4,363. The Senators, because only 23 men are eligible to divide the smaller fund of this year, nevertheless will approach the record Yankee figure if Harris' team wins the series.

The defection of O'Connell and Dolan, who are removed from the Giant eligible list on the eve of the series after having been adjudged guilty of attempted bribery has not only deprived the two men of a share of the proceeds but will add $400 to the winning share of each Giant now eligible and $300 to the losing share.

Rollins Tars Not Disheartened Over Defeat By "Gators"

ROLLINS COLLEGE, Oct. 8.—Emerging from their first battle of the present grid season the Tars are again on their feet at Park ship, repairing their rigging in preparation for the next encounter. So far as the amount of the score is concerned, it is more than twice the highest figure yet run up on the Rollins team, but in view of the superior team of the Gators the score is no reflection on the Tars. The Rollins line held superbly and each man did the best playing of which he was capable. While Parker, Potter and Daniels had never played ends before, they gave all they had to this position. Colado, Zehler and Lafrons were the best tacklers on the team but could not indefinitely withstand the heft of the Gators. Johnny Joyce, playing varsity for the first time, guided the team through the last half and proved his mettle by making a first down using the method of straight line plunging. Evans wrenched his ankle early in the third quarter and was thus handicapped at punting and in backing up the line. Lafrons, at kick-off played a fine game but was forced to stay in the entire game owing to the lack of fresh players to replace him.

World Series Notes

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—They'll soon be carving a niche in baseball's hall of fame for Stanley Harris, youthful manager of the Washington Americans. Some of the old time keystone sappers who occupy positions in that majestic group will be asked to shove over and give Harris a place. His work in the present series ranks him as the most polished second baseman in modern baseball.

When "Goose" Goslin was caught in an attempted steal of second base in the fifth inning, he pulled the "old army" comeback on Bill Klem at second base when the arbiter waved him out. "The only difference between you and Jesse James is that James had a horse," shouted the "Goose," or words to that effect, but Bill gave him no heed.

Lindstrom, kid third sacker, showed his mettle under hot fire in the second inning. Bluege, Ruel and Miller peppered twisting shots at him in succession, but though Bluege beat out his tap, Lindstrom returned the next two snappily and checked Washington with a brace of runners on the paths.

The Giants don't like lefthanders. That has been shown in the two games the Senators have won. Zachary stopped the Giant, in Washington on Sunday until the ninth and Moeridge, except for the generosity that led to his removal, batted brilliantly Tuesday. His low ball had the Giants breaking their bases swinging or popping 'em up.

Goslin made up for the three hits of which he was robbed Tuesday by Frisch's marvellous plays by getting safe blows on all four trips to the plate Tuesday. When he drove the ball to the upper stands in the third for a home run, he went by Frisch at second with a "try and rob me out of that one" attitude.

Virgil Barnes withstood a heavy bombardment before he faded from the picture. After getting safely by the first inning he was clouted for nine hits and five runs in the next four games.

Moeridge had a perfect day at bat, striking out four successive times. He was "under wraps" on his last trip to the plate and didn't move the bat off his shoulder until the count of three and two and then he missed Dean's "groover."

BALL PLAYERS TO COMMENCE TOUR OF WORLD SOON

O'Neil Announces List Players Who Will Make Trip Starting Middle of October; Evers in Charge White Sox

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The list of players who will accompany the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals on their world tour, starting the middle of the month, were announced here last night by Norris ("Tip") O'Neil, business manager in charge of the trip.

The world tour will be preceded by an exhibition game at Ottawa, Canada, Oct. 13, after which the teams will sail for Europe for games in Ireland, England, Belgium and Italy.

The White Sox lineup will include: Outfield: Mostil and Falk, Chicago, and Rice, Washington; infield: Kamm, Morehart and Clancy, all of Chicago, and one other player to be selected; catchers, Ruel of Washington and Piecich of the Boston Red Sox; pitchers, Faber, Robertson, Lyons and Foreman, all of Chicago. Ed Walsh, coach of the White Sox, will act as one of the umpires and Manager Johnny Evers will be in charge of the Sox.

Those making the trip with the Giants include: infield: Gron Jack, son and Frisch, all of the Giants, and Melmus, of the Boston Braves; outfield, Young, Meusel, New York, and Stengel, Boston; pitchers, Bentley, Jonnard and Nehf

World's Premier Hurler Taking Mound in Opening Game

Walter Johnson, after 18 years of wonderful pitching for the Washington team, pitches his first ball in a world series while the packer inside the ball park and outside roar their applause. The man at the bat is Fred Lindstrom, who wasn't even one year old when son started to pitch for Washington. With two balls and one strike pitched, Lindstrom, Giant's third baseman, flied to McNeely, Washington centerfielder, for an easy out. Thus ended the big moment of the opening game of the world series. Ruel is catching for Washington, with Empire Connolly behind the plate to call balls and strikes.
