Paratroopers Land Behind Front Lines

Audacious Assault Is Complete Success; Tank Column Races To Meet 'Chutists'

TOKYO, Mar. 23—(AP)—American paratroopers splattered by tough Rangers jumped today behind Communist lines north of Seoul and shocked some 20,000 Red troops into hasty flight.

The paratroopers filled the sky with their brightly-hued parachutes like a massive Easter bouquet.

But the Communists rallied later and were fighting desperately to surround and wipe out the 3,300 outnumbered American jumpers.

An armored column spearheading a fresh Allied drive by three divisions north of Seoul linked up with the paratroopers near the drop area south of Munsan.

Lines of infantrymen trudged up the road for miles behind, moving to the aid of the hard-fighting 'chutists.'

A second column rolled through the road center of Uijongbu and fanned out to the east, north and west.

But the Reds won back a commanding peak four miles northwest of Uijongbu and later Friday were pouring heavy artillery and mortar fire into the Allied positions.

Munsan is 21 miles northwest of Seoul and only nine miles south of Red Korea. Uijongbu is 11 miles north of Seoul.

Lt. General Matthew B. Ridgway landed in his light plane on a dirt road near Munsan only 20 minutes after the first paratrooper jumped.

Field dispatches said the Eighth Army commander at one time was "frenzied on Page Four."

Truman Accused Of Pouring Money Down 'Rat Holes'

Former Rubber Boss Says Truman Spends In Loose Fashion

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—(AP)—William M. Jeffers, World War II boss of the federal rubber program, says President Truman is pouring the taxpayers' money "down a hundred rat holes" and has lost the people's confidence.

"Any thinking man knows we cannot look to the President for constructive leadership," Jeffers declared in a letter to Vice President Barkley.

"He is still operating on the old principle of 'tax and spend and spend, elct and elct' that policy was laid enough before this country was debt-ridden, but this country is in a serious financial condition."

"On top of that, the people have lost confidence in the President (Continued on Page 13A)"

John Anderson To Be Buried Sunday

High School To Aid Red Cross Drive

County Judge Douglas Stenstrom and Principal Herman E. Morris of Seminole High School discussed plans yesterday for the co-operation of high school students in speeding up the lagging Red Cross drive, which after more than 20 days of effort has netted only $1,400 toward its $7,000 goal.

The high school students, said Mr. Morris, will co-operate in every way possible toward aiding in the drive. Present plans include a torch light parade in which the students, including the Seminole High School Band, will participate. This will take place on the evening of Friday, Mar. 30.

New England Yankees Contribute Many Skills To Defense Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is another in the series of stories by Associated Press writers telling how the rearmament program is affecting various parts of the country. Today's story surveys the situation in New England.)

By IRLMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Mar. 23—(AP)—Some 300 years ago, an English king gave a big boost to the rearming of America in 1951.

The growth of New England, especially as an industrial area, was beginning to irk his majesty. So he issued an edict forbidding skilled English mechanics, tool-makers and other craftsmen from emigrating to these shores. The idea was to keep the colonies dependent on British workshops. But even as today, the Yankees were hard to handle, and the idea backfired.

New England became the workshop of the new nation.

As a direct result, no other part of the United States is as rich in special skills, the ability to make anything from a cathode tube to a battleship. And no other section is playing a more vital role in the effort to rearm rapidly.

Ships are coming off the ways. The small-arms plants are humming. Some of the mightiest air-planes engines in the world are emerging from one assembly line in the Pratt-Whitney plant in

Open House To Be Held In Bel Air By Ozier-Weller

Tobey Calls For Investigation Of William O'Dwyer

The Ozier-Weller Homes development in the Bel Air section at Melonville Avenue and Seventeenth Street will hold open house for the inspection of new homes this week-end from 2:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. daily.

One of these will be a completely equipped two bedroom house which has been furnished by Sears Roebuck and Co.

Several two and three bedroom homes are nearing completion and are in the $7,850 and $8,775 price range, including the lot and landscaping. They vary in design and in elevation types.

Ozier-Weller Homes, Inc., has had wide experience in home construction, having built extensively in Illinois and the mid west. Believing that their successful building projects could be carried on in Florida, they selected Sanford as the site of their first development. The Bel Air section is in the highest part of the city and has all utilities and paved streets.

Designed by A. E. Cellar of Jacksonville, the houses are planned for convenience, adaptability to Florida living, economy of space and cost. Since housewives spend so much time in kitchens, the placement of equipment is carefully planned and there is ample cabinet space and working room. Other features of the homes include cross ventilation, polished floors, and large closets. Rooms are finished in pastel shades.

Senator Says Crime Committee Should Continue Probing

Stackhouse Named U. S. Vice Consul

Senator Tobey (R-NH) said today the Senate Foreign Relations committee ought to look into the position of Ambassador William O'Dwyer in the light of Senate Crime Committee hearings.

Asked if he thought O'Dwyer should resign as Ambassador to Mexico, Tobey told a news conference:

"That is in the hands of the President. You know what I would (Continued on Page 13A)"

Parachute Attack Behind Red Lines Goes Off With Perfect Precision

OVER THE IMJIN RIVER FRONT, Korea, Mar. 23—(AP)—Thousands of American troops parachuted behind Red lines in South Korea today in an operation so perfectly executed that an officer exclaimed:

"It would be beautiful — really beautiful — if it weren't so terrible."

The quote was from Lt. Col. I. A. Edward, Tulsa. He is an Eighth Army intelligence officer.

Lt. General Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, who landed in a tiny plane on the new front just 20 minutes after the first of his airborne troops, left no doubt that it was intended as a terrible operation for the Communists.

"The purpose of this operation is to kill the enemy," he said bluntly. "That enemy comprises some 20,000 Red troops, presumably North Koreans."

For a solid hour men and equipment poured down in the drop zone — only a mile wide — in five waves: infantry and Rangers, especially trained for this task; ammunition, field guns and jeeps, all carried by bright-hood parachutes.

As the men dropped, F-81 Mustangs and F-80 Shooting Stars dipped into strafing runs on distant hills.

However, there was no ground fire and no opposition.

The operation was as neat as a practice jump at Ft. Benning, Ga. This is the first wave para-

Army Announces 40 Thousand Cut In Draft Call For April; Air Force Plane Feared Down

Brigadier General Is Among Fifty-Three Passengers Aboard Atlantic Transport

LONDON, Mar. 23—(AP)—A Giant U. S. Air Force transport plane with 53 persons reported aboard vanished in fog and rain over the Atlantic Ocean today while enroute from the United States to England. One of the passengers was believed to be a brigadier general.

Search and rescue planes from three nations scoured the wind-tossed seas in thus far fruitless search for some trace of wreckage, survivors or life rafts.

Officials at Shannon airport in Ireland said the big plane, a C-124, which is known as Globe, master H, radiated at 1 A. M. that it had 53 persons aboard including a VII (very important) person with the rank of brigadier general. At the time of that report the plane crew gave their position as 800 miles southwest of Ireland.

The plane, of a type used to ferry personnel and supplies across the ocean, was enroute to Mendenhall Air Base in Suffolk at Limestone, officials declined to give out any information as to the number or identity of those aboard. First reports said 47 were aboard. The U. S. Third Air Division in Britain said it did not know how many were aboard.

British, Irish and U. S. planes were engaged in the search for the Globemaster, which normally would carry life rafts.

The Royal Air Force, which is also directing the search operations said the plane carried a Brigadier General Collins. This report aroused belief that he was Brig. General Paul T. Collins, deputy commander at Her Majesty's field, near Shepperton, La., who left there Wednesday for a European destination.

Costello Admits Political Ties

BRIEF CONSULTATION is held by Frank Costello (left) with his attorney, George Wolf, during his resumption of testimony before the New York City hearings of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee. Costello, who said he had never voted in his life, attributed any influence he might have to the fact that he has "lived all my life in Manhattan. I know the leaders and I may sometimes say a good word." (International)

Enlistment Increase And Decreasing War Casualties Given As Reason For Move

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—(AP)—The Army announced today it is cutting in half the April draft call of 80,000.

It announced the April call has been reduced to 40,000.

An increase in voluntary enlistments and a decline in Korean casualties made the action possible, the Army said.

The Army notified Selective Service headquarters that the reduction in the quota could be made "without interfering with the planned expansion of the Army's strength."

The announcement followed word to Senators by Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of defense, that manpower commitments made to General MacArthur are expected to be met in April—for the first time since the Korean war began.

The Army said the reduced call was attributed to two factors:

1. "New enlistments in January and February totaled 60,000 as against an anticipated total for the two months of only 20,000. This represents a gain of 20,000 over Army's original expectations."
2. "Casualties to date in the Korean fighting were 15,000 below estimates based on casualties sustained in the earlier phases of the fighting."

The downward revision today reduces the total of monthly quotas for the first nine months of 1951 from 590,000 to 550,000.

The cut in the April draft call, "fere with the attainment of the Army's goal," will not interfere with the Army's required strength in 1951, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in accordance with the schedule plan. The speed of expansion is necessarily limited by the availability (Continued on Page 13A)"

Truman Signs Law For 3 Months Rent Control Extension

Rest Home Group Buys Nickle House For Elderly Finns

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—(AP)—President Truman today signed stop-gap legislation extending the federal rent control program for three months—through June 30.

Without the extension the program would have expired at the end of this month and up to about 2,000,000 dwellings now under rent control would have become free.

Lt. Paul Biggers Is Inspection Officer

Word has been received here by Mrs. Paul G. Biggers that her son, Lt. Paul T. Biggers, SC, USA, has recently been named Inspection Officer of the Depot at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Lt. Biggers was in the Navy from June, 1945 until February, 1946, when he was put in an inactive duty status. He was recalled to active duty at the depot on February 12 of this year.

A native of Sanford, Lt. Biggers attended the local schools and was graduated from Seminole High School. He later attended North Carolina State University where he majored in textile management and has had considerable experience in textile research and allied fields as a civilian. He is married and has one daughter.

Union Leaders Confer With Meat Packers To Avert Strikes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23—(AP)—Prospects for the establishment here of a colony of 200 to 250 Finns were revealed today by Henry Nickle who announced he has sold his home and 4 acres of land on Silver Lake to Sarepta Rest Home, Inc. of Republic, Mich.

Rev. K. V. Mykkanen, manager of the Rest Home, announced that he expects to open the 11 room house and 6 room garage apartment next fall when he will bring to Sanford the first contingent of about 30 elderly retired persons. (Continued on Page 13A)"

Parking Spaces Are Provided For Board

City workmen this morning started placing posts on the north and back of the Bus Station in order to provide eight parking spaces for members of the State Welfare Board, which is now located in the Merch Building.

Mrs. Troy Day, director of the board, today expressed thanks to the City Commission for providing the space, pointing out that the lot back of the building are inadequate and crowded so that workers have a difficult time getting their automobiles in and out.

Sunrise Services To Be Held At 6:15 On Sunday At Municipal Bandshell

An unusually large attendance is expected at the annual Easter Sunrise service at 6:15 o'clock Sunday morning at the Municipal Bandshell.

The Rev. A. G. McNis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and president of the Ministerial Association here, will deliver the Easter sermon.

Always impressive in the beauty of the scene as the sun casts its first morning beam over Lake Monroe, the service will be made even more enjoyable by the singable experience in the playing of the High School Band under direction of B. E. Black.

Much has been done to make this the largest and best Sunrise Service ever held in Sanford, said the Rev. Glenn E. Smith of the Ministerial Association, and a cordial invitation is extended to all worshippers of the risen Christ to attend.

Modern celebrations of Easter, other than the religious one, are developments of rites and customs of the Norse festival. The name is derived from Ostara or Eostre, ancient Norse goddess of spring, whose annual return was celebrated.

Crew Revolts At Taking Ship Into Red Chinese Port

TOKYO, Mar. 23—(AP)—The crew of a British merchant ship that was commended for its part in the Korean Hungnam evacuation today refused to sail to Haiphong, in Red China.

Tonight, the owners said they would neither imprison nor otherwise punish the crew. Instead, said a message from the London shipping firm of P. H. Paudel, the ship will be re-routed to another port, and it won't be in Communist territory.

Ford Charity Assets Rise To Half Billion

DETROIT, Mar. 23—(AP)—Assets of the giant Ford Foundation, set up by Henry Ford in 1936, have mounted to approximately half a billion dollars.

This was shown today in the report of the organization as of Dec. 31, 1950. The annual statement showed that after deducting $18,272,622.07 for unpaid appropriations and $21,131.17 for accounts payable net assets came to $492,618,255.

The bulk of the assets is represented in non-voting but dividend-paying stock in the Ford Motor Co.

The Foundation's income from Ford dividends was described as relatively large in 1949 and 1950. The forecast was made, however, that in 1951 and the "foreseeable future," a reduction in such income was anticipated because of the national emergency, with reduced volume of automobile production and substantially higher rates of corporate taxation.

As a philanthropic, educational and non-profit organization its stock holdings are non-taxable.

Defense Preparations

That figure is reaching up toward $300,000,000. It applies, of course, only to non-secret articles. The objects on the "classified" list — electronic parts, for example — probably total very much more. In either case, New Englanders say no great strain has been felt, except here and there, in manpower.

During World War II, Rhode Island alone produced more than a third of all the Army, Navy and Airforce uniforms. Tiny Connecticut, 46th state in size, houses 334 different categories of industry, each making different products.

About 90 percent of these, as in all New England, are small plants, employing fewer than 100 people.

They grew directly from home industry, the custom of putting the whole family to work on piece goods, and the fact that the early Yankee had to make practically everything he used with his own hands.

The result today is apparent in the thousands of factories, big and small, turning out arms, textiles, aircraft, rubber goods, ball bearings, helicopters, precision instruments, electrical machinery, shoes, paper, and optical articles.

Small industry is worried about the effect of controls on critical materials, especially metals. Only a very few plants have actually closed for lack of supplies, but manufacturers said they expected to be feeling the pinch by April.

Organized efforts are being pushed by the New England council, and individual state offices, to bring more sub-contracts from big industry to the small plants. The report in Rhode Island was that sub-contracting is beginning to reach small industry already, easing the process of conversion.

The nation-wide shortage of engineers is especially acute in these areas. Pratt and Whitney has been sending teams of engineers out to recruit other engineers. A

Registered nurses, in increasing numbers, are showing a keen interest in HADACOL and in the results that are being secured with this great modern formula. Requests have been received from many of these nurses for professional samples of HADACOL and

Mrs. Lovett many of them indicated that they recommend the HADACOL formula to patients who are deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Nicotin. Mrs. L. D. Lovett, a registered nurse who lives at 2305 Walnut St., Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, says this about HADACOL: "I was down in Florida for the past month. I had no energy so several members of my family told me to try a bottle of HADACOL. My sister, who is a nurse, was taking a bottle so I tried a bottle. I feel fine since taking HADACOL. THE WONDERFUL WINDOW
"There is an enchanting little story called 'The Wonderful Window.' It is the tale of a London clerk, working in drab and depressing surroundings, who bought a mysterious oriental window and installed it high in his office work room. Looking through this window, the hard-driven clerk saw not the familiar scenes of slums, sunless streets, dingy mans and surly men, which had all but overwhelmed his soul. He saw, instead, a fairy city with beautiful castles and towers, green parks, wide streets. On the highest tower there was a lovely home, and happy people large white banner with a sturdy knight protecting the fair city from a fierce dragon of degeneracy and wrong. This wonderful window put a halo of glory on the everyday task for the young man. Somehow he felt his part was to help the knight keep the city happy and beautiful and prosperous and strong.

The First Baptist Church of Sanford will have as its guest preacher Dr. Pope A. Duncan of Stetson University. The song leader will be Jack Coldiron, also of Stetson.
The meeting begins with the Sunday morning worship service at 11:00 A. M. and continues through the following Sunday evening service Apr. 1. The evening services will begin at 8:00 P.M. and a nursery will be open for the small children. An invitation is extended to everyone to be in every service possible.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

There is no pain that compensates for the memory of prey. Memory is eternal and can burn like fire. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.—Exodus 20:16.

The head of New York's fireman's union says he gave former Mayor O'Dwyer $10,000, but O'Dwyer denies it. You'd think if a man gave you $10,000 you wouldn't have any trouble remembering it.

Larry Parks who played the part of Al Jolson in the "The Jolson Story", admits belonging to the Communist Party for about five years, while several other movie stars refuse to answer the House Un-American Activities on the grounds it might incriminate them. Perhaps we should drop pamphlets on Hollywood.

Jim Powell in this morning's Tampa Tribune lists Dan McCarthy, Comptroller Gay, former Congressman Peterson, State Senator Leroy Collins and Bradley Odham as being definitely interested in the governor's race for next year, and former Governor Caldwell, Claude Pepper, and State Senate President Wallace Sturgis as other possibilities.

According to President Truman, the United States has doubled its armed forces since the Korean trouble started less than a year ago. At the present rate within another year this country will be a match for Russia, even without the atom bomb. If we can avoid a war until the spring of 1952, we may then look forward to a long period of peace... providing we keep our armaments up.

Seminole County has some nice road development work scheduled in this year's budget of the State Road Department. Among them are the paving of 4.2 miles on Road 46 from Mellonville Avenue to Lake Jessup at a cost of $126,000, the widening and paving of 3.5 miles on Celery Avenue from Sanford Avenue to the river at a cost of $35,000, and the widening and paving of 2 miles on French Avenue with a pedestrian underpass at the high school at a cost of $425,000. About $150,000 worth of improvements to secondary roads are also planned.

Wine, women, and song are not the only evils with which this world has to contend, nor even the worst. Some of the others are listed by John Temple Graves who makes no attempt to rank them in order of importance, as follows: "dishonesties, irresponsibilities, cowardices, hypocrites, outlaws, safe-playings, bootlickings, cynicisms, ears-to-the-ground treasons of the Age-of-Handouts, the destruction of American fundamentalism, the making of God into shabby mortal images". And he might have added, the making of man, the individual, into the average man, cut from the same pattern, thinking the same thoughts, wearing the same clothes, doing the same amount of work, retiring at the same age, with the same pension.

After nearly two decades of tireless zeal and unremitting propaganda to discourage anyone under 16 years of age or over from working, it is heartening to find in a report from the Florida Industrial Commission that over 2,000 work permits were issued during January and February, most of them in wholesale and retail establishments. These and others like them, too few in number, unfortunately, are the boys who are afraid of work and who in the excitement to come will climb to the top and be the leaders in finance, industry and the sciences. These who have been taught up to believe that the only way to a living will live is to work their necks-against-money.

Easter In Strife

Joy is the characteristic of Easter Day. It is a day of new dawning, of new hope of new life. But this spring, war in Korea seems to cast a blighting shadow over the day. How can Easter come in a time of killing, when darkness seems to be lowering and hope for a peaceful world seems to be drawing farther away?

Yet it is Easter with our men in Korea, and with us here. The true joy of the spirit comes only after suffering. Easter strengthens belief in the continuance of life. The body dies. The brain, through which the spirit acts, dies with the body. But for most men it is impossible not to believe that the fine, ethereal something, whose union with a greater, finer, more powerful Spirit of the Universe makes life worth while, can never die. Somewhere, some way, somehow, it must live on.

Even in Korea men may rejoice on this day. Their spirits are one with the spirit of the Christ, for they, too, fight for a better life for man.

Easter concentrates our thoughts on what Winchell called

"That truth to flesh and sense unknown That Life is ever lord of death And love can never lose its own."

The light of hope can seem most bright when the hour is darkest. There is a new dawn; there is new life.

Beauty And Brains

When the annual selection of Miss America began at Atlantic City in the twenties, the process of choosing her was bluntly referred to in most circles as a bathing beauty contest. Although it may have been thought that this was a sure-fire hit, for many years there was no tangible profit in it for the optimistic backers in Atlantic City.

Change at length brought profit. It also brought a broadening of the emphasis to include beauty not merely in a bathing suit but in more conventional attire, and also dramatic and musical talent and personality development. The affair became known more generally by its official title, the Miss America Pageant. These changes have now brought their inevitable result: The bathing suit firm which has put up a share of the cash and which has been interested, understandably, in the original nature of the contest, has now withdrawn. It says, in obvious disappointment, that the selection has become a talent rather than a beauty contest.

The Atlantic City idea is that it is not necessary to choose between beauty and brains. The swim suit maker will help to sponsor a new contest, to expand beyond the narrow geographic confines of the Atlantic City contest and choose "Miss Universe." She will be chosen for her beauty alone, and in a bathing suit.

This may offer the people a chance to settle an important question: Shall we demand brains with beauty, or seek out beauty for its own sake?

Untangling Agent

National affairs and international relations on the official level are often stymied by fixed attitudes as to policy, by national prejudices and by the obscuring of broad issues by a multitude of details. This condition is borne in mind by a private organization designed to help the situation, the Public Administration Clearing House.

The group originated in Chicago, but a recent grant of half a million dollars from the Ford Foundation has made possible its establishment in New York City now considered the spot where everyone concerned with international relations sooner or later appears. Roland Egger, associate director of the Clearing House, says that it acts as a catalytic agent when governments or non-governmental groups fail to agree upon a solution to some troublesome question. The organization sifts out the basic questions, analyzes them and tries to clarify the issues so that they may be seen in their proper perspective.

Such an organization might be of real assistance in releasing some of the deadlocks which come about as a result of stubborn resistance on both sides of an issue. When those involved cannot see the woods for the trees, an outside viewpoint, unhampered by prejudice, may give a better perspective and lead to wiser decisions.

Getting Acquainted

People are shaking hands this week in Orlando. Everybody in town, old-timers, new-timers and just-arrived visitors from anywhere are engaged in a concerted effort to know everyone else. It is "Get Acquainted Week" in the Orange County city, proclaimed under the Mayor's hand and seal, whereby the people are asked "to demonstrate the qualities of friendliness, hospitality, and neighborliness; to meet those whom they do not already know, and to join together in the bonds of mutual good feeling, one for the other."

It is not a new thing in Florida that people should want to know one another better. It is the spirit of Florida that they should. It is just that one city has made it a formally declared informal occasion, by which to boost the spirit of community good will; and the opinion may be ventured that Orlando will be experiencing the good effects of this special seven-day local event for a long time to come.

One may not well turn the creation of friendships into a set procedure. The widening of acquaintanceship and the strengthening of friendly ties does not fall for a blueprint; it is spontaneous rather than a matter for prescribed rules. Yet there is much to be considered in the half dozen "easy lessons" suggested by promoters of Orlando's "festival of friends." Briefly they are: Meet all the people you can. Make visitors welcome. Enjoy getting acquainted. And all the time "Be neighborly" — remembering that "the best place to begin is on your own block."

Korean War

Ammunition cases, jeeps and artillery billowed down after them. "It would be beautiful—really beautiful—if it weren't so terrible," said a lieutenant colonel, describing the drop.

Ridgway, tight-lipped, told correspondents: "The purpose of this operation is to kill the enemy." Earlier, some 60,000 Reds had dug in defenses 25 miles wide and been reported in the area, with 15 miles deep to the Red Korean border. It was not immediately reported whether the bulk of this force had been across the border identified elements of the North Korean First Corps.

In central Korea, an American patrol pushed within two miles of the border north of Chunchon. It met no Reds but was halted by the deep and swift Pukhan River.

But elsewhere in this central area, a field dispatch said, Red Koreans stepped up their resistance. The Communists were dug in 10 miles south of the border around Red-held Mt. Kari, a 4,000 foot peak.

Farther east, a 2,000 man Communist rear guard force was observed 11 miles northwest of Pungnam, moving toward the border.

In northwest Korea, F-86 Sabre jets damaged two Russian-type MIG jets Friday. Fifteen American Sabre jets tangled with 20 or more MIGs near Simju.

"There were dogfights all over the sky. It was just one big rat race," a pilot said.

Allied warplanes blistered the parachute drop area near Munsan ahead of the big jump.

More than 3,000 paratroopers of the 183rd Airborne regimental combat team and Ranger elements made the jump.

Brig. General Frank S. Bowen, Jr., told his paratroopers: "I wish you all a happy landing. I'll see you on the ground." He cautioned officers:

"Make the men dig in... get buttoned up in those goose eggs (the drop zone)."

The 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team—bolstered by tough, wiry Rangers specially trained for behind-the-lines fighting—hit the Korean dirt near Mansan, nine miles south of Parallel 38 and 21 miles northwest of Seoul.

A field dispatch said the operation "looked like sweet peas suddenly blooming in the spring."

Tampa Tribune

Don reut and Dick Reynolds of the Miami Daily News carried off second prize in the public service contest with a similar series on big-time gambling operations in the Greater Miami area and the power awarded in them by notorious underworld characters from Chicago and other northern cities.

Mrs. Joy Heese Coleman of the Jacksonville Journal carried off the third public service award, with her expose of the handling of Jacksonville school funds which led to an official investigation and criminal indictments.

"The spirit of true journalism burns brightly in Florida," was the comment of the judge in the public service contest and Editor Jenkin Lloyd Jones of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune. He reported he was "immensely buoyed" by studying the work of the Florida papers.

Coverage of Miami and Tampa hearings of the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigation Committee won all three prizes in the spot news contest sponsored jointly by the Associated Press and Associated Dailies groups.

Four reporters of the Miami Herald teamed up to win the top prize with their spot coverage of the Kefauver hearing in Miami. They were Stephen Trumbull, Wilson McGee, Jack Thale and Bert Collier.

Managing Editor Felix Mc Knight and his staff of the "T" as (Tos.) Morning News judged the spot news entries and commented: "We marveled at the comprehensive and highly skilled manner in which the Herald staff writers ran down and killed every angle of the crime hearings. It was newspapering at its best on the local level. If rates as a constructive public service."

Parachutes blossomed into red, blue, yellow and gray flowers that drifted down to the fields and rice paddies.

Ridgway, a paratrooper himself, landed among the air-dropped troops in a light observation plane 29 minutes after the first chute: "hit the silk." He carried a pistol in hand and the familiar grenade hitched to his paratroop harness.

The paratroopers quickly cut the Red supply road running south from Kasong, 19 1/2 miles south of the border.

Ridgway said the air troops are and are now proceeding to secure "landed with no appreciable losses, their objectives."

Blue foxes are really white ones with a dietary deficiency.

The Lamplighter

The Seminole High School Glee Club again enabled the spotlight in the annual singing festival held Mar. 17 and 18 at the Peabody Auditorium at Daytona Beach. Directed by Ollie Reavey, the school was represented by the mixed glee club; the boys glee club, and the girls glee club. The ensembles included the mixed ensemble; the madrigal singers; and the girls quartet. Each group received an official rating of "Excellent." The highly coveted "Superior" rating was bestowed upon the boys quartet.

The awards for the occasion were: Clarence Claine, Gerald Covington, and George Hardin who received an "Excellent" rating. The event closed with a mass chorus concert in which 500 voices participated under the direction of Harvey Woodruff, head of the Rollins College voice faculty.

Eight other counties besides Seminole County participated, making the total number of students about 1500. The same Seminole High School group will soon be heard in the operetta, "Rio Rico," a tale of pirate adventure, which is scheduled to be presented on Apr. 13 at the school auditorium.

Choral Society
The Seminole Choral Society, of recent "Messiah" fame, will soon have a meeting to decide plans for the future. It is our hope that they will begin working on some production right away, for it is only through continuous effort that they will grow and establish an enviable reputation as a choral society.

It was suggested by a few that the organization disband until Fall. This, it seems to us, would not help anything and definitely would hinder its development. The summertime would be ideal for some light production, or a concert. And if the crowd attending the "Messiah" is any indication of what to expect for an audience, there will be standing room only. After an auspicious beginning, the ball must be kept rolling.

Marie for Marie and "Call Me Mister" with Dan Dalley and Betty Grable, is an entertaining little musical well on a par with some of its predecessors of the past year. Good comedy and catchy tunes make this one a delightful way to spend an evening.

Also on the Sunday-Monday Bill is "Wyoming Mail" with Stephen McNally. A traditional Western who-don-it in technician. Passable.

The Safety Council could then write to the individual, Mr. Harman continued, calling attention to the fact that his carelessness had been observed and suggesting that he be taken in the future to end the bad driving habit.

Naturalist Notes

At the regular meeting of the Seminole Audubon Society held at the Sanford Garden Club on Mar. 15, several short colored motion pictures were shown by Mr. Merritt Farrar, executive director of the Florida Audubon Society. The first picture "Birth of the Soil" showed how it takes centuries to build just two inches of rich topsoil, and how man can destroy it completely in a few short years by overgrazing, improper farming methods and deforestation. One-tenth of the area of the United States has been completely destroyed, and one-half has been damaged.

The second film "Bird Migration" showed the routes and vast distances covered by many birds in migration. The theory has been advanced by scientists in the field, and generally accepted, that the migration pattern was established during the ice age, when the birds kept near the edge of the cold area, advancing and retreating according to the freeze and thaw, until a pattern was established.

The third film "The Life of the Bluebird" was a beautiful film, taking a pair of bluebirds, showing them selecting a home, raising favorite nesting places are in and feeding their young. Their hollows of dead trees, or in posts, having a small opening. There is much competition for such nesting places by woodpeckers and other birds, especially the starling which is an aggressive bird and easily dispossesses the gentle bluebird. With people cleaning up their premises, cutting down dead trees and so on, the bluebirds will need some help from their human friends if they are to survive. Nesting boxes with hinged roofs to facilitate cleaning, and having entrance holes no larger than 1 1/2 inches in diameter will be much appreciated.

Mr. Farrar reported an interesting and successful annual meeting March 2, 3 and 4. The boat trip up the St. Johns river from Sanford to Blue Springs on the 4th was enjoyed by everyone. Many birds were sighted, and when we reached our destination, fish could be plainly seen swimming in the crystal clear blue water.

Mrs. Sieg, chairman of Ways and Means, reported on the beautiful colored slides photographed and shown by Mr. George Swartz of Silver Lake, Sanford, following a covered dish supper at Geneva Community House on Mar. 17. Mr. Swartz accompanied the picture, by a running commentary in poetical vein, which added much. Scenes were shown of Mr. Swartz's own lovely home as well as some of his neighbors' gardens. Then we were taken to various Florida beauty spots, such as Marineland, Silver Springs, St. Augustine, Cypress Gardens and Bok Tower. The silver offering was donated by Mr. Swartz to the Audubon Educational Fund.

Ginn, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, III, Miss Elise Hutchison, Miss Maude Wilson, Mrs. George Touhy, Mrs. Elizabeth Bauman, Mrs. Harris Folds, Mrs. Roy Mann, Mrs. Rayburn Milnes and Mrs. Leon Walker.

Mr. Sieg also reported on the canasta party held at her home on Lake Harney on Mar. 17. Each fund. It was a most enjoyable guest contributed a quarter for evening and Mrs. Sieg had a respectable sum to run over to the Society.

The group has decided to take the all-day bus trip to Merritt Island on Mar. 31 in lieu of the regular early morning bird walk next Saturday.

Sanford Downs Knoxville Smokies; Ottawa Giants Batter Minneapolis

The Sanford Giants won their first game of the exhibition season yesterday afternoon downing the Knoxville Smokies 2 to 1 in a close pitching duel.

Manager Richard Klaus used five pitchers in an attempt to get a line on his mound staff and all performed with heartening effectiveness. Tracy Shultz, Goldberg, Chubert and Cameron hurled for Sanford.

In two other exhibition tilts yesterday the Ottawa Giants skied over the Minnesota Twins 3 to 1 and the Minneapolis Millers on a home run by Bill Gardner in the top of the tenth.

Minneapolis, American Association champs last year, pushed over three in the second but the Giants pulled up even after getting one in the sixth and two in the eighth.

Earlier in spring training Giant manager Hugh Haddad described third baseman Bill Gardner as a fine prospect and the husky infielder proved his worth yesterday coming up with one backhanded stab of a ground ball that a perfecting of timing as well as blasting out the winning run.

Minneapolis meets the Columbus, Ohio club here in an exhibition game Saturday at 2 P. M. and the Giants are scheduled to play the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association at 2 P. M. Sunday.

The Sioux City Sox yesterday battered a weak Jacksonville nine 6 to 3 in the Tar's first exhibition game of spring training. The game, played after both clubs had worked out for two hours in a morning session, was a sluggish affair.

A second practice game between the Tar and Sioux City is on tap for today. Jacksonville Manager Ben Geraghty is anxious to get some serious work in under game conditions and may send his team through another morning workout today.

The Tar skipper pointed out that the club was still looking for help to round out the squad.

Fred Montsdeoca Is One Man Bench In Gator Baseball

GAINESVILLE, Mar. 23—(AP)—Captain Fred Montsdeoca's name is listed among the pitchers on the Florida Gator baseball roster, but that tells only about one third of the story.

The standout Florida athlete, already a six-time monogram winner in football and baseball, wields a double in the outfield with near one of the team's most potent bats, doubles in the outfield with near flawless play, and can move to first base whenever the occasion demands.

He was strictly a moundman in 1948 and began to appear as a pinch hitter and outfielder the next season. Last year he was on the mound in a dozen games in the outfield and at first in eleven.

His pitching record of four 423 hitting average indicates the wins and two losses and a busy effectiveness he packs in both roles. He carries a keen eye to the plate in his final season. He lost the last year he pitched but three times and drew 17 walks.

Now the Avon Park senior, a right hander who hits from the left, is off to a flying start in his final season. He lost the season open to Tennessee on a ninth-inning reliever, he threw windy day but two days later as nine pitches to retire Georgia with the winning run in the sixth.

The next day Montsdeoca entered the game with two runners on and retired the Bulldogs with the Gators trailing 2 to 7. On his first trip to the plate he smacked one over the right field wall at Perry Field, the first time this season the barrier has been cleared—for a two-run homer.

The Gators rallied to win 10-9.

In the first of a two-game series with Georgia Tech, the avon who led the southeastern conference punters through the 1949 football season stepped in as a pinch-hitter and batted out two-run single.

Whether or not it is Montsdeoca's turn to pitch, Coach Dave Fuller always steps before the one-man Gator bench to inquire, "How's your arm today, Monty?"

Minor League Hits Tiger Broadcasting With Damage Suit

PLINT, Mich., Mar. 23—(AP)—The Class A Central League cast a threat in the direction of the Detroit Tigers today—a threat that may challenge baseball law.

A minor league's cut from the radio broadcast revenue of big league clubs could be involved.

The threat is a $40,000 damage suit now being prepared by the Central League. It's to go against only one Detroit makes a "settlement."

The suit would be aimed at a recent ruling by baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler that minor leagues can't receive a cut of major league broadcast receipts.

Baseball men here said that if the courts should cast out the ruling it might open the way for minor leagues to build up their operating funds at the expense of major league clubs and radio sponsors.

Central League President Thomas J. Halligan said the minors are entitled to this money because major league broadcasts are shown on minor league attendance.

The controversy started last month when the Central League asked $10,000 from the Detroit Tigers and their radio sponsor, the Gobel Brewing Co.

In return the four central league clubs in Michigan—Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Saginaw, and Flint—would permit Detroit to broadcast its games in their territory at the same time the minor league games were going on.

Chandler's rule requires a minor league club's approval when any major league broadcast originates from a station within 50 miles of the minor league city.

General Manager Billy Evans of Detroit rejected the $40,000 cut idea but said Detroit would refrain from broadcasting its games in the four cities on request.

"I won six of nine games, lost one and we don't want to stop the broadcasts," said Halligan, "and we'd go to court if we can't get a settlement."

Rotary Club League Begins Play Monday

The Rotary Club will open its Junior League Baseball season Monday afternoon, Bob Newman announced today.

The league, for boys between the ages of 13 and 15, will be composed of four clubs.

John Pope and Bob Newman will manage the Giants; Jim Higgins and Brack Perkins the Pirates; F. D. Scott and Sonny Powell the Tigers; and George Sline and Bob Cornell the Cubs.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Mar. 23—(AP)—When the Yankees play an exhibition game against Southern Cal Monday, they'll have Wally Hood, Jim Bridges and Hank Workman. To make it even, Southern Cal has three players who may be Yankees soon—Tommy Lovrich, a pitcher who beat the Hollywood Stars recently, shortstop Bob Lillis and first baseman Al Lambert all are good enough to draw the big league scouts.

Then there's Don Herman, Babe's son, who plays in the outfield and can rattle the fences in practice. He's not ready to threaten his old man's records yet.

Most generous offer recently recorded came from Frank McInnis, St. John's U. basketball coach. Frank offered to let the second-guessing scribes outline the strategy for last night's game against Kentucky, adding: "I'll follow it—but I won't win, they'll better not show up again."

Talent No Oak

When Donk Walker was playing football for Southern Methodist U., they said he could do everything but throw a forward pass and then catch it himself.

Now dangled if SMU has come up with a lad who can do that.

In spring practice Gene Gillis, sophomore triple-threat back, cut loose a pass. Defensive end Bob Hooks swatted the ball into the air and Gillis caught it on the fly—for a 12-yard loss.

Shorts and Shells

Dick Boyce, a 6-5 freshman basketball center who once turned down the Nile Kinnick scholarship at the U. of Iowa in favor of a pre-med course at Georgia Washington U., has returned to his home state to accept Iowa State.

A minor league's cut from the radio broadcast revenue of big league clubs could be involved.

The threat is a $40,000 damage suit now being prepared by the Central League. It's to go against only one Detroit makes a "settlement."

The suit would be aimed at a recent ruling by baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler that minor leagues can't receive a cut of major league broadcast receipts.

Golfing 'Circus' Is In Greensboro For Open Tournament

GREENSBORO, N. C., Mar. 23—(AP)—Golf's touring stars pitched their tents here today for their annual two-week North Carolina visit, opening with the $10,000 Greensboro Open Tournament today through Easter Monday. The Wilmington Axle Open follows Thursday for four days.

The three big men in the field are the first of four 18-hole rounds began today by Jerry Ferrer, Sammy Sneed and Lloyd Mangrum.

Ferrer began play with the year's hottest streak running—three straight victories in Florida. Mangrum, with two victories, was the only man aside from Ferrer to score more than once this year and his $8,250 is tops for the year, only $61 in front of Ferrer.

Sneed, who has won this event triumphs in 11 straight, has yet to win a 1951 tournament. He's seen very little tournament action since dropping out of the tour early in January to allow a broken left hand to mend.

The Starwood Forest Country Club, a 6,630-yarder with par 71, is the scene of action.

A field of about 160 answered the call to action today. It will be cut to less than half that size for Sunday's third round.

Training Camp Notes

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Mar. 23—(AP)—A pinched nerve in the elbow of his pitching arm is bothering Allie Reynolds, veteran New York Yankees righthander.

Reynolds said today the ailment is becoming more painful daily. Dr. Sidney Gaylor, team physician, said Reynolds also may have some bone chips in his elbow.

LAKELAND, Mar. 23—(AP)—Hal Newhouse tells this one on himself.

An elderly feminine fan bothered him in the hotel lobby for his autograph. She gushed about how Hal was her "favorite pitcher" and she'd come a long way to see him.

So the star Detroit Tiger southpaw obliged immediately and wrote his name in her book.

"My goodness, Mr. Newhouse," she said, "I never knew you were left-handed."

Minor League Hollywood Stars Win Three Tilts From Yankees And Sox

It took a minor league team and a former major league star to end the Chicago White Sox's gaudy eight-game exhibition winning streak.

The team, Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, stopped the Chicago bats with a one-hit pitching effort.

Lindell, the pitcher turned outfielder turned pitcher again, hurled five innings for Hollywood. His knuckle ball had the Chicagoans hitting in the dirt. He left with a 5-0 lead.

Hollywood, incidentally, is proving a tough cookie for the big league clubs. The stars had licked the Yankees twice before bringing the White Sox's string to an end.

In another night game, the Yankees snapped a three-game losing streak in decisive fashion, blunting Sacramento, 11 to 0, at Sacramento. Mickey Mantle, the youngster being groomed to fill Joe DiMaggio's shoes, smacked a three-run homer to highlight the New Yorker 10-4 rout.

The home run, baseball's biggest thrill, also played an important role in Pittsburgh's 10-4 romp over the St. Louis Browns. Dale Long uncorked homers as the Pirates ended St. Louis' three-game winning streak.

But a dinky old single by Gene Muech gave the Boston Braves an 11-10 edge on the Cincinnati Reds. The blow, delivered in the 10th inning, sent Earl Torgerson reeling home with the winning run.

At Sarasota, the Washington Senators topped the Boston Sox, 6-5, on the seventh-inning pitcher of Sud Hudson and Gene Carden. And at St. Petersburg, the St. Louis shelled the New York Yankees, 2-1, on Hal Rice's pinch-hit home run in the third inning. Looks as if the home run is here to stay.

The Persians celebrated the new year with a "Fest of the Eggs," and the Jews used colored eggs to celebrate their Passover, which is held on the first full moon of spring. The Easter rabbit is a survivor of an ancient Egyptian custom, because hares were born with both eyes open, they were regarded as sacred to the "Open-eyed" or full moon. In Norse mythology the hare was sacred to Freia, the goddess of life and spring. The idea of hares laying Easter eggs is believed to be a later German innovation. In America, the hare became a rabbit, or Easter bunny, an error for which the candy-makers were probably responsible.

Warren Calls Probe Head 7 Kinds Of Liar

Governor Lashes Out At Dan Sullivan In Blistering Attack; Younger Also Hit

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 26—(AP)—Governor Warren today called Daniel P. Sullivan, director of the Greater Miami Crime Commission, seven different types of a liar.

In a prepared statement issued by press secretary Loyal Compton, Warren challenged Sullivan to prove he has asked the State Racing Commission to reinstate Charles Broad, alleged bookmaker, to Florida racing tracks.

Warren, who is in Jacksonville attending a 50 years of progress celebration, referred to Sullivan as an "experienced liar," a "most slippery and persistent liar," an "intemperate liar," an "egregious liar," a "liar-for-a-price," and a "continuing liar."

Last week Warren branded Sullivan as a "third liar" after the Crime Commission official claimed the Governor asked the Racing Commission to let Broad come back to Florida tracks at the request of an official of the National Democratic Party. Bookmaking is illegal at Florida race tracks. All bets must be placed through state supervised pari-mutuel windows and taxed.

Warren also charged Jack Younger, president of the Crime Commission, visited the home and associated with a notorious gambler and had received a mysterious envelope under a table in a Miami bar.

Younger denied the accusations, voluntarily went before the grand jury for questioning about them and challenged the Governor to name the alleged "notorious gambler." The Governor has not given the name.

Warren's complete statement about Sullivan:

"The experienced liar, Daniel P. Sullivan, who broadcasts for a certain class, has told yet another lie about me. He is reported in the press to have broadcast last Saturday night that 'no man (me) cannot deny that he knew (Continued On Page Two)'"

Easter Egg Hunts Sponsored By C Of C

More than 500 children participated in Easter egg hunts sponsored Saturday morning by the Entertainment Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and 18 prizes were awarded.

The event was marked by much enthusiasm and fun on the part of the small fry. More than 1,200 colored eggs were hidden, and most of them were found. White children participated in the hunt in Fort Mellon Park and Negro children at the baseball park in Goldsboro.

Among the winners were Rebecca Cain and Donna Newsome, who won live bunnies, Lynn Reel, four, who won a doll and Carolyn Wyatt who won a cowboy outfit. Many colored rickshaws were given as prizes. Soft drinks were donated by the local Coca Cola Company.

About 300 white, and 200 colored children participated in the hunts, which were staged by the Chamber of Commerce as a community service, and which were a big success with the kiddies, said Ed Whitney, manager, this morning.

BOND INDUCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—(AP)—President Truman signed into law today a bill aimed at inducing owners of Series F bonds to hold on to them rather than cash them when they reach the maturity age of 10 years.

Nearly $35,000,000,000 are invested in F bonds. The first of these bonds will mature May 1.

As an inducement to get owners to hold on to their bonds, the government will pay interest on them for a period of 10 additional years. Owners will be allowed to defer reporting the interest for income taxes until they actually get it by cashing the bonds.

TOURIST FAREWELL PARTY

The tourist farewell party given by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for members of the Sanford Tourist and Shuffboard Club last Monday night at the Tourist Center, was attended by more than 180 representing 34 states and Canada. Howard Ramsey, retired postmaster from Forest Lake, Minn., standing in front of piano, led in group singing to orchestral accompaniment. A program of games and music was enjoyed, and refreshments were served. Chamber of Commerce Manager E. Whitney was host and Mrs. P. M. Gingles was hostess.

Coordination Of American Defense Urged By Truman

$80 Million Aid For Latin America Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—(AP)—President Truman urged the nations of the new world today to strengthen and coordinate their defense forces against "great perils" posed by the "aggressive expansion of the Soviet system toward our own hemisphere."

"We must now plan as a primary task for the strengthening and coordinated use of our defense forces in this hemisphere," Mr. Truman said in a speech prepared for the opening of the inter-American foreign ministers' meeting.

"We must also consider how we may best use our strength to support the cause of freedom against aggression throughout the world."

In those words the American chief executive sounded the theme which this government hopes will guide the work of the foreign ministers of the 21 American republics meeting here in their fourth session.

In advance of the foreign ministers' conference, it was learned that Mr. Truman's Administration is giving urgent consideration to an $80,000,000 military aid program for Latin America.

Mr. Truman laid heavy stress in his speech on what he called a need for action to "concert our defenses and combine our strength in order to support men in Europe and Asia who are battling for freedom."

He pictured the Soviet system as one of "unbridled power, imposing slavery at home and aggression abroad."

Southern Democrats May Oppose Truman In Bid For Third Term

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—(AP)—The signs indicated today that any new term bid by President Truman may meet with opposition within his party.

Most Washington politicians think Mr. Truman has hit a new low in popularity because of recent exposures of alleged influence rackets within his Administration.

Many of these politicians agree that the Korean war venture has had a bad political reaction on the Truman Administration, despite its recent military turn for the better.

Labor has been firing broadsides at the President's production and Economic Stabilization setup and many seem to be much nearer to reconciliation than it was several weeks ago.

Red Resistance Evaporates As UN Forces Press Attack At Parallel

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, Mar. 26—(AP)—United Nations troops solidified their lines on the western front in Korea today and drove rapidly north toward the 38th Parallel.

Allied forces moved east from Munsan and linked up with an American division north of Ulsan. The town is about 10 miles south of the prewar boundary between North and South Korea.

Field dispatches said Red resistance melted. The Americans advanced rapidly despite soupy Korean mud.

The entire UN line drew closer to Parallel 38. It appeared the Allies could cross in force whenever they chose.

Far East naval headquarters said South Korean troops staged a Commando raid 50 miles north of the Parallel Saturday. They landed on the Wolsa peninsula and killed 100 Reds while capturing 90. Then they withdrew.

The peninsula is south of the Taedong estuary which leads to Chingampo, port city for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

From the western front AP correspondent Jim Becker quoted U. S. officers as saying the link-up "saved us four or five days of tough fighting."

The officers said the Chinese 26th Army Corps, rushed into (Continued On Page Two)

American Legion Exceeds Goal In Membership Drive

The Sanford Post No. 53, The American Legion, reacted to its 100 percent membership goal of 550 on Wednesday, and by noon of Saturday had gone over the top with 569 members for 1951, or 103.4 percent.

Carl E. Loucks, post membership card chairman, announced this morning.

The membership card issued to Thomas K. Coursey, the 550th, enabled the post to attain its 100 percent goal. Chaplain received the 551st card which established a new membership record which is still increasing.

One of those who helped most to establish the new high record, said Carl Loucks, was George O. Maybury, who recently obtained 12 more members, one of these being Giles Chapman. Others who aided in attaining the new record were Carey Barfield, James F. Benton, Benver Cordell, Joel S. Field, J. Q. Galloway, James Singletary and Arthur L. Wilson.

"The Sanford Post," Capt. Loucks declared, "is glad to have helped the sixth District Commander, Major Charles H. Giffin of Orlando Memorial Post No. 19 in attaining a good membership record for 1951, and wishes to compliment him on his excellent work as district (Continued On Page Two)"

Military Training Is Advocated At Rotary Luncheon

Weakness Will Induce Soviet To Strike, Shepard Declares

"Russia will never start a war against the United States if this country is strong," Maximilian Shepard, owner of the Longwood Hotel, told the Rotary Club today at its regular luncheon at the Yacht Club.

"Only if we are weak, and the Russians think they can win, will they attack."

Mr. Shepard, who was introduced by Jack Rutigan as a Czech who came to this country in 1921 and became a naturalized American citizen, said that the three best ways to prevent war are as follows:

- 1) Universal Military Training.
- 2) Universal Military Training.
- 3) Universal Military Training.

He then added that this country should capitalize on the large numbers of former Czech, Polish, Hungarian, and other European citizens to organize a foreign legion to send behind the Iron Curtain to harass the Russians, spy on them, and engage in sabotage as the Communists are doing in (Continued On Page Two)

F.B.I. Director Urges Senate Committee To Continue Crime Probe

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover said today a man who later became a deputy police inspector in New York used to have meetings with "one of the most prominent criminals in the underworld." Telling the story to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, Hoover did not name the police officer but identified the "criminal" as Irving Sherman, a man long sought by the senators as a witness for their hearings.

NEW YORK, Mar. 26—(AP)—James J. Moran, resigned New York city water commissioner, was indicted on perjury charges today growing out of testimony before Senate crime investigators. Also indicted on charges of lying under oath to the Senate committee was Louis Weber, acknowledged Brooklyn numbers bookmaker. The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—(AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover today urged the Senate Crime Committee to continue its exposure of organized crime which "has polluted all too many communities of our nation."

He called also for local communities to take the lead in ruthlessly eliminating criminal elements and their ally, "the political renegade." Every community, Hoover suggested, should have a yearly grand jury investigation to scrutinize the administration of justice.

Hoover and Attorney McGehee were before the Senate committee to discuss what new laws may be needed to combat crime.

Blight Resistant Celery Is Shown To Local Growers

A new type of blight resistant celery, the seeds of which will soon be introduced for commercial use, was viewed by growers, shippers and technical specialists from Gainesville at the University of Florida's Central Florida Experiment Station's field day here Friday. More than 60 visitors were present.

Dr. R. W. Rupprecht, director of the station, pointed out that the new variety has been named Emerson parcel, in honor of Dr. Emerson of Cornell University, whose experiments, in co-operation with those of the local plant pathologists had resulted in the new variety. This was obtained through interbreeding of wild and tame varieties.

The seed was released to the trade last fall, he stated. The celery is tasty and grows both on sand and muck land. Tests at Belle Glade have shown that it thrives best on muck land.

Efforts are now being made to produce a blight resistant white celery, but so far this has not been possible, he stated.

Dr. Philip Westgate showed growers the results of his experiments in applying varied amounts of fertilizer to celery. The heaviest application, five tons to the acre resulted in definite signs of black heart. Plants on the other hand which had received no fertilizer were of dwarf size. The most favorable appearing application appeared to be three tons of fertilizer to the acre. A 5-3-8 formula was used.

Among other experiments, the results of which were evident in full grown celery were applications in varied amounts of manganese sulphate, lime, wood ashes and (Continued On Page Two)

U. S. Scientists Are Skeptical Of New Atomic Discovery

BUENOS AIRES, Mar. 26—(AP)—The American credited with discovering Argentina's new cheap method of producing atomic energy told foreign newsmen about it for three hours yesterday but little detail and no proof to what President Juan D. Peron announced Saturday.

The scientist is Ronald Richter, 42, now an Argentine citizen. He said, as did Peron, that Argentina would use the process not for bombs but in a long-range program to provide industrial power.

Peron announced Saturday that "controlled" atomic energy had been liberated by fusion of atoms under "enormous heat, as contrasted with "uncontrolled" energy liberated by U. S. atomic explosion produced by splitting the atom.

Argentina's atomic reaction, Richter said yesterday, was produced in a "solar reactor furnace" protected by stone walls that hundreds of millions of degrees—like the surface temperature of the sun—released controllable atomic energy, Richter reported.

He declined, for security reasons, to disclose details. (Continued On Page Six)
