Chase ends with arrest

WINTER SPINGS — A chase on U.S. Highway 17-92 and County Road 419 disrupted traffic yesterday afternoon.

Seminole County sheriff's spokesman George Prochel said deputies and Winter Springs police pursued Gerald Buchanan, 73, of Winter Springs, at speeds of up to 65 m.p.h. The chase began 2:54 p.m. at Buchanan's 413 Sheolah Blvd. home. Prochel said a sheriff's warrants investigator had attempted to serve Buchanan with an arrest warrant. Buchanan was wanted on a charge of failing to appear at a court hearing to answer to charges he had driven with a suspended license.

Prochel said Buchanan claimed to have a weapon and got in his car and drove away. The investigator pursued him to U.S. 17-92, joined by Seminole County deputies and Winter Springs police. The chase which scattered traffic continued to County Road 419, then east to State Road 434 where Buchanan surrendered.

SANFORD — The westbound Interstate 4 bridge over Orange Boulevard was temporarily closed for repairs on short notice Wednesday afternoon, tying up hundreds of motorists along a three-mile stretch into Deltona.

The closure was to allow state road crews to make emergency repairs on a metal seam that had stuck up into the traffic lane from between two concrete road slabs.

Governor's scholar Vong to participate in honor program

By VICKI BOGGERMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Trong Vong, a junior at Seminole High School, will be one of only 100 students across the state to take part in the Governor's Scholars Program at Stetson University in DeLand this summer.

"I'm very excited," he said. "This is a big honor."

Vong, known to his friends as "Joe," is involved in Seminole High School activities both in academic and athletic endeavors.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, of the SHS student government and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He is president of Mu Alpha Theta (the math honor society) and plays on the boys' volleyball team.

The state solicited nominations from high schools in every district in Florida. According to information received by the school from the state, there were over 500 applications received by the governor's office.

"He's a very good student," Ed Wilson, the Seminole High guidance counselor who nominated Vong, said. "He is one of our top students."

Wilson said he believed that being selected as one of the 100 participants in the program marks the young man as one of the finest students in the state.

The Governor's Scholar program will take place in mid-July. The students will attend seminars and round table discussions on current political and environmental issues. They will discuss issues, according to literature received from the state, that are "critical to Florida and the Global Village."

Vong said he believes the opportunity will be a strong educational opportunity that will help him as he finishes high school and goes on to college.

However, one of the most important lessons he believes he will gain from the experience is the opportunity to live away from home for the first time.

The students who are involved in the program will be living on the campus of Stetson University for four weeks.

"I think it will be a good experience getting away from home and learning how to think and act on my own for a month," he said.

The student who is required to have a grade point average of at least a 3.5 on a four-point scale and they have to have scored in the 90th percentile on a recent standardized test such as the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT).

Vong is the son of Kim and Phuc Vong of Sanford.

Lake Mary intercedes in dispute

By NICK PFENFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Commissioners will attempt to resolve fighting among Lake Mary city employees tonight at a special meeting.

Mayor Randy Morris said, "We have a dispute that involves several department heads and some personnel that has not been resolved." He would not comment on the identities of individuals who might be involved. "We believe the City Commission not only has the right to try to solve these problems, but indeed wants to resolve it as soon as possible."

The Mayor said he had requested legal advice from City Attorney Ned Julian. "There may be some legal ramifications involved if this is discussed publicly, in advance of the meeting," he said.

Julian responded to Morris in a two page document regarding any pre-meeting discussion of the problem. In it he said, "In the absence of a complete investigation it cannot be said that any, all, or some of the charges and counter-charges are true."

He continued, "Since the charges and counter-charges have serious implications for the persons involved, no statements should be made by any member of the commission or any employee of the city to any member of the public or the media until the validity or invalidity of any, some, or all of the charges has been properly established."

Morris commented, "Whenever the city has problems with employees, or relationships between employees, the individuals involved have the right of protection." He added, "They also have the right

Vote is against disbanding Longwood police

By NICK PFENFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The City of Longwood still has a police department. Whether it will continue into next year will be up to the voting public.

Early this year, Commissioner Paul Lovstrand proposed disbanding the Longwood Police Department and turning law enforcement over to the Seminole County Sheriff's department.

Lovstrand had suggested the City could save many thousands of dollars each year in the consolidation, and has strongly supported his position during a number of discussions.

Consideration of the matter was turned over to a Cost Analysis Task Force, which consists of the five members of the City Commission and five persons nominated by them. The Task Force has held several meetings including two with Sheriff Don Eslinger.

During both sessions, Eslinger responded to questions regarding the changes the move might make. Included in his observations were the prospect that Longwood Police officers might be able to be transferred to the Sheriff's department if they were fully qualified and certified, but that they would not necessarily continue to operate within the City of Longwood.

The Cost Analysis Task force earlier this week, became the first official body to vote against supporting the measure.

City Administrator Jim McFellin commented, "With only eight members at the meeting, the vote was 7-1 not to support the consolidation." Commissioner Lovstrand cast the lone vote favoring the move.

"With a citizens petition now approved to have the question placed on the November General Election ballot," McFellin said, "the City Commission will formally vote to have it placed on the ballot at its next meeting."

Study shows students see less of TV

By TAMARA HENRY
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON — Students seem to be spending less time in front of the TV set at home but about the same amount of time hitting the books, an Education Department study said today.

And those who watched less TV had better reading proficiency, according to the National Assessment of Educational Progress, popularly known as the Nation's Report Card.

Despite the general reduction in TV-watching, the amount of viewing still was considerable:

● Sixty-two percent of the fourth graders surveyed said they spent more than three hours a day in front of the tube in 1990. That was down from 69 percent who watched three or more hours daily in 1988.

● Sixty-four percent of the 8th graders reported watching more than three hours daily, as did 40 percent of 12th graders. That was down from 71 percent and 49 percent, respectively.

More borrow pits proposed

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Two more borrow pits have been proposed for the South Sanford Avenue area by an expressway contractor.

White Construction Co. submitted a proposal to county development review staff for two more pits on property owned by the Baker family Tuesday, the same day Seminole County commissioners approved another White pit adjacent to the expressway amid an outcry to use more precaution.

Several residents opposed the pit, saying there was already enough dirt available in approved pits to meet the needs of the expressway construction. They said the pits would draw down groundwater in their rural neighborhood, affecting wells and damaging wetlands.

Residents said the county has not studied the accumulated affect of up to nine pits in the community on 15 percent of the land area.

But commissioners voted 3-2 to approve the pit, located on a 4.3-acre site west of South Sanford Avenue and south of Pine Way. The site is adjacent to the Seminole County expressway construction site. Although White officials have refused to comment on the proposals, county staff have said White officials told them area pits want too much money for their dirt.

Tuesday afternoon following the hearing, White representatives submitted a proposal to dig a total of nearly 1.8 million cubic yards of dirt from two pits east and west of the expressway construction site south of the point where the expressway will cross County Road 427.

County zoning coordinator Ginny

Markley said the excavated pit west of the expressway will be 25 acres in size. The pit east of the expressway will be 14 acres in size. Both sites are on property owned by Joe Baker and his family. Last week, White submitted a proposal for a 19.5-acre pit on Baker property east of South Sanford Avenue and north of Pine Way.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Rescue head cleared of wrongdoing

MIAMI — The former head of Metro-Dade's air-rescue service, who committed suicide during a federal probe of his agency, has been cleared of wrongdoing, the county's fire chief said.

Robert Apte, 45, shot himself in the air-rescue hangar Feb. 23, days after federal investigators began looking through the service's maintenance records, flight logs and other documents covering his six-year tenure.

But Metro-Dade Fire Chief M.E. "Gene" Perry said Tuesday that a federal investigator concluded after a three-month inquiry into Apte's stewardship of the division that he committed no improprieties.

"He said there are no criminal violations, nothing devastating," Perry said. "There was certainly nothing to cause Bob Apte to do what he did."

Robbery appears to be behind deaths

BRANDON — Authorities said robbery appeared to be behind the shooting deaths of two Pizza Hut workers, discovered by a worried relative after a deputy checked the restaurant and found nothing unusual.

"It's hard to second-guess," Hillsborough Sheriff's spokesman Jack Espinosa said Wednesday.

A husband of one of the victims first called the sheriff's office at about 3:30 a.m. EDT Wednesday, worried that his wife did not come home from her waitress job as scheduled. A deputy was sent to the restaurant to check.

"He checked through the windows, flashed his flashlight inside to see if he could see anything," Espinosa said. "But it was nothing out of the ordinary."

Helpless invalid died of insulin shock

ST. AUGUSTINE — A helpless invalid, unintentionally imprisoned by a "Do Not Disturb" sign, shared a motel room with her husband's body for days before she went into insulin shock and died.

"She was nearly a total invalid. She was in a wheelchair and because of a previous stroke she could barely talk," Terrence Steiner, St. Johns County medical examiner, said Tuesday.

The bodies of Jack Gohub, 74, and his wife Edythe, 73, were found Sunday in a room at the Scottish Inn motel.

The couple, from Sunrise in southern Florida, checked in May 18 and posted a "Do Not Disturb" sign on their door. Their bodies were found almost a week later when a maid checked the room in spite of the sign.

Gohub usually administered his wife's regular insulin injections, but she was helpless after he died of an apparent heart attack.

Congressman won't run for re-election

MIAMI — Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., whose south Florida district is being drastically redrawn, said he's decided not to seek re-election for personal reasons.

"I've done my job, said Fascell, 75, the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "The decision I've made is purely a personal one."

Fascell said he had no specific plans, but was interested in consulting or teaching.

While he maintained he could win in a new district that would give him more than 400,000 constituents who are unfamiliar with him, Fascell said redistricting made it "an opportune time" to step down.

Technology advances
Homes' wiring to transport high-speed computer info

LARGO — A newly developed technology will make use of the millions of miles of ordinary copper wires running through virtually every home to transport high-speed video and computer information.

Up to now, that had been impossible without extensive rewiring, including fiber optics, and a lot of expensive equipment.

"It's going to be exciting," said Rob Faw, director of advanced transmission technologies at American Telephone & Telegraph's Paradyne subsidiary.

The development, announced Tuesday, could expand the availability of entertainment programs and also make possible the widespread use of video telephones.

And the technology could have a number of important applications in business, education and industry. For example, allowing doctors to monitor surgery in remote parts of the country through a combination of television, telephone and computer equipment.

Experts had previously envisioned the need to spend upwards of $60 billion to hook up homes and businesses across the nation with costly fiber optic cables — thin glass wires that have had the capability of transporting much more information than copper wire.

Now, it appears the network to deliver information and entertainment services may already be in place.

"It's certainly going to extend the life of copper cable," said Robert Wilkes, a telecommunications analyst at Brown Brothers Harriman Co. in New York.

Wilkes said it could spur development of multimedia, a system that combines video, voice and computer technologies in one service. Applications would include studying at home with the telephone, computer and television forming the basis for an interactive way of learning with teachers around the world.

One-third of those asked said that spending time with their family was their favorite way of relaxing. Watching TV and reading were also cited as key leisure choices.

teachers
face ax

TALLAHASSEE — Florida schools will have to lay off teachers and crowd classrooms unless the Legislature increases education spending in the special session opening Monday, Gov. Lawton Chiles and Education Commissioner Betty Castor say.

School districts would be forced to lay off more than 6,000 teachers, the two said in a news conference Wednesday. They released county-by-county estimates of layoffs if Chiles' $1.35 billion tax proposal fails. Seminole County could lay off 94 teachers. Other districts face large-scale layoffs. Dade County school officials said they'd lay off 1,532 teachers, Broward County 919, Palm Beach County 729, Pinellas County 503 and Duval County 483.

"What it tells us is we're going to go backwards," Chiles told reporters at Tallahassee's Kate Sullivan Elementary School.

"They're going to increase class sizes, and that's going to add to the erosion that is under way in education in Florida," said Castor.

Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach, predicted support among lawmakers for enough additional tax revenue to at least avoid teacher layoffs.

Chiles said he'll seek parents' backing in a television hookup with local parent-teacher organizations Thursday night.

The governor vetoed a $30 billion no-new-taxes budget in the regular legislative session.

Black sect leader, 6 followers are convicted of conspiracy

By MICHAEL WARREN
Associated Press Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A black leader who attracted thousands of followers to his religious movement faces 20 years in prison for conspiring to murder and firebomb his critics.

Yahweh Ben Yahweh and six followers were convicted Wednesday of plotting 14 murders, two attempted killings and arson as they built their Temple of Love in Miami into a multi-million dollar enterprise.

The jury also acquitted seven members of the Nation of Yahweh of conspiracy and deadlocked on two others. The panel also deadlocked on racketeering charges against Yahweh and acquitted most of the others on that charge.

"We are pleased with some of the verdicts and disappointed with others, however the jury has spoken," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Scruggs.

Yahweh, 56, wore his white robes and turban and frequently quoted the Bible during the five-month trial. The self-proclaimed "son of God" reacted calmly to the verdict, hugging his attorney, Alcee Hastings, and accepting kisses on his hand and lips from followers.

"The prosecution has suffered a major blow and it ain't over yet," Hastings said as other defense attorneys cheered outside the federal courthouse. "I think we can win on appeal."

Chief U.S. District Judge Norman Roettger released the defendants who were not found guilty, but four were immediately arrested on state murder charges, including one who allegedly beheaded a fellow member in 1981 and two Yahweh members who allegedly stabbed a victim 25 times in 1980.

Redistricting

Federal court decides to keep control of legislative plan

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Three federal judges decided they'd keep control of Florida's legislative redistricting plans for the time being, but they will not start drawing their own maps anytime soon.

U.S. Circuit Judge Joseph Hatchett and U.S. District Judges Roger Vinson and William Stafford, following a daylong hearing Wednesday, denied claims by Democrats that the 100 districts were now a matter for the state to handle by itself.

"This court retains jurisdiction, and will monitor further activities regarding legislative redistricting and Department of Justice review," the judges wrote in a two-page order.

But they also denied requests from Republicans, the NAACP and others who argued that the court must immediately begin drawing its own map to ensure candidates can qualify in mid-July and gear up campaigns for November.

"We are now only about six weeks away from that," said Brenda Wright of the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights. "As the deadlines approach, you get into a situation where it's going to be chaotic."

Wednesday's decision leaves the shape of Florida's legislative districts for the next decade in doubt for at least three more weeks.

The Legislature has passed a Democratic-designed map of new districts, which in turn was declared valid by the Florida Supreme Court. But the U.S. Justice Department must also make sure the plan complies with black and Hispanic representation goals under the federal Voting Rights Act.

J. Gerald Hebert, deputy voting section chief in the Justice Department's civil rights division, told the court the agency has set itself a June 17 deadline to pass judgment on the Florida plan.

Hebert said the court must prevent Florida from implementing an unlawful plan. He said the department also would examine the entire state, not just the five counties — Hillsborough, Collier, Hendry, Monroe and Hardee — in which any election change must be cleared under the Voting Rights Act.

"This court has the responsibility to not allow the state of Florida to implement a plan if any of the districts are objectionable," Hebert said. "The Justice Department does not limit its review to simply the borderlines of the five covered counties."

Attorneys for the Democratic-controlled House and Senate argued that the federal court should step aside completely and respect Florida's ability to draw its own state legislative districts.

They said the state Supreme Court has the jurisdiction to address any objections made by the Justice Department.

'Climate-hostile fashion'
nixed for public officials

Associated Press

STUART — The discomfort of "climate-hostile fashion" has been eased by public officials who see no value in neckties during summer.

A resolution adopted last week by the city commission frees all citizens of "neckties, long sleeves, suits and other similar climate-hostile fashion from May 1 to Nov. 1."

City Commissioner Kevin Henderson submitted the resolution, saying climate-friendly dress won't interfere with city business and may make the commission members more approachable.

"The general observation is that as Stuart has grown the tendency has been to adopt a more formal style of dress that is less related to the climate and less related to good sense as well," he said. "I want to remind people it's acceptable to keep in touch with where we live."

The city's action encouraged the St. Lucie County Commission to climb on the bandwagon, agreeing Tuesday with a suggestion by Commissioner Havert Penn to eschew ties in summer.

With the standards relaxing, County Commissioner Dale Trefelner says he's tempted to come to a meeting wearing his favorite summer attire: a Hawaiian-style shirt, shorts and flip-flops.

"As it gets hotter and hotter, it's uncomfortable and tortuous to wear a suit, let alone a shirt and tie," he said.

Man charged with battery

A Sanford man was charged with two counts of battery and one count of aggravated assault by Seminole County deputies. ## Couple charged with domestic violence

A Longwood couple was charged with domestic violence by Longwood police Monday.

Mark Raymond Rice, 29, and Kim JoAnn Underwood, 30, both of 404 Palmetto Ave., were arrested after both said a day-long argument erupted into blows. Underwood said Rice grabbed her throat and pushed her into a wall. Rice said Underwood slapped his face.

Both charged after fight

A Longwood couple was charged with domestic violence by Seminole County deputies early Tuesday morning.

Donna Ann Miro, 26, 748 Suncrest Loop, Apt. 102, told deputies she became involved in a fight with a male resident of the apartment that resulted in her throwing forks and spoons at him. Deputies report finding silverware stuck in the walls. Miro said she threw the silverware after the man, whose identity was not known to deputies, hit her arm several times. Both were charged with domestic violence.

Drug sale spotted

Sanford police arrested Michael Denard Mathis, 20, of 1700 Bell Avenue Tuesday. According to the police report, an officer in hiding saw what he determined were drug sales at 1305 W. 13th Street. SANFORD — The fund from which to purchase July 4th fireworks grew yesterday. The amount donated to date however, is seriously low.

During yesterday's Kiwanis Club meeting in Sanford, Walt Smith, president-elect of the club, presented fireworks fund raiser Steve Alford with a check for $150. Also during the meeting, Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClannahan, acting on his own behalf, donated an additional $100 to Alford's fireworks fund.

"That brings the total raised so far up to $1,741," Alford said. "The trouble is, we need $3,500 as a down payment for the fireworks, which is due on June 5th."

With $4,200 spent for fireworks in 1980, and $5,200 spent in 1981, Alford said, "I felt confident we could do it again this year, so I signed a contract with Vic Vichers of the A.P.C. Fireworks company."

"It must be the economy," Alford said, "businesses and individuals are not coming forward to join in the project as strongly as they have in the past, and those that do donate, have had to cut back."

The total amount Alford has agreed upon for this year's event is $5,000. He would not comment on what he may do if the goal is not reached. "I don't even want to think about that," he said. "We can't reduce the amount and put on a poor show, I want to have at least as good a display this year as in the past."

For the past two years, the fireworks display has been along the lakefront of Lake Monroe, near the New Tribes Mission facility on east Seminole Blvd. "This year," Alford said, "I'd like to have the display on a barge out on the lake, so more people could see it well."

"The main problem with that," he said, "is that I don't have a barge. What I need is some type of flotation, at least 20 by 40 feet in size. If I can't get something like that, we'll have the fireworks right where it's been for the past two years."

He added, "There is also the possibility that we can build some kind of flotation device to use out on the lake, but that's something we still have to look into."

Area agencies practice for hurricane disaster

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald Staff Writer

Points complex. The county will communicate with each city emergency headquarters by radio and telephone.

SANFORD — With the seal of Dungeons and Dragons players, area police, fire and government officials Friday will practice their response to a hurricane that will strike Seminole County with the same ferocity that the South Carolina coast suffered in 1989 from Hurricane Hugo.

The scenario that will test the theoretical response was crafted specially for the effort by the National Weather Service, said Roberts.

"We expect this will really be a learning experience," said Ken Roberts, emergency coordinator for the Seminole County Public Safety Department.

During the first two hours of the exercise, an imaginary tropical storm off the eastern Florida coast will develop into "Hurricane Karl" during a 72-hour period, said Roberts. During that time, the county and cities will practice their increasing levels of preparedness.

Law enforcement and emergency response officials from the county and each of the seven cities will participate in the "table-top" disaster rehearsal, said Roberts. Other departments, such as public works officials will also participate with the exercise in responding to cleanup and other tasks.

The paper storm will then hit Florida in the Cape Canaveral area and work its way inland, pummeling Seminole County with 100 m.p.h. winds, said Roberts.

County emergency personnel will coordinate the exercise from the Public Safety Communications Center at the county's Five

The final two hours will be dedicated to the immediate response to the damage, said Roberts.

The last such exercise was done about five years ago, said Roberts.

U.S. commandos raid Haiti to rescue officials

Associated Press

A spokesman for the Florida-based Special Operations Command, Army Col. Jake Dye, also declined comment on the report. The Special Operations Command is responsible for the SEALs — the Navy's Sea, Air, Land special commandos — Air Force counterterrorism units and Army Rangers and Green Berets.

SAN DIEGO — In a daring military raid, a super-secret Pentagon commando team rescued a group of former Haitian officials from their politically torn country, a newspaper reported today.

At the time of the rescue, the Bush administration was in the process of forcing Haitians detained in refugee camps at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to return to their Caribbean homeland.

The raid into Haiti, purportedly authorized by President Bush, occurred eight weeks ago while the United States was forcing thousands of Haitian boat people to return to their homeland. The San Diego Union-Tribune said.

Though the SEAL mission may seem contradictory to the administration's policy on Haiti, the Pentagon intelligence officer told the Union-Tribune that the danger faced by the rescued officials made it necessary.

The secret raid was conducted by SEAL Team 6, a highly trained naval counterterrorism squad, to rescue "a handful of former Haitian officials whose lives were in danger," Pentagon sources told the newspaper.

Haitians began arriving at Guantanamo Bay on Feb. 3 aboard U.S. Coast Guard cutters. About 34,000 Haitians have been intercepted at sea since Aristide was overthrown.

A senior Pentagon intelligence officer with access to a report on the mission described it as "no problems, big success." He also told the Union-Tribune there were no casualties.

On the holding camp at the Guantanamo base, their 12,500-person "train," Bush ordered U.S. forces Sunday to send new refugees back to Haiti without immigration hearings on their asylum requests.

Those rescued were believed to be high-ranking officials in the government of former Haitian President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, who was overthrown in an army coup last September.

The Defense Department does not acknowledge the existence of SEAL Team 6 despite numerous public accounts about it being sent on missions to hot spots around the world. Its members are drawn from officially acknowledged SEAL teams headquartered in San Diego County.

If their names or titles were released, it could place their lives in jeopardy, the intelligence officer said. It wasn't known whether the rescued individuals were taken to the United States or another country.

Seal Team 6 and its sister counterterrorist squad, the Delta Force, reportedly were established following the failed 1980 attempt to rescue U.S. hostages in Iran.

The highly classified report on the mission was made known to only a few top government and Pentagon officials, the Union-Tribune said.

"I don't know or have any knowledge of that operation," White House spokesman Paul Clarke said late Wednesday.

Extra credit

Despite deficits and the recession, Congress this year approved a whopping 30 percent increase in the tax dollars it doles out directly to favored colleges and universities. The practice of having these elected officials decide where and what the nation should invest in research — rather than having those choices made by scientists and other experts — is formally called "earmarking." But everyone in Washington knows this sow's ear for what it is — pork barrel science.

By comparison, the National Institute of Health and the National Science Foundation (which make their funding decisions in open competitions in which projects are judged on their merits rather than the seniority of their congressmen) received boosts in their budgets this year of only 8 percent and 16 percent respectively.

Where did Congress choose to commit its investments? West Virginia, home of the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Robert Byrd, led all other states with nearly 10 percent of the total, all in grants to West Virginia University and Wheeling Jesuit College. The latter, in fact, received more than half again its entire operating budget for projects related to technology transfers and education — this at a school of 1,400 students that offers master's degrees only in applied theology and business administration.

Defenders of the earmarking system contend that these grants help smaller schools improve their programs and facilities so that they can do a better job of competing with America's major research institutions in the future.

But that's not the way it's working out. Lawrence Crum, director of the National Center for Physical Acoustics at the University of Mississippi — a major beneficiary of congressional largesse — complains that his employees are stigmatized as "pork barrel people." Their grant applications get sidetracked in other institutions because people assume that if they've got a free-spending local congressman on their side, they don't need any more help.

Congress is the primary culprit here, but 12 years of Reagan-Bush indifference to the nation's research needs deserves much of the blame as well. As one master of the congressional grant game told the Chronicle of Higher Education, earmarking is growing so rapidly because it's filling a vacuum left by the absence of a coherent federal technology policy and a competitive federal financing program to renovate America's major campus research facilities.

Until Congress and the White House provide that kind of leadership, the grease is likely to keep on running.

Quayle unafraid of speaking truths

Vice President Quayle is fast earning a reputation as a man not afraid to speak blunt truths about subjects that ordinary politicians shy away from.

Several months ago, for example, he seized the occasion of a speech to the American Bar Association to suggest publicly that the United States has far too many lawyers — more than any other country on earth, in both absolute and relative terms, and far more than are needed for the benefit of anyone but the lawyers themselves. The ABA's president was so shocked that he demanded to know how America could possibly get along without lawyers — a situation Mr. Quayle had neither envisaged nor advocated.

Now the vice president has turned his attention to Hollywood, whose actors and actresses are more accustomed to public adulation than thoughtful criticism. In a speech in San Francisco, Mr. Quayle was so bold as to condemn the season finale of TV's "Murphy Brown" for depicting an intelligent, highly paid professional woman as "mocking the importance of fathers by bearing a child alone and calling it just another lifestyle choice."

The show's producer promptly fired back that if Mr. Quayle doesn't approve of single women having babies, he ought to reconsider his opposition to abortion — the implicit premise being that the one thing no single women can reasonably be expected to do is avoid getting pregnant every now and then.

Even White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, after first suggesting defensively that it's wrong for TV to glorify unwed mothers, headed for the tall timber, pointing out that at least Murphy Brown opted to have the baby rather than abort it, and winding up with irrelevant declarations of his fondness for Candice Bergen (who plays the part).

But a good many thoughtful Americans are beginning to suspect that behind Dan Quayle's youthful looks and baby-blue eyes there lurks a man solidly committed to decent standards and high principles. And that may not, even now, be as far out of sync with the convictions of many millions of Americans as the cynics in Hollywood and the media would have you believe.

As for Hollywood, the truth is that it has become a moral cesspool. Time was when at least a strong contingent of stars — people like Jimmy Stewart, Charlton Heston, George Murphy and Ronald Reagan — espoused traditional values and took seriously their inevitable role as models of behavior for millions of Americans. But Hollywood today is infested with and typified by people who constantly assure their many fans, by their conduct, that drugs are pure fun, that marriage is an outmoded ritual, and that babies are to be had whenever you feel like it, fathered by whatever male is around at the time.

Now he seems to have begun speaking out, independently and forcibly — never overcommitting the administration, but making clear his own personal devotion to conservative principles.

As for Hollywood, the truth is that it has become a moral cesspool.

New 'new world order' meets

First of two parts
WASHINGTON — When President Bush arrives in Rio de Janeiro to attend the United Nations conference in June, he will be making his first foray onto the battleground of a new world order very different from the one he has long advocated and envisioned.

So far, attention here has focused on the global warming treaty that is to be signed in Rio. In its final rewriting, which will take into account strong U.S. objections, the agreement will talk about working towards significantly decreased levels of carbon dioxide emissions without setting firm timetables or guidelines. The Bush administration feared that specific goals might have mandated costly changes that could damage the U.S. economy.

What has gotten lost in the environmental debate is that the June 3-14 summit's official title is the U.N. Conference on Environment and Development. For much of the world, the developmental aspects are paramount.

This is where the new "new world order" comes in: It is one that is potentially unstable, and one in which the United States may have dramatically diminished influence.

The old world order, a geopolitically based Cold War division into three major camps — communist, non-communist and non-aligned — toppled with the fall of communism in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

The new world order, as envisioned and articulated by George Bush, was a triangular affair built around trading alliances, with the new European Economic Community at one corner, the Asian bloc dominated by Japan at the second, and the North American trading alliance dominated by the United States at the third.

In the Bush world order, the United States would be the only global military power. It would truly become the world's policeman, with the bills for services rendered being paid in part by nations like Japan and Germany.

However, the world order that will be on display in Rio is entirely different. It is a world order as seen by a vast majority of the planet's inhabitants. It is a world order based on development. It is North vs. South. It is, quite simply, the "haves" vs. the "have-nots."

If you take the globe and draw a line around it roughly following the Tropic of Cancer — through the middle of Mexico, across the Atlantic, through the center of the Mediterranean, across Asia at about the line that separated the former Soviet Union with its neighbors to the south, then back across the Pacific — you have roughly divided the world between the developed north and the developing south, between the haves of the north and the have-nots of the south. That is the new world order as seen by those meeting in Rio for the first time.

In only a few countries south of this imaginary dividing line — a couple in Central America, a very few in North Africa and the Middle East, plus South Africa, Australia and New Zealand — does the average person eat more than 2,600 calories a day. That, says the World Health Organization, is a measure of the difference between rich and poor. Seventy-seven percent of the Earth's population lives in the poor countries south of this line.

The basic purpose of the conference is to produce a statement of global principles aimed at reconciling environmental and developmental goals. However, if you read the conference's agenda, you will see that economic and developmental goals easily outweigh environmental goals.

There can be no doubt that environmental and developmental issues go hand-in-hand. Today the 23 percent of the Earth's population living in the developed nations use two-thirds of the world's energy output — and cause three-quarters of its pollution. As the poorer countries develop, their share of energy use will increase, as will their share of pollution.

These have-not countries want to use the environmental concerns of the developed nations as a wedge to gain capital, technology and access to markets they will need if they are to become players in the emerging world economic order.

In short, the Rio conference is really the first confrontation of this new world order — one which official Washington does not even want to admit exists. Rio will probably be the first battle in a prolonged war, one for which the United States has yet to draw up a battle plan.

Tomorrow: How alarming is ozone depletion?

It's entirely different from the one that George Bush envisioned.

Vice-president? Quayle a videot

Dan Quayle, who gets no respect, deserves credit at least for putting the focus of the nation back where it ought to be: on President Dan Quayle.

That is the all-too-real prospect — President Quayle addressing us from the Oval Office on the making of American policy, or perhaps the mistakes of Murphy Brown — we must weigh gravely before we vote for president next November.

That is the all-too-real prospect — President Quayle — we must declare it acceptable, in fact, desirable, before we can permit ourselves to vote for the Republican ticket of Bush-Quayle.

That is the all-too-real prospect Quayle himself forced us to realize, just the other day, that is simply unacceptable. In fact, it's downright frightening.

For three years and four months, Quayle occupied our nation's No. 2 office and said nothing of importance about how we could solve the crises of poverty and crime that are ripping our urban centers apart. Finally, after a horrendous court verdict ignited horrendous looting, burning and murdering-by-mob-violence in Los Angeles, the Bush administration focused for the first real time on the problems and solutions it had ignored until then. Bush spoke more on the subject in one week than he had in his entire presidency. Soon, Quayle too said something memorable.

He blamed La La Land. "Hollywood doesn't get it," said Would-be President Quayle. He wants us to know that television is not giving the underclass first-class role models. To put his remarks into their proper context is to understand the shallowness of our would-be-president, as he starts out right but soon becomes trite:

"Children need love and discipline. They need mothers and fathers. A welfare check is not a husband. The state is not a father. It is from parents that children learn how to behave in society.... It doesn't help matters when prime-time TV has Murphy Brown — a character who supposedly epitomizes today's intelligent, highly paid, professional woman — mocking the importance of fathers by bearing a child alone and calling it just another lifestyle choice."

Dan Quayle is a idiot. He views the world through video sitcoms. Even President Bush seems to have reluctantly concluded, after a few all-in-the-family flip-flops, that Quayle gets it all wrong.

Finally, refusing to echo Quayle's persistent warble, Bush seems to grasp the real-life choices the sitcom confronted:

(1) Deal with the fact that accidental pregnancy can happen or ignore it. They dealt with it, showing it happens not just to single women who are ignorant, poor and underclass minorities.

(2) Have an abortion or have a baby. If the sitcom writers had chosen abortion, no doubt we'd hear Quayle wail about Hollywood liberals who legitimized murder. Instead, they chose a baby's right to life.

(3) Let Murphy enter into a disastrous marriage doomed to end in divorce, or remain unmarried. The writers chose to portray a woman dedicating herself to responsible, single parenthood.

Last January, when The Washington Post's Bob Woodward and David Broder meticulously highlighted every possible plaudit that could be said in Quayle's behalf, they also noted:

"But to the distress of some close associates, Quayle too often skates on the surface of issues.... 'The vice president,' said one who works with him closely, 'walks by things instead of stopping to savor or understand them.'"

He views the world through video sitcoms.

Deltona exit at Dirksen Drive while both westbound lanes of I-4 were closed between 2 p.m. and 3:25 p.m., said Capt. Bill Sanders of the Florida Highway Patrol.

The interstate was closed while state road crews welded down a steel plate spanning two concrete bridge slabs and covered it with asphalt. The plate, which spans two steel caps on the slabs, had "popped" loose and had begun to endanger traffic, said Steve Homan, district spokesman for the Florida Department of Transportation.

The gaps between the slabs allows them to expand and contract without crushing each other.

"The reason we had to close the bridge was obvious," said Homan. "We had hoped to fix it as a routine matter but it popped up and endangered the safety of motorists."

Road crews had first closed the bridge during the early morning hours of May 17 to bolt the plate down, but deteriorated concrete at the edges of the slabs failed to hold the bolts, said Lester Gillis, FDOT district supervisor for bridge inspections.

The plate began curling up by late Wednesday morning and road crews were forced to close the inner westbound lane at about 11 a.m. and both lanes at 2 p.m.

Gillis said the bolts had worked as a temporary fix in other I-4 bridges in central Florida where the expansion system was used. He said the system has a life of about 30 to 35 years before they must be replaced. But the concrete around the bolts had become brittle from heavy trucks driving over the loose plate. The bridge itself is sound, he said.

Mike Snyder, district structures and facilities engineer, said the state planned to replace the slabs later this summer and he thought the bolts would hold the plate until then.

Homan said an emergency contract will be awarded today to Ambachstaher Inc., Orange City, to replace the concrete on both east- and westbound lanes of the bridge and eastbound lanes of the Dirksen Drive bridge. Homan said the work is expected to cost between $75,000 and $100,000. Work could begin by Friday night and will be done over six nights, he said.

Gillis said the steel plates and caps will be removed and the deteriorated concrete chipped away and replaced. Snyder said new caps will be placed on the slabs with a pressurized rubber gasket placed between them. Snyder said the gaskets have a life of five or more years, but can be easily replaced.

to ask for a hearing if they so desire."

Julian suggested that "...the City Commission may have to sit as an adjudicatory body to resolve this matter." He commented that public statements or ex parte communications may void any commission decision. "The commission could be required to defer its decision making authority to a neutral body selected by the governor or a court."

Morris commented, "I hope we can get this problem resolved during tonight's meeting, and get back to the job of operating our city government."

A Charter Review Committee workshop will also be held tonight.

Beginning at 7 p.m., the members of the Charter Review Committee will review with city commissioners the various lively, in 1988. Thirty-three percent of the eighth graders and 59 percent of the 12th graders said they read 10 or fewer pages each day for their school work in 1980, compared with 62 percent and 58 percent, respectively, in 1988. One-third of eighth and 12th graders read fewer than five pages a day for school in 1980.

changes recommended by the committee, following two months of research and meetings.

"In all," Morris commented, "I think they did an outstanding job in fine tuning the City Charter, but there are a number of points I don't necessarily agree with." Among them, Morris said, "I don't go along with changing the length of term from two to three years for commissioners, and I don't support a six year limit on how long a person can serve."

Both of tonight's meetings are open to the public and will be held in the commission chambers of the Lake Mary City Hall.

Thirty-four percent of fourth graders spent 30 minutes or less daily on homework, the same as in 1980. Twenty percent of eighth graders did 30 minutes or less in 1980, compared with 19 percent in 1988. Twenty-one percent of 12th graders reported that level of homework in 1980, 19 percent in 1988.

President Bush called the figures troubling and said they show "we've got a long way to go" to meet his goal of making American students the world's best in math and science by the end of the century.

"The kids are watching over three hours of television a day and reading less than five pages a day. That is wrong," Bush told a GOP dinner in Atlanta on Wednesday night in advance of the study's release.

The report said schools have been slow to implement reforms in teaching children to read. Teachers still emphasize workbook instruction, despite evidence that the best approach is to combine reading and writing activities, the report said.

The report found that in homes where there were ample reading materials and where the parents read a lot, their children performed significantly better than other students.

The report was prepared by the Educational Testing Service under contract with the Department's National Center for Education Statistics. It did not draw any conclusions about TV's impact on learning.

There was a solid increase in the amount of leisure reading. In 1988, 19 percent of the eighth graders and 18 percent of the seniors reported not reading for fun in their spare time. However, in 1980 the percentages increased to 30 percent and 29 percent.

The study said students generally are not encouraged to read. It found that 26 percent of the fourth graders and 20 percent of the eighth graders said they never talked about what they read in class. Nineteen percent of the seniors, 24 percent of the eighth graders and 29 percent of the fourth graders never participated in a group activity based on the reading.

"As I understand it," McFellin added, "the City Commission cannot, as an official legal body, come out for or against the proposal, and they cannot spend any public funds on the matter."

McFellin announced the police force consolidation issue has been scheduled for a public meeting, "some time in late August," he said, "but it will just be for informational purposes, nothing can be done now to change the process that have been established. It will be on the ballot this year."

IN BRIEF

Locals awarded scholarships

ORLANDO — Six graduating seniors from Seminole County were among a record number of students that received scholarships from the Orlando Amateur Athletic Association Tuesday night at Rosemont Country Club.

Leanne Baffle and Heather Cohen of Lake Mary High School, Victoria Lewis, Michele Schiffo and Dan Hargrave from Oviedo, and Lake Howell's Tim Houston each were awarded one of the association's 48 scholarships, more than 10 more than in any previous year.

In addition, two other Seminole County graduates, including Lake Mary's Rob Dasey, a two-time All-Seminole Athletic Conference golfer, received awards.

Orange County senior and graduates were awarded the other scholarships, which are given to students who have been involved in athletics during their prep careers and who will be attending a state university.

Co-ed volleyball league forming

MAITLAND — The Jewish Community Center, 881 N. Maitland Avenue, is now accepting registrations for its summer Co-ed Popper Volleyball League, which is scheduled to begin play on June 28.

Levels AA, A and A- are available. Registration deadline is June 19. For more information, call Sylvia Panak at 645-5633, ext. 75.

Chattanooga edges SunRays

ORLANDO — Darren Cox hit a triple that drove in two runs in the sixth inning to break a tie, giving Chattanooga a 4-3 Southern League victory over Orlando on Wednesday.

Chattanooga (33-16) took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a run-scoring double by Kilti Diaz, which drove in Scott Pose. Diaz then crossed home plate on a wild pitch.

Orlando (25-23) tied the score 2-2 in the second on a two-run homer by Ray Ortiz, his sixth of the year. The SunRays scored a run in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Rex De La Nuez.

Lake Mary graduate honored

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — Lake Mary High School graduate Tabatha Gano put the final touches on a stellar track and field career at Rochester Institute of Technology by finishing second in the 100-meter hurdles at the Eastern College Athletic Conference championship meet.

For her effort, Gano was named RIT Female Athlete of the Week.

Gano's time of 15.4 tied her school-record effort of a year ago. In the process, she also became the highest RIT finisher ever at the ECACs. Last year, Gano finished sixth with a time of 15.42. She is RIT's second all-time leading scorer with 168.75 points.

A professional and technical communications major in her senior year, Gano is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gano of Altamonte Springs.

Tampa to face Lewis

MONTGOMERY — Eric Hill threw a four-hitter as Cal Poly San Luis Obispo beat Livingston 6-2 in the NCAA Division II baseball championships Wednesday.

In an earlier game, Rick Guerro retired the last seven batters he faced as Lewis beat Missouri Southern State 7-6. Both Livingston (37-25) and Missouri Southern (44-13) were eliminated from the tournament.

Lewis (45-21) will face Tampa, undefeated in the tournament, Thursday afternoon. Cal Poly SLO (40-18) will face Mansfield, also undefeated in the tournament, Thursday night.

Tampa beat Missouri Southern 7-4 earlier Wednesday in the rain-suspended winner's bracket game. David Dion singled in Sam Steed in the top of the ninth, then Shawn Slade retired the side in order to preserve the Tampa win.

Jordan, Bulls explode

CHICAGO — Michael Jordan scored 37 points and the Chicago Bulls started the fourth quarter with a 17-0 run Wednesday night to turn a tight game into a 112-89 romp over the Cleveland Cavaliers for a 3-2 lead in the NBA Eastern Conference final.

The game was marred in the closing minutes when Stacey King was ejected for hammering Perry as both benches emptied. Perry had been fined $5,000 for punching Jordan in Game 4.

Scottie Pippen scored 14 points and Horace Grant added 13 for the Bulls, who also got help from the bench as B.J. Armstrong, Scott Williams and Cliff Levingston each scored 12.

Mark Price led Cleveland with 24 points, 16 in the third quarter, while Craig Ehlo added 12.

State champ Seminole has eight players picked

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — Seminole High School, the Class 3A state champion in baseball, and Lake Mary High School each placed three members on the first team of the All-Seminole Athletic Conference baseball team announced this week.

In all, Seminole had eight players receive with All-SAC honors. Lake Brantley, the conference champion, led the county with 10 picks. Nine Lyman players were tabbed while Lake Howell had eight players named. Oviedo, which reached the Class 4A semifinals, had seven players picked while Lake Mary had five.

The selection was done by a vote of the county coaches.

Representing Seminole on the first team were senior outfielder Anthony Roberts, junior first baseman/pitcher Jeremy Chumat and junior second baseman David Eckstein. Catcher Chad Ebbert, third baseman T.J. Hamilton and designated hitter Dave Hudick, all seniors, were the three first-team selections from Lake Mary.

Junior outfielder/pitcher Kevin Stuckey was the sole first-time pick from Lyman.

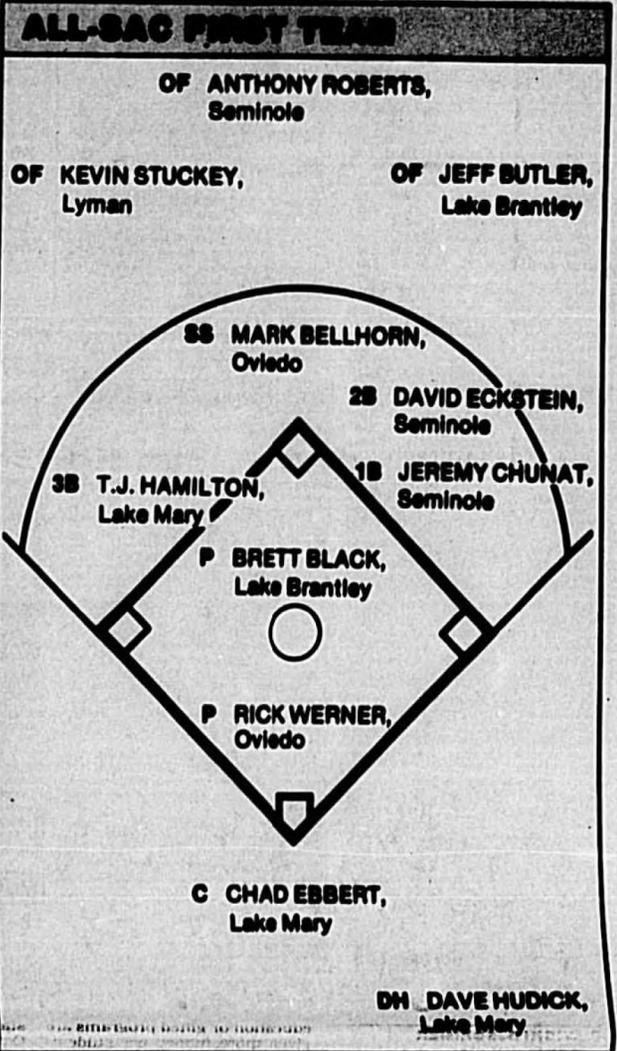

Completing the first team were junior pitcher Brett Black and sophomore outfielder Jeff Butler from Lake Brantley and Oviedo senior pitcher Rick Werner and senior shortstop Mark Bellhorn.

The second team was dominated by four Lyman players and three from Lake Howell.

WELL DONE

Predators claim state hoop title

TAMPA — Playing six games in three days, including three on the final day, the 11-and-Under Predators of the Central Florida Girls Hoops Association grabbed the Florida AAU state championship on May 10.

Playing at the SunDome on the campus of the University of South Florida, the Predators defeated Lakeland 30-26 in the finals. Jennifer Floyd and Ashley Ballance each scored eight points. Maggie Carlough contributed six, Marta Savage netted four and Kelly Brock and Kristin Maculoso each had two.

Coached by Willie and Jennifer Carlough, the Predators opened the tournament with an 83-5 whipping of Clearwater on May 8. After beating Tampa 59-19 on May 9, the Predators lost to Lakeland 36-19 later in the day.

On May 10, the Predators thumped Hernando County 49-4 in a game that started at 12:30 p.m., then came back at 3:30 p.m. to defeat Tampa 46-42 to earn the right to face Lakeland again at 7:30 p.m. The second game with Tampa was much closer because the Tampa team played with a tall girl who wasn't there for the first game. Tampa was also boosted by the fact that its starting point guard avoided the foul trouble that limited her playing time in the first game.

While the rematch with Tampa was probably a lot closer than the Predators would have preferred, it did give the Seminole County hoopsters a boost of confidence going into their second game against a taller Lakeland side.

Winning the state championship qualifies the Predators to play in the National AAU tournament, which will be played in Utah in July.

WELL DONE is a feature designed to recognize the athletic and/or recreational accomplishments of Seminole County residents. Have you recently had a big catch? Sink an ace? ## Leagues go 2-for-6

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — About the only winner Wednesday night was Mother Nature.

Shortly after 7:30 p.m., a thunderstorm interrupted, then forced the suspension of the second games of both the Sanford Recreation Department's Men's Class C Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park and the Class D League at Pinchurst Park.

The third games of the two tripleheaders were also washed out.

At Pinchurst Park, league-leading Beer: 30 scored four runs in the second inning and five in both the third and fourth innings in a 17-0 rout of the Briar Corporation. The Desperados were batting in the bottom of third, trailing Texaco Express Lube 7-6, when the rains fell.

The third game had Texaco Star Lube scheduled to play Mobil Tech.

Next week, the Desperados (2-3) play Beer: 30 (6-0) at 6:30 p.m., Texaco Star Lube (1-3) faces Mobil Tech (2-3) at 7:30 p.m. and Mobil Tech takes on the Briar Corporation (2-4) at 8:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, at Chase Park, Hall's Stucco blitzed Royal Oak Pub 13-1. Hancock Hardware and Hammer Time were tied 1-1 in the top of the second inning when the game was halted by rain. The Wrecking Crew and Touchdown Pub were to have played in the third game.

The Wrecking Crew (1-3) and Hancock Hardware (2-2) will open next week's schedule at 6:30 p.m. Royal Oak Pub (1-4) will play the Touchdown Pub (2-2) at 7:30 p.m. before Hammer Time (4-0) squares off with Hall's Stucco (3-2) in the 8:30 p.m. game.

Every hitter in the Beer: 30 lineup contributed at least one hit to the 21-hit attack on the Briar Corporation. Leading the barrage were Mike Miller (triple, two singles, three runs), Dave Coas (two doubles, one single, three runs) and Jon Reid (three singles, three runs).

Cast your vote on movie, TV language

DEAR ABBY: I have a complaint, and I don't know to whom I should address it, so I choose you.

Why must the latest crop of films insult our values, intelligence and morals?

The language used in some of our "best" movies and some TV shows is very low-down and vulgar. I do not know a single person who uses such filthy language.

ADVICE

Abby, maybe I am out of step. Would you please take a poll to find out if I am alone in my complaint? I am not talking about "hell" and "damn." I mean the words beginning with "s" and "f." Thank you.

AN AVERAGE 35-YEAR-OLD FEMALE

DEAR ABBY: Count me as one for your side. OK, readers...postcards only, please. Take note of this special address: P.O. Box 539, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

DEAR ABBY: During several recent trips to my brother's home, I have witnessed some behavior that I believe to be sexual abuse. I am writing to you because I believe his behavior to be subtle enough to be ignored as abusive, and I am sure my brother would not participate in it if he were made aware of it.

He has ignored my warnings and thinks I am being extreme. The behaviors are:

1. Calling his 4-year-old daughter his "lover" while holding her and kissing her.
  2. Taking baths with her and skinny-dipping with her in a small, secluded backyard pool.
- My psychologist friend tells me that this kind of behavior with children 2 years or older constitutes sexual child abuse. Please respond quickly. Maybe he will pay more attention to you. His wife is blind to all of this.

WORRIED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR WORRIED: While your brother may not be guilty of sexual abuse (standards vary from family to family), he is guilty of inappropriate behavior.

He and his wife should consult a professional to discuss what the behavior you mentioned means to him — and, if it is indeed innocent behavior, he needs to learn more appropriate ways of expressing affection for his daughter.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my 90s and have been telling my friends that I am slowing down. The other day, I had a note from a retired dean of a college. He wrote, "I am 77, and I have slowed up."

I asked my nephew which expression was correct, "slowing up" or "slowing down," and he said, "That's a good question."

(No answer.)

Then I asked a Sunday school teacher. He said, "Write to Dear Abby. I'll bet she will have the answer for you, and I will be waiting to read her answer in the newspaper."

So, Dear Abby, which is correct: "slowing down" or "slowing up"?

A LITTLE OLD LADY IN OTTUMWA, IOWA

DEAR LADY: Since "slowing up" and "slowing down" mean the same thing, they are both correct. (This reminds me of that old Abbott and Costello routine — "Down is up.")

How to avoid ulcer related to aspirin

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is it about aspirin that causes stomach ulcers when used over a prolonged period? If aspirin causes stomach ulcers, what does enteric-coated aspirin do to the intestines?

DEAR READER: Aspirin and drugs like it (such as Motrin, Indocin, Lodine, Feldene and Voltaren) can, with prolonged use, cause gastric irritation and bleeding. This is due to direct contact between the drug and the stomach lining but also - more importantly - because these drugs inhibit prostaglandin synthesis. Once the level of this compound in the stomach wall is reduced, gastric acid is free to damage the stomach lining - and the lining of the upper intestine.

Therefore, aspirin (and aspirin-like drugs) interfere with the normal protective mechanism that we need in our stomachs and intestines. This effect is dose-related and depends on length of use. Using buffered or enteric-coated aspirin or taking the drug with food will alleviate the local irritation, but the prostaglandin-lowering properties remain. Because these deleterious effects involve gastric acid, aspirin (and similar drugs) affect only the stomach and upper intestine (duodenum).

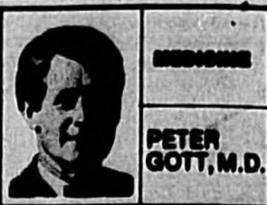

For unknown reasons, some people appear to be relatively insensitive to these consequences. Cytotec is a drug used to counteract the effects of aspirin and the other drugs I mentioned. It is available by prescription and should be considered for patients who have stomach distress or documented ulcers (or bleeding).

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips On Medicines."

CROSSWORD

By Phillip Alder
You hold A-7-3 or A-7-3-2 in a suit and are defending against a no-trump contract. Your partner leads a low card in the suit. Assuming you decide to win with the ace and return the suit, which card do you lead back at trick two in each case?

You're right - this is textbook stuff. With the first holding, you return the seven, the higher of two remaining cards. And in the second situation, you return the two, your original fourth-highest. However, there are hands on which you should ignore the textbook.

Defending against three no-trump, West leads the club two. After East wins with the ace, if he blindly follows the "rule" and returns the club jack, the contract will make. Dummy's club nine will win the fourth round of the suit. East should study the club position more closely. It is almost certain that South began with honor doubleton. If West had the K-Q-10-2, surely he would have led the king, not the two. And if South has queen doubleton, leading back the jack will cost a trick.

So, at trick two, East returns the club three, West capturing declarer's queen with his king. True, to West it looks as though declarer started with Q-J-7 of clubs. But he must be aware of this actual possibility. Also, if East began with only two clubs, he should probably switch to a heart at trick two.

If West has seen this suit combination before, he will return the club six at trick three. He will regain the lead with the heart ace at trick four and cash the club 10 to defeat the contract. Readers are invited to send card-play questions to Phillip Alder. In care of this newspaper. They can be answered only through the column.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 28, 1992
Your material prospects look very encouraging for the year ahead, even though the times, in general, may continue to be trying. Luck could be your ace in the hole.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A situation you've been thinking about rather negatively could have a happy ending today. Don't view matters through a self-defeating lens. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Gemini's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 81438, Cleveland, OH 44101-3438. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) The formula for success today requires equal parts of optimism and elbow grease. Once you determine the course of action, let your muscles take over.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might start out with rather modest objectives today, but something larger and more exciting may loom over the horizon, encouraging you to switch targets.

VERGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your greatest assets today are your optimism and your common sense, which you should be able to blend effectively to fulfill your ambitious aims.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck might step in today and engineer, to your satisfaction, a change you've been unable to orchestrate on your own. It could be worthwhile financially.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone who has been studying you very carefully has decided to be your ally. This individual might end up being one of the most valuable contacts you've ever made.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Demonstrating a willingness to share and cooperate will bring about a similar response from individuals you'll have dealings with today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Two people who have been lucky for you in the past could be fortunate for you again today. You've always operated on the same wavelengths with these individuals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Appearances could be deceiving today, especially in a situation where you might feel you're luckier for another than you are for yourself. Actually, the opposite may be true.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You won't do it unassisted, but today you might take a nominal opportunity and transform it into something quite impressive.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is a market for something you've been toying with as a sideline endeavor. Start to analyze this situation for its commercial possibilities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could be more fortunate than usual today in situations that have an element of chance, provided you have some influence over their outcome. A little degree of control is essential. (C)1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
