Lawton In Limelight With TV Spot, Conference

Lawton Elementary School in Oviedo is getting national attention. Not only did students from the school appear on ABC-TV's Good Morning America today, its principal and staff members have been chosen to go to Washington D.C. next month to participate in a national conference on excellence in education.

Lawton's principal Michael Mizwicki said WFTV-TV came out to film some of the activities surrounding the dedication of the school's new $2 million office complex and media center. He said the film clips were forwarded to ABC and were shown this morning at 7 a.m.

In addition to the school's national television debut, the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, a Virginia-based private organization, selected Lawton and 28 other schools from around the country to form a "network" to share ideas about improving elementary education.

Mizwicki said he and three others will represent the school and the county at the ASCD's national conference Oct. 25-28.

The school was selected, he said, because of the various racial and economic backgrounds of its student body. Seventy-four percent of the students are white, 23 percent black and 3 percent Asian.

The heavy involvement of parents was another factor, he said. As an example, he said Tuesday was parents' day at the school. About 100 were expected but 400 showed up.

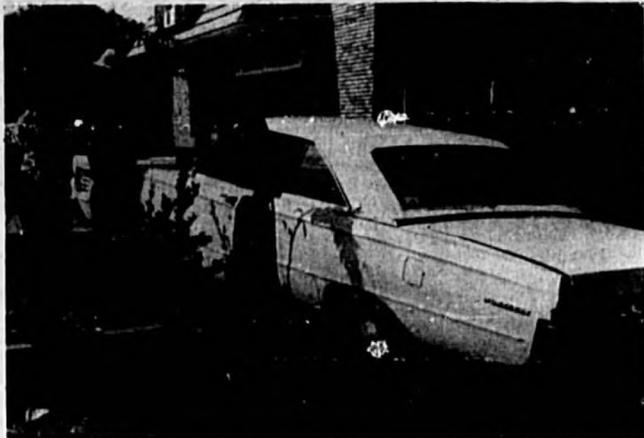

Curriculum Director Fairlie Bagley said

Lawton's academic standards are the reason it was selected. She cited the school's pilot kindergarten program which puts more emphasis on manipulative skills like stringing beads, in addition to "paper-and-pencil" tasks.

Ms. Bagley also said more is expected of Lawton students. Third graders must be able to compose letters: a task formerly reserved for 10th graders.

What also may have helped Lawton, Mizwicki

Hung Up

A Sanford man's car rests on a concrete wall at a Sanford 7-Eleven store today following a quick shift into reverse when the vehicle's brakes failed as the driver entered traffic on U.S. Highway 17-92 at First Street, D. Washington, of Sanford, said he was leaving the store after putting gas in the car when he noticed at the road's edge that his brakes didn't work. After the quick-thinking shift into reverse, Washington managed to dodge cars parked in the store's parking lot before winding up on the wall. Charges have not been filed pending an investigation.

Police Probe Few Clues In Slaying Of Would-Be Bride

Police are still investigating leads in the mysterious murder of a Deltona-Sanford area woman found bludgeoned to death behind a garage in Maryland.

Mary Evelyn McClure, 42, who moved to Maryland just a month before she was killed Aug. 4, was planning to marry before she left the Deltona-Sanford area and had visited a Sanford doctor for a blood test.

According to an autopsy report, she died from a blow to the head by a blunt instrument and was not sexually molested. Her personal belongings and car were also left undisturbed, according to reports.

According to detective Sergeant Larry Meusel, of the Maryland State Police, Ms. McClure lived in Florida for about a year before she moved to Maryland after her plans to remarry a former husband, Homer McNatt, reportedly of this area, fell through.

After returning to Maryland, Ms.

McClure, who had two grown children living in Hollywood, Fla., lived with her mother in the town of Rising Sun about 50 miles west of Baltimore.

According to police and press reports, the attractive and quiet woman was reported missing from her job with the Cecil County transportation department Aug. 4 in the city of Port Deposit, also west of Baltimore. She was found two days later at 5:30 p.m. behind the department's garage where she worked driving school buses and cleaning them.

Meusel said the case is an open homicide investigation and they do not have some clues to go on but he could not discuss them.

Meusel said Ms. McClure, a religious, homebody type, was at one time a co-driver with McNatt for a moving van business.

McNatt has been cleared in the homicide, Meusel said. —Deane Jordan

Population 28 Short

$2 Million In Grants Slip From County Grasp

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County has lost its chance for $2 million in federal money to improve underprivileged areas of the county.

Despite appeals from the county's planning office, the U.S. Census Bureau is standing firm with its decision that the county lacked 28 persons of having a population of 200,000 in 1982.

And a 200,000 population is a major requirement for the federal money.

County Planner Woody Price, who led the efforts to get the federal dollars, said the census bureau "was not persuaded by our arguments."

Price said, however, he is certain the county's population figures for 1983 go over the 200,000 mark by about 8,000 and that the "development block grant" from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development would be approved in 1985 for funding in 1986, if the federal program continues.

"The needy folks in this county have lost over $2 million in public improvements," Price said.

Last week Price and his staff, acting on a tip from the census bureau, surveyed group homes in Seminole for numbers of residents and found 200 people, but the federal agency said they had already been counted, Price said.

A major requirement for a county to gain the federal funding was that it have a population of 200,000 or more and that other governmental entities in the county agree to support the county speaking with one voice for both incorporated and unincorporated areas.

All seven cities adopted resolutions of support, but that didn't sway the outcome.

County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said last week if the funding were approved, a meeting of representatives of the black areas in the county would have been asked for their preference of projects which should be undertaken.

In other business, during a workshop session Tuesday, the commissioners instructed Craig Batterson of Professional Engineering Consultants Inc. to contact two nationally known firms who deal with methane gas to find if they are interested in contracting with Seminole County to buy the gas generated at the county's Osceola sanitary landfill near Oviedo.

Cambrian Energy Systems, a California firm, has offered to mine the methane gas at the landfill in exchange for royalties to the county that could total $50,000 to $150,000 per year.

The methane gas, generated by the buried garbage, is now being vented into the atmosphere.

Batterson said Cambrian estimates the Osceola landfill has the potential of producing 250,000 cubic feet per day of methane, a quantity sufficient to power a 1,000 kilowatt generator initially with the possibility of further expansion to 3,000 kilowatts. He said the methane gas, if mined, would be converted to electrical energy with resale to Florida Power & Light Co.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff urged and his colleagues agreed that Batterson "look at what is happening in the industry" to see if other firms are interested and might pay more to mine the gas.

He also said he will be in upstate New York next week and will personally look into what is being done to recover energy from solid waste there.

After all aspects of the situation are investigated, Batterson said he will prepare requests for proposals to mine the gas and will report his findings to the commission.

Tears Delay Trial Of Accused Molester

Retired Circuit Judge Humes T. Lasher today denied a motion for a direct acquittal from defense attorney Vaughn Brennan in the child rape trial of Clifford J. Milliken.

The motion came after Milliken, who is accused of sexually assaulting a child, broke into tears during the morning session, according to a sheriff's deputy.

After a 30-minute recess, the trial resumed in the defense calling Gerald Musington, a psychologist from Hillsborough County,

The trial brought a first to Seminole County on Tuesday — the videotaped testimony of child rape victim, A 7-year-old boy said on the tape that he was sexually assaulted in Milliken's garage in March or April. After using a male doll to explain how he was assaulted, he said he did not tell his mother because Milliken warned him not to tell anybody about the incident.

The tape, which was made Friday, was shown in color on a television set placed before the 12-member jury. Brennan warned the jury to listen carefully to determine if a child rape had indeed occurred.

The victim's mother testified Tuesday Milliken was nice to her children and gave them candy. She said before the alleged assault her son was a happy child who liked to draw happy pictures. With trembling voice she said he now draws pictures of people hurting people.

Milliken, 58, of 1210 1/2 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, is an unemployed U.S. Air Force retiree. If he is convicted he

Donovan Pleads Politics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, enraged after being fingerprinted and arraigned on charges of grand larceny and fraud, vowed to "win the war" against a prosecutor he says is politically motivated.

Donovan and seven executives of the Schiavone Construction Co. charged in the 73-page, 137-count indictment, pleaded innocent Tuesday before Justice Barry Salzman. They were allowed to remain free on their own recognizance pending a hearing Nov. 12 — six days after the presidential election.

Donovan, the first incumbent Cabinet officer ever indicted, headed Schiavone until 1980 when he joined President Reagan's Cabinet.

The labor secretary, who took an unpaid leave of absence Monday, is accused of falsifying business records, writing a false instrument for filing and a single count of second degree grand larceny in connection with a $186 million New York City subway contract in 1975.

The larceny charge carries a maximum sentence of seven years. Donovan also faces up to four years on each of the 136 other counts.

"The indictment was obviously prepared before I even testified. You tell me whether I have been afforded basic fairness," Donovan told reporters as he left the Criminal Courthouse.

Earlier, the secretary was fingerprinted and photographed for police files.

He said Bronx District Attorney Mario Merola "may have won today's battle by misuse of his office. But I guarantee you that he will not win the war."

Feather Pays; Life Care Site Not Auctioned

The Sanford property Seminole County Commissioner Robert "Bud" Feather is developing as a private health center was not sold on the courthouse steps today as scheduled.

Feather paid a $9,751 lien and $13,184 in legal fees to satisfy a judgment against him. The lien holder, Sanford architect Eoghan N. Kelley, had filed suit against Feather on Sept. 16, 1982, stating Feather did not pay him for work done on the $3 million Life Care Center Feather plans to build on the property.

On Aug. 14, Brevard County Judge Robert Dykes ordered Feather to pay Kelley for his services and to also pay Kelley's legal fees for a total amount of $22,935. Dykes handed the case because Seminole County judges excused themselves from the suit to avoid accusations of partiality.

The eight-acre site on Fulton Street was to have been put on the auction block at 11 a.m. today to satisfy the lien judgment against Feather, but court officials said he paid up and satisfied the judgment before the scheduled sale.

Historian's Grandson Arrested As Spy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An East German woman who allegedly picked up classified material stored on a cassette hidden in a cigarette pack and the grandson of famed historian Samuel Eliot Morison have been arrested in separate espionage cases.

The FBI Tuesday announced the arrest of Samuel Loring Morison, 40, for allegedly disclosing secret photographs of a Soviet aircraft carrier under construction in the Black Sea.

In a separate, unrelated case, authorities arrested Alice Michelson, 87, an East German national, on charges of traveling to the United States on a mission for the KGB, the Soviet intelligence agency.

Michelson, arrested Monday night at Kennedy International Airport in New York, was held without bail pending an Oct. 11 hearing. Morison also was arrested late Monday at Dulles International Airport near Washington, D.C.

Morison, who worked as a Soviet ship analyst with the Naval Intelligence Support Center at Suitland, Md., allegedly disclosed three classified pictures to Jane's Defense Weekly, a British publication.

Authorities traced his activities by analyzing the typewriter ribbon on the machine in his government office, according to the FBI.

Morison, a part-time U.S. editor of Jane's Fighting Ships, another British publication that keeps track of navies of the world, is the grandson of Samuel Eliot Morison, a two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning historian.

The elder Morison, noted for a number of prize-winning biographies, was commissioned by President Franklin Roosevelt to write the U.S. Naval history of World War II. He also was Harvard University's official historian.

The FBI said Michelson was arrested boarding a flight headed to Prague, Czechoslovakia, and East Berlin. She was allegedly carrying classified information relating to an undisclosed FBI investigation.

She had picked up the material, a cassette tape spool, hidden in a cigarette pack and passed to her by an Army sergeant working as a double agent.

Michelson was charged with entering the United States for the "specific purpose of acquiring sensitive and classified information" for the KGB. If convicted, she would face up to life in prison.

In Morison's case, the FBI alleged that he disclosed three classified satellite photographs of a Soviet aircraft carrier under construction in a Black Sea

Surgery Often The Only Way To Prevent A Stroke

NEW YORK (UPI) — Surgery may prevent up to one out of every four strokes, a Cleveland Clinic expert says in a report to be delivered at the 34th annual convention of the Congress of Neurological Surgeons today.

Dr. John Little, who heads the Cerebrovascular Surgery Section at Cleveland Clinic Foundation, said in some cases preventing a stroke is the only way to treat it.

"Many strokes are the result of atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) of the carotid artery in the neck," he said. "The only treatment for these strokes is prevention."

"Fortunately, before suffering a major stroke, many individuals experience a minor spell or so-called transient ischemic attack (T.I.A.). It is for these people we often recommend surgery."

He said a T.I.A. consists of sudden paralysis or loss of sensation (numbness), usually involving one side of the body, loss of speech function or blindness in one eye.

Senate Rejects Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Driven by an election-year urge to go home and campaign, the Senate rejected civil rights legislation and pushed today to pass a catch-all money bill needed to keep government agencies operating past midnight.

The Senate worked until 2:40 a.m. before quitting for the night and planned to resume debate on the bill at 11 a.m.

The civil rights measure, which would have reversed a February Supreme Court decision that narrowed federal anti-discrimination laws, was fought in a legislative logjam for four days and threatened to delay Congress' adjournment, scheduled Friday.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was trying to attach the civil rights measure to the catch-all money bill that is necessary to fund agencies that have not received their regular appropriation. Money for the government actually ran out Monday, the start of the new fiscal year, but passage of a stopgap bill extended the deadline until midnight.

Heads May Roll At World's Fair

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The finance committee overseeing the money-losing World's Fair may ask that the fair's top administrators be fired for doing such a poor job, according to a governor's aide.

Bob D'Hermeccourt, aide to Gov. Edwin Edwards, said the finance committee will consider terminating fair president Petr Spurney, marketing director George Williams and several other officials at today's meeting.

Edwards said the fair, which is about $140 million in debt, needs to save money until its scheduled Nov. 11 closing.

D'Hermeccourt said the finance committee can only recommend the firings to the Louisiana World Exposition Inc., which runs the fair, but the committee could refuse to sign the men's paychecks.

Argumentative Dispatchers Face Discipline For Woman's Death

POMPAÑO BEACH (UPI) — City officials say disciplinary action will be taken against emergency dispatchers who argued over jurisdiction and delayed the arrival of medical help for a woman who died of a heart attack.

"The dispatchers involved are experienced, but there was definitely a mistake," Mike Weltman, assistant director of communications for Broward County, said Tuesday.

It is not known whether the mistake contributed to the death of 57-year-old Eunice Sanders of Pompano Beach, who suffered a heart attack. But, Weltman said, "There will definitely be some severe disciplinary action taken."

An investigation continued today and will be completed in "a couple of days," city officials said.

Kennedy Papers Under Wraps

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — The release of documents in the case of David Kennedy's death will be delayed until the 4th District Court of Appeal rules on the matter, prosecutors say.

Palm Beach County Assistant State Attorney Pablo Perhas won a temporary delay from the appeal court Tuesday in the release of statements from people who associated with Kennedy the week before he died.

The 28-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy died April 25 of an overdose of cocaine, the pain killer demerol and a sedative in a Palm Beach hotel room, just five miles from the oceanfront winter mansion of his grandmother, Rose Kennedy.

There was no indication when the appeal court would rule.

Daughter, Father Sue Each Other

MIAMI (UPI) — A daughter is seeking $2 million in damages from her father who is serving time in a Florida prison for hiring two men to beat her with a baseball bat and "get some revenge."

Her father, a 66-year-old legally blind and crippled diabetic, has filed a countersuit.

Kavilias contends his daughter removed almost $100,000 from a safe deposit box owned jointly by he and his daughter.

Miller, however, maintains she only took the money "temporarily" to ensure her mother received her fair share of it. Kavilias and his wife, Geneva, are involved in a six-year-old divorce suit.

Incompetence, Sexual Misconduct Charged

2 Local Teachers Lose Licenses

Two former Seminole County teachers — one with a master's degree — have lost their licenses on charges of incompetence and sexual misconduct.

The teachers were among 10 from across the state whose licenses were revoked last week by the Education Practices Commission, a branch of the Florida Department of Education, according to commission director Don Griesheimer.

Robert Steadman, who taught physical education and biology at Lake Brantley High School, lost his certificate for five years after being accused of touching and fondling two female students.

Janie Mae Mitchell, a former Lake Mary Elementary teacher, lost her license for two years because of professional incompetence.

Griesheimer said Steadman must get psychological counseling before he can be recertified. Ms. Mitchell, who holds a master's degree in elementary education from the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, will have to take college courses, a year-long internship and a certification exam.

The commission is the "final agency of discipline" on matters of teachers' certification. Griesheimer said his decisions may only be appealed to the state district court of appeals.

A staff assistant at Professional Practice Services, the DOE organization which investigates allegations against teachers, said in both cases the school board made the complaints to Commissioner of Education Ralph Turlington. The complaint against Ms. Mitchell was eight pages long, the assistant said.

Ms. Mitchell, 41, was a teacher in the county for about 14 years, according to Ann Neiswender, director of personnel services for the school system. She taught at Oviedo High School and Pine Crest Elementary for two years and was at Lake Mary for 12 years before she resigned in 1983.

Before coming to Seminole County, she taught in Ridgeland, South Carolina for one year. In addition to her master's degree, she has a bachelor's from Bethune Cookman College.

Steadman, 32, began his teaching career in Seminole County in 1974 after graduating from UCF. Ms. Neiswender said. He taught at Teague Middle School for two years before going to Lake Brantley. He was there until he resigned last December.

The forecasts are based on a 193-year-old secret formula developed by founder Robert Thomas. The formula is stashed in the almanac's offices, tucked in New Hampshire's Monadnock Mountains.

Abe predicts less snow for the East but colder temperatures. West of the Rockies, snow will be about average in the mountains, and the far West and Southwest can expect milder temperatures.

Central and northern California can expect a wet winter, with heavy snow in the mountains, Abe says. Floridians should have a slightly milder weather but beware a cold snap in January.

The 224-page Yankee bible has the familiar hole drilled through the upper left corner, handy for hanging next to the kitchen stove for reference or entertainment through the year.

It also contains a treasure trove of useful and questionable advice. Tops among the latter, "Three Ways to Hypnotize a Chicken," "The Oscillating Finger Method — moving a finger back and forth in front of a prone fowl — is one of the easier methods."

Almanac Predicts Less Snow, More Cold

Brrrrrrrrrr!

DUBLIN, N.H. (UPI) — Keep your woollies handy and stock the woodpile. The 193rd edition of the Old Farmer's Almanac predicts a somewhat moderate winter nationwide, but a cold mid-season punch in January.

The mustard-colored publication forecasts a mixed weather bag for the nation, with generally moderate winter conditions for the West and South. The East will see colder temperatures but less snow.

The venerable publication, the oldest continuously published periodical in America released its forecasts along with its usual droll doggerel and useful features, such as "Surefire Home Remedies for the Hiccups."

The nation's oldest forecaster, Abe Weatherwise, claims to be 80 percent accurate.

Abe's predictions admittedly wander occasionally. In 1983, for example, he predicted Hurricane Alicia, although a week early. The almanac did, however, hit the mark with the huge April blizzard that crippled New England a few years back.

The forecasts are based on a 193-year-old secret formula developed by founder Robert Thomas. The formula is stashed in the almanac's offices, tucked in New Hampshire's Monadnock Mountains.

Amendment 9 May Never Make It To Fall Election

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Doctors and lawyers fighting over a constitutional amendment that would limit payments for intangible injuries in negligence suits have spent more than $5 million on the bitter campaign.

And the Florida Supreme Court may call off the whole referendum.

With a month of television advertising remaining before the Nov. 5 election, the Florida Medical Association's "Reason '84" campaign committee reports total spending of more than $3.8 million.

Floridians Against Constitutional Tampering, the organization formed by trial lawyers to combat the amendment, reported spending just over $1.4 million.

The amendment, placed on the ballot through a four-month petition campaign financed by the FMA, would impose a $100,000 limit on court awards for pain and suffering, disfigurement, loss of companionship and other intangible damages in injury suits. Although aimed at holding down malpractice insurance awards, the amendment would apply to all forms of negligence suits.

The amendment would also require courts to apportion damages among defendants, when more than one is at fault, and to dismiss suits found to be groundless.

The Supreme Court heard an hour of arguments Monday on how the amendment got on the ballot, through a petition campaign financed by the FMA. Attorneys for opponents of the amendment said it would not only cut malpractice awards, but also limit potential damages against drunken drivers, toxic waste dumpers, manufacturers of faulty merchandise and even criminal offenders.

The court gave no indication when it would rule in the dispute, but a decision is expected soon — so that ballots can be distributed, with or without the amendment.

Supreme Court Upholds Florida Transcript Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has upheld a lower court ruling requiring Florida officials to provide trial transcripts to indigent prisoners who appeal their cases to the state high court.

The case before the court involved Rayfield Byrd who was convicted of first-degree murder and robbery in 1975 and sentenced to life in prison for the murder and robbery.

After a public defender said he could find no legal grounds to appeal Byrd's conviction, the inmate decided to appeal himself and asked to see a copy of the transcript of his trial.

Byrd got a copy of the transcript on Oct. 12, 1978 and was able to keep it until Jan. 10, 1977 when a state appeal court ordered him to relinquish it to a co-defendant. The appeals court upheld his conviction four months later.

In 1980, Byrd asked the Florida Supreme Court to reverse the conviction because he was not able to review the trial transcript after the appeals court upheld his conviction.

The Florida high court ruled it was not the responsibility of the state to provide a trial transcript, but was up to the county government to support the cost of an indigent prisoner's appeal.

But the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reviewed the case and ruled Byrd had a constitutional right to petition the state courts to review his conviction and that right would be "barren" without the right to see his trial transcript.

The Supreme Court has previously ruled that every defendant in a criminal case has a constitutional right to be defended by a lawyer at trial and appeal a guilty verdict, but has not said whether the constitution requires a lawyer on appeal or a transcript copy.

Swerving Car, Falling Chair Subject Of Lawsuits

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A former Maitland woman is suing her insurance company, claiming the $10,000 it paid her for injuries she received in a car accident did not cover her costs of suffering.

In a second suit, a Longwood couple is suing Zayra of Sanford because a loaded box fell off a display and struck one of them.

Ann E. Condon, formerly of 1039 Manchester Circle, Maitland, but now of New Hampshire, filed suit Friday against Dixie Insurance Co., of Lauderhill, Fla., over an Oct. 5, 1980 auto accident.

She is suing for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the complaint, Ms. Condon was a passenger in a car traveling on state Road 436 near Red Bug Road when a car with an unknown driver pulled into the path of the car in which she was riding, causing it to swerve off the road and throw her onto the floor.

Ms. Condon states in her suit that the swerving off the road caused her permanent injury to her head, neck, back, leg, spine, and nervous system, including significant and permanent loss of an unstated important bodily function and aggravation of an arthritic condition.

She said in the complaint that her insurance company paid her $10,000, the limit of her policy, but that the sum did not cover the cost of her injuries or compensate for her suffering.

She states she has suffered great mental and physical pain, anguish, embarrassment and loss of the capacity to enjoy a normal life.

Swerving Car, Falling Chair Subject Of Lawsuits

The suit asks for a trial by jury and the awarding of costs and attorney fees. No trial date has been set.

In a second suit filed Friday, Evelyn and Forrest Wagner are suing Zayras, 2938 Orlando Drive, Sanford, over a falling box.

According to the complaint, Mrs. Wagner was browsing in the store on Nov. 29 when a 20-pound box holding a folding chair suddenly fell from its display and landed on her head.

She is asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

She states that she was grievously injured and received head, neck and back injuries and aggravation of an existing arthritic condition.

Her husband is suing for medical expenses incurred and loss of his wife's services and consortium.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Freezing temperatures loosened their grip on most of the nation today and thunderstorms fed by a dying tropical storm in Mexico dumped rain in the desert Southwest and southern Rocky Mountains. Freezing temperatures were on tap only in northern New England and northern New York. The mercury dipped to 29 early today at Massena, N.Y. Showers lingered over the northeastern corner of the nation. Tropical storm Polo, rapidly weakening in western Mexico, provided moisture that fueled storms across the desert Southwest, threatening flash floods in eastern Arizona and southern New Mexico. Heavy rainfall Tuesday in the southern Rockies and the mountains of Arizona poured 2 inches of rain on Globe, Ariz., and nearly an inch at Greer and Pinetop, Ariz., and Chama, N.M. A hail storm at Globe and Miami, Ariz., dumped stones the National Weather Service said were the size of tennis balls in some areas. The storm damaged paint jobs on cars and produced some street flooding. Rain drenched New England, with about 3 inches reported at Concord, N.H., and Boston. Temperatures across the Plains Tuesday were as much as 25 degrees warmer than they were Monday, but cold temperature records were set in two dozen cities from Texas to Georgia. The mercury dipped to 39 at Tallahassee, eclipsing a record of 45 set in 1967.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 84; overnight low: 57; Tuesday's high: 78; barometric pressure: 30.19; relative humidity: 78 percent; winds: northwest at 5 mph; no rain; sunrise: 7:19 a.m.; sunset: 7:09 p.m.

THURSDAY TIDES: Daytona Beach: highs, 4:50 a.m., 5:25 p.m.; lows, 4:42 a.m., 5:17 p.m.; Fort Canaveral: highs, 4:42 a.m., 5:17 p.m.; lows, 10:37 a.m., 11:22 p.m.

Support: highs, 10:06 a.m., — p.m.; lows, 4:47 a.m., 5:43 p.m.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Northeast wind near 15 knots today through Thursday. Seas 3 to 5 feet. Fair weather.

Cash, Money Orders Taken In Post Office Holdup

A gunman got away with an undisclosed amount of cash and three money orders in a post office holdup at Springs Plaza, state Road 434, Longwood.

Postal clerk Lorraine Claire Lucas told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was alone in the post office when the robber entered at 1:37 p.m. Tuesday and pointed a handgun at her.

A sheriff's report said the man, who is about 30 years old and 6-feet tall, "demanded all the monies."

Ms. Lucas handed over cash and three money orders for $310, $375 and $425 to the bandit who then fled on foot.

BATTERED WIFE & CAR

An Oviedo man who allegedly entered his in-laws' Oviedo home, beat his wife, threatened her with a butcher knife and smashed out the windows of her car has been charged with spouse abuse.

Ethel Denmark, 29, of E. Broadway St., Oviedo, reported to sheriff's deputies that the suspect attacked her as she slept at about 1 a.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Denmark's mother, Marge Jefferson and stepfather Eualay Baggitt, told deputies that they separated the couple during the attack.

The suspect was ordered to leave, but instead he reportedly took a butcher knife from the kitchen and threatened to cut Mrs. Denmark's throat. The witnesses once again stepped between the pair and the suspect reportedly went outside and smashed out the windows of Mrs. Denmark's 1975 Chevrolet.

The suspect was at the scene and was reportedly arguing with Mrs. Denmark in the front yard when deputies arrived.

Edward E. Denmark, 30, of P.O. Box 484, was arrested at his in-laws' house on Denise Street, Oviedo, at about 1:15 a.m. Tuesday. He was later released on $500 bond.

DEALER & GUNWOMAN ARRESTS

A Sanford police officer who reportedly recognized a passenger in a vehicle as a suspect who had sold him a bag of marijuana in an undercover deal on Aug. 31, arrested that woman along with another woman in the car who reportedly was carrying a concealed handgun.

The officer spotted the women in a car with a man on 13th Street at Olive Avenue, Sanford, at about 1 p.m. Monday. He stopped the vehicle and arrested the woman who had allegedly sold him a $30 bag of pot at the Handy Way on Celery Avenue at Elliott Street, Sanford, in August.

Rose M. Ramsay, 22, of 2422-B

S. Lake Ave., Sanford, was charged with sale and delivery of a controlled substance. She was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Lori C. Faircloth, 19, of the same address, was charged with possession of a concealed firearm after the lawman reportedly spotted at small handgun in her purse. She was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond. The man was not charged.

ROBBERY IN PARK

A Sanford man told police he was robbed as he walked through a park late at night.

Keith Coomer, 21, reported that he was walking through Centennial Park at 400 Park Ave. Friday, when a man ran up behind him, struck him in the back and tried to take his wallet. Coomer said the man brandished a .22-caliber pistol and hit him in the face. The gunman then took the wallet which contained $9 in cash and a $127.95 paycheck. Coomer was treated by emergency medical technicians for scrapes.

LUNCHROOM THIEF

Someone broke into a Sanford school and stole 95 pounds of food, six dozen hamburger buns and three baking pans.

According to a Sanford police report, between 5:30 p.m. Thursday and 7:30 a.m. Friday, someone entered the Goldsboro Elementary School, 1301 W. 16th St., and took 60 pounds of beef franks worth $53.64, 30 pounds of chicken valued at $46.14, five pounds of fish and cheese worth $4.80 and six dozen hamburger buns valued at $4.56.

The thief also took three baking pans valued together at $26.80.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Carol A. Biggers, 30, of 1361 Hobson St., Longwood, was arrested at 2:27 a.m. Tuesday after she failed to dim the bright lights of her vehicle after a deputy signaled her to do so on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood.

—David Wayne Drummond, 25, of 707 Church Ave., Longwood, was arrested at 3:24 a.m. Monday after his car failed to maintain a single lane on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license and having an improper license tag.

—Ralph Donald Myers, 19, of 170 Edgemon Ave., Winter Springs, at 1:50 a.m. Saturday after an accident on state Road 434, Winter Springs. He was also

Gun Toting Woman Jailed After Woman Attacked In Apartment

An Altamonte Springs woman who allegedly forced her way into an Altamonte Springs home, pulled a revolver from her boot and threatened the occupants has been charged with aggravated assault with a firearm and burglary to an occupied dwelling.

The woman, who apparently cut her arm on a broken window when she tried to enter the apartment at 185 E. Altamonte Drive #103, was arrested at Florida Hospital-Altamonte, where she was treated shortly after the 2 a.m. Monday break-in, according to sheriff's deputy John Negri who made the arrest.

A loaded .22-caliber revolver was found in the front yard of the victim's house, Negri said.

Apartment owner Isabella Arndet, 29, told deputies that when she and three friends returned to her home at about 2 a.m. Monday they spotted the suspect apparently trying to enter the apartment through a broken window. Ms. Arndet ordered the woman to leave, but the suspect forced her way into the home and allegedly began beating 24-year-old Pamela Kay Sparks, of Orlando, about the head and face, the report said.

No reason for the assault was given in the arrest report. When Ms. Arndet and her friends came to Ms. Sparks' aid, the suspect allegedly pulled the loaded gun from her boot and threatened to kill them, the report said.

An Orlando woman, Peggy Corbett, who was with the suspect, reportedly disarmed the woman and Dennis R. Pack of Leesburg, a friend of Ms. Arndet, hid the gun in the front yard.

Deputies arrived and reported finding the suspect hiding near the house and they found the gun in the yard.

Sandra Marie Kortright, 27, of 310-F Cherokee Court, was arrested at 4:17 a.m. Monday. She was transported to the Seminole County jail after receiving stitches in her arm and was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Countdown Begins For Friday Launch Of Shuttle Challenger

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The countdown clocks began ticking today for Friday's launch of the shuttle Challenger on an eight-day mission that includes the first spacewalk by an American woman.

The 43-hour countdown, which has about 11 hours of planned "holds" for any problems that might develop, began on time at 1 a.m. and is scheduled to end at 7:03 a.m. Friday with the ground-shaking start of Challenger's sixth voyage.

Commander Rober Crippen, pilot Jon McBride and crew members Sally Ride, Kathryn Sullivan, David Leestma, Paul Scully-Power and Canadian

Marc Garneau spoke to reporters briefly after their flight from Houston.

Crippen and McBride then began practicing touch-and-go landings in a jet trainer rigged to mimic the shuttle's delicate handling. Challenger is scheduled to end its mission at the Kennedy Space Center's 3-mile-long runway on Oct. 13.

Ride will launch a satellite shortly after blastoff that is designed to study Earth's climate. Leestma and Sullivan, who will become the first American woman to walk in space, will conduct a spacewalk on the fifth day of the mission to demonstrate satellite refueling techniques.

A Knocking At The Door

Nearly 30 years ago, the development of psychotropic drugs that modify moods and behavior opened new vistas for the treatment of the mentally ill. With drug therapy, patients who might have needed long-term hospitalization could be treated on an outpatient basis. Meanwhile, the concept of self-help recovery groups and halfway houses for the mentally ill was beginning to emerge. Health agencies saw an attractive alternative to the warehousing of mental patients in large, grim "insane asylums."

Thus began a conscious effort to deinstitutionalize the mentally ill in America, to shift the focus of mental treatment from large institutions to local communities. Beginning with the creation by Congress of the Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health in 1955, legislative acts at the federal and state level began reflecting the new emphasis on community treatment facilities.

What has happened in the intervening years shows how a praiseworthy undertaking can go wrong in the most tragic way. A study by the American Psychiatric Association (APA) says deinstitutionalization has been a "disastrous" failure, creating a new class of derelict — the homeless mentally ill.

"Hardly a section of the country, urban or rural," the report says, "has escaped the ubiquitous presence of ragged, ill and hallucinating human beings, wandering through our city streets, huddled in alleyways or sleeping over vents." One does not have to look far to see evidence of what the APA refers to as a "moral scandal."

Since 1955, the number of patients being treated in large public mental hospitals has been cut by three-fourths. But the development of new community mental health facilities has not proceeded at a corresponding rate. Hence the release of mental patients into communities that are not prepared to receive them.

The APA study does not recommend how mental health programs should be reorganized and administered to keep patients from falling through the cracks, nor does it estimate how much it would cost to provide shelter, food, clothing and medical treatment for those now wandering the streets. It is significant, however, that the study does not find fault with the concept that patients would be better off being treated in community programs than in hospitals.

New forms of therapy and better understanding of the mentally ill mean that we do not have to lock up all mental patients in institutions. But that does not end our responsibility; it only moves the problem to our local doorstep. The APA report on the homeless mentally ill should be taken as a knocking at the door that demands a response.

While Cap Fiddles

To the $438 hammer and the $1,118 plastic stool-leg cap that the Pentagon recently picked up, add now that $7,622, 10-cup Air Force coffee maker and the $180 rechargeable flashlight that's supposed to work even if submerged but which, in more ways than one, doesn't hold water.

These latest boondoggles were reported by a retiring Air Force officer, an enlisted man from Travis Air Force Base and a civilian Air Force employee who said his job ratings had gone way down since he began to complain about the practice of throwing away new or repairable parts.

The three testified, they said, out of frustration at their inability to interest Air Force higher-ups in those problems. Obviously, the stories of extravagance and mismanagement of the past couple of years — in these instances only symbolic of larger problems in cost and quality control — haven't yet given the Pentagon and its civilian leaders much respect either for efficiency or public image, and until a few people get publicly disciplined, they probably never will.

Are you listening, Cap the Knife?

BERRY'S WORLD

"Let's have a cocktail party and invite half PRO-LIFE and half PRO-CHOICE friends."

DICK WEST

It's A Little Bit Like Johnathan Swiftie

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The uncertainties of writing books of political parody are seldom more poignantly summed up than by Peter Cohn, one of the authors of "The Reagan Report."

The ideal time for such an enterprise is during a presidential campaign. But draw a literary cartoon of one of the candidates during the primary season and a rival almost certainly will win the party's nomination.

Or wait until after the national political conventions and the election may be over before the manuscript sees the light of print.

According to the "Guinness Book of World Records," the fastest paperback publishing time was 46.5 hours posted by Bantam Books for "Miracle on Ice" after the U.S. hockey team won a gold medal in the 1980 Olympics.

Bantam claims to have bettered that mark with "Carl," a biography of Carl Lewis, a three-medal winner in the 1984 Olympics. However, USCO Parody Inc., described in promotional literature as "soon to be a major conglomerate," is not so fast.

So, Cohn, the editor of USCO, which packaged this book, decided to play it safe.

"We were more interested in Reagan as president than as a presidential candidate," he told me. "Moreover, we were pretty sure Reagan would be renominated and would win in November."

If that makes his contribution to political parody at bit one-sided, so be it.

I encountered Cohn during a promotional tour he is making with his co-author, Tom Hendra.

The biggest surprise thus far, said Cohn, who works out of New York, is Reagan's clout with young people.

"They love this guy," he affirmed. "The latest teenage fad is copying Reagan's hair style."

That includes, he added, exhibiting his style of parody, using a preparation that turns hair gray, but nobody notices.

It's a pity, in a way, that Cohn and Hendra couldn't have foreseen the nomination of Geraldine Ferraro as the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

She has been an even more tempting target for parodists than Reagan. One of the newer efforts, the "Geraldine Ferraro Coloring Book," includes a portrait of the candidate standing over an ironing board.

"The Reagan Report," by contrast, if it is a contrast, unveils a plan to put the battleship New Jersey into orbit "as the flagship of America's new fleet of space weapons."

According to words Cohn and Hendra put into Reagan's mouth, "the New Jersey is but one example of how the administration is saving money by making the most out of our existing arsenal."

Meanwhile, the state of New Jersey is included in a highway beautification program involving "thousands of billboards painted with inspirational scenes from nature."

"Along the New Jersey Turnpike," the authors tell us, parody going full tilt, "gorgeous underwater scenes make the once drab scenery look like a Cousteau show."

Considering all the risks involved in starting work on the book in February, I thought their venture into political parody turned out rather well and I join Cohn in hoping "it sells more copies than Walter Mondale gets votes."

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Pearl Harbor Lesson

There's never a time when it isn't appropriate to be concerned about the security of the United States. We live in an age of ongoing threats — more and different threats perhaps than our ablest military men realize.

That thought comes to mind in reading a monumental account of the Pearl Harbor disaster by the late Prof. Gordon Prange. This great book, entitled At Dawn We Slept, is a reminder that Americans should never forget Pearl Harbor. They should never forget that their country was the victim of a brutal surprise attack, that it was caught unaware, paralyzed in complacency and military routine, and narrowly escaped defeat. Americans underestimated their enemy in the Pacific; they paid a terrible price for this underestimation.

America's responsible authorities in the 1980s believe that they have learned the lesson of Pearl Harbor. Let's hope and pray they have. The United States invests billions of dollars in intelligence and surveillance activities. The layman wonders: are we missing something? In early 1941, the U.S. Army and Navy and the civilian authorities in Washington also thought they were on top of the situation.

America's leadership 43 years ago didn't appreciate the brilliance of Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, Commander in Chief of Japan's Combined Fleet, who conceived the Pearl Harbor attack plan and was responsible for its adoption. Americans also didn't appreciate the abilities of the Japanese, what the editors of Dr. Prange's book describe as the Japanese Navy's "precise planning, tireless training, fanatical dedication, iron determination, technical know-how, tactical excellence, clever deception measures, intelligence well-gathered and effectively disseminated, plain guts — and uncommon luck."

One wonders whether, in the mid-1980s, America's leaders aren't making a similar misjudgment of today's adversaries. In 1941, the U.S. authorities didn't believe that the Japanese attack could come from the North, as it did. Is there a similar misjudgment today with respect to the southern frontier of the United States, which seems singularly lacking in defenses? Is this a hole in contemporary U.S. defenses? Drug smugglers seem able to penetrate this serial frontier with relative difficulty.

Loopholes Used To Channel Profits

WASHINGTON — The public is rightfully outraged by revelations that the Pentagon routinely pays exorbitant prices for spare parts, hand tools and coffee-makers.

Despite the shocking extravagance laid bare by such stories, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and his subordinate spendthrifts insist that these horror stories are the exceptions, not the rule. The system, they say, is basically sound.

But is it? As part of our continuing series on waste in government, my associate Donald Goldberg has studied an internal analysis of certain Navy contracts by investigators for the House Appropriations Committee. The analysis was not intended to be made public, but I think its conclusions deserve to be shouted from the rooftops.

In a nutshell, the committee investigators found that two major shipbuilders are making profits of more than 20 percent — in one case, nearly 30 percent — on nuclear

JEFFREY HART

James Bond Stockdale

Americans have a remarkable capacity to put disasters behind them and move on, and there has been remarkably little recrimination about our failure to achieve our aims in Vietnam, i.e., the survival of non-communist South Vietnam. In much of the world, a failure of this sort would produce generations of bitterness and endless arguments over how to apportion the blame. After all, we lost 50,000 men in Vietnam and spent billions, and Saigon is now called Ho Chi Minh City.

These reflections arise because I have just finished a remarkable new book by James Stockdale and his wife Sybil.

Stockdale was a Navy pilot, a squadron leader with the rank of commander, and began flying bombing missions off U.S. carriers against North Vietnamese targets in 1964. His name is, no kidding, James Bond Stockdale.

He flew over and around the American destroyers when they thought they were under attack in the Gulf of Tonkin incident, which led to the Senate resolution that was virtually a declaration of war. The destroyers had been attacked by North Vietnamese torpedo boats the day before, but Stockdale is convinced in his testimony that the supposed follow-up attack was an illusion. Historically speaking, this is a technicality. The Johnson administration was going to escalate the war, and, if not on Monday, then on Thursday. After all, thousands of North Vietnamese regulars were pouring down the network of jungle trails known as the Ho Chi Minh Trail into the beleaguered South.

On Sept. 9, 1965, Commander Stockdale entered Hell. He was shot down over North Vietnam and broke his back and leg in his parachute descent. When the authorities got hold of him, they tortured him repeatedly and excruciatingly in defiance of the Geneva conventions, which they openly ridiculed. They kept Stockdale and other American prisoners in abominable conditions and repeatedly threatened them with death.

This story, entitled "In Love and War," is unusual in a literary way. It consists of alternate chapters written by James Stockdale and his wife Sybil. He recounts his experience, while she describes her efforts to live in the knowledge of his circumstances and her attempts to get the U.S. administration in Washington to acknowledge, do-something-about, the horrible circumstances of our prisoners in Hanoi.

These are genuinely modest people, also patient. They seem to think that they behaved as any American couple would behave, and that is a nice thought. When forced by torture to make public statements about American war crimes, Stockdale resisted until the breaking point, and then inserted little "mistakes" indicating that the statement was bogus.

Now, here, we come to the darker side of things. American leftists were actively cooperating with the North Vietnamese enemy.

One of Stockdale's torturers was known as the "Cat." Listen: "Knowing that a visiting left-wing American could blow the whistle on me should Cat show the letter to him accounted for much of my expenditure of emotional energy. Had he done that (and I luckily sneaked under their wire, because cross-checking prisoners' writings with the American radicals later became commonplace), the North Vietnamese retribution would have been swift and severe."

One's reaction to this really cannot be committed to print designed for general circulation.

VIEWPOINT

On The Newest Patriotism

By John Cregan

While the recovery of the last 19 months has witnessed the renaissance of such labor-intensive industries as automobiles, the so-called "new patriotism" has doubtless resulted in a boom-time for the manufacturers of American flags.

The rebirth of patriotic sentiment in America can probably be traced to the dark days of 1979 and the Iranian hostage crisis.

The sight of trampled "Old Glory" and "Uncle Sam" effigies in the streets of Teheran sparked a pro-American reaction in the U.S. which ascended to high gear during the recent Olympic games in Los Angeles.

At the same time, others have discovered the apparent dividends in cornering the market on patriotism.

Two years ago, USA Today billing itself "America's newspaper" was started. Cable TV mogul, Ted Turner, has christened the baseball club he owns "America's team."

And Ralph Lauren, the fashion designer, has introduced a new line of clothes designated "American wear."

Until recently, patriotism translated into a broad, general consensus among Republicans and Democrats in the area of foreign policy because it is the one area that most affects the national security.

Sadly, there is no longer such a foreign policy consensus among our two parties.

Old-style liberals like the late Senator Henry Jackson, whatever his disagreements on domestic issues, agreed with his conservative colleagues that Soviet expansionism constituted the greatest threat to American security.

"Liberal" anti-communists like Henry Jackson are a dying breed.

Today's Congressional liberals do not share the same appreciation of the Communist threat as conservatives.

Many of them came to power when flag burning was more trendy than flag waving.

So far, the return of patriotism has yet to bring a return of consensus over what is in the best security interests of America.

contract officers think it should be.

The House committee investigators looked at just five contracts awarded to General Dynamics' Electric Boat Division in Groton, Conn., and Tenneco's Newport News, Va., shipyard. By putting the cost-of-money giveaway in the profit column, they arrived at the shipbuilders' "real" profits on the contracts. Here they are:

— For one Los Angeles-class nuclear sub with a target price of nearly $240 million, Electric Boat will make a profit of more than $42 million, or 21.7 percent.

— For a similar sub with an estimated cost of $292 million, Electric Boat will make a profit of $43 million, or 17.3 percent.

— A Los Angeles-class sub built by Newport News has a target price of $238 million, on which the company stands to make a profit of $48 million, or 25.6 percent.

— A Trident-735 submarine being built by Electric Boat will cost an estimated $532.6 million. The profit will be nearly $96 million, or 22 percent.

— Aircraft carriers to be built by Newport News will cost an estimated $3.3 billion. The profit on the contract will total $753 million, or 29.7 percent.

Unfortunately, there's little chance that Loophole No. 414 will be plugged anytime soon. Acting right in character, the Pentagon brass have put the accounting henhouse in the foxy hands of the defense procurement office — the contractors' best friend at the five-sided fund factory on the Potomac.

As if that weren't enough to ensure continued waste and extravagance by the armed services, the Pentagon last year asked for and received authority to "adopt, reject or grant exemptions to" regulations intended to keep defense contractors from gouging the taxpayers.

So if a contractor wants to charge $400 for a ballpeen hammer, or make 30 percent profit on a weapon, all he has to do is ask a pal at the Pentagon.

Cubs Plaster Padres, 13-0

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Cubs took out 20 years of frustration on the San Diego Padres before a pennant-hungry Wrigley Field crowd, raising their blue and white "W" flag atop the centerfield flag pole for the first time in post-season play since 1945.

But the Cubs — and history — can serve a warning that the record 13-0 thrashing Chicago gave San Diego in the Padres' first-ever post-season game doesn't necessarily foretell a three-game championship series sweep.

"I think (Padres pitching coach) Norm Sherry told me during the game they lost the first game of the World Series 11-1 (to the Chicago White Sox) and then they won four straight," said San Diego manager Dick Williams.

Actually, the Los Angeles Dodgers won the 1959 World Series in six games but Williams' point was that a lopsided loss is no worse than losing 1-0.

San Diego will come back with southpaw Mark Thurmond in Game 2

today against Steve Trout, 13-7, another left-hander, for the Cubs. The wind will be blowing out again as warm, windy conditions were forecast.

"I beat the Cubs here last July 4-0 and the wind was blowing out," said Thurmond, a 14-game winner for the Padres. "But I kept the ball down. On Wednesday, I obviously can't get my pitches up."

Trout was 1-2 against the Padres in 1984 with a high 6.20 ERA, highest among the Cubs' starters.

The Cubs' victory in their first post-season game since 1945 was typical of their Eastern Division title winning campaign.

Chicago, which banged out 16 hits, eight for extra bases, relied on power aided by a 20 mph wind blowing out, good defense and a typically strong performance from Cy Young candidate Rick Sutcliffe.

Chicago set 12 batting National League Championship Series records in the game in racking up the largest margin of victory in the history of the championship series in the senior circuit.

Gary Matthews, the hitting star of the balanced attack with a pair of homers and four RBI, admitted the Cubs are tailor-made to play at Wrigley when the wind blows out.

"Of course our ballclub is going to be tough when the wind blows out," said Matthews, who now has hit homers in four straight LCS games — the final three with the Phillies last year. "This ballpark is built for us."

Matthews belted a three-run shot in the six-run fifth that blew the game open. Every Cub starter had at least one hit and RBI and all but Leon Durham scored at least one run.

Bob Dernier, who led off with a homer

for the Cubs, conceded that such a one-sided result could wind up helping the Padres.

"If anything, it will help San Diego and make them mad for tomorrow," said Dernier, the first player ever to lead off a game in NLCS play with a roundtripper.

Ron Cey and Sutcliffe, who pitched a two-hitter for seven innings, also hit homers in the five-home run attack which also was a LCS record. The only hits Sutcliffe allowed were a bunt single by Steve Garvey in the fourth and a bloop single by Garry Templeton leading off the fifth.

Trammell, Morris Put Hurt On KC

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The media voting for major league baseball's "most" awards closed Monday so Alan Trammell and Jack Morris took their cases to the public a day later.

Trammell, who appeared a lock for the American League Most Valuable Player award at mid-season but saw his campaign slowed in the second half by tendinitis in his shoulder, reached base five times on a single, triple, homer and two walks to deliver the Detroit Tigers an 8-1 victory Tuesday night over the Kansas City Royals in the opening game of the American League Championship Series.

Morris, who appeared a lock for the AL Cy Young Award after a 10-1 start only to go 9-10 the rest of the way, dazzled both the Royals and a national television audience by scattering five hits and striking out four over seven innings before departing with a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Morris had a fastball consistently clocked in the 90s and kept the Royals off balance with the split-finger variety of his fastball to pitch the Tigers to their seventh consecutive victory without defeat in Royals Stadium this season.

"He's the ace, the best in the business," said Detroit catcher Lance Parrish, who chipped in a home run Tuesday night. "There's nothing more you can say except that each time out the Tigers have a chance to win."

"He's hittable and he's beatable," Kansas City third baseman George Brett countered, "but we didn't do either. He had the best stuff I've seen from him in a long time. He's one of the best pitchers not only in the American League but all of baseball."

Brett, ironically, was the key out in the game for Morris. After Don Slaught and Willie Wilson singled and Pat Sheridan walked to load the bases in the third inning, Brett stroled to the plate with his team trailing 2-0.

Brett, who has a lifetime .316 average against the Tigers, then stroked a sinking line drive to right field that Kirk Gibson went to his knees to snare for the final out of the inning. Morris then set down the next nine Royals to let his team build a 5-0 advantage.

"It was a foreboding and I knew I hit it on the good part of the bat," Brett said of his third-inning shot, "but it didn't sound good so I thought it was a base hit for sure."

"On (artificial) turf, with the fences as far back as they are, the outfielders play deeper here than they would in Detroit. And then when he dove for it, I thought he was crazy. If it gets by him we've got the lead. But it turned out I was crazy."

Detroit took the lead 10 pitches into the game. Lou Whitaker stroked a 3-2 pitch from Bud Black to center for a single and, after Trammell worked the Kansas City left-hander to a 2-2 count, the Detroit shortstop drove a liner over the head of left fielder Darryl Motley that hit the base of the wall and died.

By the time Motley retrieved it, Whitaker had scored and Trammell had circled the bases for a triple. Two batters later, Parrish drove a sacrifice fly 400 feet to right center to give the Tigers what would prove to be an insurmountable 2-0 lead.

Trammell walked in the third led off the fifth with a homer and singled home another run in the seventh. He closed out his batting exhibition with an eighth-inning walk. But it was a performance the Tigers have come to expect from Trammell, who hit .314 this season and .420 against the Royals.

"You realize what Trammell does for a club, especially when you miss him for a few games," Morris said. "He's my MVP because he's there contributing every day."

Larry Herndon led off the fourth with a homer off Kansas City's ace Black, who won 17 games during the season and finished with the second best earned run average (3.12) in the league. Black was eventually pulled after five innings after having allowed seven hits and four runs.

"Getting off to a big lead takes a whole load off everybody," Trammell said. "We feel when Jack's going out on the mound we should be in the ball game."

The two teams will meet again tonight in Game 2 before the best-of-five series.

Jiunto, Cole, Burgess Lead Tribe's Sweep

By Chris Flister Herald Sports Writer

Stacy Jiunto, Shawna Cole and Chuck Burgess churned to two first places each to lead Seminole High's swimming team to a sweep of Apopka Tuesday at Sanford's Sanora swimming pool.

The Seminole boys team breezed to a 106-44 victory over Apopka while the Lady Seminole claimed a 70-40 victory. Both the boys team now stands at 3-1 while the girls improved to 3-2. Both teams will return to action Thursday at 3:30 p.m. against Evans at Sanora.

In the girls meet, Jiunto claimed first places in the 200 freestyle (2:28.7) and the 500 free (6:37.3) while Cole won both the 200 individual medley (2:56.5) and the 100 fly (1:23.3). Cole and Jiunto also contributed to the 200 medley relay team's first place and that team also included Dana Ray and Kristy Keeling. Ray also took first place in the 200 backstroke with a time of 1:18.3.

Second place finishes for the Lady Tribe included Keeling in the 50 free (28.9), Leann Sundvall in the 100 free (1:07.9) and Chris Sparrow and Christy Gonzalez tied for second in the diving competition at 91.75.

In the boys meet, Burgess picked up first places in the 100 fly (55.3) and the 100 back (59.25). Jamie Bojanowski took first place in the 200 individual medley (2:25.2) while Scott Carter was first in the 50 free (27.8) and Mark Klein won the diving competition with a score of 114.7.

Seminole also won both relays as the 200 medley team of Burgess, Klein, Bojanowski and Boney recorded a time of 1:58.3 and the 400 free relay team of David Houghton, Mike Anderson, Carter and Brantley Robert turned in a time of 4:44.8.

LYMAN GIRLS DUNK BUCS
Lyman's girls team, the defending Five Star Conference champion, opened the season in fine fashion as the Lady Greyhounds took first place in every event en route to a 120-51 rout of Daytona Beach Mainland Tuesday at Lyman High.

"That's the first time I've seen a complete sweep in a long time," Lyman coach Don Clark said.

First places for the Lady Greyhounds included Jane Hall in the 200 freestyle (2:07.2) and the 500 free (5:39.0), Karen Long in the 200 individual medley (2:27.4) and the 100 fly (1:04.8), Shannon Parker in the 50 free (28.5) and the 100 free (58.0), Christy McLeod in the 100 backstroke (1:13.7), Katie Lindenfeld in the 100 breaststroke (1:25.3) and Shari Siegriat won the diving.

Lyman also won both relays, 2:04.7 in the 200 medley and 4:18.2 in the 400 free relay.

While the girls team had an easy time, Lyman's boys team came up with an impressive 101-82 victory over Mainland, the defending conference boys champion.

First places for the Lyman boys included Billy Cook in the 200 free (1:52.9) and 500 free (4:56.2) and Charlie Rose in the 200 individual medley (2:08.8) and 100 back (58.8). The Greyhounds also won both relays with a time of 1:50.0 in the 200 medley and a 3:36.5 in the 400 free.

Lyman is back in action Thursday as it hosts West Orange at 4 p.m.

Grammatically Speaking, Scott Catches Them, Too

Chuck Scott has never been your typical football player. Sure, he has the size and savvy to fight the stereotype of the major college jock. But the former Lake Howell standout could always play the game upstairs, too.

Scott showed off some of his academic skills recently in the Vanderbilt weightroom. Scott had caught 10 passes for 160-some yards and two TDs as the Commodores beat Maryland.

During the next day's accounts of the game in the Nashville Tennessean, a story by Jimmy Davy caught Chuck's eye. When Davy wandered into the weightroom the next day, Scott jumped on him about being misquoted in the story.

Davy, surprised, asked where? Chuck pointed out a grammatical error and said he'd never use that term. Davy apologized and went away akaking his head. "Only at Vanderbilt could something like this happen," he quipped.

Vandy is very proud of its academic tradition and Chuck Scott showed you why...

Does consistency pay off? Not in Mike Henley's case. The Lyman senior linebacker must be yelling "Oh, Brother" after Friday night. Henley has put together double-figure tackle statistics for the past three weeks. He has steadily maintained his pace among the top three.

Henley collected 10 solos and seven assists Friday against Lake Mary and seemed ready to take over. Then, however, Seminole went into overtime and the DeBose brothers — Mike and Bryan — used the four extra periods to fatten their stats and overtake Henley.

Mike DeBose had 18 solos and nine assists while Bryan had 11 and nine. Mike DeBose vaulted into the lead with 16.3 per game while Bryan (15.7) and

Sam Cook Sports Editor

Henley (14.0) are next in line.

Speaking of the Lyman-Lake Mary game, don't ask Ram Charlie Lucarelli how he did. Lucarelli, who had a chance to pick up some rushing yardage on leader Charles "Pop" Bowers, scratched out a measly 12 yards on 10 carries. Let's see, at 10 cents a yard from the "Old Man" that's $1.20. Charlie. Don't let the NCAA find out, you'll never go to Florida. Or get rich either.

Lake Howell's Jeron Evans isn't having any trouble holding onto the ball. The senior wideout grabbed six passes for 82 yards in a loss to DeLand. Evans has 18 grabs for 238 yards and four TDs...

The Rams-Greyhounds battle must have been brutal. Lake Mary won on the scoreboard as Ray Hartfield put on a great all-around show, but injury-wise Lake Mary took a beating.

Linebacker Billy "Bang Bang" Caughell fractured his wrist and may miss two weeks. Fullback Scott Underwood has a fracture or a bad bruise. He'll miss the same. The worst injury, though, was suffered by defensive end Walt White. The tenacious senior injured some cartilage in his knee and will miss four weeks.

White's determination wasn't dented, however. "Just move me to tackle," he told assistant coach Doug Peters. "I don't have to move around as much there."

With spirit like that, it's no wonder Lake Mary is 3-0.

Too Many Stalls Constitute Unethical Gamesmanship

Almost every day I am asked several questions about situations that arise during a tennis match and what the proper rule for a certain instance really is.

Tennis is a game full of complexities when it comes to its scoring and the rules involved. The situation is made more difficult because in the majority of matches the players keep their own score, make their own calls and must rule on any situation that may arise.

Many times the decisions that are made are against the rules and may be totally wrong for the given situation. The following is a list of commonly asked questions concerning rules and regulations and the answers to these questions. I hope that they might help you in making the proper decision the next time they occur in your match.

Question: After my opponent had indicated that he was ready, I would start to serve; then he would hold up his hand, stop me, and say he wasn't ready, and I would have to start all over again. He did this with such frequency that I think he did it just to upset me. Was his conduct ethical?

Ruling: Considering that he put on his act quite often, it seems almost certain that he was practicing unethical gamesmanship. More important, his conduct was illegal. Once the receiver indicates he is ready, unless a specific interference, such as a ball from another court coming on the court, occurs, he can no more declare

Larry Castle
Herald Tennis
Writer

himself suddenly unready than he can declare himself unready during a point and then expect to play a let.

Question: One of our opponents left his towel draped over the net, where it went unnoticed until my shot hit it. In my opinion my shot would have cleared the net had it not hit the towel, and I thought we should have played a let. Our opponents disagreed and took the point. Was their action proper?

Ruling: When play began without a protest concerning the towel being on the net, it, in effect, was acknowledged to be a part of the net. Hence, even if it did keep your shot from going over the net it was acting like any other part of the net. Your opponent's action was proper.

Question: After I hit a placement off the serve, on which there had been no out call, the server's net man said that the serve had been out by an inch, which fact an inspection confirmed. Over our protests, they insisted on a replay. The next serve, on which again there was no call, I hit to the fence. My partner then showed our opponents an out mark, but they took the point. I thought we had been had; were we?

Ruling: You were. You must have been playing against a couple of lawyers who could take either side of a case and still win it. The first point should have been yours in that you hit a placement on a serve that was never out because it was never called out. But the replay was theirs, using the same reasoning that you hit out a serve that was good because it was never called out. However, if the first situation had been judged correctly the replay would never have occurred; also there was a great lack of consistency in the manner with which your opponents approached similar situations.

Altamonte Rolls Out Red Carpet For Champions Saturday At Mall

The city of Altamonte Springs will honor its successful Little League teams with a gala "Meet the Champions" celebration at the Altamonte Mall Saturday beginning at 2 p.m. The presentation program will start at 2:30 p.m., according to Bill James, Altamonte Springs recreation director.

Both teams — the Senior All-Stars and Major All-Stars — will be on hand to sign autographs from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Members of the Altamonte Springs Little League Board of Directors will also be in attendance to answer questions about the program.

Publicity director Lynn Calvin said if anyone would like to coach or play, they should attend. Tables will be set up to explain the Altamonte boundaries and registration procedure.

The Seniors won the World Series in Gary, Ind. by beating Taiwan. The Major finished second to South Korea at Williamsport, Pa.

Koreans Expect Soviets In '88

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korea's minister of sports expects a record number of countries at the 1988 Seoul Olympics, including the Soviet Union and its Eastern Bloc allies who boycotted the Los Angeles Games.

Although the Soviets did not accept an invitation to send athletes or delegates for last week's inauguration of the Olympic Stadium, Dr. Lee Young-ho said he received good signs from other East Bloc officials.

"The signals we got were very encouraging," he said. "I am quite optimistic that in 1988 we will have widespread participation of more than 150 countries, including China, the Soviet Union and other East Bloc countries."

Lee said China, which like the Soviet Union does not have diplomatic relations with South Korea, was already involved in sporting exchanges with Seoul and sent two delegates to last week's inauguration celebrations.

Kyle Petty Joins Wood Brothers

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — A situation once believed impossible on NASCAR's Grand National circuit became a reality when Kyle Petty and the Wood brothers announced they will be a team in 1985.

It was like the Hatfields and McCoys calling a truce. "I don't think anybody thought this would happen a few years ago," car owner Glen Wood said Tuesday. "Things have changed so much in this sport in recent years that you can expect anything."

Through the 1960s and 1970s, the Pettys were the archrivals of Glen and Leonard Wood, who fielded cars for Cale Yarborough and David Pearson.

During that time, the two teams dominated the sport until Junior Johnson joined the monopoly.

Sting Moves Closer To Title

TORONTO (UPI) — Though the on-field action has been rough-and-tumble, it's nothing compared to what's going on off the pitch in the North American Soccer League championship series.

The Chicago Sting, coming off a 2-1 victory over the Toronto Blizzard at home Monday night in the opening game of the best-of-three series, will attempt to clinch their second NASL title with a victory Wednesday night at Varsity Stadium.

The animosity between these two clubs extends right to the front office. The fact the Sting are scheduled to join the Major Indoor Soccer League at the end of the season is a sore point with Blizzard officials, who are committed to making the outdoor game successful in North America.

Lake Mary's Anquetta Whack slams a point against Lake Howell. Lady Rams lost to the Lady Hawks Tuesday.

Hungry Lake Howell Devours Lake Mary

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell volleyball coach Teresa Tinsley has a lot of confidence in her team. Tinsley said the Lady Hawks are starting to believe in themselves more with every match and are hungry to keep their winning streak going.

Lake Howell disposed of two more opponents Tuesday night on the Hawks' home court, and it took three games for them to beat both Spruce Creek, 15-2, 2-15, 15-2 and Lake Mary, 15-9, 14-16, 15-0.

The Lady Hawks have now won five straight matches and stand at 6-2 overall and 5-1 in the Five Star Conference. Lake Howell has the rest of the week off then takes on Seminole County opponents Seminole (Tuesday), Oviedo (Wednesday) and Lake Brantley (Thursday) next week.

"We got behind Lake Mary in the first two games, but were continuously fighting back," Tinsley said. "We're looking forward to playing Oviedo again and we want Lyman again bad." Oviedo and Lyman are the only two teams to beat Lake Howell this season.

Lake Mary upended Spruce Creek in their first match Tuesday and the Lady Rams now stand at 4-8 overall and 4-4 in the conference. Lake Mary returns to action Thursday as it hosts Seminole at 8 p.m.

The Lady Rams continued to show improvement and their goal is to keep improving right into the district tournament. Lake Mary jumped out to a 8-0 lead in the first game against Lake Howell as Anquetta Whack served the first two points and Katy Hodak had an impressive service string of six straight points. Included in Hodak's string were a pair of aces and a block by Wilcen Patterson.

Lake Howell came back to pull within 8-4 as Eileen Thiebauth served four points, but Lake Mary made it 9-4 on Robyn Christensen's serve. Lake Howell came back to within 9-7 on Grace Ley's serve before a missed serve gave Lake Mary a side-out.

But the Rams couldn't increase their lead as Lake Howell reeled off six straight points to take a 13-9 lead. Included in the rally was a nice hit by Jolee Johnson and a block by Thiebauth.

Lake Mary regained the serve but again couldn't score and Beth Saunders came on to serve the final two points of the first game, with Sandy Gillies' spike providing the 15th point.

The Lady Rams again built an early lead in the second game as they took a 5-2 lead with two points on Lisa Simkins' serve and three on Hodak's. Lake Howell pulled to within 5-4 on Gillies' serve before Lake Mary regained the serve.

The Rams rallied for four points on Christensen's serve, one an ace, to take a 9-4 lead. The Lady Hawks fought back to within 9-8 with four straight points including a nice dink by Thiebauth and a spike by Saunders.

Lake Mary inched back ahead by two, 10-8, on Sloan Stewart's serve. The two teams traded side outs before another dink by Thiebauth gave the Hawks the serve and they tied it at 10-10 as Thiebauth served two points.

The Lady Rams came back to take a 11-10 lead on Misty Duncan's serve, but Johnson hammered a spike into the Lake Mary defense to give it back to Lake Howell.

The Lady Hawks then took a 12-11, but Lake Mary tied it at 12-12 on Stewart's serve. A missed serve gave Lake Howell a side out and the Lady Hawks scored twice on Saunders' serve to take a 14-12 lead.

Lake Howell couldn't close out the match though as the Lady Rams regained the serve and reeled off four points on Simkins' serve to win the second game, 16-14, and tie the match at one game each.

"I started having relapses of last week's game (in which Lake Howell and Lake Mary played another three-game match)," Tinsley said. "Lake Mary was fired up in the first two games, but I don't know what happened to them in the third game."

The Lady Rams didn't get any breaks in the third game and made things worse with a ton of mistakes. The Lady Hawks opened up a 4-0 lead on Saunders' serve with a devastating spike by Thiebauth highlighting the rally.

Thiebauth's hit prevented the Rams from scoring when they had the serve, and Lake Howell made it 7-0 as Kim Montegney served three points. The two teams traded serves before Lake Howell regained it and reeled off eight straight points on Gillies' serve to win the third game, 15-0. Seven of the eight points came via Lake Mary miscues while one came on a spike by Saunders.

In Tuesday's first match, Lake Howell breezed to a 15-2 victory in game one, then went with its second string in game two and dropped a 15-2 decision to Spruce Creek. Tinsley went back to her starters in game three and the Lady Silver Hawks breezed, 15-2.

Rams, Oviedo Stay On Collision Course

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's freshman Rams are still unbeaten, but it took an overtime effort against a strong Osceola Kissimmee ball club to keep it that way.

Kissimmee had a real strong ball club," said Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes. "They are by far the best team we've played."

The Rams, 4-0, used an eight-yard scoring pass from quarterback Kelly McKinnon to wideout Sheldon Richards on the second play of the tiebreaker for the 21-14 victory.

Curry, too, was instrumental in the first Lake Mary score when he rambled off tackle for 80 yards in the first quarter. McKinnon's point after boot gave the Rams a 7-0 lead.

The lead held until the third quarter when Osceola took advantage of a Lake Mary penalty and fumble to push across its score. The PAT failed. The Rams bounced back later in the third quarter when Terry "The Cat" Miller danced 30 yards for a touchdown on a sweep. McKinnon's PAT gave Lake Mary a 14-6 edge.

On the subsequent kickoff, though, Osceola took the ball back all the way, then added a two-point conversion to deadlock the game and send it into the tiebreaker period.

Beginning at the 10-yard line, Lake Mary picked up two yards on a Curry run and then put the game away when McKinnon found Richards on a look-in route for the touchdown. McKinnon kicked the PAT for the final point.

DEFENSE KEYS LIONS' WIN

Oviedo's Lions exploded for three touchdowns in the second half en route to a 28-9 victory over Lake Howell in freshman football at Oviedo High Tuesday night.

The Lions, 3-1, and on a collision course with Lake Mary for an Oct. 16 meeting, took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when quarterback Mike McCurdy heaved a 35-yard TD pass to Cory Powell. Duncan Jones booted the point after. Lake Howell pushed across its only score on a quarterback sneak in the second quarter but failed on the PAT.

In the third quarter, Oviedo took control. Fullback Alan Greene capped a scoring drive with a one-yard plunge and Jones again kicked the PAT for a 14-6 lead. Later in the quarter, Andy Devine powered over from the one-yard line and McCurdy scrambled into the end zone for a two-point conversion and a 22-6 bulge.

Reserve quarterback John Pettit capped the scoring in the fourth quarter when he wound up and connected with Ron Veres for a 70-yard scoring bomb. Jones made his night complete with his third PAT for a 29-6 final.

Powell also had a solid defensive game for the Lions, making eight solo tackles and two assists. Nay Mathis chipped in with six tackles and two assists.

Expos: Raines Is Not 'Untouchable'

Tim Raines can be a free man in two years. Expos may swap ex-Seminole High star before he tests free-agent waters.

MONTREAL (UPI) — No Expo will be considered sacred should a trade possibility surface in the off-season which would improve the team, Montreal general manager Murray Cook said Tuesday.

Cook, who took over as general manager Sept. 5, said while some major trades might be made the Expos remain a solid club and are not in need of wholesale change.

"We have a shopping list in mind (for the off-season), but we're not setting out to rebuild," he said at a joint news conference with team president John McHale. "We may do some dramatic things though."

Cook said the Expos would probably go into the free-agent market to find new talent. He pointed to shortstop and second base as positions the team needed to improve.

"There are no untouchables on this team," the former New York Yankees general manager said. "You can't wait until a player is a free agent to make a move because then you get nothing."

"(Tim) Raines is close (to becoming a free agent). (Andre) Dawson is close. You don't want to trade these kind of players, but because of the situation of baseball today, none of them are untouchable."

Raines played 160 games this year and was eighth in the league in hitting at .309 with eight homers and 60 RBI. He led the league in stolen bases for the fourth straight year with 75. He also led the N.L. with 38 doubles. Dawson, battling nagging injuries, played in 138 games and had an off-season at the plate, hitting .248 with 17 home runs and 86 RBI.

Cook said his search for a new manager has been "narrowed down to a handful" of choices. "Things are starting to sift out," he said.

McHale, who stepped aside after five years as general manager, said the club's future is not reflected in the Expos' first below-.500 season (78-83) in six years.

"The Expos aren't hopeless," McHale said. "If we could have picked up 10 wins it would have been a whole different story. And that's not impossible. We saw a whole flock of games we could have won by the boards."

McHale said a number of factors including injuries, lack of bench strength and poor production from the middle of the infield contributed to the team's downfall.

But the man who shouldered much of the blame over the team's performance from the fans and media, refused to include the signing of Pete Rose among the team's shortcomings.

He noted, though, he was disappointed with the reaction to the signing, saying most of the antipathy was based on false premises.

"Pete Rose was a plus," he said. "He was a total team man. He brought enthusiasm, a great background of winning and I think we were a better club with him."

"But even Pete Rose couldn't overcome the three major injuries we had."

BLOWOUTS LESSEN PRESSURE

Blowouts in the opening games of the American and National League Championship Series Tuesday lessened the pressure for the umpires substituting for striking regulars. But all sides seem to agree that having the major league umpires return from their walkout would be the best thing.

Four college umpires, all of whom worked during a 1979 walkout by umpires, replaced the striking major leaguers as the Chicago Cubs routed the San Diego Padres 13-0.

The AL bypassed its striking umpires by choosing amateurs with mostly collegiate experience plus a retired ump to officiate the Detroit Tigers' 8-1 smothering of the Kansas City Royals.

Talks broke off between representatives of the major leagues and the Major League Umpires Association Monday night. The umpires are seeking tenure selection for post-season games and more money for officiating the playoffs and World Series.

Richie Phillips, the chief attorney for the Umpires Association, and American League president Bobby Brown are scheduled to meet today to try and hammer out an agreement.

'BLAND' HAAS TAKES OVER

ATLANTA (UPI) — An apt description for new Atlanta Braves manager Eddie Haas might be "bland."

Haas, a long-time organization man who toiled for most of his 31 years in professional baseball in the minors, was named Tuesday to succeed Joe Torre. Torre was fired a day earlier by team owner Ted Turner, who said "I just felt we needed to make a change."

At a news conference announcing his promotion, Haas gave no indication he'll be able to fire up the Braves to improve on their performance under Torre for whom they finished first (1982) and second twice in the National League West.

"Any manager has his own way of doing things," said Haas, under whom Richmond went to the International League playoffs three straight years.

them hard and up and they go out. They elevate them," Williams said. "They are a good ballclub but I'm not in awe of them."

Chicago manager Jim Frey, never a believer in momentum, said the euphoria from the Cubs' one-sided win might not last long.

"It could change the very next day," Frey said. "The pitcher who makes the best pitches and keeps the ball in the ballpark is going to win."

San Diego starter Eric Show, losing for the first time in five decisions at Wrigley Field, and reliever Greg Harris had trouble keeping the ball in the park.

Show gave up the solo shots by Dertnall and Matthews in the first and Sutcliffe in the third. Harris permitted Matthews' three-run shot in a six-run fifth and Cey's solo blast in the fifth.

"Sure, I knew the wind was blowing out and I made two quick mistakes by throwing two high fastballs," Show said.

But a more decisive nail in the Padres' coffin came in the fourth, San Diego loaded the bases with two out off Sutcliffe, who was uncharacteristically wild with five walks.

Front-Runner: Cubs Are A Lock

CHICAGO (UPI) — As sure as that big Papa Bear in the Sky made Ivy green and the weather in their city windy, the Chicago Cubs are going to win this thing and wind up in the World Series for the first time in 39 years.

Now I know what you're automatically thinking. You're thinking to yourself, look at him, the front-runner — he's already handing the Cubs the National League pennant and burying San Diego after only one playoff game simply because of Tuesday's 13-0 blowout in which the Cubbies played merry-go-round with the Padres at Wrigley Field, setting a major-league playoff record for runs scored, turning on the kind of power the Padres never before encountered this season with five home runs and 16 hits and introducing the new Mr. October, Gary "Sarge" Matthews.

All that, along with Rick Sutcliffe's spotless two-hit pitching over seven innings, helped influence me, naturally, but it wasn't the Cubs' titanic hitting or nifty pitching that was the clincher for me. Instead, it was

Milton Richman

UPI Sports Editor

Keith Moreland's glittering defensive gem on Carmelo Martinez' sinking liner in wind-blown right field with the bases full and two out in the fourth inning.

That did it. That's when I came to believe the same thing that Pete Rose, Bryn Smith, the Expos' pitcher, and everyone else in Chicago does. Namely, that the Cubs somehow are somehow anointed and there's no way anyone is going to beat them now. No one, the Padres, the Tigers, the Royals or mighty Liverpool in Britain's First Division soccer.

Dick Williams, the Padres' manager, couldn't stop talking about Moreland's magnificent catch. He kept calling it the "great play," and it was all of that and maybe a little more.

Martinez hit one of those dying swans that looked as if it were going to fall. Moreland, a converted catcher, never gave up on the ball. He came in quickly, angled his body low to the crowd and tumbled head over tea kettle after making the catch only inches off the grass, but he never let go of the ball.

To make sure first base umpire Dave Slickemeyer made the right call, Moreland held the ball in his glove in the air so the umpire could clearly see it. Slickemeyer was one of the four college umpers pressed into emergency service when the regular National League umpires struck before the game.

The Cubs already were five runs up when Moreland made his catch, but to me, and apparently to Williams from the way he talked about it after the game, that was the play that finished the Padres.

Sutcliffe said Moreland's catch "basically ended the game."

Personally, I think it did more than that. I think it ended this playoff.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Tension Grips Curfew-Bound Palestinian Refugee Camp

DAHAISSHE, Israel-occupied West Bank (UPI) — Jewish leaders on the occupied West Bank plan to meet Israeli Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin today to urge stiff penalties for Arabs who throw stones at Jewish targets, Israeli radio said.

More than 200 Jewish West Bank settlers burst into the Dahaihshe refugee camp Tuesday and fired their weapons to protest frequent stone-throwing by Palestinians who resent the 17-year Israeli occupation of the territory.

A Palestinian spokesman said a 10-year-old boy was shot in the back by soldiers during the disturbances at the camp, but the Israeli Army said it knew nothing about the shooting.

The radio said settlers are demanding that Dahaihshe camp structures fronting on the Hebron-Jerusalem highway be demolished to deny refuge to Palestinians who hurl stones at vehicles carrying Jewish settlers.

Cosmonauts Happy To Be Home

MOSCOW (UPI) — Three Soviet cosmonauts ended a 237-day mission in space, suffering from the effects of gravity but happy to be "back in the Earth's embrace" after setting a record for the longest manned space flight.

The capsule carrying mission commander Leonid Kizim, Vladimir Soloyov and Oleg Atkov parachuted into the Central Asian desert and landed in a cloud of dust Tuesday afternoon, 237 days, 22 hours and 10 minutes after the men blasted off Feb. 8.

Evening television news showed pictures of the cosmonauts being carried from the capsule to an orange tent for a medical checkup. The pained expressions on their faces showed they were suffering from the tremendous pressure of gravity after almost eight months of weightlessness.

The television said the cosmonauts had covered a distance of 99.2 million miles, greater than a roundtrip flight to Mars, which is 34.72 million miles at its shortest distance from the Earth.

New Fighting Rocks Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Sporadic explosions rocked Beirut hours after Lebanese army troops battled Moslem Druze gunners, sending shells crashing close to the home of the U.S. ambassador as he dined.

There was no immediate report of casualties. Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew, who was slightly wounded in the Sept. 20 bombing of the U.S. Embassy annex and survived the April 1983 bombing of the west Beirut mission, did not interrupt his dinner although shells crashed near his home, a spokesman at the residence said.

Tuesday's fighting between the Lebanese army and Druze militiamen was the worst since Sept. 21 and underlined the fragility of a Syrian-mediated July 4 peace plan designed to keep the battles out of civilian areas.

Seminole May Join Asbestos Suit

From Staff and Wire Reports
The Seminole County School District will be exploring the possibility of joining in a class action lawsuit against 55 asbestos manufacturing firms as the result of a federal judge's ruling, school board attorney Ned Julian Jr. said today.

U.S. District Judge James Kelly, in a ruling issued Monday in Philadelphia, granted permission for two Pennsylvania school districts and one in South Carolina to become a class for the purpose of a lawsuit. This cleared the way for school districts across the country to join the suit to recover damages to pay for removing asbestos from their buildings.

The suit charges every manufacturer and supplier of asbestos, except for the Johns Manville Corp., which has declared bankruptcy, with negligence, breach of warranty and conspiracy.

Julian said papers are being prepared for the Seminole school district to file a claim against Johns Manville.

When Seminole removed asbestos from its schools on the order of the Environmental Protection Agency about eight years ago, it would have been too expensive to file a suit alone and there was no class action suit to join in at the time. He said since most of this county's schools were new, relatively few were involved and the cost of removing the asbestos and replacing it with other material was less than in many other counties.

"We will probably file in the class action," he said, "but we don't know yet if the cost of finding out whose asbestos was installed here would exceed the amount we might receive."

Asbestos was often used as insulation in ceiling tiles until scientists discovered the substance was related to fatal lung diseases.

servicing a federal hijacking term, also were named in the indictment.

The indictment charges Schiavone and JoPel executives falsified documents and created bogus billings to inflate the value of work performed by JoPel on the project.

Walter Mondale quickly raised the indictment as a campaign issue and Reagan just as quickly defended his labor secretary and took note of a "lynch atmosphere" surrounding the legal problems of some members of the administration.

Mondale demanded that Reagan immediately investigate charges against Donovan and remove him from office if there are reasonable grounds. But he also said Donovan should be presumed innocent until proven guilty because "that's the American system."

Reagan, pressed about the indictment of his Cabinet officer, said "the only sleaze factor" he has seen since taking office has come from "the other side, with their faceless charges and accusations that have all been proven false."

"There's kind of a lynch atmosphere in all that," Reagan said.

The indictment against Donovan and his construction company stems from a $186 million Schiavone contract with the New York City Transit Authority in 1975 that required that 10 percent of the work be awarded to minority-owned firms. JoPel is owned by Masselli and Galiber, a black who owns 51 percent of JoPel.

To get its total of minority contracts to 10 percent, Schiavone claimed JoPel had done $12.4 million in work when it really had done only $4.8 million. Assistant District Attorney Steve Bookin said. He said JoPel was formed only to comply with the minority requirement.

"We are charging that the Schiavone Construction Co., together with JoPel, filed false documents to the Transit Authority and were reimbursed in cash," Merola said. "The money never went to JoPel. This is a fraud perpetrated upon minorities of the city of New York." The charges could result in fines of $16 million, double the amount of the alleged fraud, as well as prison terms.

Merola denied Donovan's charges that the prosecutor, a Democrat, was performing "a political hatchet job."

"I had to do what I had to do. ... No one is above the law," Merola said.

said, was his hard lobbying efforts of the selection committee's chairman, Jean Mariani of Florida's Department of Education.

The ASCD selection and the national television spot have lifted Lawton from obscurity, Mizwicki said. The school is no longer an obscure Oviedo schoolhouse "you have to take a three-day trip in a conestoga wagon to get to," he said.

"Lawton is not on the back end of the dog, it's on the front. We're not the tail we're the head," he said.

When Mizwicki, a former Chicago principal, and his entourage go to Washington, he says he is taking a message that southern schools, held in contempt by academia for years, are on the rise.

He said he hopes the notoriety netted by the ASCD selection will get more educators from Tallahassee and out-of-state to "come see what is going on" at Lawton and Seminole County.

Lawton was a $20,000 two-story brick school with six students in 1922, Mizwicki said. At that time it was one of only two schools in the county. Today, it is one of 41 — a sprawling campus with 725 students.

Cook Of The Week

Catch Of Day Leads To Some Fine Eating

By Brenda Lowe
Herald Correspondent
If you go to Bonnie Jackson's house and she isn't home, more than likely she and her husband, Paul, have "gone fishin'." Bonnie says the only thing she likes more than catching fish is eating them.

Bonnie grew up in Port Hueneme (an Indian name which means "quiet resting place") in California. Later, while living in Oxnard, Calif. where her father was the marshal, Bonnie says that along with his other duties, he was also responsible for the city's bookkeeping. After his death, when the books were checked, she says that she was very proud of the fact that his books balanced "to the penny." Her mother, who is now in her 80s, still lives in Oxnard.

During World War II, Bonnie worked on the Navy base in Mountain View, Calif. in the cargo department. She says they shipped everything overseas, from lipstick to chickens. Bonnie adds that she could only assume that the lipstick was for the WAVES!

After her marriage to Paul, who was in the Navy, they were transferred to Patuxent River, Md. While there, a friend introduced her to canning. Bonnie says, "It's the next best thing to having fresh fruits and vegetables and you don't have to worry about what's in your food. You put in what you want to put in."

Their next move was to Sanford. After Paul's retirement from the Sanford Naval Air Station, they decided to settle here. Bonnie and Paul have three children and 11 grandchildren.

An eye condition preventing

Bonnie from driving inadvertently led to a hobby, which subsequently blossomed into a business. Since she was at home a lot, Bonnie decided to take up a hobby. A friend suggested ceramics which Bonnie found was something she enjoyed and could do well, since her "up-close" vision was good.

Eventually she and her husband had to buy a bigger house to accommodate Bonnie's creations. Part of their house on Ross Street became Jackson's Ceramics. When they started the business 15 years ago, Bonnie says that theirs was the only ceramics studio in Sanford. In addition to sales, Bonnie also teaches classes several times a week.

There's "something fishy" going on in Bonnie's kitchen. To find out what it is, read on:

CATFISH STEW

1 pound catfish (speckled perch or bass are good, too), cut in bite-size chunks. If you like a lot of fish, use 2 pounds.
2 medium onions, chopped
3 stalks celery, chopped
3 large carrots, chopped
4 medium potatoes, cut in bite-size chunks
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper, to taste

Put enough water in a large pot to cover fish, about 3 to 4 inches. Add all ingredients, except potatoes. Put them in when fish, onions, celery and carrots are tender. Make a white sauce to thicken stew. This makes a large pot of stew and can be frozen.

CRAB CAKES

1 cup crab meat
1 medium onion, chopped
1 egg
cracker meal
Mix crab meat, egg and onion together. Add 6 drops of Tabasco sauce and salt and pepper, to taste. Use enough cracker meal to make a patty. Fry until golden brown. Serves 2.

CRAB COCKTAIL

2 tablespoons crab meat
1/2 cup catsup
1 teaspoon horseradish
lemon juice, Tabasco sauce, and salt to taste.

Mix together and chill about 3 hours before serving. Serves 2.

FRIED FISH

(Mother's recipe)
Any amount of your favorite fish
Cracker meal
1 egg, beaten well

Salt, to taste
Beat egg and salt in bowl. In separate bowl, mix cracker meal and salt. Dip fish in egg, then in the cracker meal. Be sure the cooking oil is hot before you put fish in. Turn 2 or 3 times on each side until fish is fried golden brown. Cook bass, catfish, and shark a little longer than other fish. (Note: Instead of cracker meal, Bonnie now uses instant potato buds mixed with dry Italian seasoning mix. She says she discovered this in a previous Cook of the Week recipe. She adds that this is especially good for saltwater bluefish, as it tends to be a little strong in flavor.)

Garden Gate: How To Force Cactus To Bud

By Hibiscus Circle
Sanford Garden Club

You may already be a Christmas cactus fancier growing your plants outdoors or on the patio during the spring and summer months. Cacti, like the poinsettia and chrysanthemum, form their buds when the days grow shorter. Bring your cacti inside and place away from the light. They may be covered with a brown bag or placed in a closet until buds start forming. Water sparingly.

After buds form, bring back to the light. Feed the soil before watering. Too much water causes the buds to drop and rot the roots. Feed with fish emulsion — about one-fourth strength.

The second rest is after flowering. This is a good time to repot if it's overgrown the present pot. Some growers believe a pot-bound plant produces more blooms. A little bone meal or super phosphate helps summer growth.

To pot use a hunusy soil, one-part coarse sand, gravel or pebbles, two-part good garden soil and one-part granulated peat and dried cow manure or other organic material.

Propagate from tip cuttings when plant is at rest period. Let the cutting dry and callus, then place in a mixture of peat and sand or vermiculite. Leave two or three joints above the soil. Keep damp, but not wet. Cover with glass or plastic bag to hold the humidity.

area but not in sun. When cutting has good root system, put in good soil mixture, with a lot of drainage material in the bottom of pot.

Thanksgiving cactus also known as claw or crab — has jagged edges at joint of branches. Flowering is early, usually October through Thanksgiving.

Christmas cactus, formerly called Zygocactus, has more of scallop at joint of branch. Flowering comes later, November through January.

Easter Cactus looks like the above but has flatter and paler green branches. It has bright red daisy like blossoms around April.

New varieties are on the market each year. The white "Alba" has a stripe of fuchsia. "Salmonea" is salmon pink. "Bicolor" is white and rose, and "Peach Parfait" has peachy orange blossoms.

The Cacti came from a jungle environment where they had a filtered light and moisture, as they grew in crotches of trees the water drained away quickly.

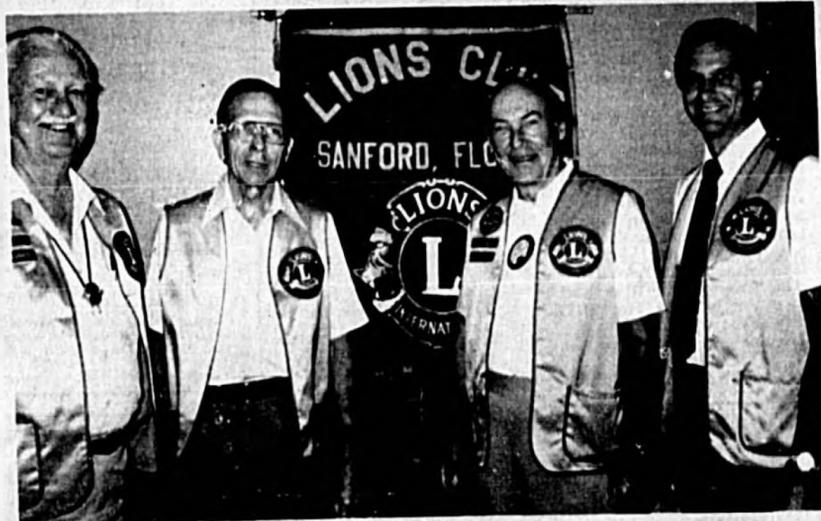

Cacti sometimes have scale or mealy bugs. Malathion can be used for scale and a swab of alcohol will rid the plant of mealy bugs.

If you haven't grown cacti before they will be on the market by November, so you can test your skill. Christmas cactus has been known to live for many years.

New Exhibit Opens At Museum

Lack Of Lactase Enzyme Causes Milk Intolerance

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read a report that two-thirds of the people on earth cannot digest milk because they lack something in their stomach. If I drink fortified milk day after day, I begin to feel sluggish and full, but I can drink some. Canned milk that has been heated seems OK. The report suggested using yogurt, as it was already digested.

surgery or cauterization. Anal suppositories were prescribed to promote healing. Meanwhile, I have discomfort and doubt that the suppositories will be that effective.

DEAR READER — An anal fissure is literally a crack in the tissue. It is often caused by trauma associated with difficult bowel movements. Small fissures tend to heal if the cause of

DEAR READER — The percentage of adults in the world who cannot tolerate large amounts of milk may be even greater than the figure you cite. Northwestern Europeans and those from Great Britain and their descendants are the only ethnic groups that do tolerate milk easily in adult life. Even about 10 percent of these people are deficient in lactase, the enzyme needed to completely digest lactose (milk sugar). In other ethnic groups, as many as 90 percent of adults may not tolerate milk well.

In some regions of the world, the way people avoided calcium deficiencies was by consuming yogurt. Cultured yogurt contains bacteria that form the same enzyme we use to digest milk sugar. And some yogurt does help, or at least can be digested without difficulty. That may not be true of all yogurt you can purchase.

Yes, despite some symptoms, the calcium in the fortified milk you drink is absorbed and used. The fact that you can drink some milk without symptoms means that you probably still produce some lactase enzyme — just enough to digest some milk but not enough to digest a large amount. If you want to increase your milk tolerance, you may want to use an enzyme powder, LactAid, to treat your milk in advance.

I have discussed the problems of milk intolerance and how to manage the problem with enzymes and foods in a recent issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 26, The Milk Question.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a proctoscopic examination and it revealed a small anal fissure. The doctor said it was very small and he would not recommend

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

So you'd like to make some tricks with dummy's long suit. Even if you can't get there yourself, you may be able to force an opponent to help you out.

South's three no-trump bid was way out. He should have bid three hearts to encourage North to bid no-trump with a stopper or partial stopper in that suit. In any event, declarer was lucky to find the heart ace in dummy. Let's see how he combined good play with more good luck to make his contract.

East overtook the 10 of hearts and continued the suit, dummy's ace winning. A diamond to the ace told declarer that West had started with five diamonds to the king. South now played the nine of spades to the king and a spade back to the ace. When the queen of spades was next played, East showed out. That completed the count of the hand for declarer. West had started with five spades, one heart and five diamonds. Only two clubs could remain in the West hand.

Accordingly, declarer played the ace and king of clubs and placed West on lead with the deuce of spades. Helpless West could cash two spades and the diamond king, but then had to give up the remaining tricks to dummy's diamond suit.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 4, 1984

Your potential for material acquisition looks promising for the coming year. However, you may suffer several setbacks before hitting pay dirt.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Study carefully today any proposals that appear to be exceptional bargains. If you don't, you might buy the sizzle instead of the steak. Want to find out to whom you are best suited romantically? Send for your Matchmaker set by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Reveals compatibilities for all signs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If all doesn't go to your liking, you could be a stern disciplinarian today in situations where you are normally tolerant and understanding. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Any restrictions placed on you today are likely to be self-imposed. Don't let a poor attitude paint you into a corner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your possibilities for fulfilling personal ambitions look promising today, but don't use tactics that might make others think your methods are distasteful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In order to reach your goals today, you'll have to be a bit thick-skinned and able to cope with setbacks. Be philosophical if you miss your mark.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It may be necessary for you to work around some roadblocks today. If one plan doesn't work, be ready to try another.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order for joint ventures to click smoothly today, everyone involved must produce what is expected of him. Slackers will spoil the endeavor.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You must be the one who establishes the proper pace today, not your associates or companions. Rely upon your initiative, not theirs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There's a chance you may experience some urgency where your work is concerned today. Don't panic because this will only add to the pressure.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to allow yourself to be put in a position today where control of an important matter is taken out of your hands and delegated to another.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Show a willingness to compromise or make concessions today on issues where you and your mate have opposing views. Find a middle ground.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do not let it be said of you today that you will not do anything for others unless there is something in it for you. Put service before profit.

Fire Prevention Makes Sense All Year Long

DEAR READERS: Last year in the United States, 6,137 people died in fires. The total loss in property alone came to $6.43 billion.

In Canada there were 675 fire-related deaths. The property damage was $998.89 million.

This is Fire Prevention Week, and although fires occur throughout the year, each season has its own special fire hazards. Here are some tips for all seasons:

FALL: If you enjoy camping, select a tent made of flame-resistant fabric. Pack a reliable flashlight with plenty of extra batteries to light the inside of your tent — never use matches or candles. When building a campfire, place it downwind of your tent. And never try to hasten the burning by using gasoline or other flammable liquid starters.

If you use your fireplace, have your chimney professionally cleaned in the fall to make sure it's in good condition for the coming season.

WINTER: More fires occur during winter than in any other season. The reasons: home heating and the holiday season.

If you use a portable heater, be sure it is placed away from combustibles — draperies, furniture, paper, etc. Remember, the surface heat of some portable heaters may reach 500 degrees, so keep a careful watch on your children and warn them to keep away from heaters. Hospitals are treating an increasing number of patients with burns resulting from contact with the outside surface of some portable heaters.

For a Merry Christmas, choose a Christmas tree that does not have shedding needles, and keep it standing in water while it is in the house. If you choose an artificial tree, choose one that is flame-resistant.

After holiday parties, before retiring, check your ashtrays for smoldering cigarette butts, and carefully examine all upholstered chairs and sofas to make sure that no "live" cigarette butts have fallen between the cushions. Remember, most house fires occur between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m., when people are sleeping.

SPRING: Take spring cleaning seriously — clean out your attic, basement, garage and workshop. Throw out trash, especially combustibles such as rags, newspapers, magazines, boxes and scraps of wood. Never smoke while fueling gas-powdered lawn mowers or chain saws. If you must store gasoline, store it in a ventilated area in a can designed especially for that purpose. And store oily rags and paint in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

SUMMER: When cooking, never use flammable liquids near live coals. An explosion or flash fire could result. When you've finished cooking, soak the coals with water and make absolutely sure they're out when you leave. Smoldering coals that appear to be "dead" can reignite as much as a day later. If you use a propane gas grill, always have the lighted match in position before turning on the gas.

Some tips for all seasons:

— Never smoke in bed.

— Never leave invalids or small children alone in the house — not even for "a few minutes."

— Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors.

— Have periodic fire drills in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

— Keep easy-to-use fire extinguishers in your kitchen, cottage, back bedrooms and on your boat. And if you can afford smoke detectors, install them and be sure that they are always dust-free and in working order.

— The phone number of your fire department should be taped to every telephone in your house. If it isn't, should a fire occur, don't waste time trying to find it; get out, and call from a neighbor's house. And once you are out, stay out. No treasure is worth risking your life for.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so.

Have A Holiday Celebration Every Month

Happy memories often center on the special occasion when families or friends gather to share food and celebrate meaningful events.

Each of the twelve recipes was chosen for an occasion, marking one of the calendar months. "You're Special," listed in August, is a floating event appropriate when an individual deserves recognition — a rise, recovery from illness, an "A" in spelling or a skinned knee!

All of the kitchen-tested recipes use real dairy products exclusively for natural flavor and goodness.

January — Bowl Game Snack

CHEESE FOOTBALL

Yield: 2 1/2 cups

- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup (4 oz.) crumbled Blue cheese
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Provolone cheese
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon each: dry mustard, paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon each: garlic salt, celery salt

Pimiento strips, thinly cut
Beat Cheddar, Blue, Provolone and cream cheeses in a large mixing bowl until smooth. Blend in milk, onion, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, paprika, garlic and celery salts. Chill for ease in handling. Shape into a football. Garnish top of football with pimiento strips to form lacing.

February — Valentine's Day Dessert

FLUFFY ANGEL MERINGUE

10 to 12 servings

- Meringue:
- 3 egg whites, at room temperature
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- Dash salt
- 1/4 cup sugar

Pineapple Filling:

- 1 can (20 oz.) crushed pineapple in unsweetened juice
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- Dash salt
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 3 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
- Fresh strawberries, sliced

Preheat oven to 275 degrees F.

For meringue, draw a heart 8-inches long and 8-inches at widest point on heavy brown paper. (A heart-shaped cake pan makes a good guide.) Place on baking sheet; set aside. Beat egg whites in small mixer bowl until frothy. Add cream of tartar, almond extract and salt; beat until soft peaks form. Add sugar. 1/2 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Tint with food color. Spread on heart shape, forming sides 1/4 to 1 1/4-inches high. Bake 45 minutes. Turn off oven. Leave in oven 45 additional minutes. For filling, drain pineapple juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and mixture reaches a full boil. Boil and stir 2 additional minutes. Blend a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to pan. Cook 1 minute. Stir in pineapple, orange peel and orange juice. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. Chill filling 2 to 3 hours before serving. To serve, spoon filling into meringue shell. Garnish with strawberries.

March — Meatless Main Dish for Lent

LENTEN CHILI

4 servings

- 1 package (8 1/4 oz.) corn muffin mix
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 cup chopped onion
 - 1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, undrained
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cans (15 1/2 oz. each) dark kidney beans, drained
 - 1 cup (4 oz.) each: shredded Cheddar cheese, shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Prepare muffin mix according to package directions. Bake in buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool in pan 15 minutes; remove and cool on wire rack. Meanwhile, melt butter in 3-quart heavy saucepan. Saute onion until tender. Stir in tomatoes and seasonings. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in beans. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Stir in Cheddar cheese until melted.

To serve, cut corn bread into 4 equal pieces. Split each in half. Place on half on each serving plate. Spoon on chili; sprinkle with Jack cheese. Repeat with remaining half of corn bread.

April — Easter Dinner Finale

FROSTY LEMON PIE

Yield: one 9-inch pie

- Crust:
- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs

- 3/4 cup ground pecans
- 6 tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Filling:
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons grated lemon peel
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
- Whipped cream for garnish
- Lemon peel

For crust, combine all ingredients. Press onto bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate.

- Freeze.
- For filling, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add 1/2 cup sugar, grated peel, juice and water. Cook in heavy saucepan over low heat until thickened, 10 to 15 minutes. Cool complete. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in remaining 1/2 cup of sugar. Slowly fold lemon mixture into beaten egg whites. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into frozen crust. Freeze until firm. Just before serving, garnish with additional whipped cream and lemon peel.

May — Special Cake for Mother

- MOTHER'S DAY CAKE
- Yield: one 9-inch layer cake
- 1 package (1 lb. 2.5 oz.) white cake mix
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup strawberry preserves
- Strawberries, sliced
- Fresh mint

Prepare cake according to package directions, adding egg whites, but substituting 1/2 cup sour cream for 1/2 cup liquid.

Turn into 2 buttered and floured 9-inch round cake pans. Bake according to package directions. Turn onto racks and cool completely. For frosting, fold together whipped cream, sour cream, sugar and vanilla. To assemble cake, split layers in half horizontally. Spread 1/2 cup preserves on bottom half of each layer; cover with top half. Place one layer on serving plate; cover top with about 1/4 cup frosting. Place second layer on filling; cover top and sides with remaining frosting. Decorate with strawberries and mint. Refrigerate until serving time.

Freezer Pear Jam

Why are jam and jelly makers excited about this recipe for easy freezer fresh Pear Jam? Because it's prepared with a new powdered fruit pectin that requires 1/2 less sugar than traditional powdered pectin.

So it follows that there is more fruit and less sugar in the specially developed recipe calling for new light fruit pectin. There are no artificial sweeteners or preservatives in the new pectin product. It helps assure a good "set" — the major reason for using commercial pectin. A recipe leaflet tucked inside the package of pectin offers a wide range of additional jam and jelly recipes.

As fresh pears continue to be in abundance, why not discover the excitement of a fruitier freezer Pear Jam with a pleasant, less sweet taste?

PEAR JAM

4 cups prepared fruit (about 2 1/2 lb. fully ripe pears and 1 medium apple)
1 teaspoon ascorbic acid crystals

1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cups (1 lb. 7 oz.) sugar
1 package light fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Peel about 2 1/2 pounds pears and 1 apple. Finely chop or grind. Measure 4 cups into large bowl. Add ascorbic acid crystals and cinnamon.

Then prepare the jam. Measure sugar. Combine pectin with 1/4 cup of the sugar. Gradually add pectin mixture to fruit, stirring vigorously. Set aside for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Gradually stir in sugar until dissolved. Ladle quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature overnight; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes 8 1/2 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Woman Suing Doctors, Hospital For Wrongful Removal Of Lung

A Sanford woman is suing three doctors and Central Florida Regional Hospital for the removal of what had been diagnosed as a diseased right lung but which she claims was actually healthy.

In a second civil suit, a Tennessee man is asking that a judgment against a Casselberry resident rendered in Tennessee be enforced in Seminole County.

Patricia A. Thomas is suing Drs. Franklin Clontz, G.V. Garay, Gary Snell and the hospital for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

In a suit filed Tuesday, Ms. Thomas states Clontz and Snell removed the lung Oct. 1, 1982 based upon interpretation of tissue slides prepared by Garay. On Oct. 10, she states, she found out the lung was healthy.

She also states that when she asked Snell if she could have a second opinion he told her she would have to leave CFRH and have more tests done to get that opinion. Ms. Thomas states in the complaint that Snell's advice about the second opinion was incorrect and she could have received a second opinion with the same tests and at the same hospital.

According to the complaint, Ms. Thomas states Clontz and Snell made a joint decision to remove her lung, a decision based on the opinion of Snell. She said Garay, a certified pathologist, incorrectly interpreted the slides and said a malignancy existed where one did not exist. She further states that if Clontz had been a chest surgeon, as he indicated to her rather than a general surgeon, and had reviewed the slide he would have noticed the interpretations to be incorrect.

The hospital is being sued because the doctors used its facilities.

Ms. Thomas states she has suffered pain, disability, disfigurement, mental anguish and loss of the capacity to enjoy life.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge Dominick J. Saffi. No trial date has been set.

In the second case, Gary L. Botkins of Kingston, Tenn. has filed suit asking that a judgment rendered in a Tennessee court against Newell Lynn Weas, of 442 Eagle Circle, Casselberry, be enforced in Seminole County.

He is also asking for unspecified damages in excess of $5,000.

According to Botkins, Weas owes him $117,138.79 plus $14,348.49 in interest and as of Tuesday had not paid him.

He said a Tennessee court decided in his favor July 3 in a case, the details of which were not given in the Seminole suit.

He is asking Seminole Circuit Court to order Weas to pay the bill.

19 County Students Are National Merit Semifinalists

Nineteen Seminole County high school students have been named semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship program. The students are among 15,000 who will compete nationally for 5,500 scholarships totalling $20 million in February.

According to the National Merit Scholarship Corp., the organization which sponsors the program, about 90 percent, or 13,500, of the semifinalists are expected to become finalists. About 40 percent of those will be offered scholarships.

The Seminole students qualified as semifinalists by getting high scores on a test the NMSC gave last year. The test was administered in 18,000 high schools and over one million students participated.

The 19 local students are part of the 525 Florida semifinalists who scored highest in the state. To become finalists, the students must display high academic performance, be endorsed by their principals, match their NMSC test score with an equivalent score on the SAT, and list their school and community activities, interests and goals.

The NMSC is a private organization of over 400 corporations, businesses and professional societies. About 200 colleges and universities also help make up the group. Each year the NMSC awards scholarships ranging from $250 to $4,000.

The Seminole County students represent three high schools: Lake Mary, Lyman and Lake Howell. Their names, school and educational objectives are:

Katherine E. Adams, Lyman, psychology; Erika K. Arndt, Lake Mary, biology; Scott D. Clay, Lyman, physics; Brian T. Cook, Lake Mary, liberal arts; Richard A. Deter, Lake Mary, computer science; Erin K. Dunaway, Lake Mary, undecided; Amy A. Fluet, Lake Mary, veterinary science; Nancy S. Franzen, Lyman, undecided; Robert Greenstein, Lake Mary, banking; Matthew C. Haines, Lake Mary, undecided; Ann L. Hardman, Lake Mary, undecided; Scott E. Kinkade, Lyman, aeronautics; Victor G. Lacombe, Lake Howell, undecided; David M. Lampert, Lyman, physics; Stephen B. Parsons, Lake Mary, undecided; Kara Provost, Lake Mary, psychology; Mohan R. Ramaswamy, Lake Mary, medicine; Cynthia L. Teneyck, Lyman, drama; and David F. Winslow, Lake Mary, medicine.

Court Won't Limit Federal Authority In Death Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has rejected a plea from 32 states to limit federal courts' authority reversing death sentences.

The justices refused Monday to consider an Alabama case where a death row inmate had his sentence upheld by the state supreme court and a federal judge, but won a new sentencing hearing from a federal appeals court.

Alabama had asked the high court to reverse a federal appeals court ruling that gave inmate Wayne Eugene Ritter a second chance to plead for life in prison instead of the death penalty. The justices let the appeals court ruling stand.

The appeals court ruled the state sentencing law used to put Ritter on death row in 1977 was flawed because it did not instruct the jury that it could show mercy to the defendant by recommending a sentence of life in prison even if the facts of the crime called for the death sentence.

The court agreed with Alabama that the flawed sentencing procedure did not affect the outcome in Ritter's case since his crime clearly made him eligible for the death sentence, but it added the law could not be used anyway. The contested jury instruction is no longer part of the Alabama death penalty law and only nine other inmates in the state were sentenced under the old law.

But Alabama and 31 other states asked the high court to instruct federal courts not to disturb state court rulings unless the individual defendant who appeals has been injured in some way by the flawed law.

They argued Ritter would have gotten the death sentence no matter what law was used because he admitted participating in the murder, he asked to be put to death and said he would attack the jurors themselves if he was ever released.

The states characterized the lower court ruling as an "alarming expansion of federal court power" that "jeopardizes sensitive state-federal relations."

The law "does not permit, and indeed forbids (action by federal courts) where the state statute in question was constitutionally applied to the petitioner before the court," the states argued.

The other states are Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming.

Recorders, Answering Machines Stolen From Flea Market Dealer

A flea market dealer reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that $1,200 worth of items including 30 cassette recorders and three telephone answering machines were stolen from his camper while it was parked at an Eastern service station on state Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Khosron Moheb, 32, of 4220 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, told deputies the items were taken Sunday or Monday.

Several parts including a $290 radio were stolen from the 1977 Grand Prix of Mark Darryl Moretz, 25, of Orlando, while the car was parked at Springs Plaza, state Road 434, Longwood, Monday or Tuesday.

Annie Mae Gathers, 55, of 1770 Blackstone Ave., Sanford, lost $860 worth of jewelry and a $200 color television to a thief who entered her home Monday or Tuesday, deputies report.

Building materials, including door knobs and handles, and valued at $366, are missing from the home Walter Martin is building at 3609 Jerico Drive, Casselberry. The items were reportedly taken Sunday or Monday and deputies say they have a lead on a suspect in the case.

A thief took $200 worth of china and glassware from the carport of Linda Knowles of 540 Finch Drive, Maitland. Deputies report the items were stolen Monday.

Geraldine Wisecup, 39, of Osteen, reported to deputies that her home at 3190 W. state Road

46, Sanford, was burglarized between Friday and Sunday. Two aquariums were taken from the home and tools were taken from a shed behind the house. The missing property was valued at $567.

A $250 cassette player was stolen from the car of John Jones, 19, of 2101 Brisson Ave., Midway, Sunday while the vehicle was parked at his home, deputies report.

Mark L. Fowler, 19, of 499 Tulane Drive, Altamonte Springs, reported to deputies that his landlord hit him on the head with a metal pole, threw an apple at him, and ordered him from the house where he rents a room after he asked for a $400 cashier's check which the landlord's wife had been keeping for him. Fowler reported he left the house without the cash at about 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

A 1979 Pontiac was taken for a test drive from Larry Lacallade's Auto Sales, 110 W. state Road 436, Fern Park, Sunday and has not been returned, according to a sheriff's report. The car is valued at $5,000.

Sammie Y. Roberson, 42, of 212 Sorrento Circle, Winter Park, reported to deputies that a thief took $700 worth of clothing from a washer in a laundry room at Sorrento Apartments, Winter Park, Saturday.

Two tires and rims worth $250 were stolen from the car of Charles Brannon, 45, of 290 E. Lake Harney, Geneva, while the car was parked at 3710 E. state Road 46, Sanford, Saturday or Sunday, according to a sheriff's report.

Deputies have the name of a suspect who allegedly hit Linda M. Randall, 25, of 466 Dogwood Court, Altamonte Springs, Thursday and stole a $180 surfboard from her backyard. The board belongs to William A. Ross, 30, of Winter Park.

Rosa Silverstein, 34, reported that workmen were in her home at 465 Wekiva Cove Road, Longwood, Sept. 10 and 11 when her $1,200 gold and diamond wedding ring disappeared from a counter in the kitchen.

Seven cases of beer and 70 bottles of wine with a total value of $115 were stolen from a storage room at the Last Stop Bar, 1810 Southwest Road, Sanford, between 8 p.m. Friday and 2:30 a.m. Saturday, according to a report owner Pearl M. Tanner, 65, filed with deputies.

A camera, photo equipment, a telephone and an answering machine were among the items taken from the home of Harold N. Dendy, 49, of 333 W. Hornbeam Drive, Longwood. A thief entered the home through a garage door Thursday, deputies report.

George Petsos, 65, of 1905 Hibiscus Lane, Maitland, reported to deputies that a thief drove off in his 1980 Monza on Thursday. A sheriff's report did not give the value of the car, which was stolen while parked at Petsos' home.

Dips

Say 'Cheese' To Win Hearty Approval Of Party Guests

When you read about famous party-givers, you wonder what their secret is. They seem to think up excuses to invite people over and they're never at a loss for enticing party fare to serve.

Dips of all kinds are perpetual party pleasers. They're easy to prepare and serve, can often be made in advance and the most popular ones are assembled from "on-hand" ingredients — sour cream or mayonnaise, cheese, mustard, horseradish, catsup.

One item that should be added to your list of pantry "party staples" is new on the market. Frito-Lay has introduced a line of Cheddar flavored cheese dips, available in three robust flavors. Unopened, they don't need refrigeration and will keep fresh up to six months. Delicious right from the can, they also combine well with a wide variety of ingredients to provide a sumptuous array of party dips.

A real sizzler, Sizzling Con Queso Dip combines Cheddar & Jalapeno Dip with stewed tomatoes and Worcestershire which is served hot.

SIZZLING CON QUESO DIP
1 can (9 or 10 ounces) cheddar & jalapeno flavor cheese dip
1 can (14½ ounces) stewed tomatoes, drained, chopped
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

In a small saucepan or fondue pot combine cheese dip, tomatoes and Worcestershire mix well. Cook over low heat until mixture is hot and bubbly. Keep warm on a hot plate or in a fondue pot over canned heat. Serve with corn or tortilla chips or cut-raw vegetables.

GOLDEN CHEESE CRISPS
1 can (9 or 10 ounces) cheddar and herb flavored cheese dip
1 cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons grated onion
1 loaf (1 pound) thinly sliced white bread, crust trimmed

In medium bowl combine cheese dip, mayonnaise and onion; mix well. Arrange bread in a single layer on a cookie sheet. Toast under broiler on one side only, about 3 inches from source of heat. Spread untoasted side of each bread slice with generous amount of cheese mixture; cut in half diagonally. Arrange triangles on cookie sheet; return to broiler until mixture bubbles and is lightly browned, about 2 minutes. Serve hot.

LONE STAR TACO DIP
1 can (9 or 10 ounces) mild cheddar flavor cheese dip
½ cup sour cream
1 tablespoon packaged taco seasoning mix

In small bowl combine all ingredients; mix well. Serve with tortilla or corn chips or cut-up raw vegetables.
YIELD: About 1½ cups.

Dips of all kinds are perpetual party pleasers. They are easy to prepare and serve in advance and the most popular ones are assembled from 'on-hand' ingredients. Golden Cheese Crisps are succulent triangles served hot from the oven.

Two desserts for topping off the family Sunday roast are a lattice pie combining cranberries with flaked coconut and wheat germ and a cranberry pear brown betty.

Something Special For Sunday Meal

Sunday supper should offer a change from the weekly quick fix dinners. A nice formula to follow that will please the family without exhausting the working homemaker is an easy-to-prepare roast teamed with a special dessert. Vary the roasts from week to week. Try pork, lamb, roast beef, fresh ham or a small turkey.

For dessert, enjoy the first cranberries of the season in a pie that's flavored with maple syrup and laced with wheat germ and flaked coconut. Cranberry Pear Brown Betty is a delicious dessert that mixes two fall fruits — cranberries and pears and it can be put together in minutes.

CRANBERRY LATTICE PIE
Pastry for 2 crusts (9-inch) pie
1 package (12 ounces) fresh or frozen cranberries, finely chopped
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup wheat germ
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup maple syrup

Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. Line a 9-inch pie plate with half of the pastry. In a large bowl, combine remaining ingredients; blend well. Turn into pastry lined pie plate. Roll remaining pastry to a 10-inch circle. Cut into ¾ inch wide strips. Place atop filled pie in lattice fashion.

Turn and flute edges.
Bake for 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to moderate 350 degrees F.; bake an additional 25-30 minutes or until crust is golden brown.

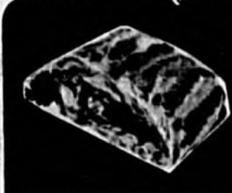

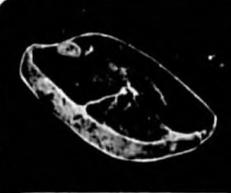

CRANBERRY PEAR BROWN BETTY
6 slices firm white bread, cut into ½ inch cubes
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup melted butter or margarine
6 medium pears, peeled, cored and sliced
6 medium pears, peeled, cored and sliced
1½ cups fresh or frozen cranberries
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon
½ cup cranberry juice cocktail

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. In a bowl, mix bread cubes, 2 tablespoons sugar and butter. In another bowl, mix pears, cranberries, ¾ cup sugar and spices. In a greased 1½ quart casserole, make alternating layers of the mixtures starting and ending with bread cubes. Pour cranberry juice cocktail evenly over top. Place in oven. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm with heavy cream or ice cream.

Bewitching Halloween Treats Take The Cake

Giant pumpkins, hootows and funny-face goblins — they're all cookies, all wholesome — all part of a safe and happy Halloween. The enticing cookie recipes that follow make bewitching party fare for Halloween celebrations at home or at school.

THE GREAT PUMPKIN PAN COOKIE

2 cups flour
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels
Assorted icing or peanut butter

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt. Cream butter; gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; mix well. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin, mixing well after each addition. Stir in morsels. Spread dough into greased and floured 14-inch deep dish pizza pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on rack 15 minutes. Remove cookie from pan. Cool completely. Decorate using icing or peanut butter to affix assorted candies, raisins or nuts. Cut into squares or wedges to serve. Yields about 24 servings.

SCRUMPTIOUS PUMPKIN BROWNIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped walnuts (optional)
2 cups butterscotch flavored morsels
1/2 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels

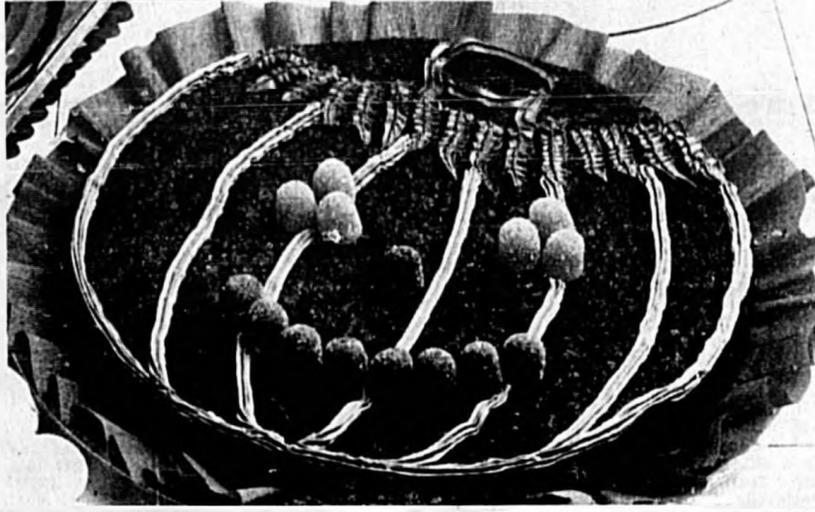

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In large bowl, cream butter and sugar; add pumpkin, eggs and vanilla. Stir in flour, oats, spice, baking powder, baking soda, salt and walnuts. Spread batter into greased and floured 15 1/2 x 10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan for two 8-inch square baking pans. Bake 25 to 30 minutes; (30 to 35 minutes for 8-inch pans). Immediately sprinkle butterscotch morsels on brownies; let stand 5 minutes. To frost, gently spread butterscotch morsels to cover brownies. In small saucepan, melt chocolate morsels over low heat. Drizzle over frosted brownie in a spiral design. While still warm, lightly drag the edge of a knife or thin metal spatula from the center of the spiral to the edge of the pan. Repeat motion at spaced intervals to make a spider web pattern. Cool completely before slicing. Yields about 3 dozen bars.

PUMPKIN COOKIE MONSTERS

1/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup solid pack pumpkin
3/4 cup light molasses
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
Icing, raisins, gum drops and other candies

Cream shortening and sugar; stir in pumpkin and molasses. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Add to pumpkin mixture, one-third at a time, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Cover; chill 2 to 3 hours. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. On well-floured surface, roll out dough to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut with assorted floured cookie cutters (or cut around floured cardboard pattern). Gently place on greased baking sheets. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until firm to the touch. Remove from baking sheets, cool on wire racks. Decorate with icing, raisins and candies. Yields 2 dozen (3-inch) cookies.

The Great Pumpkin Pan Cookie is a delectable 14-inch delicacy designed to treat a whole gathering of pals.

Microwave Magic

Crisp Apples Herald Yummy Fall Treats

The first cool days of fall always put me in the mood for cooking with apples and spices, and those dishes that combine the two of them. The smells that permeate the house conjure memories of my childhood — coming home from school to find spiky cookies, apple dumplings or apple pie.

Apples are at their best in the fall. They are plentiful and an economical buy now through January. The versatility of the apple is another reason to have a good supply on hand. A multi-purpose apple such as the Macintosh or the Rome can be used with vegetables, meat dishes or for desserts. If you use the apple for salads or desserts only, you will want to try some of these other ways. Your microwave oven will make the cooking quick and easy. The vegetables and apples will retain their color and texture as well as the nutritive value.

GLAZED CARROTS AND APPLES

- 4-5 medium carrots, sliced
- 1 tart cooking apple, peeled, cored and chopped
- 2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in a 1-quart casserole. Cover and microwave on 100% power for 5 minutes. Stir and microwave on same power setting for 3-4 minutes, or until carrots are tender crisp. Let stand for 3-5 minutes before serving.

This is another good apple-vegetable combo.

WINTER SQUASH AND APPLES

- 2 acorn or butternut squash salt
 - 2 medium apples, peeled, cored and sliced
 - 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
 - 1/4 cup butter
 - cinnamon
- Wash and pierce the whole squash. Microwave on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until the squash feels soft to the touch.

Let stand 5 minutes. Cut in half, remove seeds. Place cut side up in a 12 x 7-inch baking dish. Fill centers of squash with apples, top each with 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter and a dash of cinnamon. Cover with plastic wrap or wax paper. Microwave on 100% power 6-7 minutes, or until apples are tender. Let stand 3 minutes before serving.

Baked apples are an old-fashioned quick dessert that is always good.

MICROWAVE BAKED APPLES

- 4 medium baking apples; washed and cored
 - 1/4 cup packed brown sugar
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - cinnamon
 - Sweet or sour cream
- Place apples in a 2-quart baking dish. Place 1 tablespoon brown sugar and a large teaspoon of butter in each apple. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Microwave on 100% power 8-9 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm with cream.

If you're really counting calories try this version of a baked apple.

SLIMLINE BAKED APPLES

- 12 ounce can low calorie strawberry-flavored soda
 - 4 medium baking apples
- Cut apples in half, remove core. Place apples cut side up in a 2-quart baking dish. Pour soda over apples. Cover with wax paper. Microwave on 100% power 8-10 minutes, or until apples are tender.

This recipe has it all. Sugar, spice, apples and oatmeal.

APPLE CRISP

- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup oatmeal
- 3/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 cups sliced apples
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Combine brown sugar, flour, oatmeal, butter, nuts and salt. Mix with a fork until crumbly. Spread 1/2 of this mixture into bottom of 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Arrange apple slices over crumbs. Sprinkle with lemon juice if apples are not tart, then sprinkle with sugar-cinnamon mixture. Cover with remaining crumbs. Microwave on 100% power for 15-20 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve with warm whipped cream.

MICROWAVE HINT: Test apples for doneness before the cooking time is complete. Some varieties cook faster than others.

Try Dates In Slaw, Bread

Just because something is good for you doesn't mean it has to be dull. Quite the contrary. Combining various ingredients in salads with an eye to nutrition can be both exciting and gratifying.

- DATE AND CABBAGE SLAW
- 2 cups shredded red cabbage
 - 2 cups shredded green cabbage
 - 1 cup chopped dates
 - 3 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
 - 2 tablespoons honey
 - 1/2 cup salad oil
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Blend juice, honey, salad oil and salt in blender or shake in a jar. Chill. Shred cabbage and mix with dates. Toss with salad dressing until well blended. Serves 4 to 6.

A perfect luncheon partner for this crunchy salad is this full flavored Date Cheese bread. Either can be made ahead for easy summer serving.

- DATE CHEESE BREAD
- 1 cup pitted dates, diced
 - 3/4 cup boiling water
 - 1 3/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1 cup shredded sharp cheese
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
- In a small bowl, combine dates and boiling water. Set aside. Sift together flour, salt, baking soda, and sugar. Add date mixture, beaten egg, cheese, vanilla and nuts. Blend only until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into well oiled 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate) 45 to 50 minutes or until loaf tests done in center. Let stand 5 minutes, remove from pan. Finish cooling on wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Note: Bread slices easier, next day. Makes delicious cream cheese sandwiches. Great for gifts.
