Students talk to Russia

Lake Mary sends school supplies to Russians

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The 58 fourth grade students in Bill Peoples' class who were talking non-stop in the alcove outside the administrative offices of Lake Mary Elementary School grew eerily silent when the bright lights from the television cameras shone in their eyes.

The news media and district officials had come out in force this morning to eavesdrop on their conversation with a group of nine and ten year olds in the Russian city of Ulyanovsk.

The Russian students asked repeatedly about the weather, about the health of the students and about their favorite classes. The American students answered politely, but initiated no conversations of their own.

The Russians spoke English clearly, but with a heavy accent. Larissa Kuznetsova, People's Russian counterpart, asked interpreter Hugh Foster to speak English.

"I don't understand your accent," she said. Foster stood aside, offering only occasional assistance to Lake Mary students who wanted to say a few words in Russian.

Hammock top land priority

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Completion of the Spring Hammock acquisition has been ranked as the top priority by a county land preservation committee.

Properties in the Wekiva River area, lower St. Johns River, Black Hammock, the area including the Econlockhatchee River and portions of the St. Johns River, and Lake Monroe area were the second-through the sixth-ranked targets of the county's $20 million land purchase program approved by voters in 1988.

Seminole County commissioners will consider the recommendations in a work session March 24.

A total of 32 sites are included in the recommendations, said county natural resources planner Colleen Logan. Logan said the expected purchase price of all the properties will be between $12 million and $15 million. The county is preparing to sell $15 million in bonds for the purchases.

County budget director Jean Kassab said the additional $5 million of the $20 million approved by voters will be reserved for later purchases. Bond laws require all See Land Page 5A

Accident victim critical

By NICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — Five year old James Morris, Jr., was listed in critical condition this morning. The boy was struck by a car yesterday afternoon near the Sanford City Limits.

The accident occurred on Airport Boulevard, near 20th Street at approximately 3:50 p.m. Sunday.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, which investigated the accident, an automobile, driven by Timothy E. Thomas, 21, of 2019 McCarthy Ave., was traveling north on Airport, Morris, who lives at 1817 Alexander Ave., who had been walking with his grandmother along the shoulder of the street, ran across the roadway into the path of Thomas' vehicle and was struck.

Morris was airlifted to the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women.

The Florida Highway Patrol as of this morning, reported "no charges" have been made in the case, and patrol reports indicated no further investigation would be made in the matter.

Longwood meets tonight

Used truck could save city $7,500

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — With the present economic situation and a tight budget for Longwood, the dollar is being stretched as far as possible in some cases.

Longwood Public Works Director Richard Kornbluh is proposing the City consider purchasing a used truck and refurbishing it, rather than spend money for a new one.

If approved at the City Commission meeting tonight, it would result in a saving of $7,500, which, according to City Administrator Don Terry, "will be returned to reserves and contingencies."

The needed vehicle is what is known as a "bucket truck", a large truck with a bucket that can be hoisted up to work on tall structures and poles. Kornbluh has been working on the purchase for several months. Terry explained, "We would use the vehicle for things like trimming trees that may be hanging over a street, or other work requiring people to go up to any heights."

The City of Longwood had originally budgeted $18,000 to be spent for the purchase of the truck. Kornbluh commented, "A new truck costs approximately $90,000. This is obviously out of the question."

In addition to the cost of a new vehicle, Kornbluh also considered several used vehicles, mostly listed in poor condition, that would have cost between $11,000 and $17,500.

The actual vehicle Kornbluh is proposing is a 1982 Ford F400, with a 34 foot boom. It is a former Southern Bell line truck, which has been taken out of service.

The vehicle is available for $9,500. He estimated possibly another $1,000 would be needed to have the truck repainted, with some minor items added to it.

The generator which drives the lift has only 400 hours of use on it, and is considered in good See Truck, Page 5A

11 names on Selection Committee

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A new list of names has been prepared for Longwood to consider for a Selection Committee. Members of the committee are to recommend a replacement for City Administrator Don Terry.

During the March 2 City Commission meeting, Longwood Personnel Director James Coleman presented a list of three persons, recommending they be approved to sit on the selection committee. Commissioners Fred Pearl and Rex Anderson however, said they did not believe the list gave them the opportunity to select specific individuals, and requested a larger list be made from which to choose.

During tonight's Longwood City Commission meeting, Coleman will be presenting a list of 11 names for consideration. See Names, Page 5A

County may buy phone company

TALLAHASSEE — Leon County may consider buying the area's 12-county telephone company to gain an income source at a time when slow development is slowing tax-revenue growth, a county commissioner says.

Central Telephone of Florida officials say they want to explore their options because of the potential for a hostile takeover attempt by some rival in the competitive communications industry. Centel has set an April 16 deadline for bidders.

Leon County Commissioner Greg Yordon said he'll seek commission approval this week to send a team to Centel's Chicago headquarters to examine financial records.

If the records check out, Yordon said he'll propose that the county submit a bid, issue utility bonds to pay for the phone company and pledge future phone revenues to pay them back.

Having a utility has proved profitable for the city of Tallahassee, which gets about 35 percent of its general operating budget from its electric department.

Margolis flew first-class

TALLAHASSEE — Senate President Owen Margolis billed taxpayers for first-class airfare on seven of 11 flights to and from her district in the last two legislative sessions, a newspaper reported.

Margolis, D-North Miami Beach, wrote on travel vouchers that the first-class seats, costing about $1,670, were the only ones available, but the Florida Times-Union reported Sunday that other legislators from the Miami area flew coach.

A review of legislative records showed that 27 other Dade County legislators billed for first class on only five flights out of 581 in the last two regular sessions, the Times-Union said.

Margolis, a real estate developer with assets of $3.4 million, said her schedule as Senate president is so demanding she often must reserve flights just a few days in advance, after coach seats are booked, while other legislators can plan further ahead.

Protesters against monkey killings

SILVER SPRINGS — Protesters unhappy with a state decision to trap and kill rhesus monkeys found on state land demonstrated outside the Silver Springs attraction as motorists honked their horns in encouragement.

The protesters, who call themselves the Monkey Support System, object to the state Department of Natural Resources' decision to trap and kill the monkeys, some of which are diseased.

"Everyone making decisions for our monkeys are in Tallahassee," said Tish Hennessey, director of the Foundation for Environmental Awareness.

State officials said they are only trying to keep humans from being bitten by the monkeys, four of which tested positive in January for Herpes B. If humans are bitten, the results can be fatal or cause significant neurological damage.

Security guard suspected in 10 attacks

TAMPA — A Tampa General Hospital security guard charged in one rape is suspected in at least 10 sexual assaults by a knife-wielding man who wore latex gloves, detectives said.

Kurt Serzen, 34, was charged Friday with a March 3 attack at an apartment complex. He was held without bail in the Hillsborough County Jail on charges of sexual battery and armed burglary.

He also is suspected of attacking women living within a few miles of the home he shared with a girlfriend in Town and Country, an unincorporated community just west of Tampa, said Hillsborough County Sheriff's Capt. Gary Terry.

Ten rapes and one attempted rape have been linked to a single attacker since 1990.

Officials at Tampa General, who hired Serzen on Nov. 14, fired him Friday for lying on his job application about his criminal history, said hospital spokeswoman Karen Clarke.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

FHP: Tickets up, death toll down

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — More and more people are getting "fast driving awards" from Florida Highway Patrol troopers, and agency officials say the crackdown on speeders — even marginal ones — is saving lives.

"Last year was one of the safest years we've had," Maj. Mike Boles, an FHP spokesman in Tallahassee, told The St. Petersburg Times in a story in Sunday editions. "We're starting to reap some of the benefits of that enforcement and education."

□ Last year was one of the safest years we've had. □

—Maj. Mike Boles, an FHP spokesman

Boles says the increase in speeding tickets was partly responsible for last year's drop in highway deaths. Statewide, the number of fatalities was down 15 percent.

From last July through January, troopers wrote nearly 13,000 more tickets for violations of the 55 mph limit than in the same period they year before, an increase of 5 percent.

FHP handles almost all speed-limit enforcement on interstate highways and also patrols many state and county roads. Troopers write nearly half of the traffic tickets given in Florida.

Boles says there is no special push to issue more speeding tickets. Troopers just happen to be pulling over more lead-footed drivers.

"There is more potential risk to be stopped," Boles said.

That's true even if you only speed a little. FHP's ticket counts also reveal that troopers are getting "low-end speeders."

Way Back When

These three Sanford pitchers played for Dale Alexander's championship 1939 entry in the Florida State League. At left is Cleo Jeter. Before coming to Sanford he hurled the Boyd-Alien semi-pro nine of Atlanta to back-to-back titles in tournaments sponsored by the National Baseball Congress.

In 1940, Sid Hudson, center, jumped from the Class "D" Sanford club to the Washington Senators of the American League. Hudson, now a pitching coach for the Baylor University Bears, resides in Waco, Texas. Next is Joe Pinder. Later he won the Congressional Medal of Honor. Pinder established the first shore-to-ship communications during the World War II D-Day landings at Omaha Beach, June 6, 1944. A couple minutes later he was fatally wounded. At the extreme right is Julian Stenstrom, now the "Way Back When" columnist for The Herald. Ex-POW: Some MIAs may be in North Korea

Associated Press

CLEARWATER — A Florida businessman who as a South Korean-army officer was captured by the Viet Cong during the war in Vietnam says he was nearly shipped to North Korea.

Park Jung-hwan says he avoided that fate by escaping. But he believes that some fellow POWs — American pilots — may have wound up in that unfriendly country.

"If somebody said to me, 'You think some American MIAs could be in North Korea now?' I'd say possibly," said Park, who was with a Republic of Korea army unit sent to South Vietnam to help fight communist insurgents. He was captured in 1968.

"At that time, North Korea and Vietnam were very, very close," he told The Tampa Tribune in an interview late last week. "I escaped. Had I not made it, I would be in North Korea now."

Dade takes initiative on family leave policy

By CATHERINE WILSON
AP Business Writer

MIAMI — Working women are delaying motherhood, quitting good jobs and declaring bankruptcy because of family emergencies, but advocates of a new municipal policy are hoping that will change.

Where the nation and the state have failed to adopt a family leave policy, Dade County is forging ahead with an ordinance of its own.

Starting Monday, about 2,500 Miami-area businesses must offer a 90-day unpaid leave every two years to employees for childbirth, adoption or serious illness involving the employee or a close relative.

As a political football, family leave has been kicked around a lot. Congress passed a bill two years ago, and late last year, both chambers approved their own versions of a family leave policy. But President Bush vetoed the first bill and promises to do so when the latest effort reaches his desk.

California, Oregon and Hawaii have trend-setting state laws, but a package recently stalled in the Florida Legislature. That encouraged Dade County Commissioner Larry Hawkins to pursue what's believed to be the only such ordinance of its kind at the county or municipal level.

A short-lived Harrisburg, Pa., law was killed in court in 1988. "It was needed because the nuclear family as most of us knew it 20 years ago is really gone," says Hawkins, a paralyzed Vietnam veteran who is active on issues affecting families and the disabled.

"One lady actually came forth and said she had decided not to have a child because she was afraid of losing her job."

The ordinance applies to companies with 50 or more employees that are based in the county, or do business with the county no matter where they are based.

Violators face no fines, but an anti-discrimination board that will enforce the ordinance can order back pay and reinstatement.

Big Miami-area employers include the trucking company Ryder System Inc., fast food chain Burger King, media company Knight-Ridder Inc., Florida Power & Light Co. and American Bankers Insurance Group.

Egyptology buff

People are signing up with modern mummy maker

Associated Press

BOCA RATON — A funeral director who is an avid Egyptology buff says people are signing up for his $7,700 version of the ancient burial method of mummification, though he's only mummified dogs and cats so far.

"It's just a matter of time," said John Chew of Boca Raton, who said his waiting list has grown to 120.

Chew, 59, is director of the Institute for Funeral Service Education and Anatomy at Lynn University, an 1,100-student private school.

His interest in mummies and Egyptian lore goes back to childhood when he frequented the Egyptian collection at a Philadelphia museum. He became fascinated with the ancients, and said that led to his choice of a career as a funeral director.

Egyptians mummified people because they believed their souls would return after about 3,000 years, needing a home.

The practice began dying out about 1,400 years ago after the Romans moved into Egypt.

"As the religion changed, there was less demand until it disappeared," Chew said.

Now the majority of people who die are embalmed, Chew said. "Embalming is temporary. Mummification is forever."

While an embalmed body gradually oxidizes and turns to dust, a mummified body is treated with preservative solutions and doesn't deteriorate, he said.

Warrant arrests made

● Regina T. Moore, 23, 1810 Perimmon Ave., Sanford, on charges that she was driving with a suspended or revoked drivers license. She is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $200 bond.

● Eric Maurice Chapman, 19, 1304 W. 18th St., Sanford, for violating the terms of his probation on charges of possession of a controlled substance and on charges of operating a vehicle with a suspended license. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility without bond on the first charge and on $250 bond on the second.

● Thomas David Strawn, 27, 4987 Nolan Road, Sanford, for violating the terms of his probation on grand theft charges. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility without bond.

● Richard Eugene Williams, 2420 Chase Ave. Sanford, on 13 warrants charging that he obtained property with worthless checks and one warrant for trespassing after warning. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $2,700 bond.

● Keith Leonard Myers, 18, 1506 W. 17th St. Sanford, for failure to appear in court on charges of possession of a controlled substance. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility without bond.

Reckless driving charged

Melissa Lynn Herzberg, 31, 301 Washington Ave., Lake Mary, was charged with reckless driving and fleeing and attempting to elude police.

Police report that they attempted a traffic stop when they saw Herzberg driving fast down Washington Avenue. Instead of stopping, they said, she drove more rapidly and crashed into a power pole in her yard. They took her into custody before she could enter her house.

She is being held without bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Five arrested on drug charges

Five people were charged with purchasing controlled substances. In this case crack cocaine, from undercover police officers on Friday evening. The Sanford Police Department's Special Investigative Unit was conducting a reverse sting operation on 10th Street and Holly Avenue in Sanford. Police said those charged approached the officers and offered money in exchange for drugs.

Arrested were:

● Howard Sutton, 28, 140 Academy Ave., Sanford.

● Linda Marie Davis, 27, 1413 W. 12th St., Sanford.

● Norice Penn, 36, 709 W. 9th St., Sanford.

● Walter Brian Frizzell, 35, 900 E. Airport, Sanford.

● Bruce Charles Slivinski, 34, 3021 Norvell Ct., Deltona.

They were each transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $5,000 bond.

Indecent exposure charged

Donald Thomas Lowman, 32, 118 Inwood Dr., Sanford, was charged with exposing his sexual organs when he was arrested on Friday.

Police said a woman flagged officers down and said that Lowman had made a lewd comment to her when she passed his car in the parking lot of a convenience store. She told police that his pants were pulled down to his knees when she looked at him. Police said when they arrived on the scene, his pants were still around his knees.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $100 bond.

Retail theft, drug charges filed

Julia Inez Cox, 37, 2021 Grandview, Sanford, was charged with retail theft and possession of crack cocaine when she was arrested Friday.

Police said that security officials at the Winn Dixie on Airport Boulevard, Sanford, detained her for attempting to leave the store with $10 worth of shrimp without paying for it. They said that as she was being detained, she attempted to hide something from them. The item was retrieved and it tested positive for crack cocaine.

She was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $3,000 bond.

Warrant arrests

● Carolyn Whitehead Smith, 36, 1210 W. 15th St., Sanford, was arrested on charges of obtaining property with a worthless check. She is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $100 bond.

● Dederick Antonio Cherry, 28, 16 Lake Jenny Apartments, Sanford, was charged with violation of the terms of his probation on charges of carrying a concealed firearm. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility without bond.

● Victor Manuel Rodriguez, 40, 2260 Hibiscus Dr., Sanford, was charged with failure to pay fines. He was being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in lieu of $85 cash.

Watch on Old Sanford

Domestic violence charged

Michael Allen Christian, 39, 814 Elm Ave., Sanford, was charged with domestic violence when he was arrested on Friday.

His wife went to the Sanford Police and told them that he had come home in an argumentative state and had hit her in the face with his fist. Police said that marks on her face supported that claim.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held without bond.

Town says marijuana should be legalized

Associated Press

STARKS, Maine — Angry over drug raids, residents of this tiny western Maine town narrowly adopted a resolution asking the state to legalize marijuana.

The resolution, passed by a 45 to 42 margin, calls on the Legislature to prohibit bans on the cultivation, possession and sale of cannabis hemp for agricultural and commercial uses, such as for fiber and feed. It also asks lawmakers to legalize the possession of up to two pounds of dried flowers from female marijuana plants.

The vote Saturday followed a series of well-publicized drug raids by the state's Bureau of Intergovernmental Drug Enforcement.

"This is military intimidation," Ralph Smithers said during a fiery town meeting before the vote.

"The people in Russia reached a point of saying 'enough,' and they gained democracy. They have more democracy in Russia than we do."

Smithers talked about helicopter surveillance of the countryside by pot-hunting drug agents.

Other speakers charged that drug agents shoved guns in their faces and expressed fears that the wrong house might be raided and occupants injured.

But Kerry Herbert, who opposed the resolution, accused pot growers of "dragging landowners into a felony action by planting this stuff on other people's land."

Town Clerk Jane Brackett said the last-minute registration of three new voters — all supporters of the resolution — raised some legal questions. She said she wouldn't be surprised if someone challenged the vote.

Sanford looks for hay farmers

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The city of Sanford owns approximately 1,000 acres of land near Geneva. The main purpose is to use it for wastewater discharge.

The land however, can also be used to bring profit into the city treasury. The growing of citrus on some of the land has already been arranged. Hay growing on the remainder appears to be the next step.

Lake Jessup Groves, Inc., LJO, has signed a mutual covenant with the city, to lease 270 acres of the property for the creation of approximately 235 acres of citrus. When the crop begins to draw a profit, the city will be receiving a percentage of the money.

Prior to the decision to grow citrus, members of the City Commission had at one time, approved the growing of hay on the entire land area, but an offer from LJO and a second citrus growing operation changed their minds for a portion of the area.

Next week, the city plans to publish a statement requesting input from persons who may wish to either lease the rest of the property for hay growing, or grow it on an operation and maintenance arrangement. Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons said, "We'll probably have a closing date on that sometime around the end of April."

One person, Mark Pell of Osteen, has already made a proposal to grow hay on the land.

Simmons explained, "Both the leasing and the O&M proposals will probably have their good as well as bad points. The commission will eventually have to decide which approach the city will take."

He observed, "Of course, the main purpose of this land is to get rid of water. The citrus and hay growing endeavors must be placed second on the list of importance." He added, "Whatever contract we enter into, we must be certain we can protect the irrigation capacity on the overall land area."

The city has been laying lines along Celery Avenue and S.R. 46, east of Sanford for the flow of the reclaimed water. The lines are expected to be in place by the first of June.

The hay site is roughly 800 to 850 acres. Simmons said, "Only at one point does it touch the land where citrus will be grown. The rest is divided by a band of wetlands."

The actual planting of the citrus is still some time away. According to George Wallace, with LJO, "We have to wait until the water lines are finished, then approval has to be given that the lines meet all plans and specifications. Only then can we actually start work."

Wallace predicted the first move will be to install the micro-irrigation system that will water the citrus as well as provide a recently developed method for protecting the crops from freezes.

White House denies anti-Israel campaign

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush's spokesman today denied that the United States is trying to harm Israel's image through leaks that allege improper Israeli sales of advanced U.S. weapon technology.

"No, that's not true, we want good relations with Israel," said Marlin Fitzwater when asked if U.S. officials are trying to poison the atmosphere.

"We've worked long and hard for good relations. We've got a difficult situation now with respect to the loan guarantees but our overriding interest is the peace process," Fitzwater said, as the president left for a day's campaigning in the Midwest.

Israeli leaders picture their country as the victim of a smear campaign in Washington to damage harm Israel's image and its relations with the United States.

In Jerusalem, Foreign Minister David Levy sought to soothe tensions with Israel's most important ally Sunday. But other officials warned of a profound change developing in America's attitude to Israel, and Israel radio said the Jewish state would look elsewhere for weapons components, primarily France.

Most Israeli officials strenuously denied their country sold key weapons technology to China and other countries. And most carefully avoided placing blame for the leaks behind last week's news stories.

But Health Minister Ehud Olmert, a close ally of Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said he was sure "such things were not raised without the will of a senior figure in the (Bush) administration."

Asked if he suspected the Americans were trying to influence Israel's June 23 parliamentary elections, Olmert said he did not know, but added that might be a fair conclusion.

Israelis see the disclosures as another shot in the rising tensions over the U.S. demand that Shamir's government stop building Jewish settlements in the occupied territories. Israel has refused to halt settlements as a condition for getting $10 billion in American loan guarantees to help settle Russian immigrants.

The Washington Post said some officials and independent experts in Jerusalem privately concede Israel may have sold weapons such as cluster bombs in the past to countries such as Chile or Ethiopia, but that was years ago and had been previously reported.

Israeli leaders have denied Israel gave Patriot air defense missile technology to China or shared information on the U.S.-sponsored Arrow missile with South Africa.

Expanding aid

The U.S. Senate voted overwhelmingly to enlarge the federal grant and loan program for college students. But it wisely put off a proposal, strongly pushed by Democrats, to make college grants an entitlement, similar to Social Security or Medicaid, for all low- and middle-income students.

Both decisions make sense. The prime effect of the expansion of the aid program, which already benefits millions of students, is to increase funds available for federally subsidized student loans and to enlarge the number of middle-income students eligible for direct federal grants.

The law now limits grants to those coming from families earning no more than $30,000 a year. The Senate bill raises the threshold to $42,000. At the same time it increases the grant maximum from $2,400 to $3,600 a year, thereby filling part of the gap that has been created by the rapid increases in college tuition fees over the past decade. The grants now cover less than 25 percent of the average college bill, compared to more than 40 percent in 1980.

In addition, the measure would cut off from the loan program all institutions that have a loan default rate of 25 percent or more, thereby continuing efforts to eliminate low-quality schools, or schools that promise students more than they can deliver, and which often seem more interested in the student's borrowed tuition money than in his or her success in the program.

What the bill does not address is the escalating costs of college itself. In the past 25 years, tuition in private colleges has been rising twice as fast as the cost of living.

People like former Education Secretary William Bennett have argued that some of that huge increase is attributable to the third-party financial aid — that was designed to make college affordable. Because of the aid, colleges have been able to be much too casual, they say, about their bloated costs.

Even if that's only partly true, college costs seem to be behaving in ways very similar to those of medical costs, probably for similar reasons, and may well require similar kinds of cost control.

What's certain is that if Congress makes financial aid an entitlement not subject to annual reviews, it will send precisely the wrong message to an educational system that badly needs to tighten its belt.

The House version of the bill, which will be acted on this spring, includes entitlements as well as an even greater expansion of the grant program. It urgently needs to be brought in line with the Senate bill.

SARAH OVERSTREET

To be young and a woman reporter

When I became a newspaper reporter in the late 1970s, I was probably as stary-eyed a cub as ever clutched a notebook and waited for an assignment. I was hired into the section we called "Lifestyle" officially and "features" generally, which was undergoing a transformation of several years. It began as the "society" pages, then became the "women's" pages before finally losing its gender classification.

We Lifestyle reporters — one other woman, one man and myself — were excited to be where we were. Each of us would take occasional duty slaking the community's thirst for news of who was doing what with/for whom, but a major part of our work was in-depth reporting on the issues that matter most to people. Nothing was off-limits as long as it chronicled and defined the lives of the readers we served.

It was a wonderful time to be a woman reporter, as far as I could see. Most of the women on staff were young, just a few years out of college, and we encountered little of the sexual discrimination some of the older women remembered. If anything, most of the men we worked with and for tried hard to keep treatment equal. Yes, there were exceptions, but they were the minority.

Perhaps that's why the recent New York Times review of Nan Robertson's book "The Girls In The Balcony" hit me so squarely between the eyes. I learned that until 1971, just seven short years before I started in journalism, women reporters were denied membership in the National Press Club in Washington, D.C., and were forbidden to even enter the club's ballroom. Instead, the women — Pulitzer-prize winners and all — were stuffed onto a small balcony, straining to hear the newsmakers and world leaders addressing the body.

Below sat non-reporters, male guests of the male members. But the real stunner in "The Girls In The Balcony" was that in 1972, The New York Times had nine male reporters for every one female, paid the men substantially more for the same work, and fought equily — splitting and clawing. Some of the women sued and the case was settled out of court in 1978.

It was the year I began reporting! — for the same salary as the male reporter next to me who started at the same time. By the time I was hired those women had been fighting my battle for seven years and had wrought the change that changed the careers of women in newsrooms all over the nation.

I had to laugh when I read Robertson's account of the "Young Professional Ingenue" hired in a once male-only department at the Times the year the suit was settled, who announced shortly thereafter, "There is no sex discrimination at the Times. I got here on my own merits." Robertson remembered thinking at the time, "Is it for this we laid our careers on the line?"

It's embarrassing to have been so preoccupied with my own new career that I left my own history-in-the-making like a bullet train bound for glory. In my defense, I'd come into journalism from another profession, teaching, and when I was 27 years old, seven years seemed like a long time ago. At 40, two decades seem like an eye-blink. Was it really just 20 years ago that the most esteemed women in journalism couldn't even walk into the main ballroom of the National Press Club?

"Some of the women sued and the case was settled."

Media recover from Gulf War?

It seems like 14 years ago, but just 14 months ago American and allied troops launched a spectacularly successful war against Iraq. Skillful as it was in achieving its short-term objectives against the forces of Saddam Hussein, the Bush administration was even more triumphant in its ongoing war with the press. With rare exceptions, the American people saw what the government wanted them to see and learned what the government wanted them to learn about the conflict. The press was there on sufferance and on the daily briefer's leash.

Over a year later, it is clear that Hussein was thrown back but not defeated. It is far less clear how the press, and therefore the public, stands in the wake of Desert Storm.

Insofar as Saddam Hussein is concerned, he continues to rule and reign in Baghdad. He thumbs his nose at the United Nations. He waged near-genocidal war against his Shiite and Kurdish populations while allied troops looked on. He has defied an international oil embargo, consolidated his control and weeded out potential enemies.

Kuwait, as miserably despoiled as ever, is "free," and Saudi Arabia breathes easier, but the nature of security arrangements in the region remains unsettled. As for a "new world order," not even George Bush bothers with the term anymore.

In other words, the lightning-quick military victory has, as always with lightning, left the situation on the ground unchanged except where it struck.

When it comes to press-government relations, Desert Storm was less ambiguous. It reconfirmed the verdicts of Panama and Grenada. In both those exercises, reporters were treated like so much dirt, there either to be walked on or ignored. Facts were what military spokesmen said they were, and those "facts" not infrequently turned out to be fiction on later examination. Following the Gulf War, it became equally clear that many of the initial military claims were off base and the press had simply functioned as an open conduit for propaganda that seriously distorted reality.

To mention just two examples:

1. Briefers left the impression of a bombing campaign so "smart" that civilian casualties were held to a minimum while bombs consistently hit on or near their targets. Later scrutiny showed that the most bombs missed their targets and that so-called "collateral" damage was high. Civilian infrastructure such as water and supplies and electricity was devastated. Civilian deaths and injuries rivaled, if they did not actually surpass, military ones. (Pentagon sensitivity on this score remains high. Official Washington refuses to provide estimates of civilian casualties — indeed, of all Iraqi casualties — and recently a Census Bureau employee who released her own informed estimates was summarily fired.)

2. Everyone from Norman Schwarzkopf on down repeatedly overestimated the size of Iraqi battlefield forces. Instead of being outnumbered by "crack Iraqi troops," to repeat the well-worn phrase, allied forces were larger than the conscripted units they overran. It doesn't change the fact of victory, but it materially alters the meaning of victory.

Perhaps reporters on the scene could not have challenged the military on either of these issues at the time, given the nature of the fighting. But that is something we will never know, since for most of the duration Desert Storm was a briefer's war. Right up until the 100-hour blitzkrieg itself, there was little independent reporting allowed. Even during the ground fighting, journalists' accounts were frequently blocked, delayed or lost by their handlers and the official transmittal system.

The press claims it was betrayed, that rules which had been laboriously negotiated before fighting began were bent and changed on the ground. Ever since the Gulf War ended, press representatives have been negotiating among themselves and with the Pentagon about a new set of guidelines for wartime reporting. A laborious process, it has now come down to a new "10 commandments" that attempt to establish press-military rules of engagement. A five-member steering group representing the media and Pentagon officials have worked their way to general agreement about nine of the points, most notably including the proposition that independent coverage will be the primary means of news gathering in war.

"It is clear that Hussein was thrown back, but not defeated."

Stop outgoing guns, halt incoming drugs

WASHINGTON — The Second Amendment is preserving the right of Colombian drug lords to keep and bear arms. When it comes to buying weapons for their deadly business, drug lords rely on errand boys in the United States who simply walk into gun shops and buy retail.

At the recent San Antonio drug summit, the aim of the U.S. delegates was to cut the pipeline of drugs into the country. But the Colombian government is equally concerned about the pipeline of weapons flowing the other way. In their minds, the problem is clear: If the United States really wanted Colombia to beat the drug lords, it would stop arming them.

Jack Killorin, chief spokesman for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, says the bureau believes "the predominant source of weapons for the narcotics organizations in South America is the U.S. retail market."

Last year, more than 8,000 U.S.-made weapons were seized abroad — 7,453 of them in drug-producing countries. The U.S. Customs Service also seized 1,871 weapons headed for Latin America last year. The majority of the guns that end up in the hands of drug lords are assault weapons bought from U.S. stores.

Colombia has frequently raised the issue in response to U.S. demands that Colombia be tougher on its own drug cartels. In 1989, during the heat of the bloody war between Colombian law enforcement and the Medellin drug cartel, then-Colombian President Virgilio Barco pleaded with the United States to halt the flow of deadly weapons to his country.

Senate Democrats, led by Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., responded with a bill to ban 14 kinds of assault weapons with little or no sporting value. The senators cited the mayhem on U.S. streets, plus the arming of foreign drug cartels. A Gallup Poll showed that 72 percent of Americans were behind the ban. But the National Rifle Association wasn't, and neither was the Bush administration. The bill failed to pass the House last year.

Drug violence is down in Colombia, but the weapons traffic remains "constant," according to Killorin. Customs and BATF officials say the guns are bought in small lots from gun shops across the country by well-established middle-men for the drug lords. They are often exported through the same channels that bring drugs into the United States.

The BATF has established a new office in Colombia, which has increased the case load for both countries. But, Colombia is still not satisfied the United States is doing all it can, according to Gabriel Silva, international affairs adviser to Colombian President Cesar Gaviria Trujillo. Silva told our associate Dean Boyd, "The United States has to do a better job at controlling these weapons, because, though they are produced for domestic purposes, many are ending up in our country." Silva also said some U.S. weapons are being routed to Colombia through third countries.

Colombia made its point at the San Antonio summit and won a pledge from the United States to tighten export controls. But that's the same pledge the Bush administration made in 1989 while ruling out a ban on assault weapons. And nothing has changed. Silva diplomatically told us he had "no opinion" on whether a ban on assault weapons in the United States would help to solve his country's problems. "This is a domestic issue for the United States to decide."

"Colombia has frequently raised the issue in response to U.S. demands."

Housewives fight for new trial for convicted rapists

By KELLY P. KISSEL
Associated Press Writer

RENOVO, Pa. — A pair of housewives, working from their kitchen tables, are attempting to use testimony from 38 alibi witnesses to point out holes in the state's case and win a new trial for three men convicted of rape.

"I've put my family on hold for four years for this," said Donna Clemente, 36, whose husband, two children and foreign exchange student live among the transcripts and affidavits that litter her home.

Clemente is pursuing the case with housewife Wanetta Sockman, 41, whose cousin, Charles Nihart, is one of the convicted rapists and an acquaintance of Clemente's.

Nihart, 40, Jeffrey Francis, 38, and Francis' brother, Jerry, 37, were convicted in 1988 of raping a woman on Oct. 4, 1986.

They were charged with the rape after being questioned about an unrelated assault that happened hours after the rape.

The accuser, a woman in her 20s, was abducted in In Williamsport, raped in an rural area, and returned to her home. Williamsport is 180 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

Coleman said, "Warren E. 'Pete' Knowles, former Sanford City Manager, and presently a member of the Range Riders, has agreed to serve and coordinate the activities of the committee if the commission desires."

The Range Riders is a group of former city managers and city administrators who have joined together to help support various cities and governmental groups in Central Florida on a voluntary basis.

Russell D. Barr of Largo is another member of the Range Riders, who is on Coleman's list for possible consideration.

Others included are either present city managers/administrators, or former committee members. They include John Litton of Lake Mary; James McKnight of Rockledge; Frank Roberts of New Smyrna Beach; Harold Pyke of DeLand; Michael Croly of Satellite Beach; Joseph Yarbrough of South Daytona; William Ryan of Cocoa Beach; V. Eugene Willford, III of Ocala; and Frank Schluckebier of Casselberry.

According to Terry, the city code calls for the commission to select at least three members plus one alternate for the selection committee.

The committee will review applications received for the city administrator's post and forward their selections to the City Commission for its consideration.

The City Commission meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. today, in the commission chambers of the Longwood City Hall.

Daughter has taken over Tammy Bakker's ministry

Associated Press

ORLANDO — The 22-year-old daughter of Jim and Tammy Bakker has taken over preaching at her mother's church, now that her parents have divorced.

"This is a hard day," Tammy Sue Chapman told about 100 worshippers at the New Covenant Ministries church Sunday. "Friday was a real hard day, but this is a hard day 'cause I'm here by myself."

The divorce, filed for by Tammy Bakker, became final Friday, ending more than 30 years of marriage.

Chapman told the congregation that her father called her at 8:30 a.m. Sunday from prison in Rochester, Minn., offering words of encouragement.

"He told me, and I quote, 'If (the divorce) is more than losing Heritage USA,'" Chapman told the congregation. The Charlotte (N.C.) Observer reported.

Jim Bakker is serving 18 years for fraud at PTL.

one little girl in the back of the crowd, covering behind a taller classmate, said, "This is scary."

The foyer of the office was packed wall-to-wall with students, teachers, parents, reporters and other interested on-lookers.

"C'mon guys," Peoples said in an effort to excite the youngsters out of their shyness. "Let's rock and roll."

He was met with blank stares and a few nervous giggles.

Peoples and his students were calling the Russian students after having written letters back and forth with them since October. Their letters, Peoples said, were written on lettered paper that had been used over and over again because supplies are so scarce in the fledgling republic.

"We have a surprise for you," Peoples said to Kuznetsova. "We are sending you 35 boxes of school supplies that our students have raised the money to buy themselves."

Kuznetsova said nothing for a few moments, but then began to thank Peoples and the children profusely.

The boxes that went into the mail this morning and are expected to arrive at the American Embassy in Moscow in two weeks will be in the Russian school within three weeks. They contain 2,000 pencils, 200 pounds of notebook paper, 1,000 erasers, chalk and assorted other classroom supplies.

Kuznetsova expressed some concerns that because the economy is still suffering through a difficult transition that the supplies might be stolen and sold on the black market before they ever got to her school, but Peoples said that he has been assured by embassy officials that they would arrive safe and unopened.

Peoples became flustered when Kuznetsova suddenly asked how she could get a teaching job in the United States.

"Things are a little tight right now," he said. "I'll write to you and explain."

Though few words were actually spoken by the students, Peoples smiled broadly through the conversation. He promised to call again in the future.

"This is just the beginning," he said.

proceeds from a bond sale to be committed within three years of the sale.

Among the properties included in the purchase list is 120 acres west of Sanford and located adjacent to the east side of Central Florida Zoological Park. Portions of the property, owned in part by Ted Arthur, are zoned for industrial uses, said Logan.

Another west-Sanford property is listed as the Blabee property and includes about 20 acres immediately south of U.S. Highway 17-92 and located between property owned by the county and land owned by former county commissioner Bill Kirchhoff.

Near the Wekiva River in northwest Seminole County, the list includes the Wornak property, which is about eight acres located in the Wekiva Camp Sites area.

Another 260-acre prospect is owned by Arvida and located near the southwest intersection of Markham Woods Road and Markham Road. Logan said about 60 acres of the site is being considered for a school, so the acquisition may include about 200 acres.

Association donates gazebo

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY -- The Community Improvement Association and City of Lake Mary held a dedication ceremony recently. The focal point was the gazebo installed next to the city cemetery.

On Jan. 18th, members of the CIA, City Commission and staff and Lake Mary residents turned out to undertake the city's second Neighbors For Neighborhoods program, a refurbishing project at the property adjacent to the Lake Mary Cemetery.

The cemetery property is located south of Old Lake Mary Road, near Palmto Street and the CSX railroad tracks.

The main feature of the work was the construction of a gazebo, which was financed by a $5,000 donation from the CIA. According to Mayor Randy Morris, "If that gazebo would have been bought in kit form, it would have cost us $10,000." He added, "But the CIA purchased the materials and the city crews built it, saving half of the money that might have been used."

At noon yesterday, city and CIA officials met at the site to officially dedicate the gazebo with Lillian Griffin, of the CIA Board of Trustees, officially turning the gazebo over to the city.

Members of the CIA, City Commission, staff and residents dedicated the new gazebo.

Mayor Morris spoke to the gathering. He thanked the CIA for a gift of the gazebo. He also extended his appreciation to the members of the CIA, Garden Club, Historical Society and general public for their efforts toward establishing the restful park setting.

The cemetery area refurbishing was the third in the series of Neighbors For Neighborhoods projects. Morris said he expects to propose the location for next month's park remodeling during the upcoming Lake Mary City Commission meeting on March 19th.

Students caught horsin' around

Students at Lake Mary Elementary School, donned in their cowboy and cowgirl outfits, enjoyed Cowboy Day on the playground of the school recently. Coach Elance, physical education instructor, called the steps of a square dance as the third grade class promade in a circle.

Scarlett Rosier, age 9, of Mrs. Simmons class, sat upon her horse Penny as students asked questions of Scarlett's mother, Sarabecca on how to ride, care for and the different gates of the horse.

Taste of Lake Mary selling fast

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY -- Tickets have only been on sale for a brief time for the annual Taste of Lake Mary event, but they are said to be "selling like hot cakes."

Chamber of Commerce manager Diane Parker said, "This is the third annual Taste of Lake Mary, and it's going to be the largest and the best." She commented, "We've already sold 17 Corporate Tables, and are getting more calls each day."

The event is scheduled for Monday, April 13, at the Linneman Golf and Country Club in Lake Mary. Festivities start at 6 p.m., and are scheduled to continue until 8:30 p.m.

Parker said, "As in the past, award-winning chefs from many of the area's most famous restaurants will be preparing a variety of delicacies that will delight the palate of the most discriminating commensal."

Tickets are priced at $15 in advance, and $18 at the door. Corporate tables, which assist seating for 10 persons, are $250. Included with the corporate table reservations are VIP parking and advertisements in the Taste of Lake Mary booklet.

"Last year we had approximately 1,400 persons attend the Taste of Lake Mary event," Parker said, "with about $8,000 being taken in. The money is used for the operating funds of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, with a portion earmarked for the Chamber's scholarship fund. "This year, we plan to give 10 scholarships," she said, "five each to students in Lake Mary High School and Seminole High School."

For further information or ticket ordering, contact Diane Parker at the Chamber office, 333-4748.

Students gather in their western wear to take a group shot of the Cowboy Day experience.

IN BRIEF

AROUND THE STATE

'Noles, Bulls make big show

TALLAHASSEE — Florida State and South Florida are headed to the NCAA tournament where they could play each other if they survive opening games, while Florida will be in the National Invitational Tournament.

The Seminoles, 20-9, are going to the NCAA for the fourth time in Kennedy's six seasons. They could meet the University of South Florida in the second round if the Seminoles get past Montana and the Bulls upset Georgetown.

Florida, which surprised many with its 16-12 season, did not make the 64-team NCAA field. Florida will play Richmond Thursday in Gainesville in the first round of the National Invitational Tournament. Florida last played in the NIT in 1986, advancing to the final four.

Gators tame Bulls

TAMPA — Florida pitcher Marc Valdes struck out 14 and his Gators claimed a 2-1 college baseball win over South Florida Sunday.

The Gators, 20-5, got on the board in the second inning when Ted Rich led off with his sixth home run of the season.

Florida scored its second run in the third inning when South Florida starting pitcher Mark Reed, 2-3, dropped a throw to first, allowing Dave Majeski to score from first base.

In the seventh inning, Jason Garcia of South Florida singled to drive in Doug Carroll after Carroll had doubled and advanced to third.

The Bulls, 13-11, threatened in the eighth inning on a long drive by Wade Norris, caught by Majeski near the left field fence.

In the final inning, USF put two men on, but Valdes struck out Brett King to end the game.

Pace not enough for 'Canes

CORAL GABLES — Miami right-hander Fadel Arrieta threw four shutout innings, striking out four and allowing only two hits in his first start as a Hurricane to earn his first win as Miami defeated Pace 9-1 Sunday.

The win was Miami's tenth in its last eleven games. Pace is now 0-6.

Leading 2-0 in the third, Miami, 17-4, broke loose for four runs on two hits.

Consecutive walks to Dave Berg, Charles Johnson and Frank Mora set the stage for a two-run double by Johnathan Smith.

Richard Lyons relieved Pace starter and loser Marc Pappalardo (0-2) and gave up a two-run single to Alex Miranda. Miranda was the star, going 2 for 2 with his second home run in as many games, while driving in three runs.

Pavin edges Couples

FORT LAUDERDALE — With Fred Couples and Corey Pavin going to a 585-yard, par-5 playoff hole, the advantage is Couples'.

Here's Freddie, the man called "Boom Boom" by his fellow pros, one of the longest hitters in golf and on a streak, playing skinny little Corey, definitely not a big gun all the time.

So everything is in Fred's favor, right?

Wrong.

After both had parred the first playoff hole, Pavin stepped back from his tee shot on the 18th when a rowdy fan urged him to "shank it, hit it in the water."

"I just backed off, had a little chuckle and played away," Pavin said.

When Couples drove into a fairway bunker, neither he nor Pavin had any chance of reaching the green in two and the advantage swung to the steady, gritty little Pavin. He flipped a third shot to about 15 feet and Couples was outside him, about 20 feet away and on the same line.

Couples left his birdie putt inches short and Pavin made the putt for the birdie that secured his 10th career victory, worth $198,000 from the total purse of $1.1 million.

Five others, including 39-year-old Ray Floyd, missed the playoff by a single shot.

Floyd was tied at 274 with Keith Clearwater, Billy Ray Brown, Mark Brooks and Blaine McCallister.

'Prepared' Lions topple defending state champs

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Miami-Senior never stood a chance.

The Oviedo High School boys varsity basketball team never trailed as it knocked off the three-time defending state champion Miami Senior High 74-67 to claim the Class 4A state championship game at the Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center Saturday night.

The victory was the first state championship for a Seminole County team since Oviedo turned the trick against Jennings 52-40 in the Class C (now Class A) title game in 1957.

For Oviedo, which is the only county school to have ever advanced to the championship game, it marked the fourth appearance in the finals, having lost to Paxton in 1955 and Chatahoochee in 1965.

But head coach Ed Bolton said that the victory may not have been quite fair.

"I had one year to prepare my team for Miami-Senior," said Bolton. "And they had one day."

Bolton said it was at the state tournament a year ago that he started getting ready for this game.

"I picked them to be in the final game a year ago," said Bolton. "I went to Miami to watch them play last summer. I saw game films on them and I talked to several people about them. I probably knew more about them than my own team."

"Everything we did in practice was in preparation to play them. We worked on beating their press and pressure defenses every day. We had a game plan figured out and the kids went out and ran it to perfection. If we had played Fletcher (the

Seminoles outclass Elite field

From Staff Reports

WINTER PARK — Despite the fact that they're still not "fitting on all cylinders," the Seminole High School boys' track team scored a convincing victory at Saturday's Elite Classic invitational meet at Showalter Field.

The Seminoles, who rolled up a team score of 181, outscored runner-up Brookwood (Ga.) by 44 points. They were followed by Oak Ridge (115), Winter Haven (113), West Winter Park (85), Titusville and Evans (both with 72) and Dr. Phillips (56).

"It's pretty good win for us, but we're still a long way from competing on all cylinders," said Seminole coach Ken Braunman. "We have some top people, but we have to build some people behind them in case someone goes down or has a bad night."

On Saturday, pretty much all of Seminole's top people had good nights, the Tribe dominating the field events and scoring well in the relay and sprint events.

Registering victories in the field events were Carlo White in the shot put (58 feet, 3/4 inches), Bernard Sparrow in the discus (147 feet, 10 inches), Brent Dees in the long jump (22 feet, 4 1/4 inches) and Andre Scott in the triple jump (a meet record and personal best 48 feet, 11 1/4 inches).

Sparrow was also second in the shot put (55 feet, 3 1/2 inches) while Scott was second in the long jump (22 feet, 2 inches). Britt Henderson was second in the triple jump (45 feet, 2 1/2 inches) and fourth in the long jump (20 feet, 10 inches).

Seminole's versatility really showed through in the running events, where Scott and Dees also contributed solid points.

Scott ran on a pair of first-place relays, combining with Robert Ruffin, Gerard Shine and Cory Wilson to win the freshman-sophomore 4 x 100-meter relay (44.1) and joining Dees to win the 400-meter relay (52.1).

Doing a little of everything

Shannon Cook, shown here competing in the triple jump last season, helped the Lake Mary Rams score in five different events Saturday at the Space Coast Relays in Merritt Island. The Rams will run in the Seminole Relays Tuesday and host the Lake Mary Invitational Friday.

MERRITT ISLAND — Lyman's girls dominated the distance running events while the Lake Mary girls took advantage of their depth as the two Seminole County schools both finished in the top five of Saturday's Space Coast Relays.

Thrusville Astronaut won the team title, outscoring Lyman 93 1/2 to 63. Lake Mary (41 1/2) followed Vero Beach (61) and Palm Bay (58) in the standings of the 14-team event.

The Lyman quartet of Kiana Bresnick, Janet Greenberg, Rita Greenberg and Millie Davis won the two-mile relay with a time of 9:58.6. Janet Greenberg and Bresnick later joined with Melissa Lewis and Cheri Baumgartner to win the mile relay in 4:13.9.

Lyman also was fourth in both the distance medley (14:02.3) and four-mile relay (24:41). The Greyhounds also were third in the 440 relay (52.1).

Bolton, Lions give critics a definitive answer

Who'd a think it?

On Saturday night, the Oviedo High School boys' basketball team did what few people outside of the southwest Seminole County community gave them a chance at doing: winning the Class 4A state championship.

There have been stories about critics of the team, naysayers who questioned the Lions. Are they as good as their record? Are they better? Can they win a state championship?

Guilty as charged.

SPORTS

TONY DeSORMIER

I was one of those who had doubts about Oviedo, never about the Lions' ability but about their ability to translate their skill into wins. Would they allow Coach Ed Bolton to harness their talent?

The confounding thing about the Lions is their immense talent, not just their first two or three players, but all starting five and their reserves. That was apparent this time last year, when all that we knew was that Bolton would have everybody back from a team that was already one of the area's best.

Then the Greens, Bernard and Devon, moved into the Oviedo school district and turned the Lions from a potent team into a dangerous one. But could they play together? Would one basketball be enough for a team that now had as many as six potential marquee players?

It hasn't been exceptionally easy. Like a high-performance automobile, the Lions required constant fine-tuning. Except for the state championship game against Miami Senior, Oviedo hadn't really turned in what could be described as a masterpiece performance. Yet they kept winning.

That tendency was considered as further evidence against the Lions. How could a team that only seems to play well enough to win be taken as a legitimate state championship threat? Normally, a team that does that can't crank it up the extra notch necessary to beat a three-time defending state champion.

But last night, while discussing his team's win over Miami Senior (see related story), Bolton said that the Lions had spent the entire season preparing to play the Stingarees, that's how good he thought his team would be this year. In fact, before he even had the Greens on the team, Bolton was getting ready for a showdown with Miami Senior.

Much of what's happened over the last four months now makes sense. At times, it seemed like the Lions were removed from the game at hand, as if what they were doing didn't fit the circumstances. There were those, myself among them, who wondered why Bolton just didn't turn the Lions loose every night.

Bolton suffered the slings and arrows of short-sighted critics and kept the Lions on course, aiming them every game toward Miami Senior. There's the basic logic that you take a season one game at a time, but when you're potentially that good, you have to look ahead.

Now the reigning state champions, Bolton and the Lions can look ahead to the challenge of repeating. Of course, now the Stingarees and the rest of the state have a year to prepare to play them.

In the field event relays, Lyman was second in the high jump (tied at 8 feet, 10 inches) and discus (289 feet, 11 inches), third in the shot put (88 feet, 1 inch) and sixth in the triple jump (82 feet, 7 inches) and long jump (54 feet, 8 inches). Four of the Lyman field performers also combined to take second in the "weight women's" 440 relay (56.3).

Lake Mary's only victory came in the 440-yard shuttle high hurdle relay, where Leslie Clarella, Monica Licciardello, Tammy McGinnis and Malene Koch combined to run a 1:16.8.

The Ram foursome of Heather Bonck, Christina Olson, Chrissy Louv and Renee Frank turned in a time of 23:48.2 in the four-mile relay, good for second place and a new Lake Mary school record. Olson, Frank, Louv and Bonck also were third in the two-mile relay (10:45).

Lake Mary picked up fourth-place finishes in the long jump relay, high jump relay and mile relay. In the long jump, Shannon Cook cleared 15 feet, 7 inches. Amy Downs covered 14 feet, 4 inches and Bekah Booth leaped 14 feet, 3 inches for a team mark of 57 feet, 7 inches.

Diane Duber cleared 4 feet, 6 inches while Stacey Gray went over 4 feet, 2 inches in the high jump to help the Rams tie for fourth with Astronaut and Merritt Island at 8 feet, 8 inches. Shawn Barkley, McGinnis, Bonck and Olson turned in a time of 4:26.1 in the mile relay.

The Rams' fifth-place finishes came in the shot put, discus and triple jump.

In the shot put, Shannon Cook had a toss of 37 feet, 1/2 inch. Karen Morris's best was 30 feet 1 1/2 inches while Jessica Payne had an effort of 18 feet, 3 1/2 inches for a team mark of 85.54. Cook (115 feet, 6 inches), Morris (80 feet, 10 inches) and Casey Lane (67 feet, 7 inches) threw the discus a combined 263 feet, 11 inches.

Amy Downs cleared 32 feet, 3 1/2 inches in the triple jump while Boothe jumped 31 feet, 10 1/2 inches in the triple jump for a team total of 64 feet, 2 inches.

Finally, the Rams were sixth in 440, 440 "weight women," 880 and distance medley relays. In the 440, McGinnis, Cook, Barkley and Downs ran a 54.0 while Cook, Morris, Payne and Lane combined to run a 59.4 in the weight women's 440.

The 880-yard relay consisted of Jill Bevan, Sparkie Byrd, Shannon Starbuck and Nadra Davis, who finished in 2:00.8. Amanda Tharpe, Nikki Wyrick, Erin Uricchio and Ursula Yadav posted a mark of 14:55.1 in the distance medley relay.

WINTER PARK — Kelly Kohia set a pair of meet records to help lead Lake Howell to a fourth-place team finish in the girls' portion of Saturday's Elite Classic Invitational track meet at Showalter Field.

Kohia's record-setting and event-winning efforts came in shot put (35 feet, 9 inches) and discus (131 feet, 3 inches). Angie Marquez was sixth in the discus (85 feet, 10 1/2 inches) and seventh in the shot (28 feet, 5 inches).

Jennie MacDowell also set a meet record in the 400-meter dash with her winning time of 1:01.4. She was also second in the triple jump (32 feet, 4 1/2 inches), fourth in the 100-meter dash (12.8), fifth in the 200-meter dash (27.1) and sixth in the long jump (15 feet, 3/4 inch).

Olivia Thomas finished third in the 100-meter dash (12.8), sixth in the 200-meter dash (27.3) and eighth in the long jump (14 feet, 10 1/2 inches). She also ran with Mimi Davis, Erin Gerber and Jessica Dobson on Lake Howell's third-place freshman-sophomore 4 x 100-meter relay (54.4).

Tracy Gentile also contributed points individually and as member of a relay, taking seventh in the 300-meter low hurdles (55.4) and eighth in the 100-meter high hurdles (19.0) before joining Gerber, Ann Marie Gonzales and Dobson to finish third in the freshman-sophomore 4 x 400 relay (4:36.7).

Gonzalez also was seventh in the 400-meter dash (1:06.1).

Mary Rozelle, Amy Fitch, Linn Hald and Beth Whitehead combined to take fifth in the two-mile relay (10:45.8). Fitch also was fourth in the freshman-sophomore 1,600-meter run (6:01) and seventh in the 3,200-meter run (13:35). Rozelle claimed fourth in the 800-meter run (2:36.5) while Whitehead finished sixth in the freshman-sophomore 1,600-meter run (6:08).

In the varsity 1,600-meter run, Natalie Newberry was third (5:46).

The foursome of Dana Roth, Renee Shelton, Missy Thomas and Shante Hill were sixth in the varsity 4 x 400 relay (4:51.1).

Markham Woods Presbyterian (0-2).

The standing in the Fun Division are: Nativity "Disciples" (0-2), Geneva Baptist, Holy Cross and Grace Methodist (all 1-1), Sanford Christian "Blue" (1-2) and Sanford First Baptist (0-1).

Next week's schedule, in the morning games, has Markham Woods Presbyterian playing Markham Woods Baptist at 8:30 a.m., Sanford Christian "Red" tackling the Nativity "Cruaders" at 9:30 a.m., Grace Christian facing Nazarene at 10:30 a.m. and Holy Cross taking on the Nativity "Disciples" at 11:30 a.m.

In the afternoon contests, First Baptist and Grace Methodist square off at 12:30 p.m., Geneva and Sanford Christian "Blue" battle at 1:30 p.m., Prophecy and Church of God meet at 2:30 p.m., All Souls and Central Baptist vie at 3:30 p.m. and First Methodist and St. Stephen close the day's action at 4:30 p.m.

Arthur Jackson made his debut with First Methodist a good one with a home run, a double, three runs scored and four RBI. Also getting three hits was Chris Dapore (including a triple). Getting two hits were Robert Smith (double), Brian Burke (double), Tom Gracey (double), W.L. Gracey and Mark Blythe. Contributing one hit were Bill Gracey, Alvin Campbell and Jack Elionhead.

Wayne Kelley, Steve Woodley and Scott Pensala paced All Souls with three hits each. Adding two hits each were Jim Schaefer (double), Jeff Sladek and Don Causeaux, while Joel Lipscomb, Tolly Frank and Jim Nulty had one hit each.

Bobby Tabor counted a game-winning triple among his two hits for Church of God. Also getting two hits were Clayton Nichols and Gordan Clark. Getting one hit each were Brantley Drumley (double), Randy Yates, Wes Tankaley, Randy Rawlings, Steve James and Tim Pete.

Bob Lombard was the only St. Stephen player with two hits, while Andrew Reynolds, Joe McWhorter, Fred Vargas and Bob Keegan added one hit each.

Steve Frazier led Prophecy with a triple and two doubles, while Kevin Welch drove in three runs with a home run and a single. Also getting two hits were Dale Yates, Darryl Swift, Rick England and Taylor. Getting one hit were: Dave LaFlamme, Mock and Kevin Clickner.

Rick Bradley had the big day for Central Baptist with a home run, a triple and a single accounting for four runs. Contributing two hits were: Blake Smith (double), John Larner and Jay Crutchfield. Roy Templeton and Eric Luce came up with one hit each.

Bill Terwilliger had a grand slam as he hit for the cycle in Markham Woods Baptist's 24 hit attack. Getting three hits were: Pete Bouldry (triple, double), David Haines (double), Jack Diemer and Keith Walker. Two hits: Richard Valent (two doubles), David Haines III (double), Steve Parker and Kevin Lilly.

Rick Williamson counted two doubles among his three hits while Dennis Marshall had a triple to go with two singles for Sanford Christian "Red". Also getting three hits each were Buddy Christian and Mike Pipitone while Stewart Seleck and J.D. Segroves added on hit each.

The Nativity "Cruaders" scored six runs in the bottom of the first to start Nazarene on its way of its first loss. Getting three hits for the Cruaders were Elvis Figueroa (triple); two hits: Ken Tazza (double), Vic DiBartolo (double), Steve Pucachel; one hit: Tony Anderson, Bill Russell, Jerry DiBartolo and Andy Szymanski.

Doing the hitting for Nazarene were Frank Turner (double) and Wayne Gager and Tom Clark (one hit each).

Harry DeGraff, Ken Mau and Justin Easton drove in one run each as Holy Cross rallied to win. John Townsend (double) and Mau were the only players with two hits. Getting one hit were: DeGraff, Easton, Jason Cremeno, Rich Hemminger, Carl Thorne and Ken Prealey.

Tim Sundvall led Geneva with a double and a single while Paul Brinkle and Roy Rogers had two singles each and Matt Meczywor and Jeff Johnson one single each.

Grace Methodist took an 11-0 lead into the fifth inning only to see Sanford Christian "Blue" close to within 12-10 entering the bottom of the sixth.

Getting three hits for the winners were Bob Kuenkel (double), Jim Lillo and Greg Hacker.

Chronic lung disease can weaken the heart

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband suffers from chronic lung disease. Right now he can't walk, has difficulty breathing and is on 24-hour oxygen. His stomach has swelled in girth, and he has problems exhaling. Where do we turn?

Gas." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title(s).

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

(C)1992 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER: Your husband should check with his doctor because of the possibility of a medical condition called cor pulmonale, a heart condition usually diagnosed by X-ray. Over time, in patients with severe lung diseases, the heart can gradually weaken from lack of oxygen. Cardiac contractions become less robust, leading to fluid accumulation (edema) in the liver, legs and abdominal cavity.

Of course, this causes abdominal swelling that further compromises respiration, thereby perpetuating a vicious cycle of breathing difficulties and heart failure. This condition is treatable with a variety of medicines, primarily diuretics, to force the excess fluid out into the urine.

Other causes of increased abdominal girth — such as obesity and intestinal distension (from gas) — can also diminish breathing ability by preventing free movement of the diaphragm muscles. This can be a particular problem in patients with chronic pulmonary disorders, whose activities (but not their appetites) are curtailed.

The doctor should be able to sort out these problems and discover whether your husband's increasing difficulty is due to heart failure, abdominal distension or a worsening of his lung disease.

To give you further information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Living With Chronic Lung Disease," "Eating Right For a Healthy Heart" and "Digestive

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

When you have two cards in the suit led, and only one is correct, you might think that there is at least a 50 percent chance you will find the better play. But today's hand would trip up most players.

Even though you've been given a big hint, you can still test yourself by covering the East-West cards and planning the play in three no-trump. West leads the spade queen and East encourages with the nine.

South's two-no-trump response is debatable since he has only two spades. But the alternative bid of three diamonds (or a two-spade cuebid, if you play that as a high-card diamond raise) isn't exactly appealing. Besides, South was a rubber-bridge player. He had an aversion to the minors, so he made a game-invitational bid in no-trump. North was happy to raise.

South won the first trick with the spade king, crossed to dummy with a heart and ran the diamond queen — but disaster struck. West won with the king and returned his second spade to defeat the contract.

True, East rated to have the diamond king. Yet the key point is that declarer doesn't need a spade trick for his contract. If he plays his spade three at trick one, he can't be defeated. Assuming West leads his second spade at trick two, dummy's spade 10 acts as a stopper. And when the diamond finesse is taken into West, he won't have a spade left. Declarer must score nine tricks by way of three hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

Always consider all the alternatives.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osof
YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 17, 1992

You could be quite lucky in the year ahead in selling or promoting unusual products, methods or systems. It looks like you may be involved with two or more partners.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might derive some unusual benefits today through a joint endeavor with an associate with whom you've never been previously aligned. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you've been stymied by delays on an important project, discard the old methods and procedures today. Seek fresh approaches that can help you circumvent these obstacles.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your social calendar as unstructured as possible today. A spur-of-the-moment development might suddenly occur that could turn into something rather exciting.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An unexpected upturn in financial trends could suddenly occur today. This shift will prove to be beneficial, especially where you and a friend are concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're likely to be better equipped to handle intangible situations today than you will be to cope with tangible ones. Focus on the area that offers the best probabilities for success.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your possibilities for generating better returns from your present source of earnings look good today. The same might not be true where new channels are concerned, though.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A pleasant surprise could be in the offing socially today. It will be a unique type of opportunity that must be acted on promptly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not make any changes today in an arrangement that appears to be moving toward a desirable end. Your alterations could throw things off course.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There's a chance you might hear from a friend today who has an idea that could involve you. Hear this individual out, because it could have hidden merits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Lady Luck is in your corner today where financial and career goals are concerned, but she won't put up with any mind-dallying. Make up your mind and move swiftly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might get involved in a commercial arrangement today that won't be conducted along conventional lines. This could turn out to be profitable for you both materially and educationally.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have your own unique ways of handling things today that should serve your best interests. Utilize them regardless of how unusual they may appear to others.

Getting lawn ready for summer

GARDENING
MARY BECKER

Early spring (February) should have had you out applying a pre-emergence herbicide if you had crabgrass last year. Balan is listed for use on both Bahia and St. Augustine grass also. You can still use the preventative treatment (it doesn't take much Balan) to keep many seeds from sprouting. Usually Feb. 15 is the last date to spread Balan. To be rid of weeds after a pre-emergence treatment you will have to rely on elbow grease or a non-selective herbicide like Roundup or Kleenup to spot-kill the crabgrass killer for St. Augustine lawns but can only be applied by a pest control company.

Remember that pre-emergence herbicides will not control weeds which are actively growing. Post-emergence herbicides (e.g., 2-4-D, dicamba and/or MCPP) can be applied in May. Atrazine is listed for St. Augustine grass only. Many "weed-n-feed" type fertilizers contain atrazine which will damage Bahia grass so read the label and follow directions exactly. Remember the label is the law.

It is time to apply spring fertilizers to your lawn. Apply a complete fertilizer such as 16-4-8 at the rate of 1 pound of nitrogen per 1000 square feet in April you can apply iron to keep your grass dark green without stimulating excessive grass growth. Iron applications can be repeated every six weeks.

Proper mowing practices are essential for maintaining a quality lawn. Mow the lawn at three inches. Mowing at a lower level will encourage shallow rooting, which is less tolerant to drought and nematode pressure. Remove no more than one third the height of the leaf blade with any mowing. Be sure to keep your mower blade sharp. Allow the clippings to return to the lawn as additional nitrogen.

Irrigate your lawn when the turf begins to wilt, turns blue-gray in color, and/or recovery from foot or tire tracks is slow. Apply enough water to rewet the soil rootzone and then wait until the turf shows signs of drought (i.e. wilting) again before the next irrigation (usually every 7-14 days in winter, 3-4 days in April-May depending on soil type and maintenance practices. For most Florida soils, no more than three-quarter inch of water is necessary for each irrigation period to wet the top 12 inches of the root zone. To determine how much water your system is applying place several empty coffee cans in the irrigation area and water for a certain time. You can then determine how long it will take to apply three-quarters of an inch of water.

To check for mole crickets in your lawn look for their tunneling and mounds or apply two gallons of water with one to two ounces of detergent soap per two square feet of turf in suspected damage areas. If present, mole crickets will surface in several minutes. Mole crickets usually hatch in April-May about 6" below the surface where they eat grass roots. When the overnight temperature is expected to be 60 degrees F. or above, apply O-fenol as a spray or as granules. Make sure the lawn is moist when the treatment is applied. After June use a mole cricket bait in affected areas, putting it on after supper as ultra violet rays break down the insecticide (as does rain).

Watch for chinch bug damage on your St. Augustine lawn. Injured areas are usually first noticed, as the weather begins to warm, along sidewalks adjacent to buildings and in other water stressed areas where the grass is in full sun. Chinch bugs are foliar feeding insects which suck juices through a needle-like beak, resulting in yellowish to brownish patches in turf. Check for chinch bugs by removing the ends of a coffee can, inserting one end through the soil at the margin of suspected damaged areas and fill with water. Chinch bugs will float to the water surface within five minutes. When it is definitely established that chinch bugs are the problem a pesticide containing either Diazinon or Dursban can be applied. Spot treatments can be applied when infestations are first noticed. Treat the off-color area and about a 10 foot buffer area surrounding it. Inspect the area two to three times at biweekly intervals to determine if the infestation is under control.

If you are going to reseed or resod, April through June is the optimum time in order to take advantage of the coming rainy season. Good luck.

Goldfish Goldie earns a place in grandma's heart and wallet

DEAR ABBY: I felt so sorry for 11-year-old Jeremy Schwartz who had a pair of goldfish named Ike and Mike, and Mike died. I also had two goldfish as pets, so I know how he felt when Mike died. My goldfish were rescued from an outdoor pond at the synagogue where I worked, or they probably would have frozen over the winter. I brought them home and named them Mahzel and Brocha.

Unfortunately, one of them didn't even last the first night. I wasn't even sure if it was Mahzel or Brocha who died, so I named the survivor Goldie (not knowing if it was male or female, it's a most appropriate name) because of his/her beautiful color. That was in 1990.

Goldie is still alive and doing well, and he/she now has a place of honor in my apartment. If Jeremy ever comes to Southfield, Mich., he is welcome to visit us.

I'm a "Bubbie" (grandmother), so in addition to the pictures of my children and grandchildren, I keep a picture of Goldie in my wallet, too.

ROSALIE SPARR

DEAR ROSALIE: Thanks for a lovely fish story. Goldfish make wonderful pets. They're easy to feed, require no license and you always know where they are.

USDA doesn't always buy American for food programs

By JENNIFER DIXON
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department does a poor job making sure the billions of dollars it spends on food for anti-hunger programs goes to American farmers and food processors — not their foreign competitors — say USDA's own investigators.

As a result, imported foods have been used to fulfill USDA's contracts, according to an audit by the department's Office of Inspector General.

Congress and the department's regulations say USDA is supposed to buy American foods and farm products when it shops for anti-hunger programs at home and abroad, including school lunches and soup kitchens. It also is supposed to make sure that subsidized foreign products are purchasing American goods.

Instead, USDA has been "winking at the law," said Sen. Kent Conrad, D-N.D.

"For all we know, we're using American taxpayer dollars to purchase Brazilian oranges, Argentine beef, Canadian wheat and goodness knows what else," Conrad said. "It makes no sense to use our taxpayer dollars to subsidize foreign competition."

The audit found that lax enforcement and certification procedures have allowed foreign foods, including Canadian meat, to get into the pipeline. However, USDA has little way to assess the problem's scope because of the shortcomings in its enforcement and regulations of contractors and their suppliers.

Sen. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., said he would call a hearing of his Senate Agriculture subcommittee on research and general legislation to demand that USDA develop consistent procedures to ensure contractor compliance with the "Buy American" requirements.

"USDA has a duty to American farmers and ranchers to make sure government programs buy only American agricultural products," Daschle said. "USDA should be held accountable for its neglect."

The August 1991 audit found the total value of agricultural commodities purchased or guaranteed for use in domestic and export programs was $6.9 billion in fiscal 1989.

The audit did not say how much foreign food may be replacing U.S. farm products in USDA's contracts. But investigators found violations of the domestic-origin requirements by contractors for three USDA agencies that either buy food or guarantee exports.

A review of one of the agencies, the Agricultural Marketing Service, found that a large supplier included imported beef in shipments to five AMS contractors. In turn, the contractors may have sold the USDA as much as 1 million pounds of Canadian beef.

The Agricultural Marketing Service purchases processed commodities for use in domestic programs such as the National School Lunch program, child nutrition programs, soup kitchens and Indian reservations.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, meanwhile, buys farm commodities for sale to other government agencies, foreign governments, and domestic, foreign or international relief efforts.

And the Foreign Agricultural Service manages export programs such as the export credit guarantee programs, under which loans to foreign countries are guaranteed by USDA for purchases of U.S. food and farm products.

All three agencies have different rules for meeting domestic origin requirements. And none required contractors or exporters to obtain assurances from subcontractors and suppliers that domestic origin requirements had been met.

GM executive to replace Iacocca

Associated Press

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. — Robert J. Eaton, General Motors Corp.'s top executive in Europe, was named today as the eventual successor to Chrysler Corp. chairman Lee Iacocca.

Eaton also was named to the company's board of directors. He will become chairman and chief executive officer when Iacocca steps down on Dec. 31.

Iacocca, 67, had previously indicated he intended to retire as chief executive by the end of the year but stay on as chairman. He has led the company for 14 years.

Chrysler President Robert A. Lutz will retain his current responsibilities. Lutz, 60, had been mentioned as a possible successor, but a rift between him and Iacocca had been widely reported.

Iacocca will continue to serve as a director and as chairman of the board's executive committee after Jan. 1, 1993.

"During the past year the board has conducted an exhaustive review of candidates, both inside and outside Chrysler, to lead the company into the 21st century," said A. Jean de Grandpre, senior board member.
