Board Upset By Changes

Change Orders Questioned

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer
Seminole County School Board members can't understand why they are continually approving change orders for contractors and want it to stop.

At Wednesday's meeting, board members questioned several change orders and deviations from the board-approved budget for a project.

Board members were asked to approve four change orders, one from the architect for the Sterling Park Elementary School construction, which already has had three change orders approved.

In the case of Sterling Park Elementary, architects had finished the project without the board budgeting for a $9,883 air-conditioning unit and roof drains.

Rather than wait for paperwork to go through authorizing a change order, contractors often will take a chance and do needed work, hoping to be reimbursed by the school board, said Richard Wells, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation. Wells asked the board to approve the change order since the work had been done already.

Board member Nancy Warren was not satisfied with the reasoning that a finished project justified a change order. If the Sterling Park equipment had been submitted in the original bid, the school board would have saved a considerable amount of money, she said.

Since the project at Sterling Park Elementary is a big one, "there's no way we're going to do this without making mistakes," Wells said.

Board vice-chairwoman Pat Telson replied, "We only have X amount of dollars through the bond issue. If we start making mistakes as a board, we could end up...I don't like where we could end up."

The motion to approve the change order passed 3-1 with Telson voting against, saying, "I'm going to start voting no about these kinds of things."

Architects for Goldsboro Elementary requested 12 metal doors with frames, hardware and accessories in a $7,488 change-order request. A Goldsboro spokeswoman said about five of the deteriorated doors have been broken into by someone removing the glass with a screwdriver.

"If it was really needed, I would have thought they would have been included in the bid," Telson said. "Everytime we get a change order and it means more money, it goes right through me. I don't understand how security is overlooked."

Warren said change orders were to be for unexpected

Do Police Have The City's Cash?

Longwood Mayor Wants To Know

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The plans of Acting City Administrator Don Terry to have police department records reviewed, audited and investigated are correct, Longwood Mayor Dave Gunter said today, adding he expects him to find something "wrong" during the investigation.

"I'm going to have a hard time with a decision that doesn't find something wrong," Gunter said, adding he wants a complete accounting of all monies in the SWAT Team Fund and Police Benevolent Association Funds.

Terry said Thursday he will ask City Attorney Michael Kramer to review the funds. He said he will then ask the commission to authorize Kramer to do it and ask the city's auditing team to audit them.

Terry said after the audit is complete he will decide how to proceed. The books were turned over to Terry last week by the police department.

Gunter expects the commission will give final passage Monday night to an ordinance that will give the city attorney the authority to investigate allegations of misconduct or wrongdoing at the request and direction of the city commission, issue subpoenas and make reports and will establish a legal department.

Gunter said, "As far as I'm concerned there are city funds that belong in the city coffers, literally thousands of dollars and someone's going to have to pay back." He said in the past two years since they stopped the practice of allowing money from the auctions to go to the Police Benevolent Association, the city has received $21,000. Gunter said he wants to know how much the PBA received in auction funds before 1985.

Gunter and the other incumbent commissioner, Lynette Dennis, brought allegations against the Police Chief Greg Manning last year resulting in two requests to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to investigate. The result of the first investigation was that there was no criminal intent on the part of Manning, the second FDLE finding was that there was no substance to Gunter's allegations.

In September 1987 the commission voted 3-2 to find allegations against Manning unfounded as answered by the investigating body and by the police chief in his response before the commission.

Manning told the commission that as far back as he could remember, up until 1985 when the city auditor told the commission the money should be placed in the general fund, fees collected by the police department for such things as making fingerprints and proceeds from confiscated items were given to the PBA, a local group not affiliated with the national organization. He said the money was used for socials such as the annual Christmas party and putting on a Halloween party for children.

Gunter said although Manning has stated in the past that the SWAT Team Fund and PBA books were available for former City Administrator Ron Waller, who resigned Jan. 4, to review, Waller never advised him that there were any books to look at. "He just said he was sorry, but the records were lost and from 1985 back, they didn't know where they were," Gunter said.

Terry said that there had been a suggestion from a city commissioner that Kramer be directed at the next city commission meeting to investigate and that Manning be suspended pending the results of an investigation.

Terry said he had received a couple of requests for an investigation, but all he wants is to do things in a correct manner and make sure whatever is done is done correctly.

Gunter said he thinks Kramer "went a little overboard and stepped on some toes" when he issued a four-page memo to city commissioners Tuesday cautioning them that if they try to suspend or fire Manning, or order the city administrator to do so, that they would be

Group Homes Given Conditional OK

Commission Approves Location In Single Family Residence Zones

Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

In order to protect the Sanford historic residential district and other neighborhoods in the city, Planning and Zoning commissioners will recommend to the city commission that residential care facilities be allowed on a conditional basis only in single family residence zones of the city.

That decision came Thursday night during a three-hour planning and zoning workshop when commissioners discussed recommendations concerning the proposed ordinance governing the establishment of residential care facilities (RCFs), so-called group homes, with four or more residents. The proposed ordinance would amend the existing city zoning ordinance in order to create regulations for RCFs.

Planning and Zoning commissioners will make several other recommendations to the city dealing with supervision of the facilities, square footage requirements, qualifications of residents, and licensing. Some of those recommendations would modify the proposed ordinance.

Residential care facilities are for the purpose of creating a tranquil home environment for elderly people and may also be residences for the physically or mentally handicapped, foster care facilities, or half way homes for those with drug or alcohol problems.

City officials decided such regulations were needed as the result of a discovery in October 1986 that a Sanford couple was caring for four elderly women, as a business, in their home. Charles Cameron, the homeowner, and his tenants, R.J. and Constance Jack, were fined $250 per day by the Code Enforcement Board. Prior to the board suspending the fine, the three had accumulated $4,000 dollars in fines. The four women eventually moved out of the facility.

The city commission appointed a committee to study the need for RCFs in the city, and to make recommendations for governing the establishment in Sanford of homes with four or more residents. (Regulations for homes with three or less persons are already contained in the city zoning code.) That committee submitted its findings to the city commission last summer.

The city commission considered the recommendations, had City Attorney William L. Colbert draft an ordinance containing the regulations for RCFs, then referred the proposed ordinance to the Planning and Zoning Commission. When those commissioners considered the document in November, they decided a workshop with the city attorney was necessary to properly critique the proposal and make final recommendations.

The commissioners will recommend to the city that supervisors be on duty at all

Pair Submits Site Plan

Code Board Drops $3,300 Fine

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's code enforcement board Thursday rescinded a $3,325 accumulated fine pending against San Gabbat and Gary Weiss for failing to submit a site plan for their property south of Highway 46 on Airport Boulevard.

The pair was first cited in April for failure to submit a site plan for property being used for a commercial purpose and for having an outside storage area not screened from view.

The code enforcement board has considered the case several times since then, and Gabbat has appeared before the board to say he had submitted site plans for approval several times but had run into delays in getting them approved.

After hearing that the county engineer's office was responsible for some of the delays, the board asked County Engineer Jerry McCollum to appear at Thursday's meeting. McCollum told the board that a site plan was first submitted for

Amtrak Train Derails, 24 Passengers Injured

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — Amtrak's "Nightowl" train carrying 130 people rolled down a track closed for repairs, hit a machine and derailed early today, knocking screaming passengers out of their seats and injuring 24 — none seriously, authorities said.

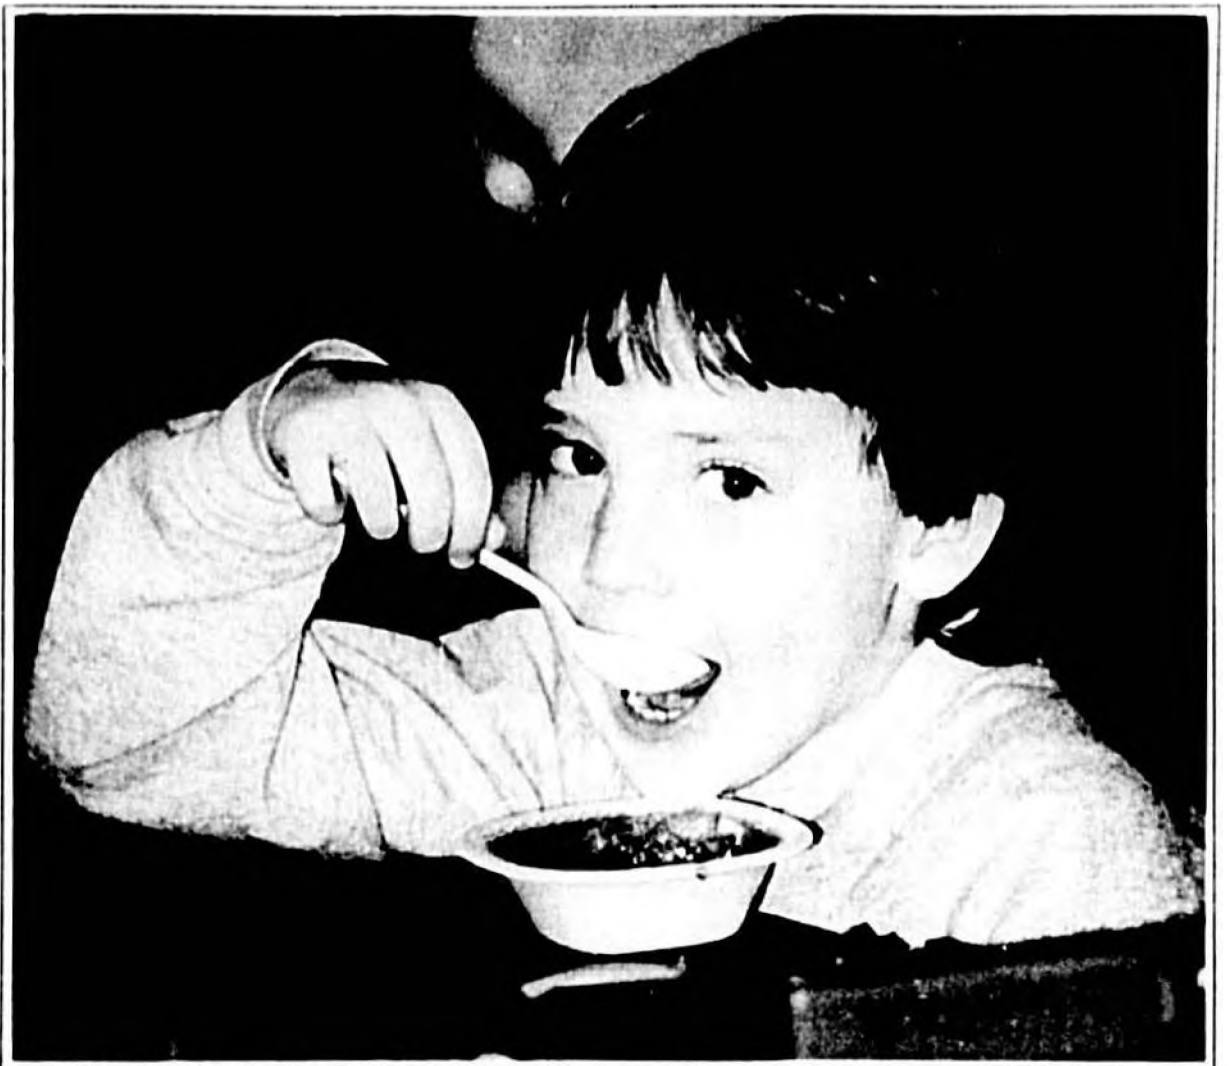

All 10 cars and two engines of the train, en route from Washington to Boston, jumped the tracks on a 16-foot-high overpass in the 12:34 a.m. accident in Chester, 15 miles south of Philadelphia.

"We were traveling along and all of a sudden the lights went out and I knew the train was off the tracks and on the ties," said passenger Orlando Dixon of Washington. "I thought we were going to go down the embankment. "The next thing that happened I was knocked forward. I hit my head on the seat in front of me and I fell to the floor. There were people screaming."

The four tracks on the overpass immediately were closed, although one track was reopened to traffic shortly before 5 a.m., said Amtrak spokeswoman Maree Larson. Trains traveling past the accident site in both directions were delayed by as much as 35 minutes as they took turns using the one open track.

IN BRIEF

Juvenile Inmate Uses Pencil In Jailhouse Suicide Try

A 17-year-old Seminole County jail inmate who apparently tried to commit suicide at the jail at about 10:20 a.m. Wednesday did not seriously injure himself when he apparently intentionally gouged open one of his arms with a pencil.

A guard noticed the youth had a bloody pillow case wrapped around his wrist and questioned him. The boy, who is from Altamonte Springs, told the guard he had fallen and cut himself, but the guard found a bloody pencil in the cell. The eraser had been removed from the pencil and the metal end had apparently been jabbed into the boy's arm, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

A jail nurse treated the youth and he was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford for further medical care. The boy was not seriously hurt and was back in jail early today, jail officials said.

Worker Accused In Burglary

A worker at Seminole Tire and Car Care, U.S. 17-92, Longwood, has been arrested in connection with a Jan. 11 burglary to that business.

In the burglary $840, a $200 television, $2,000 in checks and 16 tires valued at a total of $1,000 were stolen from the business. Tools valued at $2,000 and belonging to another worker were also stolen.

The day after the burglary the suspect reportedly came to work but left after he realized he was going to be asked to take a lie detector test, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

The worker whose tools were stolen contacted the suspect and the suspect reportedly told him he knew who might have his tools. This led the victim to an Orange County man who reportedly returned the tools and the television Thursday. That man allegedly told investigators he also bought four tires from the suspect and another man.

That led to the arrest at 10:40 a.m. Thursday of the tire company worker, Robert Lee Stephens, 22, of 724 Church Ave., Longwood. He has been charged with burglary and grand theft. There was no report of any other arrests in the case. Stephens was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Nabbed With Stolen Card

The driver of a car stopped by Sanford police on 27th Street at U.S. Highway 17-92 at about 2:17 a.m. Wednesday has been charged with grand theft auto.

Police reported that a police records check showed the car had been reported stolen in Lake Placid. Sheldon F. Cavendar, 30, of Sebring, was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond in the case.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Beverly Peters, 39, of Oviedo, was arrested at early Wednesday after her car failed to maintain a single lane in Oviedo. She was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

—Frank V. Capps, of 4409 Bedford Ave., Sanford, at 10:20 a.m. Wednesday after his car was in an accident on Pineway Avenue, Sanford. He was also charged with improper use of a temporary license tag.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

A camera and two suits valued at $150 each were stolen Tuesday from the home of David W. Melson, 268 Ringwood Drive, Winter Springs, a sheriff's report said.

Six checks and $150 were stolen Monday or Tuesday from a Lance, Inc., snack truck at Fern Park Development, Oxford Road, Fern Park. Michael A. Young, of Altamonte Springs, reported his loss to sheriff's deputies.

Tools and a $1,600 welder were stolen Monday or Tuesday from Econo Auto Painting, 725 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, a sheriff's report said.

Ossie Banks of 900 Snowhill Road, Geneva, reported to sheriff's deputies that a weedwhacker, a chainsaw, a pump, a grinder, an umbrella and a box of tools with a total value of about $1,200 were stolen between Saturday and Tuesday from his home.

Barbara H. Grace of 1102 Woodbine Drive, Fern Park, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $625 watch and a $300 gold necklace were stolen from her car Dec. 30.

Accidents Prompt Lawsuits

The following lawsuits have been recently filed with the civil division of the Seminole County Circuit Court in Sanford. The suits all seek damages in excess of $5,000 for a variety of claims. They include:

—John W. Connelly vs. Karen Kille Robertson.

In this suit Connelly claims Robertson was negligent and careless in her operation of a motor vehicle that struck a car he was driving on Feb. 20, 1987. Connelly is seeking damages for pain, suffering and loss he claims resulted from the accident.

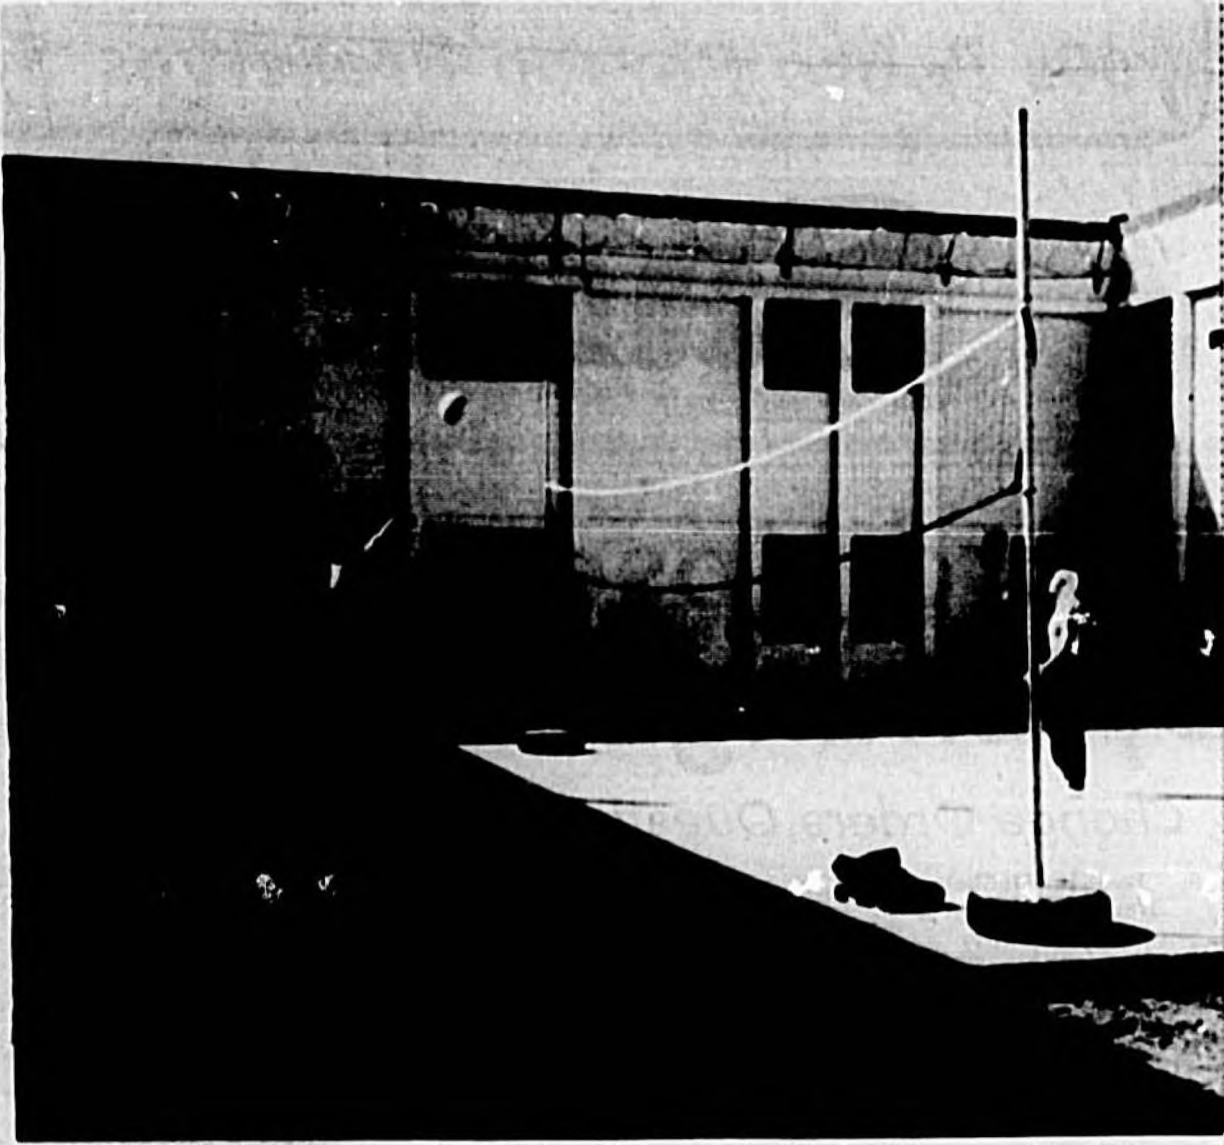

Maureen Roxanne Cleary vs. Bart Fenn and Trista Frances Kennedy.

Cleary claims in this suit that Kennedy was negligent in the operation of a car that collided with a vehicle she was driving on Oct. 1, 1986. The accident occurred on Orlando Drive in Sanford.

Fenn was named as being negligent in the maintenance of the car Kennedy was driving at the time of the accident, which he owned.

—Mildred S. Lee and Carolyn J. Nichols vs. Edward D. Wylam and Higginsbotham Buick-GMC-Truck, Inc.

Lee and Nichols charge that Wylam was negligent and careless in the operation of a vehicle owned by Higginsbotham. The car collided with a vehicle carrying Lee and Nichols on Aug. 30, 1987.

Volleys On Firm Ground

Seminole County jail inmates play ball on an new paved court. It's one of three recreation areas paved using $10,000 of the funds earned by the jailhouse inmate concession stand. Those funds can only be used to buy "extras" that benefit the prisoners as a group. A fourth court, was also paved as a part of the contract for the recent expansion of the jail. Within the next couple of days some inmates will be moved from the new section of the jail back into the renovated old jail. After the move is complete most of the new section will remain closed, until needed and staffed.

Wind Benders At It Again

By Fred H. Cooper

There are 1,522 folks living in Phillips, Wisconsin. Each sported blue skin and goose pimples last night and those brave souls of Germanic extraction shivered collectively as the thermometer plummeted to 23 degrees below zero in their unfair town. They were not vying for the record low in the nation, it just happened.

At the other extreme were Spring Valley and Poway, California and Yuma, Arizona, sharing temperatures of 82 degrees.

What does this mean to citizens of Seminole? Actually nothing but you really should know how those foreigners are faring. And how did you fare? Fair? Right?

Admit it, it was exciting to be a part of that historic weather event yesterday. The breaking of a barometric pressure record is truly an occasion of celebration. Today, the pressure has lessened, but still is a high 30.62 inches. Thus, we have clear skies with virtually no chance of precipitation of any nature. (That's real weather talk). The temperatures are still a little lower than we like, right? So, we have a solution for the weekend.

Discussions with official weathermen of the National Weather Service of the federal government elicited the morning weather data, including the observation that the wind was blowing directly from yankeeland at a speed of 10 miles per hour. These expert meteorologists were then persuaded to aid the citizens of Seminole County by cooperating in a cold weather-waiting experiment. Whilst all other conditions remain stable, the official weathermen are going to form a line and engage in a bit of wind-bending. They will collectively curve the billowing breezes from the north right to the east. They hope to accomplish this by the time you are reading this. So, dash outside, fetch a blade of grass and propel same into the air just like those professional golfers do, and watch the flight of the grass. It should move to the southwest. If so, then our weather brethren have succeeded.

Believing all this will happen, know ye now that the weather during the weekend will be great. Highs in the 70s and lows in the upper 50s. Very little chance of rain until early next week.

Florida has long recognized the crouch as the "official" shell of the state. Now, another state is getting into the recognition mode.

Calling it "one small step for a clam, one giant leap for clamkind." Rhode Island unveiled the portrait of its newest symbol: the quahog.

Artist and clam aficionado Don Bousquet presented his rendering of the big bivalve to Secretary of State Kathleen Connell during a Statehouse ceremony Thursday.

The new state symbol takes its place beside the state bird, the Rhode Island Red; the state flower, the Violet; and the state tree, the Red Maple.

Bousquet, whose artistic abilities have boosted the "Cadillac of clams" to prominence, presented Connell with a black baseball cap and white T-shirt emblazoned with the quahog, which is known in scientific terms as "Venus mercenaria."

Martinez Signs Death Warrants For Four Killers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez has signed death warrants for four death row inmates, including the killer of a 2-year-old Sumter County girl and a man wanted for murder and rape in six states.

Executions were scheduled for March 9 for Larry Joe Johnson and Jesse Tafero. Robert Dale Henderson and Ernest Lee Roman were scheduled to be executed April 7.

Martinez signed the death warrants Thursday. Death row inmates Raymond Robert Clark and John Earl Bush face execution Feb. 3 on death warrants Martinez signed last month.

Cronkite Testifies in Trial

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Former CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite, testifying Thursday at the cocaine smuggling trial of Carlos Lehder, said he was coerced by Norman's Cay, a Bahamian island prosecutors say was used as a drug haven.

Cronkite, 72, the prosecution's 44th witness, said he was vacationing with his family in December 1978 in his 42-foot sailboat when he returned to Norman's Cay harbor, site of previous vacations. The harbor was empty and the restaurant closed.

"An individual came out onto the dock and yelled, 'You can't dock here and furthermore you can't anchor out there,'" Cronkite said in a quiet voice. "He seemed to be rather positive about it. I don't know what that authority was, but I didn't intend to challenge it."

Merkle said defense attorneys wanted the government to produce Cronkite after a previous prosecution witness said Lehder had taken over the island and kicked Cronkite and others off.

Witnesses for the prosecution testified that Lehder paid bribes to Bahamian officials to allow him to operate at Norman's Cay.

Lehder claims he was a legitimate Colombian businessman who closed the harbor and island clubhouse during renovation. He purchased part of the island in 1979.

Court Rejects Death Sentence For Racial Bias

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Supreme Court Thursday struck down the death penalty given Johnny Robinson because the prosecutor attempted to convince an all-white jury Robinson, a black man, made a habit of "preying" on white women.

The court unanimously upheld Robinson's conviction, but ordered that he be resentenced by a different jury.

According to court records, Robinson and co-defendant Clinton Bernard Fields picked up Beverly St. George along a rural highway in St. Johns County at about 11:30 p.m. on Aug. 11, 1985. They took her to Pellicer Creek cemetery, where St. George was raped and shot to death.

At trial, Robinson claimed St. George had agreed to have sex with him at the cemetery. Afterwards, Robinson claimed, a scuffle ensued and a pistol he had placed on the hood of his car went off, hitting St. George in the side of the head.

Robinson said he then shot St. George again, "out of fear that no one would believe a black man had accidentally shot a white woman."

Fields, however, told a different story. He said Robinson had ordered St. George into his car at gunpoint and then handcuffed her. At the cemetery, Robinson raped St. George and then ordered Fields to do the same.

Fields said Robinson then expressed fear St. George would be able to recognize them, and shot her twice in the head.

Robinson was found guilty, but in the sentencing phase of his trial the prosecutor made several attempts to convince the jury Robinson habitually attacked white women. Robinson's lawyer objected and asked for a mistrial, but was denied.

"The situation presented here, involving a black man who is charged with kidnapping, raping and murdering a white woman, is fertile soil for the seeds of racial prejudice," the court ruling said. "The prosecutor's examination of this witness was a deliberate attempt to insinuate that (Robinson) had a habit of preying on white women and thus constituted an impermissible appeal to bias and prejudice."

"Racial prejudice has no place in our system of justice and has long been condemned by this court."

The court also ordered resentencing on the three consecutive life sentences given Robinson for kidnapping, armed robbery and sexual battery.

NASA Needs More Rockets

New flaws in NASA's space shuttle have forced an indefinite delay in the scheduled resumption of the launches. Instead of a June blastoff date, the next shuttle probably will not go into orbit before August, marking a lapse of almost three years caused by the explosion of the Challenger.

In the meantime, Soviet cosmonaut Yuri V. Romanenko has set a new record for human endurance in space, spending 326 days aboard the space station Mir. The Russians' unsurpassed experience in the weightless environment of orbit will be invaluable to their expected attempt to land cosmonauts on Mars before the end of the century. This ambitious mission will require a journey of at least two years.

Moscow has unveiled plans for three separate unmanned reconnaissance flights to Mars during the next decade in preparation for a manned mission. A Soviet probe that crashed on the surface of the red planet during the 1970s already has left a hammer-and-sickle insignia there.

The contrasts between the U.S.S.R.'s robust agenda and America's grounded manned program have never been more stark than they are today.

In the 1970s the United States made a disastrous decision to abandon most of the rockets that had given this country its pre-eminent position on the space frontier.

The Soviet Union, on the other hand, retained the ability to put objects and men into space atop an array of unsophisticated but reliable launchers. As a consequence of this and the Challenger disaster, Moscow boasted 91 space launches in 1986, compared to only six by the United States.

The latest problems with the shuttle's newly-designed O-rings and guidance nozzles, and the cracked welds in rocket engines, underscore the critical need for alternative boosters. A prerequisite to reviving the U.S. space program is the production of expendable rockets such as those that were common more than a decade ago.

This country's scientific and technical expertise still exceeds that of the Soviets. All that is missing is a renewed American commitment to get the job done.

Another One?

It seems as if every day brings another tale of congressmen slipping self-serving, questionable bills into the last-minute appropriations legislation.

The latest example is provided by Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., who managed to insert in the year-end omnibus bill a private amendment to give permanent residency to a Lebanese physician practicing in Marshfield, Wis. The congressman justifies the maneuver as an effort to teach the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service "a lesson."

Obey believes the INS had given the doctor the runaround. Agency officials say they were only adhering to the law that requires foreigners who study medicine to return home to practice for two years in their own country before applying for permanent residency in the United States.

Obey had a ready answer when asked about having bypassed the House Judiciary Committee hearings and floor debate to insert his measure in the appropriations bill.

"You bet your bottom dollar it's not the normal way to do things. But I did it... any member of Congress who deals with INS knows how arrogant they can be," he said.

Obey obviously knows about arrogance, having supported an $8 million appropriation to build schools in France for Jews who had emigrated from North Africa. That inappropriate use of public money, also hidden in the appropriations bill, earned deserved criticism for its sponsor, Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii. Obey brushed it off as "just a lousy $8 million."

Public Judges Harshly, And In Haste

I do not agree with the firing of "Jimmy the Greek" Snyder by CBS. This was an overreaction to an ill-advised, but not very serious, single mistake. As far as I have been able to learn, Snyder has no history or reputation of racism. He was approached by a roving reporter while he was having lunch (and perhaps a highball or two) at Duke Zeibert's Restaurant in Washington. Never at a loss for words, Jimmy responded with an impromptu dissertation on the intriguing question of why black athletes are excelling in American sports.

Most of what the beleaguered Jimmy said was flattering to black athletes. They are superior to white athletes, he said, because they are motivated to practice harder and to play harder. Beyond this, he said, they can jump higher because they have inherited heavier thighs because slave holders paired off the biggest black males and female slaves to produce bigger future slaves. This latter observation is, of course, nonsense, and it is insensitive. But it is doubtful that it does much, if any, damage to blacks or to race relations.

In any event, Jimmy promptly apologized for his remarks and pledged to use his influence to open more managerial and commentator positions in sports to blacks. Perhaps that is why several blacks were seen on television saying that Snyder should not have been fired, as one young man put it, for a single "stupid mistake." Another young black said, "We all make mistakes. Even Jesse Jackson made a mistake about the Jews."

I think there are too many instances of late in which we are harshly punishing, rejecting or firing public figures on the basis of a single, sometimes superficial, statement or action. Indeed, Jesse Jackson was on the receiving end of this treatment in 1984 when a reporter broke the story that Jackson had referred privately to New York City, with its heavy Jewish population, as "Hymietown." Obviously, this was mistaken and insensitive language that Jackson would never have used for public consumption. But the intense reaction against him over this statement implied that he was a bigoted anti-Semite, which he is not. Fortunately, the single-mistake-and-off-with-your-head scenario did not go all the way in this case.

I have always thought that much of the national press corps overreacted to presidential candidate Ed Muskie's "crying incident" during the 1972 New Hampshire primary campaign.

After the editor of the Manchester Union-Leader editorially assailed the candidate's wife, Jane, Muskie snowed her in remarks delivered during a snowfall in front of the Union-Leader building. While speaking, he temporarily choked and wept, which was widely reported to be a sign of weakness, and it damaged his campaign. I have never seen anything wrong with a presidential contender shedding a few tears. It is recorded that even Jesus Christ wept on more than one occasion. I was Ed Muskie's chief opponent in that New Hampshire primary so long ago, and he went up a point or two on my scale when I saw those tears shed while he defended his wife against a cruel and ridiculous story.

Reagans Sponsor Chapel

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Reagan are thrilled with the idea of sponsoring the building of a $500,000 privately financed interfaith chapel at rustic Camp David, where they spend nearly every weekend when they are in the Washington area.

The idea of a chapel at the presidential retreat is a dream come true for Kenneth Plummer, 64, Chambersburg, Pa., who used to go camping on the mountaintop grounds when it was dubbed "Shangri la" by Franklin D. Roosevelt, the first president to use the site as a weekend hideaway.

Plummer, a Methodist, got in touch with Navy officers who operate Camp David and they passed his proposal to the president. The Reagans contributed $1,000 to the project, which is envisioned as a 150-seat octagonal-shaped wood-and-glass chapel.

Plummer will set up a non-profit corporation and concentrate his money-raising among "the church people of America to the president of America," said Elaine Crispin, the first lady's press secretary.

Speaking of the Reagans, Crispin said, "They thought it would be a marvelous gift to future presidents."

Sunday services are regularly held at Camp David in the gymnasium of the compound and attended by Navy men and Marines.

Aides indicated the Reagans have not attended the services in their seven years of going to Camp David. The Reagans do not attend church services in Washington because, aides say, they do not want to put other worshippers through the security ordeal.

After Reagan approved the project, the navy secretary authorized the construction, which is expected to be completed by the fall in time for the Reagans to use it before the president leaves office.

"Mrs. Reagan is thrilled with the idea," said Crispin, adding the first lady had received a letter from Plummer thanking her for the Reagans' "generous gift."

JACK ANDERSON

Chinese Tyranny In Tibet Intensifies

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta
WASHINGTON — China's plan to turn Tibet into a kind of Disneyland in the Himalayas has fallen on hard times.

Since last October, when Tibetans rioted in the streets against their Chinese overlords, the country has been closed to Western journalists and most foreign travelers. Reports from Tibetan refugees who have managed to slip out tell a grim story of arrests, torture, killing and a frantic propaganda campaign by the Chinese to bring the Tibetans into submission.

It is a far cry from the quaint, picture-postcard Tibet that tourists saw before last fall. Our sources say that picture was carefully crafted by the Chinese, who see Tibet as a valuable tourist attraction, a sort of time capsule of Asian Buddhist theocratic culture. Except that the Chinese have laid waste to that culture since they occupied Tibet in 1950, destroying 6,000 monasteries, temples and shrines and sending the spiritual leader, the Dalai Lama, into exile. That leaves a facade of old Tibet for the tourists, and since October, the Chinese have made no pretense of keeping up that facade.

ROBERT WALTERS

Nukes Grow Old

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (NEA) — After years of repairs costing hundreds of millions of dollars, the oldest of the three reactors at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station was supposed to operate trouble free in 1985.

Before the year was over, however, the problem plagued Unit 1 had to be shut down because of a malfunction that produced valve damage. That prevented the reactor from generating any electricity for much of 1986.

The facility produced power with no major complications in 1987, but its operator and principal owner, Southern California Edison, recognizes that Unit 1 will continue to require special attention because it is more than 20 years old.

Indeed, the reactor, which cost only $90 million to construct in the 1960s, has consumed an additional $400 million during the 1980s for what SCE describes as "a continuing program of upgrading" likely to go on indefinitely.

Unfortunately for utility companies dependent upon nuclear power — and for their customers who bear much of the cost by paying higher rates for electricity — San Onofre Unit 1 is emblematic of a nationwide problem.

"As nuclear plants get older, they produce less power, cost more to operate and maintain and expose workers to increasing doses of radiation," says a recent report titled "Fading Fast," prepared by Public Citizen, a Washington, D.C., public interest organization founded by Ralph Nader.

"Those reactors that began operating in the 1960s are twice as expensive to keep operating as those plants that opened in 1970 or later," adds Public Citizen, which also warns that premature aging is "a potentially devastating problem."

In fact, 13 reactors have been closed before reaching their 20th anniversary, while only five — including San Onofre Unit 1, which went on line in January 1968 — have operated for more than 20 years.

The aging plants that continue to operate generally have experienced steep declines in their capacity factor — the amount of electricity reactors generate compared with their potential power output.

Industry and government officials long have promised a capacity factor of 70 to 80 percent, but throughout the 1980s, it has fallen below 60 percent — which Public Citizen notes makes nuclear power "simultaneously more expensive and less reliable."

The capacity factor at San Onofre Unit 1 generally exceeded 70 percent (and in some years it almost reached 90 percent) during the late 1960s and throughout the 1970s. But it plunged to about 20 percent in 1980 and 1981 as the facility had to be shut down for repairs to thousands of tubes in its steam generator.

SCIENCE WORLD

Study Doubts XYY Men

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer
CHICAGO (UPI) — On July 14, 1966, Richard Speck slaughtered eight student nurses in their dormitory near the city's South Community Hospital. No one but Speck knows why.

But for a while, scientists had a theory: the mass murderer was, as his notorious tattoo declared, literally "Born to Raise Hell."

Medical evidence suggested Speck was an XYY male, born with an extra dose of the masculine chromosome and thus, scientists assumed, more aggressive, more violent and more criminally inclined.

It was a theory that was very much in vogue at the time. Researchers had discovered a number of XYYs in prison, and in prestigious scientific journals such as Nature and Science, had forwarded the notion that the key to the dark side of man was in that Y chromosome.

The theory was pervasive and convincing enough to win a convicted murderer in France a lesser sentence because of his alleged handicap.

Speck, who was sentenced to death (commuted to 1,200 years in prison, presumably received no such consideration. But as it turns out, sophisticated genetic tests showed him to be a normal XY male anyway.

More important to the advancement of science, however, is that recent research seems to indicate the whole XYY hypothesis was faulty in the first place.

"It was a big selection bias problem," says Dr. Raul Schavi, head of the human sexuality program at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York.

"The researchers knew these men were different before they asked the questions, and the subjects knew they were different," he said. "And remember, these were studies of men in prison. Of course they were violent and antisocial."

For the first time, Schavi and his colleagues have studied XYY men in the general population, and have produced results radically different from the previous research.

"tortured with an electric cattle prod in her private parts," Berkowitz told our associate Daryl Gibson. "They (the Chinese) just treat the Tibetans like dogs. That's what started the riots. They were beating monks with shovels."

Pitts said that while they were in Nepal, a refugee confirmed the rumor that the Chinese are paying a $100 bounty to Nepalese border guards for every fleeing Tibetan that the guards turn in. The Chinese turned to bounties when their effort to close the border with Nepal failed. Refugees were bribing the border guards to look the other way, according to Michael van Walt, the Dalai Lama's legal adviser in Washington.

John Avedon, a New York author and expert on Tibet, said the latest twist in Tibet is the intense propaganda campaign inside the country, run by high-level Chinese party officials, not regional underlings, as in the past. "The whole government is geared up to intimidate the populace," Avedon said. Neighborhood committees herd Tibetans into regular propaganda sessions, where they are coerced into admitting, and then renouncing, their nationalist sympathies.

But Tibetans pay for these sessions. After one re-education meeting at a school in Lhasa, 60 people were arrested the next day, Avedon said. Some of the prisoners are beaten, and then set free as a warning to others. "One woman had her back broken," he said.

Providing a backdrop to the oppression in Tibet are the persistent rumors the Chinese plan to use the region as a dumping ground for international nuclear waste. Central Intelligence Agency reports have said as much, and the Dalai Lama has claimed that the Chinese use Tibetans to work in nuclear arms manufacturing plants. Some prisoners have reported that they were put to work in manufacturing plants, but the uneducated peasants did not know what they were making, van Walt said. They were treated unusually well while they had that duty, but later their hair fell out and they suffered burns. Van Walt said the work may have exposed the prisoners to toxic chemicals rather than radioactive materials.

The Chinese have hinted that they want to sell to other countries the dumping rights for nuclear waste in "the less populated western regions." That is a euphemism for Tibet, van Walt said.

Iraqis Claim Jetfighters Blast Oil Tanker in Gulf Near Iran

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iraq said its jets swooped down on an oil tanker near the Iranian coast before dawn today, scoring "direct and effective" hits on the vessel, and shipping officials said two people were killed in an earlier attack on a tugboat.

Iraq gave no details of the ownership or registry of the tanker and shipping sources were unable to immediately confirm the strike. State-controlled Baghdad radio, in a broadcast monitored in Cyprus, said all pilots returned safely to their base.

"Iraqi jet fighters attacked a large naval target," the standard Iraqi phrase for an oil tanker, "off the Iranian shore at 5 a.m., scoring direct and effective hits," the radio reported.

Iraq has claimed five hits against naval targets in the Persian Gulf this week, but only one has been independently confirmed.

Group Says It Kidnapped German

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A pro-Iranian group claimed responsibility for the kidnapping of West German Ralph Schray and warned Syria against any "stupid action" to free him, but Syrian officials vowed to quickly secure his release.

The kidnapping claim Thursday by a man purporting to represent the pro-Iranian Revolutionary Justice Organization created confusion about who really snatched Schray off a west Beirut street around noon Wednesday.

Syrian sources claim Abdul Hadi Hamadi, a leader of Hezbollah, another pro-Iranian group, was responsible for the abduction. Hamadi, chief of the "security organ" of Hezbollah, has two brothers being held on terrorism charges in West Germany. One of the brothers is wanted by the United States for allegedly hijacking a jet and killing a U.S. Navy diver aboard the plane.

Utah Governor Defends Officers In Polygamist Shootout

MARION, Utah (UPI) — It started when polygamist Addam Swapp blew up a Mormon church to bring forth the vengeance and resurrection he had seen in a divine revelation, vengeance against those he said murdered his patriarch. It ended, as he had promised, in death.

A brief but furious shootout Thursday left a veteran corrections officer dead from a high-powered slug that found a seam in his bullet-proof vest. Swapp, who admitted bombing the church in order to force a violent confrontation that would lead to the Second Coming, was badly wounded but expected to survive.

The other 14 members of the radical polygamous clan, including six small children, came out of their mountain stronghold with hands in the air and were not hurt.

Mubarak Deplores Israeli Acts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, winding up a state visit today, took a parting shot at Israel's repression of Palestinian protests, saying no one can "condone a policy of shooting and beating" in the Holy Land.

Mubarak, who made the remarks in a toast at a White House state dinner Thursday evening, said he was "happy" with his talks earlier in the day with President Reagan.

Reagan, who did not mention the Palestinian strife in his brief toast, told reporters he thought the meetings with Mubarak had been "successful" but did not amplify, "I think these exchanges are always worthwhile," he said.

Secretary of State George Shultz planned to host a luncheon for Mubarak today.

UFO Investigator: 'Photos Seem Credible'

GULF BREEZE (UPI) — The leader of a private organization that investigates reports of UFO sightings says a series of pictures taken by a businessman in northwest Florida "seem to be credible."

"Either they're a hoax or incredible photographs," said Walter H. Andrus Jr., director of the Mutual UFO Network of Seguin, Texas, which has been looking into sightings worldwide for 20 years.

MUFON finds mundane explanations for 90 percent of the sightings it probes.

Andrus, who calls himself an "objective skeptic," was in town last week to talk to a man who claims he took photos and a videotape of unidentified flying objects. MUFON investigators have refused to reveal his identity.

"He was dramatic, a showman, enthusiastic," Andrus said of the attitude of the photographer, whose pictures are being analyzed in California. "As of today, the photos seem to be credible, taken by a sincere and conscientious businessman."

In November the weekly Sentinel of Gulf Breeze published the pictures along with a letter from the man who claimed they were taken Nov. 11. They show a glowing object apparently at tree-top level. In subsequent weeks the paper published accounts from other residents claiming to have seen the object.

Andrus said he has looked at 16 color Polaroid photos and a

Beta videotape made by the man as well as 11 photos provided by two other individuals who refused to identify themselves.

"Each one has the same basic object and there is detail there that we don't normally see," said Andrus. "It's my opinion that the details in the photographs are incredible. This is one of the most amazing UFO cases that I have investigated in the past 30 years in the United States."

Andrus said he is particularly interested in one unpublished photo.

"Probably the most impressive one to me was made on this little road or highway," said Andrus. "This object came right over his truck and a white beam of light flashed through the windshield."

Andrus said the man took a photo of the unidentified object as it stopped in front of his vehicle. Andrus described the object as 25 feet wide and nearly as tall with "two rows of what might be symbols on the side."

The man told MUFON investigators he jumped under his vehicle. Andrus said.

"As he was peering out the front wheels, he said five creatures came down the craft and started walking down the road toward him. They were short, 3 1/2, 4 feet tall," Andrus said.

Andrus said the man claimed they had silver sticks that glowed. He said the man told him that after spotting the creatures he got back in his vehicle and raced away.

Arbor Day Tree Planting Schedule

Sanford Is Officially A Tree City, USA

Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

A sweet gum tree will be planted by Sanford officials on Arbor Day, Feb. 10, to celebrate the fact that the city is officially a Tree City, USA. The tree will be planted at the city park located at Park Avenue and Eighth and Ninth Streets at 1:30 p.m.

Martha Yancey, chairman of the Scenic Improvement Board and Mike Martin, county forester, informed the city commission of the official designation this week.

Yancey said city had met several requirements in order to be proclaimed a Tree City, USA by the National Arbor Day Foundation and the state. She also presented the city officials with a Tree City, USA flag.

To receive the honor, a city must have a legally constituted tree board or department-in-Sanford the Scenic Improvement Board qualifies as that board; the city must have a tree ordinance, which Sanford does; the city must have a comprehensive forestry program, supported by one dollar per tree per capita; and the city must have an Arbor Day proclamation and tree planting ceremony.

The Tree City, USA designation is actually for the past year, according to Martin, who noted that the designation is always for the previous year, and that each year the award must be reapplied for by the city. Last year's tree planting ceremony was held Sept. 17, at the flag pole on Lake Monroe.

Martin said that the most difficult requirement to meet was the one dollar per tree per capita. However, several trees were planted throughout the city in 1987, and a great deal of effort was expended, he said, to list 3,699 trees on city property on computer files. Yancey said those trees are classified according to type, condition and location. She and Martin also pointed out that 87 per cent of the trees in the city are in good condition. Only a few remain which are in poorer condition.

Martin told commissioners that only about a dozen cities throughout Florida observe Arbor Day.

Tree City, USA is gaining popularity across the United States today according to John Rosenow, executive director of the National Arbor Day Foundation. He noted, in a recent press release that cities of any size may participate, the program encourages citizen participation "in tangible, visible effort," the program can be carried out with limited tax expenditures, and "a good urban forestry program is an investment in the economic welfare of a city."

The Tree City, USA award makes the public more aware and more personally interested in the tree planting activities of the city, he added.

The Tree City, USA flag will be flown, possible under the American Flag at city hall. However, officials told Yancey that flag protocol will have to be investigated before the flag can be installed there.

Commodities Distribution Cut Back

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A cutback in funding is forcing The Salvation Army of Seminole County to go to a bi-monthly distribution of U.S. Department of Agriculture surplus commodities beginning in February.

Lt. Sam Flanagan, commanding officer of the local corps, said that during the 1987 fiscal year, commodities distribution cost The Salvation Army $5,504 more to operate than it was allowed to be reimbursed.

Reimbursement is figured on a percentage of the value of the food distributed and in June, 1987, the amount of commodities to be distributed was cut in half by the Emergency Food Distribution Office of the department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Jacksonville, creating the shortage of funding, Flanagan explained.

Since that time, he said, The Salvation Army has discontinued one distribution site, cut back in personnel in the program and changed distribution procedures to curtail the cost of the program. However, the cost still has exceeded the reimbursement rate. Therefore, it has become necessary to change to an every other month distribution schedule.

The Salvation Army will be distributing commodities (cheese, butter, honey, rice and cornmeal) for the months of February and March at the following locations and times:

• Wednesday, Feb. 3, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Salvation Army, 700 W. 24th St., Sanford.

• Thursday, Feb. 4, 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Altamonte Chapel, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Howell: Outkicks Tribe, 3-2

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks took an eight-game unbeaten streak into Seminole High Thursday night and the Hawks may have expected a cakewalk. After all, Howell had beaten SHS three times a year, all by the score of 7-0.

This time, however, the improved Seminole team made the Hawks fight for their lives before they came away with a 3-2 Seminole Athletic Conference victory.

Lake Howell improved to 8-4-7 overall and 4-1-5 in the SAC while the Tribe dropped to 4-11-1 overall and 0-9 in the conference. Seminole has a nonconference game Saturday at home against unbeaten Port Orange Spruce Creek, ranked ninth in the state in Class 4A.

"Our kids played a good game and Lake Howell looked kind of flat," Seminole coach Carlos Merlino said. "Lake Howell may have figured they could come in and have an easy game but we hung right with them."

Lake Howell jumped out to an early 2-0 lead in the first half on a pair of nice goals by Jason Logan and Ron Jenkins. Logan scored the first as he got a throw in and hit a shot from the left hand side into the upper right corner of the net from 30 yards away.

Jenkins just about pulled off an instant replay as he hit a left-footed shot from the left side of the field into the upper right hand corner for a 2-0 Lake Howell lead.

The Seminoles came back within 2-1 before the half ended when Darren Forde got into the open and scored an unassisted goal. It was Forde's ninth goal of the season.

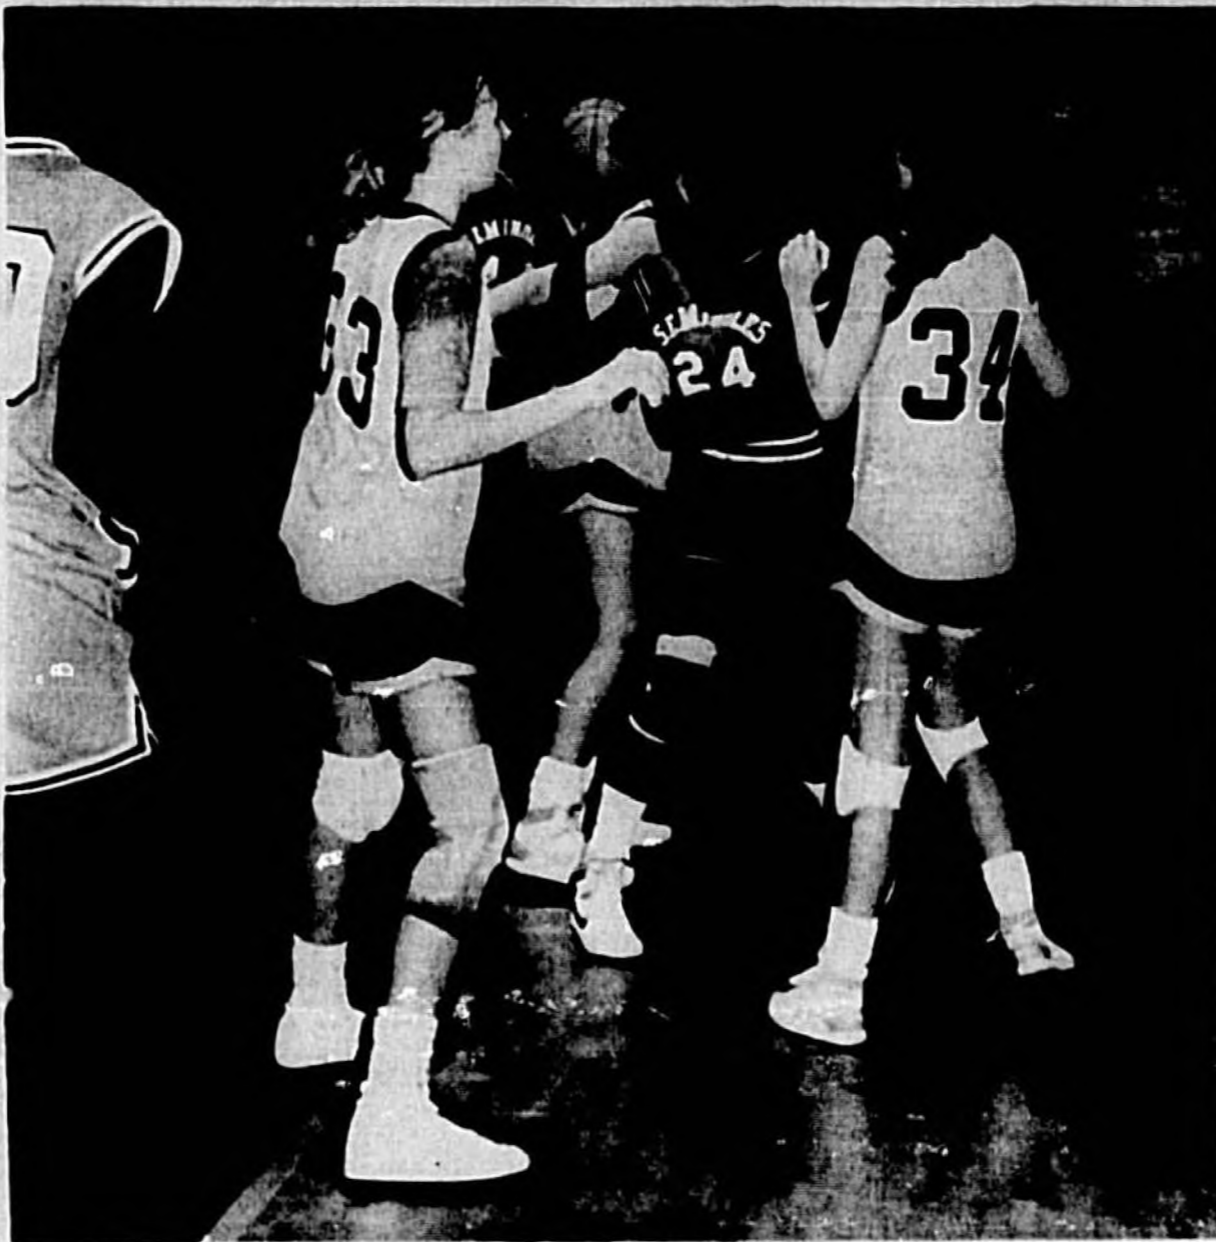

Seminole then put the pressure on as they scored their tying goal five minutes into the second half. Forde was tripped in the penalty area to set up a penalty kick and Jimmy Reynolds put it in.

Lake Howell had plenty of chances the rest of the second half and was able to capitalize on one of them as Matt Yearick fired a shot from 30 yards out into the upper left corner of the goal for a 3-2 lead with 20 minutes left to play.

"All three of Lake Howell's goals were the kind you see on highlight films," Merlino said. "There was not much our goalkeeper could do about them. He (Chris Bowlin) did make some outstanding saves, though, to keep Lake Howell from adding to the lead."

Along with the play of Bowlin in the goal, Merlino was pleased with the defensive efforts of David Hall, Eric Miller and Matt Williams.

"The guys are starting to get more confidence in themselves and we're really showing a lot of improvement," Merlino said.

Seminole's Aretha Riggins looks for a teammate to pass to while Lake Howell's Kelley Grider (left) and Brooke Burns apply the defense. Riggins was one of four players to hit double figures Thursday as Seminole knocked off the Lady Hawks, 67-62.

Lady 'Noles Outgun Hawks

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Editor

CASSELBERRY — Seminole High had to contend with quite a few distractions in its game at Lake Howell Thursday night. First, there was the loss of the clock and scoreboard; then came a guy making an obnoxious noise with a garbage can lid; and they weren't quite sure where their bus was afterwards.

The bottom line for the Lady Tribe, though, is once they have their minds straight and get into the flow of the game, it is pretty hard to stop them.

Seminole built up a big second-half lead and held off a late run by the Lady Hawks en route to a 67-62 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before a sparse crowd of 101.

Seminole maintained its lead in the SAC as it improved to 7-1. The Lady Tribe, 11-5 overall, has a nonconference game Saturday at 4 p.m. at home against Pinellas Park. After hosting Winter Park on Monday, Seminole has a big conference game Tuesday at home against second-place DeLand.

"All in all, the girls played a pretty good game," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "They worked hard on the press and played good defense on Tammy Lewis. I figured, even though we got that big lead, it would be close. Lake Howell did a good job coming back and our girls did well to hang in and pull out the win."

Lake Howell, which started the week ranked 10th in the state in Class 4A, dropped to 15-5 overall with its second consecutive loss and 6-3 in the SAC. The Lady Hawks are at Lake Brantley Tuesday.

Lake Howell had an early 4-2 lead Thursday when Seminole went on a 10-2 run behind Adrian Hillsman's six points for a 13-6 lead. The Lady 'Noles led by five, 15-10, at the end of the first quarter.

The loss of the clock and scoreboard due to technical difficulties didn't help either team in the second quarter as the coaches continually had to check the official timer and the score. "It definitely threw us off a little," Steele said.

Still, Seminole used a ferocious full-court trapping defense to build up a 29-14 lead midway through the quarter. Seminole had a 39-20 halftime lead. The Lady 'Noles had eight steals and forced 16 Lake Howell turnovers in the first half.

LaShon Cash had the hot hand for Seminole in the third period but Lake Howell stayed close behind the shooting of Kelley Grider and the inside play of Sarina Winston. Seminole maintained its 10-point lead, 56-46, after three quarters.

Jennifer Brown sparked the Lake Howell comeback in the fourth period with a steal and layup and an assist to Lisa Nuxol for a layup that cut the Seminole lead to 56-50. The Lady Hawks would later pull within 59-57 on a layup by Grider off Lewis' assist.

With the score still 59-57, Lake Howell sent Sherri Reddicks to the line for a 1 and 1. Reddicks missed the shot and Nuxol got the rebound, but Hillman stepped in front of the outlet pass for a steal and put in a key layup that gave Seminole a 61-57 lead with just over two minutes remaining.

Seminole ran the lead up to 65-57 when Brown fired in a three-point shot to cut it to 65-60. Winston followed with a nice move to the hoop and a layup that sliced the SHS lead to 65-62 and more bad news started to roll in for the Lady 'Noles when Hillsman was called for a phantom charging foul for her fifth foul with 1:05 left to play.

Lake Howell then had three chances to pull closer or tie the score on a three-point shot but failed to do so. Brown, who had

Super Bowl Countdown

Players Ready To End Hype, Get On Field

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The countdown to Super Bowl XXII has forced some of the players on the Denver Broncos and Washington Redskins to forget their vow to relax and enjoy the hype this year.

Although Sunday's game will be loaded with Super Bowl veterans who said they knew how to handle the hoopla at the start of the week, the end of the final interview session Thursday was a big relief to players on both teams.

Denver tight end Clarence Kay and Washington defensive end Dexter Manley have found it particularly tough to relax and enjoy themselves. Kay defended himself Thursday against charges that he was out drinking earlier in the week.

"I haven't had a drink and I haven't used cocaine for one year and 43 days," Kay said. "I'm here to play football this week and that's what I've talked very little about."

Kay, who spent time in a drug rehabilitation clinic in December 1986, had missed Wednesday's media session. His appearance at a bar Tuesday night and absence Wednesday ignited reports he had been drinking the previous night.

"My doctors told me there would be days when people would take cheap shots at me," he said.

Denver Coach Dan Reeves defended Kay, saying the reports were unfounded.

Manley underwent alcohol rehabilitation during the off-season, but his troubles here were not from rumors about drinking. The normally outspoken Manley did not show up for his scheduled media session Wednesday and when he appeared Thursday he said to the crowd around him:

"Because I have had so many questions that are repetitive, I suggest that to save your time and mine you submit your questions in writing. I will study them and reply in writing tomorrow."

Manley then left the tent where interviews were being conducted. After a 15-minute discussion with a member of the Redskins publicity staff, Manley returned.

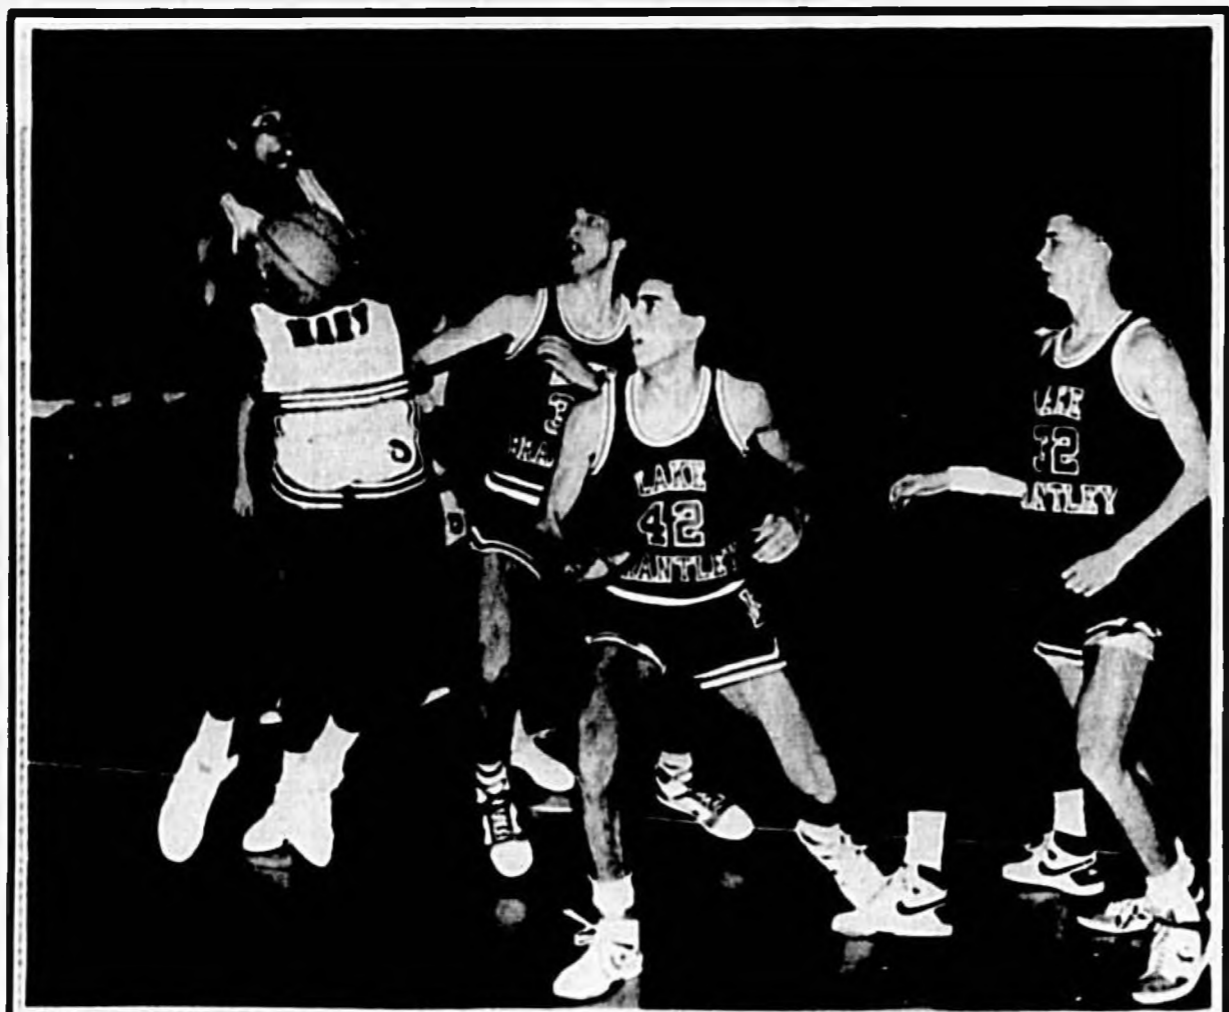

"I didn't want to come back," he said. Then, Manley repeated his statement loudly and stalked out.

This time, Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs met briefly with Manley and demanded he return. He did so, flanked by two security officers and Redskins public relations director Donnie Tuck.

"I'd just like to go out and kick somebody's you know what," Manley said. "Not fraternize with you people. It's so strange coach Gibbs is always worried about what I say and now he wants me to come here (the media room). I don't understand it."

"I apologize for Dexter," Gibbs said. "He needs to get on the stick and be where he is supposed to be."

"I was tired (Wednesday)," Manley said in his own defense.

Baldi: Pole Position No Big Deal In 24 Hours Of Daytona

AUTO RACING

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Mauro Baldi, who won the pole position for the 24 Hours of Daytona, admitted the position wasn't very significant in an endurance race.

In the last 10 24 Hours of Daytona, only once has the pole winner finished in the top three, when Bob Wollek won the race in 1983 with A.J. Foyt, Preston Henn, and Claude Ballot-Lena. Thus, when Baldi won the pole for this year's race with a qualifying speed of 129.563 mph in a Porsche 962 Thursday, the celebration in the pits was short and sweet.

"I don't think it's very important, but it's always a pleasure to win it," said Baldi, 33, of Italy after winning the pole in fading darkness on the 3.56-mile course that winds through the infield at Daytona International Speedway.

Baldi will drive in the race for International Motor Sports Association cars, which starts Saturday at 3:30 p.m., with Wollek and Brian Redman. Earning the second starting position was Jan Lammers of Holland, who had a speed of 128.983 mph in a Jaguar XJR-9.

Lammers will drive with Davy Jones and Danny Sullivan. Only the first two starting positions were locked in after Thursday's qualifying, with the rest of the 70-car starting grid to be determined today.

Baldi's major coup in winning the pole was keeping it away from the Jaguars, who came to Daytona this year with a renewed commitment to end the Porsche domination of this race. Porsche-powered cars have won 11 straight 24-hour races at Daytona, but the Jaguar team of Tom Walkinshaw is eager to end that streak.

"Every Porsche is carrying Porsche's honor against Jaguar," Redman said.

Baldi, a former Formula One driver who drove last year on the European sports car circuit, also expected the Jaguars to take the pole. Price Cobb's speed of 127.935 mph in a Porsche was the third-fastest of the day, while Eddie Cheever in a Jaguar was fourth-quickest at 127.931 mph.

"We were expecting that the Jaguar could have been on the pole position, but at the moment, we are happy we are," Baldi said.

better in the infield than the Porsche 962 — and that can be a big plus in a 24-hour race. The Porsche has a little more power in fourth gear, but that's mainly the turbo.

The Porsches have turbocharged engines, while the Jaguars are normally aspirated. While the Porsche has more power in the straightaways, the Jaguars generally are quicker through the corners.

Wollek, of France, was realistic about the importance of starting first.

"For three laps, it gets you out of traffic," he said. "That's about it."

Defending champions Al Holbert, Chip Robinson and Derek Bell never took a qualifying lap.

"We have a slight miss in the engine and the crew is working on it right now," said Robinson, the defending IMSA GTP champion. "We thought we might be able to get a late qualifying lap but IMSA said it was just too late."

"Qualifying (today) will be fine. It doesn't really matter where we qualify anyway. Last year, we qualified 10th and still won."

Cold Lowers Water Temps

(Editor's note): Due to space limitations, Jim Shupe's Fishing Forecast was cut from Thursday's Sanford Herald. Here is a look at Shupe's outlook.

The bitter cold arctic air has dramatically lowered water temperatures, but the warmer trend this weekend could see a pick-up in fish feeding activity.

On the fresh water scene, Rick Rawlins at Highland Park reports that specks are being caught jigging in the lily pad fields of Lake Woodruff.

Del Abernethy of Osteen Bridge is looking for the specks to be spawning soon. Some are being caught in shallow water in Smokehouse Cove, Woodruff Creek...

It has been rough at New Smyrna, but a few hardy anglers are catching sheepshead, bluefish, flounder and whiting. Live shrimp is the best bet for steady action.

Lake Mary Hopes To Set Wrestling Trend

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Tonight at Lake Mary High School there will be great competition on the mat and possibly a new trend in high school wrestling as the Seminole Athletic Conference and the Orange Belt Conference will come together and clash in the Tournament of Champions.

The opening round is set for 8:30 tonight with the second round to begin at 9. There will be four mats with the two conferences in action. The conference finals will begin Saturday at 10 a.m., with the two conference's individual champions dueling at 8 p.m.

Lake Mary wrestling coach Doug Peters came up with the idea to combine the two conferences to bring more fans to see the athletes and provide everyone with a quality tournament.

"It all started last March," Peters said. "I just wanted to change the conference around a little."

Peters prefers the larger tournaments and felt the change would help everyone and be a nice happening for Central Florida.

"When I was in school there were 32 teams in each district and a packed house of people watching," Peters, a Lyman High grad said. "When the districts broke down I felt there was something taken away from wrestling and we'd like to reverse that if possible." Peters' original thought was to have a Seminole vs. Orange County battle with the Metro Conference to be involved in the tourney. After the Metro declined to come, Bishop Moore coach Randy Jesse interested the OBC coaches to allow the tournament to take place.

"It took a long time to put together but now it's a reality,"

Peters said. "I've spent hours on the phone with the state, coaches, and principals who have all aided in this tournament."

The SAC will be all the Seminole County schools plus DeLand. The OBC is made up of Bishop Moore who has been a wrestling power for quite some time, St. Cloud, Jones, Osceola, Leesburg and Gateway.

The tourney will have an extra meaning as there will be a special donation given to the Special Olympics by several Lake Mary High sponsors.

"None of the proceeds from the tournament will be donated," Peters said. "The donors are from Lake Mary and we really appreciate their cooperation."

"I watched the Special Olympics last year and was touched by them," Peters added. "So I thought it would be a nice gesture if a group of athletes came together to help other athletes out."

The donation will be given directly after the parade of athletes that will feature every team and its members.

"This tournament will have some pageantry," Peters said. "I hope the participants, parents and fans all enjoy it."

Along with determining winners at each conference, the tournament finals will be scored as a dual meet between the SAC and OBC conferences.

Lake Mary High will be going after its fifth consecutive conference title and that is the first thing on Peters' mind.

"I hope we can keep our winning ways going," Peters said. "I know Lake Brantley, Seminole and Lyman can all be tough."

Hayden, DeLand Rip Lake Mary

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — C.C. Hayden scored a career-high 37 points while pulling down 16 rebounds to lead the DeLand Lady Bulldogs past Lake Mary, 64-39, in Seminole Athletic Conference action Thursday night before 121 fans at Lake Mary High School.

DeLand improved to 13-3 overall and 7-2 in the SAC and will return to action at Seminole next Tuesday. The Lady Rams fell to 6-11 and 3-6 in conference action and will take on Pinnellas Park tonight at Greenwood Lakes Middle School, which is directly behind Lake Mary High School.

"It surprised me how easily we beat them (Lake Mary)," DeLand coach Art Parisi said. "Lake Mary's to good of team for us to dominate like that."

Hayden was held in check in the opening quarter as Lake Mary stayed close, 10-6. Hayden came alive in the second quarter and helped DeLand tee the game early.

The Lady Bulldogs scored 10 consecutive points, six by Hayden, to open the second quarter and build a 20-6 lead with 5:23 left in the opening half.

After a free throw by Marnie Frey, Hayden added another bucket. Frey added another free throw to cut the lead to 22-8 with 4:23 remaining.

The Lady Bulldogs then reeled off six more points to put the game out of reach, 28-8, with 1:06 to play. DeLand held a 33-12 intermission lead and was never threatened in the second half.

"No emotion with no intensity will always mean no execution," Lake Mary coach Mac Blythe said. "We weren't hungry and did not do the things we're capable of doing on the floor."

Hayden kept rolling in the second half with the help of Rene Bellamy who added 13 points and Debbie Lovette chipped in eight.

Tert Whyte led the Lady Rams with 12 points and 10 rebounds as Gina Dawson and Amy Kuvach each netted six points.

DeLand was never in any trouble in the second half as the Lady Rams could not form any type of comeback threat as they never cut the lead to less than 19 points.

"We played well in all phases of the game tonight," Parisi said. "C.C. Hayden played a tremendous game and our guards did a great job on the press defense."

The press defense bothered Lake Mary somewhat in the early going. The Lady Rams' unforced errors in the final three quarters was the turning point of the game, though, as they were unable to get into any kind of two three-pointers for the game, attempted another three-pointer to tie it but the shot glanced off the side of the backboard and Aretha Riggins grabbed the rebound. Riggins was then fouled and she hit the front end of the 1 and 1 with 30 seconds remaining for a 66-62 lead. Reddicks then sealed the victory with a steal and she hit one of two free throws to make the final 67-62.

The guard trio of Hillsman, Riggins and Cash had a fine game for the Lady 'Noles. Hillsman had a team-high 18 points and added eight rebounds, six assists and four steals. Riggins tossed in 12 points and contributed five rebounds, five assists and six steals and Cash added 12 points, two assists and four steals.

Reddicks led the Lady 'Noles inside with 17 points, 15 rebounds, four steals and two blocked shots.

Grider had another good night for Lake Howell with 19 points and four assists while Brown hit 15 points and Winston played well underneath with 13 points and seven rebounds. Lewis was held under double figures by Seminole's defense but she did contribute eight points, eight rebounds and four assists.

SEMINOLE JV WINS

Seminole High's junior varsity pulled out a 55-50 overtime victory over Lake Howell in Thursday night's first game.

Ruth Ann Williams led Seminole with 17 points, Shawn Cohen hit 16 and Rita Harris, Yolanda Baker and Julie Francis contributed six points each. Jewel Simmons added four points and nine rebounds.

JV Lady Lions Victorious

Melissa Zile led a balanced attack with 10 points, including 6 of 10 free throws, as Oviedo's junior varsity downed Lyman, 39-32, Thursday at Lyman High.

The JV Lady Lions improved to 13-4 for the season and equaled the most wins in a season by an Oviedo JV team.

Heidi Steiner added eight points for the Lions while Wendy Ware tossed in seven and Tina Phillips, Becky Pittman and Alice Mead added four points each.

OVIDEO FROSH TRIUMPH

Bubba Fore connected on 6 of 6 free throws and finished with a game-high 12 points as Oviedo's freshman defeated Osceola, 61-40, Thursday night at Kissimmee.

Oviedo finished the season at 7-9, the most wins ever for an Oviedo freshman team.

Behind Fore, Mario Ambrosio added nine points, Ryan Alkire and Chris Tabscott hit eight each and Jeremy Stelthorn and Todd Woodard contributed six apiece.

Greyhounds Drill Hobbled Lions, 6-0

By Chris Piater
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman's Greyhounds defeated Oviedo's Lions, 3-0, the first time the two teams met. Thursday night, the Hounds put a 6-0 hurting on the hobbled Lions in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Lyman High.

"They weren't nearly as dangerous without (Rob) Seltzer (knee injury) and (Jim) Gugenheim (ankle)," Lyman coach Ray Sandidge said. "We had a lot more room to operate and our guys did a good job putting their chances away."

Lyman, ranked fifth in the state in Class 4A, improved to 13-3 overall and 8-1-2 in the SAC. The Greyhounds and league-leading Lake Mary will meet Tuesday night in the game that should decide the SAC title. The game will begin at 5:30 as a girls district goal will follow.

Oviedo, which has not been close to full strength this week, now stands at 11-5-2 overall and 3-5-2 in the conference.

George Kourlis opened the scoring for Lyman three minutes into the game on an assist from Eric Leibin. An Oviedo own goal made it 2-0 with 15 minutes left in the half and, with nine minutes remaining, Chris Graham scored on an assist from Mark Rubin for a 3-0 lead.

Greg Bailey's goal off Graham's assist made it 4-0 three minutes into the second half. JoJo House then scored on a penalty kick and Graham closed out the scoring on an assist from House.

Lyman took 17 shots on goal compared to Oviedo's five. Lyman goalkeeper Kelly Walden made two saves in recording his eighth shutout.

RAMS ROUT DELAND

Eric Ravndal scored two goals and Lee Alexander added a pair of assists as Lake Mary's Rams thrashed DeLand's Bulldogs, 6-0, in SAC action Thursday at DeLand.

The Rams, No. 3 in the state in Class 4A, ran their overall record to 15-3-4 and now stand at 8-0-2 in the league. DeLand dropped to 6-9-2 and 3-5-2.

"We played with a little spirit for a change," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "We've had a lot of chances lately and have not been putting them in. Tonight, the kids quit aiming the ball and let it come naturally."

A DeLand own goal gave the Rams a 1-0 lead four minutes into the game and Ravndal's first goal off an assist from Jon

Brooks made it 2-0.

In the second half, Chris Kenefick scored off Alexander's first assist and Ravndal then scored off another Alexander assist for a 4-0 Lake Mary cushion. Scott Schmitt scored the fifth goal off Ernie Broennle's assist and Broennle closed out the scoring on an assist from Travis Betsinger.

Lake Mary fired 27 shots on goal compared to DeLand's six. Rams' goalkeeper Pete McNally recorded his ninth shutout with one save.

BRANTLEY STUNS HORNETS

Pablo Garzon's goal 15 minutes into the second half broke a 1-1 tie and Lake Brantley's Patriots went on to claim a 2-1 victory over Orlando Bishop Moore Thursday at Bishop Moore High. Brantley improved to 6-9-2 overall.

The Patriots took a 1-0 lead at the 24:17 mark of the first half when Scott Kirk scored. Bill Langston served a long free kick to Kirk who one-timed it into the goal.

Bishop Moore tied it at 1-1 with less than three minutes left in the half on a penalty kick by Tim Geltz.

Garzon then scored the winning goal in the second half on a corner kick from Kirk.

LYMAN GIRLS TRIUMPH

Bonni Steeves scored one goal and assisted on another as Lyman's Lady Greyhounds blanked Winter Park's Lady Wildcats, 2-0, Wednesday at Winter Park.

In Wednesday's game, Steeves scored an unassisted goal 29 minutes into the game for a 1-0 lead and Steeves then had the assist on a goal by Randi Huddleston seven minutes into the second half.

Lyman, led by the senior duo of Steeves and Huddleston, had one of its better offensive efforts with 23 shots on goal compared to Winter Park's three. Lyman's goalkeeper Becky Carr came up with two saves for her sixth shutout of the year.

BRANTLEY GAME OFF

Saturday's scheduled match between Gainesville Eastside and the Lake Brantley girls at Lake Brantley High has been cancelled. Coach Wolfgang Halbig said Eastside contacted him and said it would not be able to make the game.

Gardening

Spring Planting Time Just Around The Corner

Planting time for a spring vegetable garden is only a few weeks away. Now is a good time to begin to plan and prepare for a garden.

The first consideration in planning your garden is where the best location will be. A garden should be convenient to the house so it will be handy to work in. Also, it should be near a faucet so watering will not be a problem. But most important in choosing a location is providing good light, and the garden should be located where it can get a lot of sunlight all day long. In most backyards, you will probably have to choose between morning and afternoon sun. Full sun, especially in Florida, is better in the morning for growing vegetables. If your area does not get full sun all day, plant crops like tomatoes, corn, potatoes, cucumbers, melon and most root crops in the best area of sun you have. Leafy crops like lettuce can tolerate more shade.

Good soil is an important factor too, but most of us have to do the best we can with the soil we have. Getting the soil ready to plant will probably be the most physical part of the whole gardening project. Don't give into the temptation to cut corners in this phase of garden preparation. If you are planning a large garden, you may want to rent a roto-tiller, but most backyard gardens can be prepared with a spade and shovel. If your area has a lot of weeds or cover crop, you may have to wait a few weeks for the material to decompose once you turn it under. You could also remove it and start a compost pile.

To prepare the soil, dig down six to eight inches and turn each shovel full completely over. After the soil is turned, break all clods up and level the area with a rake. The more you pulverize your soil, the easier it will be to plant and the greater your success in growing vegetables will be.

If you are starting a new garden, chances are you won't have to worry about nematodes the first year. But those of us that have gardened in Florida for years know that eventually we need to fumigate with Vapam for nematodes and other soil-borne problems. Since soils must be fumigated several weeks prior to planting and if you are unsure about how to do it, please call the Ag Center for more information, and ask for PPP-12 "Nematode Control in Home Gardens with Vapam". Or follow label directions.

Once your soil is prepared, it's a good idea to have your soil tested if it hasn't been done recently. A pH test, done at the Agriculture Center for $1.00, will indicate if your soil is sweet or alkaline, or in other words, whether or not you need to add lime. To take a good soil sample, use a hand trowel to collect several 6-8 inch "cores" or soil in various locations in the garden. Mix these samples together in a bucket and remove one pint of soil and bring it to the Ag Center. (We are located off of 17-92 south of Sanford) For an extra dollar, we also do a soluble salt test to determine the need for fertilizer. But if your garden has been tested over the years with good results, or you have had it on a program of fertilization with problems(?) chances are you can skip this part of soil preparation. When you receive your results from this test, we make recommendations on adding lime or fertilizer so you can amend your soil. Now you are ready to plant!

Those of you that would like to have a vegetable garden but haven't any place to plant might be interested in our Seminole County Community Gardening Project on the site of the Sanford State Farmers Market. There will be approximately 80 plots, free of charge that will be assigned on a first come first served basis. For more information or an application, come by or call the Ag Center at 323-2500, Ext. 175.

St. Matthew Celebrates Family And Friends Day

Family and Friends Day Celebration was held at St. Matthew Missionary Baptist Church with the theme, "Unity Through Spiritual Growth," carried out.

The Mass Choir led the processional march with devotions conducted by Arthur Graham Sr., father of the pastor, Arthur Graham, Jr., and other members from Tampa.

This program of family and friends fellowship was highlighted with soul-stirring singing by the Mass choir and New Bethel, Orlando.

The message of the morning was brought by the Rev. Arthur Graham Jr. This message was indeed bread of life to all Christians. Special honor went to the families of the church having the most members and friends present. That honor award was won by Pastor Graham, with the most family and friends in attendance. He was presented with the first plaque in commemoration of this event.

Pastor Graham presented an award to Deacon Raymond Bellamy for his years of dedication to the church and as chairman of the Deacon's Board. Special award was also presented to Mrs. Leona Johnson for her 20 years of service working with the youth of the church. This presentation was made by the chairman of the Special Family and Friends Day, Mrs. Cynthia K. Oliver.

A "Continuous Flow of Progress" was the theme for the Agricultural and Labor Program's annual meeting and luncheon, held at the Land 'O Lakes Convention Center on Jan. 22. Keynote Speaker was George A. Truitt, senior vice president Citrus Development Coca Cola Foods, Auburndale, who expressed his appreciation to all of the dedicated workers and board of directors for their continued efforts to help make ALPI a community success.

The chairman of the board for ALPI gave his annual chairman's report as he will be giving the gavel to a new chairman for 1988.

James Thomas Jr., was presented with a plaque for his many years of service to the Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc., by Executive Director Arnell Bryant.

Musical selections were rendered by Wanda Grant, Berta Reddick and Patricia Allums of ALPI.

Installation of the Board of Directors was conducted by City Commissioner of Winter Haven, Ann Darby. Members installed were: Grace Miller, Ethel Jones, Lenton Harris, Bill Geringswald, Marva Hawkins, Northern Region, Southern Region, Mattie Maloy, Lester Robert, Willie M. Seigler, Arletta Sims, Emille Wade, Central Region; Arabel Wiggins, Beulah Thomas, Robert Bryant, Wayne Duckens, Maxie Hunter, Eastern Region; Clarence, Loretta Byrd, Levonla Wynn, Majorie Gaskin and Julia Parris. Policy Council representative is Letha Poindexter.

Members of Evergreen Temple No. 321 Improved Benevolent Proactive Order of Elks of the World will celebrate their 63rd anniversary, Feb. 12-14. Activities planned are: Friday, Feb. 12, Valentine's Day Disco, 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.; and Saturday, Feb. 13, Anniversary Ball, 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.; semi-formal.

Tickets for the above activities may be purchased from the Daughters.

The anniversary worship service will be held at Trinity United Methodist Church on Sunday, Feb. 14 at 6th and Sanford Ave.

Atheist Won't Give In To Raising His Kids Catholic

DEAR ABBY: I've been spending a lot of time the last five years with the most sensuous woman I've ever known. She's made it plain that she wants to marry me. I can give her security and position. I also know how to make her gears hum. We share a lot of other pleasures, too — skiing, backpacking, boating, talking.

But there's a worm floating in our punch bowl. I'm an atheist and she's Catholic. This is a problem only when it comes to how we'll raise our kids — should we marry. She insists on raising them Catholic, saying, "How can we raise them in your religion? You're nothing."

She says she doesn't believe a lot of the mumbo-jumbo her church teaches. She's been divorced and never goes to confession. Still, she insists on imposing that outmoded nonsense on our kids. I can't stand the idea.

I want to start a family before I'm much older, and the clock is running even faster for her. Every time we discuss the problem of religion, we break up, but within two weeks, knowing that paradise is only a phone call away, I'm dialing her number — if she hasn't already called me.

I could just stand up for my beliefs, do my best to give our kids the freedom to think for themselves and hope it will all work out, but she wants my promise that our kids will be raised Catholic. I don't want to go into a marriage based on a lie. What should I do?

HESITANT IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HESITANT: You two appear to have too much going for you to break up now. Please give counseling an honest shot. But if that doesn't work, find another atheist. And then thank God you didn't spend more time trying to get a Catholic to change her mind.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this so that other mothers and children will be spared the heartache we had in our home recently.

A child was having a birthday party, so the child's mother sent the party invitations to school

DEAR FROSTED: I would have served the dessert I had prepared, as well as a "sample" portion of my guest's lemon icebox cake. And I'd have done it with a smile. Did you?

Possibly this following piece of doggerel, which I read some years ago in an English magazine, and which for some reason has remained in my memory, may provide an answer, some comfort, or even inspiration: "I've oft been told by some learned friars

"That wishing and the crime are one
"And heaven punishes desires
"As much as if the deed were done
"If wishing damns us, you and I
"Are damned to all our heart's content.

"So come, let us at least enjoy
"Some pleasure 'ere our punishment!"

The verse was anonymous, but seems to me quite Elizabethan in tone.

Teenager Suffers From Hypertension

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 17 and have high blood pressure. The doctor put me on Lasix (20 milligrams) and a low-salt/no-fried-food diet and I've lost 40 pounds. I'm 5 feet 6 and now weigh 120, but I'm still losing weight. I don't want to feel like the only teenage hypertensive in the world. Will I ever be normal?

Usually, catarrh in healthy people means postnasal drip. Perhaps your mother has allergies: hay fever, reactions to dust and molds, or a sensitivity to certain substances, such as tobacco smoke or the fumes from burning wood, that may be present in the air she breathes. She might be helped by an allergist; ask her doctor for a referral.

DEAR READER: In the past, high blood pressure was a particularly dangerous disease in young people because treatments were unsatisfactory and hypertension invariably led to heart disease and stroke. Today, however, hypertension is readily treatable.

The therapy your doctor suggests seems appropriate. I assume that he or she has investigated your kidneys, because renal disease is often a correctible cause of hypertension in adolescents. Stay with your doctor's recommendations. You are not alone. With time, your high blood pressure will return to normal and you may be able to modify your diet and reduce (or stop) your medicine.

Some teenagers outgrow their hypertension. However, until then, continue treatment — and don't lose too much more weight.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My mother suffers from something that she says used to be called catarrh. She clears her throat constantly and sniffs salt water twice a day to keep her bad breath under control. Do you know what else she could do? She gets no help from her ear, nose and throat specialist.

DEAR READER — Catarrh is an old-fashioned term for mucus in the throat. Modern doctors try — sometimes unsuccessfully — to be more specific. For example, throat drainage can result from sinus infection. In this case, it is yellow and thick and will impart an unpleasant odor to the breath. Postnasal drip refers to the watery, clear discharge that often clogs the throat in people with allergies. Air pollution will cause mucus in the throat, as well as cough and itchy eyes. So will a cold.

To be relieved of her nagging problem, she needs a diagnosis.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 When the opponents take your bidding room, bid what you think you can make. That is what South did.

The ace of clubs had given declarer a breath of air. If spades split, 12 tricks would come rolling in. Declarer ruffed, played a diamond to dummy's ace, discarded a spade on the club king, then played the ace and another spade. East won and played back a diamond. (If he returned a low spade, he would only be helping declarer.) Declarer won the diamond king and was at the crossroads. The best play for making the slam would risk losing an extra trick. He needed to get to dummy three times — twice to ruff out two more spades, and then one last time to cash the last spade and shed his losing diamond. It would be easy if either opponent had the singleton jack of hearts, but what would his best play be if he played toward the dummy with a small heart and West followed with a low one?

There was not really much to consider. The jump to five by East might even have been based on a void in hearts. So declarer led a heart and put in dummy's 10-spot, which held the trick. A spade was ruffed with the heart ace and a second trump was played to the queen. Another spade was ruffed and dummy was re-entered with the last trump so declarer could throw away his losing diamond on the long spade and make the slam.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
JANUARY 30, 1988

A secret desire that you've long held and have only mentioned to a few close friends looks like it will be fulfilled in the year ahead. How this comes about will be quite unusual.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't let your imagination override your practicality and logic in financial matters today. You may be perceiving things from a negative perspective. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you dislike may be present at a social gathering today. Focus on your other friends, and don't let him/her make you feel uneasy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't extend invitations to people to drop by your place today unless you really want their company. Chances are they'll take you up on it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In order to make your stories more colorful today, you might be tempted to embellish them a bit. Unfortunately, your exaggerations could be revealed to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Adjustments can be made today if you were fairly compensated for some work or service you've recently performed. Try to renegotiate the matter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Early in the day you may be overly sensitive and protective regarding your self-interests. Later, you'll realize you'll have to give a bit in order to get.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you may be asked to extend yourself on behalf of a person who has never done any favors for you. If you help, she/he won't forget your kindness.

friend who tries to make himself/herself look good at the expense of others may get on your case today. Cut this person off at the pass by indicating that you know what's going on.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In competitive situations today it's not necessary for you to depart from the rules in order to succeed. You can win by adhering to your usual high standards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't back away from challenging assignments today. Any self-doubts you feel will rapidly evaporate once you swing into action.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be in for a pleasant surprise today when something you thought wasn't going to work out too well for you starts producing hidden benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can make points with your mate today if you're willing to forego your own interests and do the things he/she enjoys.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 18.90 Thursday, was ahead 13.09 to 1943.13 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 662-321 among the 1,372 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 21,500,000 shares.

Stocks reacted Thursday to the growing optimism over the likelihood of interest rate reductions and sent prices broadly higher in moderate trading.

"The market psychology is clearly beginning to focus on interest rates coming down," said Ralph Bloch, senior vice president and chief market analyst at Raymond, James & Associates in St. Petersburg, Fla. "The Federal Reserve Board is not going to sit back and let this economy sink into a deep recession."

Bloch said the Fed, regardless of the economic numbers, would be forced by the political pressures of an election year to launch a more accommodative monetary policy, leading to interest rate relief.

Dollar Rises But Gold Declines On Markets

By United Press International

The dollar drifted slightly higher today on major world money markets but currency traders said it remained sandwiched in a narrow trading range. Gold was lower.

Currency traders in London said the dollar was tempered on one side by fears of central bank support and on the other by selling pressure from exporters.

In Tokyo, Bank of Japan Governor Satoshi Sumita said the United States now realizes that foreign exchange stability is necessary to keep stock markets healthy.

In earlier trading in the Far

East, the dollar closed the week against the Japanese yen at 127.18 yen, up a modest 0.13 from Thursday's close of 127.05.

In Europe, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.6705 German marks, up slightly from 1.6691 marks on Thursday.

The dollar opened in Zurich at 1.3632 Swiss francs, up from 1.357 in Paris at 5.6295 French francs, up from 5.619, and in Amsterdam at 1.8805 Dutch guilders, up from 1.873.

In Brussels, the dollar started the day at 35.07 Belgian francs, up from 34.935, and it opened in Milan at 1,232.60 lire, up from 1,230.05.

Panel: End Trade Privileges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cabinet-level Economic Policy Council has urged President Reagan to end special trade privileges now enjoyed by four fast-growing Asian countries, administration officials said Friday.

The officials indicated Reagan is expected to approve the recommendation to remove Hong Kong, Singapore, South Korea and Taiwan from a list of 140 less-developed countries receiving preferential treatment for exports to the United States.

All four countries have experienced strong economic growth, fueled in part by large trade surpluses with the United States. The proposed repeal of trade privileges for the four reflects administration frustration over those surpluses as well as what one official called their "graduation" to the status of industrial powers.

The council recommendation was expected to be placed before

Reagan Friday for final review, with an announcement possible on Saturday, the officials said.

Citrus Shipments

WINTER HAVEN (UPI) — Today's citrus shipments reported by the Division of Fruit and Vegetable Inspection. Shipping total in 4-5th bushel cartons and canneries totals in 13.5th bushel boxes.

Rail — 4,441 grapefruit, 5,281 early-mid oranges, 2,754 navel, 2,267 tangelos, 1,305 Minnerola tangelos, 1,782 honey tangerines.

Export — 1545,710 grapefruit,

44,895 early-mid, 11,641 navel, 45,547 tangelos, 1,564 Orlando tangelos, 9,465 Minnerola tangelos, 19,182 honey tangerines, 2,093 Dancy tangerines.

Cannery — 160,271 grapefruit, 1,133,680 early-mid, 3,984 navel, 13,412 tangelos, 44,818 tangelos, 8,508 honey tangerines, 2,422 tangerines.

approval last May, was returned for additional information, was resubmitted in August virtually unchanged, and again in November, but still is not acceptable.

McCollum said the property owners had been told from the beginning that they need a permit from the St. Johns River Water Management District and a deed for right-of-way before the site plan can be approved, but neither had been furnished.

The board, however, decided that even though the pair has not yet submitted an approved site plan so therefore is still in violation of county code, it has complied with the charges filed, to submit a site plan and screen the storage area.

The board also voted to reduce a $900 accumulated fine against a Winter Park couple for not mowing weeds, to $75 after county staff reported that a drive-by Thursday showed the weeds have been mowed. County ordinances require that property owners act to notify the county inspector when they have come into compliance with the code they violated, but no notification was made.

Board members Victor Eyal and Steve Cook argued that the fine should be higher than $75 just to cover the cost to the county of inspecting the property and filing a charge. However, board member Hugh Harling said "I don't think this board was set up to be punitive or to pay county expenses, but to enforce the county code, and the code has been complied with."

The board also gave Joseph Ruffin until March 10 to remove a junked car from his yard on Crawford Drive in Midway. Ruffin told the board he planned to have the engine removed from the car and placed in another body, and the body of the first car would be towed away in about 10 days.

A $1,225 fine accumulated against Dorothy Evans for not mowing weeds on Sipes Avenue was rescinded after the weeds were mowed this week.

...Train

"The emphasis is to get the other tracks open as soon as possible. But as the morning progresses, delays could be longer," Larson said.

The National Transportation Safety Board was to investigate why Amtrak track repair equipment and the passenger train were using the same track.

"It was on a track that was out of service," Chester police Sgt. Donald Swanson said. "There were crews working on the track but they were not hurt. We don't know why it was on the wrong track."

Amtrak spokesman Clifford Black said the train hit a ballast regulator, a machine about the size of a pickup truck that adjusts the crushed rock roadbed beneath the track.

"It did strike the work equipment and we're trying to figure out how that happened," Black said.

The authorized speed on that stretch of track is 110 mph, although the train involved in the accident was only authorized for 90 mph. "We don't know how fast the train was going at the time of the derailment," Larson said.

The front of the train had just cleared an overpass when the collision occurred. One locomotive tumbled down a 16-foot embankment and debris from the train snowed onto the streets below. Both locomotives and two baggage cars landed on their sides. The passenger cars left the tracks but remained upright on the overpass.

"There was a jolt and a loud noise," another passenger said. "We started wobbling and leaning to one side. I was very scared."

Mike Jefferson, who lives about 150 feet from the track, said the crash "sounded like chains or something. There was no loud noise at all."

"I went outside and saw people wandering around holding their heads," he said. "People were confused."

The train's engineer, Mark Kenny, 36, of Bricktown, N.J., was admitted to Crozer-Chester Medical Center for observation. He suffered facial cuts and bruises, a nursing supervisor said. Six other crew members were treated at hospitals for minor injuries and released.

Swanson said none of the people taken to Sacred Heart and Taylor hospitals and Crozer-Chester Medical Center immediately after the accident were seriously hurt.

"They're pretty much OK," said Diane Bodnar, night supervisor at Taylor Hospital.

Diane Yergler, night supervisor at Sacred Heart Hospital, said, "No one seems seriously injured at this point. One lady said she had butterflies. She seemed nervous more than anything else. Others said they had back pain. We'll know more after they are evaluated."

Molly Timlin, spokeswoman for Crozer-Chester Medical Center, said all the patients there had "basically minor injuries, like lacerations."

Sacred Heart received 14 of the injured, Taylor received two and Crozer-Chester eight.

Black said the Nightowl, which left Washington at 10:30 p.m. and was scheduled to arrive at 8:05 a.m. in Boston, carried about 130 passengers and crew members.

Fire Damages House

A fire apparently started by a electrical short in a video game caused more than $100,000 in damage to a southeast Seminole County home Thursday evening.

Seminole County and Casselberry firefighters took approximately 20 minutes to control the fire at the home of Arthur Duncan, 2219 King Alpine Court, in the Winter Woods subdivision near Casselberry, Seminole County fire officials said.

No one was home when the fire started in a bedroom in the southwest corner of the one-story house.

times in such a facility must be over 18 years of age. The proposed amendment, as it now stands, only requires a "responsible person" to be on duty.

Other recommendations include:

● Each RCF should be located a minimum of 1,500 feet from any other facility in single family districts.

● A minimum of 50 square-feet per resident should be required for outdoor recreation space. The proposed ordinance now only requires 30 square feet.

● Site plans for all RCF's should be approved by the planning and zoning commission. The proposed ordinance now only says site plans are required for all RCF's.

● Initial occupational licensing and each annual re-issuance of the license should be in conjunction with fire safety inspections. The planning and zoning commissioners want the two to be in conjunction.

● Those people who have been convicted of a felony, or pleaded guilty or no contest to a felony, those persons found not guilty of a felony by reason of insanity, those persons found guilty of sex offenses, and those persons having serious communicable diseases should not be eligible for residency in an RCF. Commissioner Tom Speer requested that the communicable disease stipulation be added. The others agreed.

Commissioners unanimously expressed the desire to protect existing neighborhoods in the city, particularly the historic residential district. Speer asked Colbert if it could be stipulated that RCF's be completely excluded from the historic residential district, since that area is likely to be listed on the National Register of Historic Places in the future.

Colbert replied such a stipulation could be contested in court. He also explained that if RCF's were to be allowed in a single family residential neighborhood on a conditional basis, and someone who was denied a license, contested the city's decision in court, a judge would look at the reasons the RCF was denied. How many voted for or against the facility would not carry any weight in court, he said. A judge would look at the site plan, square footage requirements, etc. to determine whether the RCF should be allowed to open.

The group also plans to recommend that RCF's be allowed conditionally in PUD zones (planned unit development), which vary from zone to zone, and which are dealt with on a case by case basis.

The planning and zoning commissioners will formally make their recommendations to the city at the regular planning and zoning meeting Thursday of next week.

Planning and Zoning Chairman Morris, Commissioners Speer, Malone, Joe Dennison and Gary Davidson were at the meeting. Sheila Roberts and Brent Carl were absent.

circumstances. "Somebody made a mistake. Now we're sitting here with limited funds being asked to decide whose need is the most pressing."

"I think throughout the building program, we're going to have our 'whoopses' and things that we didn't know would come along," Williams said. "But what kind of precautions can we take to minimize change orders?" He was answered that architects and contractors aren't perfect and will make mistakes.

The Goldsboro change order passed 3-1, with Telson voting against it as a protest for the record.

Wells said that he will, at the Feb. 10 board meeting, present board members with a comprehensive report on change orders concerning the bond issue. Out of $43,963,772 in remodeling and construction contracts, only $179,201, or .0041 percent, in change orders has been incurred, he said.

"There are unforeseen things that you don't plan on when you get into construction," he said. "I think that was one of their concerns: how much was budgeted for change orders, how much did those cost and how much was left?"

Approximately one percent of budget projection is reserved for change orders, Wells said.

as a scapegoat. He has to take the responsibility. If he doesn't want to take it, he can resign."

Commissioners unanimously

overstepping their authority and were opening themselves and the city to a lawsuit.

In defining the role of the city commission and city administrator, particularly regarding the activities surrounding the police chief, Kramer said, the charter is clear cut that the city administrator has the sole authority to suspend or fire the police chief.

"The commission is losing sight of this and is exposing itself to a great deal of liability," he stated.

He said the commission and its members has made statements and taken actions on such areas as suggesting suspending or removing the police chief, eliminating the $350 per month auto subsidy for the police chief, proposed investigation of the police chief, proposed investigation of police activities and proposing a salary reduction for the police chief.

Gunter said the commission doesn't have the power to hire and fire the police chief, but does have the power to hire and fire the city administrator, building official, city clerk and city attorney. He said the commission should be able to ask the administrator to investigate when it feels there is a problem.

Gunter said, "If we suggest at a meeting that the city administrator should investigate, it's our prerogative. We won't do it behind closed doors, but in the 'sunshine.'"

Laying any irregularities in the funds at the feet of the police chief, Gunter said, "I don't care if five other names were on the checking account, the person in charge is still responsible. I don't feel he should use a subordinate change the chief's salary in mid-budget. The city commission can't single out an individual and heap trouble on him, it's not their job.

"The administrator should make the decision on whether the police chief is good or not and whether he should drive a marked car or get subsidies for using his own."

In his memo, Kramer stated, "Unfortunately in the past the city commission and its members were involved initially and actively in these police chief matters in direct conflict with the city charter. Fortunately neither the commission nor any members has yet committed any irreversible error. However, the commission or its members should persist in violating the city charter in these matters the city commission and its members may expose themselves to liability."

Kramer said he had spoken to the city attorney of Tarpon Springs who is trying to negotiate a settlement in a $1 million suit filed after the commission fired the police chief there. The ex-chief charged his civil rights had been violated and his reputation ruined.

"It's not up to me to decide whether or not the police chief should be suspended," Kramer said. "All I want to know is it's done in the proper way by the proper persons. If the city administrator wants me to look at the books, I will and get the auditor to audit them."

Kramer said, "It is my personal belief that the city administrator should decide what car the police chief drives so long as it doesn't involve any increase in funds. In the area of salary, the administrator should do a study on salaries. Except when considering the entire budget of the city, the city commission should not be involved in any salary study or salary reduction for the police chief. It would be improper to

Dick Pope, Tourism Pioneer, Dead

WINTER HAVEN (UPI) — Richard Downing Pope, founder of Cypress Gardens and a pioneer in promoting swampy Florida as a tourist mecca of bathing beauties and sunshine, died Thursday of pneumonia. He was 87.

Pope died about noon with his wife, Julie, and family at his side in the New Horizon share home in Winter Haven. A spokeswoman for the tourist attraction said the cause of death was pneumonia. Pope had been ill for some time.

Special announcements are planned Friday before each of the waterski shows that are a highlight of the show, said Christa Dason, a park spokeswoman.

A champion promoter, Pope arrived in Florida in the Depression after reading stories about the success of such as Henry Flagler, whose Florida coastal railroad opened the state for development.

Pope, a native of Des Moines, Iowa, settled in central Florida in 1932, in a swampy area with a lake used often for boating regattas. He convinced the Works Progress Administration and a local canal commission to help finance his projects.

He was an early inductee in the Florida Public Relations Hall of Fame.

Pope is survived by his wife, Julie Downing Pope, a son, Richard Jr., and a daughter, Adrienne Watkins, both of Winter Haven; and a sister, Mrs. Frank Chase of Lakeland.

A funeral is planned Saturday at St. Matthew's Catholic Church. Burial is at Lakeside Memorial Park.

AREA DEATHS

MARY HARRIS

Mrs. Mary Harris, 78, of 400 Locust Ave., Sanford, died Tuesday at Central Florida Regional Hospital. Born May 6, 1909 Baker Hill, Ala., she moved to Sanford in 1984 from Miami. She was a homemaker and a Baptist.

Survivors include a daughter, Emma Louise Dingle, Sanford; two sons, Willie Harris Jr. and Lazarus Harris, both of Miami; two sisters, Martha Caldwell, Sanford, and Sallie Robinson, New Jersey; one brother, J.C. Cooks, Miami; 20 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

B.J. Ebersole stands amid her collections of tie dyed apparel

It's From The New Wave Generation

What goes around comes around, so they say. And the psychedelic 1960s, or at least some elements of them, may be back sooner than imagined even in the wildest hallucinations.

Aging Hippies may have thought they had seen the last of tie-dye designs, and get a bit nostalgic when they see a resurfacing of this craft. In their day, the T-shirt was the item most often tied and dyed. The T-shirt continues to be a favorite object to be subjected to the talents of a tie-dye artist.

These colorful, splotchy designs are winning new raves from the New Wave generation -- the offspring of the Flower Children of the '60s. And the aging Hippies also seem to be happy to take into their Yuppie homes, tie-dyed pillows wallhangings and tablecloths, not of lowly T-shirt cotton, but of velvet.

At 43, B. J. Ebersole, is helping bring back the look, if not the free love and peace, of the "Age of Aquarius," by bringing her skills at tie-dyeing out of the closet and on display at a Central Florida flea market.

"I never expected to see it again," Ebersole said. "I never got tired of it. I've had a tie-dyed, velvet wallhanging in my home for 10 years."

With her long, straight hair parted in the middle, blue jeans, tie-dyed shirt, bone and stone jewelry, and 20-year-old patchwork velvet jacket, that includes some tie-dyed squares, Ebersole has held onto the Hippie look, but has, like most of her generation, conformed to more traditional values.

The mother of three teenagers, whom, Ebersole said, are "really interested" in tie-dye fashions, Ebersole said she hopes the art of the '60s is all that's coming back.

"I hope we don't go back morally. I hope it's just the styles. I don't think it's going to go back to free love and peace.

"To me it's art. My great-great-aunt died unmarried. In her hope chest she had some tie-dye things, dyed with vegetable dyes. I have her tie-dye tablecloth, which is now 120 years old. That's what got me interested in tie-dyeing," Ebersole said.

Tie-dyeing is an ancient art, which popped up in China, India and Japan in the 6th to 10th centuries A.D. It also flourished in Peru in the era of the Incas, as well as in other corners of the globe, with techniques varying. The techniques may have varied but the results have been pretty much the same as those achieved by today's tie-dye revivalists.

To tie-dye, cloth, usually of natural fibers such as cotton, is knotted, folded, bound sewn or otherwise manipulated in various ways so that during a dyeing process certain parts of the fabric resist the dye.

It takes skill to plan which areas will be dyed, so a pleasing pattern will form after the fabric is given a dye bath, or is even "cooked," in a dye-filled vat.

Ebersole, who lives in Astor, said she is so skilled at tie-dyeing that she pretty much knows in advance what her results will be. Less experienced dyers, she said, are more likely to be surprised by the design they develop.

"It's fun to experiment," she said. Ebersole added the material used to tie in the design also contributes to the overall look of the piece. Cords and strings of various sizes can be used, and so can rubber bands.

Multicolored designs can be developed through secondary tie-offs of the original dyeings and additional dips into dyes of different colors. The dyes used are standard fabric dyes that are readily available at retail outlets.

Old crafts books can be consulted for tips on tie-dyeing. Or former Flower Children can be asked to pass along this lore.

But the very basics of the process include:

- Washing and ironing the cloth (natural fiber).
- Mark out a pattern and tie to achieve that design.
- Wet tied up piece and dye.
- Rinse and dry.
- Add more binding, or completely untie piece and rearrange it and retie it before dyeing in the next color.
- After final dyeing, rinse well and dry.
- Untie.
- Rinse again. Dry partially and iron while still damp.

Ebersole said in addition to "cooking" her creations in a vat of dye for about 30 minutes each, she also rinses them in a mix of salt, water and vinegar to aid in setting the dye.

"It takes about eight hours to do 12 T-shirts, because of the process. The value of the items has tripled since the '60s, but so has the cost. Then you could buy a plain T-shirt to dye for 50 cents. Now, they $2.50. I sell mine for $10 each, but someplaces they sell for $25 or $30," she said.

This time around, Ebersole said, she hopes her craft will be seen more as a legitimate art form, rather than the necessity of life and dress it was for the Hippies.

10 Years Of 'Sunday'

By Joan Hanauer
UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most civilized programs on network television begins its 10th year Sunday when Charles Kuralt presides over "Sunday Morning."

Kuralt and company cover hard news when they have to, but the 90 minutes from 9-10:30 a.m. (Eastern time) also is one of the few places on television where you can find out what's happening in literature, music and painting.

The show to air Sunday, Jan. 31, begins with highlights from past editions of the program that had its first broadcast on Jan. 28, 1979.

"We have tried to squeeze 630 hours of television into 20 retrospective minutes," Kuralt said in a telephone interview, calling in, as he said, "from somewhere in southern Minnesota" on the way to one of his "On The Road" reports from America.

"I don't know exactly where we are," Kuralt said, explaining that he and his crew were just "looking for stories. We had a couple of ideas we're heading toward and hoping we stumble along something else along the way."

He enjoys doing both shows, but there is a down side.

"This has diminished the romance of doing 'On The Road,'" he said of what he once called the best job in journalism. "We used to just wander for three or four weeks. Now I wander during the week but I must find an airport on Friday night or Saturday morning to go to work on the 'Sunday' program. Then Sunday or Monday I rejoin the 'On The Road' camera crew."

Kuralt said "Sunday Morning" always does the news and offers a cover story — "lately they have tended to be political in nature because of the presidential campaign" — but that is not what makes the show different from all others.

"As far as I am aware, it is the only program that regularly, every single week, pays attention to the arts, to music and theater and painting," Kuralt said. "Nature also has always been a strong point on the show and people are used to seeing shore birds fly on 'Sunday Morning' because of the prejudice in favor of birds by Shad Northfield, our original producer."

Kuralt added that sometimes the serious nature of the news forces "Sunday Morning" to abandon its leisurely focus.

"If news is breaking, we discard all the pleasant things we have prepared and try to cover it," Kuralt said. "It's only happened a few times — things like the taking of the hostages in Iran, the bombing of the Marine barracks in Lebanon. When things like that happen on Saturday night, then 'Sunday Morning' becomes a hard news show."

Watching American Television In Tokyo

VIDEOT
 Guy MacMillin

TOKYO — If Takashi Kobayashi hadn't seen cloac-circuit TV 20 years ago while visiting Weeki Wachee Springs, Fla., I wouldn't be watching Bella Shaw read the news on the Cable News Network here in my hotel.

Kobayashi, who worked for a Tokyo TV channel, was on an exchange program with ABC. When he saw the cable system in that Florida resort, he started thinking how the technology could be adapted to Japan.

He eventually envisioned a specialized kind of pay TV: English language programs for visitors to Japan and for native movers and shakers anxious to improve their English and their international understanding.

It took him several years — and he had to take on some senior partners to foot the bills — but in 1972 Kobayashi's determination paid off. JCTV (Japan Cable TV) began broadcasting nine hours a day, mostly U.S. sitcoms, to six Tokyo hotels.

In 1979, JCTV started "Business Nippon," a syndicated program that's also seen on about 50 U.S. stations. Later, CNN and local news were added to the mix.

Today, JCTV is a 24-hour service, available in 35 Tokyo hotels, 235 apartment buildings and 100 or so government agencies, embassies and business offices.

JCTV now shows a nightly movie and series such as "Cagney and Lacey" and "Knots Landing." There are quite a few sports events, too, shown on tape a day late, with most commercials and timeouts deleted. A ball game flies by in about an hour, which is fine by me. Leave it to the Japanese to improve on American sports.

The next step, Kobayashi hopes, will be direct satellite broadcasting, something already offered by NHK, the huge Japanese public TV network. NHK has two over-the-air channels and two satellite channels that can be picked up on dish antennas no bigger than a pizza.

NHK provides some competition for JCTV. One of its evening newscasts is broadcast with a simultaneous English translation, and one of the NHK satellite channels, devoted to international programming, offers such things as ABC's "World News Tonight" in English, with Japanese translations bunched into the commercial breaks. When I visited the NHK headquarters, my charming guide was eager to know if I had ever met Peter Jennings. Regrettably, I had to tell her that I had not.

While the huge NHK (6,000 employees) is supported by a $10 monthly tax on TV sets, JCTV (50 employees) is dependent on advertising and subscriber fees. Recently, times have been tough, as the drop in the value of the dollar caused export-oriented businesses to cut back on advertising.

But Kobayashi is undaunted. In addition to his satellite plans, he notes that a sister station to JCTV is now serving four cities in the south. Meanwhile, JCTV is planning to expand into Yokohama, Japan's second-largest city.

I asked him how the heck CNN gets all the way to Japan. Simple, he said. The signal is carried by domestic U.S. satellite from Atlanta to Southern Pasadena Cablevision in California, then by microwave to JCTV facilities in Los Angeles's Century City.

From there, it travels by cable to Santa Paula, Calif., where it goes to an international satellite. The signal is picked up in Ibaraki Prefecture in Japan and is sent by microwave to Tokyo. Then, by gosh, up pops Bella Shaw here in my hotel, looking none the worse for wear. She doesn't know it, but she has Takashi Kobayashi to thank for that.

Kristy McNichol plays an illiterate teenager who becomes an award-winning physician as an adult in the rebroadcast of CBS's "Love, Mary." It airs Sunday, Jan. 31.

Really, How Tall Is Patrick Duffy?

Dear Dick: My wife thinks Patrick Duffy (Bobby of "Dallas") is well over 6 feet. I think he is much shorter. Which of us is right? — M.J.M., Stuart, Fla.

Dear M.J.M.: Your wife is a better judge of height than you are. Duffy is a reasonably elevated 6-foot-2.

Dear Dick: I'm trying to recall a television documentary starring Peter Coyote which aired recently: A schoolteacher heavily insures his fellow-teacher girlfriend in Pennsylvania, and is indicted for murder when her body is found in the trunk of her car. Her two children have never been found. The principal was indicted as his accomplice. What was the name of that program, when was it aired, what network? I missed it. — R.B.T., South Williamsport, Pa.

Dear R.B.T.: That was "Echoes In the Darkness," not really a documentary but a drama, based on Joseph Wambaugh's searing account of a true case. It was aired on CBS over two nights, Nov. 1 and 2.

Dear Dick: I have a dinner bet that Susan Lucci (Erica Kane on "All My Children") and Robin Strasser (Dorian Lord on "One Life to Live") are sisters. Is that true? — Unsigned, Wharton, Texas.

Dear Unsigned: No. For some reason — probably because there is a strong resemblance — that rumor has been abroad in the land for some years. But it isn't true. They are totally unrelated.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dear Dick: Douglas Barr, of "The Fall Guy," is about the same age and build as a youngster I knew in Cleveland, Ohio, some 25 years ago. Could it be the same young man? His parents were Chuck and Alice Barr of the Barr Rubber Co. in Akron. Please help me with this dilemma. — P.S.M., Houston.

Dear P.S.M.: Help is at hand, but not with the answer you had hoped for. Doug Barr, the actor, is the son of Louis and Irma Barr and comes from Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Dear Dick: Some time ago, I watched a movie on a satellite TV station. It was "No Man Is An Island," based on a true story of an American sailor on Guam. What was the name of the book that was based on? Is it still in print? — R.C., Boise City, Okla.

Dear R.C.: That film was not taken from a book. It was an original story written by John Monks Jr. and Richard Goldstone.

Dear Dick: "Hunter," starring Fred Dryer and Stephanie Kramer, is my favorite show. I want a car like Dee Dee's red one. Do you know the make, model and year? — S.A.C., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dear S.A.C.: It is a 1987 Dodge Daytona Turbo Z. Enjoy.

Dear Dick: Could you tell me if the new girl on "Cheers," Kirstie Alley, was in a PBS production of "The Scarlet Letter" a few years back. — Mrs. J.S., Hollywood, Fla.

Dear Mrs. J.S.: No, she wasn't. But I can understand why you thought she might be. The girl who did that role was Meg Foster. Meg and Kirstie look a lot alike, particularly their light blue eyes.

Dear Dick: On "Dallas," Jenna Wade, played by Priscilla Presley, has a baby. Is that child possibly Priscilla Presley's real life son? — Mrs. M.B.C., Westerly, R.I.

Dear Mrs. M.B.C.: No, it's not.

Dear Dick: I missed the Hallmark TV production of "The Secret Garden" with Gennie James. Will it ever be on again? Do Hallmark productions get repeated or video-taped? — S.K., Warsaw, Ind.

Dear S.K.: Unfortunately, although the Hallmark Hall of Fame offerings are among TV's finest, they are not put on cassette. The company is thinking of changing that policy, but that's the way it stands at the moment.

Beer Vs. Acting

By Vernon Scott

UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Kathy Ireland, a 24-year-old beach beauty, the product of Malibu and Santa Barbara, is balancing two careers, acting and brewing beer.

A successful modeling career is clearly not enough for this raging beauty who stars in a new movie and who brews beer in the kitchen of her apartment.

Ireland makes her starring debut in an exploitation film titled "Alien From L.A." in which she plays a girl lured to the center of the earth where she encounters a bunch of weirdo trolls who try to convert her to their own kind.

If it doesn't sound as promising as, say, "Gone With The Wind," it is at least a major break for Ireland, who plays a roller-skating waitress.

When director Albert Pyun saw a photograph of Ireland he called her into his office and hired her on the spot, not bothering with a screen test.

"Nobody was more surprised than I was," said Ireland, whose acting experience was limited to high school plays and a couple of TV guest spots on "Charles in Charge" and "Down to Earth."

"I was also frightened because I had so little experience. But Albert worked with me and I began taking acting lessons."

If the scenario sounds somewhat improbable, the conditions become a great deal more clear when one sees Ireland in person. Like most models, she is tall, slender and stunningly gorgeous. She is often told she looks like Brooke Shields.

"I never thought I'd make a living acting," she said. "I was lucky Albert saw the photograph. Now I'd like to switch from modeling to acting. But I also want to go into business in case my show business career doesn't work out."

Ireland wants to become a professional brewer with her own label and bottling factory. She learned how to make beer from a book and bought several starter kits to embark on a variety of experiments to brew a unique drink.

"It's really more like ale," Ireland said. "I make the batches in my kitchen and all my friends love the results. They drink it as fast as I can brew it, which isn't a fast process."

"What amazes me is how profitable brewing can be. Until this picture came along I was going to open a brew pub in Santa Barbara and make beer right on the premises. I'm still researching the possibility."

"It's a risky proposition and I'm looking for partners to work with, so that one of the owners can be on the scene at all times.

"So far I've made my beer on a small scale of five gallons per batch. I've been researching and experimenting with beer for two years."

"I've been working with a brewmaster at the University of California at Davis, Michael Lewis, who has been very encouraging."

"He's helped me establish a formula to make my beer consistently good. I'm certainly not a brewmaster myself. Not yet, but I intend to be."

Ireland said she likes beer but is not a big drinker.

"Beer is best when it is fresh, so I only brew 48 bottles at a time, which I bottle on my patio. I've heard about home brew blowing up, but that's never happened to me."

Asked why she is planning a career in the beer business, Ireland gave a practical answer.

"Acting and modeling are not reliable," she said. "Sooner or later all models have to move on to something else. And most actresses retire pretty early. I became an actress by a lucky break, and I don't know how many more parts I will get.

"Brewing is something I can count on. All it takes is water, barley, hops, yeast and corn syrup. It takes me six weeks to brew up a batch. I know more about beer than I do about business, which is an area I would like to turn over to whoever my partners will be. I've got a lot to learn about licensing, locations, taxes and such things."

"I've been paying money aside from modeling and acting to finance the business for quite a while now. I hope to make more pictures to help out."

Ireland was offered the lead feminine role in "Masters of the Universe," but fell in a ski accident a month ago and wound up on crutches.

"I ruined the tendons in my knee and lost the part," she said, tapping the plaster cast on her right leg.

"Things like this can happen to a brewmaster and the work goes on," Ireland said with a smile.

"In show business, you never know."

ONE LIFE TO LIVE

Melinda acted "crazy" and as part of her plan to get the goods on Dr. Kellogg, Cassie had Melinda committed to Mountainview Sanitarium. At the sanitarium, Dr. Kellogg drugged Melinda's food, but another patient ate the food and then collapsed. With Max's help, the police arrested Koko. Tina freaked out that there's no trace of Milagro and Lita. Lee told Donald to stay out of her life after reminding him that he let her take the blame when a drunken Donald caused a car crash that killed his wife. Stacy passed as a security guard at the sanitarium in order to keep tabs on Melinda. Gabriel admitted to Sarah that living on a ranch isn't her thing even though Steve is happy there. Tina, Cord and Max just missed seeing Lita and Milagro, who boarded a plane for South America. Griffin planted a forged diary in Melinda's pad. Tom and Lee are getting closer. Rob wondered what Cassie was in. Jonathan.

SANTA BARBARA

C.C. and Pamela remembered how Hal fell and hit his head on a boat anchor while he and C.C. had been fighting over Pamela. Later, C.C. and Pamela had weighted Hal's body and dumped it in a lake. A rifle shot rang out as Harry tried to convince Cruz that he's a good guy who was sent to find a double agent assassin who uses the code name, "The Fox." Alex left town after saying goodbye to Pamela. Cruz rescued Carmen, who had been taken captive by Harry. Andrea loaded a rifle after warning Harry that she would have to stop him if he tried to meet with Cruz. Sophia was grateful to T.J., who helped her get the blackmail money. Thompson demanded. Andrea made love with Cain, but later she photographed his security plans for the Capwell Hotel. Cruz rescued a bumbling Eden, who was captured by Harry the minute she arrived at his hotel room. Scott and Gina patched things up, but he warned he won't tolerate any more lies from her.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Ray and Jill weren't exactly relieved to learn that Nina's pregnancy wasn't terminated as a result of her fall on a patch of ice. Danny didn't throw out the welcome mat for Rex, who said he wants to make up for the hurt he's caused. Danny Cricket hired Paul and Amy to check out Jessica's claim that a man named Richard Nelson fathered Cricket, but was later killed in Vietnam. Jessica treated to Cricket that she became a high class prostitute because she had to support Cricket. After returning from Hawaii, Leanna turned to learn that Ashley is healthy and happy. Marc assured Jack that eventually he'll romance Nikki into willing Marc her. Myron America took Ashley admitted to Steven that she met with Victor, but made it clear to him that he's a part of her past and that Steven is her future. Jack is curious that Leanna keeps popping in and out of his life.
