Boyd Coleman, president of the Downtown Business Association, compares jelly beans with Rose Jacobson, owner of RaJay's and a DBA board member, in preparation for the DBA Easter promotion in downtown Sanford. Merchants will place jars of jelly beans in their store windows beginning Monday. The customer coming closest to guessing the correct number of jelly beans in each store will receive a $10 gift certificate from that store.

See You Later, Alligator

Question 1: What is an alligator doing strolling down the sidewalk in Longwood?

Question 2: How do you tactfully convince said alligator that he might be happier living out his days in another location?

Question 3: Where is Marlin Perkins when you need him?

There wasn't time for answers Tuesday afternoon when a Longwood police officer was told an alligator was waddling along State Road 435 east of Grant Street.

So, patrolman Domenico Leonard went to see for himself, and sure enough, there was a 5-foot of pure, unadulterated, chompy-toes alligator basking in the sun. What to do? Normally, the folks from the state Game and Freshwater Fish Commission are called in to remove such toothy loiterers. This usually involves a lot of tense maneuvering, while trying to lasso the critter and haul him away.

But Leonard, deciding posthaste that there are better ways of getting a macho maniac, opted for a much simpler approach. He used his patrol car to herd the gator back into a nearby pond, blowing his horn to keep the reptile moving.

Not knowing about such things, having moved to Longwood only a month ago from Massachusetts, Leonard said he was told the alligator probably came out of the water looking for a partner. "It's mating season, you know."

"They're never going to believe this back home," he laughed. — BRITT SMITH

He's Up And About

Reagan: On The Job In A Week?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan got out of his hospital bed for a walk today and aides said he might return to the White House by next week. Police probed evidence the young drifter charged with shooting him was seeking the love of a teenage movie star.

White House Chief of Staff James Baker described Reagan as "cheerful," said he was up and about in his hospital room and still wants to go to Mexico in late April to meet with President Lopez Portillo.

A mid-morning medical bulletin issued by Reagan's personal physician at the White House said the president "continues to improve as well as can be expected." Dr. Daniel Ruge added that his diet has been changed from liquid to solid food.

Presidential press secretary James Brady, critically wounded when he was shot in the head in the assassination attempt, was reported by the White House to be making "astounding" progress and was even said to have played "catch" with his wife Sarah from his hospital bed.

Brady also was able to speak for the first time, but there was still no indication whether he suffered any mental impairment from the bullet removed from his brain after a five-hour operation.

Mental tests were planned today for John W. Hinckley Jr., 25, the man police tackled after he allegedly fired six shots at Reagan, also wounded. Brady, a Secret Service officer and a Washington policeman outside a downtown hotel Monday.

Hinckley's father, a wealthy Colorado oilman hired Washington's best known criminal law firm — Williams and Connolly — to defend the suspect. Law enforcement officials, meanwhile, said there was evidence Hinckley wanted to impress Jody Foster who played the role of a pre-teen prostitute in the movie "Taxi Driver."

"I will prove my love for you through a historic act," the Washington Post said Hinckley wrote the actress in a letter recovered from the hotel room he was staying in the capital.

As the president's condition improved steadily, presidential counselor Edwin Meese reported it "was business as usual" at the White House and at the hospital where some of the Oval Office functions were transferred so Reagan could resume his functions as chief executive.

Vice President George Bush took over the president's schedule at the White House, but the president would be making the major decisions from his hospital bed, aides said.

"He's got a few more papers that he does have to sign and will give him a national security briefing during the course of the day," Baker said on CBS.

The White House has not released any pictures of Reagan in the hospital, but Baker said Reagan "will shortly be able to communicate through the medium of television."

"We would sure be hopeful that sometime next week he could be back in the White House," Baker said. Reagan and his wife Nancy stayed in until 11 p.m. EST Tuesday to watch part of the Academy Awards show, which included a message the president taped two weeks ago, aides reported.

"The president is in good condition but is experiencing some pain and fatigue in response to his injury," Ruge said in the medical bulletin. "The president slept well during the night and is up and walking this morning."

Baker added that Reagan "experienced some discomfort overnight" due to soreness from the operation.

Baker said the president was "extremely pleased this morning" to hear about the Senate's vote Tuesday against a move that would have restored about $1 billion in budget cuts he had recommended.

Baker also said he believes there is "serious concern now with respect to the extent to which he (Reagan) ought to be exposed to large crowds."

In a television interview, Reagan's son Michael, who visited his father Tuesday, said on his return to Los Angeles that the president told him he would still like to throw out the first ball at the opening game of the 1981 baseball season in Cincinnati next Wednesday.

Michael Reagan said his father also was "upset" because he was wearing a raw line justrapped suit for the first time when he was shot and "now it has a hole in it."

Reagan was moved Tuesday night to a more spacious hospital suite. Doctors say his convalescence will take perhaps two to three months before complete recovery.

With a shaky signature Tuesday, Reagan approved a bill to cancel today's scheduled increase in the milk price support — the first test of his budget cuts.

Housing Director: Sanford Off Hook

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford should not have to pay any money to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development as a result of its sponsoring a housing rehabilitation and resale program through the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA).

That is the opinion today of Lewis Cox, interim SHA director, who sent all documents outlining the project to HUD officials in Jacksonville requested by that agency.

Everett Rothschild, HUD area manager in the Jacksonville office, asked for a breakdown of expenditures in the program after Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles notified the federal agency on Feb. 27 that the city was withdrawing its sponsorship of the program.

Knowles wrote the agency that information reported by SHA showed the housing project to that point had expenditures of $534,236.07 while only seven houses had been rehabilitated. Knowles, in his letter, noted costs per house appeared to be $76,000.

The documentation gathered by Cox showed the costs per dwelling were somewhat less, but nevertheless high. Cox said today a total of eight houses were acquired and completely rehabilitated. Total construction cost for rehabilitating those eight houses was $100,576. Cost of acquiring the eight properties was $53,000.

Two of the houses have been sold, five others are under contract for sale and one has no contract to buy.

Of the two houses sold one netted $18,000 and the other sold for $16,500.

The five houses under contract currently, Cox said, range in price from $13,000 to $18,000. The costs of selling the six houses would run about $3,500 and would take three to four months, he said.

The sale of all six remaining houses which have been rehabilitated would bring in income of approximately $91,000, Cox said.

And Cox estimates $10,000 to $20,000 worth of materials — mostly two-by-fours and plywood — is on hand.

If HUD decides to continue the program through the sale of these houses, the costs would be as follows: $100,567 for construction; $53,000 for acquisition; $3,500 to complete administration for a total of $157,067.

If all the houses are sold income totaling $125,500 would be realized plus the $10,000 to $20,000 in materials for a cost after income for the eight houses of $32,576, or $38,947 each.

Another aspect of the program is that four other houses and two additional lots were acquired for $22,175. Rehabilitation would cost about $150,000 in additional funding, Cox said. And it would take nine months to complete that project.

Potential income for sales for the four houses would be $65,000. Costs would be $65,000 plus a total of $197,175 more than income, or $26,794 per house.

Cox said HUD also has to determine whether it will fund the approximately $10,000 it will cost to pay unemployment compensation benefits to the 20 housing authority employees who were laid off when the rehabilitation project was discontinued.

Much of the above information is not included in the reports sent to HUD. The federal agency did not ask for the cost of the program. It was interested in costs for actual labor, Cox said.

Cox said the labor costs do appear to be high. He said he can only surmise that there was not enough work to keep the employees busy.

"What probably happened is that the authority got so far behind in the first year of the program that it attempted to catch up during the second year and there probably wasn't enough work for the crew to always be busy," Cox said.

What actually happened, Cox said, he doesn't know, pointing out that none of the employees involved in the rehabilitation project are employed by the Authority at this time.

Cox said the labor and materials costs do appear to be high. He said he can only surmise that there was not enough work to keep the employees busy.

If HUD continues the project through the sale of the six houses already rehabilitated and through the rehabilitation of the four properties on hand, the Authority is considering hiring only one four-man crew, Cox said.

When the city was asked for the construction cost figures, it was also asked for a breakdown of costs on each house was begun it wasn't set up that way and actual costs per house are not available.

HUD also asked for the total of funds on hand for the project. Cox again noted that the program was set up on a reimbursement plan. The Housing Authority was reimbursed for funds as those funds were spent.

So, there are no funds from the project on hand.

Each reimbursement was approved by the federal agency, he said.

1,526 Seminole Students 'In Trouble'

Family Said Key To Ending Drug Abuse

By CINDY MOOY
Herald Staff Writer

"You can walk into any high school in Seminole County, and there are five of them, and you'll find over 300 students there in trouble," said Charles Fritch, referring to students using marijuana. "That's more than the total enrollment of the high school I attended."

Fritch, director of The Grove Counseling Center in Longwood, spoke before parents and others at a meeting sponsored by the Knights of Columbus Tuesday night in Sanford.

Fritch said he based that number on student's replies to a recently released survey on drug use by Seminole County students. In the survey, 787 high school students said they used marijuana daily and 739 used it weekly.

"That means in our high schools, we've got 1,526 people in trouble," said Fritch. Fritch said marijuana was the number one drug problem in the schools other than alcohol, but abusers usually use both.

"The exciting thing for me about the survey is that the students give us the answer," Fritch said. "The answer is the family. If you want to do something about the drugs and the other problems in our society, there is only one answer — the restructuring and reinforcing of the family."

In the drug survey, students said that the family and health risks were the main factors for not using drugs.

Fritch said he was encouraged by one question from the audience: "What can a grandparent do?" He said he thought the disintegration of the family by increased mobility, separating children, parents and grandparents, is a cause of the drug problem.

"Look for a change in personality," as a sign of drug use, Fritch said. "Don't look for red eyes or smell." He also suggested watching for withdrawal from the family, a change of friends, drop in school grades, and moodiness or fighting to signal drug use.

Fritch said when he took the position of Grove director about a year ago the biggest change he made in the program was to involve the family.

The center is a private, non-profit organization which operates a drug rehabilitation, education and prevention program for Seminole County. The center has a capacity for about 20 day care patients and 50 outpatients.

Fritch said he tells his clients, "If we find drugs on you, we make two phone calls. The first one to the police and the second to your parents to pick you up at the police station."

The Grove program, Fritch said, requires total abstinence from drugs. He said he "contracts" with parents to care for the drug abusers at night, while Grove staff watches them by day.

Treatment at the Grove lasts a minimum of three months, Fritch said, and it takes 30 days to "dry out" a drug user. He said parents are told to call the police and inform on their children if they find them with drugs.

Fritch said he questioned some of his clients about at what age they began using drugs other than alcohol and found the average to be 10. He said he found also that half of his clients at the Grove had experimented with the drug, PCP, or "Angel Dust."

Recent research results indicating marijuana may cause brain damage should be a "red flag" indicating something should be done about its use, he said. Recent research has also indicated that marijuana use may have damaging effects on the brain and reproductive organs because a chemical in pot, THC, is fat soluble and goes to both areas of the body. Research also shows that it takes a month before all THC from marijuana, taken in any quantity, is eliminated by the body, he told the parents.

Snakes, Buzzers And Whoopee —

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

When you get a rubber fried egg for breakfast this morning or opened a can of peanuts only to have a four-foot long snake leap out at you, it might have been somehow comforting to know that even great poets are bedeviled by such rank silliness. T.S. Eliot once wrote of April — "The cruelest month."

And what better opening for the cruelest month than April Fool's Day, with pranks, stunts and pranks so old they creak at the punch lines?

Today is the day when the Central Florida Zoo will probably be swamped with numerous calls for a Mr. Fox, a Mr. Bear, Mrs. Lyons and maybe one or two for Ms. Byrd.

There may even be a news broadcast reporting on the spaghetti harvest. According to custom, the blossoming pasta trees come to full bloom today when the strands are at the peak of perfection.

While local bartenders are tame by comparison, there was an incident a few years ago in Palm Beach County where the Chief Deputy Court Clerk opened her office door to find the room filled half-way to the ceiling with balloons. The perpetrators, it was later discovered, were members of the State Attorney's staff.

April Fool's Day, or All Fool's Day to the more formal, dates back to the mid-16th century when King Charles IX of France decided to reform the calendar, the prerogative of royalty in those days.

In 1564, Charles decreed that New Year's Day would be celebrated on January 1, instead of the then-traditional April 1.

Those who did not go along with Charles' playing fast and loose with time were derided as "poisson d'avril," meaning April fish, and were likely to be the recipient of gifts befitting fools and fish. The custom eventually evolved into rewarding children clever enough to fool their parents with chocolate fish.

Across the Channel in Scotland, the tricked were not given foolish "fish" gifts, but were rather sent hunting the gowk, a pestime not unlike the American snipe hunt.

Over the years, according to William S. Walsh in his "Curiosities of Popular Customs," the day became an occasion "to play more or less amiably asinine tricks upon one's neighbor."

Genevieve Cluck, general manager of a local novelty store, said business has picked up slightly in the last couple of days in preparation for April Fool's Day, but there has been no real surge. "People seem to be losing their sense of humor."

Chuck said the latest moving items are geared for adults and cocktail parties. Piles-in-the-ice-cubes, talking bathroom fixtures, and plastic beer spills are big sellers, she reported.

"And of course, there are the old stand-bys like the whoopee cushions.

APRIL FOOL
The Jokes On You

joy buzzers, plastic vomit and the snakes in the peanut cans," she said.

"The kids have been buying squeezing powder and disappearing ink. They also like the exploding cigars and cigarettes for their parents," she said. "In addition to the fun, there's a message there."

Chuck said children tend to spend in the $1-$2 price range. "They get plastic snakes, cockroaches, fake blood, all the nasty little things."

One area magic shop owner said a new wrinkle has shown up in the gag market this year — teachers buying trucks to play on their students.

"We've never had that before," he said. "The teachers with the younger kids get handkerchiefs that change color or disappearing coins. The teachers with the older pupils get more showy, something that will really mystify the kids."

So, choose your gag and enjoy. Anybody want a can of peanuts?

WORLD IN BRIEF

Walesa Is Criticized For 'Selling Out' Solidarity

GDANSK, Poland (UPI)—Solidarity's leadership ratified a deal with the Communist government canceling a general strike, but militants charged union leader Lech Walesa "sold out" and Pentagon analyst said Moscow was closer to intervention despite the compromise.

The official cancellation of Tuesday's strike came in one of the most fractious meetings of the union's 41-member national commission. The deal forged by Walesa was approved in a vote of 23-4, with six abstentions and nine not attending the session — possibly in a boycott.

Still ahead was a vote today to lift the national strike alert, which the 10-million-member union has been on since the end of Friday's warning strike to demand the ouster of officials responsible for a police beating of union members in Bydgoszcz on March 19.

The militants charged the government did not guarantee as part of the Monday compromise to dismiss officials who militants believe were behind the police attack; that the compromise did not push hard enough either for the recognition of a rural Solidarity union or for the release of political prisoners.

Jan Rulewski, the Bydgoszcz Solidarity leader who was hospitalized after the police beating, called the agreement "a disgrace" and charged that Walesa "sold out" giving away too much in "manipulations."

Khomeini Nixes Sympathy

LONDON (UPI)—Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini says there will be no forced outpouring of sympathy in Iran for wounded President Reagan like the chorus of condolences orchestrated by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi for the assassination of President Kennedy.

In the first public comment by the Iranian leadership on the wounding of Reagan, Khomeini referred Tuesday to the incident in a meeting with members of the Islamic Association of Students, said Iran's official Pars news agency.

Khomeini recalled that when Kennedy was assassinated in 1963, "the Iranian school students under the old regime (of the shah) were made to mourn the occasion, whereas now that another colleague of Kennedy has been wounded in the attempt, no such things happen," Pars said.

Citibank Bombed In Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI)—A powerful bomb planted by presumed leftist insurgents demolished a U. S.-owned Citibank office in San Salvador and rebel and government forces battled in the countryside.

Officials said the bodies of at least 32 victims of political violence were found scattered around the Central American country Tuesday. Three people passing by in a car were slightly injured by the bank bombing in the capital.

The bomb blasted out windows 200 feet away and demolished the Citibank offices on the first floor of an 11-story tower in the plush Miramonte district of northern San Salvador, witnesses said.

Israelis Blow Up Houses

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—A 300-man Israeli commando unit crossed into south Lebanon today, blew up three houses and traded small-arms fire with a joint Lebanese army-U.N. peacekeeping patrol, government and United Nations officials said.

They said a Lebanese army sergeant in one of the destroyed houses was killed in the explosion and another soldier was wounded in an exchange of fire with the Israelis.

There was no immediate report of the incident in Tel Aviv.

Two villagers were wounded in the blasts and the Israelis kidnapped two other Lebanese villagers as they withdrew from the village of Tulin, 5 miles from the Israeli border.

Vesco Fights Deportation

NASSUA, Bahamas (UPI)—Robert Vesco has asked the Bahamas Supreme Court to throw out the deportation order that could send him back to the United States.

Vesco, the financier who has been in the Bahamas since 1978 in his flight from prosecution in the United States, has told the high court the order, given him Dec. 31, was not served in accordance with the island nation's immigration laws nor its constitution.

Though the deportation order gave him less than two weeks to leave the country, the Bahamas government has allowed him to remain until his appeals are resolved.

If Vesco is eventually deported, he is expected to seek sanctuary in either Panama, Libya or Venezuela. He has renounced his U. S. citizenship and claims Italian citizenship.

Vesco faces five indictments in the United States resulting from alleged securities frauds and efforts to obstruct a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation by secretly giving $200,000 in cash to Richard Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign.

Hinckley Planned Shooting To Win Teen Star's Affection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Law enforcement officials today pursued the theory that infatuation with a teen-age movie star may have driven John W. Hinckley Jr. to try to kill President Reagan in a twisted reenactment of a film plot.

Hinckley, charged with the attempted assassination of the president, was being held in the Quantico Marine Base brig today as legal maneuvering continued over psychiatric tests to determine his mental competence.

The 25-year-old Hinckley, described as a drifter, will have the capital's best-known criminal law firm, headed by famous defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, to represent him. In a statement, the firm of Williams and Connolly said a friend of the family had arranged for it to defend Hinckley and replace his court-appointed attorney.

Law enforcement sources said FBI officials believe Hinckley was so obsessed with actress Jodie Foster, 18, that he hoped to "impress her" by trying to kill Reagan, even fashioning it after a scene in her biggest movie.

"He did it for her," said one source closely familiar with the investigation. "She's the key."

FBI agents and police searching Hinckley's hotel room — just across the intersection from the Secret Service's downtown headquarters — found an unmailed letter to Miss Foster saying he planned to kill the president to win her affection, sources said.

The sources said the letter was dated and timed as "virtually his last act before stepping out the door" to go to the Washington Hilton Hotel, the scene of Monday's shooting.

"This guy had her (Miss Foster) on a pedestal," said another federal source. "He thought this would impress her so much she would fall in love with him."

Chief FBI spokesman Roger Young said: "By definition, we're dealing with an extremely troubled man."

Investigative sources said Hinckley, 25, due to undergo psychiatric tests today, pursued his crush on precocious Miss Foster by following her to Yale University when she enrolled last autumn and by sending her half a dozen letters. One or more of the letters allegedly contained threats to kill Reagan.

Although Miss Foster issued a statement Tuesday saying had never met Hinckley, sources said he phoned her and that she received "a couple" of his letters.

The plans described in the last letter written Monday "made it precisely clear what was going to happen and why," one source said, adding it appeared Hinckley thought an assassination would "demonstrate his manliness, or his status."

"I will prove my love for you ... through a historic act," The Washington Post said Hinckley wrote.

The assassination attempt resembled a scene in Miss Foster's best-known movie, "Taxi Driver," in which she played a prostitute. In the movie, actor Robert De Niro told a woman that if she rejected him, he would carry out an assassination.

Hinckley "probably saw the movie any number of times" because of the way he idolized Miss Foster, said one source. Others said some FBI officials are convinced "he had the movie in mind."

Miss Foster said in a statement that the FBI asked her not to discuss the case.

Did Secret Service Fail?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner cradled his forehead in his hand and rubbed his eyes. He'd had less than two hours' sleep in the last 30. He had gone through interview after interview, but still the questions persisted:

—Had the Secret Service failed in letting a would-be assassin within 10 feet of President Reagan as he emerged from a Washington hotel Monday?

—Why didn't the agency have any previous knowledge of John Hinckley Jr., arrested last October in Nashville traveling with three handguns?

—Is there any foolproof system for protecting the president?

The answers are not expected for several weeks — and the results will not necessarily be made public.

The Secret Service is investigating whether all possible steps were taken to safeguard Reagan just before and after the president and three others, including agent Timothy McCarthy, were wounded Monday. Warner said preliminary indications are the agents made no mistakes.

The agents, some brandishing 9mm Uzi submachine guns, immediately jumped the gunman, Jerry S. Parr, chief of the White House Secret Service detail, shoved the wounded president into his limousine.

The investigation will consider allegations by some members of the media that bystanders — including Hinckley — were allowed into an area that was supposed to be secured for reporters and cameramen, and allegations Hinckley was "acting strange" as he stood among the reporters, Warner said.

"None of this has been verified, but we've got to find out whether it's fiction or fact," said Warner.

"We're reviewing each person's function" in interviews of agents, other law enforcement officers and eyewitnesses, he said. "It is imperative we interview them as soon as possible," he added, before memories lapse.

Meantime, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., told the Las Vegas Sun a Senate Appropriations subcommittee will begin an inquiry Thursday to determine whether there were flaws in the procedures used to protect the president.

"I think the Secret Service acquitted themselves beautifully in terms of their responsibilities," Laxalt told the newspaper. "All we find so far is very commendable conduct."

Monday's shootings did not force any changes in normal operations of the president's bodyguards. Warner said there have been no personnel or assignment changes, and no federal officials were assigned additional protection.

Attorney Gets Taste Of Street Crime

By BRITT SMITH

As director of the Central Florida Legal Services office in Sanford, Treasa Kay is adept at dealing with the poor's civil legal problems such as tenant-landlord disputes or domestic hassles. But she found out what crime in the streets is like Tuesday when she was robbed at gunpoint.

According to a city police report, the 32-year-old attorney was at the corner of Park Avenue and Third Street near her office about 8:40 p.m. when she was approached by two young men.

One of the youths pulled a pistol and demanded her purse. Ms. Kay handed it over and the crooks fled, the report said. The purse contained several credit cards and personal papers.

The patients were "driven to desperation" by the drugs, which have painful side effects, according to the account.

Fat Increases In Spending To Fight Crime Proposed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Crime issues will get a lot of attention during the 1981 Legislature, but Floridians expecting wholesale reform of the criminal justice system will be disappointed.

Gov. Bob Graham has proposed fat increases in state spending in many areas of criminal justice and lawmakers have given him a receptive ear.

But legislative leaders also have cautioned their colleagues to withhold radical approaches to Florida's growing crime problem, saying that individual bills may sound good to voters back home, but they could lead to chaos without a coordinated attack on the problem.

"We have enough laws on the books," House Speaker Ralph Haben said. "What we need is funding."

This parallels Graham's view that major changes in the system are not needed as much as an infusion of cash to better train police, hire more prosecutors and public defenders and expand prisons and jails.

House Criminal Justice Chairman Larry Smith, D-Hollywood, instructed his panel to avoid tampering with the current penalties for various crimes pending the completion of court-developed sentencing guidelines.

Those guidelines have been implemented experimentally in three circuit court districts and officials are waiting to study their results.

The one area that is not immune to possible radical legislative reform is juvenile justice.

Haben appointed a select committee to study that one issue and its members have heard nightmarish tales from prosecutors and others on how teen-age criminals avoid incarceration or other punishment on a large scale.

The committee is considering legislation that would give police, prosecutors and the courts more latitude in the handling of youthful offenders.

Another measure that could have a direct impact on crime statistics is one cracking down on gold and silver buyers, particularly fly-by-night outfits operating out of motel rooms.

Police agencies testified that rising gold and silver prices and the ease with which one can peddle precious metals are in large part responsible for a statewide increase in burglaries.

The proposed legislation would require gold and silver buyers to keep detailed records and make them regularly available to sheriffs. It also would ban sales from persons under 18 and prohibit melting down of gold and silver items for 30 days.

A companion bill would apply similar restrictions on pawn brokers.

Crime victims and witnesses who are disabled by age or disease would be allowed to testify via videotaped television rather than in open court under another measure with widespread support. However, a similar bill failed last year when it was attacked as probably unconstitutional.

One of the first bills introduced this year is designed to repair last session's law banning the sale and possession of drug paraphernalia. The new measure is intended to overcome a judge's ruling that a section of the law was unconstitutional because it did not require "intent" to use the objects with illicit drugs.

Legislation also is being developed to toughen drunk driving laws and establish parallel statutes to cover motorists driving under the influence of marijuana and illegal drugs.

Graham's $208 million crime package for the next two fiscal years provides for special state help in recruiting and training local police officers, 763 new positions for state attorneys, 241 new positions for public defenders, $4 million for new judges and court personnel, and 344 new members of the Florida Highway Patrol.

Coal Miners Vote Down Contract By 2-1 Margin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Worried that non-union coal operations might threaten their jobs, soft coal miners throughout Appalachia rebuffed their union's leadership and soundly rejected a tentative contract by a 2-1 margin. The vote Tuesday extends indefinitely a United Mine Workers strike that began last Friday when the old contract ran out and raises prospects of another long and costly walkout in the coal fields. No major effect on the U.S. economy and energy supply is expected for several months because utilities have a four-month coal stockpile and 56 percent of U.S. coal production is non-union. The union said when counting ended Tuesday night with more than 660 of the 757 locals tallied, 68,980 votes were against ratification to 32,299 in favor of the contract.

Body In River Not Child's

ATLANTA (UPI) — Authorities said today the decomposed body of a black male pulled from the Chattahoochee River late Tuesday was a young man, probably with no connection to the city's string of 23 slain and missing children. The partially nude body was found in the river several miles from where the body of Timothy Hill, the 21st victim, was discovered Monday. Clad only in a T-shirt, the body appeared to officials to be that of a black teen-ager at first, but an autopsy early today established the victim as over 20 years of age.

Gun Control Unlikely

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
As it was with the killings of John and Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr. and John Lennon, interest in handgun control has been rekindled by the shooting of President Reagan. Calls for tougher controls intensified Tuesday, but even many supporters doubted success, citing powerful foes including the National Rifle Association and the president himself.

Doctors Still Cautious

Brady Able To Speak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House press secretary James Brady, recovering from delicate surgery that removed a bullet from his brain, is able to speak and to breathe without a respirator, doctors said today. Dr. Daniel Ruge, the president's personal physician, said today that Brady now can move his left arm and leg, and "it is anticipated that he may be able to sit up in his hospital bed in a few days." Brady was the most critically injured in the attempt Monday on President Reagan's life, and initial reports had indicated doctors were uncertain he would survive. But today Brady "played catch" with his wife, Sarah, and demonstrated his ability to move in spite of his weakened condition, Ruge said. Brady was taken off a respirator today and "is breathing well," the doctor said. "Mr. James Brady's condition continues to improve as he remains in critical condition," Ruge said. "Physicians continue to be cautiously optimistic as Mr. Brady's neurological condition continues to improve," he said. Brady is "still seriously ill, but we're very hopeful," presidential counselor Edwin Meese said earlier today in an NBC interview. "He's making astounding progress."

White House chief of staff James Baker said Brady's condition "miraculously continues to improve." Baker told CBS news Brady was asked by his doctors over night to move his left foot "and he moved his left foot. If anything was going to be damaged, it was going to be his left side." "And so everybody is very, very encouraged by the progress that Jim is making after an originally very, very dire prognosis," Baker said. Doctors said Tuesday they are optimistic Brady will survive the bullet that passed through his brain and are encouraged by the progress that Jim is making and can move the right side of his body. A medical bulletin said Brady, 40, can understand and respond to commands to move his right side. A source close to his family said doctors expect him to be able to speak when tubes helping him breathe are removed from his throat. "Oh damn, oh damn," Reagan said Tuesday upon learning Brady had been hit by gunfire directed at the presidential party outside a Washington hotel. Baker said tears came to the president's eyes. The George Washington University Medical Center said late Tuesday doctors were encouraged by Brady's progress but were watching him "closely for possible complications for which he is at significant risk."

Dr. Daniel Ruge, Reagan's personal physician, reported doctors are pleased Brady "has continued to be more responsive. Although he is seriously ill, they are optimistic." Reagan asked if the bullet had gone into Brady's brain and was told it had. "Oh dear," the president said, "What is the prognosis?" Baker said Ruge told the president, "There may be some weakness on the left side, and last night people didn't think he was going to make it at all." "Oh dear, we must pray," Baker quoted Reagan as saying. Dr. Dennis O'Leary, head of clinical surgery, said Brady's progress had been "extraordinary." The right hemisphere of Brady's brain — not the dominant side — suffered "fairly extensive damage" from the wound, and the left side, which controls speech and motion, has "some minimal amount of damage," O'Leary said. But O'Leary said it would be "very speculative" to predict the extent of Brady's recovery. "In patients like this, the spectrum of possible outcomes is very, very wide," he said. Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes, 40, was asked by presidential counselor Edwin Meese and Baker to assume Brady's duties for the present.

Tornadoes Kill 2 In Alabama; Thunderstorms Rip Deep South

HURTSBORO, Ala. (UPI) — Severe spring thunderstorms rumbled across the Deep South today, with tornadoes killing at least two people and injuring nearly a dozen in this small east Alabama community. Torrential rain, hail and lightning were reported from Mississippi to South Carolina. One twister touched down in Sumter County, Ga., former President Carter's home county, causing extensive damage to at least one farm but no injuries. The storm struck between Americus and Andersonville. Carter lives in Plains, west of Americus. Carter and his wife Rosalynn were to be in Austin, Texas today as the guests of Lady Bird Johnson where they were to visit the Lyndon B. Johnson Library at the University of Texas. Hardest hit was the small agricultural community of Hurtsboro, located about 30 miles west of Columbus, Ga., where a tornado that sounded like "a freight train" demolished the business district and then struck a residential area. Damage was estimated by the Alabama Highway Patrol at about $2 million. A spokesman for the Russell County sheriff's department said "two-thirds of Hurtsboro has been wiped out." The patrol confirmed two dead and at least nine injured. A tornado that struck Covington County, Miss., 40 miles northwest of Hattiesburg, injured two people in a mobile home. A funeral home in Phenix City, Ala., tentatively identified the dead as a Mrs. Willie B. McCrain, about 65, a white woman, and Ephraim Jelks, an elderly black man. An eyewitness to the Hurtsboro tornado, Bubba Torbert who lives just outside of town, said the twister struck shortly after 2 a.m. CST. "It was a terrific roar like a freight train," Torbert said. "There was a lot of hail and lightning. The trees in our yard were blown over but fortunately the house wasn't hurt." Maj. J.L. Fuqua, chief of the Alabama highway patrol, said downtown Hurtsboro "is devastated" and he put the damage estimate at $2 million. He said work crews "are trying to clear the roads. Heavy equipment is there and a lot more is on the way."

Abscam Trial Resumes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., vowed to use his influence with President Carter to obtain government contracts for a titanium mine in which he was to be a part-owner, an FBI agent says. FBI agent John McCarthy testified on Tuesday, the second day of the Abscam trial of Williams, the only senator indicted in the two-year undercover probe of political corruption. The trial continues today in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn. McCarthy said in 1979, at a lavish yacht party in Delray Beach, Fla., Williams urged him to finance a titanium mine in which the senator was to hold a secret 18-percent interest.

Haig-Weinberger Clash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Alexander Haig and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger clashed over a sensitive national security issue during the tense hours when President Reagan was incapacitated, administration sources say. "They clearly had a disagreement," one source said. "It was not over who was in control. It was not considered a shouting match or a big row." The sources said the issue in question concerned national security and was too sensitive to reveal.

FAA To Blame For Crash?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal Aviation Administration official says the agency was to blame for the deaths of 144 people in a 1978 mid-air collision over San Diego for failing to adopt an airborne warning device available at the time. James Pope, who said the FAA "banished" him to a post in Seattle because of his criticism, accused the agency of "fraud, waste and mismanagement" for rejecting an airborne warning system developed prior to the Sept. 25, 1978, collision between a Pacific Southwest Airlines 727 jetliner and a small private training plane.

Budget Cuts Still Survive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has turned back a challenge by moderate Republicans to President Reagan's budget cuts, in another show of support for the package and a political get-well gift for Reagan. Senate leaders hoped to wrap up the package tonight, having thwarted an effort to rescue from the budget ax $1 billion for education and other social programs. The package faced about a dozen more challenges.

In Shuttle Program

Launch Decision Key Step

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — In one of their most important actions in years, the leaders of the nation's space agency were expected to reach a decision today on a commitment to flight for the space shuttle Columbia. The Kennedy Space Center recommendation before the executive committee, headed by acting space agency administrator Alan Lovelace, was that April 10 be adopted as the official launch date for the revolutionary reusable spaceship. The program officials met all day Tuesday and recessed until 8 a.m. EST today. Spokesman Hugh Harris said the agency's management was making a thorough review of all aspects of flight preparations before signaling the go-ahead to Columbia pilots John Young and Robert Crippen. The decision is an important one. It represents a new stage in the nation's troubled nine-year, $9.6 billion effort to develop an efficient, cost-effective space transportation system. The agency was warned two years ago that the implications of a "ready-to-fly" decision were great. Unlike spacecraft and rockets of the past which made unmanned tests first, the shuttle's maiden space test will be with men at the controls. Special space agency consultant William A. Anders, a former Apollo astronaut and later head of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, told NASA in 1979 that the shuttle "bears the burden of being a significant part of the image of U.S. technical capability."

sites in California and New Mexico, the control center in Houston and the world-wide tracking network.

Columbia will be communicating with 18 ground stations as it circles the Earth every hour and a half. The network consists of more than 2 million miles of communications circuits.

Should launch be set April 10, Astronauts John Young, left, and Robert Crippen, will go into medical quarantine Thursday night.

While the agency leaders reviewed their state of readiness to fly the Columbia, technicians continued the hazardous hydrazine turbine fuel loading operation at the launch pad. The work had fallen almost a day behind schedule by late Tuesday due to leaky fittings. Hydrazine is a highly corrosive and poisonous substance.

The space agency said, however, that a day's leeway that had been inserted into this week's work schedule, "so the beginning of the countdown has not yet been affected." The countdown must start Sunday night to meet an April 10 blastoff.

Even with an formal launch date for the shuttle for the first time, officials emphasized that a wide variety of problems including bad weather could cause additional delays in the beginning of the 36-orbit, 54 1-2 hour test flight originally scheduled for 1978.

In addition to reviewing the status of the Columbia itself and launch site preparations, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration leaders examined the readiness of the landing

Appeasement Is 'Contemptible'

Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it." — George Santayana. The virtual collapse of Soviet-American "détente" has produced two distinct reactions in Western Europe. The first was a commitment, however reluctant, to strengthen NATO's patently inadequate defenses. The second, and more recent, has been a resurgence in pacifist sentiment and concomitant pressure on Western European governments to adopt policies that are tantamount to appeasement of the Soviet Union.

Signs of the later mood are everywhere apparent in Europe's industrial democracies.

Some months ago, 50,000 demonstrators marched through the streets of London protesting the Thatcher government's approval of the U.S. plan to deploy nuclear-armed cruise missiles in Britain. It was the largest ban-the-bomb rally in that country since the early 1950s.

Britain's opposition Labor Party emerged from its recent conference pledged to a policy of unilateral nuclear disarmament if and when it regains control of the government.

Left-wing pressure on the Dutch government is so strong that Holland has rescinded its tentative 1979 decision to accept American cruise and Pershing II missiles on its soil. Belgium too is wavering.

In West Germany, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt is kept busy fending off left-leaning members of his own party who would like Bonn to curtail defense spending and distance itself from the Reagan administration's tough stand against Soviet expansionism. And even Mr. Schmidt is anxious to avoid doing anything that might jeopardize German trade with the Soviet bloc, which now accounts for fully 25 percent of the Federal Republic's exports.

It cannot yet be said that Europe is paralyzed by timidity. Nonetheless, the groundswell for appeasement is eerily reminiscent of the shamelessly craven conduct of the Western democracies when faced with Adolf Hitler's bluster and bullying during the 1930s.

Europeans who have managed to forget should instead remember. France cowered behind the Maginot Line. Britain cut defense spending to the bone. Neville Chamberlain went to Munich to sacrifice Czechoslovakia. Belgium and Holland sought an illusory sanctuary in neutrality.

In the end, the appeasement of the 1930s yielded the most catastrophic war in history. A comparable disaster, or abject Finlandization, would be the inevitable result of a similar failure of nerve during the 1980s.

Heretofore, U.S. officials have been loathe to acknowledge publicly that Western Europe might be ripe for a rerun of 1930s style appeasement. Better, they reasoned, to put the best possible face on strains within NATO and thus pretend that all is well.

But pretensions are no substitute for leadership. And the fact that NATO's leaders might somehow fool themselves is certainly no basis for believing that the Russians might be fooled as well.

Richard Allen, President Reagan's national security affairs adviser, has now said what needed to be said about the dangers of Europe's undercurrent of support for the politics of appeasement. In a widely reported Washington speech recently, Mr. Allen labeled the better-red-than-dead mentality as "contemptible," and inimical to Europe's hopes for peace and security.

His remarks couldn't have been more correct, or more timely.

"How come Alexander Halg, Secretary of State in the Reagan administration, gets bigger headlines in the Herald than I do?" asks County Public Works Director Jack Schuder.

After all, as Schuder relates, they both graduated from the West Point in 1947.

A big difference, however, is that Schuder ranked 33rd in a graduating class of 310 while Halg was down in the 200s.

"Halg was a late bloomer," Schuder said. Schuder, the county's public works director since September, 1976, joined the U. S. Army as an enlisted man in 1942. He retired in 1976, after 34 years in the service. He was a colonel in the Army Corps of Engineers.

Seminole Community College and Seminole County officials got moving so fast this past week after deciding to seek help from the legislative delegation in gaining funding to correct access road problem at the school, they forgot that Lake Mary officials might be interested in three of the roads involved.

The roads are Lake Mary Boulevard, East Street, main entrance from 17-92 to the school, County Home Road, from U. S. 17-92 to the old part of the SCC campus, and Broadmoor, access from Lake Mary. All but County Home Road are within the city limits of Lake Mary.

Lake Mary Councilman Richard Fess, who happened to be in the audience for Friday's meeting of the Seminole Legislative delegation, made it clear Lake Mary is definitely interested in how the proposed changes will effect traffic flow on to city streets.

The proposal is to four-lane East Street and provide two additional deceleration lanes; to build a round around the college campus connecting to Broadmoor; to close County Home Road because it interferes with emergency vehicles from the county fire station; and to connect the college by a roadway to Lake Mary Boulevard.

The legislators were asked to assist the county and the college to get funding for a study of the situation and then additional money to fund the necessary road work.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, and State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, urged the college and county officials to get together with Lake Mary to work out the communications problem.

Hattaway said he would do everything he could to bring the matter to the attention of state authorities.

DICK WEST

Finesse, Short 'N' Simple

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What must have been some of the most subtle negotiations in modern times took place during the recent U.S. visit of Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ito.

According to published reports, President Reagan wanted to persuade Ito to cut back auto exports to America without actually asking Ito to cut back auto exports.

Although we won't know how well he succeeded until we count the number of Japanese cars that reach our shores in coming months, administration officials seem to feel the oblique approach hit home.

One cabinet member commented that the Japanese were "very astute" and thus able to figure out "what we were saying."

Not having a transcript of the Reagan-Ito talks, I cannot tell you exactly what was said. But from various second hand interpretations, I surmise that the meeting went something like this:

The president welcomed the foreign minister to the White House and asked what had brought him to America.

The foreign minister replied that he came here under the impression the president had something important to discuss with him.

The president said that as a matter of fact there was a little matter he wanted to take up. He asked if the foreign minister had noticed anything curious during his visit.

The foreign minister asked if the president were referring to the custom of staging the annual Cherry Blossom Festival either before or after the Japanese cherry trees were in bloom.

The president said no, he was alluding to the number of Japanese cars on the streets.

The foreign minister said he had indeed noticed this display of hospitality and wanted to thank the president and the American people for going to so much trouble to make him feel at home.

The president said he appreciated the foreign minister's sense of gratitude but felt the foreign minister should be informed that the large turnout of Japanese cars was an everyday occurrence and not a special muster in honor of the foreign minister's visit.

The foreign minister said that was truly remarkable and a tribute to Japanese-American friendship.

The president said he was highly in favor of Japanese-American friendship but was dreadfully worried about the U.S. auto industry. He wondered if the foreign minister saw any cause-and-effect relationship between woe-filled conditions in the U.S. auto industry and the number of Japanese cars on American streets.

The foreign minister said such a connection had not occurred to him. However, he said a ton of bricks didn't have to fall on him to get a point across. Any export cutback would severely damage the Japanese auto industry, he added.

The president asked about the possibility of selling Japanese cars in Japan.

The foreign minister said that was certainly a novel suggestion. He said he would study it further when he got back home.

OUR READERS WRITE

'Lead Is Not Dead'

I am chairman of the "Lead Is Not Dead" Committee and I hope that your curiosity will be piqued sufficiently to read further.

The "Lead Is Not Dead" Committee is incorporated under the laws of Texas as a non profit corporation with its stated purpose being "to inform the public of the advantages of using lead anti-knocks as a fuel additive and to influence action by EPA and Congress that will ensure a continued use of lead anti-knocks in order to help alleviate the Energy crisis and to reduce the cost of owning and operating an automobile."

Our committee was formed by a group of employees of the Beaumont, Texas Plant of PPG Industries, Inc. Since the primary product manufactured in our plant is tetraethyl lead, it is obvious that we have a vested interest in attempting to "ensure a continued use of lead anti-knocks." And since we do have a vested interest, we hesitated to embark on such an ambitious campaign as we are now involved in, for fear that the general public would regard our efforts as strictly a selfish, self effacing one that as a result of past brain washing they would interpret as having no regard for the best interests of the environment and the public.

But, as we examined the evidence that is available, we came to the conclusion that in reality, we would be shirking our duty to ourselves, our friends, and neighbors, our fellow countrymen and our country as a political entity if we failed to tell people about the monstrous hoax that has been perpetrated on the American public under the guise of "protecting the health and the environment of our country."

And certainly when examined in its entirety the lead phasedown has been just that: a hoax, promulgated as an effort to reduce automotive pollution and to protect little children from the ravages of lead poisoning. The only thing the lead phasedown has accomplished is to increase our dependence on imported OPEC oil by over 800,000 barrels per day; augment the shortage of gasoline in 1979 because of the inability of the refining industry to refine enough unleaded gasoline, increase the overall cost of gasoline by an amount that may run as much as $2.00-gallon, give us an inferior grade of fuel that contains and emits contaminants much more deadly than tetraethyl lead to burn in less efficient engines; and finally has given us emissions with much more potential damage to the public than particulate lead emissions could ever be.

I and the other members of the "Lead Is Not Dead" Committee, believe that the American public is fed up with the costs engendered by the lead phasedown, they are "fed up" with stinking emissions from unleaded fuel burning engines, and most of all, when they become aware of the manner in which this hoax has been perpetrated on them, they will be "fed up" with the perpetrators.

The news media of America have built a reputation of exposing hoaxes, exposing the role of the underdog and disclosing instances of governmental waste. The lead phasedown includes all three of these factors. It is a hoax. The underdog, American taxpayer is paying for it and our government has wasted billions of dollars instituting it and has caused unnecessary consumption of billions of dollars worth of crude petroleum, which the underdog taxpayer is paying for, both in taxes and as a direct consumer.

In the light of the above observations, I respectfully submit to you that the activities of the "Lead Is Not Dead" Committee are worthy of the attention of your readers and that they will be vitally interested in hearing about these activities and the disclosures of the overall cost of the lead phasedown.

The Hive Moves Into High Buzz

In a recent column, I introduced the beehive metaphor to illuminate cooperation on the Left. In that beehive, the socialist, leftist, liberal, and communist bees perform different tasks, but they never sting one another.

As the United States presses the issue of communist takeover in El Salvador, the hive is moving into high buzz. In fact, I'm beginning to feel as if I were living in that "bee-hood glade" of which Yeats writes in his poem "The Lake Isle of Innisfree."

For example, take the foreign affairs editor of the New Republic, Ronald Steel, who has written an excellent biography of Walter Lippmann. Steel is intelligent, but where El Salvador is concerned the requirement is a total suspension of analytic powers.

"The question raised in El Salvador today," writes Steel, "is, in essence, not very different than that raised in Poland. Can a relatively weak country within the sphere of influence of a great power be allowed to go through its own social revolution?"

In that formulation, the actual content of the two revolutions passes unnoticed. Lech Walesa and his Solidarity union are trying to wrest some democratic freedoms from the communist regime in Warsaw. The communist guerrillas in El Salvador, in contrast, are trying to impose a regime more totalitarian than the one in Cuba — and freely avow this goal. You would think that this distinction would mean a great deal to a writer on a liberal journal like the New Republic. But Steel, buzzing, away in support of the communist takeover, simply ignores it.

There has also been a great deal of buzzing in the media regarding the body count last year in El Salvador. All of the following sources have charged that the government and informal "death squads" have done most of the killing. Here is the hive's scorecard: Jack Newfield, of the Village Voice, on CBS radio: 10,000.

Mary McCrory, columnist: 9,000.

Christopher Dickey, Washington Post: "more than 10,000."

Raymond Bonner, New York Times: 13,194.

United Press International: 14,000, of which 11,000 were killed by death squads.

Anthony Lewis: at least 6,000, mostly killed by the government.

None of these hive communication bees paid any attention to the claim of the guerrillas themselves that they have killed nearly 6,000 issued on February 23 — but, of course, that kind of information is not suited to the goals of the Hive.

The Hive is active elsewhere as well. The State Department has also published some captured documents, including a report by Shafik Handal, head of the Salvadoran Communist Party, concerning a trip taken abroad by his brother Farid Hakaal, also a well-known communist. His job was to set up "popular solidarity groups with the Salvadoran revolution."

According to the report, comrade Hakaal did quite well. He picked up support from the Council of Churches, the Institute for Policy Studies, the PLO, the ILWU (the longshoremen's union), and from Rep. Ron Dellums, D-Calif. The meeting with Dellums was set up through the Washington, D.C., branch of the Communist.

Lefever Shows He's No Civil Rights Man

WASHINGTON—If President Reagan sticks by his nomination of Ernest Lefever as Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights, the confirmation hearing seems certain to ignite the first really explosive opposition on Capitol Hill.

In two past columns, I've dusted off Lefever's expressed views on human rights and laid them on the table. His own words are the best evidence that his is unfit for this position.

But apparently the president remains unpersuaded. So here is another serving of Lefever's philosophy, taken from November 1970 issue of Worldview magazine.

Lefever wrote a virulent attack on the late Martin Luther King Jr., suggesting he was playing into the hands of the communists and accusing him implicitly of treason. Though Lefever conceded that the slain civil rights leader "cannot be held responsible for the orgy of black terror that followed his death," he wrote that "it would be fair to assume" that King contributed to the violence he deplored.

Lefever based his denunciation of King largely on a speech the black martyr made at New York's Riverside Church on April 4, 1967 — one year to the day before he was assassinated.

The slaughter in Vietnam had reached a new high that week, and King delivered an impassioned plea to end the carnage. He called for stopping all bombing, declaring a unilateral truce, setting a date for U. S. troop withdrawal and recognizing that the Viet Cong deserved a role in the government of South Vietnam.

Most of these proposals were adopted six years later by Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger, who finally withdrew U. S. forces from Vietnam. But King used some scathing language to make his point, calling the United States the "greatest purveyor of violence in the world."

Emotions had cooled down when Lefever wrote his article three-and-a-half years later. Still, he commented: "This remarkable speech — its blunt, lopsided, unbalanced and unfair attack upon the United States; its more subtle praise for the communist and revolutionary force of 'liberation' and its frequent use of communist cliches and slogans (in contrast to King's customary Biblical allusions) could have been drafted in Moscow, Peking, Hanoi or Havana..."

King's speech, Lefever wrote, "was a disservice to the American people and a service to forces of revolutionary violence." At another point, Lefever coyly paraphrased the Constitution's definition of treason, saying: "Whatever his motives, King's Riverside speech gave aid and comfort to the enemies of peaceful change in Southeast Asia as well as to their allies in Moscow and Peking."

In typical Lefever style, he never came right out and accused Martin Luther King of being either a communist or a traitor; but the innuendo bubbled close to the surface.

In past conversations, Lefever insisted to my reporters that he is a staunch advocate of human rights. He has boasted that he was a civil rights marcher before Dr. King. Lefever also complained that it is unreasonable to hold someone to statements he made in the past.

I was unable to get his explanation of the statements I have quoted above. His secretary told my associate, Lucette Lagnado, that he would return her repeated calls "after his confirmation."

Lefever coupled his assault on King with a correspondingly enthusiastic expression of support for the white minority government of South Africa. At the University of Stellenbosch in the Cape province, Lefever delivered a paper in which he said South Africa should be "a close ally of the United States and... a de facto member of NATO."

Certainly Ernest Lefever isn't the right man to speak for the United States on the subject of human rights.

Footnote: For the president's own good, he should withdraw Lefever's nomination. Private polls show that he has failed to win the support of the black community. Of the 24 percent of Americans who don't like Reagan, the unpublished polls show half are black. He will only alienate them worse by putting a Martin Luther King critic in charge of human rights.

Americans Rediscover Value Of Older Homes

By ANN ANDERSON

Three new R's — restoration, rehabilitation and remodeling — are changing the character of American neighborhoods. From New York to San Francisco, from Evanston, Ill., to Savannah, Ga., and in virtually every community in between, older homes have been rediscovered.

The U.S. League of Savings Associations reports that homes 25 years or older accounted for nearly 31 percent of all big-city home purchases in 1979. That's up from 27 percent in 1977.

Meanwhile, homes 25 years or older made up nearly 26 percent of 1979 home sales in medium-size towns and 23 percent of home sales in small towns.

Why this groundswell of interest in older structures? It's a combination of economics, esthetics and heart.

Setting this trend are the young adults born during the post-World War II "baby boom." Theirs is traditionally the age group most involved in household formation. Yet, many have found new homes to be prohibitively expensive.

The costs of new construction, which requires intensive use of new materials and heavy machinery, have risen more quickly than labor costs.

Labor-intensive rehabilitation — which generally means taking a worthwhile older building and finding an economical and contemporary use for it — often becomes a smart alternative to buying a new house.

Moreover, older buildings were frequently better built with materials and craftsmanship that cannot be duplicated in today's market. Often, buildings from the late 19th and early 20th centuries have thicker walls, higher ceilings and better use of natural light and ventilation than do later structures.

They also have a special warmth, nostalgia and romance, though most are easily adapted to today's casual lifestyle.

A renovated house in the city also means less time and money spent commuting as well as accessible shops, theaters and other forms of entertainment.

The improvement of once-marginal neighborhoods has caused property values to soar — and lower-income residents to be displaced.

In one section of Brooklyn, N.Y., the price of a habitable house has risen from $7,000 in 1967 to $30,000 in 1969 to as much as $225,000 today depending upon the amount of restoration and the condition and location of the block.

In the early 1970s, houses in the Height and Montrose areas of Houston sold for as little as $5,000. Now they sell for up to $120,000 if fully rehabilitated.

The best homes in the North Side and Allegheny West sections of Pittsburgh cost $18,000 in 1970. Ten years later, mere shells sell for $15,000 and restored houses go for more than $90,000.

But renovation is seldom easy. It requires knowledge, good advice, a miraculous contractor and intestinal fortitude.

Says one New Yorker: "We bought our 1829 abused house in April 1977 and moved in December 1979. Why the hiatus?"

"Because New York City's Board of Estimates could grant us gas for heating, because there was no sewer connection, because it took a year to find a contractor fearless enough to contend with the city's complex statutes..."

This Victorian Italianate villa in Savannah, Ga., is one of the thousands of 19th and early 20th century homes that have been rediscovered and renovated by a new generation of home buyers. The groundswell of interest in older structures is a combination of economics, aesthetics and heart.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation advises the potential buyer to have an older home thoroughly examined by a professional inspector, architect or engineer before buying. The house should be seen in daylight, inside and out. Among the key areas to check are the roof, the utilities, the basement and the attic. Most older houses will require increased insulation, particularly in attics and around windows.

House Beautiful magazine recently surveyed restorations in a number of U.S. cities. Each house was different. Each owner had a unique reason for doing what he or she did.

For Corinne Burke, her 1976 stone house in Paltz, N.Y., was a labor of love. "I thought this house was wonderful long before I lived here," she says. "I used to drive by and admire it, but it was really in need of repair."

A history-minded bank president named Richard Creston knew that the run-down homes along Starr Street in New London, Conn., were built for sea captains and merchants in the 1830s — heyday of the city's whaling industry and of Greek Revival architecture.

And that was precisely the style that was found under the shabby asbestos siding once his bank bought a block of 19 homes and began restoring them.

In Savannah, Ga., Miriam Center found a Victorian Italianate villa built in 1861. The house had beautiful details, lots of space and was located in the center of town, allowing her to set up her growing real-estate business on the ground floor.

Much the same could be said of the thousands of renovation efforts taking place all across the country.

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Bacall Takes Curtain Calls In Bathrobe And Towel

By United Press International

Lauren Bacall took her curtain calls at the Broadway opening of her new musical, "Woman of the Year," wearing a light blue terry cloth bathrobe and drying her hair with a towel. Just before the final curtain fell, leading man Harry Guardino had dumped a pitcher of water over her head — all part of the show. She'll be doing the terry cloth bit every night as long as the show runs. For the opening night party Sunday, Betty, her real name, turned up at the Milford Plaza Hotel ballroom in a slinky black sequin-sprinkled Halston evening gown. Only the hair was still a bit damp.

Ratings Net Creative Control

Who calls the shots on television series is a matter of numbers — the higher the Nielsen ratings numbers, the more the actors get into the act. That's why Alan Alda of "M-A-S-H," Larry Hagman of "Dallas," Michael Landon of "Little House on the Prairie," Ed Asner of "Lou Grant" and Jack Klugman of "Quincy" are able to flex their creative muscle, according to Jeff Silverman in Panorama magazine. But actors who make too many demands can wind up on an unwritten blacklist, Silverman says, citing Robert Blake, Abe Vigoda, James Farentino and Tony Fransosa as actors whose careers suffered after word got around that they were "difficult."

Michael Landon of "Little House on the Prairie" can flex his creative muscle as long as ratings remain high.

MICHAEL LANDON

But After The Show...

What do you do when your real wife meets your make-believe wife? In the case of actor Tom Bosley, the dilemma was not as bad as it may seem. Tom and actress Patricia Carr were married last year and are professionally teamed for the first time on the "Happy Days" series with Patricia playing, of all things, the other woman in Mr. Cunningham's life. The script calls for a confrontation between Marion "Mrs. Cunningham" Ross and Bosley's real-life wife. During a recent rehearsal, the real Mrs. Bosley was heard to ask, "How come Marion's getting you?" And Tom answered, "But you get me after the show."

Burton May Lose Camelot

Hospitalized for a week with a painful pinched nerve, actor Richard Burton will undergo examination by a Florida neurosurgeon. Dr. William Dodge planned to examine Burton's upper spine for suspected degenerative changes to determine if the 55-year-old actor would require surgery. Burton, who entered St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, Calif., March 23, was forced to leave his starring role in the Hollywood Pantages Theater revival of "Camelot." Producers will decide soon whether to close the show permanently or not.

Quote Of The Day

Bill Blyferty of NBC's "Real People," explaining to John Davidson at a taping that his on-the-road life was less glamorous than non-show business civilians believe, said: "People think my life is fast cars and fast women. Actually, it's just fast food."

The two towers of the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge are so far apart that they were constructed five inches out of parallel in order to allow for the curvature of the earth.

President And 'Ordinary People' Highlight Oscars

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A convalescing Ronald Reagan opened the 53rd annual Academy Awards to five rounds of applause for his taped address, but top honors went to "Ordinary People" as best picture of 1980 and Henry Fonda who received the first Oscar of his 46-year career.

Tuesday night's program, watched by an estimated 300 million television viewers in 66 countries, kept East Coast viewers who were determined to see the finish up until 1:10 a.m. today.

In a bizarre occurrence, a tuxedoed impostor stepped out of the audience, accepted the Oscar for the Hungarian winner of the best animated short film, and fled. He was being sought for theft.

"Ordinary People," the story of a middle-class couple and their suicidal teen-ager, was the top award winner, bringing in four of the $500 gold statuettes. Actress Lillian Gish, 84, came out of retirement to present the best picture trophy.

It also won awards for best director, Robert Redford; best supporting actor, Timothy Hutton, son of the late actor Jim Hutton; and best screenplay based on material from another medium for Alvin Sargent.

"Ordinary People" was Redford's first directing effort and the 20-year-old Hutton's first movie role.

Robert De Niro won best actor for his devastating performance as boxer Jake

Sissy Spacek

Lamotta in "Raging Bull." De Niro previously had been nominated for best actor for his roles in "Taxi Driver" in 1976 and in "The Deer Hunter" in 1978. He won best supporting actor in 1974 for his part in "The Godfather Part II."

Sissy Spacek won best actress for her portrayal of singer Loretta Lynn in "Coal Miner's Daughter." Miss Spacek had been nominated for the same award in 1976 for "Carrie," but lost to Faye

Robert de Niro
BEST ACTOR

Dunaway's "Network."

Mary Steenburgen was chosen best supporting actress for her role as the feisty wife in "Melvin and Howard."

But the evening also belonged to former actor Reagan, who opened the show officially with videotaped remarks, and received five rounds of applause from the star-studded audience of almost 3,000.

Although the gala was delayed 24 hours by the shooting of Reagan in Washington

Monday, the mood of the evening was light and the recuperating president was even the target of many of emcee Johnny Carson's goodnatured one-liners.

Carson, in white tie and tails, told the audience at the Los Angeles Music Center, "It was the president's express wishes that we use that introduction. He asked for a television set in his room so he could view that introduction tonight."

"I salute the academy for the influence its work has had on the world's most enduring art form. Film is forever," Reagan said, setting the theme of the program, "Film Forever" in his brief remarks.

A highlight of the night was presentation of a special Oscar to Fonda, honoring a half century of "brilliant accomplishments and enduring contribution to the art of motion pictures."

Redford, who usually shuns the awards ceremonies, presented the award to Fonda, who walked to the stage as the orchestra played "Red River Valley," the theme song from one of his most famous movies.

"It's been a very rewarding 46 years for me and this has got to be the climax," said Fonda, 76, who had never won an Oscar. "I'm very proud and very grateful to the governors of the academy."

An honorary Oscar also went to "The Empire Strikes Back" for special effects, similar to the award given its predecessor, "Star Wars." "Empire" also won the Oscar for best sound.

"Fame" won the best score and best song Oscars, with composer Michael Gore thanking his collaborator and sister, 1950s teen-age singer Lesley Gore — nominated with him for one of the losing entries, also from that film.

"Raging Bull" also won the film editing award for Thelma Schoonmaker.

"Tess," Roman Polanski's version of Thomas Hardy's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," won art direction Oscars for Pierre Guffroy and Jack Stephens, the costume design award for Anthony Powell, and cinematography for Geoffrey Unsworth and Ghislain Cloquet.

Glitter, Glamour—And A Streaker

Memorable Moments Fill Oscar History

The most popular man in Hollywood stands just 13½ inches tall and weighs in at 8½ pounds. His name is Oscar.

He was estimated to be worth about $150 a few years back. That is not to mention the additional millions that he can mean for those who win him.

The gold-plated statue is 92.5 percent tin and 7.5 percent copper. During World War II, it was made of gold-plated plaster.

The origin of the statue's name is uncertain. One version has it that Margaret Herrick, librarian of the academy, remarked upon first seeing it, "Why, it looks just like my Uncle Oscar!"

Others credit the name to Bette Davis, who is said to have named one of her statues for her first husband, Harmon Oscar Nelson Jr.

Following are some of the high points in Oscar's 52-year history:

May 10, 1929: "Wings" won best-picture honors at the first Academy Awards ceremony. It was the only silent film ever to receive the award.

Charlie Chaplin received a special award for "his genius and versatility in writing, acting, directing and producing 'The Circus.'"

Nov. 10, 1931: Nine-year-old Jackie Cooper became the youngest person nominated for best actor. He lost the prize to veteran Lionel Barrymore.

Nov. 18, 1932: Best-actor honors were shared by Wallace Beery and Fredric March. It was the only tie ever to occur in that category.

Walt Disney won his first award for the cartoon "Flowers and Trees." He went on to win more Oscars than any other individual.

March 16, 1934: Director Frank Capra suffered one of the greatest embarrassments in Oscar history when he leaped to his feet and headed for the rostrum when host Will Rogers announced, "Come and get it, Frank." Some 30 feet from his seat, Capra realized that the best-director award had gone not to him but to fellow nominee Frank Lloyd.

Feb. 27, 1935: "It Happened One Night," starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, became the first film to win Oscars for best picture, best actor and best actress. And Frank Capra finally got to collect the award for best director.

March 4, 1937: "The March of Time" became the first non-fiction film to be honored by the Motion Picture Academy. However, a separate category for documentaries was not established until 1942.

March 10, 1938: Lulie Rainer became the first person to win back-to-back Academy Awards. She won her best-actress Oscars for "The Great Ziegfeld" (1936) and "The Good Earth" (1937).

Feb. 23, 1939: Walt Disney won one large Oscar and seven small ones in recognition of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Feb. 29, 1940: "Gone with the Wind" was the big winner in a year that also saw the premieres of such screen classics as "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Wuthering Heights," "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "The Wizard of Oz."

Hattie McDaniel became the first black winner when she was voted the best supporting actress for her "GWTW" performance.

Feb. 27, 1941: To increase the drama of the ceremony, the names of winners were for the first time placed in sealed envelopes. The winners had previously been announced in advance.

Walter Brennan collected his third Oscar as best supporting actor — a record in that category that has yet to be matched.

March 4, 1942: Irving Berlin became the first — and only — person to present an Oscar to himself when his "White Christmas" was named best song.

Joan Fontaine defeated her sister, Olivia de Havilland, in the best-actress category. But Miss de Havilland came back to take the Oscar in 1947 and 1950.

March 4, 1943: Greer Garson made the longest acceptance speech in Oscar history after being named best actress for her performance in "Mrs. Miniver." She talked — and talked — for more than an hour.

March 15, 1945: The Academy Awards were broadcast over national radio for the first time.

March 13, 1947: Amateur Harold Russell was named best supporting actor for his performance in "The Best Years of Our Lives." He played a veteran who, like himself, had lost his hands in combat.

March 20, 1948: A special Oscar was awarded posthumously to James Baskette for his performance as Uncle Remus in "Song of the South." He was the first actor to be voted an award after his death.

Vittorio de Sica's "Shoe Shine" became the first foreign-language film to receive an Academy Award.

March 24, 1949: It was a father-son act at this year's ceremonies as Walter Huston was named best supporting actor and his son John was named best director, both for "Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

March 19, 1953: The awards were televised for the first time. From 1953 to 1958, the ceremony was staged simultaneously in Los Angeles and New York City.

March 27, 1957: Robert Rich won an Oscar for writing "The Brave One" but never showed up to collect it. It was later revealed that Rich was a pseudonym for the blacklisted Dalton Trumbo, who finally received his statue in 1975.

April 4, 1960: "Ben Hur" set a record for most Academy Awards that still stands. The spectacular received a total of 11 Oscars, including best picture and best actor (Charlton Heston).

April 10, 1967: Sibling rivalry returned to the best-actress award as sisters Lynn and Vanessa Redgrave competed against each other. But the Oscar went to Elizabeth Taylor for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

April 14, 1969: Katharine Hepburn became the first winner of three Oscars as best actress. She shared her third award with Barbra Streisand in the first tie in that category.

The ceremony took place for the first time at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center, where it has remained to this day.

April 15, 1971: George C. voted best actor for his performance in "Patton" became the first performer to refuse an Oscar. His example was followed by Marlon Brando two years later.

April 2, 1974: Ten-year-old Tatum O'Neal became the youngest person to win a regular Oscar. She was named best supporting actress for her performance in "Paper Moon."

The ceremony was briefly disrupted by the appearance of a "streaker" during Elizabeth Taylor's remarks.

March 29, 1976: "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" became the first film since "It Happened One Night" to collect Oscars for best picture, best actor and best actress.

March 28, 1977: Peter Finch was the first performer to receive a regular Academy Award posthumously. He was honored as best actor for his performance in "Network."

Barbra Streisand received a second Oscar & not for acting but for composing the music to the year's best song, "Evergreen."

April 3, 1978: Vanessa Redgrave created a furor by promoting the Palestinian cause while accepting her Oscar for best supporting actress in "Julia."

Perjury Conviction Reversal Is Sought

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A man who was sentenced to five years in prison for perjury wants the 1st District Court of Appeal to overturn his conviction on the ground his religious beliefs forbid him from taking oaths. Learn Fair says he didn't swear to tell the truth last August when he was asked during a bond reduction hearing in a robbery case whether he had served time previously for felony convictions under other names. He denied that he had. At his perjury trial, however, prosecutor Greg McMahon submitted as evidence that Fair was lying the fingerprints of convicted felon Leon Mincey — sentenced in 1968 and 1969 — and those of Fair, which were identical. In his appeal, Fair is arguing that Alachua County Judge Jeanne Dawes Crenshaw told him at the bond reduction hearing that if he did not raise his right hand he could not take the witness stand. He contends he did not raise his right hand. The Bible forbids the taking of oaths, he said.

Board Denies Pardon

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham and the Florida Cabinet, sitting as the state clemency board, has denied an Aspen, Colo., builder a pardon he sought so he could run for the U.S. Senate. George H. Oates told the board, "The state crucified me in 1976 and now you're doing it again." Oates, assistant coach of the U.S. Olympic Ski team, was convicted in 1978 by an all-women jury of rigging a bass fishing tournament at Clermont, Fla. "I would have had some bass fishermen on the jury," Oates told the clemency board. Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said, "We're being asked to presume his innocence." He said the board had to trust the trial court. He advised Oates that rather than asking the clemency board to retry his case at its quarterly meeting, he should present evidence to show how he has changed since his conviction.

Hunt Can Have Gun Permit

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham and the state cabinet, sitting as Florida's clemency board, delayed action Tuesday on a petition from Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt for a permit to carry a gun. The Florida Parole Board had recommended approval of the petition. Barbara Salgreddington, parole board chairman, said, "Hunt wants to hunt with his son." Hunt failed to appear at the quarterly hearing of the clemency board. As a convicted felon, he cannot own a firearm without its permission. The clemency board decided to delay action on the Hunt request to determine whether he carried a gun during the Watergate break-in.

Jackson, Flagship 'Bank' Chevron 6-5

Jack Jackson scored on a passed ball after a clutch two-out triple in the bottom of the fifth inning Tuesday to give Flagship Bank a 6-5 win over Butch's Chevron in opening day action in the Sanford Little American League.

In other games Tuesday, Triple I.I.I. Trucking nipped Atlantic Bank 7-6, while Seminole Petroleum topped Krayola Kollege 7-2.

In today's action in the Sanford Little National League, Suniland Corporation meets First Federal at 5 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park, the Railroaders battle Clem Leonard Shell at 5 p.m. at Westside Field and Poppa Jay's plays Sanford D.A.V. Chapter 30 at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

Jackson put his team in front 2-0 in the first inning with a two-out homer.

Butch's Chevron had loaded the bases without scoring in the first and finally picked up a single run in the second when David Low led off with a walk and later scored on a single by Gary Derr.

Ronnie Hayes, who walked with one out in the third, scored on a passed ball to tie the score at 2-2 in the top of the fifth.

Flagship Bank regained the lead 3-2 in the bottom of the third when Jackson slapped another two-out hit, this one a single that scored Gerald Morris who had reached on an error.

A leadoff double by Darris Littles and a one-out homer by Johnny Wright boosted Flagship Bank's lead to 5-3 in the bottom of the fourth.

Derr opened the fifth with a towering home run for Butch's Chevron. Myriel Reid was hit by a pitch and Steve Warren followed with a single and both runners advanced on a wild pitch before Ronnie Hayes drove them home with a double, tying the score.

Warren, the losing pitcher, fanned the first two batters he faced in the bottom of the fifth. Jackson then tripled to right and scored what proved to be the winning run on a passed ball.

With the score tied 4-4, Triple I.I.I. Trucking erupted for three runs in the top of the fifth. A double by Keith Denton was the big hit of the inning.

Atlantic Bank picked up a pair of runs in the bottom of the fifth on a two-out, two-run homer by Clay Hickman and had the tying run on base in the bottom of the sixth, but couldn't push him across the plate.

Mike Edwards was the winning pitcher with 13 strikeouts. Losing pitcher Eddie Korgan fanned 15.

Edwards had a triple and single for the winners, while Leslie Thomas was three for three for the losers.

Seminole Petroleum's Patrick Williams held Krayola Kollege to just three hits and struck out 16 enroute to the win.

After falling behind 2-1, Seminole Petroleum scored four runs in the bottom of the second on a double by Marvin Killingsworth and singles by Mike Mingo and Mat Hines.

Tommy Mitchell was the leading hitter for the winners with a double and home run.

Bird Fidrych On Last Wing; Yankees Trade Jones

By United Press International
 Mark "The Bird" Fidrych can't seem to get off the ground.

Fidrych, the 1978 Rookie of the Year who has been battling arm problems ever since, gave up three runs on four hits in one inning Tuesday in the Tigers' 6-5 loss to Pittsburgh.

The outing inflated Fidrych's spring training stats to 13 hits, eight walks and 19 runs in 15 innings for an 11.40 ERA. Last season, after spending most of the year in the minors trying to regain his form, Fidrych joined the Tigers and appeared in nine games, compiling a 2-3 record and a 5.68 ERA.

Rusty Torres' sacrifice fly to deep center field in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Pirates the triumph.

In other news, the New York Mets, tired of waiting for righthander Juan Berenguer to figure out how to control his fiery fastball, traded the Panamanian native to the Kansas City Royals for minor-league outfielder Marvell Wynne and pitcher John Skinner.

Berenguer, 28, has been in the Mets' organization since 1978. In 16 major-league games, he has a 1-4 record with a 4.75 ERA. Noted for an overpowering fastball, Berenguer has always had problems with control and the Mets, encouraged by an impressive recovery by some-time ace Craig Swan, decided to give up on him and look to the future.

Wynne, a 20-year-old speedster, last year stole 30 bases and batted .278 with Charleston of the Double-A South Atlantic League. He had 20 doubles, 15 triples, 18 homers and 98 RBI.

Skinner, 23, is a graduate of North Carolina University and was 7-14 last year for Jacksonville of the Double-A Southern League.

Later Tuesday, Dan Norinan's solo home run with two out in the 10th inning gave the Mets a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Steve Rogers sharpened up for his sixth consecutive Opening Day assignment with his best outing of the spring, helping the Montreal Expos to a 1-0 victory over the Orioles. Rogers walked one and struck out five in six innings. Ray Burris picked up his second victory with one shutout inning.

Los Angeles scored four runs in the bottom of the eighth inning and held on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 6-5. Trailing 4-2 in the eighth, the Dodgers scored runs on Steve Garvey's single, Pete Guerrero's infield hit, a throwing error by pitcher Jeff Lahti and a wild pitch.

Steve Trout pitched six shutout innings and the Chicago White Sox scored five runs in the seventh inning to defeat the Kansas City Royals 6-2. The White Sox also announced they had returned left-hander Carlos Arroyo, who had been purchased conditionally from the Philadelphia Phillies last winter, to the Phils' Oklahoma City farm club and completed the purchase of pitcher Hector Eduardo, then optioned him to their Edmonton club.

Lloyd Moseby slammed a three-run homer to cap an eight-run fifth inning and power the Toronto Blue Jays to an 11-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Mike Schmidt belted a grand slam in the ninth, his fifth homer of the exhibition season.

Bruce Bochte hit a two-run homer in the first inning and led off with a double in Seattle's two-run rally in the sixth, sparking the Mariners to a 5-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs. In another move, Seattle released catcher Dave Skaggs, who had been invited to the club's spring training camp after being released by the California Angels.

Bruce Bochte hit a two-run homer in the first inning and led off with a double in Seattle's two-run rally in the sixth, helping the Mariners hand the Chicago Cubs their fourth straight exhibition loss with a 5-4 decision.

Joe Morgan drove in three runs with two homers and Jerry Martin added a solo blast, leading the San Francisco Giants to their fifth straight Cactus League victory, a 5-1 decision over the San Diego Padres.

Bert Blyleven struck out seven and allowed only two hits and one run in seven innings to boost the Cleveland Indians to an 8-1 victory over the California Angels. It was Blyleven's most impressive outing of the spring.

Marshall Edwards singled home Ben Oglvie in the eighth inning to cap a two-run rally and lead the Milwaukee Brewers to an 11-10 triumph over the Oakland A's.

Twenty-year-old rookie sensation Gene Nelson made a strong bid to jump from Class A to the major leagues by pitching six powerful innings to send the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Mumphrey A Yankee
 FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Switch-hitting outfielder Jerry

Mumphrey of the San Diego Padres was traded to the New York Yankees Tuesday night for outfielders Ruppert Jones and Joe Lefebvre and pitchers Tim Lollar and Chris Welsh.

Mumphrey, 28, stole 52 bases last year, helping make the Padres the only team in baseball history to have three players with 50 or more stolen bases. He hit .298 and knocked in 59 runs.

In the deal, the Yankees also acquired John Pacella, a 24-year-old right-hander who was landed by San Diego from the New York Mets.

One year ago, Jones, 26, was considered the Yankees' center fielder of the future, but he suffered two major injuries and played in only 83 games, batting .223. The key to the deal as far as the Padres are concerned could very well be Lefebvre, 25, who bats left and has a strong throwing arm. Lefebvre batted .227 for the Yankees last year but showed some power, hitting eight home runs and driving in 21 runs in only 150 at-bats.

Sanford Soccer Club Roundup

Celery City Printing's Roberts, Richards 'Sapp' Winter Park 7-0

Paul Roberts, Steve Sapp and Darrand Richards scored two goals each to help Sanford's Celery City Printing Company press Winter Park 481 7-0 in Sanford Soccer Club action Saturday.

Sapp also assisted on two goals for Coach Suzanne Beno's age 14 and under club, while Richards assisted once. Tom Chernestky scored one of five second half goals as Celery City romped to an easy victory.

"Hal Posey did a super job," said Reno about her goal. "John Dubois, David Laubscher and Mike Edwards all played outstanding defense."

The Celery City Printing Company record improved to 2-1-1 for the season "C" division play.

In age 16 and under action, Maitland crushed Joe Creamons 7-1. Jay Sapp had the only Creamons goal on an assist from Andre Sanders.

Joe Creamons is 1-2 and plays Pine Hills next Saturday at the Sanford Airport.

Goalies Keith Royster and Lee Mixon stopped 23 shots in age 12 and under division C play, but couldn't avert Sanford Kiwanis 200 losing to Maitland 4-0.

Coach Rachael Potts team fell to 1-3 on the year and play Downtown at Memorial Saturday.

In another age 12 and under match, Downtown tallied three second half goals to nip Sanford Boatworks 3-2 in division B.

Two of the three goals came in the last two minutes to hand Boatworks its second loss against a win and a tie.

Shea Whigham had both the goals for Boatworks. Saturday the team plays Winter Park at the Sanford Airport.

Swinging to age 10 and under soccer, Southeast Orange whipped Sanford's Dell's Auction 4-1 to drop Dell's Auction to 2-2 for the year.

Jamie Dellarco on an assist from Jay Feuerhahn scored the lone goal, while Donovan Tucker turned in an outstanding job in his first try as goalie.

Saturday Dell's Auction hosts Maitland at Sanford Airport.

Downtown continued to torment Sanford teams as Sanford's 001 coached by Ken White lost 3-0 to another Orlando squad.

The loss dropped Sanford to 0-3. In the final age 10 and under contest, Sanford's New Smyrna Speedway jumped back on the winning track to edging Winter Park 082 2-1.

Phillip Cox booted a goal in each half for the victory, which evens SNSS at 2-2. Coach Lee Miller singled out right halfback Charles Butler as having an outstanding game.

Saturday New Smyrna Speedway host Pine Hills at the Sanford Airport.

Chuck Adams' Sanford Eilmann Battery blanked Pine Hills 2-0 for its first victory of the year.

The age eight and under Eilmann Battery team faces Winter Park Saturday.

In the other age eight and under game, Burger King of Sanford tied F.C. United 3-3. The 1-1-2 Burger King crew plays College Park at Fairville Saturday.

NBA PLAYOFFS

Chicago's Physical Gilmore Roughs Up Knicks 90-80; Jones, Philly Roll Indiana

By United Press International
 The Chicago Bulls could be the surprise team in the NBA playoffs this year. On second thought, if Artis Gilmore continues to play the way he has, no one would be surprised if the Bulls did very well.

"The playoffs end up being physical basketball and that game is tailor-made for Artis," Chicago Coach Jerry Sloan said Tuesday night after the Bulls upended the New York Knicks 90-80 in the opener of their best-of-three NBA playoff miniseries.

"Artis has been playing just great," added David Greenwood, who scored 10 of his 17 points in a third period that saw the Bulls go from a 40-35 deficit to a 60-38 lead.

Game 2 of the series is scheduled for Friday night in Chicago. A third game, if necessary, would be played in New York on Sunday. In the Western Conference, Kansas City is at Portland and Houston is at Los Angeles tonight.

New York, which won 50 games this season, took a 24-12 lead in a first period as Chicago looked anything like a club that had won its last eight games. Then the 7-foot-2 Gilmore began a rampage that saw him end up with 13 points, seven blocked shots and 18 rebounds.

Ricky Sobers, despite a slow start, scored 18 points including 6 of Chicago's first 10 in the final period.

Jones finished with 18 points and Reggie Theus had 10. Campy Russell scored 17 for New York and Cartwright 11.

In the other Eastern Conference game, Philadelphia methodically rolled past Indiana 124-108.

Bobby Jones, a 1974 graduate of North Carolina, appeared ready to personally avenge Indiana's victory over his alma mater in Monday night's NCAA championship game. Jones came off the bench to score 20 points, pull down eight rebounds, hand out four assists and register three steals.

Game 2 is schedule for Indianapolis Thursday night.

Philadelphia's Julius Erving scored a game-high 32 points with nine rebounds and nine assists.

Billy Knight led the Pacers with 25 points and Mike Bantom and Johnny Davis added 19.

COMES NBA PLAYOFF TIME IT'S APPROPRIATE TO PARAPHRASE THE POLITICOS AND SAY: "LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD BOOK." IN THE NBA'S FIRST SEASON, SIX OF THE ELEVEN TEAMS MADE THE PLAYOFFS, NOW IT'S 12 OUT OF 23.

WHEN PHILADELPHIA, THEN THE WARRIORS, WON THE FIRST NBA CHAMPIONSHIP FOR THE 1946-47 SEASON, IT TOOK THEM ONLY 10 PLAYOFF GAMES SINCE THEN ONLY FOUR TEAMS REQUIRED 50 FEW.

THE WASHINGTON BULLETS TOOK A RECORD 21 GAMES TO WIN THE TITLE FOR 1977-78. BUT THE RUNNER-UP SEATTLE SUPERSONICS WERE IN THE MOST PLAYOFF GAMES, 22, THE EQUIVALENT OF 26.6 % OF A FULL SEASON.

Hill Attempts To Quiet 'Brantley Bombers' Tonight At Stadium

Sophomore right hander Greg Hill will be on the mound tonight when Lake Brantley invades Sanford Memorial Stadium for a 7:30 p.m. Five Star Congerence baseball game.

The 6-foot-3 Hill has a 3-5 record thus far and will have to be at the top of his game against the Patriots.

The "Brantley Bombers" have three of the top five hitters in Seminole County.

Ron Coleman (.441) and Brian Wright (.418) rank second and third respectively behind Lake Howell's Charlie Miller (.492). John Simas, who leads the county in runs batted in with 20, is fifth at .345.

Despite Hill's youth, he has turned in some solid performances (1.71 earned run average) for Coach Bobby Lundquist this year, who had to pull his ace Tracy Walker because of a sore-arm with the Tribe on the short end of a 4-3 score to Howell. The Silver Hawks then got to reliever Freddie Howard for a barrage of runs in an 18-7 setback last week.

Elsewhere in the county, Lyman will try to bounce back from a 5-1 loss to DeLand Tuesday by taking on Seabreeze this afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Yesterday Benton Wood drove in the only Greyhound run to give the 'Hounds a 1-0 second inning lead, but it failed to hold up.

The Bulldogs put three runs on the board in the fourth and two more in the sixth for the victory.

DeLand's Tommy Robertson pitched out of a bases-loaded no out jam in the sixth inning to thwart Lyman.

Trailing 3-1, John Reich walked, Chuck Brock singled and Brian Holzworth's bunt rolled dead for a hit.

Robertson, however, got Secord on a strike out, Wood on a tap back to the mound and Todd Marriott on a ground ball to second base to stymie the Greyhounds. Senior Mike Andriano will start for Lyman today.

Five Points Roundup

Pass Sporting Pounds Pinto Foes

Break up the Pass Sporting Goods! Coach Greg Ebbert's Pinto League baseball team has done some lusty hitting so far this season to say the least. Pass has belted around Pinto pitching for five wins and an astounding 22 home runs. They have yet to lose.

Friday and Saturday, the Casselberry sporting goods store whipped Lake Mary I and Lake Mary II.

Jamie Mocny has been the biggest slugger for Pass, slamming 12 round trippers in just 15 times at bat.

In other Pinto action, Longwood Travelers fought back from a 5-0 first inning deficit to blitz Jo-Ev Figure Salon 15-6.

Chuck Lamb had a two-run homer and John Elam belted a three-run shot.

Jeff Laveronis combined with first sacker Lamb for five put-outs to star defensively for Longwood. Dana Dearth was the winning pitcher while Mark Peterson absorbed the defeat.

Stepping up to Bronco play, Forest City's Band of Brothers is getting some excellent pitching from the trio of Greg Ebbert, Mark Coffey and Jimmy Waring. Waring and Coffey combined on a no-hitter as Band of Brothers mauled Wayne Construction of Winter Springs 16-1.

Coffey also wielded a big bat, clubbing a homer and a double good for five runs batted in. Waring scored four runs on two singles, while Ebbert whacked two hits as did Bobby Milanovich.

In an 11-0 victory over Forest City's CeeBee Air Systems, Ebbert and Coffey corroborated on a one-hitter with Coffey earning the win.

The talented twosome struck out nine in the contest halted after five innings. Waring doubled and scored three runs.

In Mustang baseball, Cafe Sorrento dropped two games to Dial Finance 15-4 and Quaid Fencing 14-5.

Dial from Forest City put together two six-run innings enroute to its win. Jeff Mesojedek banged out three singles, drove in two runs and scored three.

Bobby Mauro ripped two triples and plated four runs. John Mairs had two hits and Sean Burke stroked three including a double. Dial Finance's Andy Anson whiffed seven for the win.

Another six-run inning doomed Sorrento against Quaid Fencing as the fence busters pushed across a half a dozen in the last inning to cement the victory.

Robble Shamblin went three-for-four with a home run and two RBI. Shamblin also picked up the mound victory. Shamblin and Erik Wofford collaborated on a double play to clinch the game in the fifth inning.

In another battle of Forest City teams, FC II beat FC I 14-5 as Donnie McGinnis pitched the victory. Shortstop Charlie Rogers turned in the top defensive gem with a diving catch in shallow left field.

Turning to girls Bronco action, Terri Blayney and Susan Rogers helped Forest City State Bank demolish Lake Mary Police Department 23-8.

Blayney ripped a homer and three other hits while driving in three runs. Roger chased home four runs with four singles and also picked up the mound victory.

Bev Slough had three base hits and Laura Davis and Liz Stone smacked two apiece.

In other softball, Dawn Riley of Badcock Furniture turned in a Bruce Stutter-type relief performance as Badcock dropped Forest City III 11-5.

Riley came on with the bases loaded and no one out, but induced a ground out, strike out and fly out to quell the uprising.

In addition Riley rapped three hits to help teammate Denise Stevens who plated five runs for Babcock.

HD Realty exploded for nine runs in the fifth inning to up-end Winter Springs Community Church 13-3.

Lori Helms belted four hits including a double to drive in four runs.

Christie Kaiser just about doubled Helms output, however, as she chased home seven runs with a homer, triple and two singles. The round tripper was a grand slam.

Hurler Kathy Richardson picked up the victory, striking out two. Tracy Wilkerson was the loser.

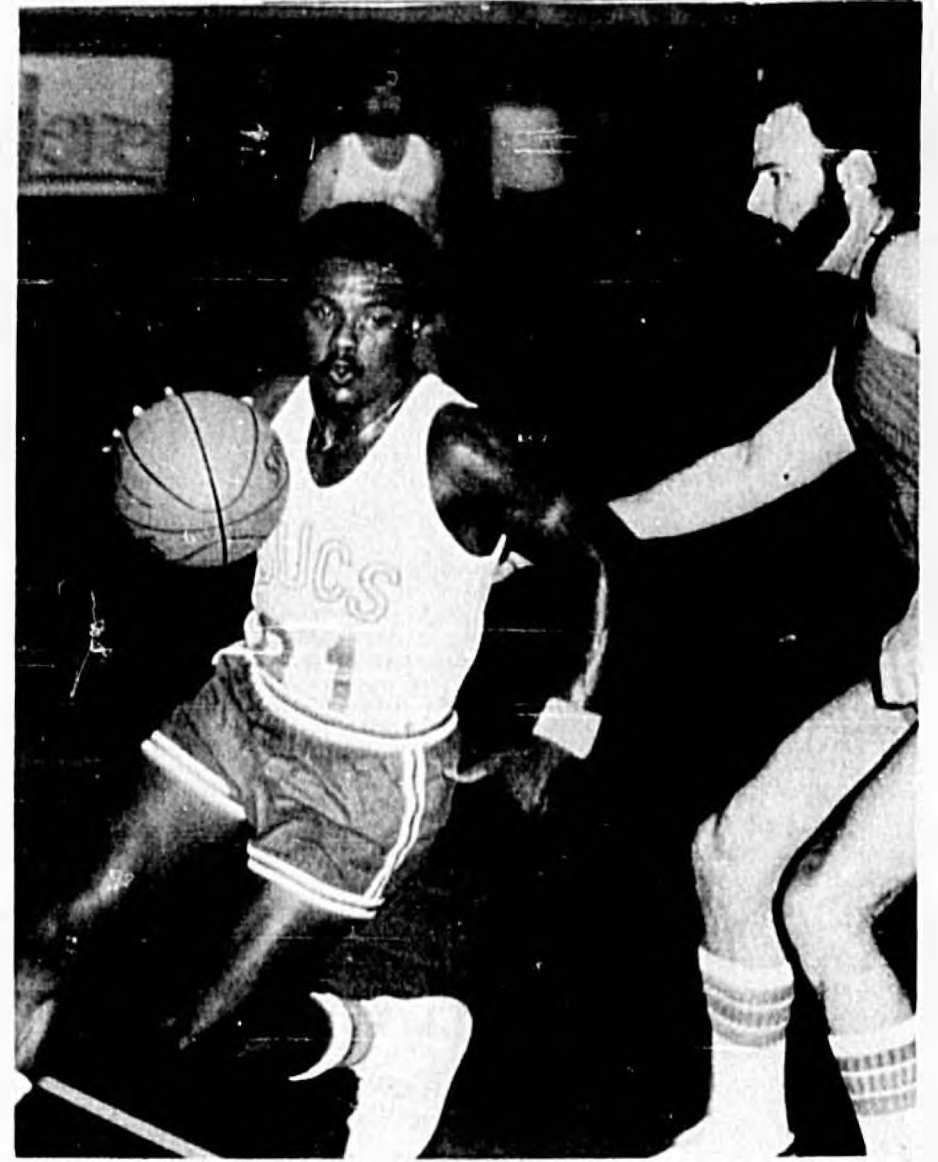

In a Mustang clash, All-American Pool N Patio outlasted BPC Properties of Casselberry 13-8.

Julie Welsh had the key defensive play in center field, while winning pitcher Jodi Krutz whiffed four batters. Stacy L'Heureux roped a triple. Pool N Patio is 3-2.

Longwood First Federal used a five-run fifth inning to edge Forest City Unknown 8-6.

Anita Sanchez drove in two runs with two singles while Michelle Bean plated two more with a base hit and a triple.

Shari Day and Nicole Beauchamp had two hits each for the winners. Bean was the winner and Susanne Dubrouillet the loser in the Pinto encounter.

The 6-foot-3 200-pounder attended Sterling College (Kan.) and Southern Junior College in Orlando. Turner was an offensive guard and defensive end for Coach Jerry Posey. The Longwood resident begins practice May 4 for the Americans' May 30 opener at Roanoke, Va. During Turner's year at Southern JC, he served as captain for Coach Charlie Tate. Turner was planning on playing at Central Florida University, but opted for the pro offer instead.

Cook Of The Week: Gail Berger

Desserts, Bubble Loaf Her Favorites

By JANE AKERS
Herald Correspondent

Gail Berger says she "loves to cook but hates to clean up." Gail and Bruce Berger live at 205 Larkwood Drive in Sanford with their 4-year-old daughter, Haley.

The Berbers are involved in the community. They are "Skippers" of the Mariners Presbyterian group at the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. Gail is third vice president of the Junior Women's Club, and is on the board of directors of the Presbyterian Pre-School Center. Gail also belongs to a local bridge club and is a circle member at her church.

Gail Berger loves to cook for company. She always tries new dishes and is an avid reader of "Bon Appetit." Her favorite things to cook are desserts and Beef-n-Cheese Bubble Loaf.

When cooking for guests, Gail likes to limit her guests to three or four couples. "I always serve an appetizer, then wait about an hour and serve the main meal," says Gail. "After everyone has relaxed and visited, I serve dessert. I always wait until later in the evening to serve dessert because my guests enjoy it more. They aren't stuffed."

Gail also decorates cakes for her family and friends. Neighbor children are always keeping her busy with birthday cakes of all kinds.

She has selected the following recipes from her vast collection of delicious dishes and are sure to please your family and any guest.

ARTICHOKE SPREAD

1 1/4 oz. can artichoke hearts
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1-3rd cup fresh grated parmesan cheese
2 large garlic cloves, minced
Assorted vegetable dippers
Drain artichokes thoroughly, pressing to remove excess liquid. In mixing bowl mash artichokes, stir in remaining ingredients except vegetable dippers. Cover and chill several hours. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 1 1-3rd cups dip.

COCONUT BLIZZARD

2 16 oz. can sliced pineapple, drained
4 cups plain yogurt
2 8 oz. cans cream of coconut
1 cup dark rum
2 Tbls sugar
6 to 8 ice cubes
Using half of ingredients at a time, combine in processor or blender until smooth and creamy. Serve in chilled daiquiri type glasses. Makes 12 servings.

BEEF-N-CHEESE BUBBLE LOAF

1 loaf frozen bread dough (thawed)
1 2 1/2 oz. jar dried beef
4 to 6 oz. sharp cheddar cheese cut in 1/2 inch cubes
1/4-1/2 tsp garlic powder
Melt butter with the garlic powder, set aside. Cut dough in half, then cut each half in 16 pieces. Cut dried beef slices in half. Wrap beef around cheese cube, then wrap dough piece around both. Pinch edges and holding seam, roll in butter-garlic. Place balls loosely in bundt pan. Cover with a cloth and let rise in a warm place 2-3 hours or until dough reaches top of pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 25-30 minutes. Turn out on plate. To eat, pull sections off.

CHICKEN ALLA VALDOSTANA

Skin, bone, and half 2 large chicken breasts, flatten them slightly between sheets of wax paper and dust them lightly with flour. In a skillet, saute the breasts in 1/4 cup olive oil over moderately high heat for 1 minute on each side, or until they are golden brown, and transfer them with a slotted spoon to a plate. Discard the oil in the skillet. Add to the skillet 1/2 stick butter, sliced, and 2-3rd cup chicken broth and heat the mixture over moderate heat swirling the pan, until butter is melted. Return the chicken to the skillet, top each piece with a thin slice each of baked ham and provolone cheese and cook the mixture, covered, until the cheese is melted and bubbly. Transfer the chicken to a slotted spoon to a heated platter, reduce the sauce over moderately high heat until it is thickened and season it with salt and pepper. Pour the sauce over the chicken. Very good served with wild rice.

BAKED FUDGE

4 eggs, well beaten
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa
1/4 tsp salt
1 cup melted butter or margarine
1 cup finely chopped pecans
2 tsp vanilla extract boiling water
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped stiff
Preheat oven to 325 degrees. In medium bowl, with wooden spoon, beat eggs, sugar, flour, cocoa, and salt until well blended. Mix in butter. Add remaining ingredients, mixing until well blended. Pour mixture into a buttered 9" x 9" baking pan. Set pan in a 13 1/2" x 10 1/2" x 2" roasting pan. Pour boiling water into roasting pan to measure 1 inch. Bake 45 minutes or until it is set like custard and crusty on top (or until a knife inserted 1/2 inch from edge comes out clean). Remove from hot water to wire rack. Let cool 20 minutes. Refrigerate. Cut into squares. Serve topped with whipped cream.

MILKY WAY CAKE

8 Milky Way bars (regular size)
3 sticks butter or margarine
4 1/2 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten
2 1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp soda
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
1 small can evaporated milk
1 cup chopped pecans
1 6 oz. package chocolate chips
1 cup marshmallow cream
Combine candy bars and 1 stick butter in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until melted. Set aside. Cream 2 cups sugar and 1 stick butter in a bowl, then beat in eggs. Sift the flour with soda and add to the creamed mixture, alternately with buttermilk. Stir in candy mixture. Add pecans and mix well. Pour into a greased and floured oblong baking pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Combine remaining sugar, milk, and remaining butter in a sauce pan and cook to soft ball stage, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and add chocolate chips and marshmallow cream. Cool slightly. Beat until thick and spread over cake.

Deliver Sister From Crossword Puzzles, Forever

DEAR ABBY: Peace and all good things! I am a nun writing in desperation, hoping that you have a charitable solution to a most annoying problem.

I live in a small religious community with other sisters whom I dearly love. It seems that whenever I am trying to eat a quick lunch, a certain sister comes over with her crossword puzzle and asks, "What was the name of Seth's son?" Or, "What was Noah's boat called?"

Dear Abby, have you any ideas? Deliver me from crossword puzzles, now and forever. Amen!

IMPATIENT SISTER
DEAR SISTER: Practice the virtues of patience, pray for forbearance and utter ye not a cross word about the puzzle.

DEAR ABBY: My son went steady with a wonderful girl for four months. (I'll call her Janie.) They broke up right after Christmas. While they were going together, I grew to love her like a daughter. Janie lived 45 miles away and spent many weekends at our home. She was so perfect for our son, I prayed that one day she would be my very own daughter-in-law.

Well, for some reason unknown to me, they stopped dating. My son started dating another girl, and I understand that Janie is now going with another fellow. I miss her terribly and, of course, she doesn't call me anymore. Abby, believe me when I tell you that I loved that girl so much that this is simply killing me! I suppose I should be grateful that my son isn't grieving the way I am, but it's as though I actually lost a daughter. I am suffering a very deep depression. I cry about it until I'm weak. I can't stand it, Abby, I'm making myself sick over this. Please help me.

LOST A DAUGHTER

DEAR LOST: I can understand your disappointment, but you apparently assumed that your son's little romance with Janie was far more serious than it was. Be grateful that your son isn't grieving. If your depression persists, please seek professional help. Your suffering is gravely disproportionate to your loss. Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular; You're

"Hooray!!...I lost 20 pounds and 29 inches..."

As a model and interviewer at John Robert Powers Modeling School it's extremely important that I maintain my ideal weight and measurements. At European Weight Loss Clinic I went from a size 12 to a perfect size 8 so fast and easily I couldn't believe it. Young Tennis Ace Aiming For Energy

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 18 years old and play a lot of tournament tennis. I just love it. Tennis is my whole life. I want to do everything I can to improve my game. I know a really tough match takes a lot of energy. So what should I eat before competition? What foods will give me the most energy when I need it? Should I eat a high-protein meal to increase my energy? How long before playing should I eat?

DEAR READER — There are lots of different opinions about food and athletics but there are some basic facts that you can follow. First, remember that if your food is not digested it cannot get into your bloodstream. And if it is not absorbed into your circulation, it will NOT provide any energy for you.

Food is not absorbed from your stomach. Alcohol is, but that is because it passes directly into cells, and it is not what you need for energy or ability in athletic competition — particularly competition that requires skill.

To get any energy from food eaten before you play, it must be emptied from the stomach. That means a fatty meal of steak or other high-fat protein foods won't help. They may still be in your stomach after your match is over.

Solids are not absorbed either but must first be liquified in your stomach before they can be emptied. The bottom line is that any solids you eat a couple of hours before a game may not help much. Stay on a good balanced diet as a regular habit. Sweet liquids are most likely to be emptied by your stomach and absorbed quickly. A glass of orange juice is a good example. Fats slow the stomach's emptying.

There are many misconceptions about digestion. Most people do not realize that what they swallow is broken down before it is absorbed by the digestive process. To give you a better idea of the process, I am sending you The Health Letter number 12.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, April 2, 1981

April 2, 1981

Enterprises or projects which are the offsprings of your fertile imagination could earn you extra money this coming year. Your instincts will tell you which ones will work and which ones won't.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you're the type who is pretty good at fending off negative thoughts and self-doubts. Today, however, they might turn out the victors. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll want to be helpful today, but for some reason you may think more about doing good deeds than performing them. Actions count more than thoughts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you want others to be complimentary about your achievements today, be sure to give them a pat on the back for their accomplishments as well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You should do well competitively today, but also be sure you've conducted yourself in line with your high standards. Victory will be hollow if you don't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Keep your expectations in proper perspective today if you hope to gain something from a joint venture. There may not be as much in it as you think.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There's a chance today that in situations which call for teamwork, either you or your partner may not pull a fair share. Equalize the burden.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It may be necessary to make some special concessions today in order to get others to assist you in your present involvement. Compromise is necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) All work and no play makes for a dull day. On the other hand, too much play and no work could spell neglected tasks. Try a little of each.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your executive qualities are very pronounced today. You're good at telling others what to do, and how — yet you're not apt to follow your own instructions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If at all possible, try to avoid bossy or domineering types today. They could pressure you into doing things against your better judgment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) In order to be a good salesperson today it's important that you remember to stop selling once the sale is made. An extended pitch could turn a "yes" into a "no."

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your ideas for making or saving you money today are very good. You should be able to spot ample areas in which to use them. Do so, and produce a profit.

than their bidding. After a session with this particular South you feel like the man who said, "There is one good thing about tapping yourself on the head with a hammer. It feels so good when it is over."

North would have had no trouble making five notrump, but as South pointed out carefully, he, South, had two five-card suits. South also felt that his partner could never have suspected this.

West got his hand on the singleton heart. East took his ace and returned the seven spot. West ruffed and dutifully led back a diamond to East's ace. East led back the 10 to dummy's queen. Now South played his ace and king of trumps. West showed out and East's queen became the setting trick.

"What horrible luck," complained South.

"Deleted, deleted, deleted," yammered North.

It should have been obvious to South that East would hold that missing queen of spades. When he led back a diamond that should have told South. Had East led back a heart, West's failure to ruff with the queen would have told even this South where her majesty was located.

FLETCHER'S LANDING by Douglas Coffin

Create A Confection For Easter

Create a confection that's sheer perfection, based on the symbolic Easter egg. This molded fondant-type confection is easy to do and needs no special equipment. Delicate flaked coconut adds texture to a smooth filled covered with a rich coating of semi-sweet chocolate. Give it a "designer look" with confectioners sugar glaze decoration.

CHOCOLATE-COVERED EASTER EGGS

1 pound unsifted confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine

1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon almond extract
Dash of cream of tartar

1 and one-third cups (about) Angel Flake coconut
4 drops yellow food coloring
½ drop red food coloring
Easy Chocolate Coating

Combine confectioners sugar, water, corn syrup, butter, vanilla, salt, almond extract and cream of tartar in a bowl and mix thoroughly. (Mixture will be crumbly.) Add coconut, mix until smooth and shape into 6 small eggs. Cut in half lengthwise; scoop out about 1 teaspoon near round end of each half, and place in small bowl.

Blend in yellow and red food coloring. Return tinted mixture to egg halves. Press halves firmly together, pinching to seal edges. Completely cover eggs with Easy Chocolate Coating and let stand until chocolate is firm. Decorate eggs with Confectioners Sugar Glaze, if desired. Makes 1½ pounds or 6 eggs.

Microwave Favorites Of Mexico

South of the border dining is not limited to tacos and corn chips. Fish In Orange Juice and a Flan dessert are elegant and easy recipes.

FLAN

(Total cooking time: 25 min. 45 sec.)

1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon water
2 13-ounce cans evaporated milk
4 beaten eggs
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

In 1-cup glass measure, thoroughly combine the 1-3 cup sugar and the water. Cook at HIGH for 1½ minutes or till sugar is caramelized. Quickly pour syrup into bottom of a 1½-quart microwave ring mold or four 6-ounce custard cups. (For custard cups, repeat this step using another 1-3 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon water. Quickly pour syrup into bottom of four more custard cups.) In a 4-cup glass measure, cook milk at HIGH for 4 to 5 minutes or till very hot.

In mixing bowl, combine eggs, remaining sugar, and vanilla. Gradually stir in the hot milk. Pour over syrup in mold or cups. Place ring mold or four custard cups in 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking dish. Pour hot water into dish to depth of 1-inch.

Kitchen Economics:

Try Versatile No-Knead Batter Bread

If you browse through the pages of your grandmother's cookbook, you'll find a few yeast bread recipes that require no kneading or shaping into loaves. These were the timesavers for busy homemakers in those days and they are the forerunners of today's batter bread recipes, which are ideal for today's busy cooks.

The Bran English Muffin Bread pictured here is a classic favorite which was adapted to contemporary kitchens. Nothing beats the fresh, wheaty aroma and crunch texture of a homemade English muffin! This delicious bread is both easy to prepare and less expensive to serve than the best packaged English muffins.

These loaves will look a little pale to seasoned bakers, they lack color only because they were prepared in a microwave oven, which does not produce a brown crust on any bread. But these freshly baked loaves are unmatched in homemade taste.

Beating takes the place of kneading in this recipe. The dough is transferred from mixing bowl to bread pan and rises only once. It is baked in a microwave oven for only 6 1/2 minutes or can be baked in a conventional oven for 25 minutes.

The recipe for bran English Muffin Bread makes two loaves that slice into 16 servings each. The ingredients cost little more than one dollar in most cities, which is considerably less than half the cost of packages of the best English muffins at the supermarket.

This Bran English Muffin Bread is a versatile one too. Herbs or spices may be added to complement whatever food you are serving with it. The Cheese and Bacon variation, for example makes great sandwiches. The Herb variation can help stretch a shrinking roast when served under thin slices of meat. The Cinnamon and Raisin variation makes breakfast worth getting up for. Slice a little of the basic Bran English Muffin and serve with a little honey or marmalade in the afternoon.

ENGLISH MUFFIN BREADS

(Makes 2 Loaves)

BRAN:

- 4 1/2 cups unsifted flour
- 1 cup wheat bran cereal
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup water
- Cornmeal

In a large bowl combine 2 1/2 cups flour, cereal, undissolved dry yeast, sugar, salt and baking soda.

Combine milk and water in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F. to 130 degrees F.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat well.

Stir in remaining flour to make a stiff batter. Spoon into two 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 or 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf dishes which have been greased and coated with cornmeal. Sprinkle tops of loaves with additional cornmeal. Cover, let rise in a warm place, free from draft, for 45 minutes.

Microwave each loaf on high power for 6 minutes, 30 seconds. Surface of loaf will be flat and pale in color. Allow to rest 5 minutes before removing from dishes. To serve, slice and toast, spread with margarine if desired.

2 1-quart or 2 1 1/2 quart round casseroles or 2 1 1/4 quart ring molds can be used instead of loaf pan.

TO BAKE IN CONVENTIONAL OVEN
Stir 1 cup additional unsifted white flour into batter to make a very soft dough. Spoon into two 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch loaf pans

Preserves Give Cookies Extra Appeal

The homebaked smell of cookies is always a welcome aroma for your after school or work brigade. So why not greet them with two popular treats made with a delightful variation?

Old-fashioned oatmeal cookies, a famous drop cookie variety, become Oatmeal Gems when you dot their centers with red raspberry preserves.

Chocolate lovers are sure to enjoy Chocolate Raspberry Bars. After they're baked, they are spread with red raspberry or strawberry preserves and sprinkled with toasted coconut. Then cool, cut them into bars and serve.

With a tall glass of milk or hot tea, these cookies will be the favorite subject of your cookie jar raiders.

Ethnic Cooking Made Easy With Flavored Rice Mixes

Flavored rice mixes are a great way to stretch smaller portions of meat without sacrificing great taste such as Minced Meatball Kebabs With Greek Style Rice Pilaf, right. Beef or pork chop suey, left, served with mandarin-orange pineapple cup and rice makes a one-dish family meal.

Ethnic cooking is "in" — but the long, complicated preparations so often associated with authentic ethnic fare are not so popular! Instead of spending all day before a dinner party preparing a special meal, choose recipes that combine meat, vegetables and rice for streamlined cooking and serving.

To give your dinners real flair, serve one of the line of new international flavored rice mixes, with the taste of homemade recipes, which are easily prepared from packaged mixes. Greek Style Rice Pilaf with Peas, British Style Rice for Beef with Mushrooms, French Style Rice for Chicken with Vegetables, and Indian Style Curried Rice with Raisins — contain rice, vegetables, mushrooms or raisins with other ingredients and seasonings. The rice dishes themselves are so interesting that you can serve them with simply prepared meat accompaniments, letting the rich flavor of the rice be the "star."

If meat prices have you watching your food budget both for family meals and entertaining, these flavored rice mixes are a great way to stretch smaller portions of meat without sacrificing great taste. Try Minced Meatball Kebabs with Greek Style Rice, a specialty of many Greek restaurants, which can be made at home with ground beef or lamb and Greek Style Rice Pilaf with Peas. A piquant touch of lemon in the basting sauce is the flavor secret here, and the kebabs can be cooked either under the broiler or out on the grill.

Divorce was possible in early China. However, a man could not divorce his wife if: she had no family to return to, she had shared his three year mourning period for his parents, or she had married him when he was poor and he had since become rich.

Make Salads In Advance Without Risk Of Wilting

Just because an interesting tossed green salad takes time and patience to put together after work, many people just quickly dish up some iceberg lettuce and a bottled dressing.

Monotony swiftly sets in, decreasing the frequency of a healthful, fresh green salad on the dinner table.

Salad lovers can solve this problem by taking time one evening to prepare a big, extra-portion salad in advance. To the chorus of "but the greens will wilt" the answer is no, they won't, with proper storage.

Refrigeration and a tightly-sealed container will help torn greens to stay crisp.

Cellophane-wrapped lettuce, straight from the store, is not sealed tightly enough against the drying effects of air and may wilt before you've a chance to use it. A special lettuce storage container helps water to drain away from leaves, too.

You can prepare an extra-large tossed salad of dry greens and other non-juicy ingredients one night, seal it tightly in a plastic serving or storage bowl, and dip into the greens several times. On other nights, preparation time is minimized to just adding tomatoes or any other moist ingredients you fancy.

Zippy, homemade salad dressings such as a perky "Sorrento" made with yogurt, and a fruit salad dressing flavored with sesame seeds go into liquid-tight plastic salad dressing containers to preserve their fresh flavors.

For special personality try one or more of these nutritious extras in your salad: sliced red onion, drained canned corn, pineapple chunks, anchovies, mandarin oranges, canned potato slices, green and red pepper, sliced unpeeled raw zucchini, sliced raw green beans, radishes, shaved carrots, shredded chicken or diced cooked beef, cucumbers, mushrooms.

Moister ingredients, such as canned or fresh tomatoes and asparagus, should be added at the last minute before serving.

Whether you tear greens or cut them, salads are easier to eat if greens are in smaller morsels. Use two or three varieties of dark and light greens for more nutrition and flavor. Try romaine, iceberg and leaf lettuce, escarole, spinach, arugola, chicory, endive, Boston lettuce, and water-cress.

An easier way to apply dressing to a large tossed salad is to first measure the dressing into the empty bowl, then add the salad and toss.

CAESAR DRESSING

- 1-3 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper

Combine all ingredients in a small bowl; mix well. Pour into plastic salad dressing container. Chill. Shake well before serving. YIELD: About 2-3 cup.

SALAD DRESSING SORRENTO

- 1/2 cup plain yogurt
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

- 1 tablespoon anchovy paste
 - 1/4 teaspoon grated onion
 - 1 clove garlic, crushed
 - Dash pepper
- Combine all ingredients in a small bowl; mix well. Pour into a plastic salad dressing container. Chill. Shake well before serving. YIELD: About 2-3 cup.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sour cream
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 2 teaspoons toasted sesame seeds
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash pepper

In a small bowl combine all ingredients; mix well. Pour into a plastic salad dressing container with push button seal. Chill. Shake well before serving. YIELD: About 1 cup.

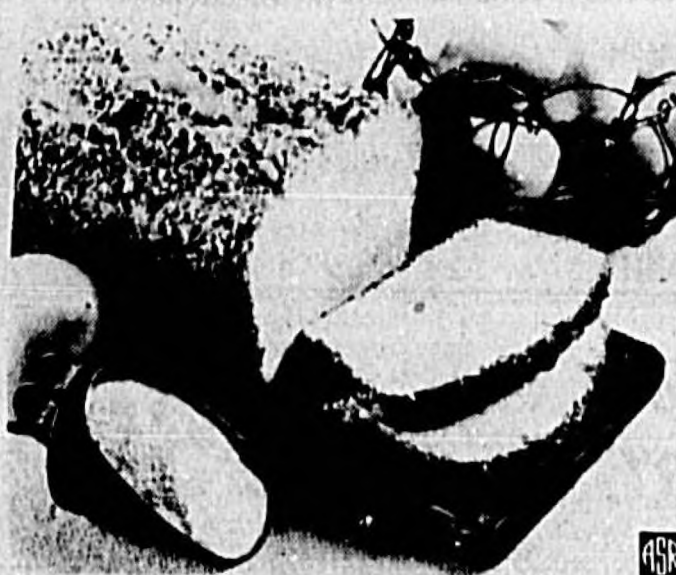

Take the work out of salads.

Make pound cake a tradition.

Corn Meal Gives Cake Hearty Taste

Freshly baked pound cake is a delicious dessert anytime of the year. And this unique version of Homespun Pound Cake features enriched corn meal, chopped pecans and lemon juice. The corn meal contributes a hearty taste and texture while the lemon adds its tart flavor. The pecan coating enhances the heartiness of this cake.

Serve Homespun Pound Cake with fruit or fruit sauce spooned over each slice. It will please your family and friends all year long.

HOMESPUN POUND CAKE

- 1 tablespoon vegetable shortening
- 1 cup finely chopped pecans
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup enriched corn meal
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2-3rd cup milk
- 1-3rd cup lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel, if desired

Generously grease 9x5-inch loaf pan with shortening; coat pan with 1/4 cup nuts. Beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add combined flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt alternately with milk and juice, mixing at low speed on electric mixer just until dry ingredients are moistened and well blended. Stir in peel. Pour into prepared pan; sprinkle with remaining nuts. Bake at 350 deg. F. about 1 hour and 20 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool completely on wire rack. Makes 9x5-inch pound cake.

Enjoy The Best Of All Possible Worlds

The Seder is celebrated with an ambrosial dinner of Nouvelle Cuisine persuasion. The menu is faithful both to the finest kosher cooking and the Nouvelle Cuisine without sacrificing an ounce of savory goodness.

Passover is the Festival of Freedom and the most joyous dinner of the year is undoubtedly the beautiful, ceremonial feast, the Seder, shared with family and close friends.

There's freedom in the menu, too, since there are no obligatory dishes for this holiday so that wonderful new recipes have a way of becoming family tradition rather quickly. We suspect that the modern style known as Nouvelle Cuisine will tempt many to create a Nouvelle Passover Cuisine just for this occasion.

An outstanding stuffing makes Festive Seder Turkey a star of Nouvelle Cuisine. The matzoh is seasoned with onions and celery and combined with succulent fresh Florida grapefruit sections and luscious figs — a marriage of wholesome foods that makes a memorable main dish.

Orange-Beet Conserve is a welcome new variation on the customary dish — the taste of fresh orange sections played against sweet beets with a touch of ginger gives it a wide-awake flavor that sparkles. Broccoli is fresh in the market at this time, and gently steamed until just tender-crisp, adds garden green flavor to the menu.

Dessert at Passover deserves special thought. After a bountiful repast something delicate but satisfying is called for.

Pareve Orange-Chocolate Ice Cream has all the rich flavor and creamy consistency of ice cream, but contains no dairy products of any kind.

The meringue rests overnight and the filling is assembled and frozen (without going through a second blending) so it's wonderfully convenient for the holiday. And served in delicate meringue shells, it's a worthy finish for the grandest meal.

This is a menu that is faithful both to the finest kosher cooking and the Nouvelle Cuisine without sacrificing an ounce of savory goodness.

FESTIVE SEDER TURKEY

- 10 matzohs
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 6 tablespoons pareve margarine, divided
 - 1 cup chopped onion
 - 1 cup chopped celery
 - 4 Florida grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
 - 1 cup chopped, dried figs
 - 3 eggs, beaten
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 8 to 9-pound turkey thawed if frozen, giblets removed
 - Salt and pepper
 - 2 1/2 cups cold water, divided
 - 2 tablespoons potato starch
- Place matzohs in large bowl; add boiling water; set aside. In large skillet over medium heat, melt 4 tablespoons margarine; saute onion and celery until tender. Add to matzoh. Add grapefruit sections, figs, eggs, salt and pepper; mix well. Stuff turkey cavities with matzoh stuffing. Truss turkey closed and turn wing tips under. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons margarine; brush over turkey; season with additional salt and pepper. Place turkey on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a 325 degrees F. oven 3 to 3 1/2 hours or until a meat thermometer inserted in the breast meat registers 185 degrees F. or until juices run clear when the thickest part of the thigh is pierced with a fork. Let turkey rest 20 minutes before carving.
- To make gravy: Remove turkey from roasting pan to warm platter. Pour off fat from pan, reserving drippings. Add 2 1/2 cups cold water to roasting pan; bring to a boil. Combine remaining 1/2 cup water and potato starch; add to boiling liquid. Stir to remove all browned turkey drippings from pan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick and bubbly. Taste; add salt and pepper if necessary.
- YIELD: 8 servings.

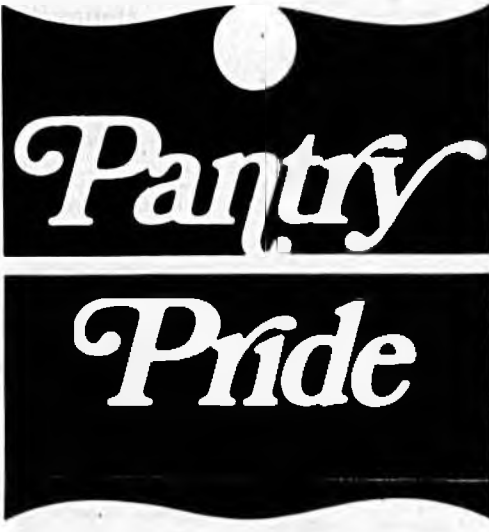

ORANGE-BEET CONSERVE

- 3 1/2 pounds large beets
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 1/4 cup Florida orange juice
 - 1 Florida orange seeded, chopped (do not remove skin)
 - 1/4 cup honey
 - 1 teaspoon ground ginger
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 can (4 ounces) toasted, slivered almonds (1 cup)
- Wash beets. Remove all but 2 inches of stems and the tap roots. Place in a saucepot with 1 inch boiling water. Cover. Steam until skins can be slipped off, about 25 minutes. Immediately plunge beets into ice cold water. Remove skins; coarsely chop beets. In large saucepan mix sugar, orange juice, chopped orange, honey, ginger, salt, and chopped beets. Slowly bring to a boil, stirring occasionally, until sugar dissolves. Cook rapidly until thick, about 15 minutes. Stir frequently to prevent sticking. Add almonds during the last 5 minutes of cooking. Turn into serving dish; cool. Chill.
- YIELD: About 3 1/2 cups.

PAREVE ORANGE-CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

- 5 eggs, separated, divided
 - 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
 - 1 1/4 cups granulated sugar, divided
 - 1 cup pareve margarine, at room temperature
 - 1 cup Florida orange juice
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
 - Candied orange peel (optional)
- Separate eggs placing 2 whites in one small bowl and 3 whites in another small bowl; set aside. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water. In small bowl beat egg yolks with 1/4 cup granulated sugar until light and lemon colored; add to chocolate and beat at medium speed of electric mixer over hot, not boiling, water 4 minutes. Remove top of double boiler from heat; set aside. In container of electric blender, blend margarine until smooth. Very gradually add orange juice; process at low speed 15 seconds; add chocolate mixture and process until well-blended. Pour into a large bowl. Stir in nuts. Beat 2 egg whites until foamy; gradually add 1/4 cup sugar; beat until stiff peaks form. Fold into chocolate mixture. Turn into a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Cover. Freeze overnight. Meanwhile, beat remaining 3 egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff. Using a pastry tube or 2 spoons, shape meringue into 8 nests or shells on wax paper-lined baking sheets. Bake in a 250 degree F oven 1 hour. Turn oven off and leave meringue shells overnight to dry. Do not open door. To serve, scoop orange-chocolate freeze into meringue shells. YIELD: 8

Elderly Gourmet Cooks For Self

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Special To The Herald

How well do the elderly eat? Are their nutritional needs being satisfied?

One answer to these questions comes from an 86-year-old widower who lives alone and likes it. He cooks for himself but has somebody do his shopping because he has difficulty walking.

He uses fresh foods whenever possible. He often eats low-fat meats, including a lot of chicken.

Our elderly gourmet avoids canned and frozen foods to which large amounts of salt and sugar have been added. He also uses a minimum of salt and sugar in his cooking.

Good food, he says, is a wonderful companion. Here is a week's worth of his favorite meals:

DAY 1: Baked chicken, baked potato, green beans cooked in garlic water, grapefruit and semi-sweet cookies. He buys a half chicken and cooks both quarters at the same time, eating the second quarter cold the next day.

DAY 2: Cold chicken, creamed potatoes, sliced and boiled zucchini, french bread, semi-sweet cookies and a pear.

DAY 3: Tuna-noodle casserole (a commercial frozen entree), celery and carrot sticks, French bread, grapefruit and chocolate cookies.

DAY 4: Hamburger patties, boiled potatoes, sliced green peppers mixed with corn, a red apple and cinnamon cookies.

DAY 5: Creamy scrambled eggs, crisp bacon, buttered whole-wheat toast, broiled tomato halves, half avocado with oil and vinegar, sliced oranges and banana.

DAY 6: Fillet of sole poached in cream, boiled potato, buttered broccoli and sugar cookies.

DAY 7: Thinly sliced top round steak, mashed potatoes, fresh peas, french rolls, hearts of celery and ice cream.

On his doctor's recommendation, he drinks 1 ounce to 3 ounces of whisky before dinner. He avoids between-meal snacks except for 8 ounces of milk in the afternoon.

Fire is a constant threat to the older person living alone. So, he had trained himself to shut off the stove if the phone rings or if he is otherwise distracted while cooking. And he has a plaque reading "beware of fire" posted in front of his stove.

Republicans 'Stick Together' On Budget Cuts

HOWARD BAKER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP leader Howard Baker says Republicans are "sticking together in a remarkable sense" to pass President Reagan's budget cuts, convinced Americans want a change in the way government does business.

The Republicans, who inherited the burden of responsibility when they took control of the Senate last November, have closed ranks repeatedly to beat back Democratic attempts to alter the Reagan package.

Baker said the Senate would complete action on the package late today, despite a long and mounting list of Democratic amendments that clearly had no chance of passage.

He said he considered the Democrats' plan to force votes on the numerous amendments "straightforward and politically honest ... they're painting the differences."

On Wednesday, the Senate crushed a series of mostly Democrat-sponsored amendments, including an effort to dip into Reagan's "safety net" of social programs by reducing Social Security benefits.

With this week's action, the Senate will instruct its spending and authorizing committees to cut certain amounts from programs within their jurisdiction. The process is expected to continue until August, with opportunities for reversals along the way.

The Senate rejections Wednesday included: —Hollings' proposal to reduce $3 billion from cost-of-living increases in Social Security, civil service and military pensions, by a vote of 86-12.

—An amendment by Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., to put back almost $500 million into energy programs and keep alive the Solar Energy and Conservation Bank, 65-32.

—One by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., to restore $125 million for health programs, 62-36.

—One by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, to restore $300 million for youth training programs, 74-24.

—One by Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., to restore funds for Conrail, mass transit systems and the National Science Foundation, 76-22.

—One by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to cut deeper into Export-Import Bank loans, 77-19.

Actress Reveals 'Love' Letters

Reagan Doing Well; Hinckley Exam Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A pajama-clad President Reagan took his first steps outside his hospital room today and downed a hearty breakfast. Doctors said Reagan's chest is still painful, but his bullet-pierced left lung has expanded.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said the president signed a proclamation this morning and met for five or 10 minutes with White House chief of staff James Baker and Baker's deputy, Michael Deaver. He also received a national security briefing.

Reagan's schedule today included a noon meeting with Senate Republican leader Howard Baker to discuss legislation and a working conference with Vice President George Bush — symbols of the White House determination to proceed with "business as usual."

"Chest X-rays show that the president's injured lung is expanded and he is coughing well, a favorable indication of his continued progress and recuperation," said Dr. Daniel Ruge, the president's personal physician.

In a mid-morning medical bulletin, Ruge said the president "remains in good condition with vital signs and temperature well within normal limits."

"He is experiencing some pain as anticipated in response to his injury and surgical care, but he is able to walk around the presidential surgical suite,"

Ruge said. "His appearance reflects the effect of a peaceful night's sleep."

Meantime, John W. Hinckley Jr., 25, accused of shooting the president, his press secretary and two lawmen in a spatter of gunfire Monday, was ordered

'Raccoon' Is First Word Of Recovering Jim Brady

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Raccoon," whispered White House press secretary Jim Brady, his first word since losing a portion of his brain to a would-be assassin's bullet.

"Raccoon" is Brady's nickname for his wife Sarah. And Mrs. Brady, at his bedside, then gently encouraged her still critically ill husband to count aloud from one to 10.

It was that kind of progress Wednesday, considered against the backdrop of a near-fatal wound, that prompted White House chief of staff James Baker to call Brady's recovery "miraculous."

There were other encouraging signs that Brady, 40, was responding well to treatment.

Doctors said Brady was "breathing well" on his own, was able to wiggle his left arm and leg and even "played catch" with a rolled up ball of gauze in the intermediate care unit of George Washington University Medical Center.

Brady was able to move his right side Tuesday, but movement of his left side was considered crucial to his recovery.

The movement was "minimal, but hopeful," a spokesman said.

A large portion of the right frontal lobe of Brady's brain, which controls the left side of the body, was removed during a 6½-hour operation Monday. The bullet entered his head above the left eye and passed through the tip of the left frontal lobe before tearing into the right side of the brain.

Mrs. Brady, whose nickname "Raccoon" relates to her dark eyes, was said in classic White House understatement to be "very encouraged" by her husband's progress.

marked by heavy security.

Hinckley is charged with attempting to assassinate Reagan and assaulting a Secret Service agent. If convicted, he could be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Authorities ordered tight security at the courthouse to prevent a replay of Jack Ruby's fatal shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy in Dallas in 1963.

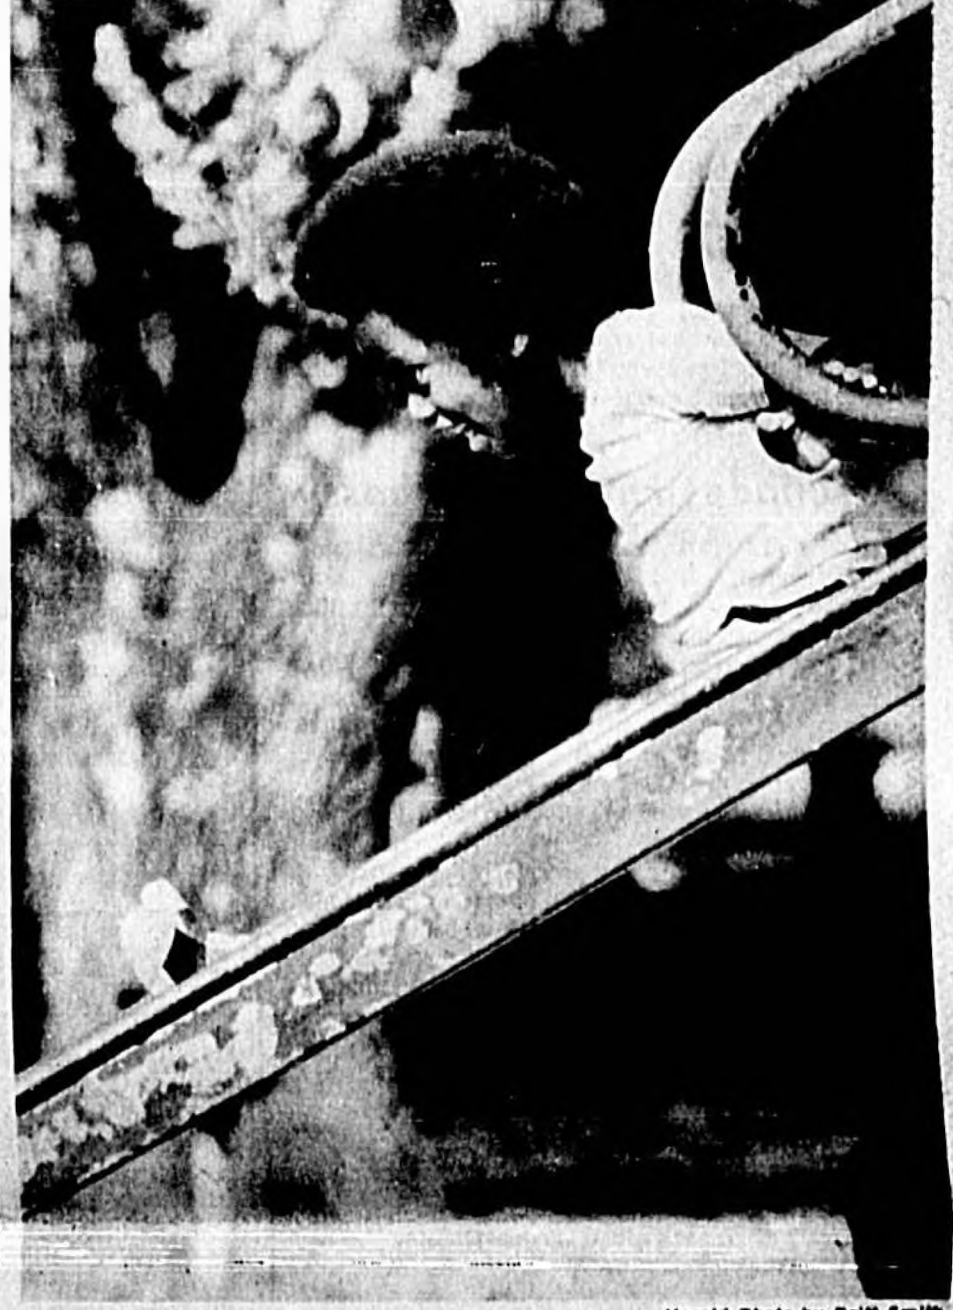

"We are going to make sure that nothing happens to him," said U.S. Marshal Larry Bullock.

The letter found by investigators in Hinckley's room at Washington's Park Central Hotel began, "Dear Jodie: There is a definite possibility that I will be killed in my attempt to get Reagan. It is for this reason that I am writing you now."

The neat, handwritten letter reviewed Hinckley's attempts to reach the actress through dozens of poems, letters and messages.

On Wednesday, actress Jody Foster acknowledged receiving "love-type" fan mail from Hinckley, but said it contained no threats of violence. Miss Foster, a student at Yale University, reiterated she had never met Hinckley, adding she cried when she heard of her possible connection to the attack on Reagan.

"I felt very shocked, very frightened, very distressed," she said.

Sheriff's Record Budget Request To Get Special Public Hearing

County Commissioners will hold a special hearing in either June or July to get public input on Sheriff John Polk's requested record budget of $6.1 million for fiscal 1981-82.

In workshop session at Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff's suggestion the commissioners agreed to set the special hearing. And Sheriff Polk said he has no objection to facing the people and telling them the needs of his department.

In the past by the time commission budget hearings had been concluded it was too late to get public input on the countywide law enforcement budget. Under law, commissioners must return to Polk their concurrence or objections to his budget by Aug. 1. The law permits the sheriff, who is a constitutional officer, to appeal the commission's decision to the Florida Cabinet.

Polk's proposal for the upcoming fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1, calls for an increase from the current year at $5.2 million to $6,133,848.

Increase in the base budget, due to inflation, a sheriff's department spokesman said, is about $500,000. Some $451,330 additional is set aside to increase the department's staff from the current 219 to 252 — 33 additional employees.

The new employees requested include: 12 additional patrol deputies and a deputy for safety crime prevention; eight correction officers, a booking clerk and a cook at the new jail to bring the staff there to 63; five clerk-typists, two for computer input; one of criminal records division; one for technical services, and five complaint clerks.

The sheriff explained with opening of the new jail last year, 18 new personnel were added to the jail staff. At that time he told the commissioners 40 new employees over a three year period would have to be added to bring the staffing into line with federal and state guidelines.

Housing Authority Accounting Criticized

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A local audit of the Sanford Housing Authority's (SHA) federally-funded housing rehabilitation program contains five pages criticizing management and accounting practices used to administer the program.

The criticisms range from the Authority's charging the program for full rental and utility costs at its city hall office and an undocumented out-of-state trip by someone to lost minutes of authority meetings.

Lewis Cox, interim director of the Housing Authority, refused comment today on the audit report, referring all telephone calls to the city.

Tom Wilson, former director fired by the SHA board of directors last November, said today:

"It seems as though some documents have been conveniently misplaced including board minutes, appraisals and others. I don't know who took a trip to Detroit, Mich. I've never been to Detroit in my life."

In answer to another criticism in the audit, Wilson said purchase orders were used and supporting documents were attached to each. Copies of appraisals on houses purchased in the program should be in the authority's offices, he said.

"Once I was fired, I was only allowed admittance to the space that I occupied to remove my personal belongings. The documents were still there when I left," Wilson said.

Of the criticism that the full rental and utilities costs for the housing authority's office were charged to the federal program, Wilson said 90 percent of the office was being used for the community block grant programs. He said this was an appropriate charge-off.

Auditors, however, says that the authority should refund to the program about $5,004 of the $15,000 in rental fees paid.

Cox said earlier this week he could not explain several activities in the federal program because none of the program's employees are with the Authority any longer. Wilson said today, however, he was not asked to assist with explanations. "No one asked me anything," he said.

The audit of the period from the program's inception in 1978 through Aug. 31, 1980, was completed by the Sanford firm of Greene and Dycus, certified public accountants. A local audit of the period from Aug. 31, 1980 through Feb. 27, 1981 when the city of Sanford withdrew its sponsorship of the program is pending.

A federal audit also began an examination of SHA's books Wednesday.

Auditors' questioning of two expenditures — one for $5,004 where the SHA was charging off full rental costs for its Sanford city hall offices to the program and another of $59 in what appears to be a double payment to a supplier — have not been resolved by the auditor.

Among the audit report's criticisms were that:

— There was lack of documentation supporting expenditures in some instances because purchase orders were not used and receipts were not attached. The auditor specifically pointed to the $584 trip to Detroit; a disbursement of $200 for surveys; lack of deeds or appraisal documents for three houses and lack of bid copies for the purchase of an $8,423 truck.

— Board of directors meeting minutes for the period of the audit could not be located so the auditor was unable to verify board authorization of major expenditures or policies.

Monkeying Around

CHICAGO (UPI) — Vengeful officials at the Lincoln Park Zoo put Siby the orangutan in charge of their switchboard this April Fool's Day.

For all the crank calls they have had to endure on April 1 in past years from persons asking to speak to Mr. Fox or Mrs. Lyons, they decided to take revenge.

Siby, who is 2 years old, manned the telephones for 30 minutes.

"He didn't really answer the phone," a zoo spokesman said. "He was just putting the telephone in his mouth."

School Board Silent On Plea For Creationism Course

By CINDY MOOY
Herald Staff Writer

The national controversy over teaching creationism in the public schools formally reached Seminole County Wednesday night when the Rev. John Butler Book asked the school board to require courses in the theory taught in Seminole schools.

The board directed Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes and the curriculum advisory committee to review Book's proposal for teaching creationism along with the theory of evolution in science classes.

In a brief statement before the board, Book, who is principal of the Northside Christian School in Maitland, said "it is biased, bigoted and constitutionally wrong" to exclude the teaching of creationism in the schools.

No comments were made by board members of members of the audience after Book's address.

In schools and courts across the country, the debate over the teaching of creationism and evolution has been growing. In a recent California court case, the judge ruled that public schools may teach Darwin's theory of evolution, but must make it clear to students that it is theory and not dogma.

Opponents of teaching creationism argue that it would violate the constitutional concept of separation of church and state, while those favoring teaching creationism in the schools argue that both theories should be taught.

Book said, "Separation of church and state is a metaphor that nowhere appears in the Constitution" and "separation of church and state is a separation of state from God."

"It is a question of whether God exists and is a part of our country or whether, as William Penn said, 'We are governed by God or we'll be ruled by tyrants.'"

"I am asking that creation be placed in the schools for students desiring to learn the different theories of the origin of the species," Book said.

"If there is a problem with money," Book added, "I'm sure we could find teachers to voluntarily teach the creationism side to the question of how did we get here."

Last month, Book also addressed the Orange County School Board with a similar request.

In other action, the board unanimously endorsed the concept of a police liaison program for Seminole County schools for the 1981-82 school year. The board directed Hughes to work with the sheriff's department and the county commission on the details for the program to place a deputy in county schools.

Pat Calhoun, a member of United Parents of West Seminole, told board members that similar programs in Orange County and Collier County schools have proven successful in combating drug use in the schools. She said law enforcement officers and school officials in Naples and Winter Park "raved about" the programs in their schools.

The police liaison program calls for a deputy to be assigned to a specific school to work closely with students, not as a disciplinary or police officer. Other programs, Calhoun said, have resulted in the liaison officer becoming a friend and confidant to students. The officers also teach classes in law, act as counselors and become involved in after school activities.

The board also agreed to place on their next agenda for discussion recommendations on salary increase for the school superintendent.

Board member Pat Telson said she was still in favor of an evaluation of the superintendent's performance before a salary increase is granted as she suggested at a board work session on March 11. Telson said some standards of performance should be set to go with any salary increase.

Chairman William Kroll and Vice-chairman Roland Williams both expressed opposition to any evaluation by the board.

"The standards are set by state legislation as to the qualifications to run (for school superintendent)," Williams said. "From that point on, the general public sets the standards by electing the superintendent."
